Body is found in basement

The body of James Roy, 75, was found Tuesday night in the basement of his York street home after a friend, calling to find out why there appeared to be no one home, searched through the building.

Mr. Roy had been dead for two days. Police attributed cause of death to a heart condition he had had for many years.

The friend, Robert Mustard, of 4078 Northcliffe avenue, had gone to visit and got no answer when he knocked. He said he suspected something to be wrong, since he knew of the heart condition of the older man.

"I opened the door and went through the house. It wasn't until I got down into the basement that I found him," he said.

Mr. Roy had apparently been dead for some time. At the inquest, held Wednesday at the Montreal coroner's office, it was established that the cause of death was the heart condition he had been suffering from for a long time.

Mr. Roy was unmarried and lived alone. The owner of the house, Robert Robinson, lives in California and upon learning of the old man's death made arrangements to fly to Westmount to make funeral arrangements.

Investigating the incident was Lieut. W. Pryde of the Westmount police department.

Suspend judgment in accident case

Judge Alexander M. Stalker Wednesday morning suspended judgment in a case involving a technical hit-run accident which occurred in February. The accident involved three cars.

Appearing before the bench was Patrick Mellon of 2254 Oxford avenue. Charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident, he pleaded guilty with an explanation.

The accident in question occurred at dusk on February 21, on The Boulevard near the corner of Roslyn avenue. The car driven by Mr. Mellon hit another car in front, driven by Norman Capper of 9 Grove park, which in turn hit a third car driven by Mrs. Rachel Wasserman of 513 Grosvenor avenue.

Mr. Mellon said in a statement to the police that he thought the damage was negligible and proceeded on his way to an appointment. The following day — thinking an overnight delay would do no harm, he phoned Westmount police and told them he was the third party in the accident.

He appeared in court earlier, and was charged formally with the responsibility. It was at that time, however, set over until last Wednesday. When the story was told, the judge said he'd like to hear a report from the other people involved in the mishap.

There was an estimated $250 damage done to the Capper vehicle, according to police reports, but negligible damage to the Wasserman car.

The case has been set over to Wednesday, April 4.

Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

April 1 to 7

Gusty winds and powder snow, then bright and relatively mild with morning mists or fog and cold nights. Light snow or showers, even thunder for some districts. This is a stormy, partial thaw week; temperature range 15 - 45° F.

Sunny intervals with cold showers and more soft snow in the middle of the week. Valley fogs in all the south, near blizzard conditions in the north and the Maritimes. Sugaring-off in full swing. The log drive starts; "break-up" is beginning and so are the floods.

Bright and pleasant but cool for the end of the week with sunny periods, gusty winds and flurries.

Warm Taiwan hospitality

By Margaret Aitken

Taiwan: In all my experience as a traveller, I have never known such hospitality as that bestowed upon me by the Chinese in this outpost of freedom called Formosa. It is not the kind of hospitality we accord visitors — i.e., lavish food and cocktail parties. It is a giving of individual time and attention.

But let me start at the beginning.

Upon arrival at Taipei, capital of Taiwan, I was met by two gentlemen from the Foreign Office, I. Lin Wu, second secretary and Mib Sih-Tshoong, deputy director of protocol. Mr. Wu was introduced as my guide and interpreter throughout the visit.

The two gentlemen whisked me through customs to a waiting black limousine, with a smiling, bowing young driver. But it was not the human courtesy that touched me so much as the fact that attached to the car mudguards were two flags — the Chinese and the Union Jack.

Later, when we arrived at the Grand Hotel, I was again greeted with sight of the two flags flying on either side of the porte cochere.

I wished my colleagues in the House of Commons — those who keep crying for a Canadian flag, a distinctive Canadian flag — could experience the thrill of seeing the beautiful Red Ensign raised in one's honor 10,000 miles from home.

Foretaste of things to come was presentation from Mr. Wu of a 28-page booklet with the title . . . "Program: Visit of Honorable Margaret Aitken, Member of the House of Commons of Canada to the Republic of China."

Just one day

And to illustrate my contention that Chinese hospitality is individual attention, rather than just a round of parties, let me give you one day of my itinerary . . .

"9:00 a.m. call on His Excellency Mr. Ku Cheng-kang, Secretary General of the National Assembly." (He is comparable to our Mr. Speaker); "10:30, Call on General Pang Meng-chi, Chief of General Staff; 11:30, Call on His Excellency Mr. Yu Yu-Jen, President of the Control Yuan." (One of China's Grand Old Men of politics and a follower of Dr. Sun Yat-sen); "12:00, Lunch by President Yu; 15:00, Visit Plant No. 6 of the Taiwan Fertilizer Corporation;

"16:00, Visit the Academic Sinica; 17:30, Call on His Excellency Mr. Chu Fu-sung, Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs." (He was a former Ambassador to Canada from China); 18:30, Call on His Excellency Mr. Wang Yun-wu, Vice President of the Executive Yuan." (He is Deputy President to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek); 19:30, Dinner by His Excellency Dr. Shen Chang-huan, Minister of Foreign Affairs."

Answering questions

And so ended one day of a visit to the Republic of China. Each moment has been filled in this way with individual meetings — courteous men and women dedicated to answering any question I might ask.

Why, you may ask, why would one MP from Canada be chosen to experience this great opportunity of seeing Free China in action?

The answer is simple. The Chinese people, not only in Taiwan but all over the world, want Western people to see what they are doing for freedom and it was at the invitation of Canadian-Chinese that I came to this last frontier of freedom in Asia.

This week in Westmount

by Valentina Rahr

More than 4,000 high school pupils came to see "The Diary of Anne Frank" in the auditorium of Westmount High School last week. The event was sponsored by the Jewish Junior Welfare League and the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal with well known English specialist CHARLES RITTENHOUSE as chief organizer.

Actors for the play came from the Theatre Heritage Group with professionals JOAN BLACKMAN and ALAN MILLS in the lead roles. Director and scene designer was Eugene Jousse of Verdun High School.

"All high school pupils from Grades X and XI were given an opportunity to see a professional production" explained Principal WOOD. "Half the high schools in Montreal came to see the play in our new auditorium, every day for a week. Our own pupils mostly saw it on Friday when Grades VIII, IX, X and XI were invited to attend. Their enthusiasm was spontaneous."

And an indication of the holding power of the drama was evidenced by the fact that although the performance lasted from 2.00 to 4.30 p.m., almost no one left the auditorium until it was over. The Montreal School Board is trying to bring the best in stage production to high school pupils to arouse their interest in good drama."

Ski racing

About 100 ski enthusiasts from Roslyn School took part in fast downhill races at Murray Park on Monday and Thursday afternoons under the direction of MRS. N. MACFARLANE and MRS. E. B. CLIFT. This last event of the ski instruction season capped a weekend at Mont Gabriel.

"Taking them up north for one day does more for them than anything else," commented Mrs. Macfarlane. "The weather was cold but underfoot it was good. They were very keen and learned quickly. The groups are generally divided into classes according to ability not according to age."

Mrs. Macfarlane has been a ski enthusiast from the time she attended elementary school, when she originally learned to handle skis on the slope of Victoria avenue behind the Westmount Fire Station. In those years there wasn't as much traffic as nowadays, and the fire station area did not extend so far back as it does today.

"LUCKY" a long-haired black and white dog who has reached the ripe age of thirteen, and is a familiar sight around shops in the Victoria-Sherbrooke vicinity, was missing for a while recently, causing considerable worry to his owner, MRS. F. M. MACNEILL of Parkman Place. Store owners gratefully fed him choice morsels from their merchandise when he reappeared in his familiar haunts again . . .

Westmount Recreation Department Midget Leaguer MIKE SHAUGHNESSY scored the last goal of the 1961-62 season for the BADGERS . . . Choir director K. D. ADAMS mailing out applications to Sir George Williams University students in an effort to establish a new University Choir . . . cancer campaign canvassers getting geared for house calls from April 2 to 16 . . . Jury members for the coming Independent Art Association 30th anniversary exhibition met last Thursday at the studio on Academy road to choose paintings for the show that will be on display at Gemst Gallery for two weeks commencing April 3. Jury members were: ADAM SHERRIFF SCOTT, RCA, TOM GARSIDE, ARCA, A. PINSKY, and HENRY SIMPKINS.

Rockhounds put hobby on display

Results of twice-monthly meetings of the Montreal Gem and Mineral Club, held at the Westmount YMCA, and the efforts of its members, will be on exhibition today and Saturday, March 30 and 31.

The occasion is the fifth Annual Exhibition of the Montreal Gem and Mineral Club, and it is being held at the Cartier Terrace of the Sheraton - Mt. Royal hotel. Any person interested in the collecting, cutting and polishing of rocks, minerals and gems is invited to visit the exhibition. There will be no admission charge.

Outstanding specimens of rocks and minerals from many locations throughout the world and particularly from the Province of Quebec, will be on display as well as gems and minerals which have been cut, polished and mounted by club members. Special exhibits will feature gem identification and testing. In addition, jewellery making and fluorescent minerals display will be featured for the younger members.

One of the special displays will be replicas of the Crown Jewels; others will include an array of Quebec minerals displayed by the provincial department of mines, and samples of artificially-grown Chatham emeralds.

Annual gymnasium show to feature many events

The annual Westmount YMCA gym revue, "Gymorama" — will be held this year during Easter Week, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, April 25 and 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the Westmount YMCA.

Arrangements for this revue of Talent has been going on for several months now.

There will be displays from every age grouping of YMCA members including youth and adults.

Tickets cost 25c for children and 75c for adults and are available from YMCA youth members or at the Westmount 'Y', 4585 Sherbrooke street west.

To many children in Westmount, Saturday is 'Y' day. The Westmount YMCA operates an all day program for children between the ages of nine and seventeen. Members and guests may participate in part or in all of the programs offered. Swimming, gym activities, handicrafts and games constitute the morning's program. Children may bring their lunches with them. Soft drinks and potato chips are available at the 'Y'. In the afternoon there is a special 'outing program' called "Fun 'N Frolics." The program is varied each week to make it more interesting. Some recent activities which the Saturday afternoon program has operated are: a trip to the Sportsmen Show, police station, the CBC studios, Ice Capades; movies in the YMCA building; bowling parties, and skating parties.

The boys' and girls' program schedule — spring 1962 is effective as of March 26. The Saturday program schedule remains the same.

Sixers banquet is great success

The Western District annual Sixers Banquet was held at Trinity Memorial Church, Saturday, when 206 leaders and sixers were treated to an enjoyable evening.

W. R. Bedford, ADC cubs, introduced head table guests, J. R. Walker, DCM, J. L. Ravick (representing H. W. Hiscocks, president of the district council), Miss L. Poltrick, field commissioner, and C. V. Ruck, DC.

Local residents on advisory group

Three members of the Quebec Easter Seal Society's new advisory committee are Westmounters, it was learned today. They are Dr. Arnold F. Jones, a surgeon at the Montreal General Hospital and resident at 17 Willow street; Ernest O. Freedman, notary public, of 374 Kitchener street; and Romeo Desjardins, QC, of 469 Strathcona street.

The committee will guide the efforts of the team of voluntary workers who will campaign from April 10 to April 23, seeking to raise $150,000 for the treatment, care and rehabilitation of crippled children and adults.

Westmount Chairman

The Canadian Cancer Society is opening its annual appeal for funds on Monday, April 2. Chairman of the Westmount division of the campaign is Paul A. Ouimet, QC, corporation lawyer with the Iron Ore Company of Canada. Mr. Ouimet, who lives at 58 Sunnyside avenue, is an active worker in community affairs and is counting on the support of Westmount residents to aid in this vital work. The funds will be used to further the society's efforts in the field of research, education and welfare. The campaign continues through until April 16. The objective for the Greater Montreal area is $350,000.

Westmount needs clean-up campaign

THE snow is finally going, after a long, hard winter.

It's now that those little bits of junk thrown away into the nearest snowbank back in January will show up.

As the weather warms, it would be nice to see tenants and homeowners put on a concentrated effort to do a real cleanup job throughout Westmount, getting rid of the winter's residue.

What better way to enjoy the warmth than to get out and putter around the house?

But let's make the puttering part of a cleanup campaign.

For example, one house in Westmount still has Christmas decorations outside.

With Easter just around the corner, now would be a good time to make the change.

And for those who will be taking to the highways these fine weekends, wouldn't you really appreciate it if there was some way the roadsides could be kept clean?

Perhaps such legislations will come.

Meanwhile, let's start at home and get everything here ship-shape. It's at least a step in the right direction.

Falling ice becomes a problem

Sir: Yesterday, while walking along Sherbrooke street, I had the unpleasant experience of nearly being hit by some falling ice from the roof of a nearby building.

If I hadn't been where I was — if I had only been one or two feet back, I would have been hit and perhaps seriously injured by this fall of ice.

I heartily wish that those who are in charge of public buildings would see to it that they clean the ice and snow from their roofs without waiting for the sun to do it for them and endangering those walking below.

Someone may quite easily be injured for life by such things. If this might be done when there is little or no pedestrian traffic, say early in the morning, I am sure we would all be able to use our streets with much better peace of mind.

Mr. V.D.D.

All clear

When I read that "In the eyes of the law the road includes the pavement and vice versa," I understood why a pedestrian who waits on the kerb to cross the road is obstructing the traffic on the pavement.

Start construction of pool now

NOW that summer is drawing close, many eyes in Westmount must be turning to the public amenities of this city.

Among these people will be raised the old thoughts of the long-awaited swimming pool.

Come along city councillors, don't let's miss what is likely to be a glorious summer without a pool in our fair city.

When is construction going to start?

A modern fable: the Grebe revolution By Pierre Berton

IS THERE A GREATER ADVERTISING GENIUS extant than B. Durstine Grebe, president of the great ad agency of Slant, Burble, Krisp, Fodder and Skreem? (known throughout the trade as SBKF and S?). I do not believe so for Grebe is the acknowledged giant of the industry. Who remembers Slant, Burble and Krisp? They have long since gone to their coronary rest, while Fodder and Skreem are mere names on a letterhead. But the slightest hint that Grebe is working on an account will send the sales graph to new Everests.

Since the very beginning Grebe has been dedicated to a single proposition: Time is something to be filled with commercial messages. Air that contains anything other than commercials is, to him, "dead air." I still remember him in his youth, fidgeting during the organ interlude at the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church and trying to figure out a way to work in the tunes of two singing commercials between stanzas of Shall We Gather at the River? He was not successful, but he accomplished his aim in a roundabout way by commissioning a new singing commercial for a finance company to the same tune. Thus, whenever any organist played that grand old hymn, the congregation was subtly reminded that they would be treated with dignity whenever they needed easy cash.

It used to bother Grebe to have to listen to long-playing records of great classical music because they were uninterrupted by any sponsored message. I have literally watched him writhe over the hi-fi set as the strains of Prokofiev poured out without a single commercial break. He felt, somehow, that the advertising world was being cheated by these "sustaining discs," as he called them.

FIRST BREAK

His first real break came when he persuaded a small company, recording under the Shatter label, to sell commercial time on its jumbo LP, release of Handel's Messiah. There were seven commercial spots in all, of 45 seconds each, promoting Glib, the new fluoride toothpaste with the semi-sweet chocolate flavor. The alternate sponsor (on the flip side) was Jerm, the antiseptic mouthwash that tasted like vodka.

The record was an instant hit, not only because it sold for slightly less money, being sponsored, but also because people genuinely enjoyed the commercial breaks. After all, they were used to them from radio and TV. For some time, indeed, there had been a rising tide of indignation against the record companies for insisting on an uninterrupted flow of music. Grebe filled a genuine need — after all, that is the basis of good advertising — and the whole industry quickly fell in line.

An ingenious Grebe refinement was his master stroke in persuading famous concert recording artists to voice the commercials personally. Thus, Jascha Heifetz, just before the famous Joachim cadenza in the Beethoven Violin Concerto, set aside his bow for a moment to speak a few words in favor of Gurgle, the sensational new cola drink that maintains its fizz even when the cap is lost. All in good taste, of course. Small wonder that Grebe was given the Enterprise in Action Award at the annual convention of the Society for the Preservation of Traditional Freedoms.

For Grebe this was only a beginning. His next coup was a major one. Singlehandedly, he succeeded in selling commercial time on the pilot's announcements on Pan-American Airlines domestic and trans-ocean flights. The original tape of Capt. Gerald Farbspear's remarks now rests in a glass case at the Creative Advertising Institute's Museum:

"Ladies and gentlemen, we will be flying at an altitude of 28,000 feet," it begins — and then the historic words follow. "... and speaking of feet, folks, have you enjoyed an Acme Home Pedicure lately?"

These messages were an instant success and every airline quickly found it had to adopt the idea. Everyone agreed that they worked to soothe the hesitant air traveller — to make him feel as if he were right in the safety of his own living-room. The added commercial revenue also made it possible to serve another free five-course meal in addition to the three meals that were already standard on four-hour transcontinental flights, thus underlining the axiom that advertising when used in the public interest is the backbone of the nation.

Grebe's greatest stroke of genius had its genesis when he phoned a local radio station and heard the operator say: "Good morning. Radio station CHOO! Most-listened-to station in your area by actual survey. May I help you?" Suddenly, it came to Grebe that commercial time could also be sold on telephone calls. A pilot project was instantly set up in 26 selected factories, business offices and public institutions and was enormously successful. The first test call is also on tape at the Institute:

SWITCHBOARD. Grableigh Tool & Die... Good morning! And it will be a good morning if you start the day right with Vita-Whip, nature's own energizing cream...

CALLER: Give me Mr. Grableigh, please.

SWITCHBOARD: I will connect you with his secretary. But if you really want to make connections, don't forget the new all-purpose Groom strengthens hair follicles while giving your scalp new lustre...

SECRETARY: Mr. Grableigh's office. Can I help you — by recommending Whiff, the safe, all-purpose decongestant tablet?

CALLER: Give me GG. It's rush.

SECRETARY: I'm sorry, Mr. Grableigh is not available. But Glare, the amazing hand lotion that shines like varnish is always available at leading drug and department stores...

Although one or two callers complained about delays, especially those phoning hospital emergency wards, most people quickly became used to phone commercials.

Grebe then moved swiftly to sell commercials on long-distance calls. As he pointed out to the telephone companies, they had the perfect "captive audience" and there could be no argument about the ratings. It soon became standard for anybody placing a long-distance call to receive two commercial messages before being connected with his party.

Grebe's latest move is to have the commercial time increased by 30 seconds on person-to-person calls, but so far the Board of Transport Commissioners has not approved the request. Advertising has its place, they agree, but they don't think it should take precedence over public service. In a democracy this is, of course, an arguable point. A good many people now think that the bureaucrats are again trying to deny us our basic freedoms.

Irresponsibility crime wave cause

A hard-hitting speech Wednesday put the blame for present crime growth on "those who believe prevention and detection of crime is the sole responsibility of the law, and those who wilfully impede law and order for political, social or personal reasons."

The speaker was Superintendent R. J. Bélec of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who addressed the Westmount Rotary Club at Victoria Hall Wednesday. Superintendent Bélec's talk was on the subject of police public relations.

"These attitudes," said the superintendent, "can be very dangerous because in the ceaseless battle against disorder and crime, the police are greatly outnumbered by those of criminal tendencies who would not be slow in seizing any tactical advantage afforded by the absence of public support or its withdrawal in any degree."

The superintendent's topic has been of prime interest even as high as royalty. In 1954, Queen Elizabeth had, he said, spoken about it to those attending the Royal Review of the Metropolitan Police in London. She said:

"The police in discharging their many varied and responsible duties maintain the spirit of service towards their fellow citizens which is part of the tradition of the ancient office of Constable. On this depends the friendly co-operation between police and public of which this country is so proud."

Superintendent Bélec spoke about the tremendous increase in weapons of criminal detection now being used. "In an effort to meet the challenge of the ever-increasing crime rate and the rapidly changing and expanding crime patterns police forces have established closer co-operation," he said.

This was true on local, national and international scales, with the addition of educational and professional standards being raised in police ranks. "Assistance in fighting crime has been obtained from scientists, universities, and members of the medical profession, and we have worked closely with various committees studying the crime situation."

"Despite all these measures taken by police organizations and the work performed by groups outside the law enforcement field — all designed to stem the growth of criminal activities — crime continues to augment at a disturbing rate," added the superintendent.

He traced the problem in its public relations area to an improper conception of the relation between the law and the people.

"Old and new statutes and regulations designed to protect the individual and ensure a well-regulated life in our communities are considered irksome and irritating to large sections of the people and tend to alienate public sympathy in all the activities of the police."

"Nevertheless, the police are expected to enforce these laws. But when they do, they are frequently accused of being over-zealous, inhuman, and of interfering with the freedom of the individual."

Speaking about recent police scandals, he said a "more despicable person does not exist than the law enforcement officer who breaches his oath of office and violates the public trust."

He blasted "unwarranted leniency accorded hardened criminals" as being the principal source of discouragement and disheartenment of law enforcement officers. "Assuredly, we must continually strive to rehabilitate these persons who have strayed from lawful ways. On the other hand, primary consideration must be given to protecting society by isolating depraved individuals who have no respect whatever for law and order or the rights of others. The scales of justice must be balanced."

He stressed in conclusion the need for everyone to associate with civic and service organizations interested in striking back at criminality, and a parental duty in control of families.

Superintendent Bélec added: "They should first of all teach their children to have respect for the law and cease representing policemen in the eyes of their children as something terrifying. Additionally, it is considered that the press is a very potent factor in law enforcement . . . we regard the press as an invaluable safeguard against abuses of authority by law enforcement officers."

Police disavow bagging building

Westmount police have denied reports that chips were knocked off a local building during a recent effort at getting rid of some pigeons. "We did not hit any buildings," said Inspector Andrew Lowson, "but we didn't get any pigeons, either."

According to the inspector, the force uses many methods to get rid of the feathery menace. Reports show everything from cages to 22 rifles to various other equipment.

The shooting on this particular jaunt began at 6:15 a.m. when the policemen took aim at a flock of pigeons on an office building at Elm avenue and Sherbrooke street west.

Alderman C. H. Drury commented that the shooting news would probably result in the department and the papers being peppered with all kinds of representations from bird lovers and pigeon-haters.

Leader in two spheres, Edward Cleghorn dies

Edward (Ned) Cleghorn, of 546 Victoria avenue, associate director of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, died last week in Montreal General Hospital after a short illness.

He was 59.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Church of St. James the Apostle.

A native of Montreal, Mr. Cleghorn had long been active in the art and business worlds.

He began his career with a firm of chartered accountants, later becoming office manager for a stock brokers' company.

From 1928 to 1934, he was a member of the advertising and reproduction department of The Gazette.

He was accountant for the Chateauc Hotel, Ste. Adele, from 1939 to 1941, and a member of a firm of chartered accountants in Kitchener, Ont., from 1941 until 1944.

He had been associated with the Montreal museum since 1950, although his interest in art went back much further.

He had studied for two years at the Museum's School of Art and Design and took extension courses in fine arts at McGill University.

In 1928, he spent four months in self-study in northern Europe, visiting museums and galleries.

He practised as a professional landscape painter for five years, exhibiting in jury-selected exhibitions across Canada. He also had a one-man exhibition at the Montreal Museum.

From 1944 to 1950, he was a lecturer in fine arts at the University of Western Ontario and business administrator of Waterloo College.

In 1950, because of his combined experience in business and art, he was invited to join the Montreal Museum as assistant to the then director, Robert Tyler Davis.

He was promoted assistant director in 1955 and later associate director during the directorship of John Steegman. In that capacity, he lectured in art, as well as administering the maintenance and operating staffs. He also played a role in the finance and accounting of the Museum.

In 1958, he was awarded a special Canada Council grant to study Renaissance art in Italy, spending some six weeks in Rome, Florence and Venice.

He is survived by his wife, the former Hazel Dunham, originally from Waterloo, Ont.; two children, John and Mary Ann; a brother, James Donald and a sister, Mrs. J. S. B. Pemberton (Margaret), both of Montreal.

Burial was in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Cheerleaders triumphant

Westmount High is slowly pulling itself out of the pit of quicksand — spring exams!

Before settling down completely, a basketball game and volleyball game were held against the women and men teachers respectively. The teachers are proving to be competition, not to be taken lightly!

During the week of March 19 to 23, also exam week, the play "The Diary of Anne Frank" was presented in our auditorium for various schools in the Montreal area by a theatrical group which starred Joan Blackman as Anne, Alan Mills as Mr. Frank and Stuart Goodman as Peter. The performances were excellent delivered and well-received by appreciating audiences.

On March 29th, the twenty-fifth annual Women's Alumnae reunion will be held at the school. A larger celebration is planned to commemorate this silver anniversary.

Our yearbook the Vox Dugum was completed slightly behind schedule, but it is hoped it will still arrive by June 1.

Exam week closed on a triumphant note when on Saturday, March 23, our Senior cheerleaders captured the Hi-Fi Club Championship for Montreal, and Sharon Robbins and Rena Singer were runners-up for the title of "Cheerleader of the Year." This victory for our cheerleaders was the second in the championship's three-year record. Congratulations!

Boys club sponsors athletics

The annual track and field meet sponsored by the Unity Boys' Club will take place at the Westmount Athletic Grounds on Saturday, May 26, starting at 9:00 a.m.

The facilities of the Westmount Athletic Grounds were made available through the courtesy of the City of Westmount Recreational Department.

The Unity Track team is conducting indoor practices every Friday evening. As soon as the playing fields are in good condition, the group will practice outdoors.

The Little Leaguers under the direction of Manny Barnoff continue to work out in the gym every Saturday morning. They are also awaiting the opportunity to go outdoors.

Health problems poll topic

A poll to determine the health service problems with which the public is most concerned is to be taken by the Federation of Jewish Community Services in connection with its annual meeting which is set for Sunday, April 15, 2 p.m., at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

Monty Berger, chairman of the annual meeting planning committee, has announced that members of the Federation will be asked by mail to indicate the question or problem which they consider most important for discussion as part of the main theme of the meeting which will be "Your Health — Whose Responsibility?"

Panel

The discussion will be led by a panel whose moderator will be Lavy M. Becker, first vice-president of Federation and chairman of the Federation medical survey committee.

Locking the Stable Door

Navy range efforts beat police, firemen

In the second of a series of range competitions between Westmount police and fire department members and Navy men attached to HMCS Donnacona, the Navy turned out on top. The competition was held Wednesday night at the RMR ranges and involved pistols and rifles.

Navy score totalled 830 for both classifications against the police and fire departments' score of 796. Navy pistol score totalled 367, with a rifle score of 463; police and fire score totalled 361 for pistols, with 435 in rifles. Individual scores were as follows: first figure mentioned is that of pistols, the second of rifles:

Navy: Grant, 78, 90; Brookes, 52, 52; Searle, 59, 83; Lightbound, 73, 97; McBain, 42, 98; Muncey, 69, 51; Stevens, 67, 95; and Bates, shooting in pistol only, 76.

Police and fire: Pilkonis, 88, 89; Black, 51, 71; Forget, 55, 79; Dubber, 40, 83; Lowson, 79, 92; Sauve, 63, 84; Swailes, 76, 79; Whiteford, 52, 87.

Range officer was Major Don Macrae. Next competition between the two rival teams will be on April 18.

Kit building for pleasure

By Givon Cornfield

Days are getting longer with the approach of spring, but there is still a long wait before summer arrives, and this is as good a time as any for the indoor sport of kit building.

The kit builder derives double satisfaction from his or her handiwork — the pleasure of music, and the knowledge that he himself had built the sound system.

It isn't always true that kit building results in great savings, although the manufacturers will have us believe that. Unless you are very adept at this sort of thing, it will take up so much time, and may not even work when completed.

But the experience gained from building a kit is invaluable. It gives you an intimate insight into the workings of the sound system that cannot be gained from any amount of reading or conversation.

Step by step

No special skill is required for building an audio kit. A lot of patience is required, and a good soldering technique that can be easily acquired are about all one needs.

Kits nowadays are made with easy step by step instructions, along with a self checking sheet that enables you to correct any mistake you may have made.

The terminology is simplified, and your dealer will usually be glad to explain anything you don't quite understand. It isn't very likely you will need this sort of help, though, since most kits are simplicity itself.

As long as you are able to work undisturbed and concentrate on the task at hand, results should be very gratifying, and a wonderful way to relax from everyday tensions.

I know people who have built themselves a reputation as experts in this field, and whose friends have them build kits for them.

Saving money

Where the money saving angle is particularly evident is in the case of the high-priced, high-powered jobs. Amplifiers and tuners selling for two or three hundred dollars (assembled) can be had in kit form for nearly half. This is definitely the answer for the person who wants uncompromising quality but cannot afford the price of the ready-made product.

Amplifier building does not require much in the way of test equipment, and theoretically nothing should go wrong.

But in building, tuners, the critical alignment stage required special metering devices. Lately, kit manufacturers have been realigning their tuners, making matters a lot simpler for the kit builder, and eliminating the guesswork.

Readers' inquiries

A few weeks ago I appealed from this column for readers who had suggestions for topics and technical questions they wanted answered. Of the few letters received, some require answers that would be of little interest to most readers, being too technical etc. I am waiting until enough material is received, and shall then devote an entire column to this.

Scheduled for Lake St. Louis this summer

Lightning class sailors of the Montreal area, who make up Lightning Fleet No. 215, will host the most important event is the Canadian (open) for this popular class. The event is the Canadian (open) Lightning championship, to be held on Lake St. Louis over the weekend of July 28 and 29, Royal St. Lawrence Y.C. being the Host Club.

Lightnings are sailed right across Canada from Atlantic to Pacific, and a good entry list is expected for the Championship Series. Entries are anticipated from the Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and Montreal areas, possibly from other Lightning fleets in Canada, and also from the United States where there are literally thousands of boats of this class (sail numbers now are nearing the 3500 mark). In Canada there are approximately 350 Lightnings.

Officers of the Canadian Lightning Association are: — President, Jack Evans, Britannia Y.C., Ottawa; Secretary, A. E. Wilson, R. St. L. Y.C.; Treasurer, J. Swann, Queen City Y.C., Toronto.

Montreal area Lightning sailors met last week when Chas. Davidson was elected Fleet Captain of Fleet No. 215 while Ted Wilson agreed to act as Secretary-Treasurer for another year.

Other business on the agenda for this meeting included over-all organization of the class; the relationship of C.L.A. with the parent Lightning Class Association whose headquarters are located in the U.S.A.; and arrangements for the Canadian Championships.

Russ Scrim was elected Regatta Chairman and several other allocations of key jobs were made in the course of preliminary organization.

The Lightnings are 19 ft. sloops, 15 ft. 3 ins. on the water line, 6 ft. 6 ins. beam and draw 4 ft. 11 ins. with the centreboard down. Sail area is 177 sq. ft. Minimum hull weight is 700 lbs. Lightnings were designed by Sparkman and Stephens and the first fleet was formed at Skaneateles, N.Y. in 1938. The boats carry a crew of three; they have a lot of speed and can be, and are, used for day sailing as well as racing.

Original numbers highlight show

The Fossils Club 31st. Spring Show, "Blood Sweat and Cheers," which opens May 1, at West Hill Auditorium for five nights, will be brought to the stage by a strong production staff.

E. G. Kirwan, Fossils' president, has named G. W. Leet as producer, assisted by D. H. Mitchell as business manager. The Book Committee has been working under F. A. Dawson, who also directs "Blood, Sweat and Cheers."

Glee Club and musical director will be Art Phillips, well known in Montreal professional musical circles. Mr. Phillips has worked with Art Morrow on previous Fossils Shows and is doing arrangements for the 14 original numbers written by Fossils members.

Ski corner

Some tips for the last trips

by Bernie Flanagan, C.S.I.

This is what skiers have been waiting for all winter. The hot sun, the freedom of jacketless skiing, the corn snow helping to make all turns perfect ones. This is also the season of overconfidence, tricky snow and broken legs.

Snow conditions may vary in one day from dry powder to heavy mush, from ice to perfect corn snow back to ice again. So be prepared for it. Sharpen your edges, for the ice, bring plenty of wet snow wax, and a tube of suntan cream when the snow gets too mushy at midday.

As always, know your hills. Do not try to break the local downhill record, or you might succeed in breaking something else. Check the snow conditions. Sometimes the snow underneath may be rotten, or hollow from run-off, so be careful.

Hard to start

At the start of the day, conditions are usually pretty hard, if not icy, so turns can be made easily. As the sun gets stronger, the snow softens, and it takes a little more effort to get around. The skier must use more leg and pole action. Around midday it is usually too heavy to enjoy so most simply work on the suntans until 2.30 or so when the snow starts to firm again.

Unless you are very expert, don't ski in shorts or shirt with rolled sleeves. A bad fall can do a really nasty job similar to falling on broken glass. Wear gloves for the same reason, even if they are light ones.

Spit and polish

Be sure and put lots of polish on the boots before going out, and keep them on their trees when not in use. Do not dry them over a radiator.

Wear your regular ski slacks. At some resorts, it is the fashion to ski in dungarees. However, they are hot, and they soak up water like a sponge. They also turn your skin a horrible blue.

Bring a light jacket or sweater along with your regular ski clothes, as it sometimes gets quite chilly in the afternoons.

Unless you are used to being outside a lot, wear sunglasses.

After 30 years— still successful

The Children's Theatre, under the direction of Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, will soon be entering its 30th year.

Since its inauguration in 1933, the directors have trained over 6,000 children.

"We sincerely love all our children," said Miss Walters.

"Their problems become our problems — you cannot help but become personally and emotionally involved, because a child is so innocent, vulnerable, and lovable."

Miss Davis and Miss Walters are well known for their dramatic performances in the legitimate theatre. Miss Walters won her fame primarily as a dancer. It was during their association as actresses that Miss Davis conceived the idea of opening a children's theatre. Miss Walters approved of the idea and agreed to the partnership.

Septics gave this partnership six months at the most — but Dorothy and Violet proved them wrong.

"We have worked together in harmony and understanding these 30 years," said Miss Davis, "and have developed so close a friendship that we are very often mistaken for sisters — which is exactly what our relationship has become."

Better chances

The "theatre" offers lessons in speech, posture, rhythmic, have gathered about them the finest instructors in their respective fields — thus the children are constantly assured of the finest training available.

The theatre presents three major productions a year, each one being done twice in order to give more children the opportunity to play the parts. Some of the scripts used are original, but the major portion of programs are selected from fairy tales and from the classics.

The only one

Hundreds of Davis-Walters' children are now being used for professional TV shows and by the National Film Board. Many well-known actors today received their training at the Children's Theatre — to mention a few: William Shatner, Dick Easton, Alex Canner, Jerry Herbert, June Mack, and many many more.

In the almost 30 years of its existence the school has grown from an original enrolment of less than 25, to over 300 pupils. It is the only school of its kind in the whole of Canada.

The Directors expressed their desire to do a TV production in the near future.

These two hard-working "troopers" have gained the respect and confidence of the majority of our citizens in Montreal. They have brought to this city an original idea and have developed it beyond all expectations.

As compared to the sparse audience attending their very first production, "The Cave of the Island King," their success is noted in that they now play to capacity houses.

All Montreal extends to Dorothy and Violet their congratulations for past achievements, coupled with the hope for their continued success.

The theatre now boasts five studios, the main one located on Girouard avenue in N.D.G.

radio work, basic stage technique, and acting.

"Certainly not all our children will become successful in the theatrical world," the Directors noted, "but the results of our training leads to more self-confidence and assurance, and develops in the children a love for the legitimate theatre, that they might never have learned to appreciate."

The theatre offers, as well, a special television course, which is open to serious-minded students. Junior and adult courses are available, and are under the direction of the well-known CBC-TV producer Roger Racine.

Black Watch 'oldsters' to meet

With RSM George Smith, MM and two bars, in the chair, surviving officers and men of the 73rd Battalion, the Black Watch, commemorate the 46th anniversary of their marching away to the First War with their annual dinner at the Queen's Hotel in Montreal, Saturday.

This is the 39th annual reunion of the association which was forced originally in the rain-swept trenches of Vimy Ridge, where a compact was made to continue until there were only two veterans left to give and answer to the toasts.

Though primarily a Montreal battalion, the unit recruited extensively all over Eastern Canada, and received strong reinforcement from the Toronto, London and Ottawa districts.

MCM FESTIVAL 1962

... TWO SPONSORS ...

The Second Annual Montreal Competitive Music Festival is in full swing this week and those entrants whose gifts have had sufficient practise will come out top winners.

The Festival is indeed fortunate in having two sponsors, Kiwanis International and The Montreal Board of Trade (Young Men's Section). Co-Chairmen of Administration are R. E. McAllister and Huntley Cameron. These capable gentlemen have been working with their committee for many months and the fruits of devoted toil are evident in the large entry they have attracted, which is practically double the first season.

... SPLENDID JUDGES ...

On Sunday evening I was invited to a reception in the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel to meet this year's adjudicators. R. E. McAllister and Kiwanis president Russ Scrim greeted the guests.

It was a lively assembly and I was delighted to renew friendship with Lyell Gustin of Saskatoon, whom I have known for many years. Canada's foremost native piano teacher (Neil Chotem, Reginald Bedford, president of CFMTA, Evelyn Eby and countless others are his pupils) Mr. Gustin will be judging many of the more advanced piano classes including modern music, open, own selections, duets, sonata classes, solo and older Bach classes and concertos.

Flora Goulden, prominent Ottawa violin authority that I met at ORMTA Conventions is judging the scanty violin entries (every year the string sections diminish. Why?) There are but 17 solo violin entries in four categories. This is deplorable! One string trio and two string quartets. Is it any wonder that symphony orchestras are having problems securing new blood in the violin, cello and double bass sections? There is not one cellist entered! or double bass contestant! or violist!

Therefore, Mrs. Goulden is also judging the elementary piano classes. The largest entry is in the seven-years and under. There are 30 performers. The Ottawa musician is also judging the three orchestral groups entered.

The Vocal Judges are the famed leader of New York's celebrated Schola Cantorum, Dr. Hugh Ross (who lectured at McGill recently) and well-known Berythe Birse of Winnipeg. Dr. Ross was not present at the reception as he is arriving to judge choirs and organ today and tomorrow (Friday). Mrs. Birse will hear the young girl and boy solo entries as well as duets and trios, choral societies, high school choirs (of which there are very many) and classroom choirs.

Band expert Martin Boundy of London, Ontario has been engaged to judge solo wind as well as quite a number of band entries. It is surprising that wind instruments are coming to the fore in place of strings. Flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, French horn, trombone, alto and tenor saxophone are all represented although some have only one entry. There is also just one drum aspirant. Mr. Boundy is being kept very busy in his section.

... SIX HALLS —

PUBLIC INVITED ...

The committee wisely selected halls that are easy to get to for the nearly 5,000 contestants. These include Dawson Hall and the Main Auditorium of St. James United Church ... The Salvation Army Citadel and Colley Hall ... West Hill High School and Westmount Park School. Platform Marshal is Dr. D. M. Herbert of N.D.G., retired Supervisor of Music of The Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal. The public is invited to attend all sessions at a very nominal entrance fee.

... TROPHIES ...

Eight trophies are being awarded this Saturday at the end of the week-long Festival. These are: (Singing) The Elgar Choir — Grade Choir Trophy ... The Gifford Mitchell Trophy ... Montreal Bach Choir Society Trophy ... Robert H. Smith Vocal Trophy ... Frank H. Fifty N.Y. delegates to attend meet here

Delegates from fifty congregations in Upper New York State, Eastern Canada and Vermont will attend a Regional Conference co-sponsored by the Empire State Region and Officers of the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs on Sunday, April 8, at the Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue, 450 Kensington avenue, Westmount.

Rabbi Joel S. Geffen, Spiritual Advisor of the National Federation and Director of the Department of Field Activities of The Jewish Theological Seminary of America, will be the principal speaker. He will discuss "The Role of Religion in the Atomic Age."

Amongst the prominent officers of the National Federation who are addressing this Conference will be Philip Goldstein of Washington, D.C., President; Arthur S. Bruckman of New York City, Past President; and Manny London of Chicago, Ill. and Herman C. Rothenberg of Cedarhurst, N.Y., Vice-Presidents. Dr. A. J. Stilman and Benjamin Herson of Montreal will also participate as speakers.

The Men's Association of Congregation Shaar Hashomayim will serve as hosts to this gathering. Nathan Gaisin of Montreal, Chairman of the Conference, will open the meeting and Jules W. Smuckler of Albany, President of the Empire State Region, will deliver the welcoming address. Greetings will also be extended by Rabbi Wilfred Shuchat, Spiritual Leader and Dr. H. Ballon, President of the Shaar Hashomayim Congregation. S. L. Kert of Montreal will preside at the luncheon session.

The conference will be preceded by special Sabbath Services at Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue and a social gathering on Saturday night, April 7 which has been arranged by the Men's Association of the Shaar Hashomayim Congregation.

The National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs is an affiliate of the United Synagogue of America.

Visitors to have special service

A commissioning service for visitors will be held at 4:00 p.m. on Sunday, April 1, at Westmount Baptist Church, when preparations will be made for the forthcoming visit of Dr. S. Robert Weaver of St. Albans, West Virginia, who will be preaching from April 9 to 15.

The morning worship period will be addressed by Dr. E. J. Bailey on the subject, "Choose Life", and at the evening service he will speak on "Commitment".

Services of Simultaneous Evangelism are being held throughout North America in Baptist Churches and the Baptist Churches of Montreal will be participating in this great enterprise.

The Mid-Week Service will be held on Wednesday at eight o'clock under the leadership of Dr. Bailey, who will continue the study of the Book of Romans.

The Annual Meeting of the Church will be held on Wednesday, April 25th.

Church schools hold annual meet

The guest speaker at the 35th Annual Meeting of the Montreal Presbyterian Church School will be the Rev. J. S. McBride minister of the Ephraim Scott Memorial Church.

Scheduled to be held next Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in First Presbyterian Church of Verdun, members of Montreal West Presbyterian, Knox Crescent and Kensington Church, Ephraim Scott Memorial, Melville Presbyterian and Stanley Presbyterian will attend.

Rev. McBride's topic will be "The Teacher's Responsibility."

Lesson-sermon is on 'Reality'

The power and permanence of the Word of God will be stressed at the services in the Montreal and Westmount Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's lesson-sermon on the subject "Reality".

The golden text will be from Isaiah: "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand for ever."

Appropriate selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real, harmonious, or eternal."

Mission week-end set for Westmount

A World Mission Weekend arranged by Presbyterian Churches in the Montreal Area comes to a focus on Sunday evening with a World Mission Rally in Melville Church, Westmount at seven-thirty.

Among the speakers at the Rally are the Rev. Inya Ude, a minister of the Presbyterian Church in Nigeria and the Rev. K. W. Bay, minister of the Korean Church in Japan.

The youth choirs of L'Eglise St. Luc and the Chinese Mission will sing, the former in their native French. The moderator of Presbytery, the Rev. Andre Poulain will preside.

Mr. Ude who is doing post-graduate study at Knox College, Toronto is the son of a which doctor in his native Africa and will be in native costume. Mr. Bay, a native of Korea is doing post-graduate study at the Presbyterian College Montreal.

Residents to get Baptist callers

Westmounters living in the vicinity of Westmount Baptist Church are being invited to visit the church the week of April 9th.

For this purpose teams of callers from the church will visit residents near the church extending in-itations to attend services throughout the week of April 9th.

The drive is aimed at those who have no church affiliation.

The special services being held in the church are part of the simultaneous evangelism campaign being held by the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec. Rev. Dr. S. Robert Weaver, a former Montrealer, now first minister of the First Baptist Church of St. Albans, Virginia will be the evangelist. The services will be held nightly during the week at 8 p.m.

Booklet "The Light and Christian Unity" will be discussed by a panel composed of Dr. and Mrs. Parker Chesney and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harper.

Brodeur-Gordon wedding takes place in Toronto

The marriage of Heather Ruth, daughter of the late R. Grant Gordon QC, and of Mrs. Gordon, of Toronto, to Mr. Alphonse William Hope Brodeur, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Toner Brodeur, of Westmount, took place recently in the Bishop Strachan School Chapel, the Rev. Canon Frank officiating. Mr. John Hodgins played the wedding music, and standards of seasonal flowers arranged with greenery were used to decorate the church.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Peter Gordon was in a gown of ivory poul de soie having a fitted bodice with a bateau neckline and bracelet length sleeves, and bouffant skirt, falling in deep pleats to a chapel train. Her finger-tip-length veil of ivory tulle illusion was held by a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white roses, white heather, freesia, and white hyacinth bells.

Mrs. Alex Ramsay, as matron of honor, and Miss Mary Hungerford, and Mrs. Richard P. Roberts, as attendants, were in moss green poul de soie, having fitted bodices with scoop necklines and bracelet length sleeves, and bell-shaped skirts fashioned with godet panels, and box pleats. They wore matching caps of green leaves and carried bouquets of birds of paradise flowers, orange spring flowers and heather.

Mr. James Brodeur acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Dr. Michael Brodeur, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Gerald K. Gordon, brother of the bride, Mr. John Hughes, and Dr. James D. Prentice.

The reception was held at the Toronto Hunt Club.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Brodeur left for England and the Continent, the bride travelling in an ensemble of red tweed, and wearing black accessories, and a corsage bouquet of green orchids.

Karnak Ladies Club

Karnak Ladies' Club will meet in the Masonic Memorial Temple on Tuesday, at 1:30 p.m. for business, sewing and mending. Mrs. R. E. Gilbert will preside.

Westmount women head Canadian Cancer Campaign

Many Westmount women are volunteering for service for the Canadian Cancer Society Campaign which is being held April 2.

March 30 is Daffodil Day, when thousands of daffodils flown in from Vancouver will be sold on street corners and in stores throughout Montreal, this will take hundreds of willing workers.

The women shown above are team captains for the Campaign in Westmount, and the districts which they will take: Mrs. P. A. Ouimet, 58 Sunnyside avenue, district No. 1; Mrs. C. B. Pierce, 55 Aberdeen avenue, district No. 2; Mrs. G. Meunier, 15 De Casson road, district No. 3; Mrs. D. Carter, 30 Stanton avenue, district No. 4; Mrs. G. Churher, 12 Ingleside avenue, district No. 5; Mrs. R. A. Plaw, 536 Roslyn avenue, district No. 7; Mrs. W. Horwood, 611 Victoria avenue, district No. 8; and Mrs. J. Purtil, 484 Argyle avenue, district No. 9.

Engagement

The engagement is announced of Sylvia Clare, daughter of Mrs. Kenneth M. Harrison of Westmount, and the late Mr. Harrison, to Mr. Frank Joseph Seidel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Seidel of Pointe Claire.

The marriage will take place at the end of April.

Potters' Club

The show window of the Potters' Club, 346 Victoria avenue, Westmount, will again feature the work of some of its most outstanding potters during the coming months.

The work of Mrs. Simone Desjardins will be on display for a period of two weeks. Mrs. Desjardins studied sculpturing and painting at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Montreal. In the winter of 1960 she took a course in sculpturing at the San Miguel Allende Art Center in Mexico.

Her collection in the show window of the Potters' Club should be well worth a visit.

J. J. W. L. luncheon

The Jewish Junior Welfare League will hold a luncheon in the Dubarry Room of the Skyline Hotel on Tuesday, April 10 at 1 p.m. A musical skit entitled "Caviar and Corn" written and performed by provisional members, will be presented.

Miss Maria Andrea W. Lazar weds David Page Fairchild

The marriage of Maria Andrea Weltzl, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gregory Lazar, of Notre Dame de Grace, to Mr. David Page Fairchild, of Westmount, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Fairchild II, of Detroit, Michigan, took place recently in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, the Rev. Father Lapointe officiating. Standards of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums arranged with greenery were used to decorate the church.

The bride, who was given away by her stepfather, was in a gown of white velvet, having a fitted bodice and a bell-shaped skirt. Her short veil of tulle illusion was held by a large white rose, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy.

Miss Monique Carle, as maid of honor, was in a frock of burgundy red velvet, fashioned on princess lines. She wore a matching pillbox, and carried a bouquet of red and white Sweetheart roses.

Mr. Michael Budd, acted as best man for Mr. Fairchild, and the ushers were, Mr. James Bradford, Mr. Martin Hughes-Jones, and Mr. Anthony Acer.

Mrs. Lazar, mother of the bride, was in a gown of navy blue silk shantung. She wore a matching hat, and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and blue hyacinth bells.

The reception was held at the residence of Mrs. John Acer, Westmount, where arrangements of gold and bronze chrysanthemums and greenery were used as decorations.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Fairchild left for the Laurentians.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Fairchild, of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. Martin Hughes-Jones, of England; Mrs. John Fairchild, of Plattsburgh, N.Y.; Mrs. A. Erdel, of Toronto, Ont.; and Mr. M. Erdel, of California.

Mrs. E.M. LeMessurier elected IODE regent

At the 32nd annual meeting of the Canon Scott Chapter, IODE on Tuesday, Feb. 6, the Regent, Miss M. Webber, presided.

The Municipal Regent, Mrs. E. M. Gibaut, was the guest of honor.

Reports reviewing the work of the year were given showing that four children were sent to summer camp and 19 individuals received Christmas Cheer.

67 knitted and sewn articles were made and distributed.

New books were added to the Canon Scott Memorial Library at the Ste. Anne's Military Hospital.

Financial aid to students and educational supplies to Harrington Intermediate School were given.

The Chapter sponsors a club for Senior Citizens, whose average weekly attendance is 22.

All national, provincial, and municipal projects were supported.

Total disbursements amounted to $1,100.

Officers for the coming year: Hon. regent, Mrs. J. J. Creelman; Hon. vice-regent, Miss M. H. Webber; regent, Mrs. E. M. LeMessurier; 1st vice-regent, Mrs. A. T. Sargent; 2nd vice-regent, Miss N. C. Nursery display at St. George's

A general meeting and equipment display of The Montreal Nursery School Association was held on Wednesday, March 21, at St. George's School, 3100, Westmount boulevard.

Over 100 teachers and associates watched two films: "A Time to Grow" and "Food for Freddie" and discussed their suitability for showing at parent meetings. A tape recording of musical circle songs and games made at a recent Music Workshop was played back. Visits were made to the Nursery classrooms.

The equipment displayed was all handmade. The Association wanted to demonstrate that toys and large scale play equipment can be made far more cheaply in Canada than by importing it from the United States or Europe. A carpenter was also on hand with models and diagrams to bear out this theory.

Sponsored, private and co-operative nurseries were all represented but the largest showing was from co-operative nurseries operated by Parent Committees. In this case the fathers often operate a Toy Making Committee. A huge gaily colored plywood wigwam with round windows, a log horse, and a gas pump utilizing a vacuum cleaner pipe were the most rep-

Dear Abby...

He's father — and 'mother' too

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My father is a den mother. My mother said she would be our den mother but my father has had to run most of the meetings because my mother never gets home in time. My father works the night shift so he is home when I get home from school. All the kids like my Dad and he makes a very good den mother, but some of the kids make fun of me. How can I get my mother to be the den mother she promised to be?

JIMMY

DEAR JIMMY: Don't let the teasing get you down. Most kids would give anything if their fathers could be "den mothers." I think you're lucky.

DEAR ABBY: How can you tell a mother her faults? She complains that she is "lonely", but she brings so much of it on herself with her fussy ways. She is a nut on housekeeping. When she's expecting guests for dinner, she even cleans out her garage!

Even worse, regardless of whose house she's in, she scours "spots" from the stove, bleaches the sink, wipes finger marks from the walls and scrubs around the faucets. She thinks she's being helpful when she "rearranges" your cupboards, not realizing she makes you feel like a poor housekeeper. She points out little things like, "The children's shoe laces need washing," and "Your towels look faded." We love Mom, but we (her married daughters) are nervous wrecks after each visit. Print this, Abby. It might help.

DEAR EXHAUSTED: Your mother's "fussiness" is probably due to an excess of nervous energy. You'll never change her, so learn to roll with the punches. Go about your business and let her scour, scrub and "rearrange." She loves it!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have the world's worst liar for a husband. He has been seeing another woman for a year now and, you know, you can't get away with that stuff in a small town. Everybody knows it, but he denies it when I question him. He "hides" his car in her garage and pulls down the garage door, but the crazy fool should know that people see him coming out of her garage at all hours. The woman is divorced and he isn't the only one she sees. Should I find myself a sweetheart, too? Maybe if my husband got a taste of his own medicine it would cure him.

CHEATER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: The kind of "medicine" you are considering has never cured anyone. Someone should collar your husband and try to make him see the light. It's a man's job. Get one of his friends to talk to him.

DEAR ABBY: I am a man of 55, and I've been keeping company with a widow for two years. She is 47, good-looking and lots of fun. She upped and left town last December and didn't come back until February. She said she went to Detroit to visit her sister. I found out she really went to Miami and married a 77-year-old man. She finally admitted it, but said she only married him for his money, which she wouldn't have to wait very long for because he was in poor health. She said she had no intentions of living with him. She wants to continue our relationship and run down to Florida now and then to look in on her husband. And, as soon as he dies, she'll marry me. I am so shocked, I don't know what to do. This woman is a big disappointment, but she sure has a hold on me.

SUCKER

DEAR SUCKER: Can't you see she is a gold digger, or must she hit you on the head with the shovel? If you want to stick around and hold her hand until her husband dies, that's your business. But if I were you, I'd head for the hills.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a very handsome, middle-aged man. The only thing I don't like about him is the way he brags what a big success he has been with the women all his life. I've told him I didn't care to hear stories like that, but he always gets back to it. It's his favorite topic. Do you think this is a serious fault or should I just overlook it?

LEONA

DEAR LEONA: Overlook it if you love him, but remember — when a man oversells a product, prepare for a big disappointment.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, have been married twice and am still in love with my first husband. We had two children. He loves us and wants us back. We were divorced over a silly argument. We both got stubborn and, before we realized it, the divorce went through.

I married my second husband in a hurry to show my first husband I could still get a man. I am not in love with my second husband. He is younger than I. I guess we were both lonely.

Abby, I would give anything in the world to be back with my first husband, raising our children together. Is there any way out of this mess?

SORRY NOW

DEAR SORRY: A woman who pulls wedding rings off, and replaces them nonchalantly, doesn't deserve to be rescued from a mess of her own making. Talk it over with your second husband. He is probably also aware that your marriage to him was a hasty mistake, and will agree to free you. Then you may attempt to pick up the pieces of your shattered first marriage.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend is 19 and I am 20. He is in the drum corps and that is all he lives for. He has drum corps practice three nights a week and the remaining nights he teaches drums. He is always practicing for the contests and has very little time for me. I tried to make him jealous by going out with others, but he didn't even notice. He claims he loves me, but how can I believe him? Should I stick with him and give in?

The Beauty of Life

Can it be only a tree I see
With its branches flung to the sky?
As the silver slip of a moon shines through,
Like a flaming torch held high.

Is it only a sunset that I see
With jewelled banners aflame?
A lambent sea, like holy fire,
But fading as it came.

Do I see love, in each passing face,
A symbol of love Divine?
A mystic magnet, that draws me on,
To make it a part of mine.

Council Girl Guides set to meet April 5

The annual meeting of the Quebec Council Girl Guides of Canada, will be held on Thursday afternoon, April 5, at one-thirty o'clock, in the Hall of the St. Laurent Presbyterian Church, 1345 Lapoint street, at the corner of O'Brien boulevard St. Laurent.

It is hoped that Lady Baden-Powell, World Chief Guide, will be well enough to visit Montreal at the time of the annual meeting. As she is restricted in the number of her activities, it is with regret that no gathering of Brownies or Guides may be undertaken.

There will be a reception in her honor for all Guiders, Commissioners, Local Association and Committee members at the Town Hall, 90 Roosevelt street, Town of Mount Royal, on Thursday evening, April 5 at eight o'clock.

Festival of Canadian Fashions helps groups to enrich coffers

Ann Lendman, director of Festival of Canadian Fashions announces the forthcoming 1962 Fall Festival of Canadian Fashions presenting outstanding lines by Canadian designers, manufacturers, couturiers and merchants. These will demonstrate the newest trends in every line and price range of all fashions designed for and by Canadians.

The Fashion Festival will take place at the El Morocco on October 15-16-17-18-19-20, 1962, and will be followed by the El Morocco floorshow. Fashions: 8 p.m.; floorshow: 10 p.m.

The Festival has arranged, as in the past, to assist Service Clubs, and church groups in the area in raising the funds in their treasuries. This is achieved through the "Organization Plan," whereby the Club Treasury retains a portion of the price of each ticket sold by their group. This is an excellent means of fund raising budget for your organization or special projects. It's entertaining and so easy. We do all the work.

The Festival of Canadian Fashions is more than a fashion show. Both men and women have enjoyed the presentations of various lines shown in professionally arranged scenes in a production style. Comment in both English and French gives a complete description of the fashions for the coming season, including accessories, coiffures and cosmetics. The entire production is designed to entertain Mr. and Mrs. average Canadian and to give a complete picture of the fashion world and to provide as well diverting entertainment throughout the evening with one hundred mannequins displaying feminine elegance and city sophistication.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Basil C. Harries, and their two children Christiane Brigitte and David, have taken up residence at 7 Lorraine avenue, Westmount. Mr. Harries was recently appointed Trade Commissioner with the British Trade Commission, Montreal, and comes here from his post as British Trade Commissioner in Western Nigeria.

The PRAF Study Group met recently at the home of Mrs. J. Elcome. Those present were: Mrs. Charles H. Armstrong, Mrs. David L. Benzie, Mrs. Harry Nutik, Mrs. George Olesen, Miss Amy Riel, Mrs. F. Stein, Mrs. Campbell W. Thompson, Mrs. J. H. Thomson and Mrs. Robert B. Tudor. Mrs. Frank D. Lindsay presided at the tea table.

Serving on the honorary committee for the Jewish General Hospital "Cherry Blossom" Ball are Mr. Maxwell Cummings as honorary secretary and Mr. Sam Steinberg as honorary treasurer. The Ball, co-chaired by Mrs. Julius J. Block and Mr. Allan Bronfman, will be held on National Hospital Day, May 12 at the Windsor Hotel.

Lady Baden-Powell, World Chief Guide, will visit Montreal in April and will be guest of honor at a reception on April 5 at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall, Town of Mount Royal. Guiders, commissioners, committee members and local associations will attend.

Miss Eva Nir will be guest soloist at the Israeli Fantasy Ball, which is taking place at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel on March 31.

St. Mary's Alumnae

The Alumnae Association of St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing will hold a general meeting on Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Nurses Residence.

Dr. Thomas A. Francoeur, Director of Students at St. Joseph Teachers College will speak on "The Value of Psychological Tests."

Door prizes contributed by Canadian Manufacturers and store merchants are a part of the evening's fashion demonstration.

Many service groups and clubs have enriched their club coffers with the aid of the Festival of Canadian Fashions. If you have not already discovered the advantage of availing yourself of this easy way of raising funds, we hope you will encourage your group to consider it as a mean of raising money.

Blocks of tickets must be taken and paid for at least ten days before the Festival takes place in order that reservations may be safely kept for your group. Advance dates for the fall festival are from October 15 until 20, 1962. "Spring" March the 11 until the 16, 1963.

For information about the Festival of Canadian Fashions, and to arrange for your group's attendance at the Festival for Fall or Spring, write or telephone to: Festival of Canadian Fashions, 1357 Van Horne, CR. 2-7040.

Life of bachelors 'blessed'

UNMARRIED people, hundreds of them living in Westmount are carving out for themselves a life of single 'blessedness' and are doing so with verve and purposeful determination.

A long time ago a philosopher said "the man or woman who thinks too seriously of marriage is likely to remain a bachelor or spinster."

Either it is so grave a matter that it scares off many a prospective bride or bridegroom, or on solemn consideration it simply doesn't warrant any real application.

Be that as it may, the fact remains many eligible persons from the age of 25 upwards choose to remain single in the face of criticism and matchmaking of well-meaning friends and also at the risk of having a lonely old age.

Somebody who cares

Some single people who were questioned in Westmount maintained it was not worth all the harassment and adjustment of marriage merely to ensure having somebody around who cares as the years creep up on one. And who can guarantee a happy old age to those who have married and raised children — wasn't it Shakespeare who likened a serpent's tooth to the ingratitude of one's children?

The men and women like-liest to wind up single are the very ones who seem best suited to the state of matrimony.

If a man is serious-minded,
a steady worker and honestly romantic and intelligent as well, there's a substantial chance he will never take the plunge.

With a woman who is discriminating, filled with high-minded ethics and well-educated, it is more than possible she will decide never to become a bride.

The truly romantic thinks too much of marriage to rush into a quickie wedding such as often occurs in the social whirl today.

In many homes parents
bring up their children on fantasy — and feed them tales such as every good girl will marry the 'right' person and live happily ever after... love conquers all... every good boy marries the right girl, buys a home, a car and raises a fun-loving happy family.

But as adolescence fades into adulthood, some of these 'Pollyanna' truths are shown up in their true light and many are those who begin to look at life in a different light and grow confused and suspicious.

Nothing is accepted quite as blindly as before and sincere rebellion sets in — then people refer to some of the unmarried as "too set in their ways" ever to get married, particularly with regard to men in their 40s and up and women upwards of 30.

High rate of divorce

The high rate of divorce and separations to be observed on all sides is a serious deterrent to these romantic folk who are admittedly afraid to jump into the marriage merry-go-round.

But as their friends, one by one, walk up the aisle, some of the unmarried get a sinking feeling that they are becoming an extinct breed in today's world.

Branded as non-conformists, they have to search for a meaning to their lives and this is not as easy as it might sound.

Socially, bachelors and spinsters have to be careful they do not become a burden in their married friends' homes.

The gay, unattached bachelor appears to his friend's wife as a constant threat to married bliss as he may be responsible for her husband's too frequent nights on the town.

Confirmed
spinster

The confirmed spinster may be a difficult person to pair off at any social function.

In some private corner of themselves, then, they must plot an independent, steadfast course and pursue it silently but remorselessly.

Many are the decisions they must face — is it better to live at home with mom and dad or on their own? Is it better to move to a strange new city and burn the bridges behind them, or is it wiser to stay near childhood friends and relatives and so maintain some sort of psychological protection and not risk being completely alone?

Should they share living quarters and with whom?

Is it better to live close to work or at some distance? Eat out or pay for room and board?

It takes strength of character to make such plans and bear the brunt of jokes about the one who "got away" and the curse of the words 'old maid' or a 'confirmed bachelor', but there are hundreds of Westmounters who are doing it and happy about it, too!

Beavers even Termite scene

Hot action in city playoffs

Beavers evened up the best of three final series in Westmount Municipal Termite action this week by blanking the Rams 2-0.

Ernie Christmas scored early in the first period on a play set up by Douglas Mitchell and dominated the play throughout the remainder of the game.

Mitchell scored the Beavers second marker with assists going to Stuart Cooper and Christmas.

The final game of this series will be played on Saturday, March 31, at 9 a.m., at the Ice Rink.

Fierce Bantam contest

Four teams were included in the Bantam playoff picture.

In the semi-final series, sudden death fixtures, the fourth place Aces knocked second place Bruins out of contention with a 5-2 score. League leading Red Wings trounced the Leafs by a 7-4 count.

In the first game of the final series — a best two-out-of-three series — the Wings edged the Aces in a hard fought contest, by a 3-2 tally.

The Wings overcame a 2-0 deficit with a spirited third period performance.

John Donnelly scored the equalizer and winning goals.

Caledonia takes colt title

Byron Harvie's Caledonia rink won the Colts Curling Championship Saturday with a one-sided 17-5 victory over Don Bussiere of Pointe Claire at the Caledonia Curling Club.

Playing on familiar home ice, Harvie's rink of third Bill Campbell, second John Hutchison and lead Don Montgomery didn't have any trouble overpowering the Pointe Claire foursome.

Caledonia also had an easy time in the morning semi-finals, defeating L. R. Savarie's Shawinigan rink 14-4. Pointe Claire beat R. Martel of Quebec 8-4.

FINAL

Caledonia: Don Montgomery, John Hutchison, Bill Campbell, Byron Harvie, skip (17).

Pointe Claire: E. C. Hall, W. A. Karabin, Trevor Evans, Don Bussiere, skip (5).

CONSOLATION

Lachute: A. Gillis, C. Rodger, P. Peterson, Art Lobel, skip (13).
Valleyfield: Russ Haworth, J. Schmidt, L. Clifford, Y. Soucy, skip (8).

John Shayer with a single and Jon Pottel were outstanding for the winners.

Bobby Brault and Chris Edgett scored for the Aces.

Both goalers, Louie Vuillemot of the Aces, and Peter Whiteside of the Red Wings, turned in brilliant performances.

The week's results

(As of March 28, 1962)

Termite, best two-out-of-three final series, March 24, Beavers 2, Rams 0.

Termite All-Stars, March 24, Westmount 4, Verdun Pirates 0.

Pee Wee All-Stars, March 24, Westmount 6, Verdun 2.

Bantam All-Stars, March 24, St. Laurent 5, Westmount 0.

Bantam, Sudden death Semi-Final Series, March 22, Aces 5, Bruins 2; March 26, Red Wings 7, Leafs 4.

Bantam, Best two-out-of-three Final Series, March 27, Red Wings 3, Aces 2.

Avenue stars take Senior championship

The Avenue Stars won the 1961-62 Westmount Municipal Senior Hockey Championship, this week, winning two games straight in a best two-out-of-three final series 8-2 and 3-2 over the Royals.

WESTMOUNT YOUNGSTERS LEARN TO SWIM. This group of below-school-age children were pictured at the Westmount YMCA on Monday afternoon, as they attended the children's swim classes currently being held there. Instructors Mossman Dudgeon and Jan Pickford began the first class this week, with a few elementary steps before

Lessons begun on water safety

By MAURICE MARIASINE

A "Learn To Swim" project under the sponsorship of the safety committee of the Rotary Club of Westmount was inaugurated this week at Westmount YMCA.

Nine members of the Unity Boys' Club of Westmount have been enrolled in the five-week course. They are: Mary McMahon, Barbara North, Heather McColm, Morog McHugh, Debbie Standing, Louis Grimes, Leonard Anamaet, Richard Anamaet and Ronald Anamaet.

The swim program, conducted under expert instruction will take place every Monday and Thursday from 4:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The learn to swim project with other allocated dates and times has also been made available to students from Westmount schools.

The Unity Boys' Club Biddy Basketball team, City League finalists, travel to Kingston, Ontario on Friday to participate in a Biddy Basketball tournament to which the following teams will be included: Montreal, Lakeshore, Fort Henry, the Kingston "Y" Men and St. John's Parish.

The following boys will spend the weekend in Kingston: Bradley Syvret, Roger Harte, Richard Atherton, Peter Fonseca, Brian Adams, Steven Alleyne, Randolph Dash, Battista Misori, Maurice Tremblay and Neil Fernandes. The team will be accompanied by coach Kenneth Annable and Jacques McCormack, representing the club.

parade has been invited to entertain delegates at the Rotary International assembly at Lake Placid, N.Y. on May 27.

This will mark the third time since 1959 that the Unity Boys' Club has been selected to entertain Rotarians and their wives from all over the world. It is the sixth time that the group have appeared before American and International audiences — five of the visits have been to Lake Placid and on one occasion at Binghamton, New York.

On the local entertainment scene, the talent parade has been performing for military hospitals, church organizations, service clubs and organizations for the handicapped. They have for the past several years entertained at the Federal Training Centre of St. Vincent de Paul.

The annual variety show of the club this year will take place on May 23 at the new Westmount High School.

On Sunday next at 2:00 p.m. over Channel 12, the Unity Rockettes will open and close the Junior Talent Show with two routines. The first routine, the "Charleston," will highlight the dancing craze of the 1920's while the second routine "The Twist" will depict the present day dancing craze.

The talent club now resumes rehearsals. These are conducted every Tuesday evening under the direction of musical director Fred Johnston and dance instructor Danny Smith.

Boys' week

National Boys' Club Week in Canada takes place the week of May 23. A series of special events are being planned.

This will give parents an opportunity to visit the club and to see what their children are doing in their leisure time.

One of the events already planned is the annual table tennis tournament which will take place on Wednesday, April 25. Table tennis coach Gill Mosdell has selected a group of boys to represent Unity Boys' Club.

In the meanwhile, arts and crafts director Jacques McCormack is busily engaged preparing for the annual hobby show. Articles for the hobby show are being produced in the woodwork, embroidery, fretwork, art and the creative craft classes.

The coin club, the stamp club and many others will also participate in the annual exhibition.

A tentative date for the hobby show is Friday, May 18.
