WE MUST SHARE EMPIRE'S BURDEN

Feeling in England That Colonies Must Do This in Return for Preference.

Special Cable to the Montreal Herald and Toronto News.

London, June 22.—The Federation of Imperial Defence has promulgated a resolution urging the Government to insist on colonial contributions to the army and navy in the event of any preferential scheme being adopted. They point out that the whole burden of the Empire falls on the shoulders of the homeland and this must be changed. Amid the conflicting views of Chamberlainism, motherlanders are agreed that if any fiscal favors are granted to the colonies the latter must contribute to Imperial defence. Mr. Chamberlain, it is pointed out, keeps this feature of his policy in the background, but his opinion thereon is pronounced. The constant dictatorial speeches of Premier Seddon, of New Zealand and others of his type, are offensive to all Englishmen who have a growing feeling that the colonies don't pay their fair share toward the defence of the Empire.

It is generally assumed by supporters of the preference policy that the colonies, in the event of a preference being extended to them, will contribute liberally to Imperial defence. Sir Richard Jebb M.P., advocates extending a preference to Australasian butter, cheese and bacon. He maintains that Australia and New Zealand are enthusiastically in favor of a preferential programme. Sir Richard ignores Canadian exports entirely. Sir Edward Sassoon, who is a favorite of King Edward, urges that India should be included in any scheme of fiscal union.

A hitherto unpublished letter of Hon. John Bright, written in 1887, and condemning protection and lauding free trade, is published to-day.

CANADIAN PRIEST IS ARRESTED IN PARIS

Mistaken for a Noted French Swindler —He Refuses to Prosecute.

(Special Cable to the Montreal Herald and the Toronto News.)

London, June 22.—Father Robert, a Canadian priest, was arrested in Paris the police thinking he was Canon Rosenberg the notorious French swindler. He was taken to the Palais de Justice and liberated on Saturday. Father Robert refuses to prosecute the authorities for false arrest. He said: "I am a poor priest on the way to Palestine. I forgive everyone."

The authorities deeply regretted the mistake and insisted on presenting him with a ticket to Jerusalem.

THE UNITED STATES' CASE IS VERY WEAK

It is Rumored in London that American Commissioners Are Ashamed of Their Alaskan Claims.

(Special Cable to The Montreal Herald and Toronto News.)

London, June 22.—The hopeless illness of Mr. Justice Armour, has created the necessity of appointing a new commissioner on the Alaskan boundary tribunal. This will likely delay the assembling of the commission until October, at the earliest.

There is also a rumor in circulation to the effect that the American commissioners are so ashamed of their own case they are not in a hurry to let the public see how feeble it really is. It is undoubtedly the official American idea to decently yield to Canada's claims with regard to the boundary, especially in the face of the growing desire in England to put a tariff on American goods.

MR. JAMES WHITE SERIOUSLY ILL

Geographer to Department of Interior Suffering from Typhoid in London.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Ottawa, June 22.—A cabiegram received in this city states that James White, geographer to the Department of the Interior, who went to England to assist in the preparation of the Canadian case for the Alaska tribunal, is dangerously ill in London. He is suffering from typhoid fever, complicated by lung trouble.

STEEL MEN ARE AT OTTAWA.

Believed That Government Will Give Some Assistance.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Ottawa, June 22.—Senator Cox, W. B. Ross, Halifax; T. H. Plummer and Frederic Nicholls, of Toronto, had a conference here to-day in regard to the iron and steel industry. It is very likely that some Government assistance will be given, but what that will be cannot yet be learned.

LIVELY FIGHT AT BACK RIVER.

A number of white and colored men had a battle royal early Saturday on the Back River Road. The affray lasted about half an hour and resulted in the following being put hors de combat. One of them, William Dillon, was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital and eighteen stitches were put in his head. He was sent to his home Saturday night. Three others were severely cut and bruised, and were patched up and sent home. Knives and clubs were used quite freely in the mix-up. In all probability arrests will be made.

NEWSBOYS WILL BUILD HOME.

At a meeting of the officers of the Montreal Newsboys' Union it was decided to give a moonlight excursion, the proceeds to be applied to build a home for the newsboys.

CRIPPLED LIMBS ARE STRAIGHTENED BY THE APOSTLE OF BLOODLESS SURGERY

Dr. Adolf Lorenz Makes Two Demonstrations Before a Large Audience of Medical Men at the General Hospital.

DR. LORENZ AT WORK IN HOSPITAL.

Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the famous Austrian surgeon, apostle of bloodless surgery, operated on two crippled children in the Montreal General Hospital. The rank and file of the medical profession in Montreal crowded into the big operating room to witness the operations. Every medical man of note in the city and a crowd of medical students were present.

Promptly at 11 o'clock, the hour set for the clinic, Dr. Lorenz took his place at the operating table, and the buzz of conversation that preceded his appearance died away to absolute silence. Not a sound broke the stillness of the big theatre as the great surgeon critically surveyed the small figure of a crippled girl that lay upon the table.

Just for a moment his big soft eyes dwelt upon the twisted little form before him, and then he turned them steadily upon the silent audience that rose in tiers around him. His hard, soft as a woman's and strong as drawn steel, pulled gently at his long grey beard.

Then in a dozen sentences of quaintly accented English he explained his method. "My very simple means," as he described them, of relieving poor crippled children, especially those little ones afflicted with congenital hip disease and club foot.

Dr. Lorenz Explains Cases.

Dr. Lorenz warned his hearers that success could only be expected from cases treated while the child was still very young. No case of over seven years of age offered a certain chance of complete cure. The operation might then be dangerous.

It had been claimed against his method that its success was governed by chance, and the large number of failures in the United States cited in defence of the theory. The method was not his, it has existed for centuries. All he claimed was the certain results which he had achieved through the study, not the origination, of this system of redressment.

Cases where it had failed completely, and sometimes proved fatal were almost invariably cases where the patient had reached an age which is decidedly prohibited by the surgeons present against relying upon a use in cases where the child had passed its seventh year.

When Dr. Lorenz had finished he turned to the case before him. It was little Laura Wulman, of 211 St. George street, a cripple from congenital hip disease almost since her birth. Tenderly he lifted the cloth and revealed a warped and twisted little limb, that seemed deformed beyond the remotest hope.

Diagnoses Case at a Glance.

At a single glance the great surgeon had diagnosed the case. The unerring speed of his diagnosis is one of Dr. Lorenz's greatest characteristics. The child, under the influence of powerful anaesthetics, always hovers just between life and death.

Every second is valuable, and not a single instant is lost by Dr. Lorenz in his diagnosis. Only once before had he seen this case, when he chose it from a crowd of crippled children brought to the hospital Saturday.

The glow of fire had replaced the soft light in Dr. Lorenz's eyes when he lifted the cloth from his patient. The muscles stood out on his big arms as he grasped the leg and bent it over at right angles with the trunk. As one might twist at bend the branch of a green tree, he twisted and bent and pulled the leg he held as in a vice. Soon he had set the femur into its socket with a thump that was just a little sickening. In all I out he pulled the bone and twisted the leg with what seemed to instrumental eyes the most bloodless brutality, but which was in reality done with the most tenderness possible.

Finds Case Difficult One.

That the pain was exquisite the writhing figure and moans of the child on the table bore eloquent testimony. With a thermometer come in his hand, Dr. Lorenz stood at her side ready to take one look to particularly observe the slightest symptom of returning consciousness. At Dr. Lorenz's side stood Dr. Lewis Bliddy, one of the hospital staff, with every nerve keyed up to the highest pitch as he gave the great surgeon whatever help assistance he desired.

The little girl's case was a bad one, and for fully half an hour Dr. Lorenz worked over her unconscious.

Not the slightest trace of emotion was visible in his face, except once or twice when the agonized twitching of his little patient's mouth drew expressions of pity to her face. His great hands seemed horny and trusted as the tendons and muscles of his thumb stretched and heaved with fingers pliable as a pianist's and strong as a blacksmith's, he kneaded the tender flesh around the joint, every pressure leaving a deep red mark on its soft white surface.

Taking no notice from the time he removed the cloth he let the little leg, now wonderfully straightened, tenderly down and stood back for a moment to survey his work.

ALBERT LACHANCE HELD FOR ATTEMPTED ROBBERY

Charge Is Holding Up Mr. J. B. Ouellette While Passing Through Viger Square.

Mr. J. B. Ouellette, of Montana St., was held up by three highwaymen, while passing through Viger Square early yesterday morning. As a result of the attempted robbery, Albert Lachance, a laborer, living in Dorchester Street, is under arrest, and the detective department is searching for his two pals. He came before Judge Lafontaine this morning and was remanded until to-morrow.

Mr. Ouellette was passing a dark spot in Viger Square when three men seized him, two fastening on to his arms, while the third went through his pockets. Constable Fournier was patrolling Craig Street, and seeing a row, ran toward the scene. Two of the assailants made themselves scarce, but Mr. Ouellette managed to hold the man who was engaged on his pockets.

The fellow proved a tough proposition, however, and broke away from the constable. After a chase in the direction of Labelle lane, Fournier brought the man to a standstill by firing into the air, and, assisted by Corporal Curran, of No. 2, who had been attracted by the shots, he took the prisoner to the Central Station.

ROOSEVELT REMOVES A JUDGE.

Smith, of Hastings, Mich., has been appointed to succeed him.

Lord Chief Justice Alvertsone to-day delivered judgment in at test case arising from the agreement made by Ogdens (Limited) at the time of the tobacco war, to distribute to retailers $1,00,000 annually for four years. The Lord Chief Justice found that Ogdens was not relieved of these contracts by the sale of its business and its incorporation into the Anglo-American combine.

CONSISTORY HELD; POPE OFFICIATES

Pontiff's Feebleness Was To-day Apparent to All—Creation of Cardinals.

Rome, June 22.—The consistory today, was specially important, owing to the persistent rumors regarding the Pope's ill health, and the previous postponements.

Naturally a ceremony in which the Pope, half hidden in precious vestments, is borne on a chair and is continually assisted, is not the best opportunity to judge of his appearance or the state of his health, but a man capable of undergoing the strain of such a function has plenty of vitality.

The Pontiff's features seemed slightly more clear cut, and his hands trembled perceptibly, but his voice was plainly heard, though it had lost something of its power. The ceremony was shortened as much as possible and lasted only thirty-five minutes.

All the Cardinals of the Curia were invited to the Vatican half an hour before the Pope's appearance and they assembled in the consistory hall in order of precedence, the three groups of Cardinals (Cardinal bishops, Cardinal priests and Cardinal deacons), forming a striking picture. The entrance of the Pope, clad in white vestments, and surrounded by his trusted companions in their red robes, gave a finishing touch to the scene. After receiving the homage of those present the Pontiff recited a prayer and then proceeded to the nomination of the new cardinals.

The traditional secrecy was maintained, though now it is largely a matter of form. The Pope proposed each new cardinal, the members of the Sacred College signifying their assent by raising their caps.

The following were created Cardinals:

Monsignor Fischer, Archbishop of Cologne.

Monsignor Taliani, Papal Nuncio at Vienna.

Monsignor Cavicchioni, Secretary of the Congregation of the Council.

Monsignor Ajuti, Papal Nuncio at Lisbon.

Monsignor Nocella, Secretary of the Consistorial Congregation.

Monsignor Katschthaler, Archbishop of Salzburg, Austria.

Most Rev. Herrero Y Espinoss, Archbishop of Valencia.

The Pope transferred Cardinal Seraffino Vannutelli, from the bishopric of Frascati to that of Porto Santa Rufina, which is of higher rank.

Cardinal Satolli, was transferred from the Titular bishopric of Santa Maria in Aracoeli to the diocese of Frascati, near Rome, the summer residence of the Roman aristocracy.

Afterwards the Pope announced the nominations of several Archbishops, who had been appointed by brief.

The Pontiff appointed Cardinal Agliardi, who has been replaced as prefect of economy of the propoganda, to be vice-chancellor of the Chiesa del la Volpe.

CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL HERE TO CHANGE HANDS IN A FEW DAYS

St. Bridget's Board Will Take Over Building on Lagauchetiere Street, on Which it Holds Mortgage for Debt

THE CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL.

The rumor was current some time ago that the Catholic High School, Lagauchetiere Street, was about to change hands, as it was found to be difficult to keep the institution running owing to financial reasons, but the rumor was strenuously denied by the governors and others in charge. However, the end has come now, and all hope of keeping the institution open has been abandoned. The St. Bridget's Board, which has a mortgage on the building, will take charge of it. It may be sold to St. Patrick's parish for a parochial school, to replace the one in Cote Street, or may be used for factory purposes. What is to be done with it has not yet been decided.

The furniture of the class rooms has been purchased by Principal Sanders and Professor Botsford, both of the High School staff, who intend to open a private academy. Professor Mathews, of the senior English and mathematical grade, left for his home in Ontario on Friday evening. To-morrow evening at 8 o'clock the closing exercises of the school will be held, and the curtain will be rung down on a school that was intended to be a first class commercial, mathematical English and classical school.

The Catholic High School project met with opposition from the start. Many people thought there was no need of such a school. Loyola College, they said, could give a classical education, Mount St. Louis Institute and the Archbishop's Commercial Academy were quite sufficient for a commercial education.

The introduction of foreign teachers was also thought to be a handicap. The fees were also considered too high. It was the intention to run it on the plan of the High Schools of Ontario, but as there were no competitive examinations among the scholars of the outside schools for admission to the High Schools as feeders, the number of scholars was not very large in consequence. The Catholic Commissioners' Schools or the Christian Brothers' Schools could not send candidates to the school, as they had their own schools to keep up.

The corner stone was laid Sunday, September 18, 1898, in the presence of a large gathering of citizens, assembled from all the parishes of the city; after the Irish organizations held a parade at which nearly 2,000 persons participated. The speakers on the occasion were His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi, Rev. Fathers Quinlivan and O'Donnell, both deceased; His Worship Mayor Prefontaine, Hon. Dr. Guerin, M.L.A.; Mr. M. J. F. Quinn, K.C., ex-M.P.

The building is three storeys high, of pressed brick, and terra cotta above the stone basement. The class rooms, twelve in number, are neatly furnished, the heating is by steam on the direct indirect system. By this a constant stream of fresh air passes through the radiators in each department, and being heated, diffuses through the rooms, displacing the vitiated air, which descends through brick flues to the basement and thence by ducts to the main shaft.

There were five professors and two Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame formed the staff of the High School proper, while two other teachers taught the St. Patrick's Orphans, who occupied two class rooms in the building.

The debt on the building amounts to $56,000, $24,000 having been paid off since the opening in 1899.

Suiting the action to the word, he threw up his job.

ON THE TROLLEY.

I saw him on a Windsor car,
With mighty legs outspread;
His knees stuck clear across the aisle—
A magazine half read
Held in his hands, and all intent
He was on reading it—
The other passengers did he
Observe them? Not a bit!

He had the utmost outside seat,
For who could say him nay?
Horatius at the bridge he sat
And bravely held the way!
And none might enter, none might leave
Because of his large feet—
And so he sat and sat and sat,
And kept the good end seat.

The other seats were all full up—
(He occupied full ten).
Some other passengers got on,
And did he move him then?
Nay, nay, no not! He did not move,
It did not jog a jog,
But stayed there and exemplified
The principles of Hog.

For twenty seven blocks he rode
Nor let another in—
The way he got his nickle's worth
Was something like a sin!
And when the car was emptied of
Its freight, he sadly sighed,
For with no people to keep out
He cared no more to ride!

Some day, perhaps, he'll shuffle off
This mortal coil, and then
He'll take the Spirit Trolley Car
With souls of other men;
And every end seat on the trip,
Brimstone and molten tar,
Will be reserved for end-seat hogs
That own the trolley car.

GREEK SUFFERS BAN OF BUSINESS FIRMS

Preference, Will Be Given to Applicants Having Education in Commercial Subjects.

A response general and highly encouraging has been received by Mr. W. B. T. Macaulay, principal of the Westmount Academy, to his request for the views by the heads of the Montreal commercial establishments, manufactories, railways, banks and insurance companies with regard to the expediency of introducing a more highly developed commercial course into the curriculum of the Westmount Academy than has been the case in the past.

In a general report dealing with the work of the school from the work of the preparatory school to the advanced course of the senior forms, the principal comments upon the practically unanimous opinion of the leading business men of the community in favor of the thorough teaching of such subjects as bookkeeping, shorthand, speed writing, speed arithmetic, English correspondence and French conversation and correspondence, and typewriting.

It is unhesitatingly affirmed that in the leading houses preference will be given to applicants for employment who have mastered such subjects as these at the age of sixteen or seventeen. This assurance has induced the commissioners to expand the course so that pupils may have the fullest opportunity of qualifying themselves for such positions as may be open. By the way, Principal Macaulay has at present a list of no less than seventeen waiting to be filled by candidates of the right kind.

From the letters he has received from business men Mr. Macaulay has been able to lay down in a clear and forcible manner the qualities that leaders of industry are now looking for in the young men entering commercial life, as well as those that are not looked upon with favor. Among the latter may be mentioned the habit of cigarette smoking and the art of conversing on matters relating to games and sport during business hours.

Principal Macaulay does not wish it to be understood that the commercial tuition is to override the course of general instruction, which embraces in the higher forms such subjects as English literature, Latin, mathematics and physical and natural science. The curriculum, in short, is that insisted upon by the London Chamber of Commerce. It is thoroughly modern, and may be significant of the tendency of modern thought—Greek seems to be doomed.

AMALGAMATION OF BANKS

Promoters of New Alliance Bank of Canada Said to Have This Plan in View.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Halifax, June 22.—Financial circles are doing a lot of speculating as to the scope of the intentions of the promoters of the new Alliance Bank of Canada. The promoters of this institution have kept their plans well obscured, but it has traspired that negotiations are afoot to amalgamate a number of smaller banks in the Maritime Provinces. The Bank of New Brunswick and the People's Bank of Halifax are, it is stated, willing to take up the amalgamation scheme, and the Merchants Bank of Prince Edward Island and the People's Bank of New Brunswick are also included in the plans of the promoters.

Just how far the negotiations have proceeded is not known, but the application for the Alliance charter is taken by keen observers of banking affairs to indicate that considerable progress has been made. The close connection of Mr. Stairs with the Union Bank of Halifax, the new stock issue of which was underwritten by Mr. Stairs and his associates, has associated the name of that institution with the deal, but it is also stated that there is no likelihood of the Union being included in the merger.

It is said that Mr. Stavert, manager of the Bank of New Brunswick, will be made manager of the new Alliance Bank.

He was born in Scotland in 1801, and was a schoolmate of the late Sir David Macpherson. He was a shoemaker, and wore spectacles for years, but when 95 years of age he threw them aside, natural sight having returned to him. When he was 97 he walked from Ottawa to Kingston. The deceased was fond of reading and tobacco.

His two daughters, in succession, married "Joe Beef," of Montreal restaurant fame.

THIRTEEN DOOMED, TWO ALREADY SLAIN

Circular Sent to Boston Armenian Said All Members of His Society Must Die.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Boston, Mass., June 22.—"A circular was sent to me about two months ago" said S. G. Shaghalran, of the Huntchagist Society, of Boston, to-night. "On this circular were the names of the thirteen members of the society. The circular said that we were all doomed to death and must be ready. Since then we have lost two members, who were done to death by the ring that is hounding the others here."

The immediate occasion of Mr. Shaghalran's startling statement was the recent assassination in Odessa of L. B. Chittjian, a member of the society, which has caused a great stir in Armenian and missionary circles here and has resulted in a call upon the Federal Government to protect the remaining Huntchagists. It is asserted that spies are being employed by the Turkish government to watch Armenians in this city.

"Two of our members are already dead. The rest of us are on the list of condemned," continued Mr. Shaghalran. "The Armenian colony, and especially the members of the society, are aroused at last to the extent of their peril by the untimely death of Chittjian. The other victim was murdered in Russia about a month ago. The murderers were never punished and never will be punished.

BANDED TO RIGHT TURKEY.

"The Huntchagist Society is a former revolutionist society of Turkey. We are of the most radical party and are looked upon with the greatest hatred by the Government."

Mr. Shaghalran is about the only member of the society willing to discuss its affairs for publication.

Chittjian while here was outspoken, and it is said that this brought about his death. He was forced to fly from Harpoot, Turkey, ten years ago because of his antagonism to the Turkish Government. He had preached the doctrine of the sword, and the Huntchagist Society, a body of Armenian patriots looked upon him as a leader. He became bolder and bolder in his denunciation of the Turks, but one day he disappeared.

A few months late Chittjian made his appearance in America. He settled in Worcester, and in a short time was instrumental in forming the Armenian Congregational Church. He was its first pastor, and for several years preached to the congregation, besides going all through New England building up the Huntchagist Society.

He never relaxed his endeavors to spread the spirit of revolution among his fellow countrymen, and became the acknowledged leader of Armenian revolutionists in this city.

Three years ago he came to Boston to live, and began to write extensively on Armenian matters.

Mr. Chittjian went abroad in September, and from time to time advices were received from him. He had succeeded in getting his family to London, and once more ventured into Turkey. It was reported tht he had been seen in Harpoot and that Turkish spies had dogged him over half the Continent. The next tidings was that he had been mysteriously murdered in Odessa.

Father and Son

BOTH CURED OF

KIDNEY TROUBLE

BY

Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Benjamin Brooks, a well-known farmer of West Cape, P.E.I., tells of how his son was cured of Kidney Disease, and how he was cured of Backache.

The First Sign of Kidney Trouble.

He says: "Our little boy was troubled with kidney disease. We had tried many kinds of kidney pills but they only helped for a time. We got Doan's Kidney Pills and one box effected a perfect cure. About six weeks after this I caught a very bad cold that settled in my kidneys. My back was so sore I could hardly walk. I went to the drug store and got a box, took them according to directions and the result was that my back was completely cured. I believe they are the best kidney pill on the market to-day."

There is not a kidney trouble from Backache to Bright's Disease that Doan's Kidney Pills will not relieve or cure. The price is 50 cts. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25 and may be procured at all dealers or from

HARBOR BOARD WILL ASSERT ITS RIGHTS

Four Thoroughfares From Mill Street to Windmill Point Are to Be Opened.

The Harbor Board at its regular meeting to-day devoted most of its time to a discussion dealing with the proposal to open four streets from Mill Street to Windmill Point, parallel to Ogilvie Street. A report from the chief engineer showed that the ground over which the streets would run belonged to the Commissioners, while Hon. J. P. B. Casgrain, in a special engineer's report, submitted a plan on which the streets had been staked out.

The discussion dealing with the right of the Commissioners to open the streets resulted in the board deciding to assert its rights to the land by taking possession.

Mr. Doran, in view of the difficulty existing as to what property the Commissioners really had control of, moved that the chief engineer should submit a report of all lands on which the board had granted privileges to any outside company.

A report from the Finance Committee asked that an increase of $200 be granted Mr. W. McLean, of the Harbor Master's staff, for special work. Exception was taken to the report by some of the commissioners on the ground that the matter ought to have been attended to by the Employment Committee and not by the Finance. The report was adopted by a vote of 5 to 4.

Mayor Cochrane asked that the approaches to the rampways over the Commissioners property should be put into proper condition pending further arrangements between the Board and the city regarding the entire street. The suggestion was at once seconded by Messrs. Reford and Torrance, both of whom complained that carters had considerable difficulty in getting across the roads at this point. Mr. Reford stated the condition of Commissioner Street was a disgrace to the city.

The chairman mentioned that the Board's proposal was before the City Council and in the meantime nothing could be done. Most of the commissioners thought that action should be taken at once to place the approaches to the rampways in proper condition, and wanted the chief engineer to be authorized to carry out the work. The chairman objected and did not want instructions given till the engineer had had time to prepare an estimate of the cost.

A report of the finding of the Pilots' Court in the grounding of the SS. Iberian was read. Mr. Doran called attention to the fact that the report stated that the accident had been caused by a batteau hiding the buoy from view. He wanted to find out the name of the batteau, in order that the Board should take action against its captain for dropping anchor in the channel.

A special meeting of the Board was held this afternoon, when the Mayor and Council of Verdun waited on the Commissioners. The delegation was anxious to ascertain how far the city would extend the dyke westward along the river front in order to prepare plans for a further extension of the dyke in front of the town.

RECEIVER FOR THE U.S. IRON PIPE TRUST ASKED

One is Asked for by Andrew H. McNeal for $30,000,000 Corporation.

Trenton, N.J., June 22.—Application was made in the Court of Chancery Friday by Andrew H. McNeal, of Burlington, N.J., for the appointment of a receiver for the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company, which has fourteen plants at different points throughout the United States, and one of which is located at Burlington.

Other plants are at Buffalo, Cleveland, Columbus, Ohio, Scottdale, Pa., and in Wisconsin, Kentucky, Ohio and Alabama. The company was incorporated about three years ago with an authoritzed capital of $30,000,000, to make cast iron pipe and do foundry work.

McNeal, in his bill of complaint, charges extravagance and mismanagement in the operation of the business of the company. He further charges that the company has been operated more with a regard for the exploiting of the company's stock in the stock market than for the practical utilization of the company's works; that from its organization, in the spring of 1901, the company's management was dominated by General Samuel Thomas, whose principal occupation, McNeal says, was that of a promoter of companies and exploiter of stocks.

Further McNeal charges that since the spring of 1901 the company was dominated by its president, George B. Hayes, whose associates, he alleges, were financiers and exploiters of stocks.

It is averred that the plant at Buffalo is operated at a loss of $400,000, and that plants at West Superior, Bridgeport, South Pittsburg and Newport were dismantled and rendered useless, and that all of these plants were acquired at excessive prices.

It is also charged that for the purpose of exploiting stock, statements to the public were published showing nearly $1,000,000 surplus, which McNeal declares are misleading.

SYNDICATE BUYS THE PLANT

Mexican Light Company Acquires the German Bankers' Property.

The syndicate managers of the Mexican Light & Power Company announced officially to-day that arrangements had been concluded for the purchase of the City of Mexico Electric Light Company from Messrs. Siemens and Halske, the German bankers. The deal, which was carried through by Mr. F. S. Pearson, of New York, vice-president of the company, and outlined in The Herald, calls for payment partly in cash and partly in stock in the new company.

The particular advantage of the purchase, as outlined by Mr. Pearson, is that the earnings of the Electric Company will be sufficient to pay the interest on all the bonds of the Power Company.

A meeting of the shareholders of the company will be called for the second week in July to ratify the action of the syndicate managers.

EX-ALD. LOUIS ALLARD DIES.

Was Prominent in Municipal Affairs Until Retirement in 1882.

The flag on the City Hall was flying half-mast to-day out of respect to ex-Ald. Louis Allard, who died early this morning.

Mr. Allard was very well known in municipal circles, having sat in the Council for several years, and having taken a prominent part in many public movements. He represented St. James Ward in the City Council in 1879, succeeding Ald. Rivard, who became Mayor, and he was for two years chairman of the Hygiene Committee. He presided over the Markets Committee in 1881, and served also on the Water and the Parks Committee. He retired from municipal life in 1882.

Mr. Allard was a contractor, and erected many of the large buildings in the city—among those he was engaged upon being the Postoffice.

TRY TO BLOW UP PALACE.

Persistent and Significant Reports Continue to Come from Constantinople.

Paris, June 22.—A despatch to the Rappel, dated from Budapest, to-day, says a rumor is current that the palace of the Grand Vizier at Constantinople narrowly escaped being blown up to-day by dynamite bombs. The correspondent says it is certain the Grand Vizier had received threatening letters, and that a number of arrests have been made recently.

EDNA HOPPER TRIES TO BREAK THE WILL

In British Columbia Actress Fights for Millions Left by Stepfather.

San Francisco, June 22.—Edna Wallace Hopper, the actress, and her attorney, Judge Coyne, of New York, arrived from the East last week and are at the Palace Hotel. They are securing evidence with which they hope to break the will of the late Alexander Dunsmuir, husband of Mrs. Hopper's mother and brother of the former Premier of British Columbia. The hearing of the Dunsmuir will case will begin in Victoria on July 7 and promises to be a bitterly contested matter, in which the main point to be decided is the mental condition of Alexander Dunsmuir at the time he executed his will.

The suit of the pretty young actress, which was filed some months ago in the British Columbia court, is for the purpose of setting aside the will on the ground of the incompetency of Dunsmuir at the time he signed it, and on the further ground that undue influence was exercised by his brother, James Dunsmuir, in securing his relative's signature. It is alleged by the fair contestant that for at least forty days before his death, Alexander Dunsmuir was not in a right frame of mind, as a result of his excessive use of intoxicants, and that while in this condition, which was frequently attended with delirium, James Dunsmuir came here from the North and induced his brother to sign a will which had been prepared in Victoria by an attorney of that city.

On the following day it is claimed that James Dunsmuir returned to the North, and that on the morning after Alexander Dunsmuir still ill and of unsound mind, was conveyed across the bay to an overland train and started eastward. He was sick the entire trip, and when he reached Chicago it was found necessary to place him under the control of physicians, who then declared that their patient was absolutely void of reason, could not make connected sentences during his conversation and, in fact, had every symptom of a deranged mind.

Some of the most eminent physicians of the East and West will furnish testimony to establish as a fact that Dunsmuir could not possibly have been of sound mind when he made his will, and to their evidence will be added that of bartenders, bellboys and others who served, carried or otherwise provided the millionaire with intoxicants.

CIRCUS PARADE A NOVELTY

Boer and British Scouts Leading Procession Are Also Features.

The parade given by the Walter L. Main shows to-day was an excellent one of its kind, and had many features not often seen in circus parades. The inevitable ten horse band waggon led off, followed by knights in armor and ladies on chargers. Then came the closed vans, and there the small boy was at a loss. He could only surmise what they held. A herd of camels and elephants, one of the former in harness, was next, and then another band, and then the stalwart figure of Captain Visser on a big horse at the head of his troop of Boer and British scouts in military trappings.

A Gatling gun detachment of two guns was a feature of the display. A Cape cart hauled by eight oxen was one of the unique features, and, of course, there were clowns in plenty, one of whom drove a peculiar rig, the motive power of which was a jackass which pushed the cart. It was a real case of the cart before the horse. The snake charmer in her den of serpents was conspicuous by her absence, and a far more pleasing sight was a sort of fairy bower, in which a young lady sat and made paper and feather flowers while on the parade. The open dens showed some fine lions, tigers, pumas, leopards and hyenas.

From start to finish the parade was a good one, and elicited many favorable comments from the thousands who saw it. The clown band supplied fun, and the mounted band was a novelty. The big tents are pitched on the old Exhibition Grounds, and to that place hundreds wended their way after the parade to witness the novel display of daylight fireworks. Very soon after the parade the air high above the tents was filled with a menagerie of all kinds of animals, outlined in smoke, which performed many grotesque antics in the upper air.

DELEGATES BOOK PASSAGE.

Ald. Ames said this morning that a cablegram received from England Saturday announced that 100 delegates had already been booked from there for the Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, that will be held in Montreal August 17-20. In addition, there were 30 ladies and a large number of replies had not yet been received. The all-Canada tour appears to be the most popular of those arranged, and over half the applications received have been for it.

MUTINOUS PRISONERS KILLED.

St. Petersburg, June 22.—Troops had to be called upon recently to quell a mutiny of prisoners in the gaol at Vladikavkas, capital of the Terek district, Ciscaucasia, with the result that four of the mutineers were killed and eight were wounded. The prisoners did considerable damage to the interior of the gaol before the soldiers were summoned, and fired a volley at them.

FATALITY AT STE. HYACINTHE.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

PROSPEROUS DAYS FOR THE COOKS ON BOARD MODERN OCEAN LINERS

They No Longer Have to Serve "Lobscouse" and "Dandyfunk," But Furnish a Bill of Fare Equal to Big Hotels.

These days of mighty steamships—leviathans that day by day push the white sails of the old-time commerce-carriers farther and farther from the direct routes of trade—have worked revolution in the lives of the men "who go down to the sea in ships." To some these changes have worked a certain woe. There is the foremast hand who once was weatherly wise aloft, knew how to reef and furl, could steer the plunging packet into the front of a gale by the shiver of the foresail leech, and work wonderful devices with a marlin spike and rope; and who now is a deck washer, a scrubber of paint and a booster of passengers' luggage.

On the other hand, there is the sea cook, once the despised and derided "doctor" of the sailing ships, a man with two dishes which were worth while, one of which was "lobscouse" and the other wasn't. To-day the sea-cook on the liner is a man of mark, drawing a salary that would make an old timer green with envy, having satellites, attendants and understrappers galore.

The struggles of the old time sea cook with his limited larder, his unhandy surroundings, would have been ludicrous had they not been fraught with too deep a significance to the hungry crew; this made them pathetic. The cook is a regularly articled member of the crew on a sailing vessel, and this is no nominal service. At the cry "all hands on deck" he may have to leave his kettles, no matter how critical the moment. On some ships it used to be the cook's especial duty to tend the foresheet. When he came back the soft bread was burnt in the baking, the "hot pie" was a wreck, and the "dog's body" reduced to nourishing bones.

CLEVER MANAGEMENT NEEDED.

Even with smiling skies and everything going his way, the sailing cook's life is by no means a merry one. His galley is on deck, often forward, just where a good boarding sea can soak it, and where he gets the full fling and send of the rollers. How he keeps pots on the stove in a jumping sea is a question which he could not answer himself, but he must manage it. Perhaps the small size of his galley helps, for its space is not usually more than 6 by 12 feet, and he can stand in the middle and reach almost anything without jumping for it. Then, again, the restrictions are such that he is not apt to have his pots brimming over. On most sailing vessels the sea cook is limited to two quarts of fresh water daily for each man, and with this he is expected to produce a full quart of coffee, a pint and a half of tea and a pint of pea soup. It will be seen that clever management is needed for this feat.

On three days of the week he has to make duff or bread instead of pea soup. The ingredients for this duff, or bread, are a half-pound of flour for each man, some fat boiled from the salt beef, generally known as "slush," and the aforesaid water.

Gastronomic luxuries on the sailing ship include such luxuries as "lobscouse," "dandyfunk" and "dog's body." "Lobscouse" is, withal, a simple luxury, but it has its drawbacks, for it can be made only after a heavy shower of rain or at such times as the steward can be prevailed upon to be generous and serve out an extra bucket of water. The amount of water on a long voyage is necessarily limited, and the usual service does not admit of "lobscouse."

"LOBSCOUSE" AND "DANDYFUNK."

Having the water then, heaven sent, or otherwise, this is how "lobscouse" is made. Take the salt beef and pork scraps remaining from previous meals, cut into junks and heave into a pot. Smash up some hard tack with a belaying pin and heave in about an equal quantity with the meat. An onion and some pepper, if obtainable, will add to the flavor. Cover with water, let it simmer gently, and serve hot.

"Dandyfunk" is a sort of nautical gingerbread. You put hard tack into a canvas bag and pound it with a sailmaker's mallet until it is reduced to minute fragments. Mix to a paste with water, molasses, and carefully selected "slush." Put in a baking pan and bake until brown. A little piece of ginger, of course, adds to this delectable dish, and is available if the steward is feeling good-natured.

"Dog's body" hardly merits so unpropitious a name. It is really "dandyfunk" with the molasses left out and replaced by the day's allowance of pea soup and some bits of fine chopped pork. Onions must be obtained, either by cajolery or treachery, added, and the whole baked and served hot. Sometimes the men themselves prepare this dish from the remnants of preceding meals, and, if the cook is feeling well, he puts it in the oven for them; if not, it has to wait over till a more auspicious day.

Such were the table luxuries served by the old-time sea cook, and it must be confessed that he did as well as he could, surprisingly well under the circumstances. Such an one would be lost in amazement, however, on a modern liner. Serve "lobscouse" on any one of the passenger ships of the Morgan "merger" and where would you be?

EQUAL TO EXPENSIVE HOTELS.

Not one of these but serves a daily menu equaled only in the very best and most expensive hotels. Here is not one cook, but many, and the duties are divided so that each may pursue his specialty. There is the chief cook, earning $60 a month, a second, who gets $40, and a third receiving $25. There is the French cook, a chef, drawing $50, a first vegetable cook, $25, and two more at $17. There are two scullerymen who draw $17 each, and all this imposing array is for the first cabin alone.

For the second class there is still another chief cook, drawing $37.50 a month; a second at $25, and two more receiving $17. When you come to the third class—the steerage, as it used to be called before the big improvements that were made in recent years, when "third class" on a boat like the Cedric or Celtic means more than "cabin" did once on a time—there are still three cooks, first, second and third, drawing $32.50, $20 and $17, according to their respective importance. The second and third class passengers have no French chef, as yet, though with the improvements and luxuries added year by year to the great ocean liners, it is quite possible that these will arrive in due season.

A similar service prevails on other first-class liners, though it is worthy of note that wages do not range as high, as a rule. The highest wages are invariably paid under the American flag—on shipboard, at all events.

Among all this army of highly paid and highly skilled professionals, the old-time sea cook would, no doubt, be figuratively, as well as literally, "at sea." Yet it is probable that not a single liner cook could properly prepare "dog's body" or "dandyfunk."

Instead, he has at his service all the luxuries that modern life ashore can command. The world is drawn upon for his supplies and such materials as go to garnish the larder of the finest hotels are at his beck and call.

STORES IN CAVERNOUS HOLDS.

Deep in the cavernous hold of the great ship are a dozen storerooms, packed, locked and guarded, and from these he draws as occasion demands. From the refrigerating rooms, ice by special machinery run for that purpose alone, the ship's butchers bring meats and cut them to his taste. There is the poultry and game room, the fruit room, the butter and cream room, the vegetable room, all a part of his storehouse. In the latest modern ovens bakers bake bread and cake for him. A confectioner prepares dainties and serves ice cream from the ice cream room, where it is kept frozen the voyage through. And so it goes.

But if the old-time cook were amazed at all this, he would be still more astonished at the liner's galleys. There is a galley for the first class, another for the second, and still another for the third. While on some ships the food for the crew comes from the third class galley, on others it is cooked in a special galley, where there is a first and second cook especially for the crew. In all these every modern appliance is to be found, just as would be the case in the hotel ashore, and, indeed, the labors of the cooks on a liner differ little from those in a city hotel where two or three thousand people are fed daily. There is room enough to do the work without crowding, and that is all any cook may ask.

The modern liner cook is no longer a sailor. He wouldn't know a reef point from a belaying pin if the two lay side by side. He is no longer required to be able to "hand, reef and steer," but he can broil and brew to a nicety, he can manage a gang of bakers, stewers and roasters, and he knows to a dot the ingredients of a thousand luxuries of the palate that one would expect only in king's houses.

PUPILS OF ST. PATRICK'S HONOR PARISH PRIESTS

Addresses are Presented to the Clergy, Who are Withdrawing From Their Charge.

St. Patrick's Convent, St. Alexander Street, was this afternoon the scene of a particularly pretty ceremony, when the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame and the pupils of the convent tendered a farewell reception to the Fathers of St. Sulpice on their withdrawing from the charge of the parish. The ceremony took place in the Convent Hall and was attended by a large number of the leading members of the parish.

After an entertainment given by the pupils, addresses were presented to Very Rev. Abbe Lecoq, superior of St. Sulpice; Rev. Martin Callaghan, P.P.; Rev. L. N. Leclair, S.S., formerly chaplain of the convent; Rev. P. F. McGrath, Rev. G. F. McShane, Rev. J. B. Ouellette, and Rev. M. J. McKenna. All the fathers replied briefly, thanking the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame for the many kindnesses extended to them.

Much merriment was occasioned by the rendition of the chorus "Our Good Old Friends."

DEATH RATE IN MONTREAL.

Last week there were 186 deaths registered; 169 Catholic, 16 Protestant and one Jew. The contagious diseases were: 1 diptheria, 3 scarlet fever, 2 typhoid, 5 measles, 7 whooping cough 14 consumption and 3 bronchitis.

CAR SMASHES STORE FRONTS.

Car No. 738, one of the big double-truck "Scotch" cars played havoc with the fronts of several stores in St. Antoine street yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The car was bowling along at a good speed, when a stone on the rail caused the front trucks to mount the rails, and the heavy car slewed into the walk. The iron door post of Mr. John Markum's plumber shop, No. 35 St. Antoine street, was knocked out of place, and Martineau's cigar store was smashed, the door and window being wrecked, and the frames shoved into the shop. The car was filled, but the conductor coolly barred the way and let no person out, thus preventing a possibility of injury. The wrecking crew put in an hour getting the car on the rails, and a fence was built about the ruins and a policeman put on guard.

GAME THAT ROUSES CUBAN FOLK TO SHARP FRENZY

Whites and Blues Meet in Arena at Havana to Battle for Supremacy at Ja Alai.

"Ah, here they come! The big glass-roofed front on jai alai shakes with a burst of applause. 'Macala! Macala!' a thousand voices cry and a lithe dark-skinned handsome man, lithe and graceful as a cat, bows and smiles up at the vast crowd that rises tier after tier in front of the long asphalt court, bounded on three sides by towering cement walls. It is Macala himself, the idol of every woman in Havana, the idol of the populace in every city where he has played this game that is the ruling passion of nearly all the Latin people.

There is another roar of applause as three other figures run lightly across the dirt-paved contra-cancha to the asphalt court. "Trecet! Macala! La azules! La azules!" It is plain that the two men in blue suits, like tennis suits, with flowing blue sashes, are the favorites here. Macala is dark and of the fiery Spanish type; his partner is fair, but just as handsome, with more of manly strength, just as quick and active and is famous with the cesta.

The women do not cry out the name of Eloy, lanky and stoop-shouldered, who looks like a worker from the cane fields, but the men and boys shout for him and post their pesos on his marvellous strength and skill. He and Machin, Machin with the long, fierce eyebrows, the stern Basque features, are dressed in white. It is to be a great match between the whites and the blues.

"Diez a sies a la azules!" a man in front cries out. There is a flash of color as a boyish-looking man in uniform, with a brilliant Basque cap of scarlet on his head runs to his side. The man wants to bet 10 to 6 on the blues, and the bright-capped boy is a corredore, one of the men who record bets for the spectators, a cross between a Montreal bookmaker and a New York betting commissioner.

The corredore calls out his bet, and in an instant an admirer of Machin and Eloy takes it.

Eloy, the lanky, wins the toss and runs to a point about 100 feet from the fronts, or right end wall. Tossing the ball lightly to the cement floor, he catches it on the rebound in an eighteen-inch long, basket-like racque and sends it whirring against the great wall. Quicker than the eye can follow the elastic ball has struck and is flying back down the court. It strikes the cement in front of Eloy, and as it bounces Macala springs forward, and, catching it in his cesta, sends it back against the front wall.

The game is on. As it flies back from the wall Eloy catches it and with both hands swings his cesta with such terrific force that the spectators can hardly see the ball as it shoots through the air. There is a crack as it strikes the cement, a flash, and it has rebounded one hundred feet past Macala, who swings his cesta and misses.

"Mala! Mala! Muy mala!" Macala, the idol, grimaces, for he is hurt by these shouts of approval.

But the blues have not lost the ball. Trecet, the powerful, who is playing in the back, opposing Machin, is not quick enough to stop it, but when it has flown two hundred feet and rebounded from the rear wall he is ready with his cesta, and catches it so neatly that the whole grand stand seems to rise and go mad with cheering. Whirling around like lightning he sends the ball over the heads of the forwards and it strikes the front wall with a sharp thud. There are a thousand "buenas!" and the sharp jingle of metal as silver and gold pieces fall on the asphalt around Trecet. He has no time to pick them up, so a boy runs out and gathers them in for him.

Suddenly Eloy utters a strange Basque cry and sends the ball high up on the big wall. It flies back over Macala's head and strikes almost under Trecet's nose. Trecet makes a flying leap, misses and falls with a thud on the asphalt. The ball rolls out on the contra cancha and the blues have lost a point. The odds on the blues go down and there are cries of derision.

In another moment Macala makes the most brilliant play of the game. The sharp clack of the ball meeting Eloy's cesta is heard, then the clack as it strikes the stone wall. With the swiftness of almost a bullet, it goes down the court so close to the side wall that the champions of the blues groan, for they know Macala cannot reach it. But Macala darts through the air, a flash of blue, a shivering clack and the ball is saved. Macala tumbles against the stone wall and falls bruised and bleeding, but what cares he? for the crowd is on its feet, gold is being showered around him and women are tearing roses from their breasts to throw to him. He picks up a rose, kisses it, bows to the crowd and his cesta swings against the ball again. A boy gathers up the money.

There is a frightful uproar as every one calls out his bet at the same time. The crowd is wild, intoxicated with excitement.

Point after point is lost until, after a long and thrilling battle of the cesta, the scorer cries out: "Whites, 30; blues, 28." The game is ended.

DISESTABLISHMENT NOW A DEAD ISSUE IN SCOTLAND

Apathy Marked Discussion of the Subject in Both the Presbyterian Assemblies.

The recent Presbyterian Assemblies, says a Scottish correspondent of the London Times, the records of which, alike in the ecclesiastical and in the theological sense, have been unprecedentedly barren, will for one reason, and on account of one incident, be remembered in the history of Scottish politics. They demonstrated that as an issue calculated to excite enthusiasm and turn elections disestablishment is dead. The usual debates on the subject took place both in the Established Assembly and in that of the United Free Church, but the prevailing note was apathy, in the one case of security, in the other of indifference not unmingled with despair.

So little fear is entertained of any assault being delivered upon the Church of Scotland, at least during the lifetime of the present Government and Parliament, that, in the course of a discussion upon confessional revision, the principal of the Faculty of Divinity in St. Andrew's University maintained that, if an appeal were made to the present House of Commons to alter the existing concordat between Church and State so as to give effect to the contemplated theological changes, it would be favorably received. Although the suggestion was not given effect to, it evidently had not a few supporters; and so little is disestablishment feared that the annual debate on Church interests in the Established Assembly was the briefest that has ever taken place; and Lord Balfour of Burleigh, the vigilant convener of the committee charged with the protection of these interests, admitted in effect that there was nothing for him to discuss, although he was cautious enough to say of the agitation to which the United Free Church has committed itself that it is "dormant" rather than "dead."

In the United Free Assembly, Principal Rainy made an almost identical confession, though for a very different reason; and the close of a humdrum discussion was enlivened by the declaration of a young Glasgow clergyman that the laity are not in favor of what he characterized as an onslaught upon "a sister communion," and that an endowed church is better suited for coping with the religious problems that are presented by the slums of great cities and are known as "home mission work" than one which subsists on the voluntary contributions of its members.

It might be rash to conclude from such pronouncements as this that within the United Free Church there is being formed a party favorable to Presbyterian reunion on the basis of the establishment principle; but they may certainly be taken as conclusive evidence that the political issue which even 30 years ago was regarded as the most formidable in Scotland is now of no account whatever. "Dissent" is not even the power in Scotland that Nonconformity is in England. Thus, while it is all but universally anticipated and hoped that the secretary for Scotland will next year introduce and pass the bill dealing with secondary and technical instruction and setting up new local educational authorities in town and country, there is not the remotest chance that it will lead to anything corresponding to the agitation in favor of "passive resistance" that has begun south of the Tweed. The religious difficulty in Scotland was settled in 1872; no statesman or party will seek to unsettle it.

One of the reasons assigned for the present condition of things is that while churches considered as rival organizations have no longer the power for the purposes of essentially political attack and defence that they had, congregations incline more and more to become middle-class clubs regulating the social and intellectual pleasures and even the recreations of the communities of whose religious life they are the embodiment or public manifestation.

The writer thinks that any attempt to revive Scottish Liberalism on the ground of disestablishment or education would be certain to fail, but that the revival of free-trade as a battle cry might meet with at least a measure of success.

SORT OF FLESH HE PREFERRED.

Maxim Gorky, whose passionate denunciation of the Russian Government anent the Kishineff massacre threatens to cause him trouble at home, has a number of idiosyncracies, among them being a periodical change from a flesh to a vegetable diet.

It is said of Gorky that he dined at a table d'hote one day in one of his periods of vegetarianism, and was much annoyed by the importunities of an old lady who sat opposite him.

"Won't you try, sir," she said, "a little of the chicken?"

"No, madam," Gorky answered.

"Perhaps, then, you would like some of the boiled ham?"

"None, thank you."

"Dear me! But surely you'll have a portion of roast beef?"

"No," said the novelist, continuing to eat vegetables only.

"Some roast mutton?" resumed the indefatigable old lady.

Gorky gave her a stern look. "Let me inform you," he said, "that I never eat any flesh but human flesh, and I prefer that raw."

A NOTABLE FACT.

A SURE CURE FOR CONSTIPATION

Some remedies cure this distressing complaint in a day, some in a month, but Nerviline never fails to cure in a few minutes. Just ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water — that's enough, and away goes the dysentery, cured to stay cured. Nerviline also cures Cramps, Colic, Pain in the Stomach, and Sick Headache. It has five times the strength and curative properties of ordinary remedies, and should be in every household. Better buy a 25c bottle and try it. Nerviline is all right.

THERE IS NO DEATH.

There is no death! the stars go down to rise
upon some other shore,
And bright in Heaven's jewelled crown, they shine forever more.
There is no death! the forest leaves convert to life the viewless air;
The rocks disorganize to feed the hungry
moss they bear.
There is no death! the dust we tread shall change beneath the summer
To golden grain or mellow fruit, or rainbow tinted flowers.
There is no death! the leaves may fall, the flowers may fade and pass away;
They only wait through wintry hours the warm, sweet breath of May.
There is no death; the choicest gifts that
Heaven hath kindly lent to earth
Are ever first to seek again the country of their birth.
And all things that for growth or joy are worthy of our love or care,
Whose loss has left us desolate, are safely garnered there.

For the Cook.

THE SAVORY ONION.

For scalloped onions peel, cut in halves, parboil, then cook in boiling salted water until tender but firm. Drain carefully, place in a shallow baking dish, well buttered, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot with butter and cover with fine bread crumbs. Continue these layers until the dish is full, having the last layer of crumbs moistened with melted butter. Pour over them rich milk, with a teaspoonful of flour blended for each cup of milk, and place in the oven until a rich brown. Grated cheese may be added if desired.

Salted peanuts are a delicacy easily made at home. Take one quart of the nuts, shell, separate from them all particles of the outer shell; then put them into a flat, shallow pan in which has been poured one teaspoonful of melted butter. Salt generously from time to time with a shaker, and stir occasionally, allowing the nuts to brown. For serving, a cut-glass leaf forms a pretty accompaniment.

Orange salad is an appetizing dish for luncheon and may be prepared in this way: Peel five or six oranges carefully removing all the white pith and cutting the pulp in the natural divisions, being careful to leave neither pips nor skin on these little divisions; mix together a little very finely chopped tarragon and chervil, a dessertspoonful each of brandy and salad oil, and a pinch of sugar, and season each piece of orange with this mixture. Pile the seasoned orange on a dish and place it on ice for an hour or two before serving it.

Brown sugar makes a very good substitute for maple sugar (if the latter product is not easily obtained) in making fudge. The customary method of preparation is followed—two cups of sugar, one of milk and a good-sized lump of butter being the required ingredients. As with the other varieties of fudge chopped nuts may be added if desired.

CATSKILL PRESERVES.

An old fashioned preserve is made of maple sugar and plums. Melt the sugar in a little water and cook with the plums, allowing pound for pound. This gives a delightful tart sweetness.

ONION SOUP.

One quart of milk, six large onions, yolks of four eggs, three tablespoonfuls of butter, a tablespoonful of flour one cupful of cream and salt and pepper. Put the butter in a frying pan, cut the onions into thin slices and drop in the butter, stir until they begin to cook; then cover tight and set back where they will simmer, but not burn, for half an hour. Now put the milk on to boil and then add the dry flour to the onions and stir it constantly for three minutes over the fire; then turn the mixture into the milk and cook fifteen minutes; rub the soup through a strainer, return to the fire, season with salt and pepper. Beat the yolks of the eggs well, add the cream to them and stir into the soup, cook three minutes; stir constantly. If milk is to be used in place of cream add a tablespoonful of butter at the same time.

SPLIT PEA SOUP.

One cupful of split peas, one tablespoonful of butter, two quarts of water, one-half teaspoonful of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, salt and pepper to taste. Let the peas soak over night in three quarts of cold water. Put the peas into a sauce pan with two quarts of water and let simmer for four or five hours, or until the peas are perfectly soft, add more water from time to time if necessary. Then pass them through a sieve and add to the pulp enough milk or water to make a soup of the consistency of cream, put it again into a sauce pan on the fire, season and add a roux made of one tablespoonful of butter and one tablespoonful of flour cooked together, dilute the roux to smoothness by a little of the soup before adding it to the pot. Serve with croutons.

HOT MAPLE SAUCE FOR ICE.

Put one pint of maple syrup and a half cupful of cream into a saucepan, and cook without stirring until it hairs. When a little of the syrup dropped into cold water can be rolled into a soft ball take from the fire, stir in a half cupful of English walnuts, chopped fine, and keep hot until ready to serve.

MAPLE PARFAIT.

Put one quart of milk into the double boiler and scald. Meanwhile beat the yolks of six eggs until lemon colored and thick, then add a pinch of salt and two cupfuls grated maple sugar, or one and one-half cupfuls maple syrup. Pour the hot milk into the egg and sugar mixture, and when well blended turn all back into the double boiler. Cook until the mixture adheres to the spoon, stirring constantly and lifting occasionally from the water to keep from boiling too rapidly. As soon as the custard is thick and creamy take from the fire and beat into it little by little the whites of six eggs, already beaten stiff. Keep beating until cold, then stir in one pint of cream whipped stiff, and turn into the freezer. Pack with three parts ice to one part of salt, and turn the crank slowly until the mixture begins to "set." Pack in a mould, taking care that no bit of salt is allowed to work its way in. When ready to serve, turn out on a platter and sprinkle the surface of the mould with one cupful chopped butternuts or almonds.

PINEAPPLE TAPIOCA PUDDING.

Soak one cup tapioca over night in plenty of water. In morning drain off any water that remains, add one-half cup warm water, and cook in double boiler. When almost clear add one and one-half cups sugar, juice of two lemons and one can of grated pineapple. Let boil up, remove from the fire and add beaten whites of three eggs after five minutes. Serve cold with plain boiled custard to which add one-half pint of whipped cream.

LACE AND MOUSSELINE DRESS.

The tucked mousseline gown is appliqued with esourial hand-embroidered lace, which forms the bottom flounce and the garnitures for waist and sleeve. The full puffed low sleeve is of chiffon and mousseline combined. The hat is of horsehair braid and ostrich feather.

Pot-Pourri.

BATHING SUITS.

The time for bathing suits is here, and there are many charming novelties offered. Wise women forswear all materials of weight and choose such things as mohair and serge, or even silk, but personally I prefer the mohair. Suits of shepherd's check taffeta are exceedingly chic upon the mannikins who are showing them just now, but cling too closely to be satisfactory in the water. Mohair sheds water, is light and altogether desirable. Some of the prettiest suits are made of white with trimming of blue braid, but there is a conservative contingent that always prefers black or dark colors. A new model and a good one shows a box plait, flanked by two side plaits at each side down the centre of both front and back of the blouse, and a skirt plaited to give continuous lines, but which in reality is separate and buttoned on to the belt. The neck can be square or round and the sleeves are full and short. The bloomers are well shaped and attached to the blouse, which closes invisibly beneath the plaits.

DAINTY LINEN FROCKS.

Exquisite frocks of the finer linens give another proof of its favor and are to be seen in the flimsiest weaves embroidered after the gown is fitted. A most elegant example is of handkerchief lawn cut in princess style and is embroidered all over in full blown carnations worked in the English style. At the lower edge they are large and they diminish in size as they approach the top. Each one is lined with ecru net and the bottom of the skirt is cut into sections that fall over a flounce of the same. Over the corsage is a tiny bolero of Irish lace, whose short sleeves fall over big puffs of the lawn. At the neck is an unstiffened collar over bright burnt orange, which gives a final chic touch to the whole.

A TARTAR COURTSHIP.

Among the Tchulian Tartars a curious mode of "popping the question" exists. The Tchulian bachelor in search of a wife, having filled a brand new pipe with fragrant tobacco, stealthily enters the dwelling of the fair one upon whom he has bestowed his affections, deposits the pipe upon a conspicuous article of furniture and retires on tiptoe to some convenient hiding place in the neighborhood, local etiquette requiring that he should execute this strategic movement apparently undetected by the damsel of his choice or any other member of her family. Presently he returns without further affectation of secrecy and looks into the apartment in a casual sort of way. A single glance at the pipe he left behind him enables him to learn the fate of his proposal. If it has been smoked he goes forth an accepted and exultant bridegroom; if not, the offer has been so irrevocably rejected as not to be even worth a pipe of tobacco.—London Express.

LOWELL STRIKERS BEATEN

Seventeen Thousand Operatives Out Since March 30 Lose $1,300,000 in Wages.

Lowell, Mass, June 22.—The Textile Council yesterday declared the great strike in the Lowell mills at an end. Every union affiliated with the council was represented and the vote was unanimous.

When asked for a statement, President Conroy smilingly said:—"We now worship at the altar of defeat, but later we shall rise again and conquer."

Agent S. Southworth, secretary of the agents, said:

"It will be impossible to start the balance of machinery so as to employ at once all who will come back. It is for the selling agents and the treasurers to decide in view of the market whether we shall attempt to run in full."

The strike began on March 30th, and involved about 17,000 operatives. The mills were shut down until June 1, when the agents opened the gates, and the majority of the operatives went back to work. The strike has cost in wages about $1,300,000.

It is understood that the agents will take back all the old help they have room for, and will make no discrimination against the leaders of the strike movement.

The high price of cotton precluded any hope of the success of the strike of the strikers' campaign, for a 10 per cent. increase.

LOUBET'S VISIT TO ROME.

Paris Officials Say It Was Never Definitely Determined That It Should Be Made.

Paris, June 22.—The officials here are not desirous of freely discussing the reports of complications arising from President Loubet's projected visit to Rome, owing to the delicacy of the questions involved. When shown the Vienna reports to the effect that the visit had been given up because the Pope would not receive the President, it was stated that it had been never officially determined that the President should visit Rome, the early reports being largely a deduction that King Victor Emmanuel's visit to Paris would naturally be followed by M. Loubet going to Rome.

The official programme of King Victor Emmanuel's visit to Paris makes no mention of a return visit. The King will stay here from July 18 to July 18, and will be entertained with elaborate fetes, a military review, state banquets and a gala performance at the opera.

My Lady Peggy Goes to Town.

(Copyright by Boone Merrill Co., and published by arrangement with McLeod & Allen, Canadian Publishers.)

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

My Lady Peggy, daughter of the Earl of Exham, of Kennaston Castle, in Surrey, who has been away visiting, awaits her lover, Sir Percy. He comes, and she accuses him of flirting with Lady Diana Weston, the heiress, whom his uncle wishes him to marry. He denies it, and tells her of reports he has heard of a certain Sir Robin McTart, who has been paying her attention. They quarrel and Sir Percy goes away. Two months later Lady Peggy receives a letter from her brother, saying poor Sir Percy is dying in London. Lady Peggy then determines to persuade her mother to take her up to London.

CHAPTER II.—(Continued.

"My Lady mother take a squealing chit like me up to town! Never! She'd say my manners weren't fit, or my figger, or my wardrobe. Lud! Chock! Bethink thee, lass of my gowns in London town! and me no more acquainted with the ways yonder, than our Brindle is with the family pew!"

Lady Peggy walked out into the paddock, rubbed the cream from her slippers on the turf; caressed the ponies; munched the sweet cake she had in her apron-pocket, felt the keen sweet air blow over her hot forehead, and saw, dancing ever before her mind's eye, that insidious sweet suggestion of "going to London."

How did one go up to London?

In the coach, aye to be sure, and the coach left the "Mermaid" in the village every Tuesday and Thursday at five in the morning. The coach! The splendid coach, a-swinging on its springs like a gigantic cardle, the postillions a-snapping their whips, the coachman a-cracking his long lash and a-shouting "All h'up for London!" and the ladies and gentlemen well armed, these last, in dread of the highwaymen on the heath—all a-piling in and a-settling themselves; and the guards a-tooting their horns, the landlady and the boots and the maids and the hostlers all a-bowing and a-scraping an' off they go! for London town—where Percy was a-pining and a-dying for her, so her twin writ in his letter.

Well, Lady Peggy went in, clapt on a fresh gown and shoes, and never was daughter more tender and patient with crabbed, gouty, crusty dad than she all through that lovely day. Playing backgammon; spelling out the newspaper; trouncing the cat when it jumped on His Lordship's leg; blowing the fire; wheeling his chair from hither to yon; stroking the bald head; combing the white whiskers; and finally said she,

"Daddy, London's a very big sort of a place, now, isn't it?"

The Earl nods, coddling his leg into the slip of sunshine that's walking westerly away from him.

"My brother lodges, so he says, at the corner of Holywell Road and Lark Lane; tell me, dad, where should that be now?" Lady Peggy has a careless air, and flecks a buzzing fly out of His Lordship's bowl of porridge.

"Eh?" pursues she, "is't for instance, in the city, or night London Bridge, or where the quality lives, or toward Southwark, or where?"

"Rot me!" cries His Lordship, looking up at his daughter in surprise, "what's my poppet got into her pretty head now, forsooth? Tut, tut, girl, what's town to thee, or its bearings? hey? stick thy eye into thy churn an' keep thy hand on the dasher—'twere better'n all the shops in Piccadilly, or all the fops at Court."

"Slow, dad! I was only askin' of my twin's whereabouts: Shops and fops are not dizzyin' your Peggy, you may swear, 'tis my brother, Sir of whom I'd learn!"

"'Twere better chase the scoundrel out'n my head, Peg, than hammer him in! A lad with every chance here in the country to lade his house, and make a good match with a nice plump girl, havin' land joining his own; but, no! Up and off to town to starve and scratch!"

The Earl pommels the floor with his stick, causing the cat to leap into the air.

"Let him die in want! Let him freeze, thirst, come to the gallows, say I! For such as leaves plenty to pursue want, gets no sympathy from me!"

"He ain't begged for't yet, dad," says Peggy very mildly. "All I was a wonderin' was this: When my brother took the coach at the Mermaid that mornin' you mind? how far off the inn where he alighted was the lodgin' at the corner of Holywell Road and Lark Lane? eh, dad? "Surely" and here Lady Peggy knelt and stroked his lordship's gouty members, and her voice positively trembled, doubtless with excess of filial zeal and devotion.

"Surely," resumed she, "you, who were, I dare be sworn" such arch eyes as Lady Peggy now made! "a fine gallant not so many years ago, must remember that—don't you?"

"Let's see, let's see," responds His Lordship, rubbing his head. "They set ye down at the King's Arms, nigh the Bridge, Southwark Bridge, yes; Well! Damme! I ought to know! Lark Lane? A devil of a hole; why, girl! it's not a quarter hour's trot from the inn, but it's beastly environment. Gad! that son of mine chooses pens, ink and writing-paper there, rather than—"

"Lady Belinda here, weight fourteen stone; acres two thousand, guineas, countless; temper, amazin'; years, untold! ha! ha! ha! Oh, daddy!" Lady Peggy springs up and dances about a minute in most genuine gaiety, then she seizes her father's head between her palms and hugs and kisses him with much grateful warmth; then flops down a-coddling of the gout again; laughing, giggling, pinching puss, and saying—

"Daddy, drop London! Care I no more for't. Know I quite enough. Let's chat of aught else in the world, until you fall a-napping, which will be soon now, guessing by the shadows."

'Twas very soon.

Then Lady Peggy tiptoed off to her chamber; then she pulled the rope that rang in the kitchen, and presently Chockey came, chopper and bowl in hand, checkered apron over white one; for serving maids were scarce in Kennaston Hall, footmen there were none, butler there was when he was not doing t'other half his duty at the stables.

"Come hither, Chockey," says her mistress in a whisper, with a beckon. "Shut the door, go on with choppin' your leeks and carrots, cook'll want 'em for the soup but listen, Chock, unlock your cars, Jane Chockey, as never you did before in your life."

Chockey bobs as she chops, leaning against the headpost, for support of her occupation, and also of her curiosity.

"You know my mother's box, the small one that we re-covered last spring with the skin of the red calf that died natural? Bickers put it on with a gross of brass nails?"

Chockey bobs again.

"Put into it," continues Lady Peggy, "a change of linen for yourself and me, two night-rails," Chockey's eyes dilate, "my gray taffeta gown with the flowered petticoat, my green hood and kerchief, powder, patchbox, lavender, musk, pins, needles; my red silk hose, your Sunday cap and sleeves"—Chockey's chopper ceases to work, and the bellpost creaks. "All of which," continues her mistress, "is but prelude to saying: I'm going up to London by to-morrow's coach, and I'm takin' you with me!"

"Madam!" Down goes the bowl, leeks, carrots, chopper and all a-spilling over the floor.

"Aye," says Peggy calmly, "gather up thy mess, Chock, and to work with the duds. Lay out my Levantine gown, my blue kerchief, my black silk hose, my brown cloak, and, from my mother's press, take the thick fall of Brussels lace and the brown bonnet it's tied to, and bring e'm hither; put them under the bed beside thy trundle so's my father'll not see 'em when he stops to bid me good-night. Borrow cook's hat she bought at the Fair when she was young, and he delaine veil for thyself, for, so appareled as not to be recognized, will you, dear Chock, and my Lady Peggy take the coach on April the twelfth. But, Chock, remember, mum's the word, an you let your tongue wag to my undoing, but the thousandth part of a syllable, your mistress and you part company forever! Go."

Chockey picked up Lady Peggy's waving hand between a pinch of her apron, lest her onion-smelling fingers should foul so dainty a morsel, kissed it, and off and obeyed, speechless from surprise and veneration, both.

At night's fall the Earl, somnolent again from fire's warmth and the port he would take, despite the surgeon's orders to the contrary, Lady Peggy, Chockey in her wake, purse in hand, went scouting through the kitchen-garden, the paddocks, the cowyard to the stable where Bicker's pipe shone in the gloaming like a fire-gem as he dodged and lurched after a refractory colt.

Bickers, albeit somethines the slave of beer, was all times Lady Peggy's abject, and it took no effort nor persuasion to gain him to her will. He took his orders amiably they were to secure two places in the London mail for to-morrow morning, and strictly to hold his peace both now and forever about the whole concern.

Peggy gave him the price of the seats and with wise Castle-mistress foresight, she showed Bickers a sovereign beside.

"And, Bickers," said Lady Peggy, "considering that the devil walks abroad often in the Mermaid's taproom I am told, I'll keep the sovereign for you 'til you come back, lest he rob you of it, eh?"

"Well, My Lady," said Bickers, "a whole sovereign, My Lady, ain't often seen out of the quality's pockets, and the devil might think I'd stole it, My Lady, and try to get it from me. Keep it, My Lady, keep it!"

With which the old man, having conquered the colt, set off for the village by a side-path all too well known to his tread. Presently by the spark in his pipe-bowl the two women saw that the had turned back; that, as he came close to them, he clapped his thumb over the glow, and,

"My Lady Peggy," mumbled he, sheepishly.

"Whatever is't, Bickers?" cries his mistress in alarm.

"Naught to fright ye, My Lady, only it's been on my mind these many days to tell you as the letter you sent me with to Sir Percy de Bohun—"

"Well, well?" Lady Peggy's words came with a gasp, as the old man dead stops.

"Go on, Bickers, I say!" the mistress' foot stamps with a thud on the damp earth.

"Askin' Your Ladyship's parding, the devil caught me that time at the Kennaston Arms, My Lady, and he clawed that tight, My Lady, that I couldn't stir, and—and—"

Peggy now stooped, seized a billet of wood as big as her arm and gave Bickers a sound drub across his hands. The pipe fell in bits, the ash glowed; Bickers jumped, so did Chockey.

"And, and' what?" drubbed Peggy with a will. "Not so much as ha' penny of the sovereign, unless you out with the whole truth!"

"I willt I will!" cried the old man. "Sir Percy never got the letter, My Lady, until the very day I seen him on the long roan a-ridin' for's life away from the Castle yonder," and Bickers jerked his thumb toward the house as he now made off.

The devil did not catch Bickers that night; he earned his sovereign before the moon rose.

As he sped, Lady Peggy took Chockey's proffered arm.

To be continued.

ALASKA DEMANDS REPRESENTATION

In U. S. Congress—Committee of Senators Go to Make Report.

Finding it impossible to resist any longer the demands of Alaska for representation in the United States Congress, the Senate has despatched a committee of its members to visit Alaska and report what representation it will be expedient to give this great northland which the American Union acquired by purchase from Russia.

Two members of that commission, Senator Dillingham, of Vermont, and Senator Burnham, of New Hampshire, were here yesterday and went west by the Imperial Limited to take up the enquiry. They will be joined on their way north, when they reach Vancouver, by Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, chairman of the committee, and before they begin their duties at Sitka by two representatives of the Democratic party, Senators Heitfield and Paterson.

A joint committee of Congress has already reported in favor of the territorial status and government being given to Alaska, but the question of representation was left in abeyance. The rapidly growing mining population are clamorous in their demands, and are seeking not one delegate, but two, in the legislative arena of the nation. The miners in the new districts contend that their interests require special consideration and the commercial and fishery interests on the coast are also urging representation on their own account. It is to report upon these diversified interests that the Senators are now bound for the north. How far the Alaska people may succeed in getting such representation is a matter upon which opinions differ. No existing territory in the American union has more than one delegate to Congress. New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arizona and Hawaii, the four existing territories, are each represented by a unity. Colonel Ivy, collector of customs at the port of Sitka, is expected to be the delegate who will represent Alaska should the commission decide that only one shall be returnable.

Congress has appointed another committee to enquire into the question of the customs regulations at Alaska, and it is expected that it too will begin its labors very soon. The action of this committee will interest Canada more directly than the other, because there is a considerable amount of trade between Dawson City and the American towns that have grown up in Southern Alaska. Mr. Edwards, the United States Consul-General here, informed a Herald representative to-day that the commercial dealings between the Canadian Yukon and Alaska had become an international factor that required attention—more attention than had been given to it, and hence these investigations.

WILL BEAUTIFY THE SQUARE

Canadian Pacific's London Offices Are Now Nearing Completion.

Mr. George C. Wells, chief clerk in the department of the passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific, returned to-day from a vacation for the benefit of his health, which was partly spent in a trip to the Mother Country.

Mr. Wells, who is now greatly improved in health, and resumed his duties to-day, said the Canadian Pacific new general offices in London are now approaching completion, and while it may seem to be a bold claim to make that the new offices will be an ornament to a section of London that contains so much of historic and architectural beauty as Trafalgar square, there can be no doubt whatever that they will enhance the aesthetic structural of the square and its surroundings.

Mr. Wells said that the company is handling an unprecedented traffic in London, a great impetus having been given to it by the acquisition of the Atlantic fleet.

Mr. Wells, who went over by the Lake Erie and came back by the Lake Manitoba, said that the improvements that have been introduced in the passengers steamers since the company took them over and elelevated the table and state-room arrangements to the same standard as the Empress line, is vastly appreciated, and have already attracted new travel.

BRITISH FORCED TO RETIRE.

Lose Four Killed and Sixty Wounded in Engagement With Former Sultan of Sokoto.

London, June 22.—The former Sultan of Sokoto is causing the British considerable trouble in Nigeria. A force of 130 West African troops, in the middle of May, unsuccessfully attacked the former Sultan, who was in command of a large force in the walled town of Durmi, about 200 miles from Kano. The British were obliged to retire after losing four men killed and 60 wounded. The enemies losses were estimated at 300 men killed or wounded. Reinforcements are being sent to the British.

A British gunboat has been ordered to Garraway, on the Liberian coast, in consequence of the recent looting of British and French steamers which have run ashore there.

RUNAWAY TRAIN KILLS THREE.

Dashes Through City of Spokane, Then Leaves the Rails.

Spokane, Wash., June 22.—A Great Northern train of sixty loaded coal cars got beyond the control of the engineer to-day and tore through the city at a frightful speed, finally jumping the track at Davison Street. Three persons were killed, nine injured and one is missing. Three buildings were wrecked.

BURGLARS DO MUCH DAMAGE.

Burglars broke into Messrs. J. M. Douglas & Company's premises at 19 St. Nicholas Street, early Sunday morning and damaged property to the value of $150. They broke the door leading to the bonded warehouse and smashed bottles, glasses and a typewriting machine. Entrance was gained through Jellyman's box factory. The firm offers $50 reward for information leading to the conviction of the parties.

Cunegonde and Westmount, and arranged a basis of settlement for the claims Montreal has against these three municipalities in connection with the St. James Street sewer damages case. The arrangement will be submitte dto the respective Councils at an early date.

CHICAGO HAS INVENTED NEW PROTECTION COURSE

Chicago has invented a new profession. To the many new occupations that have grown out of the great industrial development during the last few years another profession, broad in its scope and far-reaching in its importance, is about to be added. This new profession is the outgrowth of the demand for scientific and effective fire protection. Beginning next September, Armour Institute, in connection with the underwriters' laboratories, will inaugurate a fire protection course. The Chicago educational institution will be the first in the world to attempt the training of young men for this distinctly modern profession.

The annual fire losses in the United States aggregate the enormous sum of $150,000,000. The maintenance of fire departments by cities and corporations costs more than $200,000,000 additional. The design of the new course of training will be to reduce this expense as greatly as possible, and, at the same time, to afford greater security to property. As a profession the occupation is planned to be placed upon as firm footing as any of those now existing.

The young man who takes up the study of fire protection will enter a profession which will be broader in its training than that of almost any of the ordinary professions of the present time. He must have an academic or a high school education before he will be admitted to the course. Then he will have four years of hard study before him, the first two years of which will be the same he would be compelled to take if he entered any of the universities in the country. During the third year of his studies he will begin specializing, and at the end of four years, if he has been a faithful student, he will be graduated. The student will have no particular choice of course of study. He will be expected to learn whatever will be of value to him in his work.

The duties of the expert on fire protection will be the examinatien of fire hazards, their extent and the means of reducing them. He will be expected to know all the ins and outs of the insurance business. He must know much of architecture. He must be an electrician. He must be a chemist. He must be a builder. He must know the value of building materials and their uses in fire protection.

Until a very few years ago the insurance business was a sort of go-as-you-please business. Companies accepted almost any kind of risk, asked no questions as to the desirability of the hazard and collected as high a rate as they could. The business is conducted on a different basis to-day. All underwriters are interested in reducing the rates. Many risks they absolutely refuse to take. On others the rate is scaled by local boards, composed of the representatives of various companies doing business in the territory.

But that is about as far as the business has been reduced toward a science. The completion of this work and the placing of it upon a scientific basis is what the new course in fire protection will be expected to work out.

Of the desirability of the profession for young men there is but one opinion from the viewpoint of the projectors, and that is that it will be better than any of the now overrun professions of a kindred nature. During the last few years colleges of engineering have been turning out annually a great company of engineers. The same story is true of other kindred schools. While the expert in fire protection will be compelled to have a broader training than the ordinary engineer, it is claimed that he will be able to command a salary far in advance of that of the latter.

The greater part of the student's life at college will be spent in the laboratory. At Armour Institute there is now installed equipment to serve him during the greater part of his course. At the underwriters' laboratories is every device used for the prevention, detection and combating of fire. The student will be taught how to run a fire engine, how to install an automatic sprinkler, how to gauge the value of fire walls and fire doors and how to determine the likelihood of a building burning. The graduate will be expected to know what kind of building an insurance company will or will not insure. He will be expected to know just what rate of premium should be commanded on this or that structure. He must be able to write a policy, to built a fire wall, to make a scale of rates or carry a hose into a burning building.

This field of work has been constantly broadening. The demand for intelligent, well-trained men is now far beyond the supply.

SUPERIOR COURT JUDGMENTS.

Judge Archibald awarded Camille Lamarre the sum of $1,031.21 against the Syracuse Smelting Works this morning, for some scrap iron which the plaintiff sold the defendants.

In the case of Levy vs. the Strathcona Rubber Co., he awarded $330 damages and costs, for dismissal without proper cause.

Judge Mathieu gave judgment this morning in the case of Robillard vs. Rattan, a case over the paternity of a child. He condemned the defendant to pay $8 and $12 a month until the child is 16 years of age.

Judge Robidoux gave Della M. Valliquette $225 alimony from L. Dore, jr., this morning, and condemned him to pay a certain sum a month for the support of the child.

MISS WOOD HEADS HER CLASS.

In the list of prize winners of Queen's School, Westmount, which appeared in Saturday's Herald in Standard 8a the name of Mary Wood should have read Mary Hood. Miss Hood was first in her class.

Believes Patient Will Walk.

Back into his eyes again came the sofe light and a wave of the tenderest feeling seemed to sweep over his rugged face as he looked down upon the little girl he had just saved from a life of misery and humiliation.

Just for a moment his heart shone out of his luminous eyes. Then he went again to the table. His face was now again like that of the sphinx, unreadable. Cold, bloodless ,imperturbable, not a trace of feeling or emotion was reflected there as he picked up his handiwork and looked at it critically. A wave of his hand and the audience of doctors knew that he was satisfied.

"I think that she will be able to walk in a few days," was his only remark as he prepared to bind up the re-formed leg.

The work of binding up the leg Dr. Lorenz considered of vital importance.

First around the tingling flesh he wound a cloth of finest linen Then over this a thickness of flannel bandages, and over all the plaster cast. So does he arrange the covering that it is possible to change the linen bandage next the skin every day by drawing it through the cast, thus ensuring at once ventilation and cleanliness.

Child May Use Her Limbs.

For six months the cast must be kept on, but the child may use her legs meanwhile. Exercising the newly joined bone and socket is one of the essentials to the cure.

During the half hour that Dr. Lorenz worked over the little girl the most absolute stillness prevailed in the room, The click of the bone as he pulled it out and let it fly back into the socket was the only sound that broke the stillness. Again and again that thump made harden d surgeons wince and young students shudder. It appeared heartlessly brutal, and it was hard, even though one fully realized that the man who twisted and bent the unresisting little leg was conferring a blessin which life-long gratitude could never repay to rid oneself entirely of that idea.

It requires all the faith that one possesses to believe when watching him at work that Dr. Lorenz is the most tender-hearted surgeon who ever stood at an operating table.

Operates on Club Foot Boy.

Dr. Lorenz' next case this morning was one of club foot. The patient was a boy, J. Jackson. It was one of the most aggravated he had ever come across, and he worked over it for nearly three-quarters of an hour. His method was similar in this case to that employed in treating the little girl. A small triangular block placed under the twisted foot gave him the leverage necessary to bring the great strength which is necessary in this operation, to bear upon the leg.

"The greatest thing about bloodless surgery," remarked Dr. Lorenz, as he began work, to one of the doctors standing alongside, "is that if it does not affect a cure the deformity is always reduced and in the worst cases much benefit is derived, and at the worst no danger is incurred, even from the breaking of bones."

As he spoke he wrenched the foot almost straight, with one powerful twist and holding it in this way he kneaded and bent and twisted it until it remained in its natural position unaided.

When he had finished he stood the little figure up on the table and showed the doctors that the foot now lay flat on the ground.

The foot was then firmly encased in a plaster of Paris cast. Every few days a slit or "window" will be cut in the heel of the cast to allow ventilation and prevent gangrene.

Patients Stay at Hospital.

Both cases operated upon this morning, will be kept in the hospital for a few days until they have fully recovered from the effects of the aneasthetic.

Dr. Lorenz concluded his clinic of "demonstrating" two cases, one of club foot, and one of hip disease which he had not time to operate upon. His demonstration was followed with the greatest interest by the medical men present.

This afternoon Dr. Lorenz will operate upon a case of congenital hip disease at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Since the news of his visit to Montreal was first made public there has been a constant stream of enquiries at the hospital from all over the country. Last Saturday the hospital was besieged with parents bringing children suffering from every conceivable form of deformity. From these Dr. Lorenz selected the cases upon which he operated to-day. This morning again, there was a crowd of anxious parents at the hospital anxiously enquiring for the famous surgeon to seek his aid for their crippled children.

DR. LORENZ VISITS QUEBEC.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Quebec, June 22.—Dr. Adolf Lorenz arrived in this city yesterday, accompanied by Dr. Wilson, of Montreal, and drove over the city, visiting the historic sites. They returned to Montreal last evening by boat. A number of local physicians, including Drs. Ahern, Sewell and Catellier, left their cards at the Chateau Frontenac.

"EVERYONE TO HIS TASTE."

Women Who Are Unprepossessing to Some Are Pretty to Others.

Every one to his taste, or, as the French say, "If you don't like this or that, don't disgust others out of it; there are some who may like it."

Some will tell you that a woman with a small, turned-up nose is not fit to look at. Others will tell you, on the contrary, that that woman is often very piquant; cheerful and amiable looking, which makes her quite charming, and will add:

"Who could admire a woman with a long, arched nose?"

Well, some do. Cleopatra, who had such a nose, was considered the greatest beauty of her time, and Pascal goes so far as to say that if her nose had been an inch shorter the face of the world would probably have been changed.

I have heard women say, wrote Max O'Rell before his death, that Rejane, with her short, retrousse nose, her eyes set wide apart, her eyebrows in the middle of her forehead and her huge, square mouth, is absolutely ugly. Many people—and I am one of those—call her the personification of piquancy and fascination. A general expression of amiability, an intelligent face, a contagious laugh, eyes brimming over with fun and humor, an air that denotes good temper, good fellowship, all that may belong to a person, even a woman, that most people would agree in declaring ugly.

Descartes liked women who had a squint. Alfred de Musset liked to see a little down on their upper lips. Every one to his taste, let us repeat.

There are women who would be able to inspire love with the mere sound of their melodious voices, even if you could not see them. The pretty woman is preferable to the beautiful woman, and the charming woman may possess no beauty whatever. The pretty woman remains pretty longer than the beautiful woman remains beautiful, and the charming woman is and remains charming forever.

Besides there is an age, some time about 40, when ugliness disappears, and, contrary to the woman who at that age may have lost her beauty, the homely woman is more than ever amiable and cheerful. In losing her beauty the beautiful woman has lost generally everything, for nature, which is somewhat sparing in her gifts, seldom endows a woman perfect of face and figure with much intelligence, wit and wisdom. She is spoiled in her youth by the admiration bestowed upon her by parents, friends and men in society, and the loss of what caused all that admiration leaves her sad, dissatisfied and unhappy.

An ugly woman is sometimes wicked, but she is seldom silly. It is said that hunchbacked people are very sour and revengeful, malicious and treacherous, and some people say that ugliness develops in women the characteristics that you see in hunchbacks. I do not believe it. My opinion is that plain women (of course I do not speak of those whose ugliness is enough to stop all the clocks in a house) have very often qualities of heart and mind that make them much preferable to beautiful statues who seem to expect you to stand in silent ecstacy before them.

The woman who adds to the tenderness of her heart and the brilliancy of her mind all the attributes of beauty in form and feature is the glory of creation; but although I have an idea that most women would give all their intellectual attainments and moral qualities in exchange for beauty, I must say that all wise people would agree in wishing them, for their sake, the possession of all that is solid and lasts.

CONVENTION OF THE G.B.A. AT MUSKOKA A SUCCESS

Montreal Delegates Are Highly Pleased With What They Heard in Discussion of New Plans.

Mr. W. E. Davis, passenger traffic manager of the Grand Trunk; Mr. H. G. Elliott, assistant general passenger agent; Mr. H. R. Charlton, advertising agent; Mr. Robert Morris, general baggage agent of the Canadian Pacific, and Mr. George Allen, general baggage agent of the Intercolonial have just returned from the annual convention of the International Association of General Baggage Agents, held last week at the Royal Muskoka Hotel in the Georgian Bay district.

From the statements made to a Herald representative to-day it appears that the convention did some really useful work in the awy of formulating new plans for the more effective treatment of baggage, while the members and their wives, sisters and other lady friends found in the Muskoka surroundings a source of delight. One hundred and thirty persons were present at the convention, representing upwards of sixty systems.

The business before the meeting included several new regulations with regard to the transportation of corpses and bicycles, but as these will go before the managements of the dicerent railways before they are enforced, they have not been made public.

The chief office-bearers for the year are:—President, Mr. C. C. Denton, of the New York Central; vice-president, Mr. C. L. Wiggins, of the Boston and Maine; while Mr. J. E. Quick, of the Grand Trunk, has been re-appointed secretary.

At the meeting of the General Passenger Agents at Portland last year, a resolution was adopted asking the general baggage agents to send a representative to the next convention of General Passenger Agents, which wil be held at New Orleans in the autumn. When this resolution came up for consideration at the Baggage Agents convention it was decided that Mr. Quick, the general baggage agent of the Grand Trunk, should be the representative at the gathering named.

It was decided that the next convention should be held at St. Louis, at the time of the International Exposition next year.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S REPLY

London, June 22.—When asked in the House of Commons to-day what steps were being taken to induce Germany to cease differentiation against Canada, Colonial Secretary Chamberlain replied:

"I am not aware that there are any effective steps that can be taken under our present fiscal system."

MR. WHITE IS IMPROVING.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Ottawa, June 22.—James White, geographer to the Interior Department, has been very ill in London with typhoid fever, but a cable received to-day says that he is improving. Mr. White went over in connection with the preparation of the Alaska boundary case.

MAY CLEAR UP MYSTERY.

New York, June 22.—Joseph Fignaro and George Bruno were arrested here to-day charged with robbery. The detectives say they found on them a paper relating to the Cunard liner Umbria's dynamiting bomb mystery.

MONTREAL STREET RY. EARNINGS

Although the Montreal Street Railway is showing record gross earnings for June, and is bound to have a fine statement this month, the statement of net earnings for May was a poor one.

The strike was, of course, a big factor, and the month not only showed a decrease of $3,124 in gross earnings, but an increase of $25,360, or 29.22 per cent., in operating expenses. The earnings for the eight months are materially reduced compared with last year, the present surplus decrease being $16,350. The statement for May and the eight months is as follows:

TEN YEARS AGO—AND NOW.

Ten years ago to-day, in the city of Ottawa, there was a gathering of Liberals which marked the beginning of an epoch in the history of the party. For fifteen years Canadian Liberals had seen an unsound fiscal policy triumphant at the polls, and, year after year, had felt that grievous wrong was being done them by the parliamentary majority through the instrumentality of gerrymander and franchise acts. They had lost many strong men. They had differed among themselves on certain points of policy. In brief, they had been both disheartened and dispersed. But, as often is the case, when the hour was darkest, light began to break. Laurier, chosen as leader at a time when he was little known to the English-speaking people, had been making annual pilgrimages to their provinces. And as he travelled so he grew in favor. The Liberals, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, had it gradually forced in upon them that here was a new rallying point—a leader strong and trustworthy. Then came his happy inspiration to call for a Dominion convention. It was exactly what the party required—an opportunity for defining a policy to which all could subscribe; a chance for Liberals to meet Liberals.

The convention demonstrated the essential unity of the party; it emphasized the dominance of Mr. Laurier; it brought to the front of Dominion politics men heretofore known only in provincial arenas. It marked the beginning of the "march of victory." Men went from it back to their homes with inspiration to work as they had never worked before. Its influence radiated to every corner of the Dominion; and it is radiating yet.

The hour and the man had met. From that hour to this, ten rounded years, Laurier has been the unquestioned chief of the Liberal party. In those years he has twice carried the country at the polls. He has given Canada the strongest Government it has ever possessed. He has given it an honest Government. He has inaugurated a policy that bids fair to change the course of the Empire. He has twice visited England, to be there regarded as one of the foremost figures in Imperial pageants. He has been happy in being the First Minister of Canada during seven years of unexampled material development and widespread prosperity. He has been doubly happy in having not only the love of his own following, but the respect and confidence of the whole Canadian people.

We are continually being told by the Conservative press that the Liberals have not fulfilled the pledges of the platform of 1893. Perhaps there have been failures, as in all things mundane, but viewed in the broad it must be acknowledged that the Liberals have given the country the essentials of faithful and progressive administration to which they stood pledged by that platform. The record of the intervening decade is one of which the Liberal party may well be proud. It is a record of progress, of clean Government, of wonderful development. If every promise made has not been fulfilled to the letter, every prophecy of evil has been proven false. The genius of government has been shown not vested in the Conservative party only, even as the assertion that the Liberals proposed to destroy Canadian industries has been repudiated by the facts. The ten years have recast the relations of the parties to the country, to the distinct advantage of both the country and the Liberal party.

THE WESTERN OUTLOOK.

Reports from the West indicate that the present year's wheat crop will greatly exceed that of any previous year. It is estimated that Manitoba and the Territories are filling up so rapidly that the amount of land under cultivation is twenty per cent. larger than last year, and that the wheat crop will show an excess of twenty million bushels. The crop conditions are as nearly perfect as possible. With the opening up of the country the danger from frost is rapidly disappearing. In the earlier days frost was the greatest enemy of the prairie farmer. It may easily be seen that a record western crop this season will be of inestimable benefit to the whole Dominion. The attention of the world is directed this way, and emigrants from almost every European country are flocking in. A large wheat crop, with its consequent prosperity to all those now settled in the West, will be the best advertisement the Canadian wheat fields could possibly receive. There are said to be hundreds of people in Great Britain and throughout Europe who are prepared to come to this country immediately on receipt of favorable reports from countrymen who have preceded them.

Moreover, the continued prosperity and development of the Canadian West is distinctly beneficial to the people of the older provinces. For many years to come the East will supply the demands of the West for manufactured articles. The manufacturers and wholesalers of Ontario and Quebec have a standard and ever-increasing market for their wares west of Lake Superior. Much of the wealth gathered from the wheat fields will find its way east, and as the West becomes more thickly populated the eastern provinces will gain in proportion. The encouraging reports received of the prospects of the western crops will create satisfaction throughout the entire Dominion.

DIVERSE VIEWS.

The letters which The Herald published on Saturday on the subject of Mr. Chamberlain's proposals were from Canadians in widely separated portions of the Dominion, and representative of various classes. Opinions were by no means identical.

Hon. J. W. Longley says it would scarcely seem to him to be sound policy to jeopardize important Canadian industries.

T. S. Simms & Co., St. John, think Canada has gone as far as she is justified.

Mr. Curry, of Amherst, believes thoroughly in the preferential idea, and thinks Canadian manufacturers in the long run would be benefited.

Mr. H. B. Donly, of Simcoe, is unwilling to sacrifice Canadian industries, but thinks there may be found a middle course.

Mr. John Campbell, of St. Thomas, is willing that British wares should have freer entrance to Canada, and the Noxon Company, of Ingersoll, holds the same view.

The Canada Paper Co., of Windsor Mills, is not in favor of the Canadian preference being increased unless our tariff is first raised.

C. Norsworthy & Co., of St. Thomas, and Mr. S. F. McKinnon, of Toronto, use the same argument.

The Canada Radiator Company is willing to take down the bars against Great Britain, as is the J. D. King Co., of Toronto.

Here we have much diversity of opinion. One set of writers take ground against any increase in the British preference unless our general tariff is first raised. Another set are quite satisfied to see British goods enter Canada on more liberal terms than are now given. All want a preference in the British market, but only a part are willing to make sacrifices to obtain it.

THE MOULDING OF ANTI-BRITISH OPINION.

A series of remarkable articles dealing with Germany's relations with Great Britain has just appeared over the signature "Vigilans sed Aequus" in the London periodical, the Spectator, and as they relate to questions that affect the whole Empire it is well that they should not pass unnoticed, particularly in view of the attitude recently assumed by Germany towards Canada with regard to commercial intercourse. The writer has explored with great vigilance the large body of contemporary German literature which is devoted to the discussion of Germany's position as a world power, and her international relations. It is a literature that under ordinary circumstances would be passed by with indifference by other nations, but its growing volume and popularity indicate that it might repay perusal, particularly as no class has contributed more freely to it than the German university professors, whose influence in a country so highly and methodically educated as Germany is significant for the present, and probably more significant for the future. From the wars of German independence against the first Napoleon down to the war of German unification against the third Napoleon, it was the German professor, whether in the schools or in the universities, who through good report and evil report, mainly helped to prepare the minds of the German people for the inevitable struggle against the traditional Gallic foe, which the genius of Bismarck brought to a triumphant issue. The same influences have been, during the last two decades, directed towards shaping the minds of the German people towards another national issue, which it is being taught to regard as equally vital and inevitable. The greatest historian of modern Germany, Herr Von Treitschke, gave the cue. "We have settled our old scores with Austria, with France, with Russia, the last, which we still have to settle, is with England, that will presumably be the longest and most difficult."

The professorial world, reinforced by soldiers and sailors, by politicians and economists, took up the cue—the crop of books, pamphlets and magazine articles which has sprung up all over Germany constitutes the theme upon which "Vigilans sed Aequus" writes. Not only does he give a full list of all his authorities, but names each of them individually at the close of every one of the quotations. The place of honor is not unnaturally assigned to the propaganda in support of a big navy in order, as officially stated in the preamble of the fleet bill, to make it dangerous even for the strongest naval power to go to war with Germany. It may be noted that Germany has become greatly dependent upon her seaborne trade. "Her own harvest no longer feeds her. For 102 days out of 365 she is fed on foreign corn." A policy in favor of which the minds of the German people are being influenced is amalgamation with the German Empire of what are called the German "Outlands"—Holland, Switzerland, Denmark, Scandinavia, but above all, Holland. Through Holland Germany sees the possibility of obtaining command of that little strip of sea between the English, French and Belgian coasts, which is regarded as the focus of the whole world's trade. The inclusion of Holland in the German zollverein is to be the first step towards achieving this. "Germany and Holland," one writer says, "should never have been sundered. Had they remained united Germany would have rejuvenated and inspired the wide world with her noble life-blood in the last three centuries, instead of having it desolated by the Britons." Another writes, inspiring and confident, that "a good shove and that ill-joined mosaic, the British Empire, falls to ruins." The possibility of a British zollverein is a disturbing factor in the minds of these prophets of Britain's downfall, but the writer of the articles, who is a strong free trader, treats this subject warily. He has done the Empire a good service in showing the influences that are moulding the mind of Germany.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The swashbuckling character of the discussion now in progress in the Ontario Legislature on the report of the commissioners who heard the Gamey charges indicates the character the investigation would have borne had it been made by a committee of the House.

The strike in the Lowell cotton mills has been declared off, after a duration of nearly three months. It has cost in wages alone about $1,300,000, and ended in the defeat of the operatives. A costly experience like that should do much to emphasize the necessity of settling labor disputes by more sensible methods.

It is ten years to-day since Mr. Fielding entered Dominion politics through the door of the Ottawa Convention. He proceeded to capture that convention without loss of time, and has ever since been growing in the confidence of the people of the Dominion as steadily and surely as has the leader whose loyal lieutenant he is.

The value to Canadians of our tariff preference to British goods is not to be estimated in terms of our little fiscal squabble with Germany, as a morning contemporary would insist. The preference has been a sensible measure of tariff reform for one thing; it has largely increased the volume of Britain's trade with Canada for another, and it has done much towards advertising Canada, and Canadian products in the Mother Country. The very fact that it was resented by Germany is advanced to-day by Mr. Chamberlain as one of his reasons for proposing a preference in favor of the colonies.

GAMEY'S ATTACK.

Referring to Gamey's outrageous attack upon the commissioners who tried him, the Globe says:

It was both surprising and significant that the utmost of vulgarity and vilification should be exhibited on the floor of the Ontario Legislature, and be emphatically approved and vociferously applauded by nearly one-half of the members.

We are being made familiar with the Opposition's applause of every charge of base crime made aginst the Premier and his associates, but yesterday, for the first time in the history of a Canadian Parliament, more than a score and a half of Conservative members joined again and again in unqualified approbation of the vilest and most insolent attack upon two of the most eminent and most honorable judges on the Canadian bench. Epithets were applied to the chancellor and chief justice such as would be almost shameful to report, such as belong only to a convict's cell. And yet the most shameful of those epithets, together with charges against the judges of the most dastardly conduct, and the imputing to them of motives such as govern scoundrels and traitors, were received by three-fourths of the Opposition with laughter and applause. That is the surprising and significant thing.

And that disreputable conduct was no sudden outbreak from the back benches. It was studied, organized, led by some half-dozen and joined by all but a significant few. That half-dozen were not all back country representatives, but included a member from Ottawa, another from Toronto, and the leader himself. Self-respect, respect for the decencies of debate, a sense of justice, and an appreciation of the welfare of their party, kept back a saving remnant of the Opposition from even the slightest part in a whole day's proceedings so fraught with offence and disgrace.

FARNHAM NEWS NOTES.

Farnham, Que., June 22.—(Special.)—Thomas Davidson, employed by the Canada Wood Manufacturing Co., fell from a scaffold on which he was working Saturday and was seriously injured. Small hopes are entertained for his recovery.

The Presbyterian Church has been repaired both inside and out and now presents a decidedly improved appearance. The lawn social given by the ladies on Thursday evening was a brilliant success, notwithstanding the unfavorable turn of the weather.

The town council have a staff of workmen paving and laying a cement walk on Depot Street. The steam crusher purchased this spring is running daily, preparing the material and is giving good satisfaction.

It is rumored that the C.P.R. intend making this a divisional point instead of Outremont, thus running their trains from Smith's Falls to Farnham, by way of St. Luke Co., and from here to Megantic.

HEAVY LIST FOR RECORDER.

Mr. Recorder Poirier had a heavy list before him to-day. In all there were fifty-one cases. The majority of them were peddlers and drivers of vehicles who had neglected to take out a license. They secured the licenses and paid the costs. Emelie Lauthier and Alexina Leplance pleaded not guilty on the charge of keeping disorderly houses and were remanded. Marguerite Leon pleaded guilty to a like charge and was fined $75. One inmate was fined $20 and four frequenters paid $10 each.

FEUD IN TECUMSEH TOWNSHIP.

Eva St. Louis Charged With Trying to Poison Neighbors' Cattle.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Windsor, Ont., June 22.—What is believed to be the latest episode in a family feud extending back for years in Tecumseh Township, resulted in information being laid before Magistrate Cheyene Saturday by James W. Hawkins, against Eva St. Louis, daughter of Joseph St. Louis, a neighbor, living on the Tecumseh road, six and a half miles from Windsor.

The woman is charged with feeding paris green to cattle belonging to Hawkins. The cattle showed signs of illness, and before the arrival of a veterinary surgeon suffered convulsions, although none of them died.

Later Hawkins and his family, consisting of a son, two daughters and wife, were seized with cramps. Several families in Walkerville, who bought milk from Hawkins, also experienced similar sickness.

The constable and Hawkins, upon investigation, found quantities of salt mixed with paris green spread along the roadside between the two farms.

AGREED TO DIE TOGETHER.

Youthful Pennsylvania Lovers Saw Separation in Appearance of Another Woman.

Scranton, Pa., June 22.—A pair of young lovers, Ernest Schmic, and Miss Jennie Brennan, both of Greenwood, were the participants in a double tragedy last evening, which resulted in the former's death, and which will probably also prove fatal in the case of the girl.

The two had loved each other devotedly for several months, but another woman from Schmic's old home, intervened a week ago, and sought to hold him to an alleged engagement with her. This led the pair to seek relief in death, and they apparently planned last night's affair with much deliberation. Miss Brennan purchased a bottle of carbolic acid and shortly afterwards both went to a secluded spot in the midst of a forest and spent the entire afternoon there.

When a searching party came in sight of the pair, Miss Brennan put the bottle of acid to her lips, and drained it. As she did so Schmic drew a revolver and turned it to his heart, and shot himself twice. He fell dead instantly.

I saw B.B.B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did no good it could do no harm. REGINA, N.W.T., NOW A CITY

Great Demonstration Follows Signing of Act by Lieut.-Governor.

Regina, N.W.T., June 22.—In the closing hours of the Northwest Legislative Assembly on Friday, Thomas McKay made a fighting speech. He blamed the Northwest Government for not obtaining from the Federal Government what they asked for. They had failed to remove the objections taken by the Government at Ottawa.

Premier Haultain, in ending the debate, referred to the Barr colony. There was no doubt the organization of the colony had been mismanaged, and there was something else mismanaged, financial dealing. He thought, for the sake of as fine a set of colonists as ever came to this country, for the sake of the Northwest and for the sake of the future immigration of the Dominion, the Government ought to make a thorough enquiry into the way in which Barr had managed the colony.

In closing the Legislature, the Lieutenant-Governor gave assent to an act incorporating Regina as a city. With the giving of the royal assent the wildest enthusiasm prevailed. Flags were everywhere manifest, and many buildings were decorated with bunting. Locomotive and traction engine whistles, bells, horns and hundreds of voices greeted the new city. A half holiday had been proclaimed by the Mayor and was observed by everybody.

In the evening there were speeches and a torchlight procession. There was a crowd present such as has never been seen in Regina, and as it was made up almost entirely of citizens of Regina, it proved how great an increase has taken place in the population of the Territorial capital within the past fourteen months.

The greatest day in the history of Regina was ended by a smoking concert in the evening, tendered to members of the Legislative Assembly.

THIRTY MEN WERE INJURED.

Serious Accident Takes Place in a Western Ontario Town.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

New Hamburg, Ont., June 22.—John Weber is building an addition to his large barns, and invited forty or fifty of his friends on Saturday to assist him to raise the frame. When placing one of the heavy timbers in position the cement wall, which had only been built a few days, and which had apparently not thoroughly set, gave way, and precipitated those who were handling the timber to the lower portion of the stables. One man had his chest crushed and an eye pierced, another had his thumb cut off, a third had his arm severed below the elbow, and a fourth had his shoulder crushed. In all about thirty men were injured, but so far no one has died.

DEATH OF MAJOR J. B. POND.

New York, June 22. — Major James B. Pond, the well known manager of lecturers and singers, died yesterday at his home in Jersey City, aged 65 years, as the result of an operation on June 17, in which his right leg was amputated.

James Burton Pond was a major in the Third Wisconsin Cavalry, and owner and manager of the American Lecture Bureau. He was born in Cuba, Alleghany County, New York, June, 1838. He began his career in a country printing office in Ford du Lac, and in Oshkosh, Wis., in the years 1853-56. He was then with old John Brown in Kansas, and set type on the Herald of Freedom. He owned and edited a weekly newspaper in Markesan, Wis., when the war of rebellion broke out. He enlisted in October, 1861, in the Third Wisconsin Cavalry. He served three years as first lieutenant, second lieutenant and captain, and when his time expired he was made major of veteran organization. After the war he followed a mercantile business in the Far West until 1873, after which he came to New York, and had been managing and exploiting celebrities ever since. He travelled 300,000 miles with Henry Ward Beecher during the years 1876-87, and exploited Henry M. Stanley, Matthew Arnold, Sir Edwin Arnold, Ian Maclaren, Anthony Hope, Dr. A. Conan Doyle and other Englishmen in America.

LATE MRS. CHURCH'S WILL.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Ottawa, June 22.—Justice Britton dismissed the protest brought by Mrs. Hamilton, of Portage la Prairie; Mrs. Brough and Mrs. Patterson, of Ottawa, against the will of their mother, the late Mrs. Clarence Church. The estate is valued at $40,000. Miss Muriel Church gets a house valued at $8,000 and the revenue from the estate for seven years at the end of which time it is to be equally divided between the four daughters. The will was protested on the ground that Miss Muriel had exercised undue influence over her mother in drawing the will. This was not proven in any way.

KIDNEY PAINS IN SMALL OF BACK

Could Scarcely Straighten Up—Now Strong and Well, and Attribute Cure to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mrs. J. Lessard, 160 Aqueduct Street, Montreal, Que., states: "My main trouble was with my back, which was very weak, and whenever I stooped I could hardly straighten up again on account of the severe pains which would catch me in the small of the back. Believing that my ailment was caused from deranged kidneys, I began a course of treatment with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and to-day I am all right again. This medicine seemed to act directly on the kidneys, and as a result improved my health generally. The distressing pains in my back have entirely disappeared, and I feel real strong and well."

Pains in the small of the back are an unmistakable symptom of kidney disease, and should be sufficient warning of the approach of this dreadfully painful and fatal ailment. There is no treatment so prompt to bring relief and none so lastingly beneficial as Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his remedies.

HEAVY RAINS CLEANSE CITY

Parks and Squares, Deserted Sunday, Take on Much Brightness.

Montreal stayed indoors yesterday and wondered how long it was going to rain. It was streaming when the city awoke in the morning, and it poured in a steady sheet all day until about 10 o'clock at night. At that hour rain gauges registered just an inch and a half of rain, but it seemed to the people who take no stock in rain gauges to have rained at least a foot and a half.

It was the first wet Sunday of the summer, and nobody liked it. All day the streets were like unpeopled canyons —every one the bed of a miniature river. The open street cars offered no protection from the driving rain, and they swished along empty through the water that swamped the tracks. The parks and squares, so bright with animation on a fine Sunday, were deserted and forlorn, and the drenched and drooping trees lent an air of dejection to the sopping scenery. More than being miserably wet, it was miserably cold.

The rain drove the barometer up steadily and sent the thermometer reeling down. During the day the temperature dropped more than ten degrees. Early Saturday afternoon the thermometer registered 72.5, while early yesterday afternoon it only registered 59.9. By midnight it had dropped below 50.

SEES CHANCES FOR CANADA

Mr. Earle Says South Africa Wants Our Food Products.

Mr. W. E. Earle, head of the Earle Publishing Company, of St. John, N. B., was in the city to-day on his way home after spending six months in South Africa. While in that country on behalf of the St. John Board of Trade he investigated conditions of African trade, and tried to ascertain how Canada could best secure a portion of it.

In discussing his trip Mr. Earle said that Canadian trade with South Africa could be developed to a great extent. There is a good market for food products, canned goods and manufactures, which Canadians could easily capture, provided they conform to the peculiar requirements of the African consumer as to packaging of goods, and exercise care to see that the articles are delivered in the best possible condition.

South Africa had taken on a boom since the close of the war, and trade was beginning to feel the stimulus of competition. It would be an excellent time for Canadian firms to enter the African market, particularly as he found everywhere the most lively interest in Canada and Canadian affairs. South African merchants are anxious to get into closer touch with Canadian conditions, and to this end he said a number of them will attend the convention of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, to be held here in August.

WANT FREIGHT RATES LOWERED

Merchants of Victoria, B.C., Hold Conference With Mr. Bosworth.

Mr. G. M. Bosworth, fourth vice-president of the Canadian Pacific, who is now at Vancouver, on his way back from Victoria, B.C., was interviewed yesterday by the wholesale merchants regarding the freight rates to the interior and the Northwest. The contention of the merchants was that discrimination was made in favor of Winnipeg, which practically shut Vancouver out of the business.

Mr. Bosworth promised to give consideration to the representations made to him, and will give a reply in the course of a month. But he pointed out that the haulage through the mountains was more expensive than on the prairie, and the company, in order to provide for the trade, would have to haul many empty cars out, as the movement of freight was heavier from the west than from the east.

Vice-President McNicoll has now reached Calgary on his inspection tour, and is expected to be at Vancouver next Thursday.

FEAST OF THE SACRED HEART.

Solemnized in All the Catholic Churches Throughout the City.

The Feast of the Sacred Heart was solemnized yesterday in all the Catholic churches throughout the city. Owing to the heavy rain the outdoor procession had to be postponed. In the evening, however, the solemn processions were held in all the churches during the benediction of the blessed sacrament, after which the act of consecration to the Sacred Heart was read.

At the Church of the Gesu, Bleury street, the annual gathering of the promoters and members of the League of the Sacred Heart was held. Rev. Father Dougherty, director of the League, officiated, and delivered an interesting sermon dealing with the work performed by the League of the Sacred Heart. A large number of promoters received their gold crosses.

At St. James Cathedral Mgr. Racicot officiated at the solemn benediction and read the act of consecration to the Sacred Heart.

MINERS' AND OPERATORS' CLAIMS.

Both Declare They Have Grievances Which Need Adjusting.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 22.—When the conciliation board meets in this city on Thursday, the operators will take exception to the many petty strikes which are the cause of much inconvenience and annoyance, also that the non-union men are being interfered with, and that the coal output is lessened by the practice of employes remaining at home on certain days without permission.

The miners will offset this with the charge of discrimination that some of the men active in the strike have not been given work since; that the award of the commission has been violated by a change in the condition of mining at many places which does not permit the miners to make as much now as before the strike, and that the operators have broken the old custom in the Schuylkill region by having the men work an hour longer on Saturday.

ITALIAN CABINET CHANGED.

Rome, June 22.—The King has accepted the resignations of Interior Minister Giolitti and Marine Minister Battollo. Premier Zanardelli will take the interior portfolio and interim and Vice-Admiral Morin will be Marine Minister. Other Ministers have been confirmed in their present posts. A royal decree is issued convening Parliament for June 25.

HAVANA ELECTRIC CO. TO EXTEND RAILWAY SYSTEM

Mr. Edwin Hanson, On His Return from England, Says Arrangements Have Been Completed.

Mr. Edwin Hanson, of the brokerage firm of Hanson Bros., and president of the Havana Electric Company, returning from a three months' trip to Great Britain and the continent, said in an interview yesterday that financial arrangements have been completed for a considerable extension of the Havana electric railway system. The fact is of interest to the group of Canadian and American capitalists who are actively engaged in the development of the Cuban republic.

In London financial circles the belief prevails, Mr. Hanson said, that the Bank of England rate would be reduced to 3 per cent. before long, and monetary conditions will be comparatively easy for a time. The recent heavy slump in securities on this side of the water, especially in the New York stock markets, naturally affected London, but it was realized that after the water had been squeezed out of certain American securities, conditions would become more healthy. The squeezing process could not, however, have any other than a temporary depressing effect upon the better class of securities.

The London Stock Exchange, said Mr. Hanson, is not more subject to unrest than that of Montreal or New York. The South African war had left behind it a very nervous feeling, but the London financiers were not more nervous than their counterparts on this side of the Atlantic.

Speaking of Mr. Chamberlain and the Imperial preference, Mr. Hanson remarked that although the deeply-rooted free trade convictions of the English people were hard to shake, a great change was coming over the minds of the people. Men who had been wedded to free trade doctrines all their lives were ready to listen and to be enlightened on the great question of trade within the Empire.

6,000 MOORISH FEDERAL TROOPS FALL IN BATTLE.

Madrid, June 22.—According to a despatch received here from Tangier, El Menebhi, the Moorish war minister, has lost 6,000 men in a battle fought with the rebels at Anniedinna.

The Correspondencia's representative at Tangier telegraphs that the Zenhaya and Erguna Kabyles Saturday surprised the Sultan's army, inflicting a loss of 6,000 men. The Pretender to the throne, the correspondent adds, is at yet ignorant of the victory of his supporters.

IMPROVE TORONTO HARBOR.

Steamship Deputation Ask for Deepening of Channel and Erection of Sheds.

Toronto, June 22. — The Board of Control on Saturday met a deputation from the Canadian Lake and Ocean Navigation Company, which asked that the city do something towards deepening the water in the harbor and erecting freight sheds, so that their boats trading between Montreal and Fort William would have the proper facilities for landing and handling freight. The deputation was composed of Messrs. W. Harling, third vice-president of the Canadian Northern Railway; J. B. Folger, of Kingston, manager of the Lake and Ocean Navigation Company; A. E. Kemp, D. B. Hanna and Mr. Lukes, of the Canadian Northern.

Mr. A. E. Kemp, M.P., introduced the deputation and stated that Toronto should certainly be one of the ports of call in the proposed transcontinental line of railway and navigation. The freight boats which would call here would carry an immense amount of freight and would need a place to store it.

Mr. Folger suggested that there should be fourteen feet of water in the harbor in order to accommodate the boats of that draught. The railways at present had a monopoly of the freight trade. The Navigation Company charged sixty cents a ton less than the railways, which would make a great difference on the freight between Toronto and Liverpool.

City Engineer Rust stated that as long as the Government kept the eastern channel fourteen feet deep the city would give the same depth to the harbor.

Mr. Folger stated that the company would shortly have eight vessels on the route and freight sheds would certainly be needed.

Mayor Urquhart stated that the board was prepared to deal liberally with them and dismissed the deputation. The board then discussed the question and the city engineer was asked to report on the advisability of erecting freight sheds for general business purposes on the city wharf.

TO EXTEND CANADA ATLANTIC.

Work on Surveys to Soo Will be Taken Up Next Winter.

General Manager Chamberlain, of the Canada Atlantic Railway has announced that the extension of that system to Sault Ste. Marie, will be prosecuted without delay. The survey will be begun early in the winter. The starting point of their new line which will connect with the Clergue system and interests, will be Brule station between Whitney and Depot Harbour, a point almost 180 miles west of Ottawa. The survey will follow the length of land north of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay to the Soo, and the line will be about 300 miles in length.

PROMISING WESTERN TROOPS.

Winnipeg, Man., June 22.—Statistician Snow, of Chicago, who is touring Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, with an excursion party of agricultural editors, reports the crop conditions are as near perfect as possible. He estimates the spring wheat acreage as twenty per cent. larger than last year, and estimates wheat crop at eighty-five million bushels, compared with official estimate of sixty-eight million bushels of last year.

POWERFUL.

A Pure Food Drink Has Great Sustaining Power.

The sustaining power of Postum Coffee when properly cooked is greater than most people imagine and it is well illustrated in the story told by a young Texas woman who says: "I almost lived on Postum Cereal Coffee for over a month and there was over a week I did not eat anything at all but just drank the food drink Postum and yet I grew stronger and gained weight.

"Our family physician examined Postum and decided to use it altogether in place of coffee. We all think it has no equal as a nourishment for the sick for beside being pleasant to the taste it is so strengthening. My father and mother have always been coffee drinkers and suffered all kinds of troubles from the coffee until about a year ago a neighbor was praising Postum and mother decided to try it.

"They improved at once and have drank Postum ever since and mother, who used to be bothered with nervousness and sleeplessness particularly, is in splendid health now. She says the change came entirely from drinking Postum and leaving off coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Belgrade, June 22.—The promotions are announced of various members of the military deputation to King Peter at Geneva. Col. Popovics, of the late King Alexander's Palace Guard is created a general and first aide-de-camp to King Peter; Captain Kostics, who opened the palace gates for the assassins of the late King and Queen, is promoted to be a major, and Lieut. Gronica, who was on guard outside the palace on the night of the assassinations, and who was the confidant of the conspirators, is made a captain.

Peter I. Receives Deputation.

Geneva, June 22.—The Servian parliamentary deputation, numbering twenty-eight members, arrived here at 11.40 p.m., They were received by the Chief of King Peter's military household, and His Majesty's secretary, and proceeded at once to their hotel.

British Minister Leaves.

Belgrade, June 22.— Great Britain has practically broken off diplomatic relations with Servia. The British Minister, Sir G. F. Bonham, leaves to-day for England. The consul of Great Britain, W. G. Thesiger, will take charge of British interests.

Washington Follows Great Britain.

Washington, June 22. — The United States Government has adopted an attitude similar to that of Great Britain toward the new Servian dynasty. It will be in no haste to recognize a Government created by assassination in the absence of a disposition to punish the guilty. Therefore, Minister Jackson will not present his credentials to the Government of King Peter at present.

Holland to Hold Aloof.

The Hague, June 22.—The Dutch representative at Belgrade has been instructed to assume the same attitude as Great Britain towards the provisional government of Servia.

ANTI-CLERICALS IN A RIOT.

Catholics and Socialists Fight at Sight of Capuchins in Court.

St. Etienne, France, June 22.—The appearance of the Capuchins in the police court here Saturday was the occasion of serious rioting and sharp fighting occurred between the Catholics and Socialists, in which several persons were badly hurt. Fines were imposed on the Capuchins. A party of anti-Clericals broke into the office and seriously injured two sympathizers of the friars. During the evening the anti-Clericals sacked the Capuchin convent on St. Barbe Hill and broke the windows of the Christian Brothers' schools.

Paris, June 22.—Several riots arising out of collisions between Clerical and anti-Clericals are reported from several towns in the provinces in connection with religious processions. At Brest an anti-Clerical mob attempted to seize the host from the hands of the priest as the procession was about to re-enter the cathedral; a free fight ensued, in which fifteen persons, mostly women, were injured. Less serious troubles occurred at Nantes and Angers.

TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION.

Ontario Alliance Executive Outline Plans for Next Election Campaign.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Toronto, June 22.—At a meeting of the executive of the Ontario Alliance it was agreed that in each constituency there should be a league of pledged voters engaged, one with another, to do their utmost to secure the effective legal suppression of the liquor traffic as far as is within provincial jurisdiction. To this end an agreement was drawn up for every constituency in the province, which states that the signers will earnestly endeavor to secure the nomination of a candidate who can be relied upon to do all that he can to secure effective temperance legislation at the earliest possible opportunity, and who will hold himself free from party dictation.

It is explained in the agreement that by "effective temperance legislation" is meant legislation abolishing the bar and the treating system and drinking in clubs, and imposing upon the liquor traffic such other restrictions as shall most effectually control its operation and remedy its evils.

MR. BLAKE IS A BUSY MAN.

Toronto, June 22. — Hon. E. Blake, K.C., has found himself so overloaded with work consequent upon the Alaskan difficulty that he has resigned his place in connection with the special appeal case before the Imperial Privy Council regarding jurisdiction and other matters arising out of the enforcement of the Lord's Day Act of this province. The case will be argued for the Province of Ontario by J. A. Paterson, K.C., and for the Ontario Lord's Day Alliance by A. L. Weir, both of whom are now on their way to England.

POPE'S HEALTH IMPROVES.

Paris, June 22.—The Rome correspondent of the Temps says the Pope on Saturday received Mgr. Fischer, Archbishop of Cologne, who is to be created a cardinal. The audience shows the Pontiff's extraordinary vitality, promising that he will be able to triumph over the fatigues of the coming consistory.

ALARM FELT FOR SAFETY OF THE BRITISH TROOPS

Major-General Egerton Ordered from India to Supercede Gen. Manning in Somaliland.

London, June 22.—The uneasiness already noted in reference to the British expedition in Somaliland has been increased by announcements that part of the Indian contingent which had been preparing to take part in the expedition has been ordered to sail immediately, and that Lieut-General Chas. Egerton, who has had long experience in Indian frontier fighting, will go from India to Somaliland. As he is the senior to General Manning, the present commander of the expedition, it is evident that the War Office intends General Egerton to supersede him. This step is regarded as indicative of a revised plan of campaign, probably on an extended scale. The vagueness of the official and other despatches concerning the expedition, creates the belief that its position is somewhat serious.

Supercedes Gen. Manning.

Simla, India, June 22.—Major-General Charles Comyn Egerton, who has been in command of the Punjaub frontier force since 1889, has been appointed to the command of the Somaliland expeditionary force, which is operating against the Mad Mullah, superseding Brigadier-General W. H. Manning.

MR. JOHN T. WILSON ON LABOR PROBLEM

Head of Trackmen is at Ottawa—He Discusses Senator Lougheed's Bill.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Ottawa, June 22.—Grand President John T. Wilson, of the International Maintenance of Way Employes, is in the city in connection with the strike of the Canada Atlantic Railway trackmen, which it was thought, was pretty well over a month or so ago. It is understood that Mr. Wilson is here for the purpose of securing better terms for the men by soliciting the assistance of the Government on their behalf. He reached here on Saturday evening and shortly after his arrival had a conference with the grievance committee of the strikers. Today he had not a great deal to say about the situation, except that it had not made much progress, since he left here in May.

"This," said Mr. Wilson, "is the only spot on our sheet that is not clear now, and I expect to see this straightened out before a great many days. When I left here in May the trackmen had offered to settle for the wages the men on the C.P.R. and G.T.R. were receiving, but since then these roads have given their trackmen an increase of five cents per day and are now paying $1.35 instead of $1.30. The Canada Atlantic were agreeable to pay $1.25 pe rday, but the men wanted $1.-80, or at least they offered to settle for this scale, on my advice. The company refused to agree to this rate and there the deadlock occurred. The men went on strike and since then there has, out of the eighty-four gangs on the road, fourteen foremen gone back to work, but I am informed that these will again quit work in a few days unless a settlement is made.

"I am going to be here for a few days and expect to have something done before I leave again."

SENATOR LOUGHEED'S BILL.

Mr. Wilson was asked what he thought of Senator Lougheed's bill to exclude the international walking delegate from Canada.

He replied that such a bill could only originate from a narrow-minded man.

"You might as well say that the United States Government should say to the Canada Atlantic Railway, that when they reach Swanton, Vt., they should not go any further, or to the C.P.R., when they reach the State of Maine, that they should stop; or to Mr. Hays, of the Grand Trunk, that their road should stop dead at Detroit. These are all international concerns and why should they be allowed to operate if organized labor is compelled to stay within a certain sphere? Organized labor is composed of men who have labor to sell for a living. The other corporations are made up of men who buy labor for their own profit and I do not see why there should be two sets of laws, one for one class and one for the other.

"It would be just as reasonable to say that a Canadian capitalist could not hold stock in an American concern, as to say that a Canadian laborer of whatever class, cannot hold insurance in an international association of which the officers are as many Canadian as American. The American corporations are never found kicking about Canadian commercial men coming into their field of operations to seek trade; nor do the Canadian corporations say that there should not be a competitive field for their men to work in. Every large movement today is becoming international and will continue to grow more so as time progresses, and I cannot see why these men endeavor to block the progress of the country."

Mr. Wilson then went on to say that the workingmen had just as good a right to say to whom they would sell their services to as the commercial corporation had to say to whom they would sell their goods.

"If I see fit to give my services to, the railway trackmen for a salary I do not see that it is the right of any one to say that I shall not earn that salary," he added. "Only a few months ago there was a howl raised in the States because we brought over some Canadians to work in our head office at St. Louis on the ground that we were bringing in aliens to work under a contract. It took some time to get the matter straightened out, but we did, and they are there, and they are making bigger money than they were here. One of them I took off a section on the C.P.R., where he was getting $45 per month. Now he is earning $100, and is a first class official."

Mr. Wilson says that he disapproves of the system of endeavoring to boycot the road and the labor organizations, he says, would kick like fun if the roads said that a man could not work for them while they belonged to any certain lodge.

Festive Burglars Active.

Petty robberies were committed yesterday in several stores in the centre of the city. The work seems to have been that of boys. Messrs. Morton, Phillips & Co., Notre Dame Street; J. M. Douglas & Co., 17 St. Nicholas Street; the New Warren Scale Co., St. Paul Street; and the Canada Paper Box Co.'s factory, St. Eloi Street, were all visited and ransacked.

MASONRY AND RELIGION AND THEIR CONNECTIONS

Rev. Canon Renaud Preaches Sermon at St. Thomas' Church Before the Kilwinning Lodge.

At St. Thomas' Church yesterday Rev. Canon Renaud preached upon the connection between Masonry and Religion to the members of Montreal Kilwinning Lodge No. 20 A.F. and A. M., Q.R.

The Masonic order, Canon Renaud said, founded its charter upon the volume of the sacred law, acknowledged Holy Writ to be of Divine inspiration, and accepted as inspired by the Holy Ghost the Old as well as the New Testaments. In the first three degrees of Masonry, the ceremonies of necessity, symbols and language were all based upon the scriptures of the Old Testament, and naturally were wholly Jewish. But when advanced to the Royal Arch degree we found it to be the link between Judaism and Christianity. Thus we found Masonry established under the old and in the new dispensation; the old complete in the master's degree, the new beginning with the Royal Arch, under the distinction of Christian or cross degrees, originating the various ancient systems of knighthood, as knights of the several colored crosses, Knights Templars, Knights of Malta, Knights of the Sword of the East, of the White Eagle, and of the Rosicrucian, the ne plus ultra degree, all established after the introduction of Christianity.

It was not, therefore, just, he said, to judge Masonry from the instruction found in the first three degrees any more than the Christian faith was to be considered complete in the writings of the law and the prophets to be found in the Old Testament. He enumerated many Biblical subjects comprised in Masonry, and exclaimed "Would to God every Mason acted up to his privileges and light in his daily life; he would be a living example of morality, sobriety, living in brotherly love and chastity and in the fear of God, a loyal subject, a good citizen."

JOHN HORNE LOSES LIFE AT THE SWIMMING BATH

Hundreds See Him Sink in Current Off St. Helen's Island, But Could Not Save Him.

In the full gaze of several hundred people, John Horne was drowned at the Island swimming bath Saturday afternoon. With swimmers in the water around him, and solid ground less than twenty yards away, he sank like a stone beneath the current, almost without an outcry, and never rose again. So quietly did he go down to his death that men swimming quite near him went on unaware that a clubmate was drowning before their eyes.

Horne was considered a good swimmer, and was a regular visitor to the baths. Saturday afternoon he complained of feeling unwell, but could not resist the temptation to go in for a swim. He swam the twenty-five yards from the diving board to the first buoy, and after resting a few minutes started to go back. He was not half a dozen yards from the buoy when he was seen to throw up his hands and disappear from view.

Guardian Boussin was among those who saw him sink, and was into the water like a flash. His powerful stroke brought him to the spot where Horne had sunk in a few seconds, but Horne did not come to the surface for half an hour. Boussin and other swimmers dived and groped their way along the muddy bottom, but there was no sign of Hornes' body.

The current runs swiftly around the curve of the island just outside the bath, and it is thought that Horne's body drifted out until it was caught in the current and swirled down stream.

Horne was 24 years of age, and resided at 826 Palace street. His death is the first that has occurred at the Island Bath for twenty years.

MONTREAL THUMPED TORONTO EASILY

Though the Locals Were Off Their Feet for a While—Score was 6 to 4.

To the great joy of M.A.A.A. supporters the scarlet and grey wrested victory from the Torontos on Saturday, sending the westerners home with a score of 6 to 4 against them.

This was Montreals first home match and the victory was very welcome to the large crowd in the grand stand.

Like all the matches so far this year, the match lacked in sensational incidents. There was both good and bad lacrosse but nothing very hair raising about any of it. In spite of their success the Montreal team were a disappointment to the keen observers. The field played well and at times the home showed up in grand style. But the defence can play and have played much better lacrosse than they did on Saturday. They were drawn out at times in a way that the veterans don't usually allow themselves to be. Everybody was pleased to see them win, but the pleasure would have been greater had Toronto been held down harder. Toronto, it must be remembered had a weakened team with Gray, McBride, Lambe and Querrie off. Montreal will have to improve before they can hope to down Cornwall on Dominion day.

There was one regrettable feature in the match. F. McLaren caught Strachan in the face with his stick; Strachan went after him with his fists and McLaren retaliated. Both were put off. It didn't affect the game as time was all but up, but it left an unpleasant recollection.

Billy Christmas was taken from the grand stand to don a uniform and play with his old club. He kicked hard but they wouldn't take no for an answer and once out in the field he did very telling work for his team. Unfortunately he got a bad crack on the cheek which closed one eye completely. In the latter part of the game his one eye seemed to be as good as other men's two, for he scored the shortest and cleverest game of the day.

The teams were.

Montreal.	Position.	Toronto.
Hamilton	Goal	Hanley
Taylor	Point	Jeffreys
Haynes	Cover point	Iler
Strachan	Defence	Selby
Davidson	"	Kirkwood
MacKerrow	"	W. McLaren
Nolan	Centre	Pringle
Christmas	Home	Murray
Ward	"	Staples
Leahy	"	F. McLaren
Feeney	Out. home	Adamson
Dodd	In. home	Jackman
T. Carlind	Captain	F. Dickson

Referee—Mr. D. H. Reynolds.

The scores were as follows:

Game.	Team.	Scored by.	Time.
1	Toronto	Jackman	9.31
2	Montreal	Leahy	1.35
3	Montreal	Dodd	21.41
4	Montreal	Leahy	1.08
5	Toronto	F. McLaren	2.53
6	Toronto	F. McLaren	17.43
7	Montreal	Nolan	7.05
8	Montreal	W. Christmas	.11
9	Montreal	Dodd	1.38
10	Toronto	Staples	4.55

The two stars were the goal keepers, Arthur Hamilton and Bill Hanley; both had lots of work and both acquitted themselves well. Of the others Mackerrow, Nolan and Dodd, for Montreal and Adamson, Staples and Murray, for Toronto, deserve special mention.

Toronto notched the first game after a good deal of loose play on both sides. Then the players steadied down and for half an hour it was very fair lacrosse. After Montreal had made it three to one the Toronto home twice enticed the local defence men away from the nets and tied the score. It looked bad for Haynes was on the side. But Strachan and Taylor played close in and Davidson dropped back. They held Toronto out, though Adamson gave them a good deal of trouble. As long as the defence did its duty Montreal looked well, for Nolan, Mackerrow and Christmas were too much for the Toronto field. Time and again they went down and on one of the triple dashes Nolan located the net with a neat side shot.

Straight from the face Christmas went for the goal in a bee line and Hanley woke up to find the ball was past him. It was a record sprint for it took only eleven minutes. That settled it. There wasn't much time to play and Montreal was going strong. A minute later Dodd added another and though Toronto scored once, the result was never again in doubt. Staples' dodging for his last shot was applauded by everybody. It was a pretty piece of tricky footwork which deserved the goal he secured.

After the eighth game Feeney had to retire with an injured side and W. McLaren went off to even. Toronto made a frantic effort to score, by throwing Hanley on to the home, retiring Jackman to the defence field and putting Iler in goal. The field moved well in on the home but they were unable to do any combined effective work.

It was not a rough game. The penalties were Pringle, Haynes (2), Murray, Strachan, F. McLaren.

THE LACROSSE STANDING.

Until Shamrocks meet Cornwall and Capitals, it is hard to judge of the strength of those teams. But with the lead Shamrock now has, it looks as if they have a cinch unless some of their stars drop dead—and none of them have weak hearts. Here is the standing:—

	Won.	Lost.	To Play.	P.C.
Shamrock	3	0	7	1,000
Capitals	1	0	9	1,000
Cornwall	1	0	9	1,000
Montreal	2	2	6	.500
National	0	2	3	.000
Toronto	0	3	7	.000

New York Crescents Win Through Canadians' Work.

New York, June 22.—In rain and wind the Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team was defeated by the Crescent Athletic Club's team at Bay Ridge Saturday afternoon by a score of 4 to 3. The contest was one of the most exciting of the season, the winning goal being the only one scored in the second period of thirty-five minutes.

It is barely possible that the Oxford-Cambridge men might have defeated the Crescents if one of their regular men, W. N. Bickford-Smith, had not injured his knee in a fall, while aboard the steamship in the journey across the ocean. He and his brother, J. C. Bickford-Smith, usually cover the inside and outside home positions. So long have they played together that they know each other's style perfectly, and as a consequence they form a strong combination in attacking opponents' goal. Being twin brothers, and looking so much alike, members of their own team are said to find it difficult to tell which one makes a goal.

Each side scored three times in the first half.

In the second period Rose appeared on the Crescent team in place of Moses. The only goal scored in this half was made by Wall, on a pass from Curry, in seven minutes. The battle then waged fiercely for nearly half an hour, with neither team able to gain the advantage. Wall was so closely covered that he was unable to show his usually strong form. In fact, the collegians each carefully watched an opponent.

The line-up and summary:

Oxford-Cambridge.	Position.	Crescent A.C.
H. W. Scott	Goal	Allen
M. Spicer	Point	Moses Rose
N. Spicer	C. Point	Miller
J. M. Lloyd	1st defence	De Casenova
G. Sisterson	2nd defence	Dobby
G. F. Page	3rd defence	Drakeley
N. H. P. Whiley	Centre	Liffiton
S. B. Hartley	3rd attack	Kennedy

Oshawa 5—St. Kitts 0.

Oshawa, Ont., June 22.—The St. Catharines senior lacrosse team journeyed to Oshawa Saturday to play the local twelve, and were defeated. Both teams showed good form, but Oshawa had the best of the game nearly all the time, as their flags were seldom in danger. Five goals were scored by Oshawa, while St. Catharines failed to get any to their credit.

Port Hope 6—Tecumseh 0.

Toronto, June 22.—The Ontarios, of Port Hope, quite easily won the senior C. L. A. match at the Island Saturday afternoon, when, before about 1,500 people they defeated the Tecumsehs by the one-sided score of 6 to 0. The Tecumsehs worked hard at the start, and the defence and field made valiant efforts to win the game, but the defence fell down miserably, and Port Hope went to the front, and gradually increased their lead, scoring a game in each quarter until the fourth, when they took three.

Port Hope—Young, goal; Griffiths, point; White, cover; defence, Graham, Henderson, Luer; Burt, centre; Roach, Kelly, McDonough, home; Pennock, outside; Donaldson, inside; Rennick, captain.

Tecumsehs—Robinson, goal; Angus, point; Menary, cover; Shore, Roach, Kyle, defence; Forester, centre; Taylor, Swain, Burns, home; Williams, outside; Greatrix, inside; Davis, captain.

C.L.A. Standing.

	Won.	Lost.	Dwn.	To play.
Brantford	3	0	0	5
Oshawa	2	1	2	3
Port Hope	2	1	0	5
St. Catharines	0	1	1	6
Tecumsehs	0	4	1	3

Games next Saturday: Oshawa at Tecumsehs, Brantford at St. Catharines.

Caught in the Goal Net.

Stick to it, Montreal.

Adamson did a heap of shooting.

Billy, Clarrie and Frankie make a great field.

Dave Reynolds is all right as referee.

Attendance 2,800.

It is said that Feeney has a rib broken.

Toronto was in hard luck losing their three defence men.

If the Montreal team sticks together they'll make things hum.

That long shot of Leahy's which scored the fourth game was a dandy.

When Nolan scored the seventh, Montreal was playing 11 against 12.

First match Montreal has won at home since they defeated Caps last year.

BOWLING

Westmount Bowling.

At the Westmount Bowling Green, on Saturday, the first of the series of "double" for the vice-president's prize was played. The score was:

J. W. Fulton	T. H. Christmas
J. R. Adam	And. Forsyth
(skip)—21	(skip)—6

In a full rink game, skipped respectively by Mr. J. McLaren, and Mr. C. J. Scott, the former won by a score of 21 to 17.

In the "double" played by Messrs. Jno. McConell and Fred. Fowler, against Messrs. Wm. Brown and Harry Rees, the former won by 21 shots to 18.

Sailing Races at St. Lambert.

The first of a series of four races, for a cup for sailing yachts, was held Saturday afternoon at St. Lambert. The races resulted as follows: 1st, Ping Pong, Mr. A. f. May; 2nd, Ouida, Mr. Walker; 3rd, Quirest, Mr. Short.

A No Score Draw.

Alexandria, June 22.—An interesting football match between Kirkhill and Dunvegan teams at Laggan, resulted in a draw, neither team being able to score before the match was called off on account of a downpour of rain, ten minutes before time. Kirkhill was on the defensive from the blow of the whistle till half time, the ball seldom passing the centre. For the first few minutes of the second half they were on the aggressive, but soon fell back again. The Dunvegan defence was strong and steady, while the attack showed good speed and judgment. McIntosh, by his phenomenal work at centre, saved Kirkhill from defeat, while Dunvegan flags were never in serious danger, as Orax only handled the ball once, and that for a goal kick.

The teams lined up as follows:

Dunvegan.		Kirkhill.
Orax	Goal	McDonald
W. J. McRae	Full-back	Montgomery
H. Grant	"	A. McMeekin
Noolan	half-back	D. McLeod
D. Dewar	"	Gus McIntosh
A. Grant	"	McLeod
G. Fleming	Forward	A. McIntyre
R. K. McLeod	"	Harvey
Fraser	"	J. McLeod
K. K. McLeod	"	J. McGillivray

OTTAWA COLLEGE VOTE KNOCKED OUT CITY TEAM

They Were Not Admitted to the Q.R.F.U., and Neither was Westmount.

Ottawa City found little sympathy from the members of the Q. R. F. U. at the meeting held on Saturday evening, in the Montreal Amateur A. A., and their application for admission to the Union was not even discussed. That of Westmount for admission to the senior series shared the same fate.

Ottawa College was dead opposed to the Rough Riders, and voted against the suspension of the constitution to admit their application, which was not in the hands of the secretary on time. So this technicality turned down the Rough Riders.

Those present at the meeting were:
President, Mr. Alison G. Bowie.
2nd Vice-president, Mr. J. J. Cox.
Secretary-treasurer, Mr. E. Herbert Brown.

Ottawa College—Mr. T. F. Clancy, P. Roberts, W. W. Burland, F. Lamplough.

Montreal—Dr. A. C. Jack, Messrs. P. Molson, I. S. Wotherspoon and W. P. O'Brien.

Britannias—Messrs. H. A. Christmas, A. Rankin, C. McLean and F. G. Reid.

Westmount—Messrs. H. B. Poliwka and E. Dolbell.

Brockville—Messrs. E. H. Bisset and H. H. Ayer.

Quebec—Messrs. W. B. Taylor and J. R. Power.

Shamrock—Mr. T. F. Slattery.

Grand Trunk—Mr. Chas. McLean.

The first business was the applications of Ottawa and Westmount for places in the senior series. The bylaws call for these applications to be in the hands of the secretary ten days before the meeting. Neither fulfilled this condition, so if the applications were to be considered the constitution had to be suspended. I. S. Wotherspoon moved the suspension, and H. A. Christmas seconded it. President Bowie ruled that the motion required a two-thirds vote, and later he said that it required a unanimous vote. On either ruling the motion was lost. Those who voted against the motion were Second Vice-President Cox and the four Ottawa College delegates. The motion would have been carried even then, on the president's ruling at that time, only that Messrs. Jack, Molson, O'Brien and Bisset did not vote.

This settled the Ottawa City application, which was not discussed. The Westmount application naturally fell through on the same grounds.

Grand Trunk and Strathcona Clubs were admitted to the junior series, and Shamrocks dropped out of the intermediate.

A RANK OUTSIDER WON THE AMERICAN DERBY

The Picket Jumped to the Lead at the Start, and Was Never Headed—A Record Event.

Chicago, June 22.—The Picket, a horse that never before flashed first past the post, won the American Derby Saturday. He set the pace every step of the distance, was never challenged, and won in a gallop by six lengths. He ran the Derby distance 1 1-2 miles, faster than it was every run before in the race. His time was 2.33. Claude, the winner of three Derbies, was second. Bernays was third.

It was a race without the thrill of an exciting finish. The crowd of 70,000 people which witnessed the 16th running of the event, saw a contest that was decided when the field turned into the stretch. In front of a struggling field, The Picket ran so easily and true as to leave no doubt where he'd finish.

The Derby was a record-breaking event in more than the fast time made. Nineteen horses went to the post, the largest previous field being 15. The crowd was the greatest ever gathered on a Western race track. The race was worth $32,375, the richest in the history of the race, with one exception.

More money, it is asserted, was wagered on the Derby than on any other race ever run in America. The victory of The Picket was no surprise, because a surprise was expected; but there were some big disappointments. Savable, the favored son of Salvator, thought by John A. Drake to be invincible, failed to live up to reputation. He received a ride from Jockey Lester Reiff that seemingly a novice could have duplicated. Savable was never dangerous, and the fortune bet on him by his owner went to enrich the bookmakers.

The horses came to the post at 4 o'clock. Starter Demyer delayed them nine minutes before he dropped the flag. Sinner Simon, a dark horse, was the first to get in motion, but The Picket did not delay an instant. In the first rush for positions he was successful, and had the lead in comparatively few strides.

There was not an important move by a jockey until the field had passed the half mile pole and struck the big bend, where Au Revoir began to weaken and Linguist to drop back. Claude quickly advanced to fourth place. Savable only held his own. The Picket had his field beaten badly. He was simply running as he pleased. Jockey Helgeson eased him up a little as he neared the wire.

Claude was easily the best of the other starters. He came fast in the stretch but little Johnnie Daly saw he had no chance to catch The Picket and also eased up but almost too soon. Bernays came on grandly from the center of the field and hitched up in a drive with Savable for the shortest end of the purse, getting it by a neck. Judge Himes, the horse that jumped into popularity and was heavily backed within a week, rapidly went to last position and stayed there. He was 40 lengths behind when The Picket reached the wire.

The largest bet was won by Joe Yeager, who had a ticket calling for $18,000 to $300. He made the bet three months ago.

The weather was perfect. The day opened dismally with a drizzle, but the sun came out before the races began and a cool breeze made the great crowd comfortable. Summaries:

THORELLA II. SCORED A TRIPLE VICTORY

Beat Trident in a Light Breeze By a Few Seconds in Saturday's Races.

The regular trials for the choice of the Seawanhaka cup defender do not begin till July 4, but the informal races held every Saturday have shown pretty well that Thorella II. is likely to have the task of defending the much-beloved silver cup. She has been tried in light winds and in a full sail breeze, and has shown her superiority. She has not been tried in a reefing breeze, and that is the only point of sailing in which she is a doubtful quantity. There is very little to choose between her and Trident, but the balance leans in favor of the new boat.

In type the Thorella II. is little changed from the designs of two years ago. She is two feet shorter than the Trident and two inches less in beam, with a hull very much like the Senneville. She drives with ten per cent. less power than the Trident, say the experts, and withal doesn't seem to lack power. However that point has not been fully settled.

In the races on Saturday the Thorella won two out of the three races, and in the one she lost she covered the course in less time than the Trident, who was first across the finish line. Two of the races were triangular and the last a beat to windward and return. In two of them Thorella had the best of the windward work and lost on the free runs, while that was reversed in the last race. In all, the difference between Thorella and Trident was less than a minute. In the 22-footers class Mr. Chibbs' yacht Heron won, followed by the Bona and Koorali. The race for four-raters was won by the Hope, with the Grey Gull second. In the race for "hoboes," the boat sailed by Mr. Bowker won, and Mr. Eadie's boat was second, over an innumerable field of competitors.

Mr. Arthur Drummond was officer of the day.

Reliance Again.

New York, June 22.—The Reliance won Saturday's race of the 90-foot sloop in the Long Island Sound in the first twenty minutes of sailing, and before turning the first mark, while the Columbia and Constitution were trying to out-luff each other. By their sharp rivalry both older boats lost hundreds of yards, and after that it was a procession all the way to the finish line, where the Reliance beat the Constitution by 4 minutes and 17 seconds and the Columbia by 7 minutes and 31 seconds.

The course was twice around a triangle, a reach of three miles across the Sound, a four mile beat to windward, and a broad reach of 4 3-4 miles, 23 1-2 miles in all. The wind varied from east to southeast and from five to eight knots. This was the official time of the start:

Columbia—12.30.21; Reliance, 12.30.22; Constitution, 12.30.58.

Finish—Reliance, 3.16.34; Constitution, 3.21.27; Columbia, 3.24.04.

Elapsed time—Reliance, 2.46.12; Constitution, 2.50.29; Columbia, 2.53.43.

Col. B. F. D. Niell, Sir Thomas Lipton's representative, after witnessing the race, said:

"The Reliance is a fine ship. Everything seems to have been done to make her perfect. I have heard that her sails were not good, and that she was going to have a Ratsey suit, but she does not need to change them, in my opinion. I think we have a fairly good chance of winning and Sir Thomas has given us everything we need."

Philadelphia Beat Notts.

London, June 22.—The Philadelphia cricketers brought their match with the famous Notts County eleven to a conclusion on the Trent Bridge grounds, Nottingham, Saturday, and they were rewarded for their prowess at the bat by a victory by 185 runs.

The visitors, who had lost 9 wickets for 326 runs in their second innings when play ceased yesterday afternoon, continued their batting this morning with little prospect of improving this score. But N. Z. Graves and T. C. Jordan, who were associated for the last wicket, defied all efforts of the bowlers to dislodge them, and when Captain Lester at length decided to declare the innings closed the total had advanced to 400. Graves especially played splendidly for 62, not out, which was put together without a chance, while Jordan played carefully for 19.

Notts started their second innings with Hardstaff and G. Gunn, but they were soon disposed of, as J. B. King and P. H. Clark both bowled finely, and four wickets were soon lowered at a small cost. W. Gunn and H. Staunton then got together, and a different aspect appeared to be coming over the play, when E. M. Cregar at length clean bowled Staunton for 39. W. Gunn kept on in a stubborn effort to stave off defeat, and when he was at last caught in the slips off a particularly fast ball from J. B. King, he had got within four runs of a century. The end was then soon brought about, for none of the last batsmen gave much trouble, and the innings was over for 220. Of the wickets which fell, P. H. Clark obtained 4 for 71 runs; J. B. King, 3 for 63; E. M. Cregar, 2 for 45; and J. A. Lester, 1 for 24.

St. Lambert Won.

St. Lambert defeated Westmount on Saturday by 84 to 45.

GLORY WHALEN'S MURDERERS ?

Authorities of Oshawa are Searching for a Negro and a White Man.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Oshawa, Ont., June 22.—A clue to the murderer or murderers of Glory Whalen, of Collingwood, has been found here, and in all its circumstances is very suggestive. A little girl named Farwell, niece of County Crown Attorney Farwell, was frightened on Saturday afternoon by a white man and a negro, who were together near a bush on the lake shore road, about three miles east of this town. On her return she told her mother about it, and the description of the men corresponds in some respects to those whom Mrs. Findlay says she say struggling with Glory Whalen on the railway track the morning of the murder. The bush is being searched for the tramps.

SAVAGES KILL JAPANESE.

Tokio, June 22. — One hundred and fifty Formosa savages attacked a camphor refinery at Gilan, and killed eleven Japanese, including some policemen.

A New A.O.U.W. Rate Schedule.

St. Paul, June 22.—The Supreme Lodge A.O.U.W. has framed a new schedule of rates, and after it has been passed upon by the committee on laws it will come up before the Supreme Lodge for action. Between the ages of 18 and 34 the present rates hold in force, with increases up to 55, but after that period the change will be more radical.

STOCKS QUIET WITH A RATHER FIRM FEELING IN MONTREAL

Operating Expenses Heavy in the Case of Montreal Street, Twin City and Detroit United—Wall Street Very Dull To-day.

Brokers who last week predicted a quiet time in the local market did not make any mistake in their diagnosis of the case.

The market this morning was very quiet, and the aspect of things about the floor of the Exchange afforded a marked contrast to what was happening there a couple of weeks ago. The public section is now very sparsely attended, while on the floor proper the brokers are once more taking things easy, reading papers, talking, and only taking a passing interest in the market.

The tendency of prices here was a little higher if anything, at least a few of the leaders like Power, Richelieu and Twins went back to somewhat better prices on scattered transactions.

It is doubtful if we will see much activity in the market for some little time to come. Past experiences have shown that a movement such as we have experienced is usually followed by a dull spell, with prices slowly and fairly steadily seeking a somewhat better level.

Now that it is over its scare, the market has more time to consider earnings and other important market considerations, and on the whole the "Street" sees nothing but encouraging features in the situation.

The Montreal Street Railway statement for May made a poor showing owing to the strike, but the June gross figures are hitting up a record-breaking clip, and this month will go a long way towards making up the lost ground. The most unsatisfactory feature of Montreal Street just now is the rather large increase in operating expenses.

Twin City for May shows a surplus increase of $18,285 and a surplus gain for the six months of $98,101 in spite of an increase within that period of $104,624 in working expenses. Detroit United did not do so well. The surplus increase for May was $2,890, and from January 1 only $555. In the case of Detroit, as with the others, heavier working expenses went to offset very substantial increases in the gross earnings.

Gold engagements made New York heavy to-day, but the market there was very dull. Gold engaged to go so far amounts to $2,500,000.

Sales to noon in Wall Street amounted to 192,400 shares.

L. J. Forget & Co.'s London cable quoted Grand Trunk first at 112¾, second at 98¾, third at 50⅜, Canadian Pacific at 124¾, Anaconda at 4¾ and Hudson Bay at 40.

Mr. C. D. Monk's messages said: Americans in London lower fractionally. Bank statement average system entirely responsible for peculiar showing, which failed to reflect by over $3,500,000 the gain in cash actually shown by individual bank records. Rock Island crop reports still detail backwardness of corn crop, but good on wheat and other grains. Railroad returns continue good in spite of flood. Building trade situation improving. Steel Corporation reports very large orders on hand and indication of continued activity. Fifty-four roads for April average net increase 14.78 per cent. Forty-two roads for second week June, average gross increase 11.92 per cent. Rumored Reading earnings for May will show more than $600,000 increase. Strong probability of 5 per cent. dividend rate for smelters in September.

While the bank statement was rather disappointing, stocks held remarkably well, showing that confidence had not been further shaken. Spasmodic attempts seem to be the order to-day, but the same results are not forthcoming to depress prices. Market may be irregular at opening with strengthening in some directions later on.

Noon.—Market opened irregular; recovered somewhat from Saturday's close. On announcement of gold shipments they receded gradually, but transactions were limited, and market acts as if there were supporting orders around these prices. The bullish interviews by leaders at home and abroad causing bearish hesitancy.

The local Street is still intensely interested in the question of steel duties, and there was a rumor this morning that the Government would raise the tariff rather than increase and prolong the period of bounties. If action is taken in this way the market is likely to see a little flurry. Steel common sold again to-day at 15, the bonds at 61 and Coal up to 90½, and then off to 90. Nova Scotia sold at 90 and Power at 79.

Robert Meredith & Co. received the following over their private wire from Zimmermann & Forshay, New York:—The London market was lower this morning. The Ship Trust affairs are in anything but good shape. The Cunard Company has given announcement of withdrawal from the compact, and a merry rate war is likely to be the next thing on the programme. A receiver has been asked for the Cast Iron Pipe Company. The unfortunate termination of so many of the new industrial enterprises has the effect of deterring the market from any upward movement, which might otherwise take place. Decision in the Northern Securities case may be handed down this week. The building trade situation in New York is certainly improving. Railroads continue to show good earnings in spite of the recent floods. Rumors that Reading earnings for May will show good increases. Two million three hundred and fifty thousand dollars gold to be shipped to-morrow. Liverpool cotton market was lower than expected this morning; our market did not respond to the decline, however. South bought heavily. Rains in general throughout the South, and in some places precipitation very heavy, while dry weather is wanted. Sales to noon were 192,400 shares. The market opened about on a par with Saturday's closing prices; trading was exceedingly dull, and in consequence figures were inclined to sag, and at noon there were losses extending from one-quarter to 1 per cent. in the more active issues, such as Atchison, Union Pacific and St. Paul.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

The New York Herald, which has been consistently bearish for over six months past, intimates tat low point has been reached, but does not expect an early rally.

One favorable feature of the present situation is that there is no disposition in any quarter to encourage a bull campaign.

Notwithstanding flood damage, the returns for the month of April are remarkably favorable. One hundred and one roads reporting to the Wall Street Journal show an increase in gross of 14.93 per cent., and in net of 14.78, as compared with last year's figures.

The reduction of the Bank of England rate has led to considerable offerings of foreign money by out-of-town banks. Demand is mainly for loans carrying over the first of the year.

It is not improbable that some gold may be exported this week.

London is lower again to-day. There seems to be considerable bear manipulation there, originating on this side. There is little question, however, that the foreign confidence has been somewhat shaken by the persistent talk of industrial reaction in America.

C.P.R., Pennsylvania, and C.F.I. were the only stocks in particular demand in the loan crowd.

Heaviness in A.C.P. was partly attributable to reports of some private cutting in prices of the metal.

A strong bull faction is working on this side of the anthracite shares, on reports of large current earnings.

COTTON LOWER

Mr. D. M. Sexton, cotton broker, 26 St. Sacrament street, reports the New York cotton market opening steady 5 points down to 3 up on near, and late months about on a level with Saturday's close.

The options at the opening were: June, 12.00; July, 12.15; August, 11.79; September, 10.81; October, 10c; November, 9.79; December, 9.71; January, 9.72; February, 9.69.

Liverpool opened 11 to 15 points down, and at 12.30 was 11 1-2 to 12 1-2 down on near and 14 1-2 to 15 down on late.

The spot market was 10 down, with sales of 6,000 bales.

Port receipts this date were estimated at 2,200 bales, against 1,477 this day last week, and 5,699 this date last year. Options at 12.30 were: July, 12.25; August, 11.92; September, 10.99; October, 10.14; December, 9.79; January, 9.79.

CAR ACCOUNTANTS AT ST. JOHN.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

St. John, N.B., June 22.—The members of the Car Accountants and Car Service Men's Association of America arrived in this city to-day from Halifax on a special train, which covered the distance between Moncton and St. John at an average rate of a mile a minute, some of the miles being done in 53 seconds. The Intercolonial Railway is entertaining the visitors, who are chiefly Americans, to a sail and clam bake on the St. John River and a trolley ride around the city. This evening the party leave for Montreal over the Intercolonial, to disband there and proceed to their respective homes. Their visit has consumed ten days in different parts of Canada, and they are delighted with it.

THEFT CHARGE NOT PRESSED.

Alfred Daigneault was employed by a St. Antoine Street grocer, and Saturday delivered goods to a woman on the same street. A purse containing $11.50 was missed from a table in the house after he left and the police were notified. Constables Miller and Diamond arrested the youth, who gave up the purse and contents. To-day he appeared before Judge Lafontaine and was allowed to go, as the charge was not pressed.

CELEBRATION AT QUEBEC.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Quebec, June 22.—The French-Canadian population of Quebec celebrated the feast of St. Jean de Baptiste with a monster street parade this morning, and afterwards a banquet took place in the main building on the Quebec exhibition grounds. Among the speakers at the banquet were Hon. S. N. Parent, Hon. T. C. Chapais, president general of St. Jean Baptiste Society; F. D. Monk, M.P.; A. Malouin, M.P., and others. After the banquet a programme of sports was held on the exhibition grounds.

CIRCUS MAN LOSES A LEG.

GOSSIP OF THE "STREET"

The Bank Statement.

Returns to the Government by the Canadian banks for May show that the volume of general trade is not only maintained, but is on the increase. This, at least, is the conclusion to be drawn from the increase of over 3 per cent. in the circulation during the month, while compared with a year ago the gain is over 14 per cent. Supplementary to this expansion in circulation is the increase in loans and discounts, which are $4,872,000 in excess of what they were in April, and $54,305,000 over a year ago. This is a gain of over 16 per cent., for the year; and the fact that the ratio is rather greater than that shown in the case of circulation is causing anxiety in some quarters, least merchants are not branching out beyond what their resources justify. The bankers, however, are in the best position to judge whether there is any ground for this fear, and arguing from their recent action in relation to stock speculation, would put on the brakes if there was any real necessity for doing so.

The Ames' Affairs.

A Toronto broker, writing on the position of A. E. Ames & Co., says: "The rapid and satisfactory reduction of the liabilities of Messrs. Ames & Company has proceeded, contrary to general expectation, without weakening the market to a very material extent. Immediately after the failure we spoke of the likelihood of payment in full by the above-named firm of all their liabilities, and even at this early date a proposition with this end in view is before their creditors. The plan proposed would involve the payment of 10 cents on the dollar within eighteen months, interest being paid in the meantime at the rate of 6 per cent. The first payment would be one of 25c on the dollar on the 15th July next. The magnitude of the firm's operations and their very large liability at the time of suspension, only about two weeks ago, makes it a remarkable thing that such a proposition as they are now offering could at this stage be submitted. The liabilities, we understand, have been reduced from over ten millions to somewhere in the neighborhood of four millions. The proposal has been very favorably commented on by bankers and brokers, and we should think no creditors would refuse their offer."

Dominion Steel.

Speaking of Dominion Steel, Aemilius Jarvis & Co., the Toronto brokers, in a letter, say: "We understand Messrs. Plummer and Nicholls are satisfied that they are able to turn out steel of first class quality in large quantities at a paying rate, provided that the Dominion Government grants to the manufacturers of steel a fair measure of protection. Difficulties which appeared hard to surmount have at times arisen, but they have been met and overcome. The conditions governing the manufacture of steel are so varied in character that it is quite possible for a successful manufacturer in one country to take a considerable time experimenting before discovering the cheapest and best way of making steel in a different locality with different raw material. The necessary experiments appear to have been successfully concluded, and after a careful consideration of all the information we can get on the subject, we are of the opinion that this company is now in a fair way to make itself a commercial success.

"Meetings of the two companies are at the time of writing in progress, and it may be that some developments of an important character will be made at the meetings. We have heard that the Steel Company have practically concluded an arrangement whereby their finances will be materially strengthened. This report is as yet not confirmed, but we should think that, on the strength of the businesslike information Messrs. Plummer and Nicholls could afford to financial men, no difficulty should be experienced in making their arrangements, if, as is expected, the Government gives further protection."

ESTIMATE A WHEAT CROP OF ABOUT 750,000,000 BUSH

According to Commercial West the wheat crop may be 750,000,000 bushels, and if so it does not warrant lower than 70 cents for September in Chicago. It says the world's consumption has overtaken the production, and that the recent fashion of selling for an investment will yield very small, if any, dividends. Spring wheat crop compares as follows:

	1903.	1902.
Minnesota	84,000,000	80,000,000
North Dakota	71,000,000	63,000,000
South Dakota	58,000,000	44,000,000
Iowa	15,000,000	15,000,000
Nebraska	48,000,000	53,000,000
Total spring	326,000,000	306,000,000
Total U. S.	740,000,000	670,000,000

Bread and seed requirements are as follows: Minnesota, 18,000,000; North Dakota, 6,000,000; South Dakota, 7,000,000; Iowa, 13,000,000, and Nebraska, 9,000,000. Nebraska is now considered a winter wheat state by some. Minnesota is the leading spring wheat producer, and the Dakotas now promise a little more than last year, but harvest is several months away.

The visible supply statement to-day gave wheat a decrease of 1,544,000 bushels, corn an increase of 529,000 bushels, and oats an increase of 110,000 bushels.

July wheat was as high at 78, and at 12.30 was 77 1-2. September opened at 75 1-2, and held just about steady. July corn opened at 50 1-4, and held steady.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND PRODUCE MARKETS

There is no material change in the position of the local grain market, coarse kinds only ebing in fair demand. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat has sold in the West at 79½c, and No. 1 northern 78⅞c, ex-store, June delivery.

There was no change in the flour market which is firm under a continued good demand from all sources for spring wheat grades.

Hay is selling at all sorts of fancy prices and it is difficult to give a correct idea of the market, as in many cases hay has realized higher figures in the country than it is quoted at here. There is a good American demand at country points, with some eager buying in some cases. Some lucky farmers have realized as high as $17, but the local market is by no means up to that level.

Meal and feed show no quotable change.

Dairy Produce.

Cheese at country points is holding its own in pretty good shape, and in many cases is costing about 10¾c laid down here. Here are some late cables:

London, June 20.—The cheese market ruled steady here during the week, new white selling at 54s to 55s and new colored 55s to 56s. Fancy old white realized 70s to 74s, and colored 66s to 70s. Creamery butter moved slowly at 88s to 92s.

Bristol, June 20.—The cheese market was dull and weak here, being 1s 6d lower for new cheese at 53s 6d for white and 54s 6d for colored.

Liverpool, June 20.—Butter, good, steady, 75s. Cheese, steady; finest white, 53s 6d; finest colored, 55s 6d.

The butter market was dull, with offers of Quebec creamery at 19¼c. In the country higher prices were paid than this at different points.

TO-DAY'S CATTLE MARKET

Receipts of live stock at the East End Cattle Market to-day amounted to 400 head of butcher's cattle, 500 calves, 350 sheep, 200 spring lambs and 300 hogs. There was a large attendance of local butchers, but the demand was inclined to be slow. There was a fair demand for butchers' cattle, the quality being good. The best animals sold at from 4 1-2 to 5 cents per lb., good stock at from 4 to 4 3-4 cents per lb., while the common stock sold at from 2 1-3 to 3 cents per lb. The quality of the calves offered was mostly common. Demand, however, was good, and by noon all offerings had been sold. The common calves sold at from $1 to $2.50 each, and good animals brought from $3 to $11 each.

There was a good demand for lambs, prices being from $2 to $3.50 each, and for sheep 3 to 3 3-4 cents per lb.

There was a fair demand for hogs, prices ranging from $6 to $6.20, weighed off the cars. Demand in this line was slow.

The market tone to-day showed a decided improvement over last week, the trade being good and prices a little better than the last few weeks.

DRESSED HOGS

There was no change in the market for fresh-killed abattoir-dressed hogs, for which the demand was slow at $8.37½ to $8.50 per 100 lbs.

INSURANCE AGENTS MEET.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Quebec, June 22.—The agents of the North American Life Insurance Company from all parts of Canada have arrived in this city to hold a convention. The visitors went to St. Anne de Beaupre yesterday, and last evening held their annual banquet at the Kent House, Montmorency Falls, during which Mr. Goldman, manager of the company, was presented with a handsome cabinet of silverware, accompanied by an address, on behalf of the agents. The party took a trip around the harbor this forenoon, and will leave this evening for Montreal by boat.

AS MEANS OF PUNISHMENT CUT OFF GIRLS' TRESSES

Some Extraordinary Evidence is Being Brought Out at Trial Going On at Tours.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Paris, June 22.—The sensational trial at Tours of three directresses of the refuge of Notre Dame de la Charite, charged with cruelty towards female pupils entrusted to their care, reveals extraordinary details, which are being made capital of by the anti-clerical press in their campaign for the separation of church and state.

The cross-examination of sixty-nine witnesses established the fact that among the punishments inflicted was cutting off the hair of such girls as possessed luxuriant locks, and hair dressers of Tours and Paris testified that they purchased large quantities of human hair from the convent at the regular market price.

Another punishment was the "cross of tongue," which consisted in the girls being compelled to draw the sign of the cross on the floor of the chapel with their tongues. In extreme cases the form of punishment in use was the smearing of the girls' faces with filth.

A witness, Mlle. Lea Boulay, testified that, on the day of her first communion, she was forced by the tyrannical sisters to walk, bare-footed, over sharp stones, with a crown of thorns on her head, and was obliged to kiss the feet of all the other sisters and servants.

MR. SCULLION IS HONORED.

At the eve of his departure to visit his old home in Ireland, Mr. Patrick Scullion, treasurer of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, was made the recipient of a beautifully engraved gold locket bearing the inscription: "Presented to Bro. P. Scullion by Division No. 1 as a slight mark of esteem and appreciation of his long and faithful service to this division." The presentation was made by President McMorrow, who spoke of Mr. Scullion's administrative power in the office he so long and faithfully filled with marked ability, and wishing him, on behalf of the division, a pleasant voyage and safe return.

DISCUSSES STATUS OF QUEEN'S.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Kingston, June 22.—Rev. John Mackie, of St. Andrew's Church, preached a strong sermon on Sunday, expressing approval of the action of the Presbyterian General Assembly in refusing to give over Queen's, but to maintain its efficiency. The preacher discussed why it was proposed to cast the institution upon the state, chiefly because of lack of funds. It was thought that the late Principal Grant had an understanding with Premier Ross on the matter, but the Premier says the province has no intention of supporting a second university.

ALLAN COMPANY WITHDRAWS.

The Allan Steamship Company announces that it will withdraw from the South African service and allow the Elder-Dempster and Furness-Withy lines to operate it alone. Up to the present each line has been running a single steamer every third month. Under the new arrangement the two lines will employ the steamers and send them alternate months. The steamship Brazilian, which sailed last week, is the last Allan Line steamer to sail for South African ports.

TROUBLE IN T.L.C.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Toronto, June 22.—Gray and Lambe could not get away for Saturday's game in Montreal. It is stated, however, they were not particularly anxious to work their heads off with a home which was of no account, and so expressed themselves to the Toronto management. There is no doubt that they could have played had they so desired, and made any effort to get off.

PACIFIC CABLE NEARLY COMPLETE.

San Francisco, June 22.—Within a week the last link of the Commercial Pacific cable will be laid between San Francisco and Manila. The cable ship Colonia has completed the link between Guam and Midway, and immediately on its arrival the Anglia departed for Honolulu to close the last gap in the trans-Pacific cable, a distance of 1,160 miles.

HEART FAILURE THE CAUSE.

Miss Catherine Costello, sixty-nine years of age, died suddenly at No. 30 Smith Street yesterday afternoon. Coroner McMahon disposed of the matter without a jury. Heart failure was given as the cause of death.

M'HUGH IS SET AT LIBERTY.

Sligo, Ireland, June 22.—P. A. McHugh, vice-president of the Irish National League, who was arrested June 6 under a warrant for contempt of court, was on Saturday released from jail.
