World News In Brief

Montreal, July 29— (CP) — Canned pork went on sale here today in the shops of a large retail grocery chain at 35 cents a 12-ounce can, down 12 cents from its 47-cent selling price yesterday.

The firm announced last night it was chopping the price as a result of a federal government decision to offer 40,000,000 pounds of surplus canned pork on the wholesale market at 40 cents a pound, 30 per cent less than it paid for it.

The accumulation of goverment-held pork was caused by the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan.

Hong Kong, July 29—(AP)—More than 100 police today swooped down unexpectedly on 50 Chinese communists guarding 40 planes claimed by both the Red government and retired Gen. Claire L. Chennault of the United States.

The police sped to Kaitak airfield soon after Britain's Privy Council reversed the Hong Kong Supreme Court and awarded the planes to Chennault's Civil Air Transport, Inc.

Communist guards, watching the planes since the original court decision in 1950, were hustled back to China by truck today.

The planes originally belonged to two airlines owned by the Nationalist Chinese government. Chennault claimed he bought them in 1949. They were flown to Hong Kong when the communists took over China and were impounded pending settlement of the ownership squabble.

A spokesman said some of the planes have been partially dismantled.

Colonial authorities sent police speeding to the airport when the Privy Council's decision was announced to avert possible communist demonstrations.

Port Alma, Ont., July 29.—(CP)— A small tornado tore maple and pine trees up by the roots as it ripped a path two miles wide and a mile long across Romney township last night.

Traffic on No. 3 highway was blocked about three hours while farmers with power saws cut trees which had toppled across the road.

Trees knocked over telephone and hydro poles, cutting off service. One section was without gas service as well when a tree hit a natural gas line. A barn was destroyed. No injuries were reported.

Port Alma is about 15 miles southwest of Chatham.

New York, July 29—(AP)—About 700 commuters groped their way to safety through an underground tunnel today after three cars of a New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad train were derailed near Grand Central terminal. No one was injured.

The commuter train, inbound from Port Chester, N.Y., and an empty car sideswiped about 10 blocks from Grand Central.

Thousands of inbound passengers were delayed nearly an hour while the power was cut off.

Iranian Extremists Demand All United States Citizens Be Ousted From The Country

Bitter Attacks Indicate That Hate United States Policy Has Reached New Intensity.

Tehran, July 29—(AP)—Bitter attacks on the United States highlight, a debate today in which the Iranian Parliament overwhelmingly approved Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's program for economic and social reforms to head off national bankruptcy.

The seriousness of the anti-U.S. demonstration was underscored when Deputy Shams Ghanat-Abadi demanded the ouster of all Americans from the country. Ghanat-Abadi is the right-hand man of Ayatullah Seyed Kashani, Iran's leading religious figure and a close supporter of Mossadegh.

Anti-U.S. feeling has been rife here since the July 21 riots which ousted ex-Premier Ahmed Qavam but this was the first such outburst in Parliament.

Contracts for the U.S. military missions expire in October and it is an open secret that U.S. officials are worried that they will not be extended.

This feeling is based on the belief — denied by U.S. Ambassador Loy Henderson — that Americans supported Qavam against Mossadegh. The belief arose principally from a visit paid Qavam by Henderson on July 19, two days after the former had become Premier.

Henderson later explained to newspaper men that he had been called by Qavam and did not go on his own initiative.

Fuel was added to the anti-U.S. flames when it was learned that a U.S. judge on the International Court of Justice at The Hague voted against Iran in the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute. The judge, Green H. Hackworth, and other dissenters were out-voted 9-5.

Ottawa Puts New Drive In Defence Plan

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, July 29.— (CP) —The men directing Canada's defence program are putting on a blitz in an effort to make up lost ground on a production schedule which they now concede was overoptimistic.

The American steel strike hasn't helped things.

At this stage, with the halfway mark coming nearer, there is a marked probability that the scheduled three-year, $5,000,000,000 program to prepare the country for any eventuality will extend into a fourth year and cost closer to $6,000,000,000.

The program was first announced in February 1951. Its highlights were plans to build the R.C.A.F. 3,000 new planes and 41 squadrons, to have a 100-ship navy and 115,000 men in uniform. The 115,000 has since been raised to 120,000.

With 98,000 or 81 per cent of that total in uniform, manpower is so far not a big problem. But production is.

The latest implication of the current situation came in Finance Minister Abbott's recent statement on the government's financial position after the first three months — April, May, June — of the current fiscal year.

In a nutshell, Mr. Abbott said that in the first quarter of the year only 14 per cent of the defence budget was used. To live up to the $2,125,000,000 appropriation, the two departments most concerned — Defence and Defence Production — will have to spend money twice as fast in the next nine months as they have in the first three when the monthly average was $102,000,000.

Mr. Abbott's conclusion was that the expenditures "do not yet reflect the full magnitude of the defence program."

Officials confirm this. With the exception of the F-86 Sabre jet fighter, production of most of the major item of production — aircraft, electronics, warships, guns — is not up to the schedules originally conceived. The reason is said frankly to be over-optimism when the program was drafted. They underrated the tremendously complex job of producing modern arms.

Last fiscal year the defence program planners budgetted for $200,000,000 more than they actually spent. The difference would have been even greater but for mobilization and despatch of the 27th Brigade to Germany.

Officials say they won't be able to tell until early fall whether they'll "underspend" — the official term — again this year. The U.S. steel strike is one drawback. It has had some effect but officials say the blow has not been a major one.

But there are several major factors pushing in the direction of spending the whole defence budget.

One is that traditionally a large

Indicates Famous Dam To Disappear

Rochester, N.Y., July 29.—(AP)—The United States chairman of the International Joint Commission was quoted yesterday as saying that Gut Dam "has got to go and will go" from the St. Lawrence River.

Representative Kenneth B. Keating told reporters that Augustus O. Stanley, the Commission chairman, said this to him in a telephone conversation.

Stanley said last week he agrees with property owners who claim that the earthen dam above the International Rapids was partly responsible for high levels in Lake Ontario that have caused widespread property damage.

Stanley said then that the dam contributed at least 8½ inches to the lake level. The Commission held hearings in Rochester, Toronto and Ogdensburg last week on lake levels, and collected facts and figures on the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Keating said further hearings will be held in Albany in September on the public power phase.

He said Stanley was confident that American members of the Commission will convince the Canadian members of their view on Gut Dam, which was built by Canada in 1902.

"I don't see how they (the Canadians) can get away from it," Keating quoted Stanley

Peron Orders State Funeral Postponed

Buenos Aires, July 29.— (AP) — The flooding grief of the people has postponed funeral services for Eva Peron, Argentina's first lady, at least until tomorrow.

President Juan D. Peron announced last night the body of his wife will continue to lie in state in an improvised chapel in the Labor Ministry until waiting throngs can pay their last sorrowing respects.

Peron said that after the mourning ranks thin, the body will lie in state for a full day in the National Congress building. Then it will be moved for burial in the hall of the General Labor Confederation, whose 6,000,000 members were Mrs. Peron's most devoted supporters.

No official announcement was made of the new funeral date, but the rites apparently will not be held until tomorrow and possibly not until later.

A ceaseless line of mourners flowed past the flower-strewn casket. Some waited as long as 16 hours in the sporadic rains.

The procession moved quietly, in contrast to the initial crush Sunday night and Monday morning in which four persons were known to have died and four others were reported killed.

Mrs. Peron, who rose from a humble beginning to become one of Latin America's most powerful and controversial figures, died Saturday. Her age was officially given as 30.

Italy Claims Plot Against H-Bomb Plan

Rome, July 29. — (CP) — An Italian scientist said today that two Russian officials tried to "buy our secret information" on hydrogen bomb experiments.

Marco Cadamuro Morgante made the statement after the Italian Defence Ministry announced last night that an explosion designed to transform hydrogen into helium —the reaction which could power a hydrogen bomb—had been touched off in this country.

The announcement had made it clear that the experiment involved a small amount of hydrogen.

First reports of the explosion, appearing in Il Gionale d'Italia, said an Italian scietist had actually exploded a hydrogen bomb.

Defence Minister Randolfo Pacciardi denied this. He said the results of the experiment could not be determined until a scientific examination had been made.

The newspaper said the explosion was the culmination of studies made by a young atomic scientist, Ubaldo Lochi.

Morgante, an associate of Loschi, said the Russians "contacted us last winter but we told them that reports about our laboratory were nonsense."

Commonwealth Parley Planned

London, July 29. —(Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill announced in the House of Commons today that a Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference will be held in London in the last week of Nov.

The session will go over the pressing issues of financial, commercial and economic policy now facing the Commonwealth.

Churchill said the Prime Ministers of all Commonwealth governments including Southern Rhodesia will attend except the Prime Ministers of South Africa and India. Both these countries would be represented, however.

Arrangements would also be made for representation of the colonial territories.

It is hoped, Churchill said, "that out of such discussions we could work towards a constructive approach to the economic problems which beset the world.

"I am glad to be able to inform the House that the other Commonwealth Prime Ministers have agreed that such a meeting will be timely and useful and that it will open in the last week of November."

"WOODEN CURTAIN" FOR GERMANY — East German workers erect a long line of wooden poles along the East-West German border near Hohegeis and Braunlage in the Hartz Mountain district. British Cabinet Refuses To Recognize Egyptian Boy King As Sudan Monarch

Cairo, Egypt, July 29 —(AP)— Britain's ambassador to Egypt, Sir Ralph Stevenson, hurried back to Egypt today and called on Premier Aly Maher Pasha with a message from Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain.

Contents of the message were not disclosed, but Eden told the House of Commons in London yesterday that the British Government hopes to see a "stable and orderly administration" emerge from last week's upheaval, which unseated King Farouk and put Gen. Mohamed Naguib Bey and Maher Pasha in control of the country.

Eden also said Maher Pasha had been assured Britain has "no wish to intervene" in Egypt's internal affairs, but that current British transfers of warships, troops and planes to the Suez Canal zone "are related solely to the possibility of danger to British lives."

Stevenson had interrupted a European vacation to confer in London on the momentous Egyptian events and then rush here with the British messages.

Stevenson's return opened the way for a reopening of talks on the Egyptian demands for the removal of British troops from the Canal zone and British recognition of Egyptian sovereignty over the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, now ruled jointly by Britain and Egypt.

The Premier, like his predecessors, has pledged his government would realize both these aims. The two countries are reported to have agreed privately on removal of British troops from the Canal zone, but Eden told the House of Commons yesterday his government refuses to recognize infant King Faud II as monarch of the Sudan, just as it had refused to recognize the claim of his father, former King Farouk.

Naples, Italy, July 29 —(AP)— Egypt's former King Farouk stopped today at the Isle of Capri, across the Bay of Naples from this great Mediterranean port, on his yacht ride into exile.

Naples police said Farouk was due here later today. Port officials made preparations to receive the ousted monarch's yacht Mahroussa at the city's central dock.

Egypt's ambassador to Italy, Abdel Aziz Badr Bey, hurried down from Rome last night. Farouk brought with him Egypt's new ruler, his six-month-old son King Fuad II.

The infant was proclaimed King Saturday by Egypt's cabinet after his father bowed to the military pressure of his country's new army commander, Gen. Mohamed Naguib Bey. That night Farouk, with Queen Narriman, their baby and his three daughters by a former marriage, sailed away from Egypt.

Nothing was known here about Farouk's plans. There was speculation he might idle awhile on Capri, where he and Narriman spent their honeymoon a year ago. Other suggestions were that his destination would be the French Riviera, or Rapallo on the Italian Riviera, where he owns a villa.

The royal yacht passed through the Straits of Messina early last night and crawled at 10 knots through the storm-driven seas along the coast of Italy.

Saigon, Indo-China, July 29—(AP)—The French High command announced today its forces have killed or wounded 500 communist-led Vietminh troops in five days of fighting in central and north Indo-China.

French losses were not given. The army admitted the Vietminh had over-run two French posts and from one there were only six French survivors.

The French said they finally drove the guerrillas off with mass bombing and heavy artillery.

Tug Bringing Leaking Ship To Drydock

Quebec, July 29.— (CP) —The Great Lakes freighter John A. France, anchored overnight in the St. Lawrence River near here, was scheduled today to undergo inspection for damages suffered in a collision with another vessel Sunday.

The Woodford, an ocean-going freighter, suffered a damaged hull and flooded engine room and was towed slowly upstream from the scene of the collision, 120 miles east of here.

Meanwhile, another lake vessel, the Birchton, was expected early today with 24 crew members and four passengers of the Woodford, transferred shortly after the collision.

Only 22 crew members remained aboard the Woodford, bound for Europe with grain and mixed cargo when the collision occurred in foggy weather near Ile Verte, across the St. Lawrence River from the mouth of the Saguenay River. The St. Lawrence is 20 miles wide there.

They manned the Woodford's pumps at full capacity to keep down the water level in the hull.

Water poured in from a gaping hole in the freighter's side.

The 3,300-ton John A. France, owned by Colonial Steamships of Port Colborne, Ont., was sailing from the lower St. Lawrence harbor of Matane with a load of pulpwood for Erie, Pa.

It arrived here last night and anchored off the Davie Ship-Building and Repairing Company yards at Lauzon, across the river.

The salvage tug Rocky River reached the Woodford, a Watts and Watts Line vessel represented in Canada by Cunard Steamship Company, late yesterday and started towing at three knots. The freighter had no power of its own. It was expected to reach Quebec late today.

The mishap was the second for the Woodford in less than 22

Ex-Soldier Convicted In Murder Case

Birmingham, England, July 29.—(Reuters)—Donald Neil Simon, 32, Canadian ex-serviceman, formerly of Fredericton, N.B., was sentenced today to be hanged for shooting his wife in a "crime of passion" when he found her with another man.

The prosecution said Simon shot down both his estranged war-bride wife, Eunice Marjorie Joyce Simon, 28, and Victor Brades, outside his wifes' home June 15.

Defence lawyers pleaded that Simon had a history of psychopathic personality which would make it more difficult for him to control himself than a normal person.

A psychologist called to testify by the defence, Dr. E. Jacobi, said psychopathic personality is an abnormal state of mind but it is not a disease of the mind and it is not akin to mental deficiency.

The prosecution, Sir Hartley Shawcross, submitted that on Jacobi's evidence there was no evidence that Simon was suffering from a defect of reason following a disease of the mind.

Dr. Allan Victor McKenzie, medical officer of Shrewsbury prison, called by Shawcross, said that his opinion was that Simon was emotionally unstable but he was unable to find any evidence of mental disease.

He said he considered Simon was responsible for his actions and fit to stand trial.

In cross-examination Defence Lawyer Richard O'Sullivan asked: "Assume a man is in love with his wife and assume he has put himself in hospital for nervous diseases in order to cure himself, and assume that while here he gets a petition for divorce served on him, would that greatly disturb him?"

McKenzie replied: "I certainly agree it would disturb him."

Dr John Humphrey, principal medical officer at Birmingham prison, said that after examining

New Troubles At Red Cross Meeting Seen

By H. DENT HODGSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, July 29— (CP) —New threats to the harmony of the 18th International Red Cross conference were foreseen today by delegates and conference officials following a clear-cut rebuff yesterday of a Soviet-bloc protest.

Two of four main commissions elected yesterday to conduct the business of the conference were expected to run into agenda items which would enable iron-curtain delegates to raise charges already brought up at the United Nations.

In sessions to date, the Russian bloc has lost no opportunity to bring these issues before the 750-odd delegates here from 71 countries.

In addition to the general commission of the conference, which will deal with the report of the International Committee of the Red Cross on the work of the last four years, the relief commission will meet. The legal sub-commission also is scheduled to meet and all three meetings—which will be held simultaneously—are considered by authoritative sources to be potential trouble spots.

The legal sub-commission meeting is closed to the press, but the others are open.

The general commission was expected to touch on matters at which the Russians could renew their charges of mistreatment of civilian populations in Korea, mistreatment of prisoners on Koje Island, and possibly other matters, including the question of Soviet charges of germ warfare.

The latter have not yet been made on the floor of the conference, although the report of the communist China Red Cross which was presented here did repeat the charges.

At the relief commission, it was expected that the Australian delegate, Alfred G. Brown, secretary-general of the Australian Red Cross, would renew charges that United Nations red tape in Korea and Japan has hampered the Red Cross in getting supplies to needy areas. Mr. Brown brought the subject up briefly last week and said he would return to it later.

Reports persisted, meanwhile, the Russian delegation was preparing proposals for the legal subcommission, which deals with amendments to International Red Cross regulations.

It was understood the Soviet proposal would ask to delete the words, "International Committee of the Red Cross," from all references to the amendments proposed.

The I.C.R.C., a neutral body of 25 Swiss citizens, has come under repeated Soviet attack, one of the most recent being charges that it is not an impartial body and in fact, a United States tool. Russia refused to let the I.C.R.C. investigate its germ warfare charges against the U.N.

At yesterday's meetings a Red China protest against the seating of Nationalnst China delegates was defeated. Communist China was supported by the entire Soviet bloc, and the vote—to uphold the ruling of Red Cross heads that both Chinas are entitled to seating—carried 58 to 25, with five abstentions.

The vote came after two hours in which more than a dozen countries took the floor. Charges and counter-charges were hurled back and forth, with some delegates, notably Belgium, Ecuador and Nicaragua, urging that the conference deal solely with matters of humanitarian interest and not become embroiled in political issues.

Canadian Receives Coveted Honors For Heroic Action

London, July 29 —(Reuters)—Sqdn. Ldr. William Waterton, a native of Edmonton, was awarded the George Medal today for saving vital information by crash-landing a top-secret British jet fighter instead of bailing out.

Waterton, a Battle of Britain veteran, recently was testing a flying - triangle GA-5, Britain's latest jet fighter, when trouble developed in the controls.

He fought the controls down to the ground, made a belly-landing and the plane skidded along the ground, turned and burst into flames.

Before leaping clear Waterton grabbed special movie film records of the plane's performance.

The citation accompanying the Medal said his conduct was "beyond the call of duty, his courage outstanding."

The award was announced in the official Royal Gazette issued tonight.

Waterton, 36, has a long history of bravery in the air. He came to England to join the R.A.F. in 1939.

He was a pioneer among jet pilots and flew with the R.A.F. high-speed flight when it broke the world air speed record of 606 miles an hour in September, 1946. The following month he joined the Gloster Aircraft Company as a test pilot, flying secret experimental jets.

He has set up several speed records for Britain.

He flew to Canada in 1949 to carry out the test flight of the first Canadian jet fighter. When Canadian officials demonstrated a huge twin-jet fighter to military representatives of many countries in Washington the following year, Waterton was at the controls.

As chief test pilot of the Gloster company, Waterton was the first to fly the Delta-wing GA-5 in November last year.

As is crashed landed onto the main runway of the R.A.F. experimental air station at Boscombe Down, Southern England, on June 29, ground crews fought the flames and saved it from total wreck.

"Naturally I am sorry that crash landing it did not preserve the plane entirely. I certainly tried," Waterton said afterwards.

"But there will soon be another in the air. It is super-priority production job and this bad luck will only stimulate us that much more."

London, July 29. — (AP) — Police and guardsmen walked a two-wheel pedometer from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey today to find out about spacing the formations for the coronation procession next June 2.

Clicks every time the wheels made a turn gave parade officials precise information on how far apart to put the marchers and the guards along the way.

They found also that the Queen will ride about seven miles through London streets in her trip to the Abbey and back to get her crown.

Sorel, Que., July 29.—(CP)—A two-month strike at Quebec Iron and Titanium Company at Sorel, Que., ended late yesterday with announcement of an agreement between the company and the Union of Iron and Titanium Workers (C.C.C.L.), representing the 500 workers.

Iron Ore Development Means Rigorous Life In Ungava

(Living in the wilderness country of northern Quebec and Labrador isn't easy. The weather is one of the problems. In this story, Forbes Rhude, Canadian Press business editor, interviews a man and wife who have spent five years there, to give you their picture of frontier life.)

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Norman Delmage has lived since 1947 in the heart of Labrador-Ungava. Let's listen to him talk about the weather in that frontier area which iron ore is opening.

Now Burnt Creek, Que., near the Labrador boundary, where he lives with his wife and small daughter, has electric lights and running water. By 1954 vast surface mining will have started pouring the natural riches of the area on world markets at a rate of 10,000,000—perhaps later 20,000,000—tons a year.

"There were no conveniences here five years ago," he says.

"During the first winter there were days when we had to take crews off the job to cut firewood and haul it in to keep from freezing.

"There is cold, dirty weather after August, and sometimes as much as a foot of snow in September. By the end of October the lakes begin to freeze, generally there is not much snow until December, but from mid-December we can expect anything.

"The toughest part is the wind. It can be 40 below zero and blowing 40 miles an hour at the same time.

"It's not that there's so much snow, but what we get blows off the hills and piles up in the valleys. Drifts reach the tops of buildings. The more you plow, the more it piles in. You're only asking for trouble to try to cut through it. So, on the winter roads, we try to stay on top—to travel over it.

"Three winters ago we had our worst siege, 40 and 50 below zero for weeks on end, and an occasional 60 below. That year we installed a central heating plant, and nearly froze to death doing it. The last two winters have been comparatively good.

"There is not much break until April, and the first real thaws are in May. June and the fall bring the best weather. July and August tend toward wet and fog. Some summers it has dried up enough to raise dust.

"Black flies are the real summer problem, along with mosquitoes. Those flies get in your ears, your hair, crawl under anything, take chunks right out of you. The men get used to it, but the women and kids suffer."

Aluminum Wage Agreement Brightens U.S. Conditions

Pittsburgh, July 29—(AP)—Settlement of a threatened aluminum strike and speed-up of steel production put the United States economy on firm footing today for the first time in two months.

A walkout of 15,000 C.I.O. steelworkers at nine plants of the giant Aluminum Company of America was averted last night by an 11th-hour settlement.

The strike, set for today, would have shut off more than 20 per cent of the country's ingot aluminum production, vitally needed in the manufacture of planes and other defence items.

The settlement was announced by the Wage Stabilization Board on the eve of its final appearance. The Wage Board, stripped of most of its dispute-settling powers by Congress last month, will be replaced by a new board lacking any power to propose settlement terms in deadlocked labor disputes.

The W.S.B. said the new contracts will give workers a 21.4-cents-an-hour pay benefit package. Of that, 15 cents is retroactive to March 10 and four cents effective July 1. The pact also calls for a modified union shop where employees must apply for union membership but may withdraw during the 15th and 30th day of employment.

Approval of a new wage contract between Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. and the United Steelworkers' Union (C.I.O.) affecting 5,000 employees in Kaiser plants also was announced.

Meanwhile, steel companies took short cuts but with safety margins to speed up production. By truck and railroad tinplate and other steel products moved to consumers.

One sour note in the general back-to-work story came from the Defence Production Administrator Henry H. Fowler. He warned that it may be two or three months before manufacturers of civilian goods get sufficient flow of new steel. Fowler estimates steel production loss at 20,000,000 tons.

While negotiators wrangled over terms of the settlement, one of the country's biggest producers, Reynolds Metal Co., asked the government for a ceiling price increase of two cents a pound for primary aluminum. The request is the same as that filed a few days ago by Alcoa. Kaiser wants 2½ cents per pound for primary aluminum with a 12½-per-cent boost for all of its aluminum products.

The U.S.W. originally demanded wage increases of 18½ cents an hour from Alcoa, plus a union shop. Company officials and the union never disclosed what offers, if any, were made prior to the settlement.

Wage scales in various Alcoa plants average about $1.50 an hour.

WINTER DRIFTS—Drifts pile deeply along the route of the proposed 360-mile railway into the Labrador-Ungava iron ore development during the severe winter months. The southern terminus, Seven Islands, Que., will have 48 lines of tracks leading to the ore-shipping docks on the St. Lawrence River when the railways is completed. (CP Photo)

Iron Ore

After hearing that, I asked Mrs. Delmage what she thought about it. She came to Burnt Creek as a bride in 1948 from Normetal, Que.

"We had two rooms between the rafters above a machine shop," she said. "But it was kind of cute."

Sometimes she found the winters "depressing" but after a few trips outside she feels that Burnt Creek, where she now lives in a new house with modern fittings is "home."

Her daughter, Lynn, is two years old, and was hailed when she was born "as the first production of the "Iron Ore Company in Labrador.

Mrs. Delmage says the baby wasn't actualy born in Burnt Creek; she went out to Mont Joli.

"When we go out, we go on a buying spree—like men gone berserk on drink."

Her ordinary winter costume is parka and ski slacks, a kerchief, woollen mitts, fur-lined boots.

She told about last Christmas at Burnt Creek:

"Six of Norm's men came around, and played with Lynn and her puppy spaniel. We had a Christmas tree. We made ice cream—somehow, we get a craving for ice cream up here—and we had turkey with all the trimmings. We got out the guitar, and the five other families here dropped in for a singsong."

She said air transportation is provided when one wants to visit outside.

"But we feel guilty about taking it. It means that some supplies won't be delivered. Once when I was catching a plane at the last minute, I saw them take off enough lumber to make up for my weight."

Brides coming to Burnt Creek are welcomed by the women already in residence, who call around with cakes and refreshments. "People are helpful here—they have to be."

Mrs. Delmage, an attractive brunette, is the former Yvette Noel, who was born at Cutler, Ont., when it was a lumber town between Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. She met her husband when both were working at Normetal, Que. Her mother, Mrs. William Noel, lives at Cadillac, Ont.

Delmage is an example of the powerful call of the big jobs which are pushing back Canada's frontiers.

He was born at Ochre River, near Dauphin, Man., and worked at northern mining camps in Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec. Then, in 1947, he thought he'd try something diferent and went to Vancouver. Within six weeks he got a telephone call asking him to go to Labrador. He has been there since, first as master mechanic and now as manager, for Iron Ore Company.

Everett Nicol And Paul Leclerc Only Candidates Named For North Ward Seat

A straight fight for the vacant North Ward seat on the Sherbrooke City Council was assured this morning when the names of Everett Nicol and Paul Leclerc were placed in nomination officially at eleven o'clock, the deadline for entering candidates in the August 5 elections.

Following the close of nominations, a brief public meeting was held in the auditorium of the City Hall at which time both candidates addressed a large group of the electorate, expressing their thanks for the honors accorded them and outlining their program.

The public meeting was presided over by Mayor Emile Levesque with G. Eudore Vaillancourt acting as returning officer.

The North Ward contest was brought about by a decision of the Quebec Court of Appeals which upset a Magistrate's Court ruling declaring Mr. Leclerc elected by acclamation last year.

Mr. Leclerc was defeated by J. L. Boulanger in the elections of March 1951 but later contested the election on the grounds that Mr. Boulanger lacked the necessary property qualifications. Mr. Boulanger immediately vacated his seat but contested a demand by Mr. Leclerc that the latter be declared elected by acclamation as the only qualified candidate.

Leclerc's contention was maintained by the Magistrate and Boulanger's attorneys appealed. By unanimous judgment, the Court of Appeals ordered a new election.

Storm Drama To Be Presented At Brae Manor

At the Brae Manor theatre in Knowlton, where Marjorie and Filmore Sadler have their popular group of players, the S. R. O. sign has been out nearly every night since the season opened the first week in July. Last week for Goodbye My Fancy, the theatre was filled to capacity every night. This week the players are presenting Black Chiffon, a drama by Lesley Storm. This play was a great success in London in 1949 with Flora Robson in the leading part. Later it came to New York with Miss Robson still playing Alicia Christie. The Knowlton production is the first in this part of Canada.

Black Chiffon is the story of a mother of good background and comfortable means who, for no apparent reason, steals a black chiffon nightdress. The central situation is one that wounds the feelings of the innocent as well as the guilty. A psychiatrist ferrets out the sad bypath of a trapped woman's rejected, misdirected love. She must face a prison term or allow the defence to disclose in open court her secret. The choice is inevitable.

Gyne Williams, well known for her work in Montreal, will play the part of the tortured Mrs. Christie. Christian Evans will be seen as the doctor while Claire Drew, Andrew Macmillan, Barbara Munson and Filmore Sadler make up the rest of the family. Nan Stewart, whose work has been much enjoyed at Knowlton this summer, will play the part of the family Nannie.

Direction is by Filmore Sadler with stage setting by David Haber.

Optimist Club Plans Visits

The Optimist Club held a business meeting last night in the LaSalle Hotel. President Erich Marquardt was in the chair for the meeting and seated at the head table with him were Joseph Gilbert, Paul Delorme, Paul Nadeau, Jacques Laliberte and Vitol Scheib.

Among projects discussed was one which would mean more visiting between clubs in this Optimist district. A group of members from the Sherbrooke Optimists, for example, would have to visit a certain number of other groups, carrying a token with them which would have to make the rounds. Present plans call for paying of fines by the club which fails to live up to this pleasant obligation.

Urge Proper Animal Care On Holidays

"Listen for the cry of a living creature in distress!"

During the vacation months when people are anxious to get away from the monotony of their work and the heat of the city, the innocent pet is often made to suffer, as a result of negligence or forgetfulness.

The local branch of the S.P.C.A. requests residents of Sherbrooke to keep licences on their dogs, otherwise if they are picked up without any identifcation on them, they will be given to the first applicant. The Association would also like to stress the fact that pets should not be left on the streets to look after themselves. People going on holiday trips, without any provision for the animals, are asked to phone 3-3228 or 3-2172.

In this warm weather animals suffer and birds also, so on their behalf the public is asked to deposit dishes of fresh water daily for them to drink from. It would be beneficial for horses if persons would put up signs saying "Horses can get a drink here," so that the drivers may refresh their hard-working helpmates. By so doing, people will be helping the S.P.C.A. in its uphill work.

Children and youths break bottles on the sidewalks, and in lanes in suburbs and country places. This is most dangerous as children with bare feet or broken shoes may be badly injured by the sharp glass.

Cats and dogs have already suffered through this carelessness and an immediate remedy can be made effective through the cooperation of parents, churches and the Scout movement.

Farewell Held For Lennoxville Church Pastor

REV. NORMAN D. McLEOD

Members of the Lennoxville United Church congregation and friends gathered in the Gertrude Scott Hall on Thursday evening to say farewell to Rev. and Mrs. Norman D. McLeod who left yesterday for Kippen, Ont.

Mr. W. S. Richardson acted as chairman and a short musical program was rendered. Mr. W. Gibson, acting organist, was at the piano and members of the church choir sang "Blow Gentle Breeze," "Lone Fare Thee Well" and "In Silent Night." A quartette, composed of Miss Thelma Crawford, Mr. Douglas Hadlock, Mr. Clifford Force and Mr. Alex Rowat, sang "Kentucky Babe" and "The Story of a Tack."

Miss Thelma Crawford sang "Road to the Isles" and concluded the program very fittingly with "Will Ye No Come Back Again," which was especially composed by Miss Ileen Ennals.

Mr. Richardson expressed the regrets of the congregation in the removal of Rev. and Mrs. McLeod and spoke highly of the work done during the eleven years Rev. Mr. McLeod had been pastor in Lennoxville and wished them every success in their new charge.

Mrs. W. J. Lane, on behalf of the congregation and friends, congratulated Mrs. McLeod on her untiring efforts, at all times, both in the work of the church and in the community and presented her with a leather purse.

Mr. J. H. Woodside paid high tribute to Rev. Mr. McLeod and presented him with a leather brief case and purse of money.

Rev. and Mrs. McLeod expressed their appreciation for the gifts and for the friendship they had made during their eleven years in this community.

Following a social hour, members of the Women's Association, Young Women's Association and Philathea Society served refreshments. The hall was tastefully decorated with baskets and silver vases of summer flowers.

Rev. Norman D. McLeod, B.A., B.D., was born in Portneuf and came to Lennoxville in 1907, where he attended Lennoxville Academy and graduated in Arts from the University of Bishop's College. He served overseas with the 5th C.M.R. in World War I and was wounded at Maple Copse and at Paschendale.

He married Mary Beatrice Farwell, who also attended Lennoxville Academy and is a graduate of Stanstead College. They have two children, Meriam I. Mosher and Norman J. McLeod.

Mr. McLeod went to Alberta in 1920 and studied Theology in Robertson College, Edmonton, graduating in 1926. Later he obtained his B.D. degree from the University of Alberta. He served two charges in Alberta, at Lavoy and Lamont, and was called to Lennoxville in 1941.

Rev. Mr. McLeod is a past chairman of Vermilion Presbytery in Alberta and the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery. He is treasurer of the 5th C.M.R. Association and secretary of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery. Recently he was called to Kippen in the Huron Presbytery of the London Conference.

On Sunday Rev. Mr. McLeod preached his farewell sermon and left yesterday for his new charge.

Depression Hobby Is Now Big Business

Summerland, B.C., — Mrs. David Livingstone Milne, 65, who started canning for charity on a little machine fastened to her kitchen table 18 years ago now is owner of a profitable business in this Okanagan Valley centre.

During depression years she canned peaches and sent them to relatives on the Prairies and to Summerland Hospital, of which she was a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Soon she was supplying canned peaches, pears, apricots, prunes, carrots, tomatoes and corn and orders came in from all parts of Canada.

To keep pace with the growing demand, her sons, employed in a packing plant, built her a factory in their spare time. In the first year of its operation, she said, it paid off $1,600 owing on the house and bought a refrigerator, an electric washer and a typewriter.

The next year the boys quit the packing house and went to work for their mother; so did Mr. Milne, a science teacher.

Word-of-mouth advertising worked wonders. Soon customers began arriving at the little building with boxes to be filled with Mrs. Milne's preserves and orders came from stores, too. The plant was extended and modernized and at the end of the 1951 packing season Mrs. Milne said she felt she could call herself a success.

"It's a sort of miracle," she said.

Mr. Milne died two years ago.

Henry Smith Succumbs In Hospital

Henry Smith, 75, of 230 Victoria Street, succumbed in St. Vincent de Paul Hospital during the night to injuries he received last Tuesday evening when he suffered a fall in a local restaurant. The elderly man never regained consciousness.

Dr. Louis Gagnon, district coroner, expected the inquest would be held today at the Municipal Police Station.

Mr. Smith, stableman at the Sherbrooke Pure Milk Company, dropped into the Olivier's Dairy Bar for an ice cream cone shortly after he had finished work at eight o'clock.

Witnesses say that he suffered a heart attack and fell, striking his head on the stone elevation on which stand the counter stools of the Dairy Bar.

Milan Resident In Hospital After Accident

Murdo A. Matheson, 68, of Milan, is in fairly critical condition at the Sherbrooke Hospital, where he was admitted Sunday evening after being struck by a car in Milan.

The accident occurred while Mr. Matheson was crossing the Scotstown-Megantic highway which runs through the town. He was struck on a curve in the highway by a car driven by Lucien Vachon, of Milan.

He was taken to hospital by ambulance.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Police officers Hubert Lawrence, of Bury, and Paul Breton, of Stornoway.

Magog River Claims One More Victim

Municipal Police late this morning were still dragging the Magog River near the C.P.R. bridge for the body of a young man believed drowned there yesterday afternoon. This is the fourth death in the Magog this month.

Dragging operations went on until late last night without success.

Police Capt. Armand Genest received a phone call yesterday that other bathers in that area had seen a man call for help and then go under the water. The water is about thirty feet deep at this point.

A bundle of clothing was found on the beach after the other swimmers had left for their homes yesterday evening.

The clothing was identified at Municipal Police headquarters this morning as those of Lucien Charbonneau, of 21 Elgin Street.

They were identified by his mother who said her son, in his early twenties, had gone swimming alone early yesterday afternoon. There had been no means of identifying the owner on the clothes themselves.

Stanstead Granite Company Closed As Workers Went On Strike Monday

Beebe, July 29.—A group of workers went on strike yesterday.

All that's clear about the situation is that the strike affects the Stanstead Granite Company. The firm has shut down.

A company official said yesterday that about fifty men had walked off their jobs at the plant. This number, he said, was just a guess because the situation is "tangled." The workers were still off their jobs this morning and picketing.

No violence was reported on the part of the strikers.

The office force and the foreman were not included among the strikers when the plant shut down.

The striking workers are organized but their union is not recognized by the company.

The company is not prepared to make a statement but says that they and the workers have not been satisfied with negotiations being carried on by the Board of Arbitration.

Dispute centers about the employees' demands for a 15-cent-an-hour increase in wages and five paid holidays during the year or two-and-one half times pay for working on the holidays.

At latest report the workers were willing to accept an increase of five cents an hour but remained adamant on the holidays' dispute.

The entire plant and the quarry are closed because of the strike.

GOOD - BYE FAROUK

People of the Western World have little reason to feel any sympathy for the position in which former King Farouk of Egypt now finds himself. The ex-ruler of Egypt is now without a job but from all accounts, he will suffer little from the increase in his leisure time. Reputedly he is worth many millions of dollars which he thoughtfully removed from his native country well in advance of his run-in with the revolutionary elements.

These millions of dollars will enable him to enjoy on a full-time basis the play-boy career he has outlined for himself, a career which was largely responsible for the military coup which cost him the throne of Egypt.

There is little reason to believe that the Egyptians themselves greatly regret the departure of the ex-monarch. In fact, indications are that the vast mass of the population are strongly in favor of the action taken by the military clique in ousting Farouk.

And there is every reason that they should be. Poverty, hunger and pestilence are the sorry lot of the ordinary Egyptian, a condition which Farouk did nothing to alleviate. Despite his great personal fortune, he gave little or no support to any movement designed to better the position of his subjects. In fact, he seems to have been more intent upon increasing his already vast fortune through the further exploitation of his unhappy people. Graft and corruption seem to have been the chief features of his governments and foreign organizations which sought to aid the ordinary Egyptian claim that their activities were often hamstrung by the demands of the ruling politicians for a pay-off everytime they made a turn.

In the light of general conditions within Egypt, it is little wonder that Farouk was given his walking ticket. What surprise exists must be over the fact that it did not come sooner and take more drastic forms.

THE RUSSIAN READER AND THE U. S. ELECTIONS

That much-bewildered character, the average Soviet reader, must be more confused than ever today.

To hear his newspapers tell it, an American who votes Republican in November will really be voting Democratic and the American who votes Democratic will be upholding the most conservative of Republicans — but in any event, President Truman, who is not running at all, cannot lose.

Before the Republican convention, Moscow described Senator Robert Taft as the guardian of Mid-western financial interests and General Eisenhower as the choice of Wall Street.

Then, taking no chances, the Moscow press carefully added that Wall Street also had a hand in the candidacy of Taft. At the same time, it told its readers, Eisenhower's selection was a deal cooked up by the warmongers, Wall Street and President Truman, so that the General actually is the candidate of President Truman, described as hand in glove with dark forces among the Republicans interesting in promoting a new war.

That was only the beginning.

With the nomination by the Democrats of Governor Adlai Stevenson, Moscow had to reach for a fuller explanation. It came up with this:

Stevenson is really the guardian of the big financial interests of the Middle West. He was nominated because he was "selected by the biggest business circles in the United States."

Thus, reasons Mr. Average Reader of Moscow, if Eisenhower is the candidate of Wall Street, then the biggest business circles in the United States must be elsewhere, although you'd never have known it to read Pravda up to now.

Now, this makes Stevensoun and Taft both guardians of the same mysterious big business interests of the Middle West. Put that way, Stevenson is really a Taft man!

At this point, Mr. Muscovite Average Reader, getting a firm grip on himself, reads that Stevenson was selected by the Democratic convention on orders from President Truman, just in case President Truman's real favorite — Eisenhower — should lose out. In this way both President Truman and Wall Street were sure to win.

How is it that President Truman cannot be sure Eisenhower will win? Didn't Pravda say the United States is a police state? As is well known — Mr. Average Reader in Moscow uses this phrase frequently — there is no question about who wins the election in the Soviet Union, which everybody knows is the most democratic election in the world. Yet here is President Truman, at the head of a police state, having to choose a second candidate in case his favorite loses.

This must mean the U.S. voter has a choice between candidates.

That is not the way Comrade Stalin arranges things.

STEVENSON'S ENVIABLE POSITION: HE'S UNCOMMITTED AND UNBOSSED

By PETER EDSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Chicago — (NEA) — The enviable position of Gov. Adlai Stevenson is that he emerges from the Chicago Democratic National Convention completely uncommitted and unbossed.

He has made no political promises to anyone. No money has been collected on his behalf to wage any political campaign. He owes nothing to anybody.

This leaves him perfectly free — in case he should be elected President in November — to clean house as he sees fit in Washington. He can drive out the tired old party hacks who have been cluttering up the political landscape during the past 20 years. He can start fresh. It is only on this basis that the Democratic Party has any chance of winning the election in November.

Predicting the outcome of this election at this early stage is of course futile. But it is now a tough race. It is not a shoo-in for Eisenhower, as the Republicans hoped.

Stevenson can take a great deal of credit for having deliberately planned it that way. First Stevenson refused to accept President Truman's pre-convention urgings that he become a candidate.

* * *

The Governor's original motive in this refusal may have been his genuine unwillingness to run. Its effect, however, was to prevent any black marks on the Truman administration record from rubbing off on Stevenson. And it leaves the Governor unbossed by Harry Truman.

Second, Stevenson stayed out of all state primary and state nominating convention contests. That left him free from any of the feuding between rival candidates. This means that none of them has any grudges against Stevenson. Conversely, the Governor should be able to count on their future friendship and support.

Third, Stevenson took no part in any of the contests over the seating of Texas and Mississippi delegates. He took no part in the fight over rules and the adoption of the delegates' loyalty pledge. Though a delegate to the convention, Stevenson stayed away from the floor while these fights were on.

This leaves him in a position to ask for and receive the support of not only Texas and Mississippi, but also Virginia, Louisiana and South Carolina — the three states that refused to give assurances of loyalty to the ticket. This provides a good opportunity for restoring party unity in the election campaign.

* * *

Fourth, Stevenson has been able to steer clear of influence by union labor bosses. It is this very fact that was responsible for much of the effort to organize a "Stop Stevenson" movement. Union officials who felt that Stevenson was not "pro-labor" enough for them were active in trying to promote the candidacy of rivals like Harriman, Kefauver and Russell, who were on record for labor's recommended programs.

Finally, Stevenson was able to stay out of all the other deals and maneuverings that would-be political bosses tried to cook up during the Democratic Convention.

Among these plotters were such men as George Allen, the ex-White House jester, now a friend and partner of the Republican presidential nominee, Dwight D. Eisenhower; Ed Pauley, the California oil man whom President Truman tried to make Secretary of the Navy, until the Senate ruled him down; Jim Farley of New York with only his own one-half vote to boss; and Jimmy Roosevelt of California, reduced in this convention to the status of an alternate delegate-at-large.

None of these men and others like them had any official position of importance in the Chicago convention. All have been discredited. Yet they and others of their ilk cluttered up the hotel rooms of Chicago, trying to chisel their way back into power by promoting deals.

* * *

Much of the furtive "Stop Stevenson" movement was the work of these conspirators. And when they failed, some of the would-be deal makers tried to reverse themselves and climb on the Stevenson bandwagon.

Stevenson fortunately could take no part in such deals because he had no organization and he had no campaign managers.

The one tie which Stevenson has had to a political boss is with Col. Jake Arvey, Chicago's Democratic boss and national committeeman from Illinois.

Publicity representatives for some of Stevenson's rival candidates tried to build up a Jake Arvey bogey. They pictured him as the boss of four mid-Western states and the potential boss of the whole Democratic Party in case Stevenson got the nomination.

Whatever the future status of Arvey, at the Chicago convention Stevenson refused to allow him to operate as a campaign manager. If the Governor is smart enough, he might keep it that way.

Canadian Embassy In Red Capital Small But Active

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, July 29. — (AP) — With a small staff the Canadian embassy in Moscow manages to keep as active as any of the bigger diplomatic establishments in the Soviet capital.

This is another way of saying it turns out a lot of work.

Its members keep in touch with Soviet life as well as they can. They read all the Russian publications available. They attend all public functions and circulate with other foreigners here.

The Canadian Embassy also is in close touch with the British Embassy and other British Commonwealth missions here and maintains friendly contacts with the Americans.

Young and personable Robert A. D. Ford is the charge d'affaires and he is highly regarded by his colleagues in the diplomatic corps. Canada has not had an ambassador in residence here since L. Dana Wilgress immediately after the war.

In Ford, however, Canada has an experienced diplomat and one who has had previous experience in the U.S.S.R., serving as the principal lieutenant to Ambassador Wilgress.

Entertaining and being entertained—as anyone knows—is an important function of a diplomatic mission. In addition to the social obligations entailed, it is a very convenient method of exchanging news and views.

The Canadian embassy is fortunate in having one of the most accomplished hostesses in Moscow, the young and pretty wife of the charge d'affaires. And she manages to strike a happy medium in entertaining — not too much and not too little.

The Embassy is located in a two-storied, almost square, cream-plastered building across a narrow street from a large school for Soviet boys. Previously it was the Danish legation, and before that a pre-revolutionary Russian residence.

It is located in the Arbat section of Moscow fairly close to the Austrian, Danish, Finnish and Israel legations and the Chinese and American embassies.

In the Embassy are located the officers and the residences of the charge d'affaires; the two secretaries and their families; rooms for a translator etc.

There is a small building attached to the embassy property housing army and air attaches, a military clerk, and the small staff of stenographers. The military attaches have their offices in this building also.

A high brick wall encloses the Embassy grounds which also include garages, storerooms and a place where wood is cut and stored for winter heating.

A section of the backyard was once flooded for a skating rink, but this wasn't a great success and since then ice-minded Canadians have done their skating at public places. They ski in nearby hills. The Canadian Embassy handles a considerable amount of consular work, dealing with the Russians in connection with the settlement of estates, etc., of Russians who die in Canada and leave money to relatives in this country.

Reports and interpretation of events and policies make up a large proportion of the work of any embassy here and the Canadian embassy is no exception.

Unlike some Canadian embassies abroad, the one in Moscow is not required to spend much time on folks known as "visiting firemen" —visitors from Canada—who expect to be shown the places of interest and entertained.

Not many Canadians come this way these days.

Jacoby On Bridge

BE SURE YOU KNOW WHAT FOE IS DOING

In today's hand, played in the national championships last year in Washington, the West player hypnotized himself into believing that he had his opponents on the run.

It was all right for West to double three hearts, since he could obviously do well if South stayed in that contract. But West's double of three no-trump was a clear case of delusions of grandeur.

West opened the queen of hearts and continued the suit until Lee Hazen, playing the South hand, won the third round with the ace.

If declarer had been able to see the cards held by the opponents, he would have had no trouble making his contract, for it would have been a cinch to take successful finesses in diamonds and clubs.

Not being able to see through the backs of the cards, Hazen tried the club finesse, and then cashed the ace and king of spades. West's discard of a low diamond on the second spade was a disappointment.

Hazen next led a low club to dummy's ace, hoping that the king would drop. This time East had to discard a diamond, since a spade discard would clearly help the dummy.

Declarer now knew that West had started the hand with five hearts, four clubs, and only one spade. This left room in the West hand for only three diamonds, of which one already had been discarded.

It was therefore not necessary to risk the diamond finesse in order to make the doubled contract of three no-trump. Declarer cashed the king and ace of diamonds in the hope that the queen would drop. When the hope failed to materialize, a third diamond put East in with the queen.

At this point East and the dummy each held three spades. East returned the jack of spades and was allowed to hold this trick. He then had to lead from the ten-eight to dummy's queen-nine, thus furnishing dummy with the eighth and ninth tricks.

The Record Short Story

Unusual Prescription

By HOLLIS STARNES

As a teen-ager, dashing, dynamic Mary Gleason was always falling head over heels in love, as she called it, with some wholly unsuitable youth. For a confident the city-bred, wealthy young socialite chose a humble country woman, who owned the village drugstore near the Gleason's Summer estate at Silverlake.

Hannah Griffin, gray-haired and mellow-hearted, helped the motherless beauty through a rash of puppy loves. When Mary went off to college she wrote the druggist. "I'm going to major in psychology so I'll understand myself better, learn how to control my emotions. Then I won't have to come bothering you with my problems."

Hannah rejoiced as parents do when their children begin to form their own judgments, make independent decisions. But she sensed suddenly how a mother must feel when her daughter seems no longer to need her. For the childless widow who had grown to love Mary Gleason, who had charm, beauty, background, wealth, but a lonely heart, with no mother, and a father bound up in his business.

When she graduated from college and came back to Silverlake, Mary's first stop was the drug store. "I have my degree in psychology," she told Hannah smiling. "I studied hard, read rafts of books, heard countless lectures. But I realized, on the trip home, that you taught me all the same principles, in simple language I could understand better. Yet you've never read a line of psychology. How do you know these things?"

Hannah said simply, "When anyone comes to me for advice I just take God by the hand and ask Him to put the right words in my mouth."

Mary said anxiously, "I need advice now. My father looks far from well. You know the stress he's been through converting the plant for defense work, then reconversion. Recent business slumps, layoffs, shutdowns have taken a terrible toll."

Hannah, who filled prescriptions from Amos Gleason's heart specialist, said quietly, "Now you're here, he'll enjoy more home life."

But Mary shook her head. "Dad's heart is in his business. He's determined to get it back on its feet. If I'd been a son, I'd have gone in the firm after college, to learn the business. I'm only a daughter—but that's what I want to do."

"Splendid! Have you told your dad yet?"

"Not until I talked it over with you. Dad will put up an argument; still hates the idea of women in business. But with you behind me, I'll soon wear him down!"

It seemed providential that Mary Gleason learned what she did of her father's business, for when he died not long after, she was braced for another important decision.

Everyone urged her to sell the plant, everyone, that is, except Hannah. Mary confided to her old friend, "What you did, keeping your husband's drugstore after you lost him, gives me courage to hold onto my father's factory. Dad would hate the idea of strangers taking over, changing all his methods, letting his old workers go."

Since the Gleason plant was the only industry in the region, except Summer tourists, all Silverlake was vitally concerned: "I'll have to get a manager to run things," Mary went on, "but if I'm on the job myself every day our men will know I'm right there behind them, as Dad was."

"They'll be behind you too!" Hannah said heartily.

"It's not going to be easy, I know. We lost many customers during Dad's illness, forfeited orders. Uncle Eben says I'm heading straight for the bankruptcy court."

"They told me the same," Hannah said. "I've had some rough going, but I haven't failed yet."

"How did you manage it?" the girl marveled.

Hannah said quietly, "When we take God by the hand in our lives, we're led to people who will help us, not harm us."

"It's like having a spy in your house!" Mary sputtered.

When the expert arrived the next week, Hannah's heart was uneasy over Mary's report from the plant. "He makes the men nervous, watching them work, asking questions. He rattles the bookkeeper, nettles the foreman. I think God gave you a wrong steer this time!"

Steadfastly the druggist said, "But this man has to study conditions, in order to make his report, give his recommendations."

"I know what his first recommendation will be! Have Mary Gleason fire herself.

As the hectic days passed, Hannah felt almost sorry for the man who was so feared and shunned as he carried out his assignment. Sometimes at night he stopped in at the drugstore for an ice drink. But though she tried to be friendly, he made no conversation.

The night before his month ended, he arrived just as she was shutting up shop. "Too late for my drink?" he inquired.

"No, do come in, Mr. Sawyer."

"Been waiting on a long distance call," he said briefly as he followed her to the fountain.

As Hannah served him, her lab phone rang. Long distance was trying to contract Mr. William H. Sawyer. "Would you like to take your call here," she called out "or have the operator ring you later at the hotel?"

"I'll take it here," he said and hurried into the lab.

After Hannah returned to the fountain, Mary Gleason peered in the drugstore door. "I was just driving home, say your light still on."

She stopped short as she heard Sawyer's voice: "Put Mr. Eben Gleason on!"

"That man!" gasped Mary. "He's on your phone, talking to my—"

She ran toward Hannah, listening openly as he began, "My study here will be complete tomorrow on schedule. I'm calling you tonight on another matter. Miss Gleason has been negotiating for a large defense order. I once worked for the government branch that must okay the contract. When they learned I was here they asked me for a confidential report and recommendation.

"I informed them today what I'm bound to tell you. This plant runs contrary to all modern efficiency technicians. No! I would never attempt to streamline its operation."

Hannah's heart was torn by the girl's low moan. "There goes our defense contract! There goes everything!"

"But the point is," Sawyer went on, "the place does run. It produces. Morale is amazing, with fierce loyalty for the beautiful boss. I recommended that the order go through. I am advised they accepted my recommendation."

Mary clutched Hannah's trembling hands. "You were right, after all!"

"Not me," Hannah whispered, "but God was!"

Canadian And Mexican Davis Cup Teams Ready For Battle On Friday

Montreal, July 29 —(CP)— The Canadian and Mexican Davis Cup tennis teams went into high-gear practice sessions today for first-round North American Zone matches next Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Neither playing captain Pedro Vega of Mexico, nor non-playing captain Dr. Georges Leclerc of Canada, would predict who could be meeting the United States in second-round zone finals next week, but both said their men were working out well.

The Mexicans arrived last week, and practised daily, while the Canadians played in tournaments in the Eastern United States.

The humidity has been bothering the Mexicans. Vega says they are accustomed to heat, but not the humidity.

Top players for Canada are expected to be Brendan Macken and Lorne Main, both Davis Cup veterans.

Macken recently won both the Quebec and Ontario Provincial Championships and in those tournaments played better tennis than ever before. His forehand, once his weakness, now is his strength, and he gives it plenty of depth and authority.

He didn't accompany his teammates to the recent American tournaments because "I was too busy overseeing the birth of a daughter."

Main was below form for a while this year, but has improved in the last few weeks, and trounced Sidney Schwarzt, ranked 23 in the U. S. on a recent jaunt.

He had been playing without a grip on his racket for the last year or so to help his two-handed strokes, but now has put it back and his service and volley have improved.

Henri Rochon did not play much tournament tennis following a car accident this spring and consequently is a little out of trim. He practised against Macken during the last week, and his angle and drop shots have not lost any of their edge.

The fourth man on the team is Jack Spencer, an unknown quantity in Davis Cup play. He has not won any major tournaments, but has been improving steadily.

Big gun on the Mexican side is Mario Llamas who played last year against the United States. He is the only team member who has Davis Cup experience.

Known as Tiger, Llamas in practice has displayed a big, hard, flat service, though he is weak on angling his serves. His volley is good and he also has a strong overhead. Right now he is troubled with a blistered right hand.

Manuel Galeana has Llamas' steadiness but not his power. He has a good, well placed volley but lacks a strong service.

Captain Vega has a heavy topswing on his forehand, but it is somewhat flatter than that of his famous brother Armando who helped trounce Canada some years ago. What he lacks in power, he makes up in control.

Last year, Canada trounced Cuba and fell to the United States after the Americans swamped Mexico.

Announcement of names of singles and doubles players for both teams is not expected to be made before the draw Thursday.

Yanks And Dodgers Lose Again And Start To Look For Better Pitching

Managers Charlie Dressen of Brooklyn Dodgers and Casey Stengel of New York Yankees were beseeching their bosses for more pitching help today after watching their once impregnable leads founder.

Six days ago, Dodgers and Yankees were looking back at the other clubs and laughing their way to a pennant. Now things have gone sour and worried frowns have replaced the happy smiles.

Yesterday's 12-2 Yankee loss to Detroit and the 3-2 Dodger defeat by St. Louis Cardinals climaxed a sorry six days that saw this happen:

1. Yankees' American league lead of five games over Boston and 7½ over Cleveland has dwindled to three over the now-second place Indians and 3½ over Red Sox.

2. Dodgers' 7½-game bulge over the New York Giants has been sliced to only four.

The harried skippers want more pitchers, especially with Brooklyn's Ralph Branca and Clem Labine and New York's Eddie Lopat on the shelf with ailing arms.

Dodgers heaved a sigh of relief as Eddie Stanky's merciless Redbirds headed for Boston, but not before they had taken four straight at Ebbets Field. The last time that was done was in may of 1947 nd it was Cardinals who did it.

Gerry Staley applied the final crusher to Dodgers last night, hurling a four-hitter, only losing a shutout in the ninth when two St. Louis errors gave Dodgers a pair of unearned runs.

Cards had built up a 3-0 lead against Ben Wade on singles by Staley and Stan Musial in the fifth and Del Rice's home run in the sixth. Stanley, gunning for his 13th triumph, his third over Brooklyn, had permitted only two runners to reach second base until the ninth.

George Shuba led off Dodgers' ninth with a double. With one out, Duke Snider walked and the crowd of 24,219 roared as Dick Sisler fumbled a grounder by Gil Hodges to load the bases. The injured Jackie Robinson came off the bench to hit for Rube Walker and walloped a double play grounder to Billy Johnson at third. Red Schoendienst, however, threw wildly to first and two Dodgers scored with Robinson taking second.

Tommy Holmes batted for Rocky Bridges and manager Eddie Stanky defied baseball tradition by ordering Holmes walked although he represented the winning run. The strategy worked when Billy Cox, batting for Wade, hit into a game-ending forceout

There was little doubt about the Yankee outcome after the first inning when Tigers broke through rookie Schaeffer for three quick runs. Tigers accumulated 15 hits while Hal Newhouser coasted to his fourth victory with a neat seven-hitter. Walt Dropo led the Tiger attack with a pair of homers, his 17th and 18th of the season.

In the only other scheduled game, St. Louis Browns upset Washington Senators 6-3 as Satchel Paige celebrated a "night" in his honor by pitching his seventh triumph. A three-run tripple by Bobby Young highlighted a four-run first inning against lefty Lou Sleater. Paige tired in the seventh inning and needed help from Bob Cain.

2 More Olympic Records Shattered

Helsinki, July 29— (AP) —Two more Olympic records were shattered today when Jean Boiteux of France and Geertje Wielema of the Netherlands set new standard in swimming.

Boiteux shattered the men's 400-metre free style record with a sparkling 4:33.1 clocking in the qualifying heats.

Miss Wielema broke the Olympic mark in the women's 100-metre back stroke trial heats, swimming the distance in 1:13.8. This topped the former mark of 1:14.2 set by Karen Harup Tanska of Denmark in 1948.

Boiteux nosed out Sweden's P. O. Ostrand, who only yesterday broke the 400-metre record with a 4:38.6 effort. Ostrand's time today was 4:33.6—so he, too, topped his record of yesterday.

Gerry McNamee of Vancouver placed third in his heat with a time of 4:46.7 and Allan Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., was fifth in his heat of 4:52.4. Neither was among the eight qualifiers.

In the women's race, Lenora Fisher of Ocean Falls swam the women's event in 1:21.9, too slow to make the qualifying group.

In all, eight swimmers qualified in each of the men's and women's divisions of the 400 metre.

Wayne Moore, of Yale and Ford Konno, Ohio State freshman, won their heats to qualify. Others were John Wardrop of Britain, Hironoshin Furuhashi of Japan, James McLane of Yale and Peter Duncan of South Africa.

Springfield Cubs Split With Leafs

The seventh-place Springfield Cubs, plummeting toward the International League cellar, earned a reprieve last night by splitting a doubleheader with Toronto Maple Leafs. Shut out 5-0 by Leafs in the opener, they needed a two-run rally in the last inning of the nightcap to win 6-5.

Bob Ludwig's single in the ninth of the second game with men on first and third saved Springfield the agony of losing a doubleheader for the 10th time this season. The Cubs were behind 4-0, but tied the score with one in the fourth and three in the sixth. Toronto gained the lead again in the eighth frame. Springfield pulled even in the final inning and Ludwig put the game on ice.

Gerald Fahr limited the Cubs to three singles in the opener, running into trouble only in the third frame when Ted Lotz and Nels Burbrink opened with successive singles. Leafs scored their five runs in the first inning and coasted the rest of the way. Starter Al Lary was tagged with the loss.

Rochester Red Wings edged Baltimore 3-2 to strengthen their hold on second place. Jack Collum won his own game with a ninth inning home run.

Lou Possehl, late of Phillies, started for Baltimore, but could last only four innings. Jocko Thompson allowing only two hits, took his 10th loss.

The Syracuse-Montreal game was called because of rain after one inning. Buffalo and Ottawa were not scheduled.

percentage of defence spending is concentrated in the last three months of the fiscal year. Another is that production should begin to hit its stride late this calendar year.

A third is the drive, the blitz which officials report is being waged to get production programs back nearer the original schedules. A substantial number of new faces are making their appearance in key jobs in Ottawa. Whether they can get the program finished in the scheduled three years is a big question impossible to answer at this time.

DIXVILLE

Mrs. Agnes Burpee, of Alstead, N.H., is spending a few days here with her brother, Mr. Laurin Drew, and Mrs. Drew and her nephew, Mr. R. A. Mayhew, and family.

Mrs. W. A. Durkee, of West Orange, N.J., and Mrs. George Childs, of Hasbrouck Heights, N.J., were calling on friends here.

Mrs. Elsie Straw and Miss Jennie Owen, of Hereford, have been spending a week here with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Howe and Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Wright and family.

Mr. L. M. Thomas and Mr. Archie Fraser, of Coaticook, were business visitors in town.

Rev. E. Albert Lorimer, a former pastor of the Baptist Church here, with Mrs. Lorimer and little son, Gordon Ellsworth, of Haliburton, Ont., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Thomas and called on other friends here.

Mr. Hugh Drew, of Lowell, Mass., has been spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald A. Mayhew, at "Cosey Cove," Jersey Farm, and calling on old friends and school mates. Mr. Drew is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Moses Drew, and spent his boyhood here.

It was with very real sorrow that word was received here of the death of Rev. D. W. Terry, of Montreal, who passed quietly away in his sleep on Wednesday night. Only last week he was calling on friends here, having come to Coaticook in connection with the induction service for Rev. K. K. Miller. The late Mr. Terry came as student to the Barnston Baptist Church, in 1897 and was ordained during that year. He has since held pastorates at Coaticook and Sherbrooke, and during all the years has been closely identified with the work of the churches in the Eastern Association. He had a host of friends here in the Townships, who sincerely mourn the loss of a valued friend and counsellor. Sympathy is extended to his aged sisters and other relatives.

WILLIAM GALT BROWN, OF COWANSVILLE

Cowansville, July 29. — The funeral service of William Galt Brown, of Cowansville, was held on Saturday, July 19, 1952, at the Emmanuel United Church, and was conducted by Dr. S. W. Boyd, of Sutton. The music rendered was a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cousens, accompanied on the organ by Mr. C. Johnson, of Montreal.

He was at one time, mayor of Cowansville, past president of the Cowansville Realty Company, chairman of the school board for many years a charter member of I.O.O.F., and an ardent member of the Cowansville Golf Club.

He is survived by a sister, Miss Hartford, Conn.; Mrs. Hercule Coupal; Mr. A. Ferland and Miss Gabrielle Ferland, all of Bedford; Germaine, Remi and Dennis Ferland, all of St. Johns; Lorette, of Montreal; and the Rev. Born the son of the late William Nutbrown and his late wife, Mary Ann Beattie, af Capleton, on December 15, 1881.

He was a loving husband and father and a kind and faithful friend, who was always ready to lend a helping hand to any who were in trouble or need and was loved and respected by all.

He married Eunice Henderson in 1910, whom he leaves to mourn his loss, and three children, Mary, Mrs. James McElvary, Ethel, Mrs. Arnold Tweed, and Miss Mildred Nutbrown; two sons-in-law, Messrs. James McElvary and Arnold Tweed; two grandsons, Guy and John McElvary; one brother, Thomas Nutbrown, of Sherbrooke; two sisters, Minnie, Mrs. Alvin Hatcher, of Sherbrooke, and Lydia, Mrs. Joseph McEwen, of Detroit, Mich.; and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

One son, Albert James Nutbrown, predeceased him.

Recalls Early Days In Southern Alberta

London—An unexpected experience came to Exchange Teacher Elsie Luyter of Medicine Hat, Alta., during a year's teaching spent in a county primary school at Broadstone, Dorset.

Miss Luyter was invited to meet Mrs. H. Edmunds of Swanage, Dorset, granddaughter of Medicine Hat's first missionary, born in the Southern Alberta town in 1886.

The Canadian teacher spent an interesting day listening to tales of early days in Medicine Hat. Mrs. Edmunds also recalled her nursing training days in Montreal and Victoria.

Miss Luyter was presented to Queen Mother Elizabeth at a garden party given recently for exchange teachers from five Commonwealth countries and the United States. She was one of more than 50 Canadians present at the party, which was given at historic Lambeth Palace, home of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

All present had spent a year in Britain and were scheduled to return home—unless they preferred to remain in Britain. Miss Luyter said she had had "such a wonderful time," she wanted to stay. But she had been given a promotion that was hard to turn down, so she is returning to Canada.

Speaking of Britain, Miss Luyter said the thing that surprised her most was the smallness of everything. "Even the Thames is small compared to the South Saskatchewan," she said with a grin.

U.S.A. ATTEMPTS TO OVERTAKE RUSSIA'S OLYMPIC TEAM LEAD

U. S. A. Basketball Referee Attacked By Uruguayans; Canadian Boxers Win

Helsinki, July 29.— (CP) —The scramble for points—no matter if they are frowned upon officially—is sharpening up the fast-waning 1952 Olympic Games.

The feature attraction, of course, is the United States' desperate efforts to overhaul the leading Russians who have amassed 502½ points in the unofficial standing to 425 for the United States.

Other countries are far behind but still trying for all the points they can get, as well as the medals and honors, which are all Olympic officials award for athletic achievement.

Canada has only 27 points so far, compared with 35 at the 1948 games in London. Canada still has chances in the boxing and swimming competitions. Again, someone may bob up in a lesser known event and win a gold medal, as young George Genereux of Saskatoon did last Saturday in winning the clay-pigeon championship in the trapshooting tournament.

Two boxers came through the initial round yesterday with victories. Another lost. Paddlers placed eighth and ninth in finals—not good enough for point-scoring. A seventh was the closest, made after the completion of yachting competition.

The United States is counting heavily on its aquatic stars for points. They were off to a good start yesterday in taking the first three places in the men's springboard diving event. American yachtsmen scored two firsts.

Neither American nor Canadian boxers faced Russians in the first day of the boxing tournament.

American coaches adopted a wait-and-see attitude regarding the Russians, who won four bouts and lost one.

All the Russian leather-pushers seemed to be poured from the same mold. They all waited out the first minute or so of each round and then lashed out with short left hooks and rapid-fire combinations. They appeared to be excellent counter-punchers, and judges at these games score heavily for this art.

Also, the Russians are well schooled in international rules, in which there are at least a dozen minor 'don'ts" and seldom draw warnings.

The long boxing program yesterday ushered out more than 50 boxers. In this tournament there's no second chance. A loss means out.

Len Walters of Vancouver and Clayton Kenny of Ottawa won their opening bouts handily. Roy Keenan of Montreal, in the light-welterweight class, lost a split decision to Pieter Van Klaveren of Holland.

Coach Tommy Sullivan said it was a weird decision; that Keenan chased his opponent all over the ring, winning the first two rounds by a wide margin and getting at least an even break in the third. Keenan himself was downhearted at the decision.

Kenny, in the lightweight division, pounded his Danish opponent —Niels Berthelsen—and won by a technical knockout in the third round.

Walters scored a unanimous decision over an Egyptian—Salah El Din Ahmed Fathi—and won easily although he said his timing was off.

Canada's team in the 800-metre swimming relay was eliminated in the opening heat. But Allen Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., and Gerry McNamee of Vancouver qualified in preliminaries of the 400-metre race. Qualification was on a time basis and their marks were none too good compared with many others posted. Per-Olof Ostrand of Sweden broke the Olympic record in a preliminary heat.

The paddling competitions ended yesterday. Finland took three gold medals in all and Sweden, Denmark and Czechoslovakia one each. Arthur Johnston and Tom Hodgson of Toronto were eighth in the Canadian-type pairs and Bert Oldershaw of Toronto was ninth in the kyak singles. George Cordner and Bob Ward of Montreal were eliminated in the kyak pairs and George Bossy of Montreal in the Canadian singles.

The basketball tournament brought the long looked-for clash between the United States and Russia and the Americans won 86-58.

It was a hard-fought game and the officials tooted loud and often, waving six Americans and four Russians to the sidelines on personal fouls. But neither side let out a peep and there was a show of friendship at the end.

This was in contrast to the game in which France edge Uruguay 66-66.

The Uruguayans mobbed referee Vincent Farrell of the United States. The crowd joined in and Farrell was kicked in the groin by a spectator, then clipped on the jaw.

Farrell had called a charging penalty on a Uruguayan player, giving France possession of the ball. France scored a last-second goal to win.

Farrell's refereeing partner was a Russian. He managed to escape the wrath of the players and stood at a safe distance when the melee broke loose.

Bill Greim of Denver, Colo., President of the International Basketball Federation, said his group will turn the matter over to the Uruguayan Federation.

"If they don't take disciplinary action, we will," he said. "It could mean suspension of the players involved and even suspension of the Uruguayan team from competition."

Only three Uruguayan players were on the floor when the game ended. Greim said he understood another, who had already dressed, kicked the referee.

Final results of the yachting competition weren't tabulated until late last night.

Skipper Bill Goderham and his Toronto crew took seventh place in the six-metre class with their yacht Trickson IV. The winner was the United States Yacht Llanoria.

In the Finn class, one-man yacht, Paul McLaughling of Toronto sailed his boat to an eighth-place final. Denmark had the winner with Great Britain second.

The Hamilton yacht jet placed 10th in the dragon class and Andy Hugessen and Doug Woodward of Montreal were 10th in the star class.

Keenan Is Given Weird Decision

Helsinki, July 29 — (CP) — Roy Keenan of Montreal, only one of three Canadian fighters to drop out of the initial round yesterday in the Olympic boxing tournament, was the victim of a weird decision.

Keenan lost on a split decision to Pieter Van Klavern of Holland in the light-welterweight class.

Len Walters of Vancouver won an easy three-round decision over Salah El Din Ahmed Fathi in the lightweight class and Clayton Kenny of Ottawa scored a technical third-round knockout over Niels Berthelsen of Denmark in the lightweight division.

When the referee stopped the bout blood was oozing from a bad cut over the Dane's right eye.

The decision against Keenan had the Canadian supporters bewildered. There is no second chance in the boxing tournament. A loss means you're out.

Keenan scored repeatedly in the first two rounds with long looping lefts and got in some nice infighting. He might have lost the third by a shade.

"I don't know what a fellow has to do to win," said coach Tommy Sullivan of Montreal, one of Canada's top referees.

"Keenan chased that guy all around the ring and took the first two rounds easily. He did no worse than break even in the third."

The Canadians considered a protest but decided against it, figuring it wouldn't do any good.

Rocky Marciano Knocks Out Matthews In 2nd Round; Set For Joe Walcott

New York, July 29. — (CP) — Rocky Marciano has his eye on a $1,000,000 title shot at heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott after his sensational two round knockout of Harry Matthews.

"I'm ready for Walcott," said the unbeaten Brockton, Mass., slugger. "I can lick anybody I step in the ring with. I don't say how I'll come out with Joe. I never make predictions. But I'm ready for him."

"A million dollars is a conservative guess" at what the fight will bring, chortled Jim Norris, Marciano's manager. And "that's not counting television or theatre TV."

Walcott, who watched Marciano's crunching left hooks to the jaw sprawl Matthews on his back in 2:04 of the second round last night, said he was "looking forward to meeting Marciano."

"I hope we can get together," said the 38-year-old champ. Asked for a critical opinion on the fight, he said, "He's pretty good puncher, a hard puncher. But I thought the other fellow (Matthews) was a little careless."

Back under the stands in Matthews' dressing room, manager Jack Hurley who does all the talking for his Seattle fighter said "Harry was a glorified amateur for 10 years and tonight he reverted to type." Matthews had little to say, grinning sheepishly. Neither had any alibi about bad hanks of officials.

A Marciano-Walcott bout Sept. 23 at Yankee Stadium is Norris' goal. He will talk with Marty Weill, Marciano's manager, and his step father, Al Weill, the I.B.C. matchmaker, today. Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, also may be in for tea.

"We're going to sit down and talk business," said Marty Weill. "And we're not going to go for any of Felix's talk about 45 per cent for the champ.

"This boy is the greatest slugger of his day and he's going to get paid good next time. He took Joe Louis for a small percentage and split this one 30-30 with Matthews. Next time we want to get paid big too."

The payoff on Marciano-Matthews was disappointing in contrast to early estimates. But a last minute gate saved it from being a flop. A crowd of 31,188 paid $215,707 to see the show that barely beat the rain.

Matthews won round No. 1 on the cards of referee Ray Miller, Judges Harold Barnes and Joe Amnello. But two crunching hooks to the jaw, some 30 seconds after a long looping right started Matthews on his way, brought victory to swarthy Rocky, an 11 to 5 favorite. Marciano had an 8½ pound advantage at 187½ to Matthews' 179.

When the 29-year-old Matthews went down on his back, clawed at the ropes in an attempt to get up and then collapsed over the bottom strand, he lost his first fight since '43. His last loss was a K.O. by Eddie Booker in 1943. In his long 105-bout career he has lost only four and was unbeaten in his last 70 until Marciano came along.

Marciano, 27, is hailed in some quarters as the greatest puncher since Jack Dempsey. They seem to overlook a fellow named Louis who wasn't bad before the years caught up with him.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Montreal — Johnny Bratton, 151½, Chicago, stopped Laurent Dauthuille, 157½, France (3).

New York—Joe Miceli, 145, New York, outpointed Pierre Langlois, 151, Paris, (10).

Lennoxville Defeats St. Joseph's Club

Lennoxville defeated St. Joseph's 8-4 in a week-end fixture of the Independent Baseball League, played at Lennoxville.

Buzz Burczyk and Al Hunting, each with three hits out of four trips to the plate, led the winner's hitting attack. Charlie Clarke and Bob Burt contributed two hits each. Right fielder Morin had two for four on behalf of St. Joseph's.

Charlie Clarke on the mound for the home team set down the victors with only seven hits while Lennoxville combed Vachon and Girard for 12 bingles. Gauthier of St. Joseph's hit the only home run of the game.

Clarke struck out 15 St. Joseph's batters while five Lennoxville men went down swinging.

Lennoxville is at home to Coaticook Thursday evening at 6:45 o'clock.

They were invitations to a Russian movie, "Kubankosaken," and to a Russian folk dance later today. The invitations were written in four languages—English, Russian, Dutch and Finnish.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Pitching—Gerry Staley, Cardinals—limited the Dodgers to four hits and two unearned runs in pitching the Cardinals to a 3-2 triumph for his 13th victory of the season and St. Louis' fourth straight over Brooklyn.

Rand Trims Railroaders And Domil And Suffield Tie In Local League

Rand won fourteen to four against Railroaders, and Domil and Suffield battled to a nine-all tie in the two games played last night in the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League, at Dufresne Park.

Taking a nine to nothing lead in the first two innings, Rand romped home easily against a weak Railroaders team in the opening game.

Rand, one of the most improved teams in the circuit, are making a desperate bid to get into the playoffs and if they continue to show the brand of ball they are now playing they will be hard to stop. Railroaders never at any time threatened to overhall the Randmen. Guy Proteau, the Rand skipper, had two home runs in the game, one of them with the bases loaded. Ralph Caunter won his second game in a row and is making his presence felt in the league.

Domil and Suffield battled all the way in the night cap. Suffield took a three to one lead in the opening inning, but this was short lived as Castonguay, the Domil third baseman, connected for a grand slam homer in Domil's half of the second inning.

Suffield took the lead again in their half of the fourth, getting four runs. Domil came back again and lead nine to seven at the end of their half of the seventh. A desperate Suffield attack in the last half of the seventh which netted them two runs gave the Suffield team a hard earned tie. Feature of the game was the much improved play of both teams.

Columbus Takes Two From Local All Stars

Columbus of the Snowden Fastball League, Montreal, took the two-game series from the Industrial League All Stars over the week-end by scores of 10-5 and 17-5.

Saturday afternoon's game was the best game of the two, the All Stars giving their stronger opponent a stiff fight and although losing 10-5 they were very much in the game. In fact, at the end of six innings the locals were ahead 5-4.

Flashy infield play was a feature of the visitors and their greater experience was the only factor in winning both games. Pelland, hitting star of the Columbus team, was held to one hit by Rene Pepin in Saturday's game but in the Sunday encounter, he broke loose for three homers.

Among the All Stars who stood out in the two games were J. P. Pepin and P. Marcoux.

To Test Big Guns At Proving Range On St. Lawrence

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa—In a tranquil, marshy widening of the St. Lawrence river, Canada is building a 13-mile firing range to test the bigs guns and shells she is making for herself and her allies.

By September, officials of the Inspection Services of the Department of National Defence say they will be in full-scare operation with shells flying out into a marked-off section of what is called Lake St. Peter but which is actually a broadened St. Lawrence.

Already, after several months work, some testing of guns and shells is going on at the embryo range, within two miles of the quiet village of Nicolet and 35 to 40 miles from Sorel where a variety of big guns are made.

Parliament has already appropriated $1,800,000 for the range but the final expenditure is expected to be considerably beyond that.

There Canada will proof—the official term—the three-inch 50 calibre guns adopted by the Canadian, American and British navies, the 105 and 155 millimetre, howitzers being adopted by the Canadian army as well as other artillery pieces and rockets built at Sorel, Que., and elsewhere.

Every gun and every shell that comes off the production lines has to go through a personality test so that its exact characteristics can be gauged and listed. Elaborate gear for checking the various reactions in the weapon and of the missile in flight will be mounted at observation posts along the marshy shore.

None of the guns or shells goes to the services until the inspection services have given their approval.

The land chosen for the range is a mixture of farm and scrub land. It lies on three stretches of land as Isle le Domaine, Isle de la Ferme, and Isle Bougainville. The range will be mainly in the lake itself but possession is being taken of the shoreline to a depth of about one mile because each weapon and missile must be tested on both water and land.

The range will be known as the Lake St. Peter artillery Proof Establishment of the Inspection Services, the organization which checks equipment before the forces take it over.

The inspectors have been using a range at Valcartier, Que., and will continue to do so, but the new big guns have outgrown it.
