

CITY DUMPS QHC URBAN RENEWAL CONTRACT

January's transfers a trickle

Westmount real estate transactions took a nosedive in January with considerably fewer sales than in December and in January of last year.

There were only 12 transactions with three declarations and three transfers for $1 and considerations. The number of bonafide sales, with prices reported, were a scant six.

The six totaled $205,500 and represented an old valuation of $157,400 while the new city valuation role values them at $227,000. The sales show a 23.5 percent markup over the old valuation compared with 10.1 percent last month and 44.4 percent in January last year.

The sales, however, fell short of the new evaluation by 9.5 percent. Last month the difference was a much larger 16.7 percent.

The total old valuation of all of January's transactions came to $416,850 and totaled $625,050 by the new valuation roll.

None large

There were no large sales during January with the largest transfer being the transfer of 414 Roslyn avenue for $47,000 from Mrs. Thomas Dalglish to Christ Church Cathedral. The smallest sale was that of 3163-65-67 St. Antoine street for $12,500 from Mrs. Pierre Lafreniere to Marcel Paquette.

Following are the transfers for January excluding bequests:

748 Upper Lansdowne: from Mrs. Wilbur Jackson to John F. Ellis, sale price $35,000 (current valuation, $29,000; proposed valuation, $40,900);

488 Mountain: from Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Peachey to Mrs. Alexander McDonald, $38,000 ($29,500; $43,250);

3163-65-67 St. Antoine: from Mrs. Pierre Lafreniere to Marcel Paquette, $12,500 ($10,650; $16,300);

414 Roslyn: from Mrs. Thomas Dalglish to The Rector and Church Wardens of Christ Church Cathedral, $47,000 ($30,200; $44,000);

17 Grove Park: from Mrs. Fred Southam to Mrs. Robert Ross, $1 and cons. ($48,400; $67,400);

55 Aberdeen: from Mrs. Harvey Wexler to Mrs. Herbert Sibilin, $1 and cons. ($84,400; $94,750);

3206 The Boulevard (one half): from Champlain Credit Corp. to Growth Realty Corp. $1 and cons. ($43,100; $65,150);

544 Grosvenor: from Mrs. Donald Ross to Mrs. Brian Bowen, $31,000 ($21,900; $30,500); and 574 Roslyn: from Mrs. Gerald Roney to Laurent Gratton, $42,000 ($36,150; $52,050).

Alan Leo dies in home fire

H. Alan Leo, 79-year-old, long-time resident of 437 Argyle avenue, just above Sherbrooke street, died it is believed from asphyxiation early this morning in a fire on the upper floor of his home.

There had not been a fire fatality in Westmount for just over a year.

Westmount firemen reckon the blaze began in bedding in a rear bedroom usually occupied by Mr. Leo. It is believed to have been smouldering for some time before the 8:47 am alarm, rung from a street box by someone who saw smoke coming from the eaves of the house.

Mr. Leo's body was found by firemen soon after they entered the premises to vent the heavy smoke, lying on the floor of a room adjoining the bedroom.

Flames, which were confined to the upstairs level, had worked their way through the ceiling into all parts of the roof. However, the fire did not spread to the adjoining attached residence.

Mutual aid men and equipment were summoned from Outremont, St. Laurent and Mount Royal. The blaze was controlled in less than half an hour, but local firemen were on the scene for the rest of the morning.

Long record brings jail

A long record of theft led Tuesday afternoon to Gerald Gareau, 47, of Montreal being sent to Bordeaux Jail for three months for a $19 shop-lifting Monday in the Alexis Nihon Plaza Miracle Mart. He was caught red-handed by Steinberg security staff and refused bail when brought into Westmount Municipal Court. He was found guilty next day.

DISAGREEING WITH COUNCIL

This is Greene Avenue Architect Joseph Baker, from his seat among the audience Tuesday night, scoring off a point against City Council in the discussion following the city's decision to bow out of a contract with QHC on urban renewal but to proceed with low-income subsidized public housing in Westmount. Seen just below Mr. Baker's notes-in-hand is St. Antoine street's Fred Leclaire, who also was heard from. (See story at right).

Health week

Westmount council Tuesday night endorsed National Health Week, Mar. 8 to 14. Aldermen agreed that their purpose in doing so was to give moral support to the Health League of Canada, the week's sponsor.

Makes list

Miss Rosanna Besner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernad Besner, 632 Murray Hill, has made the dean's list with honors at Mount Ida Junior College, Newton, Mass. Miss Besner is a sophomore in the liberal arts program.

Going into housing

After nearly five years of urban renewal wedding plans, most of it courting the Québec Housing Corporation, the City of Westmount Tuesday night on the eve of the nuptials declined to sign the marriage contract with QHC.

Instead, the city plans to pursue urban renewal in a form of bachelorhood, on its own, and will seek to set up housekeeping in a low-income-family housing scheme in which QHC will foot most of the bills in the relationship.

Angry members of the family — citizens who have long been critical of the proposal — were on hand at the mid-month city council meeting and renewed their demands that the liaison, insofar as urban renewal is concerned, be broken off entirely. They did not object to the housing, however. There were 23 onlookers.

In short, they do not want up to five years of further uncertainty about the status of the landlords and tenants of St. Antoine street.

Too rigid

Defending the city's honor in its latest decision was Mayor Peter M. McEntyre who, in an hour-and-a-quarter's give and take following the 18-minute formal meeting, declared that without a developer it was not in the best interests of Westmount to be tied down to the rigid timetable QHC's contract demanded.

Nonetheless, it was recognized that the city still has an urban renewal program, bearing the approval of the lieutenant-governor in council. The only difference would be, he said, that the city would go it alone if necessary, but hopeful that when conditions were right to proceed other provincial and/or federal funds might be available.

An idea of what going it alone might be was a notice of motion, tabled by Ald. Ian Craig, of a by-law to amend the urban renewal by-law which would authorize the carrying out of the program to

A play in six acts: The big sleet pileup

The cast of characters: Westmount Police Car No. 59, a 1968 Chevrolet;

A 1968 Pontiac;
A 1968 Chrysler;
A 1969 Toyota;
A taxi, a 1969 Pontiac;
A 1968 Cougar;
A large Civil Protection truck;
A taxi, a 1970 Dodge; and
A taxi, a 1966 Dodge.

The scene: Argyle avenue, just below Thornhill avenue. The steep slope has suddenly turned icy in a sleet storm, followed by light snow to polish it, with a high wind.

The time: Between 7:12 and 8:10 pm, last Wednesday evening.

Act 1: Police car going north on Argyle, loses traction, attempting to turn at Aberdeen slides downhill sideways, hits parked 1968 Pontiac rear-to-rear, continues slide, hits parked 1968 Chrysler. All the damage, at this point, is to the police car. The time is 7:12 pm.

Act 2: 1969 Toyota is coming south on Argyle, loses control, hits 1968 Pontiac and comes to rest against it. The time is 7:14 pm;

Act 3: 1969 Pontiac taxi comes south on Argyle, hits Toyota, bounces off, continues slide, crashes head-on into police car. The time is 7:18 pm.

Act 4: 1968 Cougar heads south on Argyle, hits 1968 Pontiac and 1969 Pontiac taxi. The time is 7:30 pm.

Act 5: Civil Protection truck, going east on Thornhill, attempts turn north on Argyle but slides backward, spins around 180 degrees, strikes Toyota then 1969 Pontiac taxi. Toyota is bunted into upbound 1970 Dodge taxi which is pushed into both 1968 Pontiac and 1968 Cougar. The time is 8:00 pm.

Act 6: 1966 Dodge taxi, coming north on Argyle, stops at scene but slides back into 1968 Cougar. The time is 8:10 pm.

This week no tally of the accumulated damages had been made. Westmount Police traffic division had done pretty well just to put together a reconstruction of what happened and when, in this stand-out among many bumps suffered by vehicles that treacherous driving night.

NEXT WEEK'S WEATHER

By ERIC NEAL

February 20 to 28

Nights extremely cold. Misty mornings. Afternoons mild and mainly sunny this blue sky week. Typical sugaring-off conditions.

Nearly every year this Full Moon period is spinglike, with a high barometer, little cloud but a sprinkling of snow each night. Blizzards probable for all the north country during the weekend. Spotting rain or a little sleet with some fluffy snow in the south with local thundersqualls.

Brilliant northern light displays are normal.

Curriculum choice wider at high school

Curriculum choices will be widened at Westmount High School next year as the result of a new system to be put into effect, it was announced by A. Reid Tilley, chairman of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, at a meeting

Quick catch

Two juveniles, ages 16 and 17, from LaSalle and Roxboro, were arrested by LaSalle Police and turned over to Westmount last Wednesday morning. They were charged here and handed on to juvenile authorities in connection with a Tuesday-evening breaking and entry at 605 Clarke avenue, in which some cash was taken.

of the Westmount School Commissioners last week.

"In future the child will be on a two-day cycle. Instead of six 50-minute periods in the five-day week there will be seven 45-minute periods. The system has been tried in some schools but we've never tried it before."

Mr. Tilley explained it involved difficulties with teachers who wanted the school board to promise that each teacher would see no more than six groups in a two-day cycle. It was settled that the board would try to make it seven. The difficulty lay with such subjects as music and art.

"This is the most important decision we've made since we put in subject promotion," Mr. Tilley said.

Fraudulent cheques warning is issued

Westmount merchants have been cautioned by Westmount Police to be on the alert for fraudulent cheques being tendered by a woman using the name "Daly" and various upper-level Westmount addresses.

Greene avenue and St. Catherine street west shops have been victimized.

Psychiatric work broader

A present lack of psychiatric services to citizens of Westmount will shortly be remedied when a newly planned program for the community goes through, it was stressed last week at the February meeting of school commissioners for the municipality.

Board Members Mrs. D. Lloyd-Smith and Dr. John Elder, chairman of the health committee, said that community health must work and profit by school facilities since the school is the natural centre for a psychiatric program.

But "the mandate comes from city hall and the work extends way beyond the school boundary," Dr. Elder said.

Tilley responds to Cardinal on questionnaire

In regard to questionnaires being sent out to parents of pupils attending elementary schools in Westmount, asking whether they would opt for English or French teaching for their children next year, and in response to Québec Education Minister Cardinal who was quoted as saying that Bill 63 sufficiently guarantees and safeguards the rights of English-speaking parents at this time, A. Reid Tilley, chairman of the PSBGM, congratulated those principals who enclosed an extract from the bill with their letter.

The extract reads in part that courses must be given in the French language but should be given in "the English language to any child for whom his parents, or the persons acting in their stead so request at his enrolment."

Mr. Tilley was addressing fellow Westmount school commissioners at their February statutory meeting last week. The letter, Mr. Tilley pointed out, was seen and approved by an official of the Québec Department of Education.

Westmount women lead fashion show

Westmount women figure prominently in the group organizing the Holt Renfrew haute couture spring fashion show March 5 at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, sponsored by the Montreal Symphony Orchestra Woman's Committee.

Yves Saint Laurent, Valentino, Heinz Riva, Marc Bohan of Christian Dior, and Michel Goma of Jean Patou are among the international designers to be represented.

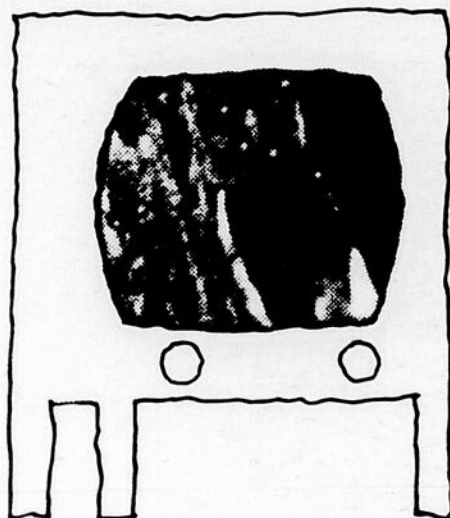

Chairman is Mrs. J. D. Hausner, 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard west. Tickets are in charge of Mrs. George Daly, 21 Rosemount avenue, arrangements are in the hands of Mrs. Pierre Salbaing, 55 Belvedere place, publicity is being arranged by Mrs. John Dinsmore, 646 Belmont avenue, and invitations the responsibility of Mrs. N. C. Stead, 595 Roslyn avenue.

Youth centre is stalled by Ottawa

Ald. Douglas Robertson, city council's representative on the Mayor's Youth Action Committee, said Tuesday night that there had been some delay in getting Ottawa approval for the youth centre to be classified as a charitable institution for donations for tax purposes, which might occasion a date later than the earlier-anticipated early March for opening of the centre at 4424 St. Catherine street west.

The board which will govern the centre had nearly been completed, he told council, and applicants for director are being screened. General organization is proceeding.

The play Feb. 5 at Westmount High School was "remarkably good", he said, and approximately $500 was raised for the youth centre. The performers had been asked to present their production of "The Bald Soprano" at Dawson College again last night.

ROTARY HEARS ABOUT MICRO SYSTEMS

This shrinking world came under the scrutinizing eye of an electronics technician when members of the Westmount Rotary Club yesterday heard an interesting talk on micro-electronics given by A. Olaf Wolff, president, Micro Systems International Ltd., in which he explained the marvellous manner in which miniature circuits work in transmission.

With phenomenal advances gathering momentum, the development of miniature circuits is the order of the day.

Over two million dollars is being spent in development and by next year a commercial line will be in operation employing as many as 3,000 persons in the expanding program, he said. Northern Electric are pioneers in the research being done, having spent as much as $35 million and expect to spend another $40 million in training hundreds of technicians within the next five years.

Applications of this research will be in the development of voice, visual and data transmissions as well as the picture phone with a result that technicians will have leapt into with a new phase into world market.

All the development has been made possible through the operation of what is known as a silicon chip which can give extreme reliability at fantastic speeds. The day of the desk size computers and the Dick Tracy wrist watch is coming, he said. Through the cooperation of the Department of Trade and Commerce it is proposed to double the capacity of development and by next

We Say

Consultation vs. responsibility

Ald. Jean Richer told Citizen-onlooker Joseph Baker at Tuesday evening's city council meeting, seemingly in jest but seriously for sure, that Mr. Baker spends so much time at city hall that he should put up for a council seat.

There is no doubt that the dedicated, socially-motivated, imaginative architect which Mr. Baker has proven himself to be is a first class candidate. (We just wouldn't want him to displace the tough-minded, business-oriented CNR vice-president who is Mr. Richer. Both are needed.)

Of course, the burr under Mr. Richer's saddle at that moment was the manner in which the ever-present Mr. Baker was questioning and challenging the actions and thinking of council — knowledgeably but without the responsibility of office.

We probably outstrip Mr. Baker for time spent at city hall, but more as reporter than critic. We can sympathize with both gentlemen, even as we can identify with most who hold municipal responsibility by office or by simply being taxpayers. The one needs the other to make democracy work.

However, there are ground rules, most critically in the area between consultation and action. The citizen has the right to be heard; the solon has the responsibility to act, or not act, as the case may be.

What Mr. Baker has been demanding recently is more: that, in the matters of urban renewal and housing, the citizens — presumably including Mr. Baker — be included in the decision making. Which, of course, wouldn't work.

Mr. Baker must be satisfied to be heard, as he regularly has been. If he wants more, he should run for office.

The long saga of urban renewal has everyone on the ropes and, from where we sit, it would appear that our mayor and aldermen have acted strangely.

The course they have taken in not getting bound up in a straight-jacket contract with Québec Housing Corporation on renewal makes sense.

But the two ensuing notices of motion, to go it alone on renewal and to plunge into public housing, should be scaring Westmount taxpayers to death.

On the one hand Ald. Craig proposes renewal works of a potential cost to the city alone of $4,313,300.

And on the other, Ald. Aspler proposes the intricate machinery of a local housing authority to subsidize the dwelling places of one class of citizen at the expense of another class — determining which is to be which being only one of the contentious issues bound to ensue.

Our view has been and continues to be that the City of Westmount should stay out of both propositions. We can only trust the council knows exactly what it is doing and that, before enacting either enabling by-law, they will lay their overall philosophy and all the relevant facts before the citizens.

Until they do, we must share the unease of Mr. Baker; though, unlike that gentleman, we have faith in the competence of mayor and aldermen.

Where RCMP, army in postal crisis?

Last week we called the postal situation in these parts intimidation.

This week we call it anarchy. Citizens had every right to expect, after two general walk-outs of postmen in the last three years, that responsible government authorities would have worked out plans for any future emergency.

Particularly for anticipating and preventing another stoppage.

The postal truckers' hit-and-run tactics of the past two weeks were predictable and forewarned. They should have been the easiest type of threat to anticipate.

Instead, an essential federal service has been brazenly disrupted and, in this second week, the situation has worsened rather than show any good effect whatsoever of any steps hinted at last week by Mr. Kierans.

Where are those trucks he said had been engaged to replace those of the contractor who has broken his contract?

Where are the security men to see that the mails go through?

Here in Westmount Monday morning, the drivers of four vehicles setting off from the local post office to take carriers' mail to their green street relay boxes staged a blatant act of sabotage, simultaneously "breaking down" with two alleged flat tires, an alleged dead battery and some alleged radiator trouble.

The carriers serving Westmount, working to the letter of their contract or "to rule," each set out with a maximum of 35 pounds of mail, delivered it and quit. (For which, we presume, they collect a day's pay.)

Mr. Kierans deserves a lot of credit for his long-haul aim of modernizing the decrepit postal system — the world's best when designed to serve a huge and essentially rural country.

But urbanization and its complexities are with us now. Our society, both business and personal, relies more than ever on dependable postal service and Mr. Kierans' interim tampering with the system left no room for the sort of disruption which Canada's biggest metropolis has been suffering. Hardly a citizen now has not got an individual or corporate tale of woe or of genuine crisis, all of which must be laid at the door of the self-confident minister responsible, Mr. Kierans.

As we noted last week, tampering with the mails is a federal offence. In this round, there has been tampering aplenty done with impunity.

Are the vast resources of the federal government impotent?

What's wrong with the RCMP riding shotgun on the mail trucks which move with drivers willing to do their duty?

What's wrong with army vehicles and drivers taking over from those not working?

Thirty-five Years Ago February 15, 1935

Even in 1935, there was an educational furor in Westmount.

"A committee of five was appointed at a mass meeting of the parents of pupils of Argyle school at the Westmount YMCA to approach the Westmount School Board and ascertain exactly the status of the new school building, now nearing completion, and to clear up the many rumors concerning this new institution. "The new scheme is to change Argyle from a simple primary school into a junior high school. This could be done by placing the pupils of the seventh, eighth and ninth standards in the new Argyle."

"Chief objection to the scheme was voiced by parents whose children, now in primary grades, were forced to walk long distances to study at Kings, Queens and Roslyn schools."

"Friends and relatives paid final tribute on Tuesday to Edward Carruthers Woodley, MA, FR Hists S, of 3787 Cote des Neiges, distinguished scholar and writer, teacher, historian and churchman and former principal of Argyle School, who died Saturday at the Montreal General Hospital. He was in his 77th year."

"A native of Montreal, he was a former president of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers of Quebec and was principal of Argyle School from 1922 until 1930."

"A strong breeze caught the new Canadian flag as it was raised above City Hall Monday and the flag instantly unfurled to its full size. City officials and a small crowd of spectators on the lawn in front of City Hall stood silent for a few seconds as the flag billowed in the wind."

Tax valuations were also a hot issue in 1965. "Westmount City Council has voted to establish a board of revision to hear and rule upon appeals by taxpayers concerning their tax assessments."

"The board would act with complete independence in judging disputes between ratepayers and city assessors on the valuations of their property."

Bill 62—no need to panic

Montreal's English community has never before been aroused by such a deluge of written and spoken texts as we have seen over Bill 62.

The interest and concern for education is all to the good. The exaggerations and even a tendency toward hysteria are to be regretted, although understandable in the circumstances.

The minister of education himself must accept the lion's share of the blame for the hardening of attitudes against the proposed bill in its present form. It must also be recognized that opposition to the bill is being expressed as well by the French and Catholic elements of Quebec.

Instead of giving a sympathetic hearing to those who ask for changes will be accepted, that the bill must be adopted at the forthcoming session, and that the government must be trusted to protect individual rights.

Major failure

His major failure has been his inability to demonstrate that the proposed new unified school boards — to which most of the criticism has been directed — will provide better organizational and teaching structures than those which are being arbitrarily set aside.

The assistant Québec ombudsman, Richard Holden of Westmount who has since resigned, has recently issued a harsh challenge to English Québecers to "stop whining and complaining about anticipated injustices" and for "an act of faith to trust the government's intentions." Much of what Mr. Holden said is true, but it is also obvious that the minister and the government must demonstrate by a complete change of their attitudes that such faith and trust is deserved. One cannot be asked, when considering the implications of Bill 62, to forget entirely the atmosphere created by extremists, nor the effects upon the teachers of Bill 25, nor the situation that was allowed to develop in St. Leonard for far too long, to say nothing of the bitter controversy over Bill 63.

Almost without exception, those persons and organizations which have made representations to the government have acknowledged the positive elements of the proposed law. They have approved the need for greater participation of the public, of parents, of students and of educators in creating a valid and more democratic educational system. They agree with the proposals to encourage the fuller development of a bilingual society and for the equalization of financial resources to provide equal opportunity for all of our children.

As mentioned above, almost all the opposition centers on the proposal to create unified school boards, each with jurisdiction and wide powers over a great number of elementary and secondary schools. Each of these schools could be attended by six different categories of students, and the problems of administration

WESTMOUNT GIRL IN SCOTLAND:

It looked like just another attractive British Travel Association advertisement in the Jan. 24 New Yorker (above) —St. Andrew's University students, in their bright red gowns, on their traditional strolling on the pier of the ancient Scottish city. But closer examination revealed to Ald. and Mrs. John E. Birks, 60 St. Sulpice road, that the girl in the right foreground, in a borrowed gown because she is in the old country studying in Edinburgh, was their daughter Barbara.

Plays witch Rub-a-dub-dub?

Miss Martha Howlett, 476 Mountain avenue, has the part of a witch in Loyola's presentation of Shakespeare's MacBeth, which opened last weeks.

Three juveniles made off with a pair of shower curtains from the Westmount Renovations premises at 1248 Greene avenue in a recent foray.

The Westmount Examiner, Thursday, Feb. 19th, 1970 - 5

Perrette hit again by bandit

For the second time in just three weeks, and by the same bandit, the Perrette dairy store at 4471 St. Catherine street west, just west of Metcalfe avenue, was held up at 8 pm Monday evening.

Approximately $80 was taken this time, a considerably reduced take from the $204 heisted Jan 26 from Manager Peter Messaris.

As last time, Mr. Messaris was alone in the late-closing food shop when he suddenly was confronted by his nemesis, a man of about 25 pointing a black revolver. As before, he was ordered to open the cash register and surrender his cash, after which the gunman simply walked out and into the night.

Last winter the same store, under different management, suffered three holdups from which there was an eventual arrest and conviction.

Mr. Messaris declared that, with the additional description, "That guy's going to get caught."

A bonfire at 5:20 am

A bonfire? In the heart of the city? At 5:20 in the morning? In dead of winter?

Yes, on all four counts.

It was on the athletic grounds behind Westmount High School during a sleep-out last Friday morning on the last night of the WHS winter carnival.

When Westmount fireman, summoned to the scene, explained that bonfires were against the law, the group of students proved understanding and amenable to the suggestion that they not relight it.

Cash stolen

A metal cash box containing between $60 and $70 was stolen sometime Friday afternoon from a desk in PJ's Pet Shop, Alexis Nihon Plaza.

Organ recital at St. Andrew's

Gordon Murray, a student of Kenneth Gilbert and assistant organist of Queen Mary Road United Church, will give a recital at St. Andrew's Church on Sunday at 8:45 pm.

Mr. Murray was born in Prince Edward Island and studied music at Mount Allison University for three years. He has appeared as piano soloist with the Halifax Symphony Orchestra.

The program on Sunday evening will include works by Frescobaldi, Sweelinck, Bach, Buxtehude and Mendelssohn.

Pastor's wife to report on church union

Mrs. R. Douglas Smith will take part in a dialogue sermon Sunday morning in Dominion-Douglas United Church on the meetings of the General Commission on Church Union between the Anglican, United and Church of Christ-Disciples churches held recently in Winnipeg, at which she was present.

Definite progress has been made and she will tell of this in the

An inter-faith service will be held Sunday at 3 pm in St. Andrew's Church for Brownies, Guides and Rangers from Westmount, St. Henri and N.D.G. and for Cubs, Scouts and Venturers of the local district.

This week, Feb. 15 to 22, is Scout-Guide Week.

Groups from the following Westmount churches and synagogues will be participating: Stanley Presbyterian, Dominion-Douglas United, St. Andrew's United, Shaar Hashomayim, Westmount Park United, Melville Presbyterian and St. Matthias Anglican, and from St. Leo's Academy.

The cover of the leaflet which will be used at the service was designed by Andrea Jones of the 16th Brownie Pack at St. Andrew's.

This annual observance marks the birthdays of the founders of the movement, Lord and Lady Baden Powell, and the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Girl Guide organization.

A special feature of the service will be the Kairos Folk-singers presentation, "My Country, My Cathedral". Over 20 flags will be carried in procession by representatives of the participating groups who will also renew their promises.

There is a special Scout-Guide display in the Westmount Public Library.

At the 11 am service St. Andrew's will welcome members of St. Matthias Anglican Church in the concluding part of an exchange of congregations. Members of St. Andrew's whose surnames begin with letters K to Y will attend the morning service at the St. Matthias. Mr. Kirker's sermon will be "Believing is Seeing".

Sunday, 16 newly-elected elders were admitted to the session. Of this number, two were teenagers and two in the early 20s.

'Mind' topic of Scientists

How to give brotherhood a firmer spiritual basis by understanding God as the source of all intelligence and purpose will be brought out at the services in the Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's lesson-sermon on the subject "Mind."

Pertinent scripture will include this verse from Philippians: "Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others."

A related passage from the denominational textbook will be: "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love."

St. Matthias recital this Sunday

A rarely performed work of Henry Purcell, "My heart is inditing of a good matter," leads off a recital by the men's and boys' choirs of St. Matthias Church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Other numbers include "Salvator Mundi" by Blow; "Komm, du Susse Tödestunde," a cantata by Bach for counter-tenor, tenor, chorus with strings, continuo and two flutes, and "O Lord, look down from Heaven" by Battishill.

Soloists are David Keeling, counter-tenor, a former choral scholar of St. John's College, Cambridge, and Canterbury Cathedral; Martin Dreyer, well-known Montreal tenor, and Barry Townson who will provide the continuo on a small portable organ owned by Gerald Wheeler, organist of Christ Church Cathedral.

There will be a string orchestra. Conductor is to be Stephen A. Crisp, ARCO, organist and choirmaster of St. Matthias.

Shaar men sponsor service

The Men's Association of Congregation Shaar Hashomayim of Westmount is sponsoring a Men's Association Sabbath Service on Saturday, Feb. 28, at which time Cote St. Luc Mayor Samuel Moskovitch, QC founding president of the association, will address the congregation from the pulpit. Rabbi Wilfred Shuchat is the spiritual leader of the congregation.

The special sabbath service of the more than 120-year-old synagogue will be dedicated to the Men's Association of which Jack Greenstein is president, in recognition of the valuable role it plays in the religious, cultural and social life of the congregation.

Mayor Moskovitch is the first Jewish mayor of an incorporated city in the Province of Quebec and has had a distinguished career in Jewish communal life in Canada, being the recipient of a wide list of honors.

Over 400 citizens attend Temple fellowship dinner

The 43rd Annual Brotherhood Fellowship dinner meeting held on Monday evening marked

Emanu-El to discuss Bill 62

Sabbath services will be held at Temple Emanu-El tomorrow evening, at 8:15 pm. Rabbi Dr. Harry J. Stern will speak on "The Eternal Light."

Oneg Shabbath and kiddush reception follows the worship in the community house, auspices Temple Sisterhood.

Saturday morning at 11:30 am, Michael Teicher, BA will deliver a sermonette based on Torah portion.

Sunday morning, at 9:45 am, the Home and School Association sponsors a breakfast meeting and a panel discussion on "Bill 62 - A Challenge to the Community" to be held in the community house of the Temple. Moderator will be Mrs. Dorothy Frankel, past president, Quebec Federation, Home & School Associations. Participants include Dr. H. Locke Robertson, principal and vice-chancellor, McGill University and Luca Verdicchio, president of the Montreal Council, Parent-Teacher Associations. All welcome to attend.

Grade 6, 7 and 8 will hold a "Dayette" of learning on Saturday commencing at 9:00 am. Theme: "Israel Today", at which time the students will view the feature film, "The Juggler".

The festival of Purim which occurs on Sunday, March 22, will witness the annual Purim carnival and masquerade on Sunday morning. Parents are requested to help their children to come costumed for the masquerade which will precede the carnival. The annual Purim play will also be held on Sunday morning, and will be presented by members of the religious school staff and is under the direction of Bryan Bessner.

The Book Lovers' Forum holds its next review on Wednesday, at 2 pm, when Rev. Dr. Ru-another historic event in the calendar of Temple Emanu-El when over 400 leading citizens of the Montreal community came together to hear the guest speaker, Dr. Roger Gaudry, rector of the University of Montreal, deliver a provocative address on "A Science Policy for Canada."

Dr. H. J. Stern, in his remarks, pointed out while the world generally has partially been a failure, we cannot live without hope, and what gives us hope despite the difficulties is what took place on July 20, 1969, when man first stepped on the moon. This was made possible by team work - and surely the problems facing us, such as pollution moral and physical, campus dissent, the idolatry of language - all these can be overcome by team work.

Dr. Stern paid tribute to Temple Brotherhood for its dynamic program of interfaith and better understanding. He spoke words of admiration for the guest speaker, the guest of honor, dolph J. Berlis, minister of the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, will review "Mary Queen of Scots" by Lady Antonia Fraser. Presiding at the meeting: Mrs. Reuben Ginsberg; co-chairman, Mrs. Robert Asch; presiding at the tea tables - Mrs. J. F. B. Amsden, Mrs. Alex H. Hart, Mrs. Gustave G. Gray, Mrs. Bernard Bloomstone; hostesses Mesdames Abe Izenberg, George Alexander, Charles Hyman, Myer Insky, Nathan Izenberg, Samuel Kramer, Pauline Marsh and Saul Tomarkin.

125-year-old St. Stephen's elects office for year '70

The 125-year-old St. Stephen's Anglican Church, Dorchester boulevard west and Atwater avenue, elected its new officers for 1970 at a recent vestry meeting.

Clergy of the familiar red-brick landmark are Rev. Canon H. St.

Samuel Bronfman, and for Dr. H. Locke Robertson.

On behalf of the Temple and the Temple Brotherhood, Dr. Stern presented both the Citation of Merit and the Dr. Stern Award. He also presented a copy of the Jerusalem Bible containing the text both in Hebrew and English to the guest speaker.

At the dinner, Robert Glaymon, president of the Brotherhood, presided and the invocation was pronounced by Seymour Issenman, program chairman of the Brotherhood.

C. Hilchey of St. James the Apostle, priest-in-charge of St. Stephen's, assisted by Rev. Lt.-Col. George B. Fee and Rev. John Wright.

Rector's warden for the coming year is Robert Byers; people's warden, Russell D. Hammond, and deputy warden, James Sinden.

Eustache Tait, ACCO, is organist and choirmaster; Henry Walker, treasurer, and Mrs. James Sinden, vestry clerk.

The parish council secretary is Mrs. Dora Robinson and church manager and chairman of sidesmen, D. Medford.

This year's delegates to synod of the diocese are H. Charlesworth and W. G. Moxley.

The Church Army is represented by Capt. E. D. Payne and the church's lay readers are E. Alleyne and Mr. Hammond.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE

The romantic look is here and flowers are playing a larger role in wedding fashions, according to Alastair Smith and George Simpson, co-owners of the Flower Pot in Westmount Square, who are holding a fashion showing of flowers in La Renaissance on Monday to prove their point.

At a photographic session featuring spring and summer wedding floral creations, it was perfectly clear that a profusion of flowers tastefully arranged and well chosen complements the romantic look in today's fashion.

Utilizing a background of summer bridal fashions from the salons of Judith Clarke, Alastair Smith illustrated his words by filling a gathering basket to the rim with large red, mauve and violet anemones to match a lawn bridesmaid's gown, adding purple and mauve satin ribbons for a summery air.

A white lace parasol decorated with baby's breath, daisies, double stock florettes, hyacinths, candy tuft, corn flowers and heather was coordinated to a white mid-calf length organza gown embroidered with pink and violet flowers, exclusive to Judith Clarke. To finish the romantic look George Simpson attached a small cluster of fresh violets to the model's white poul de soie sling-back shoes.

For a country wedding a profusion of azaleas, baby's breath, field daisies, double stock and freezias blossomed on a leghorn hat; mauve and pink ribbons fell from the rim.

A Victorian bridal gown of antique ivory satinfaced organza with a high empire neckline was enhanced by a Victorian bouquet composed of mimosa, freezia, sweetheart roses, renonculus, field daisies, candy tuft, Queen Anne's lace and hyacinths.

"On occasion we have suggested a seemingly haphazard arrangement of multi-colored flowers for a bouquet, but we highlight one colour to offset the other to create the all important harmonious look. Only nature is allowed, without offending the eye, the luxury of haphazard floral arrangements."

Experts at wedding, synagogue functions, home interior floral designs of every imaginable and unimaginable description, both floral designers, Alastair Smith and George Simpson have the talent and touch of the art expert in picking out what's right, what's good for just about any occasion.

"There is a right and wrong approach to selecting floral designs for weddings," says Alastair Smith. "For example, on the subject of color, we think too many brides unnecessarily restrict themselves in their selection of flowers for both their own and their attendants bouquets. This is a pity."

"We look first at the setting, then we decide what flowers will best enhance the setting. It's always the overall effect we are interested in. And a natural effect. Good taste and simplicity are our guide lines."

In keeping with his beliefs,

Mr. Simpson added a single red silk rose to a white lace mantilla and adjusted a spray of red Bacara roses and black button preserved flowers to a white lace fan to complete a white organza and lace-tired dress.

"There are other situations where we choose to work with a combination of tones selected from a predominating colour in the bridal attendant gowns. We don't try to match or contrast perfectly - that's the easy way out! We like to think we are creative florists".

"Silk flowers and naturally preserved flowers play a large role in our floral decorations - even for wedding bouquets. A bridal bouquet of preserved natural flowers can later be placed in a vase or underglass as a wedding memento," said Mr. Smith.

"We import our silk flowers from Paris. They are so realistic, graceful and beautifully made that people often bend over a pot of silk sweet peas, for example, to gather their remembered fragrance," George Simpson added.

Silk flowers add a distinctive touch to floral creations especially if a particular flower is requested and is not in season.

Enchantment's in full bloom. You set the trap. Now you've been captured. Your wedding day is near. The stage is set. Behind the scenes: cascades of fresh and silken blossoms fall lazily over silk organza. Peep from clouds of tulle. Spy from point of shoe. Tenderly trail over eyelet lace. Smile from finger point. And bloom from nape of neck. The mood is romantic. Gowns are too. Highlight your wedding day with flowers from The Flower Pot. After all, floral enchantment is our business.

Weddings and tradition go together and one of the happy traditions on the Lakeshore is to hold the wedding reception at The Edgewater. Third generation brides (grandchildren of brides who held their reception at the Lakeshore hotel) form a big part of the Edgewater's busy wedding reception commitments.

For over 50 years, the Edgewater has catered to families living on the West End of the island. Their banquet facilities have served weddings numbering in the hundreds yearly. No wedding is too small or too large for them to handle.

Up to 600 have been accommodated in the main ballroom. The Edgewater has found that the average wedding party numbers from 60 to 80 guests.

On the shoreline of beautiful Lake St. Louis, the hotel is bordered by the Pointe Claire Yacht Club.

After wedding formalities, guests are permitted to wander out on the spacious patio and many stay on for the evening entertainment. The Marina Lounge on the lower level is the "in" spot for the under 30 set.

This map shows the various zoning by-law areas of Westmount. It would have required a referendum of the property owners of R.2, stretching the width of Westmount mostly above Cote St. Antoine road to approve St. George's School opening facilities in a 12,000-square-foot house at 3219 Cedar avenue, and a third of the voters would have had to turn out - an unlikely prospect. Instead, St. George's has withdrawn its zoning change application.

St. George's withdraws zone change

A proposed by-law to amend the zoning by-law to permit St. George's School to operate a school building in a former residence at 3219 Cedar avenue was rescinded by city council Tuesday night.

First reading had been given Jan. 5. City Clerk R. B. Seaman formally reported on a Feb. 5 meeting of ratepayers (see last week's Examiner, page 1) at which 15 formal objections were recorded which would have forced a referendum.

As anticipated, a letter was

Majors and Minors

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

At last, proper program notes

When people attend a concert, opera or play, the wise impresario gives some clue to the content of what they are going to see and hear. If there is a charge for the program, it most certainly should contain other data that has not already appeared in advance press releases to lure attendance.

Paying an extra dollar or 50 cents is quite in order if there are colored photos and mementos that make it a souvenir to keep. But there is always a free single sheet program when programs are sold in the lobby prior to the event.

The Pro Musica Society charges 25 cents although it has several full-page advertisements.

Only a small percentage of patrons keep programs and those who do must treasure them or they would not be inclined to save them.

In all the years that I have gone to Pro Musica concerts, first as the guest of Thomas Archer, later reviewing them, the programs did not contain anything as important as the pictures and notes in the last program, Sunday Feb. 1.

When the Manitoba University Consort performed here for the CBC Festival, July 2, 1968, in Sir George Williams Theatre, I reviewed it. As I keep all my writings, I looked for the criticism, found it and here is what I said:

"It was too bad a few words of explanation were not added beside the name of each instrument. To remedy this, I will give the modern descendants in brackets. Each performer played several instruments. Among the many were: recorders (flute family), lute (old guitar-like instrument), rauschpfeife (ancient double-reed instrument of the same family of modern oboes), portative organ, Krummhorns (another double-reed instrument) rebec (small stringed fiddle, ancestor of the true violin) and psaltery (a kind of harp).

As you read, I had nothing to go by. Some artists say they don't read their reviews but I doubt that statement very much and I think Christine Mather, the director, heeded what I wrote. This time it was done in really clear fashion, headed: "A brief description of historical instruments, part of the precious collection owned by the Manitoba University Consort (One side French, the other English.)"

There are two pages with pictures of the instruments - all numbered so that the descriptions are also on two pages telling the type, class and size corresponding to each number. Not only is this interesting but should be kept. Let's hope future programs will also contain something of lasting value.

Another suggestion: As the pieces were performed in different combinations, it would be of general interest to add, in small print, the names of the instruments used for each composition. The performers were constantly switching and some members of the audience were continually looking them up.

Since I reviewed them again in Port Royal, the sound was even more subdued than in Sir George Williams Theatre, I would have inserted the above suggestion if I had had enough space.

Metro meet

Mayor Peter McEntyre, Westmount's representative on the council of the new Montreal Urban Community, reported Tuesday night to Westmount city council that it had held its first meeting at the University of Montreal at which chairmen and vice-chairmen of the executive and of the council were elected in the only business so far transacted.

Trees net MCH $2,300

Pre-Christmas shoppers on Greene will recall a group of McGill University students doing a roaring business in Christmas trees just by the entrance to Galeries Westmount Square.

They were members of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity, Upsilon chapter. Their slogan was: "Happiness is helping children".

As an indication of just how effective their efforts — and the patronage of many Westmounters — were, this week they presented a cheque to Montreal Children's Hospital campaign officials, representing the net proceeds of the project: $2,300!

'Le Chariot' opens at Salle St. Leon

A new young people's coffee house, "Le Chariot", situated at Salle St-Léon, 330 Clarke avenue, is described as a fun place to be, open every Friday night at 8:30 to 12:30. A very entertaining program is the rule of the club with folk singers, English and French and orchestras of all types to please everyone.

On Friday, Feb. 13, a folk singer contest was held, with the winner appearing on TV.

If jass is your "forte", Le Chariot is the place to be on March 6.

Free hi-fi

Cars vanish, are recovered in Westmount

Two private cars reported stolen from Westmount streets were subsequently nearby — one missing some parts.

Both were Ford Mustangs.

The first disappearance was discovered at 11:50 pm from in front of 566 Grosvenor avenue. The recovery was reported less than two hours later opposite 672 Belmont avenue, less a bumper and the outside rear-view mirrors.

The other car was missing for over three days, but found intact. It was reported gone from in front of 510 Lansdowne avenue and located on Chesterfield avenue.

Nesbitt chairs appeal

A. Deane Nesbitt, 3269 Cedar avenue, is general chairman of the 1970 appeal for $290,000, Leslie G. Ogilvie, 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard west, president of the Montreal Association for the Blind, has announced.

In addition, the appeal committee includes Brig. J. A. de Lalanne, 633 Lansdowne avenue, and Mrs. Wilson G. McConnell, 80 Sunnyside avenue, chairing respectively the men and women divisions.

Mr. Ogilvie pointed out that the association has twice applied to Red Feather and the Federated Appeal who, because of their existing financial commitments, are unable as yet to provide for the needs of the association. Direct help from the general public is needed, he said, if the urgent needs of the blind are to be met.

The Montreal Association for the Blind has extensive modern facilities in N. D. G. providing specialized services to those of all ages who are sightless or who are losing their vision.

The appeal runs from Feb. 14 to 28.

Knife wounds take 10 stitches

A young man appeared at the Reddy Memorial Hospital on a recent evening and required 10 stitches to close knife wounds on his right forearm, suffered in an encounter with another youth outside the Metro entrance in Cabot square.

Westmount Police, who were summoned by hospital authorities, handed the case over to their Montreal colleagues, in whose jurisdiction the incident occurred.

Atmosphere at Unity quickens

The atmosphere in the club is like New Year's with the old coming down and the new going up.

Members are enthusiastically involved in redecoration. The scene has been one of plastering, hammering and sawing. This heart-beat of activity is pulsating throughout Unity, beating out its message of "It's your thing, let's get together, and do it."

We would like to introduce a newly formed body, namely the "Unity Committee of Activities." They are a representative party of members in the club. Main aim is to determine, plan and execute activities involving the majority of the club membership under the supervision of the Unity staff.

The executive of this committee are president, Debbie Standing; vice-president, Eileen Galley; treasurer, Garry Syvret; secretary, Jennifer Anemaet, and planning body, Rickey Anemaet and Janel Morrissey.

One of the responsibilities of this committee is to obtain materials needed for their activities, but as our immediate need is so vast we would greatly appreciate any contribution of materials such as paints, (any color) tools, carpets and furniture, curtains or drapes, colored lights and spot-lights or any article to help with the decor of the club. However, the greatest contribution to help your community is your involvement.

Three characters have come to life: Fat Albert (Lloyd - a familiar face around the club to the kids, operating our canteen and cloak-room, who has now become a friend of all chocolate-bar eaters). Next is Old Weird Harold (Scottie, an old member who sets everyone in the groove) and last but not least, Jr. Barnes (Wally).

Activities

This Friday Old Weird Harold's gang challenges Jr. Barnes' boys to the "football championship" game of the week. In person to kick off the game will be Fat Albert. Starting time will be 7.30. The following day Jr. Barnes' boys challenge Old Weird Harold's gang to the "Buck Buck Championship" of the week. Commentator for this unique showdown will be Fat Albert.

Starting next week gym hockey house leagues will come into effect - Black, Red, Green and Gold houses.

A fund-raising project from Readers Digest involving two of our group clubs is in process. This stamp stampede project will give financial aid to group clubs. Bill Giannis from Dawson's College is group leader to the newly formed "Mod Squad" Group Club, who meet every Tuesday night.

These and future activities are part of the new and fresh attitude which has been born to live and give life.

Weredale House

by BRUCE INGLIS

This week we would like to say hello to Mr. Roger Côté in the Reddy Memorial Hospital. Mr. Côté, our program director, recently underwent surgery. A special greeting from all of us who could not get up to see you.

A fortnight ago Weredale House took on Mackay Centre's floor hockey team in the toughest game so far this year. Weredale came out on top with a score of 12 to 8.

Weredale goals were scored by "Moochie" Hebert - 5 goals, Gordon Deneault - 2 goals, Albert Boucher - 1 goal, Gordon McLean - 1 goal, Billy Munden - 1 goal, Robert Breault - 1 goal, and Robert Yeamon - 1 goal.

This leaves the number of games won at three and the number lost at one.

tion in such a set-up can hardly be imagined.

Language basis

The Pagé commission which reported to the government late in 1968 recommended that the school boards be organized on the basis of language. The Association for Reform in Education is asking for the same thing. In a comprehensive survey and criticism of Bill 62 in four long articles in Le Devoir, Mr. Claude Ryan points out the dangers of the bill and keeps coming back to the language division as that which would best ensure the progress of the educational system at this time.

It could well be, and I am one of those who hope that one day the Province of Québec will be ready for a fully integrated school system where all children can join together, with most of them following courses in both languages. We have the example today of the Collège Militaire de Saint-Jean (a federal college) where this is already being done.

But the situation in Québec today is not such that the whole philosophy and system of education can be imposed by legislation, to say nothing of the fact that such changes raise very serious doubts as to their constitutional validity.

Colin MacKay Ross U. of N.H. graduate

More than 500 University of New Hampshire students were awarded degrees Feb. 1 during mid-year commencement exercises at Durham, N. H. The students participated in UNH's first February graduation ceremony for students completing degree requirements before the traditional June commencement time.

Colin MacKay D. Ross, Apt. 2, 300 Lansdowne avenue, received the MS for teachers.

URBAN RENEWAL TEXT

Following is the text of the Westmount City Council's resolution of Tuesday night regarding urban renewal and low-income subsidized public housing:

Whereas the Renewal Programme of the City contained in its By-laws 727 and 735 has been ratified by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council; and Whereas the Québec Housing Corporation has submitted to the City a contract providing for the early implementation of the said Programme and for financial assistance to the City for this purpose by way of grants and loans; and

Whereas the City is unable to implement the phasing of the program as originally established due to changes which have taken place in the scheduled construction of the Trans-Canada Highway and in economic and financial conditions;

Therefore be it resolved:

That the City advise the Québec Housing Corporation that for the reason outlined in the preamble hereto it is not prepared, at this time, to sign the contract submitted by such Corporation to the City;

That the City will implement the Urban Renewal Programme in a manner to be determined by it and with its own resources, the whole in conformity with the requirements of the Québec Housing Corporation Act; and

That the City proceed immediately with the preparation of a housing programme in accordance with Section 51 of the Québec Housing Corporation Act with a view to creating a bank of dwelling units to rehouse low-income families, including eligible families which have been displaced as a result of the expropriations for the construction of the Westmount portion of the Trans-Canada Highway, or may be displaced as a result of the implementation of the Urban Renewal Program.

the extent of $4,313,300. This amendment, it was explained, will be necessary "as a result of reduced participation of the Québec Housing Corporation in the financial aspects of the urban renewal program."

On taxpayer

By refusing to sign the QHC contract, the city substitutes a potential and large cost to the local taxpayer for what would in the main have been borne by provincial and federal funds.

Another notice of motion, presented by Ald. Charles Aspler, was of a by-law "to adopt a program for the provision of low rental lodging for persons of low income."

The latter scheme, as explained by the mayor after the meeting, would fall under Section 51 of the QHC Act, whereby 95 percent of the capital cost of such public housing would be borne by Québec and Ottawa, leaving only a nominal 5 percent for the city to pick up. After that, operating costs or deficit of the resultant Westmount Housing Corporation would be made up half by the federal government, one-quarter by the provincial government and one-quarter by the city.

Planning is to commence immediately on the housing, awaiting only "in a matter of days, we hope," said Mr. McEntyre, a decision from Québec as to what qualifications such as income level citizens must meet to be entitled to this subsidized public housing.

First priority would go to families expropriated in the urban renewal area, such as in any eventual redevelopment on St. Antoine street or, as might be possible, for extension of Dawson College facilities. Next priority would be for families who may now be subsidized in their housing. Thirdly would be any of those families ousted from Selby street by the expropriation for the Trans-Canada Highway: of 240 ousted, it is understood that 38 have indicated a desire to return to Westmount from their present abodes.

Cites others

The mayor emphasized in his later press conference that under the QHC Act, a municipality does not have to have an urban renewal scheme to take advantage of the act's housing provisions, citing other municipalities in the province including nearby Verdun with its old-people's project.

Insofar as any renewal is concerned, His Worship declared that under the city's own program it was Westmount's policy that no developer be subsidized in land acquisition by public funds, as could have been the case under QHC contract rules.

By declining to sign the contract, the city was preserving its freedom of action he said.

This position was vigorously attacked in the informal session following the regular council meeting by Architect Joseph Baker who declared that the rigid time-table demanded by QHC was desirable from the point of view of the occupants of the area. They would know where they stood and what to expect and when, he asserted.

Mr. Baker opened his attack by declaring there should have been notice of the council's intentions, though he acknowledged with gratitude the fact the city had specifically invited representatives of interest groups to be present Tuesday night.

"It is immoral what has been done," he declared.

"It is condemning the area (St. Antoine street) to another period of doubt, uncertainty and deterioration." It would have been preferable to have gone for low-interest loans to assist the people of the area to improve their properties, he suggested.

Safeguard

The mayor answered by saying that it does not take away a safeguard to the citizens affected by not signing the contract. The overall renewal scheme remained and under it alternative housing must be provided when and if there are expropriations.

Urban renewal would now have to be financed out of taxes and possibly grants, but council considered that refusing the contract was avoiding obligations which council felt were against the city's interests, particularly when no developer was in view. The QHC time-table called rigidly for expropriation, rehousing and demolition - whether or not there was a redevelopment in view.

Mr. Baker retorted that neither was he in favor of demolitions which would reduce the stock of housing. Council's action, he said, may be in the city's best interests, "but misguided." How do you justify wiping out getting a dollar for every 25 cents spent? he asked. Far better to drop the whole thing and free the area, he stated.

The counterblast came from Ald. Jean Richer, who suggested Mr. Baker should deal with facts rather than "morality." Council was exercising its mandate to act in the best interests of the citizens of Westmount.

"You spend almost as much time around here as we councillors do," Mr. Richer said to Mr. Baker. "I hope you'll run for council, and test your facts against the electorate."

St. Antoine Resident Fred Leclaire, like Mr. Baker also on his feet twice, said he was "glad to see the city taking its social responsibilities. But with the approval of who? Just the council, or the voters?"

Consultation

The mayor said there had been ample consultation with the citizens concerned.

Mr. Leclaire later claimed that Westmount's urban renewal scheme had been passed by QHC contrary to its own law but on the orders of someone "higher up." This accusation brought an amused non-response from the council table.

Robert Davis, 1013 Greene avenue, asked if there were prospective sites for the housing. There were, said the mayor, and a possible developer. Ald. Daniel Doheny added that the city itself could be the developer.

Another St. Antoine resident asked how long it might take. There were badly needed repairs not being done to his flat. The mayor said the landlord should make repairs, under the maintenance code of the renewal scheme; if they were not being done, city officials would on request take up the cases of such tenants with the landlords. Under the QHC Act such landlords would be compensated for improvements if eventually expropriated.

The informal discussion was launched by Mayor McEntyre, who outlined the reasons for council's decision. He revealed that, while no developer was in sight there may be one for the St. Catherine-Dorchester-Greene-Wood parcel.

Earlier, the last item of the evening's agenda was a formal resolution by Ald. Aspler, seconded by Ald. John Birks, declining to sign the QHC contract, deciding to go it alone with a renewal program and to proceed immediately with a public housing program. (See text of resolution.)

No sooner had it been read and seconded than Ald. Douglas Robertson, an avowed critic of the urban renewal scheme and, as a resident of Clondeboye avenue himself within the renewal zone, declared: "I cannot vote for this resolution, which maintains the uncertainty for the people of the area."

'Hasn't Vote'

Ald. Birks retorted: "Ald. Robertson hasn't a vote, anyway. He is an interested party."

Ald. Robertson: "I can vote, and under the Cities & Towns Act I can ask council to decide whether or not I can vote."

The mayor opined that Ald. Robertson could vote, even if on a previous occasion he had declined to do so.

Ald. Doheny, seconded by Ald. Aspler, moved to allow Ald. Robertson to vote. It was carried.

The main resolution was put and approved 5 - 1, Ald. Robertson the lone dissenter.

Purse nabbed

A customer in Galeries Westmount Square had her purse, containing $23, stolen Saturday morning. It was taken either from a stroller or while it was placed on a counter.
