ROTARY WADING POOL

The Shawville Rotary Club has brought to completion a most ambitious project, namely the wading pool situated on Centre Street. The extensive use already made of the pool by the children is demonstrable justification for the time, money and effort put into the project by everyone concerned. As an example of public service to a community the Rotary Club's action has been superb.

While it is difficult that vociferous notes of appreciation will be sounded down the years, the Rotary Club may rest assured that all parents of children in Shawville and the surrounding area who have occasion to use the pool will bless them individually and collectively for as long as the pool remains. And that should be quite a long time, in view of the fact that planned by Don Virant, the pool is bedded on Dave Ranger's crushed rock, and the cement was poured by Harry Gerber's cement mixer. Finally, if any Rotarian ever should have misgivings about this venture, all he has to do is appear in the vicinity of the pool on any warm day. The number of youngsters enjoying its benefits will send him on his way rejoicing.

IT TAKES MONEY TO MAKE MONEY

A very adequate Agricultural Building, proposed by the Building Committee of the Agricultural Society to be built on the Shawville Fair grounds, was approved as to plan by the Society early last week and was approved for a 50% grant by the Federal Government late last week. The proposed building would cost $95,000 which means that after the grant Shawville would have to raise $47,750 as well as money to equip the building.

Where the $47,750 plus can be raised is the current headache of the Agricultural Society and one place they are looking towards Quebec. The building as planned will house a show ring, dining hall, room for 4-H Club and Women's Institute activities as well as many other activities which will benefit everyone in this district either directly or indirectly.

Now, while the grant is available, it is obviously the time to build the hall but picking up a spare fifty thousand may take a little time and in the minds of headlines in Ottawa saying "Shawville Fair Getting New $95,000 Building" the opportunity might have to slide by ungrasped.

A non-catholic, non-subscriber has pulled us up short for getting the Pope's official blessing on the wrong side of his bed. He also didn't like the joke about the Pope's official blessing being delayed by reports of a new one from Holland in the Fall.

A very interesting letter has come in from a non-catholic, non-subscriber who is a reader of the Ottawa Citizen. Mr. Keneally was a subscriber has pulled us up short for getting the Pope's official blessing on the wrong side of his bed. He also didn't like the joke about the Pope's official blessing being delayed by reports of a new one from Holland in the Fall.

There is a short list of simple rules relating to sensible behaviour in and on the water, which if adopted by everyone, would result in a large decrease in drownings each year. Here it is:

1. Learn to swim.
2. Keep inflatable toys and inner tubes away from children in the water.
3. Before diving into unfamiliar water, check underwater for depth of water, and to see that there are no obstructions that could injure you.
4. Keep out of the water after eating.
5. Always have someone else along when you go swimming and stick close together.
6. Wear a life preserver when in a boat, unless you're a good swimmer.
7. If the boat capsizes, stick with the boat, don't under any circumstances attempt to swim to shore. The same holds true for an aircraft forced to ditch. It's better to stay with the boat, but remain partially afloat, stay with it, don't swim away.
8. Don't stand up in a boat.
9. Long distance swims should be undertaken only when the swimmer is accompanied by a boat manned by two good swimmers, and with a strong safety cord attached to the swimmer and to the boat.
10. Don't swim when tired or overheated.

Graduation At Onslow

The annual Graduation Banquet was held in the Banquet Room of the Fair Grounds Hotel, and also at the Legion Picnic and Races, Baseball, Step Dancing.

Preceding the banquet, a farewell was given by David Brown of Canada Ltd., with a reception for the students and their parents and teachers who have guided them along the road of life. Now they face the future. "It is a time for meditation, reflection, personal stock-taking, and the Valedictorian. She expressed hope in their future efforts, for success, founded on a firm knowledge of the basic skills, self-discipline, and a healthy outlook upon life and its problems.

The class prophecy, given by Betty Davis, caused much amusement. Betty, with excellent delivery, humorously portrayed the future of her class mates. While her prophecy may not come true exactly as projected, she did try to make the audience understand that things happen to any class. Her range of vocabulary from Mayor of Kingston to Chairman of the local Board of Education, to the Prime Minister of Canada for the boys, and from Broadway stars to local hairdressers for the girls. Wynne McKechnie, Central Board member, was the guest speaker. Mr. McKechnie gave a brief outline of the progress in education in Onslow during the past ten years. He contrasted the local Board and the Staff for the progress of the school. He compared our education system to a tree—the Board and school set-up representing the trunk, the staff members, the branches, and the pupils the fruit. "By their fruit you shall know them", so this is the test our students must meet. Without the students all our efforts of education would be in vain.

Miss Jean Neville, Principal, thanked Mr. McKechnie for his inspiring address.
