New hats thrown in ring
MONTREAL (CP)—Two new candidates for the leadership of the Union Nationale party Wednesday raised to six the number of announced aspirants to the top provincial opposition post.
The final deadline for nominations is midnight tonight—exactly two years to the day since the death of Maurice Duplessis, founder and virtual monarch of the party.
The leadership will be decided at the UN convention to be held at Quebec City Sept. 21-23.
The latest candidates to throw their hats in the ring are Yves Gabias and Maurice Hebert—both lawyers with long-time connections with the Union Nationale.
Mr. Gabias, 44, succeeded Premier Duplessis as UN legislative member for Trois-Rivières and a petition to unseat him from that post is still before the courts in Quebec City.
The petition was filed by Fernand Duchaine, a Liberal member defeated by Mr. Gabias in the June 1960 provincial election.
Mr. Hebert, a 36-year-old Montreal criminal lawyer and unsuccessful Progressive Conservative candidate in a federal by-election in Montreal Cartier in 1949. He also ran unsuccessfully for the Union Nationale in Montreal St. Louis in the 1960 election.
WON'T RUN
Two men rumored as candidates for the post announced they would not run.
A spokesman for "friends of the Hon. Omer Côté" announced that the St. Jerome sessions court judge is not a contender for the post.
Mayor Ernest Crepeault of the Montreal suburb of Ville d'Anjou also announced his decision not to run.
Also in the running are Daniel Johnson, a former hydraulic resources minister and now UN member for Bagot; Jean Jacques Bertrand, UN member for Missisquoi; Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke, and a political unknown, Roland Lachapelle, a Pointe Gatineau lumber dealer.
Mayor Nadeau yesterday opened his campaign for the leadership of the Union Nationale with a press conference in Montreal at which he asked for a betterment of the financial status of the municipalities.
Mayor Nadeau called for annual statutory grants to the cities from the province based on the number of citizens in the municipality and the street mileage within the municipal area.
Mayor Nadeau estimated that this would cost the province some $75,000,000 annually of its close to one billion dollar budget.
Mayor Nadeau repeated his favoring of a master highway plan which would be financed over a period of thirty years as the roads would be in use for at least this length of time.
"Such a highway plan would help to decentralize industries and would be of great benefit to the Quebec tourist industry," he said.

Nfld's forest fires roar back to life
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Newfoundland's forest fires roared back to life Wednesday chasing women and children from their homes in Terrenceville on Fortune Bay.
Switching, gusting winds drove the fire wildly over bogs and through spruce forest. The flames jumped the Terrenceville highway, forced firemen to fall back, and headed for the village of about 600.
Black smoke from the burning bogs smothered the entire area. The RCMP boat Acadia and a string of smaller vessels were ordered to move the women and children from the village to Bay d'Argent.
The winds, contrary to their usual practice, remained brisk during the night and there was no word early today on how the evacuation progressed or where the fire was.
The village is without telephone service.
Late Wednesday night the fire was about three miles from Terrenceville and was also posing a threat to Grand le Pierre, a village of about 300, facing Terrenceville across a two-mile inlet at the head of the bay.
IS STARK REMINDER
The Terrenceville fire, a stark reminder that despite shorter days and cooler weather Newfoundland's fires are not over, was reminiscent of a score of blazes that terrorized the province in a hit-and-miss pattern all summer.
In each case, women and children clustering around a few personal belongings, fled by boat or road while the men stayed behind to keep the flames away from homes.
An early morning weather report said northeast winds would continue today, gusting sometimes to 35 miles an hour. This was considered the worst direction for Terrenceville. Rain.

Will start tour
OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Hees said Wednesday he will seek new means of aiding Canadian exporters during a tour of Canada trade offices in Ghana and Western Europe during the next two weeks. Mr. Hees and Finance Minister Fleming leave Ottawa Friday to attend a meeting of Commonwealth economic ministers in Accra, Ghana, from Monday to Thursday next week.
The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday night that the Russians had exploded early Wednesday their fourth nuclear test device since last Friday. The force was described by the AEC as being in the low to intermediate range.
Before AEC made its announcement on the fourth Soviet blast, Health Secretary Abraham Ribicoff reported that the series of Soviet nuclear tests was detected in Alaska.
He said analysis showed radiation levels at 35 times the average daily levels for August.

U.S. reservists put on notice
See U.S. test in two weeks
By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The prevailing opinion within the Kennedy administration is that Soviet nuclear tests are aimed at developing anti-missile rockets, informed members of Congress said Wednesday.
Congressional leaders who have participated in White House discussions predicted that the United States will fire an underground shot within two weeks. Kennedy announced Tuesday the United States had no other choice but to resume underground tests.
A resumption within two weeks would precede the Sept. 19 opening of the United Nations, where a strong campaign against resumption of testing is anticipated.
The U.S. explosion is expected to have a double-barrelled objective—the testing of a small battlefield warhead and the effectiveness of new detection equipment.
President Kennedy is reported to have told congressional leaders that up to this point the United States has little technical information on the Russian detonations. The fourth blast in the new Soviet test series was touched off Wednesday, the Atomic Energy Commission reported Wednesday night.
The president expects to have within five days through intelligence and scientific reports reasonably accurate information on what the Russians are up to.
SEEK MISSILE-KILLER
There is some thought that the Russians may be trying out a new system of detonating their bombs. But the weight of opinion is that they are seeking a missile-killer.
In this connection, some members of Congress said it was significant that Kennedy has not committed himself against the later resumption of atmosphere tests. They said such tests would be necessary to determine the effectiveness of any anti-missile rocket.
The president's advisers have "nothing short of fabulous."
The co-pilot, recuperating at his Gander home from severe leg burns, said in an interview Wednesday that "I wouldn't be here today nor would our passengers but for the heroic thing Jim Roe did."
Roe was lining up the plane for a landing on the lake when the heat in the smoke-filled cockpit became unbearable. He eased himself out the wing and, with his body half-shielded by the cockpit door, he leaped inside to handle the controls.

Peace bid presented by Nehru
MOSCOW (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru today met Nikita Khrushchev in the Kremlin for the second time since he arrived here Wednesday on a four-day state visit to Russia.
The Soviet news agency Tass described the talks, which covered the international situation and Soviet-Indian relations, as a "broad and frank exchange."
Nehru earlier met Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev and placed a wreath on the Lenin-Stalin mausoleum in Red Square.
Nehru opened his visit by telling his Russian hosts that anyone who started a new war would be guilty of "ultimate madness."
He made the statement at a dinner gathering, including Nikita Khrushchev, after arriving here on a mission to appeal for a meeting between the Soviet premier and President Kennedy to preserve world peace.
BROUGHT LETTER
Nehru and Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah, who also arrived Wednesday, carried a letter outlining the appeal from the conference of non-aligned countries in Belgrade.
In a speech at a Kremlin dinner, Nehru said, "in our times in our century to start a war against anyone would be the ultimate madness."
In his own speech at the dinner, Khrushchev said an active effort from everyone—including neutrals—was needed to achieve peace and repeated a Soviet call for a conference of wartime allies to conclude a German peace treaty.
WOULD SOLVE QUESTION
"On this basis," Khrushchev said, "the question of the normalization of the situation in West Berlin would be solved."
"Our proposals relating to these problems in no way prejudice the interests of the Western powers," he asserted once more.
In a message Wednesday night to a conference of scientists in the United States, the Soviet leader said Russia would continue to make every effort to prevent a nuclear war and achieve universal disarmament.

Peasants killed
CUZCO PERU (AP)—Fifteen Indian peasants were killed Wednesday in the crash of a truck on a winding road high in the Andes in southeastern Peru. The truck, carrying 57 persons, ran off the road when the brakes failed.
Roe and Robinson were flown to Goose Bay, Labrador, and Roe was brought to Toronto eight days ago for treatment.
An official of the plane's owners, Eastern Provincial Airways of Gander, Nfld., said Roe's landing of the plane was "nothing short of fabulous."

Hero of plane crash dies from injuries
TORONTO (CP)—Jim Roe, a 26-year-old Kingston, Ont., pilot who crash-landed a burning plane two weeks ago in Greenland and saved his passengers, died in hospital here early today.
Roe's entire body was burned when he piloted his amphibious Otter plane to earth while hanging half outside the burning cockpit.
Co-pilot Harris Robinson was slightly burned but the four Danish passengers escaped injury when the plane was enveloped in flame after the landing on a lake near Sonderstrom, Greenland.
Roe and Robinson were flown to Goose Bay, Labrador, and Roe was brought to Toronto eight days ago for treatment.
An official of the plane's owners, Eastern Provincial Airways of Gander, Nfld., said Roe's landing of the plane was "nothing short of fabulous."

US to give qualified sympathy to neutrals
By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration was expected today to give a sympathetic response to an appeal from 25 non-aligned countries for U.S.-Soviet negotiations to save the world from "the horror of nuclear war."
But U.S. officials said the aggressive Russian attitude on critical Berlin issues—dramatized by the series of Soviet nuclear test explosions in the atmosphere—discourages hope that negotiations under present conditions can make much progress.
The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday night that the Russians had exploded early Wednesday their fourth nuclear test device since last Friday. The force was described by the AEC as being in the low to intermediate range.

Storm clouds gather —
Ottawa resumes longest session
OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament today resumed its longest session in history beneath gathering international storm clouds.
The Commons, which already had sat a record 157 days at the July 13 summer adjournment, reassembled to tackle an agenda which may keep it busy until mid-November. The Senate resumes its sittings next Thursday.
The marathon Commons session was scheduled to re-start at 2:30 p.m. EDT.
Amid mounting tension over Berlin and the resumption of nuclear weapon tests, MPs set the tone of their fall sittings with a timely two-day foreign affairs debate. The government also was expected to make an announcement concerning a step-up of civil defence preparations and a moderate increase in armed forces' manpower.
Prime Minister Diefenbaker briefed Opposition Leader Pearson on the international situation in a half-hour private talk Wednesday. Although both declined comment on whether the Progressive Conservative and Liberal parties will adopt a bipartisan stand on foreign policy, Mr. Pearson told reporters: "In a critical situation like the one today we want to keep as much unity as possible within the country."
MAY CHANGE LAW
Among new legislation which may be introduced within the next few weeks is a possible major revision of the Immigration Act. Amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act, heralded in the throne speech which opened the session last Nov. 17, may be made in the current session depending upon how soon the government receives a report from the special committee it formed to study operations of the act.
The most important immediate items for discussion, however, are the bulk of the 1961-62 spending estimates. Priority is expected to be given to passage of the external affairs and defence department estimates, but long, contentious debate could also occur over the estimates of such departments as finance, defence production, health, labor and transport.
Other measures awaiting parliamentary action include a government bill requiring unions and corporations to make public their annual financial reports, final passage of a new Civil Service Act, legislative proposals on the new federal provincial tax deal and steps still to be spelled out to prepare for Canada's centennial in 1967.

Hurricane undecided on course
MIAMI (AP)—Hurricane Carla crept toward the Gulf of Mexico today as it unable to decide which way to head—Mexico to the northwest or the U.S. Gulf coast to the north and east.
U.S. Weather Bureau forecasters said Carla was expected to brush both northeast Yucatan and extreme western Cuba in entering the Yucatan Channel that leads into the Gulf.
The storm, packing winds up to 75 miles an hour over a small area near the centre, was still in the process of development nearing the channel on a north-west to north-northwest course at a speed of eight miles an hour.
Weathermen expected slow intensification as Carla entered the southeastern Gulf of Mexico.
Forecasters declined to project Carla's path beyond Advisees, but they warned all interests along the Gulf of Mexico to keep posted on the latest information.

100 join search for 4 boys
TRENTON, N.S. (CP)—A ground search by more than 100 men continued today for four boys missing in woods around the Trenton Airport.
An air search was started Wednesday but suspended later in the day. A search and rescue spokesman said the woods are so thick it is unlikely anything further can be done from the air unless the search switches to a new area.
Twelve-year-old Sydney Smith, his brother Ronald, 10, Andrew MacNeil, 7 and Billy Farrell, 8, disappeared Tuesday morning when they left on a bottle-hunting expedition around the airport. Since then there has been no trace of them.

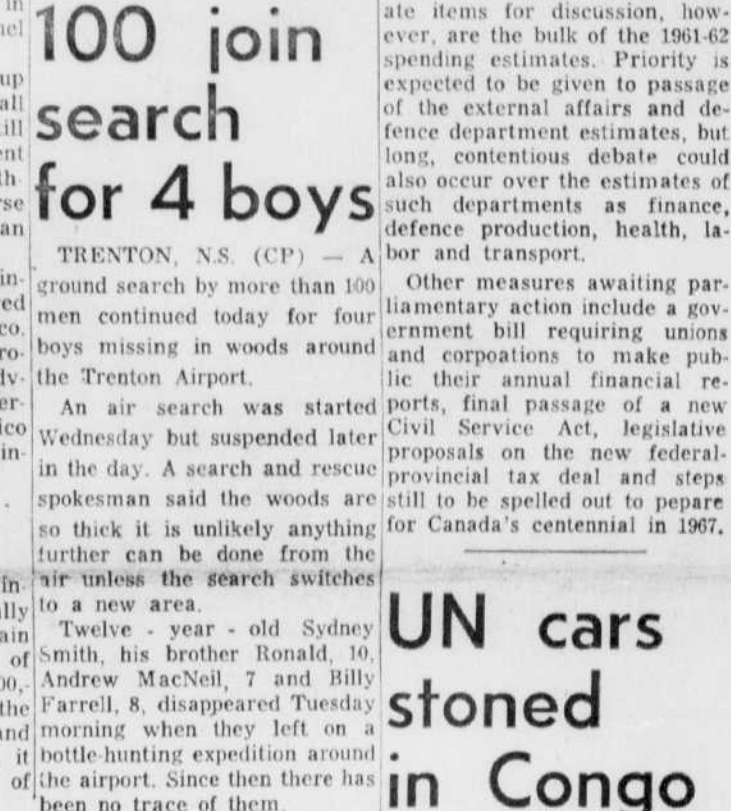

Dief opens bank
OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker officially opened the new Ottawa main branch of the Royal Bank of Canada Wednesday, a $5,000,000 110-foot structure at the downtown corner of Sparks and Metcalfe streets. He praised it as a building "representative of the best in this country."
The Divisions and the individual units, combat and support types, will be reinforced to bring them to near full strength. Total strength of these formations now stands at about 96,000. Some 52,000 reservists will be assigned or attached to them to bolster their ranks.
15 DAYS NEEDED
Orders to put these measures into effect went out Wednesday and army officials estimated the four divisions, rated among the finest in the guard, could be brought close to full strength in about 15 days.
Infantry divisions total 13,700 men and armored divisions 14,600 men.
When asked if the four divisions will be called into active service, an army spokesman said "it depends on the world situation."
State Secretary Dean Rusk told NATO last month the United States is prepared to put six additional divisions into Europe if the Russians seem bound to force a military showdown over Berlin.
Five U.S. infantry and armored divisions now are in West Germany and a small force of 6,500 is in Berlin.
Defence Secretary Robert McNamara is reported to have asked the army if it could be in a position to send six divisions abroad by mid-November.
If a decision is made to reinforce the troops facing the Russians in the critical weeks ahead, the Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Texas guard divisions would replace regular divisions in the strategic reserve within the continental United States.

Music student is over-paid by $60 million
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Bob Carney expected to get $8 for singing at a Fort Worth department store's style show.
His pay cheque came last week, but he didn't notice anything wrong until he tried to cash it Wednesday. The cheque was for $60,000,007.75.
A defective cheque printer got the blame, and Carney, a 20-year-old music student, planned to trade in the cheque today for $7.75 in cash.

Plan big parade
MONTREAL (CP)—Students from coast to coast will parade outside the Parliament buildings in Ottawa Thanksgiving weekend in a demonstration for nuclear disarmament, a spokesman for the Combined Nuclear Disarmament said Wednesday. About 1,500 students expected to take part.

UN cars stoned in Congo
ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) The United Nations command in secessionist Katanga province was operating today from an outlying camp after rioting Wednesday forced a move from the main UN building in the city centre.
Rampaging Congolese youths stoned Swedish armored cars and Indian troops as they screamed for the UN to quit Katanga.
A mob surrounded a Canadian captain but broke up after a few minutes of shouting and booing. No casualties were reported.
It was the second day of youth rioting. Riots Tuesday overturned and burned a UN car, smashed windows in a UN military hospital and stoned the headquarters building.
The rioting was against moves by the world organization to bring the copper-rich province under control of the new central government in Leopoldville.
(The Associated Press identified the Canadian as Capt. Mario Cote and said he was attacked by 10 youths. They grabbed bottles and moved threateningly towards the officer, who in typical western movie fashion overturned chairs and tables as a protection and waved his revolver toward his aggressors, who finally fled. He was quoted as saying, "fortunately these chaps are not very courageous.")
(Cote, 36, a native of Chicoutimi, Que., is a member of the Royal 22nd Regiment attached to the UN Congo headquarters staff.)

Ear specialist now eyes noses
LONDON (AP)—Cyril Wilkinson, a royal family ear-piercer to the royal family, said today he is thinking of expanding his profession to include noses.
He said in an interview that more than 50 men have asked him to pierce their ears, but another has just asked him to make an alteration to his nose.
"The man is contemplating having a small decorative stud inserted in his nose," explained Wilkinson.

140 POUNDS OF CAVIAR—Leo Patterson of Silverdale, B.C., caught this 811-pound sturgeon in a gillnet as he fished the Fraser river near Westminister, B.C., for Salmon. The fish produced 140 pounds of caviar and was expected to net Patterson between $150 and $200. The little sturgeon is the usual size caught in the river.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The dresser is Paladin, the lone, NBC announcement of the pre-primetime, visaged, dark - suited mien of his new action series, Gun, Will Travel. And then, of course, there's the ABC's Elliot Ness, who is murdered by the under- world syndicate for which he is credited with bringing in the notorious Barker gang.

And, starting Sept. 19, off we'll go, following Nick Cain's career of vengeance—one of the oldest, time-tested plot devices in literary history.

Paul Monash, creator and producer of the series, deliberately created Cain in a familiar, classic mold, even providing his character with a name of biblical significance.

"He's a Byronic hero," explained the man who wrote the first episodes of The Untouchables. "Cain is the synthesis of the forces of good. And he is, of course, completely unrealistic. Nobody could go around the country smashing one facet of organized crime per week."

Cain may be a creature of fiction, but he has some close relatives: also fictitious, delighting the television viewers season after season.

Show Business

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eva Marie Saint is staging her own little revolution against the dire threat of runaway production.

The blonde Oscar winner is making All Fall Down at MGM, her first picture in more than a year.

The reason is not lack of offers. "I was just determined to stay in Hollywood," she says.

"This is the greatest place in the world to make pictures."

In 1960, Miss Saint, her husband, director Jeff Hayden, and their two small children, broke up housekeeping and lived in a hotel in Israel for many months during the filming of Exodus.

"The most beautiful location shot in the picture showed a lush, green valley. Last week Jeff and I drove up to the Ojai Valley (about 50 miles north), and saw the exact setting."

Eva gives the tip-off on why Israel and not the Ojai Valley was chosen for the film.

"They only paid the Israeli extras 50 cents a day." (They get around $20 minimum here.)

Eva said some of the extras complained about the low scale to her.

"I told them the next time a movie company wants to hire them, get organized and refuse to work for such wages."

Since Exodus, Eva was offered the El Cid role in Spain later taken by Sophia Loren, a picture in England and one in Rome.

"I turned them all down," she says. "It's crazy. Jeff is established directing television here. Darrell, our oldest, is in school now. I love Hollywood. And it's where I want to work."

Pinard to run for mayor if Nadeau is out of race

Alderman Antonio Pinard announced this morning in a telephone interview that he will run for mayor of Sherbrooke in the municipal elections, Oct. 4 if present mayor Armand Nadeau does not run for re-election.

Mayor Nadeau has announced on one occasion that if he is chosen leader of the Union Nationale party he will not run for re-election.

On other occasions, however, the mayor had said that he will run for re-election no matter what the outcome of the convention is.

One thing is definite and that is if Mayor Armand Nadeau is not elected leader of the Union Nationale he will run for re-election.

In any case, Mayor Nadeau's decision will have to be given by Monday, Sept. 25, which is the deadline for filing papers for the municipal election.

Alderman Pinard said this morning that he definitely will not oppose Mayor Nadeau at the polls if Mr. Nadeau should decide to seek the mandate at city hall for another term.

Meanwhile in the aldermanic elections there will be a delegation at the St. Jean Baptiste School on Biron Street tonight at 8:15 to ask alderman Felix Thibault to run once again for his seat in the East Ward.

Mr. Thibault has been an alderman for the past nine years and during that time he has been chairman of the Social Welfare, Waterworks and Roads and Works Departments.

ALD. PINARD

For the past seven years he has occupied the post of chairman of the Works Department.

Among those who will be in the race are Guy Bureau, Sylvio Rousseau who is a former alderman himself and Gerard Pelletier as well as Roads and Works Departments.

Gerard Marquis, Emile Perron, and Wilfrid Carron.

On Sunday afternoon at 1:30 a delegation will visit alderman Jean Marcel Jeanson at his home on St. Louis Street to ask him to run for re-election.

At present, Mr. Jeanson represents Seat Number 2 in the West Ward.

A committee has been busy circulating a petition throughout the West Ward which requests Mr. Jeanson to run for re-election.

This petition will be presented to Mr. Jeanson at the rally on Sunday afternoon at which time he is expected to make his official announcement concerning his municipal political aspirations.

Monday evening is the deadline for all those who wish to seek re-election or election to the aldermanic seats to file their nomination papers.

There are four aldermanic seats up for election in the October municipal elections. They are in the North, South, East and West Wards.

The two seats in the Center Ward will not be contested this year.

The aldermen whose seats are up for election are Carl Camirand of the South Ward, Paul Gervais of the North Ward, Felix Thibault of the East Ward and Jean Marcel Jeanson of the West Ward.

Both aldermen Gervais and Camirand have already announced that they will seek re-election.

SYNOD PANEL DISCUSSION — Pictured above is the panel that discussed church union at a public meeting held last night at Bishop's University. From left to right are: Rev. J. C. Kirby, of the McGill Faculty of Divinity, Canon R. A. Latimer of the Church of St. James the Apostle, Montreal, Archbishop J. Dixon of Montreal, Dr. E. G. Jay, Principal of the Montreal Diocesan College, and Arch. G. Marston of St. Matthews Church, Quebec. (Record Photo by Gerry Lemay)

Anglican-United Church merger discussion

Time for union is now, speaker says

There has never been a better time for union between the United Church and the Anglican church of Canada than the present, a panel discussion held in conjunction with the 31st session of the Anglican Synod of the Ecclesiastical Province of Canada at Bishop's University was told last night.

Rev. J. C. Kirby of the McGill Faculty of Divinity told the panel, and about 200 who attended the discussion on church union that "we don't group together and meet together within the next 20 years, Christianity will be as ineffective as it has been for three generations."

Rev. Kirby was one of a four-member panel which discussed "Growth and Understanding" between the United and Anglican Churches of Canada. The other panelists were Dr. E. G. Jay, Principal of the Montreal Diocesan College, Canon R. A. Latimer of the Church of St. James the Apostle in Montreal, and Arch. Guy Marston, Quebec City, Moderator for the session was Archbishop J. Dixon, of Montreal.

The basis for the discussion was a booklet printed earlier this year by representatives of both churches in which principles and beliefs of both were laid out in four separate chapters. These chapters were: (1) The Nature of the Church, (2) The Ministry, (3) Worship and Sacrament, and (4) Church Organization and Government.

Each of the panelists treated a separate chapter in his address. Dr. Jay, the first speaker of the evening, took the first chapter on the nature of the church and divided his consideration of the topic into two parts—the static part in which he dealt with the actual structure and the dynamic in which he described what the church was made of and the meaning of it.

"I felt that the church is too often described in the first way—the static way—whereas we should deal with it dynamically," Dr. Jay added.

The second speaker was Arch. Marston who spoke on the ministry and who divided his address into two sections—one dealing with the Anglican case and the second with the United Church case.

Arch. Marston's address pointed out the differences of view present in the modern church.

Rev. J. C. Kirby was the third speaker and the substance of his speech was worship and sacrament. He traced the historical developments that added to the growth of the church from the oral traditions of the Jews through the Middle Ages to the Twentieth Century.

Canon R. A. Latimer was the fourth and final speaker, taking for his topic church organization and structure. With the help of printed sheets, which he distributed among the audience, Canon Latimer presented a concise address.

One major joint brought out in Canon Latimer's speech was that the average Anglican and United Church goer does not understand his own church.

"When the two try to understand each other, the problem is even more greatly multiplied," added Canon Latimer.

Following the panel discussion, a question period was held during which members of the audience displayed keen interest. Over half a dozen people rose to give views or ask questions of the panelists.

Upon arrival at the scene of the fire, Lenn'ville firemen had to force open locked doors to gain entrance.

The Lindsay family was not at home at the time of the fire. They were at their summer home in North Halley.

Rough three-week canoe trip made by group of 5 E.T. men

Five Eastern Townships men spent some three and a half weeks during the month of August braving the elements on a canoe trip through Canada's northland.

The five, Eli Chiarelli, of Amos, Quebec, Lake Simcoe and down the treacherous Nottaway river to Rupert's House on Rupert Bay at the southeast point of James Bay.

In all the two canoes were forced to negotiate over 40 rapids most of which were on the Nottaway river.

During the trip the Revs. Ewald and Lewis of Lenn'ville camped their canoe and spent well over an hour trying to escape from the foaming Nottaway River.

The group had taken only enough food to last them for about two and a half weeks. Uncharted rapids, however, added an unforeseen week onto the trip, and for the last two weeks, food had to be rationed.

The speed at which the group travelled varied from one mile a day to 60 miles a day, depending on weather and lake and river conditions.

On the trip the group of hardy adventurers saw many geese and duck as well as spotting black bears twice. On one occasion the bear's track measured 14 inches.

The route followed by the group was through Lake Mattagami which is 125 miles north of the Nottaway river.

Ives Hill is home to four generations of Cairns

Not only does he have his daddy to take care of him but a granddaddy and a great-granddaddy as well.

For Ronald Stewart Albert Cairns of Ives Hill is the fourth generation Cairns to live on Ives Hill and on practically on the same farm.

Looking on the other side of the family tree Ronnie also has a grandmother and a great-grandmother, quite a lot of grannies for such a little fellow.

Wednesday three of the four generations of Cairns, Albert Henry Stewart Cairns, 81, Stewart Nelson Cairns, 53, Albert Ernest Cairns, 26 were out in the fields threshing oats.

While the oldest of the Cairns heaved oats onto the wagon, keeping pace with his grandson, the youngest of the Cairns, still too young to swing a pitchfork, slept peacefully close by in his baby carriage.

Ronald's great-grandfather was born in Ives Hill on a farm less than a mile from their present home. Albert Henry Stewart Cairns has liv-

Ambitious Castro

Castro is nothing if not ambitious. At present Cuba is in the throes of a campaign to teach its 1,000,000 illiterates (a fifth of all Cubans) to read and write Spanish.

Far from being overcome by the size of this task, Castro has set up yet another linguistic hurdle for his people. He wants as many Cubans as possible to learn to speak Russian.

To this end he has requested 100 professors from Russia who in turn are to instruct 2,000 Cuban teachers. It seems that Castro is convinced that "there are to be social changes in English-speaking countries" in the near future and that Russian will be the international language of the future.

Maybe he's looking to the days when Russian tourists will crowd Havana's hotels and casino's to replace the English-speaking ones his revolution has driven away.

Nuclear testing resumes

As was expected, President Kennedy has ordered the resumption of American testing of nuclear weapons.

Having withstood heavy pressure at home to end the test ban moratorium even before the Russians unilaterally began new atomic explosions last week, he can hardly be blamed for answering the Russian move with one designed to keep the free world ahead in preparedness.

Both sides will now be testing nuclear weapons, and it might seem that the world is back where it started; that nothing has been accomplished at the frustrating Geneva disarmament talks; that progress towards peace has been set back.

Reaction to both the American and Russian decisions around the world however, shows that events have progressed. Where once, nuclear testing

'Pennies' and 'nickels'

Sherbrooke motorists might take more than a passing interest in a decision handed down in a Nanaimo, B.C. court last week.

Clifford Williams, appearing on an overtime parking charge, had his case dismissed when he pleaded that 'pennies' and 'nickels' are not legal tender in Canada. And yet these words were used on Nanaimo's parking meters.

As if to clinch his point, Williams produced an English penny — much too large to go into a meter.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor - Potts

are to instruct 2,000 Cuban teachers. It seems that Castro is convinced that "there are to be social changes in English-speaking countries" in the near future and that Russian will be the international language of the future.

Maybe he's looking to the days when Russian tourists will crowd Havana's hotels and casino's to replace the English-speaking ones his revolution has driven away.

The so-called "neutral bloc" of 25 countries that wound up a conference in Belgrade this week, while it rambled and wandered, was united on one thing; the need to halt the trend toward nuclear war.

In short, nuclear tests in 1961 are being held in an atmosphere considerably different from that of 1958. The difference represents progress, for it is comprised of a realistic realization of the inherent evilness of developing nuclear weapons of destruction, no matter who is carrying out the development, or how necessary it may be.

He presided over the party rally that chose John Diefenbaker as leader—a choice he opposed at the time. For a while, he was a candidate himself for the party leadership but he withdrew in favor of Donald Fleming, who later became finance minister in the Diefenbaker cabinet.

It now remains for some Sherbrooke motorist to test whether the similary wording on local meters can win him similar consideration.

Help Wanted

A key Diefenbaker lieutenant

Minister keeps eye on Quebec

OTTAWA (CP)—Suave Leon Balcer has to keep an eye on land, air and sea—and on Quebec.

In the federal cabinet, he has a dual role as minister of transport and as a key lieutenant of Prime Minister Diefenbaker in Quebec province.

The 43-year-old lawyer from Trois-Rivières appears to be mastering both tasks.

With easy-going flexibility, he is grasping the weighty intricacies of a transport portfolio that involves just about everything that moves in Canada.

At the same time, he watches the ever-shifting political scene of his home province with the alert familiarity of an old hand.

Thrust into the transport job in the cabinet shuffle of October, 1960, he has the task of shaping an over-all policy for transport in Canada, a policy that will keep the best from the iron horse era in the age of the jet.

"Transport and communications are to Canada what oxygen is to man," he says. "Without them, we could not exist as a country."

Part of the task confronting him is the bilingual Mr. Balcer is the point up how the nation has become one Canada, a country founded on a French and an English heritage.

"Canadians are living now in a country which, though the size of a continent, grows ever smaller in distance because of the speed with which we can travel. Thus, more and more we become conscious of the presence of one another."

Although Leon Balcer — pronounced Bal-say — is one of the youngest federal cabinet ministers, he is a veteran politician and a key figure in Conservative party circles.

Handsome, heavy-set — he's five-foot-11 and weighs 185 pounds — Leon Balcer was president of the Young Conservatives of Canada at 33 and president of the Conservative Association at 39.

He presided over the party rally that chose John Diefenbaker as leader—a choice he opposed at the time. For a while, he was a candidate himself for the party leadership but he withdrew in favor of Donald Fleming, who later became finance minister in the Diefenbaker cabinet.

When Mr. Balcer was appointed solicitor-general after the 1957 Conservative election victory, there was talk that it was a snub for Quebec and the man who had expressed resentment because Mr. Diefenbaker didn't have a French-Canadian move or second his leadership nomination.

For three years he was solicitor-general, whose main duty is to deal directly with the commutation of death penalties to life imprisonment in murder cases.

Then, in a surprise move, Mr. Diefenbaker brought him from the shadowy duties in the justice department into the glare of the transport department.

Suddenly, Leon Balcer found himself top man in a department that has 14,000 employees, owns 94 ships and 50 aircraft, administers 100 airports and 335 public harbors, 10 harbor commissions and eight major ports. His annual budget this year is more than $250,000,000.

Under his wing are eight huge crown agencies, including the St. Lawrence Seaway, Canadian National Railways, Trans-Canada Air Lines and Canadian Overseas Telecommunications Corporation.

"I like my job," says the man whose first job was a waterboy on the docks of Trois-Rivières paid 27 cents an hour.

"I like good organization—and this department is well-organized."

To keep it running smoothly, he is on the job before 9 a.m. and often is still at his desk at 11 p.m.

"I work better under pressure," he says, chain-smoking filter tip cigarettes. "I'm not too nervous about panics."

Any Diefenbaker - Balcer differences now seem a matter of the past. In a recent speech Mr. Balcer saluted the prime minister and his ideas that gave the Conservatives their election victories of 1957 and 1958.

Ahead lies a multitude of troubles in transport, but Mr. Balcer appears to be coming to grips with them. Although he deals with diesel and jets, he has a soft spot for ships and sailing men, a fondness fostered as a navy lieutenant during the Second World War.

He was born at Trois-Rivières Oct. 13, 1917, on the shore of the St. Lawrence river. His father died when he was seven months old and his mother—the former Berthe Harnois—raised her family of five singlehandedly.

Educated at the Trois-Rivières seminary and Laval University, Mr. Balcer was admitted to the Quebec bar in 1941, but for the next five years he was away to war.

From 1946 to 1949 he was secretary-treasurer for the town of Trois-Rivières and for the school board of the Banlieue de Trois-Rivières. He also served as secretary for two provincial committees, one inquiring into the rights of married women and the other dealing with juvenile delinquency.

His mother had a penchant for politics and young Leon Balcer grew up in a political environment. His father-in-law, Hon. Elise Thériault, was a Liberal member of the Quebec legislative assembly from 1916 to 1929 and a member of the Quebec legislative council until his death in 1939. A cousin was married to a sister of the late Premier Duplessis of Quebec.

But for Mr. Balcer the federal field always had the greatest lure. In 1949 he was elected to the House of Commons and returned in 1958, 1957 and 1958.

He maintains an apartment in Ottawa but frequently dashes back to his white-brick home set high overlooking the St. Maurice River at Trois-Rivières. The two Balcer children—Pierre, 14, and Nicole, 13—used to divide their time between their Quebec home and Ottawa.

However, Pierre and his mother now reside in Ottawa, where he goes to the University of Ottawa, while Nicole remains at her home and goes to school at Trois-Rivières.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — When Parliament adjourned in mid-July, the country appeared as much on the verge of an election as the world now appears on the verge of war.

The seven weeks' break in the parliamentary session constituted a cooling off period for political passions, and the development of the Berlin-bomb test crisis in East-West relations has pushed election thoughts further into the background. It would be most imprudent for the prime minister to dissolve Parliament for a November election, and leave the country with only a caretaker government pending the outcome of two months of partisan political turmoil, at a time when events over which Canada has little control precipitate World War III.

Such weighty reason for not holding an election this fall will save Prime Minister Diefenbaker some embarrassment. He was trying to intimidate the Liberal senators with his threat of an election on the issue of Senate reform if they persisted in amending his "class or kind" tariff bill. When they refused to be intimidated, and added insult to injury in rejecting the government's "fire Coyne" bill, it was Diefenbaker, who backed down.

The Berlin crisis was developing even then, and the PM can now respond to the tweeting of his foes by declaring that his was the course of responsible statesmanship. In the increasing gravity of the world situation, he can say, only the Liberals wanted to plunge the country into an election with all its disruptions. This, of course, begs the fact that the agent provocateur of the election fever was John Diefenbaker.

As the parliamentary session resumes, the emphasis is less on dealing with the substantial tag ends of business that were stood over when the two houses took summer recess, as on facing the suddenly more pressing problems of foreign and defence policy.

After having permitted only the briefest of debate on foreign policy during the record-long 147-day sitting from Nov. 17 to July 13, Diefenbaker followed the unusual course of making important foreign policy pronouncements in a speech at Winnipeg only six days before the session resumed.

It was a strong, forthright speech, wise and statesmanlike, but with a built-in shocking quality. The PM made it clear that West Berlin is a vital Canadian interest, and the Canadian government will not back away from war to protect that interest — in concert, of course, with our NATO allies.

In this speech the PM struck the keynote for the Commons:

"Retreat in Berlin — would mean that the pledged word of the West would be called in question everywhere... (so) ... the freedom of the people of West Berlin is not negotiable."

But, he added, "the West must... guard against the peril and danger of too much rigidity and in needlessly taking up dangerous and per-

The debate will be important. It should be statesmanlike, not partisan. Similarly with the debate on the government's request for perhaps $100 millions more for defence. Recriminations over the government's blunders — the interceptor aircraft program and tactical atomic armaments — can be saved for the election campaign; there is no time now. Berlin is the Belgium of World War I, the Poland of World War II.

Latin-American report

Chile may also lose president

Janio Quadros' resignation as president of Brazil casts a shadow over President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress.

Quadros gave up, he said, because reactionaries blocked his effort to give Brazil good government.

His foreign policy of bettering relations with the Soviet Union, Red China and the rest of the Communist bloc obviously precipitated the crisis.

But some Brazilians indicate Quadros' most serious difficulties stemmed from opposition to his domestic policies. His insistence on governmental austerity, tax reform and changes in Brazil's systems of land holding were what sparked much opposition to Quadros in the Brazilian congress.

Significantly, the last two are measures basic to the success or failure of the Alliance for Progress, that ambitious U.S. spokesmen employ when plan to wipe out poverty in Latin America.

Few question the need for change in Latin America. But only those blind to the significance of hurried social and economic reform ignore the fact that those most immediately prejudiced would be the individuals and classes the United States must deal with.

Some Latins long have said that the Alliance for Progress was based on the expectation that Latin American friends of the United States would be willing to cut their own economic and social throats.

That implication has not escaped the Communists. Communists from one end of the hemisphere to the other using the same phrase—"integral agrarian reform"—that U.S. spokesmen employ when they talk about the need for changing "unjust structures and systems of land tenure and use" in Latin America.

Reformation of tax laws, "demanding more from those who have most, punishing tax evasion severely, and redistributing the national income," decent homes for the American peoples, narrowing the gap between living standards in Latin America and the industrialized countries all are measures the Communists espouse as vociferously as the United States.

Obviously, the Reds take advantage of the fact that agrarian reform, tightening of tax laws, redistribution of income, and the other terms banded about mean something different to non-Communists.

But, in a country like Brazil, which is predominantly agricultural, though it boasts the greatest industrial development of any Latin nation, any thorough reforms must be introduced with caution and care. They might frighten the people whose farms and factories have made the nation what it is.

The more fact that the Communists and other extremists use the same words as ex-President Quadros in talking of their goals is enough to unsettle an industrialist, businessman or farmer and his representative in congress.

It would be unjust to say that Quadros was forced to resign and Brazil was plunged into political turmoil because of the Alliance for Progress. Quadros' problems antedate the Kennedy program.

But the publicity given the Alliance's goals unquestionably heightened pressures from Brazil's masses as well as fears of those who were afraid reforms might be pushed too rapidly.

Strangely, perhaps, the democratic governments in Latin America are the most vulnerable to tensions fanned by the Alliance for Progress.

In Brazil, like Chile, where the possibility exists President Jorge Alessandri might be forced out, there are a multiplicity of political parties.

Quadros, who polled the highest number of votes in Brazilian history when he won last October's presidential elections, was one of three candidates. Being a political independent, Quadros

IMPORTANT MINISTER — Leon Balcer, 43-year-old federal transport minister, plays a second important role in the cabinet as Quebec's representative. had no machine of his own in congress and had to rely on the votes of the more conservative parties, precisely the ones who were being alienated by his insistence on reform.

BITTER FIGHT
Until the final weeks of his seven-month government, the leftists, represented by the Brazilian Labor party, bossed by Vice President Joao Goulart, and the extremists who take their lead from the outlawed Communist party, fought Quadros tooth and nail.

There is a clear parallel in the political situation in Chile.

There President Alessandri, an independent conservative, finds himself trapped between the demands of the leftists, including a very active Communist party insisting on "integral agrarian reform," redistribution of national income, etc., and the reluctance of the conservative backers to go far too fast.

Talk of the possibility Alessandri might resign was current even before Quadros took the drastic step.

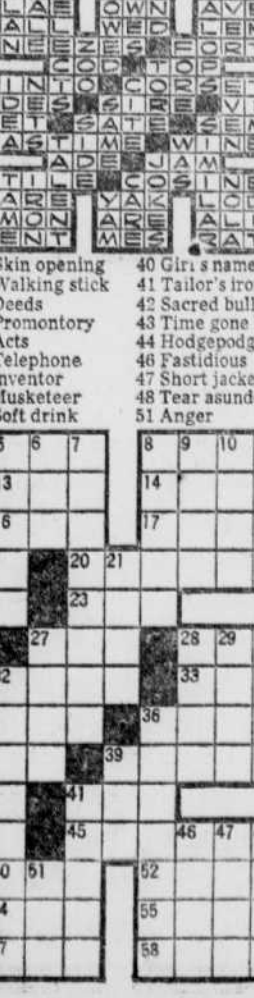

Those countries where one party dominates the legislature do not appear endangered.

Give child good grooming start

MOST LITTLE GIRLS love pretty clothes and take naturally to beauty aids. It's a wise mother who encourages this interest within certain limits. Her own small beauty corner (left) and toiletries meant just for her will stop her from raiding your

ALICIA HART

If there's a little girl in your house, you're familiar with the plaintive, "Put some on me!" whenever you sit at your dressing table.

This interest in your perfume and cosmetics is a wholesome one, for it is a natural lure to the habit of good grooming.

Don't try to discourage her interest in her appearance. All youngsters go through the normal stages of awkwardness, missing front teeth and unmanageable hair. Playmates spare no pains in pointing out these defects during a battle over who owns the bubble gum.

By helping her to always look her best, you'll prevent hurt feelings over these childish barbs.

With careful training and supervision on your part, this won't lead to vanity. But it will instill in the child a healthy desire to look her best.

One approach to the task of teaching a youngster good grooming habits is to set up a "grooming corner" just for her. If space permits, a good place would be right in the bathroom, near the soap and water. Otherwise, her bedroom would be the next best choice.

Make her "dressing table" as nearly like yours as possible, complete with ruffled skirt and ribbons. Install a fairly large mirror, and give her a hand mirror small enough for her to handle with ease.

Provide her with a good child's comb and brush, and you might add a "ribbon rack" for hair accessories. To encourage her interest in hair care, place a peg board over the table for moppet "pin-ups," showing hair styles she can try for herself.

Top the table with junior toiletries in pretty containers, such as bath powder, toilet water prepared especially for children, bubble bath and soap. One soap for little girls comes attached to a rope that she can "wear" in the tub.

She can have "strawberry-flavored" pomade in lieu of mom's lipstick, and pale nail polish. Use of the almost colorless polish will make her want clean nails at all times.

Let the good grooming routine become the basis for another good habit — consideration of others in the family. If her dressing table is in the bathroom, permit its use only during nonrush hours. And indicate that it's good manners always to leave the room in immaculate condition — tub rinsed, grooming aids neatly capped, comb and brush cleaned.

The grooming corner need not be elaborate to serve its purpose. She'll be happy with it for no other reason than that it's her own. It will keep the junior miss out of your precious fragrance supplies and cosmetics, too — no mean point in its favor! (NEA)

Tips for parents

ARTICLE II

LONDON — London's Tavistock Clinic moved recently from the square which gave it its name to Beaumont st., a street of comfortable homes now invaded by institutions and organization headquarters.

Dr. John Bowlby is director of the Child and Family Life Department. Many Canadians are familiar with his work and his book on mother-child relationships, Love Is Not Enough.

WHO COMES

What kind of people come to the clinic for help? Many are well-educated parents who know it is better to correct a difficulty before it reaches problem proportions.

There are other parents, not so well-informed, referred by health or education authorities and often resistant or suspicious of the help available. (This parallels our own experience at the Parents' Bureau in Toronto.)

I discussed problems and people with Miss Jean Leared, one of the psychiatric social workers at the clinic.

Many difficulties arise from parents' inability or unwillingness to establish a friendly, affectionate relationship with their children. Such a relationship in the basis of trust and security for children as they grapple with the lessons of life, often difficult and confusing for them.

BLITZ EVACUEES

One such group of parents are those who were evacuated from London as children during the war. They were billeted in country areas, and there were some unwilling and overworked hostesses who had little time or inclination for really "mothering" their wartime children.

Miss Leared emphasized that many of these children were completely happy and secure in their new homes, but others were not so fortunate.

Lacking that experience in their own childhood, they do not know how to create it for their own children.

Skilful and sympathetic advice is helping them to "thaw out" emotionally and enjoy a friendly and relaxed relationship with the children.

As I go about and visit with my London friends it is evident that the misfortunes of war reach far and long into the lives of the British people. (TNS)

It's the most popular red table wine in Canada — and no wonder. Made from grapes sun-ripened in the Niagara Peninsula, Manor St. David's Claret is a delightful "wine of the country" at a price so reasonable we can all enjoy it... and with a taste so light and congenial that even "wine-snob" nod in approval. Today's recipe

By LOUISE MOORE

Looking for a cool refreshing dessert that needs no baking — delicious to eat but low in calories? Well gals this is for you — and me.

It's a cheese cake made with whipped pasteurized powdered skim milk, pudding mix, cottage cheese, gelatine and flavorings which is ready to eat after a few hours chilling. It serves 8 to 10 persons generously — therefore it's a perfect party dessert.

So put instant pasteurized skim milk on your shopping list. It's economical to use and when liquefied according to directions, makes a refreshing beverage. Use it not only for drinking but in cooking and baking.

COCONUT ALMOND CHEESE CAKE

Combine 1 package (3½ ounces) coconut cream pudding mix, 2 tbsps. (2 envelopes) unflavored gelatine, 2 cups water, ½ cup sugar and 2 egg yolks slightly beaten in saucepan. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until thickened. Cool thoroughly.

Beat 1 cup cottage cheese until creamy. Add pudding mixture and continue beating until mixture is blended.

Combine ½ cup instant pasteurized powdered skim milk, ½ cup ice water and whip until soft peaks form — 3 to 4 minutes. Add 2 tbsps. lemon juice and continue whipping while gradually adding ½ cup sugar until stiff peaks form — 3 to 4 minutes longer.

Fold the whipped instant powdered skim milk, ½ tsp. almond extract, ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips and 2 stiffly beaten egg whites into pudding mixture.

Pour into pan over crumb mixture. Chill until set — about 3 hours. Unmolded. Garnish with flaked coconut.

CRUMB MIXTURE

Blend ½ cup fine almond macaroon crumbs with 1 tbsp. butter melted. Line bottom of 9x5x3-inch loaf pan with waxed paper or foil. Press crumbs over bottom of pan.

BUTTERSCOTCH PEACH CHEESE CAKE

Drain 1 can (10 ounces) cling peach slices. Reserve syrup. Add enough water to peach syrup to make 2 cups-liquid.

Combine 1 package (4 ounces) butterscotch pudding mix, 2 tbsps. unflavored gelatin — that's 2 envelopes — the 2 egg yolks slightly beaten, in saucepan. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until thickened. Cool thoroughly.

Beat 1 cup creamed cottage cheese until creamy. Add pudding mixture and continue beating until mixture is blended.

Combine ½ cup instant pasteurized powdered skim milk and ½ cup ice water and whip until soft peaks form — about 4 to 5 minutes. Add 2 tbsps. lemon and continue whipping while gradually adding ½ cup sugar until stiff enough to form stiff peaks — about 3 to 4 minutes.

Fold whipped instant skim milk, 2 egg whites stiffly whipped and the peach slices into pudding mixture. Pour into mold over crumb mixture. Chill until set — about 3 hours. Unmold.

For the crumb mixture blend ½ cup fine Graham cracker crumbs with 1 tbsp. sugar and 1 tbsp. butter. Press crumbs over bottom of 2 quart mold (TNS).

Dodgers One Game Back Of Redlegs; Six To Go For Maris

Down Giants 9-5 As Cards Knock Over Leaders, Fourth Straight, Spahn Wins, Dodgers Rally In 8th

Los Angeles Dodgers, with an eye on the scoreboard and their minds on the richest payoff in world series history, have scrapped back within one game of Cincinnati's stumbling Reds in the National League pennant race.

It was after the Dodgers had blown a 3-0 lead against San Francisco Wednesday night that the Coliseum scoreboard in Los Angeles showed a five-run eighth inning for St. Louis and then flashed the Cardinals 11-5 victory over the Reds.

That's when the Dodgers went to work, coming from behind with a five-run eighth of their own for a 9-5 victory over the Giants.

It was the fourth straight success and seventh victory in nine games for the Dodgers. Cincinnati, meanwhile, hasn't won two in a row in more than a week and has played only .500 ball (10-10) since taking over first place Aug. 16.

Fact is, the Dodgers, thinking of the player pool from a world series played in their 94, 600-seat Coliseum and New York's 67,000 capacity Yankee Stadium, are two games up on the Reds in the decisive "lost" column.

While the Dodgers swept their four-game series with San Francisco, still hopeful Milwaukee beat Philadelphia 1-0 as Warren Spahn nailed his 306th career victory, most ever in one league by a left-handed pitcher. Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh 6-2.

SHOOK PITCHER

The Dodgers got started on their big eighth when Frank Howard, who had singled home two runs in the first, rifled a single that almost knocked down losing reliever Stu Miller (10-4) of the Giants. Willie Davis went in as a pinch runner, and the Dodgers were off and running, forcing an error that gave them two unearned runs.

Despite a pitch out, Davis stole second and scooted on to third on catcher Ed Bailey's wild peg. Pinch-hitter Norm Larker brought him in with a single, tying it five-all, and John Roseboro followed with a pinch double that gave Los Angeles the lead. An error, a walk, Wally Moon's two-run single and a force out by Snider brought in the other three. Snider also hit a solo home run in the fifth.

Roger Craig 5-6, fourth of six Dodger pitchers, was the winner. He faced just one man after Larry Sherry had to leave in the eighth because of arm trouble. The Giants got home runs from Jim Davenport, Felipe Alou and Orlando Cepeda off starter Sandy Koufax.

St. Louis twice came from behind against the Reds after knocking out their ace right-hander, 19-game winner Joey Jay, with two runs in the first inning. A two-run sixth on two of the Reds' four errors, Stan

MONTREAL (CP)—The International Baseball League announced Wednesday its governing Cup semi-final playoff series will start Sept. 12 with the first-place club playing the fourth, and the second playing the third.

The first and second clubs will play two games at home, three away and two at home, if necessary, in the best-of-seven series, unless they agree otherwise with the other clubs.

Sonny Liston Faces Trial

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Heavyweight boxer Charles (Sonny) Liston faces trial Sept. 28 on charges of turning off his car lights to avoid arrest after an incident in Fairmount Park.

Joseph Scanlon, commissioner of jury trials, set the trial date Wednesday after Liston pleaded innocent.

Liston and a companion were arrested in the park last June 12 after allegedly forcing a woman motorist to halt her car. A magistrate dismissed the charges, but the district attorney ordered Liston re-arrested.

Following the second arrest Liston was stripped of his ranking as No. 1 heavyweight contender and suspended indefinitely by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission.

Roger Maris Denies Yankee Stadium Favoring His Bid To Beat Ruth's Home Run Mark, Has 26 At Home

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris took issue Wednesday with those who claim Yankee Stadium, a paradise for left-handed hitters, has been exceptionally helpful in his dramatic bid to break Babe Ruth's home run record.

"I agree that this park has got to help a left-handed hitter like myself," he conceded, "but I still think I'd have hit just as many, or nearly as many, if I were still playing with Kansas City."

"Check my home runs and you'll find that I have hit more home runs on the road than at home. I don't know how many I hit in other parks this year but I know last year I hit 26 or 27 of my 39 on the road."

The records bear him out. The New York Yankee outfielder slammed No. 54 of the season at Yankee Stadium Wednesday as Whitey Ford won his 23rd with a five-hit, 8-0 decision over Washington Senators. The victory increased the Yankees' American League lead over Detroit to eight games.

Maris' homer, putting him seven games ahead of Ruth's pace when the Babe slammed 60 in 1927, was Maris' 26th at Yankee Stadium.

NBA To Approve New Time Limit For Heavyweights

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—The National Boxing Association, winding up its 42nd annual convention, was expected today to approve a proposal which would extend to 12 months from six the period in which a heavyweight champion must defend his title.

The change would benefit heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, who under present NBA rules, could be stripped of his title for not making a defense before next Wednesday. On that date six months will have elapsed since Patterson's last defense, his third bout with Ingemar Johansson.

Paul Sullivan, chairman of the championships committee which drafted and unanimously approved the proposal Wednesday, said "it just requires too much time to set up and promote a heavyweight championship bout."

The six-month time limit will apply to all other divisions.

Crawford is one of the few who thinks Laver won't win the crown.

"I think I have a chance against him," said the 22-year-old Corpus Christi, Tex., university student.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Billy Papke knocked out Stanley Ketchell in the third round to win the world middleweight boxing title 54 years ago tonight at Los Angeles. Ketchell reversed the decision a year later at San Francisco, but when Ketchell was shot and killed in 1910, Papke again claimed the championship.

Clouts No. 54 As Yanks Blank Senators 8-0, Whitey Ford Posts His 23rd Win, Indians Lose 9-4

Six more. Two every five games. That's all it will take now for Roger Maris to hit 60 home runs and tie Babe Ruth's elusive record.

After belting No. 54 Wednesday for his first hit in 17 at bats as New York Yankees clobbered Washington Senators 8-0, Maris is seven games ahead of Ruth's record pace of 1927. And he has 15 games — against Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit and Baltimore — in which to match or break the Babe's record within the limit of 154 team decisions set by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Mickey Mantle, who has paired with Maris for half of the Yankees' American League record-setting 210 homers this season, was 0-for-2, walking twice and now is one game and one home run behind Ruth's pace. Mickey has hit 51.

Pushed to the background as Maris' 54th set off an awesome display of five Yankee home runs was the fact that Whitey Ford became the first left-hander to win 23 games in the AL since 1952, and that New York zoomed eight games ahead of the idle Detroit Tigers in the flag race with a seventh straight victory.

Chicago White Sox beat Minnesota Twins twice, 6-3, and 4-2 in 10 innings, and Boston Red Sox clipped Cleveland Indians 9-4 in the only other games scheduled.

Maris' home run, his ninth against Washington, broke up a scoreless duel between Ford (23-3) and Tom Cheney (1-3) and got the Yankees started on a five-run fourth inning after two were out. John Blanchard, who belted two, each with Mantle on base; Bill Skowron and Bob Hale hit the other home runs as the Yankees made seven hits pay off with eight.

Ford allowed five hits and struck out seven for his 10th complete game in 34 starts. Any combination of New York victories or Detroit defeats totaling 16 now clinches the flag for the Yankees.

FIRST IN 7 YEARS

No AL pitcher has won 23 since Early Wynn and Bob Lemon both did it for Cleveland in 1954. Bobby Shantz was the last AL lefty to do it, winning 24 for the old Philadelphia Athletics in 1952.

The White Sox banged 13 hits, one inside - the - park homer by Nellie Fox, and beat Pete Ramos (10-17) as Juan Pizarro (13-5) won his seventh in a row in the first game at Minneapolis, a replay of Tuesday's foggy 3-3 tie. Two unearned runs in the 10th, on two errors and Sherm Lollar's double, won the second game for the Sox and Don Larsen (7-1), who gave up four hits in nine innings. Camilo Pascual (12-15) was the loser.

Carl Yastrzemski drove in four runs, three with a homer, for Boston. Rookie Don Schwall (14-4) kept the Indians in check although allowing 11 hits. Jim Perry (9-13) lost.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Pitching: Warren Spahn, Milwaukee Braves, beat Philadelphia Phillies 1-0 with a three-hitter, walking one man and striking out six for his ninth straight complete-game victory. It was his 306th career win, a major league record by a left-hander in one league.

Hitting: Ken Borer, St. Louis Cardinals, was 3-for-4 at the plate and broke a 5-5 tie with a sixth-inning single in an 11-5 victory over the first-place Cincinnati Reds.

Comback, N.Y. — Lino Rendon, 167, Havana, knocked out Rodolfo Diaz, 175½, Argentina, in 1954.

Manila — Leo Espinosa, 119, Phoenix, defeated Pina Barrahas, 123, Mexico, 10.

Mrs. Dorothea Lincoln Dean Lands Second Largest Tuna Ever To Be Taken By Woman, Weighs 830 lbs.

WEDGEPORT, N.S. — (CP) — Mrs. Dorothea Lincoln Dean of Palm Beach, Fla., Wednesday landed the second largest tuna ever taken by a woman with a rod and reel.

The short, ardent sportswoman, holder of several world records, landed the 830-pound bluefin after a 40 minute struggle in the nearby Tusket River.

Mrs. Dean's tuna was taken 14 years to the day after the world record tuna weighing 882-pounds was landed at Wedgeport by the late Anne Crownshield. Captain of the boat was Edgar Boudreau of Wedgeport.

Hundreds of college students who arrived in the afternoon for the sixth annual intercollegiate game fish seminar were on the dock to watch the weighing.

The college students, representing nine Canadian universities, are scheduled to begin fishing today for tuna, cod, haddock, follock and other salt water fish. The seminar ends Saturday.

Among Mrs. Dean's world records are: The men's and women's record for Atlantic big-eye tuna (46 pounds); the women's record for marlin on a 50-pound test line (384-pounds) and the women's record for mago shark on 20-pound test line. A 112½ pound blue shark she caught on 12-pound test line is being considered for a record.

Mrs. Dean's latest tuna was caught from the vessel Blue Lady on a 39 throat Cortland line; a 14-0 Tenn Senator reel and 20 ounce tip Harrell rod.

Eagles May Lose Four Backs To National Guard

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The champion Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League would lose four topnotch backs if Pennsylvania's 28th National Guard Division is called to active duty in the Berlin crisis.

The 28th Division was tagged Wednesday for intensified training and reinforcements to prepare it for possible call to active duty.

The order to begin intensified training, however, is not expected to prevent the four Eagles from playing this season as they will be available for evening drills.

Future Of Hockey League Doubtful, Dube Named Coach Of Beavers

Montreal Club To Give Definite Answer Tuesday, Three Teams Are Ready, League Seeking More Clubs

At a special meeting of the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League held in Drummondville permission was granted to Montreal for an extension of time to give their answer on operating in the circuit. The executive of the Montreal team will meet the officials of the Paul Sauve Centre Monday evening and Tuesday will give their definite answer.

Marcel Lefond, president of the club, mentioned they were having trouble with the Arena but hoped things could be straightened out allowing them to operate in the loop. Players have already been approached and Marcel Fillion will look after the coaching duties for the new team.

At the same time all clubs were in favor of increasing the number of players, under 21 years of age, to six or higher. It was thoroughly discussed and was left in abeyance until the league is on a solid basis.

The executive and members of the league are trying to find clubs who are interested in joining the loop. At present there is a league rule which states all clubs must carry three players under 21 but it was the general feeling that this should be raised.

Gilles Dube Named Coach

Gilles Dube has accepted terms to coach the Sherbrooke Beavers once again. It will be his fifth season as head of the local club. Dube hesitated a little as his business is keeping him pretty busy and his spare time is reduced.

Dube was approached three weeks ago by President Camille Massara to handle the role of player-coach for another year. He put his conditions to the club and following a meeting of the executive they were accepted.

It is expected that Dube will, once the security of the league is established, seek reinforcements for the Beavers. It is expected that several of the older players will be dropped and will be replaced by younger boys. This will be brought about by the league ruling calling for each club to carry more young players.

Gene Fullmer Named Boxer Of Month By NBA

Hole In Football Field And An Overpowering Desire To Play Have Made Dublinski Expensive End

A hole in a football field and an overpowering desire to play 9 have made Tom Dublinski the sibly the most expensive rookie pass-catching end in Canadian pro football. In the bargain, coach Jim Trimble of Hamilton at the two-yard line on his Tiger-Cats proved he has the built-in nerve of a blackjack dealer.

The story goes back to a mid-summer night in 1956 at Empire Stadium in Vancouver. Toronto Argonauts were there for an exhibition game with British Columbia Lions and with them was Dublinski, a refugee quarterback back from Detroit Lions and Toronto's answer to Sam Etcheverry.

The Dubber faded back to pass and stepped into a small hole. Something popped in his right knee. He went down and with him went the last hopes of Argonauts in their expensive bid for a Grey Cup.

Since that fateful night, Dublinski has been battling around between clubs trying to prove that his once-powerful right arm and knee were as good as ever. Nobody bought it.

FAILED IN NFL
Argonauts released him in 1957. The following year he tried out with New York Giants of the National League and didn't make it. In 1959 Hamilton from Argonauts back in 1955 when he jumped Detroit to join try out with Denver in the newly formed American League while retaining his Canadian rights. Again, he failed.

He returned to Tiger-Cats and was assigned a bright new uniform bearing No. 9. It looked good on him as he sat on the bench—until Labor Day with most of the 26,533 fans screaming their lungs out for their beloved Tiger-Cats.

Ted Savage And John Powell Are Staging Two-Way Battle For Batting Crown In International League

The fight for the International League's batting title has developed into an exciting battle between rookies Ted Savage of Buffalo Bisons and John Powell of Rochester Red Wings.

Savage connected for a home run and single Wednesday night to increase his average of .321 as Buffalo defeated Rochester 10-6. Savage gained two points on Powell, who had a single in five trips to the plate and dropped a point to .319.

A two-run eighth inning provided Richmond Virginians with a 5-3 victory over Columbus Jets, Charleston Marlins beat Jersey City Jerseys 5-1 behind Ray Washburn and Syracuse Chiefs edged Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3.

Savage's homer was his 24th of the year and his fourth in three games. Buffalo took a commanding lead by scoring six times in the first inning to hand a damaging blow to Rochester's starts.

Even with bucket seats it's not quite a sports car...

It kind of feels like one, though! That's what was said after Consul 315's European introduction. Now it's arrived here acclaimed as "the sports car turned family sedan." We didn't plan it that way. Those hip-hugging bucket seats just seemed to be comfortable. We wanted a smooth 4-speed box too. This one's like a hot knife through butter! Then there's disc brakes. Usually found only on sports cars and high priced luxury automobiles, they're on '315' for one reason. Safety! And '315' delivers power with economy. Speedway acceleration from a 56 hp. short-stroke engine that needs gas about as often as a camel needs water... and goes
