Much Discussion on Fair at Annual Meeting Thursday

Members Offer Suggestions For Improvement of Huntingdon Fair

The annual meeting of the Huntingdon Agricultural Society was held at the County Building, on Thursday afternoon, with only a fair attendance of members. The day was quite stormy and exceedingly cold and this may have accounted for the small attendance.

The directors' meeting was held first and the minutes of previous meeting and the financial statement were read and passed. Mr. S. J. Currie appeared before the directors and asked for a definite arrangement regarding payment for the wiring done in the buildings and on the grounds last year. He explained that in past years the wiring had been installed at a certain figure and later taken down again for a further certain sum. In 1947 he had suggested a plan whereby the wiring could be left in the building and finally become the property of the Fair Board. Since that time arrangements had been made with the Huntingdon Athletic Association, which rather jeopardized the previous arrangement. Therefore Mr. Currie wanted an assurance that the original arrangement would be adhered to or the wiring would have to be removed as in former years.

The directors considered the matter and decided that a three-year payment would be adopted and that the wiring should be left for future use. An arrangement will be made with the Huntingdon Athletic Association and the owners of concessions whereby a charge will be made for the use of the fixtures and the power. This was satisfactory to Mr. Currie. The Directors meeting then adjourned.

Following this the general annual meeting was held. President J. J. Murphy was in the chair and the minutes of the last annual meeting were read and also the financial statement for the year 1947. This showed that all payments had been met and there is a cash balance of $142.12. It also showed that the outstanding loan had been reduced from $1,100 in 1946 to $900. in 1947. Those present seemed pleased that this loan is being reduced, but felt that more help should be sought from the government in the way of grants.

Several bills were read for claims for lost poultry from the poultry barn during fair time. The total value of the claims was $16. It was felt that something should be done to put the cages and the buildings in better shape so that such losses would not occur in the future. It was remarked that in previous years a man had been paid to look after the building, but last year this had not been done. It was agreed to pay the losses under the circumstances, but this was in no way a precedent and such a course would not be adopted. Also that the pens would be put into better state of repair for another fair.

The president asked if anyone had anything to bring before the meeting and quite a discussion was started. One party asked if the fair was advertised in any way than through the medium of The Gleaner. He was advised that it was not. It was felt that advertising should be done in other newspapers and over the radio, prior to the fair, in order to get more interest.

The question was asked what had happened to the Stock Parade that was advertised to take place. The answer was that a shower of rain had prevented this taking place, just as the animals were being lined up for the parade. The questioner stated that the parade should have been held nevertheless, it was advertised and yet it did not take place. People came to see these things and then they did not take place. Another question was: Where was the band, why was there no music of this kind. Such music tended to help the proceedings? It was stated that the band could not be obtained as a number of the members were employed in the mills and if they left their work to play at the fair they wanted to be assured their full day's pay to cover the lost time. There was also a set charge made for the band as a whole and the Fair Board felt that the expense was too great. Several of those present said that in view of the help that had been given the band in the past few years, they should play for the fair at no cost whatever. It is supposed to be a town band, yet it does not play at functions like this after the people have contributed towards its upkeep. It was further remarked that if the local band cannot be obtained then some other band should be approached so that some music was available.

The discussion then drifted off into other fairs and the fact that attractions were not provided to any great extent and in this, Havelock was cited. The Gleaner came in for a drubbing and it was said that Havelock Fair obtained a better write-up of its show each year to that obtained by Huntingdon. The only thing that Havelock had was a fine community spirit and its annual dinner, there were no attractions and no place to put the animals, yet more people went to this fair. It was maintained that if Huntingdon wanted to improve the attendance it must provide more in the way of entertainment and it must be ready to spend a little money to obtain such entertainment. The situation in Huntingdon is much different to that of Havelock, which is more an annual gathering of old friends. It was mentioned that a pipe band was an attraction one year, but those present did not think that a pipe band was much of an attraction for a fair.

Mr. Charlie Kyle said he thought the Society should purchase more land and have a new race track built. It was also mentioned that a light horse show at night would prove an attraction. After some discussion on this, it was decided to have a committee work on the matter.

Mr. Bert Rankin said this was the first annual meeting he had attended, but he thought that something should be done to improve the fair and that it should be a whole lot better than it is. There are not enough attractions and more than livestock is needed to make a fair attractive in these days.

The mention of a midway was made and it was pointed out that Ormstown had not had a satisfactory fair as regards the midway and that it had not the effect of bringing more people despite the money that had been expended in getting the attractions. In any event the midway at Huntingdon Fair will be looked after by the Huntingdon Athletic Association this year as an arrangement had been made with them for this purpose.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the same board being elected with the addition of Mr. Wallace Rennie.

Apparently there was some dissatisfaction in the way some of the livestock had been entered in the various classes and it was decided that the pedigree numbers or photographs should be checked before the animals are allowed to enter the judging ring. It was mentioned that the prize list always contained an entry form, but the last few years this had been omitted and it might be well if these entry forms were again included.

The Fair Dates for 1948 will be September 9th and 10th. A delegation is to interview Mr. J. G. Rennie, M.L.A., with the purpose of obtaining some additional help in the way of grants for the fair and to try and improve the fair as much as possible.

Quebec Holsteins in All-Canadian Contest

W. A. S. Ayerst's Bull "General" Receives Honourable Mention in Contest

Once again animals either bred at Mount Victoria Farms, Hudson Heights, Que., or descendants of animals bred there accounted for the major share of the All-Canadian Holstein awards just announced by the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada. Both the All-Canadian Aged Bull, Montvic Rag Apple Marskman and the Reserve All-Canadian Aged Bull Montvic Rag Apple Sovereign were born at Mount Victoria. These two bulls combined to take the All-Canadian Produce of Dam award for the fourth consecutive year. Marksman also sired the All-Canadian Get-of-Sire, All-Canadian two-year-old bull and All-Canadian three-year-old heifer while Sovereign sired the All-Canadian three-year-old bull, All-Canadian Junior Yearling bull, Reserve All-Canadian Junior Yearling bull, Reserve All-Canadian Senior Yearling bull, Reserve All-Canadian two-year-old heifer, and Reserve All-Canadian heifer calf. In addition, one of his grandsons was named All-Canadian bull calf and a grand-daughter All-Canadian heifer Calf.

Awards won by Quebec breeders included Reserve All-Canadian Bull Calf by Browns Markmaster Joe, exhibited by Brown Corporation, La Tuque, Quebec, and owned by Amable Laferriere, St. Barthelemi; Honourable Mention to H. L. Guilbert, Vercheres, Que., on the two-year-old heifer Eglantiers Rag Apple Francy that was the first prize winner at Quebec Provincial Exhibition, Ormstown and Lachute; Honourable Mention Produce of Dam owned by H. L. Guilbert and from his 1,000 lb. cow Montvic Meg Empress. This produce consisted of Montvic Emperor Ajax, Grand Champion at Quebec Exhibition and Eglantiers Rag Apple General owned by W. A. S. Ayerst, Ormstown, who was Reserve Grand Champion at Ormstown Exhibition. "General" received Honourable Mention in the two-year-old bull class.

The All-Canadian Contest is the climax of the show season for Holstein breeders in Canada. Prize winners at the various fairs and exhibitions of Provincial Championship calibre compete for national honors through the medium of photographs, the actual selections in the various classes being made by a Committee composed of the various judges at these fairs. In each of the regular show classes, an All-Canadian and a Reserve All-Canadian are chosen. In special cases, Honourable mention is also given. This year forty-five breeders in various parts of the Dominion shared the awards, although the majority came to Ontario. The contest is sponsored by the Holstein-Friesian Journal.

Chateau Receives Praise in Magazine

The Chateau, Huntingdon, came in for a bright news spot in the January issue of the house organ of The Carling Breweries known as "Carling's Hospitality". The article is headed "Pattern for Community Hotels" and shows six different photographs of the hotel appointments as well as praising it as a fine hotel. It also gives Don Moore a boost as being the bandmaster of Huntingdon's 40-piece brass band. Such news should help the Chateau in securing more of the tourist business both in Canada and the United States. The magazine is published at Toronto. The article mentions that it is the intention of the management to have complete telephone service in all the rooms and that a swimming pool will be built adjoining the hotel for the benefit of summer tourists. One of the photographs shows Mr. M. A. Latendresse, one of the partners in the enterprise and his assistant, Mr. Don. Moore. William Durnin is given a boost as being one of the oldest employees and being head waiter in charge of the dining room and lounge. Other pictures include views of the main lounge, the sitting room, the dining room, the cocktail lounge and a typical guest room.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. McNaughton Feted on 25th Anniversary

On Friday evening, Jan. 30, a surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. M. M. McNaughton's 25th anniversary was held at the Masonic Temple in Huntingdon.

Although it was a bitter night a fairly large crowd turned out to extend their best wishes.

About eleven-thirty Mr. Chas. Boyce called the gathering to order by saying, "this is a special occasion," and asked Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton to come forward. He went to the rear of the hall and accompanied the bride and groom of 25 years up to the "mike." With a few well chosen words presented them with a slightly bulged envelope. At this point he asked the groom to give the bride the traditional kiss.

Mr. McNaughton replied that although these gatherings were customary he thought theirs would pass by unnoticed. "However," he said, "this must have taken a great deal of work on the part of John Donnelly and Andrew Higgins." He was very grateful and hoped everyone would have an enjoyable evening.

In Mr. McNaughton's speech he said he had made up his mind when very young, not to have anything to do with the fairer sex, as when he attended the old stone school for punishment of misbehaviour (?) he was forced to sit on the large bench between fully grown girls, who occasionally would lean over and give him a "peck" on the cheek—this was too much for a shy boy but after batching it for a number of years he thought what a life this is!

Shortly after he met a sweet young school teacher and with much persuasion she consented to marry him. They were married quietly and slipped away on their honeymoon. On their return, to their surprise, the house was full of people gathered there to welcome them. He wondered if anyone present had been there that night. His one regret was that it was too cold for more of his older friends to be present, but he was very pleased to see so many young folk out. With these words and many others Mr. McNaughton kept the crowd in laughter for some time.

After Mrs. McNaughton had thanked everyone, Mr. Boyce asked them to remain standing while their friends in turn congratulated the happy couple. Mr. Boyce started by kissing the bride and Mrs. Boyce retaliated by kissing the groom.

Mr. Roy McWhinnie made delicious coffee and about midnight a bounteous lunch was served to all with a special table set for Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton, their three sons and Mr. and Mrs. Boyce. The bride, Mrs. McNaughton, looked very charming with her lovely corsage of red roses.

Dancing continued after refreshments until the small hours of the morning. Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves in spite of the cold weather.

All join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton many more years of happy married life.

Financial Statement Passed At Town Council Meeting

Salary Increases Granted Town Employees—Increased Costs May Mean Higher Taxes

The regular monthly meeting of the Huntingdon Town Council was held on Monday evening at the County Building, with all members present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and also the bills as passed by the Finance Committee at that meeting.

Mr. Leo Leahy complained about the valuation on his property. He explained that two years ago it was revalued and then it was reduced, but the next year it was again at the high figure. During the period he sold half the lot and now the town is collecting taxes from him and from the new owner, thus two lots of taxes are being paid on the same lot. The council promised to look into the matter and make whatever adjustment is necessary.

A Hospital card was received for Real Robidoux and after some discussion it was decided to bring in a report at the next meeting.

A letter was read from the Health Dept. stating that the complain re rubbish along the river bank had been investigated. The store owners and others here have expressed their willingness to co-operate in this matter. Mr. Menard complained to the officer that the garbage collector refused to take all the rubbish and wanted to know if something could be done about it. The council decided to speak to Mr. Welburn and this was left to Ald. Collum.

A milk report was presented to the council which stated that the samples were too old, therefore no bacterial count could be given.

A cheque was reported received from War Assets Corporation to cover water rates for a certain period.

Alderman McWhinnie told the council that the employees at the Filter Plant had asked for an increase in their salaries due to the rising price of the cost of living and in view of the fact that other town employees had been given a raise. Some discussion ensued as to the amount requested and the Mayor thought that a lesser amount might suffice, but left it to the council to decide. It was finally decided that as and from February 1st the wages would be as follows: H. Sandys, $102 per month; R. Donnelly, $120; G. Munro, $175.00 and an increase of $20.00 for E. C. Martin.

With regard to sewer and water mains at Chateauguay Barracks, it was decided to offer the War Assets Corporation $400 for same. This to be made up by cancelling the $100 water rate for January and a cheque for $300. Also that the town would take over the obligation with regard to the Lord Atholstan Estate.

Stop Signs are to be placed along Lake St. at the crossings of Hunter, Prince, King, Wellington and York Streets. It was also decided to order 300 bicycle licenses this year as there were not enough last year.

The building by-law has still not been received from the town lawyers and the council was just a little impatient at the delay. It was decided to try and hurry this along for the next meeting.

It was reported that a building had been moved in town and no permit issued for this. The danger of this procedure was pointed out and it was decided that no building may be moved without a permit is obtained to do so. The Police Chief is to be advised to check up on such matters.

Two applications for relief were received by Alderman Saumier and in one case it was decided to allow $3.00 per week in groceries or food. In the other case it was decided to investigate further, but it was reported that the woman in the case had been taken to Montreal and would most likely have to go to hospital there soon.

The Financial Statement was read and passed and it was ordered printed in the Gleaner and individual copies printed and mailed to the ratepayers. Mayor Picard thanked Alderman Tinker for the good work he had done on the finances and said that the council would have to study ways to make up the increased costs of the present year and it may mean higher taxes, but it could not be helped. Copy of Financial Statement will be found on another page.

Annual Meeting Ormstown Red Cross is Educational

Special Speakers Bring Out New Facts—Officers 1948 Elected

The Annual Meeting of Ormstown Branch of the Red Cross Society was held Jan. 28th at 7.30 p.m. in the Ormstown High School. The president, Mr. Corkran, was in the chair. Owing to the fact that it was a stormy night, Mr. Corkran introduced the guest speakers before commencing the business meeting to enable them to get an early start back to Montreal. The guests being Mrs. Packard, chairman of Work Committee at Headquarters at Montreal, and co-chairman, Miss Rensing.

Mrs. Packard told the meeting the quota of work for Quebec for 1947-48 was as follows: Knitted articles 8,066, layettes 16,800, other sewing 5,700 articles. The same quota would be for 1948-49.

Mrs. Packard then told the meeting how work was distributed to needy countries. Dr. Reutley, who is in charge of Red Cross Organization in Geneva, Switzerland, sent needs to National Red Cross in Toronto, Can., and from this centre Canadian Provinces received their quota of work and goods for the year. Each province doing specific work. This year Quebec's share was mostly layettes and children's clothing up to 10 years of age. Some women's clothing was also required. A sum of money was given to each province to purchase ready-made clothing, such as overcoats, dressing gowns, shoes, etc. This lessens amount of difficult sewing.

At the last annual meeting in Montreal, Mrs. Crofton, V.A.D., from England, stated that Red Cross supplies were badly needed. Not only bombed out areas but the whole country. The people have to give coupons for Red Cross clothing but no money. The reason for this is that supplies would be used too freely. No coupons were needed in hospitals or children's homes. Mrs. Packard stated here that standard of work done must be high.

The need for quilts was stressed and that Canadian quilts were highly praised and appreciated but that many more were needed. There is a quantity of material in Canada and the Red Cross felt it is the duty of Canadians to sew for European countries where materials and facilities are so scarce, thus making it very necessary to organize Red Cross in communities. Best season for work is now and sewing, knitting and making of quilts was stressed.

A request for scraps of wool was made. This wool is sent to Junior Red Cross who in turn send it to a Toronto firm who makes it into blankets which are sent to places where needed.

Old stamps are also needed. These, too, are to be sent to Junior Red Cross, who sell them and send returns to Headquarters.

Not only do Red Cross supplies go to European countries, but to many Canadian outposts, such as northern hospitals and x-veterans, where help is needed.

Mrs. Packard suggested that a sick room supply cupboard be set up in the community. It should contain supplies for a sick person who cannot obtain them. These articles are loaned free of charge to the public. Cupboard to contain: wheel-chair, hospital bed, enamel ware, crutches and many other articles. Any information may be obtained from Miss Corbett, who is in charge of Sick-Room Supply Cupboard at Headquarters in Montreal.

Mr. Corkran thanked the representatives for addressing the meeting, after which the business part of the meeting proceeded.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and adopted as read. A report by the Treasurer was also read and approved.

Mr. Corkran reported the work done by the First Aid Committee at the last Ormstown Exhibition. He expressed his thanks to the nurses who assisted in this work.

The president then asked Mrs. D. C. Munroe to take the chair for the election of officers for coming year. Mrs. Munroe asked for the report of the nominating committee and Mr. Grant McLaren presented the following slate of officers:

Hon. President: Mrs. R. E. Walsh; President—Mr. R. F. Corkran; 1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. George Elliott; 2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Amos McCaffrey; 3rd Vice-Pres.—Mr. Grant McLaren; Secretary—Mrs. Mervin Barrington; Treasurer—Mr. K. Urquhart; Directors—Mrs. Eugene Sauvé, Mrs. James Hunter, Mrs. Harold Parkinson; Mrs. James Manning; Mrs. Frank Smith; Mr. Ivan Barrington, Mr. R. E. Forrester.

It was moved by Mrs. A. Greig and seconded by Mrs. R. F. Corkran that this slate of officers be accepted.

There being no further business it was moved by Miss L. Bazin and seconded by Mr. Grant McLaren that the meeting be adjourned.

Rockburn Lady Tests Feat Of Egg Standing Alone

A strange happening was reported to the Gleaner this week by Mrs. George Williams, of Rockburn, Que. The lady reported reading in the Montreal Star a year ago, a Chinese legend to the effect that an egg would stand on it's rounded end alone, on February 3rd of each year at exactly 10.45 a.m. So on Tuesday, which was February 3rd, Mrs. Williams and her daughter Iris decided to test this out and see if it would happen. Sure enough, after much trying, the egg was made to stand alone at exactly 10.45 a.m. Mrs. Williams called the Gleaner and informed us that the feat had been accomplished and was quite excited about it. Apparently and according to Mrs. Williams, this can only be done on the date and time mentioned. What causes this we do not know and we shall have to wait until next year before we can test the feat for ourselves.

Teachers to Attend Conference

Chateauguay Valley Delegates Meet in Montreal

Representatives of Chateauguay Valley schools will visit Montreal over the week-end of February 27 and 28, carrying the point of view of this district to a conference of delegates of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers. Mrs. Margaret Lindsay, of Ormstown, and Miss Getty, of Valleyfield, will attend this concentrated session at the Queens Hotel.

A medley of educational matters will come before the conference. The Canadian Teachers' Federation and its relationship with UNESCO will be discussed by David Munroe, of Ormstown. Delegates will then turn their attention to the provincial organization, and follow this with a consideration of the local associations, their functions and programmes.

Friday evening dinner and Saturday luncheon at the Queens Hotel will highlight the conference. At the former, Dr. G. G. D. Kilpatrick, Principal of the United Theological College, will tell the teachers what others think of the profession. At the Saturday meal Dr. Robert MacLeod, of McGill, will discuss teaching from the point of view of a psychologist.

Problems confronting local parents and teachers, and their relation to world-wide educational trends will, PAPT officials expect, receive some clarification at this mid-season get-together.

Cold Spell Worst So Far This Winter

Groundhog Heralds Early Spring Monday

The past week the weather has been the coldest that has been experienced so far this winter. Starting on Wednesday, high winds blew snow that blocked the roads and were accompanied by sub-zero temperatures. On Thursday morning the temperature was down to 17 below and on Friday morning it was 12 below. The temperature has ranged below zero since that time for the most part. The wind kept up until Saturday, when it subsided somewhat and there has been very little since.

Monday was groundhog day and it was gloomy, so it is considered that winter is on the wane. Whether this weather profit legend has any influence on the weather, we do not rightly know, but we won't feel bad if winter does come to an end sooner than expected. In these days of fuel shortages and the high cost of living, we won't mind saving a little on the coal bill. Those using oil will welcome the opportunity to save a little for next year. As Easter is very early this year, it is just probable that spring will be early too, so perhaps there is something to this groundhog idea after all. We can only wait and hope for the best.

There was very little disruption due to the snow storm, roads were opened up quickly and while some of the schools were closed for about a day and some of the children were kept at home on account of the cold weather, nothing further happened. Several meetings and other events were sparsely attended on account of the cold weather, but none, that we know of, were postponed. Tuesday night the temperature took another drop below zero and Wednesday morning broke bright, cold and clear.

Need For Food -- Output, Price, Keynote C.F.A. Annual Meet

President H. H. Hannam Dealt With Domestic And International Aspects

BROCKVILLE, Ontario,—The world's most critical problem today, the problem that is largely responsible for the failure to establish peace on earth, the problem that is at the base of much of the unrest widespread in so many countries, is the need for food, and that problem is right on the doorstep of every Canadian farm home, and likewise on the doorstep of the Federation of Agriculture. Canadian farmers want to produce abundantly as their part in solving this problem, but they must have assurance of some measure of economic stability in doing so. Output and price are the two prime considerations.

This was the keynote of the annual address of H. H. Hannam, president and managing-director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, delivered at the opening session of the 12th annual convention of the Federation at Brockville, Ontario.

Mr. Hannam, in his address, dealt extensively with the domestic and international situation in its effect on Canadian agriculture, and with the position and prospects of the Canadian farmer in the post-war world, both with respect to their domestic and their world markets.

"The most acute problem to-day is the world shortage of food," said Mr. Hannam. "Food supply is a consideration that dominates the minds of people and of governments in all lands. The unprecedented demand for food is in turn basically the cause of the most serious of all current problems on this continent, namely, how to forestall the rising tide of inflation."

The Marshall plan, said Mr. Hannam is a unique example of bold statesmanship, a realistic way of trying to cure political unrest; a plan which holds out some hope of temporarily solving the market and dollar difficulties which looked ominous enough to Canadian agriculture a few months ago. However, he said, this plan, if not handled wisely, could intensify inflation perils.

"Canadian farmers," declared Mr. Hannam "want to produce abundantly. That is an instinct, a tradition. If distribution is efficient and equitable, maximum output is in the best economic interests of farmers. Abundant production, they realize, is needed desperately from a humanitarian standpoint; it is also the best means of combatting disorder and building for peace, and an excellent means of fighting inflation.

Merely Common Sense

Farm people are not academic economists, but they know and feel these things and call it merely common sense. This explains in part why our farmers were so upset and discouraged when the government removed ceilings and subsidies on coarse grain in October without compensatory action. Frustration in the face of the need for food, got them down."

Mr. Hannam said the announcement of the new British food contracts was welcome news for the farmers and restored a large measure of confidence, also giving them hope for the retention of a stabilization program. Canadian farmers at the moment were planning for full-scale production in 1948 and hoping for the best.

Uncertainty Ahead

"But there is uncertainty ahead," he declared, "because of rising prices, rising costs of production, the danger of more and more inflation riding for a fall, and the prospects of a policy to control food prices without control of other prices or of wages. Consumers should ponder the fact that when the general price level is high, low food prices are possible only by discriminating unfairly against food producers, or by having government subsidies. The latter is at present contrary to declared government policy and in many respects is not a desirable policy.

Discriminatory Policy

"The government has already imposed ceilings on some food prices, but do they intend to place ceilings on more food products while they leave the prices of other goods and services, many of which enter into farm costs, uncontrolled? Any government which in a free democracy permits itself to be pressured into adoption of such a policy, will and should lose the confidence of the farm people of the nation."

Farmers Not After High Prices

"Canadian farmers," declared Mr. Hannam, "are not advocates of high prices and never have been. Their policy is one of farm prices in a proper balance with those of other major groups in the nation, and preferably on a moderate level. This has been the policy of the C.F.A. farmers' organization. They want prices that are fair alike to producers and consumers.

"Their first consideration is to find and support the best possible method of stabilizing prices of staple food products entering into world trade, within a range which would not spell economic ruin for producers in exporting nations nor be too high for consumers in the importing nations. The method coming nearest to these essentials they felt is the international commodity agreement of which the proposed international wheat agreement is a typical example."

"The farmers' belief in a moderate price policy was amply demonstrated in their support of the nation's wartime price ceiling program" said Mr. Hannam," and secondly organized wheat producers have been staunch in their backing of a wheat stabilization plan. Theey believed this was the soundest and wisest program both for producers of wheat and consumers of bread.

"Where is there a more outstanding example of economic statesmanship on the part of a national group of farmers than to support and promote such a policy, especially in the face of propaganda by private grain trade interests that has been shamefully unfair and unethical.

Canada Has been Good to Consumers

"Since the beginning of the war" said Mr. Hannam, "Canada has been good to her consumers. There was enough food at moderate prices. It would be unjust and suicidal in the end from the standpoint of our Canadian economy, to strive for a low-priced food policy at the expense of Canadian agriculture.

Mr. Hannam referred to the plan for a world food program, and the part the Canadian Federation of Agriculture had played in the deliberations of FAO the United Nations organization designated to work out such a program. He said the hopes of producers for more satisfactory and stable returns and the hopes of consumers for abundant and regular food supply, can best be achieved by giving positive and constructive support to plans for such a world food program.

Recognition of Farmer Organization

During his address, Mr. Hannam acknowledged the fine recognition given the federation, as the national voice of organized agriculture, in public affairs. The Federation has been well represented on the national agricultural advisory committees, in the national agricultural conference, on various government advisory committees, as well as on delegations to international conferences. He paid tribute to the courtesy and co-operation extended to the Federation in its day-to-day contacts with federal and provincial ministers, and senior officers of government departments.

He commented on the grave shortage of trained veterinarians needed in government service to carry out programs for the protection of livestock and dairy herds vital in protecting the health of the people. He commented also on the urgent need for a more aggressive national policy of soil conservation.

Respecting criticism of the national federation from certain groups of farmers, Mr. Hannam said:

"The Federation is in the hands of its members. It is built and financed and directed by them, with officers elected democratically and policies shaped according to their views. The Federation has no ties and no entanglements, or alliances or gentlemen's agreements with any group or party or government. It stands independent, and ready to co-operate with all who share its ideals and believe in its program. It is likewise ready to do battle if need be with those who oppose its fundamentally democratic procedure, its co-operative methods, and its march toward a better order of service for mankind."

Huntingdon Badminton Club Wins Tourney At Malone

The Malone Badminton Club bowed 10 matches to five to the Huntingdon representation in the second tourney of the season between the two outfits, on Friday evening, on the Malone armory courts.

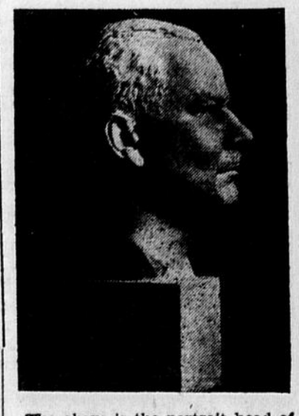

Huntingdon also won the first event staged early in the season at Huntingdon.

The Malone group had the edge in the women's event, they having won three matches to Huntingdon's one in the doubles. Huntingdon took two matches to Malone's one in the men's doubles, seven to Malone's one in the mixed doubles.

There was play all evening with non-scheduled competition taking place after the scheduled tournament matches were finished. Refreshments concluded the evening's activities.

The two teams have tentatively planned another tourney for later in the season on the Huntingdon court.

Annual Meeting Huntingdon Fair

THERE was about the usual attendance at the annual meeting of the Huntingdon Fair Board, despite all the dissatisfaction with the number of attractions at the Fair year by year. Mutterings around are to the effect that something should be done to improve the fair, yet very few seem to take enough interest in seeing that the something is done. It is the belief of many that if the right type of attractions were obtained for this fair and if the buildings and grounds were put into better shape, that the fair would be a big success each year and even develop into a three-day fair. There is enough distance between Huntingdon Fair and Ormstown Exhibition that one should not affect the other. Not only that, Huntingdon has a greater chance to develop in the fall lines of farming and garden produce.

Complaints were made at the meeting that attractions advertised were not carried through. This is very true. Rides for the kiddies were promised and these did not show up. The type of midway that has been gathered for Huntingdon Fair in the past few years has been such that offered nothing for the children and very little for the adults. This is probably due to late bookings and having to take what was offered at the last minute. It also looks that the type of midway contacted, was the broken down type to begin with and consequently their equipment could not arrive on account of breakdowns.

There is no doubt that music does help to make a fair and a band should be in attendance for the greater part of the day and a proper place set up where it can play to the best of advantage. That place is near the grandstand where the people can get the most from it. This may mean the setting up of a temporary platform, but it should be done. The band should be willing to play for the fair with as little expense as possible, especially in view of the help it has obtained from the people of Huntingdon and the help it will continue to receive if a willingness is shown to co-operate. If those who are working do not feel they can leave their work, then the band should carry on with as many as are left until it can be augmented. In fact they should not wait to be approached, they should offer their services to the Fair Board as this is one local event that Huntingdon should get behind. Co-operation of this kind would help in a number of ways. People of Huntingdon have heard much of the band when the different set up was announced, but since that time it seems to have drawn into its shell. If it remains that way, people will forget they have a band. Naturally at the annual meeting when it was explained why the band did not play at the fair, those present were quite annoyed that any argument over the amount to be paid would have resulted in the band not putting in an appearance. It will look very bad if the Fair Board has to go outside the town to bring in a band when we have a real good one in the town and which the people of Huntingdon have ably supported and will continue to support if co-operation is given.

The suggestions made that something should be done to improve Huntingdon Fair, show that the way it is conducted is not entirely satisfactory to the people and the members. In view of this it seems that the Fair Board should really get together and plan something that will make Huntingdon Fair worthwhile for all. As was stated by a farmer at the meeting, the time of an agricultural show with just livestock is past, there must be other attractions. The suggestions that more land should be purchased and a new race track built, might help the situation and it is felt that if such plans were considered and the cost accounted, that the government could be persuaded to help out. At the very least, the buildings should be kept in repair and painted to give the fair grounds a good appearance. When one looks at these every year and the dilapidated appearance of them, it is not conducive to attendance. The old bandstand is an eyesore and would be just as well out of the way as leaving it where it is. The industrial building with its board walls that have never seen paint since it was built do not invite the public. The cattle sheds could do with much renovation and we feel more farmers could be encouraged to show if the conveniences were in better order.

If a concerted effort were made to see that these things are done, we feel sure the people of Huntingdon and surrounding districts would rally round and support the fair in a big way. As it stands now, very few want to be bothered and in a very short time it will pass into the realms of the past. Perhaps the Athletic Association will have a stimulating effect this year, and certainly the Fair Board would be wise to see that what is advertised is carried through.

The Huntingdon Youth Center

IT has taken time to build up Huntingdon's Youth Center, but that time is now paying dividends in the interest that is gradually being accumulated. By far the largest amount of the credit for the sponsorship of the Center can be given to responsible manufacturers in the town and to the Rotary Club. Mr. Stanley Liversidge was engaged about two years ago to direct the organization and affairs of recreation in Huntingdon among the youth and adults of the town. It finally developed that the youth of the town was more responsive and it was decided to incorporate under the name of the Huntingdon Youth Association, and this has been registered. About the same time the Rotary Club decided to make available a suitable building to be used in connection with winter activities of the association and this resulted in the Officers' Mess at Chateauguay Barracks being purchased and turned over to the Youth Association.

Since this building has been available, the interest and activities of the association have steadily increased and the general public has been able to obtain some idea of what is being done for the youth of Huntingdon, under the direction of Mr. Liversidge and with an able board of directors under the presidency of Mr. Fred Dobbs of the R.C.M.P. Detachment here. Teen Town which had been operated under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Oney, has now joined up with the association and has had facilities placed at its disposal at the Youth Center. Under this department some very successful events have been staged and the teen-agers are provided with a good meeting place and plenty of fun. Many other activities of the association take up most of the evenings of the week and provide fun, sport and education for a large number of the youth of town.

In connection with this development, the association has decided to bring to Huntingdon an outstanding violinist, in the person of Miss Leona Flood. The idea behind this is to provide a means of musical appreciation for the youth of Huntingdon and the surrounding communities as well as to provide entertainment for everyone else. A special matinee is being held at which it is expected there will be groups of school children from the various schools in the Chateauguay Valley. The evening performance will be open to the general public and tickets for this are now on sale. There is considerable cost in bringing Miss Flood to Huntingdon, as she is an outstanding artist and usually only plays the larger centres. She is sponsored by the Phil Rubinoff Management, and Phil is a brother of the famous "Rubinoff and His Violin", of radio fame. Also behind the move is the fact that the Youth Association needs money for its activities and rather than make a general canvass for funds, is choosing this method of raising the necessary money. It is therefore sincerely hoped that the people of the district will rally behind the Youth Association and fill the O'Connor Theatre to overflowing to make this presentation a success. All will be treated to a very fine concert as Miss Flood has played before audiences all over the world and is a master of her instrument.

We have been asked to make a request of the public that anyone having weigh scales suitable for weighing the boys of the Boxing Class, to donate one to the association. Only one is required and it is felt that perhaps someone has such a thing they have no further use for and it would be ideal for the purpose intended. If you have a weigh scales of this type would you please contact Mr. Liversidge at phone 2162, or Mr. Dobbs at 396 Huntingdon. Such offer will be deeply appreciated. Meantime give the Huntingdon Youth Association all your support, it is doing a real fine job.

The Little Man in the Loin Cloth

EVERYONE has heard of the adventures of the little man in the loin cloth and the flowing sheet, who has become a legend with India, we mean Gandhi. Only recently he was in the news as being on one of his many fasts, or hungry strikes. But more recently still, news came that he had died at the hands of an assassin — the little man was shot and died within a half-hour after. This news brought a feeling of deep regret among all peoples, larger numbers of whom had known Gandhi only through the news and pictures of him. Yet all people felt they had known him personally. He was made fun of for his hunger strikes and he was looked upon as a man who made many protests to Great Britain as he felt that India should be allowed to rule its own destinies. This was finally won for India, but unfortunately it did not turn out just as Gandhi would have liked. His latest hunger strike was in protest against the strife that came about as a result of self-government being granted to India.

He had succeeded by his method in obtaining a settlement by an agreement to seek peaceable means of settling the dispute which was causing the strife, and he was still in a weakened condition as a result of his fast. It was while he was walking to his daily place of prayer that he was struck down by the assissin's bullets. It was in full view of thousands of people who had gathered to have prayer with the little man, and immediately rioting broke out with renewed force and the assassin was rescued by the police only after much difficulty. Fortunately the assassin is a Hindu and not a Moslem, or the spark of rioting might have been set off into a conflagration, even yet it is possible that great trouble may occur in this unsettled country.

Although we in the west may not understand Gandhi's methods and we may not have agreed with his ideas at all times, we cannot hide the fact that he wielded a great influence over the people of India and with this gone the most moderating force in India has been removed. As much as Gandhi was a nuisance and caused much unrest through his continual pleas for self-government, no one of the peoples of the western hemisphere desired the little man's death. Therefore there is as much sorrow in the western world over Gandhi's death as there is among his own people. He was a crusader on behalf of a large section, at least, of the people of India. Today he is a martyr. He has faced death on many occasions by his own doing and as many times he has recovered to carry on what he religiously believed was his good work. He was unable to overcome the fate that three bullets fired into his recently weakened body would bring. So today, the world mourns Gandhi as though he were a king, or a ruler, and certainly as a martyr to a cause.

The Fuel Oil Situation

THE large number of users of fuel oil have need for concern over the supply situation, perhaps not so much for the present season as for the next. The past cold spell has caused much more fuel to be burned than had been the case so far this winter and the cuts already implemented had decreased the supply and additional cuts will dwindle the stocks still further by the end of the winter season. Mr. Howe says that it is not likely that anyone will be without this winter, providing they are careful and their dealer has observed the government warning not to take on more customers than they can supply.

If the situation does not change, and Mr. Howe says he does not think it will, then conditions for next winter for fuel oil users are not very rosy. Certainly those considering oil burning equipment should make sure of their position before having same installed. Fortunately Canada does not depend too largely upon imports of oil, but there is a limit as to what can be supplied. Research work is going on all the time to find possible new oil locations and the recent find at Leduc has made a wonderful addition to the possibilities. We can only be guided by what we are told and then go slow on how much is burned. When mild spells come along conserve on the oil to build up for the time when all the heat is required.

"DID YOU HEAR A RUMBLE?"

What Makes Food Prices Go Up?

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

The high cost of living is one of the perennial problems of modern civilization. Indeed, it may be said to be one of the hall-marks of a progressive civilization, because it is an indication of rising standard of living. Usually when we speak of the cost of living we are thinking in terms of food, and most of the recent complaints have been about the increased cost of that item in the family budget.

Food, of course, is an important item, and because it is the one that immediately affects the pocket of the housewife, any rise in cost is at once noticed. The cost of other things can go up and little is said. There is no public protest, for instance, about the increased prices of clothing, furniture, household equipment, luxuries and amusements, all of which make up the total cost of living. The price of social entertainment or of a seat in a theatre or at a hockey match can go up a hundred per cent or more and no one seems to complain, but if the price of milk, butter, eggs, meat or vegetables goes up a few cents there is a general outcry of "profiteering."

What makes food prices go up? Who is profiteering? Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, dealing with these questions in a recent speech, analyzed the situation as follows: "Food starts on the farm, but before it reaches the housewife it passes through many hands and processes. First the manufacturer must buy from the farmers. According to Government figures he had to pay $2.65 in 1947 for farm products which cost him $1 in 1939. He had to pay $1.80 for the same amount of labor which cost him $1 in 1939. The product moves along through railroads, trucks, warehouses and retail stores. At each step the cost of doing business—for labor, materials, equipment—is up from 75 to 100 per cent.

"The profits of the manufacturer must, of course, be included. But although the manufacturer is the most abused suspect in the crime of high prices, his profit is one element of cost which, so far from increasing, has actually declined. In 1939 the food manufacturer averaged 4.6 cents profit on the sales dollar. In 1946 it was 3.9 cents, and in 1947 it will be 3.5 cents. The retailer averages about 1.5 cents. Thus the profits of the manufacturer and the retailer together total only five cents on the sales dollar. Suppose these profits were removed, how much difference would that make in the price of a can of beans? The can costs 16 cents. The housewife would save four-fifths of a cent!"

Mr. Willis pointed out that the Government was indirectly responsible for a large part of the high cost of food. "In the price of everything you buy," he said, "is a goodly sum for taxes paid to federal, state and local governments—chiefly the federal government—which take almost 28 per cent of the total income of the people. From the time the food leaves the farm everybody who handles it—farmer, manufacturer, railroad, trucker, retailer—must pay taxes; and these taxes at each step are added to the price of food. When the product reaches the retail store all these accumulated taxes are included in the final price."

The above facts and factors are usually overlooked in public discussions of the high cost of food. They go to explain what is called the "price-spread" between what the farmer receives for his product and what the consumer pays in the store. And there is still another item—hidden away, it is true, but there—Government subsidies. In 1946 these amounted, in the United States, to $1,694,000,000 of the food bill. "But," added Mr. Willis, "it showed up in your tax bill instead of your grocery bill. Thus we can see that no one segment of our economy is alone responsible for the high prices."

Letter to The Editor

Aubrey's Corners Farm Forum,
Dundee, Quebec,
January 26, 1948.

The Editor,
Huntingdon Gleaner,

Dear Sir:

In view of the many arguments in favour of lifting the ban on the manufacture of oleomargarine in Canada, we should like to present to the reading public a few of the highlights of a speech on this subject delivered by Mr. H. H. Hannam, President of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. This speech was presented to a Public Forum in the Ritz-Carleton Hotel, Montreal, on November 25, 1947. Unfortunately it received little or no publicity from the Montreal newspapers. We quote a few of the arguments set forth by Mr. Hannam.

"The prohibition of oleomargarine in Canada is not as extreme a measure of protection as some would have you believe. The fats and oils used in the manufacture of oleomargarine are brought freely into Canada. They are made into and sold as cooking fats. It is simply that these fats and oils are not permitted to be made into a spread and sold as a substitute for butter.

"Dairy farmers and many fair-minded people in responsible positions, genuinely fear that the introduction of margarine into our market would depress the butter industry. To what extent that would happen, no one can say positively. But when you depress the butter industry, which is the basic commodity in our dairy industry, you almost certainly depress the whole industry for the cheese producer, the milk producer who supplies city milk and the producer of milk for concentrated products — 500,000 of them across Canada.

"In such a situation, prices of dairy products could be ruined — depressed by 25, 33 or even 50 per cent. That serious decrease in purchasing power by more than half the farm families in Canada would be felt in business and industry in every city. Unquestionably it leads the way to dwindling sales, stagnation in business and unemployment. Conversely, Canadians know that strong and stable farm purchasing power is the best assurance for a thriving economy.

"This is the reasoning behind the judgment of thoughtful people, who believe that it may be best for Canadian people generally to have a sound and healthy dairy industry rather than to run the risk of undermining it with a substitute for butter.

"The price (of butter) was held low by deliberate government policy in order to direct more of our milk supply into cheese, principally for the people of the United Kingdom. Thus butter producers were penalized — and made a sacrifice — in order to support Canada's war effort and to keep our allies .... If dairy producers had had a satisfactory butter price, they could have produced plenty of butter for the Canadian people and there would have been no need of rationing.

"Senator Euler talks glibly about margarine at half the price of butter. No doubt he is thinking of oleomargarine at prices which prevailed for fats in the between-wars period. Prices of oils and fats used in margarine have jumped two, three and four hundred per cent. The price of shortening is at present about 31 cents a pound to the consumer. If margarine was made here, manufacturers would use some of those same fats for margarine instead of shortening. But our Federal government is still subsidizing the import of fats and oils. If such subsidies were discontinued now, the price of shortening would probably rise to 45 cents a pound. It costs more, we are told, to make margarine than to make shortening. If margarine was made today in Canada, without government subsidy, the price would in all probability be 50 cents a pound or more.

"Industry in Canada has asked for and has received a relatively high protective tariff. Quite the opposite is true of agriculture generally. It has not asked for nor received more than a relatively small measure of protection.

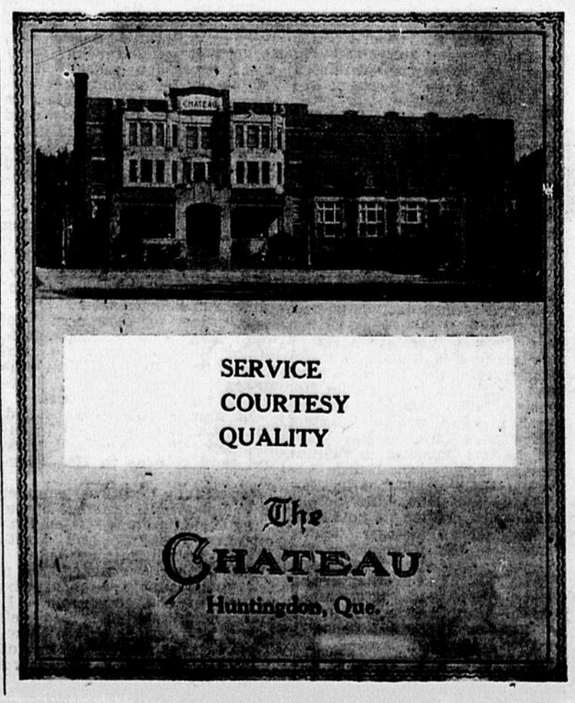

The low income family with say six children quite probably pays more money for protection on cotton dresses and inexpensive clothing than they do in any year as protection on butter.

"Senator Euler has emphasized a number of times his contention that the ban on oleomargarine denies citizens freedom of choice which they should have the right to enjoy. My answer to this is this: If I could take you out into the homes of three hundred and seventy thousand dairy farmers who produce cream for butter, in all provinces across Canada, and you could see how they live, how few conveniences they have on the average, you would probably not be carried away by Senator Euler's attractive slogan. One of the reasons why these tens of thousands of farm families have to do without many of these conveniences and comforts is because of high protection which industry enjoys, and because the price is beyond their ability to pay. How much freedom of choice have these people to get the things they want and need — most of them the things that you people in the city have and enjoy?"

We of this Farm Forum endorse these statements one hundred per cent and we hope that the consumer will realize that the dairy farmer is asking no more and much less than the labour unions and large industries.

Yours truly,
D. A. MacNaughton,
Corresponding Secretary

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

by the Canadian Press

Specially Written for
The Huntingdon Gleaner
BY KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, (CP)—The battle of the dollars—American dollars and how Canada should save them—was verbally fought out across the green-carpeted Commons chamber last week. After three days and some 100,000 words of argument, the government pushed its dollar-saving program through to approval in principle by an 84-70 vote by the weight of its House majority.

The opposition—Progressive Conservatives, C.C.F. and Social Credit alike—was solid against the administration's use of import restrictions as a U.S. currency saving measure. They charged the government was making Canada subservient to the United States; that the Dominion had been forced to go "cap in hand" to Washington to seek a $300,000,000 loan.

They said Trade Minister Howe—the man who will administer the program—was being given dictatorial powers. And they charged that Canada was being put back "under the yoke of controls" and unconstitutionally at that.

Finance Minister Abbott told the House the program had bolstered Canada's gold and dollar reserves by some $53,000,000 during the last month or so.

To charges that Canada was becoming subservient to Washington the minister said: "A nation which loses its exchange reserves loses its independence—there is no mistake about that."

The conservation bill now goes to committee for clause-by-clause study but the main obstacle—approval in principle—has been surmounted.

This week a new parliament battle began—the battle of rising prices. The first order of business in the new week was debate on the motion to establish an all-party parliamentary committee to investigate hoarding and profiteering in essential commodities.

The motion provided opportunity for a full-dress debate. Parliament got a preview last week as the opposition let go the odd blast against government policy in the prices field. There was criticism that parliamentary committee investigation was too slow. It was charged that this was merely a method of letting the government "get out from under" a bad situation which it had brought down on its own head.

There was another attack on Communism last week. Canada's top civil servant—L. B. (Mike) Pearson, undersecretary of state for external affairs—went to Toronto and told a few naked truths about the United Nations and what the Russians are doing there. Bluntly, the former Canadian representative in the councils of the U.N. said that discussion at Lake Success was "debased to the level of vilification" and "too often . . . tended to become an ideological brawl."

These were strong words. And he went further, criticizing the Soviet Union for its "irresponsible and selfish" enlargement of the Security Council veto "beyond anything contemplated when the charter was drafted."

Besides criticism of Russia, Mr. Pearson had a proposal.

One way out of the "veto-scarred" dilemma, he said, would be formation of a collective system for defence, within the U.N. charter, of all nations which wished to join. A "limited association for collective security" would not be an offensive and defensive alliance of the old type. It would be a "genuine pooling of resources, spiritual and material, for purposes of collective defence." It would exclude no state which did not exclude itself.

This, said Mr. Pearson, might save the U.N.

Up in Brockville, Ont., last week the Canadian Federation of Agriculture held its annual convention. And the Federation let it be known that the keys of peace may well be held by farmers, the men who feed the world. W. J. Parker, vice-president of C.F.A., said that through improved food production and distribution farmers could make a basic contribution towards world peace. Farming was bigger than just earning an income.

Delegates dealt with such contentious problems as a recommendation to eliminate speculation in coarse grains by making the wheat board sole marketing agent.

The C.F.A. also had something to say about rising profits. In a resolution it declared flatly that the onus of profiteering in foodstuffs was not on the farmer. Farmers were not getting the major benefits from price increases.

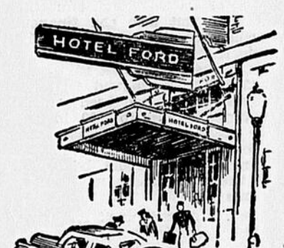

By resolution, the C.F.A. called for a continuation of freight assistance on feed grains and federal assistance to dairy farmers to obtain cost of production plus a "fair" margin of profit. The latter resolution said this could be brought about by continuation of the ban on margarine and establishment of a floor price for butter.

The Federation also asked removal of the ban on export of cattle to the United States; and a floor price on eggs and poultry in keeping with costs of production.

The C.F.A. will present its resolutions to the government in the form of a brief outlining what farmers want.

Canada, whose thousands of square miles are thinly spread with only about 12,500,000, was out last week to do something about bringing displaced persons from starving Europe faster. Trade Minister Howe disclosed the government plans four trans-Atlantic flights daily for DPs within a few months to bring 160 DPs to Canada's shores every day by air. The government-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines will carry out the air shuttle service.

The government hopes to have 22,000 DPs in Canada by May. Some 8,000 of this quota have already arrived by ship to jobs in textile, lumber and mining industries and as domestics.

RECIPES

CUSTARD SMOOTH AS VELVET

Custard in some form is included in the cook books of every land. Eggs and milk are two staple foods so they naturally have been used together since the earliest days of cooked foods.

Custards are divided into two classes, soft, or "boiled" custard and baked custard. Boiled custard is badly named as it must never be allowed to boil. Curdling is caused by cooking at too high a temperature or for too long. This type of custard is best when cooked over hot but not boiling water and it must be stirred constantly. As soon as a smooth coating covers a silver spoon the custard is cooked and should be removed from the fire and poured into a cold bowl or the pan in which it has cooked, set into a container of cold water. If the custard does curdle it should be beaten quickly with a dover egg beater.

One half tablespoon of corn starch may replace one of the eggs, thus aiding in preventing curdling as well as extending eggs.

Soft custard is often known as Custard Sauce since it is frequently used as a sauce with cold desserts.

Firm or baked custard is much like soft custard and the tendency to over cook it or cook too quickly must be guarded against. Baking at too high temperature results in a honey-combed mixture on top with considerable water in the bottom. The test for baked custard is the reverse of that for soft custard. A silver or stainless steel knife inserted in the centre of the custard should come out clean if the custard is cooked. If not cooked particles of egg mixture will cling to the knife.

Many so called bread and cereal puddings are actually custard puddings since the main ingredients are milk and eggs.

The following recipes for custards come from the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Tapioca Cream

¼ cup fine tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
1/3 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg white

Cook tapioca with salt and milk in top of double boiler, 10 minutes or until transparent. Add 3 tablespoons sugar. Add a small amount of hot mixture to well beaten egg yolk. Combine with mixture in double boiler. Add vanilla. Cook 10 minutes. Beat egg white until stiff, add remaining sugar, beat well and fold into hot custard. Serve warm or well chilled. Six servings.

Children's Delight

4 slices bread
4 tablespoons peanut butter
3 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup raisins

Spead slices of bread with a blend of the butters. Cut into cubes and place in a buttered baking dish. Combine the salt, milk, eggs and brown sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Add the raisins and pour custard over bread crumbs. Set in a pan of water and oven-poach in a moderate oven 350°F., for 1 hour. Six servings.

Caramel Custard Pie

1/3 cup sugar
1/3 cup boiling water
3 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
2¼ cups hot milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat sugar in a heavy pan until melted and golden brown. Stir in the boiling water and cook until sugar is dissolved and syrup slightly thickened, about 5 minutes. Beat eggs slightly, add salt and vanilla and gradually stir in the hot milk. Add caramel syrup, strain and pour into a nine-inch pie plate lined with uncooked pastry. Bake in a hot oven 450°F. for 15 minutes. Then reduce the heat to 325°F, and bake until custard is set, about 25 minutes.

Watch Those Syphon Hoses On Plumbing Fixtures

The water supply outlet should never be below the flood level of plumbing fixtures, warns the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating. Any rubber tubing such as a shampoo hose, vegetable sprayer, or laundry tub extension, should be used with care and never left connected.

This is to prevent the possibility of back siphonage which is a continual threat in the home. Under certain circumstances the water supply will flow in reverse in the water mains of the home. This will cause a temporary vacuum or suction in the lines. Most people no doubt have had the experience of turning on the faucet and obtaining no water, only a hollow sucking noise.

Under these circumstances, if the outlet were below the surface of the water in the bathtub or basin, the impure water in the fixture would be drawn into the supply lines, polluting the pure water. As back-siphonage may be caused by the flow of water from another faucet in the home, possibly to obtain water for drinking purposes, the danger to health is apparent.

Modern fixtures such as bathtubs, laundry tubs, and basins are constructed with the faucet well above the level of the overflow. However, many householders make extensive use of hose extensions, outlet of which frequently lies below the surface of the water in the fixture. This is a dangerous practice which may endanger the health of the family, warns the Institute.

Letter of Thanks From Junior Red Cross Director

ATHELSTAN—The following letter of thanks has been received by the Intermediate School, Atheletan, from the Junior Red Cross Director, Mrs. Ruth B. Shaw.

January 15, 1948

Master Neil Gray, Sec.,
Junior Red Cross, Gr. 1-5,
Intermediate School,
Athelstan, Que.

Dear Neil:

I do want to thank you for that grand donation you sent in at Christmas time. Do thank the girls very much for doing such lovely knitting and sewing. The washcloths, red scarf, yellow mitts, pink bonnet and bootees, and rose cap with mitts to match were just grand and will certainly be practical gifts for boys, girls and babies overseas. The hankies, which you hemmed so well, nightie, and jacket with pink border were just splendid! Three cheers for good work! Many thanks, too, for those used shoes. They will be most useful.

Those scrap books with Christmas cards and pictures in them are just grand and just about the right size for the children to hold on their laps in bed. Those games, and that lovely stuffed pink horse are splendid gifts for children and will amuse them for ages. Those puzzles for the troops are always good gifts as they enjoy working them out and passing them on to other soldiers to do, and love to get all you can save.

Again, many thanks and I do want to wish you all the best for 1948.

Yours sincerely,
Ruth B. Shaw,
Director.

Photographs Now On Display

A display of some rather impressive photography by the Bell Studio of 88 Wellington St., has been seen in the window of Dr. Geo. Lefebvre's downtown office during the past few days. The display features a variety of mounted portraits in various sizes and includes a pleasing child's portrait, hand coloured in oils.

Mr. Bell has informed us that he is equipped to handle a wide range of photographic services but that he intends to specialize in portraits, especially of children.

The community has been in need of a complete photographic service such as this for some time and the studio should find many friends amongst those of us who appreciate truly good photography.

Specially Written for The Huntingdon Gleaner By JACK McNEIL

As funeral-pyre flames consumed the body of India's saintly apostle of peace and unity, Mohandas K. Gandhi—slain last Friday by bullets from an assassin's gun—expressions of mourning were voiced in all parts of the world and an uneasy India braced herself in fear of riots among Hindus, Sikhs and Moslems.

On Saturday, Gandhi's body was borne five miles—through masses of humanity which trampled on women and children to view the bier—to the bank of the sacred Jumna River where it was laid on a pile of sandalwood logs, blanketed with flowers in keeping with Hindu tradition, and set afire by the hand of his son Devadas.

Meanwhile, police kept in hiding—to forestall mob vengeance—a 25-year-old Hindu who gave his name as Narayan Vinayak Gadse of Poona.

The man, said to have been actuated by political motives, was held without bail pending investigation of the assassination, which was witnessed by hundreds. Gandhi was shot with a pistol in the chest and one leg as he walked into the garden of Birla House—the mansion in New Delhi in which he was a guest—to conduct a prayer meeting.

Throughout the world, leaders expressed shock and grief at the slaying of the man who believed in non-violence to win reforms and who devoted his life to harmonizing the ancient animosities which have split India into communal camps ravaged by periodic rioting and murder.

From London, British Prime Minister Attlee paid tribute to the famed 78-year-old father of Indian independence and upper-caste Hindu.

"I am certain his spirit will continue to animate his fellow countrymen and will plead for peace and concord," said Attlee in a special broadcast. He described Gandhi as "one of the outstanding figures in the world today."

In Washington, President Truman also paid tribute, and in South Africa Premier Jan Christian Smuts described Gandhi as "one of the great men of my time." Messages of profound sorrow poured into India from Russia, China and many other nations.

In newspapers throughout the world, epitaphs looked as much to the future as to the past, as in this comment from the Times of London:

"The power of Mr. Gandhi's memory and example has now to be tested; and the stake is the future of India and Pakistan alike."

Even as the flames mounted on the banks of the holy Jumna, repercussions of the tragic death were felt at opposite ends of the earth.

At Lake Success, New York, United Nations' efforts to settle the India-Pakistan dispute over Kashmir State were suspended. An Indian spokesman said his delegation was making no move pending instructions from New Delhi.

"If your whole country should go up in flames," he said, "there would be little use in arguing a case before the Security Council."

In Bombay and Poona grief-maddened crowds, shouting "burn them out," exploded in sudden scenes of violence as minute-by-minute radio descriptions of the Mahatma's funeral boomed from loudspeakers set up in the streets.

The crowds attacked the Hindu Mahasabha—extremist Hindu political organization advocating communalism—to which Gandhi's alleged assassin at one time belonged. Bombay police armed with sten guns patrolled the tense streets as industrial and business life came to a complete standstill.

The United Nations has been informed that no Jewish or Arab militias can be organized in Palestine while Britain retains control

This statement came in a blunt declaration of British policy on partition of the Holy Land, made late Friday by Sir Alexander Cadogan before the U.N. Palestine commission.

Other points made by Sir Alexander in response to a series of questions put to him by the commission were:

1. Britain would not look with favor on a commission decision to arrive in Palestine more than two weeks before termination of the British mandate. This is now scheduled for May 15.

2. Britain would not accept responsibility for safety of the commission if it arrived earlier.

3. Britain could not comply with the general assembly's recommendation that the administration of Palestine be turned over to the commission piecemeal. The entire administration would be transferred on the day the mandate is ended, Sir Alexander said.

This meant the U.N. would not be allowed to organize any military force in Palestine until the day the mandate terminated, but would find itself responsible on that same day for defence of the Holy Land. Observers commented that this raised obstacles which would make it difficult, if not impossible, for the commission to carry out the partition plan.

Friday night in Dayton, Ohio, a man who gave wings to the world—Orville Wright, co-inventor with his brother Wilbur of the airplane—passed away in his sleep under an oxygen tent. At the age of 76, Wright succumbed to a lung and heart disease, 44 years after he and his brother test-flew the first flimsy plane.

Women at Work!

The Canadian Association of Women Voters have sponsored meetings at Y.M.C.A. Montreal on the question of Cost of Milk. On January 27th Mr. William Aird of Dominion Dairies (Elmhurst) presented the case of Montreal Milk Dealers. He stated that it required the sale of ten quarts of milk to produce a profit of one cent. That of the consumer's milk price per quart the Producer receives 62½%; Labor 23.-6%; operation costs 10.3%; depreciation 1.5% with profit 6-10th of 1% per quart bottle.

Maintenance of volume distribution was a necessity and as increases in price lowered volume, dealers therefore opposed price increases. "We are as worried as you are about high prices. Ours is a mass market depending on a high volume of consumption, so that the more we sell, the better it is for us and the farmer," declared Mr. Aird.

A lively discussion was entered into by the women who showed familiarity with Report of the Ontario Royal Commission on Milk and fluency in debate. In fact Mr. Aird was subjected to a rigid cross-examination on many points.

Mrs. Geo. Goodwin, who took part in the Radio Citizens' Forum the previous week, asked Mr. Aird why if the dealers were satisfied with their price they accepted more spread in January.

"We were prepared to carry on so long as the price didn't go up because our volume would remain. When the price was raised our sales did go down", he replied.

Miss Madeline Sheridan brought up the question of lack of uniform accounting methods to obtain figures on distributors' costs as revealed in the Ontario Report. Mr. Aird agreed that there was difficulty in this regard but he would be glad to sit down and help discover a better method if one can be found.

The set-up of the Quebec Dairy Commission was attacked by a woman speaker. She claimed that the commission was established in 1934, at a time of surplus and low prices, to help producers. Now that the Consumer is the one being squeezed this legislation should be revised. "A Government body that sets prices should be composed of successful industrialists, good citizens and leaders...."

Mr. Aird refused to offer criticism of the Dairy Board, but claimed the Distributors have been the "buffer between the Consumer and Producer at all times to maintain as low a price as we possibly can to the consumer."

Asked if the Quebec Dairy Commission had authority to inquire into the accounting systems Mr. Aird replied: "I am not going to criticize the Q.D.C. or any Provincial Board but I think they are definitely trying to do a good job. I think they need more information than they have got and are trying to get it.

In the form of a question, a suggestion was made that all price setting at the consumer level be withdrawn and distributors should cease to be protected.

Mr. Aird said this method would not work as it was the one in operation before the appointment of a Control Board. A price was agreed upon between producers and distributors; some dealers would not pay it and price cutting to producers resulted.

"I do not believe in a fixed price at any place. I will take my chance in an open market and open selling price", declared Mr. Aird.

Mr. John Dickson, President of Montreal Milk Producers' Association, presented the Producers' side of the question at a meeting of the Association of Women Voters on February 2nd.

FOR OLEOMARGARINE: After making a detailed study of this matter, the Canadian Association of Women Voters (Mrs. Pierre Casgrain Pres.) have addressed a memorandum to the Federal Government in favor of the manufacture of this product.

AGAINST: Montreal Provision Trades Association of the Montreal Board of Trade have issued a four page report on Oleo. giving the main features of the argument "for and against". They state:

"Our members believe that present situation is caused by a world wide shortage of foods and especially grains, and one or two good world harvests would bring relief, but in the present temporary emergency to make a revolutionary change in the economy of the Dairy Industry would have disastrous effects both in the Dairy Industry and the general economy of the country . . There are some 500,000 Dairy Farmers in Canada engaged in an industry contributing over 400 millions of dollars to the national income and to depress the standard of living of this large portion of population, together with their families, could not fail to have a far reaching effect on their ability to purchase manufactured goods."

Chairman of Lever Bros. in London estimated world shortage of oils and fats at 4 million tons annually to continue for some years.

"It would appear that the efforts to legalize the manufacture and sale of Margarine in Canada resolve into trying to have a product for which the raw materials are not available now and when the day comes that these raw materials are available other products including butter will also be in full supply at a relative price.

All these matters were given close consideration by our members and they have unanimously placed themselves on record as being opposed to the removal of the ban on the manufacture and sale in Canada of margarine at this time.

Montreal Milk Producers Co-operative Association Annual Meeting takes place on the 9th floor of Mount Royal Hotel, Saturday, Feb. 7th, at 10 a.m. The Directors' Report for the year reveals the steps taken towards securing a raise in price on Montreal market to $4.10 on January 14th, 15 cents below the amount requested.

An addition to the new plant at Notre Dame St. W. is being constructed. Over 45 million lbs. of milk were handled in the two Surplus plants last year and an average price of 75.8 cents per lb. B.F. paid. 27,659 cheques and money orders were issued in payment for surplus to producers, totaling $1,268,755.33, which is about 8% of the quantity of milk for which the Association negotiates the price.

DISPOSAL OF SURPLUS MILK Under this heading in the Report of Ontario Royal Commission on milk, Mr. Justice Wells urgently recommends cooperative handling by the producers. He mentions the Montreal Milk Producers Association and two others that look after their own surplus and adds that the average returns from surplus milk in these Associations "have been very materially increased". He goes on to say "if producers as a class do not so further extend their organization, I see little hope for improvement in their economic position. They are always going to be selling in a buyer's market."

The Canadian Association of Women Voters is a re-organization of the former League for Women's Votes, Citizens' Forum and others. It is non-partisan and formed on a broad concept to include activities and studies calculated to inform the members and other of their political responsibilities.

The Research Committee of the Association, with Mrs. Hickey as Chairman, have studied the subject of Milk and have been enlightened by perusal of published reports of various Commissions and by visits to Montreal Dairies. Mrs. Geo. Garneau, vice-president, was in the Chair at the meeting addressed by Mr. Aird, who was accompanied by Major-General C. B. Price. Mr. Aird congratulated the women on their effort to find out facts instead of relying on snap judgments.

Mr. Nelson Elliott, of Sir George Williams College, questioned Mr. Aird upon the financial set-up of Dominion Dairies. In answer to a question Mr. Aird stated there was no connection between his company and Borden Company.

St. Andrew's United Church Annual Congregational Meeting

The annual congregational meeting of St. Andrew's United Church was held in the church hall, on Monday night, with the minister, Rev. D. R. Morrison, presiding.

During the year important changes have taken place. Rev. A. McK. Rose who had been pastor for 12 years accepted an appointment, in September, to Stanstead, and in December, the Rev. D. R. Morrison was inducted. Both occasions were marked with ceremonies befitting their importance and dignity.

The reports of the various church organizations followed.

The W.A., under the president, Mrs. Ernest Smith, reported a successful year, having raised $1,321.02. Of this $200 had been given to the Managers and $100 towards the Manse Debt Fund.

In the W.M.S., Mrs. A. McK. Rose was president until September, when the work was carried on by the vice-president, R. McFarlane. The Baby Band Supt., Miss Mary Gardner reported progress, $20.35 being sent to Presbyterial. The W.M.S. Treasurer, Mrs. E. R. Richardson reported having sent $218.28 to Presbyterial.

Lee Gilbert reported an average attendance of 40 in the Sunday School, and expressed appreciation for the faithful services rendered by Miss Elinor Watt, as pianist. Officers for the year are, D. H. Reid, Supt.; Ronald Sherman, Treas.; Lee Gilbert, Sec'y.

Mr. David Reid gave the report for the Board of Stewards and Mr. I. W. Gilbert, Treasurer, presented the financial statement. Mr. E. R. Richardson reported for the Board of Trustees.

The Clerk of the Session, Mr. Norman Ashley reported that during the year 17 members had been added to the church, 6 of whom joined on profession of faith. There were 6 births, 6 marriages and 5 deaths. There were 74 families and a membership of 140.

Tributes were paid to all the church organizations for their excellent work during the year.

In welcoming the new organist and choir director, Mrs. H. Rowell, who succeeded Mrs. A. McK. Rose, the Session assured her of the united loyalty and support of the congregation.

Although Mr. Morrison has been minister for a short time, he reviewed the work that had been done. Calls have been made on approximately 75 families. The teenage boys have been organized into a club with officers duly elected and a junior group along the lines of the Tuxis Square. The teen-age girls have been organized into a C.G.I.T. Group, under the leadership of Mrs. Donald Morrison. Steps are being taken to form a Young People's Union.

Officials for 1948 are as follows: Session: Rev. Donald Morrison, Chairman; N. R. Ashley, Clerk; T. M. Yarnell, W. J. Reid and N. McGlashan, Representatives to Presbytery, W. J. Reid, Elder and G. W. Horsnell, Layman.

Three new members were appointed to the Committee of Stewards, replacing three whose term of office automatically expired: Stewards—I. W. Gilbert, John Wright, E. N. Suckling, J. H. Murphy, Wm. Yarnell, Norman Goodale, Gerald Adams, Robert McFettridge and Kenneth Smith. Trustees—L. A. Hay, E. R. Richardson and T. Leslie Cameron who was appointed to replace Irven Watt, whose resignation was received with regret. Organist and Choir Director, Mrs. H. Rowell. The meeting closed with prayer and refreshments were served by the members of the Women's Association.

THE LATE CARL E. EWING

The community was saddened and shocked at the passing, on Wednesday morning, January 28, of the late Carl E. Ewing at his residence in Powerscourt, Que. The deceased had been in poor health for several months and had suffered much during that time.

Mr. Ewing was well known in the municipality of Elgin, where he had been Secretary-Treasurer of the Council and School Board for 44 years.

Mr. Ewing, who was a most successful farmer of this district, took a keen interest in all public affairs. He was a home-loving man, a man of great integrity, who was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He was of a kind and generous disposition, a man who was ever ready to lend a helping hand, the kind of man who will be greatly missed in his community and among his friends.

Carl Ewing was born on October 6, 1882, in Powerscourt, the son of David W. Ewing and Wardina L. Johnson. After completing the studies at the home school, he attended the Huntingdon Academy. Later, as stated, he was employed as Secretary-Treasurer of the municipality, in which position he served very efficiently.

He was married to Margaret J. Bush on December 7, 1904, who survives to mourn his loss. His loss is also mourned by two sisters, Mrs. H. C. Suter of Daytona Beach, Florida, and Miss Bertha R. Ewing, presently living in New York City.

Funeral services were held on Friday, January 30th, in Powerscourt United Church, conducted by his pastor, Rev. W. W. Conrad, who gave a very fitting service. Interment followed in the Powerscourt Cemetery.

Praise G. McMillan For Stand Margarine Question

FRANKLIN CENTRE—Farmers in the county of Huntingdon should be proud to have in their midst a man like Mr. Gilbert McMillan to look after their interests. Anyone who read his weekly article in the Ottawa Farm Journal, Jan. 23rd on Oleomargarine could not help but be impressed by the straight facts and consequences about raising the ban on "Oleo." If this article could be re-printed in every paper in the land and read and used by our Member in the House, a new light might be thrown on this matter. A letter to the Editor of the O.F.J., from R. M. Dewan, Ingersoll, Jan. 27, states his appreciation of this article and claims for the first time, the case against "Oleo" has been stated in plain economic facts.

Candlemas Day dawned dull and cloudy so let us hope it means a shorter and milder winter from now on.

Mr. Ralph Johnston returned home Wednesday night from Montreal General Hospital. He intends to return to Montreal, for further treatment, if necesary, in about two weeks.

Lieut. and Mrs. Farrell Lapres left Sunday, for Halifax, after spending a three-week leave with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Leahy and Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Lapres at Montreal West.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKinnon, of Massena, N.Y., and Mrs. Gordon Pitt, of Montreal, spent the week end with Mrs. Chas. Dickenson, Mrs. McKinnon intends spending this week with her mother.

The past week has been very cold, but Friday seems to have been the coldest as yet, for this reason the Consolidated School was closed on Friday.

THE NATION'S BUSINESS
by ottawa observer

Parliament re-opened quietly last week in spite of many threats of fireworks by opposition leaders. The problem of inflation and consequent high prices was debated at length in the address in reply to the speech from the throne. Socialist (C.C.F.) leader Coldwell took a strong stand against the establishment of a parliamentary committee on prices. He followed the usual socialist line of depreciating the value of parliament and favouring more authoritarian action. It is noted here with interest that his strongest statement against the value of a parliamentary committee was made in a statement outside the House. The leader of the official (P.C.) opposition agreed to cooperate in the work of the parliamentary committee.

The Canadian Farmer

All observers here watched closely last week's twelfth annual conference of the Canadian Council of Agriculture at Brockville, Ontario. Two hundred agricultural delegates from all parts of Canada endorsed the wheat marketing plan of the Federal government. Other resolutions supported a stabilizing program for agriculture of which the British food contracts are a part.

The proceedings of the agricultural meetings has had a sobering effect on many in politically minded circles in the capital city. Those particularly in the C.C.F. party who called so loudly for controlled "low" food prices, and scoffed at the suggestion that these bore any relation of costs of manufactured goods, are more careful in their statements. The moderation shown in the resolutions from the Canadian Council of Agriculture and in the address of Mr. H. H. Hannam has made a deep impression. It could well be used as a model for many labour leaders and some industrialists to follow. The resolutions are to be finally prepared for presentation to the government. These are being watched for with keen interest.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner represented the government in addressing the conference.

Echoes from Parliament

As the House opens—a committee to deal with prices.

Mr. Mackenzie King: . . . The purpose of the government in proposing a committee of this house to investigate matters pertaining thereto is evidence of the fact that we have felt very strongly that that matter should receive the fullest investigation possible. That being so, may I say to my hon. friend that I can see no reason why that committee might not be appointed within a fortnight. If in his opinion that is too long a time, I will make it a week.

Mr. Bracken: That is too long.

Mr. Mackenzie King: The difficulty in part is in getting the names of the members for the different committees. . . . If, within a week is agreeable to hon. members, I shall bring forward a motion to institute the committee to which I have already made reference in public. Hon. members will thereby be enabled to discuss the question of the high cost of living and of prices very fully on the motion itself . . . .

Mr. Graydon: Not of the last subject, if you set up the committee first.

Mr. Mackenzie King: No one is thinking of setting up that committee for the purpose of restricting discussion. It is a committee to help to throw light on that very important question. The government will be governed from that point of view.

Mr. Graydon: We have heard that before.

Mr. Mackenzie King: I hope in these circumstances, Mr. Speaker, it will be possible for the house to agree on the motion which is before us.

Scout Troop Re-organized At Lacolle

LACOLLE—There is a movement on foot to re-establish the 1st. Lacolle Boy Scout Troop, and to date the reception given the plan by the local citizens is very encouraging. Mr. W. E. The congregational meeting of the United Church was held in the Sunday School room Monday night, January 26, 1948. Reports were received from all organizations and in most cases a good balance was shown. The total receipts for the year were $3,242. In May a legacy of five hundred dollars from the estate of the late Mr. H. Walton Van Vliet was received by the church and also one for the same amount was received by the Sunday School. The Sunday School used two hundred dollars of this amount to have their rooms redecorated in Memory of Mr. Van Vliet who, during his lifetime was a faithful member and regular attendant of the Sunday School. For many years Mr. Van Vliet was Superintendent of the Sunday School and Bible Class teacher.

Train Fireman Suffers Injury

ROXHAM—An accident which could have been fatal, occurred on Sunday evening, when the Hemmingford train, returning from Montreal on its Sunday evening schedule, stopped at St. Isadore Jct., to take a supply of water. Fireman Ernest Fewster climbed up on the tender to take the water, reached for the water pipe and accidentally slipped and fell to the tracks below. Engineer Halton Kennedy, looking out of his window, saw Ernest staggering on the ground, jumping down to find Ernest was severely cut over the right eye. Taking him into one of the coaches, they proceeded to St. Remi, and from there Ernest was taken by ambulance to the Royal Victoria Hospital, where it was necessary to use seven clamps to close the wound. He remained in the hospital for the past week, but is feeling much better at time of writing.

Canada Life Assurance Co. in Sound Position

TORONTO,—At the present time the Canada Life is in the strongest position in its history, stated E. G. Baker, President, who presided at the Company's 101st Annual Meeting. Mr. Baker said he had not the slightest doubt the Company would meet the challenges of the future in the same manner as the problems of the past century had been overcome.

E. C. Gill, vice-president and general manager, reported to the meeting that 1947 was a banner year in new business and the increase in business on the books. Net new premium income for assurances and annuities (excluding single premiums) amounted to over $3.7 millions—almost double the average of the past 10 years.

Assurances on the books amounted to $1,096 millions, a gain of over $94 millions. For the second consecutive year this gain was equal to nearly 80% of the new insurance sold.

Policy payments during last year were $24½ millions including over $15 millions to living policyholders.

An analysis of the Company's income dollar showed 74 4/5c arising from premium payments and 25 1/5c earned on investments. 85 3/5c of each income dollar was either paid to policy holders or their beneficiaries, or invested for them to provide for contractual payments to which they will become entitled in the future.

Mortality experience was the best for many years. Over half the deaths resulted from diseases of the heart and circulatory system.

The interest rate earned for 1947 was 3.81% compared with 3.9% the year previously.

Earnings on mortgages assisted in minimizing the decline in the interest rate. New urban mortgage loans in 1947 almost doubled those of 1946 and assistance was provided in the building of some 2700 new homes.

Mr. Gill dealt with the question of price levels and commented that there could be no real solution to this problem without more and more production of goods and services. "If we can have a true spirit of co-operation between government, labour and industry, there is every reason to anticipate that the all important balance between purchasing power and the supply of commodities will be restored."

The dangers which might result from an indefinite period of ultra low interest rates such as have existed in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom for the past two years were described and it was pointed out if such rates were more attractive, capital outlay for greater production would be induced.

High Class Holsteins Shipped to Argentina

One of the highest quality shipments of Holsteins ever to leave Canada was the select group of 8 head that have just left Malton Airport for Buenos Aires. A three day trip will see the three bulls and five heifers that comprise the shipment grazing on the pampas.

One of the headliners in the group is Glenafton L. Milady Dutchland purchased from J. J. E. McCague, Alliston, Ontario. This heifer was Reserve All-American Heifer Calf in 1946. She is sired by Abegweit Showdown, he a son of the World Champion 305 day producer and her dam is one of the best daughters of Montvic Rag Apple Marksman, All-Canadian Aged Bull for the past several years and Grand Champion at the recent Royal Winter Fair.

Another top animal is the bull Eglantiers Emperor Monogram purchased from H. L. Guilbert, Vercheres, Que. His sire Montvic Emperor Ajax was Senior and Grand Champion at the Quebec Provincial Exhibition, Ormstown and Lachute fairs this year, and he, Ajax, is out of the 1,000 lb. Grand Champion cow Montvic Meg Empress. The dam of this bull calf is Maud Pietje Monogram, who topped the National Holstein Sale in 1943. Still another headliner is the bull Sprucehaven Farm Rag Apple Prince secured from S. J. Hammond & Son, St. Paul's Station, Ontario. "Prince" as a son of Glenafton Rag Apple Diamond, one of the top bulls in the shipment to Britain last year at $6,500. The other bull, Vinedale Joe Chieftain, is also a richly bred individual, he being sired by Osborndale Sir Johanna Rag Apple, a double grandson of Johanna Rag Apple Pabst, foundation sire of the Rag Apple family in Canada.

From Premier J. Walter Jones, Charlottetown, P.E.I. came the heifer Abegweit Curlicue whose sire Abegweit Capitaine has been three times Grand Champion at Charlottetown Exhibition and whose dam Abegweit Preview was a first prize winner at Charlottetown in 1944 and 1945.

The other three heifers are Ebydale Snow Lassie, purchased from Edwin S. Eby & Son, Kitchener, who is a daughter of Ebydale Sir Kerk Snow, the first prize Aged Bull and Reserve Senior Champion at the Brantford Championship Show last fall; Thames Crest Susie Pabst, a daughter of Montvic Commander secured from E. J. Meagher, Oakville; Smith Haven Rag Apple Marcia whose dam is a daughter of Montvic Rag Apple Achilles, All-Canadian Junior Yearling bull in 1942 and whose sire Woodside Rag Apple Sovereign was a first prize winner at the 1948 Stratford Championship Show. The dam of Woodside Rag Apple Sovereign is Jemima Claremont Ruth, Canadian champion for 305 day lifetime production on twice-a-day milking.

The five heifers were purchased by Alejandro Bustillo, Buenos Aires, the Guilbert bull by Rafael Pereyra Iraola, Buenos Aires and the other two bulls by Jose Maria Bustillo, Buenos Aires. They were assembled and shipped by International Livestock Exporters, Oakville. This is the fourth air shipment that International Livestock Exporters have made to Argentine since early in November, all four groups consisting of a total of 44 head.

Farm Forum

HERDMAN GROUP

The Herdman Farm Forum met on Monday evening, February 2nd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace. An interesting discussion following the broadcast, "Efficient Use of Farm Income". It was felt that while young couples should not saddle themselves with a heavy debt to carry for life neither should they do without the modern conveniences that make for better living conditions if it is at all within their power of obtaining them. Enjoy these aids while you may, for if you work yourself into an early grave to pay off a mortgage and do without articles that should cut work in half, it is certain that they will bring little enjoyment to you when you are dead. If the price of these conveniences were more within reach of the farmer's pocketbook, he would have less worry about purchasing them.

Games were played and delicious refreshments served by the hostess brought the evening to a close.

Covey Hill

COVEY HILL—Sometimes a social reporter is uncertain when to apply Master or Mr. to a masculine name. An Ottawa authority, considered something of an oracle on such matters, says that a boy under 12 is to be designated as "Master John Smith", a boy of high school age as plain "John Smith", and a young man old enough to attend university as "Mr. John Smith".

Another friendly calendar has come to friends of Mr. W. W. Perry, of Vancouver, carrying a picture of "Motor Vessel Caribou I", provided by Gault Bros., wholesale dry goods firm, for Mr. Perry's trip along the coastal waters of B. C., including the west coast of Vancouver Island and the Queen Charlotte Island. The crew comprises captain, engineer and cook, and there is a spacious sample room. The boat is 74 feet long, has a Diesel engine and radio-telephone equipment and supplies lumbermen, fishermen and miners in otherwise inaccessible places. Bill Perry is another successful Covey Hill "Old boy".

Mr. E. R. Lowden was a visitor in Ormstown last Monday.

Friends of the Champlain Simpsons are pleased to hear that Miss Margaret Simpson's condition is somewhat improved of late.

Mr. Elliott Whyte spent the weekend at his home in Roxham vicinity.

Due to bad weather, only a small number of pupils were able to attend school on Monday and school closed on Friday.

STUDENT SPENDING

MONTREAL, (CP)—A poll of student organizations of McGill University has revealed that students spend some $160,000 a year in campus recreational activities.

Violinist Who Plays Here Acclaimed by Critics

Leona Flood, violinist, who is being presented in recital on Friday, February 27th at the O'Connor Theatre by the Huntingdon Youth Association, is the latest young American artist to attract the attention of critics and music lovers. Born in Spokane, Wash., Miss Flood made her concert debut in Oslo, Norway, and played throughout Europe and Australia before coming back to the states at the outbreak of war. Miss Flood has been for the last two years playing recitals from coast to coast, and has everywhere met with acclaim from press and public.

When this very beautiful and gifted young girl played in New York, at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, Miles Kastendieck (Brooklyn Eagle, Feb. 19th, 1945) wrote as follows: "Leona Flood plays the violin with freshness and forthrightness. Her chief asset is a beautiful, full-bodied tone which has the requisite intensity and resonance. Her technic is accomplished. Works like Vitali's Chaconne and Paganini's Concerto in D held no terrors for her. Chopin's E minor Waltz and Novacek's Moto Perpetuo, she tossed off with style and temperament . . . a talented player."

In Minneapolis, John K. Sherman (Star Journal, Jan. 12, 1945) said: "Leona Flood, a brilliant young violinist, brought out what looked like the entire membership of the Thursday Musical . . . The program focused attention on the gifts of the young and attractive Miss Flood, exhibited in such fare as the Paganini D major concerto, the Chausson Poeme, a suite by Cyril Scott, and Ravel's Tzigane. Her playing had fire, personality, a fast-fingered skill that devoured difficult detail with assurance and fluency . . The Paganini concerto . . requiring terrific skill (was) of musical interest to brother and sister fiddlers in the audience . . Miss Flood took all its rococo in stride . . . keeping the devilish minutiae in line and proportion throughout . . ."

Holstein Secretary Criticizes R.O.P.

G. M. Clemons, Secretary-Manager of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, criticized the Record of Peformance Branch of the Dominion Department of Agri-Banquet of the Brant Holstein Club held in Brantford, January 17. Said Mr. Clemons, "The federal government is not maintaining enough staff to give the service that the volume of R.O.P. testing requires. They do not even keep enough clerks to issue certificates promptly after the records are completed. This failure on the part of the R.O.P. Department to expand in keeping with the needs of the cattle industry seems inexcusable. If adequate supervision were available hundreds of additional herds throughout the Dominion would be placed to test. The information obtained from R.O.P. records is needed to improve the quality of our Canadian dairy cattle and to back our claims to superiority in the international market. One of the biggest stumbling-blocks to the future progress of the dairy cattle industry in Canada is the inability of the R.O.P. Department to keep pace with the demands for its services."

1929 Gas Prices are Up — 1948 but MOTORCOACH FARES ARE STILL THE SAME!

IT'S a record in these days of rising costs . . . our FARES IN CANADA are still the same as in the 1920's!

For nineteen years we have absorbed increasing costs (gas, tires, rolling stock, repair parts, labour, etc.), without increasing fares to the public!

Careful efficiency, coupled with enormous growth in the number of people carried by motorcoach, has made this possible . . . and travellers in Canada benefit today.

Motorcoach fares are approximately ⅓ the cost of driving your own car, and noticeably less than those of other public transportation!

So, travel by motorcoach. See more! Save more! Enjoy the convenience and comfort of modern de luxe coaches!

Movies

The movie for next Saturday is titled "King of the Wild Horses" and should prove to be another humdinger! Last week's picture, "The Mighty Treve of Arizona" was all about a pet dog and next Saturday's film promises to be another special for children.

Following is the H.Y.A. weekly program and should be followed closely.

Monday: Bantam Hockey. Rangers vs. Rockets; Broomola: Athelstan vs. Huntingdon.

Tuesday: Boxing (ages 15 and over).

Thursday: Ping-pong tournament, girls and boys. Boxing all ages.

Saturday morning: Bantam hockey. Saturday afternoon, movie, "King of the Wild Horses".

Thursday night, Jan. 29, Ormstown Juniors met the Huntingdon Juniors (sponsored by H.Y.A.) on Huntingdon ice for the fastest sixty minutes of hockey witnessed in Huntingdon this season. The teams battled from one end of the rink to the other, Huntingdon holding the upper hand all through the game. Huntingdon had all the breaks, however, and Ormstown missed several goals that were in the bag. Waller was undoubtedly the star and backbone of the Ormstown team while Grant, Moore and McDermid were the triple threat of the Huntingdon team. These boys worked together like veteran team mates and show great promise as they improve their passes and plays from game to game. Grant showed a marvellous exhibition of hockey when he pulled the hat trick in the second period alone, scoring three goals and one assist. Good hockey was seen when twice.

Following the hockey was a breath-taking game of Broomola. Athelstan All Stars played the Huntingdon Merchants. They played to a 1-1 tie.
