Some want invasion

Cuba exiles split on views

SAN JUAN, P.R.—(NEA)—A sharp split has developed among Cuban anti-Castro exiles here that could, as it spreads across the Caribbean, determine the future of Cuba and of U.S. relations with Latin America.

In the face of the Russian missile buildup which has seriously diminished Fidel Castro's prestige throughout the hemisphere and now threatens his regime with extinction, exile groups from Florida to Venezuela are flexing their muscles again at the prospect of going home with an invasion.

In San Juan, hub of Caribbean exile activity, a stepped-up campaign of posters, broadcasts, meetings and fence-mending caucuses among some 25 groups and their branch offices in Miami and Caracas have all the earmarks of the feverish weeks before the fruitless Bay of Pigs invasion in April, 1961. But working against this rising tide of invasion preparation is a slender, quiet, solitary Cuban—Manolo Ray, once Castro's Minister of Public Works and then, until the 1961 invasion exposed and exterminated it, leader of the most powerful underground inside Cuba.

It is Ray's conviction that Cuba's liberation and future are the responsibility of Cubans—both exiles and those inside Cuba who are willing to fight Castro.

The U.S., Ray says, has undertaken the responsibility of keeping the hemisphere free and should not be expected to solve Cuba's problems for the Cubans. On the other hand, Castro cannot be left in power, no matter what kind of a showase he presents for the evils of communism.

What Ray wants to build is another powerful underground capable of resisting the Castro government.

"Within a reasonable time," Ray says, "you will see how it works. For the first time since the Bay of Pigs I am encouraged by the reports I am receiving from Cuba and from the remnants of our old organization here."

In April, 1961, when Ray joined the Revolutionary

Council of exile leaders in Miami (against his better judgment but urged to do so by invasion planners), his People's Revolutionary Movement (MRP) inside Cuba was estimated at about 50,000 (cc) saboteurs, spies, recruiters and peso-per-month contributing sympathizers. They were people who had made Castro's rise to power possible and felt betrayed by him.

Leadership of this powerful network thus passed out of Ray's hands and into the machinery of the invasion plan. In return, Ray was promised that the underground would be given first priority in the liberated government of Cuba.

Instead, Ray discovered, the invasion scheme was shot through with followers of former dictator Fulgencio Batista and other power-seeking exile groups while Ray's MRP underground was not only by-passed but actually yielded up to death and capture when the invasion began.

"Betrayed and discredited among my people," Ray says, "I vowed not to work either with a council of leaders or an invasion organization led by outsiders. I left Miami as soon as I could."

For the past year Ray has been using his training as an engineer with the Puerto Rico Planning Board in the development of low-cost housing. At the same time, he has been using his patience and leadership to rebuild an underground inside Cuba.

The new organization is called "Jure"—an acronym for Junta Revolucionaria and a Spanish word for "oath."

Within the past months it has concentrated on establishing a network of radio contacts and canvassing Cuba with organizers who have successfully landed and traveled the country with underground help. The first report.

• Despite strict military government, people are willing to work for liberation with explosives and arms.

• Castro can no longer be certain of answering allegiance among his militia.

• A considerable cadre of exiles has come to Ray's support.

It is more than a surprise to this reporter to learn that few exile groups doubt Ray's claims and reports.

It is no surprise at all that only a very few support him.

One leader of the Puerto Rican Unity Committee of 21 exile organizations says matter-of-factly: "Oh, he'll come around to joining when the fighting starts."

World leaders busy probing

A month ago at the height of the Cuban crisis, Belgium's veteran foreign minister, Paul-Henri Spaak, observed: "Perhaps from the evil of these last days something good will come."

This week, with both the Cuban and Himalayan crises dampened down, world leaders probed on several fronts to see whether anything good could come of them.

In the East, as an outgrowth of the border fighting between India and Communist China, Prime Minister Nehru of India and President Ayub Khan of Pakistan agreed to new negotiations on their deep-seated dispute over Kashmir.

In Washington Anastas Mikoyan, trouble-shooting first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, met with President Kennedy for discussions that moved beyond the Cuban issue.

And at Geneva the 17-nation disarmament conference took up again the laborious task of finding a solution on nuclear testing and disarmament.

BREAK FOR INDIA
The agreement to talk on

Kashmir was welcomed by allies of India and Pakistan, who had been urging the two to get together and thus allow India to concentrate its strength to meet the Chinese threat.

It meant that India could withdraw troops from the northern province — disputed since partition in 1947 — for deployment on the Himalayan border.

But neither side appeared hopeful of solid results. Many Pakistanis, concerned over Western arms shipments to India, condemned even the first tentative negotiations.

The Himalayan front itself remained quiet following China's Nov. 22 cease-fire, although Peking on Thursday

Could trigger Israel-Arab war

Yemen war spilling over into Middle East

By REUBEN SLONIM

Take the legends of the Thousand and One Nights, mix them with oil, blood, intrigue and the power plays of a would-be modern Saladin and you have the ingredients of what has been called the "semi-declared war" that is spilling over the Middle East from Yemen.

Cuba and the Chinese-Indian struggle have taken the spotlight away from this danger spot, but make no mistake about its significance.

It involves the world's great powers and could so upset the Middle East balance as to trigger hostilities between Israel and the Arabs.

This shooting war has engaged Saudi-Arabian units against troops that rose up and deposed the monarchy in Yemen a couple of months ago.

President Nasser actively supports the insurrectionary regime.

Add Red China, with specialists in Yemen. Add also the Soviet Union and its technicians and agents in the same area.

Count the U.S. worried about what could happen to the largest single investment outside the North American continent, the Arabian American Oil Co., whose Saudi Arabian holding is estimated at $1 billion.

The U.S., remember, has a strategically important air base in Saudi Arabia's Dhahran.

Include Britain, which has a military base in neighboring Aden, where much of the population considers itself to be Yemeni, has declared itself on the side of Yemen's revolutionary republicans and would like to see the British out on their collective ear.

Include also the little monarchy of Jordan, which has a military and economic treaty with Saudi Arabia aimed directly at felling Col. Nasser.

Finally, Israel, normally opposed to all Arab states and vice versa, has suddenly begun to show sympathy for Yemen's deposed monarch and his backers in Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

This is because Israel fears that if Egypt succeeds in aiding a revolution in Yemen, Nasser will be encouraged into similar adventures in Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

This would upset the status quo and make co-existence with the Arab world even more difficult than it is.

Already Israel's fears are at a high point by the knowledge that four of King Saud's brothers have fled to Cairo to be free to agitate against the Saudi regime, five Saudi airmen have absconded to Cairo in four Saudi planes, and three Jordanian pilots, including Jordan's chief of staff have defected to Egypt in jet fighters.

Now try this for conflicting pressures. Nasser wants the U.S. to recognize the new Yemen government.

He is said to have 12,000 air and ground troops helping Yemeni republicans. The word is that they have suffered heavy casualties, some 180 killed and 1,000 wounded.

The difficulties in transporting supplies down the Suez Canal and over Yemen's rough terrain are reported to be costing as much as $1 million a day.

It's easy to see why Nasser wants out.

But he claims that even more money is coming from King Saud and Jordan's King Hussein who are serving as treasurers for the fight against the revolutionaries.

Great mystery solved

A grisly relic tracked down; Cromwell's head finally found

Cambridge, England — (NEA)—After donning his best deerstalker cap and borrowing the neighbor's bloodhound, I have at last solved the great mystery of Oliver Cromwell's head.

Cromwell's blackened and mummified head has been kicking around the British Isles for the past 300 years, until recently it got lost, or so it seemed.

But by using Sherlock Holmes' own deductive methods I have now tracked down the grisly relic to Cambridge University. I can report that it lies buried beneath the floor of the Sidney Sussex College chapel, and that it has been there since March, 1660.

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

This is more than some of Britain's best academic brains have been able to find out.

Cromwell's head has had a troubled career, which is perhaps befitting for the man who himself achieved power by beheading King Charles I. Before coming to its final resting place, it has been stolen, pawned, and even exhibited as a peep show curiosity.

When I accused Cambridge University officials of keeping mum about the head's present whereabouts I met with a frosty reception. "There's nothing secret about the head at all," I was told. "If you will look in the chapel annex you will find a plaque which states plainly that the head is buried there."

This will come as news to some of Britain's academic gentlemen. Ignorant of the fact that the head lies safely buried, they have been arguing furiously in the columns of The Daily Telegraph for the past month what to do with the ugly noggin.

Some would like to re-unite the head with Cromwell's body for a decent re-burial. The only snag here is that no one knows where Cromwell's body is buried.

administration in Manitoba for 43 years.

Mr. Roblin is taking every precaution against the reverse happening in 1962.

Earlier, when it appeared likely that the Federal Government would survive until the spring or summer of 1963, Mr. Roblin had planned to call another legislative session in February, push through an election-bait program and then go to the people shortly before a federal election.

The antics and threats of Mr. Caouette changed all that overnight.

Surprise in Manitoba

Caouette triggers West election

WINNIPEG — (TNS) — Events that triggered a snap election in Manitoba occurred in Ottawa, not in Winnipeg. It was a Social Credit, Quebec firebrand Real Caouette, not Conservative Premier Duff Roblin, who was instrumental in setting the December 14 date.

When Premier Roblin announced the election, both Liberal and New Democrat opposition, not to mention many Conservative stalwarts, were caught completely off guard.

And well they might be. Only three days earlier Mr. Roblin had called in Liberal leader, Gildas Molgat and NDP chieftain Russ Paulley to prepare them for two by-elections Dec. 12.

The following day Mr. Roblin was humiliated by the last-second refusal of ex-Liberal Rene Prefontaine to accept a Manitoba cabinet post.

Despite all its sensational trappings, the last-minute rejection of a cabinet seat by Mr. Prefontaine had no bearing on subsequent events.

Shortly after his loss of face in the Prefontaine affair, Mr. Roblin is reported to have received confidential word from Ottawa that his Federal colleagues didn't expect to remain in office long after the new year.

The refusal of Mr. Caouette and some of his colleagues to support the Conservatives in a confidence vote was the tip-off for Mr. Roblin.

Ever since last summer, Mr. Roblin's plans for a provincial election have been based on the belief that it was necessary to get the Manitoba vote cleared away before another federal campaign could indicate that the political winds are blowing against the Tories.

Mr. Roblin had to look back only four years to find backing for his conviction.

In 1958, the then Liberal Premier Douglas Campbell, called a provincial vote in the wake of the great Diefenbaker sweep. The Conservatives, under Mr. Roblin, rode into office. It was the first Tory

THE WEEK IN PICTURES

ARCTIC WONDER — Winter in the north has its compensations, especially in the beauty of the northern lights. The pulsating bursts of electrical charges, known scientifically as aurora borealis, are never seen so brilliantly or colorfully as in the North. This photo was taken from a residential street in Yellowknife, N.W.T.

ORANGES ARE HERE — A sure sign that Christmas can't be far off: The vessel Martha Bakke heads into Vancouver Harbor from the Pacific with the first cargo of Japanese oranges for Canada. She arrived today with 364,000 boxes.

News in brief

25 are killed

NEW YORK (AP)—Investigators early today began seeking the cause of the crash of an Eastern Air Lines DC-7B while instrument-landing Friday night at fogbound Idlewild Airport. The flaming wreck took 25 lives, including that of the pilot, but 26 persons survived.

Several even walked away from the wreckage.

Among the survivors was John Defir, 38, of Edmonton.

It was the sixth major plane crash within a week, with the previous five taking a combined toll of 181 lives.

MPs absent

OTTAWA (CP)—If the Commons ever sits on the same day as the Grey Cup game, attendance likely will be sparser than it was Friday—but not much.

Fewer than 40 MPs stayed around in the 265-seat Commons Friday afternoon for a dragging agriculture debate, main theme of which was a speech made outside the House Nov. 12.

Back to Russia

WASHINGTON (CP) — First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan flies back to Moscow today, leaving puzzled and disappointed U.S. officials behind. He apparently showed no willingness to give ground, either on Cuba or other cold war issues.

A high U.S. authority said the Russians are crating their medium jet bombers and hauling them to port, preparing to pull them out of Cuba as Soviet Premier Khrushchev had promised. But he said Mikoyan would not yield to President Kennedy's demands for United Nations inspection of Cuba, other than to agree that Soviet American negotiators at the UN be instructed to continue talks on remaining Cuban issues.

U Thant in

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—U Thant, who looks upon the world with the calm eye of an Asian philosopher, was today the third full-fledged secretary-general of the United Nations.

Thant, one-time teacher and journalist in his native Burma, was elected to the top UN post Friday by the 110-member 17th General Assembly on the unanimous recommendation of the 11-member Security Council.

Face action

MONTREAL (CP) — Nearly 200 grocers in the Montreal and Sherbrooke, Que., areas are facing court action from the Quebec College of Pharmacists for what the college terms illegal sale of medicaments, it was learned Friday.

The Quebec Grocers' Association has protested to the Quebec attorney-general's department, maintaining that some retailers have been selling some of the products for years.

The association also protested against the procedure followed by the college, claiming the college is acting especially against grocers outside Montreal proper because court rolls are overloaded in the metropolitan area.

The association claims also that the college, through acquisition of fines, is trying to make up a $65,000 deficit incurred this year.

Gas spreads

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — A yellow - green fog of deadly chlorine gas crept over a square mile of this seaway city Friday night, spreading near-panic in its path.

Masked rescue workers took 103 persons to hospital. Twenty-seven were admitted, including nine children. Early today hospital spokesman said all but five were in "good condition" and none was critical.

Police and firemen evacuated another 200 persons and sealed a 30-block area in the northeast section of the city, a second - class residential district surrounding a railway marshalling area.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Company, occasionally fires off a communique to United States television editors, and the most recent one, this week, dealt with "meaningful drama."

Armed with Sarnoff's definition of "meaningful drama" ("dealing with mature subjects, controversial themes or problems of direct pertinence to real people in real life") I tuned in this week's episode of The Eleventh Hour.

It was the story of a 19-year-old boy charged with the rape-murder of a classmate.

The story opened as the boy, with blood on his hands and a

$1,003 balance is reported by CWY at Bedford

BEDFORD — The monthly meeting of the Church Women's Year was held on Nov. 21, in the parish hall. The treasurer, Mrs. Percy Terrill, reported collections to date of $783.60 with bank balance of $1,003.96.

A letter was read from Canon Fricker, of Montreal, expressing thanks to the organization for its congratulatory letter to him on his marriage.

It was decided to hold a coffee party, open house, for the congregation in the parish hall on Dec. 23, following the morning service in St. James Church. Mrs. Ross Preston, program convener, and her committee, will be in charge of the arrangements.

The usual Christmas baskets will be distributed before Christmas.

The evening was spent in making 825 cancer dressings. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Grisdale Gould and Mrs. Eric Jones.

General Notes

The opening meeting of the St. James Church Bridge Club was held on Nov. 22, at the home of Mrs. Russell Blinco. Prize-winner for the evening was Mrs. Wilbur Borden.

Miss Isabel Marshall of Montreal, spent the weekend at her home here.

Mr. J. Ducharme, who has been a patient for some weeks in the Royal Victoria Hospital, in Montreal, has returned home.

Mrs. Wilbur Borden is the guest for a time of her sister Mrs. Clifford Parker, in Burlington, Vt.

Mrs. Mildred Short has returned from Claremont, N.H., where she visited her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. L. Whipple. She motored down with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Short of Stanbridge East, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Chadwick, in Windsor, Mass.

The seventh annual report of the Missisquoi Historical Society is now ready for distribution. Copies may be obtained in Bedford from W. H. Taylor, Mrs. Richard Craighead, or Bruce Kerwin.

GOULD

Mr. Perry Beaton was a guest of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Crotty in Sherbrooke and attended the Career Night in Lennoxville.

Among those attending the Scotch Concert, held in Scots-town, were Miss K. MacDonald, Mrs. A. Beaton, Miss Betsy Beaton, Mr. D. Beaton, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hills, Mrs. Wm. Gates, Mr. E. Gates, Miss N. Holden and Mrs. E. Watt.

Weekend guests of rs Alec Beaton were rs Rosalyn Taylor, and Mr. David Taylor, of Lachine.

Mr. A. Beliveau, of East Angus, spent several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Morrison.

Mr. Gerald Wintle, of Sherbrooke, was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Wintle.

Mrs. Mabel McBurney, Mrs. Elmer Dempsey, Mrs. Gertrude McGilton and Mrs. Alfred Robinson comprise the nominating committee to draw up the slate of officers for 1963.

The next regular meeting will be the annual meeting in January when a Pot Luck lunch will be served.

Supper was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mrs. Lloyd Morrison and Mrs. Kenneth McBurney.

SAFETY PLAY SLAM SAVER

Here is a hand that will appear as an old friend to many readers and as an old enemy to others. It contains a safety play that comes up regularly in both rubber bridge and duplicate and while this play is second nature to an expert it is remarkable how often other players miss it.

This hand appeared in the last rubber of a high stake bridge game on Long Island.

As in most high stake games the bidding was fast and furious.

North leaped to four no-trump after his partner's opening spade and continued to seven spades after South showed two aces. I have no criticism of North's bidding. He held that rare hand which justified taking complete control.

South won the first trick with the ace of clubs and led his three of spades. West played the deuce and South went up with dummy's queen. East showed out and another grand slam bit the dust.

The bad trump break was tough luck, but South could have guarded against it. He should have led his ace of spades at trick two. When East showed out South would have been able to pick up the suit by leading another spade, winning as cheaply as possible in dummy, coming back to his hand with a diamond and leading a third spade through West.

Sweetsburg breeder is champion

TORONTO — A Wendybrook Jersey, owned by Pierre Veillon, of Sweetsburg, has won the male junior championship in judging competition at the Royal Winter Fair here this year.

The Wendybrook herd of Mr. Veillon was the only Quebec exhibitor this year but managed to take several important prizes, including the male junior championship.

The male junior championship was Wendybrook Margie's Dream, the first prize junior yearling bull.

There were 345 head of Jerseys at the show, said to be the greatest in the history of the Royal. Judge was Maurice C. Beatty, well-known breeder of Milton, Ontario.

In the Senior Bull class their entry, Wendybrook Cam Raffles placed second in a class of 20. As mentioned before, they won the Junior Yearling class, and in the Aged Bull class a bull, owned jointly by Pierre Veillon and R. W. Simpson, placed fifth.

In the Junior Herd class the Veillon entry placed third.

In the 4-year-old, in milk, class, one of the strongest in the show, the Wendybrook entry, Wendybrook Victor Therese, placed first, was awarded the Embleton Trophy for best-uddered female, and the Schulman Trophy for first prize 4-year-old in milk, from a Canadian bred dam. A maternal sister, Wendybrook Rose Therese, placed fourth in the Aged Cows, in milk, with 28 shown.

The Wendybrook herd also produced the first prize Dairy Herd and the first prize-winning Produce of Dam entry, which included the first prize 4-year-old and the fourth prize Aged Cow, in milk, Wendybrook Victor Therese and Wendybrook Rose Therese, respectively. The second prize Produce of Dam, won jointly by Pierre Veillon and Henry Uihlein, included Genetice Keeper Charmaine, a cow from the Wendybrook herd which placed eleventh in the 4-year-old class.

High Times

By SANDRA PICKFORD

December 1 — the first day of the festive month. It seems almost impossible that Christmas is so near but high school students have already made plans for Christmas concerts, plays, dances, a tree for the classroom, the Christmas assembly, the filling of Christmas stockings for Red Cross and the drawing of names for swapping classroom gifts.

Along the first news of Christmas activities comes from Asbestos - Danville - Shipton High School at Danville that the annual Christmas dance will be held December 14. The dance is open to the students of the school, their parents and friends. The Students' Council of North Hatley High School are to hold a Christmas dance December 22. Waterloo High School is to hold their fifth annual Christmas concert December 13 with all classes taking part.

NEW SCHOOL EXTENSION OPENED — Waterloo High School was visited by over 300 persons November 26 during the official opening of the new extension. New facilities for WHS students include a new laboratory, library, ten classrooms, playground and cafeteria. The old part of the building has been remodelled too, with a visual aid room, domestic science room, staff rooms, principal's office and nurses quarters. Guest speaker at the opening was H. S. Billings, director of education says correspondent Nora Streeter.

CAMPAIGN OVER — The magazine campaign at Cookshire High School is over for this year: says correspondent, Deborah Todd. CHS students collected $516.29. Top salesmen were Marilyn Fraser and Marion Batrie.

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE — Kathy Barnard and Brian Carr have been chosen to represent the Asbestos - Danville - Shipton High School at the annual Students' Council Conference to be held at Macdonald College January 18 and 19. To represent Cookshire High School at the conference are Pam Lane and Terry Williams.

GOOD PROFIT — The magazine campaign at Waterloo High School realized a profit of approximately $350 this year. Top salesmen were Terry Warnock, $32.98; Beverly Norris, $32.95; Peter Tetrault, $32.50; Tony Sanschagrin and Larry Poulin.

TO ATTEND TOURNAMENT — The senior basketball team of St. Francis High School at Richmond are planning to attend a tournament to be held in Three Rivers December 7 and 8 says correspondent Eleanor Duffy.

While we are speaking of tournaments, congratulations are in order to members of the girls' and boys' volleyball teams at Sherbrooke High School who captured both championships at the mixed volleyball tournament held last Saturday at SHS. A "good try" goes to consolation finalists, St. Pat's in the boys' section and Bury in the girls' division.

ANOTHER GOOD TRY goes to the boys of St. Patrick High School's Rocket Club who at Little Lake Magog Sunday failed to get one of their nine rockets off the launching pad. Undaunted though, I hear the boys are going to attempt another try in about two weeks. Correspondent Richard Wilson says club members met last night to discuss problems which will be arising during the next launchings.

RED CROSS CALENDAR SALES were begun in all classes at Asbestos - Danville - Shipton High School this week under the direction of the Red Cross Council.

OTTAWA OR BUST — The students of grades 10 and 11 at Princess Elizabeth High School at Magog are still working to raise money for their trip to Ottawa says correspondent, Kerry Lee. A Sock Hop was held November 23 to raise more funds and the theme of the dance was Ottawa or Bust. The prize for the best decorated and most original pair of socks was won by Linda Whittier. Jane Cayford and John Brookhouse won the twist contest and the spot dance. Prizes were records. At the hop the tickets for the raffle which grade 11 sponsored were drawn.

NEW TREASURER — Dave Rattray has been named to the position of treasurer of the Students' Council at St. Francis High School at Richmond. Bill Butler has been chosen as Dave's assistant.

GRADUATES of Sherbrooke's St. Patrick High School who were taught by Brother Paul Graus S.D.B. will be interested to learn that next Saturday he will be ordained a priest in Belgium. Brother Paul taught for three years at St. Patrick High School.

PAPER DRIVE — Grades ten and 11 students at Magog's Princess Elizabeth High School are to hold the conclusion of their paper drive today.

DONATES PIANO — The Mother's Guild of St. Patrick High School recently donated a piano to the school. This new piano, says Richard Wilson, will replace the one which has been used in the old school for many years.

Mr. Charles Johnson, formerly of Toronto, who is spending the winter with his sister, Mrs. E. A. Scott, had the misfortune to fall on the icy road, while walking to the village on Nov. 24 and fracture his hip. He is now a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, where he underwent surgery.

Miss Geraldine Parker, of Montreal, and Mr. Murdo Parker, of Vancouver, B.C., spent the weekend at the Parker home here and visited their mother, Mrs. Pearl Parker, in the Magog Hospital.

Photographs make inexpensive presents

Gift time is worry time for most of us. However, practical gifts are the most appreciated, price should be considered.

Photographs are most inexpensive gifts when their personal value is considered. The subjects can run from scenery to houses to the family or just the children alone.

and the gift can be completed by framing the photograph appropriately.

There are three ways to accomplish this photo present.

With either a do-it-yourself project, used from start to finish or you may have your favorite negative enlarged and framed by a local photo dealer.

A final suggestion is the procuring of the services of a professional photographer.

Lesage cabinet posts

To appoint new ministers

The first stage in the reorganization of the Lesage cabinet following the recent provincial general elections is expected to be effected Wednesday morning following the weekly cabinet session. According to semi-official reports no major changes in the portfolios held by present ministers will be made before Christmas and Wednesday's appointments probably will be confined to the induction of two or three new ministers to fill posts vacant by the election or to portfolios held by a man heading another department.

Mentioned most prominently in this connection is the swearing in of Carrier Fortin, Member-elect for Sherbrooke, to the ministry of finance. Premier Lesage has held onto this post since the 1960 elections in addition to carrying on the duties of Premier and of Federal-Provincial Affairs.

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record staff writer)

Another post to be filled immediately is that of trade and commerce, now held by Andre Rousseau, the only cabinet minister to be defeated in the Nov. 14 elections. This portfolio may be placed, temporarily, with a present member of the cabinet pending the general reorganization expected shortly after the Legislature opens January 15.

One of the first items on the order paper probably will be a shuffling of departmental responsibilities which will see some portfolios disappear and a number of new posts created. Once the measure has been approved Premier Lesage will be free to announce the permanent heads of the various departments.

TO HONOR LOCAL MEMBER — The Liberal organization for the Lennoxville area are planning a gala event for Monday evening in St. Anthony's Hall when Carrier Fortin, M.L.A. for Sherbrooke, will be guest of honor at a banquet tendered by the Lennoxville Liberal workers.

Lennoxville organizers are particularly jubilant over their showing in the Nov. 14 election, which marked the first time since Confederation that Lennoxville voters have given a majority to a Liberal candidate.

Youth fined, license suspended

A 20-year-old Waterville youth was found guilty of reckless driving in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions Friday by Judge Evender Veilleux who fined him $50 and suspended his license for three months.

Roger Cyr, who pleaded not guilty to the charge told the court Thursday, he had taken pills to relieve pains of injuries received in an accident at work which made him fall asleep at the wheel of his car, miss a curve in the road at North Hatley, Sept. 14, mount a sidewalk, strike a pole, and hitting a tree before coming to a halt.

Two witnesses of the accident, Mr. and Mrs. Edouard Raymond, of North Hatley told the court they heard the squealing of tires and saw the car coming about 60-70 miles an hour when it mounted the sidewalk striking the pole.

The three said Cyr had one or two small bottles of beer before the accident which did not affect him but they admitted he had fallen asleep several times during the trip from the Hillcrest Resort on their way to North Hatley.

Scouting and Cubbing

The Cubs, Scouts, group committee members and all friends of Scouting congratulate Jeffrey Atto, of the First Sherbrooke Troop, who has been selected from four districts to join the Canadian contingent to the World Jamboree in Greece in August, 1963.

Members of the Fifth Sherbrooke Troop are taking a book binding course under the instruction of Roger Asselin of 210 Montreal Street. Warren Sanderson, William Ward, John Benoit, Johanne Sepp and Bob Lesser will attend the course every Saturday over a period of eight weeks, and will eventually qualify for the Book Binder's Badge. For the present, this number is limited but it is hoped that Mr. Asselin would be willing to take another five boys from other Troops for the same course later on.

District Commissioner Percy Gray attended a recent Troop meeting at Tenth Sherbrooke. The commissioner spoke to the Scouts reminding them that they represent a nucleus of a new Troop and it will be their responsibility to pave the way for new boys and keep the Troop active.

Under the leadership of Scoutmaster Owen Phelan and Assistant Ben Huot, the Tenth Sherbrooke Scouts went on a hike last Saturday. Instruction was given on the proper way to use an axe and knife, and how to cook meals on different types of fires. There was also a demonstration on how to build a windbreak shelter.

District Cubmaster R. Tracey and District Commissioner Gray, attended a Pack Meeting of St. Patrick's Group and during the campfire period, Mr. Tracey entertained the Cubs with a story. Vic Jarjour, Jr. has been made sixer of the Pack. We are happy to learn that Assistant Roger Duval is now at home, recovering from his

Exchange use starts tomorrow

Approximately 660 telephone customers in Deauville, now being served by the Sherbrooke telephone exchange, will have their own local telephone exchange and completely new seven-figure telephone numbers, effective December 2.

The announcement was made by P. W. Lesser, Bell Telephone manager in Sherbrooke.

The new numbers will consist of a three-figure exchange number, 864, followed by four other figures. Thus a typical new number for Deauville might be 864-1234. This system, All Number Calling, is being gradually adopted throughout the Bell Telephone territories in Quebec and Ontario.

Deauville customers are also reminded that they will have to dial all seven figures of the new numbers in order to complete their calls. To help cut down on calls to Information after December 2 for Deauville numbers, subscribers in that community are asked to give their new telephone numbers to relatives and friends who might call from Sherbrooke or other nearby communities.

Meanwhile, supplementary telephone directories containing all the new Deauville numbers, will be sent to Deauville subscribers before the date of the changeover.

School bus campaign needed again?

Now that we are well into another school year, school buses are out on the highways of the Eastern Townships in great numbers. And, unfortunately, there are already reports of accidents. In Mel-bourne, near Richmond this week, a boy alighting from a school bus was hit by a car and injured badly enough to be sent to hospital.

Last year about this time, a campaign was conducted by the district Provincial Police, in cooperation with school boards throughout the E. T. and their school bus drivers to stamp out violations of the Motor Vehicles Act concerning school buses.

A section of the act clearly states that vehicles may not pass a stopped school bus from either direction. There were, it will be remembered, a large number of convictions of offenders last year.

If there are large numbers of violations again this year, no doubt a similar campaign will have to be carried out. But it need not be necessary.

Motorists can ensure not only observance of the law but also the safety of our school children simply by obeying the law themselves.

There is, it is true, some small inconvenience involved, especially when one meets a stopped school bus on an otherwise clear highway. But the provision has been included to provide that margin of safety experience has shown school children require. It is designed to prevent the useless loss of young lives and the tragic maiming of young bodies. Giving up a minute or two of travel time is a small price to pay for this kind of protection.

A trend to year-round universities

With the number of students qualified and desiring to enter university far above the available facilities, there has been consideration given in recent years to operating Canadian universities more efficiently than most of them are operating now.

It has been pointed out in several quarters that if universities remained open 12 months of the year, instead of only eight, some large part of the enrolment problem would be solved. But there has been resistance to this kind of a change. As Bishop's University pointed out in a brief to the Quebec Royal Commission on Education this summer, "the current system, with its extended summer holiday, enjoys the threefold blessing of tradition, amiability and climate."

Now, it appears, there is a trend away from traditional, no matter how amiable it may be.

A special booklet just issued by the National Employment Service outlining employment opportunities for university graduates, notes there are significant influences at work throughout North America involving the fuller use of university facilities.

The report says a number of universities in the United States now function for the entire year, and starting with the 1962-63 academic year, all universities in Florida operate full time for 12 months of the year. Education authorities in Florida say that the ability to provide for all of the students who ought to attend college in Florida is contingent in part upon attainment of fuller utilization of existing and projected institutional facilities.

The booklet says that "recent studies which have been made in Alberta indicate thought is being given there to a similar plan in that province. And Sir George Williams in Montreal and the University of Waterloo, Ont., already have operations of a like nature."

"If," the booklet says, "the 12-month trend continues, universities and colleges will be able to handle larger enrolments with the same facilities and turn out more graduates in a shorter length of time."

There can be little quarrel with this conclusion or that this kind of a development is desirable. We have urgent need of the fullest possible use of precious available university facilities.

Haydn S. Pearson's COUNTRY FLAVOR

Boy trains steers and himself, too

It may be true, as Grandmother claimed, that it is easier to train a steer than a boy. It is probably true also that boys who have trained young steers derived as much benefit as the four-legged animals.

Grandfather believed in ox power. He claimed one could grow his own power on home-raised feeds, and after working a yoke for a year or two the animals could be fattened and sold as prime beef. He believed that horse power kept farmers poor buying feed and harnesses, shoes and expensive wagons and tools.

A 12-year-old earned five cents an hour for training the six months old steers. Each chunky little steer was first handled individually and taught the ox vocabulary of whoa, get up, gee and haw. Young steers, like young children, vary in their ability to learn. But as Grandfather said, once a steer learned something, he had it for life.

After the individual halter training, two matched juveniles were paired with a small yoke. They were bewildered and uneasy at first, but patience and kindness soon taught the small steers that the yoke was nothing to fear. Then came the hours of teaching the two to start and stop together, to go to the right or swing to the left.

It was a patience-testing process, but as the weeks went by a boy knew he was succeeding. Came the late winter day when he hitched them to a small sled and drove around the field. Soon he was pulling small loads of wood down from the woodlot.

A lad put a mark on the barn door for each hour of training, and when 20 hours were done, he was proud of the silver dollar that was his pay. As a man looks back over half a century to those long ago days on the farm, he realizes that while he trained the young steers, he was learning lessons that did not come from text books.

Other papers say:

Providing man with lift to the job

The unemployment rates for October showed only 2.5 per cent of the labor force without work on the Prairies compared to 6.9 in the Atlantic area.

So there were job opportunities on the plains and many without work on the East Coast. And never the twain could meet?

The Government now proposes a significant step in bringing workers and jobs together by assisting in payment of the expenses of an individual who has to move a long way to find work.

In announcing this plan along with other programs to facilitate training and co-operation between labor and management, Labor Minister Starr made this wise observation:

"The average worker in our labor force today cannot expect to remain in a single occupation with a given set of skills for most of his working life. Unlike his father or his grandfather, he will have to make many adjustments to new skill and knowledge demands and on occasion even shift to completely new occupations, usually at higher levels of skills."

It would never do to under-rate our grandfathers, but the old men, bless them, were not hog-tied with the obligations of the modern Canadian.

Grandfather could — and did — expect his bride to leave a brick house among the Ontario elms and take up residence in a sod shack on the cruel Prairie. His grandson in Nova Scotia may get himself a job on the Prairie but wouldn't think of going to it by riding a freight. And he would not expect his wife and children to be content with sub-standard accommodation.

The pattern of jobs and their location undergo violent change. Canada remains a country where opportunities develop unexpectedly and jobs appear at for example, that new potash mine deep under the soil of Saskatchewan while the Nova Scotia coal mines need fewer men.

What cannot be expected today is that a large transient population of skilled and unskilled workmen will move automatically to the place where they are needed. The harvest excursion trains have disappeared and so have the husbands and father who used to wander the continent hunting jobs. The emphasis has been on building homes, better education for children, improved health services for the family and guarantees of social security, including unemployment insurance benefits. To ask a worker to abandon what he has built and take of into the blue, paying a fortune in fares while hunting a job or moving to a job, is to ask too much. Unemployment insurance is a deterrent. By proposing assistance for the movement of workers the Government recognizes the plain facts of the situation and should be given the prompt approval of Parliament.

Diefenbaker wheat position immoral

Dear Sir:

The Liberals in Quebec have just been propelled into office on the jet-stream of a desire for economic self-sufficiency for our people here.

Of course, all thinking Quebecers realize just how much outside influences have on the effects of this progress; and, at the moment, we are faced with a very serious threat to a major industry, and a future threat which bodes still further ill.

I refer to Mr. Diefenbaker's deplorable immoral position relevant to the shipment of Canadian wheat to China, being used to feed that country's war machine. And more specifically, there is China's recent threat unless Canada buys more of her textiles and other goods, the sales contracts may not be renewed. This is very cheeky of China.

In the first place Canada has no right at all to sell China wheat to feed an army here.

Letters to the Editor must bear the signature of the writer. If a name de plume is desired, the identity of the writer will be kept confidential.

that is invading our Commonwealth sister, India. This is morally indefensible.

Equally important, is that any purchases by Canada of more cheaply-made textiles can only result in less sales by our mills at home, more unemployment, less take-home pay and other asserted evils.

It is up to the government of Quebec to make its protest strongly felt in Ottawa and in no softly-couched terms. Also, the opposition in Ottawa should be informed properly so that an intelligent stand can be taken in the house against this vicious government policy.

I fear Mr. Diefenbaker is just kissing the western wheat bins so he can get the western vote he needs so badly. All this to perpetuate in office an already tattered remnant of the great "vision."

Our government in Quebec should not be permitted to sit by and twiddle its thumbs while what amounts to a serious threat to our industry and livelihood is at hand.

Yours sincerely
Real Polier
Montreal.

Adventures with God

Unfaithfulness leads to despair we can depend on His promises

"Confidence in an unfaithful man in time of trouble is like a broken tooth, and a foot out of joint." Proverbs 25:19.

Unfaithfulness or infidelity has plunged more human beings into despair than poverty or physical suffering. It is the sin that keeps the divorce courts busy and the homes for deserted children filled. It keeps the mental hospitals overcrowded with men and women who have lost hope in God and their fellows because someone in whom they trusted has let them down like a foot out of joint.

A disappointed foot is a painful injury. Those who have experienced this condition will agree that it can drive out all thought of anything else.

One may be suffering from a cold or a headache, either of which most persons can take standing up, but a foot out of joint throws one off balance and makes one forget the lesser ills that afflict.

Some call it a counter-irritant but we think of it as a major affliction because of its effect on both mind and body.

But unfaithfulness goes even deeper affecting body, mind and spirit. Broken promises lead to broken homes and hearts and minds and spirits.

BROKEN PROMISE
Many there be that suffer

Many times we have attended the weddings of young

from the chain of events that follow a broken promise. Their number grows with the passing years and the humanistic approach to behavior. Scarcely a day passes without a call from one or two people who have been plunged into the depths of despair by the unfaithfulness of a partner.

Not a few of the disillusioned try to escape the agony of despair by ending their lives mostly because they do not know or have forgotten that there is One in whom they can trust.

When one of these despairing members of society remembers that God Who promised is faithful, a ray of hope penetrates the darkness of the mind.

Many times we have attended the weddings of young friends and heard them solemnly promise to love, honor and keep in sickness and in health and forsaking all others cleave only unto each other till death do them part.

We have seen the loveliest flicker in their youthful eyes as they have pledged their troth and sealed the bargain by giving and taking of a ring. And a few years later we have been shocked and grieved when one of the contracting parties deserted the other for someone else.

This is tragedy of the highest degree and it has been precipitated by a broken promise. Someone has been unfaithful and let somebody else down like a foot out of joint.

TURN TO GOD

The deserted and disillusioned party is stunned and despairing and afraid to trust either God or man. Sometimes for days and nights and weeks and months and years they think of nothing else.

Some turn to alcohol and others to drugs to assuage their grief and a few turn back to God, the Lover who will never leave them or forsake them.

Twice within a few hours we heard of two couples whose homes and hearts had been newly broken. We turned to the scriptures for words that might bring comfort and hope into their despairing hearts.

And we recalled George Matheson the blind hymnist whose lover, it is reported, forsook him and fled. In a moment of overwhelming grief his mind turned to God and he penned the immortal lines:

O love that will not let me go,
I rest my weary soul on Thee;
I give Thee back the life I owe,
That in Thine ocean depths its flow
May richer fuller be
O joy that seekest me

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — Today, the case of the one-sided hearing on the ills of the government's airline business.

This week members of the Commons' committee on railways, airlines and shipping heard Trans-Canada Airlines' president Gordon McGregor testify that if it weren't for the competition of Canadian Pacific Airlines, TCA wouldn't be plagued by deficits.

CPA's single daily transcontinental flight (compared with 7 1/2 daily transcontinental flights by TCA) cost TCA $5,300,000 last year, McGregor said.

If the MPs had been privileged to hear both sides of the story, they would have heard CPA president Grant McConachie snort "Bunkum!" But he wasn't there; this was a committee inquiry into the government-owned line, not into competition as such. I got McConachie's reaction by phoning and asking him.

McGregor presented a picture of a man unjustly done by when he told the committee that McConachie stubbornly refused to charge as much as TCA for a ticket from Montreal to Vancouver.

One's heart bleeds for Mr. McGregor. Especially if one is buying a ticket from Montreal to Vancouver. But McGregor magnanimously told the MPs he wasn't protesting to the Air Transport Board, because that wouldn't be "tactical."

And there Mr. McGregor said a mouthful. For, as McConachie pungently pointed out, McGregor "has been running his fares up and down like a yo-yo" without any let or leave from the ATB.

First McGregor cancelled a scheduled five per cent cut because, he said, of CPA competition. Then McGregor took the initiative in bringing about a joint TCA-CPA farecut of up to 30 per cent on long hauls, but with increases on short flights (up from $7 to $16, between Vancouver and Victoria).

A result was a heavy shift from first class to economy class travel, and TCA lost money. In desperation last spring McGregor increased his fares, but McConachie refused McGregor's pleas that CPA do likewise. That is how the fare differential came about. CPA found it could provide service at the lower fare, and declined to enter into a normally illegal price-fixing agreement with TCA. Free enterprise competition was paying off for the customers.

Further blaming CPA for his own boob, McGregor said it is "unheard of" for lines supplying similar service to charge different rates. Someone should have asked him if he had inquired as to the jet rates between New York and Puerto Rico charged by Trans-Caribbean (low) and Pan-American (high).

If the MPs had heard both sides of the story, they might have concluded that CPA is more sinned against than sinning. Witness: TCA may run as many cross-country flights as it wants; CPA is restricted to one a day. TCA can stop at or overfly cities at will; CPA must stop at Toronto and Winnipeg. And CPA may not stop at Edmonton to pick up passengers that CPA has brought from Whitehorse and other northern points — this is traffic contributed to TCA.

Why doesn't TCA drop its fares to meet CPA competition? McGregor was asked.

"I don't think my function is to make the government lose money," he replied blandly.

MPs applauded.

All the wool around Parliament Hill obviously isn't in the navy's thousand year supply of union suits.

through pain,
I cannot close my heart to Thee;
I trace the rainbow through the rain,
And feel the PROMISE is not vain
That morn shall tearless be.

NOT FORSAKEN

God's promises are not vain like some of the promises made by men and women at the altar. Through thick and thin, through joy and suffering, through poverty and riches "He is faithful that promised" and though:

Earthly friends may fail and leave us,
One day soothe, the next day grieve us,
Our faithful God will not deceive us,
Oh how He loves!

He is "the faithful God, which keepeth His covenant and mercy with them that love Him and keep His commandments."

And He has promised those who put their trust in Him: "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee."

There in the midst of your dark abyss sorrowing, disillusioned one, waits the God of all comfort and faithfulness to draw you into a new adventure of hope, trust and friendship that can eclipse any association you have ever experienced on the physical level.

Write off the past and put your hand into the hand of God and step out into the darkness.

He alone can be trusted to keep all His promises. Many are in despair today because they have crowded God out of their affections and trusted in man.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dec. 1, 1962 . . .

President Franklin Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Russia's Joseph Stalin concluded their meeting in Teheran, Iran, at which they reached on the scope and timing of operations to smash the German armies in the Second World War 19 years ago today—in 1943. The allied leaders also planned a peace era in which all nations would be invited to join "a world family of democratic nations."

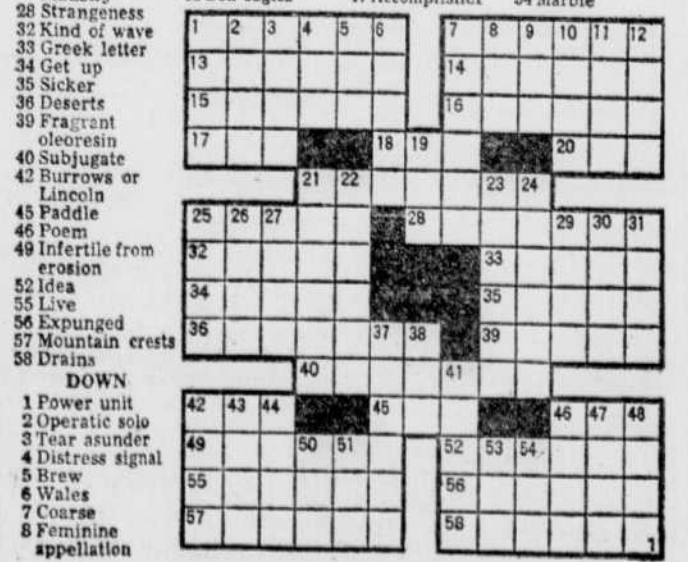

1953 — A school fire in Chicago claimed the lives of 89 children and three nuns.

1869 — The vast Hudson Bay Company territory was officially transferred from the Hudson's Bay Company to the Canadian Government.

charged the Indians with provocative troop movements up to the cease-fire line.

The Kennedy-Mikoyan meeting Thursday ended without any signs of a hoped-for shift in Russia's posture towards the West. The White House said "no real progress" had been made, with the Russian giving no ground on U.S. demands for international inspection of Cuba to make sure all Soviet offensive weapons are removed.

Earlier in the week the U.S. gave a cool reception to a proposal by Cuban Premier Castro agreeing to inspection provided the United Nations confirmed the dismantling of bases outside Cuba where, Castro said, counter-revolutionaries were being trained.

The Geneva disarmament talks resumed Monday, also with hopes for a shift in the Soviet stance. But Russia's Secretary Tsurupkin, while offering a halt to nuclear testing by the end of the year, continued to reject any on-site inspection of the ban as demanded by the West.

Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada urged a moratorium on underground tests, "of limited duration, perhaps a year or six months," while scientists worked out an inspection system.

This would allow agreement on ending all tests by Jan. 1 and "give the world something which will indeed make a happy new year," he told Friday's session.

One East-West agreement was registered during the week, however, as the United States and the Soviet Union both accepted U Thant, acting UN secretary-general, for a permanent term as head of the world body.

Roman Catholics around the world were asked Thursday to pray for the recovery of Pope John, stricken with worsening of a stomach disorder causing "rather intense" anemia.

The Vatican announcement followed several days of rumors and conflicting reports about the health of the Pope, who was 81 last Sunday.

On Friday the Vatican reported that the Pope was making a good recovery and had been able to get up briefly both Thursday and Friday.

Some 100 persons died when a Boeing 707 of the Brazilian Varig Air Line crashed into a mountain near Lima, Peru, Tuesday.

Among the victims were high officials of the Cuban and Peruvian governments, returning from a meeting in Brazil of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

The airline said 97 persons were aboard the big jetliner. But police digging through the wreckage late in the week indicated 105 had died. There were no survivors.

The second report of the Glasco royal commission on government, taking careful aim at government red tape, waste and duplication, was issued by Prime Minister Diefenbaker Tuesday.

The report, result of more than two years study by the commission headed by J. Grant Glasco of Toronto, recommended that two new central organizations be set up to handle purchasing and to manage property for the federal government.

It also suggested that many of the jobs being done by government could be handled more cheaply by private industry.

Earlier in the week the prime minister dropped what some observers interpreted as a hint of a spring election campaign.

He told the Commons Tuesday that Parliament could wind up its work for this session quickly if it would apply itself, but "I am not going to look beyond March or April."

The prime minister also made plans for a meeting with Prime Minister Macmillan in The Bahamas Dec. 21, after the British leader ends talks there with President Kennedy.

. . . Federal Works Minister Fulton announced Thursday that he is willing to head the British Columbia Conservative party if he is chosen by the party's convention in Vancouver in January.

Charges that Prince Edward Island was in financial trouble sounded across Canada's smallest province last week amid campaigning for the Dec. 10 provincial election.

The charges were made by Liberal Leader Alex Matheson who said Progressive Conservative Premier Shaw called hasty election before the public could find out about the "mess" in the treasury.

It's a straight two-party fight for the 30 assembly seats.

Meanwhile, Premier Shaw forecast that his government would spend $2,500,000—some of it federal funds—in the next few years to develop the island's economy.

Maritime shipping experts gathered in Halifax for Atlantic Ports Day to mark the unofficial opening of the winter shipping season. Discouraging words were heard. Speakers warned that growing winter use of the St. Lawrence River through icebreaker service posed a serious threat to the existence of Halifax and Saint John, N.B.

Hardy Newfoundland fishermen, lured by cheap French liquor, began running Yuletide stocks from the nearby French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon. Two fishermen were caught with a dory full of contraband liquor. The illegal moving of spirits usually picks up this time of year.

The presentation was made by the doctor's nephew, Glen Bennett, of Sherbrooke, a number of other relatives were present.

The beautiful flowers on the altar were also the gift of Dr. Bennett's son.

do is help the family. So I have to turn over every cent I make to her. There isn't any end in sight until I finish school because she says that until I make more than enough to pay board and room with money left over, I have to give her everything. I receive a small allowance but it isn't any more than I had before I started working. When I complain, she makes me feel as if I'm selfish. — Jamie.

Dear Jamie: If your family were in need financially, I'd think you should willingly help in every way possible. Since your family is in fairly comfortable circumstances, you should be more generously treated.

Learning to handle money as a teen-ager is just as much a part of your education as English or science courses. Something must be spent on you now for clothes and incidentals. Figure out how much would cover expenses for yourself and put the facts on paper. Ask your mother if she'll let you keep a percentage of your pay to pay these. Perhaps you can make her understand how discouraging things are right now.

Dedicate plaque in memory of Dr. S. Bennett

COOKSHIRE — A plaque, given in memory of the late Dr. S. J. Bennett by his son, Jeffrey Bennett, was dedicated at the 11 o'clock service in St. Peter's Anglican Church on Nov. 25 by the Rev. W. M. H. Thomas.

The interesting plaque, which had been the doctor's door name-plate, was suitably inscribed.

The presentation was made by the doctor's nephew, Glen Bennett, of Sherbrooke, a number of other relatives were present.

The beautiful flowers on the altar were also the gift of Dr. Bennett's son.

MONARCH LIFE APPOINTMENT

Andre Croteau

The Monarch Life Assurance Company is pleased to announce the appointment of Andre Croteau as Manager of Policyholder Benefits at their Head Office, Winnipeg, Manitoba. Mr. Croteau was born and educated in Thetford Mines, Quebec. Studied at Laval University and obtained a Provincial Scholarship to study Actuarial Science at the University of Manitoba, from where he joined the Monarch Life Assurance Company in 1956.

Here is a French-Canadian of the Eastern Townships of Quebec, who has the confidence of the Monarch Life, which company is 100% Canadian.

Congratulation, Andre, from: Sherbrooke Branch Office.

recent illness and we hope he will soon be back with his Pack.

The Scouts of the Bulwer-Birchton Troop have been following a course of rifle instruction during the past month under the guidance of Captain Edson Warner at the Lennoxville Rifle Club. The following Scouts were successful in obtaining the Marksman Badge: Donald Rodney, Donald Pickett, David Hall, Leigh Graham, William Lackie, Robert Richardson, Brian Labaree, Clayton Lackie and Eric Little.

Steven Lepodevin, of the First Sherbrooke Troop, was invested last week by S. M. Roger Turgeon, and received his Tenderfoot badge. This is the first rung up the Scouting ladder which eventually reaches the Queen Scout level, and for the very ambitious Scout, it will go higher. Warren Sanderson, Troop leader of Fifth Sherbrooke, received his Gold Cord last week which is an achievement greater than that of Queen Scout.

YAMASKA VALLEY DISTRICT

Paul Hamm, Larry Page, Paul Archer and Hugh Williams of the Second Cowansville Pack, received "Good Hunting" wishes as they repeated their Cub Promise for the last time during a Gong-Up Ceremony. The boys were welcomed into the Troop by S. M. Ron Wallat and A.S.M. Warren Williams and are looking forward to the new adventures awaiting them in Scouts.

New Chums Gregory Bromby and Barry Fregau have uncovered the mysteries of the Grand Howl and the strange call of "Pack" and in an Investiture Ceremony, were presented with their yellow neckerchiefs giving them the privilege of taking full part in the cub program.

GLEN MURRAY

Mrs. May Joffe has returned to Lennoxville after spending two weeks visiting at the home of her brothers, Stanley and Roland White.

O.E.S. officers are installed at Mansonville

MANSONVILLE — The members of Owl's Head Chapter, O.E.S. held their regular monthly meeting on Nov. 22, when a candidate, Elizabeth Wilson, received the degrees of the Order.

The new officers were installed by Sister Anne Harvey, P.G.M., assisted by Bro. Walsh, P.G.P., in the East, with Sister Kate Bailey as Grand Chaplain. Sister Eileen Eldridge, Grand Marshal, Sister Ethel George, Grand Organist, Sister Walsh, Grand Warder and Bro. Leon Eldridge, Grand Sentinel.

in front. This will enable you to have the heads of each member of the family in different planes or levels and add form and composition. It also avoids the monotony of the firing-line type of picture.

Individual shots of children can be handled just as effectively if a coffee table is used as the basis of operation. Neither the chandelier nor the coffee table should be placed too close to the wall in order to avoid objectionable shadow outlines around your subject.

A plain wall or one without any outstanding design that would distract from the main subject should be used. Toys, books or any other object that will take the youngster's mind off the photographer should be used until the photographer is ready to click the shutter and then a grunt at the right time could give you the expression that you have been waiting for.

St. Paul's Guild holds meeting

MARLBOROUGH — The regular meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held at the home of Mrs. A. Worth Bishop, Nov. 20, with eight members present. The opening prayers were read by the rector, Rev. Geo. Robins. The report from the sale and tea was given, showing that it was quite successful.

It was voted to donate $25 to the church treasurer, and $5 to the Cecil Butters Home.

A donation to the funds was received and the Birthday Box opened which showed $3.78 had been deposited during the last year.

The secretary reported that she had sent a letter of thanks to the Dominion Lime Co., for their donation to the Thank Offering.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Joseph McKay.

This was the last meeting for 1962.

Card of Thanks

HANCOCK — I want to thank all my friends in Sutton and the Pinnacle, for the lovely get-well cards they sent me, while I was a patient in St. Albans, Vt. Hospital, for the plant from the Baptist Church, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Moffatt and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Morrison for visiting me at the Hospital, also those from the Pinnacle. Thanks as much.

MRS. ORTON W. HANCOCK, Sutton, Que.

St. Paul's W.A. holds meeting at Marbleton

MARBLETON — The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Worth Bishop.

The opening devotions were taken by the rector, Rev. Geo. Robins, who read from the new book, In Thy Name.

Letters were read from Mrs. Burrows, Dorcas secretary, and Mrs. Dunkerley, treasurer. Mrs. Robins read two interesting articles.

Each member was asked to make a special contribution to the St. Andrew's Day collection, this amount to be sent to the Bishop of Hong Kong to Feed the Children Fund.

Mrs. Robins requested that all members contribute each month either money or clothes for the spring sale.

This will be the closing meeting. Next meeting to be the annual in January.

Alicia Hart's tinted tresses

Hair beauty for your winter vacation

This girl (left) plans to tint her tired tresses while en route to her winter vacation. In her roomette on the train, she shampooes a new permanent color into her hair. She mixes the coloring and peroxide and pours it over her predampened, towel-

By ALICIA HART

A winter vacation is a welcome event for many hard-working career girls and weary homemakers. And whether you choose a flight to the ski slopes or a cross-country trip on a luxurious train, you'll want to look your prettiest on your arrival.

If your hair is as tired as you are by the time you leave on your trip, you'll want to add luster and color so that it will shine on your holiday.

With all the last-minute chores that pop up before departure, you may find that you haven't the time to tint your hair before you take off on your trip. But don't give it a thought. A new permanent tint that just shampoos in can be applied so easily that you can color your hair en route.

You don't have to section off your hair at all, and this makes it as simple to color the back as it is to do the front part of your head. Since dried hair (center), working it in gently. She adds warm water and works the tint into a foam. A half-hour later, she rinses. In observation car (right), her hair shines with the sheen of a new color, applied easily and quickly.

the tint contains shampoo, coloring and washing become a single job.

You'll need an applicator, peroxide, the permanent tint, and rubber gloves. So don't forget to pack them.

The job can be done easily on the plane or in your train compartment. Mix the peroxide with the tint, apply by pouring the mixture over your predampened, towel-dried hair, a little at a time, and work it in gently but thoroughly until the hair is covered from roots to ends. Leave on for 30 minutes.

The coloring action is self-timing and stops automatically in a half hour. Then add a little warm water and work the tint into a foam. Finally, rinse your hair, and set it. Remember to also take along face and body lotion and a moisturizer to protect your skin from the climate. And be sure to pack a shampoo that will keep your new hair color bright and shining.

SHERBROOKE HOSPITAL LADIES' AUXILIARY

Mrs. D. Bishop was in the chair for the recent meeting of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary and welcomed Mrs. W. Gale of the Waterville wing, and three new members Mrs. J. Daly, Mrs. L. Latulippe, and Mrs. B. Matte. Mrs. P. Gervais, treasurer's report showed that $2,000 had been paid to the Hospital for the purchase of special surgical instruments that had been requested.

Mrs. L. Curtis reported on the In Memoriam Fund and Mrs. F. Simms read the Birth Day Club report. Thirty-seven mothers have joined the Birth Day Club in October.

Miss M. Sare announced that the Asbestos Corp. Scholarship has been awarded to Miss Jean Buffet.

Mrs. R. Hunting's Activities Report showed that the informal dance held recently at Lowney's had been most successful, and she thanked Mr. E. Little and the Lowney's staff for their help, as well as Mrs. M. Rothschild and Mrs. K. Halpenny for doing the decorations. The next project will be the Annual Ball to be held on February 16, 1963 at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

The Auxiliary again voted to pay the membership fee at the YWCA and coach's fees for the nurses basketball team. It was also agreed that the Auxiliary pay the cost of Mrs. P. Price's Unit Administration course from the Bursary Fund. Money was voted for Christmas decorations for the hospital and the student nurses will again do the decorating. Money was also voted to supply the Shop with doughnuts for the next year.

Mrs. Bishop read a letter from the National Council of Hospital Auxiliaries telling about their proposed projects in Afghanistan, and it was decided to send $100 toward this work.

The nominating committee has been formed with Mrs. J. Pick as chairman, assisted by Mrs. J. Silny and Mrs. M. Hicks. The next meeting will be the annual meeting to be held on January 21.

Tea was served by the host.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thompson, of Sherbrooke, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter Bonita, to Mr. Gaston Charland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Charland, of Montreal.

MAPLE COPSE CHAPTER I.O.D.E.

The regent, Mrs. Austin Scott, presided at the monthly meeting of Maple Copse Chapter, I.O.D.E., held in Douglas Hall at 8 p.m. on November 26.

Following the financial statement given by the treasurer, Mrs. Darcy Bennett, money was voted to cover current bills and donations to Commonwealth Relations and "Canadian Scene."

The "Echoes" secretary, Mrs. M. O. Knutson, read a letter from Miss Hope Glass, Provincial "Echoes" secretary, urging chapters to send items of news to her for publication in the magazine.

Mrs. R. C. McFadden, services secretary, reported having mailed a Christmas parcel to the English couple adopted a number of years ago and having received from them a 1963 calendar with their greetings. Wool for knitters was on hand and some finished articles had been handed in. Following a suggestion that Christmas gifts for mental patients should be collected and sent to Montreal, Mrs. McFadden announced that these should reach her not later than December 6. Members were asked to label their gifts as suitable for men or women, boys or girls.

Instead of sending Christmas cheer locally, it was decided to make a donation to the lunch fund of the Lennoxville High School for needy pupils.

Mrs. H. C. Snow, representative on the Park committee, brought thanks from the convener of the recent bridge party to the Chapter members for their support of this affair.

Miss G. Stevens, convener of Empire and World Affairs, gave a short talk on events leading up to Confederation and recommended an article on the subject in Maclean's magazine, as well as the school radio program on the same theme.

The regent thanked Mrs. J. E. Perry, 1st vice regent, for acting on her behalf at The Remembrance Day service and laying the Chapter's wreath. Mrs. Scott mentioned that the small representation had been due to the very inclement

ST. PAUL'S LADIES' AID

St. Paul's Ladies' Guild held their regular meeting in the church hall on November 28 with an attendance of 17.

The president, Mrs. G. Carleton, opened the meeting, with the Guild prayer in unison. Three visitors were welcomed by the president namely, Mrs. E. Magoon, Mrs. S. Farmer and Mrs. R. Turner. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, also a card of thanks for sympathy from Mrs. A. Raymond.

A letter from St. Mary's Guild was read, inviting St. Paul's Guild to attend with them, a tour of Lowney's plant on January 22.

The newly decorated hall was duly admired by members and termed a great improvement. The members were very grateful to Mrs. M. Morin for laundering the hall curtains.

Final plans were made for a Christmas tea and sale to be held on Thursday, December 6 and several donations were brought in for the sales tables.

Polly's pointers

by Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY—The following might be helpful to housewives who have had careless smokers burn spots in their rugs. This is how to repair the damage: take a razor blade and clip small parts of the face of the rug or carpet (from the edge and where it cannot be seen). Make sure the color is the same as where the burnt spot is. Take a cotton swab and dip in Elmer's Glue. Rub the glue into the burnt spot and then sprinkle on the cut nap. Press gently with the fingers and let dry and afterwards you can never see there was even a burn.

GIRLS—This advice straight from a professional rug cleaner!

DEAR POLLY—I failed to find a ballpoint pen in my husband's shirt before washing it. The shirt became spotted and ordinary bleach does not help much. Do any of the readers have an answer to my problem?

MRS. R. B. DEAR POLLY—My married daughter came to my rescue recently and I am passing on her suggestion. I had tried several ways to take ballpoint ink stains out of a fine gray check cotton dress. She had me try Clorox mixed half and half with vinegar in water. Clorox takes out the stain and vinegar sets the color so you will not end up with a white spot in colored material. Then wash as usual. Works fast and wonderful.

MRS. C. J. W. GIRLS—As R. B. has already washed her husband's shirt, Mrs. C. J. W. S. lint may not work for her I tried this suggestion on a yellow and white striped cotton fabric and it worked like a charm. The yellow showed no signs of fading and the ink stains were completely removed.

DEAR POLLY—Both men and women might find my trick an aid in their household bookkeeping. I use different colored checks to pay for the tax deductible items (doctor, dentist, drugs, contributions, etc.) As a double check, I enter them in my check stubs with red ink. It simplifies preparing my income tax returns.

MRS. S. GIRLS—Those of us who use printed, personal checks (always one color) could use a different colored ink for the "deducts." I particularly liked the part about writing on the stubs in red ink.

Massawippi Fish and Game Club has trout pond construction underway

NORTH HATLEY — (Special) — The Massawippi Fish and Game Protection Club has told Wednesday that one of its chief projects, a fish-preserving pond, was progressing well. The club's general meeting was held at the Connaught Inn here.

The pond committee chairman, A. C. Stafford, stated that the large pond at the entrance of the park was well under way. Owing to the good support from members, the cement work was completed for the stem pipe and as soon as the bulldozing is finished, forms will be built at the outlet and many volunteers will be required for the cement work at this point.

Mr. Stafford expressed the club's indebtedness to Alvah Patterson of Baldwin's Mills who has given invaluable aid in the planning and construction of the dams. When the several ponds already completed or under consideration are in full operation, several species of trout will be raised each year and transferred to Lake Massawippi. Mr. Patterson will assist in transporting the trout now in the park to the Lachapelle pond.

All ponds constructed to date are of a permanent nature and have been built at a cost of $497.87.

It is hoped that a permanent sign may be erected at the entrance to the park.

Reforestation is another major project of the club and it was decided to contact the Department of Forestry requesting an assortment of trees of the conservation type, for spring planting. With the success of the 5,000 trees planted last spring, it was decided to plant a minimum of 25,000 next spring. Walter Greenlay, who has a tree planting machine, offered to assist the chairman, I. E. Wood, in selecting and planting the trees.

The mounted trout that has currently been on display in the Sherbrooke - Lennoxville area will be displayed at various points surrounding Lake Massawippi, under the supervision of the directors.

The construction of a clubhouse at the park was proposed and will be brought before the annual meeting in January.

An announcement was made by Ernest Pouliot of Magog, O'Keefe Breweries representative, that the annual trophy award for the largest game fish taken from Lake Massawippi would be presented to Stanley Reed of North Hatley at the May meeting, to be held at the Connaught Inn, North Hatley.

The fund-raising committee under the chairmanship of Don Pankovitch has been very successful. Drawings will take place at Ripplecove Inn on Saturday, Dec. 15. There will be cocktails and a social hour commencing at five p.m. and the drawings at seven.

The refreshments at the close of the meeting were supplied by Mr. Pouliot.

Cloud of uncertainty over the game, Halter and Gaudaur may postpone it

TORONTO (CP) — A cloud of uncertainty hung over the Grey Cup game today.

With a heavy blanket of fog enveloping Canadian National Exhibition Stadium, there was still no assurance Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats would be able to answer their 1 p.m. EST date in the 35th renewal of the East-West football classic.

Sydney Halter, Canadian Football League commissioner, and Jake Gaudaur, CFL president, were to meet at the waterfront stadium at 11 a.m. to decide whether to go on with the game or postpone it until 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

The official weather forecast said cautiously: "There is some hope that a shift in circulation to light westerly will help to dissipate the fog Saturday morning."

WILL BE TELEVIEWED

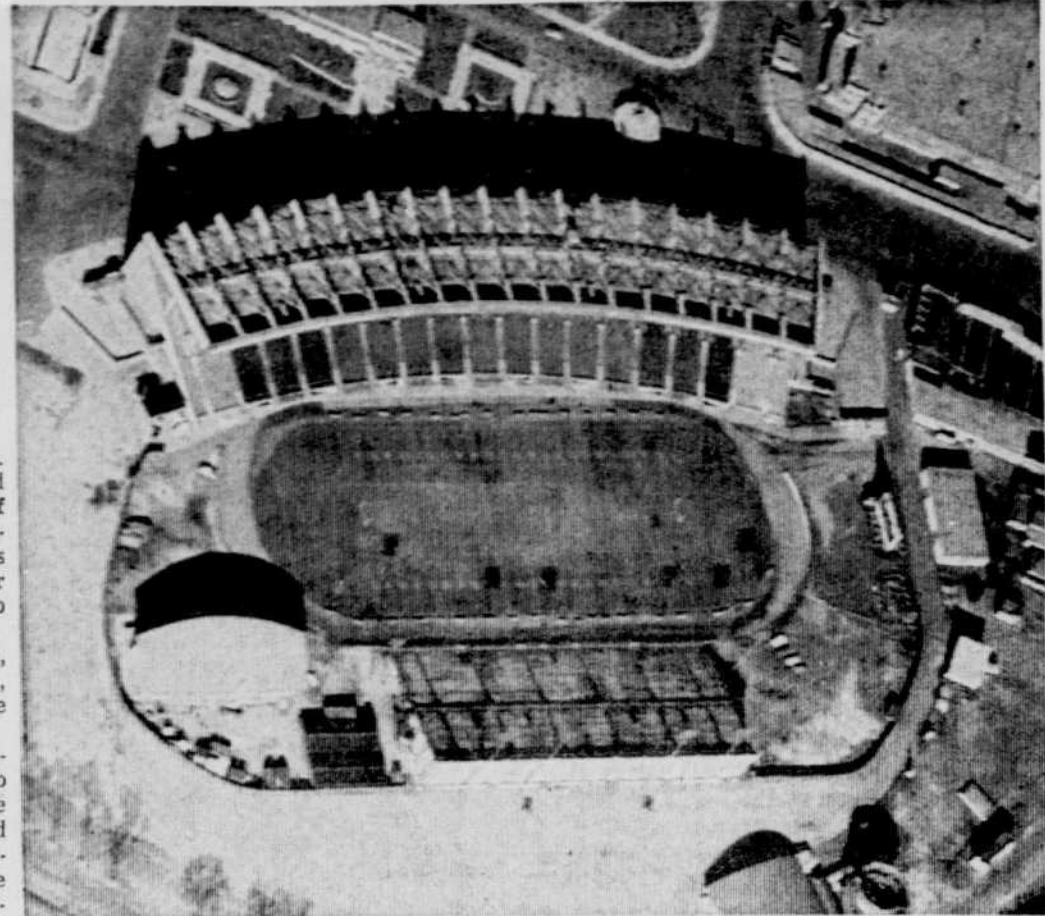

Whether the game is played today or Sunday, or even Monday, it will still be available to Canadian television viewers. Both the CTV and CBC announced they would carry the game. However, in the event of a postponement, ABC-TV in the United States will show a return of the first Montreal-Hamilton eastern playoff.

A postponement was not expected to have a profound effect on either the condition of injured players or the outcome of this eighth meeting between Hamilton and Winnipeg in the Grey Cup.

Bombers' fullback Charlie Shepard (wrenched back), defensive end Herb Gray (sprained ankle), tackle Roger Savoie (damaged rib cartilage) and tackle Dave Burkholder (swollen thigh) were expected to play.

MAY NOT START

Doubtful starters were line-backer Gar Warren, with a wrenched knee, and fullback

Roger Hagberg, who sprained an ankle in the final game of the best-of-three series with Calgary. Hagberg missed Friday's light workout. Place - kicker Gerry James was on hand to replace Hagberg.

In event of Warren's absence, rookie guard Sherwyn Thorson, an all-star on offence, would be called on for two-way duty.

Definitely out was corner line-backer Gordie Rowland, who strained knee cartilages in the western final and developed phlebitis, ruptured blood vessels, in the same spot. He wasn't expected to be in Toronto for the game and Bomber general manager Jim Ausley said there was a possibility the injury could end Rowland's brilliant career.

Against this impressive array of walking wounded, the Ticats could offer nothing in the way of serious complaints.

C:US CONFIDENCE

This is obviously part of the reason for H. Milton coach Jim Trimble's public show of confidence (he predicted the Ticats would win 24-12).

Fears that the Ticats would collapse when they lost their ace quarterback, Bernie Faloney, with a torn knee cartilage in mid-season have vanished.

The reason is that Joe Zuger, a 22-year-old rookie just a year out of Arizona State College, blossomed into a surprisingly skilled quarterback who seems to thrive on pressure. And he's backed up by Canadian Frank Cosentino, not as good a passer but a better runner.

N.Y. Giants have chance to beat Green Bay Packers to a loop title

New York Giants have a chance to beat Green Bay Packers to a title clinching by whipping Chicago Bears Sunday in Wrigley Field. In view of last year's National Football League championship game in Green Bay, the Giants will be happy to beat the Packers at anything.

Until the Packers ran into disaster Thanksgiving Day at Detroit, they had things all wrapped up. Although the schedule runs heavily in their favor and they lead the Lions by one game with three to play, they will have to delay their title plans a few days.

If the Giants (9-2) beat the Bears (7-4) a formidable job in view of last week's 57-0 Chicago romp over Baltimore, they then could take it easy in their last two games while getting ready for the title Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium.

If the Giants lose, Cleveland Browns, Washington Redskins and Pittsburgh all have a shot to win or tie.

Green Bay (10-1), still smarting from that 26-14 beating in Detroit, plays last place Los Angeles Rams (1-9-1) Sunday at Milwaukee.

Detroit (9-2) needing a win to stay within striking distance of the Packers, meets Baltimore

(5-6) at Detroit. If the Lions should lose and the Packers win, Green Bay would clinch a tie in the Western Conference.

BROWNS AT DALLAS

Cleveland plays at Dallas. The Browns (6-4-1) now are second in the East with a long shot chance at first place and a good chance of finishing second and getting the Playoff Bowl game in Miami.

Washington (5-4-2) is at home to revived Philadelphia (2-8-1) and St. Louis (2-8-1) plays at Pittsburgh (6-5). San Francisco (5-6) will be at Minnesota (2-8-1) in their first meeting the 49ers won 21-7.

In the American Football League Dallas Texans (9-2) have a chance Sunday to clinch the Western Division title by winning at Buffalo (5-6-1). Houston (8-3), leader in the Eastern Division is at home to Denver.

British Empire Games

Canada takes two gold medals

PERTH, Australia (CP) — Her world-famous butterfly stroke working near perfection, Vancouver's Mary Stewart mopped up her swimming opponents to win a gold medal at the British Empire Games Friday night and middleweight Harry Mann of Prince George, B.C., did the same to his boxing adversary for a second gold.

The 16-year-old swimming star and the class 23-year-old boxer in the space of 10 minutes at sites three miles apart in this western Australia city of 500,000 doubled Canada's gold medal production which now stands at four.

Last week, Toronto's Bruce Kidd won a gold in the six-mile run and Dick Pound of Montreal grabbed a gold in the men's 110-yard freestyle swim.

It was a bright night for the Canadian team. The fencers collected silver and bronze medals in the individual sabre competition. Steve Rabinovitch of Montreal took a bronze in the men's 110-yard breaststroke.

And Grey Cup day could bring another gold medal at the main stadium here, 13,000 miles from Toronto, site of the Hamilton-Winnipeg football classic.

Saturday is the day when three pole vaulters—Alf Groom of Summerside, P.E.I., Gerry Moro of Trail, B.C., and Bob Watson of Langley, B.C.—soar for the gold.

On the basis of their records, all three are given an excellent chance to win a medal. Groom won the games trials pole vault in Toronto last summer with a vault of 14 feet, three inches, while Moro, considered the best in the Commonwealth before he hurt his leg, has done 14-9. The injury kept him down to 13-9 in the trials. Watson has done 14 feet.

The gold-medal total for the Canadians so far is half the number garnered by Canada in the 1954 games at Vancouver, but it's three better than the performance at Cardiff, Wales, four years later.

With one more day to go, Canada has a total of 31 gold, silver and bronze medals. The swimmers produced the major share of awards with three gold, four silver and five bronze.

Tiny Miss Stewart, her white cap bobbing in the new Beatty Park Pool, splashed to victory in the women's 110-yard butterfly race and won it by about seven feet although she faded somewhat at the end. Her description was "I died."

Mann uncorked a stinging left hook to the mouth of Rhodesia's Brian Benson that gave him a third-round technical knockout victory in the boxing stadium across town. It was his second straight win in the light middleweight class and clinched the championship.

Miss Stewart's victory in the excellent time of one minute, 10.1 seconds — just 1-10th of a second off the games record she set in winning a heat earlier in the week — was the first by a Canadian female swimmer in 28 years.

Australia and England each won three of the seven swimming finals Friday night that completed that phase of the games. Miss Stewart's victory accounted for the other.

As expected, the Australians swept a major share of the gold medals in the 23 swimming events. They took 15 swimming golds and two in women's diving while England won six swimming golds and two in men's diving. Canada was the only country able to break the Australian-English swimming monopoly.
