R. S. WHITE MAY AGAIN BE CANDIDATE

PROPOSED DUAL-PURPOSE SHELTER IS OPPOSED BY FORTY-FIVE PETITIONERS

Will Meet City Council at Next Full Session — Edmond Garneau Circulates Petition — Claims Erection of Shelter Will Reduce Value of Nearby Properties — Says City Intends to Store Materials There

Opposition to the dual-purpose shelter which the city proposes to erect on the south-east corner of Prince Albert Park has been voiced by a number of residents of the district and a petition to this effect, bearing 45 signatures, has been forwarded to the City Council.

The signees of the petition are to air their views before the Council at the next full meeting of the municipal governing body. There is a strong possibility that the session will be held on Monday. Their stand will be given full consideration by the Council.

The petition was circulated by Edmond Garneau, proprietor of a residence on Prince Albert avenue facing the playground.

MANY ARTICLES AWAIT CLAIM AT CITY PARKS

Clothing and Sports Equipment Left at Two Comfort Stations

A large number of articles, including coats, hats, pullovers, windbreakers and sports equipment, have been left in the comfort stations at Westmount and King George Parks, it was announced yesterday by playground officials.

Owners of the articles, many of which have been kept at the comfort stations for over a year, are asked to claim their belongings as soon as possible.

The articles will be returned once satisfactory proof of ownership is furnished. If they are not claimed within a reasonable time they will be disposed of.

In order to secure the return of the goods claim of ownership should be made to the attendants at the comfort stations at either of the playgrounds. They are on duty from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Slight Damage Is Caused In Crash

Bumpers and fenders were damaged on both machines when an automobile driven by Mrs. M. B. Reid, 70 Stratford Road, Hampstead, collided with one operated by Henry Beason, 11 Windsor avenue, at the corner of Sherbrooke street and Kensington avenue, Westmount, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

At the time of the accident Mrs. Reid was driving south on Kensington, turning east onto Sherbrooke when her car collided with that driven by Beason. The latter was proceeding east on Sherbrooke.

No one was injured in the collision.

Dr. John B. McLaurin At Westmount Baptist

Dr. John B. McLaurin will speak at Westmount Baptist Church next Sunday evening on "The Message of Madras." Dr. McLaurin was one of the leaders of the Missionary Conference held recently in Madras, at which delegates from all evangelical denominations met to consult with each other for the purpose of unifying missionary activities throughout the world.

In the morning Dr. McLaurin's subject will be "Labor not for the Meat that Perisheth."

Boy Is Treated For Minor Face Injuries

Twelve-year-old Rolland Jackson, of 2276 Marcell avenue, was treated at the outdoor department of the Homeopathic hospital on Friday afternoon for slight cuts he sustained about the face while at play.

He was allowed to return home following treatment.

Frank Hodgson Wins Putting Tourney

Frank Hodgson won the putting tournament held at King George Park last night with a score of 41 goals, or 18 holes. He was closely followed by James Campbell who posted 43. The weekly tournaments are attracting exceptionally good turnouts this summer. All residents of Westmount are eligible to enter.

CAR OCCUPANTS NOT LOCATED AFTER MISHAP

Messenger Boy Injured at Intersection of Atwater Ave. and Dorchester St.

Westmount and Montreal police this week sought the occupant or occupants of an automobile which struck and injured Ernest Brown, 15-year-old messenger boy, as he was proceeding east on Dorchester street at the intersection of Atwater avenue shortly after 7 p.m. on Sunday. They left the car at the scene of the accident.

The boy, who resides at 323 Selby street, Apt. 2, was taken by a passing motorist to the Western Division of the General Hospital where he was treated for leg injuries and a broken finger of the left hand. His injuries were not serious.

The accident occurred as young Brown was riding east on Dorchester and was about to cross the intersection at Atwater. According to witnesses the automobile was proceeding west on Dorchester and struck his bicycle as the driver made a left turn down Atwater avenue.

When Westmount police arrived the occupants of the car, which bore an Ontario license, had left the scene of the mishap. The license number is reported to be 375-A-4, Oct. 1939. No report of a stolen automobile with that license plate had been reported. The car was brought to the Police Station.

Peter Kosner of Toronto has since been arrested by the Montreal police homicide squad and charged with failure to report after an accident.

Residents Figure In Gold Mine Find

Once more the Province of Quebec has sprung to the fore in Canadian and British newspapers with the news that yet another strike has been made in Canada's Gold Fields.

It is gratifying to note that the Company's president, Basil S. Parkinson, is a resident of Westmount and is well known in the community.

Last week, A. O. Dufresne, director of Quebec Bureau of Mines, issued a statement to the press stating that a gold find on the Duparquet township property of Golconda Mines Limited had been reported to the Bureau by the Company's Engineers. The report then proceeded to state that a piece of ore from the discovery had yielded $4,900.00 per ton. The Rouyn Recording Office is understood to have received applications for 3,000 acres in Destor township.

The company's engineer, John B. DeMille, B.Sc., also a resident of Westmount, states that an area of 10 miles north of the Golconda discovery has been staked.

Final Sing-Song Of Series Will Be Held August 31st

The popular weekly sing-songs sponsored by the city each Thursday night throughout the summer at the Athletic Grounds will come to a close on August 31, it was announced yesterday by Norman Smyth, director of municipal recreation.

Mr. Smyth stated that they had proved more popular this year than ever before and that excellent turnouts were recorded practically every Thursday evening since the current series was opened.

A fine program of boxing has been lined up for tonight's open air community sing; event and a good crowd is expected.

The variety show staged last week proved particularly popular and was received by an enthusiastic crowd of 2,400 persons. Seven-year-old Gordon McGillivray stole the show with a group of excellent vocal numbers. The "Three Swabs" were also well received. Bernice Paine, vocalist, scored heavily, receiving three encores. Another variety show will probably be held next week.

MAY BE CONSERVATIVE NOMINEE

R. S. White, M.P. for St. Antoine-Westmount, who has agreed to allow his name to go before the Conservative convention to be called in his constituency soon. He sat in the House of Commons half a century ago, but later became a correspondent in the press gallery. He returned as M.P. for Mount Royal in 1925 and has been re-elected every time since. He will abide by the will of his party's convention, but if asked to be a candidate, will run again.

Wreckers Are At Work Demolishing Shaare Zion Building Damaged By Fire

Thirty-Five-Year Old Structure Was Partially Destroyed By Flames in January — Was at One Time The Church of The Good Shepherd

Shaare Zion Synagogue, 35-year-old building located on Claremont avenue just below Sherbrooke Street, badly razed by fire of unknown origin last January, is now being completely demolished and within a week the site where it formerly stood will be an empty lot.

Little of value has been salvaged, synagogue officials stated yesterday. A few of the benches were found to be in good condition and a memorial tablet was saved and restored to its original condition.

Wreckers started to demolish the wood and stone structure last week and found little difficulty in pulling down the frame of the building, weakened by the effects of age and the damage caused by fire and water at the time of the outbreak.

One of the most historic buildings in this area will be removed when demolition of the structure is completed. It was at one time known as the Church of the Good Shepherd and was the place of worship of what is now the congregation of Trinity Memorial Church. Venerable Arch-Deacon J. M. Almond, present pastor of Trinity, conducted the services there at that time.

When the congregation of the Church of the Good Shepherd was in a sufficiently sound financial position to erect a larger building the old church was sold to the Shaare Zion religious body. The sale was made 14 years ago.

So far there has been no announcement by synagogue officials as to the erection of a new building. Services are presently being conducted in temporary quarters.

When the Synagogue fire was first noticed at 6 o'clock on the morning of January 18, the blaze had already made rapid progress and by the time firemen arrived the building was a mass of flames. Both Westmount and Montreal fire departments responded to the alarm.

The flames completely destroyed the rear of the building where the chapel was located. Flames reached as far as the seventh row of pews.

Seven sacred scroll documents, among the synagogue's most valuable possessions were ruined, although firemen, at great risk succeeded in reaching them before they were entirely destroyed. Some of the scrolls were hundreds of years old.

C.C.F. To Name Candidate Monday

A nomination convention at which a candidate will be selected for the St. Antoine-Westmount Federal division will be held by the Canadian Commonwealth Federation in the Westmount Y.M.C.A. on Monday night.

A number of prominent guest speakers are to be present at the session, including Dr. J. Stanley Allen, who will carry the C.C.F. standard in the Notre Dame de Grace division and R. L. Calder, K.C.

The meeting will be one of the most important ever held by the C.C.F. here and is expected to attract a good turnout. The convention starts at 8.15 o'clock.

REQUIEM MASS SUNG FOR LATE H. E. QUINLAN

Funeral Held Friday at Church of Ascension of Our Lord

Requiem Mass for Hugh Edward Quinlan, 4250 Sherbrooke street was sung at the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, on Friday morning. The body was received by Reverend Father George Thoms, Celebrant of the Mass, assisted by Rev. Fathers Gordon Carroll and Richard King as deacon and sub-deacon. Mr. Quinlan died last Wednesday at the private patients' pavilion of the Western division of the Montreal General hospital. He was 44 years of age.

A native of Belleville, Ont., Mr. Quinlan was for many years associated with his father, the late Hugh E. Quinlan, head of the Quinlan, Robertson and Janin Construction Company. In the early parts of the great war, Mr. Quinlan served overseas with the Canadian Engineers with distinction. He was severely wounded and was invalided back to Canada. Upon recovering he again assisted his father in many construction enterprises.

Prominently identified with many athletic undertakings, Mr. Quinlan was well known in hockey circles, a game in which he played an active part some years ago.

Surviving are six sisters, Mrs. Jacques Desautels, the Misses Helen and Anne, Mrs. J. Kelly, Mrs. H. J. Dunlop and Mrs. Ernest D. Ledoux, of Montreal.

Among those attending the funeral were:

John B. McMartin, Duncan Munroe, D. L. Young, Charles Young, J. W. Kennedy, Nelson Stewart, Miss Hazel Duncan, H. Smith, Dr. F. J. Hackett, J. E. Moriarty, Mrs. K. W. Harrison, R. B. Allan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Shaw, Ralph Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pettigrew, A. Beatty, Dr. G. Rudgen, P. Watt, Mr. and Mrs. C. Brosseau, Gerald Cavanagh, J. McL. Walker, R. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. N. Coghlin, Frank Hicks, George Brent, Reginald Pimslor, K.C., E. Phelan, M. Gelinas, P. A. Nicholson.

Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Casgrain, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Casgrain, Frank Fleming, Donald Robertson, N. Leamy, D'Arcy Leamy, H. R. Rowe, Beaudry Leblanc, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey O. Higgins, Gerald Quinlan, James Quinlan, Robert Quinlan, Harold Quinlan.

WILL ABIDE BY DECISION OF CONVENTION; EXPECTS ELECTIONS BY NOVEMBER

Will Run Only if He is Asked to Do So by His Constituency — Will Not Canvas Electors — Expects Usual Custom of Calling a Conservative Convention Will Be Followed — Was for Many Years Member of Parliamentary Press Gallery

R. S. White, M.P. for St. Antoine-Westmount, and dean of the House of Commons, told the Westmount Examiner in an exclusive interview yesterday, that he would again present himself for re-election if he is nominated as a candidate by the Conservative Party.

Mr. White who has represented the St. Antoine-Westmount division since 1935 and was previously a member for Mount Royal, stated that he expected the usual custom of calling a convention of Conservative delegates will be followed and that he will abide by the decision of the convention.

Asked whether he expects an election to occur shortly, Mr. White stated that a good deal of uncertainty seems to surround the matter. He pointed out that Prime Minister Mackenzie King, issued an informal statement to the effect that he will not dissolve Parliament until the European situation is more composed than it is at present, his reason being that he does not desire such a situation as war breaking out in Europe while Canada is without a Parliament to guide the policy of the Government and to vote supplies to support the attitude Canada may take.

However, continued Mr. White, his own impression is that a general election will be called for the latter part of October or early part of November.

Returning to the matter of his candidature of St. Antoine-Westmount, Mr. White stressed the fact that he does not intend to canvas the electors for support, but desires they shall have a free hand to nominate a person that will best serve their interests in the House of Commons.

Mr. White sat in the House of Commons over half a century ago. A noted Canadian journalist, he was for many years a member of the Parliamentary Press Gallery.

Mr. White is probably more intimately acquainted with Canadian notables than anyone living in this country today. His record of personal friends includes practically every Premier to hold office since Confederation.

MRS. MALCOURONNE PAID LAST TRIBUTE

Funeral services for Mrs. E. Guy F. Malcouronne held on Monday afternoon at the Chapel of D. A. Collins, Sherbrooke Street, were conducted by Rev. Norman Egerton. Mrs. Malcouronne died on Friday at her summer home at Isle Perrot, following a long illness. She was 49 years old.

Formerly Martha Agnes MacKay, she was born in British Columbia and came to Montreal in her childhood. She was educated here, having attended the old Westmount Academy, now known as Argyle Junior High School.

Mrs. Malcouronne was a member of the Anglican church. She took an active interest in the Victorian Order of Nurses, in the Cote St. Paul district. She had been a resident of Notre Dame de Grace for the past five years.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, Roy D. and a daughter, Christine Malcouronne. Interment took place in Montreal Memorial Park.

CITY TO TRIM TREES WHERE FOLIAGE THICK

Many Obstruct Sunlight From Houses and Prevent Lawn Development

In order to prevent the obstruction of sunlight from houses the Westmount Parks Department is currently carrying out a three-year plan to remove trees which have grown too closely together and to trim others on which the foliage has become too thick.

Parks Department workers will carry out the program throughout the city, taking street by street. All of the trees to be removed or thinned of foliage are on lawns fronting houses.

Apart from obstructing sunlight, badly placed trees are often dangerous. Felled in a heavy storm they can cause property damage. Branches excessively loaded with leaves are easily torn off in a high wind.

Trees closely grouped together retard the development of gardens and in certain cases lessen the effectiveness of street lighting systems.

The appearance of the city will in no way suffer by the project, but on the contrary will be markedly improved, park department officials state.

'Methodist Action' Program Drafted

Bishops and other leaders of the Methodist Episcopal Church decided recently to conduct a year's program of "Methodist action" under leadership of the Million Unit Fellowship Conference.

The program, they said, is designed to "deepen spiritual and evangelistic interests, increase average attendance at Sunday church schools, bring youth into more active church work, and strengthen schools and colleges."

The decision was reached by bishops, national secretaries and missionary executives of the northern branch of the newly organized church, gathered here this week for a series of conferences.

The Million Unit Fellowship Conference which will lead the year's program, was authorized by the General Conference and is under direction of Bishops. Its official function is described as "for the inspiration and renewal of personal devotion to the ideals, life and social standards of Christ and to the world mission of his chosen church."

The regular preaching services will be resumed again on the second Sunday of September, when the Pastor of the Church, Rev. T. W. Jones will preach.

Fair Is Described By Local Resident

Following is the third article in a series contributed by Ross Cameron, of 4775 Sherbrooke street west, outlining his impressions of the New York World's Fair:

Architecture and Sculpture
The Fair's unique architectural designs will, for a long time to come, remain a subject of much favorable discussion among architects of professional training and home-builders alike. The housewife will find Fair architecture difficult to forget when it comes to building her own country cottage. So impressive are the exteriors of the various pavilions that when asked to tell something of your Fair visit they are the first things which come to mind.

No matter which of the numerous approaches you take to the Fair you are almost certain to be in arduously startled when viewing it for the first time. The marked contrast couldn't fail to catch and hold the eye. Although the Fair, taken as a whole, looks like a cold jelly mould just dropped from the skies and destined to remain unchanged for time immemorial, the builders insist the nature of the (Continued on Page 2)

QUEBEC'S UNDISPUTED LEADERSHIP

Every province makes claim to leadership in some important activity or other. Frequently such claims are disputed. But there are some important spheres in which Quebec's leadership is not questioned. According to an article in the current issue of The Labour World, revelations of a very disturbing nature were made at the recent Montreal convention of the Canadian Medical Association — revelations, for example, which gave Quebec City leadership of all the world in diphtheria death rate with 41.7 deaths for every 100,000 of the population. No other city in the world is even close to that figure.

Why does Quebec lead in this infamous race? Because, in the first place, there is no law making inoculation against diphtheria compulsory. And, in the second place, there is no law in Quebec City making the pasteurization of milk compulsory. Yet any doctor will confirm the truth of the statement that most children who contract diphtheria do so by drinking infected, non-pasteurized milk. "How," asks the Labour World, "in the name of humanity can a Board of Health permit a monopoly of milk companies, such as exists in Quebec City where only one company sells pasteurized milk, all others being permitted by law to continue selling raw, disease-laden milk for unsuspecting children. Few things are more important to a community than the health of its people, and still the circumstances and conditions in this province are such that one would think our Medical System was a thing apart from the civilized world."

"WHAT WE HAVE, WE HOLD"

Lest you think the extent and prestige of the British Empire have suffered in recent years, we would remind you that the facts show otherwise. It is just a little more than 25 years that the Great War began, insofar as the British Empire was concerned.

Today King George VI rules over 15 per cent more of the earth's surface than his father, George V, did in 1910.

Britain owns more than one ship in every four in the world.

British investments in countries outside the United Kingdom total $18,000,000,000.

East of Suez there are British ships and cargoes daily carrying goods to the value of more than $500,000,000.

The British maintain and protect 36,000 miles of important sea communications.

Each year Great Britain imports 60,000,000 tons of raw material and foods. Safe transport is assured the ships carrying these loads.

Out of every £100 worth of stuff, £60 worth is imported.

Of every 100 barrels of oil produced in the world, Britain controls the production of 20 barrels.

Out of every 100 miles of frontiers bounding British territories, 80 miles are bounded by the seas.

The British own and control 175,000 miles of cables by which communication binds together the various dominions, colonies and possessions with London.

These are just a few items to buck you up, in case you are thinking that the British flag is vanishing from the world. There is an old British saying, "What we have, we hold."

COURTESY IS EXPECTED

Habit creates bad characteristics. The English method of teaching the school boy courtesy should be revived in these days of rush and turmoil. Surrounded by continual bustle from early in the morning until late at night many persons are apt to forget the little acts of courtesy so necessary in business and social life. We see pedestrians crossing street corners, bumping into one another without apology and then rushing on. We hear the clang of street cars because some wagon or automobile is in front and cannot turn out due to cars parked along the street. We see street car motormen close the doors of cars almost in the faces of passengers who thus have to wait 10 or 15 minutes for another car. Women stand in street cars, often with children and laden with bundles, and young men and boys do not offer to give up their seats. The spirit of courtesy which existed ten years ago is fast disappearing and today it is a case of every man for himself.

We need to revive the teaching of courtesy and consideration and a realization that the other fellow has a right to life. Happiness will come to man only when he grasps the idea that courtesy, kind words and gestures will do much to destroy the jealousy and suspicion which result from this age of rush and bustle.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES CHAIRMAN

The news that Dr. L. P. Nelligan, B.Sc., M.D., C.M., L.M.C.C., has accepted the post of general chairman of the Catholic Charities Federation will be acclaimed not only by Catholics, who are interested most in the matter, but by everybody who knows Dr. Nelligan. It is, indeed, not going too far to say that Dr. Nelligan's chairmanship is a guarantee that the forthcoming drive will be a success. He is well and favourably known throughout this district among folks of all creeds as a man of unusually engaging personality, broad views, a fine speaker, and an enthusiastic worker for any cause to which he gives his support.

Three men named Jones, all in the same line of business, opened shops next to each other. The one on the right had the name Jones painted in large letters over the door. The one on the left immediately did the same thing.

The sign-writer then approached the center Mr. Jones, asking him if he would like his name painted also.

"No," said the wily one. "I want you to paint the word 'entrance' over my door." — Grit.

Meeting Competition

An enterprising young florist, in order to increase his trade, displayed this sign in his window:

"We give a packet of flower seeds with every plant."

His competitor across the street promptly sought to meet the competition by placing in his window the following announcement:

"We give the earth with every plant."

THE FORUM

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C.

NOTE:—The opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them. They are published for their general interest, variety and originality of treatment.

Every engineer knows that we could provide raw materials, machinery and trained labor enough, to flood, bury and smoulder our creditors, in such an avalanche of food, clothing, shelter, luxuries or material refinements, as no utopian dreamer, in his busiest slumbers, has ever conceived. — President American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Cal Tinney in the New York Post said that Professor Felix Frankfurter of Harvard should take the vacant seat on the U.S.A. Supreme Court. He wrote in part: "When we put her locks on government buildings, we did enough for Yale. Mr. Frankfurter should be outfitted with a Supreme Court justice's robes because—first, he is so smart. They say he can even read a translation of a Mexican diplomatic note and tell the government down there is saying 'No, thanks' or 'Yes, please.' He is the only man who can do that. Secondly, he's a poker faced. But I guess that's no novelty. Nobody was ever able to look at a Frankfurter and tell what was inside. Thirdly he has taught law so successfully in college he might teach Justice Black some. Finally, not the least of his qualifications (and I'm serious) he is of a race that knows how to make out justice because it has so often received none."

What a pitiful spectacle — 400 Austrian refugees on a barge on the "international" Danube, driven from their homes, without sight of their frontiers, but unable to gain admittance anywhere. A few Latin American countries will accept a few thousand exiles as agriculturalists—but almost all the victims are city folk.

There will be plenty of room to spare for all these unfortunate people once production and consuming power are intelligently balanced and that will not be as long as the profit system invites everyone to buy for as little as possible and sell for as much as possible and to make goods scarce so they will be dear.

Some U.S.A. jewelers claim that every year in the U.S.A., at least 1,000,000 old watches are sold as new. Some of these watches are fifty years old—and well-made.

The new continuous rolling mills receive slabs automatically from the furnace and roll them into continuous strips as wide as 100 inches and as long as 250 feet. Dozens of automobile bodies can be made from one of such sheets, and that work is almost entirely automatic.

Plate mill workers are badly hit and many must go on relief. But all such improvements will be of benefit to all of us when we have production for use rather than our present system under which we aim to make things we have for sale scarce so they will be high in price and that is said to give prosperity but only for a few.

Cattle are now branded with acid instead of fire-heated branding irons. The new process is claimed to be painless.

A former Solicitor General of the U.S.A. arguing for the Electric Bond and Share Company before the U.S.A. Supreme Court said in part: "This is a great industry. Some of its features should be regulated, but this company is not a gangster, a white slave, a dope peddler or stealer of automobiles as the Government would have you believe."

A leading medical doctor in an article on women's diseases stated that many modern women have congested kidneys, many colds, hay fever and skin eruptions because she does not wear warm underclothing.

It is estimated there are 1,000,000 stutters in America, most of them men, and mostly from homes where two or more languages are used.

Sheep provide the world with 1,750,000 tons of wool yearly. Australia, with about 114,000,000 sheep, produces a quarter of the world's supply of wool.

The British Empire furnishes just over 80 per cent of the world supply of mutton and Great Britain takes 95 per cent of the world's total exports.

Italians are making good in Australia while most Britishers try it for a while and go back to England. The Government accepts married couples from G.B. if they buildings is such as to convey to the public their temporary existence.

Just as inevitably as laws govern the building of cities, towns, and villages, so were strict regulations observed in the making of the World of Tomorrow. Here are a few of the problems which worried draftsmen had to solve: A Board of Design had to be formed to control exhibitors who wanted to build out of all proportion to their immediate surroundings. Determined concessionaires must be kept in their places so as to facilitate the proper laying of straight and logical avenues and streets. Some attempt must be made to create a sensible unity while not too rigidly establishing a uniformity which would only be monotonous. The public shouldn't be tricked into believing that the Fair was a thing of permanence.

The danger of imitation was a factor which must be closely watched. Because of the proximity of the Fair to New York the constructors had to guard against the unforfeitable mistake of building a skyscraper Fair. Windows would have to be scarce in order to save space and prevent unbearable heat in the midst of a New York July and August.

All these seemingly unsurmountable difficulties were taken care of separately and admirably.

The best of observers would have a nightmare if he ever undertook to look for any two structures which even remotely resembled each other. The only two factors which might contribute to any similarity are the flat surfaces and one-storey designs. The countless shapes of edifices provide an endless source of amusement to the person who finds time to note them all. With few exceptions the bizarre shapes are only to advertise the function of an exhibit. This is peculiarly illustrated in the facade of the Hall of Marine Transportation with its blue prow and hull. The Aviation building is one of these triumphs in originality shaped like a gigantic hangar. Buildings even take on the shape of letters of the alphabet. Believe it or not, the Bethlehem Steel Company Exhibit is built inside out. In broad daylight with sunshine on the gleaming white exteriors embellished with murals and relief work, the exhibits present a sight to delight the eye. This was the intention of the ninety-three architects commissioned by the Fair Corporation.

The sharp, white, windowless walls and ultra-modernistic atmosphere of the structures are only broken in one place and this is in the Town of Tomorrow. As you enter the Fair grounds through the I.R.T. and B.M.T. Subway gates, you turn left and walking in the Contemporary Art Centre you walk into the Town of Tomorrow. It is a separate little community of fifteen Demonstration Homes and draws the women like a magnet draws steel. These "doll houses" are all built from materials found in the United States and instruct the housewife in modernizing her home. A staff of twenty-five long-experienced architects were employed to build Tomorrow Town and although the houses weren't purposely arranged to represent a real neighbourhood, it looks very much like the residential sector of a Government-supervised model city.

Due to ground conditions and limited space there are no basements or underground plumbing connections. Each home demonstrates the use of some new method of insulation or other all-modern material making for better comfort and hygiene in present-day living. One home is known as the all-glass home of tomorrow and is fitted with two plain, glass-panelled bathrooms and a "Sheet-glass shower curtain."

The parts of the garden are all partitioned with waist-high walls of glass brick. The most popular feature of this home was the glass encircled terrace on the second floor. Such an expanse of uninterrupted glass has never been seen in any dwelling anywhere.

Another one of these extravagant abodes was called the automobile and was especially constructed for a motorist-minded family. It consists mainly of a huge garage accommodating four cars—one for mother, father, daughter and son. Everything was automatic. Then there was a sports house, a house for people who have to entertain and the home built expressly for a doctor.

It is very infrequent that one sees sculpture employed to such an extent as that in the World's Fair. Only after careful consideration were thirty-five sculptors chosen and their names approved by the Presidential and executive

BUREAU GIVES DIRECTIONS ON BUG RIDDENCE

Westmount Health Department Continues Series of Articles on Disease Carriers

The following article on the danger and means of eradication of the common bed bug has been prepared by the Westmount Health Department, which constantly endeavors to maintain a high municipal health standard:

The Common Bedbug

The common bedbug is found in Canada from coast to coast. It probably came from Europe and has established itself especially in old houses, hotels and boarding houses.

Bedbugs are oval, flat, reddish brown, wingless insects, about 1/4 inch in length at maturity.

They hide in cracks, in walls and woodwork in daytime but come out at night to secure food.

The effect of their bites vary with the individual — causing little or no discomfort to some but painful swellings in others.

The bedbug is able to transmit certain diseases from one person to another, so its destruction is advisable in all cases for the health of the resident.

They lay small white, elongated eggs in cracks and holes in walls, in blankets, mattresses, woodwork or bedspreads.

These eggs hatch in 7 to 14 days, dependable on temperature conditions.

The life-cycle of the bedbug from egg to adult occupies from six weeks to a year, dependable on temperature and food supply.

Control

The control of bedbugs is very difficult to accomplish in old houses, any method often slow in operation and with unsatisfactory results. Fumigation with hydrocyanic acid is advised by some authorities. (This gas is extremely poisonous to humans and animals so can only be used by experts and with the greatest care.)

A spray of gasoline or kerosene into cracks and holes in walls and woodwork, removal of old, torn or loose wallpaper, repapering, filling of cracks and holes with putty and a coat of paint will do much to reduce or exterminate this creature.

The sculptural pieces are placed where they might best express the function of that particular area of the Exposition. In the Transportation Zone is located "The Spirit of the Wheel." In the Communications Zone is situated the one statue which has evoked vigorous comment. This is titled "Speed" and is a spectacular piece of work. It stands on a plain rectangular base. The tall body of a winged horse with its mancherlike head raised high in the air and fine muscular legs clawing unrestrainedly in an effort to advance supports a streamlined rider poised for a rapid journey.

The greatest cluster of statuary is found along the broad and beautiful vistas of Constitution Mall. Here, looking down on a colossal sun dial, stands the gigantic figure of George Washington. The heroic figures of Peace and Unity which adorn the American Federal Building may be seen far in the background.

Virtually all the sculptured art is done in plaster. Sheets of bent and welded steel which comprises the thirty-foot "Textiles" statue is one exception and the heavy bronzes on the Russian Pavilion form another. Folklore sculpture, which is something vastly new in the portrayal of national heroes, appeared on the Medicine and Public Health Building and was the object of ardent camera study.

The Fair looks like a story-book magic city from the air with its myriad of clashing contrasts in architectural designs, its broad even avenues radiating like the "beams of Old Sol, and its prodigious colour and intrigue.

HOMOEOPATHIC HOSPITAL PROVIDES DISTRICT WITH FINE AMBULANCE SERVICE

In Most Cases Scene of Accident Reached Six Minutes After Report of Mishap Received at Hospital — Homoeopathic Represented at Meeting of Montreal Councillors and Hospitals Yesterday

Homoeopathic Hospital emergency ambulance service serves the west end of Montreal and the City of Westmount with one hundred per cent efficiency. A. E. Norton, manager of the hospital, stated when questioned yesterday by this newspaper regarding the proposal of Montreal aldermen to centralize ambulance services on the Island. The hospital, however, would be more than willing to co-operate with the city in any proposal designed to improve ambulance facilities generally throughout the Island, he declared.

Arrives Promptly
The Homoeopathic ambulance reaches the scene of an accident within six minutes after the report has been received at the hospital, if it occurred within a reasonable radius.

Mr. Norton represented the Homoeopathic Hospital yesterday afternoon at a meeting of Montreal aldermen and the Montreal Hospital Council at the City Hall annex. He outlined ambulance facilities in the west end before the two groups.

Operated By Collins
The local hospital ambulance is operated by D. A. Collins and is on twenty-four hour duty. An auxiliary machine is provided in case of emergency.

When the hospital receives an emergency call the ambulance is immediately dispatched from Collins. It reaches the Homoeopathic in less than three minutes, takes on a doctor and then speeds to the scene of the mishap. Careful check

Pepsi-Cola Wins Right To Dispense Beverages At World's Fair Aquacade

Request Made to Fair to Prohibit Sale of Pepsi-Cola and Stop Advertising Practices—Arbitrator Held That The Sale of Pepsi-Cola at Fair Grounds Constituted A Violation of Agreement Which They Had With Coca-Cola

Quiet was restored last week by Supreme Court Justice Kadien in the battle that has been raging at the World's Fair over whether Pepsi-Cola can be sold at Billy Rose's Aquacade despite Coca-Cola's general concession from the Fair.

Some months ago Billy Rose made arrangements with Pepsi-Cola Company to sell Pepsi-Cola exclusively in his Aquacade. A contract to that effect was entered into with the written consent of Counsel for the Fair.

But Pepsi-Cola at the Aquacade became a great hit, and Coca-Cola brought suit against the Fair for allowing Billy Rose to sell Pepsi-Cola there. The Fair then ordered Billy Rose to stop his sales. This he declined to do.

Last week Mr. Justice Kadien ruled in favor of Pepsi-Cola, and the sale of Pepsi-Cola at the Aquacade will continue, while the lawyers fight the matter through the courts.

The judge's notes add in part: "It appears that the Fair entered into an agreement with a subsidiary of the Coca-Cola Company on December 31, 1937, which provided that the latter's product would be 'the only non-alcoholic carbonated beverages other than root beer' offered for sale within the Fair Grounds with certain exceptions."

"On June 16, 1938, the Fair entered into an agreement with the assignor of the defendant Spectacles, paragraph 'Eleventh' of which contained in part the following: 'The Fair Corporation hereby grants to the Producer the exclusive right to dispense or operate, either itself or through licensees, any or all of the following concessions (and no others) in the Amphitheatre, subject to the terms and conditions in this article contained. Drinks (including alcoholic beverages in such manner as authorized by law.) The Fair Corporation represents and warrants that no concessions or licenses to be operated anywhere on the Fair site, heretofore granted or hereafter to be granted by it to any other person, firm or corporation, will restrict or interfere with the complete and exclusive operation by the producer or its licensees of the privileges granted in this Article for operation within or adjacent to the Amphitheatre.'

"In connection with these provisions, the president of the World's Fair wrote, on December 29, 1938, to Mr. Billy Rose, the president of Spectacles, as follows: 'Your letter of December 15th referring to your pending deal with a soft drink company for the exclusive use of its product in connection with your project in the Amphitheatre has been received. To the best of my knowledge, no official of the Fair Corporation has ever advised any soft drink company that you had no right to enter into such a contract. You are correct in stating that your agreement with the Fair Corporation covering your product in the Amphitheatre gives you the right to license any soft drink company to sell soft drinks at your project.'

"Thereafter, on April 28, 1939, the plaintiff entered into an agreement with Spectacles, which provided that Pepsi-Cola should be the only bottled soft drink sold at the Aquacade. As part of that agreement, the agreement between the Fair and Spectacles, dated June 16, 1938, was incorporated.

Sale Hindered
"For the period since the opening of the Fair until the middle of July, 1939, the sale of Pepsi-Cola in the Aquacade was not interfered with, although it is claimed by the Fair that the Coca-Cola concern demanded that the sale of Pepsi-Cola be prohibited and that certain advertising practices be discontinued. The advertising complaints appear to have been satisfactorily ironed out, inasmuch as certain demands by the Fair on Spectacles were complied with and no complaint made by either the plaintiff or the said defendant. As to the right to sell Pepsi-Cola, however, that question was, by agreement of the Coca-Cola concern and the Fair, arbitrated, but the plaintiff and the defendant has disclosed the fact that the average total time that elapses between receipt of a call and the arrival of the ambulance at the scene of the mishap is about six minutes.

Good Co-Operation
The excellent co-operation of the police in this section of the city plays a large part in enabling the hospital to render a speedy emergency service.
In order to make the service available to everyone the Homoeopathic ambulance will respond to all calls, no matter from whom they are received. The ruling in force at a good many Island hospitals stipulating that all calls must come from police headquarters or doctors is not enforced there. A telephone call to DEXter 3571 will summon the ambulance immediately.
The Homoeopathic ambulance, driven by Bob Hunt, recognized as one of the most competent emergency machine operators in Montreal, answers an average of 50 calls a month. About five of them are to scenes of accidents. Hunt holds a first class St. John's Ambulance certificate.
If rapid ambulance service is to be supplied, however, Mr. Norton stated, there must be co-operation on the part of the public. Reputations of an instance that occurred last Friday night could only result in a less efficient service. That evening an ambulance was called to Mayfair avenue, but on arrival there it was found that no accident had occurred. There have been few cases of this nature, however, he stated.

Spectacles were not parties to that proceeding. The award of the arbitrator, confirmed by the Supreme Court, New York county, held, in substance, that the sale of Pepsi-Cola in the Aquacade was a violation of the Fair's agreement with the Coca-Cola Company. Thereupon the Fair ordered Spectacles to stop the sale of Pepsi-Cola, and thus litigation ensued. In this controversy, the defendant Spectacles, through its president, Billy Rose, confirms the plaintiff's interpretation of the various agreements, as well as that neither Spectacles nor any of its officers ever saw the contract for the exclusive sale at the Fair of Coca-Cola; that the only knowledge Spectacles ever had at the time of the execution of its contract with the plaintiff was the provision relating to advertising; that the Fair never questioned the right of Spectacles to sell, or to license others to sell, bottled soft drinks at the Aquacade until July 12, 1939; that "Spectacles entered into its agreement with Pepsi-Cola Company in good faith and its position on this application is that it is ready and willing to carry out its said agreement with Pepsi-Cola Company if it is in a position to do so."

"It is the contention of the defendant Fair that the plaintiff has an adequate remedy at law and that money damages will adequately compensate it should it ultimately be successful, and that in any event this court should not intercede where the relief would interfere with the superior equities of an innocent third party (the Coca-Cola Company).
Damages Inestimable
"Upon the papers before me it has been presumptively established that the profit element, i. e., the gain in dollars and cents, is not the only loss which the plaintiff would suffer if the sale of its product is interfered with. It is evident that the advertising and goodwill value arising from the exclusive sale of plaintiff's product in the Aquacade, attended as it is by millions of people from all over the world, is as, if not more, important to the plaintiff than the profit element. The loss of such a benefit cannot be compensated merely by money damages.
"As to the claim that this court should not interfere with the rights of their concern selling Coca-Cola, neither the contract nor that corporation is now before the court, which upon an application of this character is not called upon to define and settle the ultimate rights of litigants.
It has been clearly established that under the contracts above referred to the plaintiff has the right to sell its product in the Amphitheatre, and whether the prior agreement with respect to Coca-Cola in any way affects that right is a matter which can be determined only upon the trial.
Status Quo Holds
"In the meantime the status quo should be maintained. That requires the granting of the relief here prayed for. The balance of convenience is clearly with the plaintiff. The Coca-Cola contract embraces the whole Fair, with few exceptions. The plaintiff's contract is confined to the Amphitheatre. To deny the plaintiff relief under the circumstances

REVENUE FROM COASTER DERBY GIVEN CLINIC

Baby Clinic Situated in Rosemount is Assisted By Kinsmen's Club

Close to 4000 members of the city's very youngest set—those youngsters between the ages of ten days and six years—pass through the Well Baby Clinic of the Child Welfare Association annually, it was announced yesterday by Margaret Brady, supervisor of the clinic. The clinic is assisted by the Kinsmen Club of Montreal, which donates the proceeds of its famous Coaster Classic, scheduled this year for September 16, to the Clinic.

Occupying a large house in the centre of Rosemount, the clinic is as complete as it is valuable. Designed for well babies with the idea of keeping them well, the clinic's work is preventative and educational rather than curative.

Play rooms for the youngsters are equipped with many toys, most of which are of a constructive nature although there is the usual run of dolls and trains. On fine days the youngsters—together with their friends—play out-of-doors in the well-equipped playground donated and kept up by the Kinsmen's Club. A staff of two doctors and four nurses especially trained in public health supervise the clinic.
Children first come under the clinic's care when they leave hospital at about ten days of age. They are then examined at set intervals until their sixth birthday. Special classes at the clinic teach the mothers how to spend their money wisely and take care of their children. The clinic is open all year round.

With the proceeds from its 1939 Coaster Classic, Montreal's model motor car classic, the Kinsmen hope to expand their work among indigent children in the city. An important aim of the club is the resumption of its program of distribution of clothing and necessities.
There is no entry fee for the would be to remove it entirely from the Fair. The granting of relief affects the Coca-Cola Company only insofar as the Amphitheatre is concerned.

"Accordingly, the application will be granted on condition that the plaintiff furnish a surety undertaking in such sum as the court will fix upon the return day of the settlement of the order hereon, at which time memoranda should be submitted as to the amount of the bond. The order will also provide that the action be preferred and placed upon the ready calendar for trial on September 25, 1939, subject to the approval of the justice then presiding.

DR. J. MCLAURIN TO BE SPEAKER AT HYMN-SING

Missionary Has Spent 30 Years in India — Secretary of Baptist Mission

Dr. John McLaurin, late of Co-canada, India, will be the guest speaker for this Sunday evening's Hymn-Sing at the Y.M.C.A. Dr. McLaurin has been a missionary in India for thirty years, head of the Theological Seminary at Co-canada, and at present is general secretary of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board of Canada. The subject of Dr. McLaurin's address will be "India."

The guest soloists this week will be Miss F. Smart, soprano, who will sing "O Divine Redeemer" and "He Shall Feed His Flock" from The Messiah, and Mr. Doug. Farley, tenor, who will sing selections from "Largo." Mr. Farley who is a well known radio and church soloist, has recently come to Notre Dame de Grace from Ontario, and has already become a member of the Bonfire Committee, appearing on last Thursday's program as Master of Ceremonies.

Among the requested hymns on this week's program are "All the Way My Savior Leads Me," "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name". Anyone wishing to have a favorite hymn sung at these Sunday evening gatherings, is requested to get in touch with Mr. Art Ibsen, organizer of these hymn-sings, at the close of any program.

Last Sunday night the hymn-sing was held as usual at the Y.M.C.A. in spite of threats of rain. The Rev. John Penock, curate of St. Matthews Anglican Church on Dufferin Road, was the guest speaker, addressing the audience on current affairs. Frank Carey read the Scripture lesson, and Mrs. Holmes sang two soprano solos, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. F. Hodgson was the accompanist for the evening.

Yosemite Park Recipes Hit Flavor Peak

For supper out of doors—quick-frozen chopped steak that defrosts in your knapsack while you hike. Serve broiled and salted with soft rolls and grapes. Note the special broiler with long handles.

Yosemite National Park is noted for its trees, its waterfalls, rivers and meadows with wild flowers—all high above the sea. However, its food is worth the trip, too. At Camp Curry, they serve breast of lamb this way.

Season with salt and pepper. Slice onions 1/4 inch thick, carrots 1/4 inch thick and break up parsley. Place lamb on top of these vegetables and pour a little of the drippings over the meat. Roast in moderate oven (350 deg. F.). When well browned, drain all grease from pan, add the white stock to pan, also the quartered tomatoes and bouquet garni. Return lamb to oven and baste every ten minutes until done, about 1 hour.

Remove meat from pan and thicken gravy with cornstarch and strain over meat. Serve with pineapple generously sprinkled with powdered sugar and glazed in hot oven.

IDEAL BOX LUNCH

If you go on an all-day hike and ask Ahwahnee Lodge to prepare a lunch box for you, this is what you would get: 1 orange, 1 apple, 1 cup either fruit or vegetable salad, 1 peeled hard-cooked egg, 1 ham sandwich, 1 tomato and bacon sandwich, 1 cheese sandwich, 1/2 freshly fried chicken, 2 ripe and 2 green olives, 3 sweet pickles, 1 piece cake (usually pound), 3 cookies, 1 sweet breakfast roll, mints.

Whether it be a discussion on the latest in women's hats or a controversy over national defense, CBS' Helen J. Sioussat arranges it all for Columbia's nationwide network.

Political, cultural, educational—in fact, most of the talks heard over CBS network and not handled on a commercial basis—pass through her capable hands. With her chief, Sterling Fisher, it is her job to schedule broadcasts by eminent speakers on topics of current interest, topics of the greatest concern to the American people.

The range of subject matter from which Miss Sioussat makes her selection is unlimited. By way of illustration: Founders Day, 300th anniversary of Pennsylvania's founding by the Swedes; broadcasts on Fall fashions from Paris by Carmel Show, editor of Harper's Bazaar; Great Britain and the European crisis, as interpreted by A. L. Easterman, chief foreign correspondent of the London Daily Herald; Mardi Gras from New Orleans and Levine kidnapping appeal from New Rochelle. Straight talks, dramatized series and trans-Atlantic broadcasts—Miss Sioussat fits them into the network schedule.

A trace of Southern accent gives her away as born and reared in Baltimore, Maryland. Her business training included a 30-day business course which culminated in an immediate job. Within a year after her first job, Miss Sioussat returned to Goucher College, where she had once studied, as secretary to the dean.

While in the business world, Miss Sioussat cultivated an interest in the theatre. Finally the lure of the stage proved so strong she went on the road doing a Spanish adagio as partner of the famous Raphael Sanchez.

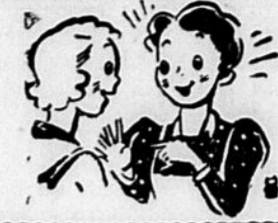

Having satisfied her thirst for the theatre, she returned once more to the business world. After several years as business manager of the Bushman Company, she joined the National Professional Bureau in Kansas City, Mo.

Wishing to live closer to her home city, she went to Washington where she served in an executive capacity with the Planning and Coordinating Committee for the Petroleum Industry, working closely with Henry M. Dawes, president of Pure Oil Co. It was here she was first introduced to radio when she met that veteran producer, writer and actor—Phillips H. Lord, better known at that time as "Seth Parker."

"Send Another Coffin" from the novel by F. G. Pressnell, will follow "Eternally Yours" on the Walter Wanger production schedule; Tay Garnett will direct the U. A. production.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Stock, and Major J. J. Stock, of Ottawa, and Miss D. Trudeau, of St. John's, Que.

TEA TIME TOPICS

If among your heirloom flat silver you are begrudgingly harboring a motley collection of old-fashioned "souvenir" spoons stop hiding your treasures in tarnished dimmed seclusion. Drag out every last one of the silver spoons that your (or your husband's) Victorian great-aunts so proudly collected while making their "grand tours." Get busy with the silver polish, fine brushes and cleaning cloths, and just see how fascinatingly interesting the old spoons are.

The die work on many of the souvenir spoons is truly exquisite, and with international news so much in the foreground today you possess a made-to-order set of stimulating conversation starters if you make use of these spoons. Stand the spoons, handle ends up, in an old-fashioned glass spoon holder, or an heirloom silver mug, if you haven't an authentic spoon holder, and let your guests pick their own when you serve ice cream or sherbet, or coffee, or what-have-you demanding spoons.

The Scottish thistles, the Irish shamrocks, the English roses, the French fleur de lis and the Canadian maple leaves that gleam softly on the handles of the old silver spoons serve to recall less troubled times. And the diminutive figures—Napoleon, Nelson, Marie Antoinette, Julius Caesar, Cleopatra and Tiny Tim—silver effigies to remind us that fame is transient, though history is timeless, and humanity we have all with us. Believe it or not grown ups enjoy these resurrected spoons every bit as keenly as do the children. Try them on your friends and see if we aren't right.

Cuttings of most of the soft wooded garden flowers, such as geraniums, heliotrope, begonias, verbenas, ageratum, petunias, lantanas and many others, root easily at this season in a flat full of peat moss and sand, or sand alone, in a semi-shaded location. The new plants obtained will, of course, still be small ones, but usually they are much more satisfactory than old plants, taken up later and put back, with the result that they do not begin flowering again for several weeks.

A midsummer visit to a local flower shop will often provide a number of small plants, frequently of unusual things, that can be repotted at once and kept in the shade for a week or two until re-established. After this they have several weeks to grow strong and stocky, and ready to give a good account of themselves indoors.

Before starting East or West, the holiday-minded will find it world that girls have waistslines and neatly rounded hips, and skirts that swish a rippling hemline, or have a bustle, the head must receive careful consideration. Hats are most important as to crowns. Under them the hair should be drawn back into bunched curls, or shiny rolls, or brushed up and twisted so that it looks like burnished metal. The mirror should be intimately consulted, and if all does not look well under the new brim, no time should be lost in paying a visit to an expert coiffeur.

NEWS OF THE THEATRE WORLD

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS

Laughter Is Loth To Laugh At Alexander Graham Bell

He laughs all day long—and gets paid for it.

In fact, Dick Elliott is Hollywood's favorite professional laughter. He'll laugh at anything or anybody, and will give out with anything from a polite chuckle to a rude roar at the drop of a hat.

But there was one piece of laughing that Elliott hesitated to do. He was assigned to laugh at Don Ameche in the title role of "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell," which is currently at the Westmount United Theatre until Saturday, with Ameche sharing top billing with Loretta Young and Henry Fonda.

The scene showed Bell's first public demonstration of the telephone. Elliott was to lead the audience in laughing at the young inventor.

It wasn't that Elliott minded laughing at Ameche. It was Bell he was thinking of.

For Jonathan Hale, who appears in the film, had just finished regaling Associate Producer Kenneth M. Owen, Director Irving Cummings and the cast, with a sad, true story proving that laughing at Bell could be a very expensive proposition.

Hale's father had lived in Brantford, Ontario, Canada, and young Bell had used his house to install a telephone for the first public demonstration there. When it was over, Bell asked Hale's father to buy telephone stock at 25 cents a share. The man just laughed. Yet a five dollar investment then would have made everyone in the Hale family a millionaire today!

Prominent in the supporting cast of this Cosmopolitan production for 20th Century-Fox are Charles Coburn, Gene Lockhart, Spring Byington and the three sisters of Loretta Young: Sally Blane, Polly Ann Young and Georgina Young.

Movie Stars Go To Night Clubs On Sound Stages

Two thirds of Hollywood's night-clubbing is done right on the studio sound stages, during working hours.

As a matter of fact, that's the only kind many of the screen's better known stars ever do. Bette Davis, for example, spent 48 hours on night club sets in scenes for her latest Warner Bros. picture "Dark Victory" now playing at the Snowdon United Theatre until Saturday. That's more time than she spent in real night clubs during the last five years.

Geraldine Fitzgerald, who took part in the "Dark Victory" social whirl with Miss Davis, has yet to visit a real Hollywood night spot.

James Cagney and his pretty wife are seldom seen in the famed Hollywood night clubs. Yet Cagney sees plenty of bright lights in his pictures and was even part owner of a swanky club in "Angels With Dirty Faces."

John Garfield, Jeffrey Lynn, Priscilla Lane and Gale Page never frequent the colony night clubs, yet they get their share of night life in the movies, as do such stay-at-home stars as Edward G. Robinson and Pat O'Brien.

Even the celebrities who do mingle more in the Hollywood night life and are listed as "regulars" at the clubs seldom make more than one or two appearances a week at their favorite haunts. John Payne and Anne Shirley are included in this group. It will take Payne years, however, to run up a real night club hourage to equal that of the total he compiled in making just one film — "Garden of the Moon."

Most of the time, however, the stars who are pretty hard-working folks don't do much night-clubbing off the set, because of double alarm clock rings just as loud.

'Only Angels' Demands New Film Technics

Double sound recording apparatus was employed to "film" simultaneously both music and dialogue in a comedy scene for "Only Angels Have Wings," Columbia's new Howard Hawks production which co-stars Cary Grant and Jean Arthur for the first time together at the York United Theatre.

According to sound engineer Lodge Cunningham, the twin recording apparatus resulted in an exceptionally "true feeling" for nuances of the gay scene and effective overlapping of lines unobtainable through single recording. The "double channel" — twin microphones, two mixing panels and two recording trucks — were employed as Cary Grant and Jean Arthur alternated in playing a tinny piano. The sequence occurred in a South American seaport bar. John Carroll, singing actor, joined with the co-stars in such numbers as "The Peanut Vendor," "Rancho Grande," "Some of These Days" and "Just Break the News to Mother."

George Nichols has been signed 20th Century-Fox to direct "High School," the next Jane Withers starer.

Robert Taylor and Greer Garson will co-star by MGM in "Remember"; Lew Ayres will be featured.

Peers of the High-Wire

Three of the five Berosinis, high-wire daredevils in one of their many thrilling stunts. The Berosinis are being held over for a second week at Belmont Park.

Epic Romance Stars McCrea And Stanwyck

A star-packed cast topped by Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea, the heroic story of the building of America's first trans-continental railroad and some of the biggest epic scenes Cecil B. DeMille has ever filmed combine to make C.B.'s newest offering, "Union Pacific," one of the most impressive works of many a season's now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Saturday.

The two principals of the story, played to perfection by Miss Stanwyck and McCrea, are Mollie Monahan and Jeff Butler; she the lusty, joyous daughter of a "U.P." engineer and the mascot of the railroad-builders, he a handsome trouble-shooter sent out by Washington when trouble-makers threaten the construction of the road. Their whirlwind romance is in keeping with the mad pace of the times in which it took place.

Berosinis at Belmont Park Descend from Blondin

About 180 years ago, a young European, in his lust for thrills, strung a rope between two poles, pulled it taut and tried walking on it. So fascinated was he with his first attempt that he decided to continue this pastime with result that ere long he raised the height of the rope, as his confidence increased. He taught his children the knack of tight-rope walking and so it came to pass that one of his descendants by the name of Blondin achieved world-wide fame by being the first man to cross Niagara Falls on a rope.

The great-grand children of the internationally famous Blondin are at present appearing at Belmont Park. Known as the Berosinis, high-wire wonders, these aerial artists perform on a thin wire, covering the longest span in the world, and execute amazing stunts as patrons watch in amazement. Their act comprises walking the high-wire with a pole as a balance; standing on their heads and walking blindfolded; and riding cycles across this thin wire.

The climax is reached when three cycles are used, in pyramid formation. Two cycles are placed, one in front of the other with a bar in between on which the third cycle is placed. This is ridden by a girl member of the troupe and on her shoulders stands the second girl acrobat as the trio of cycles, with four persons, traverse the span on the high-wire. This is undoubtedly the most sensational stunt ever seen in the city and one that for breath-taking thrills and suspense has no equal. The Berosinis are being held over at Belmont Park for a second week.

On Saturday, the grand Festival Bien-Etre de la Junesse will be held and on Sunday the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way will hold its annual picnic at the Park.

Stan Wood and his all-Canadian orchestra have arranged a special program of "swing" music intermingled with waltzes and fox-trots.

At the "end of track," the brawling town that moves ever westward, Jeff meets his biggest problem in Sid Campeau (Brian Donlevy), who has been hired to delay the building of the "U.P." by a Chicago financier who hopes to profit by selling the stock short. Campeau uses every means to carry out his plan; he operates a dance-hall and gambling-den at "end of track" to distract the workers, stirs up Indians to attack the railroad and even robs a pay-train at a crucial moment. His successive defeats at the hands of Jeff and his aides provides a thrilling struggle that lasts throughout the picture.

WESTMOUNT CRICKETERS DOWN BROOKLYN SQUAD FRIDAY

VISITING TEAM IS DEFEATED BY SIX WICKETS IN MATCH PLAYED AGAINST LOCAL BOYS

New York Outfit Trimmed for First Time on Tour at Hands of Westmount Team — Three Guest Players Augmented Strength of Home Squad — Ken Pentecost Starred

The Brooklyn cricket team suffered the first loss of its tour last Friday, when the Westmount club, with Broadbelt, of Wanderers and Chantler and Sid Bond, of Mount Royal, as guest players, defeated them by six wickets. The New Yorkers batted first and were faring badly when Percy Green, who like Ed Jemcott, learned his cricket in British Guiana, came to their rescue with a timely 44. This effort of Green's and a tenth wicket stand by the veterans Swallow and Cockram, brought the total to 115. The youthful Ken Pentecost, who started his cricket career at Westmount Park, was responsible for the New Yorkers' downfall, having captured eight wickets for 40 runs. The Westmount team passed the score... and made his 71 runs in faultless style. The veteran Mitchell, playing his second game of the season, was Westmount's most successful bowler, capturing four wickets for 38 runs. The ground fielding of the youngsters was excellent, but there was room for improvement in their catching and throwing. Westmount's schoolboy wicketkeeper, Edje, appeared to be equally as good as the visitors' stumper.

Last year the Westmount "B" team walked off the Model City grounds thinking that they had won by one run. However the scoreboard turned out to be wrong, for the scorers found a discrepancy, which gave the match to Model City by one run. This year Westmount again finished with the scoreboard showing that they were one run ahead, but this time there was no error in the scoring, and Westmount moved up two points in the league competition. Westmount's first wicket fell at 30, and it looked as if they would pile up a huge score, but they were all out for 84.

Romney, 29; Ward, 16; the junior Hill, 12; and Captain Sweeting 11; were the double figure scorers. The finish proved to be a real thriller, for with two men left to bat, Model City needed only one run to tie the score. However a brilliant catch by Ward and some tactical placing of the fielders by captain Sweeting caused the fall of the two wickets without a run being added.

Davis bowling, with five wickets for 13 runs and a spectacular catch by young Hill, deserved special mention.

The boys made their winning run on the stroke of 7 o'clock, the time set for the drawing of the stumps. At that time only six wickets had fallen, but Captain Ed Jemcott bowled the batsman with the next ball. Larking was the visitors' outstanding batsman

ROYALS WILL MEET GRANITES IN SERIES OPENING MONDAY; TO VIE FOR W. SCOTT TROPHY

Cup Will Go to First Team Taking Three Games — Royals Defeated Grads Monday Night 8-4 and Succeeded in Downing Them Again Yesterday 13-4

By winning the first round in the Senior Softball League, Royals enter the finals against Granites in the best three out of five series starting on Monday night. The first team winning three games will be declared the winner of the W. Scott Trophy which goes to the champions of the Westmount Municipal Senior Softball League.

Royals played Grads on Monday and defeated them in the first game by a score of 8-4. The game was a very interesting fixture, with H. Maher and J. Cameron pitching good ball. The Royals however got to Cameron for a few bunched hits and with a temporary lapse on the part of Grads, five runs crossed the plate.

The second game with Grads played last night, was an excellent contest but once again Royals proved their name as a powerhouse and put their opponents to flight. The game finished 13-4, giving Royals two games in a row.

The series with Granites should offer a fine exhibition of softball as the Granites are a peppy team and are full of fight, particularly when there is something at stake.
