Castro urges vigilance

Invasion scare hits Cuba

HAVANA (Reuters)—A new wave of scare reports about an imminent invasion is sweeping this Cuban capital. Government leaders, from Premier Fidel Castro down, have been making regular television appearances to urge renewed vigilance against landings by "Yankee mercenaries." The Cuban people have been told that the invasion could come from Florida, Guatemala or Nicaragua. All the organs of Cuban propaganda have launched a fresh offensive against the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency as the organizer of the alleged new bid to overthrow Castro. Havana itself has been buzzing for weeks with rumors forecasting the date for a major landing—a date which, cynical Cubans note, is put back as successive forecasts "D-days" come and go without incident. The sceptical also recall that the invasion finally did come in April.

Wants American initiative

Red China would talk to U.S. at level of foreign ministers

By CLARE McDERMOTT
PEKING (Reuters)—Foreign Minister Marshal Chen Yi said here in an interview that Communist China is willing to have talks with the United States at the foreign ministers level as a step toward easing tension between the two countries, but the initiative must come from the Americans. Chen was asked if he saw any advantage at present or in the near future of a summit meeting between the leaders of the two countries. His statements were made during an informal three-hour discussion with Walter A. Cole, general manager of Reuters news agency, who visited China during a round-the-world trip. The foreign minister said:

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Jerome Hirschfield, 71, retired retail advertising manager of the Milwaukee Sentinel, died Tuesday of a heart attack. Hirschfield retired last Dec. 30 after 37 years with the Sentinel. Earlier he had been with the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Chicago Tribune. He was born in New York City.

Talks bring no progress

Poles apart on successor for Hammarskjold

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Possibly a "superman" isn't needed, but more than three weeks after Dag Hammarskjold's death the great powers appear as far apart as ever on a successor for the late United Nations secretary-general. U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin held yet another in a series of talks Tuesday night without success. A U.S. spokesman said: "We made no progress. We are disappointed."

Gromyko optimistic for peaceful solution

Berlin accord 'grows'

Warns Russians of war

BRIGHTON (Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Lord Home said today the West has convinced Andrei Gromyko that interference with access to West Berlin would mean fighting that could lead to a nuclear war. Home spoke to the annual Conservative party conference after meeting the Soviet foreign minister with Prime Minister Macmillan. Gromyko stopped over in London for 24 hours on his way back to Moscow from Washington talks with President Kennedy and State Secretary Dean Rusk. If there is interference with Western access to Berlin, Home said, a fight would start and no one could say that it would not end in the ultimate disaster of nuclear war. "I think that we succeeded in convincing Mr. Gromyko that situation must not be allowed to arise," Home said one thing had to be done before the West could talk about the substance of a negotiated settlement. "It was to convince Mr. Gromyko that if the Russian government persisted in handing over the questions of access to the city of West Berlin and the status of the city to the East German government, they would be courting a head-on collision." The West also had to persuade Gromyko that a negotiated settlement must take account of the position, with some give as well as take on the Russian side, he said. Home deprecated public statements about the Berlin crisis that could jeopardize the West's negotiations with the Communists. He said he hoped everyone would help to see negotiations are carried on in private. Home spoke to the conference on an emergency resolution — to defend an outpost of freedom, it will not be long before the flanks of the main defences are turned and liberty is menaced everywhere. The German people are as entitled to self-determination as much as any other nation. No one suggests German reunification could be achieved by force. "I do not know when peaceful political means will bring it about. Equally we cannot deny them that hope."

West Berlin forces bolstered

Big Three expected to ignore Red protest against policemen

BERLIN — The United States, Britain and France are expected to ignore a sharp Communist warning against plans to send West German traffic policemen into West Berlin to help the overworked local police. East Germany's Communist regime said Tuesday night that any attempt to bring West German police into West Berlin by land or air would be considered aggression and met accordingly. The allies, who do not recognize the East German regime, have never acknowledged such communications in the past. A West Berlin city government spokesman said no West German police have arrived in Berlin yet "but we don't think that bringing 40 to 50 traffic policemen to West Berlin will increase tension."

Plane crash kills eight

VALLETTA, Malta (Reuters)—Six Maltese and two British servicemen were killed Tuesday and 19 others were injured when a RAF Hastings transport plane crashed and burst into flames on takeoff from El Adem, Libya, it was disclosed here today. The plane was bringing the men back from one month's training in Libya when it crashed.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is 77 years old today, but she won't celebrate it. Miss Maureen Corrigan, said Mrs. Roosevelt has decided to mark her birthday only at five-year intervals. "She won't give any special attention to her birthday now until she is 80," Miss Corrigan said.

Finnish president in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—President Urho Kekkonen of Finland, warmly greeted at Uplands Airport Tuesday afternoon by Governor-General Vanier and Prime Minister Diefenbaker, today embarked on the first full day of his six-day state visit to Canada.

A leisurely schedule—beginning with lunch as guests of Gen. and Mme. Vanier—was laid out for the visiting dignitary and his petite wife. It included a late-afternoon reception to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Kekkonen for members of the Finnish community here, and a state reception and dinner for the visiting couple at Government House tonight.

Gen. Vanier said Canadians have "such a friendly feeling" for Finland. "Our two countries have much in common," said the governor-general, speaking in both English and French. "Their scenery was moulded by similar ice ages. Both are now covered by extensive forests, both are influenced by the same Nordic sun. Curiously enough, each country enjoys the use of two official languages."

TO GIVE PRICE LIST Today, he was scheduled to deliver a list of suggested prices of the Remington Typewriter Company—he submitted such lists Tuesday—and a contract between himself and the company authorizing him to act as agent for the firm in Quebec City. It was expected the contract would be shown privately to the commission and not made public.

The 35-year-old son of Gerald Martineau said his firm is similar to his father's, and both operate from the same building. He said his firm gave discounts ranging from five to 17 per cent on most goods sold to the government. This included typewriters, adding machines and office supplies.

The commission, investigating purchasing practices between July 1, 1955, and July 1, 1960, has been told about kickbacks paid to individuals on sales to the government.

They were paid by companies as sales commissions, witnesses have testified. Some officials of companies who paid the kickbacks have testified they could not offer discounts, and that their prices could have been lower had there been no kickbacks to pay.

Dog, cat sitters wants $16,000 for 4-year stint

CHATHAM, N.J. (AP)—How much is it worth to baby-sit with five dogs and nine cats for more than 4½ years? Miss Gloria Blatt figures $16,808 is proper.

That's the amount she asked for in a suit filed Tuesday in superior court against the estate of the late Mrs. Gladys Jean Cassell, owner of the animals.

Miss Blatt said she kept the pets in her home from March 1956 to Nov. 15, 1960. She arrived at the claim, she said, by charging $18.75 a day on a basis of $1.50 a day a dog and $1.25 a day a cat.

Mrs. Cassell died last June 14. She willed half of her estate consisting of a house, to Mrs. Marjorie Herdman—providing that Mrs. Herdman would take care of the animals.

Miss Blatt, who had cared for the animals before Mrs. Cassell's death, was not named in the will.

Assistant trade commissioners on visit to local industries

Sherbrooke today played host to eight Canadian Assistant Trade Commissioners who are making a tour of Eastern Canada as part of their training program. Once the training tour is completed, the men will be posted to offices of the Canadian Trade Commission in various cities throughout the world. The purpose of the tour is to give the Assistant Trade Commissioners a first hand knowledge of the production potentialities of the country.

The visitors were guests of the directors of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce at a breakfast meeting at the New Sherbrooke Hotel, following which they paid a visit to the Canadian Ingersoll Rand Company plant, where they were received by the works manager, E. T. Harbert.

After inspecting the Ingersoll Rand facilities, the visitors split into two groups, one visiting the Austin Glove Manufacturing Co. Ltd., where they were shown manufacturing operations by the president, J. B. Bowman. The second made a similar visit to the George Morgan Glove, Ltd., the host being President George Morgan.

At noon, they were guests of the Canadian Ingersoll Rand Company at a luncheon at St. George's Club.

The tour of local industries continues this afternoon, the first plant to be visited being the American Biltrite Rubber Co. (Canada) Ltd., with C. Evans Joslin, the vice-president acting as host.

Later the Assistant Commissioners will be guests of C. E. Gobeille, manager of Domil Limited, and will tour the company's plants, operations of the spinning division on Pacific street being explained by D. J. Perreault, superintendent, and at the weaving department on

Accuse Dutch of abduction

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—The Soviet Embassy here today accused Dutch authorities of "abducting" 35-year-old Russian biochemist Alexei Golub, who sought asylum in The Netherlands Monday.

The embassy also alleged that the Dutch police had tried to "abduct" his wife Irena, who flew back to the Soviet Union without her husband.

The charges were made at a press conference by press attaché A. D. Popov in what he described as a statement on behalf of the embassy.

Noted Parisian pianist gives fine recital

Vlado Perlemuter, pianist and teacher at the Paris Conservatory gave a concert Tuesday evening at the Grand Theatre, before an audience of 1,200 music lovers.

The concert was a special one sponsored by the Jeunesses Musicales of Canada committee in Sherbrooke. Chairmen of the committee who arranged the concert were Pierre Bachand and Lewis Rosenbloom. Honorary patrons Senator and Mrs. C. B. Howard.

Mr. Perlemuter chose a program of works by Chopin, Franck, Faure and Ravel. He played two Etudes, two Preludes, and Ballade No. 4 by Chopin all of which were superbly rendered.

Following the intermission he gave a very fine performance of Grand Prelude Choral and Fugue by Cesar Franck, Nocturne No. 6 by Faure and Alborada del graciosa by Ravel.

The audience showed their appreciation by the tremendous applause which brought Vlado back to the stage to render two encores.

The commentary on the numbers was given by Norbert Dufourcq of the Paris Conservatory.

Report on airport terminal

A preliminary report on a proposed terminal building at the Sherbrooke municipal airport was submitted to the Sherbrooke City Council Tuesday night by Robert Boulanger, local engineer, following a visit to the Rimouski airport.

On Mr. Boulanger's recommendation, the Council decided that the original building should provide space for customs and immigration officials as well as for commercial airlines and private planes.

The initial building, for which plans will be prepared by Mr. Boulanger, is estimated to cost $23,000 or less, but arrangements will be made to permit its expansion if traffic warrants.

Bicycle strikes auto

SUTTON — (Special) — A seven year old Sutton boy was taken to the hospital early Sunday evening with a fractured skull after his bicycle hit a car on Mountain Street here.

Peter McGovern was taken to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital in Sherbrooke where he is reported doing well with only a slight skull fracture.

The boy apparently turned onto Mountain Street from a side street and hit a car driven by Orton Baker, 56, also of Sutton according to police.

The boy was thrown off the bike onto the road where he lay motionless until a doctor arrived on the scene.

Denies plant closing

MAGOG — (Special) — A statement from Allen Jones, treasurer of Industrial Specialty Manufacturing Company Limited, contradicted a rumor to the effect that operations of the firm would cease.

Mr. Jones said the idea probably developed from the fact that the firm is re-tooling for new lines. These modifications are in line with the general industrial trend to modify operations where possible in order to meet Common Market competition.

The plant was originally opened in 1916, as a furniture manufacturing concern. In 1918 it was purchased by the present principals, and converted to the specialty line of bobbins and spools for use in textile mills. These precision products found a ready market in many parts of the world.

This newest development, as described by Mr. Jones, will see the company taking on diversified wood work, but also continue with close tolerance wood products.

The Magog firm hires some 90 persons the year round. When they engaged in their own wood cutting operations, employment figures climbed to approximately 150, dropping to about 80 in slack seasons. The new program will see a steadier rate of employment, Mr. Jones continued.

To appeal Lomas St. judgment

The Sherbrooke City Council Tuesday night decided to appeal a St. Francis District Superior Court judgment ordering it to remove all traffic restrictions on Lomas street.

The judgment maintained a petition by the Sherbrooke Shopping Centre that barriers closing the Lomas street exit from the property be removed. The City contended that the exit violated the municipal zoning by-law which prohibited heavy traffic on Lomas street, which had been classified as a residential street.

Aldermen red-faced

Seven tenders for anti-freeze overlooked

Embarrassed Council seeks revocation of order given by error

An error by a municipal employee who placed seven tenders for 600 gallons of anti-freeze in the wrong box caused considerable embarrassment of the City Council at Tuesday night's session and compelled the Council to request the firm that received the order to surrender the contract.

Under the purchasing system operating at the City Hall, there are two boxes for tenders — one for tenders which are opened in public and the second for tenders opened only in the presence of the purchasing agent.

For some reason or other, seven of the tenders for anti-freeze were placed in the wrong box, with the result that only one tender was opened, that of E. T. Auto Supply Co. quoting $2.20 a gallon.

After the awarding of the contract had been announced, protests were received from other bidders that their offers quoting lower prices had been ignored. Investigation revealed the misplaced tenders, one of which submitted by the Canadian Oil Companies, Ltd., was E. T. Auto Supply bid.

After some discussion, the aldermen decided to ask the E.T. Auto Supply to surrender the contract.

A large part of the evening was devoted to approval of routine committee reports and the awarding of contracts for current purchases. Included were:

The purchase of 2,000 tons of bulk rock salt and 16 tons of packed rock salt from Sifto Salt Ltd. at $16 and $21.60 a ton respectively;

Payment of $3,975 to Donahue Electric for electrical repairs; $76,271.25 to Shawinigan Water and Power Co. Ltd. for power purchased during August; $536.20 to Sparkling Co. Ltd. and Breck's Sporting Goods Co., and $282.50 to Seal-Dri Sportswear for damages caused by sewage flooding; $28 to Mrs. Alice Gagne for damage to property during snow removal operations and $5,860.60 to Mrs. Irene Jalbert-Vallee for injuries and damage suffered in a propane gas explosion a few years ago.

The latter payment was made in virtue of a Superior Court judgment.

Drivers lose permits, pay fines

A fifty-year-old Asbestos man Gilles Lebleu was fined a total of $150 in District Court Tuesday after pleading guilty to a charge of driving his car while he was under the influence of alcohol. Judge Edouard Boisvert also suspended his driving permit for three months.

Lebleu, entered a guilty plea to two accusations, both arising from the same incident. He admitted driving his car while under the influence of alcohol on October 7, and also pleaded guilty to a charge of criminal negligence. He was fined $100 on the first count and $50 on the second.

Defence Counsel Gerard Boudreau told the Court that his client was a family man who had recently been sick.

"The overdose of pills reduced his resistance, following which the small amount of liquor he consumed had an unexpected effect," said Mr. Boudreau. He also explained that Lebleu needed his car for the work in which he is engaged, and asked the Court not to suspend his driving permit.

Judge Boisvert however did not hesitate to suspend the permit.

Alcide Dessaint, of Sherbrooke, also was ordered to pay a total of $150 in fines when he also pleaded guilty to a charge of driving his car while under the influence of alcohol and to a second charge of criminal negligence at the wheel of his car. Judge Boisvert did not suspend his driving permit however.

The charges arose out of a slight accident which occurred last Saturday in Lennoxville.

Defence Counsel A. Lemieux told the Court that Dessaint was the father of eight children and that his wife was expecting a ninth one. He assured the Court that his client needed his driving permit to earn his living, following which Judge Boisvert allowed the accused to keep his permit.

A Sawyerville man, Malcolm McConnell, pleaded guilty in District Court Tuesday morning to a single charge of impaired driving. Judge Boisvert ordered the accused to pay a $100 fine plus costs, and suspended his driving permit six months.

Crown Attorney Benoit Jean-Yves Levesque, 20, of Magog, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft committed last Saturday. The accused admitted taking a series of minor objects from the counters of the Woolworth store in Sherbrooke, the total lost estimated at approximately $10.

Judge Edouard Boisvert remanded passing of sentence to February 1. The nature of the sentence will depend on the accused's behaviour during the next few months.

Levesque admitted appearing in another Court a few months ago on a charge of theft involving an expensive watch. The accused told the Court that he was drunk on both occasions, and that he would never steal while sober.

Judge Boisvert suspended sentence following the explanations, but warned him to respect the law in the future.

A 20 year-old youth was allowed to go on a suspended sentence pleading guilty to a charge of theft estimated at approximately $70 in cash and property.

Jean-Claude Paradis, of Asbestos, admitted taking $20 in cash and a watch valued at $50 from Georges Lambert during the night of October 7 to 8.

Crown Attorney Benoit Turmel explained the circumstances surrounding the theft. He told Judge Boisvert that Paradis had been offered $20 by Lambert to commit gross indecencies with him. Paradis accepted, following which Lambert refused to pay him.

"Visibly miffed," said the Crown Attorney, "Paradis took the $20 and added a watch for his troubles."

Judge Edouard Boisvert imposed a suspended sentence, while advising the young accused to play a less dangerous game.

Two Asbestos youths pleaded guilty to a series of thefts involving approximately $200

He said the Sherbrooke Library established here in 1880 had a $200 deficit at the end of last year and the Library could not possibly continue operating in the red. One of the reasons funds were needed this year was because of substantial salary increases for the Sherbrooke Librarians.

Archie Mitchell, representing the Lennoxville Library, started in Lennoxville in 1890, outlined the needs of the library mentioning that membership to the Lennoxville Library was free of charge for all school children.

Forest Keene, speaking on behalf of the YMCA said the organization prided itself in being able to say that no boy, because of financial reasons, could not become a member of the YMCA. Funds are desperately needed to carry out the YMCA program during the year for over 500 members.

The Sherbrooke welfare agency is seriously thinking of hiring a social worker, and if funds permit in the near future, the agency hopes that a social worker can be obtained said Stan Lothrop, speaking for the Welfare Agency. He also said that the work of the organization has increased tremendously recently.

Speaking for the Boy Scouts in this district, Barclay Westgate outlined the activities of Boy Scouts here. The sole source of revenue for the Boy Scouts in this district is through Community Chest, he said.

Joint chairmen of the Community Chest, Howard Baugh and Ernest Grigsby, also said a few words of encouragement to the canvassers urging them to press hard and remember they are working for the good of not one, but six organizations.

Both accused admitted stealing during the night of October 6 to 7, approximately $78 in cash from the Asbestos Creamery, and taking during the same night, $5 in cash and $25 in clothes from an Asbestos Men's Wear Shop. Pinard also admitted stealing 12 cases of beer and 8 cartons of cigarettes during the night of October 7 to 8.

The accused appeared before Judge Edouard Boisvert.

Strait-jacketing commerce

The steady contraction in the hours in which retail business establishments may remain open legally, as evidenced by the Montreal agreement whereby food-selling establishments must close all day Monday, has reached the point where the regulations are seriously curtailing legitimate business.

By making it increasingly difficult for the worker — man or woman — to make his purchases during legal hours, the legislation tends to reduce purchasing or divert it to communities where no such hide-bound regulations exist, or in border areas to towns and villages south of the border.

No right-thinking individual desires a return to "the good old days" when clerks in retail establishments worked from seven in the morning to eleven at night with one or, at the most, two evenings a week off. But with maximum working hours being established by law or by labor agreements, it does seem that the store employee could be protected from exploitation while at the same time giving the potential customer an opportunity to make his purchases.

Regulations under many of these decrees are too rigid, failing to make allowances for local conditions and thus often work to the advantage of the one-man business which they supposedly are designed to protect. In many cases a man must keep his establishment open for several hours daily during which he does comparatively little business, but must close at the very time he can meet his customers who reside in his immediate community.

Some compromise should be worked out whereby a store could be kept open a greater number of hours each week but continuing the weekly limit of the hours worked by individual employees.

Canadian oil exports to U.S.

Canada, which has long been a target for most of the world's exporters, has long been in favor of exporters putting a voluntary quota on their merchandise being shipped to this country.

The argument has always been that such a quota, when it is applied, is much better than duly enacted import curbs.

It looks now as if the shoe may be on the other foot in the oil business.

Canadian exports of oil to the United States have increased so rapidly during this year that the influential U.S. oilmen are crying for protection.

At the moment, there is no ceiling on Canadian oil imported into the United States. Canada is exempted from quotas or restrictions by presidential proclamation. Only the president can change it, but since oil is such a major factor in Canadian-U.S. relations, it is improbable he would do anything to upset things.

A report shows that oil imports overland into the United States from Canada totalled 201,152 barrels during August.

20 minutes equal 600 mph

Difficulties in travelling between airports and the centres of urban communities are still one of the greatest bars to aerial travel, and one which airlines seem unable to overcome.

Every effort to speed up planes is nullified by further traffic jams on the roads leading to terminals.

Seasoned air travellers know that in some cases, it takes longer to travel from the city to the airport at one end of the line and from the airport to the city at the other than it does for the trip itself.

Businessmen who must travel by air often wonder just how much time is being wasted in this process.

A British engineer has come up with something that should give them a pretty good idea.

He says that if ten minutes could be cut off the highway time at each end of the run, it would be equivalent to increasing the speed of airliners on the London-Paris route from 400 to 1,000 miles an hour.

McMaster science, engineering education

Program gives a broad outlook

By KEN PRITCHARD
HAMILTON (CP) — An academic program is being followed at McMaster University that it is hoped will give engineering and science students a broader outlook more suited to the times.

When McMaster's engineering school, which last spring graduated its first class, was being planned, a decision was made to keep departmental divisions and it stimulates the interest of the undergraduates. He said he is convinced engineers must do research, to add to the store of information and apply science and engineering to new materials and new energy sources.

Dr. Hodgins, 43, grew up in nearby Thorold and graduated in chemical engineering at University of Toronto in 1938. He

In 1942 the laboratories were mobilized as an army unit.

In 1945 he left the army with the rank of captain and returned to University of Toronto, obtaining his doctorate in physical chemistry in 1947. After further research work in Ottawa he became professor of chemical engineering at Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., in 1950.

In 1956 he became director of engineering studies at McMaster as indefinite as possible. The work for Algoma Steel in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., before joining the chemical warfare laboratories in Ottawa in 1940, access to splendid research facilities.

In keeping with this philosophy, all departments are housed under one roof in the $3,500,000 engineering building opened in the fall of 1959. Undergraduate classes, graduate studies and research in six engineering fields proceed in the three-story building.

"This makes it possible for our students and staff to become familiar with the activities of their colleagues in other departments," said Dean Hodgins in an interview.

McMaster now provides courses in chemical, civil, electrical, mechanical and metallurgical engineering and engineering physics. Graduates can go on to a doctorate in chemical or metallurgical engineering.

And in 1962, Dean Hodgins announced, McMaster will inaugurate graduate studies in nuclear engineering, a natural development at the only Canadian university with a nuclear reactor on its campus.

This fall for the first time post-graduate fellows will participate in McMaster's engineering research programs. Two of the fellows are from England and one from Japan. The other is a Canadian. More than 20 graduate students from other universities will also do research work under the supervision of the 28-member faculty.

The graduate school, said Dean Hodgins, has two benefits apart from whatever research discoveries are made: it attracts imaginative staff members who wish to do original design and development work.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

TWO WAYS LEAD TO FOUR HEARTS

At both tables South reached a double four-heart contract. West opened the ten of diamonds. South won in dummy and let the ten of hearts ride to West's jack.

One West led a second diamond. South won in his own hand and led the queen of clubs. West covered with the king. Dummy won with the ace and a second heart lead found West in an end play. A club lead would set up dummy's 10-spot. A spade lead would give declarer two spade tricks.

At the other table West saw the danger of that end play and after taking his jack of hearts, cashed the ace also before leading a second diamond. His idea was good, but South found a way to make the hand anyway.

South won the diamond with his ace; led a diamond to dummy; ruffed dummy's last diamond and ran out all his trumps.

On the last trump lead West had to let a spade go in order to hang on to king and jack of clubs.

Now South led the last club, except the ace, go from dummy and led the five of spades. West ducked, but South rose with dummy's queen; led the suit back and played low. West had to take his ace and this South had also made his con-

The monthly meeting of the Ayer's Cliff Women's Association was held at the home of Mrs. Glen Little, 40 Maple Ave., with Mrs. Charles Dazen as joint hostess. Mrs. Wilford Rexford, acting president, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Baldwin, treasurer, reported a good cash balance in the Club's account. The anniversary supper was discussed and the committees appointed were as follows: Mrs. J. A. Lundberg, Mrs. S. I. Baldwin, Mrs. R. V. Merrill, Mrs. Glen Little, Miss Lena Guston, Mrs. S. R. True, Miss Mildred Paul and Mrs. James McFadden. Mrs. Lundberg was appointed as secretary to replace Mrs. Sam J. Astbury.

Members of the dance team were Bobby Johnston, Mickey Lyons, Arnold Reaver, Joyce Labere, Callie Earl Bryan, Carol Sisco, Larry Keeley, Anna Lemon and Jamie Edgar. Mr. Ed. Officers of the Victoria Rebekah Lodge at Waterloo, who were installed by Sister Rebekah Porritt, were, Sister Bernice Beattie, Sister Doris Hanna, Sister Rita Beaudin, Sister Anita Hanna, Sister Ellen Arnott, Sister Georgina Aubertin, Sister Marian Bradford, Sister Lois Talbot, Sister Marie Mackinson, Sister Alice Bowker and Sister Maureen Mosher.

Some of the research work being done was described by Dean Hodgins. One of his own projects involved modifying the internal structure of wood by nuclear radiation. Although its appearance remains unchanged, this wood has superior strength on bending and is less subject to swelling and shrinking. Unfortunately, the process has no immediate practical use because of high costs.

A civil engineering group has been working on an idea for composite floor panels of steel and concrete which can be bolted or riveted into position in buildings with a structural steel framework.

The electrical engineers are developing a super-conducting magnet made of coils of niobium wire cooled in liquid helium. Such a magnet is required to advance other experiments. Streams of neutrons from the atomic reactor are being put through a diffractometer to determine the precise structure of materials. When the experiment has been set up, machines must put in two record the results, hour after hour, without constant surveillance.

More than a score of such varied research projects are being carried on at McMaster at any one time and the number will increase as more graduate students join the quest for scientific truths.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — The question of nuclear arms for our forces is shaping up as an important election issue — but if the issue is to be couched in terms favorable for the government's return, then an early rather than a late election is indicated.

The fact is that time for procrastination on nuclear arms is running out on the Diefenbaker government. Starting next month the Canadian forces will begin to be operationally equipped with weapons requiring nuclear explosives for maximum effectiveness. This is the timetable, as supplied by service spokesmen:

1. CF-101 jet interceptors for continental defence go into squadron use next month. The same aircraft used by the USAF is armed with missiles having atomic warheads.

2. Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles for continental defence are scheduled to become operational at RCAF stations at La Macaza, Que., and North Bay, Ont., early in 1962. USAF Bomarc are atomic.

3. The army's first surface missile battery, now training at Camp Petawawa with Honest John missiles having sand-filled practice warheads, is scheduled to be posted to Germany early in 1962. US Army Honest Johns are atomic.

4. CF-104 "strike" aircraft are scheduled to go into squadron use with the RCAF Air Division overseas late in 1962. The strike role assigned to these aircraft by the NATO high command virtually requires their armament with tactical atomic weapons.

Militarily it does not make sense to possess weapons without ammunition. Canada must possess the nuclear component of these weapons at the time war starts — otherwise they would be of minimal effectiveness.

Diplomatically it makes sense to play the thing by ear. So long as war does not appear imminent, Canada should refrain from becoming a member of the atomic club and thereby encouraging the spread of atomic arms among the smaller nations. This is what the government is doing.

Politically it also makes sense. In the hearts and minds of the voters there is a strong revulsion against nuclear arms. The Liberals oppose nuclear arms on Canadian soil. The socialists oppose nuclear arms in Canadian hands, whether in Canada or abroad. One hundred and forty-two thousand persons signed the petition against nuclear arms that was presented to Prime Minister Diefenbaker last week. Hundreds of ban-the-atom picketers from universities paraded day and night on Parliament Hill last week-end.

There is no reconciling the opposing points of view — that of those charged with responsibility for the defence of the country, who demand the weapons most effective for carrying out their responsibility, and that of those who hope the chance of nuclear war can be reduced if Canada eschews atomic arms.

The government has been able to straddle the issue thus far because the forces have not yet received arms with nuclear capability. Soon they will have them. Defence Minister Harkness has said if "nuclear warheads are required" they will be obtained.

His words could be paraphrased into "Nuclear arms if necessary, but not necessarily nuclear arms." Diefenbaker — astute student that he is of that astute master, Mackenzie King — could go to the country on this issue in the spring and survive, at least so far as nuclear arms determine the election's outcome.

US citizens active

Civil defence interest soaring

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Roy Amick of Glendo, Wyo., announced three weeks ago that town council had bought an old potato cellar that would be equipped as a nuclear fallout shelter for the town's entire population of 294 men, women and children.

Mayor Amick had been trying for the last two years to interest his constituents in the plan for Glendo citizens, hardly regarding their remote town as in danger of nuclear attack, were adamantly opposed. Not any more.

A ground swell of interest in civil defence is evident throughout the U.S. It is a by-product of the Berlin crisis and resumption of nuclear testing.

Suddenly people are stocking up on canned goods, digging up their lawns, talking knowledgeably of reontgens, dosimeters and strontium-90, and discussing the moral principles involved in slamming the shelter door before the neighbors can get in.

An Associated Press survey indicates the upsurge of interest in Glendo, Wyo., reflects the attitudes in many other communities.

For example, residents of Livermore, Calif., have formed a non-profit organization called Survival Associates, Inc., and plan to break ground Tuesday on a shelter building program covering six acres.

Park, Ohio, voters will decide next month whether to float a $250,000 bond issue to build a shelter for all 2,000 citizens.

City residents against a sales-tax increase have been assured that the money would be used to build a fallout shelter for the town's entire population.

Crucially, the new booklet, "Survival of Pets After the Blast," is a commercial fallout from the Civil Defence explosion has been staggering.

Surviv-All, Inc., probably the largest of a number of new dealers in the same city has in-structed his employees to pose as appliance repairmen. A San Diego contractor hires only non-English speaking workers.

For this reason it is impossible to estimate accurately how many home shelters have been built.

Ironically, a check in mid-September showed not a single one of President Kennedy's cabinet or National Security Council members had private home shelter, and only seven of 22 state Civil defence directors polled owned them.

Latest and largest to enter the arena is U.S. Steel with an interest in Glendo, Wyo., reflects the attitudes in many other communities.

For example, residents of Livermore, Calif., have formed a non-profit organization called Survival Associates, Inc., and plan to break ground Tuesday on a shelter building program covering six acres.

The new interest also has spawned scads of fly-by-night operators, and worse. Authorities have cautioned Salt Lake City residents against a sales-tax increase that would be used to build a fallout shelter for the town's entire population.

Despite popular gossip of per-sons buying guns galore to guard their shelters, arms and ammunition makers report no noticeable sales increase.

A common practice, however, is for homeowners to keep their shelter projects secret.

A Milwaukee shelter firm advertises, "We use unmarked vehicles." A survival equipment firm producing (for $8.98) a person 14 days, languished from February to June with only 600 sales; now is struggling to fill 11,000 back orders.

Corp., maker of an approved radiation detection kit ($24.95 retail), is nearing the 1,000,000 mark in sales and barely meeting the demand.

The most significant commercial development probably is the boom in the shelter construction business.

Strange theft case nears climax

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A strange, ramified case of high crime—involving big-time burglary and two killings—is moving to a climax in this hard coal community.

After three weeks of testimony, the prosecution rested Tuesday in the trial of Lillian Reis, 32-year-old former chorus girl who bought a Philadelphia night club where she used to dance.

One of six original defendants, Miss Reis is accused of masterminding a burglary last which itself has been a mysterious as some of the cast of characters.

In August, 1959, the Pottsville home of John B. Rich, an Italian immigrant who became affluent in coal operations, was looted while Rich and his wife were in Europe.

DENIES LOSS ESTIMATE
From the outset the victim and the state have been at odds over how much was stolen. In two previous trials, and in this one, police and other prosecution witnesses have testified the haul came to nearly $500,000.

Rich, himself, just the other day angrily told the court he lost more than $3,300 to $5,000 of cash, and perhaps $17,000 worth of jewelry.

The prosecution contends Miss Reis instigated the burglary to buy the club, the Celebrity Room, and to spread her wings in other ways.

The defence says she didn't have to rob a safe because she had a hoard of her own—at least $30,000 hidden in her cellar toward the end of 1958—and help from others, including her stepfather and a middle-aged admirer given to prodigal spending.

In an old-fashioned courtroom, presided over by Judge Charles Staudenmeier, spectators and principals alike wait to see whether John Lavelle, defence lawyer, will put Miss Reis on the stand. To every question he replies: "I just don't know. We've got to play it by ear."

'KIND OF SHOWPIECE'
Undoubtedly the defendant's appearance on the stand would be something of a sensation. In a community not too accustomed to so-called glamour, the brunette Miss Reis has been a kind of showpiece, fully aware of the stares her figure provoked. A classy dresser, she has not worn the same costume twice, and whether it is a frock, a suit or some other ensemble, the colors have a theatrical effectiveness.

To the stand Tuesday came the stepfather, Sidney Reinken, 54, a New York jeweler, who told of borrowing money to help Lillian get the club, of which she eventually became corporate president—without stock.

Reinken focused the spotlight anew on Clyde (Bing) Miller, 55, who used to be a big coal mine operator himself, but was reduced to flunking out, avowedly because of largesse laden out to Lillian.

Early in the trial, Miller, ill from a blood disease, testified he lavished love and a fortune on the ambitious dancer—diamonds, cars, furs, cash.

Under questioning by Avelle, Reinken said that Miller came to his store on Aug. 13, 1959, and said he (Miller) had given Miss explained maybe in still greater detail than before," he said.

As Gromyko left, Home was telling the annual conference of Britain's governing Conservative party that he felt the West had convinced the Soviet foreign minister that interference with Western access to West Berlin would mean fighting which could lead to a nuclear war.

Gromyko was asked whether he thought the British government's attitude toward Berlin was less firm than that of the American government.

"I would not go so far as to define it as less or more firm," he replied.

"I got additional signs here, and I got such impressions in the United States as well, that there is growing understanding that a peaceful solution must be found."

Gromyko refused to comment on the possibility of an East-West summit conference soon. This was not discussed during his talks with Macmillan, he said.

Gromyko reviewed the Berlin question at outwardly cordial meetings Tuesday with Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Earl Home, following similar talks with President Kennedy and State Secretary Rusk in Washington and New York.

The talks, stretching over a period of three weeks, produced no tangible progress toward peaceful settlement of the Berlin crisis but appeared to take some of the heat out of it.

The usually dour Gromyko flashes smiles, Vs for victory, and a new triska sign to newspaper men after his hour and 40-minute session with Macmillan. Several times he told reporters that everything must be done to avert a military collision over Berlin. A peaceful settlement is possible, he said, "but not everything is dependent on the Soviet Union."

British sources said Gromyko's meeting with the British leader produced no progress toward a solution to East-West difference on Berlin and Germany.

The meeting was entirely devoted to Berlin but no new approaches were made and new positions adopted, they said.

But Gromyko indicated after the meeting that the talks were a small step toward agreement.

He called it "useful and interesting," adding that "every forward although sometimes it is difficult to weigh on the scale how many feet, how many metres we move forward."

A foreign office spokesman said the discussions gave the two men "the opportunity... to review the discussions which had recently taken place in the United States."

Informants said Gromyko found complete unity in the American and British stands on Berlin and that Macmillan sought to dispel any possible Soviet suspicion that Britain might be taking a softer stand than Washington.

had agreed previously on nomination of U Thant of Burma to fill out Hammarskjöld's term expiring in April, 1963 if they could settle the disputed points about the deputies.

SEEKS INQUEST
Meanwhile, the UN General Assembly's 21-member steering committee was scheduled to take up a request today for an international investigation into the "conditions and circumstances" of Hammarskjöld's death.

The item was proposed by Brazil, Cyprus, Ghana, India, Morocco, the United Arab Republic and Venezuela.

Stevenson replied that "the United States is not planning any intervention or aggression against Cuba" and he added that Premier Fidel Castro has himself betrayed the ideals of his revolution.

Delivering his major policy speech to the assembly, Roa taunted the U.S. by saying that Castro had "squashed" the April 16 assault on his regime by "mercenaries" and the same could be expected in another invasion.

In other developments Tuesday Canadian Delegate Martial Asselin, addressing the 100-member trusteeship committee, warmly welcomed Tanganyika, the African Commonwealth country scheduled to become the 101st UN member in December.

National Hockey League Season Opens Tonight

ETIHL All-Star Game To Be Held In Granby Sunday Oct. 22nd, Schedule Accepted, Squad Named Next Week

MONTREAL — The annual All-Star fixture of the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League will be held in Granby Sunday, Oct. 22nd, at 8:00, this was announced by President Len O'Donnell following a meeting held here.

The game was originally slated for Sunday afternoon but owing to several other sporting events in Granby at the same time it was decided to hold the game in the evening.

Lou Poliquin, coach of the Drummondville Rockets last year, who clashed with Granby Vics in the finals was named with Gilles Dube as the guiding mentors for the All-Stars. Poliquin has retired from the active role of coach and has assumed the manager's job.

Since Granby is the only team who have held workouts, two, it was decided to name the players at the start of the week.

In this manner it will give the other coaches, Gilles Dube, Sherbrooke, Jack Illick, Drummondville, and Marcel Fillion, Montreal, an opportunity of seeing their men in action first.

The schedule was adopted as presented and will be released shortly. There remained a few minor changes to make and it is expected these will be cleared up within the next few days. The first games on the list will see the Sherbrooke Beavers travelling to Granby to take on the Vics and Drummondville Rockets moving to Montreal for the opening at the Paul Sauve Centre.

Several of last year's players have decided to quit and their places will be filled with younger men. This is the principal reason why the All-Stars weren't named as all clubs are trying to get younger players and must wait to see what they can do.

Rotary Club Entertains Little Leaguers

Little League baseball is big business, not evaluated in dollars or cents but in hard honest work by volunteers who devote many hours to this worthy movement.

"Little League is a proud, vigorous community of peoples bonded by a common denominator of boys and baseball," Jeff Wilson, assistant chairman of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club Little League Committee, told Rotarians Tuesday evening.

Mr. Wilson was speaking before 14 young, distinguished guests of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club — members of the Rotary-sponsored Indians of the Little League.

Baseball was the topic of the evening Tuesday as Rotarians and the Little Leaguers talked of nothing but baseball and of course, the World Series. Even the sing song was dedicated to baseball, as the Little Leaguers joined in with Rotarians for a hearty song of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

Mr. Wilson congratulated the boys on a fine season of baseball playing. "You all deserve the honor as you have represented our Club in the most sportsmanlike manner and at all times have conducted yourselves like real ball players on and off the field," Mr. Wilson said.

The Rotary-sponsored Indians placed second in the season's playoffs.

Each boy was formally introduced to Rotary members and received a gift certificate. Coach Bob Morin was also presented with a token of appreciation by the president of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club, Paul Theobald.

"Little League is many things to many people," Mr. Wilson explained. "To the boy it is baseball adapted to his mental and physical capacities, to the adult, the neighbourhood and the community, it is baseball with a purposeful character, encompassing the broad concepts of the Canadian way of life."

Mr. Wilson said that without motive and principle, Little League would be just another baseball program.

AHL Opens 26th Season Tonight

The American Hockey League begins its 26th season tonight with Springfield Indians heavy favorites to win the title again. The Indians entertain Pittsburgh Hornets, back after a five-year absence, in the feature of a three-game card.

Rochester Americans meet the Bisons at Buffalo and Cleveland Barons take on the Reds at Providence.

Hershey Bears open Saturday with a home game against Rochester and Quebec Aces begin operations Sunday at Cleveland.

The Indians have won the regular-season crown and the Calder Cup playoffs the last two years. Springfield coach Pat Egan will field almost the same team as last season.

For the first time in 10 years, the league will be divided into eastern and western divisions and a 70-game schedule will be played. Springfield, Quebec, Providence and Hershey will form the eastern half and Cleveland, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh the western section.

Four new coaches—Billy Reay at Buffalo, Larry Regan at Pittsburgh, Fern Flaman at Providence and Johnny Crawford at Rochester—have taken over.

Bruins Call Up Tommy Williams From Kingston

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Boston Bruins have called up centre Tommy Williams from Kingston Frontenacs of the Eastern Professional Hockey League for the opening game of the National Hockey League at Boston tonight.

Williams, 20, a native of Duluth, Minn., was a member of the United States Olympic hockey team which won the world championship in 1960. Last season he turned professional with Kingston and was one of the EPHL's leading rookies.

The fast-skating centre is expected to play right wing against New York Rangers in place of Doug Mohns, who will be moved back to defence. Williams will play at least two games with Bruins and may return to Kingston Saturday night for the EPHL opener here against North Bay Trappers.

Williams attended Bruins camp this year and was a late cut. It will be his first game in the National League.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

San Jose, Calif.—Frankie Ramirez, 147½, Los Angeles, outpointed Steve Mendoza, 146½, San Jose, 10.
Hartford, Conn.—Rudy Davis, 202, Philadelphia, knocked out Oscar Fields, 192, New York, 1.

From the outset, Little League has preserved an ideal that recognizes baseball under proper leadership as a character-building influence in the Canadian boy.

"Complete understanding and the firm application of these principles are the essential elements that make boys' baseball 'Little League'," Mr. Wilson said.

"Little League makes no pretense of being a 'cure-all' for juvenile delinquency," Mr. Wilson said. "But we do find that in communities where the program is established, the boys behave and help make their towns better places in which to live."

"There are no financial rewards to the thousands of adult volunteers who freely identify themselves with local leagues, but volunteers do see results in the shape of youngsters developing into good citizens, the speaker said."

They see communities welded together through better understanding and unity of purpose. This is the reward which comes to Little League workers.

ET Provincial Baseball League Executive Re-Elected At Annual Meeting, Jer. Duhamel New Vice

The executive of the Eastern Townships Provincial Baseball League was re-elected en bloc last night at the annual meeting held at the Union Hotel in Sherbrooke. J. D. Loignon of Acton Vale was returned as president along with Jeremia Duhamel of Granby as vice-president. Jean-Paul Tetreault was re-elected secretary-treasurer for the third consecutive time.

Lucien Dugre of Sherbrooke and Louis Guilbault of Drummondville both turned down the position of vice-president as they stated it would be impossible for them to give it the time required. Mr. Duhamel then accepted the post.

All the teams in the league attended the meeting and they all seemed ready to return to the circuit next season. St. John and Thetford Mines came up for discussion but since the league had no official demand for franchises it was decided to wait until further notice.

Houston Colts And New York Mets Have Assembled Teams Which Cost Close To $2,000,000, Seem Happy

CINCINNATI (AP)—At a cost of nearly $2,000,000 each, Houston Colts and New York Mets have assembled teams that probably will battle it out for ninth place in 1962 in the now expanded 10-team National League.

Only hope for the Colts and Mets to finish among the first eight is to improve the club through trades, purchases or the sudden emergence of thus unheralded bonus youngsters.

Despite the seemingly meager pickings in Tuesday's regular and special drafts of players from the eight established National League clubs, both president George Weiss of Mets and general manager Paul Richards of Colts appeared satisfied.

"We have a strong nucleus for a fine club in a short time," said Richards. "From now on, we ask no favors from anyone."

"We went for fellows who had been top players," said Weiss. "and we got most of them. We went for young pitchers and hitters tailored for the Polo Grounds. I think Houston has the edge over us in infielders while we have the edge in pitching."

Colts: Norm Larker 1b; Joe Amalfitano 2b; Bob Aspromonte 3b; Eddie Bressoud ss; Al Spangler lf; Al Heist cf; Don Taussig rf; Hal Smith c; Sam Jones p.

Mets: Gil Hodges 1b; Don Zimmer or Elia Chacon 2b; Lee Walls 3b; Felix Mantilla ss; Gus Bell lf; Bobby Gene Smith cf; John Demerit rf; Hobie Landth c; Roger Craig p.
Both clubs, however, have indicated they intend to be active

Minors To Hold Hockey Meeting Thursday Night

The initial meeting of the Quebec Minor Hockey Association, Eastern Townships Section, will be held on Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the New Wellington hotel.

Plans for the coming season will be discussed and cards given out to clubs so that preparations may be made for an early start. According to reports this should be the best season in minor hockey.

Larochelle, Trenholm Win Dart Fixtures

RICHMOND — Two games were played in the Richmond Darts League over the week-end with Larochelle of Asbestos taking their title from Richmond Legion 24-16 and Trenholm handing RDC their first loss 23-17.

In the Asbestos victory, Albert Martel and R. Lefebvre took five rounds with two darts, taking four in the same game. G. Labonte with P. Turgeon and R. Charland with L. Larochelle. Three other Asbestos teams lost two rounds. Best for Legion were two darts taking three rounds—Marsh Gregory with Leo Delaney and Lorne Armstrong with Maurice Barrie.

RDC lost their first game in the young season to Trenholm as the duo of Bill Brock and Ivan Jones paced the winners with a five-round effort. Len Knowles and Percy Brock took four rounds while three-round winners for Trenholm were Bob and Connie Pariseau, Ora Knowles-Nelson Mastine and Jean Gervais with Blanche Mastine.

Fred Roberts and Rosaire Bouchard took four games for RDC in a losing cause while Melah Selah Burroughs and Norma Perkins won three. Next games scheduled are for Friday night, Oct. 13th, Legion travels to Windsor while RDC moves to Asbestos for their tilt with Larochelle.

Yanks In Class By Themselves, Says Tony Kubek

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Shortstop Tony Kubek says his New York Yankees are "in a class by themselves" and could have beaten Cincinnati Reds at their best.

Kubek, who returned to his Milwaukee home Tuesday night, said the Yankees "proved we're the best in baseball" by belting the Reds 4-1 in the best-of-seven world series.

"They didn't impress us as a team that won the National League pennant. But they obviously are a better ball club than they revealed and undoubtedly fell victim of inexperience as far as the world series is concerned."

Kubek said "nobody is giving the Yankees credit for being the great team they are."

He scoffed at those who say the American League is weaker than the National League. "I'd compare the second-place Detroit Tigers in our league with the Reds. Like Cincinnati they had a lot of guys who had great years. And their top three pitchers, Jim Bunning, Frank Lary and Don Mossi, can stack up against the Reds' big three of Bob Purkey, Joey Jay and Jim O'Toole."

South Miami, Fla. — Nick Nichols, 120, Roanoke, Va., outpointed Santo Flores, 126, Puerto Rico, 8.

Yankees Standing By Waiting For World Series Cheques, Bob Turley And Luis Arroyo To Enter Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—For most of the New York Yankees, the main business at hand today was to sit back and wait for their fat world series cheques.

Not so for pitchers Bob Turley and Luis Arroyo. They have operations scheduled. Turley's is important and could send him back on the firing line as one of the top Yankee hurlers. Arroyo has a cyst on his wrist.

"I'm going into hospital this week to have some bone chips removed from my right elbow," Turley, hero of the 1958 world series, said Tuesday.

"If it is successful, and I sure hope it is, I'll have the entire winter to recuperate. Then maybe I can start throwing hard in the spring. This has been a tough year for me. I wouldn't want to have another one like it."

Turley won only three games during the American League season. He was on the sidelines with a sore arm in May and

Bruins At Home To Rangers With New Coaches Guiding Both Clubs, Rest Of League Starts On Saturday

BOSTON (AP)—The National Hockey League gets its 45th season underway tonight as last year's two weakest teams — Boston Bruins and New York Rangers — meet at Boston Garden.

Both teams have new coaches and one of them will be facing his team from last season.

Former Montreal Canadiens great Doug Harvey will be at the helm for New York as player-coach, while the Bruins, last season's last — place team, will be guided by former New York coach Phil Watson.

New York has four rookie faces in their ranks and Boston six newcomers.

Harvey, nearly 38, will be aided by New York general manager Muzz Patrick on the bench until the ninth-time NHL all-star defenceman gets to know his players better.

The rest of the league opens later this week, with the Stanley Cup champion Chicago Black Hawks hosting Detroit Red Wings at Chicago Sunday night.

Boston made a last minute addition to its roster by calling up centre Tom Williams of the Kingston Frontenacs, Bruins farm team in the Eastern Professional League.

Williams will remain with Bruins for at least their first two games, general manager Lynn Patrick said.

Williams, a 170-pounder was a member of the United States team that won the Olympic hockey championship at Squaw Valley, Calif., in 1960.

Jean Ratelle, Bob Cunningham, Vic Hatfield and George Konik are the Ranger rookies, with a broken knuckle on his left hand.

Eastern Pro Hockey League Opens Third Season With Five Old Clubs And North Bay As New Replacement

The Eastern Professional Hockey League this week begins its third season with five new coaches and a new team.

North Bay Trappers have replaced Montreal Royals as the league's sixth entry, with Lou Passador, former scout, for Montreal Canadiens of the National League as their new general manager.

The schedule opens Thursday night at Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie. So far the coaches have been non-committal as to their team's chances.

The defending champion Hull-Ottawa Canadiens still lack a replacement for coach Glen Skov who retired after last season. At the moment defenceman Al MacNeil appears to have the inside track, provided he isn't moved up to the parent Montreal Canadiens.

At Sudbury, manager-coach Murph Chamberlain has been replaced by Chirp Branchley who coached Toledo to the International League title last year.

MANAGER RELEASED
Kitchener Beavers have both a new general manager—former New York Rangers head scout Jack Humphries—and a new coach, former Ranger Red Sullivan. Frank Currie, last season's manager-coach was released.

Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds have Black Jack Stewart as their coach for 1961-62. Billy Reay, last year's coach, has taken a coaching job with Buffalo Bisons of the American League.

Kingston Frontenacs is the only team with last year's management intact. Manager-coach Wren Blair once again will call on player Orv Tessier to help with the coaching.

Player changes from last season:

Johnny Unitas
May Be Benched

BALTIMORE (AP) — Johnny Unitas, Baltimore Colts all-pro quarterback who has let enemy defenders pick off nine of his passes in four National Football League games this season may be heading for the bench.

Coach Weeb Eubank indicated Tuesday he might bench Unitas and start Lamar McHan Sunday against the Bears in Chicago. He said he didn't know why Unitas has become a new kind of mystery quarterback.

Eubank said Unitas' sub-par completion performance of 49.4 so far stems partly from a sore finger.

Speculation that Unitas, who passed for an NFL record of 3,090 yards last season has been rushed more this season than in past years was discounted by Eubank.

Against Packers, who stunned the Colts 45-7, Unitas clicked on only 11 of 24 passes. Five were intercepted.

Young US Davis
Cup Team Ready
To Meet Italy

ROME (AP) — Four young men carrying United States hopes for the Davis Cup planned to pour it on today in their last intensive practice before facing Italy's seasoned tennis squad in the interzone finals this weekend.

The U.S. and Italian teams will know tonight who faces who in the opening singles matches Friday on the clay courts of the Rome Tennis Club. David Freed, non-playing captain of the U.S. team, said it matters little which Italian—Fausto Gardini or Nicola Pietrangeli—gets the opening assignment.

Color of African city changed by tough civil war

By HENDERSON GALL

LUANDA (Reuters) — The first thing that strikes a visitor to Luanda, capital of Portugal's territory of Angola, is that it hardly looks like a part of Africa.

Perhaps it is because the Portuguese have been here since 1576, except for one break of seven years, when Luanda was occupied by the Dutch.

The red-tiled roofs of the houses in the narrow side streets of the old town and the air of lazy charm give the impression of a Mediterranean fishing port. The Atlantic ocean stretches away in a blue misty haze beyond the white beaches and palm trees along an esplanade.

The physical impact of the street scene is predominantly European, and it comes as something of a surprise to learn that about 160,000 Negroes live in Luanda, compared with only 40,000 whites.

At night, the impression of a European town is even stronger. Luanda then becomes an almost 100-per-cent white city. For since the uprising by Negro nationalists began last March, an unofficial curfew virtually has emptied the streets of Negroes after dark.

FIGHT TOUGH WAR
Only the constant sight of army uniforms and the rumble of heavy, armored vehicles remind the visitor that in remote upcountry forests and mountains, Portugal is fighting a bitter war against thousands of Negro rebels.

The emergency declared when the uprising began has caused a decline in business.

A big new block of apartments in a once-fashionable quarter on the outskirts of the capital now stands half-empty. When killings started five months ago in the north, there was a rush for less exposed quarters nearer to the centre of the town.

But the service in the best hotel and in the few restaurants and night clubs is still swift and discreet.

A visit to the suburbs reveals that much of the white population is made up of a poor working class who earn low wages compared with most other Europeans who live in Africa.

In home districts, whites and assimilated Negroes who have attained full Portuguese citizenship, live side by side.

Mayor of London elected by aldermen in ancient rite

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP) — Once a year the scarlet-robed aldermen of the City, carrying nosegays of sweet-smelling herbs as protection against infection, meet to elect a lord mayor.

The nosegays date back only to the Great Plague of 1665 but many of the traditions surrounding the glitter and pageantry of the City are far more ancient.

The lord mayor has the job for only one year and that is about as much as his pocketbook can stand, even though he usually is a wealthy man.

The City, one square mile of the 840 square miles that are Greater London, now is the heart of the business district with business-hours population of about 400,000 and a resident population of about 5,000.

It suffered heavily during the wartime bombings and most of the 225 acres that were devastated now are the sites of office buildings.

Unlike the other 28 metropolitan boroughs in London, where candidates for mayor, alderman or councillor have the support of a political party, there is no party politics within the City.

The unique set up in the City dates back to its early close association with the craft guilds or, as they now are known, the City livery companies. The guilds, common in Europe and England during the 11th and 12th centuries, originally were more in the nature of fraternities, their objects being religious and social.

The craft element evolved largely because people of the same trade tended to live in the same neighborhood. During the middle ages all great households provided their dependents with a distinctive livery and the guilds adopted this practice.

The livery companies' influence has faded greatly since the day when they could imprison members for poor workmanship but they still have some say in the election of the lord mayor.

The Guild hall, the great hall where Lady Jane Grey was condemned to death in 1553 after eight or nine days as queen and where the Duke of Wellington was cheered after his triumph at Waterloo, is where the lord mayor throws his spectacular hang-the-cost-banquets.

Color and pageantry are the hallmark of these affairs within the high stone walls and ancient stained-glass windows, with the lord mayor's procession, the heralds' trumpets echoing to the rafters and the banks of candles flickering over the heavily-laden tables.

Each Sept. 29, Michaelmas Day, the new lord mayor starts his year of lavish spending with Minister will try to reconcile religion, science

VICTORIA (CP) — For the next 10 years Rev. Hilary Butler's task will be to reconcile science and religion for Anglicans on Vancouver Island.

Lt. Col. John Albert Hall, a chemist who helped found an explosives plant on a nearby island, left in his will money to cover the costs of such a project. He regarded widespread scientific scepticism of religion in the 1930s as a threat to the church.

"To many people the basic principles of science conflict with those of religion but to the great thinkers the problem does not exist," Mr. Butler says. "The main problem is a time lag between the thinking of intellectuals and that of the general public."

Mr. Butler says his job is to help overcome this time lag. He will spend the first part of his ministry, perhaps a year, seeing what the situation is generally, what measures are being used and what might be effective.

He has already written one book on the subject of science and religion and is planning another.

Mr. Butler, former parish priest in Crawley, England, and a minister at Oliver in the British Columbia interior before coming here, said the problem today is not what it was when Col. Hall wrote his will.

Modern scientists were much more humble in their philosophical thinking and realized that a material approach gave only material conclusions whereas life contained much more than just material conclusions.

"The non-material things in life have to be considered from a non-material point of view. A scientist may gaze into his test tubes and declare that love does not exist, but anyone who has been in love knows that he is wrong."

Two, Edwin Deacon and Fredie Williams, were promoted. Following the service, all proceeded to the Jubilee hall, where games were played. The children then enjoyed hot chocolate and cookies, while the adults had tea.

Mrs. Bauer thanked Mrs. F. Pessig and her assistants, Mrs. E. Cooke, Miss Valerie Pessig and Mrs. Onil Fortier, who looked after the refreshments.

GENERAL NOTES
Mr. and Mrs. Azarie Picotte, of Louiseville, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Warner and family, of Fitch Bay, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hopper, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hopper.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Radcliffe and Jackie, of Waterloo, Ont., spent a few days at the Albert Scott home and called on other friends and relatives in the vicinity.

Little Helpers service is held at Waterville

WATERVILLE — Rev. C. Cheesman officiated at a Little Helpers service held recently in St. John's Anglican Church.

Hymns were sung and Mr. Cheesman told a children's story.

As the parochial secretary, Mrs. E. Bauer, called the name of each child, he came forward and presented his mite box. The names of ten new members, to be placed on the font roll, were read making a total of 39 members.

Address on prevention at Beebe firemen's banquet

BEEBE — Members of the Beebe Fire Department, along with their wives and guests enjoyed a banquet, held in the dining hall at the Church of St. Therese of the Infant Jesus. Gerald Derusha, as master of ceremonies, introduced the guest speaker, Fire Chief Percy Donahue, of Sherbrooke, and local town councillors, Elwin Humphrey and John Silvester, to be ready at all times. He congratulated them on the condition of their equipment and said that his informal discussion with the men led him to believe that they are indeed very interested in their fire prevention work. He said that with 16 men in the department he considers the town very well protected. Chief Donahue, in his remarks, said that Fire Prevention Week is just around the corner and he alerted the men

Alicia Hart's fall blossoms

Use flowers to perk up clothes

FRESH FLOWERS give a lift to the spirits in fall and winter. Try some of these touches to perk up your wardrobe. A wreath of ivy and sweetheart roses (left) makes a shallow crown for evening wear. A plain wool dress takes on new life (center)

The soft silhouette and subdued colors of fall fashions have brought flowers into the picture as charming accessories. Styles may change, but femininity is always in fashion. And what is more feminine than flowers?

Fresh posies will be as much at home on nubby tweeds for daytime wear as on velvets and chiffons for evenings.

Here are some tips on which flowers best complement the new fashions and low-key colors:

For soft wool crepes, puffs of baby mums or carnations are best. Mums are always favorites in the fall, but carnations also come in vivid oranges and yellows to add bright accents.

Large chrysanthemums are perfect with textured suits and coats. Smaller pompon mums, grouped against an autumn leaf are good with country clothes.

Cymbidium orchids, which come in a host of colors, blend beautifully with the jewel tones of velvet, popular when you tuck a pouf of carnations into the belt. If you know you're being sent flowers for evening wear (right), be specific about what you're wearing. This way, you'll avoid clashing colors.

This year for daytime suits and evening clothes. Filmy chiffon should have a floral accessory that is both delicate and elegant. Lightweight vanda orchids can be pinned right on the fabric. If you prefer a "queen-sized" rose, it can be fastened to the more sturdy fabric of the belt, or pinned to a soft evening handbag.

To top off a chiffon gown that shows a Grecian influence, you might wear a crown of flowers, sparkling with rhinestone dew drops.

It's best to request specific flowers when you know something about the dress they will adorn, says the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association.

When wiring a corsage to a friend in another city, it's wise to leave the choice of blossoms up to the florist. He'll choose flowers that are neutral in color and will blend happily with any outfit they might decorate.

Flowers should be worn as they grow—with stems down. And they should complement the lines of the dress they're worn with. Slightly lifted waistlines require a posy high in the center of the waist, as a well-placed punctuation mark.

Blossoms can be tucked into the belt of a figure-molding suit or dress, and on collarless clothes, flowers look well placed high in the center of the neckline.

Shaggier blossoms look best

Marriage

CAMERON McOUAT

ST. ANDREWS EAST — The marriage took place on Saturday, September 30 in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, St. Andrews East, of Elizabeth Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Your teenager entertains the "gang"

When the crowd get together to watch the football game or tune in their favorite TV or radio show, they will want a simple but attractive meal they can devour as they watch or listen to their chosen program. Their homes are very important to them and they need to feel that their "gang" will always find a real welcome there.

Set up a buffet with potato chips and crackers, cheese dip, French bread, hot dogs, assorted cold cuts, raw vegetable tray, doughnuts and/or cookies, and make sure the refrigerator or cooler is well supplied with soft drinks. The wise parent will make it a rule for the family to supply a list of needed refills after each raid on the kitchen. Teenagers like to have food nearby at all times.

Whatever entertainment is planned simplicity should be the keynote in order that the teen host may manage alone. The young people will need nothing more than lots of good food and thirst quenching soft drinks.

Advice to the teenager: make sure you have everything you need before the gang arrives, because you don't want to be in the kitchen when the planned entertainment is at its height - and don't scream for help when your parents are just settling down for their own evening. Parents are people too.

Here are some easy cheese dips any teenager can make: ZIPPY CHEESE DIP

1 4-oz. package cream cheese, 1/4 teaspoon horseradish, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 3 drops tabasco sauce, 1 tablespoon cucumber relish (or your favorite relish), 2 tablespoons chili sauce.

Allow cheese to stand at room temperature about one hour. Cream the cheese, add the remaining ingredients and whip with a fork until light. Yield about one cup.

DEVILLED CHEESE DIP

4 ounces of pimento cheese spread, 1 3-oz. can devilled ham, 1/2 cup salad dressing, 2 tablespoons grated onion, 6 drops tabasco sauce.

Allow cheese spread to stand at room temperature about one hour. Combine thoroughly the
