PONTIAC LIBERALS meet the leader

When Fred Metcalfe set out to organize a Pontiac day for Mr Claude Ryan, leader of the official opposition of the Pontiac, he had no idea of the response he would get. With his usual precision and the co-operation of his colleagues, Fred believes that Claude Ryan will be the next Premier of Quebec. Getting to know Mr Ryan and being assured that he is in turn experienced with the Pontiac, was a very worthwhile undertaking, successfully achieved.

After the visit to Fort Coulonge and Shawville and his participation in the Canada Day celebrations, Claude Ryan was greeted at Portage du Fort reporters and then proposed the formation of a Pontiac Day. With the Pontiac people, he took on a personal and deeply appreciated separation, in favor of the future of Quebec.

He made no special announcement during the Pontiac visit, but his determination and intelligent approach to the problems of the Province impressed all who were privileged to discuss with him.

Canada's new agriculture minister is John Wise

John Wise was born in 1920 in Tavistock Township, Elgin County, Ontario, and has remained a resident of his constituency of Elgin. He is not only the minister for agriculture, but also the minister of public health and community development. In recent years he has been a member of the parliamentary party of the Progressive Conservative party.

"In 1974, an Inspector for the Ontario Ministry of Health found that Elk Lake and Lake Erie had concentrations of radium which were well above the maximum permissible levels. Very little has been done about the problem since then. Last year, a CBC News story of a middle-aged couple who had purchased a house on one of the lakes of the Serpent River system only to find that the water was too radioactive for human use."

Department of Environment Report

The report states that the most urgent radioactive waste management problem in Canada today is how to safely dispose of the mountain of radioactive tailings which are left over from uranium milling operations. In the Elk Lake area, these tailings have contaminated the entire Serpent River System (which flows through a densely populated area) with an average radium concentration of 500Bq/L, which is about a dozen times over what is accepted as being the maximum level for health reasons. The damage has been done and the only way to prevent it from happening again is to find an acceptable means of disposal. A 1976 report by the Ontario Ministry of the Environment entitled "Radioactive Waste Management in the Province of Ontario" states that the province has a "high level of radioactive waste" and that it is "a serious problem".

"People are often surprised to learn that the tailings are far more radioactive and far more dangerous than the uranium ore which is extracted from the ore. This is because the uranium tailings have a much higher concentration of radium than uranium ore, and they contain a much larger amount of radium than uranium ore. In order to protect the environment and human health, it is essential that the tailings be disposed of in a safe and environmentally acceptable manner."

Two principal methods of disposal are the construction of an underground mine and the use of a repository. The underground mine method involves the construction of a mine shaft which is then filled with the tailings. The repository method involves the construction of a large, sealed structure which is then filled with the tailings. Both methods are expensive and have their own set of problems. The underground mine method can result in groundwater contamination and the repository method can result in the dispersal of the tailings.

The long-range goal of the Province of Ontario is to develop a pilot project for the disposal of radioactive tailings. This pilot project will be used to test various methods of disposal and to develop a new disposal technology. The Province of Ontario is currently working with the federal government to develop a disposal technology. The Province of Ontario has also been working with the Canadian Nuclear Safety Commission to develop a disposal technology. The Province of Ontario is also working with the International Atomic Energy Agency to develop a disposal technology. A recipe for a happy marriage

The recipe for a happy marriage will be among the principal subjects to be discussed at the District Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held at Montreal's Olympic stadium from July 19 to 22.

"Many causes have been indicted", said Clarke, "such as money, marriage, alcoholism, both health, communication and sexual problems. Some of the proposed solutions such as open marriage, no marriage and real marriage have only worsened the situation", he said.

Mr Clarke said the secret of happiness has eluded many because they have considered marriage as a man-made arrangement rather than a divine institution. "Supply, the Author of marriage, God, knows what we need and has provided in his Word, the Bible, the Recipe for a Happy Marriage", he said.

Clifford Hazard Olmstead

On May 19, 1979, after a brief illness, Clifford Hazard Olmstead of Bryson, Que., passed away in the Pontiac Community Hospital.

Born on July 30, 1906, in Austin, Quebec, he was the son of the late William Olmstead and Catherine Hazard.

After becoming self-employed as a forest undertaker, he was employed as a bank operator at Thompson Cadillac and New Caledon Mines.

In 1939, he married to Genevieve Elliott, of Clarendon. After a brief residence in Cadiz, Quebec, the Olmsteads settled in Bryson in 1943.

Mr. Olmstead was very active in municipal and church affairs. He is survived by his wife, and three of his children: Joan (Mr. David Conrod) of Shawville, Donald of Morin Heights, Que., and Brian of Ottawa. He was predeceased by a daughter, Diane in 1965. Surviving him also are three grandchildren, Annie (Mr. Merle Pedestal) of Mississauga, Ont., Rachel (Mr. Henry Mackie) of Ottawa, Ross of Haiti, W.I., and Doree (Mrs. Keith Flann) of Ottawa, and one brother, Allen, of Chicago, Ill., as well as numerous cousins, nephews and nieces.

Mr. Olmstead rented at The Hayes Funeral Home, Shawville. The funeral service in Shawville United Church, on May 22nd, was conducted by Rev. Owen MacPherson and Rev. 2 Stevens.

Friends conduct search for Ronald Fleury drowned Thursday
Picking with his friend, Mike Ken, near Chapais, 21 year old Ronald Fleury was drowned around noon last Thursday. The current took the canoe off its course and it overturned. Mike swam to shore and Ronald stayed with the boat but when Mike got to shore and turned to see his friend, Ron had slipped under water and had been seen since. Neither of the men were wearing a life jacket.

About thirty friends and neighbors have been searching the area since the accident in hopes of recovering the body. Ronald is survived by his brothers and two sisters. He was the son of Mr and Mrs Louis Fleury of Chapais.

À un réunion de la municipalité tenue le 5 juin 1979, on a procédé aux affaires suivantes:

Projet de réglementation

La C.L.C.S.G. Grande-Rivière propose, par délibération, de collaborer avec le Haut-Commissariat à l'Éducation physique et au Sport des Québécois, afin de mettre en place un réseau des installations de loisirs et de sport à l'échelle du territoire de la municipalité. Ce réseau comprendrait les installations gérées par la municipalité elle-même, ainsi que les installations gérées par des organismes privés. Les installations gérées par la municipalité incluraient les terrains de sport et les espaces verts. Les installations gérées par des organismes privés incluraient les clubs sportifs et les centres de loisirs. Le but de cette collaboration est d'améliorer l'accès à la pratique des sports et des loisirs pour les citoyens de la municipalité. Les frais de operation seraient couverts par les abonnements payés par les usagers. La C.L.C.S.G. Grande-Rivière estime que cette collaboration apportera des avantages importants pour le développement des sports et des loisirs dans la municipalité.

Promoting the Games

By W.R. Roger Worth

Canada's role in promoting the games is a topic of much discussion. The Canadian Olympic Committee is responsible for overseeing the planning and execution of the games. It is a non-profit organization funded by the government and private donations.

The Canadian Olympic Committee has a Board of Directors elected by the membership of the organization. The board is responsible for making decisions about the direction of the committee and overseeing the management of its operations.

The committee is made up of representatives from various groups such as athletes, sponsors, and the general public. It is the responsibility of the committee to ensure that the games are conducted in a fair and ethical manner.

The committee will work closely with the government and other organizations to ensure that the games are a success. This includes working with local government officials to ensure that the necessary infrastructure is in place and that the games are conducted within the legal framework.

The committee will also work with sponsors to ensure that the games are marketed effectively and that there is public support for the games.

The Canadian Olympic Committee is committed to promoting the games and ensuring that they are a success. It is a dedicated and hardworking group of individuals who are passionate about the games and want to see them succeed.

July 5 - Early Bottlers of the Petawawa Forest. Touring maps now in the office at the place where a new subdivision once stood. A mixed-wood forest was once a farmer’s field. On this walk, hear the story of the early settlers, their farms, their roads, and the coming of the railway to this area.

July 15 - Determining Canada’s Timber Supply. How did you know foresters increase the yield of timber on our forest land? You will learn about the value of Canada’s forests, fire management techniques.

July 18 - Forest Food & Forest First Aid. What do you eat? Did you know there are many wild plants that are good to eat? Some may be growing right in your backyard! We will teach you how to pick and identify some of nature’s treats. Try some free samples of the forest’s food. And learn first aid techniques.

July 25 - Forest Fire. It is Not Always Bad - Have you ever used a fire to help you? You take part in a fire equipment demonstration. See the good and the bad results of fire in the forest.

August 5 - Foredower and Woodland Management. You can get a good job managing woodland. We will describe forest policies, fire prevention and management, and discuss some jobs working with trees.

August 12 - Non-Foresting Plans. How do we manage our forests? Sometimes called deforestation, often caused by a lack of planning or design. We will share our plans for managing the Petawawa Forest.

Shawville auxiliary

The June meeting of the Shawville auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Norma Cameron. A total of 130 members and two visitors were present, all reading scriptures Psalm 121.

The President welcomed members and guests and Mrs. Norma Cameron welcomed all. Minutes were read by Mrs. Norma Cameron, the Secretary and approved. An income statement was presented by Mrs. Norma Cameron. The Treasurer gave the report. Shawville auxiliary, the Auxiliary of the Shawville Auxiliary, all organized for rent of the auditorium.

We will be happy to give the auditorium for any function.

Young beef and dairy bulls

In order to evaluate the future of the young bulls to 300 of 450 pounds are requisitioned and sold by the Quebec. The Quebec Dept. of Agriculture pays $4.00 for each designated bull that are sold at or below the designated price of $3.00 per live steer.
Eggs may be a brain food

Cheville, a common food item, may be a brain food. The eggs are rich in certain nutrients that are essential for brain function. Some studies suggest that eating eggs regularly may help prevent or delay the onset of cognitive decline in older adults.

The possible brain-boosting benefits of eggs include:
- High in choline: Choline is a key nutrient for brain health. It helps to create important brain chemicals like acetylcholine, which is involved in learning, memory, and cognitive function.
- Rich in B vitamins: Eggs are a good source of vitamins B2 (riboflavin), B6, and B12. These vitamins are necessary for brain function and help to produce neurotransmitters that support brain health.
- Contains sulfur amino acids: Eggs are a good source of sulfur amino acids, such as methionine and cysteine. These amino acids are important for brain health and can help to boost cognitive function.

Research suggests that consuming eggs regularly may help to maintain cognitive function and reduce the risk of age-related cognitive decline. However, more research is needed to fully understand the brain-boosting effects of eggs.
