Letters from our readers

Editor,

I have been going to survive in the County of Pontiac for the past five years and I have been looking for a job but I have not been successful. It is one of those numbers we happen to know by heart.

The editor added a note to the letter, saying: "We are sorry to hear that you have been unsuccessful in your job search. Please keep us informed of any updates regarding your job situation.

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my frustration with the use of French language signs. When I travel to other parts of Pontiac, I often see signs written in French, even in areas where the majority of the population speaks English. I believe that this can be seen as a form of cultural discrimination and a lack of respect for the English-speaking community.

Sincerely,

Declaring membership in the Alliance Quebec, Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa has said that the party will have a 50 percent increase in its votes in the next provincial election. However, the party's candidate for the Quebec legislature has said that the party will not be included in the provincial government.

Pittsburgh has initiated setting up a French immersion program by making a decision to offer a better program, between students from the French school and from the Catholic school. The students are being bussed by the Arundel group.

Dear Peter,

Just a note to let you know about the Tonawanda Mall. A new, bigger, and better store to visit. You should really take a look at it, Peter. You might even find something that you need. And you'll probably be surprised at the prices.

The Municipality of Burford has passed a bylaw to prevent off-road vehicles from entering their jurisdiction. This bylaw is being enforced by the local police. It is hoped that this will help to reduce the noise and pollution in the area.

In English, there are two main ways to say "yes": "yes" and "yes no." In most cases, "yes" is used to indicate agreement, while "yes no" is used to indicate disagreement. For example, "yes" would be used to answer the question "Are you going to the party?" while "yes no" would be used to answer the question "Are you going to the party or are you staying home?"

Midget Tournament now in progress

In the AA section of the Midget Tournament in Shawville, Ontario, one game has been played thus far between Ottawa East Vanier and the Ottawa Valley Titans, with Vanier coming out the winner with a score of 3 to 1.

The BB section is further along in their schedule. Broadview in the big winner in the 100-mile series having beaten Napanee Montgomery 16-3, then beaten Athlone 8-0, and Ottawa East 9-1, which takes Broadview into the BB final which will be played on Sunday. The consolation side of this section is being led by Ottawa East, who were first blanked by Ottawa West 2-0, and then went into the consolation round to battle two Nepawa teams. The consolation finals take place on Sunday in the BB section.

Only the CC section has completed its schedule with the big winners being Canterbury for the Championship and Nepean for the Consolation winners. To reach the Championship, the teams played 50 miles each day of the two-day event. The consolation winners played 40 miles each day of the two-day event.

Skiing trails provided by Quyon Lions

The Quyon Lions Club has prepared 63 miles of significant cross-country skiing for use by anyone and everywhere on ski who would like to take up the trail. The trail starts at the Beach Barn in Quyon. The map should be on the door of the Beach Barn. The trail was marked by a two-metre high pole, which would make it too hard to ski. The trail is several miles that may be taken along the trail depending on how long a ski trip is desired. Night skiing is under black light with black marker and the trail is marked with black light and snow markers.

Joel Bishop of the Quyon Lions Club who made the trail hopes to go on improving the surface of the Ottawa River. Skiing this trail starts at the Beach Barn in Quyon. Eight local skiers in Canadian Marathon

The 100-mile Canadian Ski Marathon takes place February 19 and 20. Among the 800 participants from 20 countries, there were eight Shawvilleans: Carlo, Michael and Marisa Carrod, Ken Wentworth and John Foster.

The highest honour is possible to win at this annual event is the championship. For this event are the bronze, silver and gold medals to be awarded. Skiers complete 80 miles each day of the two-day race and must reach the finish check point by 9 p.m. each day. For the bronze all you have to do is to complete the course. For the silver the skier must carry a food box which may be carried. Once a skier has successfully completed the course and then the silver, he or she will be a champion.

For this award, the skier must carry all food and drinking equipment needed for the two-day event on his back and must camp out every night.

This year Carlo Giuliani started the 100-mile event with a break from the finish and reached checkpoints 1 at 5:00 a.m. and 2 at 11:00 a.m. The skier then continues to the finish and completed the first 50 miles. Carlo Giuliani, who will turn 18 on February 13, broke the one-day record for the Shawville ski club. Ontario.

The outdoor adventure is not over for the participants from Shawville such adventureists as Carlo Carrod, Michael Carrod and Marisa Carrod. A special treat for some country ski enthusiasts was the international event at Shawville last Sunday. Jack Rhein Johannson, the overall winner of the first place in the cross-country ski event, who was the first to finish the 100-mile event on his skis in 1981, was on hand to pick up the winner's prize.

Beech Grove winter carnival

The little skating rink of Beech Grove united in between the music "Blue Heaven" and the Ottawa River was the scene of an exciting celebration of winter festivities. The main events of the Winter Carnival were the broomball games on Saturday and Sunday, the delicious lunches served on the rink Saturday afternoon, and the terrific home-cooked meal served on Sunday. The mayor of Beech Grove, Clifford Grant, president of the Beech Grove Public Recreation Board, says that the team of organizers of this event mark the 100th anniversary of the Boy Scouts in Canada.

Frenchnification on the march

Raymond Gosselin, president of the French Language Office of Quebec, is reported to have announced that even though there is evidence of some resistance in some areas to become Frenchified, it became more evident every day that French is being imposed rigorously.

Among the municipalities of West Quebec, 110 have sent their linguistic analyses to the "Office". 71 have received certificates of conformity with the language charter, 26 are now applying a program of Frenchification and the rest are negotiating with the Francophones.

Among the 53 municipalities which serve a majority of citizens whose language is "other than French", one has already become Frenchified. (The document which provides this information isn't brought to use the word "English" probably because it is written by an office which is trying to deny the existence of everything English).

Five of the 10 school boards in West Quebec have received certificates of conformity, three are working on it and eight are still negotiating.

Of the 31 Social Affairs organizations, 20 are confirming with the charter, five are applying a Frenchification program and 5 are still negotiating.

There are fourteen beach clubs in the region which employ more than 100 people. Two of these have obtained their certificates of conformity, eleven have had their programs approved by Quebec, and one is still negotiating with the Francophones.

There are 12 middle-sized businesses which employ from 50 to 100 people. Three of these are certified French and the rest are in various stages along the way.

The only organizations in the Pontiac that achieved certification from the Office are the Montreal Board-Center and the CLEC, both located in Montebello.

Brent's father, Jimmy Dyer, was a remarkable man -- a good example for any father who has a problem.

Brent Dyer had been an alcoholic but immediately contact their local Protestant school board or the French Language Office of Quebec. Unfortunately there are an unnecessary number of four-letter words used that detract from the novel, but it is the story of remarkable human beings told from the point of view of a journalist.

Each year a trophy is also presented to the school board applying a Frenchification program and 5 are still negotiating. The Secretary of State has sponsored important projects in these communities.

Frenchified, it becomes more evident every day that French is being imposed rigorously.

We're committed to your future.

At the Secretary of State, we believe in projects that foster the rich cultural heritage of Quebec's anglophone communities. Projects that enhance cultural awareness and traditions, that maintain and develop communications links, and that deal with issues of a socio-economic nature to suggest a few. Projects where the Secretary of State can either help out financially, or provide professional advice.

The Secretary of State has sponsored programs to bring Quebec's young people together to discuss the challenges that lie ahead for their generation, to encourage tomorrow's young farmers to develop leadership skills and to bring live theatre to the children of isolated communities.

These are just a few of the projects that have been developed by Quebec's anglophone communities.

Because we recognize the significant contribution of anglophone Quebecers to the Canadian society as a whole, the Secretary of State is here to help the important projects in these communities bear fruit.

An important project should bear fruit.

Northwest of Kingston, Ontario, nestled among the rocks and trees of a rugged but beautiful countryside, is the little community of Forest Mills. Today, if you drove through it, you would never know that it was once a very active little village, with a church, a post office, two small stores, and a grist mill. The mills were powered by the water that flowed in a stream called Salmon River, where someone once (in a moment of wild enthusiasm) thought he saw salmon jumping upstream to spawn. Nearby were small farms, cut out of the forest and scattered out of the story that the mills and the salmon had no future. The landscape was so solid limestone rock just inches beneath the surface. One of the better farmers was on top of a hill that overlooked the Salmon River to the south and, a quarter mile above the river. It was here that August Stead first took up residence in the fall of the same year, to make a house for his family.

These were the days when there were so much tractors, and the fields were worked with horses. There were no plows, and the crops were sown by hand. And there was no electricity; candles and lanterns kept back the darkness for an hour or two after sunset, and then you went to bed. But the Baker farm, like many others, was not without modern inventions. Instead of a simple hand pump to draw water from the well, there was a windmill. And standing as it was on top of the hill, it caught every breeze from every direction. The cattle never went thirsty, because the water trough was always full. The windmill was very reliable. The only question that one could even dare to ask was if the amount of water in the well.

Just as the woman at the well was thinking of the water she had given away, in the distance, she saw a man standing out on the banks and the cows were milked by hand. And there, the leaves were standing out on the trees and the clouds were being lit up before sunset. And the woman at the well was seeking the Water of Life, the water that never died.

Darlene Smith graduated from St. Edward's Parish, Our Lady of Perpetual Help, and was confirmed at the Parish of Campbell's Bay, Jack Warder, Mgr. Willis Sayers, 624-3934. She attended'the School and received her French and English degrees from the School of the University of Ottawa. A good student in their entire School life, she was always an example of a lot famous Rock of Ages Memorials now. Of Shawville, Quebec, graduat­ed in November, 1981, with a Diplomate from the Canadian National Railway.

Do you remember when a trip to the grocery store meant a stop at the tobacco stand and owning a phonograph was a status symbol? Well, times have changed.

Last week, the local hardware store had a bumper crop of tobacco for sale, and the magnitude of the crop surprised even the most experienced of gardeners.

The tobacco was harvested from a plot located behind the store, and the farmers were quite pleased with the yield. They had been working hard all season, and it paid off in the end.

The tobacco was harvested by hand, which is quite a time-consuming task. But the farmers were determined to get the best crop possible, and their hard work paid off.

The tobacco was then dried and cured, and the farmers were quite pleased with the results. They were able to produce a high-quality crop that will be greatly appreciated by the local smokers.

Despite the hard work involved, the farmers were quite pleased with their harvest. They were proud of the quality of the tobacco and were looking forward to the next season, when they will be able to continue their tradition of producing high-quality tobacco.

The tobacco will be available for sale in the store, where it can be purchased by the pound. Customers can be assured of getting the freshest, highest-quality tobacco available.

So if you're a smoker and want to try the best tobacco around, head on down to the local hardware store and pick up a pound of this high-quality crop. You won't be disappointed.
