A Boat danc'd on Clydes bonny stream, when winds were rudely blowing, there sat what might a Goddess seem O'th' wave beneath her flowing; O'th' wave beneath her flowing but, no, a mortal fair was she, surpassing a' be-

I saw the boatman spread a sail,
And while his dafne's noting,
The boat was upset by the gale,
I saw sweet Kitty floating;
I plung'd into the silver wave,
Wi' cupid for my guide,
And thought my heart weel lost to save,
Sweet Kitty of the Clyde.

But Kitty's aye a high born fair,
A lowly name I carry,
Nor can wi' lordly Thanes compare,
Who woo the maid to marry;
But she ne scornfu' looks on me,
And joy may yet betide,
For hope dares flatter mine may be,
Sweet Kitty of the Clyde.
