VITAL DIEGO SUAREZ BASE SEIZED BY BRITISH

British Troops In Possession Of Naval Base

Prime Minister Winston Churchill Announces that Terms of Surrender of French Island on Indian Ocean Now Being Arranged and that British Warships Will Enter Strategic Naval Base Later this Afternoon.

(By The Canadian Press)
British shock troops have captured the naval base of Diego Suarez in Madagascar less than forty-eight hours after their attack on the 1,000-mile-long French island.

"Antsirana, chief town in the harbor of Diego Suarez, was captured by night attack last night," an Admiralty-War Office communique said.

"The French naval and military commanders at Antsirana have surrendered."

While the fall of Diego Suarez constitutes a major victory, further resistance may be expected at Tananarive, the capital, on a plateau in the centre of the island, and at Tulear, the site of an air base, in the Southwest.

Prime Minister Churchill told Parliament that a protocol was being drawn up between the opposing commanders and that the British fleet was expected to enter Diego Suarez harbor about 3.30 p.m.

While British troops swiftly demonstrated the rise of her offensive striking power on Madagascar, the Italian high command indicated that other British assault forces were active in the Mediterranean.

"An enemy raid which was attempted against the island of Kupro, South of Crete, was promptly repulsed by our garrison there," an Italian communique said.

Presumably the attack was carried out by sea-borne British troops. Kupro lies five miles off the Southwest tip of Crete, which German paratroopers captured after the fall of Greece last year. It is about 250 miles from the nearest point on the North African coast.

Recent dispatches have reported that British commandos were being trained in North Africa for such raids.

On the North African battlefield, an Italian communique announced that British armored forces had advanced to a point East of El Mechili—one of the deepest British thrusts to the West since their retreat last February.

The communique claimed the British units had been driven back under heavy artillery fire. El Mechili is about 120 miles West of Tobruk.

HEAVY CASUALTIES DURING OCCUPATION

SOVIETS DRIVE WEDGE BETWEEN GERMAN ARMIES

One Nazi Detachment Encircled in an Important Sector West of Long-Besieged Leningrad, Reds Report.

Moscow, May 7.—(AP)—The Red army, attacking across bogs on the Leningrad front, was reported today to have driven a wedge between two German forces and encircled one Nazi detachment in an important sector West of the long-besieged city.

Red Star said the Russians captured a junction point which the Germans had held throughout the winter. This action, the army organ declared, cut the road which united Northern and Southern wings of the enemy force in this area.

The Soviet Information Bureau said Red navy ships have sunk a 5,000-ton Axis transport in the Barents Sea and Red army units have taken a further toll of the German invaders on the Kalinin front.

"On the Kalinin front, our units commanded by Comrade Timofeyev destroyed one German tank, three guns, sixteen machine guns and two mortars in one day's fighting," a communique said. "The enemy lost 300 officers and men killed."

On the Central Front West of Moscow, it added, at least six hundred Germans were killed by a tank unit which destroyed five tanks, thirty-four guns and twenty-four pillboxes. The period covered by this operation was not stated.

Berlin, (From German broadcasts) May 7.—(P)—The German high command reported today a "full on large sections of the Eastern front" but said heavy casualties had been inflicted on the Russians in local fighting in the North.

In Lapland and on the Murmansk front, the Daily War Bulletin added, "our own counter-attacks continued with good results. Renewed attacks by strong enemy forces were repulsed."

On the extreme Southern end of the front, the high command declared, "our troops operating with the Nazi air force participated in raids on the Crimean naval base of Sevastopol, scoring hits on harbor and airfield installations."

Quebec, May 7.—(P)—Appointment of Rene Dupuis as director of the recently inaugurated School of Electrical Engineering at Laval University, was announced here today. Andre Bouchard will act as Mr. Dupuis' assistant.

DELIVERY PLAN IS APPLICABLE TO NEWSPAPERS

Office of Defence Transportation Insists that Newspapers of United States Respect Delivery Order.

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—Office of Defence Transportation officials were reported today to be insisting that the newspaper industry in the United States must be ready to comply with an order reducing deliveries May 15.

Officials said that at present there is no intention of deferring the order of Joseph B. Eastman, O.D.T. director, to permit working out compliance programmes.

The order was issued April 20, but thus far only two plans have been submitted—one by the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and the other by the New York papers.

Both plans call for elimination of deliveries by vehicle to individual subscribers (such as rural routes), use of contract carriers were possible, abolition of overlapping routes, and pooling of deliveries where possible.

CANADIAN AIR HEAD ARRIVES IN BRITAIN
London, May 7.—(C.P. Cable)—Arrival in London of Air Vice-Marshal E. W. Stedman, Director General of the R.C.A.F. for Research for the R.C.A.F., was announced at R.C.A.F. headquarters today.

The Air Vice-Marshal crossed the Atlantic in a bomber and will discuss with Air Ministry, R.A.F., and R.C.A.F. officials the aviation problems common to Canada and Britain.

He also plans to visit as many Canadian squadrons as possible and interview R.C.A.F. personnel in R.A.F. squadrons.

ARMORED CORPS GETS TASTE OF DESERT BATTLE
Huge Area of Southern California Desert Used to Train Reconstituted United States Armored Corps.

By GLADWIN HILL (Associated Press Staff Writer)
With the 1st Armored Corps in the Southern California Desert, May 7.—(P)—This is "Little Libya," the United States army has just selected as coming closest to the wastes of North Africa, Iran, Iraq and Australia.

Here the 1st Armored Corps has set up a large camp, extending for miles, and with sizeable forces of tanks, mobile tank-destroyer guns and auxiliary vehicles by the hundreds, is rehearsing the operations it will use in earnest on that hoped-for day soon "when we get a crack at the Germans and the Japs."

Here for the first time United States armored units are practising tanks-versus-tank engagements under actual desert conditions. Tanks have participated extensively in the army manoeuvres previously, but on the basis of tanks versus infantry and artillery, and in country where large-scale operations were hampered by civilization.

The Federal land which the army has taken to work in is roughly ninety miles wide and 180 miles long—16,000 square miles—the largest military reservation in history.

The Corps has recently been reconstituted, of experienced units in all branches of the service assembled from all over the country.

And This Is Only The Beginning...

Here's what R. A. F. bombs did to Lubeck, Germany, in what the Germans described as "one of the most devastating raids of the war." The photograph appeared in the German publication "Hamburger Fremdenblatt," which threatened retaliatory bombings on England.

JAPANESE ARMY DRIVES FAR IN CHINA PROPER

Mechanized Spearhead Supported by Warplanes Reported Twenty-Five Miles Up Famous Burma Road.

By SPENCER MOOSA (Associated Press Staff Writer)
Chungking, May 7.—(P)—A Japanese mechanized spearhead with warplane support has swept twenty-five miles along the Burma road into Chinese territory and reached the town of Chefang, where heavy fighting is in progress, a Chinese army spokesman said today.

The spokesman said it was not clear how far the Japanese intended to penetrate Yunnan province, which contains the Chinese section of the Burma road, but the lightning drive to Chefang, so rapid the Chinese had no time to destroy the highway, raised speculation as to the prospects of an offensive with Chungking, the capital, as the objective.

En route the Japanese completed occupation of Wanting, Chinese customs station at the Burma border.

(For some weeks close students of Japan's intentions have suggested that her next major move might be a campaign to knock Free China out of the war. This might take the form of a drive Northeastward through Yunnan toward Chungking synchronized with other attacks from the old China fronts in Shensi, Honan and Hupeh provinces, Northeast and East of Chiang Kai-Shek's capital.)

The Chinese spokesman said fighting continued in Southern Hunan Province, where the Japanese launched a series of attacks from Sinyang, 150 miles North of Hankow, late last month.

FIND REMAINS OF DEATH SHIP IN CALIFORNIA

Plane Which Carried Commander of First Air Force and Seven Others to Death Found by Search Party.

Los Angeles, May 7.—(AP)—Wreckage tentatively identified as that of the United States army transport which carried Maj. Gen. Herbert Dargue, commander of the First Air Force, and seven others to death December 12, has been discovered in Southern California.

G. B. Burns of Spokane, Wash., father of Lieut. Homer Burns, co-pilot of the plane, and other relatives, discovered the wreckage at dusk last night.

Burns reported immediately to army air force officials. He said he found a belt which he identified as his son's. He saw one body and scattered clothing. He did not probe the wreckage.

Burns, his son's widow, and a brother and sister-in-law, came to Southern California last week determined to find the wreckage after the army had searched in vain.

The party began their search in isolated, rugged snow-covered mountains last Saturday. They enlisted an expert skier to guide them along treacherous trails in the vicinity a rancher reported he heard a large airplane in difficulty about the time the transport might have passed over.

HEAD CHEMISTRY GROUPS
Quebec, May 7.—(P)—Doctors Arthur Larriv and Elphège Bois were yesterday elected Presidents of the Quebec Chemistry Society and of the Quebec section of the Canadian Institute of Chemistry at a joint meeting of the two societies here.

WAR BULLETINS

London — Sir Stafford Cripps, Lord Privy Seal, announced today the House of Commons would soon hold a two-day public debate on the war.

Berlin, (from German broadcasts) — The German high command claimed today that light German bombers, ranging over the shipping lanes around Britain, sank a 2,500-ton merchant vessel and a patrol boat off the English North coast.

"Further attacks were made against important military targets and a port North of Dover," a communique said.

(A British communique said there was no German air activity over Britain during the night).

Rome, (from Italian broadcasts) — A British assault on the Island of Kupho, South of Crete, was reported today by the Italian high command, which claimed it was repulsed by the Axis garrison there.

SEEKING TO CREATE A FIGHTING SPIRIT

New Delhi, May 7.—(P)—The Government of India launched a vigorous campaign today to create a fighting spirit in this country whose major political group—the Congress Party—decided a week ago that the only way to oppose a threatened Japanese invasion would be by "non-violent non-co-operation."

Morning newspapers carried full-page advertisements warning the public that work, not words, would stop the Japanese.

The same theme will be featured in broadcasts, posters and additional advertisements, a Government spokesman said.

NEW ATTACK ON STUTTGART BY BRITISH CRAFT

Royal Air Force Attack Important German Factory for Third Successive Night — French Ports Visited.

London, May 7.—(P)—Royal Air Force bombers, continuing their smashing attacks at the industries feeding Hitler's war machine, hammered at Stuttgart last night for the third successive night and roared in to France by daylight today.

Seven of the night raiders were lost, the Air Ministry said.

The raiders went in considerable force to smash at the Southern German manufacturing city, which produces aviation engines, tanks and electrical equipment, and at other targets in that region.

Docks at Nantes also were hit for the third successive night and raids were made on airfields in German-occupied territory.

Launching of the successive attacks on Stuttgart and Nantes kept up the theme of the Royal Air Force's new offensive of pounding which again at key objectives.

DEFER ACTION ON PAYING OF COUNCILLORS

Private Bills Committee of Legislative Assembly Decries Further Study of Clause in Montreal Charter Bill.

Quebec, May 7.—(P)—The Private Bills Committee of the Legislative Assembly suspended study last night of a clause in the Montreal bill which would allow the city to pay an annual indemnity of $1,000 to members of the council.

The clause, which will be studied again today, would authorize the City to pay the indemnity to the Councillors who at present receive no remuneration. In the Council, made up of a mayor and ninety-nine councillors, only the Mayor and members of a six-man Executive Committee are paid at present.

As presented in the bill to amend the City's charter, the clause would provide for the indemnity and would authorize the deduction of a $10 fine for every meeting missed.

Hon. Oscar Drouin, Provincial Minister of Municipal Affairs, Trade and Commerce, suggested that the Councillors be paid $20 a meeting for a maximum of fifty meetings and that a $25 fine be deducted for every meeting missed.

Aime Parent, Member of the Executive Committee, said Councillors were asking for a salary but for an indemnity to cover their travelling and other expenses.

FOOD DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM IS STRAINED

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard declared today the war's strain on the United States' distribution system is placing "serious obstacles in the way of getting food to American consumers."

"In transportation—by rail, truck or ship—the situation is so tight," he said, "that we cannot afford to move anything that is not absolutely essential. . . . In fact, there is so much to be moved that usually it is a case of which essential product has priority over other essential goods."

DROWNING VERDICT AT SOREL

Sorel, Que., May 7.—(P)—Accidental death by drowning was the verdict returned yesterday by District Coroner J. H. Dupre in the case of Georges Niquette, twenty-six-year-old Sorel bricklayer, whose body was found Tuesday floating in the St. Lawrence river ten miles South of here.

Navy Minister Macdonald is expected to make a statement and then be questioned by members on his part of the $2,000,000,000 War Appropriations Bill.

Increased Japanese naval activity has been observed in the waters around New Britain, perhaps signalling a new Southward thrust against Australia's sea communications or against the Commonwealth itself.

The 100-mile waterway between New Britain and New Guinea would be the natural gateway for a Japanese sea-borne attack against Australia's East coast.

Military observers pointed out that with the fall of Corregidor in the Philippines large numbers of Japanese troops and equipment have been released for duty elsewhere, and they recalled that so far in the war the Japanese have been swift to strike in a new direction after each success.

Activity by Japanese warships was also reported near Bougainville in the Solomon Islands, 300 miles East of New Britain.

On the Burma front, Chinese military dispatches said that Japan's invasion armies pushing up the Burma Road had driven almost twenty-five miles into China proper after capturing the Chinese town of Wanting, on the China-Burma frontier.

Bitter fighting was reported raging as the outnumbered Chinese troops sought to stem the Japanese tide sweeping through China's back door.

On the Right flank, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's weary British and Indian troops were reported still falling back toward India.

JAP AIR STRENGTH SAID UNDERMINED

United Nations Headquarters, Australia, May 7.—(P)—Increased Japanese naval activity in the waters around New Britain, perhaps signalling a new Southward thrust against Australia's sea communications or against the Commonwealth itself.

Col. Ralston announced the appointment of a board of inquiry to investigate the escape of prisoners of war from the camp at Bowmanville, Ont., from which two German prisoners made a getaway Tuesday. The board will consist of Col. G. S. Stairs of Montreal, Col. K. R. Marshall of Toronto, and Col. C. M. Edwards of Ottawa.

The Defence Minister said there had been four different commanding officers at the Bowmanville camp and escapes had occurred under all of them. He wanted to find out where responsibility lay.

Considering the class of men sent to Canada for internment, said the Minister, the record has been good. He declared only eighty escapes had occurred and all had been recaptured so far except one who got away.

Resolution Urging Ministry Be Recognized As National Service Was Shelved By Anglican Synod

Montreal, May 7.—A resolution asking that the ministry be publicly recognized as an essential national service was shelved after being discussed here yesterday at the annual session of the Anglican Synod of the Montreal Diocese. It was felt that adoption of the resolution might be misunderstood in relation to the war effort.

The resolution read: "That having in mind the uncertain outlook for a Christian civilization, and the necessity of the church being adequately manned for the fulfillment of its mission to the people of the Dominion, this Synod hereby places itself on record as affirming the principle that in all circumstances the ministry of the church should be recognized as an essential form of national service."

Mr. Justice C. G. Mackinnon, a lay delegate, rose to suggest the unanimous adoption of such a resolution, and he was strongly supported by D. S. Thomas, Treasurer, and others. Although those who spoke for the resolution pointed out the importance of providing adequate numbers for the chaplaincy service of the forces as well as for the people generally, it was finally agreed unanimously to table the resolution.

Another step to place women on the same equality with men here will be proposed today at the final sessions.

Notice of a motion to allow women to be delegates, to be moved by Harold B. Lee, and seconded by Dr. J. C. Flanagan, both lay delegates, was placed on the agenda list yesterday; it reads as follows:

"Seeing that women have demonstrated their ability, usefulness, efficiency, and loyalty in discharging the duties of citizenship on equality with men in our democratic way of life (civil and military), be it resolved that this Synod be authorized to enact the necessary enabling acts through Parliament that they may be given equal rights to be named delegates to this Synod of the Diocese of Montreal and to act and to hold any office as all such delegates therein may do."

However, it was learned that opposition to such a resolution had been noted in conversation behind the scenes, and, in consequence, a briefer and less comprehensive resolution had been subsequently drawn up by the scheduled mover of the original resolution, Mr. Lee, the new resolution to read:

"That this Synod is in favor of extending to women the rights and privileges of being delegates to Synod; therefore, be it resolved that this Synod initiate an enactment of Parliament enabling them to become delegates to the Synod of Montreal."

The temperance committee's resolution against further restrictions on liquor came up in the closing minutes of yesterday afternoon's session and was adopted in the social service committee's report, which also called for the formation of a Diocesan Council for Social Service to promote greater consideration of social problems.

NEW LADIES' WEAR STORE OPENS HERE

Another addition to the number of modern and attractive stores in Sherbrooke will commence business tomorrow when "Henry's Ladies' Wear" will open its doors to the public at 63 Wellington Street North.

This new establishment will carry a full line of ladies and misses' garments, coats, dresses, etc., and the premises have been renovated completely.

This new store will be owned and managed by Henry Weinstein, who is well known in Sherbrooke and has been associated with Sherbrooke Motors for the past fourteen years. Mr. Weinstein said today that all the buying would be done in Montreal by an experienced buyer and that his store was prepared to cater to the public with a guarantee of satisfaction and courtesy at all times.

England's first tax on personal property was imposed in 1188. It was to provide funds for the Third Crusade.

E.T. BOARDS TO MEET HERE ON TUESDAY NEXT

Harold Crabtree Will Address Meeting to Be Held in Conjunction with Rotary Club Dinner.

Harold Crabtree, President of the Howard Smith Paper Mills, Montreal, will be guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade and the Eastern Townships Settlement Society in conjunction with the Rotary Club at the New Sherbrooke Hotel next Tuesday evening.

The dinner will wind up proceedings of the annual meeting of the Eastern Townships organizations who will meet at the Young Men's Christian Association building at two-thirty o'clock in the afternoon with Dr. C. S. Harris, of Magog, President of the E.T. Associated Boards of Trade, and George W. Murphy, of this city, President of the Settlement Society, as Joint Chairmen.

Mayor A. C. Ross will extend the official welcome of the city to the members of the two groups, and the special speaker of the afternoon will be Roland Deschamps, F.E.N., Chief Inspector of the Forest Service, representing the Provincial Government Reformation Department.

BEEF SHORTAGE IS RELIEVED IN THIS DISTRICT

"The beef shortage in Sherbrooke and in the Eastern Townships is a thing of the past," said a representative of a meat packing concern to a Record reporter today. "There are plenty of cattle on the market and I don't know of any body in Sherbrooke and the district who can't get all the beef he wants."

He said that Sherbrooke and Eastern Townships butchers and meat departments of chain stores were buying heavy supplies of beef for week-end business.

At the same time, he explained that the end of the beef shortage began earlier this week, when more cattle were put on the market.

"All big packers, including my firm, have begun to buy again and the farmers are now willing to sell and there is plenty of beef available today," he stated.

Almost twice as many cattle came into the Montreal area yesterday as a week ago, according to him. This increase, he stated, has eased the beef shortage.

The increase in cattle coming on the market for Sherbrooke and Eastern Townships dealers was due to nearby U.S. markets receiving enough Canadian cattle. Unable to sell their cattle across the line, some farmers turned to the local market again.

Any scarcity of beef will be cleared up now that the United States has stabilized prices, patterned on the price control system of Canada.

He said that the price control in America means that there will be no profit for a farmer to ship his cattle across the border and cattle sales in Canada will return to normal.

SHORTAGE DUE TO EXPORT DEMAND

Ottawa, May 7.—(G)—A shortage of beef since April 1 in larger consuming centres in Eastern Canada has been due to higher prices of certain classes of cattle in the export market than those offered in Canada, said an Agriculture Department return tabled in the House of Commons yesterday.

The return was made by Agriculture Minister Gardiner in reply to an inquiry by Liguori Lacombe (CDN., Laval-Two Mountains) as to whether there was a scarcity of beef in Montreal and other Canadian cities.

Mr. Lacombe asked whether the Government proposed to undertake an inquiry to fix responsibility for the scarcity and was informed in the return that no investigation was considered necessary.

The return said proposals for dealing with the situation had been under consideration but decision was deferred pending further market developments.

(It was understood that consideration had been given to possible control of cattle exports to the United States to ensure that domestic supplies were maintained. However, if the marketings prove sufficient to meet the demand, it was considered unlikely by informed sources that any action would be taken by the Government.)

Figures provided for Mr. Lacombe showed a sharp gain in fresh beef exports to the United States in the present year compared with 1941.

January shipments totalled 15,898 hundredweight against 304 in the same month in 1941.

Shipments for other months this year, with 1941 figures in brackets, follow: February, 12,204 hundredweight (121); March, 13,050 (98) and April 951 (55).

MORE GRASS FIRES PUT OUT

For the first time this month, there were no motor accidents in the city yesterday, police reported today.

However, three grass fires were put out by the Municipal Fire Department. These were at vacant lots on St. Michael Street, Cartier Street, in the rear of 29 Lafontaine Street, and at 34 Elgin Street. The latter lot is owned by George Knapp.

Sherbrooke Sailor Who Won O.B.E. For Feat Of Surgery Arrested On Theft Charge

Florent Morin, 23 years old, of Sherbrooke, recently awarded the Order of the British Empire for repairing the scalp of an injured Norwegian sailor while at sea, was expected to arrive in Montreal from Halifax today to answer to a charge of theft of $900 from a Montreal woman.

Morin was arrested in Halifax Sunday night by Halifax detectives who made no announcement of the incident until yesterday. Details of the accusation were lacking, Chief Brodeur said in Montreal today, since the woman, a friend of the prisoner, brought her own complaint to the police office and the Montreal Detective Bureau had only been charged with serving the warrant.

Montreal authorities got on the trail of Morin April 23, Halifax detectives said, when a story of his surgical feat appeared in Montreal newspapers under a Halifax date-line. Last Saturday, the Halifax Police Department was asked in a letter to pick up Morin for Montreal authorities.

The $900 theft was mentioned in the letter but the individual from whom it was taken was not.

According to Morin's own description of himself, he was just "a dirty fireman" aboard a Halifax harbor craft at the time of his arrest.

In telling of the operation for which he won the O.B.E., he said it was performed on the deck of a Canadian corvette which rescued Morin and the Norwegian sailor, along with a group of other seamen, from a lifeboat in which they had been adrift three hours after their merchant ship was torpedoed off Iceland.

During the torpedoing, the Norwegian's scalp was ripped and "hanging down his back like a hood." On the corvette, there was no doctor so Morin volunteered to treat the Norwegian as "I studied some medicine while at college in Paris and Montreal and had a vague idea of what to do."

He washed the wounds, placed the scalp back in position. He used fish hooks and curtain clasps to clamp the skull in position so it could be sewn. For sewing the scalp back in place, he used horsehair taken from his seaman's coats and the needle from his seaman's kit.

Several days after the operation, they arrived in Iceland and the Norwegian was placed in hospital where he recovered.

Several days ago Judge Lemay had instructed Dr. G. L. Favreau to give Lachapelle a mental examination, and in the doctor's opinion the former Granby youth was sane and able to stand trial.

Evidence that Lachapelle had acted queerly during and following the attack was provided by Sgt.-Detective A. Quenneville, of the Provincial Police, who testified that when asked why he had assaulted Guerin the accused replied that he "wanted to get revenge on Guerin because he had spoiled his food." Later, however, he admitted that he did not know Guerin. Testifying during the hearing, Guerin said that he not only did not know the accused, but had never seen him before.

It was learned that Lachapelle inflicted seven wounds on Guerin's body, with one of them, a throat gash, missing the jugular vein by the proverbial whisker. In his testimony, Guerin said that when the accused jumped on the running board of the truck he thought he wanted to talk to him, and opened the window. Lachapelle then struck him with the knife, but missed him.

When Guerin got out of the truck he saw the accused run toward a pile of junk material and pick up a piece of pipe. Guerin then closed in on Lachapelle, and the latter struck at him savagely with the knife. He was subdued by Guerin, with the help of Sam Greene and Urbain Hebert, both of whom gave testimony.

Other witnesses at the hearing were Chief of Police Henri Dandenault, Dr. I. D. Telmosse and Dr. Vincent Gauthier.

Lachapelle Ordered To Stand Trial On Accusation Of Attempted Murder

Judge Lemay Suggests Accused Be Placed Under Observation by Specialists in Mental Disorders—Alleged to Have Attacked Paul Guerin, of Coaticook, with Pocket Knife.

Suggesting that George Aime Lachapelle be placed under observation by specialists in mental disorders, Judge J. H. Lemay yesterday condemned the twenty-two-year-old accused to stand trial in the next term of Court of King's Bench for the attempted murder of Paul Guerin, 25, of Coaticook, upon whose person he made a savage attack on the afternoon of Thursday, April 16.

Several days ago Judge Lemay had instructed Dr. G. L. Favreau to give Lachapelle a mental examination, and in the doctor's opinion the former Granby youth was sane and able to stand trial.

Evidence that Lachapelle had acted queerly during and following the attack was provided by Sgt.-Detective A. AMENDMENT TO NEW BY-LAW TO BE PROPOSED

Would Make All New Streets and Lanes Residential Unless Otherwise Decided by Council.

An amendment to the proposed new by-law, which will establish certain streets as strictly residential, will be made at the next meeting of City Council, it was announced today at City Hall by Antonin Deslauriers, City Clerk.

The new article to be added to the projector by-law will stipulate "new streets or lanes in the city will be residential unless otherwise decided by City Council."

Alderman J. D. G. Bryant, North Ward representative and head of the Health and Hygiene Committee, at the last meeting of Council on Monday night, gave notice of his intention to submit a by-law providing for the reservation of certain city thoroughfares as strictly residential.

This by-law was designed to provide the establishment of stores and other business enterprises on Vimy, Argyle and Durham Streets in the North Ward sector of the city.

ATTENDING CONFERENCE AT CONCORD, N.H.

Eight members of the local Rotary Club left today to attend the Spring Conference of the 195th Rotary District, being held at Concord, N.H.

Those making the trip are President Albert Munster, President-elect E. E. Goodenough, Past District Governor G. E. Ewing and Rotarians E. W. Gilbey, S. G. Newton, A. C. Skinner, J. W. Smith and Leonard Dunn.

Assisting Prisoners Of War Is One Of Red Cross' Main Duties

One of the principal reasons why the Dominion-wide Red Cross campaign, and the Sherbrooke drive for an objective of $35,000 should not be allowed to fail is the fact that money raised in this effort will go into so many valuable causes in connection with the war, among them the assistance of prisoners of war.

Sergeant Robert Aldrick, Royal Canadian Air Force, put the situation in a nutshell in a letter to Montreal friends written from "Camp No. 43, Lager Bezeichnung, Deutschland," when he says, "I'm ashamed to confess that at one time when the Red Cross asked for donations, I doubted the purpose of my two bits. Now thousands of prisoners of war, including myself, say 'Thank God for the Red Cross.'"

"This letter," Aldrick wrote "may give you some idea of how much we P.O.W.'s rely on the Red Cross Society. Without a doubt the most important benefit we receive are the weekly food parcels. They add food value otherwise lacking. In our camp we have tasted English, U.S. and Canadian food, and in spite of the tasty variety of the English, the Canadian parcels are by far the most prized."

The International Red Cross at Geneva," the letter continues, have sent large consignments of clothes for needy prisoners. Warm woollens and blankets have made a severe winter more bearable. This supply has been supplemented by the constantly arriving parcels from relations. Another welcome comfort are the cigarettes. The Red Cross try to provide fifty cigarettes weekly to each man, but sometimes the programme is upset. They also endeavor to supply literature of all classes for our needs. Although we had no books at all on our arrival we now have many classics and light novels. We have not neglected our religion and use a number of prayer books and Bibles for our Sunday evening services conducted by a prisoner of war.

"Medical supplies have also been sent and are in charge of two R.A.M.C. orderlies in our camp. These things all depend on transportation, and, of course, the proper organization of the Red Cross. On such a large scale, it is impossible to expect favorable results in all cases and to keep track of all shipments, besides the usual receipt forms. A Red Cross representative periodically visits all camps checking conditions."

Robert Aldrick's letter is further proof that relatives and friends who are prisoners of war are being cared for by the Canadian Red Cross. Parcels, loaded with nourishing food, are being packed in Montreal at the rate of 4,000 a week day morning. Women volunteer workers are giving generously of their time to this work.

A postcard is enclosed in each of the boxes for the war prisoners. Over 165,000 of these cards have been returned by British prisoners of war, evidence that the parcels are reaching their proper destination.

The Red Cross needs money to keep these parcels of food flowing to prisoners of war. Starting Monday an intensive drive for funds is to be launched. It is the first appeal to the public in nearly two years. The drive of the Quebec Division is $2,000,000.

SHORT-SIGHTED ECONOMY

Once again the Sherbrooke City Council has given a splendid example of being penny-wise and pound-foolish, the decision to turn down the request of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce for a grant of two thousand dollars towards financing the activities of that body being the case in point. As usual, the decision to refuse the grant was made at a secret session of the Council, at which most of the affairs of the city are decided, rather than at an open sitting of the Council where the average citizen could be given an opportunity of expressing his opinion.

The grounds on which the grant was refused are flimsy to say the least. Realizing that the financial position of the city is such that to refuse it on the claim of lacking the required cash was impossible, the Council is pointing to the danger of establishing a precedent, claiming that if such a grant were given other organizations might come forward and seek assistance. This is really a pitiful argument to bring forward, as a study of the list of grants made each year by the municipality leaves little to the imagination, many organizations receiving assistance whose benefit to the city is problematical, although admittedly many of those receiving aid are highly deserving.

Alberic Julian, Secretary of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, has been carrying on a splendid work in the direction of civic progress, but he has been subjected to many unwarranted difficulties owing to the retrogressive attitude of the City Council, which still seeks to resurrect long-past trouble as an excuse for opposing any forward movement.

One matter which Mayor Alec Ross might well turn his attention to is the matter of secret sessions. The Council business is public business and the proposals before the Council should be studied in the broad light of the public meetings rather than in the dictator-room atmosphere of the committee room. If the Council do not mend their ways, each alderman might find himself following the footsteps of certain other supporters of these secret sessions.

CORREGIDOR FALLS

The fall of Corregidor at long last gives the Japanese use of the strategic naval base of Manila over which the little Gibraltar stood such gallant guard, but the delay imposed on the enemy programme of advance by the brilliant defence of Bataan and Corregidor has been of inestimable value to the Allies in the preparation of the all-important defences of Australia and otherwise getting set for action. Manila and its defences were the barriers which the Japs had to crash in order to perfect their attenuated sea communications with the homeland and permit them to race onward towards Indonesia and Australia. Had they not been halted in the Philippines, Australia might long ago have experienced invasion.

Under the circumstances one finds it difficult to look upon the surrender of the rock of Corregidor as a defeat. Not only has it made an invaluable contribution to the Allied arms but, as President Roosevelt said in his message to General Wainwright: "You and your devoted followers have become living symbols of our war aims and the guarantee of victory."

Wainwright and his men never had a chance to win through against the overwhelming striking power of the Japanese. Not only were the men without air protection and under a merciless cross-fire from heavy artillery on both sides of the harbor, but they had run short of ammunition and even lacked sufficient food. They must have been in a state of physical collapse from want of nourishment and sleep after almost a month of continual bombardment when the Japs swarmed ashore and enforced surrender.

Corregidor was a powerful position. Most of its important defences were, like mighty Gibraltar, hewn out of the interior of the rock. Together with its three companion islands it dominated the great Bay of Manila and prevented one of the world's finest harbors being used by the Japanese. Lack of adequate air defence was one of the main causes of the loss of the Philippines, and the same was true of Malaya, Singapore and Indonesia. Corregidor's rocky strength could not offset that disadvantage.

THE ALLIES REVIEW THE AIR WAR

Supporting the British claims that the Axis is being smashed from the air harder than at any time in history, the Air Ministry has summed up statistically the details of the Royal Air Force's April offensive.

Crediting "more favorable climatic conditions" for the intensified bombing, the Air Ministry told how during April:

1—175 attacks were made on sixty-two targets in Europe, the Middle East and Far East.

2—287 enemy aircraft were destroyed against a R.A.F. loss of 314, exclusive of the Far East.

3—Thirty-one Axis ships were sunk, blasted or set afire.

These figures were compared with those of March when 136 raids were made on fifty-five targets and 135 enemy aircraft were destroyed for a British loss of 144.

Canadian crews have figured in operations in almost every theatre of the war and a spokesman for the R.C.A.F., reviewing the part they played in the offensive, disclosed that on the basis of the number of man-hours flown in active operations against the enemy, April was their busiest month of the war.

The full extent of their operations cannot be told but the measure of it can be gained from three highlights which marked the work of the R.C.A.F. personnel of three great battlefields of this Second world war, the spokesman said.

In Europe F.O. D. S. R. Hephurn of Brighton, Ont., was squadron navigation officer for a daylight raid by Lancaster bombers on Augsburg (Germany). He did not come back from that trip but other members of the squadron told how his navigation had been largely responsible for the fact that eight Lancasters reached and successfully bombed their target.

In the Middle East F.O. R. C. Fumerton of Fort Coulogne, Que., continued his exceptional night flying exploits, scoring two victories over German raiders at Alexandria within fifteen minutes.

And in the Far East a Canadian-managed flying boat was the first to spot the approach of carrier-borne Japanese bombers to Colombo (Ceylon). This crew's report to Ceylon defence authorities—the last it ever sent out—was responsible for the heavy losses inflicted on the raiders when they reached the city.

It was in the European theatre that the Canadians had the busiest time, however. R.C.A.F. Spitfire squadrons took part in almost all day sorties among fifty-six attacks carried out day and night against twenty-two targets in Occupied Europe, fourteen of them against Le Havre, seven against Dunkerque, five against St. Omer and three against Cherbourg.

Some of the Boston and Hurricane bombers used in the sweeps were named by R.C.A.F. crews, many of them by pilots getting into their first real actions. Meanwhile in the shortening hours of darkness R.C.A.F. squadrons were out every night that the weather permitted, attacking targets in Germany and Occupied France.

The Air Ministry said the Bomber Command as a whole attacked eight targets in Germany nineteen times. Five raids were directed against the Ruhr, four on Rostock, three on the Rhineland and two each on Cologne and Hamburg.

In addition home-based aircraft bombed Italy once and an attack was made on the Skoda armament factories at Pilsen in conquered Czechoslovakia. Raids against occupied territory included two against the German naval base at Trondheim, Norway, while in the Middle East fifty-seven attacks were made on twelve targets, seventeen on Bengasi, ten on Matruh, eight on Derna and six on Berka and Crete.

In European air fighting the R.A.F. destroyed 117 enemy aircraft and lost 247 while 170 enemy machines were shot down in the Middle East against the loss of sixty-seven.

Ten enemy ships, including supply vessels, a torpedo boat and flak ships, were sunk or damaged off the Norwegian, Netherlands and French coasts. Five ships were hit in the Mediterranean.

Incomplete figures for the Far East showed R.A.A.F. planes made twenty-nine attacks against nine targets while the R.A.F. based in Burma, in co-operation with the American Army Air Force and the American Volunteer Group, raided nine targets twelve times.

The R.A.F. and R.A.A.F. sank and damaged sixteen ships in addition to damage inflicted on motor launches and barges.

FROM THE RECORD FILES

A semi-official report circulating in Coaticook said that the decision has been finally reached to transfer the King's Hall Girls' School now located in Compton to Coaticook.

Rev. W. S. Anthony has tendered his resignation as minister of Emmanuel Congregational Church at Cowansville.

Among those taking part in the programme at a social evening held in St. Peter's Church Hall were Rev. Canon Shreve, L. A. Bayley, J. W. Bearder, J. T. Matthews, Sidney Francis, Cecil Guy, James Mackinnon, E. Winn Farwell, Lt.-Col. J. J. Penhale and Harry Robinson.

Every civilized country of the world is represented at the International Red Cross Conference being held in Washington in an effort to prepare a common programme for war and disaster relief.

The committee in charge of a tea and sale held by the Junior Auxiliary of St. Peter's Church comprised Mrs. Albert Wiggitt, the Misses E. Hargrave, A. Bennetts, Kathleen Scholes, Annie King, Sylvia King and Mrs. C. O. Gustafson.

The courts are rather rough on vagrants this year, imposing ten-day prison terms on those found travelling without the required railway transportation.

FRENCH PRESS

CANADA'S PART

La Presse, Montreal.

The contribution made by Canada to the struggle sustained by the United Nations is remarkable in every way and largely surpasses in importance what might have been expected of the Dominion, taking into consideration its population and that it was not prepared for what was demanded of it. That is the judgment passed upon our war effort by the High Commissioner for Australia, Sir William Glasgow, expressing the admiration he has felt for what he has seen on every side on Canadian soil. He even said that "for two years Canada has been the second line of defence of Great Britain and has given it extremely precious aid, without which it is certain that Churchill would not have been able to carry on." It would be hard to find a more eloquent appreciation of the support furnished by the Canadian people to the great conflict of the world which interest not only the United Kingdom, Canada, the other Dominions, and the Empire, but all the free peoples of the world.

HAVE A SMILE

A recent movie comedy showed on the screen a bevy of shapely girls disrobing for a plunge in the "old swimming pool." They had just taken off their shoes, hats, coats . . . when a passing freight dished across the screen and obscured the view. When it moved passed, the girls were frolicking in the water.

An old railroad rat sat through the show again and again. At length an usher tapped him on the shoulder. "Aren't you ever going home?" he asked.

"Oh, I'll wait a while," was the answer. "One of these times that train's going to be late."

A commercial traveller put up at a small country hotel. The following morning he was asked by the landlord how he had enjoyed the cornet playing in the bedroom next door during the night.

"Enjoy it?" cried the bag-man. "I should think not, indeed! Why, I spent half the night pounding on the wall to make that cornet lunatic stop."

"I'm afraid there has been a misunderstanding," said the landlord stiffly. "The cornet player told me that the person in the next room applauded him so heartily that he played every piece he knew five times over."

After the week-end guest had departed, the hostess was tidying up. "There," she exclaimed in disgust. "I knew that friend of yours wasn't to be trusted. I've just counted the towels and one of them is missing."

"Was a good one?" asked the husband anxiously.

"The best we had! It was the one with 'Grand Palace Hotel' woven in it."

Meeting the village "black sheep" in an advanced state of intoxication, the kind old vicar said:

"Oh, Robt., and the last time I met you, you made me so happy because you were sober. Now you make me unhappy because you have been drinking."

"That's right, sir," replied Robert, beaming. "Today it's my turn to be h-i-c-h-p-o-p-y."

Having detailed a fatigue party to load a lorry with flour, the sergeant in charge went to see how they were getting on. They weren't.

"What are you fellows waiting for?" he shouted when he found them gazing expectantly at the sacks.

"Sall right, sergeant," said one of the party. "Those sacks are all marked 'self-raising,' so we're just hoping."

PRESS COMMENTS

MANDALAY

Christian Science Monitor. Because Kipling's poem became a song well-known wherever English is spoken, Japan's race against the monsoon on the "Road to Mandalay" got almost the attention its strategic importance deserved in the United Nations. By taking the old capital of Burma two weeks ahead of the rainy-season deadline, the Japanese have won a campaign which was of great importance to them. For it removes the most serious threat of a counter-attack which might cut the long tentacles of their conquests.

For the Allies the defeat, although probably not decisive in the global war, vastly increases their difficulties. It ends hopes for an early move to establish in China bases from which large-scale flanking air attacks could be directed at Formosa, Japan itself, and all the supply lines running South to the Philippines, the Dutch Indies, and Singapore. It endangers the last oil supply open to China, and frees large forces of Japanese for new drives—against India, Australia, or Russia.

To these concrete military factors must be added the effect on morale. China has seen the enemy she had withstood alone for four years quickly successful once more against those great Powers from the West, Britain and America. All through the East the white man's prestige has suffered another blow. Who could have imagined that Rangoon would ever see the Rising Sun coming up like thunder over China "cross the Bay"?

Or in the Imperial India, Burma and Malaya of Kipling's note-distant day, who would have believed that the irradiated banner of Japan would rise in the East, carried in six weeks "from Rangoon to Mandalay"?

The Japanese not only had superior forces; they used them well against great difficulties of terrain and transportation. Their jungle war by small self-sustaining units has been as well-adapted to their problem and field of operations as Hitler's blitzkrieg to Poland and France. The Allies can only hope that if the enemy tries now to attack India from Burma, the mountainous country and the lengthened lines of communication will slow him down.

They have to face the prospect that when the Japanese fleet that caused so much consternation in the Bay of Bengal has refueled at Singapore, it may bring a new army for a seaborne attack on Calcutta or a landing in Madras.

The bombing of Rangoon by American planes indicates that such a move will not be unopposed. It is likely in fact that the British have now gathered a fleet which could have been used to attack the Japanese by sea. Somewhere the spreading power of the Japanese will reach a limit. The Allies have counted—perhaps too much so far—on this law of diminishing returns.

There is reason to believe that the Japanese have taken in Burma in order to strengthen the Near East and Russia. What happens in the West may soon determine whether Mandalay marks a discouraging but temporary defeat which can be erased if Hitler is stopped. That must be the Allied hope.

MAKING FLAGS FOR THE ROYAL NAVY

British Industrial Bulletin. Among the women called in to make flags for Britain's expanding Royal Navy is one who until recently worked for a Court dress-maker appointed to Queen Elizabeth. Instead of silks and velvets she now works with bunting, the material from which all the Admiralty's flags are made. It is a special kind of work, coming mostly from Australia.

Between 3,500 and 4,000 flags are made every week at the factory where this needlewoman works, and that total is but a tenth of the whole output of British flagmakers. Most of the work today is for Government departments, primarily for the Admiralty, while merchant ships also require their complement of flags.

Each of the King's ships has to carry the 81 flags of the Admiralty code, as well as ensigns, and all but the smallest have such special flags as the Royal Standard, flown when King George comes aboard.

Although in peace-time much of this factory's work lies in making industrial flags of all sizes, from tiny silk ones for toys to large flags for advertising, they have always a steady demand for ships' flags from the Admiralty and the merchant service.

Some flags have the colors printed on, but ships' flags have to stand up to a great deal of wear and tear, so they are built up from separate pieces of colored bunting, chosen because it combines strength with good "flying" qualities, the open weave allowing much of the wind to pass through it.

WHAT AND WHERE IS ROSTOCK?

National Geographic Society. A quaint medieval town that has bloomed during the war as a war-plane, ship and machine building nest is Rostock, the German Baltic port bombed by the R.A.F. Rostock was one of the important city-states of the Hanseatic League, the North German merchants' guild that dominated Baltic trade and politics in the 14th century. Later, it is reported, the port has been a supply centre for war goods going to the Finnish front. Its population now is about 90,000.

The port, lies eight miles up the broad Warnow River which flows into the Baltic at Warnemunde. It is eighty miles East of Lubeck, likewise an important Baltic port; 177 miles North of Berlin by rail, and 160 miles South of Copenhagen. Rostock is an important stop on the rail-and-ferry line that connects the German and Danish capitals.

Old town, middle town and new town are Rostock's three sections. Old town contains five ancient churches. One was begun in 1280 and was nearly 175 years under construction. The 461-foot spire of another serves as a landmark for sailors at sea.

Celebrated, too, are the 13th century Gothic town hall and Rostock University, founded in 1419. The latter is one of Germany's oldest centers of learning. Forty of the old town gates are still standing, one dating from the 14th century.

RETURN OF THE NATIVE

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority.

RAISE OF MINOR SUIT IS RARE BID

Syracuse, N.Y., has been officially designated as the site of the 1942 fall tournament. It will give me great pleasure to renew bridge battles there with several of my old friends. One of them is Pat Murphy, newly elected President of the Central New York Bridge Association.

I recall a rubber bridge game in which Pat and I were partners. He was sitting South and made a bid, which although difficult for me to interpret, nevertheless resulted in a good score. He opened with one heart and I responded with two diamonds. His raise to three diamonds puzzled me.

This raise of a minor suit, in place of a heart rebid or a bid of no trumps, is very rare. Was he asking me to bid three no trump if I could stop the black suits? Was he temporizing in the hope that I could now show neutral heart support?

I decided that, in any event, the bid showed his top tricks were mainly in diamonds. We might have 10 solid tricks in the red suits, so I bid three hearts. Pat went to game, which was made through the fortunate split in hearts.

ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED AT COWANSVILLE

Hundred Friends and Relatives Call to Congratulate Mr. and Mrs. James McClure on 50th Wedding Day.

Cowansville, May 7. — A very happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McClure on Sunday, May 3, when this worthy couple celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. About 100 guests called during the afternoon and evening to offer their congratulations and best wishes.

Dr. S. W. Boyd, on behalf of Emmanuel Church, made a congratulatory address and Miss Doris Bridgette presented the guests of honor with a billfold well-filled with crisp new bills. Miss Florence Longway presented the bride of fifty years ago with fifty daffodils. Both expressed sincere appreciation of these remembrances.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure received a beautiful silver tray and electric lamp from their immediate family. A very pleasant surprise was experienced when eleven friends and relatives from Lachute arrived to take part in the festivities. They were Mr. J. Fraser, Mr. W. Todd, Mr. J. Todd, Mrs. J. McKimmie, Mr. and Mrs. D. Rodger, Mr. and Mrs. Black, Mrs. Daig, Mr. William Rodger, and Mr. Erskine Rodger and Mrs. J. Lucas, of St. Lambert, who was Mrs. McClure's bridesmaid on May 4, 1892, when as Elizabeth Barron she became the bride of James McClure, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James McClure, all of Lachute.

The first twenty-six years of their married life was spent in that vicinity where ten children were born of this union. With the exception of two girls who died in infancy, all are living and were present with their families.

Those present were Alice, Mrs. Fulford, Margaret, Mrs. C. Hamilton, Miss Jean McClure, Carswell, John and David, of Cowansville; Janet, Mrs. H. Hibbard, Granby; Helene, Mrs. L. F. Lachute, Montreal; and twelve grandchildren. It was regretted that Dr. William McClure, of Toronto, was not able to be present.

In the twenty-four years that Mr. and Mrs. McClure have been here they have made many friends by their fine example of Christian character and neighborly spirit, and all join in wishing them many more years of happy married life. Both are enjoying comparatively good health and are active about the house and farm, and they and their family are generous supporters of the United Church.

Delicious refreshments were served and there was a beautifully decorated three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom which were hand-carved by Mrs. D. Charters. Many flowers were used for decoration throughout the house.

Good Manners Help You Win Friends

Avoid Errors in Public

"What can you expect of people who don't know that the girl should enter the row first," the Browns sigh as Bob and Jane charge into their seats at the theatre. And Bob and Jane would like to know the well-bred young Browns better.

Such points of etiquette are simple enough to learn. On a double date at the movies one man enters the row first, the two girls next, the other man last.

At dances — crude for a man to ask a girl, "Have you got this dance taken?" But smooth and correct is "Shall we dance this?"

Nor does a well-bred girl make herself conspicuous by walking across the dance floor alone, but asks her escort to take her.

Very formal parties with a receiving line? No hesitations when you know it's proper for the girl to precede the man down the line, introduce herself and her escort to the person at the head.

Have better times, win new friends by knowing fine points of etiquette. Our 32-page booklet explains manners for movies, dancing, formal parties, other occasions. Gives pointers on introductions, correct dress, good form at games.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Etiquette for Young Moderns" to Daily Record, Home Service, Sherbrooke, Quebec. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Corey, of Dunham, Que., announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Dolores Muriel, to Mr. Edwin Arthur Lampman, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lampman, of East Dunham, Que., the marriage to take place in June.

Miss Barbara Thompson, student at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, is arriving on Saturday to spend her summer holidays at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, 1096 Quebec Street.

Members of the executive of the Sherbrooke Community Concert Association gave a supper party at the Social Canadian Club, Melbourne Street, in honor of Mr. Raul Johnson, after the concert in the Christ-Roi Church Hall on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. G. Scott, of Newark, N.J., and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Nelson, of Boston, Mass., were guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Walter Kinkead, and Mr. Kinkead, en route for South Durham, where they will spend the summer with Mrs. Scott's brother, Mr. Ernest Mills.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

WOMEN'S COMMITTEE OF THE SHERBROOKE FUSILIER REGIMENT

An exceptionally interesting meeting of the Women's Committee of the Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. I. Eichenberg, 196 Victoria Street, with Mrs. J. H. Gilbert acting jointly as hostess.

Mrs. F. H. Bradley, Vice-President, was in the chair. The customary routine business included the reading of the minutes by Mrs. Eugene Arnold and a satisfactory financial statement presented by Mrs. Lyman Tomkins, Treasurer, the latter reporting that the benefit tea at the Mackinnon Memorial had proved a most successful event, both socially and financially.

Mrs. Tomkins also read a letter from the Sherbrooke Winter Club, enclosing twenty dollars to be used for comforts for the men of the regiment.

The meeting voted that 10,000 cigarettes be sent to the men taking special courses overseas.

Mrs. Bradley stressed the need for more clean rags for the use of the men stationed at Debert, N.S. This is an urgent appeal as rags are a real necessity.

It was agreed to continue the Committee's monthly meetings during the summer months, and a tentative programme for raising funds was drawn up, the first event to be a food sale convened by Mrs. Norman Walsh, to be held in the near future; the second a tag-day, if arrangements can be made, and thirdly a fashion show in August.

Mrs. Bradley strongly impressed upon the members the necessity of entertaining the wives, mothers and sisters of the N.C.O.'s and men of the regiment, stating that other organizations were sponsoring this branch of service.

After discussion the matter was left over until the next meeting, which will be held at Mrs. A. C. Stevens, 189 Quebec Street, with Mrs. E. A. Lunderville acting as joint hostess.

Prior to adjournment a resolution, proposed by Mrs. F. H. Bradley, and unanimously approved, was recorded as follows: All members are requested to abstain from talking regarding troop movements and all matters pertaining to the militia.

It was further agreed that this resolution be read at every meeting of the Committee, as a reminder to those who had already sponsored its adoption, and for the benefit of members who had not been present.

Adjournment was followed by a pleasant social hour during which the hostesses served tea informally.

ACCIDENT VERDICT IN SOREL FATALITY

Sorel, Que., May 7.—A verdict of accidental death was returned by District Coroner J. H. Dupre in the case of Jean Louis Gauthier, nineteen-year-old machinist who was found fatally injured a block from his home here early Sunday morning.

Gauthier was said to have suffered a skull fracture in a fall to the pavement. He died in hospital, several hours after the fall, without regaining consciousness.

minion Government in its long-range national nutrition programme.

The fellowships provide for research to be undertaken in laboratories of universities and medical schools with funds which the company has set aside as grants in aid, beginning May 11. The fellowships will be for one year but may be renewed where the project warrants it.

Any fundamental study of the nutritive properties of foods or the application of such information to improvement of the Canadian diet and health will be eligible for consideration for a grant, according to Mr. Tapley.

"A higher level of nutrition for the better health of all Canadians is an essential objective for this Dominion," Mr. Tapley pointed out in making the formal announcement. "To advance fundamental knowledge of foods and to discover or develop ways to feed our nation more wisely, Swift Canadian Company is undertaking to extend and broaden nutrition research in this country. The fellowships in nutrition are designed to facilitate the achievement of the long-range objective of Canada's nutrition programme and the current war aims."

88 SURVIVORS OF TORPEDOED SHIPS LANDED

Cocoa, Fla., May 7.—(AP)—Eighty-eight survivors from two torpedoed freighters—one British and one of the United Nations—have reached safety with spectacular stories of a heroic naval rescue at sea and of a gun crew, including a Canadian, that risked death to keep firing upon an Axis submarine.

The United States Navy Department has revealed that the two vessels fell victims to torpedoes off the Eastern United States Coast early on the morning of May 3. Twenty-three men lost their lives in the sinkings.

Seventeen of them died when a torpedo struck their lifeboat as it was being lowered over the port side of the medium-sized United Nations freighter. Another of the ship's crew was killed, and forty-six survivors were brought to an East Coast naval air station.

The other five were killed in the engine room of the medium-sized British freighter, from which forty-two survivors were brought to the naval station.

When the British ship was torpedoed and began to sink, John Park, senior pilot, of Vancouver, B.C., gave orders for the ship to be abandoned. "I had given the order when the gunner came to me and told me that he thought he could see the sub," Park said. "He begged me to let him try to hit it. I told him to go ahead, but we were settling all the time."

The gunner, Sid Webster, of Beemerville, Ont., said fifteen shots were fired and several near-misses were scored on the submarine.

For the most of the United Nations ship's crew, it was the second torpedoing in three weeks. They were aboard a British ship sunk earlier, but volunteered for service after having been landed at an East Coast port.

DIOCESAN CHANGES AT ST. HYACINTHE

PROMOTIONS IN CANADIAN ARMY ARE ANNOUNCED

Former Resident of Kinnear's Mills Becomes Director of Military Training Under New Set-Up.

Ottawa, May 7.—(C) —Appointment of Brig. E. G. Weeks, of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, a Deputy Adjutant General at National Defence Headquarters since last February, as a Deputy Chief of the General Staff, was announced yesterday by Defence Minister Ralston. Two other appointments in the branch of the Chief of the General Staff were announced simultaneously.

Col. R. G. Whitelaw, formerly commandant of the Officers' Training Centre at Brockville, Ont., becomes Director of Military Training.

Lt.-Col. Howard Kennedy, is appointed Director of Trades Training, a new Directorate, with rank of colonel.

The re-appointment of Brig. Ralph B. Gibson, 47, Assistant Chief of the General Staff (Home Defence) since last December, is changed to Deputy Chief of the General Staff.

Brig. Weeks, 45, took over as Director of Military Training last autumn after Brig. J. K. Lawson, as Commander of the Canadian contingent, went to Hong Kong where he subsequently was killed by Japanese shellfire. Last February he was named a Deputy Adjutant-General.

Col. Whitelaw, 48, has been serving as Military Training Director for some time and now is confirmed in that post.

Of the appointment of Col. Kennedy, 49, National Defence Headquarters said:

"The increasing importance of trades training and the number of skilled tradesmen required for Canada's mechanized forces led to the decision to set up a new Directorate of Trades Training."

Col. Kennedy has been at headquarters since last summer when he returned from England to co-ordinate engineers' training in Canada.

Brig. Weeks, a graduate from the Staff College at Camberley, England, in 1935, was born at Charlottetown. He went Overseas in 1914 in the ranks of the 1st Canadian Divisional Signal Company and was appointed a Lieutenant in 1917. He was awarded the Military Cross and the Military Medal and Bar.

On organization in 1920 of the Canadian Permanent Signal Corps, Permanent Active Militia, he was appointed to the unit with rank of captain. Brig. Weeks has been District Signal Officer in Military Districts No. 11 (Victoria), 1 (London, Ont.), 10 (Winnipeg) and 12 (Regina), and Assistant Director of Organization at Defence Headquarters for a year ending October 17, 1939, when he was appointed to command the 1st Corps Signals with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

He also was Assistant Adjutant and Quartermaster-General, 2nd Canadian Division, in 1940 and 1941, and General Staff Officer, 2nd Canadian Division.

Col. Whitelaw, also a graduate of Camberley Staff College, was born at Kinnear's Mills, Que., and was educated at University of Toronto. He went Overseas during the First Great War with the 169th Battalion and served in France and Belgium as a lieutenant with the Canadian Machine Gun Corps.

After the war he was appointed to the Royal Canadian Machine Gun Brigade with rank of lieutenant and in 1922 transferred to the Royal Canadian Regiment. In 1928 he became General Staff Officer, Grade 2, at Headquarters of M.D. No. 3 (Kingston, Ont.), two years later went to headquarters of M.D. 10 as Deputy A. A. and O. M. G. and in 1934 was appointed G.S.O. 2 at headquarters of M.D. No. 1.

From there he went in 1937 to the Directorate of Military Training and staff duties at Defence Headquarters and shortly after the outbreak of the present war was appointed G.S.O. 1 with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He went to Brockville as commandant in March, 1941.

Col. Kennedy, graduate of McGill University in Civil Engineering, was born at Dunrobin, Ont., and was commissioned in the Canadian Engineers in November, 1915. One of the units he served with in France was the 7th Field Company whose commanding officer was the present Chief of General Staff, Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart.

In 1933 he was appointed to the 3rd Reserve Divisional Engineers and three years later transferred to the Reserve of Officers of that corps. A month after the outbreak of war he was appointed officer commanding a field company, Royal Canadian Engineers, with rank of major and went Overseas. In July, 1940, he became commander Royal Engineers of a Canadian Division in Britain, an appointment he held until his return to Canada.

CLAIM WESTERN C.N.R. WORKERS ON SHORT TIME

Union Representative Tells Parliamentary Committee that Government Work Is Not Distributed Fairly.

Ottawa, May 7.—(C) —Canadian National Railways locomotive firemen and engineers between Port Arthur, Ont., and Wainwright, Alta., are suffering from unemployment while the Canadian Pacific Railway is short of men. H. R. Moore, representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, said yesterday before the Railway and Shipping Committee of the House of Commons.

The situation was particularly acute among older men with fifteen to twenty-two years' seniority, he said. In the Port Arthur to Wainwright district 473 men in this category were unemployed.

Younger men were able to take other employment without losing their seniority rights but older men had to return to work when they were called to protect their seniority.

"During a time when we feel that conditions are such that we should be operating at a maximum rate, we find that we are at a very low level."

as far as employment is concerned," Mr. Moore said.

Business started to fall off last September and since that time men with twenty years seniority had about two weeks steady work. This condition had previously existed on the C.P.R. but now was reversed.

C.N.R. engineers and firemen feel their railway is not getting its share of government business, Mr. Moore said. He had talked to soldiers and airmen who had made seven or eight trans-continental trips without travelling on the C.N.R.

R. C. Vaughan, C.N.R. President said that while there was little difference in mileage between the C.N.R. and C.P.R. in the West there had been larger grain crops along the C.P.R. route and the C.P.R. also had the benefit of larger lumber and commercial coal business.

In the seniority district extending from the Head of the Lakes to Wainwright, 473 of the 1,383 firemen and engineers are not working, Mr. Moore said.

"Of our personnel in the Western region we have between 800 and 900 men who are experienced railway men with over fifteen years' experience who are not working," he added.

Some of the men unemployed had gone to work for the C.P.R. while younger men who did not have as much seniority at stake had moved East.

The Committee adjourned at the call of the chair when it is expected a representative of the Department of National Defence for Air will be heard on the practice followed in dividing Royal Canadian Air Force business between the C.N.R. and C.P.R.

DESTROY POWER HOUSE IN FACE OF JAP ADVANCE

Demolition Climaxed Lengthy Programme of Destruction Which Made Inferno of Yenangyaung's 10-Mile Oil Field in Burma.

(Editor's note: Daniel de Luce, Associated Press staff correspondent covering the Burma battle, saw how effectively the British authorities made good their scorched earth policy in the oil fields of Yenangyaung, where they wrecked, blasted and burned thousands of oil derricks, millions of gallons of oil and installations just before the Japanese arrived.)

By DANIEL DE LUCE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

With the British Forces in Burma, April 17. (Delayed)—Yenangyaung's $1,000,000 electricity generation plant, which powered eighty-five per cent of Burma's oil production, crashed in flames at the stroke of midnight last night as Japanese cavalry and heavily-armed infantry outflanked the scorched town and temporarily cut the British army's road of retreat.

The Japanese thus lost a desperate race to capture intact a plant which in wartime is irreplaceable.

The demolition of the power-house by two Britons hidden in a dug-out one hundred yards from the three-storey structure brought to a climax a lengthy programme of destruction which made an inferno of Yenangyaung's ten-mile-long oil field.

In that campaign of ruin, 3,500 derricks were destroyed and some 24,000,000 gallons of crude oil went raging skyward in black smoke and balls of fire.

A handful of Gloucester Regiment riflemen received the warning from a lieutenant that if the Japanese advance guard attacked the plant before the zero hour "it will be blown immediately while we fight."

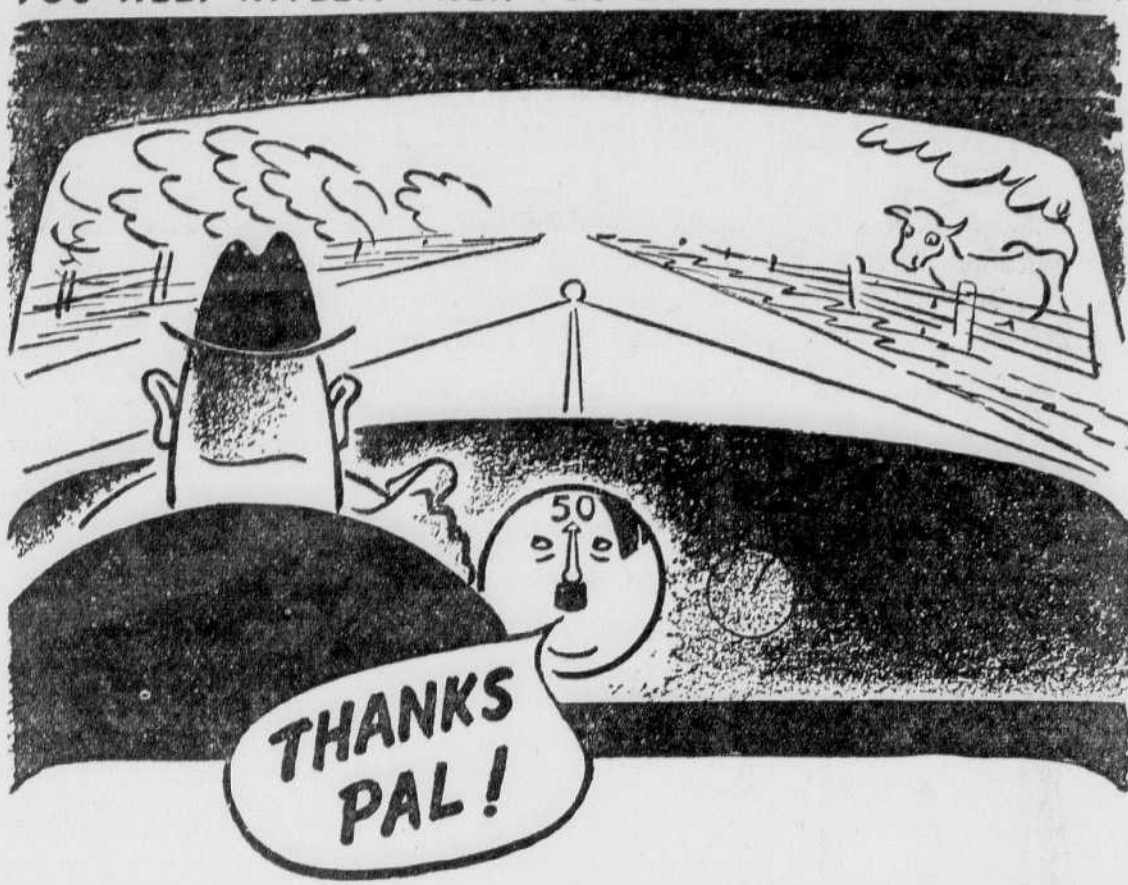

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Peppless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The bad thing about low blood count is that you can't see it as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you feel as if you had lead in your legs, drowsy, tired and nervous. Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles to do your job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you living power.

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are well-known for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel the bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

them off—and we'll be blown up with it."

They guarded the walls from ten p.m. until 11:55 p.m. and then moved 500 yards away for safety at the signal of a pistol shot.

Due East of Yenangyaung Japanese mortar crews and machine-gunners had just slipped through broken desert badlands and continued Northward where they were preparing an ambush in clumps of dwarf trees along the highway to Mandalay.

A captain of the Royal Engineers and the British Government's official oil field wrecker, Walter L. Forster, crouched in a sand-bagged battery hideaway as the seconds ticked away. I was standing in a hill-top garden less than half a mile away as they fired one shot—the five-minute signal: two shots—the three-minute signal; and then three—the signal that the blast would go in one minute.

There were moments of stifling suspense and then a big roar.

The entire wall of the plant facing the Mandalay road spewed out in gushing flames as steel fragments punctured drums above the transformers which contained 6,000 gallons of oil.

There was another explosion and the adjoining machine shop and garage crumpled into fiery wreckage.

Previously laid pipes sprayed the interior of the power station with oil to a depth of three inches and long tongues of flames shot out of the roof and the windows, framing the walls still standing in a desolate silhouette.

Throughout the Yenangyaung oil fields ten big substations and twenty transformer stations already had been blasted.

Now with the main plant gone, production was snuffed out not only in Yenangyaung but in the equally important oil fields forty-four miles Northward around Singu and Yenangyat which were still in British hands. There was no more electricity to run the well pumps.

The demolition of the power-house was the most ominous incident since the fall of Rangoon because it had been delayed to the last hazardous minute possible by high British officers hoping against hope that the enemy might be held off by the combined British and Chinese armies.

BURY

The Bury Branch of the Red Cross Society reported at its last meeting that during the month of April the following articles were completed and shipped to Red Cross Houses: Fourteen pairs of men's pyjamas, forty T-bandages, sixteen pairs of convalescent socks, one man's dressing gown, five bed jackets, one complete kit for women, size forty, two pairs of women's gloves, fourteen body belts, two women's sweaters, three turtle-neck sweaters, two pairs of men's gloves, three pairs of mine sweepers mitts, two pairs of sea-men's socks, two turtle-neck tuck-in sweaters, three caps for navy and one man's sleeveless pullover sweater. AGRICULTURAL HEAD OUTLINES WAR POLICIES

Deputy Minister of Agriculture Tells of Position of Canadian Farmers in War Effort of United Nations.

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, May 7.—George Samuel Horace Barton is a man of more than ordinary ability and gives that impression at first sight. The Dominion's deputy minister of agriculture is a busy, competent man with his steel grey hair, his slender figure and the precision of his thought.

The letters he is entitled to place after his name—C.M.G., B.S.A., D.S.C., C.A.M. (Que.)—tell part of the story of his career. What they cannot tell is that he is a graduate of agriculture on the farm as well as on the campus. The Bartons are farmers for a long way back and Dr. Barton carries forward the principles of good husbandry in dealing with the farmers' problems for all Canada. He was born on a Vankloek Hill, Ont., farm and spent his boyhood there.

The Deputy Minister of Agriculture has his full share of this world's cares even in time of peace. In the years of war the responsibilities of Dr. Barton and those who work with him have increased enormously and in a review of agriculture's wartime job Dr. Barton faced the facts.

After 2½ years of expending war and now with practically the whole world involved, he said the real task of agriculture is at hand. With an enlarged demand for agricultural production has come difficulties arising from general needs for manpower and shortages of supplies and materials because of tremendous demands for war and war industry.

"The first step in planning increased production of agricultural products is to plan crop production," Dr. Barton said and it is this planning for the good of the United Nations that the deputy and his colleagues have undertaken.

And yet in planning for the best use of Canadian agricultural resources he does not feel the farmer should be commanded to do certain things, as if he were the citizen of a dictator state.

Dr. Barton draws on his own farm experience and here is his view:— "No intelligent farmer needs or wants operation orders for his farm; he will do what he can to the limit of his capacity within the programme outlined and the general direction given him and he will find means of overcoming difficulties."

that no one else can do for him.

"In the face of uncertainty he will act in good faith and expect others who have to do with him and his problem to do the same."

To the best of the ability of officials and in the light of conditions, the Federal Agriculture Department tells Canadian farmers what is required of them. So far—and no limit is in sight—the farmers have responded vigorously and adequately to calls for revised and enlarged production. Because of what they have done there are roses in the cheeks of British children and men in the front line are fortified by the nutritional food from Canada's wide acres.

When his associates are asked about Dr. Barton they keep stressing the courtesy of the man, a courtesy that is extended to all, under all conditions.

"When you take some problem to Dr. Barton you always feel he is giving you his full attention, no matter how many other pressing questions he may have to deal with in the course of a day," one associate said.

This inborn consideration of others has brought Dr. Barton through a life of extraordinary activity with a few signs that the place has been hard. At fifty-nine he looks years younger than he is. A man of moderation, he smokes a modest number of cigarettes daily. He admits to being a heavy reader who has little time for trifling literature but is happiest when he has some informative volume before him. He watches sport with keen interest, for in his day he was a star left-winger for the senior hockey team at Ontario Agricultural College.

Dr. Barton became Deputy Minister when he left the post of Dean of the Faculty of Agriculture and Professor of Animal Husbandry at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que. He has written several works dealing with agriculture and as a student proved himself an able debater.

In 1935 he was created a C.M.G. in honor of his distinguished service to agriculture. He was created Commander Agricole Merite by the Quebec government in 1939, this being the highest honor in the province for service to agriculture.

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery

If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?

ZIPPERS STILL ARE AVAILABLE FOR CANADIANS

Ontario Manufacturer Reports Developing Zipper from Metal Not Essential to War Production.

Ottawa, May 7.—Zippers will remain on the Canadian market, the Department of Public Information has announced. But the Wartime Prices and Trade Board said that their use will still be restricted under the regulations established on March 3.

At that time, due to war priorities, it was announced that women's dresses could have only one zipper each—nine inches for street length, twelve inches for evening. Separate skirts could have only seven-inch zippers, and housecoats, twenty-eight-inch zippers. Many children's garments could have no zippers.

It was learned here, however, that a St. Catharines, Ont., manufacturer has announced discovery of a secret metal composition, which can be used to make zippers. It was understood that the composition is made up of metals not vital to Canada under present war circumstances.

Thousands of Canadians who have replaced hooks, eyes, clips, buttons and buckles with zippers on thousands of commodities from clothing to purses and baggage would welcome lifting of the zipper restrictions.

However, it was learned that the Wartime Prices Board has no intention of altering its ruling as far as ready-made clothing is concerned, at least at present.

STRASSER ANSWERS COLDWELL CHARGES

Montreal, May 7.—Dr. Otto Strasser, leader of the World Free German Movement, issued a statement here Tuesday in reply to criticism of him made in the House of Commons by M. J. Coldwell, the C. C.F. House leader.

Dr. Strasser said that "it is certainly difficult in these days for it to be generally understood that it is possible to be an honest German and a fighting anti-Nazi who wishes, in the interest of his own people, victory for the democracies."

(Mr. Coldwell, in his speech in the Commons, questioned the activities of Dr. Strasser, co-founder of the Nazi regime in Germany and now a resident of Montreal. The C.C.F. House leader declared: "Otto Strasser is still a Nazi—as much a Nazi as he ever was.") izations.

Artificial ice is not new—it was used industrially as far back as 1880.

Derby Line, May 7. — By the will of the late Judge D. W. Davis, of Derby Line, which has been presented to the Probate Court, it is revealed that several of the local churches have benefitted generously. Centenary Church, Stanstead, of which Mr. Davis was a member for many years, will receive twenty-five shares of Canadian Bank of Commerce stock; the United Church, at Coaticook, twenty-five shares of Canadian Bank of Commerce stock; Stanstead South Church, Rock Island, ten shares National Bank of Derby Line stock; the First Universalist Parish, of Derby Line, ten shares National Bank of Derby Line stock; Roman Catholic Parish, Rock Island, $500. Other public bequests are: Town of Derby, for the benefit of Derby Academy, thirty shares National Bank of Derby Line stock; Orleans County Memorial Hospital, Newport, Vt., fifty shares National Bank of Derby Line stock, also $2,000; Derby Line Cemetery Association, ten shares National Bank of Derby Line stock; Baxter Park, Derby Line, ten shares National Bank of Derby Line stock; Sherbrooke Hospital, Sherbrooke, Que., twenty shares Canadian Bank of Commerce stock; Mount Forest Cemetery, Coaticook, $500; Stanstead Wesleyan College, Stanstead, Vt., Mae Bean and Helena Gustin Que., $5,000 and Kurn Hattin Homes, Saxton's River, $1,000.

CANTEEN COURSE

The First Aid Canteen course, at Derby Line, held the last class of the course on April 30, with Mrs. Gladys Rives, of Barton, as instructor. There were about twenty members in this canteen, who have taken a great deal of enjoyment in it, and expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Rives for her very capable instruction as well as their enjoyment of her attendance. At the meeting, Captains were chosen for the different groups: Mrs. Allan Pocock, for Beebe; Mrs. Ronald Kilborn, for Derby, Vt., and Mrs. Carl Robbins and Mrs. L. H. Huckins, co-chairmen for Derby Line. Should the need arise, these Captains will form committees, with lieutenants to assist them.

A.R. WARDEN'S EXAMINATIONS

The Air Raid Wardens, of Derby Line, took their final examinations on April 29. Those who were unable to take them that evening, did so on the next evening. This course was completed some time since, but on account of the many activities, in which the members were engaged, the examinations were obliged to be postponed. Byron Herrick gave out the tests and awarded the marks, the results of which have not yet been released.

MOTOR CORPS EXAMINATIONS

About twenty-five members of the Motor Corps class, which has been held in Derby Line, at the Ames Garage, of which women from Newport, Vt., Beebe and Derby Line were members, took their final examinations on April 29, in the Village Hall, Derby Line. Those taking this course are Flora J. Coutts, Alice Richardson, Marie Hovey, Gladys Alexander, Brenda Feeley, Birdena Richardson, Rena Brown, Sally Morgan, Agnes Oumet, Belle Coan, Alma Morin from Newport, Vt., Mae Bean and Helena Gustin from Beebe Vt., and Ann Coutts Aldrich, Lois Holland, Cora Courser, Ellen Young, Marian Wallace, Evelyn Huckins, Ruth Beck and Beulah Stevenson, of Derby Line. Mrs. Everett Clark, of Barton, Vt., County Chairman, directed the course and Messrs. Ames, Wagner, Sanders, Deveau, Jacobs gave the lectures and demonstrations. George T. Ames gave his garage for the purpose, also tools and equipment for demonstrations and assisted the class in other ways. Motor Vehicle Inspectors, Dickens, Hutchins and Morgan assisted by providing educational movies, subject matter material and in conducting the final tests. So much interest has been manifested in this course by those taking it that others have become interested and arrangements are being made to hold another class in Newport, Vt., probably the third week in May, from Monday to Friday night, inclusive, and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the following week. The general requirements are ability to handle a car and the use of one, physical fitness and a willingness to give of one's time later in volunteer service work requiring the use of a car. The successful closing of the course in Derby Line was followed by a wienie roast at Alice Richardson's home in Newport, Vt. The group expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Clark, of Barton, for her interest and regular attendance in a supervisory capacity, by presenting her with a small sum of money.

"A TASTY WAY TO USE UP MEAT"

says Martha Logan

MARTHA LOGAN: Here's a neat way to serve your roast for the third time—Jewel Meat Croquettes.

MRS. DOBB: Oh, that's the recipe on page 82 of the Jewel Cook Book, isn't it, Miss Logan?

MARTHA LOGAN: Yes, Mrs. Dobb. Now, in deep-frying, always use Jewel. It won't smoke up the kitchen.

MRS. DOBB: Can I use Jewel over and over again?

MARTHA LOGAN: Certainly! After each frying, cool the Jewel a little, strain through double cheesecloth and store in a deep container in a cool place.

MRS. DOBB: Have I enough Jewel in my deep-fry pan?

MARTHA LOGAN: Always use enough to 'float' the food. Jewel is odourless and tasteless in deep-fry. Nutritionally more valuable, too.

MRS. DOBB: The croquettes are ready. What do I do now?

MARTHA LOGAN: Brown in deep hot Jewel. Drain and serve hot. Your family will enjoy them. They're tasty and economical, with Jewel. Needless to say, more, risky to pay less, I always say.

Clip out and try this wartime Jewel recipe for MEAT CROQUETTES

2 cups mashed potatoes, 1 to 2 cups finely-cut onion, parsley, chopped pickle, seasoned sifted fine dry crumbs, diluted slightly with beaten Brookfield egg for coating. Jewel Shortening.
To potatoes, add the meat. Beat Brookfield egg and milk may be added. (If mixture seems too dry, crumbs. Dip in slightly beaten egg. Coat with seasoned Brown in deep hot Jewel at 400°. Drain and serve with relish or sauce. Leftover fish or poultry may be used instead of meat.

Try delicious, economical Meat Croquettes, the Martha Logan way, with new blended Jewel. For other tested economy recipes, send 10 cents and a Jewel carton top for the fascinating Jewel Recipe Book. "Y" CIRCUS SMASH HIT ON OPENING NIGHT

Capacity Crowd Views First Performance Of Annual Demonstration

"V for Victory" Grand March Formation Sets Stage for Fast-Moving, Diversified Presentation by Members of Y.M.C.A. Gym Classes—Members of Police Department Present Specialty Numbers—Repeat Performances Tonight and Tomorrow.

With several new features and specialty numbers adding punch to the programme, another excellent Young Men's Christian Association Circus made its opening-night bow last night before a cheering crowd of youngsters who filled the gymnasium to capacity. Judging by the quality of the physical demonstration, the parents and friends who visit the "Y" tonight and tomorrow night will be well pleased with the entertainment provided.

An unusual Grand March formation climaxed by a human "V for Victory" set the stage for the fast-moving production, produced and directed by the General-Secretary and Physical Director, W. H. Wolter, and from then on the midlets, juveniles and employed boys vied for popular favor with several guest artists, whose contributions to the programme were of high calibre.

The Bingo Boys of the Midlet Class opened proceedings with their routine on the mat, and the springboard and hoise, those taking part under the leadership of Ron Haffenden and Doug Paulette being Gordie Budding, G. Davison, G. Dawson, Stewart Donaldson, John Evans, D. Green, David Haffenden, Stan Hatch, A. Lohr, S. Stewart, John Turnbull, Herb Williams, R. Wilson, Gillie Menis and Marshall Loughheed.

The large juvenile class was then seen in advanced relay races, the racers including Dan Aldrich, Albert Allsop, David Bascom, Earl Bean, Paul Bean, Jim Bennett, Bob Casar, Victor Casser, Ron Haffenden, Ted Harkness, Albert Kinkad, Fred Lecuyer, Crossley Loughheed, Marshall Loughheed, Jack McKay, Gallie Menis, Doug Paulette, Bob Paullette, Jim Potts, Jim Rodgers, Sid Rodgers, Fraser Smith, David Turnbull, L. Ward, Norris Ward and Leonard Webster.

In the next item three members of the Police and Fire Department, Constables Albert Bell, Omer Jauron and Raymond Fournier, demonstrated their ability in formation balancing, following which the midlets returned for a pyrama drill in which they were shown waking from sleep and doing their morning setting up exercises.

High diving on the mats was then demonstrated by a group selected from the employed boys, under the leadership of the Class Instructor, George Vlahakis. Taking part in the act were Art and Tom McLeod, Ron Olsen, Ray Larabee and Les Humphries.

Gerry Denault, acrobatic and erratic clown, who had kept the kiddies in stitches all evening, then held the spotlight all by himself for a specialty number, and then the three talented policemen came back to walk the tight rope with the greatest of ease. The juveniles put on a ward drill, and the Juniors, comprising George Menis, John Walde, Bob Simpson, Ron Olsen, Bill Mat thews, Adrienne Bruygom, Harold Pye and Roger Perault, worked out on the elephant—mats thrown over the parallel bars.

George Vlahakis and Roger Perault then gave an exhibition of advanced tumbling, following which the over-popular pyramids were seen, featuring Vlahakis, Perault, A. Bruygom, Ron Olsen, John Walde, George Menis, Harold Pye, Bob Simpson, Tom McLeod, Ted Boduck, Bill Matthews and Dick Hodge, the "Kings of the Swinging Wire." Bell and Perault, then staged the concluding act.

Douglas Armistead was Ringmaster, and G. Gagnon and his orchestra provided the music. In the performances tonight and Friday night four Snappy Tappers from the Y.W.

Sport Shorts From Britain "Under Fire"

London, May 7.—(C)—Sport shorts from Britain:

War-time brings queer sport quirks such as the "Tea-Car Timetable" soccer league operating in the Midlands. Seven isolated military units there rely on the regular visits of a Y.M.C.A. tea car for communication with each other. The list of fixtures and results are posted on the door of the vehicle. Two artillery units, a service corps, traffic control police and some Czech gunners form the group.

Nor would this happen in peacetime: Eleven-year-old Joan Buncay keeps the score in Surrey Golf Cricket Club matches and will score the big match against Lords in August. She took scoring tuition from her father and due to shortage of men scorers travels with Colts.

Joan is considered something of an outstanding mathematician because—Well, did you ever try to work out a bowling average and keep a cricket score?

Some of those Canadians who came to Britain to play hockey before the war may know David Baptye, a former Captain of the Wembley Ferns team. Just 22 and a Sub-Lieutenant in the Fleet Air Arm, he's reported killed on active service.

Designated as missing is the little fellow who won the Grand National last year on Bogskar—Fitz-Sgt. Morwyn Jones. He was attached to an R.A.F. bomber squadron.

W. G. Barnes just can't stay away from Germany. As a cyclist he represented England in the 1934 world championships there. As a Flying Officer in the R.A.F. he's just been awarded the D.F.C. for bravery during raids on targets in Hitler's country.

It must amaze Hitler—2,000 pairs of football boots have been sent by the Red Cross to British war prisoners in Germany since the start of the year. British sport goes on, even in prison camps.

C.A. Alex Udall, Mavis Johnston, Ula Rourke and Emily Odell, will appear on the programme.

LIVE TURTLES WORRY WRITER IN VANCOUVER

Columnist Jack Lillington Presented Crate of Snappers by Reader—Industry-Sponsored Athletics Boosted.

Toronto, May 7.—(C)—Predicament of the week: What to do with a crate of live turtles. The problem belongs to Jack Lillington, outdoor columnist for the Vancouver Province, and is a good enough example of what perverse methods readers occasionally adopt to express admiration (or otherwise) for newspapermen.

An interesting angle on industry-sponsored athletics is emphasized by Ralph (Montreal Star) Adams: That the competitive urge in sports can be applied to increased industrial efficiency by proper organization of workers. In almost every large industry the various divisions keep a type of box score on daily production, making every employee competition-conscious. The competitive spirit probably could be increased by inter-division baseball or hockey leagues.

Scotty Kennedy, Secretary of the Winnipeg Rugby Football Club, bought a race horse cheap the other day. Here's how: He was watching early-morning workouts at Whittier Park in Winnipeg with R. J. Speers, the West's Mr. Racing. A group of juveniles from Speers' Whittier Park stock farm breezed by.

"Which one do you like?" asked Speers. Scotty pondered, then pointed. "It's yours for what you have in your pocket," Speers said. Scotty turned out his pocket, found 37 cents.

He got the horse. Name: Omar's.

IN SPORTING VEIN

By ALLAN BRYCE

The kiddies, and a few adults, were packed in the "Y" gymnasium like sardines last night for the first performance of the annual Circus, and they really cut loose and blew the roof down in applause for the various performers. Late-comers just had to go without seats, and all corners of the gym, upstairs and down, were packed. The turnout was inspiring to the youngsters and the older performers, and especially to Bill Wolter, hard-working General Secretary and Physical Director, under whose direction the demonstration is being presented.

From the Grand March right through to the Kings of the Swinging Wire the show went off without a hitch.

Long arm of the army reached into the Toronto Maple Leaf camp and made a big haul when three top-notch performers, Defenceman Wally Stanowski and Wingers Johnny McCreey and Pete Langelle received notices to report for medical examination preparatory to basic training assignments.

Boston Bruins have felt the pinch of war, also, with young Roy Conacher also getting his summons to don the khaki in place of shoulder pads and skates.

In all probability there will be scores of new faces in the National Hockey League next season, with all the military-age stars of the loop out of action and their places filled either by youngsters below the required years or above the age limit, or unfit for service because of certain defects.

There is no question of their being enough players to go around. Plenty of veterans now in minor circuits could be moved under the big top again to keep the league rolling until the soldiers come marching home again.

"Tiny" in name only, Ernie Bonham, a six-foot plus, 215-pound New York Yankee twirler, is travelling like a house afire this season, with four straight victories under his belt. Noteworthy is the fact that three of these triumphs have been shutouts. In his latest win, yesterday, big Ernie set the slipping Cleveland Indians down with five hits to the tune of 3-0 and the Bronx Bombers climbed over them into the leading position in the American League.

Often overlooked in the Yankees' conquests are the excellent pitchers who toil for Joe McCarthy. True enough, the famed New York slugger produces the runs, but they don't mean much if nobody stops the other teams from doing the same.

Incidentally old Bobo Newsom came back to terrific form yesterday as he handcuffed Detroit Tigers, standing them on their heads and allowing them only one hit to give Washington Senators a 7-0 victory.

MONTREAL AND SYRACUSE WIN GAMES IN I.L.

Royals Down Little Giants 3-2 for Third Victory in Four Games—Red Barrett Twirls Chiefs to 9-4 Rout of Wings.

Charles (Red) Barrett of the Syracuse International League Chiefs is the club's "meal ticket." Barrett started his team off on the right foot when he won two of its first five games. Then he won two more games, each of which snapped the Chiefs out of a losing streak.

Yesterday Barrett hurled a 9-4 victory over Rochester Red Wings for his fifth triumph of the campaign. He had the situation well in hand throughout the contest and capped up in the last two frames to allow five hits and three runs.

Albert (Lutch) Mele and Clyde Volin led the 15-hit attack on two Rochester burlers with four hits each. Gene Lillard of the Red Wings hit his sixth home run of the year in the sixth inning.

By winning Syracuse evened its two-game series with the Wings and also moved into fourth place in the standings as Jersey City Giants were defeated by Montreal Royals.

John Carl Wittig of the Jersey City Giants had a hectic afternoon in Montreal as he allowed the Royals only five hits, yet lost the game in ten innings, 3-2.

Wittig's wildness was the main cause of the defeat in the four games the Jerseys have suffered at the hands of Montreal. The right-hander issued nine bases on balls, uncorked a wild pitch, and committed two errors, the last permitting the winning tally to register.

To make the loss more heart-breaking, Wittig got three hits including a two-bagger and scored one run. Lester McCrabb, recently acquired from Philadelphia Athletics, made his first start on the mound for the Royals. McCrabb was touched for nine hits in eight and a third inning.

Other scheduled games were postponed.

SPORT FLASHES

Speaking, perhaps, with a touch of prejudice aroused by recent events, James J. (I Always Have a Story for You) Johnson argues that there's no such thing as a punch-drunk fighter. . . . Some of the boys reported that Abe Simon's recent retirement was a result of his desire to avoid taking one punch too many. . . . Says Jimmy: "Look at all the sparring partners. Look at the guys who used to fight twenty rounds in every fight. . . . Look at all the punches they took. . . . The only ones that act queer had something wrong with them all the time only it didn't show up while they were in fighting shape. They never begin to act punchy until they let themselves out of condition." . . . Says Jimmy (does he ever stop?): "By the way, Larry Atkins is here offering $25,000 for Bob Pastor to fight Harry Bobo at Cleveland in June."

Gift.

Incidentally: Sweeney Schriner (retired) had 363 points in the nine years he played professional hockey. . . . 177 goals, 186 assists. . . . Lionel Conacher, Chairman of the Ontario Athletic Commission, has offered the Commission's beautiful summer camp at Lake Couchiching to the military authorities. . . . He thinks the boys and girls for whom the camp was built would be occupied better this season helping in farm work.

FORMER SPORT STARS OF BIG TEN IN FORCES

Western Conference Alumni Athletes on Active Service with U.S. Forces Now Number 1,500, Survey Shows.

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Service Sports Editor

Chicago, May 7.—College athletics and the war: Mel Austin Strubel, Wisconsin football star, was killed in aerial combat in the East Indies; Lieut. John Van Delester, Purdue swimmer, in artillery action in the Philippines.

Lieuts. Ed. Valenz and Bob Finwell, former Chicago wrestling champions, and John Loehrke of Wisconsin football met death in line of duty with the Army Air Corps. Bob Ingle of Illinois football and Ken McCarnes of Northwestern basketball were killed in Army Air Corps training accidents.

Welles Hodgson, Minnesota's Big Ten broad jump champion, was last reported on besieged Corregidor. Bob Cassels, Chicago's holder of the conference pole vault record, is in action with the Army Air Corps in Australia. Bill Smith, Michigan tackle, is a flying officer in Hawaii. His father, Andy Smith, hero of Ann Arbor's point-a-minute football teams, is an officer in the Army Air Corps.

A survey shows 1,500 Western Conference alumni athletes in active service.

Typical is the record of the personnel of the 1940 All-Big Ten football team, comprising members of the last graduating classes before Pearl Harbor. George Frank, Minnesota and New York professional Giant back, and Dave Rankin, Purdue end, are naval aviation cadets at advanced training bases. Ed Frutig, Michigan end, has completed preliminary training.

Don Scott, huge Ohio State quarterback, is an officer at Randolph Field, Texas' West Point of the Air. Tom Harmon, Michigan's two-time All-America left halfback, is a cadet. Ralph Fritz, Michigan guard, is private in the Army. George Parkvan, Wisconsin fullback, and Joe Lokane, Northwestern guard, are training for commissions in naval aviation physical training. Paul Hiemenz, Northwestern center, is an engineer engaged in war material production. Urban Odson, 245-pound Minnesota, and Alf Bauman of Northwestern, the tackles, are still in school. Odson will enter Great Lakes Naval Training Station upon graduation. Bauman's plans are indefinite because of an ear operation which disqualifies him for active military service.

Likewise typical is the record of Northwestern football captains of the last eight years, six of whom are in uniform. Floyd Chambers, 1941 leader, will be commissioned as an ensign following his graduation from the Naval ROTC. A seventh is completing his medical course before selecting a branch of service.

Air service holds the greatest appeal, although undergraduate training provided by such programmes as the field artillery ROTC at Purdue and the Naval ROTC at Northwestern have taken many into other branches.

Few have waited to be drafted and most of them entered officers' training schools.

Ohio State provides an index to the rank of athletes in arms with a study of its graduates in the service, 63.5 per cent of whom are commissioned. Another 24.2 per cent are non-commissioned officers, 22.2 per cent enlisted men.

There has been a lot of talk about sports and the war, much of it by confirmed knocker-downers. So it is pleasant to speak of sports in the war.

Yanks Return To Top Position In American Loop, Blanking Tribe

"Tiny" Bonham Subdues Cleveland 3-0 in One Hour and 24 Minutes—Giant Hurler Has Four Straight Wins, Three Shutouts—Buck Newsom Whitewashes Tigers 7-0 on One Hit for Detroit—Red Sox Tie Indians for Second, Shading White Sox.

Mr. Big among all the pitchers in the major leagues this year seems likely to be Ernest Edward Bonham of New York Yankees.

"Tiny" is perfectly cast for the part, because he stands 6 feet 2 and weighs 215 pounds. But more than that he has won his first four games this spring, three by shutouts, and yesterday he subbed Cleveland Indians 3-0 to return the Yankees to the pinnacle of the American League.

It took Bonham only an hour and 24 minutes to mesmerize the Indians in one of the quickest nine-inning games of the season. He was matched against Jim Bagby, who technically had become the leading pitcher in the big leagues by winning five games without a defeat, and the way the big Californian smothered the Tribe into helplessness was heartless, even for the crowd of 18,000 that came out to see just that.

Indians' five singles were spread into as many different innings and they were able to get only seven other balls out of the infield. Only one Cleveland runner reached second and none went beyond.

In the meantime the Yanks bunched five of their eight hits into the third and fourth innings for two runs and after Bagby had given way to a pinch-hitter they showed their impartiality by tallying a final marker off Lefty Al Smith in the eighth.

It was Cleveland's fourth straight loss after winning 14 in a row and dropped the Tribe into a tie for second with Boston Red Sox, who nosed out Chicago White Sox 3-1. The latter game was a stirring pitching duel between old Ted Lyons and Joe Dohson, each of whom allowed six hits.

Buck Newsom pushed back into the spotlight by pitching Washington Senators to a 7-0 shutout of Detroit Tigers on one hit—a triple by Doc Cramer. The Senators scored six of their runs in a big seventh-inning flurry.

Ellen Auker subbed for St. Louis Browns to a 7-2 decision over Philadelphia Athletics by pitching seven hits scattered. The Browns made an even dozen including a three-run homer by Vernon Stephens.

Only one game in the National League escaped inclement weather and in this St. Louis Cardinals plastered an 11-2 defeat on the last-place Phils. While Morton Cooper kept Philadelphia in check, his teammates made 14 hits, among them homers by Terry Moore and Enos (Country) Slaughter, and treated themselves to a six-run spree in the third frame.

Canadian Pacific Operations At New High In 1941, Coleman Says

Montreal, May 7.—Scale of operations of Canadian Pacific Railway Company in 1941 reached a new height, D. C. Coleman told shareholders at their annual meeting yesterday in his inaugural address as President.

Mr. Coleman said that if the same average rates had prevailed per ton mile and per passenger as in 1928, the year of previous peak traffic, the gross earnings for 1941 would have been higher by twenty-three per cent or $50,000,000.

Mr. Coleman stated that, while traffic conditions were not identical in the two years, it was safe to say that a large part of the $50,000,000 accrued directly to the patrons of the railway through reductions in charges paid for transportation.

Mr. Coleman stressed that it was necessary to go back twenty-five years to find average ton mile and passenger revenues lower than for the year 1941. Wartime conditions also existed in the earlier period and for that reason some comparisons of operations costs might be made.

Mr. Coleman stated that in 1916 the average annual wage of employees was about $700 with a nine or ten-hour day generally in effect. In 1941 the average annual wage had increased to over $1,700 with an eight-hour day for all employees. Other expenses had made corresponding increases.

Mr. Coleman reported that but for technical improvements and economies it would have been impossible to have had in 1941 the ratio of working expenses, exclusive of taxes, to gross earnings of 71.65, which was equalled only in the company's early history. In spite of this outstanding performance the return on the company's investment in railway property was only 3.75 per cent.

The result achieved, Mr. Coleman stated, was disproportionate in relation to traffic handled for two main reasons, incidence of Dominion income and excess profits taxes, which rose $9,000,000 and lower transportation charges now in effect.

Mr. Coleman said in order to meet the additional expenses resulting from the rising cost of wages and materials some increase in charges might properly have been expected, especially in respect to those commodities of which rates had been forced to an abnormally low level by the existence of unregulated competition. However, in keeping with the national effort to prevent uncontrolled inflation, railway rates were subject to regulation by the War-time Prices and Trade Board.

Dealing with the outlook in 1942 Mr. Coleman said that, while no definite forecast as to traffic could be made, it appeared certain the increases resulting from war industries traffic would continue, though probably at a lower rate, so that only a moderate increase in net earnings might be anticipated.

SEES MANY NEW PROBLEMS
Montreal, May 7.—President D. C. Coleman told shareholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway at their annual meeting yesterday that abnormal demands had been placed on Canadian railways, that the demands would be expected to multiply, and "it may well become necessary to explain to patrons . . . that the urgent necessities of the war require acceptance of somewhat lower standards of comfort and convenience than those to which they have become accustomed."

The effect of war conditions on the transportation system of Canada "has been to provide a temporary solution of certain of the peacetime problems and to substitute others for them," he said.

During the decade of economic instability which preceded the war, the transportation problem facing Canada was to find profitable employment for a surplus of facilities. The great increase in the volume of Canadian production and commerce brought about by the war had changed the situation until "the problem facing Canadian railways at the moment is to meet the abnormal demands upon them for service."

PAYS TRIBUTE TO BEATTY
Montreal, May 7.—Tribute to the international reputation of Sir Edward Beatty as a business leader and a transportation authority was paid to him yesterday by his successor as President of Canadian Pacific Railway Company, D. C. Coleman, in an address at the annual meeting of the railroad's shareholders.

Mr. Coleman recalled that Sir Edward, who is now chairman of the company, on assuming the office of president in 1918, was immediately called on to face the problem of post-war adjustment, one of which brought in its wake the consolidation of all other important Canadian railways into one Government-owned system.

The new President said new forms of competition also appeared to invade the traffic field hitherto reserved for railways and as all these agencies were in one degree or another subsidized out of public funds, railways were compelled to make drastic readjustment of methods, service and charges.

Mr. Coleman said that later on came a long period of world-wide depression, which strained Canada's economic system to the limit and impaired the resources of all business institutions. The Dominion was just beginning to recover from the effects of the depression, when the war broke out.

He said that "through these years of stress and difficulty Sir Edward, in his conduct of the affairs of the C.P.R., displayed high courage, great resourcefulness, sound judgment and profound sagacity."

NEW VICE-PRESIDENT IS APPOINTED
Montreal, May 7.—W. M. Neal of Winnipeg, Vice-President of Western Lines, yesterday was appointed Vice-President of the Can-

Canadian Pacific Railway succeeding D. C. Coleman of Montreal who became President last week on the resignation of Sir Edward Beatty.

At a meeting of the Company's board following the annual meeting of shareholders Mr. Neal was appointed a director.

Retiring directors were re-elected at the annual meeting and a resolution of appreciation of the services of Sir Edward Beatty as President was passed and ordered inscribed in the Company's records.

MORE CONTROL OVER TRAMWAYS

Quebec, May 7.—The Private Bills Committee of the Legislative Assembly decided Tuesday by a vote of twenty-four to five to oblige the Montreal Tramways Commission to furnish the City of Montreal with an annual report of the company's gross revenues and how it disposes of them.

The clause, contained in the bill rule that "the Commission shall make a report to the City, every year, respecting the Company's capital account and other accounts relative to maintenance and renewals, and to the reserve and tolls reduction funds, and it shall also make a report to the City respecting all gross receipts collected by the Company and the manner in which the said Company disposes of them."

Hon. Oscar Drouin, Provincial Minister of Municipal Affairs, Trade and Commerce, told the Committee that he believed the City had the right to know the financial standing of the Company and why it was unable to pay the $2,500,000 it owes the City.

NAME PEN AFTER DARING RAIDERS

Montreal, May 7.—In honor of the tough, hard-hitting raiders whose daring exploits are stealing today's news headlines, Waterman's popular 515 fountain pen has just been christened the "Commando."

According to Frank D. Waterman, Jr., President of the L. E. Waterman Company, Limited, Montreal, naming the pen followed months of intensive research tests under actual combat conditions in submarines, in airplanes, in tanks and with the infantry in the field. The pen stood up under the most grueling tests, he maintained, and proved it right to be called the "Commando."

"This pen was designed to serve in the 'tough spots,' where being able to 'take it' is the prime consideration," Mr. Waterman said. "That's why we've named it the 'Commando.'"

BROOKBURY

Mr. and Mrs. William Batley and daughter, Bolva, have taken up residence in their home here after spending the winter months in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jandron, the Misses Doreen Jandron and Gwendolene Allison were in Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Jandron and family have moved into Mr. Abbie Batley's house, "Sleepy Hollow."

Mr. Clarence Vintinner, of Bishop's, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Vintinner.

Mr. Floyd Hooker and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harrison in Bury.

Mrs. Gilbert Grey entertained at the tea hour in honor of the twentieth birthday of her niece, Miss Una Grey. Those present were the Misses Flora Hooker, Eldine Cook, Clare and Leola Weir, Una Howes and Gwen Allison.

Mr. Ibrey Batley, Mrs. Sterling Batley and Miss Una Grey were in Sherbrooke recently.

Master Napoleon Boutin is still in a critical condition in the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Sherbrooke, from the goats—Stratford Beacon following an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Vintinner have been visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Vintinner in Bishopston.

Mrs. Eva Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bennett and young son, Denzil, have returned to their farm here, after spending the winter in Sherbrooke, where Mr. Bennett was employed.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Martin were sorry to hear that their son, Sergeant-Observers E. H. Martin, R.C.A.F., was reported missing during air operations.

Mrs. Lionel Allison and family were guests of her brother, Mr. Sterling Batley, and Mrs. Batley,

DEATH CLOSES SHOOTING CASE

Valleyfield, Que., May 7.—Andre Pelodeau, twenty-three-year old fiancé of Berthe Allard, Beauharnois, Que., girl who was found shot to death in Pelodeau's home at nearby St. Louis de Gonzague last Sunday, died in hospital here from a bullet wound in the head.

Pelodeau and Miss Allard, twenty-two, were to be married shortly and Saturday night had gone to the house which they were to occupy after their marriage. The following day Pelodeau's father entered the house and found the girl dead and his son unconscious on the floor of the room.

Both had been shot through the head and a .22 calibre rifle was found on the floor.

Inquest into the case was opened Monday.

COATICOOK

Grades I and II of the Coaticook High School entertained at their class room at the High School with the assistance of their instructors. Parents and close friends of the pupils were the guests, who were received by Juanetta McCaffery and Peter Matthews. Tea was poured by Ann Dods, others assisting in serving dainty refreshments. The proceeds of the tea, well over $4, are for the Junior Red Cross Fund.

The Blanket Fund acknowledges with thanks a donation of $2 from the Dixville Knitting Club. The public is reminded that the fund is able to buy a new blanket for a blitz victim with the sum of $2, and that contributions are always welcome. Work handed in at last week's meeting of the Red Cross included: From Coaticook, two pairs of mitts; 16 tuck-ins, four pairs of gloves, one toe-cap, six pairs of convalescent socks, one sailor's scarf, five pairs of pyjamas, 37 bandages and one dressing gown. From hereford, two pink nightgowns. Magazines are needed for soldiers, and those wishing to make a donation should telephone Mrs. Engelhardt, 275.

STANSTEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Sargent have returned from their wedding tour and are residing in Stanstead. Miss Jean Perkins, of Stanstead, has accepted a position in the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Mr. J. A. Tilton was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Arthur at Bolton Centre.

The many friends of Mr. L. A. Gustin and Miss Gustin, of Fitch Bay, regret to hear of their loss by fire of their home.

Miss L. V. Ross, of the teaching staff of the local school, who boarded with Miss Gustin, spent the week-end at her home in Stanstead.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Munroe and Mrs. A. L. Gardyne, who have spent the winter at their home in Stanstead, have moved to their home at Eagle Point, Vt., for the summer.

Mrs. Maxwell Gibson has gone to Montreal to join her husband, who is employed there.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bailey, of Toronto, spent a few days in Stanstead, where they were called by the death of Mr. Frank Hartley, Mrs. Bailey's father.

Rev. George Harrington and Mr. J. D. Ferguson attended the Rotary meeting in Sherbrooke.

Mrs. Lottie Dean, of Asbestos, was in town for a few days, called here by the serious illness of Robert Taylor.

David McIntosh, eldest son of Mrs. G. L. McIntosh, Stanstead, has graduated from Toronto University. David spent a few days at his home here before returning to Toronto, where he has joined the Royal Canadian Air Force. Friends extended congratulations to David, and best wishes for continued progress.

TWO MEN SOUGHT IN DEATH OF CYCLIST

Quebec, May 7.—Quebec Provincial Police sought the two occupants of a truck which struck and fatally injured Laurent Pierre Plante, seventeen, as he rode his bicycle along the Ste. Anne de Beau-pre highway near here.

Gaston Mercier, who was riding alongside Plante, was hurled from his bicycle but suffered only minor injuries.

Police said they believed the truck had been stolen from an oil company by two persons who earlier had abandoned a stolen car here.

COMMANDS NEW REGIMENT

INVERNESS

The Inverness Teachers' Association met in the high school with a good attendance. The prize list for the School Fair was completed and plans for raising funds were discussed. The meeting adjourned to the home of Mrs. W. Beattie, where refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Inverness post office has been moved into the store owned by Mr. A. D. McCammon.

The Lord's Supper was observed in the United Church. Rev. Charles Adey officiated and preached an inspiring sermon.

Mrs. Peter Johnston visited Mrs. Turner and Miss Watson.

Mrs. Hebert is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Tetreau.

Mrs. A. D. McCammon has returned home after spending a few days with her cousin, Mrs. Majury, in Sherbrooke.

Mr. Clifford Stewart was a guest of Rev. and Mrs. Adey at the parsonage for a few days. He has now gone to the Jeffrey Hale Hospital for observation.

The Easter meeting of the W. M.S. of the United Church at the parsonage was conducted by Rev. C. Adey, and Mrs. Adey played the musical parts on the piano. The meeting opened with a responsive service, followed with a prayer by

KING OF THE ROYAL MOUNTED.

YOU'RE BLUFFING IF YOU EXPLODE THAT NITRO-GLYCERINE BOMB YOU'LL BE KILLED WITH THE REST OF US.

PLAIN BLUFFING, THERE'S ONE WAY TO FIND OUT.

A BULLET IN MY BACK, OR EVEN JOSTLING MY ELBOW WILL DETONATE THIS CHARGE.

HE MEANS BUSINESS. MR. WEEMS! WARN THE GUARDS THAT FAST ACTION WILL SULT IN SUDEN DEATH!

MY GOODNESS—MRS. JIGGS, THAT LAST YEAR'S DRESS IS SO BECOMING—DID YOU HAVE IT MADE OVER?

HUH—YOUR GOWN MAKES JIGGS, THAT LAST YEAR'S DRESS IS SO BECOMING—DID YOU HAVE IT MADE OVER?

I JUST MET MRS. DORA BULL—BY THE WAY—DID YOU GO TO THE DRAFT BOARD AND FIND OUT IF COUSIN BOBO HAS BEEN ACCEPTED?

YES—THEY SAID HIS TEETH ARE PERFECT.

AN' WHEN HE GOES DOWN TO PICK 'EM UP TOMORROW—THEY'RE GONNA GIVE HIM HIS PHYSICAL EXAM—

OBITUARIES

MR. TREFLE BARON, MARTINVILLE.

Martinville, May 6.—Mr. Trefle Baron, of this place, passed away after a few months' illness. He was sixty-seven years old.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife; two sons, Roger and Emile; two daughters, Marie and Marguerite; Mrs. Eugene St. Onge; a son-in-law and two grandchildren.

The funeral services were held in Martinville, Rev. Father J. A. Turcotte officiating. Burial was in the Martinville Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Many local friends and relatives attended the funeral. The out-of-town guests were: Mr. Alphonse Baron, of Sherbrooke, and Mr. Ernest Baron, of Capleton, brothers of the deceased; Mrs. Honore Baron, of Sherbrooke, sister-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. A. Maillet, Mr. and Mrs. Moise Drapeau, their daughter, Alida, their son, Roger, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cyr, Mrs. Joseph Lemieux, her daughter, Majella, and sons, Gerard and Roger, Mrs. Homer Desruisseaux, her daughters, Patricia and Gertrude, and her son, Leo, Mrs. J. Gingras and daughter, Alida, all of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Lacroix, of St. Girard, all relatives of Mr. Baron.

Mrs. Alex Hutchison has gone to Lechute to spend some time with her father, Mr. Touchette, who is not gaining as fast as his friends would wish.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fortier were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hutchison.

Mrs. L. H. Ross is spending some time in Lennoxville and Sherbrooke.

Miss Joyce Ross is a guest of her sister, Mrs. John Williams, in Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Green, of Timmins, Ont., are spending some time with her mother, Mrs. Charles Ross, and family.

Pte. Jean Paul Fortin, who is stationed at Three Rivers, was a week-end guest of his father, Mr. Arthur Fortin, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanislas Tasse, who have purchased a property in Montreal have moved to their home on Gouin Boulevard.

To the bereaved family of Mr. Trefle Baron, the citizens of Martinville, offer their deepest sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Lapierre and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lapierre were guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cote.

Jones: "I hear you bought a car cheap the other day. How are you getting on with it?"

Smith: "I'm just realizing how hard it is to drive a bargain."

Those present at the funeral from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Derick and their son, Arnold, of New Haven, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Grant Thompson, of Hemmingford, Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Miller, of Belle Isle, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Miller, of Ystic, and Miss M. Miller, of Bedford.

The sympathy of all goes out to children of the departed.
