World News In Brief

Quebec— (CP) —Elections in about 500 small Quebec towns, governed by the municipal code, have been postponed one day to May 19th, because of Queen Elizabeth's birthday, the department of municipal affairs announced Friday. May 18, celebrated as the Queen's birthday, will be a legal holiday in the province.

The code calls for nomination day to fall on the second Wednesday of May—May 13 this year — and polling day the following Monday.

Quebec— (CP) —Premier Duplessis announced Friday by-elections will be held simultaneously "on an appropriate date" in the ridings of Portneuf, Montreal Outremont and Matapedia.

Seats in Montreal Outremont and Matapedia have been vacant since last year. The sudden death of Municipal Affairs Minister Dussault Wednesday created a vacancy in the Portneuf and increased vacancies in the 92-seat legislative to three.

Standing in the Assembly now is: Union Nationale, 66; Liberals, 22; Independent, 1; vacant, 3.

Montreal—(CP)—Dr. Frank Stewart Patch, 75, distinguished Montreal surgeon and former president of the Canadian Medical Association and Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada, died today. He was elected president of the Canadian Medical Association in 1938, shortly after being appointed head of the surgery department of McGill University. In 1943, he was named president of the Royal College.

St. Laurent Will Visit Washington

Ottawa, —(CP)— A handful of problems involving relations between Canada and the United States likely will be discussed when Prime Minister St. Laurent visits Washington next week.

The journey has been billed as a "courtesy" visit, but it was indicated Friday that diplomatic affairs will rank high.

It was learned that External Affairs Minister Pearson will accompany the prime minister when he leaves by air next Thursday for a three-day stay with President Eisenhower. J. W. Pickersgill, clerk of the Privy Council and former secretary to the prime minister, also will make the trip.

Talks between Mr. St. Laurent and President Eisenhower will take place in the White House and likely will centre on these issues:

1. The St. Lawrence seaway—stalled because the U.S. has not yet designated an American authority to co-operate with Ontario in developing the power segment of the huge project.

2. American import restrictions—the Canadian government is deeply concerned over the continuation of U.S. import restrictions on Canadian dairy products and new bills before Congress to boost American tariffs.

3. Joint defence—a general discussion likely will develop on the general international situation; progress towards peace in Korea and how these developments will affect joint Canada-U.S. defence planning in the future.

This will be Mr. St. Laurent's first conference with the U.S. president since Mr. Eisenhower came to Canada on a visit in 1951 as commander of North Atlantic armies.

Health Program Expansion Announced By Government; Plan Special Health Aid

Additional $42,000,000 Will Be Made Available To Provinces Over Next Five Years.

Ottawa — (CP) — The federal government Friday announced a three-fold expansion of its many-sided national health program which will make an additional $42,000,000 available to the provinces during the next five years.

The new federal aid, announced in the Commons by Health Minister Martin, will embrace special health aid for mothers and their babies, for disabled persons and for provision of X-ray and other modern laboratory equipment.

Officials said the $42,000,000 will make a total of $212,000,000 the federal government plans to make available in health grants during the next five years. In the last five it provided $165,000,000, but only $100,000,000 was used by the provinces for such things as hospital construction, free chest X-rays, medical training, free drugs and cancer diagnosis.

The new expansion will bolster Canada's health services through provision of:

1. New laboratory and radiological services through annual grants to provinces, reaching a high of $7,800,000 yearly in the 1957-58 fiscal year. This program won't regiment or centralize personal health services, said Mr. Martin, but will help doctors by providing new X-ray and other diagnostic services in outlying and sparse areas, and help patients by cutting down time and money spent in travelling to the larger medical centres.

2. An annual grant rising to $1,000,000 a year to fill gaps in existing programs for rehabilitation of disabled persons. Mr. Martin had in mind such persons as those with legs or arms amputated, paraplegics, victims of accidents for whom there is no other provision and other suffering body crippling conditions.

3. An annual grant rising to $2,000,000 a year to boost medical services for mothers and children by expanding health clinics, home nursing visits, more health research on pregnancy, improved equipment for maternity wards in hospitals, education services for pregnant mothers and expanded services by provincial health divisions.

The expansion was announced a few days before the fifth anniversary of the national health program initiated by the former Prime Minister Mackenzie King in 1948 as the "first stages in the development of a comprehensive health insurance plan for all Canada."

The new health drive will begin slowly through grants totalling $5,300,000 in the current fiscal year ending next March 31, but Mr. Martin said that as the expansion gains full speed, it will mean increasing health spending to almost $11,000,000 a year.

Dr. W. G. Blair (PC-Lanark,) the Opposition's health spokesman, congratulated the government on the new moves and said his party feels that there never can be too much done to cut down disease and death.

Grants for child and maternal care would go a long way to decreasing infant and child-birth death rates. Doctors would find the grants for laboratory and radiological services of immense value in diagnosis. The grant for rehabilitation of disabled persons could not be criticized, but it provided a different approach than a suggestion of a pension.

Dr. Blair was sure there were disabled persons who would not respond to rehabilitation treatment and these would continue to remain a burden to their families or community.

Mr. Martin, in his statement, said the new laboratory and radiological services grant will start at $4,300,000 this year, increasing to $7,800,000 a year in 1957-58.

"Starting at 30 cents per capita," he said, "this grant will rise by five cents each year to a maximum of 50 cents per capita in the fifth and succeeding years. In general the provinces will match dollar for dollar for the federal funds made available."

The federal government had helped expand hospital facilities, now it proposed to aid in establishing X-ray and other diagnostic services.

"The health surveys made by the provinces indicate a fundamental need to extend diagnostic facilities and services so that people in all parts of Canada may have more ready access to the high quality of medical care now generally available in our cities."

The plan is to improve diagnostic facilities for private practitioners outside of hospitals, thereby cutting down on the need for additional hospital accommodation.

Officials outside the Commons said that total federal expenditures for hospital construction will be cut during the next five years.

Mr. Martin said money for training of radiologists and construction of laboratory, X-ray and other diagnostic facilities will not duplicate existing facilities.

The government already had made provision for X-ray services through the cancer and tuberculosis control grants. The purpose now was to extend facilities "for the early diagnosis of fracture, of

Egypt Plans To Irrigate Sinai Desert

By GILBERT SEDBON

Cairo —(Reuters)— The fresh waters of the Nile will soon flow beneath the Suez canal to irrigate the arid wastes of the North Sinai Desert.

Fuad Galal, minister of national guidance, said Friday Egypt will soon begin work on the $22,000,000 waterway so that 70,000 Arab refugees from Palestine can begin new life in the Sinai area.

Other rehabilitation plans costing $8,000,000 will be carried out for the benefit of refugees at the same time.

The $30,000,000 bill will be paid by the United Nations relief and works agency out of its $200,000,000 self-support fund for Arab refugees.

Irrigation canals will spread over the treeless sandy plains of the peninsula, carrying new hope for the refugees, most of whom live in squalor in Arab countries. They will work agricultural settlements and light industries.

The triangular peninsula, flanked by the Red Sea, Gulf of Suez and Aqaba, now in sparsely inhabited by about 37,000 Bedouins, scattered over the 24,000-square mile area in nomadic tribes.

The irrigation of the Sinai desert is one of a series of projects being carried out by the United Nations for the relief of 880,000 refugees who left Palestine four years ago.

Work has begun on a $40,000,000 project in Jordan to settle 20,000 Arab families on 95,000 acres of irrigated land in the arid Jordan valley, between the Lake of Galilee and the Dead Sea.

So far, only the fringe of the refugee problem has been tackled. About two-thirds of the 880,000 refugees live in overcrowded mosques, schools and barracks in the villages of the Arab states. Others live in camps, little better off than those elsewhere. The relief and works agency, which took over responsibility for the refugees in May, 1950, provides them with food, medical aid and clothing.

Manila —(AP)— Philippine Army units killed 75 Communist Huk rebels, wounded 29 and captured 126 in 124 clashes in April, the defence department said today. Army units lost 19 killed and 36 wounded last month.

3rd Battalion Of P.P.C.L.I. Returns To Line In Korea

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

In Korea —(Delayed by Censor) —(CP)—The 3rd Patricias, soon to become the "veterans" of the Canadian force here, are back in the line for the second time.

They returned to the front, after more than two months in reserve, Monday, April 6, relieving the Thai infantry battalion of the 2nd United States infantry division.

They inherited "family ground" from the Thais. Their positions were first captured for the United Nations in September 1951 by the 2nd Patricias. The 1st Patricias held the area for some time during their year here. Now the 3rd Patricias have it.

With the relief of the 1st battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment, by the 3rd battalion during March, and the imminent relief of the 1st battalion, the Royal 22nd Regiment, by its 3rd battalion, the Patricias soon will be the "old Korea hands" among Canadians here.

In returning to the line this time the brigade took over positions which had deteriorated considerably during their period in reserve. Not only had the outer defences virtually vanished, and much digging become necessary to restore bunkers, trenches and weapon pits to proper standards, but elementary cleaning up had to be done.

The area was littered with months of empty ration tins on both the slopes facing the Chinese and those behind, the soil had been fouled and normal hygiene had to be given emergency priority to prevent disease.

Enemy shelling and mortar fire complicates the work. Movement or dust draws fire.

Said Capt. Art Kemsley of Calgary, commanding a reserve company, whose men tried to use a path the Chinese could see:

"When the fellows tried to use that slope the Chinese dropped a few rounds to tell us that's just not done."

The Thais whom the Patricias relieved were in a U.S. infantry regiment commanded by Col. Joseph Stillwell, son of the late Gen. "Vinegar Joe" Stillwell and formerly stationed at Edmonton.

In Edmonton, Stillwell was on the staff of headquarters, western command, when Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington was commander. Stillwell, then liaison officer from the U.S. 6th army at San Francisco, became a firm friend of the Worthington family, and after the Patricias were installed in the line he made a point of calling at their headquarters to renew acquaintance with Lieut. Peter Worthington, son of the general and now intelligence officer of the battalion.

Tornadoes Take Seven More Lives

Birmingham, Ala.— (AP) —Spring tornadoes roaring through the south for the second straight day killed seven persons and left at least 12 others injured Friday in Alabama.

The deadly funnels of destruction danced along a 60-mile path in north-central Alabama, striking a shattering blow near Ashland where all the dead and most of the injured were counted.

The Alabama tornadoes struck one day after Warner Robins, Ga., was ravaged by a twister that left 18 dead Between 250 and 300 persons were injured there, and damage was estimated at $15,000,000.

Two highway patrol officers saw a tornado appear near Calera, 33 miles south of Birmingham.

"We watched it form and begin to pick things up," related W. L. Allen. "When it got too close to us, we ran like hell."

A Negro mother and child were injured and "four or five" homes levelled in this section before the raging winds bounded toward the east.

The storm smashed a cluster of homes near Ashland just as night fell, killing seven persons in three family groups.

The blasting winds and an accompanying lightning storm knocked out all electric power at Ashland. The first injured brought to hospital were treated by candlelight.

Two of the dead and four other members of the family who survived, though badly injured, were blown from their home into a ditch.

Some 14 persons were caught in a concrete block store when the roof collapsed, but only one was injured. The roof fell upon a parked truck and gave the occupants space to crawl to safety.

Jordanites To Enthrone King Hussein

By WILTON WYNN

Amman, Jordan, —(AP)— A holiday spirit swept through this little desert capital Friday night as Jordanites prepared for the enthronement today of their 18-year-old monarch, King Hussein I.

Across the desert and mountain in Baghdad, Hussein's cousin, 18-year-old King Feisal II, will take the throne of Iraq at about the same time in the morning.

Hussein succeeds his father, Talal, who was dethroned by Parliament a year ago because of a nervous ailment. Feisal succeeds his father, King Ghazi I, who was killed in an automobile accident in 1939.

The two young members of the ancient Hashemite dynasty, descendants of the prophet Mohammed, studied in England until they were considered old enough to take up the heavy responsibilities of ruling their lands.

A three-man regency carried on the royal duties until Hussein reached the required age. King Feisal's uncle, Prince Abdul Ilah, has been regent in Iraq. Both regencies will end today.

King Hussein, grandson of Jordan's first monarch, King Abdullah, who was assassinated in Old Jerusalem two years ago, will swear the oath of royal office in Parliament.

Three shouts of "long live the king" by Parliament President Ibrahim Hashem will be the signal for 10-gun salutes in Amman and in the Jordan-held half of divided Jerusalem—the Old City—and Moslem priests will call the people to prayer from towering minarets throughout the country.

The accession ceremony will start a three-day program of special events which are to be attended by representatives from Jordan's sister states in the Arab league and Western diplomats.

Following the Parliament ceremony, Hussein will go first to the Grand Husseini Mosque for prayers, then return to Bas Man Palace to receive congratulations from his mother, Queen Zein.

In Baghdad, royalty and statesmen gathered for the ceremonies. The Duke of Gloucester is representing Queen Elizabeth.

King Feisal will assume royal constitutional powers in the national parliament in the morning. In the evening the young monarch will hold a banquet at Qassar Rahaab, the residence of his uncle, Prince Abdul.

Troops will march through Baghdad Sunday and students will parade Monday.

Sir Francis Forde Says Canada Can Teach Lesson To Australia

By DOUGLAS HOW

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa — (CP) — The dean of Ottawa's diplomatic corps says six years in this capital have allowed him to watch the burgeoning of a new Canadian sense of national pride and confidence and a well-founded feeling that "this country is going places."

Rt. Hon. Francis Michael Forde not only thinks Canada is going places but, he said in an interview, she has lessons to teach his own Australia.

The 62-year-old former cabinet minister, school teacher and engineer came here in January, 1947, as Australia's high commissioner. He has done an able job of telling Canadians about Australia.

He sails for home, by way of London, May 15, with the idea back of his mind of telling Australians about Canada; of trying to increase contacts between the two countries and of letting it be known that Canada has things to teach Australia, mainly industrial development.

His successor, Sir Douglas Copland, is due here May 19.

In his six years and four months, Mr. Forde has travelled throughout Canada and into the north, has spoken countless times to audiences ranging from provincial legislatures to church groups; has put three daughters through Canadian universities and has seen two of them marry here.

Few, if any, envoys have ever worked harder in making their country known to Canadians.

The son of Irish immigrants, he belongs to the Labor party and was Australian prime minister for a brief period in 1945. He has no immediate plans other than to attend the Coronation. As an imperial Privy Councillor, he and his wife will sit in the abbey.

His term here was extended — and by a Liberal-Country party government he had opposed for years before becoming a diplomat.

Mr. Forde said he and his wife and family now feel that although their first allegiance is to Australia they regard Canada as a second home and look upon it "as one of the greatest countries in the world."

"No country has a greater future than Canada," he said. "She has the culture of the old world and the vigor of the new."

He has seen at first hand the historic events that have changed Canada greatly in the last six years; the oil developments in Alberta; the entry of Newfoundland into confederation; the passing of the Mackenzie King era and the industrial boom.

"Canadians in that time have developed a national pride and confidence and they rightly feel that they are going places. Their country and mine are the two pivots of the future of the Commonwealth. Canada occupies a unique position today and I frankly admit that Australia has something to learn from our older sister."

Mr. Forde even got so that he didn't mind the Canadian winters and and he doesn't go for the theory that Canadians are dull He indicated that no country that produces mayors with the color packed by Ottawa's Charlotte Whitton, Montreal's Camillien Houde, Toronto's Allan Lamport and Calgary's Don Mackay can be considered dull.

A daughter Marcia was married in 1951 to Alex Ferrier, an architect, and they are going to Australia with the family. Another daughter, Mary, was married in April to Dr. W. R. Thompson and they will live in Montreal. A third daughter, Clara, is also going home with her parents.

Their son, Francis Gerard, will remain behind briefly to complete his senior matriculation at St. Patrick's College.

SHERBROOKE'S COAT OF ARMS: Feeling that the old coat of arms did not truly represent the real spirit of Sherbrooke and its citizens, the City Council has formally adopted the above armorial bearings prepared for it by the Drouin Institute of Montreal. The Y-shaped heraldic piece in the foreground symbolizes the geographical position of Sherbrooke at the confluence of the St. Francis and Magog rivers — the early name of Sherbrooke being Big Forks. The two lightning bolt's recall that Sherbrooke is truly "The Electric City." The lance recalls St. Michael, the patron of the Cathedral. The rowel of the spur is taken from the coat of arms of the Sir John Cope Sherbrooke family, governor of Canada, after whom the city was named. The French element is represent by the two fleur de lys and the English by the rose. The mural crown with seven towers, formerly characterizing fortified cities of the first order only, stresses that Sherbrooke is really "The Queen of the Eastern Townships."

The Latin motto "Ne Quid Nimis," is that of the Sherbrooke family and means "Nothing Too Good."

Criminal Law Changes May Take Year To Be Passed

Ottawa. —(CP)— It likely will be another year before Parliament passes a voluminous bill consolidating and in some cases changing Canadian criminal law.

Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons Friday that if an extended debate shapes up on the 700-odd sections of the proposed new Criminal Code it would not be in the public interest to have it so late in this session.

He indicated that the government will not press for passage of the code before Parliament adjourns to allow members to attend the Coronation June 2. He also said no post-Coronation session is being considered. The current session is expected to prorogue in a week.

That makes it a virtual certainty that a new Parliament will take up the five-year-old job of changing the code. Mr. St. Laurent said earlier this session that an election will be held "before the snow flies."

Opposition spokesman served notice on the government that it can expect extensive debate on the bill which incorporates in one bill for the first time in Canadian history all the criminal charges that may be laid against a citizen.

Mr. St. Laurent said:

"In view of the fact that several members will be leaving for the Coronation at a date that is not very distant, if there was going to be the kind of discussion that has been suggested as probable, I do not think it would be in the public interest to have it at this time.

"If there is to be that kind of debate it should take place when all members of Parliament would be available to discharge their responsibilities as such in that debate."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, raised the question of proceeding with the bill. His remarks were prompted by introduction of 26 pages of amendments by Don Brown (L—Essex West), chairman of the Commons committee which has studied the new code for several months.

The committee still plans to bring in another report urging the government to establish a joint parliamentary committee to consider abolition of the death penalty and whipping, a definition of insanity and lotteries.

Mr. Drew said Parliament should have ample time to deal with the bill in view of the fact that it contains extensive legal changes and that it might have consequences to established legal procedure.

He said his party is anxious to proceed with the bill. If that was the government's intention the late-session speed-up of three sittings daily should be dropped and members prepare to remain in Ottawa longer than now is anticipated.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said the changes should be incorporated in a reprint of the bill so as not to lose the work done by the committee. The bill then should be introduced at another session.

Perhaps the most sweeping change in the proposed new code is one to dispense with English common law charges. Common law is in general unwritten law based on legal precedents extending far back into history.

Some common law is carried forward as sections of the criminal code, added to it from time to time. However, that which has not been included in the code could no longer form the basis for a criminal charge.

A second big change would be the removal of minimum sentences in a great majority of the charges. The maximum sentence would be streamlined to penalties of death, life imprisonment, 14, 10, five and two years according to the seriousness of the offence.

By dropping minimum sentences, the decision is left to the judge on the weight of legal precedence just how stiff a fine or jail term to impose.

The various bodies which have framed the bill did not intend to make any major changes in the meaning of the law. But some crept in through error and some were proposed by the government or groups which submitted briefs to parliamentary committees or the committee which first framed the bill.

One example is a section dealing with treason. A provision is suggested by the Commons criminal law committee to make it treason for anyone to give a foreign state major military or scientific information.

The amendment would provide penalties up to the death sentence for transmitting such information when it could be used against the safety or defence of Canada, whether or not she is at war. The death penalty already is mandatory for helping an enemy during hostilities.

Among the higher penalties provided in the proposed code are an increase to 14 from two years as the penalty for assisting an enemy subject to leave Canada and for "failing" to report a person known to be about to commit treason.

One controversial section touches on strikes in public utilities and transportation. It would make it an offence wilfully to break a contract when such action would hold up service by a public utility, endanger life or expose property to injury or destruction.

Teachers Get Snakes, Mice And Like 'Em

Huntsville, Ont. — (CP) — At Canada's strangest school in this Muskoka district, 150 miles north of Toronto, students this summer will proudly bring snakes and dead mice to their teachers instead of of apples — and the teachers will like it.

Toronto headquarters of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists have announced that the federation's 15th annual summer nature school will be held again this July at Camp Billie Bear.

A combination vacation and practical summer course in natural history and conservation, it is the only school in Canada where a student can run off looking for birds' nests or wildflowers and not play hookey. For it has no desks or formal classes. Most of its instruction is in the form of daily hikes through the bush with experienced naturalist guides instructing the students.

The school lasts two weeks. The instructors are biologists and university professors. The students, 50 to 75 each year, have included all walks of life from locomotive engineers and doctors to farmers and taxi drivers. Most of them are amateur naturalists. School teachers, scout leaders and camp counsellors who want the training to help them in their work with youth predominate in the classes.

Dr. W. W. H. Gunn, executive director of the federation, says the school was established when a survey showed that few school teachers and youth workers had the practical outdoor experience in nature study necessary to make nature training interesting for children.

Students learn to recognize plants trees, birds and bird songs, but the school's main lesson is an awareness of the vast inter-related pattern of growth and life which binds rocks, soil, water, plants, animals and man together into one broad inter-dependent unit, Dr. Gunn said. They learn that man is a part of nature, not an outsider who can ignore the processes that keep the world of nature in balance.

There are courses for beginners and more advanced courses for students who wish to specialize in one field such as birds or botany. Many attend for vacation, but it isn't exactly a hammock-snoozing type of holiday. Sometimes the instruction hikes begin at 6 a.m. and the students take breakfast to cook on the trail. Some times there are after-dark hikes in search of owls.

The school doesn't try to make scientists out of its students, but it does strive to instill the scientific habit of basing judgments on verified facts instead of hearsay.

"False ideas regarding wildlife can spring up faster than mushrooms after a rainstorm," warns Prof. A. F. Coventry, the chief instructor.

"When you hear that snakes milk cows, look into the facts," he tells his class. "And one of the first facts you'll discover is that snakes have bony jaws fitted only for biting. They couldn't use their mouths for sucking if they wanted to."

The naturalists have been going to Camp Billie Bear for several years now, but Lt.-Col. William A. Kelsall, camp owner and host, a non-naturalist, still thinks they are an amusing lot. He says he'll never get accustomed to seeing attractive young girls wading up to their thighs in bogs catching aquatic insects, or skinning mice for museum specimens.

The strangest, of all, he says, is the girl who periodically attends and spends most of her time crawling on her hands and knees

Reds Name 4 Asian States Qualified To Take P.O.W.'s

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

Panmunjom—(AP)—The communists today asked for a one-day recess in the Korean truce talks after naming four Asian countries which they consider qualified to take custody of war prisoners who refuse to go home.

The Allies agreed to skip Sunday's session.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il said India, Pakistan, Burma and Indonesia might be considered neutral countries to serve as caretaker for 48,000 prisoners who balk at returning to their communist homeland.

Lt.-Gen. William K Harrison reiterated the Allied position that the neutral take custody of the prisoners in Korea until their future is decided.

Asked whether any of the four Asian states named by the Reds would be acceptable, the senior Allied delegate said:

"That is a matter to be settled on levels far above mine."

Washington officials were quoted as saying it was possible the United States would accept either Pakistan or India as the neutral to take custody of the prisoners in Korea.

However, informed sources said the U. S. had no firm policy other than that Sweden and Switzerland were acceptable. The Reds already have rejected Switzerland. The UN suggested Sweden Friday, but the communists did not reply.

The communists asked the one-day recess without explanation after a bitter 65-minute meeting.

Meanwhile, the UN command—following a fanatical, clothes-ripping demonstration at Panmunjom by a band of hard-core Red repatriates—warily prepared to wind up delivery of disabled North Korean and Chinese prosoners Sunday.

A total of 135 Reds, including 21 women, will be returned, making the final total 6,670. That's roughly 300 more than originally promised.

Nam repeated at the opening of Saturday's session the Red demand that the UN first agree to send balky prisoners out of Korea before the neutral custodian is named.

He insisted, however, that "it is obviously impractical" to ship captives to far-away Europe.

Harrison said it was "impractical" to ship prisoners "overseas," but added:

"The only difference between movement to Europe or an Asian country is the short period of actual travel on the sea. Yet you would make these few days a vital matter."

The only "reasonable solution," Harrison declared, was to keep prisoners in Korea until their fate is ironed out.

After the session, Rear-Admiral John C. Daniel remained behind for a meeting of liaison groups handling the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners.

For a second straight day Daniel demanded the return of "more than 375" Allied sick and wounded prisoners under the current exchange.

He said the Allies hal "indisputable evidence" the Reds still hold these prisoners and that they wanted to come home and were fit to travel.

The Reds again turned down Daniel's appeal.

PALANCE BLOWS HIS LINES AND HIS TOP WHEN KID COACHES

Hollywood—The Laugh Parade: A precocious 10-year-old movie moppet was well on the way toward having Bob Mitchum, Linda Darnell and Jack Palance at the breaking point on the set of RKO's "Second Chance."

The young actress was breaking into the rehearsal dialog with suggestions and throwing cues for forgotten lines. Finally Palance, who had been the child's target on three occasions, called Director Rudy Mate aside and demanded:

"Can't you keep that kid quiet?"

"What's the mater, Jack? Don't you like kids?" smiled Mate.

"Sure, I love kids, said Palance quietly. Then he fairly shouted, "Unless they happen to be ACTORS."

The late George Bernard Shaw once said: "All child actors should be painted on the backdrop."

Director Row Rowland's actor son, Steve, told Marie Wilson he might change his name so people wouldn't think he was trying to cash in on his dad's reputation. Marie agreed it was a good idea and said, "Henry would be a nice name."

"You mean call myself Steve Henry?" asked Steve.

"Oh no," said Marie, "I mean Henry Rowland."

George Shearing is telling it: Pianist Artur Rubenstein and Harry "The Hipster" Gibson met at a party and the be-bop man asked Rubenstein to play something. Rubenstein sat down at the piano and gazed at the keyboard for a full two minutes.

"Man, that's GREAT, that's CRAZY," said the Hipster.

"But I haven't played anything yet," said the puzzled pianist.

"I know, man. It's not your playing that I'm talking about," the Hipster said. "It's what you're thinking that's so great."

No Cheese In Beefcake

A press agent told Jean Pierre Aumont he was planning to ballyhoo his latest film with seven "beefcake" layouts.

The French star looked puzzled and said, "And what is beefcake?"

"Well," welled the press agent, "beefcake is Marilyn Monroe—with muscles."

Humphrey Bogart once snubbed Lily Pons in San Francisco and was chided by a friend, who said, "Bogie, you should have known her. You worked together on a couple of radio shows.'

"I know," said Bogart, "but I didn't recognize her without her voice on."

Who's A Monkey Now?

Even Hollywood can't top this: While in North Africa for "Saadia," Mel Ferrer was a guest at a formal dinner given by Hadj-Thami El Glaoui, Pasha of Marrakech. One of the women guests, under the impression that the Pasha spoke only Arabic, turned to Mel and said in French:

"Look at that huge ring the old monkey is wearing.'

After dinner, as the guests were leaving, the Pasha took off the immense diamond, handed it to the woman and said, in French:

"With the compliments of the old monkey."

Tom Morton, one of the stars of "Main Street to Broadway," kiddingly told a fan magazine writer that he learned to dance "in my free time at reform school." The writer used it as a fact in her story.

"I was suprised,' Tom's blushing, "that the story wasn't titled: 'YOUNG HOOD MAKES GOOD IN HOLLYWOOD.'"

Tony Dante, former Los Angeles Rams and Chicago Bears football player, was turned down for the role of a gridder in U-I's "All-American." The casting office's reason: "Not the type."

Julia Adams drew Jimmy Stewart's favorite horse, Pie, as her four-footed pal in "Wings of the Hawk." Julia's still moaning:

The Sherbrooke Community Concert Association this coming week is holding a campaign for members for the purpose of assuring a series of concerts by world famous artists here during the coming season.

Every community is improved by advantages of sound business establishments, industries, good schools, churches, libraries and various municipal improvements. The availability of fine music presented by authoritative musicians is another advantage which will benefit those making their homes in Sherbrooke.

Having become interested in music through the excellent instruction in our schools and by our private teachers, through the many radio programs bringing these treasures freely into our homes and through motion pictures, many of us will be glad to welcome our Carnegie Hall in Sherbrooke for the enjoyment and cultural development of ourselves and the education and pleasure of our children.

Therefore, as Mayor of Sherbrooke, I proclaim this week of May 3rd to May 9th officially as COMMUNITY CONCERT WEEK.

Council Members Stirred By Rumors Of Changes In Assessment Basis

Certain Sherbrooke aldermen are indignant, to put it mildly, over statements made at a recent meeting of the Sherbrooke Proprietors League that a sharp increase is planned in the valuation of local properties. A former alderman who received a rough ride from the electors in the recent elections, told the proprietors that there was a move underway to change the assessment basis from approximately 55 per cent of the real value to 80, 90 or even 100 per cent.

His declaration came during the course of an attack on the manner in which the city finances are being administered and he hinted that while the aldermen would reduce the mill rate in an effort to convince the taxpayers that it was just a technical change, actually the cut in the rate would not compensate for the increase in valuation. In the end, the property owner would find his tax bill boosted substantially.

The members of the present Council refuse to say whether or not such a plan is contemplated but some are loud in their charges of breath of faith and "squeeling." The intensity of their charges indicates, that something is afoot, and that it has been under study for some time — even as far back as before the spring elections when the accuser was a member of the Council.

Rather than answer "yes" or "no" to the charges of the ex-alderman, they say that he should not say anything about what transpires in the "Star Chamber" committee hearings, that the aldermen are welded together by a virtual pledge of secrecy.

A factor the protesters appear to forget is that they are dealing with the people's business and that the taxpayer has the right to some reasonable information as to what the aldermen plan to do with him.

The situation, as seen by the proprietors, is something like this:

The city is finding financing difficult, as evidenced by the recent boost in tenant taxes, gas and water rates and there is little prospect for improvement. By juggling the valuation upwards and modestly reducing the mill rate, some additional revenue might be raised without too much protest from the property-owner.

But there are complications. The school taxes are collected on municipal valuations and the school commissions themselves are short of money. The Protestant school board sought to maintain its financial stability by imposing a special levy of three mills on Protestant ratepayers and on the neutral panel, but the Roman Catholic board has taken no such action.

The proprietors fear that if the city increases the valuation rate, the boards might decide to leave their mill rate unchanged and take advantage of the value boosts to increase their revenues.

Of course, nothing is definite as those in the know refuse to say what, if anything, is in the wind. The taxpayer will learn the bad news soon enough, they hint.

Church Leaders Support Appeal For Blood Donors

From among supporting forces of the Red Cross Blood Donor Campaign that is to be held next week at the William Street Armoury have been received two letters, one from Archbishop Georges Cabana and the other from Rev. A. V. Ottiwell, president of the Sherbrooke and District Ministerial Association.

The context of both letters reflects the sympathy of a churchgoing public as well as unreserved support of the ecclesiastical sector in this city.

Mr. Ottiwell says in his letter: "In connection with the appeal for the Blood Clinic may I say on behalf of the Sherbrooke and District Ministerial Association that we heartily endorse this worthy appeal and commend it to all our people."

"I hope that there will be a good response from all who are able to give of themselves on behalf of the sick and afflicted."

Archbishop Cabana's letter says: "I am pleased to congratulate the Red Cross on their Blood Donor service which has already rendered many great services to a great number of people.

"On May 5th a new Campaign for Blood Donors will begin. I myself know that our population will respond and that you will be able to get enough volunteers to donate blood which will permit the hospitals to maintain their service.

"I should like to ask that all ecclesiastical and laymen of the Church respond generously and unselfishly in giving a little bit of your blood. In doing so you will understand the holy sacrifice of Christ for humanity."

Damage Actions Revive Memory Of Large Strike

The Asbestos Strike of 1949 is over but there may be some stormy court sessions to follow as the result of the fracas.

The first of eight damage actions taken against Inspector Norbert Labbe and other members of the Quebec Provincial Police will be heard in Superior Court here on May 25.

The actions are being taken as the result of clashes between the strikers and police.

The plaintiffs, all asbestos miners with one exception, claim damages of $25,000 each for alleged mistreatment at the hands of the Provincial Police, May 6, 1949. At the time, the four-month strike was in its third month.

The plaintiffs are miners, Gerard Chamberlain, Jean-Paul Houle, Joseph Beaudoin, and Alfred Blanchette, all of Thetford Mines, Emile Grimard, Jean-Noel Hamel and Jeffrey Roux, all of Asbestos and Adelestin Lavalliere, Thetford Mines Undertaker.

The plaintiffs will be represented by Jacques Perreault and Theodore L'Esperance, of Montreal, and Carrier Fortin, of Sherbrooke. The defendants will be represented by Leon Methot, of Three Rivers and another attorney.

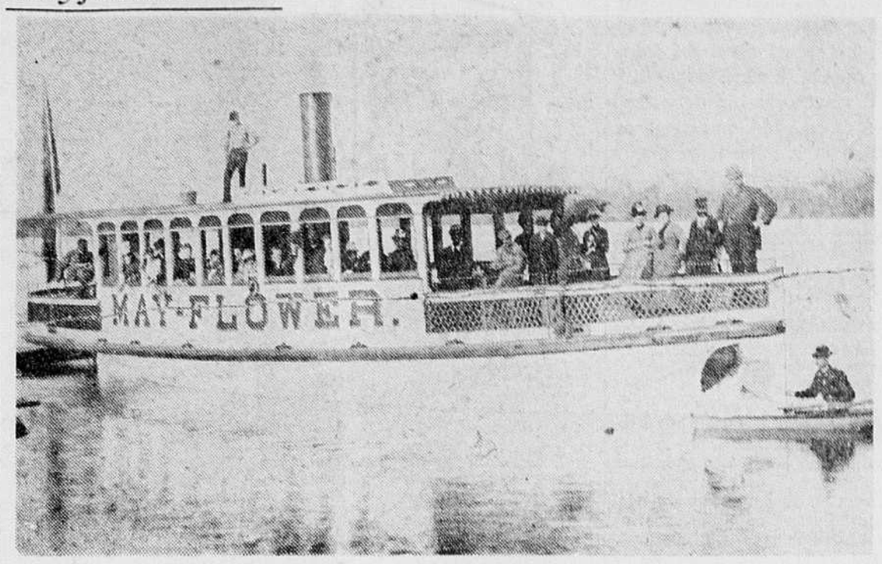
Do You Remember?

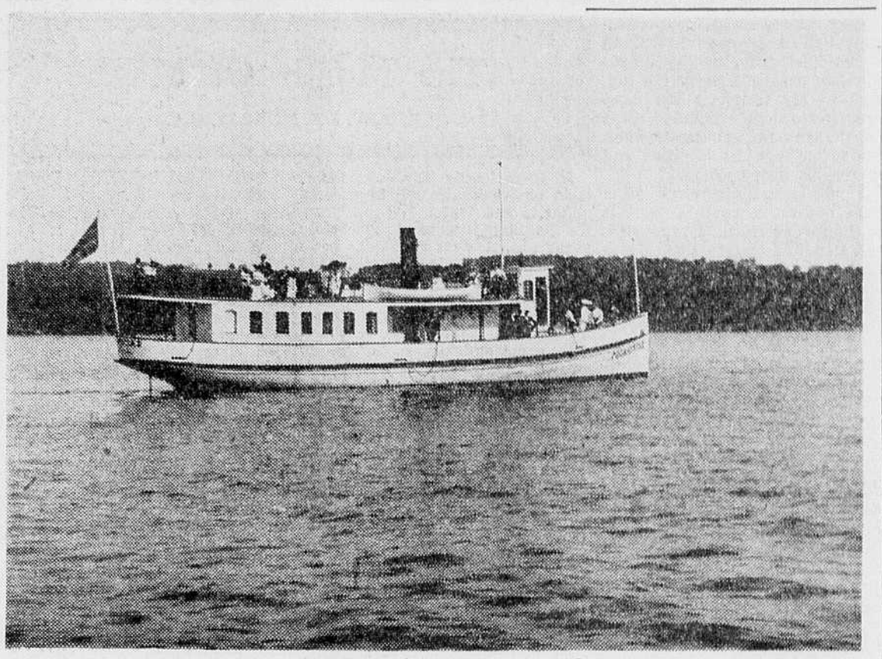
Days Of Massawippi Lake Boats Pocahontas, Mayflower Recalled

* * * * * *

Mayflower . . . .



. . . . Pocahontas



By MRS. GLEN BENNETT

"Test your memory, my dearie,
Do you remember when . . . ."

There were no motor boats on Lake Massawippi? When the Pocahontas made daily trips between Ayer's Cliff and North Hatley? When Glen Villa was the shining jewel on the west side of the lake? I don't but there are those who do, and among them is Mr. J. G. Sampson, of North Hatley, who loves to reminisce of those days. I was talking to him the other day, and I asked him to tell me something about the Pocahontas.

"Well, she wasn't the first boat on the lake, you know," he said. "No, the first was 'The Pride of the Valley.' Now there was something. She was ninety feet long, a flat bottom, side-wheeler. The Putney brothers built her, right down there in Dreamland Park. She was used for pleasure trips, and excursions. They used to have dances on board her, too. I think Ben LeBaron owned her.

"I remember once she was taking a crowd to the Fair at Ayer's Cliff. And, it was a windy day. She couldnt make much headway, and right off Blueberry Point she was blown into shore and grounded! Stuck! Well, the Putney brothers helped all the passengers off to shore. There was an old woman, she was fat. They thought she could stay aboard, but finally they decided she'd have to come off too. So they helped her to shore, and the old 'Pride' floated up, just like a duck. Well, they got the passengers all back on board, and started off again. They got out in the lake, and the wind caught them again and blew them into shore on the opposite side. They never did get to Ayer's Cliff and the Fair.

"I remember another time, I was ten years old, when the old 'Pride' pulled up at a landing where the Bergland camp is now. They called it Grey's Shanty in those days. They had a hogshead of birch-beer on board, they'd been tapping all day."

"Birch-beer?" I asked.

"Yea," his eyes twinkled. "It was awful stuff. Well, while they were in there, the boiler let off a great boom. And, sir, it scared the engineer so—" Mr. Sampson stopped and chuckled. "Well, it was a sad accident. He was so scared when he heard that boiler go pop—"

"Weren't you scared?" asked his sister-in-law.

"No," said Mr. Sampson. "I was only ten years old. I wasn't scared of anything."

"Then, the next boat was the Mayflower. I think she belonged to Plum LeBaron. They sunk her off Saints Rest. On a day when the water is clear, they say you can see the old hull down deep in the lake there.

"Then there was the Massawippi. She was a little thing. The Putney brothers built her too. She used to take wood to the camps. There were camps up the lake in those days, where people would go and stay all summer, never leave. They had to have wood, groceries, mail, everything delivered. One first of July she was loaded with barrels of waste and junk, and sticks of dynamite in the barrels too, and they took her out to the middle of the lake and fired her. You should have seen her when thoes barrels went off. We used to have real celebrations in those days.

"Then came the Pocahontas. She was a good boat. I had her built in 1903, in the field right next to the station. She used to tie up at a wharf right where the government wharf is now. A boat builder came from Sorel and did the work. She was seventy-five feet long, a wood-burner. She used to go up the lake twice a day, every day, delivering wood, mail and groceries, and ferrying passengers. One of the places we used to get wood was Dan Abbott's camp, that was the Fred Rugg camp, some fellow from Stanstead owns it now. Dan Abbott had a great big landing, and he sold wood to all the camps up and down the lake. We made regular stops, on one side of the lake, and on the other, and if any of the camps wanted us to stop there, they'd put a sign out.

"We used to have moonlight excursions too, and special trains used to run every Sunday afternoon, bringing people who wanted to go on these excursions. Turcotte's band played, and we often had these excursions and moonlight trips during the week too. A fellow by the name of Mills (the late Mr. E. A. Mills of Sherbrooke) came up one summer to do some work on the engine. He didn't stay very long. He said the nights were the hottest, the bullfrogs the noisiest, and the mosquitoes the hungriest he had ever encountered

"Some time during the First World War the 'Pokey' made her last trip. Her cabin is now the boathouse at Hi-Jinks cottage. And her ship's wheel is a table in Ronald's (Mr. R. M. Sampson of Magog) living room. People began to get their own little boats. Joe Goodwin and Scot Worthing had the first two motorboats on Lake Massawippi. One of them was named 'Quo-Vadis.' If that was Joe's boat, it was well named," reflected Mr. Sampson "He never knew where that boat was going half the time. I'll bet he cranked that thing around the lake, more than the motor ever drove it."

Glen Villa faced the lake on the wide, flat expanse of property fronting the lake on the west side, now owned by Mr. Eric Webster, of Sherbrooke. Before the days of any hotel, it was the site of Hussey's sawmill. Mr. Alfred Putney built the first small hotel there, which burned down. The property was then bought by Mr. G. A. LeBaron, who built the expansive, picturesque Glen Villa that many can still remember. The late Mr. Louis Seguin, of North Hatley, was the foreman in charge of con-

Mrs. C. H. Niles Died Yesterday At Sister's Home

Mrs. Cyrus H. Niles, the former Esther Moe, member of a pioneer Sherbrooke family, passed away yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Bryant, 450 Bowen avenue south, after a brief illness. An outstanding personality in the field of sports, social and cultural activity in Sherbrooke, Mrs. Niles' passing will come as a shock to the many friends she had made.

An ardent curler and golfer, she was an executive member of the Ladies' Sherbrooke Curling Club and former captain of the Sherbrooke Country Club. Mrs. Niles was first president of the Women's Canadian Club of the Eastern Townships and one of two honorary members of that organization.

Her funeral service will be held on Monday afternoon, family prayers at two o'clock at the home of Mrs. Bryant, where the remains are resting, followed by the service at the Church of the Advent, Rev. Canon E. K. Moffatt officiating. Interment will be made in the Moe family plot in Elmwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Niles was born in Sherbrooke, daughter of the late Hiram and Esther Moe. Her father was High Constable at the Sherbrooke court house. She was educated in local schools and at McGill University. Mrs. Niles was married in Sherbrooke and her husband, who was employed by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, passed away about six years ago in Saskatoon, Sask., where he was manager of a bank branch. About a year after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Niles moved to the Prairies where Mr. Niles had several postings in his bank duties. For a period they also resided in Montreal. Mrs. Niles returned to Sherbrooke and took up residence with her sister about five years ago.

In addition to Mrs. Bryant, the former Jane Moe, Mrs. Niles is survived by two brothers, G. Reid Moe, Sherbrooke, and Harry Moe, of Cookshire; one daughter, Mrs. James Holden (Rita), of Winnipeg, Man., and granddaughter, Ann Holden. A brother, Charles Moe, Seattle, Wash., and a sister, Miss Margaret Moe, Sherbrooke, predeceased her.

Former Residents Of The Townships Plan Sixth Annual Ontario Picnic

The E.T. Get-Together Club made plans for its annual picnic at Guelph, Ont., on or about the first of July, at a recent meeting held at Burford, Ont., in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Chaddock, formerly of Lennoxville.

Members of the planning committee who attended were: President Harold Roarke and Mrs. Roarke, St. George, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Locke and Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Glass, Guelph, Ralph Libby, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hobbs and Mr. and Mrs. William Peak, Hamilton, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Locke again offered the use of their farm near Guelph as the site for this year's picnic, its location making it ideal for this purpose, as the "Royal City" is situated so that travelling distances are divided equally for those coming from various parts of the Province.

The rolling hills with their prosperous farms bring memories of old homes in the Eastern Townships to guests at the picnics which are held each year for the many former E.T. residents who now live in Ontario.

Each year there are also visitors from across the U.S. border and E.T. residents vacationing here who make it a point to drop "in," hoping to meet old friends. This year's picnic is the sixth and, in general, will follow the design of former years. The committee will hold a work meeting before the day of the picnic to prepare the meadow and to construct two more tables with benches, using the donations given last year, for this purpose.

The refreshment booth, at which ice cream and soft drinks were sold, and which was operated for the club by Archie McDonald, of Burford, proved so popular that it was decided to continue this feature. Circulars giving the exact date and road directions will be mailed to several hundred interested families and any names sent to members of the committee will be added to the mailing list.

After the meeting the members spent a pleasant social hour and were later treated to a supper by the hostess, Mrs. Chaddock, who was assisted in her duties by her two nieces, Mrs. Clayton Merrill and Mrs. Gordon Brooks, Brantford, Ont.

THE RED SHIELD CAMPAIGN

No one knows better than The Salvation Army officer who toils among the people at all hours of the day and night how true is the saying that "one half of the world does not know how the other half lives." They know intimately the short and simple annals of the poor.

But misfortune is not a monopoly of the poor, say today's Salvationists. Increasingly, those who live above the poverty line are having their troubles. They need sympathetic counsel and assistance, administered by specialists in welfare work who are well qualified to give it.

For The Salvation Army this consciousness of need is not merely the result of gazing upon misery whenever it occurs. It is possible to do that and only become callous. Actually it is the result of a deep-seated desire to bring into action the best qualities of mind and heart so that distress might be alleviated and evil conditions corrected.

The Salvation Army is richer today in accumulated experience and more efficient in its operations because of its strict adherence to the lines that have proven successful through decades of welfare work. Indeed it may be stated that the whole structure of The Salvation Army is based on the soundest foundation-principles — love to God and love to man!

That is sufficent recommendation for support in the current Red Shield Appeal which will ensure The Army having sufficent funds to carry on its beneficent activities.

HOPE FAINT FOR BROADER PACT

In spite of their determined barrage of peace talk, the Russians have not done one concrete thing which shows that they really mean business.

Their answer to President Eisenhower's "peace" speech — that they are ready for "serious, businesslike" discussion of the great issues — is on the surface conciliatory in tone. Still, the proofs so far are lacking.

In Korea, the Communists have released to us 684 UN soldiers held prisoner, including 149 Americans. Because we value individual life highly, we are grateful we can reclaim even these few men from the wreckage of war.

But, measured against the large backdrop of that conflict, the number is small. Against the canvas of the whole world struggle it is infinitesimal. Viewed coldly, it means the Reds have given up some men who can do us little good militarily and were simply costing them money and material to keep imprisoned.

We may gain more in the weeks ahead. The revived truce talks in Panmunjom have not started happily. Red proposals for exchange of able-bodied prisoners seem unreasonable. Nevertheless, Moscow and Peiping may soften their position as talks go on.

Beyond that, the deeds both sides wish to see as proof of earnest intent will come much harder. The President talked of a general Far Eastern settlement, signatures on an Austrian treaty, free elections for a unified Germany, real disarmament and world-wide economic reconstruction.

But to make genuine headway on almost any of these matters would demand from the Soviet Union sharp departure from the fundamental course of conquest it has long pursued. Indeed, it would require abandoning practices inherent in a police-state dictatorship. Chinese for such changes are not bright.

Take Korea and the Far East. The Reds would not likely allow a unified, free Korea or call off the Indo-Chinese war unless they got something in return. At the least they would want Peiping to gain Formosa and a UN seat.

But the state of congressional and general public opinion in the U. S. is a heavy bar to such concessions from us. We are not ready to accept Red China into the family of respectable nations.

Austria and Germany are no more cheerful prospects. To sign an Austrian treaty means to the Russians pulling out their troops not only in Austria but in Hungary and Rumania on the path from Russia. To allow Germany to unite under real elections would be to risk all Moscow has built in East Germany since World War II.

Disarmament is a misty hope. The West would insist on vital inspection features to enforce any program. So long as Russia remains a police state, acceptance of such inspection looks remote.

Word reconstruction is an even fainter likelihood. To accept such a plan would be to endorse the undermining of the Communist revolution, which feeds on poverty. It is hard to see the Reds cooperating with the West in wiping out the conditions under which they breed best.

Mr. Eisenhower's speech covered a wide range of possibilities, from small beginnings to great and distant hopes. Despite all the Kremlin's words, there is little sign we are likely to achieve more than the beginnings — if that much.

The Russian bear may be trying to sound like a gentler animal. But he still has the same old lumbering gait and predatory purpose.

POLITENESS IS THE TOKEN

Big people, as we know, are noted for being natural, small people for being self-conscious and uneasy. Rudeness is the first defence of those who feel inferior, and their rudeness proclaims it. Inadequacy is never polite. Nothing is more absurd than this defensiveness and deference has been truly called "the most eloquent of all compliments." If we concede the virtues and accomplishments of others, and respect them, politeness is the token of it. The more sure a man is of himself, the deeper — and more graceful is his humility.

Washington Column

IKE WORKS HARD, PLAYS HARD, AND DOESN'T PULL ANY RANK

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — If the first 100 days are the hardest, Dwight D. Eisenhower has passed the first milestone on the four-year endurance run.

The transition from U. S. commander-in-chief of military forces in Europe to commander-in-chief of the whole United States and its myriad problems all over the world has done something to the Eisenhower personality.

While he was always under the public eye as a national hero, today he is under a microscope. Every trivality — every frown, smile, cold, stomach-ache or lost golf ball is now world-shaking news. Let him say he likes grits, and — bingo! Somebody sends him five pounds a week for life.

It would be hard to say which is the most significant of these tremendous trifles. Some might say that he showed his real character when he climbed out from under high-hat tradition and donned a Homburg for his inauguration.

The Homburg is still the trade mark of a striped-pants diplomat out for a spot of tea. It isn't a crush job to go golfing in on a rainy day. But it's at least one step less formal than a silk stovepipe. So that set the tone for his administration.

A general of the Army can put up a pretty formidable front when he wants to throw his brass around. But President Eisenhower has shown that he wants to be a man of all the people of these United States, as he has said himself.

He showed this when he started inviting congressmen — all the congressmen, that is — to lunch or breakfast. Also when he invited all the 30,000 screaming small fry of Washington to roll Easter eggs on his private putting green.

Draws The Line At Publicity Seekers

In all this new Republican democracy — capital R and small d — there is only one place where Ike has so far drawn the line. He doesn't want to take time being photographed with beauty queens or prize cake bakers unless they represent national organizations or have national significance.

The canard that these publicity seekers would have to be accompanied by their congressmen has been denied by the White House. Otherwise, the job of being official greeter has been turned over to Mamie Eisenhower, who, incidentally, seems to be doing all right, too.

Unquestionably, in his first 100 days in the White House, President Eisenhower has lost none of his great personal popularity. Senator Taft expressed that the other day when he said that Eisenhower would run for the presidency again in 1956 — and would be re-elected.

Speaking of Senator Taft, there's an anecdote going around Washington about a group of congressional leaders proposing to send the President a report on some deep-dish issue that was bothering them at the moment. "It wouldn't do any good," the story credits Taft with saying. "He doesn't read."

While there is said to be no basis for this yarn, it does illustrate the fact that the President has tried to reduce his paper work to a minimum. President Truman lugged work home with him every night. Ike does it only when he can't get out of it.

President Eisenhower likes to depend more on having other people do his reading of long, detailed reports, then discussing them with him, before making decisions. That's his general's way.

But there are times when he can have people talk at him too long. "After an hour or so of briefing," he once confessed, "I can look a man right in the eye and never hear a world he says."

Nevertheless, the President keeps a full day's schedule of appointments, from 7:30 a.m. — well, make it 8:30 — to, sometimes, 7:30 p.m. He is an early riser and an early-to-bedder. When he gets tired on the job, he walks away and leaves it, to relax.

He Attends Few Social Functions

There hasn't been time for as many bridge games as he used to get in on other jobs. Putting and painting — those are the number-one hobbies now. The presidential yacht Williamsburg is being put in mothballs. The White House swimming pool has been turned over to cabinet members and their families.

The White House social season, since the Eisenhowers moved in, has been something of a dud. The President and Mrs. Eisenhower have no time for the cocktail circuit.

Outside of the inaugural balls, the President has attended only three evening functions — the Gridiron dinner, an Indian embassy movie and the opera. He has attended a few afternoon receptions — one at Senator Taft's place, where he made history by shaking hands with Senator McCarthy. And he has made several luncheon talks before national convention meetings in Washington hotels.

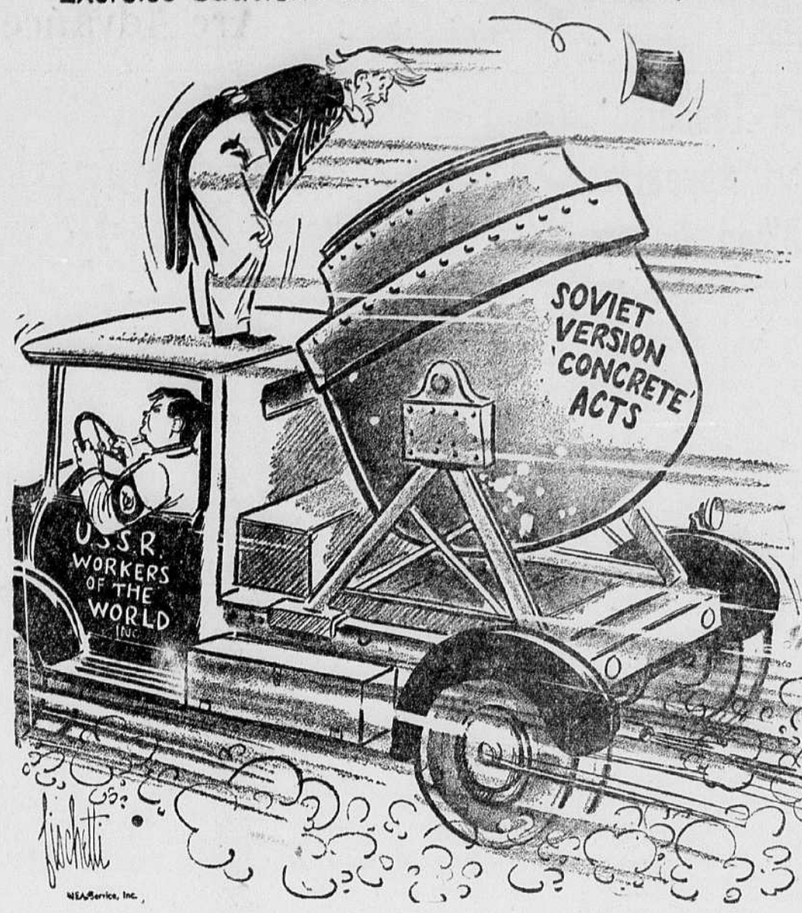
The Eisenhowers are, however, regular churchgoers. The President's short, unscheduled prayer before his inaugural speech set a high moral tone for his administration.

All the pre-Chicago convention controversy over his religious affiliations was settled soon after the inauguration when the President was baptized and with Mrs. Eisenhower joined the Presbyterian church.

If all this prying into his private life has embarrassed the President in any way, he doesn't show it. And with his first 100 days safely passed with only one major crises — the dispute over making the first pitch to open officially the big league baseball season — he has this consolation:

He has only 1360 more days to serve in his first term.

Exercise Caution Around Cement Mixers, Sam



The Month Of May

By REV. B. S. MURRAY, M.A.

In these lovely May days there is an unmistakeable call to get out of doors and travel. It's lovely in the country just now! The bird songs . . . flowers and trees perfuming the air . . . and with hill and dale boasting God's blessing, these May days are soul stirring with the accent on beauty and harmony.

Why not endeavor to, here and now, recapture the glad happy harmonious bounteous youthful spirited mood and forthwith establish right relationships with everyone everywhere!

Well do I recall my grandfather reminding me that we can catch more flies with honey than with vinegar. And that reference to honey carried me back across the years to the time when Jacob's sons were about to go down to Egypt the second time to buy corn. They had not been received very kindly the first time and they were not anxious to go again but necessity compelled them. Jacob knew how a little gift would soften the harsh words that might greet them, so he advised them to "take of the best fruits of land . . a little balm and a little honey" (Gen 43: 11).

NOW IS THE TIME

Good advice, isn't it? And Spring is the time to forgive and begin again! So if harsh words are separating you from your father or mother, your sister or brother or perhaps a dear friend, arrange to visit them and, taking a little honey with you, establish right relationships. It is both unwise and unhealthy to carry old grudges, misunderstandings, hard thoughts along the Road of Life. Then, too, life is short! So be kind to yourself these lovely May days and now — not next week, nor next month—it may be too late—forgive and forget and, beginning all over again, resolve to live harmoniously and happily ever after! You can do this, and more also, through Christ Who strengtheneth you!

THE BALM OF KINDNESS

Actualise then St. Paul's advice to be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving (Eph. 4: 32). Even occasionally being a little kinder than necessary. For kindness which smooths out difficulties and disarms antagonism creates that environment in which understanding, help and encouragement grow thus making life lovesome and harmonious. If perchance you have wounded, bruised, or hurt anyone, intentionally or unintentionally, take to them a little balm of kindness and the gospel honey of love. In so doing you will be helping to make this sad old world into a Fairyland Tomorrow—and not the hideous place that it is. The Good Samaritan did it. I know you will, too! And always remember that in the end kindness even to those who have been unkind to us, is never regretted. As the Master was generous in dispensing the balm of kindness and the honey of good cheer, so must we, too.

THE HONEY OF GOOD CHEER

Wherever the Master went He greeted people with "Be of good cheer (John 16:33). Keep up heart! Have faith! As His followers —Christians—we, too, must be joyful and finding earth not grey but rosy and Heaven not grim but fair of hue radiate Good Cheer in the home, business, everywhere, reserving a special brand for the sick, handicapped, the aged, in fact all who are afflicted or distressed in mind, body, or estate Christ and His Church expects you to Brighten the corner where you are!

AND GOOD WILL, TOO

In so doing you will be an ambassador of Good Will! And Good Will which covers everything from sincere courtesy to Christian love is a "must" prescribed by the angels who announced Christ's birth (Luke 2: 14). Unfortunately too many have preferred with dire results, Ill will typified in Macbeth, Old Scrooge, Benedict Arnold, Adolf Hitler. Let us forthwith endeavour to recapture that positive expression of Good Will which Lincoln advocated—"With malice toward none, with charity for all . . ." This is the spirit of Christ in action and when this grips human hearts everywhere, then will unharmony, discord and "all hatred cease as in the realms above."

FAITH—HOPE—LOVE

From Jesus comes the call, across the centuries, to begin anew and live in right relationships with men, thy brethren. Forgive if you would be forgiven is His requirement. And in order to really live we must forgive others as well as ourselves! Doesn't the Church insist that we must be in love and charity with our neighbors? And armed with the intention of leading a new life, forthwith must follow Gods commandments and walk henceforth in His holy ways.

You will never be sorry for obeying Christ and His Church! You'll never regret the kind words you speak and the kind acts you do. They make a soft pillow at the end.

So in your kit bag take along 'a little honey" of the various kinds we have suggested. These can be reduced to three—Faith, Hope, Love—containing the right proportions of honey necessary for happy sunlit harmonious living. God go with and love you! Always!

BANKER HAS SKILL AT BRIDGE TABLE

Some of the best bridge players in this country seldom enter a bridge club or a bridge tournament. They do most of their playing at home, or perhaps in a country club. G. G. Money, of Barbados in the British West Indies, is a player of this sort.

Appropriately enough, Mr. Money is a banker and he plays bridge in a conservative but very skillfull manner at the Savannah Club in Barbados. Today's hand shows Mr. Mooney at his prudent best.

West opened the five of diamonds, and my banker friend played low from the dummy and carefully won with the king in his own hand. His next step was to lead the king of hearts and overtake with dummy's ace. Then he continued with the jack of hearts from dummy, forcing out East's queen.

East returned the ten of spades, but Mr. Money's prudence was not a bit strained by this shift. He put up the ace of spades, winning the trick, and returned a low diamond towards dummy's jack.

West could take the queen of diamonds, but he could not prevent declarer from getting to dummy with the jack of diamonds to cash the rest of the hearts. South was thus sure of winning four heart tricks, three diamonds, and the two black aces.

Evidently, a difficult contract gives my friend no trouble. He can score it up at the beginning of the hand, just as though it were money in the bank.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"NO-MELDITIS" IS PROBLEM

"A very peculiar incident happened a few nights ago," relates a California correspondent.

"Everything was going well, and we had a score of about 3,500, while our opponents had about 1700. Our opponents finally melded and were most fortunate in being able to connect their melds and go out. Our side had not melded, and we lost the total of our cards and three red threes, for a loss of 595 points.

"While we were counting, I discovered that my partner could have melded 120 with about seven or eight cards. I made no remark, but reduced our score to about 2900 and proceeded with the game. We melded 90 in our next hand and boosted our score to about 4200.

"Again we needed 120 points, and again our opponents melded, added to their melds, and had very few cards in their hand.

"To make a long story short, the same thing happened again. I had a hopeless hand and never had a chance to make an initial meld. My partner could have made the initial meld with seven cards. He failed to do so, and we lost the count of our cards and once more three red threes.

"Could my partner possibly have a good reason for failing to make the initial meld in these two hands? If not, what was going on?"

This looks like a chronic case of "no-melditis." The best cure for this is to wave the score pad rapidly under the patient's nose.

It is sometimes unwise to use most of your cards to make the initial meld, especially when the opponents have all of their cards still in the hand. There is then great danger that you will soon be obliged to give away the discard pile. There is far less danger of losing the pile when each opponent has a reduced hand.

When the opponents have made substantial melds and are trying to meld out, your side can likewise afford to meld liberally and play for out. This is especially true when your side has a healthy lead in the score, since then you are in excellent position to trade punches.

Nevertheless, there is nothing my correspondent can do but grin and bear it. Canasta is a partnership game, and a player is bound by the acts of his partner. If your partner plays well, rejoice; if he plays badly, perhaps you can have the pleasure of playing against him on some other occasion.

Moreover, just think how miserable we would be if our partners always played perfectly. We, ourselves, being only human, would still go on making mistakes. As a result we would always have to do the explaining instead of the complaining. In the field of complaints it is better to give than to receive!

SHORT STORY

Julie Was Nineteen

By Lilliace M. Mitchell

3-Minute Fiction

To say that Julie was sorely disappointed when a very plump woman sank into the front seat beside her on the bus would be only part truth. Julie was mad clear through. Especially so since a whole string of slim, dark young men filed on the bus with that careless ease of men who know how to go places. Julie thought that she counted eighteen of these young men but the plump woman remarked pleasantly as Julie craned her neck, "You don't need to move, my dear I don't mind in the least having someone in the seat next to me. I always reserve this front seat so's I can see where the bus is going. I feel almost as if I'm driving myself."

The last young man was swinging into the bus now and he paused before the plump woman. Poking her amiably on the shoulder

"Hey, sing it again, will you?" said one of the young men.

he said firmly, "I want two chicken legs for dinner, see? I gotta eat, understand me—I'm on no diet! I want mushroom sauce, too!"

"Oh, you do, do you?" said the plump woman cheerfully. "Scat along to your seat and eat what I put before you! I may even give you liver and bacon if I feel like it."

Behind her, Julie could hear one of the young men singing in low tones. His seatmate joined in presently and they appeared to be singing a partsong. Julie turned restlessly. She knew the song well. There were three notes wrong, the way they were singing it.

Suddenly she found herself humming the melody properly.

"The girl's got it, Snider!" said one of the young men. "Hey, sing it again, will you?"

"Sing it for them, my dear," urged the plump woman. "They are not getting fresh. They're my boys——"

"Your boys! Not all eighteen of them?" asked Julie in horror.

The woman laughed comfortably. "Well, the one who stopped to talk is mine. He's the leader of the orchestra. But the others have all been with us a long time and they're all A-1 fellows. They've put the music with the luggage an they won't have much time to rehearse when we get there. They'll all give me a hand with the cooking."

"Maybe when they get going, they can hire a dietician," said Julie gently.

"Bless your heart, Jon makes three thousand a week clear." she said in her pleasant fashion. "Sing the song for them, dearie."

Julie half turned in her seat and with blushing cheeks sang the melody in low, clear notes. The other in the bus joined in. The one called Jon came to stand beside his mother's chair.

"If you had a wardrobe—and wanted a job—I could put you on tonight," he told Julie. "Just before we started I had a telegram from our soloist and she's in some hospital with tonsilitis. Bad luck for her but she can't sing for months. Well do you want the job?"

"I have an amethyst strapless chiffon." Julie told him.

Jon turned questioning eyes to his mother. "The silver drop behind her. Mom?"

His mother nodded. "You didn't mention the salary to her, Son."

"We'll say a hundred a week to start. Jon Gardner's Swing Orchestra is the name—in case you don't know."

"You—why, you're on the radio, too," said Julie.

"Oh yes, but we'll add your share of the radio proceeds. We have a profit-sharing stunt amongst ourselves on that" said Jon Gardner casually.

And Julie looking up at him, dropped her eyes. She didn't want to acknowledge so soon just how much she liked him—now! And even at this moment she could imagine Joe's shining eyes and his "Aw-gee, Sis!" when he learned that she was to be the soloist with Jon Gardner's Swing Orchestra. In a fashion Jon reminded her of her brother, Joe. When a girl of nineteen goes maternal she is falling in love.

Julie was nineteen.

Timber Management

Properly spaced forest trees will grow high quality lumber more quickly. Trees too close together slow down in growth. Trees too far apart will produce big limbs a poor lumber.

It had 365 beautifully appointed rooms, that accommodated guests who came from all parts of the continent, to spend the long summer months. In addition to the main building, Mr. LeBaron had built the beautiful Casino, which contained among other attractions, two bowling alleys, a hall where roller-skating was enjoyed, with instruction by Mr. Charles Hawse, and a pavilion for dancing. The Casino was made entirely of round cedar logs, and was built over the brook.

Glen Villa provided for the amusement and convenience of its guests, canoes, a boat livery, and a large stable of horses for riding, and driving in tally-hos, a rig with six seats, drawn by four horses. A little power boat made daily trips to the village, and the late Mr. T. V. Reed operated a stage coach service to and from Glen Villa. Turcotte's band provided music four times a day, at meals, and for dancing in the evening. One season, an all-girl orchestra from Boston was an added attraction. Two friendly bear cubs offered sport for any venturesome soul who cared to don a special leather jacket and wrestle with them.

The large, carefully tended grounds were centred by a huge fountain, traces of which may still be seen. Early in June of 1909, when all the help had been engaged, reservations made, and all preparations complete for another busy season, Glen Villa burned down, and there are those today who can recall watching the sky and water ablaze with the reflection from the conflagration. As Mr. Sampson stated in his story of the boats, by that time people were getting their own little boats, travelling up and down the lake became simple. Guests came for short visits, not for the entire season, and Glen Villa was never rebuilt, but

"Do you remember?
If you remember,
Then dearie, you're much older than I."

Fine Of $25 Is Imposed

Romeo Boislard, of Asbestos, charged with assault, pleaded guilty before Judge Edouard Boisvert here yesterday and was fined $25 and costs. He was ordered to post a bond of $100 to keep the peace for one year.

Boislard was fined less than the court costs, which were over $75, since his case was postponed frequently.

Leopold Roy, 20, of Windsor Mills, was given a suspended sentence after he pleaded guilty to a charge of indecent assault. He too appeared before Judge Boisvert.

Roland Dugre, Q.C., acted for the crown, and Armand Nadeau, Q.C., represented Roy.

Y. W. C. A. Plans Girls' Annual Summer Camp

At a meeting of the Y.W.C.A. Health Education Committee on April 29th, further plans were made for the camp at Shore Acres which will run from June 27th to July 25th.

Miss Joan Croll, Y.W.C.A. Physical Director who has been in charge of the camp for the past 2 years, reported that Miss Gwen Norris, R.N., of the Sherbrooke Hospital Staff would attend as Camp Nurse. Miss Norris has been active in Guiding and Sunday School work at St. Peter's Church since coming to Sherbrooke from England. Her services will be greatly appreciated.

Miss Thomasine Mawhood who has assisted Miss Croll with swimming at the Y.W.C.A. for two years, is to be Swimming Director. Miss Mawhood is taking a Red Cross Instructors' Course at Lac Trois Saumons in June.

The Shore Acres Camp is rented from the Y's Men's Club who have added many improvements this past year. The new infirmary which is being donated by Mr. A. C. Skinner in memory of his wife, will be a great asset to this excellent camp.

Frechette, secretary-treasurer.

Conrad Douville of Thetford Mines, P.Q., has been appointed director and vice-president. Georges A. Remillard of St. Jean, P.Q., Joseph Allaire, of Disraeli, P.Q. and Georges Plamondon, of Drummondville, will remain on the new board. Other vacancies will be filled at a later date.

chest and abdominal ailments, and for other X-ray procedures required in the physician's work."

But he wanted to stress the importance of maintaining the traditional doctor-patient relationship. There was no thought, he said, "of regimentation or centralization of personal health services."

"We do not want in Canada to see any barrier imposed between doctor and patient for that would lessen the doctor's effectiveness and the patient would inevitably suffer."

The new grant for disabled persons will start at $500,000 in the current year, working up to the annual maximum of $1,000,000 next year.

At the maximum, the grant will be $10,000 a year for each province with the remainder divided on the basis of population.

Funds will be available for the training of professional rehabilitation workers, for medical rehabilitation equipment and for rehabilitation health services.

Each project approved must fit into the over-all program to aid distabled persons. Equipment which could be purchased with this money would include: Electro-therapy apparatus, Hubbard baths, whirlpool baths, remedial gymnastic apparatus and other special equipment "used to correct disabilities."

The mother-and-child grant also will start at a total of $500,000 this year, working up to the maximum of $2,000,000 in 1955-56. It also will be distributed to the provinces on the basis of $10,000 each, with the remainder divided among provinces in accordance with numbers of births and infant deaths. On each project submitted, a province will be required to match the federal share.

Each province would decide how the grant would be used.

Home And School Program Report

Asbestos-Danville-Shipton had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Sinclair McIntosh tell of Bedford's experience in their summer playground project at the regular monthly meeting held Wednesday, April 13. If they don't make a start this year it won't be caused by lack of interest aroused. Her excellent talk giving do's and don'ts from their experience was well received.

Mrs. McIntosh said plans for the third year were practically completed and they found the interest and effectiveness growing.

They were able to obtain use of school grounds with playground equipment and school basement for rainy days.

The playgrounds opens the middle of July and the first year planned to run for a month but was so successful they extended it another week. The second year the time was extended to six weeks and this year they have a five-week timetable scheduled. They have a registration of 60 with average attendance of 40 — which by playground statistics is excellent, they are told.

Bedford is a small town of 2,500 population, 20 per cent English-speaking.

Regarding financing the project Mrs. McIntosh said the fathers raised $200 the first year and with $2 family memberships they kept out of the red. The second year they reduced membership to $1 and it is remaining that this year.

A well-planned timetable is a must to a successful playground and supervisors with the know-how in charge.

Mrs. McIntosh recommends if possible branches send supervisor to Montreal to take the ten days' course given early in June to all island playground supervisors and to write Mr. H. C. Ryan of McGill University, Dept. of Athletics, for information.

The playground is divided into three age groups—3 to 5 year olds, 6 to 8 and 9 to 12. Bedford has learned through experience it is advisable to have a supervisor for each group with volunteer mothers to help. They have a list of 50 mothers who take regular mornings and are on call for extra service when emergencies arise. The hours of the playground are from 9 to 12 and two afternoons for the 9 to 12 group when hikes, swimming parties and trips to places of interest are planned — usually ending with a weenie roast. The supervisor is paid $100 and high school students who work under her are paid $2 a day.

In Bedford the voluntary services of a ranking tennis player proved invaluable for a group of older children. Two hours a week tennis instruction was available for those interested. A tournament at the end of the period was also in the plans. On the opening day a member of committee must be present to take money and give each child a ribbon badge which has an appeal especially to the smaller children.

I greatly regret space forbids me giving the complete talk but perhaps Mrs. McIntosh is available as a speaker to go to your branch. I can assure you she has the know-how for summer playground organization.

CRIMINAL LAW

Y's Arts & Crafts Committee To Meet To Plan Exhibits

The Arts and Crafts Committee will meet on Monday to plan autumn sessions. Possibly an Exhibit in the early autumn will provide an opportunity to display results of past efforts which are successfully encouraging artistic talents.

Members of Mr. Cripps' painting class have expressed desire to continue next autumn.

Students in Ceramics under Mrs. Hans Holt, of Windsor Mills, produced very attractive cream and sugar sets, vases, ash trays and ornamental plates.

Several summer cottages will be the brighter because of attractive hooked and braided rugs which were made under the direction of Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Whitehead.

It is of interest to note that 12 associate "Y" members and one lady qualified for 1st year Certificates in the Carpentry Course which was given by l'Ecole Technique as a joint project with the Y.W.C.A. Arts and Crafts.

The French Conversation group progressed very favourably under the able tutorship of Mr. Omer Pelletier and were pleasantly entertained at the close of their final class night by Miss Doris Grenier and Mr. Armand Jeanson, members of the Union Theatrale Francois and friends of Mr. Pelletier. This group has been touring Quebec Province and the New England States. Their artistry was much appreciated by "Y" members.

The fall and winter classes have aroused considerable interest in bi-lingual education and the Committee looks forward to future happy gatherings in the development of Creative Art.

Woman Is Given Racing License By Commission

Toronto — (CP) — Olive R. Armstrong is the first woman owner-trainer to receive a licence from the Ontario racing commission in 1953.

She's delighted, and one of her horses, the three-year-old Winter Lady is a candidate for the Queen's Plate. "I hope she'll do well in training and go in the race," said Miss Armstrong.

She also owns the two-year-old Welcome Home and the five-year-old Buntoro.

Miss Armstrong is not new to the racing game in Ontario, nor is she the first woman trainer to get a licence. That distinction went to Judy Johnson, who handled steeplechasers. Later, Mrs. Harry Giddings received a licence. At the moment however Miss Armstrong is alone in the Ontario field.

She has been with Willie Morrissey, owner and breeder, for some time. She assisted at the Morrissey breeding farm and has kept the records of the breeding stock and those in active racing.

Then she says: "I became interested in owning a few."

Deny Report About Princess

London— (AP) —A Buckingham Palace spokesman today scoffed at reports Princess Margaret may enter a religious order after the Coronation.

The New York Daily News, in a dispatch from Washington, attributed the report to "diplomats returning from London."

"This rumor has been floating around for some time," the Palace spokesman said, "but there is no reason to believe Princess Margaret is contemplating anything of the kind."

The 23-year-old princess was once the acknowledged leader of London's younger smart set and spent most of her evenings at night clubs or dinner parties.

But since the death of her father just more than a year ago she has lived quietly with the Queen Mother.

Her last appearance in public was a week ago, when she attended Olympic horse trials with the Queen at West Country Badminton. Photographers snapped her on that occasion, looking serious and smoking a cigaret from a long holder.

New Zealand Atomic Plans Are Advanced

Wairakei, N.Z. — (Reuters)—New Zealand's atomic plans took a sharp stride forward when engineers "blew" a 2,020-foot-deep experimental bore Friday, releasing a great jet of super-heated steam which blasted 400 feet into the air above this scenic valley.

The jet roared out so violently that all recording instruments were shattered. Technicians quickly set to work to devise new ones able to withstand the enormous force.

The test bore, twice as deep as any previously sunk here, is the latest in a series probing the seething depths of this hot-spring valley in the government's heavy-water project. If successful, the plan can speed atomic development in the southwest Pacific area and provide new sources of wealth and health for the Commonwealth.

The discovery that the jet apparently consisted of dry steam, suitable for direct use in power turbines, also spurs planning for a diversity of industries tentatively projected as a sideline to the atomic project. In previous borings only "wet" steam had been tapped from underground.

Officials stress that the heavy-water project is still in an experimental stage, but Commonwealth scientists including Sir John Cockroft, Britain's top atomic expert, have already given cautious approval.

Heavy-water production, they believe, might be linked with exploitation of Australia's uranium fields to set up atomic piles and produce radioactive isotopes—now flown all the way out from Britain. These radioactive substances have already demonstrated vital medical and industrial applications.

Heavy water is a hydrogen-oxygen compound with a molecular formation different from that of ordinary water. It is a better moderator than graphite, generally used to slow down the neutrons released in an atomic pile, but the high costs of its production have thus far discouraged its use in the world's main atomic establishments.

Heavy water is present in ordinary water in the ratio of about one drop to a cupful. One process of separating it out utilizes the different boiling points of the two liquids.

The vast steam resources of this bubbling valley provide ready-made raw materials for the process, and scientists believe the substance can be produced here at costs drastically below those of previous methods.

Oslo —(Reuters)—Princess Margaret of Britain will be among some 500 guests drawn from Europe's royalty and high society attending the wedding May 15 of Princess Ragnhild to Erling Svend Lorentzen, wealthy commoner. Princess Margaret will represent the Queen and during her visit here will stay with other royal guests in the Oslo palace of 80-year-old King Haakon.

Red Shield On The Air

A galaxy of Canadian talent will launch the national Red Shield Appeal with an hour-long "Salute to The Salvation Army." The broadcast, which will originate in the Toronto studios of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, will be heard locally from station CKTS at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Part of the feature broadcast will be the dramatization of an actual case history from the files of The Salvation Army. Special music and song will round out the one hour of good listening for a good cause.

Annual Y-Teen Mother-Daughter Banquet Held

The MacKinnon Memorial Clubroom was the scene of a delightful event on Monday evening when 54 "Teens," their mothers and guests enjoyed a banquet and program which had been arranged through the co-operative efforts of the Youth Committee chaired by Mrs. A. M. Stevens, the Member's Council, and Y-Teen group.

Miss Sally Billings acted as chairman and the guests were welcomed by Miss Margaret Stevens, president of the group.

Miss Phyllis Haslam of National Y.W.C.A., Toronto, addressed the gathering using as her subject "What the Young Women's Christian Association means." "Y" represents not only the young in years, but all whose thoughts are young and keenly interested in Youth." Miss Haslam explained "W" of course, stands for "women" also "world"; "C" the Christian emphasis of our organization through which people of "All" colour, class and creed may realize the worth of Christian Fellowship.

Immediate Action Is Planned By Canadian Oil Co.

Montreal, May 2. — Immediate action to build a new plant was announced today by W. Harold Rea, president of Canadian Oil Companies, Ltd., whose lubricating oil and grease manufacturing plant at Montreal was destroyed Wednesday by fire. The Montreal plant was opened only 18 months ago.

"Size, type and layout of the new plant will need study by officials who began their survey early this morning, but a new plant definitely will be built and with all possible speed," he stated. "Insurance on the plant we have lost will finance its replacement.

"In the meantime reserve equipment which we are bringing into action at our other plants, together with additional manufacturing and packaging facilities being made available to us ensure that the supply of defence, industrial and automotive lubricants will be maintained."

Blending and canning departments at Canadian Oil's large Toronto plant, where some lubricants were made before the Montreal plant opened swung back into action before the ruins of the Montreal plant had cooled. Blending oils in storage tanks which escaped the fire at Montreal were sped by tank car to Toronto. Orders for cans were tele-phoned to the supplier at Hamilton and packages were rushed to Toronto, Montreal and other cities.

The Doctor Says:

LEUKEMIA IS STILL RARE DISEASE

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Leukemia is a disease which was named and recognized more than a hundred years ago. Translated it means "white blood."

The blood does not turn white in leukemia, but it does have a "whiteness" about it which is caused by the destruction of some of the normal red cells and the addition of large numbers of colorless cells which are known as white cells or leucocytes.

Normally, there are about 5,000 to 10,000 white cells are leucocytes in a cubic millimeter of blood—this being a very small amount of blood indeed. In many forms of leukemia the number of white cells rises to 30,000 or 40,000 and sometimes more than 100,000. There are both normal and abnormal kinds of white cells present.

In the rapid or acute cases the body becomes overwhelmed with the abnormal white cells. In such cases weakness develops rapidly. There is likely to be bleeding from the gums or into the skin.

In the slower or more chronic cases, enlargement of the lymph glands in the armpits, groin or neck may be the first sign of the disease. The spleen also is usually enlarged. Increasing fatigue is another common early sign.

The exact diagnosis of leukemia is made by examining the blood under the microscope. This is done by taking a small drop of blood and counting the white cells. The blood is also smeared on a glass slide, stained with special dyes, and examined under the microscope.

It is possible that leukemia is becoming more frequent, although it may still be considered as a comparatively rare disease. It should be realized, too, that there are several kinds of leukemia, depending on the particular variety of white cells involved and on whether the condition is acute or chronic.

Cause Is Unknown

Unfortunately, the cause of leukemia is not known. It is sometimes called cancer of the blood, but this is not really correct because no one is yet entirely sure as to whether it is related to cancer or not. Also, it cannot be cut out by surgery as many cancers are.

Victims of leukemia, particularly those with chronic varieties, often can be helped temporarily by blood transfusions, X-ray treatments over the spleen, or by certain kinds of arsenic preparations taken by mouth. Other methods, including ACTH and cortisone, are being studied, though treatment of any kind is still far from satisfactory.

B. I. C. Home And School Meets At Cookshire

Cookshire, May 2. — The B.I.C. Home and School Association held a meeting in the auditorium of the High School on Monday evening, April 27th, with the Rev. P. W. Jones in the chair.

The secretary, Mrs. Paintin, read the minutes of the executive meeting, which was held in March in the teachers' rest room of the High School for the purpose of appointing committees to plan for the March banquet.

Donald MacRae, the treasurer, gave very satisfactory reports for the general funds, cod liver oil and soup funds. In the absence of Donald Macmillan, Mrs. Paintin gave a very satisfactory financial report of the dental clinic.

The correspondence consisted of a letter from Mrs. Gilbert asking for a report of the association's best program for the year, which would be printed in the Sherbrooke Record's column reserved for that purpose, and a letter of thanks from Dr. and Mrs. Bennett for their presentations at the March banquet.

After some discussion, it was decided to continue the dental clinic this year with the same officers in charge as last year.

A nominating committee, appointed to bring in a slate of officers for the next year, includes the following: Mrs. Ross, Hollis Burns, Mrs. H. C. Barter.

It was thought advisable to have a "research committee," and the following were appointed for that project, W. W. Roberts, D. MacRae, Mrs. J. Vogell.

Mrs. Heatherington reported on the hot soup served at the school in the winter months, and stated that 1191 cups had been served to the out-of-town scholars. Mrs. R. Hodge, on behalf of the parents, thanked the committee ladies who had looked after the work so efficiently.

The May meeting will be held at the Bulwer School on Monday, May 11, with the Bulwer members in charge of the program. D. MacRae will look after the transportation arrangements for those members wishing to be conveyed to the meeting.

GENERAL NOTES

The friends of Mrs. Northcott will be sorry to learn that she is on the sick list. Mrs. T. Bewick and Miss Barbara Bewick have been taking care of her.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Bewick were Mr. George Lebourveau, of Brookbury, and Mr. J. Waterhouse, of Birchton.

Mrs. Henrietta Hodgman entertained several friends in honor of Mrs. E. Davis, prior to her leaving to make her home in Lennoxville.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Ronald Learned and family in the loss of her father, the late Frederick Currier, of Marbleton.

Mrs. Roy Lake is visiting relatives and friends in Toronto.

Miss Lorna Heatherington, of the R.C.A.F. Station, at Falconbridge, Ont., was a recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Heatherington.

Miss Edith Gill, of Coaticook, was a recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gill.

A number of the Boy Scouts spent a day at Tamarac Lodge, Clear Lake, with their scout master, E. S. Heatherington.

"Everlasting punishment," is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, this Sunday.
This Lesson-Sermon teaches that because sin reflects belief in powers opposed to God, the sufferings it produces must last until the omnipotence of God, infinite good, is recognized and the expectation of benefit from other sources ends in reformation.
The Golden Text is from Hebrews: "No chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby."
Among the Bible citation is the parable of the prodigal son from Luke, which includes the following: "And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son. But the father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him . . . For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found."
Correlative passages from the denominational text book, "Science and health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following: "We acknowledge God's forgiveness of sin in the destruction of sin and the spiritual understanding that casts out evil as unreal. But the belief in sin is punished so long as the belief lasts. In some way, sooner or later, all must rise superior to materiality, and suffering is oft the divine agent in this elevation."

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

Johnny, a fifth grader, never shows the other kinds a new possession without bragging about how much it cost. Furthermore, his first question when a classmate shows him something, is always: "How much did it cost?" Anyone who knows Johnny can make a safe bet that his parents put a money value on everything.
Children don't brag about the cost of things unless they hear too much talk about money at home.

CORONATION BOUND: Proudly, from the old port of Quebec, nearly 150 officers and men of Canada's Active and Reserve Army sailed April 29 on board the SS Columbia for England and the Coronation.

Included in the draft were two of Canada's most famous soldiers, Lt.-Col. James Riley "Big Jim" Stone, DSO, MC, of Salmon Arm, B.C., who commanded the Princess Patricias Canadian Light Infantry in the early stages of the Korean campaign and Lt.-Col. Paul Triquet, VC, of Quebec who won the Empires highest award for valour at Casa Berardi in Italy during the battle for Ortona.

With them sailed be-ribboned fighting men from all parts of Canada. They were a hand-picked crew and this was apparent as they smartly mounted the gangplank a few hours befort the ship left port. Among them they represnted almost every Active and Reserve unit in Canada. Two of the Eastern Townships members of the contingent are shown in this picture. They are, left to right, Pte. Rosaire Desrosiers of Coaticook and Pte. Henri Lemelin of Sherbrooke. (National Defence Photo).

Asbestos C. A. C. Annual Meeting, Officers Elected

Asbestos, May 2. — The Asbestos Branch, Canadian Association of Consumers, held its annual meeting Tuesday, April 21, with the president, Mrs. E. L. Gilbert in the chair.

Reports of officers and committees showed an active and successful year. The treasurer, Mrs. S. Brigham, reported receipts during the year were $144.09, of which $15.84 is now on hand. Mrs. Mamen, membership committee, reported 182 members, a very considerable increase over last year. Mrs J. Fletcher, Danville, reporting on the circulation of the magazaine, "Consumer Reports," asked that members pass them on promptly, never holding them more than one week.

The president thanked the members for their loyalty to the C.A.C. and added: "I hope we have become better informed women. We are no longer small and weak but have surely reached maturity on all levels; so much so that it is frightening the influence we can wield. Mrs. Walton, our national president, reminds us that we must be alert that our power is not used by partizan groups but for the good of the community, nationally. In Asbestos we have been called upon and assisted in TB Seal drive, Anti-TB Mobile project and Institute for the Blind campaign for funds. Lincoln said 'Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it.'"

Mrs. Gilbert added, "We are deeply indebted to Canadian Johns-Manville in allowing us their mimeograph facilities, as well as movie projector, and to Pat Shea, a real community correlator. Also our sincere thanks to All Saints Church vestry for the use of the Hall."

The president also warmly thanked the officers and committees, and regretted that Mrs. R. Winson, who for five years had borne the duties of secretary, now found home duties compelled her resignation.

The constitution and by-laws, recommended by the Quebec English branch, were read and adopted unanimously.

Notice was given that the annual meeting of the Provincial C.A.C. will be held May 28 at the Y.W.C.A., Dorcester street, Montreal. The Asbestos executive will meet May 19th at 3 p.m.

A picture, "Champion Golf," is being obtained by Mr. Shea for showing to the golf club, and if desired he would show it to the C.A.C., the time and place to be published in the local papers.

The nominating committee, Mrs T. Miller, Mrs. H. Heath and Mrs. H. Rozovsky, presented their slate and the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. E. L. Gilbert; 1st vice-president, Mrs. A. D. Tector; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. L. Langlais; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. Strachan; recording secretary, Mrs. W. A. MacGinnis; treasurer, Mrs. S Brigham.

Danville members requested that occasional meetings be held in Danville, and it was agreed that the next one should take place there.

At the close of business the president introduced Mr. Pat Shea who showed two films on cancer, and Dr. Robertson, who answered questions from the audience afterwards. The many question following these informative and interesting films showed how deeply the audience was aware of the problem of cancer.

A social half hour over a cup of tea, serviced by the hospitality committee under the convenership of Mrs. H. Rozovsky, closed the afternoon's program.

Miss McCourt Completes 25 Years' Service With Store At Richmond

Richmond, May 2. — Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Marcotte entertained at their home on College street in honour of Miss Edith McCourt, who has been a member of the R. A. Marcotte departmental store staff for 25 years. The spacious rooms were beautifully decorated with spring flowers.

Miss McCourt was invited to their home on Saturday evening immediately after closing hours to meet a firend of hers from Montreal, who was their guest.

The guest of honor was taken very much by surprise to find a large number of the present and former staff members and their relatives waiting to welcome her.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcotte met her at the door and extended their sincere congratulations to her on her long and faithful services with their firm. Each guests was presented with a 25 year badge.

Mr. Marcotte proposed a toast to Miss McCourt and spoke very highly of her untiring interest in her work, her faithfulness and cheerful desposition at all times. He said, "Miss McCourt is only happy when she is doing something for others." She is highly respected by all the Richmond citizens and also she has many friends in the surrounding district. She is kind to young and old and is especially thoughtful of people who are ill or shut-ins. Mr. Marcotte aiso spoke of the out-standing work she did for the local servicemen during World War II.

Little Miss Marielle Chaput, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. Chaput, very gracefully approached Miss McCourt and, on behalf of

MISS McCOURT

Mr. and Mrs. Marcotte and family, presented her with a substantial cheque and on behalf of the present and former staff members she presented her with a purse of money. Miss McCourt also received a basket of 25 red roses from the staff members and Mr. and Mrs. Marcotte and family, flowers from Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Cloutier, of Drummondville, and several other individual gifts; also a number of letters and telegrams. She received two special messages from Mr. Gillis Marcotte, of Seven Islands, and Rev. Sister Adelina (formerly Berthe Marcotte), of Woonsocket, R. I.

The guest of honor very feelingly expressed her sincere appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Marcotte for their kindness and generosity and for arranging such a pleasant evening in her honor. She also thanked the staff members for their generous gift and all her friends who had so kindly remembered her.

The evening was spent with music and dancing. Vocal and instrumental selections were rendered by Miss Jeannette Duval, of Ottawa, Miss Frances Proulx, Miss Giselle Poulin and Mr. W. T. Epps, of Farnham.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by the members of her family. A three-tiered anniversary cake, made and decorated by Mrs. R. A. Marcotte, was presented to Miss McCourt during the refreshment hour.

Paint Your House When the Weather's Right

After the weatherman turns off the April showers, many home owners are bound to step out in the glowing sunshine full of good humor and ambition to paint their houses.

Whether they still have their good cheer when the job is done depends, for one thing, upon how good a job it is. A few timely tips may preserve their house-painting humor.

First off, don't paint until the weather is clear, dry and the temperature is above 40 degrees F.

Paint only the shady side of the house when the weather is excessively hot, especially when painting wood trim, is the advice of one paint manufacturer. The hot sun may cause rapid evaporation of paint solvents, which results in a "skin" forming on the surface, trapping the remaining solvents beneath it. This eventually causes "gas blistering."

Don't paint over a surface that is wet or damp, and stop painting before late-afternoon dampness sets in.

On previously painted houses, apply one or two coats of exterior house paint. On badly weathered surfaces, apply a coat of wood primer and a finish coat.

But prepare all surfaces before starting. They should be as clean as possible; nail down loose boards; putty nail holes after applying first coat; remove loose or checked paint with wire brush or scraper; sandpaper glossy areas to give "tooth" for finish; sand and dust previously painted surfaces that have weathered normally; remove loose putty on window lights, prime the exposed wood and apply fresh putty.

To paint, use a brush about four inches wide on large areas, a two-and-a-half-inch to three-inch brush for small areas and a sash tool for window sash. Don't submerge the whole length of the bristles in the paint bucket.

Preparation of the surfaces is more than half the battle of house-painting and important to the durability of the coating.

Start at an upper corner of one side of the house and work down, trying to finish one day's work at another corner or window to avoid laps or streaks when you resume painting the next day.

In painting clapboard siding cover about six feet in a sweep before moving down to the next board.

Save painting shutters and trim until last. Remove shutters and place them on boxes or saw horses to paint. Use shutter paints, for pigment of house paints is inclined to wash down over surfaces below and cause streaks.

Use a wire brush to remove loose paint and rust from metal roofs, gutters, downspouts and flashing and apply a metal primer to cover the exposed metal before brushing on the finish coat.

Good paint brush care pays off, so it is always wise to suspend brushes in enough linseed oil to cover the bristles when your painting day is ended. The brushes shouldn't touch the bottom of the container.

Cover the paint can tightly to store paint overnight. If a film forms on top of the paint, remove it—don't stir it in.

Mr. Fix

Here Are 'Why' and Answers to Paint Failure

By MR. FIX

Perhaps nothing distresses a home owner more than to see the paint in and on his home failing. Especially so when the paint represents a labor of love and more than a little bit of cash.

This is borne out by letters from readers of this column. Disturbed (to understate the case), they want to know the reasons for paint failure so they can prevent more of the same.

Quite often the fault lies with the paint itself, and with the owner who selects a cheap grade of paint to save money. Most manufacturers make at least two grades of paint. To buy the cheaper grade is often a waste of money, and the saving involved is slight.

If the fault isn't inherent in the paint, moisture is usually the villain in this melodrama, as you will see.

It can be moisture generated by everyday housekeeping activities. Adequate ventilation and moisture barriers built into the walls put this demon out of action.

It can be dampness that seeps into the house around fittings, window sashes, etc. Caulking will take care of a lot of it.

Moisture barriers in crawl spaces under basementless houses knock out another source of dampness.

Other causes of paint failure are: Painting over damp surfaces, using paint that forms a hard, brittle film, not giving undercoats sufficient time to dry, improper mixing of paint and careless application.

Blistering and peeling is one type of paint failure. This is caused by moisture behind the paint film. The wood may not have been dry at the time it was painted, or water vapor may be coming through the wall and condensing behind the paint. Moisture barriers and ventilating louvres help here.

Alligatoring is another type of failure. It is so-called because the painted surface resembles an alligator's scales. Only the top surface of the coating is affected. It may be caused by a faster-drying paint over a slower-drying one, or by a soft undercoat which wasn't allowed time enough to dry, or by an undercoat that had too much oil or thinner in it and so was unable to dry. It is necessary to remove alligatoring with a scraper before sanding and repainting.

Checking is like alligatoring in a lesser degree. It is a network of fine hair lines on the very surface of the outer coat, and is caused by a too-soft undercoat. Sand, dust and repaint. Another undercoat is unnecessary.

Cracking and scaling is separation of paint film from the wood or plaster in rather long strips. The paint first cracks, allowing moisture to get behind it and loosen it further. The defect is caused by hard, inelastic paints that don't expand with the wood under temperature changes. Scrape off and repaint with better material.

Remember to allow new wood to dry thoroughly before painting and to give the first coating time to dry.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—How can vertical cracks in corners of plaster walls be filled?

A—The easiest way is to mix patching plaster into a thick paste and brush it into the crack with a stiff paint brush. Let it dry for a while, then scrape off the excess.

BRAND NEW THIS SEASON are a number of colors, both for the house and for clothes, which pose a problem for the flower arranger because they were not designed to match or contrast with the more traditional flower colors.

Finding a medium-sized cutflower to go with the new cocoa browns, for example, is not easy without going into the Zinnias or Marigolds, which tend to be stiff instead of graceful. Greys such as gunmetal are hard to fit with violet blues, and unfortunately, most of our "blue" garden flowers tend toward this shade. Good strong pinks, practicularly carmine pinks are definitely needed, and the new Lipstick Petunia seems made to order for this purpose. It has a definite golden toning quite different from the usual Celestial Rose which is quite bluish under certain lights, and is a considerably deeper color as well.

Lipstick is a compact Gedding Petunia suitable for outdoor plantings by your picture window, where its color will compliment the decoration just as well as indoors. Throughout the flowering season it will retain its neat form, and thus is particularly good as a pot plant either at the front door or in a sunny porch. The 2½" golden-throated flowers are borne on good, medium-length stems for flower arrangement and hold up well in water.

When making flower arrangements avoid cream, apricot or orange shades which detract from Lipstick's flourescent quality. Pure paper whites are good and go with your room colors as well, clear light blue such as is found in Chinese Delphinium is a fine contrast, but deeper blues must be inspected for possible violet shadings. They will contrast with Lipstick, but may not match the other colors in the room. The same suggestions apply to bowls, of course. Silver or pewter containers are fine but copper or gold is not recommended.

Developed specifically on request of many gardeners, Lipstick was bred to fill the need for a deep rose or carmine Petunia without a blue tinge — actually tailor-made. It is, incidentally, quite colorfast, and will not wash out even in strong sun or under moderate shade. Most seedsman have Lipstick in stock or can get it for you. Try it for new and charming flower arrangements this summer.

MISS MONA FREEMAN of the movies went visiting Califnoria's huge flower-seed growing farms last Summer where she picked an armful of beautiful Peppermint Stick Zinnias and got herself photographed with a field many a gardener would like to have. Currently appearing in RKO's "Angel Face" starring Robert Mitchum and Jean Simmons, Miss Freeman has little time for her hobby, which is gardening, but Zinnias are easy enough to care for that she had a nice planting of Peppermint Stick in her own garden last Summer, too.

One of last Spring's knockout new flowers, Peppermint Stick was a hit with many of our gardeners and took a number of flower show awards because of its novel appearance. The mixture contains flowers in practically all Zinnia colors, with petal combinations of red and white, red and yellow, pink and white, carmine and white, orange and yellow, etc. Flowers are 3"-3½" in diameter on fine cutting stems and make excellent material for flower arrangements for the house.

Peppermint Stick plants are branching, 2'-2½' high, and grow fast just as all Zinnias do. Seeds should be planted where they are to remain, as Zinnias do not like transplanting, about ¼" deep in moistened soil. Any soil will do but the location should be full sun, and the ground thoroughly warm. First flowers will come in about 8 weeks and if blooms are kept picked the plants will bloom until frost. Peppermint stick Zinnias look well planted with Cupid or Giant Zinnias in white, yellow or pastels, and can also be planted with the new Plumed Cockscomb Golden Fleece, which takes the same culture. Seed was a little short last year, but best reports are that a plentiful supply will be available from practically all seedsmen during Spring of 1953. (Bodger Photo)

Masonry Paints Help Stop Moisture Damage

By MR. FIX

It would be nice to start off this column with a classical reference like: "As someone once said, 'A paintbrush is man's best friend.'" Though such a statement may not be on record, you have only to look around your neighborhood to verify the truth of it.

The "lucky" guy with a brick or masonry home may not be in the thick of a painting spree, but human nature is peculiar. Even he, who could leave well enough alone, sometimes chooses to add new beauty to his home via the paintbrush route. This column is for him.

Besides adding new beauty to masonry walls, the many protective coatings available for cast concrete, brick stucco, asbestos-cement siding, unglazed tile and aggregate block also render great service by repelling moisture.

As your neighbor with the masonry home well knows, prevention of costly damage caused by moisture seeping through porous masonry is quite worthwhile.

Regular house paint can be applied successfully to masonry surfaces as well as to wood, but there are paints especially for use on masonry. They include the cement-water paints, the resin-emulsion types and rubber-base coatings.

Besides these, there are special transparent, nonglossy coatings for brick and stone houses. They are moisture repellents.

The undercoat is of extreme importance in painting masonry. It should be a paint that is not affected by the lime that is always present in concrete, stucco and mortar.

Cement-water paint is especially suited to painting cinder, concrete and aggregate block walls and for walls of new structures that normally contain watersoluble salts. It may and should be applied to damp or dampened walls. Paint a new structure with this material not sooner than seven days after completion of the building.

Resin-emulsion paints for masonry are water-thinned. They may be used on most porous masonry, excepting magnesite stucco, and on asbestos-cement siding that has not been previously coated with a water-proofing compound. They have dry-film properties similar to those of flat oil paint and contain the same pigments as oil paints.

Rubber-base paints are considered particularly appropriate for painting asbestos-cement siding and shingles and will also seal in stains on old masonry. They will serve, too, as protective primers under finishing coats of resin-emulsion or oil-base paints.

Oil-base paints formulated especially for masonry surfaces provide a durable finish when two coats are applied. Depending on weather conditions and on the thickness and porosity of the walls, oil paint shouldn't be used until three months to a year after a structure is completed.

When oil paint is used, open-textured surfaces need a primer coat of cement-sand-base material.

Before any paint is applied, however, structural defects in masonry must be repaired. It must be "pointed up" where necessary—joints and cracks in the masonry need to be filled.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—What can be done about bureau drawers that stick?

A—This is usually caused by moisture seeping into the unfinished parts. Try placing a lighted light bulb in the drawers to shrink them. Or a coating of hot paraffin on the swollen wood may help. Severe cases require careful sanding or planing.

Provincial Baseball League Officially Opens Tonight

Connie (Mr. Baseball) Mack To Attend St. Hyacinthe-St. Johns Fixture; Two Other Games Slated For This Evening

Sherbrooke Indians, weather permitting, will open the 1953 season tomorrow afternoon at 2.15 when they face the Granby Phillies in curtain raiser for the Crevier team in a regular fixture of the Provincial League.

This evening the season will officially open in St. Hyacinthe when the A's will be hosts to St. Johns while Thetford Mines will travel to Quebec and Drummondville will move over to Three Rivers to complete the bill. The only cancelled tilt is the opener in the Municipal Stadium at the local park.

Connie Mack, known as "Mr. Baseball" will take in the fixture at St. Hyacinthe when his sponsored club will tangle with St. Johns. The appearance of Mr. Mack in St. Hyacinthe will definitely add plenty of color to the opening game as the Mastero of Baseball is one of the outstanding figures in the game today.

Thetford Mines, sponsored by the St. Louis Browns, will make their initial appearance against the fast-stepping Quebec Braves in the Capital City. Very little is known about the team from the Mining City but against the Braves will meet one of the best clubs in the Molini circuit. Drummondville is also starting out under new managership with Gerry Gosselin, formerly of the Montreal Royals, as the guiding light. They will tangle with the Three Rivers aggregation.

Tomorrow eight games are on tab. Thetford Mines and Quebec play a two-game battle while Three Rivers and Drummondville and St. Hyacinthe will get together with St. Johns in the other twin-bill fixtures. The Indians and Granby will tangle in a lone fixture tomorrow afternoon at 2.15 as the second tilt slated for the Municipal Stadium has been postponed until a later date.

Letter To Baseball Fans

Old man weather has postponed the official opening of the 1953 Provincial League season at Sherbrooke. The Sherbrooke Indians will hold a belated initial home contest next Saturday evening, May 9th, against the St. John Pirates. We deeply regret the change in dates.

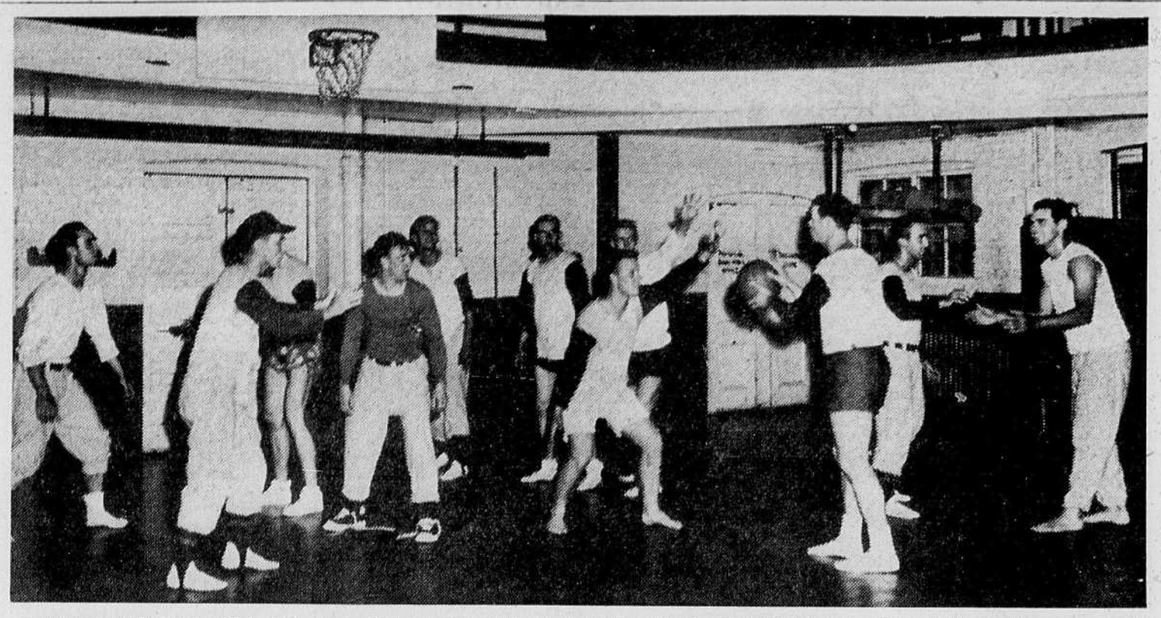
The schtduled games that will not be held this coming week will be played on open dates and Sherbrooke fans will be assured of 63 championship tilts at home during the season.

Magnificent Municipal Stadium will be much nearer completion by next week-end and this delay will benefit. both the fans and ball players.

Merrill 'Pinky" May, our experienced and talented field manager, has assembled a well trained, hustling young club that will provide clean, wholesome recreation this summer.

Our motto at Municipal Stadium will be "Where the Stars of Tomorrow Play Tonight."

Sincerely Yours,
Lewis Matlin,
General Manager Sherbrooke Baseball Club.



INDIANS WORK INDOORS—The above photo shows members of the Sherbrooke Indians holding a basketball practice game at the local Y while awaiting good weather before moving outdoors. Manager May has been keeping his squad hard at work in preparation for the coming season by putting them through their paces indoors until the Municipal Stadium is finished.

Kentucky Derby Draws 12 Starters For Rich Purse Of $90,800 For Winner; Native Dancer Is Favorite

Louisville, Ky. — (AP) — The names of 12 horses were dropped into the entry box yesterday for the 79th running of the $100,000 added Kentucky Derby and the vital question is whether unbeaten Native Dancer can make this victory No. 12.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's flashy grey colt and Social Outcast, a stable-mate ,are expected to be established an odds-on choice when the field parades to the post today at Churchill Downs, but it doesn't scare off the owners of 10 other horses.

The experts are picking the speedy California colt, Correspondent, as most likely to halt the so far invincible Dancer in the 1¼ mile classic.

Eric Guerin, who has ridden the victories, will be riding Native Dancer again.

Correspondent, owned by Mrs. Gordon Guiberson of La Jolla, Calif., will have the services of Vanderbilt star in all 11 of his none other than Eddie Arcaro, who makes a specialty of winning Derbies. He has won five, more than any other riders.

Perhaps no Derby in recent years has attracted the attention of this one and the usual crowd of 100,000-plus will be on hand. It is also being broadcast and televised. Post time is 5:30 p.m. EDT.

Texas pockets are bulging with fat bankrolls to slap down on Royal Bay Gem, a stretch-running fool from the stable of Eugene Constantin, Jr., of Dallas.

Plenty of support also will go to Dark Star, from the Cain Hoy stable of Harry F. Guggenheim, New York, and the Greentree Stable's Straight Face. Dark Star came close to the track record in winning the one mile Derby Trial Tuesday. Straight face copped the $10,000 Flamingo last winter. Straight Face, a gelding, is owned by John Hay Jock Whitney, and his sister, Mrs. Charles S. Shipman, New York.

The others in the field are: Ace Destroyer, owned by T. M. Daniel, Birmingham; Ram O' War, Bruce S. Campbell, Towson, Md.; Invigorator, from the Saxon stable of John Allison, El Paso, Tex., and Max Prestidge, Alamagordo, N. M.; Spy Defense, owned by Charles T. Fisher, Detroit; Curragh King, Edward Goemans, Milwaukee ;and Money Broker, the G. and G. stable of P. A. Grissom and Ed Grosfield, Detroit.

Money Broker won the $100,000 Florida Derby.

The Churchill Downs odds Friday listed Native Dancer and Social Outcast as the 3 to 5 favorites, and made Correspondent, spectacular winner of the Blue Grass Stakes, next at 4 to 1.

Royal Bay Gem, winner of the Chesapeake Stakes, was down at 6 to 1, Dark Star, 8 to 1, and Straight Face and Money Broker, 15-1.

The weather man promised considerable cloudy and cooler weather, with scattered thundershowers ending in the morning. Partly cloudy, with temperatures in the mid-60s was forecast for the afternoon.

Track conditions will have a lot to do with the race. Rains Thursday night left the strip muddy Friday, but it could be fast by this afternoon if no more moisture falls.

Royal Bay Gem, Straight Face, Money Broker, Ram O' War and Social Outcast have a liking for an "off" track.

All 12 horses are carrying the derby weight, 126 pounds.

If all 12 horses go to the post, the cross pot will be $118,850, with the winner pocketing $90,800.

Bubbley Wins Kentucky Oaks

Louisville, Ky.— (AP) —Calumet Farm's Bubbley, an even-money favorite and ridden by Eddie Arcaro, won the 79th running of the Kentucky Oaks, the Derby for fillies, at Churchill Downs yesterday. Cerise Reine, conqueror of Bubbley in the recent Ashland Stakes at Keeneland, was second about a length back, and Arab Actress, a 50-1 shot, was third.

SHERBROOKE INDIANS CHASED INDOORS

Pink May and his up-and-coming squad of baseball players have for the past week been holding their workout indoors owing to the cold weather and from the look of things it may be quite a while before they can get outdoors.

Since their arrival the Indians have been kept busy at the Y and once they were out at the Parade Grounds but Manager May and his equad are hoping for the sunny, warm weather. It is quite a problem to try and keep a team in shape under such adverse conditions but one thing about it is that the boys are not discouraged and show plenty of drive and spirit in their workouts.

The field is fastly rounding into top shape and if Old Man Sun would only show his face for a few days everything would be in perfect condition within a short time. The infield is beginning to look like a ball field and not a dumping ground which it resembled a few weeks ago but it has taken quite a few man hours to make it so.

Once things get straightened away we are of the opinion that the City of Sherbrooke will have the best minor baseball stadium this side of the water. Lewis Matlin, business manager of the Indians, who has travelled around a lot and seen quite a few agrees with this. We think that the citizens of the Eastern Townships should be really proud of it and it is worth every cent that Mayor Levesque and his Aldermen have spent in getting it built.

As for our team, and that seems to be the big question around these parts and the one that we have been asked hundreds of times since returning from the south let's say this. We personally think that the fans will see a real fighting bunch of youngsters out on the diamond who will be fighting every inch of the way. We know that they will make a lot of mistakes but the main thing in our opinion is that they will be trying all the time and in our books that is what counts.

The Cleveland organization has put a good class C team in Sherbrooke and we are certain that if the present one can't do the job that it won't take long for help to come along. We have seen the present crew in action and the boys are digging all the time. They made errors but this failed to dampen their spirits and we are of the opinion that the fans can look for a good summer of ball.

The main problem around here will be to get used to real class C ball and not like the past. We must not forget that two years ago when the A's copped the Provincial championship that they had a team that could have given any higher club a real go and perhaps beat them quite often. It will be hard to forget Duany, Garcia, Pascual, Ballester, Gladu and the other starry players and if the fans expect to see players of that calibre then they can save themselves some money and stay at home because there are none of them around.

The kids on the team are a real hustling bunch who are out to make a future for themselves in baseball. They know that the only way they are going to reach the top is by fighting and driving all the time and if they haven't got this then it is no go. It is hard to predict how the kids will stand up under the pressure as it is the first time some of them have had a go at organized ball but we think that once they get settled down they will give a good account of themselves.

So fans just string along with the boys for the time being and we are sure that in the long run Manager May will have things straightened away. Let's not jump the kids right from the start even though they make a few errors. A little encouragement is what is required and don't forget we have a crew of untried youngsters and not a bunch of top-notch pros as in the past.

The Rangers may have finished deep in the cellar of the National Hockey League but they came through with the Rookie of the Year with Lorne Worsley. "Gump" as he is known to his mates is a former Montreal boy who commenced his hockey in the Metropolis and judging from the voting he had a close race with Gordie Hannigan of the Leafs. He finished five points ahead of the Toronto winger.

President Will Harridge really went to town on the boys when he tacked on fines for the rumpus between the Yankees and Browns on Tuesday. Clint Courtney drew the top fine with $250 while his mate, Bill Hunter, was assessed $150. For the Yanks Martin drew $150 with Collins, Reynolds and McDougald each contributing $100 to the league reserves.

It would seem that President Bill doesn't want any monkey play in his circuit. They will play ball or they will sit things out at the cost of a few greenbacks.

Can Native Dancer maintain his unbeaten record? That is the question which will be answered this afternoon in the Run of the Roses at Churchill Downs Louisville Kentucky. The blue-grey son of Polynesian will face a tough field but the experts figure he will come through with flying color. Sherbrooke Saints lost their popular coach, Ivan Dugre, this week when he resigned as pilot of the local club to take over the agency of the Dow Brewery from Dr. A. N. Dupuis.

Dr. Dupuis has been ailing for quite some time and is at present confined to the hospital. In Ivan the Brewery has obtained one of the City's outstanding citizens and he will be a very good replacement for the very popular "Doc."

We can't agree with the manner in which this was released, direct from Montreal. We had known this for quite some time and were very surprised when we saw that the Montreal papers had the story ahead of the two local papers. We agree with Gordon "CKTS" Breen on the subject as for the local way of doing things. It seems very funny that when the official announcement came out that both sport editors had failed to get an invitation to the dinner where it was made. But we suppose the season was over and that we had served our purpose.

Anyway, regardless of it all Ivan on behalf of the sporting fans of the Eastern Townships we wish you the best in your new undertaking and may you be as successful as you were in the role of coach. We have definitely learnt a lesson from this whole thing which we will remember for quite some time.

Tommy Collins Enters Hospital

Boston— (AP) —Tommy Collins, Boston boxer, who took a walloping at the hands of lightweight champion Jimmy Carter in their title bout here a week ago, was a patient Friday at Massachussets General Hospital.

Dr. Charles L. Clay, assistant director of the hospital, said Collins was admitted for some tests related to his "general health."

"The situation is not regarded as serious or critical," said Dr. Clay.

Collins was knocked down 10 times by Carter before the referee stopped their bout in the fourth round.

While the hospital spokesman said he didn't know whether the condition resulted from anything in Collins' boxing career it was learned from an authoritative source that it probably did not.

United States And Russia May Meet In Athletic Gathering As Officials Push For Project On Olympic Basis

New York, —(AP— It's sure to take a lot of pounding on the Iron Curtain to get results, but United States track officials are pushing for an athletic meet between Russia and America.

Where? When? How? They're good questions. Nobody can answer them yet but Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, figures there may be answers soon.

"We think it would be a wonderful thing for the promotion of world peace," Ferris said. "We'd like a dual meet between the two countries possibly between Olympic years—alternatively in this country and the Soviet."

Ferris said it's not just a fantasy; the project is in the works.

"Actually it's the idea of John L. McGovern, counsellor of our Olympic committee," the AAU executive said.

"When American Olympic officials were feted by the Russians in the Soviet camp at Helsinki last summer, McGovern brought the subject up informally with Russian Olympic officials.

"They spoke favorably. After he came home, he started pushing the project. He made informal propositions to Russia in our athletic journals . . .

"Recently the Rotary club became interested . . . The New Jersey Rotary clubs want to present the idea to the meeting of national Rotary clubs at Lake Placid, N.Y., this summer and then later to Rotary International in Paris.

Ferris said expenses were one of the main concerns of the undertaking. The other was Russia's attitude.

The U.S. completely dominated men's track in the 1952 Olympics although Russia, scoring heavily in gymnastics and minor events, made a race of it for unofficial team honors.

Spain, Norway And Netherlands Lead In Cup Matches

The Netherlands, Spain and Norway took the lead in first round European zone Davis Cup tennis competition Friday as a heavy week-end of international play began.

The Dutch players, Hans van Swol and Huib Wilton won both singles matches from Ceylon's rather jittery representatives; Spain made it 2-0 against Israel and Norway led Luxenbourg 2-0.

Doubles matches in these three series will be played today. The Yugoslavia-Switzerland series also starts today in Novisad while Finland and Ireland will meet in Helsinki, starting Sunday.

One first-round match was completed last week-end, Austria beating Egypt.

Yankee-Brownie Series To Be A Complete Sellout

St. Louis. —(AP)— A rush on tickets for the next series between the battling New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns at Busch Stadium was reported Friday by the Browns.

The demand cropped up after the two teams joined in a near free-for-all riot in their game here Tuesday night.

Bob Fishel, director of public relations, said mail orders have poured in "by the hundreds" for tickets for the four-game series beginning June 5.

Each Home-Run To Bring A New Suit For Paul Smith

Pittsburgh— (AP) —Paul Smith, young infielder from nearby Wilkinsburg, has a chance to become the best dressed Pittsburgh Pirate. All he has to do is hit home runs.

Smith once was employed by a clothing store in his home town. The proprietor, Lou Dash, is so happy that Smith is in the major leagues that he's promised his ex-employee a new suit of clothes every time he hits for the circuit.

Happy Laughter Cops 1,000 Guineas

Newmarket, England—(AP)—Happy Laughter, a three-year-old filly owned by H. D. Wells, won the 1,000 Guineas, one of the British racing season's "classics," Friday.

Happy Laughter, a 10 to 1 outsider, finished two lengths ahead of her stablemate, Tessa Gillian. Third was the favorite, Bebe Grande, who ran second in the 2,000 Guineas two days ago.

The one-two finish brought trainer Jack Jarvis his third 1,000 Guineas victory. His two previous successes were in 1924 and 1934.

A Special Message of Unusual Interest to all owners of Fine Cars

WHEN Packard announced its return to the fine car field a few months ago with a beautiful new line of automobiles, the news gave the Canadian people for the first time in years "a new choice in fine cars."

And, overnight, people who want a certain set-apart distinction in the fine car they buy gave the new Packard priority in their fine-car shopping.

"Found only in a Packard"

This is a phrase familiar to Packard owners of many generations but never truer than today. Packard gives you the Big Important Three for today's high-powered engines and high-speed highways: power brakes, power steering and power shifting.

And Packard provides five big, comfortable inches more backseat leg-room than you'll find in any competitive car. The whole world knows that Packard's famous engine is one of the great engines in automotive history—authoritative and dominating when power is paramount, but soft and smooth as a kitten's step otherwise.

A ride of discovery

If you plan to buy a fine car this year, you will enjoy a ride in the new Packard, and discover, in so doing, that a new and inspiring luster shines from a grand old name. Your dealer will be glad to put a Packard at your disposal anytime. We think you will be very glad indeed that you got in touch with him.

NEW! The Packard CLIPPER—another great Packard line. If you plan to buy a car in the medium-price class, be sure to see and drive the new Packard CLIPPER and compare it with other medium-priced cars.

Detroit Tigers Post Third Win Of Season; Giants Edged By Cards; Ed Garver Earns First Victory

Detroit Tigers won their third game in 16 starts and St. Louis Cardinals continued their unbeaten tour of the East in the only daylight action in the major leagues Friday.

Breaking a six-game losing streak the Tigers whipped Philadelphia Athletics 7-3 on the flutter-ball toses of Ned Garver. All three of the A's runs came on homers — by Eddie Joost, Gus Zernial and Cass Michaels.

The Cardinals defeated an old jinx, lefty Dave Koslo, in edging New York Giants 3-2 at the Polo Grounds.

Gerry Staley, who lost six out of seven to the Giants last season, survived a two-run homer by Al Dark in the second inning to pick up his second victory of the year.

The Cards bunched four singles after two were out in the third for all of their runs off Koslo, who had beaten them 13 times in a row before losing one late last season.

Garver's victory for the Tigers was his first against three losses and only his second since the club bought him from the Browns last year.

Barrie Flyers Win Third Game

Winnipeg— (CP) —Barrie Flyers moved to within one game of the Canadian junior hockey title Friday night by defeating St. Boniface Canadiens 7-5 in the third game of their best-of-seven Memorial Cup series. The fourth, and what could be the final game, will be played here Monday night.

The Eastern champions were in command all the way after taking a 1-0 lead in the first period. St. Boniface managed to tie the score at 2-2 midway through the second but were two goals back again when the period ended. They got to within one goal in the final frame but Barrie quickly restored its two-goal margin and held until the final whistle.

Boxing Heads To Form New Group

Paris—(AP)—The heads of American and European boxing commissions agreed Friday to set up a four-man committee to iron out perennial disputes over rightful claimants to world championships.

The agreement will be signed today. Then the committee can go to work on the outstanding current disagreement—the vacant world middleweight title.

The British Boxing Board of Control has recognized the Charles Humez-Randy Turpin fight in London June 9 as a world championship bout. Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York Boxing Commission, has said that world championship billing must wait until the European champion is matched against the best American middleweight.

Selection of the best American middleweight, however, must await settling of a site and date for the proposed Paddy Young-Carol Bobo Olson fight sometime next month.

Both Christenberry and J. Onslow Fane, chairman of the British board, will be members of the new committee. The others will be George Barton of Minneapolis, president of the National Boxing Association, and Edouard Rabret of France, secretary of the European Boxing Union.

Bisley Team Sails June 10

Ottawa— (CP) —Maj. A. B. Coulter of Ottawa will head Canada's Bisley team competing in the famous rifle meet in England this summer.

Members of the team, selected on the basis of their shooting in last year's Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet at nearby Connaught Ranges, were announced Friday night. They will assemble in Montreal June 10 and sail on the Ascania the following day.

Among them is 47-year-old Lt.-Col. Desmond T. Burke of Lansing, Ont., a doctor at Toronto's Sunnybrook Veterans Hospital, who won the King's Prize at Bisley in 1924 at the age of 18.

Team members include: E. L. Warner, Lennoxville, Que.; Sgt. A. S. Emery, Saint John, N.B., and Maj. G. A. MacDonald, Charlottetown.

Richards and Minso Fined $100 By Prexy

Chicago —(AP)— Manager Paul Richards and outfielder Minnie Minoso of Chicago White Sox each were fined $100 Friday by the American League president Will Harridge for unseemly conduct during Thursday's game which the Sox lost to New York Yankees 6-1.

Harridge said both men might have been suspended for three days for using bad language under a new league rule.

"This regulation, issued only a month or so ago," said Harridge, "is new to the league and new to both Richards and Minoso.

"For this reason, we did not insist in this initial infraction on strict enforcement of a regulation which because of its newness could be overlooked in the heat of an argument on the field."

The rule infractions occurred when Minoso and Richards protested umpire Jim Duffy's ruling that Yankee Mickey Mantle's long hit which bounced off the bleacher wall had been interfered with by a fan and was a home run.

Horsemanship Award Is Given Canadian Girl

Porlock Vale, England — (CP) — There'll be little that 17-year-old Janet Spenceley of London, Ont., won't know about horses when she completes her "horsemanship" course at this Somerset centre shortly.

Miss Spenceley, a member of the Pony club of Canada, is the first Canadian to be awarded a scholarship to Porlock Vale School, one of the largest riding colleges in the country. Most scholars are experienced riders when they arrive.

Along with other Commonwealth students, Miss Spenceley learns in 15 weeks the theory and practice of stable management, horsemanship, horse training and veterinary treatment and how to organize and conduct riding schools.

She grooms horses, feeds, exercises and stables them, is responsible for saddles and harness. Once a week scholars are taken on long rides over Exmoor. Dressage and jumping of show horses are taught by qualified instructors.

Porlockford House, where Janet stays when she isn't in the stables, stands in 30 acres of ground running down to the sea and backing on to the famous moors, known as "the riding playground of England."

New Machine-Gun Is Being Tried Out In Korea

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In Korea — (CP) — Canadian infantrymen here are trying out a new machine-gun.

If tests are successful the British-made Patchett machine-carbine will replace the unpopular Sten gun in the Canadian Army. It will become the personal weapon of section leaders, certain soldiers in the infantry section, signals linecrew men and others now using the Sten.

While tests in the 25th brigade were ordered by army headquarters in Ottawa, where reports will arrive shortly, the weapon also is being tried in other brigades and battalions of the 1st Commonwealth division.

Of the 55 now with the division 16 are being tested by Canadians. Each of the three infantry battalions has five, and the 16th is with WO2. George Maguire of Ottawa, the brigade's senior armorer.

Complaints about the Sten were rife during the Second World War, when it was produced primarily as an inexpensive machine-gun for underground fighters in Europe.

It founds its way into Allied use when the service rifle proved unsuitable as a personal weapon for soldiers with certain jobs and the Sten was readily available.

Its defects are notorious. Cheaply built, it is not machined. Since the slighest jar can set it off when loaded and cocked. It is unsafe. It feeds badly and is not likely to "be there" when the soldier needs it. Its barrel bulges easily, and it "jumps" as it fires, reducing accuracy.

The Patchett is described as the "perfect paratrooper's weapon." It is all metal, weighs 8½ pounds with its 10-inch, knife-type bayonet, sling and loaded magazine. In firing the Patchett, the right hand grasps a conventional pistol grip, the left holds the cooling jacket.

It can be fired either from the shoulder, using sights adjustable for 100 and 200 yards, or from the hip. If desired, the butt can be flipped under the barrel and locked in position for shooting from the hip.

Magazines are slightly curved and have a roller-bearing platform which feeds the ammunition

No tools are needed to strip and reassemble the Patchett. Its own parts are designed to serve as tools.

Tests in the brigade are at the half-way point. Maguire, better known in Ottawa as a hockey player, says: "From the preliminary work-outs we all think it is a number one weapon.

"It looks like a machine-carbine and fires like one. Its appearance alone gives the soldier confidence, which he hasn't got in his Sten. "It's well balanced, feels good in your hand or shoulder, and has a negligible recoil.

"On single shot it is very accurate while on full automatic it has a nice spread of fire in the target area with little tendency to lift or jump.

"Of 2,600 rounds I've fired so far there's been only one feed stoppage. That's good in a machine-carbine, believe me."

Brig. Jean Allard, the brigade's newly-arrived commander, personally tested the weapon before coming to Korea.

He told The Canadian Press his only criticism was that the most comfortable position for firing the Patchett placed the thumb directly over the muzzle!

He said a thumb guard could be devised to remedy that.

Shakespearian Festival Said "Overwhelming"

Stratford, Ont. — (CP) — Interest in the Stratford Shakespearian Festival this summer has been "overwhelming," says Tom Patterson, festival general manager.

"We have been forced to extend the closing date a week—to Aug. 15—and there is a possibility that if the response continues we may go an additional week."

Letters from many parts of the United States have been coming in requesting details of the festival, which will be unique at least in North America. Requests for ticket reservations and for hotel accomodation have been received so far from about 20 states and most of the Canadian provinces.

The festival will present Shakespeare's "All's Well That Ends Well," and "King Richard III," on alternate nights starting July 13. Alex Guinness and Irene Worth of the London stage and films will be starred. Productions will be staged by Tyrone Guthrie assisted by Cecil Clarke of London's Old Vic Theatre.

Drama critics from a number of U.S. newspapers and magazines are asking for reservations and interest is growing in colleges, particularly teachers' colleges.

Construction of the festival theatre has been started. Theatre, stage, costumes and sets have been designed by Tanya Moiseiwitsch, famed English artist. The theatre will combine the elements of original theatres of Greece, Rome and Elizabethan England. Audiences will sit on three sides of it.

Costumes for "All's Well That Ends Well" will be in semi-modern dress with the women's costumes following fairly closely Empire and Victorian period designs. Men will wear modern formal morning and evening dress.

Canadian Brigade In Korea Prepares For This Summer

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In Korea — (CP) — Winter gear is being doffed in favor of lighter, summer wear here as the 25th Canadian infantry brigade gets ready for its third summer in Korea.

Spring is just around the corner. Snow has vanished. Hillside shrubbery is still brown but will burst into green any day. Days are longer, sunnier and clear with the thermometer hitting the 50s. By night the mercury slips to the 20s or 30s.

Winter parkas and wind pants already have been withdrawn by unit quartermasters.

Already the brigade ordnance officer, Capt. Stan Campbell of London, Ont., is ussuing to quartermasters their first stocks of summer wear.

Campbell and his staff, who operate an advance dump right at brigade headquarters, are issuing cotton shirts, underwear and mosquito nets. Heavier winter shirts and underwear will be exchanged by the soldiers on an item-for-item basis.

Scheduled for wear May 15 are summer-weight field-service trousers, bush jackets and summer caps.

Canadian Army boots also will reappear in the infantry battalions. During the winter the footsoldiers used the British Army's "boot CWW," (cold wet weather). The $28 footwear is considered the answer to the army's prayers for a versatile boot.

Soles have not had to be repaired they are as thick and leave as clear an imprint as the day they were issued. They are quiet, hence suitable for patrolling, and they shine well.

They are being turned in during the first fortnight in May, and soldiers will resume wearing the Canadian Army boot during the summer and fall months.

Mosquitoes have reappeared, although nights are still cool, turning medical officers' thoughts to malaria.

Commonwealth division headquarters have called unit field hygiene corporals to the rear for a brush-up course on malaria control and summer hygiene.

Canadians took palludrine antimalaria tablets throughout the winter this year. Ordinarily pill-taking stops during cold weather. But so many malaria cases developed in Canada among soldiers returned from Korea as the suppressive effect of the palludrine wore off that army headquarters in Ottawa suggested the pills be kept up.

Unit fly-control measures are being jacked up to prevent dysentery, and once again the hygiene boys are warning soldiers against swimming in "any old hole."

Korean streams abound in fungus and no repetition is wanted of the Canadians' first summer experience here when more than a company's strength was laid up with fungus which attached itself to soldiers, mainly in the ear.

Letter Exchange Between Former President, Pope

New York — (AP) — The New York Times says an exchange of letters between former President Truman and the Pope has been privately printed in book form by Truman's representative to the Vatican, Myron C. Taylor.

The Times quotes passages from the letters Truman wrote to the Roman Catholic Pontiff, and says they reflected "deep religious insight" on the part of the former president.

Taylor, in an introduction to the letters, is quoted as saying that Truman was "untiring in his search for ways and possibilities of arousing everywhere, at home and abroad, a militant spirit of moral rebirth as the first essential requirement for achieving a just and peaceful world order."

The series of 10 letters date from one written by Truman to the Pope April 19, 1946, announcing his intention of sending Taylor to Rome as his personal representative, to one written by the Pope to Truman Dec. 20, 1949, invoking the blessing of the Christ Child on "your excellency's person and work."

The Times says the 45-page book serves as a companion piece to a volume of letters between the Pope and the late President Roosevelt, which was privately printed by Taylor five years ago.

The danger of cold weather, snow or ice, is no deterrent to early seeding. On the contrary, alternate freezing and thawing, melting snow or rain help bury the seed.

Record Expansion Expected On Roads In Canada In '53

Montreal — (CP) — Canadian governments plan record expenditures on roads and highways this year.

G. W. Gilchrist of Ottawa, managing director of the Canadian Good Roads Association, said recently federal and provincial governments will spend $415,000,000. The greater portion of this amount —$382,000,000—has been budgeted by the provinces. The remainder is the federal government's share of the Trans-Canadian Highway and estimated expenditures by municipalities.

The total does not include federal funds budgeted for park roads and military roads or money to be spent by private corporations for construction and maintenance of forest and mining roads.

Mr. Gilchrist forecast that this year will be the most active in road-building history and that provincial governments should be able to repair many of the existing deficiencies in their highway systems.

He said that if the nation is to meet the present critical inadequacies of highways and streets, the present record level of construction will have to be maintained indefinitely.

Current industrial activity and the rapid opening up of new areas in the north were creating a steadily expanding demand for roads to link the new areas of the country with the old.

"To provide our present requirements and to meet the need for roads that will inevitably occur as Canada expands will tax all our energies and resources into the foreseeable future," he said.

Construction of the Trans-Canada Highway, although behind schedule, would pick up a lot of momentum this year. By the end of the construction season the highway should be approximately half completed in the Prairie provinces. These three provinces expect to complete their sections of the highway on schedule by 1956.

Experts Trace Family Tree Or Ancestors

By MURIEL PENN

London — Reuters — Every once in a while almost every one gets a hankering to find out what is in his family tree.

Now there's an expert to tell you how to go about it, but he warns you may not like what you find.

L. G. Pine, editor of Burke's Peerage, established book on British nobility, has written a layman's guide to family-tree climbing called "Trace Your Ancestors."

But, he warns, most people who begin looking into the family tree have no notion of what may be lurking in the branches.

Most of them assume that they will find a few kings, perhaps some mediaeval barons, or at least British yoemen of the stalwart "common man" type who helped settle the new world back in the days before the American revolution.

He tells ancestor-searchers they must be prepared to "face the truth" and sweetens the pill by saying that the greatest families have had the greatest number of blackguards.

"There will be more villains than heroes or heroines," he says.

"Indeed, some of the characters will be downright sordid and ignoble. Nothing has impressed me more than the low character of some noblemen; and I have often been tempted to wonder which country has had the more ignoble nobles."

To back up his point he says: "In Scotland, for instance, nobles often betrayed the country to the English. Such treachery was almost always redeemed by the common man. On the whole, though, I think that the nobles of the Netherlands were the worst, for sheer stupidity and callousness to their country's interests."

In tracing ancestors, he points out, the first essential is to have the accurate vital statistics on your way through municipal and church records. You're not likely to find much that is new until you get back beyond four generations.

HINT TO MOTORISTS

Most motorists use friction tape when repairing a leaky radiator hose, but heat and water soon dissolve the adhesive if tape alone is used. A better plan is to wrap a long strip of rubber cut from an old inner tube, around the hose and apply a layer of tape to hold it securely in place.

INDUSTRIAL USE

Of every eight tons of freight hauled by railroads, one ton consists of shipments of raw material to the steel industry or of finished steel to consumers.

King Henry VIII wagered and gave to the French king, Francis I, a rare book of recipes, 100 baskets of apples, and the services of half his staff of cooks for one week, when the latter threw him in a friendly wrestling match on the field of the Cloth of Gold, France, in 1520.
