Huntingdon Branch Canadian Legion Holds Successful Armistice Dinner

It was a busy weekend for the Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Legion, for on Saturday evening, the annual Armistice dinner was held at the Legion Hall, and on Sunday, the annual Remembrance Day parade to the Cenotaph and the short service there.

The annual Armistice Dinner on Saturday evening was well attended and it was a very enjoyable affair. Msgr. David said the Grace and the peroid of silence was observed by the lighting of matches. President Dave Watson welcomed everyone and introduced the guests at the head table, who were as follows: Mrs. Leo Cappiello, Mr. John Thompson, immediate Past President; Mrs. Winnie Napier, President Ladies' Auxiliary; Mr. C. A. Hutchins, Secretary, Quebec Division, Navy League of Canada; Mrs. A. Heron; Mrs. E. J. LeRoux; Mr. Paul Lefebvre, Mayor, Town of Huntingdon; Mrs. T. R. Durley; Mr. A. Heron, Assistant Honorary Treasurer, Quebec Provincial Command Royal Canadian Legion; D. Watson, President; Commander T. R. Durley; Mrs. D. Watson; Dr. E. J. LeRoux, President, Quebec Division, Navy League of Canada; Mrs. Paul Lefebvre; Rev. Msgr. David; Mrs. C. A. Hutchins; Mr. Leo Cappiello, Honorary Vice-President Branch 81; Mrs. John Thompson; Mr. Gerry Lambert and Mrs. Lambert.

Toast to the Queen was proposed by J. Thompson. Leo Cappiello proposed the Toast to the Legion and Cde. A. Heron made the reply.

Dr. LeRoux introduced the guest Speaker, Commander T. R. Durley, and following are excerpts from the address given.

It is a great pleasure for me to address this Meeting of the Huntingdon Branch of the R.C. Legion. You would perhaps like to know something of the Navy League of Canada.

By far the greater proportion of people who are associated with the Navy League served with the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve or the R.C.N.V.R. during the war, and possibly for a shorter period, either before or after the war, on divisional strength. Though I now, personally, have no wish to repeat the experience, it is on the other hand something that I would not have missed. Our period of service in the R.C.N.V.R. has undoubtedly given us an affection for the Service, and, coupled with our interest in the youth of the country, we have naturally turned to the Navy League. The partnership between the Royal Canadian Navy and the Navy League of Canada is such that we work harmoniously together with each group responsible for certain aspects of the work. The Royal Canadian Navy is responsible to the Minister of National Defence for the control of the Corps - they take into account the policy and objectives of the Navy League as partners in the common enterprise, and both partners give maximum support to each other. The R.C.N. provides training quarters where practical in Naval Divisions - they set up the training programme, provide training gear and equipment and finance, in part, with a capitation grant based on the number of boys on parade at the annual inspection. On the other hand, the Navy League has the exclusive right with a few exceptions to sponsor the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps. The League, too, must raise funds, provide quarters and recruit officers. No Corps is now formed without a properly set up civilian committee with the required officer complement and a suitable location in which to drill. This, in general, has worked exceedingly well.

Out of all this, the Service benefits to the extent of about two to four hundred boys a year who join the service with some preliminary training, and I know that the Chief of the Naval Staff, and the Chief of Naval Personnel are both most grateful to the Navy League for its assistance. I am told, too, that these boys who have been in the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps, having joined the Service, seem to have a higher re-enlistment rate than one would normally expect. On the other hand, I think that the greatest benefit to the County at large is those boys, in the great majority of course who remain in civil life and who have had some character building through Naval training and discipline and are better Canadians for it.

There is a general tendency in this country to obtain from the Government as much as we possibly can without giving heed to the affect that this will have on Government expenditure. In general, I believe, we do much too much for all boys who are in Cadet uniforms. The Royal Canadian Sea Cadets have quarters provided for them Uniforms, Officers, Summer Camps and Scholarships and nothing is asked in return. We have instituted an annual payment per boy from each Corps Committee payable to the Provincial Division. This assessment is based on the number at the annual inspection and is billed to the Civilian Committee rather than to the boy, since there may be instances in Corps, in the poorer sections of the large city, or individual boys in the small community, who could not afford this fee. On the other hand, by its imposition, we hope that the boys, through the Committee, will be made to realize two things - first, that you get nothing of value in this world without paying for it and second, that you get out of an organization just what you put into it.

There are, as you know, Cadet Organizations in all three Services, and as a result whatever one service does the others must all follow suit. I am not conversant with the financial arrangement which the Department of National Defence has with the other two Services, but one of them, I understand, gets an annual grant.

This is not so with the Navy League as we have preferred to be independent and our Provincial assessments from National Council are a direct result of this independence. The result of what I assume is a mistaken endeavour to save money the Government has imposed a limitation on the number of cadets in all three Services. I do not know what it costs per boy to take him to camp for two weeks in the summer, but if we assume that 35% of the boys in uniform go to one of the camps on either coast, at an average cost of $80.00 per boy, and if we assume an annual cost of $30.00 a boy for all cadets to include uniforms and training aids, it would appear that we are talking about $600,000 for the Sea Cadets alone or a cost of between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 for the cadets in the three Services. This does not include the pay of Service Personnel which is, undoubtedly charged to the Naval Reserve general expense. This is a mere drop in the bucket when we consider the amount of money that is being spent on National Defence in the course of a year. As a taxpayer, I would prefer to see the government increase the National Defence budget for cadets by a Million Dollars and increase the number of cadets, since, it seems to me, that this money is much better spent on character-building in a young man's formative years than later on to have to build prisons and penitentiaries. I think, too, that the Provincial Governments should bear some of this cost as indeed some do.

Our Patron, the Governor-General, in a recent speech made a comment to the effect that the 'Youth of this Country is its most valuable asset, and that we should foster and nourish it'.

While our main endeavour is, of course, the training of young boys, amongst the other objectives of the Navy League of Canada is bringing to the attention of the public the magnificent development of the Royal Canadian Navy since its inception fifty years ago and to promote, if possible, amongst our citizens an informed public opinion on Maritime Affairs.

Finally, may I say a word about recent developments. Through the good offices of the National President we have arranged with the Minister of National Defence to recruit ten percent in excess of existing complement of each Corps as long as this does not exceed the authorized complement at the Annual Inspection. We are also arranging with the Staff Officer Sea Cadets that new Corps may be set up within the existing framework. Weak Corps in the country will be closed and replaced with ones that will pull their weight.

Once a Corps does get into difficulties the civilian committee should be given time to correct the trouble, but, if it does not do so the billets should be re-allocated elsewhere. I think it is wrong to keep boys in uniform who are not doing well when there are so many keen boys outside clamouring to get in. Incidentally, four Corps in Montreal were closed several years ago and this had a most beneficial effect on the ones that remain. Hard to get in and easy to get out is a sound policy.

I have made no mention of Navy League Cadets. These boys of 12 and 13 should only be formed into a Corps where a senior Corps is present. They do, however, cost the Navy League more money than the senior Corps because the Royal Canadian Navy is not associated with the Navy League in their operation. We must, therefore, provide their uniforms and no capitation grant is received. They are, however, used as feeders for the Senior Corps and have been most effective.

Mr. Gerry Lambert thanked the speaker.

In the absence of Mr. Keith Howden, Publisher of the Huntingdon Gleaner, Mr. C. M. Oney, First President of the Legion, presented Cmdr. Durley with a reproduction of the original St. Francis Steamer, which the local Cadet League is named after.

The President then suggested that the company adjourn to the other wing, where dancing and other entertainment was provided for the remainder of the evening.

Suffers Unfortunate Accident

Mr. Basil Kelly, who is employed as herdsman at the Fraserdale Farms, King, Ont., recently caught his hand in an electric auger. He lost his little finger, part of the next one and cut the main nerve in the third finger of his right hand. He required a good many stitches and spent several days in hospital. The latest news received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Kelly, is that Basil's hand is healing as well as can be expected but it will be quite some time, before he will be able to work.

Rev. Stote Speaker At Rotary Meeting

Huntingdon Rotarians met for heir weekly luncheon meeting at he Chateau Huntingdon on Monlay. Reports from the members indicate that now that the time for he drawing in favor of Huntingdon County nurse-training fund is drawing near, donations are being recorded at a faster tempo. This worth-while endeavour is worthy of the support of all in the community.

It was unanimously decided that the Huntingdon Rotary Club would again send a student from Huntingdon to Ottawa to attend the Rotary-sponsored "Adventure in Citizenship".

The Reverend Raymond Stote, rector of St. John's Church, Huntingdon, was guest speaker. He was introduced by Rotarian Ken Ferns, who said that Reverend Stote was born in Stanbridge East, educated there and at McGill University and later at the Theological College; while at McGill he excelled in sports and was a member of the McGill Track and Cross Country teams. Previous to coming to Huntingdon, he was in Rosemount for four years, Pontiac County for eight years, and at Grenville eleven years. Married, he is the father of five boys and two girls.

Reverend Stote compared the Four-Way Test of Rotary to what he learned at a conference in Michigan, a few months ago. The four-way test concerns the things we think, say or do: 1, Is It the Truth; 2, Is it Fair to all concerned?; 3, Will it build Goodwill and Better Friendships?; 4 Will it be Beneficial to all concerned?

The speaker said our leaders should not bear to the left, should not bear to the right, but straight. He said that today millions of people in the world believe that neither right nor wrong exists. He said an extreme of evil must be met with an extreme of good, and a fanatical following of evil by a passionate pursuit of good. He likened our lives to those of people on a ship — everyone could be safe in his cabin until a hole was made in the bottom of the ship. "There must be strength in our leaders, because youth will follow their leadership".

(Ed. Note: While the past weeks have been extremely busy ones for the Gleaner Staff, this newspaper hopes, after Christmas, to reproduce in serial form a book that Mr. Stote believes everyone should be aware of).

The Response Is Gratifying

The first week's response to the initial announcement that The Gleaner plans to print a Second Edition of Robert Sellar's History of the Counties of Huntingdon, Chateauguay and Beauharnois has been most gratifying. Orders have been received from Huntingdon, Dundee, St. Anicet, Ormstown, Howick, Montreal, Valleyfield, Beauharnois and Chateauguay. While we are highly elated with the response, we respectfully request readers not to phone orders for "The History". Please use the coupons that appear in The Gleaner (it is human to err and we wish to avoid doing so as much as possible). Incidentally, orders to date indicate the hard cover edition is most popular, the ratio being seven to one. With the exception of the difference in covers, the books will be identical.

We take pride in reproducing one of the letters received on Saturday. From time to time, as space permits, names of those ordering Histories will be printed.

147 St. Denis St.,
Chateauguay Centre, P.Q
8th November, 1962.

"The Gleaner,
Chateauguay St.,
Huntingdon, P.Q.
Dear Sir,

"The latest edition of your wonderful weekly has just arrived and as usual has been read from front to back.

"As you will see by the enclosed cheque and coupon I am hoping to be one of the first in line when the second edition of Mr. Sellar's history comes off the press.

"We have been residents of Beauharnois and, more recently, Chateauguay Centre for the past nine years and both my wife and myself enjoy nothing more than a leisurely trip around the storied lands described so well by Mr. Sellar.

"About three years ago we made some inquiries regarding the writings of Robert Sellar and were extremely disappointed to learn that the price was quite high. You can well imagine, then, how overjoyed we were on reading in The Gleaner that a second edition was planned. My sincerest hope now is that this request be among the first five hundred.

"To end this letter may I wish you all the success you so richly deserve and congratulate you and the various reporters for an informative and at the same time completely objective newspaper.

Yours sincerely,
RICHARD B. SMITH".

WREATHS PLACED AT THE CENOTAPH

Above is the lower part of the cenotaph in Prince Arthur Square, Huntingdon, showing the wreaths placed there during the Remembrance Day ceremony held on Sunday afternoon, November 11th. The Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Legion was in charge of the arrangements for the service.

Community Remembrance Day Service Held at Howick High School

Sunday, November 11th, at 11:00 A.M., found the auditorium of the Howick High School filled to capacity as citizens from the surrounding district turned out in large numbers to join with the Howick Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion (No. 123), to pay homage to those who paid the supreme sacrifice in two world wars.

Mr. G. Lavery, presently occupying the pulpit of Howick United Church, conducted the service. The choir led the service of praise accompanied by Mrs. R. Stewart. Mr. Peter Miller sang the beautiful solo, "There Is No Death," based on the memorable poem by Gordon Johnstone and set to music by Geoffrey O'Hara.

The guest speaker for this Memorial Service was the Rev. Mr. Roy McGregor, who chose as his text, "Playing the Man".

His sermon was an inspiration. Citing incidents from the Bible, the war of 1914-18, and the war 1939-45, he forcefully brought to the attention of those in attendance that, once a goal has been set; 'Playing the Man' in the face of great odds; 'Playing the Man' when obstacles seem unsurmountable; 'Playing the Man' when human frailties point to obvious failure; 'Playing the Man' with absolute disregard to personal cost, the end result is Shining Victory. It was a challenge, not only in the remembering, but in personal rededication and by "Playing the Man," each may attain unforseen heights of stature and accomplishment.

During the service, the Ormstown Citizens Band had arrived and the large congregation emerged to the moving rendition of "Abide with me". It was a thoughtful gesture and sincerely appreciated.

Led by this Band, the Legion and congregation gathered at the new War Memorial where' Wreaths of Remembrance' were placed by Mr. Ralph Reddick on behalf of the 'Howick Branch of the Legion, and by Mrs. C. J. Fletcher on behalf of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion.

A trumpeter of the Band sounded the 'Last Post' and, after two minutes silence, 'Reveille'.

The singing of the National Anthem and the pronouncing of the Benediction by Mr. McGregor brought the Remembrance Day service to a close.

Many noticed and remarked on the absence of Mr. W. F. Welch, a Life Member of the Royal Canadian Legion and a senior member of the Howick Branch. Later the Legion and the community were shocked and saddened to learn of his sudden death. On this Remembrance Day, November 11th, 1962, the 'Last Post' had sounded for this dedicated and faithful veteran.

Huntingdon R.C.M.P. Now Covers Valleyfield Area

Some changes have been taking place with the R.C.M.P. Detachment in Huntingdon the past while. In the first place we observed in the early part of the year that the number of personnel seemed to be less, but regarded this as a natural consequence of routine transfers and such.

It has been rumored on a number of occasions that the R.C.M.P. offices in the O'Connor Building would be moved to the Post Office. However the offices continued on in the same location. Now it can be said the R.C.M.P. is located in the Post Office building, corner of Prince and Bouchette Streets in that part of the premises previously occupied by the Immigration Dept. The Immigration Dept. has been relocated in another part of the same building. Therefore the general public wishing to contact the R.C.M.P. should now go to the Post Office and on the upper floor.

Still another change has taken place. The Valleyfield office of the R.C.M.P. has been closed and this branch of the service has been annexed to Huntingdon. This took place early in October and was the subject in the October 22nd edition of Hansard. A copy of the question is as follows:

Valleyfield, Que.—Removal of R.C.M.P. Offices

Question No. 91—Mr. Laniel:

1. Has the Minister of Justice received a resolution, addressed by the chamber of commerce of Valleyfield, stating how regrettable the decision was of the department to move the Royal Canadian Mounted Police offices from Valleyfield to Huntingdon?

2. Would the minister tell the house the grounds on which such a decision was reached in view of the fact that the other federal government services are already located at Valleyfield and that the city has the only court of justice in the area?

Answer by: Mr. Bell (Saint John-Albert)

1. Yes.

2. Action was taken in this respect solely in the interest of administration efficiency and necessary economy.

Thus the Huntingdon detachment will look after both Huntingdon and Valleyfield from now on. It is fairly obvious why Huntingdon would be chosen, as it is closer to border points which the R.C.M.P. have much to do with. It will cut down on travel time and expenses as if the switch had been made to Valleyfield, the officers would have a further distance to travel. As far as can be gathered there has been no increase in personnel as a result of the annexation of the Valleyfield area.

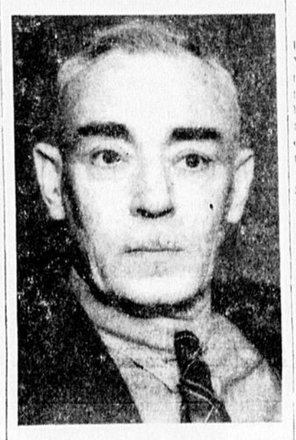
Student Minister Arrives In Athelstan

Mr. Robert Cunningham, student for the ministry in the Presbyterian Church, has arrived in this country from Northern Ireland. He, Mrs. Cunningham and three children, Shaun, Rosemary and Colleen disembarked from the 'Empress of Canada' in Montreal on Tuesday and have taken up residence in the Athelstan Manse.

Sponsored by the Unevangelized Fields Mission, Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham spent nine years in the Republic of the Congo. When hostilities broke out in that country two years ago, they were obliged to return to Ireland.

Mr. Cunningham will be in charge of the worship services at Rockburn, Elgin and Athelstan Churches commencing this Sunday, November 18th.

W. F. Welch, Howick, Passes Suddenly



Howick and surrounding area was saddened on Sunday, when it was known that Mr. W. F. Welch had died suddenly that morning. He was a well known personage in this area having been manager of the Famers' Telephone Co. in Howick before it was taken over by the Bell Telephone Co. He was also prominent in community affairs, being secretary-treasurer for the village council for a few years, taking an interest in church affairs and also matters to do with the Canadian Legion. For the past years he has lead a more retired life, especially after the passing of his wife a few years ago.

Dewittville W.I. Holds Successful Millinery Course

A very successful Millinery Course was conducted this past week by Miss McOuat, a technician with the Extension Department at Macdonald College. In all twenty-four ladies took advantage of this opportunity and 42 lovely hats were completed. Mrs. J. W. Abraham graciously loaned her playroom every afternoon and evening and entertained at tea Thursday afternoon on the occasion of Miss McOuat's birthday. The tea table was centered with a beautiful cake, decorated and sent to us by Charlie Grant of Grant's Bakery especially for the occasion. The Dewittville W.I. would like to extend a sincere thank-you to all who participated and made this venture such a success.

Annual Remembrance Day Service Well Attended At Cenotaph

The annual observance of Remembrance Day was held under Canadian Legion auspices on Sunday afternoon, November 11th, at the Cenotaph in Prince Arthur Square, in Huntingdon. The service was very well attended by the public and the service itself was very well carried through with Dave Watson, President of the Huntingdon Branch of the Legion in charge.

A saluting stand was set up across King Street and here Commander T. R. Durley took the salute as the parade marched past on its way to the Cenotaph. The parade then formed up around the Cenotaph and facing the Bandstand on which were the following: D. Watson, President; Rev. P. R. Stote; Rev. J. Grant; Rev. W. E. Black; Msgr. David; Mr. Paul Lefebvre, Mayor of Huntingdon.

The band played O'Canada to open the program and Rev. Stote followed with prayer. The names of fallen comrades were read as follows: 1st World War, by Rev. Black; 2nd World War and Korean War by Rev. Grant. This was followed by a prayer by Msgr. David. Three volleys were fired by the Air Force Cadets and the Last Post was sounded by a member of the band. Two minutes silence was observed and this was ended by Reveille.

Wreaths were deposited at the Cenotaph by the following: Canadian Legion Branch No. 81 by Cde. G. Lennox; Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion by Mrs. Winnie Napier; County of Huntingdon by J. M. Smellie; Town of Huntingdon by Pro-Mayor J. R. Walsh; Maple Leaf Grange by David Rankin; Mothers of the County by Mrs. Rosemary Cosgrove.

During the laying of the wreaths the band played appropriate music and to conclude the service played God Save the Queen.

It was a simple, but impressive service.

Christmas Street Lighting Will Cover Large Part Of Chateauguay Street

Huntingdon is going to be all "Lit Up" for the Christmas and New Year holiday period this year and that is for certain. During the latter part of last week workmen were busy stringing up wires with electric sockets in readiness for the colored lights which will be used in them very shortly.

The start was made at Cemetery Street on Chateauguay Street and the wires were criss-crossed across the street until the wider part at McCoy's Corner was reached. Then the wires were carried around this part to the narrower portion of Chateauguay Street, where they were criss-crossed again until the wide part at the fountain. Here again the wires were taken around and then back into the next narrower portion of Chateauguay Street, where the same procedure was used right down to the Huntingdon County Hospital.

All this is being done under the auspices of the Huntingdon Board of Trade with Mr. Jim McCoy and a committee being responsible for the planning and organizing of the details. Many small details had to be worked out and much equipment was checked on before the decision as to what form would be followed. Contributions to cover the cost of the project have been forthcoming from the businessmen of the town and from the proceeds of a theatre night which was held a week ago. The proceeds from the latter were a little disappointing however. The committee could still handle more contributions from anyone interested in seeing the town go forward and these would be welcome at this time.

In addition to the strings of lights, at the centre of each one crossing the street will be either a bell, or a star. This will be done by a number of colored lights to make the outline. At either end of the street, it is intended to place another lighted sign that will carry a message of the Christmas season in French and English. It will be the welcome to people entering town from each direction.

Something of what this entails as to material etc., can be gained from the quantities needed to do this job. So far it has taken 2500 sockets; 15,000 feet of electric wire; 4 Time Clocks; 4 Meters; 4 Panels; 7,000 feet of supporting wire and a quantity of hooks for attaching the wire; Various ground rods; 3,000 colored bulbs, some extra bulbs being ordered to cover burnouts, etc. In addition to this, of course is the labour. The sockets had to be made up and the wire frames for the stars and bells will have to be made as also the frames for the Christmas messages at either end.

This equipment will be stored after use, to be used again another year. It is possible that more equipment will be added each year. It will no doubt be seen after this first year where improvements can be made and most probably will be made another year.

It seems probable that the lights may be turned on even before this newspaper has been published, but if not, it will not be too long after. They will then be on until some time after the New Year holiday.

The businessmen of Huntingdon are enthusiastic about this new endeavor and they hope that it will meet with the approval of the citizens generally. This is the first attempt at trying to give Huntingdon a festive appearance and it is hoped that it will be a success. Watch for the lights to go on.

Have you forgotten or neglected to do something today, Wednesday, November 14th? If you have not yet cast your vote, I urge you to do so. This is one of our most precious rights in our democratic society, which, if lost due to apathy, would be a tragedy. Many of us realize that the current Provincial Election Campaign has caused confusion, but please do not allow this to interfere with your duty as a good Canadian citizen. Exercise your right! Weigh the evidence, pick your man or party and because you are free to vote —vote!

C.H.O.A. Tours Labatt's Brewery.

Members of the Chateauguay Home Owners Association, local residents and friends, on invitation from Labatt's Brewery in Lasalle, visited their plant last Thursday evening, November 8th. This visit included a most interesting guided tour during which we learned of the ingredients and procedures involved in manufacturing this brew. Luckily for us, the plant was in operation and most of us found the bottling process the most fascinating. After the empty bottles are sterilized in the huge modern machine, they are ejected in such a manner that they appear to be like little soldiers standing at attention! Then the containers are conveyed towards the next process of being filled, capped, pasturized and finally, packed. The speed of this highly mechanized and efficent procedure can bring forth nearly one million bottles per day! I heard many comments, too, on the intelligence it must take to invent such complicated machinery.

Later, we enjoyed dancing, and refreshments, including delicious sandwiches, were served. Mr. Roy Vetland, President of C.H.O.A. speaking on behalf of all those in attendance expressed thanks to Mr. Biset and Mr. Amyot of Labatts, the waiters and guides for kindly providing our association with the benefits of a most pleasurable evening.

The organizers of this tour, Roy Vetland, Pat D'arcy, Tom Allman, and Percy Lanigan wish to thank all those who picked up their own tickets. They also wish to express their gratitude to those folk, who at the last moment due to unseen emergencies, could not attend, and yet were kind enough to call and advise that their tickets could be used by others. As many of you know, there were only a limited number of tickets available and cooperation such as this is very much appreciated.

Mr. Pat D'Arcy, President of the Chateauguay Minor Sports Association, is looking for a volunteer statistician for the coming hockey season. This job entails keeping up to date all the records of the various team and league standings. If there is anyone who would like to help out, please call Mr. D'Arcy at 692-0254.

There has been much said on radio and in newspapers about the strict enforcement, by Provincial Police, of the law governing the passing of stopped school buses you all know, or should know, it is illegal for any motor vehicle to pass any stopped school bus. What many of us don't know, is that this law is not only to be enforced by Provincial Officers, but by local officers as well. So for the safety of our children, and your pocketbook, abide by the rules!

Last September we heard about the "Wee Willing Workers", who had spent their summer raising funds for "Care of Canada". Recently the cheque was sent and now a grateful acknowledgment from CARE has been received. The Wee Willing Workers now become members of the "Happy Helpers Club". This latter organization was formed in January, 1962, by a class of Grade 4 students in Mayerthrope Public School in Meyarthrope, Alberta. Our local charter members include, Catherine, Jo-Ann, Sharon, Lise, Judith, Wendy, Lionel, Sandra, Anthony, Maureen, Glenn. Congratulations on a job well done!

C.H.O.A. Executive Board will hold a meeting on Thursday night, November 15th, at the home of Secretary Mrs. Yvonne Rockwell, 59 St. Francis Blvd. Among the items to be discussed will be final plans regarding buses for Santa Claus parade and plans for the pre-Christmas Dance to be held on December 7th. Watch this newspaper for further details.

Happy Birthday Greetings go out to Brian Leece, of 76 Langlois St., who was 4 years old, on Saturday, November 10th. A party with many friends was held in his honour and to the delight of all the youngsters, cartoon - movies were shown. Also on the agenda was the serving of ice cream and cake which was enjoyed by all!

Mrs. Marie Lanigan of St. Francis Blvd., has been feeling very much under the weather. All your friends, Marie, wish you a quick trip back to health!

It is beyond me why supposedly responsible people cannot foresee tragedy as well as the man-in-the street. The repairs on Salaberry Blvd., have begun and the road was raised by several feet, but no guard-rails on the riverside were installed! Could the powers-that-be not see the danger ahead! I'm sure most people agree that proper planning may have prevented the tragic accident that took place Sunday evening. Now, what about the future? Salaberry Blvd., can be treacherous during winter. How many lives must be lost or how many people hurt before safety rails are put up! Let's hope and pray that the Provincial Roads Department does not wait until the spring. In the meantime I urge all drivers to drive with care.

C.H.O.A.

Mr. Ben Charbonneau is one of the Directors of the Chateauguay Home Owners Association and has been active within the association for the past three years. It was just four years ago that Mr. Charbonneau and his wife, Lise, moved to 45 St. Paul Street, from LaSalle, with their 4 daughters, André, 17, Monique, 15 and the twins, Manon and Micheline, who are 12 years old.

Ben feels that the program of sports activity provided for our boys and girls, by the C.H.O.A., has been unexcelled in our area. He notes that when they moved here, juvenile delinquency was one of the problems facing the residents. Giving the youngsters various activities has reduced this problem a great deal by alleviating boredom. "But," says Ben, "so much more could be done by the Town Council of Chateauguay. The organizations here should not be required to maintain rinks and parks. The town budget should cover this expense! The City Fathers are not giving its residents enough support along these lines. I hope to see this changed in the very near future!" Ben also deplores the lack of one centre large enough to provide opportunities for organizations to stage various social and sports events. The halls in our area are not well situated and are inadequate, lacking proper accoustics and ventilation. Here again it would seem that a large civic centre or area is the answer. Ben was quick to acknowlege the work of Mr. Paul Duffy of Lang Street, who has assisted the youngsters of the local Yacht Club. In the future, Mr. Charbonneau would like to see the town provide, stock and maintain all park sites as he feels that our association has enough to do to organize the sports and social activities.

(Mr. and Mrs. Charbonneau's oldest daughter, Andree, is also interested in community affairs. She is presently taking a refresher course in Girl Guides in Valleyfield in hopes that someone will be able to help her organize Guide activties for Roman Catholic girls in our district.)

In closing, Ben stressed the point that the past summer's events on the park sites, events such as Field Days and numerous softball games, are evidence as to how much fixed park sites are needed in all areas.

Cafeteria Automatic is owned and operated by Ben and he has very graciously provided his services at many outdoor events sponsored by C.H.O.A. or C.M.S.A. In our immediate vicinity, this includes the recent Open-Air Banquet in October and our annual Field Days.

Our thanks should go to Ben Charbonneau for always being ready and willing to help at any and every occasion.

Mrs. Dorothy D'Arcy of Lang Street and Mrs. May Pearce of Langlois Street, were among the guests at the home of Mrs. Jack Cleveland. This girls' night out party was for a Studio-Girl make-up demonstration. Free samples were distributed after coffee and cake. All in all, it sounds as if the gals had a good time!

All of us send our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Thomas and family of Chateauguay Station on the loss of her husband, George Thomas as a result of last Sunday evening's accident.

That's all for this week. My telephone number is 692-2659. Dial it sometime and tell me your news!

VETVILLE NEWS

In the appropriate setting of a beautifully appointed and decorated hall, the Vetville Armistice Service was held at 10.30 A.M., Sunday, Nov. 11th. The colours of Branch 108 and also of the Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 108 were placed in front of the platform and with a goodly attendance from both Vetville and Legion Branch 108 the hall was filled to capacity when Cde Norman McLeod entered to conduct the service. He was assisted by Col. Norman Mitchell V.C., M.C.

The service, which took one half hour, consisted of Prayers, Creed, Sermon and three well chosen hymns, 'Onward Christian Soldiers', 'Fight the Good Fight', and 'O God, Our Help in Ages Past'.

Two scripture passages, one from the Old Testament and one from the New Testament, were read by Col. Mitchell, V.C.

In his address Cde McLeod dwelt briefly on the tension and anxiety of today to which people are subjected, and further stated that we have just passed through the biggest crisis that mankind has ever faced.

Last Post and Reveille were sounded at 11.00 A.M. to end the service and Cde McLeod and Col Mitchell then moved to the exit to meet many acquaintances both in Vetville and Branch 108 of the Royal Canadian Legion.

Music Festival Committee Holds Meeting

The Music Festival Committee met in Ormstown High School on Tuesday night, November 13 with eleven members present under the chairmanship of Dr. A. Kelen. Minutes of last meeting were read and business arising therefrom was discussed. The committee would like to issue an appeal to all interested parties who have not received the syllabus to write to the secretary, Mrs. Christine Sherrington, Franklin Centre, or Dr. Andrew Kelen, Ormstown, requesting same.

The question of Scholarship arose and it was suggested that there may be individuals, groups or organizations interested in donating toward an instrumental or vocal scholarship. This, also, may be directed to the secretary or the chairman. It is the hope of the Committee that many more musicians will enter the festival, which will take place the latter part of April, 1963. Entries must be in on or before February 1st, 1963.

Downtown Areas Need Facelift

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trees, parks, a civic square and outdoor restaurants are recommended by Vancouver architect William Leithead as means to improve downtown areas of any city.

Improvement must come, he said, because "our downtown areas are in trouble."

"Downtown streets are fringed with drab concrete pavements decorated with No Parking signs, litter baskets, post boxes, lamp posts—all invariably executed in very poor design and taste.

"Our downtown areas at present show very little regard for the individual."

Canadian cities should plant more trees downtown, acquire small pieces of downtown property and plant them in grass, put in a bench or two and small fountains. There must be one large piece of property as a civic square — a focal point. Shopping malls and outdoor restaurants would help.

"The cost will be a great deal," Mr. Leithead said, "but the rewards will outweigh this cost many times and we will achieve those qualities of beauty and delight so necessary to fulfil human aspiration.

"And we will create an atmosphere of dignity, restraint, beauty, adventure, excitement and delight by paying regard to the spaces in between."

LITTLE-KNOWN FACTS FROM THE READER'S DIGEST

Facts from The Reader's Digest about the human hand: taking a spoonful of soup involves more than 30 joints and 50 muscles; the flying fingers of a master pianist can strike 120 notes per second; the skin on the back of your hand stretches almost half an inch when you grip or squeeze something.

One insurance company places so much confidence in the safety belt in automobiles that it will pay double indemnity for injury or death of an insured motorist in an accident while the belt is fastened. The use of the belt could greatly reduce fatalities and injuries, says Reader's Digest.

Meeting of Unit No. 6 — U.C.W.

Mrs. Wm. Black was a guest at the meeting of Unit 6 United Church Women, held on Tuesday evening, 6th November, at the home of Mrs. Richard McIntosh, Dewittville. Eleven members were present with Miss Winnie Rowles in the chair. Mrs. Fred Kyle the Treasurer, read her report and the devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Harry Scott.

Discussion at the meeting centered around the forthcoming Bazaar which is being held in the church on 16th November. Mrs. Howard McLean is responsible for sandwich-making, assisted by Mrs. Otto Bulow, Violet Winter, Mrs. Nelson Beattie, Mrs. Ralph Watson and Mrs. W. A. McClatchie.

As a surprise for the group, Miss Arline McIntosh had set up a table displaying the items that Unit 6 will have for sale at the bazaar. The back-drop for the table, which has been painted by Miss McIntosh, made a very attractive background for the colourful display. At the bazaar, Mrs. Richard McIntosh will be in charge of the table.

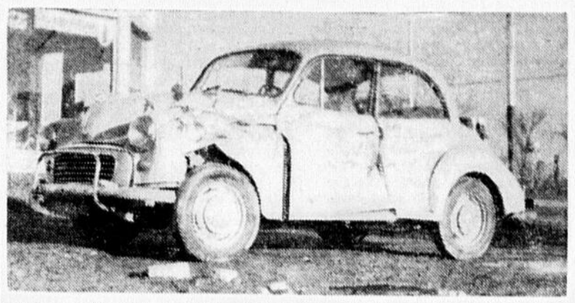
HAS LUCKY ESCAPE



The above car was pushed 93 feet along the railways tracks by a freight train and the driver got out and lit a cigarette.

Henri Ener, 60, of Ridge Road, Huntingdon, was driving his 1958 Morris car North to South on Bouchette Street and on reaching the N.Y.C. railway crossing the car stalled on the tracks. A freight train which was shunting cars on the tracks was coming along at the same time and backed into the car, pushing it along the tracks for 93 feet in a westerly direction. The train was backing up and it was one of the freight cars which hit the Morris. The time of the accident was about 8.05 p.m. on Thursday, November 8th. After the accident, Mr. Ener got out of the car quite unhurt and said he was glad that was over, as he lit a cigarette. Town police investigated the accident.

Notes From The Police Blotter

Several Accidents in the Area

There were several accidents of more or less minor nature in our area during the week-end. On November 10th, Charles Debarbier, of Montreal, was driving his car on Range 4 near St. Chrysostome, Que., when he hit a post and did damage to his car to the extent of $400. On the same day, early in the morning at about 2.10, Mrs. Mabel Cullen of Ormstown, driving her car on Route 52, struck a cow and damaged her car to the extent of about $250. It is not known if the cow was injured or who owned the animal. On November 11th, Mr. Fred Baskin of Ormstown was driving his car on Route 52, near Rockburn, at about 9.40 a.m. when a collision occurred with another car driven by Frederick Smith of Sutton Junction. Damage to both vehicles amounted to about $325. Also on November 11th, Simon Lemieux of St. Chrysostome had his car parked on the side of the road when it was struck by another car driven by Gerard Boileau of Valleyfield. Damage to both cars amounted to about $350. These accident were all investigated by the Provincial Police.

Huntingdon Town Police make the following reports on cases they have had to deal with the past week.

On Saturday, November 10th, a 1953 Meteor belonging to Robert Denard Gregoire, Beauharnois, was stolen from in front of the Chateau Huntingdon. The theft occurred at about 4.05 p.m. So far no trace of the car has been found.

Also on the same day and the same place, a station wagon owned by Paul Frappier, T.V. Service was damaged to the extent of $75. A car owned by Jean Labbe, Laprairie, backed into the driver's side of the station wagon causing the damage stated.

On Sunday, November 11th Roger Girouard of Huntingdon, had his car parked on Cemetery Street. Mr. Gilbert Brunet of Huntingdon was coming along the same street north to south and was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car and hit the parked car. The time was about 7.15 p.m. Damage to the Girouard car was about $100 and to the Brunet car about $200.

The firemen were called out on a false alarm on November 7th, at about 7 p.m. for a fire supposedly at Sanmier Lane off Lake Street. When they arrived there was no fire.

Dundee

DUNDEE — Remembrance Day was fittingly observed at the morning service in Zion United Church. The United Church Women had placed a cross upon the communion table from which hung a large Union Jack. This cross had been made by the veterans in hospital and was fashioned of greenery covered with red poppies. The choir was composed of both the junior and senior members singing hyms suitable to the occasion as well as Rudyard Kipling's "Lest We Forget". In his sermon, Mr. Rutledge reminded his listeners that most of our heritage, which we take for granted, was first won by fighting for it, usually by loss of blood. Even the right to go to the polls on Wednesday had to be won years ago.

Dundee still has the odd porcupine that curious dogs molest to their sorrow and discomfort. On Friday Lester Fraser's two young collies, who are in the habit of hunting woodchucks, arrived home with their mouths and faces covered with quills. The inside of their mouths were so covered that the dogs could not be treated at home. They were taken to Dr. Gaw's office where they were given an anesthetic and the quills pulled out. The dogs were then left there for the night.

-o-

Mr. Frank Rutledge has begun a study period to which members of the congregation are invited. The book for study is "The Word and the Way". This is the book recommended for the United Church Women and also the one on which some of the Sunday School lessons are based. It is about the personal Christian faith of today. There are chapters on "What is Religion"; "The Love of God"; "God and Evil"; "Miracles". The first meeting was held at the manse and last Sunday's group met at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming. The next study group will discuss the chapter on God the Creator.

-o-

After the Remembrance Day Service, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fraser, Barbara and Bill, motored to Farnham to visit Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Barber.

-o-

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNicol were Mr. Robert White of McMasterville and his friend Gerry of St. Bruno, also Mr. Ian MacDonald of Beloeil.

-o-

Following the sudden death of their mother, Mrs. H. G. Trueman, Mr. Hazen Trueman and Miss Gail Trueman spent a few days with their father. The sympathy of the community is extended to this family. Aubrey-Riverfield

AUBREY-RIVERFIELD — The regular monthly meeting of Aubrey-Riverfield W. I. was held Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Osborne Orr with the President, Mrs. Janet Reddick, in the chair.

Eighteen members and two visitors were present. After the usual opening Ode and Collect the minutes were read and approved. A letter of thanks for jams and jellies sent to The Preston Home in Howick was read. Another letter of thanks for the prize of a dictionary for Mathematics from Sandra McFarlane was read. Mrs. Everett Orr reported five hampers of apples had been donated to the High School Cafeteria. Quilt blocks were handed in to be quilted at the all-day Social Service meeting in Dec.

Mrs. Math. McKell reported on the semi-annual meeting of Chateauguay—Huntingdon W. I. held at the home of Mrs. Carl Anderson. Mrs. Gordon Easton read a short article on the United Nations.

Mrs. Robert Templeton was then asked to tell some of the highlights of the trip she and Robert had taken this fall to Scotland and England. They sailed from Montreal on the Empress of Canada and after quite rough crossing arrived in Greenock six days later. Conditions on board ship were very comfortable and everything possible was done to make the trip enjoyable. There was an orchestra, deck games, bingo, a swimming pool, two masquerades, dancing, horse racing (wooden horses), a library, movies twice a day, and three cozy lounges in which to relax or visit with new found friends. On arrival in Scotland they were piped on shore by two highlanders in full dress. They were met by Mr. George Templeton of Carnell Home Farms at Hurlford and spent almost two weeks among the Ayrshire herds of the surrounding community. They received such warm hospitality everywhere and found even strangers on the street would offer assistance as to finding a good place to eat or how to reach a destination, etc.

After a brief stop in Glasgow they spent a few days in Perth and from there visited the Sma' Glen, Amubree, Loch Earn, Loch Achray, Loch Katrine, Callendar and the Trossachs on the way passing throught the Braes of Balquhidder where Rob Roy had roamed the hillsides. The scenery was magnificent in the brilliant sunshine with fleecy white clouds reflected in the blue waters of the lochs and the green rolling hills in the background. The next stop was Edinburgh passing over the wonderful Forth Bridge. At the moment another bridge is being built alongside it to take care of motor traffic. Edinburgh is really a beautiful city built on the Firth of Forth. The famous Princes St. must be seen to be appreciated. On one side are fine shops and across the broad boulevard are lovely gardens of flowers, trees and lawns and away up on the inaccessible rock cliff stands Edinburgh Castle. It was built in the eleventh century but legend says it was there 1000 years before Christ.

The newest of the buildings is the Scottish National War Memorial with its shrine on the highest point on the rock. It is considered the finest in the world. From the castle at the end of the "Royal Mile" lies Holyrood Palace which was being redecorated for the visit of Queen Elizabeth the following week when she was to be hostess to King. Olaf. After a visit to the famous Loch Lomond they made their way down to Liverpool. This city was very heavily bombed during the war but whole blocks of new modern buildings have been erected although there are many piles of rubble still to be seen. Next stop was new Birmingham when a few days were spent with the Bunburys and visiting Coventry Cathedral, Stratford-on-Avon and Warwick Castle. The grand old Cathedral at Coventry built over 500 years ago was heavily damaged by incendiary bombs in 1940 so that only the walls and tower are left standing but the ruins have been made safe for visitors and seem to have a powerful religious effect on the minds of those who see them. The new Cathedral which is very modernistic is built at right angles to the old. It is constructed of pink-grey sandstone and blends in perfectly with the old. It was dedicated by Queen Elizabeth on May 25, 1962.

From there they took train to Cambridge and were much impressed by all the colleges but the most arresting sight was King's College Chapel built by Sir Christopher Wren.

Passing through London they travelled through a lot of waste country with chalky looking soil and overrun by wild ponies. The next few days were spent at Wimborne visiting Dr. and Mrs. Jas. MacGregor, who drove them down to the Sea only a few miles away, to Poole, Bournemouth and Portland. The climate is very moderate here all winter and the lovely hotels are well patronized. There are miles and miles of sandy beaches at the foot of high cliffs. Next they headed back up to London for a whirlwind tour of many interesting places. Trafalgar Square was very much in the centre of things. Nelson's monument, 184 feet high, dominates the square with two huge fountains playing in the background. Right in front stretches 'The Mall' up through the Admiralty gates past Marlborough House, Clarence House and St-James Palace to Buchingham Palace. A huge statue of Queen Victoria stands in front of the Palace gates. In Westminster Abbey the "Tomb of the Unknown Soldier" is surrounded by poppies just inside the West Door and above it hangs the Union Jack which covered the coffin at the funeral service in 1920. The Abbey is being cleaned just now. It is very black both inside and out from the incendiary bombs. They saw the tombs of many kings and queens, poets, statemen, painters and scientists. The Abbey is the church of Royalty while St. Paul's Cathedral is called the Parish Church of the British Commonwealth. It was built by Sir Christopher Wren and is famous for its huge dome dominating the city. In St. Paul's the great soldiers and sailors are buried.

They witnessed the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham Palace passed Hyde Park Corner the busiest in the world where 100,000 cars pass every 24 hours, Kensington Museums, 10 Downing St., The Monument in Fish Street commemorating the Great Fire in 1666, the Cenotaph, Westminster Hall which was the scene of the opening of Parliament recently, The National Art Gallery, The Tower of London which houses the Crown Jewels, Dickens Old Curiosity Shop which dates from 1567, Stoke Poges famous for Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard, Hampton Court Palace, Windsor Palace the favorite home of Queen Elizabeth and many more places of historical interest. All too soon it was time to leave with so many places still unseen. Leaving London by B.O.A.C. they touched down at Prestwich to pick up more passengers. There it was almost dark and raining but on rising above the clouds the flight across was made in bright sunshine at 35,000 feet and six hours later the plane touched down at Dorval.

Distribution Of Prizes And Annual Commencement Exercises At Ormstown High

The annual Commencement Exercises and distribution of prizes and awards was held at Ormstown High School on Saturday evening, November 10th. A very interesting program was followed through and the following are those who received prizes and awards in the various grades.

Mr. Gerald MacKay, assistant Professor of Education and Psychology at Macdonald College, addressed the students and parents at the Commencement Exercises at Ormstown High School last Saturday evening. Mr. MacKay presented his topic "Methods of Learning Faster and Better" in a simple, straightforward manner. He explained that through scientific study and research, it is possible to learn faster and better and such a method is so desirable in our day and age. His interesting presentation appealed to both young and old in the audience and he left his listener with a desire to know more of this aspect of education.

St. Joseph's Cadet Bugle Band News

St Joseph's Cadet

This picture was taken at a supper held at Notre Dame School a few weeks ago. This supper was given in honour of the Cadet bugle and Drum Band, to celebrate the winning of the Molson Trophy at The Chateauguay Music Festival last May. From left is Mr. Tardiff, the Principal of St. Joseph School; Mr. Guy Lefebvre, who is officially presenting the trophy to Master Clement Latulip, the Base Drum player and Herve Tessier the instructor of the Band. The supper was enjoyed by all, and was served by the pupils of the eleventh grade of St. Joseph School. These boys are to be congratulated on the splendid manner in which the hall was decorated especially the tables and their efficiency in serving the supper. A vote of thanks to the Principal for promoting the festivities, and to Mgr. David for his kind words of encouragement.

Recently the boys met the Premier of the Province, Honorable Jean Lesage. This was quite an experience for the boys, which impressed them very much, and in turn impressed the Premier. Also the Band played a short concert for a meeting held at the Notre Dame School Hall in favour of the Liberal Party, where the boys met The Minister of Public Works, Hon. Mr. Hamel and the candidate for the Liberal Party, Mr. Kenneth Fraser. Last Friday evening the band had the honour of leading a parade down main street to escort Mr. Jean Jacques Bertrand and Mr. Alister Sommerville, M.P. to Notre Dame School for a meeting of the Union National Party. Mr. Bertrand was indeed impressed with the boys. We sincerely hope that the services of the Band were satisfactory to bothe parties concerned. And thanks for asking us.

Due to the fact that the joint Huntingdon and Ormstown Band played for the Remembrance Day parade in Huntingdon, the Cadet Band went to Hemmingford to help in the parade there.

Search For Men Believed Lost In Bush Results In Them Being Found

The Gleaner received word early this morning (Wednesday) that two Montreal men lost in the bush on the Back Ridge Road, Huntingdon, were found shortly before midnight Tuesday.

Mr. Henri Chartrand, age 64, and his son Dr. Claude Chartrand, age 32, visited the farm of Marcel Taillefer Tuesday morning. Shortly after lunch they walked towards the rear of the farm, inspecting property they were interested in acquiring.

Mr. Taillefer became worried when the father and son had not returned at nightfall. Shortly before 8 p.m. he visited the police station in Huntingdon and asked for a spotlight, saying he was sure the men were lost. Sgt. Roger Provost, in charge at the desk, quickly summed up the situation and immediately organized search parties, realizing the lightly clad men would probably die from exposure if they remained out all night.

Sgt. Provost contacted the Royal Canadian Legion, the Knights of Columbus, a number of hunters in the district, and also notified radio station CFLV that assistance was needed. About 50 or 60 men were soon scouring the bush. Mr. Chartrand and his son were found huddled near a fire they had built, cold and annerved.

Messrs. Laurent Duheme and Maurice Patenaude, both of Huntingdon, found the men. Today they are at the home of the senior man's brother, Mr. Chas. Chartrand, employee at the Quebec Liquor Store in Huntingdon.

The quick action of Mr. Taillefer and Sgt. Provost in organizing the search party is to be commended.

"Meet The Teacher Night" To Be Held November 21st

The "Meet the Teacher Night" of the Huntingdon Home and School Association which would normally have taken place on the night of the provincial election has been changed from November 14th to November 21st, (Wednesday) at 8 P.M.

There will be a short business session followed by visits to the classrooms where teachers will be waiting to meet the parents.

Those parents who have already received letters from their child's teacher, will find this an opportunity for discussion of possible solution to the existing problems, while all the parents will benefit by the visit by having the chance to absorb some of the atmosphere of the classroom where their child spends over five hours for five days of each week during the school year.

Parents often find that, after a visit of this sort, they are able to enjoy their child's comments about his school day with much more understanding than if they have never seen the interior of his classroom nor met the person who, next to them, probably has more influence on their child than any other adult.

In a year the National Fingerprint Bureau of the RCMP at Ottawa receives about 10,000 "non-criminal" fingerprints and about twice that number of "criminal" fingerprints.

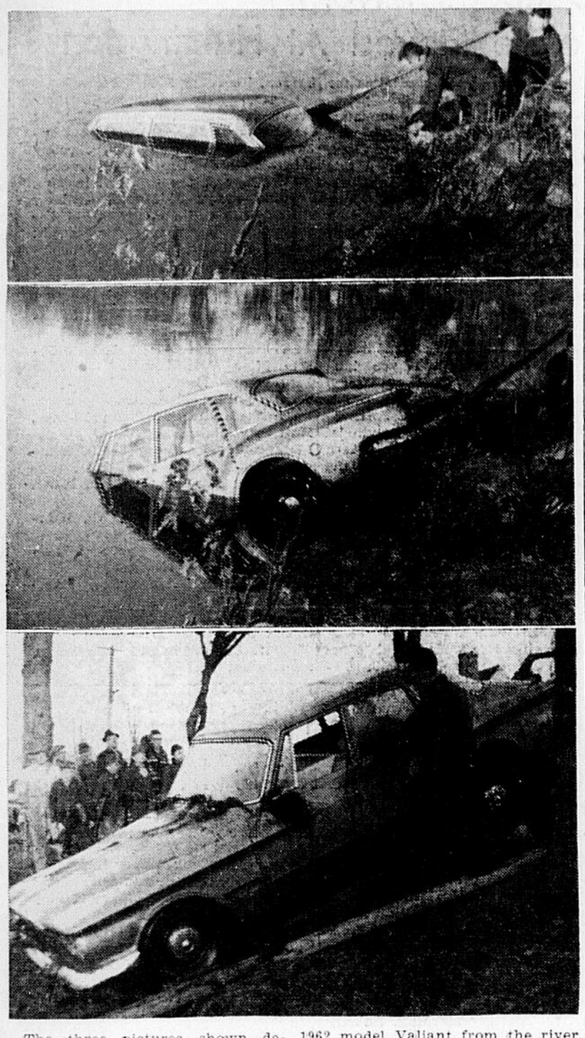
CAR ROLLS INTO CHATEAUGUAY RIVER AT HUNTINGDON



The three pictures shown depict the sequence of an unfortunate incident that occurred early Saturday evening in Huntingdon. Mr. Leslie A. Sanderson, Manager of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in Huntingdon, attended the Armistice Supper at the Legion Hall. Immediately following the banquet, he drove to his home on Athelstan Road. Expecting to be in the house only a moment, he left the motor of his car running. Once inside, he became engrossed in the final minutes of the hockey game on TV.

Returning to where he parked the car, he was astounded to find it had disappeared. He immediately thought it had been stolen, but a check revealed the car had rolled down the drive-way, across the street and into the swollen Chateauguay River opposite his home.

Word of the misfortune quickly spread and throughout the evening and until Monday afternoon sightseers drove past to see where the car went in the river. Little could be seen, however, because the high water more than covered the car. After going in opposite the Sanderson home, it was found about 100 ft. down-stream opposite the Fawcett residence.

On Monday about 3.30 p.m., a crew from the C. J. Kyle garage began operations to remove the 1962 model Valiant from the river. Denis Frederick and Denis Allen went out in a boat and secured a chain to the car. The pictures tell the rest of the story. Apart from water damage, little harm was done to the car.

Before the car reached the surface, one bystander wondered if someone had tried to steal the car and a body would be found in it. A second replied "it would serve the -------- right".

Another remarked it was cold. The bank manager's wife quipped "Go stand beside Les, he's so hot under the collar you'll soon get warm".

We're not sure, but we think it was Charlie Kyle who got some stony looks when he said "Too bad Les, but we can't blame this on women drivers".

The incident was unfortunate, but could easily have been much worse. The car might have hit a passing vehicle when it rolled across the street, or worse still, as Mrs. Sanderson said, 'We often leave Heather alone in the back seat while we unlock the doors".

Incidentally, Mr. Sanderson was the recipient of an elaborately wrapped gift at Rotary on Monday. It turned out to be a brick wrapped in silver foil and on the card was inscribed "A silver wheel block, from your friends".

News from Ormstown

EXHIBITION CENTRE
COVERING THE ACTIVITIES OF THE "LITTLE ROYAL"

Brysonville Community resumes Activities.

Ormstown - A Hallowe'en Party was the beginning of activity for the Brysonville Community Group this fall. Mr. Bob Younie and his sect, Mr. Harold Merson were very ably assisted by their wives and friends in organizing a party for the kids on Oct 31st. Games were played and just before lunch was served, prizes were awarded to the witches, goblins and other strange folk judged to have the best costume. Prizes for girls 5 years and under went to Kathy Smith and Susan Cowper. For boys 5 years and under Glen Tannahill and Alexander Tie. Girls 6,7,8, years Sharon McWhinnie and Nancy Hamilton, Boys 6,7,8, years Kevin Ovans and Tommy Hamilton. In the girls 9,10,11 age group the prizes went to Chantel Tie and Joanne Tie. For boys in the same age group David Goodall and Alan Goodall. For girls 12 to 15 Brenda Grieg and Roberta Wallace, for boys 22 to 15 Billy Hope and Jimmy Hamilton. Mrs. Gorden Smith and Mrs. Paul Tie won the two prizes awarded for the adult best costume.

Brysonville Euchre Party

A Euchre and 500 party was held on Wednesday evening following a children's party the previous week, in the Brysonville Community Hall. A good card playing crowd turned out and several tables of 500 and Euchre were played by a most exhuberant group. Prizes went to Mr. Helen Peddie and Mrs. Thelma Peddie as first in Euchre for ladies. Mr. Clinton McWhinnie and Mr. Russell Kerr were winners for the men, for the same game. For 500 first place for ladies went to Miss McCaig and second to Mrs. Lorne Elliott. First for men was won by Mr. Jim Bryson and second by Mr. Archie McCaig. The Club will hold a card party in the hall the first Wednesday in every month during the winter months, the next one scheduled for Dec. 5th. Refreshments were served by the committee.

Cubs and Scouts

The Scouts and Cubs may be compared to a hive of activity these days. Last Sunday they turned out in force to march with the Legionnaires in their annual Remembrance Day Parade, and next Saturday, November 24th, they will be calling at every home in town with light bulbs. Since this project has become an annual practice of the Cubs and Scouts most people try to wait for their visit before purchasing their supply of light bulbs for the months ahead, thus ensuring themselves of inconvenience when the reading lamp burns a bulb. What could be more annoying to a high school student to have the bulb burn out in the middle of an ancient history assignment? Last Monday the District Commissioner Mr. Sexton held an installation ceremony, when three cubs relinquished their cub uniforms and became members of the Boy Scout of Canada group. Those new Scouts are Jimmy Rowe, Joey Grand and Tommy Boyd. The Scout Master Mr. Jack Johnson and his able Assistant Mr. Donald McCormick are doing a very commendable job with the Scouts. The Cubs are under the capable leadership of Mr. George McKell who also is doing very fine work with these young lads. Four new cubs joined the forces on Tuesday evening, when Ian Johnson, Jerry McAdam, Ricky Cowper and Ronald Winter were installed. The Cub Master is very ably assisted in his work by the untiring efforts of his committee of three mothers, Mrs. J. Sancton, Mrs. G. Elliott and Mrs. D. Glover. The Cubs and Scouts motto "Be Prepared" would seem an apt one for us all when they call with light bulbs next Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cullen and Miss Myrtle Cullen were entertained at a family gathering in Hudson on Sunday, when Mrs. Eric Lane served dinner to several members of her immediate family.

Alumini Dance

Great preparation is underway for a reunion of former pupils of the Catholic schools of Ormstown. A gala dance will be held in the boy's school Saturday evening, Nov. 24th when all former members are invited to attend. This is the first time since a project has been undertaken and the committee under the direction of Mr. Bruno Brunet, Mrs. C. Barette and others, hope all will help make it a real reunion.

See Snow Geese Here

Mr and Mrs. Willard Anderson were interested, last Sunday morning around 11 o'clock, to see a large flock of snow geese which had apparently flown off-course in their southward flight, and had landed in Anderson's front field. They were in three separate groups and seemed quite uneasy, as if perhaps the snow storm had caused them to lose their bearings.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Neely, Ottawa, are spending a few days at the Neely home.

Mrs. Carl Anderson, who had the misfortune to fall and break her leg, is still a patient in the Huntingdon County Hospital and at last report is a little more comfortable. It has been a very painful session and we all wish you a speedy recovery, Alice.

Mrs. Wilmer McMillan has been in the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal for the past ten days. She has had trouble with the blood circulation in her leg, but at latest report, there was some improvement. The sincere wishes of the community are extended to Mrs. McMillan for a quick recovery and a speedy home-coming.

Mr. Robert Boyse who spent last week in Montreal returned at the week-end. The condition of his injured leg is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sutton of Dundee were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cookman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCaig of Ormstown were supper guests on Saturday at Honey Bee Farm.

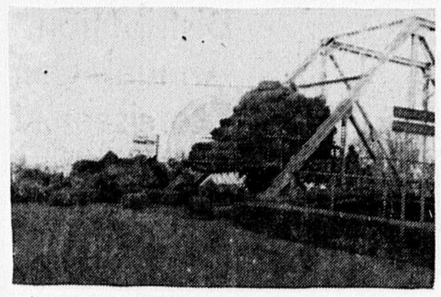
LOAD OF HAY COMES TO GRIEF



This was the scene on the Huntingdon bridge Friday afternoon. Ten minutes to four a large trailer truck bearing New York license plates; overloaded with baled hay attempted to drive onto the bridge. Upon doing so the cab of the truck was lifted into the air about four feet. The weight of the hay on the rear of the vehicle, broke the ropes securing the load and scattered all over the roadway, causing traffic on the bridge to come to a standstill. Within two minutes a policeman was on the scene, advising the driver to clear the hay off the center of the road so traffic could be resumed. The driver, his helper, policeman and a few helpful citizens helped clear the road. Just in time to allow the four o'clock school buses to proceed with little delay. We must commend the policeman and his helpers for their quick work.

Many Interested In Second Edition Sellar History Of Three Counties

As stated in the Editorial Section of this newspaper last week, The Gleaner intends to undertake the task of printing a Second Edition of "The History of the County of Huntingdon and of the Seigniories of Chateauguay and Beauharnois" by the late Robert Sellar. The reason for this decision is because The Gleaner is constantly receiving requests for the book and we only have three on hand (the original manuscripts in longhand and two used books). For many years the late Adam L. Sellar purchased all books as they became available, through death, paying approximately twenty dollars for each copy. Today, the demand for the book is great, but the supply is exhausted.

Hence, The Gleaner has decided to print a Second Edition. While we do not know if the Second Edition can be dedicated to anyone, if this can be done, we propose dedicating it to the late author's surviving son, R. Watson Sellar of Ottawa; to "Bob" R. W. Sellar, the author's grandson; and to Albert A. Antoine, foreman of The Gleaner printery.

The original book, which consists of 584 pages and excerpts of which appear weekly in The Gleaner under the heading "Notes and Jottings from Robert Sellar's Historical Writings", will be reproduced as closely as possible to the original. Two styles are offered, one with a hard cover, the other with a soft cover. Price for the latter is ten dollars while the hard cover book will sell for one dollar more.

"The History" is of interest to young and old and as evidenced by an order received from Chateauguay, on Saturday, newcomers to The Chateauguay Valley are as interested in the book as old-timers. More than a dozen books have been ordered from Chateauguay since last week's issue, when the announcement was made in the Editorial Section with regard to the Second Edition.

Gleaner readers wishing to give this book as a Christmas gift may do so by sending the full price with their order, i.e. $10. for soft cover, $11. for hard cover, in which case a gift certificate will be mailed to whoever is to receive the book, with the donor's name on it.

Orders for one's self are accepted with a cheque or money order covering half the selling price. The books will be mailed or delivered in September, 1963, or before.

St. Luke's Annual Bazaar

The annual bazaar of St. Luke's Anglican Church was held in the Hall on Saturday afternoon, November 10th. The colourful decorations reminded one that the Christmas season is fast approaching and the well-filled stalls provided many articles for those with Christmas gifts in mind. There was a Variety Stall and an Apron Stall, a Fancy work Stall and a very attractive Plant Stall One innovation was the special children's stall where all the articles had been made by some very 'young' young people, ranging in age from 4 to 10 years. This stall was very popular and realized quite a substantial sum. Special thanks to Mrs. D. B. Woolley for her efforts in this new idea. The very well-filled home-made Bake Stall was rapidly sold out as usual and an enjoyable cup of tea with sandwiches and cakes rounded off a pleasant afternoon — despite the never-ending rain. The lucky winners of the three tea-pots with cosies, for which tickets had been sold during the previous weeks, were: 1st, Mrs. L. Germain; 2nd, Mrs. J. H. L'Espérance and 3rd, Mrs. Max Boast. There was quite a good attendance and the ladies were well satisfied with their afternoon's labour. Their sincere thanks go to all, from near and far, who helped make this annual event such a financial and social success.

A Christening

On Sunday morning, October 28th, at St. Andrew's United Church, Hemmingford, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Greer, was christened by the Reverend Gordon Ficko. The baby received the names of Royal Elmer Clifford Werry and will be called Roy after his maternal grandfather, the late Royal E. C. Werry, Q.C., of Montreal. After the service, Mr. and Mrs. Greer entertained the baby's closest family relatives at dinner . During the afternoon about thirty guests were entertained.

The very attractive christening cake was greatly admired — in more ways than one! It was made by Mrs. Allan Campbell and was in the form of a baby's bassinet, delicately decorated in blue and white.

Visitors

Mrs. Charles Harrington, Mrs. Catherine Phelps and Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Harrington of Burlington, Vermont, were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McKay.

Mrs. L. Dooley, our Prudential Correspondent for The Gleaner in Chateauguay, has asked me to announce in my column a Christmas Bazaar of the Women's Auxiliary, C.C.R.A., to be held next Saturday afternoon., Nov. 17th, starting at 1 P.M. at the St. Jean Baptiste Marie Vianney Church, Chateauguay. I do hope my reader's will make up a party and attend this friendly affair.

Football

To all football fans, do hope you are happy with the outcome of last Saturday's game. Excitement ran high in our house, with the last few minutes of the game, and a sigh of relief from our small fry, was something to behold. Although weather was terrible, I think a wonderful game was played.

Beaux Arts Ball

The Beaux Arts Ball was held Saturday evening at the W.R.A. with some sixty-five members and guests attending. The Polynesian theme was well represented with plenty of Hula Skirts, Shipwrecked sailors, buccaneers' pirates, Maori chieftains with not one but two missionaries. The club abounded with flowers, leis, sarongs and barefeet.

Mrs. John Barr is to be congratulated for the excellent decor. What with native girls in costume, outrigger canoes, witch doctors, tiki idols and tropical greenery, one could almost see the beach at Waikiki. A turkey dinner was served under the capable supervision of Mrs. A. Crawford and Mrs. L. Rennie, with contribution from Miss Lois Lafolley, after which dancing began to the music of the Avalon Trio.

Entertainment was provided by members of the Art Group, and was entitled "The Detachables" complete with a cigar smoking "Al Capone", Ann McKinlay; "Physco Sam", Lil Rennie; "Punchy", Pat Rae; "Frank Nitte", Marg. Crawford; "Elliot Ness", Audrey Charlton; "Dino" Freda Ball, Stage assistants: Eileen Barr and Mae Irwin. What with charleston girls, sirens wailing and guns blazing, the girls did themselves proud, by giving the party a good laugh. A number of prizes were given out which rounded out a very enjoyable evening. Mrs. L. Ball wishes on behalf of the Art Group to thank all those brave souls who ventured out on such a wet night, for their support in helping to make this ball a success.

I would like to correct a mistake in my column last week. It should have read "Mr. Les Ball was hospitalized". I am happy to announce that Mr. Ball is home again. Best wishes for a quick and speedy recovery.

I would also like to announce that Mrs. A. Rawson is progressing quite nicely after her accident. Best wishes to you Ruth.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Mrs. Gladys Pirrie of Bellevue. Hope you are feeling better Gladys.

Accident Rate Up — Car Insurance Premium Increases To Follow

Canadian drivers were involved in more accidents in the 1961 insurance year -- and the accidents were more expensive -- than in any year since 1958 according to a survey of auto accident costs.

The survey shows that 95 of each 1,000 drivers were involved in an accident during the year in which a "third party" claim was made. This is five more than the previous year, or an increase of about 5.5 per cent.

At the same time, the average cost of each accident increased from $360 to $364. The average cost has increased steadily over the past years, jumping $56 since 1957.

Only partially reflected by the survey, which reflects losses up to the end of June, are increases in the cost of accidents caused by Canada's austerity program. Because of devaluation and new import duties, replacement parts of many cars now cost more.

Insurance companies and the various insurance rating groups are currently studying the statistics with a view to setting next year's automobile insurance rates. Although the rates won't be known for several weeks, an increase averaging about 10 per cent across Canada will probably be required to meet the increased costs. The increase in Quebec will average about three per cent but will vary from area to area within the Province.

Individual car owners, particularly those who have graduated to a better classification by reaching the age of 25 or by completing three years of driving without a claim, could well find their rates lower despite the general increase.

Rates for collision insurance (damage to the driver's own car) will probably also show a rise, particularly in the most expensive $25 deductable category. The average cost of claims in this category jumped $10 during the year and the frequency jumped from 117 drivers per thousand to 136.

The various automobile insurance rating groups use loss statistics as a guide for setting their automobile insurance rates. Factors such as a trend towards higher costs in some parts of the country, distortion of statistics caused by one bad accident, or by a rash of accidents resulting from a bad spell of weather, and similar circumstances are taken into consideration before rates are set. Since the proportion of emphasis given to these factors is a matter of judgment, rates often vary sightly from company to company and from rating group to rating group.

The survey, in its assessment of individual drivers, shows that the "bad" drivers are showing some improvement while the "good" drivers have a declining record. Although those who use their cars only for pleasure and have no male drivers under 25 will still pay much less for insurance, they may pay more than last year. Business drivers and those under 25 may find their rates little changed from last year unless they live in an area where losses have been high.

The Cuban crisis eased further as more than half the 40 or so Russian missiles secretly installed in Cuba were reported on their way back to Russia last weekend, with the remainder to follow immediately.

But it was believed the U.S. would maintain a prolonged naval blockade and aerial surveillance of the island to safeguard against any new deliveries of offensive weapons. U.S. officials believed that Soviet deputy premier Anastas Mikoyan had failed in any effort he may have made in Havana to convince Premier Castro to accept international inspection to verify removal of the missiles and dismantling of the bases.

The U.S. Navy last Friday began intercepting merchant ships hauling the big Soviet rockets back home from Cuba. Photographs made public showed eight rockets on one ship's deck, six each on two others. The Soviet government had agreed to let the ships be checked by the U.S. Navy.

It was reported in Washington that nine Soviet ships in all would be involved in the rocket removal, and the Soviet government informed Washington that the operation would be finished Monday night, Nov. 12.

Democrats Upheld

While President Kennedy's own office was not at stake, the Democrats retained control of the United States Congress in the off-year elections Nov. 6.

The final Senate result, where 39 of 100 seats were at stake, left the Democrats ahead 68 to 32, their biggest margin in years. In the House of Representatives, reduced to 435 seats from 437, the Democrats came through with 259 seats to 176 for the Republicans. In the last House the margin was 263 to 174.

But state elections claimed main interest as several administrations, both Democrat and Republican, were turned out in a topsy-turvy pattern. Nelson Rockefeller, Republican retained the New York State governorship by a margin of more than 500,000 votes, but less than hoped for. Republican Richard Nixon suffered a defeat that might signal the end of his political career. Nixon, who lost the presidency by the narrowest of margins to Kennedy two years ago, was beaten in the California governorship by the incumbent Edmund Brown.

Among the noteworthy results 30-year-old Edward Kennedy, youngest brother of the president, won a Senate seat, and Republican George Romney, former head of American Motors Corporation, took the Michigan governorship from Canadian-born incumbent John Swainson.

Der Spiegel

West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer says he doesn't read it because it's "a dirty paper." On the other hand, German writer Alfred Grosser calls it a "symbol of press freedom."

Both are referring to Der Spiegel, the Hamburg news-magazine that figures in a dispute now rocking West Germany, a dispute that at one point almost toppled the government.

Its publisher, Rudolf Augstein, and four editors are in jail on suspicion of committing treason by publishing military secrets. Some 34 of the magazine's 120 editorial offices are under police seal.

Der Spiegel supporters contend the police action is actually a blow against what an independent Munich newspaper described as "the only real opposition" element in West Germany.

Anti-Bomb March

Carrying umbrellas or hatless in a steady downpour of rain, more than 200 demonstrators paraded around the front lawn of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa last Saturday protesting against Canada ever acquiring nuclear weapons.

The "vigil" was arranged by the Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament, after a mass lobby the day before of party leaders and members of Parliament.

The cardboard banners mostly proclaimed: "No nuclear arms for Canada," and its French equivalent. The first small group later was bolstered by three busloads from Toronto and Montreal. On the second circuit there were 124--their parkas and raincoats sopping wet. Stig Harvor of Ottawa, executive secretary of the campaign, described it as the worst weather possible.

Car Plunges Into Chateauguay River — Man Drowned — Body Not Yet Recovered

On Sunday, November 11th, the Chateauguay Centre Police had a call at 4.29 p.m., that a car was in the Chateauguay River. Gerard Laberge ,who witnessed the accident from a distance reported he saw the car moving in a southerly direction on Salaberry South, when it went off the road and bumped down the embankment into the river below opposite number 26 Salaberry South near to Rue Desparois.

Car doors were seen to open and a man emerged and was observed struggling in the water and being carried downstream in the strong current.

Spectators on the road were helpless as the river was in flood and the man was too far from shore for any rescue to be attempted. He eventually went under and failed to reappear. The police state the the drowning victim was George Thomas, 54 years old, of 51 Rue Jean D'Arc, Chateauguay Station.

The car was hauled out after two hours strenuous efforts against a wicked current and Mr. Bob Lang lent yeoman service during the time the car was being made fast to the hauling equipment, Garage D'Anjou furnished the tow truck to haul the car from the river.

Chief R. Spenard would like to publicly thank the Town of Chateauguay Police Force for their assistance in traffic control during the salvage operations.

As of Monday evening the body was still missing and Chief Spenard intended to commence dragging operations Tuesday.

Many Interested In Second Edition Sellar History Of Three Counties

As stated in the Editorial Section of this newspaper last week, The Gleaner intends to undertake the task of printing a Second Edition of "The History of the County of Huntingdon and of the Seigniories of Chateauguay and Beauharnois" by the late Robert Sellar. The reason for this decision is because The Gleaner is constantly receiving requests for the book and we only have three on hand (the original manuscripts in longhand and two used books). For many years the late Adam L. Sellar purchased all books as they became available, through death, paying approximately twenty dollars for each copy. Today, the demand for the book is great, but the supply is exhausted.

Hence, The Gleaner has decided to print a Second Edition. While we do not know if the Second Edition can be dedicated to anyone, if this can be done, we propose dedicating it to the late author's surviving son, R. Watson Sellar of Ottawa; to "Bob" R. W. Sellar, the author's grandson; and to Albert A. Antoine, foreman of The Gleaner printery.

The original book, which consists of 584 pages and excerpts of which appear weekly in The Gleaner under the heading "Notes and Jottings from Robert Sellar's Historical Writings", will be reproduced as closely as possible to the original. Two styles are offered, one with a hard cover, the other with a soft cover. Price for the latter is ten dollars while the hard cover book will sell for one dollar more.

"The History" is of interest to young and old and as evidenced by an order received from Chateauguay, on Saturday, newcomers to The Chateauguay Valley are as interested in the book as old-timers. More than a dozen books have been ordered from Chateauguay since last week's issue, when the announcement was made in the Editorial Section with regard to the Second Edition.

Gleaner readers wishing to give this book as a Christmas gift may do so by sending the full price with their order, i.e. $10, for soft cover, $11, for hard cover, in which case a gift certificate will be mailed to whoever is to receive the book, with the donor's name on it.

Orders for one's self are accepted with a cheque or money order covering half the selling price. The books will be mailed or delivered in September, 1963, or before.

Montreal To Have World's Fair

News was flashed to this country from Paris, France, on Tuesday morning to the effect that the decision for the choice of location for the World's Fair in 1967 had fallen to the City of Montreal

From now on preparations will go ahead arranging the actual site and building up the area that will constitute the Fair site. When this matter was first brought about a few years ago, there was some talk that if it came to Canada that actual site would be in the Chateauguay area. The reason stated for this was that a flat area was required and considerable space both in the site and around was needed. It was felt that only the Chateauguay area afforded this. Since that time and of late, there have been many bids for the site, but so far none have actually been officially announced. Therefore at this time, it is not known where the site may actually be located.

It is definite now that the World's Fair will be coming to Montreal. It would seem that the Chateauguay area is an ideal site, don't you think. Ideas will be welcomed in the "Letters to the Editor" column.

Drama Group Scores Success In Plays Presented

(by M. McCutcheon)

Win and Laurie Tester of Chateauguay Heights, producers of the three one act plays put on at St. Andrew's Memorial Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings are to be congratulated. The plays although short in duration held the attention of the audience (not too large on Saturday, but very good on Friday, around 160 persons we hear). The casting in the second play was particularly good and although all three plays went over extremely well, I personally enjoyed 'Rising with Grace'. Emma Artagnan stole the show with her portrayal of Molly, ever charitable and evidently a lover of popcorn.

Mr. Tester's role of a henpecked husband in 'Orange Blossom' drew laughter from an appreciative audience as Win Tester capably handled the henpecking.

Young Elica Tester played the teenager in 'Forever Judy' with convincing ease and we heard comments around us on Mary Blondal's portrayal of Amanda the Maid.

A delightful change of pace was provided by Tex and Sherry Lane and their two young sons billed as "The Westerners" during Intermission and toes were soon tapping as the guitars were strummed.

The Characters and cast were as follows:

"Orange Blossom"

Mrs. Duckworth, played by: Win Tester. Mr. Duckworth, played by: Laurie Tester. Glad Duckworth, played by: Josie Holmsborg. Auntie Lottie, played by: Mary Blondal. Auntie Lola, played by: Jean Watt. Amy Foster, played by: Connie Henley. Fred Ashford, played by: John L'Ecuyer.

"Rising With Grace"

Molly, played by: Emma Artagnan. Nettie, played by: Betty George. Mabel, played by: Enid L'Ecuyer. Annie, played by: Helen Frost. Grace, played by: Florence Gale.

"Forever Judy"

Judy Jackson, played by: Erica Tester. Mary Jackson, played by: Gail Robinson. Hubert Jackson, played by: Laurie Tester. Amanda Jones, played by: Mary Blondal. Barry Moore, played by: Francis Scott.

The Response Is Gratifying

The first week's response to the initial announcement that The Gleaner plans to print a Second Edition of Robert Sellar's History of the Counties of Huntingdon, Chateauguay and Beauharnois has been most gratifying. Orders have been received from Huntingdon, Dundee, St. Anicet, Ormstown, Howick, Montreal, Valleyfield, Beauharnois and Chateauguay. While we are highly elated with the response, we respectfully request readers not to phone orders for "The History". Please use the coupons that appear in The Gleaner (it is human to err and we wish to avoid doing so as much as possible. Incidentally, orders to date indicate the hard cover edition is most popular, the ratio being seven to one. With the exception of the difference in covers, the books will be identical.

We take pride in reproducing one of the letters received on Saturday. From time to time, as space permits, names of those ordering Histories will be printed.

"The Gleaner,
Chateauguay St.,
Huntingdon, P.Q.
Dear Sir,

"The latest edition of your wonderful weekly has just arrived and as usual has been read from front to back.

"As you will see by the enclosed cheque and coupon I am hoping to be one of the first in line when the second edition of Mr. Sellar's history comes off the press.

"We have been residents of Beauharnois and, more recently, Chateauguay Centre for the past nine years and both my wife and myself enjoy nothing more than a leisurely trip around the storied lands described so well by Mr.Sellar.

"About three years ago we made some inquiries regarding the writings of Robert Sellar and were extremely disappointed to learn that the price was quite high. You can well imagine, then, how overjoyed we were on reading in The Gleaner that a second edition was planned. My sincerest hope now is that this request be among the first five hundred.

"To end this letter may I wish you all the success you so richly deserve and congratulate you and the various reporters for an informative and at the same time completely objective newspaper.

Yours sincerely,
RICHARD B. SMITH".

Seaway Well Used

An interesting fact comes to light through a question asked in Parliament and published in the October 22nd edition of Hansard. The question is reproduced here and is self explanatory:

Beauharnois Canal Locks — Draft of Ships

Question No. 160—Mr. Lamoureux:

Of the ships that went through the Beauharnois locks from the opening of the 1961-62 navigation season to October 1st, 1962, how many drew more than twenty feet of water?

Answer by: Mr. McBain:

The St. Lawrence seaway authority advises as follows: 2,756.

Chateauguay High School Junior Red Cross

(By Riki Stanford)

Well, our dance held last Saturday turned out to be a great success. About 80-90 students and 4 teachers attended and all had a good time. From our totals so far we made $32.97 at the door and as for the drinks, results have not been tabulated as yet. The "Megatones" added much enjoyment to the dance and we hope everyone liked them. Door prizes and spot dance prizes were given out by our great M.C., Mr. Bob Brown. The names of the winners were not available at the time of writing but I hope to have them for you next week. I do know that a spot dance was won by Judy Lalonde and myself (and it wasn't fixed) and door prizes by Wayne Powell and Billy Herbe. By the way, the door prizes were an album and 45 r.p.m. records. At this time I would like to thank everyone, especially the Megatones, Mr. Mosher and Mr. Patterson who helped to make this dance a success.

As for our "Volunteens" sent down Thursday, November 8th, for Bedside Service, it turned out to be a very fine experience. The girls sent down were Linda Tonge, Lynne Houldsworth and Carol Harris. It actually was an orientation period in which they were briefed on what they would be doing in later weeks. This bedside service consists in general of feeding and generally caring for the patients under, of course, the supervision of a nurse. I hope these girls gain experience from volunteering their services to help the patients and the hospital. Don't forget that boys may volunteer to.

The Inter-School Council held on November 5th, was attended by Anne Pold and I and we gained many ideas from other schools and countries. Most important were the ideas we received for projects to undertake during the year and how in general we could help the Junior Red Cross. Amounts needed for International and National help were shown to us. Donations from the various schools were allocated as follows: $8000 to The Children's Hospital for aid to children with diabetes and speech problems; $1254 to Alexandria Hospital for general equipment; $100 by Ayer's Cliff High School to MacKay Centre for crippled children for extension on speedy therapy and other therapies; $100 donated by John Grant High and Lachine High for a dental clinic sterilizer. We also hope to make a donation as they greatly help the people on the receiving end.

As for the Conference on November 10th, which I attended, it was similar in form to the Inter-School Council except reps from all over the province attended. We had many guest speakers from all over the world and a few films were shown, reports on Operation Visitor by Malcolm Brigden and our Training Centre by Eleanor Glen were received with slides shown by Richard Royds. I hope to tell you more about the Conference later. Again thanks to everyone who helped with the dance.

It Had To Happen

(By M. McCutcheon)

After two days of enchantment watching a strange flock of small feathered friends in our Rown Tree at the front of the house, and amid much speculation and checking of encyclopedias and books of knowledge, it was decided by friends that many birds (close to three hundred) who were feasting on the berries must be a species of the Grosbeak family.

Lovely little black masks adorned their faces and their plumage ended with a yellow band at the tail tip. As they gracefully hung upside down eating berries they spread their yellow-tipped tails fan-fashion. For two straight days they gorged themselves, stripping one tree completely. On the third day they disappeared as mysteriously as they arrived. I have since noticed one or two at a time nibbling away, but they must have been left behind as the flock migrated to a warmer clime.

And Now This:

Read an advertisement today which said: A new Christmas flight of colourful feathered birds has just flow in from Europe. Each brilliantly hued songster is perched in an ornamental cage, to hang or display on a table. Enjoy the song and the decorative addition to a room, without the fuss or bother of the LIVE article. Lifelike song may be switched on or off to suit the ear.

Imitation could never equal or rival the sight which we have witnessed, or take the place of a live pulsing little creature, but this they tell me, is progress.

CHATEAUGUAY SPORTS ROUND UP

(by JOHN McDONALD)

Parkview residents have formed a Recreation Association independent from the Proprietor League. A pamphlet has been delivered to every home explaining plans for the coming year. Representatives will be calling on each and every home to sign up members and it is hoped that they will be well received as an association of this sort for the residents of Parkview was surely needed. For more information on this, please contact George Barnabie, 692-9481; Roy McLean 692-0129; Dave Constantine 692-0457 and they, in turn, will notify your street representative.

Anyone wishing to help form an association to promote Little League Ball for Chateauguay and also eight man Pee Wee Football can do so by calling B. B. Jennings at 692-4573. This association will in no way be in competition with Chateauguay Minor Sports as it will be dealing with two sports that the C.M.S.A. are not sponsoring. To be able to make all arrangements to enter teams in Little League Ball, work will have to start immediately. There are a good many sports personalities here in Chateauguay who can be a real help to an association of this sort, so how about giving B. B. a call at I repeat 692-4573.

The Football Ramblers scheduled sudden death game against the Hawks at Hawkesbury was cancelled this week due to Armistice Day parades in Hawkesbury and will be played this Sunday. This reporter will go out on the limb and predict a Rambler win and the Championship.

The C.C.R.A. Warriors took to the practice ice this past week and 34 players showed up, Coach Dempster put the boys through a rugged one hour practice. Looking at the four teams in practice, this season should see a real close battle all the way.

Chateauguay Man Caused Much Embarrassment By Another Using His Name

A case of a person using the name of another person has caused considerable embarrassment to a Chateauguay man and family the past while.

It would appear that an escapee of a Joliette jail who was caught by police bending over the body of an unconscious man, gave police a wrong name. He used the name of Allen Burdett, 25, of Chateauguay Station and the case had to be conducted in that name as all the charges were against him in that name.

Mr. Burdett is the son of Mrs. Herbert Davies of The Station and he is an employee of Canadian Legion Branch No. 108 at Chateauguay. Mr. Burdett made a protest at Montreal Police Headquarters, after his name had appeared in local newspapers in connection with the charges. It was admitted in court on October 31st, that the real name of the man responsible was Gilles Ladouceur, age 27, and an escapee from Joliette Jail.

All of this has caused considerable embarrassment to Mr. Burdett and his family and it is hoped that this explanation will clear up the matter of a wrong identity and the fact that Mr. Burdett is not the party charged.

THESE MEN ARE DOING THEIR SHARE, WILL YOU?

Above are the Visitation Chairman of 3 Churches in Chateauguay, who will be doing an Every Family Visitation next Sunday, November 18th. These men have been organizing teams, and giving them training to carry out the visit and now its up to each and every person visited to carry out their part of the program. Notes and Jottings FROM Robert Sellar's Historical Writings

GODMANCHESTER

Of Todd and Cameron establishing themselves at Dewittville mention has already been made. The presence of their two mills ensured the springing up of a village, and more people flocked into the neighborhood then than now. Up to 1845 it was the centre of the lumber-trade on the Chateaugay, and immense quantities were handled long after rafting had ceased at other points. Todd, who had borrowed money from Jacob Dewitt at high interest, got into difficulties and his property passed into Dewitt's hands, who thereby got a standing in the county which he turned to account by becoming its representative. Before leaving Dewittville for the farm he had secured below it, Todd accommodated the travelling-public in his house. He was a bluff, free-hearted man and no immigrant passed his door hungry, whether with or without money. Besides Todd's sawmill, an American, Wright, put up another which Samuel C. Wead of Westville, N.Y., rented in 1826 and did a large business, under the style Meigs & Wead. It, with the grist-mill were burned in September, 1828. The fire was the work of an incendiary, for he was seen in the moonlight running from the mill by a woman, an immigrant, who was passing the night on top of a cart-load of luggage. Cameron was insured and began at once to prepare to rebuild, but the company contested his claim, and although he proved it, the costs of litigation ate up the award and, finding himself unable to replace the mill, settled down to farm on the west bank. When the property was sold by the sheriff, James Davidson bought it and built a sawmill and store, and for the next 30 years was the leading man of the place. The want of a gristmill now became pressing, for the lots along the river were taken up and every settler had a few bushels of wheat to grind, which he had to take either to Ste Martine or Huntingdon. Peter McArthur wished to lease the power at Ormstown, but the agent of the seignior refused being willing neither to build nor let others do so. He thereupon travelled up the river to Dewittville, when he saw that by throwing a dam across to the island at the head of the rapids he could have a fall of 4 feet without injuring the power of the sawmills, which were below. In 1830 he bought the lot from Dr. Munro of Montreal for $400, and set to work to clear an acre, for it was under dense bush. In 1832 the mill opened, having a run for wheat and another for oatmeal, the power being supplied by an undershot wheel, 14 by 16 feet. The mill did a good business until the Ormstown one was opened, which was not for 7 years afterwards.

The lots between Dewittville and Huntingdon were slow in being settled, which was mainly owing to their having been granted to non-residents, though their wetness made them undesirable. Of the low esteem in which these lands were held this anecdote will illustrate. Charles McNarland was at Blakely's tavern (a notorious place at Dewittville, in the lumbering days, for drinking and rowdyism), when an old pensioner stepped in. He had come up from Montreal to see the lot he had drawn, and finding it wet and covered by thick underbrush, was disgusted, and offered to give a deed of it for a pint of whisky. McNarland, who had enough to do with what land he had, declined, and afterwards learned that Blakely had got the ticket from the man for his night's lodging and breakfast. The lot was No. 8. On the point of No. 10 lived a Dutchman, Benjamin Suttle, or Sawtell, who sold his betterments in 1822 and moved back to New Ireland. The purshaser was Robert Lowrey, a baker, from the North of Ireland, and who had been some time a resident of the States. At the mouth of the Hall creek was the hut of a negro, Black Jim, whose wife was white. While the front was left almost in a state of nature, the back lots were taken up and the settlement of New Ireland begun. In 1822 the Charles McNarland, mentioned above, left county Derry and hired a year with John Simpson, collector of customs at Coteau, when he heard of the land being open for settlement in Huntingdon. He crossed to Dalhousie settlement to find out, and travelled by a lumber road from Thomas Brown's until it came out on the beaver meadow at lot 9. He examined the land and finding that a fellow-countryman, William Cox, who was living on the Chateaugay, owned lot 7, on which he had made a small clearance, he bought it. There was no house on the lot. He went back to Coteau and moved over that winter. His only neighbors were Suttle, who had moved from the river because game was more plentiful and ashes easier made, and an Irish Catholic, John Caughlan. The following year two of his acquaintances in Derry, John Douglass and Jonathan Sparrow, joined him. They had been employed in building a house for Roebuck, near Coteau, when they heard of what McNarland had done, and took up lots beside him. They moved over in the fall of 1824, and so far removed were they from help, that they had to raise their shanties on Sunday, in order to get the assistance of Bagg & Waite's men, who were lumbering near by. Where they settled the land was good and dry, but on every side they were surrounded by marsh and soon found the mistake they had made in choosing so inaccessible a spot. The bush was favorable for potash-making, and they were not careful in discriminating where they felled their plan heaps, for, as McNarland remarked. "It was all God's land," and there was no one to dispute them. A track was made to the Chateaugay by the Hall creek, which, however, could only be used in winter or very dry seasons. A better outlet was gained by following the ridges towards the seigniory-line, connecting them by rollways, and ending on Wm. Milloy's, 42, 1st range of Ormstown. The barrels of potash were dragged in jumpers over the more solid part of the road by oxen, then rolled on the rollways by hand until Milloy's was reached, where a long dray-cart, bought by Charles McNarland, was kept. On it the barrels were loaded, the oxen yoked to the pole, and the journey made to the Basin. McNarland made no charge for the use of the cart, his only condition being that it was to be safely returned to Milloy's. In the fall of 1825 the smoke was so dense that Douglas lost his way and wandered 3 days in the bush, suffering much, yet all the while close to his home. An equally dangerous adventure was that of Sparrow, who one evening came upon a pack of wolves, climbed a tree and remained there until day-light caused his besiegers to seek their dens. The swamps were the refuge of the wild beast, and a score of years after wolves and bears were unheard of in the other settlements, they troubled New Ireland, as this one ultimately came to be called, though it was known for over a score of years by no other name than the Sparrow settlement. Following Douglass and Sparrow, two Irish Catholics came, Daniel O'Donohue and John Waters, a blacksmith, who set up his forge, and proved a most useful addition. The settlement quickly filled up, and was divided between Protestant and Catholic Irish, the latter the less numerous, who lived in great harmony. Their great want was an outlet to Huntingdon and 20 years after the first lot was taken up, they had no road fit for a wagon, and depended upon ox-sleds when the swamps were dry, and when wet had to carry whatever they wanted on their heads over logs laid lengthwise. McNarland one day slipped from the log with his bag of wheat, and for many a year the place was known as Charley's Hole. It was a common sight for the villagers to see a string of New Ireland men file across Prince Arthur square, each bearing on his head a bag of wheat to be ground at the mill. The common load was 1½ bushels, though a few had strong enough necks to carry two. There being no bridge for quite a while at the new mill, they crossed on the boom. Their isolated situation so intensified the hardships natural to all new settlers, that only the unwillingness to change with some, and inability with others, constrained them to remain, and eventually the close dependence which that situation entailed, evoked a spirit of clanishnes which made New Ireland the brightest spot in the world to them. It was a day long to be remembered when the first plow was brought in. Robert Douglass had got a field sufficiently clear of stumps to render the use of a plow possible, and he got the blacksmith to make one of the bull pattern. The whole settlement gathered to see it start and a good crop of oats rewarded the venture. The introduction of the plow, caused horses to be used and they gradually superseded oxen. For many winters, habitants from the lower parishes would come in traineaux leading a string of 4 or 5 ponies, which they dickered with the settlers. The first religious service was held by John Lowrey, who, one Sunday evening, preached in Jonathan Sparrow's shanty, having the settlement as his audience. After him, the Methodists held meetings at regular though wide apart intervals. When Mr. Harvey came to the village, he held regular service every second Sunday evening, walking both ways, and often coming in with his boots full of water. In case of danger from bears, the settlers gave him an escort back across the swamp. By this time, a schoolhouse had been built on No. 5, where he held his meetings. The first teacher was named Leitch, passionate and harsh and fond of drink. On the death of his wife, Jonathan Sparrow set apart a plot in front of his farm as a burying-ground, and it was used generally for a long series of years, owing to the difficulty of access to the village. Mrs. Lattimore was the second to be placed to rest in it.

First to settle on the land between New Ireland and the river was Owen Hefferman on lot 13. One who was a hunter in those days, relates his entering Owen's house, tired and hungry, and finding the wife getting supper ready. The table was a log of split basswood, and on it Mrs. Hefferman emptied a pot of potatoes, which they ate with no other relish than some salt. The same difficulties had to be contended with as in New Ireland, the land being wet, but there was, of course, not the same trouble in getting to the village. For a long while the settlement was known as Connaught: 25 years ago it was given the more appropriate name of Victoria settlement. The first to settle west of it was Robert Cowan, who came from county Derry in 1831, and who said:

When I came on to this lot, 15, there was not a tree cut, and they stood so close to the shanty that my wife came out when one was about to fall. I put the shanty on a ridge and my wife helped me to roll the logs down it to form heaps. All the road to Pollica's in the village was a swamp, and we had to walk on logs. I was brought up a weaver and an old neighbor, Edward Dawson, coming to stay while sick, I got him to make a loom, which he did, picking up in the woods dry poles for lumber. Attre that, I did not work much out of doors.

Workers Together

We talked of crafts and men of skill, who fashioned timber to their will. He leaned upon my bench, and there asked presently, "who made this chair?"

Well, now you ask,

Two were co-labourers in this task.

The work was done by God and me. I made the chair, God made the tree.

Leslie C. Rusher

How true this little verse is. When we read of all the fairs and bazaars being put on for Christmas, we know how much it means to have co-operation from all the members of our organizations and of course good co-labourers make things so much easier for heads of different committees and also presidents and chairmen. The tasks we are asked to undertake may sometimes seen trivial at the time, but we are like a spoke in a wheel, if one spoke falls out it upsets the whole plan of an organized event. Also if we would think and remember, that even our small bit of help has made that certain event the success it turned out to be, we would all feel an inner gladness that we were one of the WORKERS TOGETHER. We wish every endeavor, including our own, great success.

Sports Meeting

A meeting is called for next Sunday evening at 8 p.m. at 157 St. Denis St. by Sports chairman George Rankin.

So far the interest shown regarding these sports meetings has not been as responsive as hoped for. Why not attend and find out what there is to do and perhaps there will be something that you will just fit into, to help the Hockey Season and all the children on the teams.

Retarded Children's Fund — The campaign to raise funds for the Retarded Children began November 11th and it will extend to November 24th. When the canvasser calls at your door please be generous bearing in mind that these children need our help. If they are trained as children they can grow up to be useful citizens, for today a great many retarded people are serving in useful occupations. This will no doubt be the final appeal for funds as it is hoped that the future budget for operating funds will next year be met through the combined health appeal.

Cooking Demonstration — The cooking demonstration sponsored by the Parent Teachers Association was held on Tuesday evening, November 6th at the St. Willibrord School gym. Mrs. J. A. Gillespie, Chairman of the Refreshment Committee of the P.T.A. introduced Mr. Devleux of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company (Valleyfield Division) who spoke a few brief words of welcome to the ladies assembled. He in turn introduced Miss M. Labreeque, Food and Home Economist, who proceeded to demonstrate the various dishes she was to prepare. As the evening progressed the aromas of the various foods no doubt tempted many appetites. The dishes prepared were, Pork Chops and Rice, Chocolate Filled Drops, Cauliflower with Egg Sauce, Salmon Salad and Snappy Cheeseburgers. During the intermission everyone attending was able to go and view the various displays at the rear of the gym. They included electrical appliances, mattresses, and carpeting and were sponsored by Madore Furniture of Chateauguay, Sealy Mattress Company, McLary Easy Company and the Krauss Carpet Company. In all there were 25 prizes drawn for and also the 5 dishes prepared by Miss Labreeque were raffled off. Prize winners in our area included Mrs. Ellis of St. Leon, who won the Snappy Cheeseburgers and Mrs. Stafford who won a bon bon dish. Everyone attending received a cook Book entitled "The Electric Cook Book" compliments of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company and also a booklet entitled Freezing of Foods put out by the consumers section of the Department of Agriculture. A special vote of thanks goes out to Mrs. Gillespie, who devoted much of her time in the organizing of this worthwhile project and we wish her every success in her future endeavours. Just a little note I would like to add here about Miss M. Labreeque who conducted the demonstration. Miss Labreque was born at St. Isidore, Dorchester County and attended the convent in St. Marie. Her Grandmother is Mrs. Jane Bond of Oliver Street in the Heights whom many of you no doubt know. She spoke very proudly of her Granddaughter and informed us that "Monique" graduated with honours and then took a teaching position and was also giving lessons in sewing in Quebec City. She came to Montreal from Quebec to apply for the job with Shawinigan and she passed the test with the highest honors. We wish you every success for the future Monique and may you continue to win honors in your chosen profession.

Irish Shindig — The wearing of the green was in order on Sunday evening, November 11th for the Kavannagh's of Ethier Street, Crown Homes, played host to a gathering of the clan, in Ireland they'd call it a "Hooley". Guests of honour were Mr. and Mrs. Val Burrowes and Mr. and Mrs. J. Cheevers fresh from Dublin itself. It was an extra special evening for the Cheevers as they will be celebrating their 35th wedding anniversary on Wednesday, November 15th. To honor the occasion Mrs. Kavannagh had an anniversary cake shaped like a Shamrock and when Frances Kavannagh carried it in all the crowd started singing "Oh how we danced on the night we were Wed" and then Mr. and Mrs. Cheevers got up and danced. Then they all sang the old songs from Ireland and no doubt many a tear was shed at some of the memories recalled. The guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Landry, Mr. and Mrs. T. Burrowes, Mr. and Mrs. J. Burrowes, Mr. and Mrs. J. Peacock, Mr. and Mrs. P. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. V. Coghan, Mr. and Mrs. D. Harwood.

Recipe Exchange Corner — This week's recipe is one that Miss Monique prepared the night of the cooking demonstrations and according to Mrs. Ellis who won it, it is very tasty so I thought I would pass it on to you:

Snappy Cheeseburger Patties:
½ cup cheese cracker crumbs
1 lb. ground beef
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons catsup
2 tablespoons water

Method: Crush about 12 round cheese crackers to make the ½ cup crumbs.
Combine all ingredients; shape into 4 patties.
Place patties on broiler rack and broil about 5 inches away from the unit.
When meat is brown turn and broil the other side.

Well that's all I have for you this week folks, don't forget my number is still OX 2-9272.

LETTER FROM SEIGNIORY PARK

(by FERGUS HORSBURGH)

Seigniory Parkers look forward with mixed feelings to the imminent opening of our Discount Store on St. Frances Blvd. This store is going to revolutionize the economies of many a Chateauguay home — how shall we survive without trading stamps?! How are we ever going to afford those fur-lined TV sets, solid gold electric razors and portable instant lawns? Walt Kelly's Pogo came up with a good idea the other day — non-trading stamps, guaranteed worthless, with no glue to put the stamps in on books, and no catalogues in glorious technicolor showing you the prizes you can't win. So it is up to the new store to better that one!

Isn't it exciting that the Alouettes have made the final of the Eastern Conference? Now that we are all well into the incubation period of the annual bout of Grey Cup fever, it might be appropriate to reflect a moment or two on Canadian Football. Never let it be thought for a moment that the game is not full of action, thrills and excitement, because it is. In fact, it is really a very good game. But in this imperfect world, nothing is ever so good that it could not be improved. So here are a few helpful hints towards an even more spectacular game. First of all, let us outlaw the forward pass which, ironically enough, in conjunction with blocking tactics, inhibits fast open play and gives us so few of those exhilarating moments when man and ball career wildly towards the touchdown. Regrettably, then, the block also must go. Next, let us adopt the no-substitution rule, and make these highly paid athletes really earn their pay. The huddle should stay, but why not make it obligatory that the huddlers adopt Bunny-tails (pretty pink powder puffs are easily obtainable at this time of year) as part of the prescribed uniform? This would add a picturesque motif now lacking. Some radicals favour also the prohibition of handling the ball, and changing the shape of the ball to a sphere. Not that such innovations are particularly favoured, but as we live in a democracy, let us have a national referendum on the issues. They seem to be in fashion these days. Finally, let there be no change in the half-time entertainment by the majorettes, easily the most outstanding feature of Canadian Football. What a sensation the majorettes would be twisting up and down the slopes of Hampden, Wembley or Murrayfield!

Quite a lot of you have heard at least something about the "sector plan" and now it is coming to the day everyone has been working toward. The three churches in our district which are participating are St. Georges Anglican Church; Maple Wood Presbyterian Church and Chateauguay Centre United Church. Next Sunday visitors from these Churches will be calling on the folks of these congregations to present to them the Churches' programmes' for the next year and to ask them to support the programme in whatever capacity they can. The people chosen for this visitation have been receiving training in order that they may present the story of the church as accurately and concisely as possible. Nitro News

(Mrs. E. St. Onge)

Writing these notes on Remembrance Day, 1962, I have a "beef" to air. For the first time in many a year none came to our house with poppies for "Poppy Day", and I felt as tho' I was minus a piece of clothing when I saw so many of my friends wearing their poppies today. Of course I can remember the original November 11th that we used to call Armistice Day, so have worn a poppy a good many times.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyatt of Louiseville were visitors last weekend with daughter Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan and family also at the home of other old neighbours, Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Hay and family.

With the Norm Sanders family moving from Granby to a farm at St Anicet, I've had visits from Danny quite often lately, as he has been staying with his Aunt Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Doug. MacDonald. His little sister, Mary Lee, has also been with Barbara so she has been getting to know me the same as her brothers do! Their mother is working at her brother's store in Valleyfield at odd times.

The Filiatreault family have moved to a new home, and the Maurice Lavigueur family moved into their old home at 59 Purvis. The Quenneville family have moved to Chateauguay, after being on Lapointe for way over 15 years. Closer to school for Mrs Quenneville also Lise. The Bourdon family from Riverview moved into their house. Our neighbours, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Laplante have moved to Valleyfield.

There is a new baby daughter at both Boyer homes in our village. The one who came to live with Mr. and Mrs. A. Boyer arrived via Barrie Memorial Hospital, the other little daughter was two months old when she came to live in Nitro. A welcome sister to Michel and also Clement. Mrs. Boyer brought her in to show her to Nanna and I — one more wee one to add to my ever growing family!

Sorry to know Miss Marlene Jagora is still on the "laid up" list. No doubt time is long waiting for the operation Marlene, but each day is one day nearer to having it all behind you!

It was too bad the weather was so bad Saturday evening and so kept folk at home instead of getting out to the first meeting held for the English speaking supporters of the Quebec Liberal Party and Mr. Gerard Cadieux. The Hon. Mr. Marler was introduced by Mr. Robb and in a very few words covered a lot of ground! Mr. Cadieux also spoke to the group. Tea and cake had been served before the meeting opened and helped to make this a very informal gathering, I'm sure enjoyed by those present.

Don't forget the Whist party which is being held in the C.A.L. Recreation Centre on Friday evening. Proceeds of this evening are to go towards the Reconstruction Fund for St. Marks' Anglican Church in Valleyfield. There will be a drawing for an electric blanket that evening also.

THEFT FOILED

MONTREAL (CP) — A Chabot Street resident awoke in the night to see his trousers moving mysteriously across the room. His shout broke up an attempt by a thief, supported on the shoulders of companions who had hooked the pants with a long pole through the window.

Town To Take On Festive Appearance

SINCE the re-organization of Huntingdon Board of Trade, it has been getting some things done. One activity which a hard working committee has been working at is going to pay off very soon. This has to do with lighting the main business section of town during the Christmas and New Year holiday season.

It may seem a bit early to be speaking of Christmas, but actually it is getting very close. This committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Jim McCoy has done a real good job in the short time it has had to get everything lined up. First of all the businessmen had to be called upon to see if they approved the plan and then if they would be willing to support it, which meant contributing funds to apply against the cost. This part settled, the contributors had to be canvassed to get an idea of what sum of money would be available and how far the decorative plans would go. Mr. McCoy and his committee met with very good response and it is expected that the Christmas decoration plan of lighting will go further than was expected.

Many meetings of the executive of the Board of Trade have been held at which the plans for lighting the business section of Huntingdon in the Christmas spirit have been discussed. Now the work of stringing the lights along Chateauguay Street is being done and probably will be completed by the time this newspaper is published. It has entailed a lot of work figuring out how much material would be needed and how many lights it would take and so on. But it is now believed that Chateauguay Street from Cemetery Street to the Huntingdon County Hospital will be gaily decorated with colored lights criss-crossed up the street as an added attraction for the Christmas season. In addition there will be bells and stars over the centre of the street from every cross string. At each end it is expected there will be a sign carrying the message of a Merry Christmas in French and English.

There is no doubt but what this endeavor is going to mean much to the attractiveness of Huntingdon for shoppers during the Christmas season. It is quite possible that storekeepers will further enhance the plan by individual efforts of making suitable displays in their store windows and giving these lighting effects. Already some are doing this as well as getting out the Christmas decorations for the purpose of making the inside of their stores take on a festive appearance.

In the past the residents in other parts of town decorated their homes by lighting displays. No doubt they will do so again this year and perhaps a few more will join them. In this way we should have a very attractive town for this important season and one that will cause people from other points to visit here if only to see what has been done.

There is no doubt that a little extra effort at this time of year will pay off and the Huntingdon Board of Trade and especially Jim McCoy and his committee are to be congratulated on the progress they have made.

Cuba – and After

THE Quebec election campaign has sort of crowded out the world events from the front pages of our daily newspapers, yet much is still going on in this direction. The United States navy is presently engaged in checking Soviet ships leaving Cuba supposedly carrying away the Russian missiles that were previously brought there. The U.S. is still not too sure that the Russions are removing all the missiles, but she cannot make a thorough check without being admitted to Cuba for that purpose. She is only allowed a peek-a-boo look at the missiles on the Soviet ships and has got to accept that all that is covered are missiles.

We feel that Khrushchev submitted to this humiliating withdrawal of missiles from Cuba in a rather sheep-like fashion. Far different to anything that he has yet agreed to. Usually he has demanded something in return and far greater than that which he would be giving up. From what is known he agreed to this withdrawal in a very timid way and we wonder what he has up his sleeve for later on. In view of all the military parades and the boasts that Khurshchev has made, it does not seem that he would tamely submit in the way he has. We would hardly say he is afraid, but he may be afraid of starting what would easily turn into a nuclear war. Despite what may happen, Russia would suffer with the rest of the countries. It might have been O.K. if he could have used Cuba for the base then the attack would have been on Cuba and the Cuban people would have suffered and not the people of Russia.

There is still the question of Berlin to be settled, does it mean that if Khrushchev is confronted with a show of stern reality, that he will back down from his exalted position and really come to terms. If that is the case, then the Berlin question has long been delayed. But here we see the battleground as being away from Russia and it is possible that a stand might be made under such circumstances. Of course eventually it would mean that Russia would suffer, but possibly it would not be immediate.

If a few of these questions could be settled in the immediate future, there would be a greater chance of ending this cold war that has been going on for years now. It is not just certain what would be the proper solution to the Berlin question, but we do not believe that sole power should be returned to Germany for a few years at least. However we do believe that the country should not be divided as it is. Perhaps if it were placed under the United Nations control, but with freedom to vote on a democratic basis, this would be the fairest way of solving the problem.

But Cuba is not entirely settled, the U.S. will never be satisfied while the least bit of suspicion remains. Someone, somehow, will have to check on the inside to make sure that all that is supposed to have been done, has been done. This is being pressed for now by the U.S. Having gone so far, this assurance should be forthcoming and once again things return to a more normal footing.

Freedom From Hunger

ONE of the chief hopes for a better world — the global war against hunger — is showing encouraging signs of progress.

About 100 member nations of the UN Food and Agriculture Organization now are taking part in the Freedom from Hunger Campaign that was launched two years ago.

Studies by the FAO show that more than one-third of the worlds 3,000,000,000 people suffer from malnutrition. And between 300,000,000 and 500,000,000 people never get enough food in terms of quantity.

Dr. B. R. Sen, director-general of FAO, says the leading function of the Freedom from Hunger Campaign is to educate the public about the challenge to mankind, and to act as a forum in which the facts can be discussed and remedies found.

But the campaign is also a base and a starting point for action projects aimed at solving these problems. Projects totalling $20,000,000 now have been initiated in many parts of the underdeveloped areas of the world, financed by national fund drives or provided by non-governmental groups and agencies.

Typical projects are the fertilizer program to boost crops in 13 countries, and the Middle East wheat and barley program to increase these crops that supply at least half the calories needed daily by 130,000,000 people living in that region, as well as most of the feed for their livestock.

Two projects expected to go into operation soon will be supported by Canadian voluntary groups. One will provide a training centre for food science and technology at Mysore, India, at a cost of $300,000. The other, to establish fruit and vegetable gardens at schools in the Sudan and teach basic principles of nutrition, will be financed by the Canadian Junior Red Cross at a cost of $125,000.

An outgrowth of the Freedom from Hunger Campaign is the UN's world food program under which surplus food products to the value of $100,000,000 are being contributed to combat famine and chronic food shortage.

The Freedom from Hunger Campaign has a much larger objective — nothing less than the permanent removal of the threat of starvation which has hung over some areas for centuries.

A highlight of the campaign will be the World Food Congress at Washington in June, 1963. Earlier, in the last week of March, will be held a "World Freedom from Hunger Week" to remind everyone of the facts of hunger.

This would appear to be one special week that everyone can sincerely support.

MEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Intimate Memories In The Government Service

by Watson Sellar

Ottawa Journal
Sept. 15, 1960.

Trouble with C.S.C.

I came to Ottawa in 1924 as private secretary to Hon. James A. Robb. A name I was to hear often was that of W. F. Nickel, although he was no longer a member of Parliament. To the socially-disappointed, he was the man who had blocked grants of titles. However, gossip had it that he had raised the issue in the House under instructions: Service brass had been so indiscreet as to circulate lists of those they hoped to have dubbed after War I.

On Parliament Hill, especially among Government supporters, Mr. Nickel was rated a phophet for a different reason. When 1918 legislation was transferring the power to appoint to the Civil Service Commission, he had forecast that: "We, as members, are going to be held responsible for appointments made in our ridings of which we know nothing and about which we have not been consulted." It was too true to be comfortable.

In the 1920s the Liberals were in power and it seemed to Government supporters that an unwarranted share of appointments went to Conservatives. But, a few years later when the Conservatives were in office, Hon. Robert Manion, later Conservative leader, exploded one day at a Treasury Board meeting. Something had to be done about this flood of Liberal appointments. "The Grits looked after their fellows when in office, while we are doing nothing for our friends," he said. "The Civil Service Commission needs a shake-up."

This surprised and left me wondering, for the chairman of the Commission was still Dr. Roche and William Foran was its secretary the others didn't matter. On reflection, I realized that only when Party friends had complained had cases come to the notice of my minister in the 1920s. Dr. Manion was going through the same experience. The picture had always been out of focus.

The Commission had its problems, but it is hard to extol some between-the-wars practices. It was prone to give a narrow application to the text of the Civil Service Act and to treat competition ratings as something inviolate. Little notice was taken of any special problem of a department or advice offered by MPs who knew the local repute of candidates. Invariably, the commission seemed to assign the bearer of the first name on the eligible list ready to take the job and, too often, he was not the most suitable from departmental viewpoint.

A reason for the strict adherence to eligible lists was that it served to demonstrate independence from politics and proved the commission's impartiality in dealing with candidates. Another reason was that the practice provided a defence in the event that a bad appointment was aired: any criticism was an attack on the merit system.

There were only a few government jobs in my minister's riding, so I remember my first experience with the commission. The riding borders the United States and that year an increasing number of tourists entered Canada by automobile. The Customs port needed three extra men for the summer. They would ask a few perfunctory questions and go through the motions of looking at the baggage. In short, a pleasant manner was all that was needed.

Four candidates presented themselves, with top rating given to a war veteran from a Conservative family. The second had like Party background, plus some previous experience in Customs. The remaining two were separated by a percentage point, the Liberal boy being last.

Mr. Robb knew and liked all but, with an election in the offing, he realized that his local workers would be disgruntled if all jobs went to Conservatives. After all, he was Minister of Finance and should have some pull... He had waited too long, so Mike Cullen, his former secretary, was put in charge of negotiations. I tagged along for the experience.

Mike was an Ottawa Valley Irishman with a love for political intrigue. He was ever a good friend and eased me over some rough spots. In this instance he decided to negotiate "at the top", so I expressed surprise when he walked by the chairman's door. That would be a waste of time: "Billy Foran is the man to see." Mr. Foran was the commission's secretary.

In due course we were admitted. William looked the part when he greeted us with: "I'm a busy man", and continued to sign letters without reading them. Mike made a fair statement of the facts, placing emphasis on the fact that only one point separated the last two applicants. In fairness, a review should be made of the ratings to ensure impartiality.

Should the last boy pick up a couple of points in the review, it would be all to the good because it would result in two Conservatives and one Liberal being assigned. It would indicate to the local people that the Commission was impartial and above politics and make them less demanding on Mr. Robb who, as he knew, always stood behind the Commission in Treasury Board disputes. Perhaps Mike overplayed a little, but it was a neat argument.

All was brushed aside as a reflection on the Commission's examiners. We were on our feet when Mike paused to ask about the health of Sir Robert Borden. In an aside, I was told that Billy played golf regularly with the former Prime Minister. This disposed of, Mike asked about the hockey situation. In another aside I was told that Mr. Foran was a Stanley Cup trustee, having been nominated by no less personage than P. D. Ross, owner of the Ottawa Journal.

I began to catch on: a country greenhorn was learning how important was the man who occupied this room. A question about a commissioner opened the flood gates. During the next few minutes I was to learn how ill-informed, narrow-minded and embarrassing certain unnamed Civil Service commissioners could be. We were then dismissed with a rather surprising: "I'll see what can be done".

Mike remarked on the way back to the office that: "Billy is a good stick, so long as you let him do the talking. He may do something." Thanks to a bit of luck and Mr. Foran, things turned out as we wanted.

The Commission received a request for a short-term immigration officer at the port of entry and at the same pay rate. Secretary Foran, in the interests of economy and efficiency, ordered the Custom's eligible list to be used instead of advertising a competition. It was legal, but then unusual to do that.

Everyone was now happy, but the handling recalled a few words spoken during the 1918 Civil Service debate. Thomas Foster, then Liberal member for North York, was discussing the making of appointments. He warned that: "If the work drifts into the hands of the deputy ministers and the secretary (of the commission), and if the Commission does not give it the necessary attention, an inner circle or ring will be formed that will give cause to a great deal of dissatisfaction."

Most of the old complaints about the Commission's ways have ended. In no small part this is due to C. H. Bland, who was the first person to enter the Civil Service by Commission competition. That was in 1909. Twenty-six years later he was to be appointed chairman of the Commission. It was he who gradually broke down the barriers between departments and the commission. This he did by recognizing that there were two sides to everything and that departmental efficiency came first, so long as things could be kept within the law.

Of course, the impact of War II may not be ignored. The wartime problem of finding people to keep work moving made everyone less exacting. Moreover, the post-war growth of departments resulted in more impersonal relations in staff management, with a disinclination to trouble ministers with staffing problems. Finally, Canadians are not nearly as partisan-minded as they were when I came to Ottawa; and, like it or not, a government job has not now the same status as it once enjoyed. Therefore, there is less pressure.

Report From Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — There were many highlights in the week...

A two-day supply debate brought on two more motions of non-confidence in Prime Minister Diefenbaker's minority government and Conservatives survived both of them—one by an eight-vote margin.

Voting on the second non-confidence motion produced a split in Social Credit ranks. Leader Robert Thompson and 14 of his followers voted for it while two of his Quebec members voted against it. Deputy Leader Real Caouette and four other Social Credit MPs abstained.

The Board of Broadcast Governors in a special ruling ordered the CBC TV network to carry the private CTV network's telecast of the Grey Cup game in Toronto Dec. 1. The ruling was made so that all Canadians would have an opportunity to see Canada's football classic.

In the Senate a Liberal said that Canada is not yet ready for a distinctive national flag.

Austerity Attacked

The Government's motion on Monday that the House of Commons begin detailed study of the spending estimates for 1962-63 opened the door to the two non-confidence motions.

Opposition Leader Pearson moved the first, declaring that the Government's austerity program "of tariff surcharges and tight money ... should be stopped at once."

Social Credit Leader Thompson moved the second as an amendment to the Liberal non-confidence motion. He urged that the Government's austerity program be replaced with a policy of debt-free money—a feature of Social Credit policy.

Voting on both measures Tuesday evening produced high drama in the Commons.

The Government survived the Social Credit motion by eight votes—the slimmest margin that the Government has had in its seven tests so far this session. Fifteen members of the New Democratic Party defeat the motion against a combi- joined with 106 Conservatives to nation of 91 Liberals and 22 Social Credit MPs.

Larger Margin

On the second motion the Government had a more comfortable cushion. This time 15 Social Credit MPs sided with the 106 Conservatives. Voting for the motion were 91 Liberals, 18 New Democrats and two Social Credit MPs.

Social Crediters voting against the Government were Gerard Lamy (St. Maurice—Laflèche) and Henri Latulippe (Compton—Frontenac).

Mr. Caouette, who voted on the first motion, was not in the House for the second vote.

Some Parliamentary observers saw the actions of Mr. Lamy and Mr. Latulippe as the first cracks in Social Credit ranks and there were beliefs that the government's stay in office now is more uncertain than before.

Liberals say the split in Social Credit voting ranks will widen in weeks to come. But Conservatives remain confident that Social Credit votes will keep them in power.

Caouette's Stand

The answer might lie in Mr. Caouette's remarks to reporters as he emerged from a caucus Thursday.

"There'll be no more splits in the voting of his party's 30 members, he said. There had been a split in strategy on Tuesday but now, more than ever before, Social Credit MPs are a "Thompson and Caouette team."

Mr. Caouette said he is confident that the government soon will introduce legislation advocated by the Social Credit members. If it doesn't, it will be defeated, vowed Mr. Caouette.

If the Government does produce "progressive legislation, such as an increase in social security and in social freedom, the creation of new industry and a cut-down on taxes," then there shouldn't be a general election until the spring or next fall.

Grey Cup TV

The BBG regulation requiring the CBC to carry the Grey Cup final came after the two TV networks couldn't come to a voluntary agreement on how the telecast should be handled.

The CBC said earlier it could carry the CTV production with its own commercials or with none at all.

CTV, which has exclusive rights to the game, said it could not understand why the CBC would not take the CTV commercials. Spencer Caldwell, CTV president, said CBC acceptance of the full CTV production would put $41,000 into the CBC coffers and meet the BBG's wish for nation-wide coverage.

The Board's solution to the problem was to order the CBC to carry the game and commercials of the private network.

But the CBC claimed that the regulation places commercials "in the same category of national importance as the program itself." It scheduled a Nov. 15 meeting of its board of directors to discuss the issue.

The BBG says a station failing to carry the game would be committing a deliberate infraction of the law.

(Maximum penalty for an infringement of the regulation under the Criminal Code is $500 fine and six months imprisonment. The BBG could also suspend the licence of a station or group of stations.)

Cool on Flag

Senator Jean-François Pouliot says Canada isn't ready for a distinctive national flag.

"We are not ready for a Canadian flag because we do not have a true Canadian citizenship showing our loyalty to the Queen of Canada," he said during the Senate's throne speech debate.

The veteran Quebec Liberal said that Canadians do not know what they are.

Under the Citizenship Act "each one of us is at the same time a Canadian citizen, a British subject, and a citizen of the Commonwealth.

Noting that the Government plans a federal-provincial conference to choose a national flag and other symbols he said:

"My suggestion is that a flag... should give to all people who see it the knowledge that it represents Canada."

Provincial Capital Report

Quebec, (CP) — Employees at a Research establishment north of Quebec City are fighting a Federal austerity measure they claim will make it difficult and costly for them to get to work.

The Treasury Board last week decided to cut out subsidized transportation for about 500 employees of the Canadian Armament Research and Development Establishment near Valcartier, some 20 miles north of here in the Laurentians.

The ruling says that after Dec. 1, employees living outside the Quebec City limits no longer will be picked up by the chartered buses the Government has provided since the establishment was founded in 1944.

More than 500 employees using the service, which costs them $1 weekly, live in suburbs like Ste. Foye or Beauport. By ordinary bus service, several transfers would be necessary to get to Valcartier from these communities.

A Spokesman said it may cost employees $25 to $30 a month for transportation once the treasury Board ruling goes into effect and that it would also cut into their time getting to and from work.

He pointed out that the road to Valcartier often is difficult for buses in winter, let alone cars.

In Ottawa, Defence Minister Douglas Harkness told the Commons that a Social Credit Member and a Liberal Member from the Quebec City area both have brought the situation to his attention.

In Quebec City Politics, Mayor Wilfrid Hamel, 67, was re-elected by acclamation to his fourth consecutive three-year term of office.

The newly-formed Civic Progress Party decided not to buck the popular mayor but will make a strong try for control of city council seats in the civic elections Nov. 19.

The Party is calling for widespread "renewal" of the city, with up-to-date policies to wipe out slums, tackle the traffic problems and protect historic sections.

Mayor Hamel, whose ancestors came over from Normandy in 1650, is a veteran politician who held three portfolios in the Liberal Government of Adelard Godbout during the second world War.

Economist Henry Mhun of the University of Montreal's Ecole Des Hautes Etudes Commerciales says the outlook for the Quebec economy in 1963 appears better than that for the Canadian economy because Quebec's Leader seems to be more aware of economic problems.

Mr. Mhun told the Chambre De Commerce here that Canada can only fight a sagging economic growth rate with concerted and co-operative action by political, labor and business leaders.

Industries that didn't pay had to be weeded out of the economic structure and replaced by more viable ones, he said.

Chief Gerard Girard of Quebec City's traffic division noted that to Nov. 1 this year, the 115,000 free-wheeling motor vehicles in the city have been involved in 9,440 accidents, with 18 persons killed and 1,168 injured.

When statistics were first gathered in 1939, Quebec City's 13,300 registered vehicles had 905 accidents with four killed and 170 injured.

Chief Girard said speed and broken traffic rules are mainly to blame for the increase in accidents this year and warned motorists more severe measures will be taken by police to enforce traffic laws.

Meeting Franklin Branch W.I.

CARD PARTY TO BE HELD AT FRANKLIN SCHOOL HALL

W.I. held their monthly meeting Wednesday, November 7th, at the home of Mrs. A. Lamb. There was a very good attendance with plans having been made for a card party to be held in Franklin School hall later in the month. A door prize will be given and a gift for the eldest lady and eldest gent present. There will be first and second prizes for card players. Refreshments will be served. The committee for the Card Party will be Mrs. H. Blair, Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. Lily Arthur and Mrs. Leo W. Lewis.

The ladies were very proud of the hats they made. They brought them to show the ladies at the meeting. The hat demonstration was held in the United Church Hall, Franklin Centre.

It is certain that those who didn't attend, missed something very special the night the demonstration on sandwich making took place. One couldn't fill a lunch box with such sandwiches. They were so beautifully made up.

The demonstration was a delight and those who attended will profit by it.

"A moment's silence", a poem, was read by president Mrs. L. Towns for Mrs. Blair, who passed away.

Prizes were given to Mrs. Everett Lindsay with certificates of honor to be given to Robert Currie, Wynita Jodin and Gervine Johnston, all of Grade 10 for achievement.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Lamb and Mrs. L. Robertson.

Womens Auxiliary of B.M.H. Hears Some Encouraging Reports At General Meeting

A general meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Barrie Memorial Hospital was held on Monday, October 29th, at 8 p.m., in the Board room of the Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown. The President, Mrs. Brodie Brittain welcomed the members present and expressed her appreciation to the Howick branch for their work in re-furnishing the sun-room of the hospital. Before the meeting, members had visited the sun-room to admire the new furniture and drapes. The secretary, Mrs. Clifford Moore, then read the minutes of the June meeting and Mrs. A. McMahon gave the treasurer's report. This showed a credit balance of $1940.85.

Mrs. Roy Angel, president of the Howick branch, reported that the Howick branch had held a successful tea the previous Saturday and raised $190. Discussion followed as to what purpose this money should be put and the Howick group decided that they would purchase two further pieces of furniture for the sun-room.

Mrs. Brittain then called on the various committees to give their reports. Mrs. Fearn, for the Bursary committee, said there were two nurses in training receiving bursaries but she regretted that the two applicants for bursaries had both had to withdraw for varying reasons. She congratulated Miss Beverly Smith of Howick, the first successful graduate who has been a recipient of a bursary, on the prizes that she won in her class at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital. It is hoped that Miss Smith will join the nursing staff in Ormstown early next year.

Miss M. Roy, for the Hospitality Shop, reported a very gratifying increase in sales, especially in August. She handed over to the Treasurer $400 for the period June 20th to Oct. 28th., an increase of $100 over the equivalent period for last year. Miss Roy expressed her appreciation of the work done by Mrs. Donald McEwen in arranging for the volunteers who help in the Shop and to Miss Noakes who deals with the supplies of candy and cigarettes. She thanked all those persons who have donated jams, pickles and home-made articles for sale.

Mrs. F. Anderson reported that the membership stands at 971 and Miss M. Hay for the service committee, said that favours had been given to patients at Thanksgiving and the committee was now busy with plans for Christmas. Mrs. A. Forrester, for the Ways and Means, reported that the Annual Tea and Bake Sale had been held in September, convened this year by Mrs. George Elliott, and $506 had been raised. The Dewittville members held a Tea at the home of Mrs. Kerry and handed in $36.

The Ways and Means were thinking of organizing a 500-Marathon during the winter months and Mrs. Forrester asked anyone interested in playing in such a Marathon to get in touch with her or any member of the committee.

The president thanked the committees for their splendid work and said that, as a result of these efforts, the Auxiliary had $1200 to spend on some project for the Hospital. She called upon Mrs. Fearn for suggestions. Mrs. Fearn spoke of the increased work of the hospital and the resultant strain being put on older pieces of equipment, such as the sterilizer in use in the operating rooms. A new larger high-speed sterilizer would save a great deal in time and duplication of the work done by the nurses. Mrs. J. A. Davidson moved that the Auxiliary purchase a sterilizer and the $1200 be the down payment. She mentioned that the Auxiliary had completed large projects in the past and this would provide an incentive and a very worthwhile goal for everyone to work towards. A letter of appreciation from Mr. C. V. Curtis was read expressing the thanks of the Hospital for the gift of the wheel-chair, the lamps and the foot-stools from the Auxiliary, in June.

Mrs. Brittain extended to all members an invitation from Mrs. Boudrias, the president of the Quebec Association of Hospital Auxiliaries, to go on a conducted tour of the Montreal Hospitals. Mrs. Brittain suggested that a group from Ormstown might go together and asked interested persons to give their names to her.

This completed the business and Mrs. Brittain called on Mrs. Davidson to introduce the speaker for the evening, Miss Barbara Whitley of Montreal. Mrs. Davidson expressed her pleasure in welcoming Miss Whitley and spoke of her many interests and activities, her radio talks on Trans Canada matinee some years ago, her wartime work in Washington, and her great contributions to the work of Hospital Auxiliaries.

Miss Whitley spoke first of her association with the Auxiliary of the Montreal General Hospital and her interest in hospital work everywhere. She then related her experiences this summer when she was in New London, N.H., with a theatre group, and of the enthusiasm she had encountered there among the local people for their civic hospital, their novel ways of raising money, even to renting out cushions to the theatre patrons who otherwise sat on hard wooden-backed chairs. Miss Whitley then entertained the meeting with three humourous monologues which were greatly appreciated by the members present.

Mrs. Mervyn Barrington thanked Miss Whitley for coming to Ormstown and providing the Auxiliary with such a delightful evening. Mrs. Brittain added her appreciation and Mrs. A. Hooker moved that the meeting be adjourned. The Howick branch then served refreshments to everyone.

Ormstown Branch W.I. Has Interesting Meeting

The November meeting of the Ormstown Women's Institute was held on Tuesday November 6th, at the home of Mrs. E. McCartney with twenty members and six visitors present who reponded to the roll call with "A" Fact about Australia".

W. Kerr gave a report on the Millinery Course which had been held at the home of Mrs. R. Anderson, conducted by Miss McOuat, when eleven hats were made. Some of the ladies who were present at the meeting modelled their hats for other members who were unable to attend. The course closed on Thursday with a tea and presentation of a gift to the instructor.

Mrs. Rember reported on the French Course which had started Oct. 1, but which owing to the press of work and ill health of the French Instructor and the inability of securing another one, had regretfully had to be discontinued. It is hoped that another year such a course can be held and carried successfully to its conclusion which is a term of five months. Cottons for the Cancer Society and jams and jellies for the Barrie Hospital were handed in at this meeting.

Report of the County semi-annual meeting was given by Mrs. McNeil, twenty members attended this. The next annual Convention is to be held at Dewittville with Mrs. Holmes, I.C., as speaker. Public Speaking is still sponsored and the sale of plants, food and aprons to be continued. "How to secure new members" is the problem faced by all branches. The history of Chat.-H'don County W.I.s, composed by Mrs. Palmer and read by Mrs. C. Reid, proved very interesting.

Ways of raising money for our local W.I. were discussed and it was decided to hold a Food Sale on November 23 in Mr. B. McGerrigle's store.

Mrs. Middlemiss, our County President, was then called upon to speak. She called our attention to the contrasts and similarities among the Institutes formed in 1911 and those of today. Their purposes and aims are still the same though conditions have changed with the coming of telephones, cars, radio and TV and they now work with and through other groups for the betterment of the communities where they are located. Water pollution is at present the project under consideration and Federal aid has been promised for this.

A very interesting paper on Australia was given by Mrs. H. Parkinson. She said Australia had an area of 3,000,000 Sq. miles with a population of 10,000,000. First settlement in the country was in 1788 and it was a penal colony. Progress was slow but the finding of gold caused an influx of immigrants. It produces 1/3 of the world's wool, ranks 4th in wheat production, produces oil and uranium, was first in air transport and has an inland two-way radio transmitter. Children in the "outback" are educated by radio. Every home has a medical chest and first aid kit, so they can radio the doctor in an emergency and he can tell them how and what to do.

Australian women had the vote 16 years prior to those in America. There are many women doctors and they had the first hospital to be staffed by women.

Convener's reports followed — Agriculture spoke on tulips, the best bulbs to plant, how, where and when to plant and the care needed for best results.

Welfare and Health — read a letter from Mrs. Cass, Prov. Convener, giving a list of topics for consideration. These were Welfare and health in our community, home nursing and first aid, cancer detection, eye banks, poison control, water safety and water pollution and help for the mentally retarded. We were also told what a home medicine cabinet should contain and uses of the same viz, iodine, mercurochrome, alcohol, spirits of ammonia, mustard powder, castor oil (a drop or two of this will remove a foreign substance from the eye), Jamaica ginger, camphorated oil, caron oil, boracic acid, baking soda and soda mints (for indigestion), vaseline, talcum powder, zinc ointment as well as antiseptic gauze, absorbent cotton, hot water bottle and attachments, medicine dropper, small scissors, clinical thermometer, olive oil, aspirin, A.B.S. and C. tablets and a roll of clean cotton.

Home Economics gave a few kitchen hints i.e. when frying sausages fasten several together with a skewer and you can turn them as you do pancakes; immerse apples in boiling water as you do tomatoes, leave for several minutes and the skins will slip off.

Education — gave a very interesting account of Ormstown. It was founded in 1826 by Irish immigrants and incorporated in 1890. The village has four churches, three schools, a textile mill, a 65 bed hospital and a horse show. This show started in 1910 and has grown into the famous Ormstown Exhibition which attracts exhibitors from all over the Province as well as from Ontario, New York and Vermont. The population of the town is now evenly divided between French and English citizens.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. McCartney, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Bruce, assisted by Mrs. B. McCartney and Mrs. Burry McGerrigle. A social hour was enjoyed.

Former Teacher Died In Montreal

Margaret Ouellet, née McClellan, a resident of Point Claire for the past fifteen years died in the Montreal General Hospital on Wednesday, November 7th.

She was born in Huddersfield, Yorkshire, England, and came to Canada in 1927 as an exchange teacher in the Province of Quebec. She remained in this country and taught in Kenogami, Huntingdon, Hudson Heights, Sherbrooke, and Chateauguay, where she was principal for four years. In 1947 she came to Pointe Claire, where she taught at Cedar Park School until her retirement in 1953, due to ill health. Many of her former pupils will remember her as a friend whose interest in their progress and welfare followed them after they had left her class. Throughout her teaching career she was especially interested in Junior Red Cross work and promoted many projects towards the success of this society's activities.

A member of the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs, she was a keen student of social, educational, and political problems. It was reported that the Baking Contest this year will be Gingerbread with more details later. Sincere thanks was extended Sis. Kay for her reports.

Several "Maple Leafers" had called on the "Hapgoods" at their 50th Anniversary on Sunday and a small remembrance had been sent them. Bro. and Sis. Hapgood made many trips to our Grange at the time of its organization.

The members were sorry to learn that Bro. Basil Kelly who is at King, Ont., had met with a painful accident and was hospitalized. Everyone wishes you well, Bro. Basil.

Lec. Cecil O'Connor had prepared a very fitting program for Remembrance Day. The hall was darkened except for candle-light during the programme. Sis. Hattie Shearer (Ceres) laid white roses in memory of deceased members on the altar, and Chaplain, Sis. Margaret Wilson led in repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. Bor. Hawley laid the wreath at the cross and Sis. Williams sang "Abide With Me". Bro. Rupert then recited, "In Flander's Fields". Community singing was then enjoyed. Sis. Margaret Hunter escorted Sis. Lydia Disch to the Master's Station. Sis. Cosgrove read a poem which had been written by Sis. D. Brown. The poem was "Goe de reis en tot ziens". Sis. Disch was then given a little gift as a departing expression of the members. Lydia is leaving shortly for Holland, where she will visit her relatives and spend the holiday season.

Once again M. L. G. has won a Bar and $50 Bond as a prize in the Community Service work. $20 was voted to the Poppy Fund.

Worthy Master David Rankin announced his committees: — Com. Service, Donald Grant; Chm. Art Rankin and Rupert Hawley; Youth Com., Shirley Grant, Alma Duhieme, Dorothy Cosgrove and Roger Bergevin; Hall Com., Leo Curran, Reg. Taylor and Art Goodfellow; Service and Hospitality, Sis Rosemary Cosgrove, Chm. Hattie Shearer and Eva Taillefer.

The final item of the evening was the singing of Happy Anniversary to Bro. Rupert and Sis. Dorothy Hawley, who were celebrating their anniversary and were both with us that evening.

The State deputies expect to be with us at our next meeting and there is a possibility that the New York State Master might be here, so Granger's do make an effort to come and encourage the new officers.

meeting to be held in Melville Church, Montreal, on November 15th, in regard to the financial standings, and what was being done at Ewart College which recently had been opened in Toronto.

Mrs. McLean gave a detailed report of the turkey supper, after which Mrs. Grant and Mrs. McIntyre advised of the expected arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham and family at the Manse on November 13th, and that the ladies and men of the congregation would meet at the Manse on Monday in order to have things in readiness for them.

Mrs. Bernhardt offered to have the next meeting, after which this meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

Our 'round-the-clock burner service keeps your heating system at peak efficiency

BURNER SERVICE:
Can save you as much as 2¢ on every gallon of oil you use

An efficiently-operating heating system can save you as much as 2¢ on every gallon of oil you use. We offer you burner service protection to keep your heating system working at peak efficiency.

Even the busiest family car does not put in as many hours of work in a year as the average heating system. Like a car engine, your heating system must be checked regularly, and adjusted when necessary. Otherwise it will waste fuel. Parts will also wear out more quickly.

Our 24 hour burner service guarantees you top performance all winter long. And it saves you money these three important ways:

1. By making sure your burner is cleaned and adjusted for peak efficiency—to give you maximum heat from every gallon of fuel.
2. By catching little troubles before they become big ones. (A small adjustment or repair now may save you many dollars later.)
3. By insuring you against unexpected repair bills—and by keeping your furnace in working order.

Now, with Shell Heating Oil and 24 hour burner service working together, we can take care of all your heating problems.

Hemmingford W.I. Hears Interesting Talk On St. Anne's Military Hospital

Eighteen members and three guests attended the evening meeting of the Women's Institute on November 7th., in the high school.

In the absence of Mrs. H. McAdam, President, Mrs. F. Greer took charge of the meeting. She mentioned that seventeen members had a very enjoyable visit to Avon Cosmetics, and that another trip could perhaps be arranged in the future for those who had been unable to attend.

Mrs. F. Barr, Citizenship Convener reported that $117.94 had been collected for UNICEF by the C.G.I.T. and Hemmingford High students on Hallowe'en. Excellent returns considering the weather.

Publicity Convener read from a newspaper clipping, that Mrs. A. Morris, Australian representative to the U.N. Commission on Status of Women told the 10th Triennial Conference of A.C.W.W. held in Australia that half of the world's population cannot read, the majority being women and girls and that free compulsory education is a goal which may be as far as two generations away.

Thank you notes for messages of sympathy were read by the Secretary from Mrs. Laurie, Mr. Blair and Mrs. Bernhardt, also a note from Mrs. V. Rogers, who has recently been ill.

The Roll Call followed — "One cent for every inch of waistline" increasing the Treasury by $5.85. Here is where our "Physical Fitness" booklet may come into use.

Mrs. Chas. Petch reminded the members of the Bazaar being held in St. Luke's Anglican Church Hall by the Ladies Guild, and invited all to attend.

Mrs. Robertson read out the list of persons who received Christmas Cheer boxes or cards last year. Some revisions were made and contents discussed. A committee of Mrs. R. Curry, Mrs. W. Keddy and Mrs. Matheson was appointed to buy the necessary articles and take charge of packing and delivery. Anyone who knows of some one needing such cheer should phone Mrs. J. Robertson — CH 7-2571.

Mrs. H. Palmer suggested here that a note of welcome, a telephone call or a visit would mean so much to any newcomer to the district. An invitation to attend a meeting of the W. I. should also be extended.

Mrs. D. Orr introduced the speaker for the evening — Mrs. Millroy, who has been a nurse at St. Anne's Military Hospital for the past eight years. In telling us all about the hospital she started with the layout. Twenty acres of land are used by the Government. The old buildings on it hospitalize patients from the First World War — for instance — a WAAC, two QUACKs from the Second War and four veterans in their eighties from the Boar War. At first there were six wards, but now only four. The new drugs at present in use for tuberculosis have greatly decreased the number of patients. Aerosol therapy is employed to relieve asthma and chest congestion. The Government has spared no expense to equip this building with the most up-to-date appliances. The Open Ward system is in operation in the Psychiatric section, which means that patients have much more freedom. There are 498 beds which are occupied at all times. Shock therapy is used in many cases. The patients are allowed to take walks, play cards and mingle with one another. Mrs. Millroy observes today much younger men are victims of this condition as compared with veterans of the First War, which perhaps indicates they do not have the same stamina. In Senneville Lodge a system has been started to treat alcoholics. A complete staff of doctors is on hand, but there is a shortage of nurses. The 230 orderlies are the mainstay of the hospital, relieving the nurses of many extra duties. They are very efficient, and without them the hospital could not function. There are fifteen full-time dietitions and four supervisors who help with catering and planning menus. There is a main dining-room where good meals are served also a canteen. There is a dentist with dental technician and laboratory, two rooms for X-Ray and a portable electrocardiograph. They have a very efficient Physiotheraphy Department with seven full-time physiotherapists, hot water baths and underwater treatment, swimming, etc. Painting, drawing sketching is taught by two full-time teachers. There is also a speech therapist. Music therapy is used in the treatment of mental patients.

Occupational therapy takes the form of making articles from wood for those patients who have been carpenters or were once interested in woodwork. Salad bowls and long wooden bowls to hold French bread are made, which sell for around $1.00 to $1.50. Mrs. Millroy brought along some of the articles made by the disabled, blind or speechless veterans which included place mats, picture frames and various other items. Social workers deal with personal problems such as housing or trouble with a child at school. There are two Welfare Officers to deal with money matters, wills, etc. Each ward boasts a television and each solarium a radio, newspapers and magazines. In the large recreation hall movies can be seen every Friday night, and practically every week an organization entertains the patients. The Black Watch and different battalions keep their men supplied with cigarettes. If a patient is very ill and a visitor feels he should stay over, rooms and meals are provided at very reasonable prices. A small Protestant chapel is open to all denominations, and Roman Catholic chaplains administer Communion rites. A very impressive ceremony is held on Armistice Day. If raining it is held indoors, but they always hope for good weather as then the wheelchair patients can participate. In conclusion, Mrs. Millroy left us with a little food for thought; she said there are a number of patients who have all they need except the most important thing — LOVE — Some have gone for years without a visitor or even a letter or card from anyone. She suggested that rather than buy a poppy we take time to send a card to a forgotten patient. These cards should be sent to her and she will take care of their distribution. Mrs. Orr thanked our speaker for a most interesting and informative talk, and for giving such a complete insight into all the aspect of this well known hospital.

Mrs. Greer stated that she and some of the members had attended the semi-annual County W.I. meeting held at the home of Mrs. Carl Anderson, on October 31st. To name a few matters if importance — Mrs. McAdam suggested that Hemmingford Branch increase their prize money for Public Speaking Contest. This matter to be discussed further. The Finals will be held in Hemmingford. Each branch sent greetings to new branches in Val D'Or and Malartic. The Women's Institute should be recognized at World Fair to be held in 1967. A tour of Shawinigan Water and Power Co. suggested. Life membership to remain at $10.00.

At the close of the meeting the members looked over the articles brought by Mrs. Millroy from the Hospital. Very appetizing refreshments were served by Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Campbell.

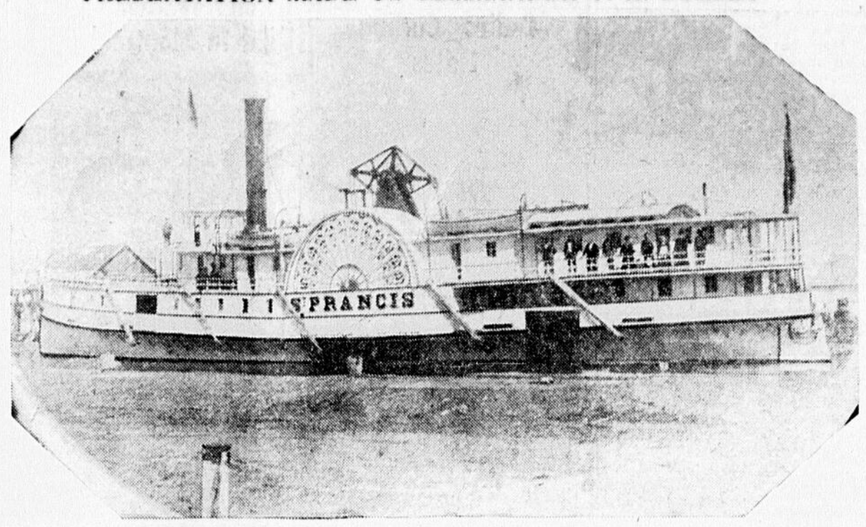
PRESENTATION MADE TO COMMANDER T. R. DURLEY



Durley, as a mememto. Commander Durley is shown at the "mike" as he addressed the gathering at the dinner. Also shown is the skipper of S. S. St. Francis, Capt. Duncan Rankin. Unfortunately, while Capt. Rankin was ill and his ship was taken over by another skipper, the boat was wrecked navigating the Lachine Rapids

Above is a photo of the S. S. St. Francis which years ago used to ply between Cornwall and Montreal, stopping at points in between such as Dundee and Port Lewis. The Huntingdon Branch of the Navy League has chosen the name of St. Francis for the Cadet Corps formed here. At the Canadian Legion Armistice dinner on Saturday evening, a reproduction of this old sidewheeler was presented to Commander T. R.

½ AWAKE NIGHTS ½ ASLEEP DAYS

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn in bed—and then are dull and listless throughout the day. All of which may be due to a temporary toxic condition which calls for the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they slow down and impurities stay in the system, disturbed rest, tired feeling and backache often follow. If you don't rest well at night—if you haven't that sprightly step of health in the daytime—use Dodd's Kidney Pills. You can depend on Dodd's!
