Prophets Start A Tabulation Of Votes By States

More Cautious Place Nearly One Half of U.S. Presidential Election Votes in Doubtful Column—Washington Star, Which Has Been Conducting an Independent Canvass for Two Weeks, Gives Hoover 190 Out of 531 Votes in Electoral College and Smith 102.

(Associated Press Despatch) WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 8.—With the presidential election a month away political prophets are beginning to tabulate the votes by states, and the more cautious place nearly one half the votes in the doubtful column.

The Washington Star, which has been conducting an independent canvass for two weeks, gives Hoover 190 out of the 531 votes in the electoral college and Smith 102. Of the remainder, 51 votes are described as leaning towards Republican and 101 as leaning toward Democrats. Eighty-seven are merely described as doubtful.

New York with forty-five votes normally Republican is said to be doubtful, but leaning towards Smith. Under the same heading are Missouri with eighteen votes, North Carolina and Tennessee with twelve apiece, Arizona, Nevada and New Mexico with three apiece, and Rhode Island with five.

The newspaper gives Hoover the edge in seven doubtful states, Kentucky with thirteen votes, Nebraska and West Virginia with eight, Connecticut with seven, Colorado with six, South Dakota with five and New Hampshire with four.

Classed As Sure Republicans. The states now classed as sure Republicans are Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, California, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Idaho, Michigan, Maine, Oregon, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wyoming. Smith is said to be sure of support from Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Texas and Virginia.

Left In Doubtful Column. A number of bigger states are left in the doubtful column without sufficient apparent swing in one direction to justify their tentative award to either party. They are Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Oklahoma which have sixty-seven votes in the electoral college between them. In the same debatable column are Maryland, eight votes, Delaware, three votes, Montana, four votes and North Dakota five votes.

The majority required to elect a president is 265 votes.

Hoover Points To His Speech Of Over Year Ago To Show Where He Stands In Regard To St-Lawrence River Deep Waterway Proposal

In Speech Republican Nominee Summarized St. Lawrence Water Project as "Urgent to the Prosperity of the Vast Mid-West"—Letter Made Public Yesterday.

(Associated Press Despatch) RAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 8.—Herbert Hoover pointed to his speech of March 12, 1927, at New Haven, Conn., to show where he stands in regard to the St. Lawrence waterway, in a letter to Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, made public here yesterday.

In his New Haven speech, Mr. Hoover had summarized the St. Lawrence water project as "urgent to the prosperity of the mid-west."

The Hoover letter, which quoted the New Haven speech, was in reply to one from Senator Vandenberg, which said in part:

"I invite your attention to the fact that certain gentlemen of the opposition are pretending that your attitude is changed. To answer all of these expedient, self-serving, roars-backs is quite impossible. But I repeat the present fact and leave the matter to your own attention."

Report Says that It Is Believed Bomb Was Being Taken to Bombay by Anarchists to Await Arrival of Royal Commission on India Reforms, Headed by Sir John Simon.

(Associated Press Despatch) OMBAY, India, Oct. 8.—Three passengers were killed and injured today at Manmad when a bomb shattered a car of a train enroute to Bombay.

A newspaper correspondent reported that it was believed the bomb was being taken to Bombay by anarchists to await the arrival of the Royal Commission on India reforms headed by Sir John Simon. The Commissioner is due at Bombay shortly.

It was reported at first that Sir Sankaran Nair, who was appointed to the Simon Commission, was on the train, and that an attempt had been made against him, but it was learned later that Sir Sankaran arrived in Bombay today.

UNITED CHURCH MAY BE TERMED THE OPEN DOOR

Vancouver Pastor Says that United Church Has Done as Much Uplift Work as Any Other Body in Canada—Made Reference of Some Churches to Attract Congregations.

(Canadian Press Despatch) TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 8.—Messages from Canada's Pacific coast were delivered before the laymen's convention of the United Church Saturday. Rev. J. Richmond, whose church as Vancouver is named the "church of the open door," suggested that title might have been applied to the United Church.

The church was some times twitted, he said, for not doing uplift work, but he believed that the United Church actually had as many workers in that cause as any other body in Canada. He referred to efforts made by some downtown churches to attract congregations, and asserted that "musical calisthenics are not necessary in the downtown church, that is looking to the welfare of the floater and jet-sam of humanity."

George Pringle, worker in the British Columbia coast missions, drew a contrast when he delivered his message. "When I am speaking in church," he said, "I have to be on guard lest I am too broadminded." (continues on page 7)

RUMORS AGAIN HEARD RE SALE COTTON MILLS

Meeting of Shareholders Will Be Held Shortly to Consider New Developments—Offer of $115 for Preferred Said to Have Been Made.

New rumors have cropped up telling of the purchase by the Dominion Textile Company of the local factory of the Canadian Connecticut Cotton Mills. Similar rumors were in circulation several days ago, but were denied by the Dominion Textile Company in Montreal, while local officials of the Cotton Mills said that they had heard nothing of the sale.

This morning the Record tried to consult Mr. S. R. Fuller, Jr., of the local plant, but he was out of town, and consequently no statement could be secured.

The latest rumor apparently originated in Montreal, and the Financial Post states that the strength of the shares of Canadian Connecticut Cotton Mills which have sold up to 94 this week from a low of 74 for the month of September, is attributed to an apparently well-founded rumor that it will be acquired by Dominion Textile Company. The price mentioned is $115 a share for the preferred stock.

While this story lacks any official confirmation, there would seem to be every possibility of a deal of this nature going through. In the deal are also mentioned the Manassee Company and the Jencks Company, both of which are situated in the Eastern Townships and manufacture similar products.

In the event of the purchase of these allied industries by Dominion Textiles, that company would occupy a strong position in the manufacture of fire fabrics.

Claims If Bishops Adopt Tentative Proposal They Will Be Breakers Of Law

Bishop of Birmingham Declares that if Bishops Permit Alternative Holy Communion and Issue Licenses for Reservation, They Will Be Breaking Law and Flouting Authority of Parliament.

(Canadian Press Despatch) LONDON, Oct. 8.—If the Bishops adopt their tentative policy they become law breakers and thus challenge the soundest instinct of the British people, Right Rev. E.W. Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, declared in an interview last night. He referred to the announcement of the Archbishops of Canterbury and York last September 28th.

Following the deliberations of the House of Bishops at Lambeth Palace last September 28th, the Archbishops of Canterbury and York made a long awaited announcement with regard to the situation created by the second rejection of the new prayer book by the House of Commons. The announcement said that "during the present emergency and until further orders taken" the Bishops could not regard as inconsistent with loyalty to the principles of the Church of England and the end so disastrous to the country as to use such additions to or deviation from the prayer book of 1662 as fall within the limits of the proposals approved by the House of Convocations and the Church Assembly, but must regard as inconsistent with such loyalty the use of any other deviations from or additions to the book of 1662.

Continuing his statement last night the Bishop of Birmingham said the situation was likely to be so grave and the end so disastrous that he hoped private remonstrances of men of weight would prevent the adoption of the policy.

"If the Bishops permit alternative Holy Communion," he went on, "and issue licenses for reservation, they will be breaking the law and flouting the authority of parliament. Even if the Bishops ask the convention to approve of the 1928 book without the contentious clauses, the book will be illegal without the consent of the Crown, but a formal quarrel between the Church and the state will then be opened and church people desiring to defy the state would be in the position to plead that they had the moral authority of the church."

Would Be Indiscreet and Unwise. "For the Bishops to thus precipitate a formal quarrel would be indiscreet and unwise. The obvious reply of the nation would be disestablishment and severe disendowment, but such a policy would be preferable to the indefensible policy suggested by the Bishops."

BANDITS HELD UP THEATRE OFFICIALS. CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 8.—The Chicago theatre, one of the largest motion picture houses in the city, was held up by bandits last night.

GLEN ELM MAN TO PRESS CASE AGAINST U.S.

Howard J. King Claims He Was Arrested by U.S. Immigration Officers While on Canadian Soil.

(Associated Press Despatch) MALONE, N.Y., Oct. 8.—Howard J. King, of Glen Elm, Que., who claimed he was arrested by United States immigration officers last week while on Canadian soil and for whom a writ of habeas corpus was issued, is back home with the expressed intention of pressing the issue with the Ottawa government.

He was released on $3,000 bond on Saturday. The next step in the case will come up on October 30th, when King appears here for argument on a petition for release.

King was charged with smuggling an alien from Canada into the United States. The alien was deported. It is understood four hundred signatures has been obtained by King to a petition asking the Ottawa government to press the case through the Canadian minister at Washington.

TEXTILE WORKERS AT NEW BEDFORD RETURN TO WORK

For First Time in Twenty-Five Weeks Operators Streamlined Through Open Gates into Mills This Morning.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW BEDFORD, MASS., Oct. 8.—For the first time in twenty-five weeks operatives streamed through the open gates into New Bedford mills this morning. The return to work after the long textile strike was watched from a distance by textile mill committee sympathizers who have refused to acknowledge the strike settlement, and there were repeated police brushes which led to twenty-seven arrests. Most of these, booked at central police station on loitering or intimidation charges, were old offenders among textile mill committee leaders.

The young accused presented a very pitiful sight Saturday morning as he quietly sat in the prisoner's dock awaiting his fate. He was very pale from the long strain, but when he heard the death sentence being imposed showed little signs of emotion. He was wearing a double-breasted blue suit, soft shirt and collar and a knitted tie of two shades of blue. The only representative of the Rheume family in the court room at the time was the boy's father, while the mother, sister and sister of the murdered young man were also present to hear what the final decision would be. They had been constant spectators since the opening of the trial.

After the accused had learned that he was found guilty he called his attorney to one side and asked him to kindly thank the Judge and the jury for their work. He said he held no malice towards any one and was sure that every member of the jury had acted according to his conscience.

Courthouse Was Crowded to Capacity. Since the opening of the trial here on October first, the court room has been filled at each session, and Saturday, when it was expected that a verdict would be rendered, the number of spectators had greatly increased and every available space was taken up. After a very trying time and much hard work in the interest of justice and society, the attorneys for the Crown and the defence were patiently waiting to learn what decision had been reached by the twelve men whose duty it was to decide whether or not the accused had been guilty of the nation's most serious offence. Messrs. F. Philippe Brais, K.C., of Montreal, and Ralph Stockwell, K.C., of Cowansville, were the attorneys for the Crown, while Mr. L. A. Giroux, of Sweet'sburg, acted in the interests of the accused.

Judge Did Not Wear Black Hat. The foreman of the jury was Mr. Achille Boucher, of Abercorn, and the jurymen were Messrs. Arthur Lussier, J. H. Brault, Emery Boulay, Elzair Bouchard, Ovide Aries, Jos. Champigny, Jos. Suprenant, Frank Bouthat, Nap. Gagne, Alp. Delorme and Raoul Bernier. As the accused was French speaking a complete French jury was appointed and His Lordship passed sentence in French.

Imposing the death sentence His Lordship did not wear the black cap which is sometimes worn on such occasions, but was wearing the customary three-cornered hat which is worn by judges of the Superior Court.

Address by His Lordship. In addressing the jury, His Lordship Mr. Justice Walsh gave an explanation of the difference between murder and manslaughter and the three verdicts open to the jury.

The question of premeditation was also touched upon, the defence case was summed up as self-defence, completed with a plea of accident and inadvertence.

Counsel underlined the seriousness of the case, the question of doubt and the matter of drunkenness, which he explained could have no bearing on the present case, since the accused had been capable of driving his automobile, making repairs to it and so forth.

Touching on the confessions, His Lordship told the jury that the law always considered anything said by an accused person against himself to be true.

Confessions were allowable, and admissible under the law. He discussed the three confessions of the accused to Detective Dalpe, to Chief Lorrain, and to Judge Cusson, as contrasted with his statement in the witness box.

Turning to the facts of the case as shown in the evidence, the Judge declared that there was no doubt that Dupont had been killed, and that the deed had been done by Rheume.

This was corroborated by the de (continues on page 7)

BERNARD RHEAUME IS SENTENCED TO DEATH PENALTY FOR MURDER OF HARVE DUPONT AT NOYAN

Death Sentence Was Given by Mr. Justice Walsh, of Montreal, Late Saturday Afternoon—Case Had Taken Up All Sessions of Last Week—Accused, Who Is Only Twenty Years of Age, Took Sentence Very Calmly—Father of Accused Was in Court Room at Time, Also Father, Mother and Sister of Murdered Man—Court Room Was Filled With Spectators—Jury Deliberated for Two Hours, Returning and Giving Verdict of Guilty With Recommendation for Mercy—All Records of Case Will Be Submitted to Minister of Justice to Decide If Sentence Will Be Changed to That of Life Imprisonment—Date of Execution Set for December 14.

(Special to the Record) SWEETSBURG, Oct. 8.—Bernard Rheume, twenty year old youth of the parish of Highgate Springs, Vt., has two months and six days more to live before justice will claim his life and he will die on the gallows at Sweet'sburg for the death of Harve Dupont, twenty-two years of age, formerly of the parish of St. Armand, Que., who was murdered by Rheume and whose body was found on April 8th, last by young school children who happened to be playing on a garbage dump near a highway bridge slightly more than a mile outside the village of St. Armand.

Death Sentence Passed Late Saturday. Rheume was sentenced to death here late Saturday afternoon by His Lordship Mr. Justice Walsh, of Montreal, at the conclusion of the murder trial which had been in progress here during the past week and which attracted no little interest. The date for the execution was set for Friday, December 14th.

The addresses of the Crown and the defence had been concluded Friday night, and with the opening of the court on Saturday morning His Lordship began his address to the jury, which lasted one and three quarters hours. The jury deliberated two hours before reaching a verdict of murder with a recommendation for mercy.

The young accused presented a very pitiful sight Saturday morning as he quietly sat in the prisoner's dock awaiting his fate. He was very pale from the long strain, but when he heard the death sentence being imposed showed little signs of emotion. COUPLE CLAIM THEY FOUND CITY OF DEAD

Said to Be in California Forest—Scientists Said Story Practically Incredible.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—The examiner says two men and a woman have arrived here with a story of having discovered a "city of the dead" in the California desert a week's automobile journey from San Francisco, adding that University of California scientists practically said the tale was incredible.

The newspaper said the self-styled discoverers are G. A. Howard, and Rube King, prospectors, and that Howard claimed to have discovered the ruins by following a three-mile subterranean passage found while working a desert claim.
Mummified remains of at least 500 persons of Mongolian type were reported seen, some seated as if they had been feasting when stricken by some catastrophe, while others seemed to have been assisting at a human sacrifice, with a mummified victim, a young woman, lying on the altar. The newspaper quotes Howard as saying that he brought out with him some trinkets from stores in the ruins.

MANY ATTENDED MEETINGS HELD AT COOKSHIRE

On Wednesday and Thursday
Last Annual Meeting of St.
Francis District Association of the Church Society Was Held and Proved to Be Very Successful.

COOKSHIRE, Oct. 8.—A large number of Anglican clergy and laity attended the annual meeting of the St. Francis District Association of the Church Society, which was held here on Wednesday and Thursday last.

A very busy agenda had been drawn up for the two days' meeting, and the time was taken up with the consideration of various very interesting and important matters.

The session was opened at 2.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when a business meeting was held. At 8 o'clock in the evening the annual service was held in St. Peter's Church, the special preacher being
Rev. Canon Shaford, M.A., D.C.L., O.E., rector of the Church of St.
James the Apostle, Montreal, who gave a very inspiring sermon.

On Thursday morning at eight o'clock there was a celebration of the Holy Communion, followed by morning prayer at 9.30 o'clock. At ten o'clock another business meeting was on the programme.

At this meeting there was a lively discussion on the relation of relationship that should exist between the Church and the Fraternal Order. The paper was read by Mr. John Martyn, of East Angus, and many opinions were expressed when the matter was thrown open for discussion. Another interesting paper on "A Layman's View of the Church and what He Can do to Help Realize It," was given by Mr. Sidney Meade, of Cookscook.

At noon on Thursday mid-day prayers were said, followed by a devotional address by the Lord Bishop of Quebec in St. Peter's Church, and at one o'clock a luncheon was given in St. Peter's Hall.

Two excellent papers were given after afternoon tea, which were held in St. Peter's Hall. Rev. P.
Carrington, M.A., Dean of the Faculty of Divinity at Bishop's University, gave a paper entitled "Selected," while Rev. B. Watson, M.A.,
of St. George's Church, Windsor Mill, gave a very interesting paper on "Church Union."

The meetings were brought to a close Thursday evening, when the annual missionary meeting was held. At this meeting an address was given by the Rev. T. B. R.
Watson, D.D., western field secretary of M.S.C.C. on "The Church's Problems in the West," and there was also an illustrated lecture on "The Work in Our Indian Schools."

NEW GERMAN ZEPPEL, POISED FOR FLIGHT TO AMERICA, IS PALACE OF THE SKIES Graf Zeppelin Is Biggest of All

This graphic illustration shows how the Graf Zeppelin, newest of German airships, compares in length with the Los Angeles, pride of the United States Navy, and the lofty Woolworth building in New York city. The upper picture shows the interior of the steering cabin, and below is one of the luxurious state-rooms for passengers.

SHENANDOAH AND LOS AN- GELES ARE DWARFED IN SIZE BY GIGANTIC TRANS- ATLANTIC AIRSHIP

By NEA Service

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—When the great new dirigible Graf Zeppelin takes the air at Friedrichshafen for her first trip to America, the world will get its first inkling of the real possibilities of comfort, safety and luxury in aerial travel. It is named in honor of Count Zeppelin, "Graf" being German for "Count."

Not unlike it has ever flown through the air, the great American dirigibles Los Angeles and Shenandoah, are far surpassed. The floating liner of the air is at last a reality. Some idea of its possible speed is given by the estimate of Dr. Hugo Eckener, the designer, that the big ship could fly from Berlin to Tokyo in four days.

To begin with, the Count Zeppelin offers far better passenger accommodations than any airship yet built. Twenty passengers can be carried, two to a room, in comfortable, Pullman-like state-rooms. Their quarters are electrically lighted and heated. Electric ranges in the kitchen provide hot meals; roomy lavatories are fitted for hot and cold water.

Gone are the days of the narrow "cat walk" which featured the Shenandoah's interior living quarters. The hanging gondolas of that airship are present in the Graf Zeppelin, to be sure, but only to house the five powerful motors. The control room is built-in, as in the dirigible Los Angeles; and on the same deck are the passenger accommodations.

776 Feet Long

The Graf Zeppelin is 776 feet long by 100 feet in diameter—nearly 100 feet longer and nearly 25 feet wider than the Shenandoah, and 116 feet longer than the Los Angeles. Towards the bow, along the bottom, protrudes the forward end of the cabin, running back in a straight line and merging almost imperceptibly with the keel. The great size of the ship dwarfs the five small gondolas so that one hardly sees them at first glance.

Entering the cabin at the forward end, one enters first the control room, where captain, navigator and helmsmen have their stations.
Big windows give unobstructed vision straight ahead and on both sides.

Back of this comes the navigation and chart room, extending the width of the cabin and filled with the multitude of dials, gauges, wheels, levers and so on with which dirigibles are guided.

Powerful Radio

From the rear of the navigation room opens a hallway leading to the back. On one side is the radio room, where there is installed a set powerful enough to keep the airship in touch with land stations throughout a transatlantic voyage.
On the other side is the kitchen, with electric stove, coffee urn and cupboards. Beside the kitchen is a narrow thwart-ships passageway leading to a door on the starboard side, through which passengers come aboard.

The main passageway then opens into the largest room on the ship—the main lounge, which also does duty as a dining room. It is a luxurious room, at little like a compartment on an airship as one could wish.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal

the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu.
Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

HEALTH DIET ADVICE By Dr. Frank McCoy Author "The Fast Way to Health"

QUESTIONS IN REGARD TO HEALTHY DIET WILL BE ANSWERED
BY DR. McCOY WHO CAN BE ADDRESSED IN CASE OF THIS FORM
ENCLOSURE. STAMPEO ADDRESSED ENVELOPE FOR REPLY

POTATOES ARE WHOLESOME
Potatoes were unknown in Europe before the discovery of the Americas. They were probably first introduced to the continent by the Spaniards. Europe did not take a fancy to the potato for a long time, even though they were a popular food in the new world. This was probably because of the peculiar ways in which potatoes were prepared by the Europeans, such as soaking them in wine, pickle juices, and spices.

The potato is now one of the most important staple foods. Today Germany leads the world in the number of bushels grown per capita. In Germany a third or a fourth of the diet is served three times daily. In combination with bread, this is more starch than can be readily handled.

Potatoes can be substituted to a large extent for other foods with benefit to health, as was proved in Denmark during the late war. I do not advise the use of any starchy foods during the dietetic treatment of certain diseases, and of course this includes the potato, but any healthy person will find them wholesome and nutritious.

Potatoes should be stored in a cool, dark, well ventilated place, with an atmosphere of about 88 degrees. If there is a tendency to rot, they should be sprinkled with lime.

The potato is a member of the Nightshade family, and is a close relative to the tomato, the egg plant, and tobacco.

Potatoes should never be eaten at the same meal with tomatoes or any kind of stewed or raw fruit. They form the best combination when eaten exclusively with raw and cooked non-starchy vegetables.

Potatoes have a popular reputation of being one of the most starchy foods in spite of the fact that they have only a third or a fourth as much starch as the grain products.
Those who try to reduce usually eliminate the potatoes from their diet when they would have better results by avoiding the bread.

HOLLYWOOD FRANTIC AS TALKING MOVIES RE-MAKE FILM INDUSTRY

How Talking Movies Are Made.

This sketch shows how talking movies are made in the new heavily-padded sound-proof studios that Hollywood has built for the purpose. The camera operator works in a sound-proof "tank," so that the clicking of his machine will not be heard by the sensitive microphone, suspended just over the actors' head. For the same reason, silent incandescent lights are used instead of sputtering arc lights. An electrician at a control board regulates the sound for the voices as they are registered.

BY DAN THOMAS

NEA Service Writer.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 8. — What's it all about? That is the question everybody in Hollywood is asking everybody else. And nobody seems to know.

Ever since the peace and quiet of the movies was disturbed by the removal of the silence from the silent drama, this village of studios has been in an uproar.

The Warner brothers were the first to put sound into their pictures by means of the Vitaphone. That was about two years ago. At that time everybody else in the business laughed at the idea of talking movies. And they kept on laughing until Al Jolson's "The Jazz Singer" was released early this year. When that started to "clean up," the laughs subsided and other producers began to wonder if maybe there wasn't something to the talkies after all.

Big Scramble Begins.

Then came the mad scramble — everybody trying to rush out some sound pictures. Releases on films a week-end recently at the home of his mother and brother, Mr. Rufus Salisbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs, of Sherbrooke, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Fleck.

Miss Evelyn Goddard has returned to her work in Sherbrooke having recovered from an operation for appendicitis.

already completed were held up until sound could be added. This was done with a number of pictures, and in each case proved more of a detriment than anything else. "White Shadows in the South Seas," "Warning Up," "Abie's Irish Rose," "The Godless Girl," "Lilac Time" and many other silent films were hastily made into sound dramas.

In several instances the sound in these pictures wasn't even synchronized properly. And in all of them the sound was an unsuccessful addition. The only way a sound film can be made at all successfully is to have the filming and sound recording done at the same time.

As soon as it became a generally accepted fact that talking pictures are here to stay—for the time being at least—there was a general upheaval in the ranks of the players. Producers started seeking the services of stage celebrities and New York actors began invading Hollywood by the scores in search of jobs.

At the same time all studios started a frantic campaign of voice

Chadsey and Miss Chadsey, of Montreal, who received a hearty welcome from old friends. Mrs. Chadsey was a charter member of this union and was at one time superintendent of the Loyal Temperance Legion, where she did faithful and effective work among the young people. After opening the meeting with a hymn the president, Mrs. Westover, read a Scripture lesson from Matt. 18th chapter, followed by prayer by Mrs. W. Hawley. Mrs. Smith acted as secretary pro tem. and after roll call the pledge was repeated by all. Mrs. A. W. Westover and Mrs. U. Grant Martin were appointed delegates to the Provincial Convention, which is to be held at Ayer's Cliff on October 18th to 19th. A letter was read from Mrs. Black, superintendent of social hygiene, expressing her regret that she could not be present. She did the next best thing and sent a very carefully prepared paper on the subject, which was read by Mrs. Woodward and listened to with much interest by all. She emphasized the importance of teaching the young, certain facts. After some discussion the meeting closed with the mizpah and a hymn. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughters.

Battle of Musketry and Tread of Marching Troops Heard Today in Wiener Neustadt.

(Associated Press Despatch) WIENER NEUSTADT, Austria, Oct. 8. — The rattle of musketry and the tread of marching troops were heard today in Wiener Neustadt as this industrial centre thirty miles south of Vienna, prepared for possible disorders and bloodshed when two rival political organizations meet tomorrow. Last minute preparations were being made for separate propaganda meetings of the Social Democrats, who rule Vienna, and the Heimwehr, or so-called home defense league of Christian socialists who control the Austrian government. Thousands of the 35,000 inhabitants were temporarily abandoning the city, which has taken on the appearance of a gigantic armed citadel.

The Austrian government sent 12,000 troops and gendarmes armed with rifles, bayonets, machine guns and artillery.

There has been one casualty already, a Social-Democrat having shot the former burgomaster of the town of Weissenbach twice through the chest.

Nine Communists, charged with inciting others to seize the meetings as an occasion for open revolution, were arrested by the police in the neighborhood town of Baden. These Communists will be tried for high treason.

The Choice of Discriminating Men

Wherever the wearing quality and appearance of shoes are discussed, you will find that discriminating men prefer Panco Soles and Heels — for Panco, as a foundation, increases both the appearance and the wearing qualities of any shoe. It is not a substitute for leather — but an improvement over leather. It gives service far beyond your fondest expectations. It is flexible, durable and water-proof and gives wear and life to the entire shoe.

Actual tests by thousands of people in Canada and the United States put Panco in first place as heel and sole material. It is without an equal. Over 10,000,000 pairs of Panco Soles have been made and sold in the last ten years. Their cost, considering their wonderful qualities, is surprisingly low — it is less than the cost of leather.

Panco is also the best repair material. Next time you need resoling or new heels tell your repair man to give you Panco.

Today marks the anniversary of the signing of the charter of the French race in Canada, the Treaty of Paris, on October 7, 1763.

By the Great Britain obtained Canada, Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, and the Catholics of these territories were promised the right to profess the worship of their religion, according to the rule of the Roman Catholic Church.

To every soldier who had served in the war in Canada, and who was actually decorated there, the King gave grants of wild land. Some of the leading men of the country are descended from these military settlers.

FIRST SERIES OF SERMONS ON "PILGRIM'S PROGRESS"

Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennon, the pastor of Trinity United Church, based his Sunday morning sermon on the subject, "The Story of Christ and the Man Born Blind," dealing in an explanatory way with the story as illustrating Christ, the teacher, correcting wrong mental attitude in his disciples, and educating a soul in its early spiritual life. During the morning service Miss Eleanor Wheeler sang the solo, "Grant Us Thy Peace."

The Sunday School and the Brotherhood met as usual at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, the former being in charge of Mr. H. G. Hatcher, in the absence of the superintendent, Mr. Geo. C. Hall, who was absent on attendance, along with Mr. E. G. Pierce, on the United Church Laymen's Convention in Massey Hall, Toronto.

The evening gathering took the form of a Lantern Service, during which the pastor gave an illustrated address on "John Bunyan, Dreamer of Dreams," which was planned by him as the opening address in a series on the Bedford tinker's "Pilgrim's Progress." The remaining sermons will be given at intervals during the fall, this being the tercentenary year of Bunyan, who was born on November 30, 1628. During the evening service Miss Gladys Lennon sang "The Holy City," the solo being illustrated by a fine set of lantern slides.

A BIG PROBLEM TODAY IS THAT OF AMUSEMENTS

"Standardizing Our Amusements" Was Text of Interesting Sermon Delivered by Dr. Read at Plymouth Church.

At the evening service in Plymouth United Church Dr. G. E. Read preached on "Standardizing our Amusements." Taking for his text St. Paul's instruction to the Corinthian church, "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink or whatever ye do, do all to the glory of God" (1 Cor. 10:32), he pointed out that the great Apostle laid down in his general teaching concerning conduct and life that Christians should seek the good of others and the glory of God. A third principle might be included, namely, that one should seek the realization of his own life in accordance with the will of God, but inasmuch as no man could come to fullness of life apart from contact with his fellow-men and fellowship with God, this third principle was really involved in the other two.

Every age in the church's history presented its problems of conduct. One of the most serious of our own time was that of amusements, and it was not how much time we should give to them and the costs involved in money, time and energy expended. There had always been this problem in the life of Christian people to a greater or less extent, but it had become quite acute to day because amusements had assumed the proportions of gigantic commercial enterprises. An enormous number of people were engaged in providing means of amusements for others. Vast capitals were invested in these enterprises, and people were being solicited to patronize them in order that those who had invested in them might realize on their investments.

The problem had become more serious today, also, because people had more leisure at their disposal. A hundred years ago or so when the working day was fourteen hours long a toiler had little disposition to do much after the day's work was over but got to his bed in order that he might be ready for the next day's duties. But with the advent of the shorter day's work men found themselves with a margin of leisure time and the question arose as to how it might be used. Relaxation from toil is necessary and leisure is all to the good, if it is used reasonably. But the tendency has been to use it unwisely. Some one has said that the test of an educated man can be best applied, not to the hours in which he is controlled, but to those in which he is free. When we are under the direct labor or business interests, life is a simple matter. When we are away from them the problem of how to use our time to advantage presents itself. The problem of amusements has become acute to day because we have more money to spend than our forefathers had. Probably no one present in the congregation had more money than what their forefathers of a few generations back had. A great deal of this increase of wealth was being spent on amusements. Some people spent more on amusements, than they dreamed they could give in support of the church. If the church had a tenth of the amount of money spent on amusements all her financial difficulties would vanish. But the primary question had to do with the people who were spending their money on amusements. Are they spending it wisely?

The choral service included the anthem, "Awake, Put on Strength," with soprano solo by Miss Gladys Davey, and the solo, "God Be Merciful," by Mrs. Charles Wadsworth, both of which were excellently sung.

Several days ago this corporation looked at the business block on Wellington street occupied by Chagnon Pharmacy and took out an option on this building for $22,000, putting up a deposit of good faith of $5,000. It is understood, however, that today the deposit was forfeited as the owners of the proposed new store building their minds about this change. It is stated that they are now considering a site which is felt to be more suitable to their needs.

SPECIAL SERMON GIVEN IN ST. ANDREW'S YESTERDAY: HARVEST SERVICES HELD

Rev. Mr. Cordner Had Very Helpful Message to Deliver at Morning Service—Spoke on Different Ways of Serving Christ—Special Music Marked Impressive Harvest Service in the Evening.

In view of the communion to be observed on Sabbath the 21st inst., the minister, Rev. Joseph Cordner, preached yesterday morning in St. Andrew's Church, on the subject, "Too-Ready and 'Too-Slow'" (Text Luke IX. 57-60).

To begin with the preacher pointed out that the prevailing picture of Jesus in the Gospels was not that of His austerity, but rather His gentleness, His willingness to save, His eagerness to accept recruits. As broad as His service was that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." At the same time in striking contrast to that picture of the genial Saviour we have at times another side of character coming out to would-be disciples a kind of harshness which surprises us. Conditions are laid down which are so exacting as to be almost tantamount to refusal.

The most striking of these was found in the grouping together of these three volunteers who are met by such a chilling response to their offer of service, the first by so glooming a picture of the Christian life that a right well turn away in bitter despondency, the second by the imposition of conditions so arduous that he might well shrink from them as tasks too light, and the third by a rebuke that sent him to his home with a discredited character.

The preacher dealt with two of these three cases in his sermon, taking Mr. "Too-Ready" first. He painted a man who seemed willing to follow Jesus everywhere over the world or out of it. The man was evidently in a mood of great excitement. He had witnessed some of our Lord's most mighty miracles and so said to Him, "Master, I am thine till death—I will follow thee anywhere." It was a large offer. But the Master did not accept it with enthusiasm. He might have expected. He did not accept the offer at all. Christ, who always sees deeper than we do, saw that this man was lacking in sincerity. Behind his great profession there was no conviction of conscience and no counting of the cost.

The preacher said that Jesus would warn us of the danger of a religion which is based on mere emotional excitement. We were told to "love the Lord God with all our mind" as well as with all our heart. He realized of course, that that man's religion was a poor one if it never moved him to deep emotion. The second man in the story was in direct antithesis to the former. He was too-slow, if the other was too-ready. When Christ's command "Follow Me" was addressed to him he replied "Suffer me first to bury my father." Our Lord's answer, which at first seems repellent, was, "Let the dead bury their dead, go thou and preach the Kingdom of God." The words point to the man's spiritual condition.

There were times in the soul's experience, the preacher said, when God called and said "Follow Me," and at such times there was the temptation to do what was morally innocent.

We were, therefore, to combine the high excellences of both of these men—"Too-ready," and "Too-slow" in a higher unity—viz. a spiritual unity. Let us be sure what it means to say, "Lord, I will follow Thee." But then having counted the cost, having come to the moment of decision nothing should be allowed to stand between us and Christ. We were to realize that "with Christ in the balance all the world is but a feather weight."

There was a harvest service in the evening and the minister preached on "The King's Warnings"—Amos VII. 1.

The special music for the day included, anthems by the Church choir, with Mr. Gault L. Parker as organist. Solos by Miss Della Wilkie, St. Andrew's Church, and Mrs. Wales Baldwin, Chicopee, Mass., U.S.A.

It was intimated that the anniversary service would be held next Sabbath with the Rev. W. D. Reid, D.D., as special preacher.

who was alone in the office at the time.

The police are working on the case and every effort is being made to locate the two men, but as yet they have evaded capture. It is the general opinion that those responsible for the hold-up were familiar with the workings of the office and that they selected a very suitable time.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE HELD AT ST. GEORGE'S

Rev. Dr. Westgate, of Winnipeg, Was Special Preacher in Lennoxville Church Last Evening—Two Suspicious Men Seen Loitering About Prospect Street in Lennoxville Saturday Night.

St. George's Church, Lennoxville, held its annual harvest home service last evening, when a large congregation was present, and the special preacher was Rev. Dr. Westgate, of Winnipeg, field secretary of mission in Western Canada. With the words of Jesus, "I am the bread of life" as the basis for his sermon, Dr. Westgate drew from the thought of the material abundance of the Canadian harvest the lesson of the spiritual food offered by the Saviour of the world with a description of his experience in passing through two famines during his work as a missionary in China. Dr. Westgate urged his hearers to make the occasion a real thanksgiving, not merely a matter of course, with offerings which were only "the parings of superfluity and the leavings of abundance."

The speaker gave a graphic description of the work of the Missionary Society in its efforts to carry the bread of life to the hungry. Work among the Indians in schools scattered all through western Canada was described, where hundreds of Indian children were being educated, under the Indian Commission at Winnipeg. "We owe it to them," said Dr. Westgate, and described the loyalty of the Indians during the world war, when hundreds fought side by side with other subjects of Great Britain. The work among the Eskimo was outlined, and the men who go among them, telling the Gospel story were characterized as "heroes," who bore uncomplainingly the hardships of that north land. The support of the whole church was imperative, if the work was to be carried on. The Oriental work was described, where fifty thousand were the objects of missionary care, many of whom would go back to Japan and China to carry the bread of life to their countrymen. Dr. Westgate did not share the common feeling against the Orientals in British Columbia, many of whom he said were brought to Canada to work on the C.P.R. and had paid a head tax of five hundred dollars, entitling them to citizenship. "It would not be fair to send them back," Dr. Westgate thought and added that they formed an opportunity for the church, which must not be lost, lest they should come to doubt the reality of the Christian religion. Seven million in Japan, fifteen millions in China and one million in India were being cared for by the missionary work of the Canadian Church as well as many in the Holy Land.

Dr. Westgate urged his hearers to take their religion seriously and to be more than merely nominal Christians. An earnest, soul-searching inquiry as to what the great, supreme Maker when the nation meets its Maker, would mean to each ended with the words "May God grant that we may have, not merely units, but thousands and millions of garnered sheaves to present as the fruits of our toil on that last great day."

Ven. Archdeacon R. W. E. Wright, rector of St. George's, presided over the service. Harvest hymns being sung. The choir rendered the anthem "O Lord, How Manifold Are Thy Works." The church was tastefully trimmed with autumn leaves and the fruits of field and garden, symbols of an abundant harvest.

Curiosity if Nothing Worse. Prospect Street was the scene of strange happenings on Saturday evening about eight o'clock, when it was visited by a couple of men possessed of apparently very great curiosity, if not of actual criminal intent. A car passed down the street, one of its occupants getting out at the upper end of the street, and a few moments later was seen flashing a flash light over the front of a house and afterwards climbing the steps and examining the door. Farther down the street another man went through the same procedure with several houses, until being noticed by the mayor and police were notified and a search was carried on but without success, as both had vanished. It was thought however, that the men did not save the vicinity until after midnight, strangers having been noticed until late in the night.

Several people were on the street at the time, and cars passing up and down so that evidently the unwelcome visitors trusted to the boldness of their method to pass unnoticed.

ASK CITIZENS TO SAFEGUARD AGAINST FIRES

Today Marks Opening of Fire Prevention Week, and All Citizens Are Asked to Co-operate in Fighting Nation's Greatest Enemy.

Today marks the beginning in Sherbrooke of "Fire Prevention Week," when, in the general interest of the community the appeal is made to all citizens alike to band together to fight one of the nation's greatest enemies, which each year takes a heavy toll in lives and property.

The request for citizens to observe "Fire Prevention Week" is made without restriction to every man, woman and child in Sherbrooke, as negligence on the part of one individual may result in the misfortune of hundreds of citizens.

Citizens, it is true, should every day and week of the year be careful to do all possible to prevent fires, and the object of "Fire Prevention Week" is not simply to ask precaution on one special week. Too much care cannot be taken in connection with fire prevention.

Almost daily the newspapers of Canada tell of serious fires which have taken heavy tolls in different parts of the country. Sometimes it is only a small house or small building which has fallen prey to flames, other times it is a large business block, perhaps a hospital with its helpless patients or a large orphanage with hundreds of little children. Very often the heroic efforts of fire fighters or of citizens are of no avail in getting inmates of burning buildings to safety, with the result that many people are held helpless in a building which is shrouded in flames and they must await the terrible death which is everywhere creeping about them.

Sherbrooke has indeed been very fortunate in regard to fires, and perhaps this particular district does not have the same heavy losses which are felt in other localities, but this does not mean that every precaution should not be taken.

Take Every Precaution.

When there is a fire in Sherbrooke the citizens place much confidence in its efficient fire department, which has on many past occasions displayed wonderful organization and ability in fighting flames but there are cases when even a very capable fire department are helpless. It is therefore necessary that Sherbrooke, like every other city in SAFETY FIRST!

Haste, recklessness, thoughtlessness and carelessness cause most accidents.
Pedestrians, Cross Streets at Corners Only.
PROVINCE OF QUEBEC
SAFETY LEAGUE.

Canada, take all possible precaution, and the very best measure to prevent fires is care on the part of everyone.

"Fire Prevention Week" coming as it does at the dawning of the winter season, is an ideal time to give attention to certain duties. In a short time furnaces will be going full blast for the winter months. Consequently it is necessary for citizens to make sure that their cellars are clean and free from anything which may cause fires. The fall is also the time to give attention to the cleaning of furnaces, and stove pipes. During such a week it is also a good time to have an electrician examine house and store wiring to make sure that there is no defective wiring or connections of any kind.

"Fire Prevention Week" is also an ideal time for special attention in large industrial concerns of the city. A general clean-up on such places cannot do any harm, as there are bound to be oily rags and other refuse about such places and these in themselves are very dangerous.

Rules to Observe.
The following "don'ts" are given out for the observance of "Fire Prevention Week" and are strongly recommended for continual use throughout the year:

Don't put ash in other than metal receptacles, and don't dump them where they will come in contact with combustible materials.
Don't hang electric light cords on nails.

Don't use wooden lockers.
Don't permit oily rags to lie around.

Don't let the fact that you are insured make you careless.

Don't use an open light when looking for escaping gas or in the presence of inflammable liquids.

Don't make bonfires of rubbish where the wind can scatter it. Burn it in a container.

Don't use sawdust in spittoons or to absorb oils.

Don't throw away lighted matches, cigars or cigarettes.

Don't use liquid polishes in the vicinity of open flame lights as many such compounds contain volatile inflammable oils.

Don't use kerosene, benzine or naphtha in lighting fires, or to quicken a slow fire.

Don't thaw frozen water pipes with an open flame.

The city authorities are doing their duty by urging all citizens to safeguard against fires, and it now rests with each individual citizen to do his or her part, all working together for the general good of the city and the safety and protection of all citizens and the whole city.

a kick to the dead line.

The teams were closely matched, but in the early stages Stanstead took longer to settle down, with the result that Bishop's end runs and bucks were ground gainers from the start. While Stanstead's line was noticeably heavier, they failed to take advantage of their weight, and left frequent openings through one of which Baldwin went over for Bishop's first touch. Stanstead then resorted to a kicking game which nettled them a rouse before half time.

In the second half Bishop's line worked even better together, Taylor and Duggan both going over for touches, which were unconverted. For the visitors Hartley displayed fine kicking and great speed, making a run of a hundred yards for a touch, the outstanding individual play of the game. Hoy's kick to the deadline gave Stanstead their final point. For so early in the season both teams played good football, though Bishop's appeared to be in better condition. The game was handled by Mr. Deane, of Bishop's College as referee, and Mr. Kimpton, of Stanstead, as judge of play.

The teams lined up as follows:

Van Vliet half Baldwin

LACHINE BOYS ARE BEATEN BY SHERBROOKERS

Local Rugby Squad Won 6 to 0 Victory at Montreal on Saturday Afternoon—Now Tied for First Place With Canadian National—Touchdown and Rouge Brought Points.

LACHINE, QUE., Oct. 8.—Considered one of the weaker links in the Intermediate Quebec Rugby Football Union, the Sherbrooke Athletics furnished a big surprise on their debut here on Saturday afternoon when they blanked the Lachine twelve underneath a six to nothing score to tie for the leadership of the league with Canadian National.

Sherbrooke's chance of victory was in doubt till the very end. The first half was scoreless. In the third quarter Sherbrooke kicked for a rouge and, in the final session, five more points were notched up on a touchdown.

It was a hard plugging, strenuously fought game. Both teams in turn flung attack after attack against an opposition that would not budge. As a result play hovered about mid-field for the greater part of the time. Not until the third quarter was a score registered. Sherbrooke, for the time commanding the play, forced their way into position and kicked for a rouge.

The margin was slim and Lachine fought back. A smashing offensive finally told on Sherbrooke. They were shoved back and back. Lachine reached out to clinch the victory, but clutched only empty air, for Sherbrooke, fighting stolidly on their one-yard line, held. Then, a fumble by Lachine, and the danger was averted for the one; the opportunity lost for the other.

A blocked kick in the closing moments of the game paved the way for the Sherbrooke touchdown by S. Echenberg that made the win decisive. Sherbrooke's further performances in the league will be viewed with increasing interest, as they may develop into a contending team.

Substitutes, Lachine — Crombie, Denis, Page, Jones, Douloua, E. Proulx, R. Proulx, Barnes, Livinston, Hibbard and Flemming.

Sherbrooke — Houlden, Mitton, Logie, McKenzie, Simms, Munday.

INTERPROVINCIAL GAMES SATURDAY

The opening games of the Interprovincial Rugby Union were run off on Saturday last to open the Big Four season for the year 1928.

At Toronto the Hamilton Tigers, favorites for the championship, made a good start when they defeated the Argonauts 6-0. The victors gained all their points on singles, two in the opening session, three in the third and the remaining one in the final stanza.

The M.A.A.A. twelve lost out to the Ottawa Senators at Ottawa by a count of 10-8, although they outplayed the home team and flashed the only real football thrills of the struggle.

TORONTO VARSITY DOWNED QUEEN'S.

KINGSTON, ONT., Oct. 8.—The

Richardson stadium, jinx, the bugbear that year after year since 1922 has successfully repelled every invasion of McGill and Varsity, is broken at last. An aggressive blue machine, possessed of a scoring punch superior to any that has represented University of Toronto since the graduation of Warren Snyder, defeated a fighting but badly weakened Queen's team in the opening game of the intercollegiate senior rugby season, 10-7 on Saturday.

Six thousand people, over one thousand of them Varsity supporters saw the tricolor fight a game but losing battle before the superior attack of the blue.

LOYOLA TROUNCED U. OF M.

MONTREAL, Oct. 8.—Loyola won an overwhelming victory over the opposing University of Montreal rugby squad at the Loyola Stadium on Saturday afternoon when the French students were downed 68 to 0 in a regular fixture of the Intermediate Intercollegiate Football League.

Quinn Shaughnessy set up a new mark in Canadian rugby by scoring seven touches and a convert, making a total of thirty-one points.

DIEGEL CAPTURED TITLE.
BALTIMORE, October 8. — After many attempts and heartbreaking disappointments, Leo Diegel, of Fenimore Country Club, White Plains, N.Y., won a United States golf title Saturday when on the Five Farms links of the Baltimore Country Club he defeated Al Espinosa, of the Illinois Country Club, Chicago, in the thirty-six hole final of the Professional Golfers' Association championship by 6 up and 5 to play.

B. RHEAUME IS SENTENCED

To that point, therefore, the Crown's case was complete.

Thereafter, however, there was divergence in the defence, and the plea of self-defence had been entered, coupled with the declaration that the deed was not done on purpose.

If, therefore, the jury, accepted the three confessions of the accused, the Crown's case was made and faced with the statement of the accused in his own behalf, a contradiction of them.

This was the evidence of only one witness.
In this the jury must remember that the body had been hidden and money and a watch stolen from it. The accused had also admitted that he did not have to kill the victim.

The accident plea was offered to offset this.
The matter would be a simple one were it not for the previous statements made by the accused himself.

It became therefore a question of Rheaume's credibility.
All Records Will Be Submitted To Minister of Justice.

Owing to the fact that the jury made a recommendation for mercy it is necessary to submit all records of the case to the Minister of Justice, and he will then decide whether or not the sentence of death will be changed to that of life imprisonment.

The records will be submitted to the Department of Justice during the next two weeks, although it will be three weeks at least before a decision has been given by the Minister of Justice.

Accused Will Be Held At Montreal.
Immediately following the rendering of the sentence on Saturday, arrangements were begun for the removal of the prisoner to Montreal, where he will be under constant guard in the death cell until the date of his execution.

Story Of The Murder.
It is exactly six months ago today since the murdered man's badly decomposed body was found by school children near St. Armand in Missisquoi County, but the murder took place several months prior to that, as it is presumed that the body had in the refuse dump since the winter months.

The first to be notified of the finding of the body was the parish priest at St. Armand, who, in turn, advised the Provincial Police. Detective Dalpe, a native of St. Armand, who happened to be in the neighborhood in connection with the burial of his father, was assigned to the case. After inquiries the remains were identified as those of Harvey Dupont, of St. Armand parish, but living out of the village, who had been missing since the previous November.

Had Visited Bedford.
After inquiries it was found that the victim and Rheaume had visited Bedford in the latter's automobile on November 4th, 1927. During the investigation it was also found that some forty dollars in cash and a gold watch, later recovered from Dupont, had been taken from Dupont. The motive for the crime is held to be revenge, arising out of a quarrel of three or four years' standing connected with the theft of a bicycle.

When found the body was very badly decomposed and had been partly devoured by dogs and cats. The clothing, however, was in good condition, and relatives were able to make a complete identification.

Autopsy Was Performed.
An autopsy was performed on the body by Dr. Rosario Fontaine, of Montreal, provincial medico-legal expert, and showed that the battering of the head had been the cause of death, the skull showing quite clearly the imprints of a heavy instrument.

During the investigation which was made by the police, heavy wrench and other indications were found on the St. Armand-Bedford road, some two and a half miles away, and it is here that the murder was committed, it is presumed.

Absence From Home Excited Little Comment.
The fact that the murdered man had been missing since November last excited little worry to his family, as rumors had been circulated that he had intended going to Florida to work during the winter months, and it was thought that he had carried out his intentions.

Perkins Case Started This Morning.
This morning the Court began hearing in the second case on its criminal roll, that of the King versus Carl Perkins, son of a highly-respected family of Foster, who is charged with having held up the Foster branch of the Bank of Montreal on May 26th, last.

RUMOR AGAIN HEARD RE SALE

organized in 1919 to manufacture tire fabrics, has been through some hard times, which set in soon after the war. A large expansion was planned by the company, but when the new plant was completed, conditions surrounding the industry at that time did not even warrant the installation of the new machinery.

Consequently this dead weight had to be carried in addition to the other difficulties which began to beset the company.
Heavy depreciation charges contributed largely to the annual book deficits, and in May, 1928, a proposition was put to the shareholders whereby the capital structure would be changed.

It is understood that a meeting of Canadian Connecticut shareholders will be held shortly to consider the offer. If Dominion Textiles' price is accepted, it will give that company a mill at Sherbrooke, regarded as a sound and efficient production unit, and equipped with 38,000 spindles, having a weekly output of 120,000 pounds of cotton fabric.

MANY CONVICTS PERISHED IN FIRE TODAY

JUNCTION CITY, Ohio, Oct. 8. — Seventeen convicts employed at the state-owned brick plant here are believed to have perished when fire swept the dormitory, in which a large number of prisoners were sleeping, early today.

At least two of the missing prisoners were burned to death, according to Herman Blosser, assistant superintendent of the institution. He gave the names of Whiting, superintendent of the commissary, and a prisoner by the name of Hill, who refused to leave his bunk.

Eight prisoners who were seriously burned in the attempt to escape from the burning structure were sent to the penitentiary hospital at Columbus.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

Prices Paid for Cattle and Other Live Stock at the Montreal Stockyards.

MONTREAL, Oct. 8.—Cattle receipts 2,269. Cattle sales were slow and, although at time of writing only canners and bulls had been weighed, prices on all grades looked lower and there was a possibility of some butcher cattle remaining unsold. The bulk of the canners and cutters were weighed up to a Toronto buyer for from $3.75 to $4.50. Bulls were 25 to 50 cents lower, selling mostly from $5.50 to $5.75.

Calves receipts 2,748. Veal calves were in good demand at prices ranging from $12.50 to $14.50 for the best lots. Grass calves were estimated to be from 50 cents to $1 lower, the bulk of sales being around $6, with a range of from $5.50 to $7.

Quotations: Good veal $13 to $14, medium $11 to $12.50, common $8 to $10.50, grass $5.50 to $7.

Sheep receipts 6,697. Packers were offering $11 for good lambs and sellers holding for more money. Common to medium lambs were being sold from $5 to $10.50. Sheep were from $3 to $6.

Hog receipts 3,486. On one market where only 400 hogs were offered, sales were made to butchers for $11.50, with a top of $12, and on the other market, where 3,000 hogs were offered, packers bid $11, and odd sales to butchers were made up to $11.25. Sows were from $10.50 to $11.

As they were awakened to find the building in flames.

Two of the three exits were opened by the guards and there was a wild rush to escape, many being injured in the scramble. The other door was battered down by prisoners and many of them escaped through the exit opened by them.

The fire, according to assistant superintendent Blosser, was caused by defective wiring. It swept through the wooden structure within a few minutes. Opening of the exits for escape created a draft which sent the flames roaring through the building, consuming everything before it.

Believe Three Convicts Escaped
Officials believe that three of the convicts escaped during the confusion.

Many of the prisoners volunteered to aid the guards in attempting to extinguish the fire and also to maintain order, establishing themselves as a guard over others.

YANKS MADE IT THREE STRAIGHT OVER CARDS; HOYT AND SHERDEL TO GET CALL FOR TODAY'S GAME

New York Americans Need But One Victory to Make Them Baseball Immortals—Lou Gehrig Got Two Homers—Final Score Yesterday Was Seven to Three—Tom Zachary, in Face of Wobbly Support, Baffled His Opposition in All But Two Innings, and in One of These Two Runs Were Scored Through No Fault of His.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 8.—Riding high on the crest of a winning wave brought over from the last world series, the New York Yankees came to their fourth game of the 1928 series today needing but one victory to make them baseball immortals.

If the New Yorkers can stop the St. Louis Cards once more as they have halted them three times since last Thursday, they will carve a new record in the archives of the game. The Yanks won from the Pittsburgh Pirates in four straight games last year, but this feat had Boston Braves as far back as 1914. No team has won two world series without wasting a motion.

The American Leaguers by making it three straight over the National League champions have already made one record in this series by winning successive world's series contests.

Forced Back to Last Line Defence The Cardinals have been forced back to their last line of defence and cannot retreat farther. They realize that they are down in this series and if they stumble again they will be out.

Hundred of cardboard Cardinals in store windows declaring the pride of St. Louis in the National League champions seem to have wilted from day to day as the feathers of the Red Birds have dropped on the field before the onslaught of the supposedly all but invincible Yanks—a series of attacks as merciless as they have been surprising.

Starting the series odds-on favorites, the Cards in four days have even the situation change until there are no odds on the outcome of the series. They are players who will accept wagers on the home winning a game, but none has been known to take a chance on a series victory.

The Cards are not yet removed from the picture, for they have a chance to win the series by taking four straight games, a good trick if they can do it. All the more honor would follow such a baseball miracle, for it never has been done.

Not in the twenty-three years of inter-league competition under the rules in existence today has a team won four world's series successive games after losing three.

Make Same Mistake That Alexander Did The Yanks were confident that they could not be stopped after they won the third game when they got by Jesse J. Haines, who won two of the games the Cards captured in the 1926 world's series. The big Ohio farmer saw his hopes crumble about him in two great rushing innings of the third game. He pitched good ball for six innings, but left the mound with six runs counted against him on six hits, when under a kinder fate he might have gone on with only one charged to him.

The big fellow made the same mistake Alexander did in New York. He gave Lou Gehrig a ball he could hit. There was a difference of an inning, but the result was the same. Alexander threw one down the Buster's alley in the first inning on Friday and Haines in the second yesterday. In both cases the ball sailed out of the park. Haines' broad shoulders bore the brunt of that devastating wallop, but his mates failed him woefully while the other five runs were being scored.

Ruth singled with one out in the fourth and Gehrig crashed another of Haines' pitches hard but not over the bleachers. This ball went on a line to centre and Douthit, forgetting that destruction has been shown to be the better part of valor, charged in on it and tried to pick it off his shot tops. The speed of the flying ball was not arrested an iota by the outfielder's effort, and when it rolled to the centre field fence Gehrig followed. Ruth fielded to put the world champions ahead.

Broke Down in Sixth After the home team tied the score, the bottom fell out of the baseball world for Haines in the sixth. Koenig reached lazily over the outside corner of the plate for a slow curve and drove it whistling to left for a single. Frisch made a sparkling play on Ruth's hard smash to force Koenig at second. Jesse was too careful in keeping the ball out of Gehrig's reach and passed the big first sacker. Meusel rapped sharply to high, but a quick throw to second forced Gehrig. Frisch, trying for a double play, made a poor throw to first and Bottomley had to run to one side for the throw. The daring Ruth increased his stride a notch and threw his massive body toward the plate. Bottomley made a perfect throw to Wilson and Umpire McGowan raised his hand over his head to indicate the demise of the Bambino, only to spread to palms down with a reprieve when he found the ball had escaped Wilson's grasp after he had tagged the big fellow.

To make matters worse the catcher grabbed the ball and threw it into centre field in a vain effort to head off Meusel, who by this time was tearing around the bases with wild abandon. Bob pulled up at third and was in a position to further humiliate Haines and Wilson at the business end of a double steal after Lazzeri walked. Robertson bobbed up with a single to score Lazzeri and Haines, as through, so was the ball game. Sylvester Johnson came in and allowed a run when Hays dropped a fly ball and them finished by dispatching six Yanks in order, but the ball game was over when Ruth and Wilson met in the 1st around home plate.

Miller Huggins' one-man pitching staff grew to two when Piggas followed Hoyt's spectacular opening with a performance hardly less brilliant. Yesterday Tom Zachary, a North Carolina tar heel with control and unceasing ability to keep the ball out of the groove, ran the tale of able pitchers to three. In the face of wobbly support the former Washington and St. Louis pitcher baffled his opposition in all but two innings, and in one of these two runs were scored through no fault of his.

Hoyt Will Pitch Again Today In the game that may make baseball history today Manager Huggins will give Hoyt a chance to win his sixth world series game and tie the record established by Chief Bender over a long stretch of classic pitching from 1905 to 1913. Hoyt has won five and lost three games in the blue ribbon event.

Against the Yankees and Manager McKechnie will ask Bill Sherdel to keep the series going. Sherdel, an admitted great pitcher, has had no luck in world series, losing his three starts, all by close scores, when he pitched good ball but not quite good enough. The St. Louis left-hander may be the best pitcher in the world to "shoot the works" in a final desperate effort. Should Sherdel falter, Grove Alexander or Clarence Mitchell or both would be used, with them and Haines available if the series would be prolonged to today's game, but the last word, Huggins has Piggas ready for tomorrow.

The probable batting order today is: New York—Pascual, cf; Koenig, ss; Ruth, lf; Gehrig, 1b; Meusel, rf; Lazzeri, 2b; Doughty, 3b; Bengough, c; Hoyt, p. St. Louis—Douthit, cf; High, 3b; Frisch, 2b; Bottomley, 1b; Hays, lf; Harper, rf; Wilson, c; Maranville, ss; Sherdel, p.

Umpires: Piffman, (N.) at plate; Owens, (A.) at first; Rigler, (N.) at second; McGowan, (A.) at third.

BISHOP'S WON IN ENCOUNTER WITH M'GILL

Purple and White Squad Handed Out 14 to 1 Defeat to McGill Intermediates in Fixture of Intermediate Intercollegiate League on Bishop's Grounds Saturday — Record Attendance.

Over five hundred fans witnessed the rugby squad of Bishop's University hand out a fourteen to one trouncing to the visiting McGill intermediate in the opening fixture of the Intermediate Intercollegiate Football League staged on the College grounds on Saturday afternoon last. The purple and white piskin chieftains showed their superiority in every department of the game, for not only did they fumble less, but were in much better condition, only one man being replaced during the entire play, while the visitors changed players continually. The locals notched up thirteen of their points in the first quarter by means of being two rough in a safety touch, a drop kick and a touchdown, which was converted, while the final point was made in the last quarter by means of a rouge. McGill counted their lone point on a rouge in the dying minutes of the second quarter.

The purple and white line up this year promise to be the best in the history of Bishop's rugby. The half line is made up of three new men, former school stars, Glass, Lower Canada College; Fuller, Bishop's College School, and Skelton, former captain of Ottawa Collegiate Institute. The snap, Brown, who hails from Danville, is a newcomer in rugby circles, having donned the corked shirt for the first time this year. His playing, however, showed that he has marked ability in rugby, and he will no doubt prove a valuable man to the purple and white twelve. Blinco, the captain of the team and star quarter, was the outstanding man on the field, his field running and deadly tackling being a heavy factor in the final result. Johnston put up his usual good game on fly wing and, with Parkinson, Denison, Loomis, McMoran, Bouchard and Buchanan, did his part towards gaining yards and holding back the visitors.

The McGill squad, once they are in condition, ought to prove a strong foe for Bishop's boys. Klein, the kicking half, former Bishop's star, was undoubtedly the best all round man on the red and white roster, his broken field running and kicking being a feature of the game, but lack of support and a thorough knowledge of his plays by the majority of Bishop's men did not allow him to play as effectively as he otherwise would have done. Sperber, the snap, is also a former Bishop's man, and put up a good game in his position.

The game opened at 3:15 o'clock with Fuller kicking off to McGill. The visitors were, however, unable to break through the strong defence of the purple and white squad and were forced to kick on third down. An end run combination play by Blinco, Fuller and Johnston brought the local boys within striking distance of the McGill line. Fuller kicked for points, Klein being downed behind his own line for a rough two minutes after the opening whistle. Bishop's again pressed hard, good work was the part of Blinco and McMoran giving the purple and white yards time after time. Fuller again drove the ball down the field. Klein caught the piskin outside his own line but was forced across for a safety touch, which gave the purple and white an additional point after five minutes of play. Not three minutes later Fuller sent a perfect drop kick over the bar for an additional three points. Klein did some pretty broken field running, but was tagged before he could get within striking distance of the purple and white line. Score, Bishop's 6, McGill 0.

The second quarter opened with Bishop's on McGill's thirty-yard line. Johnston romped away around the end for a twenty yard gain and a buck by Blinco brought the locals within ten yards of the red and white line. Fuller again kicked for points and Klein was downed behind his own line for a rouge 1.25 minutes after the resumption of play. Bishop's continued their advance and were in McGill territory during the greater part of the quarter. McGill, however, pulled themselves together for a time and held back the Bishop's squad for two downs with one yard to go. The purple and white quarter, however, managed to knife through the centre to cross the line for a touch, which Fuller converted. Klein did some wonderful kicking during the remainder of the quarter. Skelton being brought to the ground for a rouge near the end of the quarter for what proved to be McGill's only point Bishop's 13, McGill 1.

The third quarter was scoreless, both teams letting up a bit after the grind of the first half. McGill boys, however, were at their best, and while they were unable to notch up any points, they gave a good account of themselves. Man after man was changed on the red and white line-up in an effort to cut down the lead of the Bishop's boys, and although Klein made some beautiful runs and the line held better, they were unable to break through the strong defense put up by the locals and the quarter ended with the score unchanged. Bishop's 13, McGill 1.

In the final quarter the purple and white twelve counted up their final point, on a kick to the dead line. Bishop's had advanced to the McGill fifteen yard line, Fuller, tried a drop kick, which narrowly missing the uprights, bounced across the dead line to make the final reading Bishop's 14, McGill 1.

How do you create an intentional hook? By JOE TURNESA

Sacramento Open Champion, 1927; Mid-South Open Champion, 1928.

To hook a ball stand with the left foot forward to insure flatter swing, your weight on the right foot, which keeps you behind the ball. It is most important to watch the hands in this stroke. I advise the overlapping grip, as it is better for keeping the hands close together than any other. Start the back swing with the left hand, using it to control the club head, and to place it in any position desired. Keep swinging your club close to your body until you reach the top of the back swing; once at the top the left wrist should be firm and under the club shaft so that the left hand points to the direction of the ball in front of you.

Start the downswing with closed blade forming the top, and continue to keep the blade closed with both hands swinging down close to body, and just before the impact, or at the quarter stroke, let the right hand strike outward and finally roll over the left hand. Follow through with both hands and arms, hitting the ball with a shut face.
