Doctor found negligent

HULL, Que. (CP)—A Court of Queen's Bench jury Thursday found Dr. J. Conrad Simard, 49, guilty of criminal negligence in the death of a three-day-old child last February.

Judge Jacques Boucher said he will pronounce sentence Dec. 20.

Defence Counsel Raymond d'Aoust announced he will appeal the conviction.

Dr. Simard was found to have been negligent in delivering an infant born to an unwed Ottawa mother at a private clinic in nearby Aylmer, Que.

An obstetrician at Ottawa General Hospital, to which the baby was admitted at the request of Dr. Simard, testified that the hospital had received a note from the defendant stating the infant was suffering from cyanosis—blue discoloration.

The note also said Dr. Simard suspected there was brain damage subsequent to the use of forceps.

DOCTORS DISAGREE
Other doctors testified that forceps should not have been used for delivery of the premature child. For the defence, two obstetricians testified they would have proceeded in the same manner as Dr. Simard, had they been faced with the same circumstances.

U. S. diplomat leaves

Accused of contact with Russian spy

MOSCOW (AP) — Rodney W. Carlson, assistant U.S. agricultural attache accused by the Russians of dealing with a Russian spy, left the Soviet Union voluntarily today.

Soviet authorities accused Carlson of having contact with O. V. Penkovsky, a Russian scientific worker whose arrest was announced Tuesday.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said Carlson boarded a plane for Copenhagen this morning. He was accompanied by his two infant children.

His wife is on a brief holiday in Paris and is expected to meet her husband in Copenhagen.

No formal Soviet government charges have been made against Carlson. The accusation so far has consisted only of statements in the official Soviet press.

The U.S. embassy did not give any reason for Carlson's departure, but it was understood the embassy felt his effectiveness as a diplomat here had been impaired.

It also was felt that his safety was in danger.

THREE MEN ACCUSED
Tass, the Soviet news agency, had accused Carlson, another U.S. embassy staff member and a British businessman of buying or receiving secret information from Penkovsky on scientific, technical, political and military matters.

The other American named was Richard Carl Jacob, a 26-year-old secretary-archivist at the embassy who was expelled from the Soviet Union last month on spying charges.

The British businessman was Greville Wynne, who was arrested in Hungary Nov. 2 and now is awaiting trial in Moscow on espionage charges.

Jacob, now working in the state department in Washington, said he had never heard

U of S students block CNR tracks

STUDENTS DEMONSTRATE — Above photograph shows part of some 100 University of Sherbrooke students gathered on CNR tracks singing French Canadian songs in protest against CNR president Donald Gordon. The students gathered on the track and destroyed a dummy of Mr. Gordon after forcing a CNR engine to stop Thursday.

A Canadian National Railway diesel engine was forced to stop yesterday noon when some 100 students from the University of Sherbrooke straddled the tracks at the downtown King level crossing in a demonstration against CNR president Donald Gordon.

Commerce student Paul Gervais said they were protesting remarks made by the CNR president about the competency of French-Canadians.

The demonstration took place after the students had gathered at the corner of Belvedere and King Streets, placards in hand and then marched along King Street to the CNR property on King and Depot Streets.

At the King-Depot Street crossing, the students remained for over half an hour, singing French songs, chanting and shouting remarks about the CNR president.

When the engine appeared the demonstrators decided they would block its path by standing across the tracks, Mr. Gervais said.

Despite pleas from the engineer of the diesel, the students remained on the tracks until the engine came to a stop.

Then, said Mr. Gervais, a number of students climbed aboard the engine with a paper and cardboard replica of the CNR president and tore the dummy to pieces to the cheers of the demonstrators.

The protesters were dispersed from the tracks said Mr. Gervais when the engineer backed the vehicle about 50 yards from the milling students and then drove it forward along the tracks in their direction.

This time, he said, no one stayed on the tracks. According to Mr. Gervais who was one of the students who participated in the demonstration, the group was not organized by the General Association of University of Sherbrooke students.

The students association he said were to have discussed the matter of such a demonstration next week.

50 missing on plane

CP from AP-Reuters
RIO DE JANEIRO—A Brazilian airliner with 50 persons aboard was reported missing today in Amazon wilds and hours later the Brazilian air force said it had spotted the wreckage in the jungle.

The air line, Panair do Brazil, said the Constellation radioed at 2 a.m. it was ready to land in six minutes at Manaus, capital of Amazon state deep in the Brazilian interior, on a flight from Belem.

Air line officials said the plane carried 40 listed passengers and three babies, plus a crew of seven. The weather was reported good in the area at the time but no word was received after the "ready to land" message.

Another Brazilian airliner, a Boeing 707 jet, crashed and burned on a hilltop near Lima, Peru, Nov. 27 and all 97 persons aboard were killed. It was Brazil's worst air disaster.

The day before two Brazilian planes collided and crashed near Sao Paulo, killing 27 persons.

Rusk makes suggestion for NATO

Propose nuclear sea force

CP from Reuters-AP
PARIS — U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk today proposed to the NATO ministerial council the creation of a NATO seaborne nuclear force, council sources said.

Rusk said the force would be set up if the European members of NATO wanted it.

His proposal came as the 15-nation ministerial council turned to military matters and defence ministers began taking a hard look at the alliance's state of preparedness.

The sources said Rusk made his proposal in a surprise intervention during the council's military debate.

Speaking before U.S. Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara, he made it clear he was thinking in terms of a NATO force with American participation.

CITES PROBLEMS
Rusk said that while the U.S. was ready to consider creating such a force if the other NATO members wanted it, there were two major problems:

1. The European members would have to work out the political and military control of such a force;

2. The expense would have to be shared — and Rusk said the force would be "very expensive."

The concept of a medium-range multilateral nuclear force was first proposed by the Eisenhower administration at the NATO meeting in December, 1960.

Addressing the Canadian Parliament in Ottawa in May, 1961, President Kennedy announced the commitment of five and subsequently more Polaris atomic missiles to NATO.

PLANS NATO FORCE
He said the U.S. was looking forward to the possibility of establishing a NATO seaborne force "truly international in ownership and control" if the NATO allies wanted it.

The idea, renewed by U.S. State Secretary George Ball in a speech to the NATO parliamentarians Nov. 16, was supported at the seven-nation Western European Union assembly earlier this month.

Communications satellite is successfully in orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (CP - AP) — A new communications satellite with a Canadian-designed electronic heart soared through space today awaiting a call that would put it to work as a versatile link among countries of the Western world.

A Thor-Delta rocket lifted the 172-pound communications satellite named Relay into the heavens Thursday night, just one second behind its scheduled departure time. It was the 14th straight successful mission for Thor-Delta.

Three hours after liftoff, as Relay completed its first circle of the globe, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced: "The orbit looks extremely close to nominal."

The exact path of Relay will be known after a careful study of telemetry data, sometime today, he said. But a nominal—or planned — orbit called for a speed of 17,000 miles an hour orbital path ranging from 800 miles to 4,500 miles high, and one complete trip around the world every three hours and four minutes.

A space agency official, Robert S. McNamara, said the satellite was "very close to nominal."

PARIS (AP) — The French National Assembly Thursday gave the de Gaulle government a vote of confidence, 288 to 116, with 69 deputies abstaining or absent. It reflected the landslide victory for Gaullist deputies in last month's elections.

Frigid weather continues in ET and most of Canada

The weather pattern, which this week has left most of Canada unseasonably cold, is giving the Eastern Townships sub-zero weather, clear skies and bright sunshine.

A little warmer than yesterday, the high today is forecast at 15 degrees above. At eight o'clock this morning the temperature at the Experimental Farm read 12 degrees above.

According to the Lennoxville Experimental Farm this morning the mercury plummeted to six degrees below zero last night, two degrees higher than the record cold for the season set this Tuesday.

The cold snap, which has engulfed the Eastern Townships most of this week continued to hold the area in its grip overnight and today.

The weather pattern, which has left most of Canada unseasonably cold, is giving the Eastern Townships sub-zero weather, clear skies and bright sunshine.

The mercury didn't climb above 38 Thursday in Jacksonville, Fla., but at Calgary—1,500 miles to the north—it reached 56, one degree above previous record highs set in 1944 and 1956.

The weather office in Toronto said it's all because of a huge high - pressure system with northerly winds on its eastern edge and a southerly flow to the west.

Ontario has had snow with the cold. Three to five inches fell on wide sections of the province Thursday.

The weather office expects the warmth to stay through today in Alberta under a cloud cover.

Wind was a major factor in Ontario, whipping the falling snow into drifts. Some schools in the Leamington district were ordered closed at noon because of snow-clogged roads.

Montreal's light snow that started Thursday night was expected to end sometime today, but temperatures—three above Thursday night—were expected to be slightly cooler.

CHILL HITS EDMUNDSTON
Winnipeg and Edmundston, N.B., were among the cold spots. The forecast overnight low at Winnipeg was 10 below zero and at Edmundston four below.

Art rarity

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal Museum of Fine Arts announced Thursday the acquisition of a rare renaissance altarpiece, said to be the biggest purchase in the 102-year history of the museum, was painted in the mid-15th century by the Florentine master Neri di Bicci. The work, shows the madonna and child accompanied by St. Blaise and St. Michael the archangel. It measures seven feet square.

Opposition resistance may stiffen
OTTAWA (CP)—The minority Progressive Conservative government came under heavy fire on two separate fronts in the Commons Thursday but Prime Minister Diefenbaker indicated he will attempt to weather the storm.

The Prime Minister told reporters outside the House that speculation about a spring election has no basis in fact. He had "no thought of any election."

There were other indications, however, that opposition parties may stiffen their resistance as their members harked away at the government for continuing to bring in interim supply motions without tabling estimates and for its handling of the Columbia River treaty.

Spokesmen from all three opposition parties hinted they may withhold future co-operation on interim supply motions.

A spokesman for the Social Credit party, which has supported the government on non-confidence motions, said the party will cease "preventing the Liberals from overthrowing the government" unless certain legislation is passed.

H. A. Olson (SC—Medicine Hat) said he was authorized by his party to warn the government that the present interim supply motion — making funds available to the end of January — will be the last to receive his party's support unless demands are met.

A Liberal back-bencher, John B. Stewart (L—Antigonish-Guysborough) didn't think his party could "tolerate much longer" interim supply motions without the full estimates. And New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas suggested at the end of the night's sitting that Justice Minister Fleming reply today to a question of alleged RCMP investigations into the political activities of university students if the government is to expect co-operation on this interim supply motion.

A-arms indecision irks U.S.
OTTAWA (CP)—A big Canadian production share of the new United States jet fighter program may depend on Ottawa's willingness to accept American nuclear warheads for the Bomarc missile and Voodoo interceptor, reliable sources here say.

They say there are indications in Washington that U.S. patience on the nuclear issue is beginning to grow thin and that some form of retaliation against Canada can be considered likely if a "yes" decision isn't announced by Ottawa soon.

The most probable form of retaliation, they say, would be a quiet and unannounced reduction in the number and value of U.S. defence contracts let in Canada. This business will amount to some $200,000,000 for Canadian firms this year.

A huge jet fighter development contract has been awarded by General Dynamics Corporation of New York of which Canadair Limited, Montreal, is a wholly-owned subsidiary.

Sultan condemns Brunei rebels
BRUNEI TOWN, Brunei (Reuters)—Brunei's sultan, Sir Omar Ali Saifuddin today condemned the Brunei rebels at a press conference marking his first public appearance since a revolt broke out in his British-protected sultanate a week ago.

But the 47-year-old sultan, speaking to reporters with a revolver strapped to his hip, said he did not know the cause of the rebellion.

The press conference was held as RAF jet fighter planes joined commandos in a drive to smoke rebels out of the mountainous jungles of Brunei and the neighboring British protectorate of Sarawak.

The Hawker Hunter planes flew from the staging island of Labuan off the North Borneo coast with orders to make only "dummy" attacks against the rebels, who retreated into the jungles after their week-old revolt collapsed in the main centres of Brunei.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — As the television season rumbles along, it becomes increasingly evident that the CBS network, programming heavily in big star names and comedy, has estimated accurately the public's taste.

CBS, powerful as a bulldozer, presents nine of the 10 most popular shows listed in the most recent Nielsen ratings, plus 18 of the top 20. This establishes some sort of a network record.

The Nielsen top 10 (based on estimates of audiences between Nov. 11 through 25) are, in order:

1. The comedy phenomenon Beverly Hillsbillies, the Red Skelton Hour, Candid Camera, Ben Casey, I Love Lucy, the Danny Thomas show, Jack Benny, the Andy Griffith show, Gunsmoke, and I've Got a Secret. Sole non-CBS show on the list is ABC's Ben Casey.

Nine of the top 20 shows are comedy, three are game or panel shows and two are westerns. Bonanza, NBC's only top 20 entry, was 13th.

If nothing else, the list indicates what the average viewer asks of television: Light, painless entertainment.

Major disappointment of the week was The Court Martial of Captain Wycliff on NBC's Dick Powell Show Tuesday night. It started off powerfully—a military trial of a war hero charged with shooting down a scientist who determined to go over to the enemy.

But the hour resolved itself into the usual woadom debate—whether the captain murdered the traitor or not. The wind-up was most unsatisfactory: The captain confessed he had not murdered, but "executed" him. It was as if the author, having got all tangled up in a moral question of homicide, couldn't find any way to finish the script.

BACKACHE May be Warning

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The award of the Nobel Prize for literature to John Steinbeck in Stockholm this week brings to mind the impressive string of movies that have been made from his works.

The selection of Steinbeck for writing's highest honor astounded some critics, who claimed the rugged Californian was passe. This might surprise Steinbeck, who currently has the No. 1 best seller, Travels with Charlie.

The films based on Steinbeck's novels would appear to strengthen the contention that he is an ace story teller. No other novelist has had so many distinguished motion pictures produced from his works.

How well books are dramatized on film is no criteria of literary merit, of course, and many writers suffer at the hands of insensitive producers. But the Steinbeck record would argue that his dramatic structure is sound and his themes have appeal to a mass audience.

MADE FILM CLASSIC

Grapes of Wrath in 1940 was a screen classic, a film that captured the heart and feeling of the novelist's greatest work. It was made in the prime of John Ford's creative powers with a cast that was well nigh perfect. Particularly memorable are Henry Fonda, ideal as the troubled Tom Joad, and Charles Grapewin as Grandpa.

East of Eden, made in 1955, was no great shakes as a novel, but Elia Kazan managed to cut through some of the philosophical underbrush and fashion a gripping re-creation of the Cain-Abel theme. It was notable for the dynamic debut of the late James Dean.

Of Mice and Men, which Steinbeck also wrote as a play, fitted perfectly into the film medium. Burgess Meredith and Lon Chaney Jr. gave fine performances in the 1940 film under Lewis Milestone's direction.

Tortilla Flat, 1942, was one of Steinbeck's few comedies. Its success was all the more remarkable for casting Irish Spencer Tracy, Viennese Hedy Lamarr and Jewish John Garfield as the Monterey paisanos. The Red Pony, a 1949 film, was another milestone direction, a nicely done piece of sentiment with Robert Mitchum and Myrna Loy.

major plus two aces for a total of 12. Can you add a 13th? Yes, if you use a dummy reversal play to produce a sixth trump trick.

You cash a trump at trick two to make sure that trumps aren't going to break 5-0 then you ruff a club and enter dummy with a second trump. Both opponents follow so you know trumps are 3-2. Then you ruff another club, enter dummy with the jack of hearts, ruff dummy's last club with your last trump, get to dummy once more with the ace of diamonds and discard your other diamond on dummy's last trump.

This leaves you with four good hearts and you spread your hand. You have found a way to make six trump tricks instead of the five you started with.

Church school program at Melbourne

MELBOURNE — A special program was presented by the church school of l'Eglise des Cantons de l'Est, to the parents and congregation on the occasion of Bible Sunday on Dec. 9.

The superintendent, Mrs. J. A. Smith, welcomed the guests and remarked that it was the first time that the Sunday School had observed Bible Sunday.

The program was opened with a hymn.

The junior class, directed by Mrs. R. Laroche, presented the Our Father, from the Lord's Prayer, in seven different languages.

The senior class with their teacher, Mrs. Smith, presented a reading of the gospels, the four gospels being taken by Paul Fortier, Michelle Fortier, Alain of his aunt, Mrs. Alfred Phipps few days in Quebec City, where Parent and Rene Parent. and Mr. Phipps. They attended the Federation of Fish and Game Associations at the Laurentide Inn.

This was followed by a hymn. The offering which was received by Gary Gifford and Raymond Vidal and dedicated by Mrs. Laroche, will be divided between the fund for the erection of a chapel in Formosa, and New Testaments for Indonesia, through the Canadian Bible Society.

The program closed with a hymn by the primary class.

A large number of Bibles were on display in ancient and modern versions, through the co-operation of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Smith and Rev. H. I. Apps, who loaned the Bibles. The Sunday School is preparing the annual Christmas program for Dec. 23, at 2 p.m.

Big Shefford spruce tops Place des Arts

MONTREAL — A giant spruce from the Eastern Townships will decorate the main concert hall in Montreal's Place des Arts for the Yuletide season.

The 40-foot tree has been donated by Gerald Lesperance and Roland Blanchard of Ste. Anne de la Rochelle, Shefford County, and will be hoisted on the roof of the concert hall at a "topping-off" ceremony on the construction site of the arts centre today.

The ceremony, to be attended by civic officials and representatives of the provincial government, will mark the closing in of the roof of the centre's main structure, the concert hall opera house.

Designed to seat 3,100 persons, this hall features a horse-shoe-shaped columned facade dominating the centre. It is scheduled for completion September 1, 1963 and the official opening is slated for the fall of 1963.

The project will cost an estimated $20,000,000.

Fire destroys Sutton house, family homeless

SUTTON — (Special) — A family of 15 was left homeless here Thursday afternoon when a fire of unknown origin destroyed their home on Lower Main Street.

The blaze broke out at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Boucher about 3 p.m. and was fought by the town's volunteer fire brigade. Nobody was hurt in the fire. Firefighters were unable to save either the building or the contents. The town valued the house at $3,000. By 5 p.m. only the frame work remained.

Autos collide in Cowansville

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — A two-car collision in front of 1020 South Street, Cowansville, caused $125 damage about 1 p.m. Thursday, police constable Rejean Brunelle reported.

The crash occurred when an automobile driven by Marc Francy, 40, of RR 3, Sutton, collided with an automobile driven by Jean-Paul Chaput, 24, of 122 Depot Street.

Chaput was backing out from his driveway when the accident occurred.

Officers elected at meeting in Mansonville

MANSONVILLE — The United Church Women met at the Manse with Mrs. Warden on Dec. 5, with a good attendance.

The meeting opened with the devotional period taken by Mrs. Guy George. A slate of officers was brought in for next year's officers which was accepted as follows: Mrs. Leonard Noon, president; Mrs. Guy George, first vice-president; Mrs. E. S. Bradley, second vice-president; Mrs. R. F. Cowan, secretary; Miss Ruth Heath, treasurer.

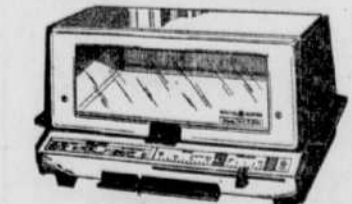

It was decided to pack Christmas boxes at the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. R. F. Cowan on Dec. 19.

Most of the units in 9 Militia Group have paid their part-time officers and soldiers, and given them a Christmas recess.

The third weekend concentration for the Militia staff course, and field officers' course, was held at St. Therese last weekend. To accommodate those candidates who have already passed the general military knowledge phase of the field officers' course, the nuclear warfare and survival operations lectures are being given Saturdays. All candidates must however, complete both phases of their home assignments to be eligible to write qualification examinations in April 1963.

The Royal Canadian Air Force Association will hold its drawing for the movie camera outfit tomorrow at 121 Depot St. There will be a social evening commencing at 9:30 p.m., with Irving Richards orchestra in attendance. All members and guests are invited to attend.

Bill Boisclair asks that all persons having outstanding raffle books return them as soon as possible before the drawing on Dec. 15th.

The Wing is very happy to report that their magazine subscription campaign was a success and plans are now underway to purchase additional wheel-chairs, which are loaned to persons of the community, at no cost, on a short term loan basis.

At the last regular meeting the Wing welcomed Claude Gosselin of East Angus and Doug Watt as new members to the Wing. Members are reminded that a regular meeting will take place on Dec. 17th at their meeting room on Depot St. Films will be shown and refreshments will be served.

The Pot of Gold has now passed the $12 mark, and all it takes to win is to be a paid up member and be in attendance at the regular meeting. If your name is drawn and you are in attendance, you are the recipient of all the money in the Pot, if the person's name drawn is not in attendance the Pot is carried over to the next meeting.

At this time the President Don Martin would like to express his very best wishes to all members for a Merry Christmas and a Happy and prosperous New Year.

East Angus youths found guilty of beating a 33-year-old man

Two East Angus youths had pay for it and he drove me home," Dufresne said.

During the four hour trial in which defence lawyer A. Tobin asked the court for two recesses, Crown Attorney Benoit Turmel said he saw Dufresne the morning after the assault and "he could hardly open his left eye as a result of the injuries."

He said Dufresne received hospital treatment and could hardly speak because of lip and face injuries.

Judge Veilleux had the charges reduced because he said there was no evidence of the $6 theft, nor of the pair trying to force Dufresne to sign a cheque.

Both Lague and Roy testified in court the only reason they beat Dufresne up was because he kept bothering them on the way to and from Cookshire.

"Well in that case why didn't you leave him at Cookshire if you didn't want to be bothered," Judge Veilleux asked Roy.

"We wanted to bring him back where we picked him up," Roy answered.

"Well then in the case why didn't you put him in the back seat, where he couldn't bother you," Judge Veilleux asked.

"We never thought of that," Roy replied.

"In view of the testimony I have before me I find you both guilty and fine you $50 and costs each," Judge Veilleux said.

Jaycees hold contest at Richmond

RICHMOND — (Special) — Another Christmas decorations contest is being sponsored by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced by Jean Guy Ouellette, chairman of this Jaycees' committee.

The contest will take in homes and two trophies being given for the best-decorated in each class.

The contest will run up to January 7 and many places are now showing signs of being nicely lit up with Christmas lights, tinsel, and all that goes with this season. Even the town itself has taken up this seasonal spirit with colored lights strewn across the Main Streets from one end of town to the other.

Laywer tells builders code section important

Members of the Eastern Townships Builders' Association were told Thursday night that the most important part of the Civil Code that concerned them was the section on contracts.

This statement was made by the guest speaker at the meeting of the association at the King George Hotel, lawyer Jean Rouillard.

Mr. Rouillard is a partner in the firm of Fortin-Rouillard and has recently replaced Carrier Fortin as the legal adviser to the E.T.B.A.

In the address, Mr. Rouillard called attention to the different kinds of contracts that can be drawn up and the obligations that are undertaken when such agreements have been made.

The speaker also pointed out that the terms in the contracts must be strictly adhered to and then mentioned the various legal procedures that can be followed by a person that has his contract violated.

He then followed this up with a description of the variety of action that the courts can and do take against those who do not follow their agreements to the letter.

During the address he kept those attending aware of the important role played by the courts in the judgments on such violations, and pointed out the importance of popular opinion on the judgments that are rendered.

At university meeting

Local business men were urged Thursday night to cooperate with and make full use of the highly qualified economics and commerce students that are available to them through the International Association of Economics and Commerce Students.

The businessmen were greeted at a cocktail party in the University of Sherbrooke Commerce building by the local president of the organization, Denis Belisle, and by Steve Abraham, national president.

Business men are urged to hire commerce, economics students

During the address to the guests, Denis Belisle reminded them that the purpose of the organization was to promote cultural and social relations between the various branches of the society throughout the world.

This purpose is accomplished, he said through such activities as annual meetings, student exchanges and in a variety of other ways.

In this manner the members of the institution are given the opportunity of familiarizing themselves with the international market and thus become better qualified for industry.

Guests were assured that the basis of selections of members was on a very high level and that they could be confident of the qualifications of each individual.

The organization established in Canada in 1959 has 50,000 members in various countries and through the international network of locals, seek to answer the need for and is at the disposition of industry.

Local business men were asked to encourage and support the organization.

During 1963

UK to dominate ECM discussions

BRUSSELS (AP) — The painful progress of Britain's slow-motion courtship of Europe will probably dominate 1963 far beyond the six Common Market nations.

Wherever businessmen meet in Britain or on the continent the Brussels negotiations are a main talking-point. Will they succeed and when? If they fail, what next? Much else depends on their success.

But Britain is the first big pill the Six must absorb if their present market of 170,000,000 is to expand to rival the major trading blocs of East and West.

It is true their balance of trade deteriorated further in the summer. Exports to non-member countries dropped a little. Imports continued to grow. But their experts say

It all looks healthy enough. What do the individual club members say? France is preoccupied about her farm produce.

West Germany's traditional trading partners have been the other five who form the Common Market. Its two-way trade with them showed a 10-per-cent jump in the first half of 1962.

The gradual lowering of tariffs — now 50 per cent below the 1957 level on manufactured goods — has brought more imported items into German shops.

Italy has probably never had it so good, despite a continuing unemployment problem in the south. Her exports to her Common Market partners leaped 25 per cent in 1962.

Half of Belgium's exports go to other Common Market countries, although exports to outsiders fell off slightly in the face of keener competition and tariff barriers. However, the outlook

Provincial automobile examinations

Reports from Quebec City that the provincial government intends to institute a system of compulsory mechanical check-ups for all motor vehicles will be welcomed by the vast majority of Quebec motorists.

Not only have these defective vehicles resulted in numerous accidents involving death or serious injuries but they have been a contributing factor in the steady rise of automobile insurance rates.

Previous governments have given tacit approval to the idea of vehicle inspection by permitting municipal authorities to set up inspection systems of their own.

The trouble with trying to rush through everything in life is that you don't have time really to live.

municipalities, including Sherbrooke, have conducted annual inspection drives. But for the most part they have been only partially effective.

Lacking the power to compel vehicle owners to bring their machines to designated points, the municipal police forces have been compelled to content themselves with roadside inspections, a never too-satisfactory procedure.

By compelling the applicant for an automobile license to produce an inspection certificate before the registration is issued, the provincial authorities can make sure the vehicles are in satisfactory condition at least once a year.

Christmas gifts for mentally ill

The Canadian Mental Health Association is appealing once again for contributions to its Christmas gift campaign throughout the province.

The Association points out that this is no ordinary Christmas project. The mental patient is often lonely, lost and feels that he is a person apart from society.

At Christmastime especially, there is need for this special kind of therapy. The campaign includes not only gifts. It is also hoped that the gifts will be followed up by visits from parents and friends, so that the patient will regain hope, cheerfulness and a desire to get well.

Acceptance and a feeling of belonging are all important to the mental patient. They might mean the difference between weeks or years in an institution.

Last year, 108 individuals and organizations in 108 cities in Quebec sent 22,000 gifts which were distributed among mental patients in 25 institutions throughout the province.

The average school kid thinks there are more questions than there are answers.

Snow scooter nuisance controlled

Sherbrooke residents won't have to stock up on their supply of cotton batting this winter.

The nerve-wracking clatter of the snow scooters which, for the greater part of last winter, could be heard on city streets will be thankfully missing in the months ahead.

Quebec has ordered that all snowmobiles must bear license plates and that the drivers must carry operators' permits. The plates are available at the Sherbrooke motor vehicle office on Dufferin Street at $4 apiece.

apply especially to the small, one-seater type which buzzed around Sherbrooke last winter without any laws to control their use.

But as Antonio Pinard, head of the license bureau, pointed out this week snowmobiles may not be driven on highways or public thoroughfares. They must be transported on trailers to locations where they may be run legally.

By using the open fields, snowmobile operators will have the pleasure of enjoying their sport and residents will have their own pleasure — that of peace and quiet.

Other papers say:

Many parliamentarians incompetent

The controversy over the behavior of some of the Canadian delegates to the NATO parliamentarians' conference, and the more serious matter of their general suitability to the role in the first place, have focused fresh attention on our Members of Parliament and their performances in office.

It is very easy to make sweeping statements that MPs are lazy, narrow, incompetent, unlearned, self-seeking and the rest, but like most generalizations, these claims are no more valid than is the less common one that our federal representatives, by and large, are altruistic guardians of democracy and the public welfare.

Where are the great, independent parliamentarians who consistently grace the British House of Commons, but rarely our own?

All that loose skin which hangs around the neck of cattle has a name—dewlap. Sometimes rather than branding their cattle with hot irons, ranchers mark them with a cut in the fold of skin on the neck. This type of mark is known as the "dewlap brand."

SUNNY AND COLD

The South Pole in December gets more sunlight than any other place on earth but remains cold because about 95 per cent is reflected.

Obviously, generalizations about any body which is composed of two hundred and sixty-five individuals from every part of the country, and virtually every social, educational, economic and occupational background, will contain the seeds of both truth and falsehood.

However, reports of incompetence (as in Paris), Tuesday-to-Thursday attendance in the House, and the failure of many members to play a part in Commons proceedings or in committees, reach the ears of the public, it is time to take a searching look at our representatives in Ottawa and the system under which they work.

Particularly is this so when a respected former MP, John Pratt, says there are always "a number of elected representatives who not only lack ability to handle their jobs properly, but who are completely unaware of their incompetence or don't give a damn..."

How many members feel their duties are completed when they have taken care of the affairs of their own constituencies?

How many take the trouble to become informed on national and international, rather than just parochial issues? How many private members are expert enough to speak on a topic not directly concerned with their own riding or region? How much meaningful work is done in Parliament?

Where are the great, independent parliamentarians who consistently grace the British House of Commons, but rarely our own? Why are so many of the MPs who have never held a Cabinet post known to so few outside their own areas?

We believe these are questions which should be pondered by everyone interested in the governing of the nation, especially when the political parties are holding nominating conventions and at election time. It is an old but true saying that the people obtain the representatives they deserve; and if some Members of Parliament are indifferent, untalented and interested more in maintaining their political fences at home than in making a contribution in Parliament, much of the blame can be laid to public apathy.

But if talented, conscientious members are being allowed to die on the vine for lack of stimulating, meaningful and responsible work, it is time to re-examine our entire parliamentary machinery. Certainly, an overhaul of the committee system is indicated, in spite of Mr. Diefenbaker's recently expressed thoughts to the contrary. Surely, the part salary plays in determining the quality of persons who stand for office should be studied. Royal commissions have been appointed to investigate less important matters. 'Of the days that are past'

The citizens of Sherbrooke have always shown a great pride in their fine city, and in 1898 it is recorded that the residential portion, with its forest of trees and well-kept grounds, lawns, and flower gardens, the views up and down the Magog and St. Francis rivers, attract the admiration of all visitors to the city.

"The view up Commercial street in summer time, with its double row of over-arching elms, and in winter time clothed with diamond crystals of snow, is unsurpassed." Sic stumps along Dufferin and elsewhere bear silent testimony to the beauty of former years.

In those days gas was still used for lighting purposes, and the gas works were situated in the South ward on the road to Lennoxville. Gradually electric lighting was introduced, and in 1898 the Gas & Water Company were able to report that in addition to gas they supplied 5000 incandescent electric lights for houses and 50 arc lights for street lighting purposes.

In the realm of education the Protestant School Board employed a total of 21 teachers who were responsible for The Academy on Queen street (under Mr. J. H. Keller) the Central School on King street (Miss Agnes Mitchell) the Prospect St. School (Miss Emma Sutton) of students enrolled was 21, in the year under review it had risen to the grand total of 69! Bishop's College another Anglican foundation, flourished under Mr. H. J. H. Petry, who tells us that Lord Monk spoke of this School as "the Canadian Eton." Sherbrooke was well supplied with newspapers, the oldest being "The Gazette" formerly the Farmer's and Mechanic's Journal) Mr. G. H. Bradford was the sole proprietor, and in politics it was described as Conservative. "Le Pionner" was edited by Mr. J. A. Chicoyne, and was of moderate Conservative views, and there was a semi-weekly known as "The Sherbrooke Examiner" of Liberal politics, owned by Messrs. W. A. Moorehouse and E. S. Stevens. Another French-language paper was "Le Progres de l'Est" issued twice a week and edited by Mr. J. E. Genest. This paper strongly supported the Liberal government.

This is the last in a series of three articles written by Rev. J. D. R. Franklin on Sherbrooke just before the turn of the century. Mr. Franklin is rector of St. Peter's Anglican Church, Sherbrooke.

"The Sherbrooke Record", a daily newspaper, published its first issue on 9th, February 1897, and was the youngest of the local newspapers. Mr. L. S. Channell was the editor and proprietor, with Mr. V. E. Morrill as assistant editor. The paper was described as "politically non-partisan."

"The Sherbrooke Illustrated" of 1898 contains many good and interesting photographs, showing Commercial street as a quiet old-world residential area of substantial mansions. Also a charming picture of Wellington street with a few handsome cars causing no traffic problem, and a view of the Market, giving a wide parking lot for horse and buggy transportation. Altogether we gather a clear and informative picture of the Sherbrooke of those days, and Mr. W. A. Moorehouse who edited the "Illustrated" deserves the appreciation and gratitude of posterity.

Bright future in Amazonia

Population explosion needed

MANAUS, Brazil (Reuters)—This vast, potentially rich area known as Political Amazonia is begging for a share in the world's population explosion.

What it needs most today is people. To men and women of adventurous spirit, the doctor, the scientist, the teacher, the skilled workmen, the authorities promise a bright, pioneering future and fulfillment of the dreams of explorers for three centuries past.

"This place is three times the size of the European Common Market countries," one official says. "All we want is people to populate and develop it."

Time and time again this plea is heard from inhabitants of the scattered settlements and forest villages in the 1,200,000-square mile territory.

Political Amazonia comprises almost half of Brazil, but contains only 3.5 per cent of its 70,000,000 population. It is larger than India, yet has less than one per cent of that nation's population. It has only two persons a square mile.

It stretches from the Atlantic Ocean some 2,000 miles west to the borders of Peru, Colombia and Bolivia—and reaches north to Venezuela and the Guianas. With only a part of the area surveyed and a fraction of its flora and fauna classified, the authorities are offering free facilities for any scientist who wants to do research.

One-quarter of the world's forest provides 8,000 types of trees in Amazonia. There are 600 varieties of palm and some 180 different kinds of fruit.

Of all the world's 22,767 known species of plants, Amazonia contains 19,619.

For every species of fish in Europe, there are more than 100 in the muddy waters of the Amazon River and its tribuaries. Many of the immediate plans for developing Amazonia depend on mineral wealth, believed to be fabulous but it still is largely unexplored.

Huge capital investment will be needed to develop this wealth and raise the standard of living of its small population. Two-thirds of its people are Caboclo—of mixed European, Brazilian and native Indian blood—who live in huts with palm-thatched roofs along the creek and river banks. They may farm a small plot of land cleared out of the jungle, but most make their living from the rivers.

Illiteracy is between 60 and 90 per cent, depending on the area, and it is estimated that 90 per cent of the people suffer from hookworm, elephantiasis, amoebiasis and other intestinal parasites. Infant mortality is as high as 30 per cent.

adequate protection now can be given against any remaining harmful influences of tohungas under general legislation which applies to both Maoris and white people, such as laws against fortune tellers and medical quacks.

In ancient times tohungas played a vital part in the Maori community. Next to the chiefs they were the most important persons in the tribe, and in some respects were more important than the chiefs. Their duties were fantastically comprehensive. Strictly speaking, a tohunga meant any skilled person. The tohunga was the village or tribal wise man, priest and technical authority rolled into one.

He was village doctor, herbalist, astrologer, teacher, historian, poet, oracle. He advised on house construction, tattooing, carving and other arts. He knew by heart the tribal genealogy running back for hundreds of years. He was in charge of ceremonial and was consulted before planting crops, felling trees or undertaking sea journeys.

practice of cursing to death, or makutu as it was known to the Maoris, is fully authenticated. Many cases are known of Maoris having spells cast on them and dying exactly at the predicted time.

With the coming of western culture many of the functions of tohungas declined. But belief in their supernatural powers persisted.

Surviving tohungas are mostly old men living in the past. The government believes that the Maoris no longer need special protection against them and that most Maoris are no longer people who pay to have their teacups read or for fake remedies dispensed by unqualified medical men.

DEMONSTRATION

relations officer told The Record, "Sherbrooke's demonstration was just a hangover of what happened in Montreal on Tuesday, and we don't have anything to add to what Mr. Gordon has already said in a meeting with the University of Montreal students that afternoon." Tuesday afternoon Mr. Gordon told a delegation of U of M students in his office he was misinterpreted by newspapermen who said he stated French Canadians were unable to hold high level positions with the CNR. Mr. Lowe said he did not understand why the U of S students demonstrated when the matter had all been cleared up in Montreal Tuesday afternoon. "The only reason I can give for the demonstration is that the students probably had nothing to do and decided to keep warm by demonstrating," he said.

WORLD NEWS

LONDON (Reuters) — The Skybolt missile debate took top spot in British newspapers again today with reports from Paris that the United States had offered to let Britain take over development of the missile alone. Authoritative sources in Paris said Thursday night U.S. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara told British officials they could go it alone on development of the costly missile or take delivery of Polaris submarine missiles or Hound Dog medium range missiles instead. WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba voters today chose 55 members of the legislature from a list of 165 candidates named mostly by the four major parties. The ruling Progressive Conservatives and the Liberals each have named candidates in all 55 seats at stake. There are 38 New Democratic Party candidates and 12 named by the Social Credit party. When the last legislature was dissolved the standing was: Conservative 34, Liberal 10, NDP 9, Social Credit 1, vacant 3. Total 57. DOAKTOWN, N.B. (CP)—A 17-year-old baby sitter and four children she'd tried to rescue died Thursday in flames that destroyed a lonely house in nearby Betsburg, a tiny central New Brunswick Community without fire protection. A fifth child, rescued from the flaming home by his brother, died a few hours later from burns over 75 per cent of his body. All five were children of Mr. and Mrs. Glenwood Parker, and the baby sitter was an aunt of the youngsters. PARIS (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan was due here today for weekend talks with President de Gaulle on East-West relations and Britain's developing links with Europe. The Anglo-French summit meeting will be held at the close of the annual winter council meeting of the NATO ministers here and precedes Macmillan's trip to the Bahamas next week for talks with President Kennedy and Prime Minister De Gaulle. Key subject in the Macmillan de Gaulle meeting will be Britain's bid to enter the European Common Market. OTTAWA (CP)—The federal investigation of labor strife on the Great Lakes moves out of the ranks of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada next week and back to the brass. Mr. Justice T. G. Norris, who has been making the investigation since August, clamped a temporary time limit on testimony from rank-and-file SIU members Thursday. He said he would not hear any more general evidence from them after today. He has repeatedly described the parade of witnesses expressing support and loyalty to their union as a waste of time.

Border BPW hold Christmas party

DERBY LINE — Mrs. Alfred Aldrich and Mrs. Mabel Wallace were co-hostesses for the annual Christmas dinner of the Border Business and Professional Women's Club held on Dec. 10, at the home of Mrs. Aldrich. There were 14 members and a guest, Mr. Margaret Hunt, a former member of the club, attending. The dinner was served at a table centered with fruit arrangements flanked by lighted Christmas candles. Afterwards, with all gathering in the living room gifts were exchanged from a decorated Christmas tree. Money was donated by the members totalling $12 to be used in Christmas gifts for two boys and a girl. Miss Helen Cosgrove and Mrs. Merilla Farman will entertain the January meeting at Miss Cosgrove's home. Singing of carols terminated the evening.

COMMUNICATIONS

ert Mackey, said the first contact with Relay would be attempted today by a ground station at Nutley, N.J. If its systems checked favorably, the first communications experiments would be attempted by stations at Andover, Me., and Goochville Downs, England. In Montreal, John D. Houlding, president of RCA Victor Company Limited of Canada, said the launching was a major achievement for a 150-man team of Canadian engineers and technicians who designed and developed the vital electronic heart—the tiny receiver-transmitter that makes the satellite function. "All Canadians can take personal pride in the launching" of the satellite. The Canadian team was led by Bruce MacKimmie, head of the company's technical division, and James S. Brooks, the project manager. PROVIDE THREE PARTS The Montreal technicians contributed three components to the satellite: The receiver-transmitter, the beacon and the satellite simulator. Canadian engineers also did many of the over-all engineering studies and analyses that helped determine the technical requirements. The receiver-transmitter receives weak signals from ground stations, amplifies them, and sends them back to earth. It also handles television and data-transmission signals. The beacon sends out a continuous signal by which the ground stations locate and track the satellite. The simulator is a duplicate of the satellite system used by ground stations to check equipment prior to making contact with satellite.

FOR A HOLIDAY FEAST!

Fill a cookie jar for Christmas to delight your guests

Happy the guests, whoever they are — Who visit a house with a full cookie jar! You may not find time in the bustling days before Christmas to embroider that sentiment and tack it up on the kitchen wall, but it's a good motto to bake by. Whether your guests come by invitation or by surprise . . . in twos and threes or by the dozen, they'll go home happy if they've had holiday cookies to nibble while they admired the tree.

These days there's a new and speedy way to bake holiday cookies that makes the

GUM DROP SQUARES

Slice 1 roll refrigerated Slice 'n Bake Sugar Cookies 1/4 inch thick. Arrange half of slices in bottom of ungreased 13X9-inch pan.

Sprinkle 1 cup gum drops cut into small pieces over cookie layer. Top with remaining cookie slices. Bake at 375° for 20 to 25 minutes. Cool. Cut into squares. Makes 1 1/2 to 2 dozen.

OATMEAL DATE BARS

1 roll refrigerated Slice 'n Bake Oatmeal Raisin Cookies, 1 cup dates, cut in small

TUTTI FRUITI SQUARES

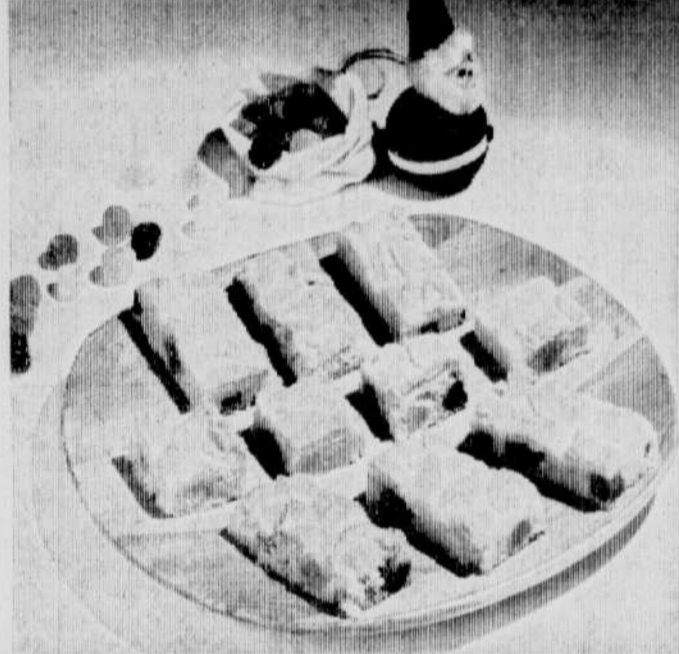

1 roll refrigerated Slice 'n Bake Cookies, 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon lemon rind, 1/2 cup shredded coconut, toasted, Maraschino cherries.

Slice cookies as directed and press out in ungreased 13X9-inch pan. Bake at 375° for 15 to 20 minutes, until golden brown. Cool.

RASPBERRY SURPRISE BARS

Cut 1 roll Slice 'n Bake Cookies into 1/4-inch slices; arrange all slices on bottom of ungreased 13X9-inch pan, overlapping as necessary. (Slices will bake together.) Bake at 375° for 15 to 20 minutes.

Combine 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese and 2 tablespoons milk, spread over hot cookie layer. Then spread with 1/2 cup red raspberry preserves. Cool before cutting into bars. Makes about 2 1/2 dozen.

Delightfully colorful gum-drop cookie squares start with already mixed and chilled cookie rolls from the grocer's dairy case. Decorated cookies and other rich, cookie bars can be done the same slice 'n bake way.

full cookie jar no fuss, and all fun. The festive secret: use rolls of refrigerated cookies from the grocer's dairy case. There are seven flavors to choose from, and any one of them can be sliced and arranged into trees, wreaths and other cookie traditions on baking sheets. These bar cookie variations are sliced and layered in square pans with date or gum drop filling — or coconut-meringue topping. They're particularly good for stocking the cookie jar because they stay moist and fresh for several days:

Plan a do-ahead Christmas meal

Christmas dinner should be a time of unhurried cheer, even for the homemaker. Plan a meal for 5 or 50 that to a high degree can be prepared in advance.

Select a "fully cooked" ham. Be sure you see the words "fully cooked" on the label. This means you can serve the ham cold or heat it briefly for hot service.

If the ham is to be carved hot at the table, give it a quick golden glaze. About half an hour before heating time is completed, pour the drippings off the ham. Then cover meat with brown sugar. Return ham to the oven to finish heating and set the glaze. Add whole cloves for a finishing touch, if desired.

A molded gelatin salad, spiced cranberry relish and the plum pudding for dessert are all foods to prepare the day before. Rolls and vegetables from the freezer save time too. The sweet potatoes bake while the ham is heating. Delicious soup or fruit juice provide the appetizer course.

- Cream of Oyster Soup
- Golden Glazed Ham
- Spiced Cranberry Relish
- Broccoli Clusters
- Baked Sweet Potatoes
- Parker House Rolls
- Butter or Margarine
- Mild Avocado Grapefruit Salad
- Plum Pudding Coffee

To heat a fully cooked ham, place it on a rack in an open shallow pan. Heat in a slow oven (325 degrees) according to the schedule or until the internal temperature is 130 degrees as indicated on a roast meat thermometer.

To glaze ham, remove it from the oven 1/2 hour before end of time indicated, pour off drippings. Cover ham with brown sugar and return to oven for remainder of the heating time.

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Mix all ingredients together, simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Serve hot or cold with Golden Glazed Ham.

Holiday spread 'stars'

Serve a double-layered pate spread, star-shaped, at your next party this festive season of the year.

"Star a party-pretty pate mold, as a special holiday spread this festive season, prepared with particular ingredients such as smooth, rich liver pate.

It's really a double-layered mold with shimmering gelatin, flavored with a little chicken consommé and cognac, if you like, on top — and a delicate blend of gourmet tasting liver pate and cream cheese as the base.

Serve crisp, thin triangle crackers, or melba rounds, with this very special star-shaped spread that is sure to lend savor and glamor to any holiday table!

STAR-SHAPED PATE SPREAD

1 can chicken consommé or broth, 1 can water, 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 2 tablespoons cognac, 2 4-oz. cans liver pate 1 8-oz. package cream cheese, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Bring consommé and water to boiling point. Dissolve gelatin in cold water and stir into hot liquid. Add cognac. Cool. Pour 1/2 liquid into quart mold. Chill until firm. Blend liver pate with other ingredients and stir into remaining cooled liquid. Add this mixture to top of first layer in mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with a variety of unsalted crackers.

Baskets for the needy

The Municipal Chapter of Sherbrooke I.O.D.E. is again engaged in supplying Christmas baskets to the aged, the destitute and the forgotten at the Yuletide season.

In addition to donations from various organizations, the Chapter spends annually over $400 in the preparation of these baskets and solicits public support for the project.

While most church groups look after their own needy families, there are many families who have no particular church affiliation, neither do they fall under any specific municipal welfare department, and these are the families who suffer most as they receive no assistance except from the I.O.D.E.

Throughout the year, the I.O.D.E. helps the needy with layettes, food milk, fuel, rent and even drugs, and always with clothing, but, at Christmas time, they like to send a particularly bountiful food box to each of the recipients of their help. These boxes contain a roast of meat, a chicken, vegetables, fruit, plum pudding, Christmas cake, etc. and usually some toys for the children if possible.

There are also a number of elderly people, living on pensions, with barely sufficient income to exist upon, and who have no one to remember them at this season of the year. For them the I. O. D. E. baskets are particularly welcome and help to alleviate the loneliness that seems more acute at the Christmas season.

Mrs. R. M. Loughheed, 631 Victoria St., the Welfare Secretary of the Municipal Chapter is accepting donations from those interested in helping others.

KIDDIES' LOLLIPOP BUSH — Here's a charming Christmas gift for youngsters. Designed to be sniffed as well as eaten, the bush consists of multi-colored carnations and greens, an abundance of lollipops, and a red-nosed reindeer that also serves as a toy.

Women's groups in the news

QUEEN MARY CHAPTER O.E.S.

The regular monthly meeting of Queen Mary Chapter, No. 5, O.E.S., was held at the Masonic Temple, Prospect St., on Tuesday last with an excellent attendance. The new Worthy Matron, Geraldine Spaulding, occupied the chair, and opened the Chapter in regular form. The altar was reverently draped in memory of the late Albert Halsall, P.G.P., who passed away recently.

Bro. Henry Barlow installed Sister Doris Hunting, Associate Conduetress, and Bro. Cecil Dougherty, Sentinel, in their respective offices, as neither had been able to attend the regular installation held at the last meeting. Plans were made for the serving of a roast beef supper prior to the installation of officers of the Victoria and Prince of Wales Lodges on St. John's Night.

The D.D.G.M. Sister Alice Rowat reminded the members that there would be a District Meeting on Saturday, January 12, at the Masonic Temple, at 2.30 p.m. with a practice in the morning at 10.00 a.m. Lunch will be served at noon. At the close of the meeting, a buffet supper and exchange of gifts was held, in keeping with the Christmas season.

BROMPTON ROAD W.I.

The December meeting of the Brompton Road branch of the Quebec Women's Institute, was held at the home of Mrs. W. F. Goodfellow, with Mrs. E. M. Goodfellow and Mrs. H. Riches as joint hostesses. The president, Mrs. D. Cullen, was in the chair and the meeting was opened in form. The president, welcomed the guests, Mrs. K. Moe, Miss B. Page and Mrs. I. McGenty. The roll call, "A favorite Christmas dessert," was answered by 18 members.

Correspondence included thank-you cards from sick and shut-ins and a bereaved family. Christmas Greetings were also received from Misses Norma Holmes, Janet McQuat, Alice Prince, Ruth Rannels and Alberta Wells from Macdonald College. Mrs. E. Goodfellow, Secretary also read "She Collects people."

CONVENERS REPORTS

Citizenship, Mrs. S. Billing; reported receiving U.N.I.C.E.F. Greeting cards. Welfare and Health, Mrs. G. Hadenko; asked for volunteers for cancer dressings station on December 6 and also read a letter about Maplemount. Plans are underway on this project.

Sunshine, Mrs. A. Wright, reported sending cards to sick and shut-ins. Mrs. W. Bonnelle and Miss Elsie Winget assisting.

Ways and Means, Mrs. G. Hatch; reported plans were under way for the milk producers supper on the 6 of December.

The committee for the Christmas entertainment reported the plans were underway. Thanks were extended to Mrs. S. Sayer for the hooked rug she had donated, which realized a good profit. The winner of the rug was Mrs. Haseltine of Moe's River.

Mrs. S. Sayer gave a most interesting account of the County meeting, which had been held at the Brompton Road Community Hall. Mrs. Sayer was thanked by Mrs. Cullen for such a splendid report.

The January meeting is to be held on January 8, at the home of Mrs. G. Hadenko with Mrs. G. Decoteau as joint hostesses.

The Floating prize was won by Mrs. S. Sayer. There being no further business the president moved an adjournment.

St. Nick made his annual visit with the exchange of gifts, after which a lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. H. Clark.

Food Tips

Quick breads get their name from a quick-acting leavening, usually baking powder, that is used in them. When baking is combined with liquid, carbon dioxide, which raises the mixture, begins to form. However, in most baking powders, carbon dioxide is not completely released until the mixture is at oven temperature.

Smothered Cabbage makes a delicious, full-flavored vegetable accompaniment to many meat and poultry dishes. To make it, finely chop enough raw cabbage to make 6 cups; wash and drain well. Melt 3 tablespoons of butter or margarine in a large skillet or large saucepan. Stir in 1/4 cup fine dried bread crumbs, then slowly stir in 1 cup of milk and bring to a boil. Add 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and the well-drained cabbage and mix well. Cover and cook over very low heat, stirring occasionally, for 50 minutes. This recipe makes 8 servings.

OBITUARIES

ALBERT EDWARD MUSTY, OF JOHNVILLE.

JOHNVILLE — The sudden death of Albert Edward Musty occurred at his home near Johnsville, on Nov. 12, 1962, at the age of 64.

Born Feb. 3, 1898, at the same place he was one of eight children of the late George and Ellen (O'Boyle) Musty.

A plumber by trade, Mr. Musty served his country in World War I as a stoker, joining the R.C.N., at Esquimalt, B.C., in 1917 and receiving his honorable discharge at Halifax, N.S., in 1919. His brother, Henry, who joined up with the deceased, was lost at sea.

Returning to the Eastern Townships, Mr. Musty married Caroline Sisly Sisco, of Compton, in 1920. Besides his wife, he leaves to mourn, a daughter, Margaret May, Mrs. Edward Dolman, of Sherbrooke; a son, Mell Morrison, of Johnville; a brother, James, of Arcola, Sask.; three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Allen, of Holyoke, Mass.; Mrs. Ellen Pierce and Mrs. Jane Chaddock of Burford, Ont., and Ont.

Two other brothers predeceased him, Alfred, Piermont, N.H., and Robert of Johnville.

The service was held at St. Peter's Church, Sherbrooke, Rev. J. D. R. Franklin officiating. Hymns sung were Safe in the Arms of Jesus and Abide With Me.

Bearers were Allison and Walter Blodgett, Clifford Brown, John Campbell, Thomas Freestone, and Dawson Savage. Interment was in the Johnville Protestant Cemetery.

St. Pat's chalk up first win in cage loop downing Cookshire High 65-50, Dave Nutbrown paces winners

St. Pat's downed Cookshire Senior boys 65-50 Wednesday afternoon in the opening league game in the St. Francis Valley Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Some 150 spectators witnessed the high-scoring tilt at St. Patrick's High as the hosting Irish crew downed their Cookshire opponents.

St. Pat's led at the end of the first frame 28-17 thanks to their fast-moving offense but Cookshire made a better showing in the final frame and, even though they were outpointed 37-33, the second half was more closely contested.

David Nutbrown led the victors with 25 points while Reggie Jones had 14 and Bill Besant had 12. For Cookshire, Rueben Lake was outstanding, pointing with 30 to his credit while R. Taylor dumped in 13. Cookshire: R. Lake (3), R. Taylor (13), J. Kipling (5), B. Heath (2), E. Latewood, M. Learned, L. Learned, J. Bailey, J. Waldron, B. Treddinnick. Total—50.

St. Pat's: D. Nutbrown (25), R. Jones (14), W. Besant (12), R. Leclerc (6), D. Charlebois (5), R. Leveque (3), N. Lynch, S. Hicks, R. Boucher, R. Butterfield, D. Kingsley. Total—65.

Texan Don Massengale blisters his way to top in Mexican Open but Leonard and Thompson are close MEXICO CITY (AP)—Texan Don Massengale showed some stellar golf to wind up at the head of the pack in the Mexico City Open but two Canadians and a Mexican were close behind at the end of the first round.

Massengale, a 25-year-old who turned pro just two years ago, bettered par by five strokes Thursday as he blistered his way around the 7,553-yard Hacienda Club course in 34-33-67.

But Alvie Thompson, a Toronto 26-year-old, and veteran Stan Leonard of Vancouver, 47, weren't out of the running. They each whittled two strokes off par to finish with 70s.

Thompson had a hot putter as he ended the first nine with 33 but had a 37 on the back nine. Leonard played steady golf with two 35s.

Tied with the Canadian pair for second place was Jose Galardo of Spain.

"I sank a 10-foot putt on the first green and on the par five seventh sank a 60-footer for an eagle," Thompson told reporters happily. He added that he "goofed" some other putts.

"I three-putted on the par-four 12th for a bogey (one over par) but the ball had mud on it so there isn't much I could do about that.

"But I had other good chances. I goofed a 10-footer on the 11th to name one."

Leonard had four birdies in his 18-hole tour but also went over par twice. He was confident his 70 would keep him in the four-day chase for the $16,000 in prize money.

"I would like to have about three more 70s," the Vancouver veteran said. "That would be nice."

Tony Lema, the U.S. golfer who won this event last year, had putting troubles in the first round and finished in a six-way tie for 17th with 73.

Beavers upset Vics, Rockets stop Olympics

Rene Beaugard tallies hat-trick as Rockets wallop Olympics 10-1, move into second place in league

DRUMMONDVILLE — Lou Poliquin's Rockets were flying last night and they swept to a convincing 10-1 decision over the Montreal Olympics to move into second place in the standing. The game was marred when a spectator commenced a fight with Connie Mandala.

The Montreal player decided in the second period to settle the issue and went after the fan. This started what could have turned into a general riot if the police hadn't appeared in short order. In fact reinforcement were called before the ice could be cleared to continue.

Rene Beaugard, formerly with Granby, was a standout for the winners with his hat-trick while Fern Lemay came up with two goals in the general assault. G. Leblanc, G. Picard, Rollie Leclerc, Leon Michelin and Maurice Boivin notched the others. Gilles St-Onge saved Montreal from a shutout.

The Rockets jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first frame and added four more in the middle stanza before St. Onge got the lone Montreal tally. In the third period they battled three more by young Paquette.

Despite the big score Claude Groulx was forced to stop 32 shots while Paquette had 29. The Montreal goalie was by far a very busy man as the Rockets were all over him but he just couldn't stop all the rubber fired his way.

Montreal seemed more interested in trying to tally goals and time after time they were caught up the ice leaving young Paquette at the mercy of the sharp-shooting Rockets. Only two penalties were called along with the misconduct to Connie Mandala.

Jay Peak Ski area opens tomorrow

Jay Peak Ski area in northern Vermont announces the opening of its facilities for skiing on Saturday, December 15, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There are 4 new trails and the older ones have been groomed and many of them have the double chairlift and the new 2,000 ft. long T-bar lift will be in operation.

The Sportshop has been re-decorated and enlarged with Mrs. Blanka Baker in charge. It is already open for business for your pre-Christmas shopping. The office has been moved to the first floor of the chalet and the old office is being used for First Aid, Patrol and instructors rooms. The state has built a new road into the parking areas—a few yards below the old entrance, so watch for the sign, for the State park.

In another week, everything will be operating. A heavy snowfall the first of this week is being packed out in readiness for good skiing. Present depth is 12-30 inches and it is snowing again.

The 5th annual instructors' course for certification in NATUR TEKNIK will start on Saturday, Dec. 15, and ski weeks will begin the following day.

The dedication of the Willard trail will be on Sunday, December 16, at 2:30 p.m. at the top of the slope.

Andy Payette standout in team's loss, locals held big edge in play, sixth straight win on home ice

Sherbrooke Beavers posted their sixth consecutive victory on home ice last night when they pulled an upset by downing Granby Vics 5-1 in a wide open affair. Andy Payette, despite his team's loss, was a standout with his outstanding play and was by far the best man on the Granby club.

The Beavers forechecked like demons from the opening whistle and kept the famous Granby attackers at bay. The win moves the Sherbrooke club within one point of third place Montreal club, who dropped a 10-1 decision to Drummondville last night.

Andy Payette was a very busy man especially in the first frame, when Sherbrooke fired a total of 20 shots at him with only one getting by. In the middle session he was called on to block 10 while in the final frame he toyed with nine for a total of 38. Joe Lacoursiere turned aside 24 for his evening's work. He had only nine in the first frame along with 10 and nine in the third.

Rene Pepin, Real Rousseau, Rejean Hamelin, Claude Cardin and Larry Drouin accounted for the scoring for the Beavers while Les Strike notched the only Granby tally in the first period.

The game was a close checking affair with six minors, two majors along with two misconducts being dished out by the referee. The misconducts were given to Ray Laplante, for leaving the bench to enter into a discussion with the referee, while Rollie Rousseau of Granby got tagged for abusive language. Both were in the third period.

Les Strike opened the scoring when he picked a rebound to lift it into the net in the first frame. This was short lived as Rene Pepin, who turned in a great two-way performance, snared the disc and after deking the defense beat Payette in close.

In the second frame it was all Sherbrooke with Real Rousseau picking up a loose puck and had no trouble walking right in. The Granby defense was a little loose in their own zone. Rejean Hamelin extended the lead.

Richmond Braves edge Jets 4-3

ROCK ISLAND — Roger Smith of the Richmond Braves seems to be at the right spot at the proper time. Last Sunday he tallied the winning marker for his team and last night at the Border Arena he came up with the deciding tally to give the Braves a close 4-3 victory.

The win moved the Richmond team into sole possession of first place in the St. Francis Intermediate Hockey League. The smallest crowd of the season attended the close fixture as it was nip and tuck the whole way with the issue only settled in the third period.

Melville Parsons opened the scoring for the Jets in the first frame and Pierce Ellis made it 2-0 at the end of the frame. In the middle session Pierre-Paul Blouin potted the Braves first tally assisted by his line mates.

Jean-Guy Dion made it 3-1 for the Jets but then goals by Blouin and Smith evened the count at 3-3. Penalties helped the Braves to pick up the goals to knot the count. Nine penalties were called during the tilt.

In the final frame Roger Smith came up with his second tally of the evening when he finished off a play with St. Laurent to give his team the lead for the first time in the game. His marker was the big one and from then on the Braves came up with a strong defense to register the victory.

On Sunday the Jets will visit Magog Aces while the Braves are scheduled to play in Windsor. Both these games will depend on the condition of ice. If there is no ice they may be postponed until a later date.

when he completed a passing play with his mates to put the Beavers ahead 3-1.

In the third session Claude Cardin came up with a beautiful solo rush and after wandering around with the disc finally let go with a back-hander to catch the meshings. The final goal of the game was a passing play between Pepin, Hamelin and Drouin with the latter banging it home.

Coach Dube appeared only a few times to kill off penalties and Leon Bouchard was moved into centre between Roger Picard and Vallieres. Sherbrooke was especially strong when they were short-handed and at no time did the Vics get more than a shot when they had the advantage.

The locals will play their next home game Sunday when they will receive the Drummondville Rockets. A special attraction has been fixed for the game.

Enjoy Skiing

By ANNE HEGGTVUIT

The most important piece of ski equipment is the ski boot. If you have a poor quality or an ill-fitting one, chances are your feet are suffering and making many of your skiing hours unpleasant.

New improved boots have made skiing much easier. This is one reason why beginners are learning to ski in such short periods of time.

The boot is responsible for making the body and the skis act as one. To provide this support it must be made of a good stiff leather which will not soften too much in normal usage.

NO SUPPORT

It is no wonder that a child is easily discouraged from skiing when he is wearing rubber galoshes. There is absolutely no support and the child continually turns over on his ankles.

All parents who let their children use this type of contraption should try skiing under the same handicap. Rubber galoshes as a substitute for ski boots is a good way to completely turn a youngster away from this sport.

When buying a new boot there are some points to consider: 1) The heel must fit snugly at all times. It should therefore grip your heel very firmly when new. 2) Your toes should always have room to wiggle, otherwise they will be continually cold. 3) The design of the boot should allow sufficient forward lean and 4) Wear your own ski socks for the fitting. I prefer one light pair and one heavier pair on top. 5) The most satisfactory type of boot has an inner boot which laces up first.

Buying a child's boot is slightly different as children's feet are growing steadily. It's wise to try to find a boot which will last two years. As well, their boots are better on the large side because cold feet can be discouraging to a youngster.

You'll find your feet will not be so tender if you walk around in your boots at home before you try them out on the slopes for the first time. (TNS)

Miss Heggtevit will answer questions from skiers as space permits. Address Enjoy Skiing, in care of the Sherbrooke Daily Record.

First National College hockey and basketball tournaments to be held in March, says governors of CIAU

TORONTO (CP) — The first annual national college basketball and hockey championships were set tentatively for March 22 at a meeting of the board of governors of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union Thursday.

Assumption University of Windsor has been awarded the basketball tournament and Queen's University and Royal Military College will be co-hosts at the hockey tournament at Kingston.

Maj. W. J. (Danny) McLeod of RMC, secretary-treasurer of the CIAU, said the board feels Assumption, Queen's and RMC should also be awarded next year's tournaments to get their program off and running.

The meeting was called to discuss how the union's $18,000 grant from the physical fitness council would be spent.

The CIAU let it be known that it is not connected with the University of British Columbia's plans to represent Canada in the 1964 Olympic hockey competition.

"We're interested in international competition for the future," said Maj. McLeod, "but only when the Canadian representative has been decided as a result of national competition."

Next year the CIAU hopes to add a national cross-country championship and two football bowl games.

Bruins hold Canadiens 1-1 tie, Bobby Perreault standout

Chubby goalie came up with key saves, says Milt Schmidt, Wings edge Rangers 3-2 in close battle

"I think I've finally got this team into the proper attitude," said Boston coach Milt Schmidt above the dressing-room clamor.

His Bruins had just gained a moral victory by holding Montreal Canadiens, the defending National Hockey League champions, to a 1-1 tie Thursday night. The second-place Detroit Red Wings edged fifth-place New York 3-2 in the other scheduled game.

"Listen to this noise," said Schmidt. "They're talking it up now, on the ice and off. They're starting to enjoy the game."

"I thought we skated harder and backchecked more than they did tonight. Also Bobby (rookie goalie Bob Perreault) made a few key saves that kept us in there."

Schmidt took over from Phil Watson as coach of the last-place Bruins after they had won only one of their first 14 games.

"From now on, we won't take any losses without fighting like hell. When I started, they were accepting losses easily. It was just another loss for them."

PRaises Kennedy

Schmidt said one of his strongest forwards Thursday night was Forbess Kennedy, who scored Boston's goal midway through the first period by splitting Canadiens' defence and beating goalie Jacques Plante from close in.

The Dorchester, N.B. resident was acquired 10 days ago in a trade with Detroit for forward Andre Pronovost. Kennedy was playing with Detroit's Edmonton farm club in the Western Hockey League at the time.

Claude Provost, Montreal's digging right winger, tied it up early in the second period with a screened 25-footer that Perreault didn't seem to see.

From then on, it developed into a goalkeepers duel between Perreault and Plante. Perreault, a chubby, 31-year-old native of Trois-Rivieres, Que., outshone Plante, making 38 saves to Plante's 27.

Montreal coach Toe Blake was disgusted with his players after the game.

"They played for the tie, and got it by positional hockey. We had a seven-game undefeated string a week ago, and now we can't even beat the last-place team on our own ice."

The game moved Canadiens into a tie for third place with the idle Toronto Maple Leafs. Each team has 29 points, six behind the first-place Chicago Black Hawks.

The Wings' win in Detroit moved them within two points of the first-place Hawks and Detroit has two games in hand.

The Wings scored their three goals in the first 10 minutes of play and held on for the victory, leaving the Rangers without a win in their last six games.

Centre Alex Delvecchio assisted on all three goals to take the league lead in assists with 20. Linemates Parker MacDonald and Gordie Howe and forward Floyd Smith did the scoring.

New York came back with two goals 83 seconds apart late in the first period to make the score 3-2. Defenceman Harry Howell and veteran a centre Bronco Horvath scored, with Horvath's goal coming on a power play.

The Wings forced Ranger goalie Gump Worsley to make 38 saves, nine more than Detroit netminder Terry Sawchuk.

In the next NHL games Saturday, the Rangers visit Montreal, the Bruins are in Toronto and the Wings play in Chicago.

Packers meet Rams in big one Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — While San Francisco 49ers, with still another offensive wrinkle in their repertoire, and Cleveland Browns meet Saturday afternoon, Green Bay Packers plan on ending the National Football League season as they began it as undisputed champions of the Western Conference.

The 49ers and Browns meet in San Francisco in a game that will have no bearing on any race.

Sunday, though, the Packers, 12-1, play Los Angeles Rams in Los Angeles, needing only a victory or tie to sew up their third straight conference crown and get a second straight title game date against New York Giants, 11-2, have their final tune-up for the Dec. 30 championship game in New York by meeting Dallas Cowboys at Yankee Stadium, second-place Pittsburgh closes against Washington Redskins in Washington, Minnesota is at Baltimore and Philadelphia and St. Louis battle to avoid last place in the East. Both are 3-9-1.

Pittsburgh already is assured of a trip to the Playoff Bowl next month in Miami, and probably will meet the Lions, who will be making their third straight trip south.

In the American League, Houston can nail down its third straight Eastern title Saturday in New York against the Titans. If the Oilers lose, they still could back in, if the Oakland Raiders, losers of 19 straight, upset or tie second-place Boston Patriots in Oakland.

San Diego is at Western champion Dallas in the other game as Buffalo and Denver finished their season last week end.

The AFL title game is scheduled for Dec. 23 in the city of the Eastern champion.

Manager Sid Flaherty to visit his fighter, Eddie Machen, worries main reason for his suicide act

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Manager Sid Flaherty was expected to visit his heavyweight challenger, Eddie Machen, in the Napa State Hospital today.

Flaherty told hospital authorities over the telephone he was flying in from Montana but possibly might not arrive until Saturday.

Machen was discovered Wednesday night sitting in his car with a revolver and a suicide note.

Machen came calmly to the hospital. But later Wednesday night he knocked out two attendants before he was overcome and placed under heavy sedation.

"I don't know whether he was trying to escape or what," said Dr. Theodore K. Miller, superintendent and medical director at Napa. "He's disturbed, upset. We are taking care of his acute symptoms first."

TELLS OF WORRIES

The Negro fighter's attractive wife, Charlotte, was shaking when she left him Thursday.

"He was trying very hard to get a fight lined up with anyone," she said. "Fighting was his profession and he wanted to work at it. He was worried about family finances."

The Machens have three children, aged nine months, 21 months and five years.

A series of tests will be given Machen before a report is made in Solano County Superior Court next Tuesday.

Machen, 30, fought last in July against Cleveland Williams in Houston, Tex. It was a draw and a fight dull enough to diminish the chances of either fighter for a shot at the title.

Williams had been knocked out twice by champion Sonny Liston, but Machen had avoided hitting the canvas in a losing decision to Liston over 12 rounds in 1960.

Hotel Albert on top of heap in City Bowling League as first half ends, R. Ainslie holds best average

The first half of the City Bowling League has terminated and Hotel Albert is setting the pace according to the final standing released by N. Ainslie, league secretary.

President J. M. "Red" St. Cyr stated that the league activities will resume Monday, Jan. 7. The schedule is divided into two sections and Albert Poulin's Hotel crew holds a five point spread over L. O. Noel, the runners-up.

Romeo Ainslie of Hotel Albert rolled a single of 221 and a triple of 546 to allow his squad to earn a split with Dow Brewery in the final weekly matches. Molson's and Levasque posted wins over Manoir and Lemieux while Brunelle pulled an upset knocking over L. O. Noel. O'Keefe and P.V.M. downed Bergeron and the Elks Club three strings to one.

R. Ainslie is setting the pace for individual honors with an average of 167 while R. Provencher is second with 166 and P. Dussault holds down third position with 163. N. Ainslie and R. Jean are close with only percentage points separating them, 161.13 compared to 161.4. Jean has rolled less strings than Ainslie.

R. Ainslie holds the mark for the high single in the first half with 265 while Jean-Paul Dussault holds the top triple with his total of 632.

The standing for the first half of 12-team loop follows:

Hotel Albert	25909	85
Noel	24757	30
Dow	25304	28
Bergeron	24299	28
P.V.M.	24982	25
Levasque	24512	23
Manoir	23223	23
Molson	24430	20
O'Keefe	23779	19
Brunelle	22806	14

Elks	20397	6

Alouettes sign George Canale

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Alouettes have announced the signing of George Canale, a University of Tennessee half-back who they hope will remedy their punting problems next season.

The Eastern Football Conference club last season tried six punters who came up with a mere 38.3-yard average.

Canale, who stands five-foot-nine and weighs 185 pounds, ranked fourth in the United States last season with a 41.9-yard average on 53 punts.

He was overlooked in the recent National Football League draft, probably because of his size.

Coaches in the Southeastern Conference voted Canale the best pass defender and punt return man in the league.

Skiing in Vermont officially opens on weekend, centres look forward to busy holiday season this year

MONTPELIER, Vt.—Vermont areas ready to accommodate the many fancies of novices to experts. New trails have been carved out of the state's forest as a result of recent snowfall. Up to a foot of snow has covered Vermont mountains, adding to the existing base which brought early skiers rushing to the state for the first time what is predicted to be a long fun-filled season.

Some of the areas were partially operating last week to accommodate the early arrivals. Other areas packed their slopes to await their scheduled opening yesterday.

Pre-season registrations have been excellent according to many Vermont ski centers, who are looking forward to a banner holiday season during the next two weeks.

Edmonton players refuse to report to Pittsburgh and future of pro hockey in Western City may suffer

EDMONTON (CP)—A trade engineered by Detroit Red Wings has been wrecked by three players from Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League and raised questions about the future of professional hockey in Edmonton.

Forwards Chuck Holmes, the Flyers team captain and leading scorer, and Warren Hynes and defenceman Lou Maroon refused to shift to Pittsburgh Hornets of the American League Thursday, spilling a four-for-four trade arranged by Detroit, the National League parent club of both teams.

In a telephone interview from Detroit, Red Wings general manager Sid Abel said he has no alternative but to suspend the three players.

This raised a serious problem for Flyers' coach Charlie Rayner, who will be short three of his best players and has no replacements for his club, lagging in third place in the WHL's four-team Northern Division.

FOURTH PLAYER GOES

Defenceman Keith (Knobby) Walsh, fourth Edmonton player involved in the trade, agreed to go to Pittsburgh. In return, Rayner will get Pittsburgh defenceman John Miszuk, who played with Flyers last season.

The other Pittsburgh players who were to move to Edmonton are forwards Ray Ross and Norm Corcoran and defenceman Jack Price.

COOKSHIRE
This week's provincial broadcast was concerned with Hunter-Farmer Relationships. This forum felt it was a very pertinent subject indeed due to the greatly increased numbers of hunters and the decreased area in which they are allowed to hunt due to restrictions of their activities in many places. It is felt here that it is no doubt natural, that, after buying a license to hunt and then finding themselves barred from hunting in many places where they had been free to go in years past, hunters should feel a sense of irritation.

at the home of Miss Margaret Wilson and Mrs. Verne Wilson with 21 members present. The topic for discussion was hunter-farmer relations, and Mr. McCloud the game warden and Mrs. McCloud were present. The members enjoyed a lively answer period which followed. This forum definitely felt young hunters should be trained for both these things. There should be a course they could take and pay for their own training. They should not be issued a license until they could pass certain tests. This forum felt parents could help by teaching the use of firearms and good sportsmanship.

This forum thinks every farmer should post his land and have his name on the posters as well as the "no trespassing" in both French and English. He could still let hunters on his land if he wanted. If a hunter asked permission to hunt on his land he would most likely be a responsible person. If land was clubbed, this forum felt that farmers would save by not having fences broken down. It would be a protection. It is felt the "back" law should be put back on as the wild life situation is getting serious. It is felt that there is a serious lack of game wardens and more men should be trained for this work. There should also be a law against anyone having deer meat either canned or in a deep freeze after the first of May. The Greenleaf was read also a thank-you from a member who had been given a box of fruit, juices, etc. This Forum sent a letter of thanks to the Broadcasting Corporation for their co-operation in Farm Radio Forum broadcasting over the past 22 years. The next meeting will be on December 22, not December 29, as formerly reported. Dues have been sent in for 19 families.

YOUR GARDEN HEADQUARTERS

Prolong plant pleasure

By MARGARET E. DOVE

Many colorful plants are grown for the Christmas season. Recipients of these holiday gift plants so often ask: "What care do the plants need?" The poinsettia, an inhabitant of warm regions, requires direct sunlight, a warm, even temperature, plenty of water. Drafts and sudden drops in temperature along with drying out cause yellowing and withering of leaves.

Azaleas must be kept away from direct sunshine. An east or west window and preferably a cool room with plenty of water are their needs. Spraying the plants with water every few days proves helpful. Because this plant forms flower buds immediately for another year, faded blossoms should be picked off (not cut) promptly.

BLOOM FOR MONTHS
Cyclamen require a cool location, direct light with a little sun and a drink of water at room temperature. The attractive leaves should be wiped off weekly with a moist soft cloth. With proper care cyclamen should continue in top form blooming at least three months.

Kalanchoe needs abundant sunshine, freedom from drafts and a fair amount of moisture; too much water causes it to rot. This succulent herb bears small cheery crimson flowers that last for weeks without fading. Cut flowers as they fade and the small shiny leaves will last for months. In late spring the plant may be set in the open garden, then lifted and potted in early fall for indoor blooming again.

PEPPER OF WATER
The pepper plant or indoor Christmas pepper requires a cool location with sunshine.

When splicing electrical cord take your time and be careful

By MR. FIX
Making long lengths of rope out of short pieces is simple enough; just tie them together. Making long lengths of electrical cord out of short pieces is a little more involved. Instead of knotting the pieces together it is necessary to splice them, making the connection electrically as well as mechanically sound. Splicing will be needed where electric cords prove too short, where breaks occur or where insulation has become frayed.

It is also natural that property owners and especially farmers should in many cases feel irritation also, when they see bands of hunters going onto their land without even a "May I?" It was stressed here that when some irresponsible hunter leaves gaps open, cattle are allowed to stray and other damage is done the farmer's irritation turns to outright indignation and he is likely to join those who are advocating clubs or using other means to keep hunters off their land. In all fairness, however, this forum must say that the irresponsible hunter who does damage is not too common. This forum thinks the vast majority of people engaging in this sport do respect the rights of others. This forum thinks that there are ways in which hunter-farmer relations could be kept on an amiable basis the most important of which is education. It is felt that instruction should be given to youngsters in the use of firearms before being sold a license. They should also be instructed as to their responsibility when hunting in promoting good relations with those on whose land they are allowed to hunt. Other hunters might also profit by observing the courtesies in the latter case. This forum believes that farmers themselves might help by realizing that there are two sides to the case and using forbearance except where other means become necessary. This forum thinks changes should be made in the sale of licenses. Possibly this should be done by the Game Wardens. This of course would mean more game wardens and more expense, the cost of which in addition to education should be borne primarily by the hunters themselves. This forum would like to see game regulations uniform in this area south of the St. Lawrence and East to Lewis by the reinstating the ban of shooting female deer and fawns. This, the forum thinks, would conserve the game and at the same time lessen the danger of accidents from shooting. This meeting was the largest of the year and was held at the home of Mrs. E. Clarke. The next meeting of this forum will be held Jan. 7, with Mr. and Mrs. S. H. McVetty.

THIRD RANGE
The regular meeting of the Third Range forum was held at the Winget home with 14 members present. After the secretary read the Greenleaf the following questions were discussed on Farmer-Hunter Relationships. (1) Should young hunters be trained in the art of handling fire arms and the sport of hunting? Yes, this forum feels that young hunters should be trained in the art of handling firearms and the sport of hunting. This should be compulsory before a hunter's license is issued to them. (1b) If so, by whom, and who pays the cost? This forum feels that the government should arrange for this instruction since they realize the revenue from the licenses. If this was provided by clubs it would be limited. (2) What financial benefit do you anticipate from closing on clubbing your property, and how can this be realized? Clubbing property would not be beneficial in this area, it was felt here. (3) Do you think the present fish and game laws are adequate? If not, what changes do you suggest? This forum thinks that the fish and game laws are adequate if they could be enforced and a heavier penalty for irregularities. Following the discussion period, plans were made for our Christmas meeting next week. Cards were played at three tables. The hostess served lunch. Next meeting will be held December 17, at Mr. and Mrs. William Bonnallie's with exchange of gifts.

EASY TO KEEP
Begonia semperflorens coming in colors of rose, pink and white are among the easiest of house plants for ordinary home conditions, flowering well in north windows or other locations out of direct sun. Keep these plants moist, pinch off stems when they become too long and root same in water for new plants. Dish gardens and containers, planted with non-flowering plants are best kept in a shady window or away from direct hot sun. Containers holding these plants are usually not porous and do not have an opening in the bottom for drainage. Therefore, plants must be watered more carefully than those in earthenware pots with drain holes. Thrive in humid, warm atmosphere. Keep African violets out of drafts, water carefully with warm water, give weak sun and warmth and regular feeding. (TNS)

U.C.W. officers are installed at annual meeting
NORTH HATLEY — The North Hatley United Church Women held their annual business meeting and installation of officers, at the Community Hall, on the evening of Dec. 3, with 10 members and one guest present. The annual reports of officers and committee heads, reviewed a busy and successful year. Mrs. K. Feltham was in the chair and installed officers for 1963, as follows: President, Mrs. Ronald Read; vice-president, Mrs. Claude Smith; secretary, Mrs. R. E. Alworth; treasurer, Mrs. R. Sterling. Mrs. Feltham thanked the retiring officers, and wished the new officers success in the new year. Rev. K. Feltham, joined the group for refreshments, which were served by Mrs. N. Cairns.

U.C.W. officers re-elected at Kinnear's Mills
KINNEAR'S MILLS — The U.C.W. held their December meeting at the home of Mrs. W. S. Allan at 11 a.m. on December 8, when approximately 25 were present for dinner. The slate of officers for 1963 was presented with all officers being re-elected. Plans were made to have a Christmas tree on Dec. 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the church hall. Two life membership certificates and pins were presented to Mrs. R. L. Allan and Mrs. J. M. Kinghorn, by Rev. O. Carmichael. A Christmas program followed the theme being, The Three Wise Men. The leading part was taken by Mrs. M. Nugent, with members and visitors taking part. The Explorers sang a Christmas hymn and carols were sung throughout the program. The Christmas thank offering amounted to $34.70.

Centenary S.S. pupils guests at annual party
STANSTEAD — The annual Sunday school party for the children of Centenary United Church was held on Dec. 8, and was well attended. A program presented by the students opened with a recitation of welcome by Susan Wallace. Other recitations were given by Ann Taylor, Judy Tilton, Frank Entwistle, David Tilton, and Debbie St. Martin. Jeri Dewey and Randy Dewey sang a carol duet, followed by more recitations, by Joyce Norton, Sandra Majury, Keith Mosher and Ronnie Goodsell. Wesley Webb, Michael Clowery and Dougie St. Martin, sang a carol, and Sharon St. Martin, recited. Barry and Randy Dewey, Terry Badger, Wendy Winter, Jeri Dewey and Pearl Wallace sang a Christmas carol. A very fine drama was presented by the junior students of the Sunday School, Barry Wallace, as narrator. The program concluded with a recitation of farewell, by Dale Goodsell. Rev. A. Rose, pastor of the church, in his remarks, thanked the Sunday School students and the teachers for their splendid effort. Two comic cartoon films were shown by Mr. Rose. Carols were also sung during the afternoon by the assembly. Bruce Chamberlain was master of ceremonies. After supper had been served at the festively decorated long tables, by the women of the Evening Unit, Santa Claus arrived with a gift of fruit and candy for each boy and girl.

Officers elected at YPU meeting in church hall
MELBOURNE — The Young Peoples' Union of L'Eglise des Cantons de L'Est held their regular meeting and a supper in the church hall on Dec. 9, at 4 p.m. The election of officers for the ensuing year was as follows: President, Miss Jean Laroche; vice-president, Raymond Fortier; recording secretary, Patrick Simeone; secretary-treasurer, David Fortier; representative to other church activities, Miss Louise Laroche; assistant to the executive committee, the Misses Alex Laroche and Linda Gifford. Part of the meeting was spent in rehearsing for the Christmas pageant, which will be given on Dec. 23.

Install officers of Ashlar Lodge at Coaticook
COATICOOK — Officers of Ashlar Masonic Lodge were officially installed on Dec. 5, with Rt. Wor. Bro. Mosher, of Ascot Lodge, Lennoxville, as installing officer. The first part of the meeting was conducted by Wor. Bro. Gordon Thompson, retiring Master. Rt. Wor. Bro. Mosher then installed the following officers: Wor. Master, Charles Wells; Senior Warden, Wor. Bro. Austin Grady; Junior Warden Bro. Carl Mayhew; Senior Deacon, Bro. George Laming; Junior Deacon, Bro. Samuel Green; secretary, Wor. Bro. Ivor Whitehouse; treasurer, Wor. Bro. Stuart Low; Chaplain, Rt. Wor. Bro. Stanley Beerworthy; Director of Ceremonies, Rt. Wor. Bro. Arnold Todd; Tyler, Bro. Will Parker. Following the meeting, a supper was enjoyed and a social hour spent, at which brethren from Lake Magog Lodge, Magog, and other visitors expressed their best wishes to the new officers. Wor. Bro. George Sarasin, presented Rt. Wor. Bro. Ralph Mosher with a gift of a wall barometer on behalf of the members of Ashlar Lodge in appreciation for his kindness in installing the officers for the third consecutive year. It was decided that brethren from Ashlar would visit Lennoxville Lodge on Dec. 27, when Rt. Wor. Bro. Ralph Mosher will install the officers of Ascot Lodge.

Ontario Probes Tobacco
Ontario Agricultural Minister Stewart has appointed a committee of enquiry to review the province's tobacco industry. The three-man committee includes Dr. Fred Stinson, chairman and a former official in the organization of tobacco marketing; Mr. Lawrence Kerr, prominent Chatham farmer; and Mr. Albert C. Ashforth of Toronto. The enquiry, set up following the recent closing of the fall tobacco auctions, will examine the industry fully, including production, processing, manufacturing and domestic and export marketing. Indications are that the objective of the study will be to find out why the auctions are not operating as effectively as in the past. Apparently the buyers bids have too often fallen short of the reserves bid negotiated between the producer's marketing board and the buyers. This results in a "no-sale", and after this occurs several times, some lots of tobacco are being returned to farm storage.

SWEETSBURG
Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Duke, of Barre Street, entertained at a family Christmas dinner party on Dec. 9, for Mr. and Mrs. James Duke, who are leaving shortly to spend the festive season in the States. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Teel and daughter, Miss Patricia Teel of Glen Farnham. Mr. Victor Bussell was in Rock Island recently. Mr. John Sharp, jr., of Montreal, is spending the holiday season with his grandmother, Mrs. C. A. Robinson. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Miller and daughter, Evelyn, of Bromes visited Mrs. Christina McLaughlin when returning from Montreal, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dareth Miller.

BARNSTON
Mrs. W. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Burton, of Waterville, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sutton, of Huntingville, Mrs. E. Gagnon, and Mr. Albert Wheeler, of Lennoxville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Sutton. Mrs. John Mackinnon spent two days in Montreal, the guest of relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buckland were guests of Mrs. Hattie Gilbert in Way's Mills, and visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drew. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Sutton spent a day in Sherbrooke.

House Debates Planning
The government's new economic development boards will be devoted to planning for long-term development. This was the gist of Mines minister Martineau's statement in presenting the legislation to the Commons. But Mr. Martineau did not call it planning. Mr. Diefenbaker has not departed that far from private enterprise yet. The Opposition parties are not happy with the government's development boards. They approve of the planning idea but they feel that Mr. Diefenbaker pilfered the idea from them (except for Social Credit).

For the national economic development board, the legislation provides for a full-time chairman, and part-time members. The chairman will be a full-time professional probably with top experience in economics and business, and responsible for directing a high-calibre professional staff. The Board's task will be to examine and recommend measures for the continual economic development of Canada. A similar organization is expected for the Atlantic development board and the activities of the two will be co-ordinated. Last week there were efforts to bring the national productivity council into the organization of the two new development boards. This plan was reported as being promoted in Ottawa by some members of the productivity council and the Social Credit leader Thompson. The plan seemed to be that the new boards would be the research arm of the council. But it seemed doubtful that this was any more than publicity. If Mr. Diefenbaker plans to make the development boards effective he may not wish to have them saddled with the adverse criticism of the productivity council.

U.S. Beef Increase Gradual
Recent drops in cattle marketings (down about 4,500 head) tended to stabilize prices. But the drop in choice and good slaughter cattle failed to push prices up. Good steers remained at $27.50 to $28.00 (Toronto) this week. With marketings now expected to taper off seasonably, prospects are that this price will at least hold until February or March. In the U.S. the supply of fed beef in the West is now good and marketings there have increased. But in the mid-West no significant increase in fed cattle marketings is expected until February. Most of the fall increase in U.S. mid-West feed lot placements was in light cattle and calves. These won't be ready until spring. So the build-up in U.S. fed cattle marketings won't

House Examines Food Contamination
Food contamination by pesticides will be investigated along with the control of the introduction, marketing and use of drugs. Health Minister Monthey has given notice of a motion to appoint a 15-member Commons committee to carry out this task. The increasing use of chemicals to control weeds, insects and fungus and bacterial diseases of plants and animals has widened the range of foodstuffs which might be affected by residues dangerous to human health. A thorough examination by the committee, which will have power to send for persons and papers, should give valuable results. Farm Share Of Exports Decline
Volume of Canadian exports of farm and food products has increased substantially since 1950. But the relative importance of these in the total of exports has declined. Wheat and flour considered separately have followed the same pattern. Total domestic exports doubled between 1948-50 and 1962, increasing from $3 billion to $6 billion. Farm and food products accounted for over one-third in 1948-50 and less than one-quarter in the 12 months ending September 1962. Wheat and flour dropped from 14.4 per cent of exports to 11.0 per cent in the same period. Metal and minerals were the big gainers, quadrupling in volume and rising from 16.9 per cent to 31.6 per cent.

Seminar Supports Lands Survey
A recent seminar on land capability supported unanimously the need for an early survey of land resources. Such a survey would include land capabilities for agriculture, forestry, recreation, wildlife and urban planning, but different systems of classification may be needed for each. With the seminar information as a foundation, plans will be laid for carrying out the survey.

Commonwealth relations may be tested next year

LONDON (CP) — The Commonwealth, already strained by the expanding Common market, the crisis in India and its own changing complexion, may in 1963 be tested as never before. As in 1962, the Commonwealth leaders will again be mainly preoccupied by the prospects of Britain entering the European Economic Community.

BY ROD CURRIE

Other issues more fundamental to the spirit of Commonwealth brotherhood arose out of India's border disputes with Communist China and with Pakistan. When the Indian-Chinese fighting was at its height, Prime Minister Macmillan was reported considering a review of Commonwealth trade with China which gets much of its wheat from Canada and Australia and its rubber from Ceylon. Pakistan, feuding with India for years over the Kashmir issue, was angered by the flow of arms to India from Britain and other countries which, she claimed, could eventually be used against her.

In the new year the Commonwealth probably will have to face up to the facts of life with the Common Market and the weakening effect if Britain enters. And, with the continuing troubles in India, the members—particularly those dealing with China and those providing military aid to India—will have to reassess the extent of their obligations to fellow members.

In fact it may well be the year in which the future of the fast-expanding union will be re-plotted, in which it will be seen whether the ties of mutual interest, trust and sentiment will remain strong, particularly in the eyes of the newer members whose sentimental attachments are not as strong as those of the old white dominions.

Many observers feel, however, that the newly independent countries, balancing off the old resentments of colonialism against the benefits of membership, will cling to the Commonwealth as the most beneficial and effective grouping for co-operation in such things as education and technical assistance.

The Common Market issue came to a head when the Commonwealth leaders met here in September. Macmillan insisted Britain could best serve the Commonwealth from a position of prosperity within the market grouping.

His listeners responded with polite applause but only two of the 14 Trinidad and Cyprus expressed support.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker put forth his "alternative" plan for a meeting of the countries of the Commonwealth, the Common Market, the European Free Trade Area, the United States, Japan and other "like-minded" nations to deal with trading problems in a way mutually advantageous.

The year also saw the collapse of the 10-island West Indies federation when Trinidad and Jamaica, the two largest and wealthiest members, withdrew. The others have decided to try to form a new federation.

Besides Jamaica and Trinidad, other countries represented at a prime ministers' conference for the first time were Sierra Leone and Tanganyika. The four brought about 15,000 people into the Commonwealth and before the year's end Uganda, with 7,000,000 people, gained independence and membership.

In 1963 the Federation of Malaysia—combining Singapore, the territories of North Borneo and Sarawak and, it is hoped, the state of Brunei, with a combined population of about 3,000,000—is expected to gain independence and membership.

Of the remaining British protectorates striving towards independence, Kenya presents the greatest problems. Recently Malcolm MacDonald, son of the Labor Party's first prime minister and former high commissioner in Canada, was named governor of the county which faces financial problems, unemployment and grave lawlessness.

The government said this shrewd diplomat was picked because the need in Kenya now is more political and diplomatic than administrative. African leaders in Kenya replied that they wanted independence, not a new governor.

And the British can look for more unrest in the tottering Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland in the New Year. At a London conference it was agreed black-ruled Nyasaland, determined to secede from the three-country federation, should have independence.

Federal Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky has apparently lost his battle to save the federation and no doubt Northern Rhodesia will eventually want to follow in Nyasaland's footsteps.

Commonwealth officials here still have hopes that, should the federation collapse, the three countries will be able to set up some form of loose association. The alternative could be that Southern Rhodesia would be tempted into a linkup with South Africa which withdrew from the Commonwealth after being criticized for its racial policies.

Air Transport Command sets distance flying record

OTTAWA (CP)—Flt. Lt. D. B. (Doc) O'Connor sat for the equivalent of 31 days in 1962 at the controls of a CC-106 Yukon long-range transport, moving men, supplies and equipment to most parts of the world.

This 29-year-old first pilot of 437 "Husky" Squadron at the RCAF's Trenton, Ont., station is one of the hundreds of aircrew in the Air Transport Command who contributed to significant achievements in air transportation by the air force in 1962.

Planes of the command chalked up thousands of hours of flying time in Canada, on flights to Canadian military bases in Europe and in servicing Canada's military personnel in the Middle East, the Congo and the Far East.

LONGEST FLIGHT

One Yukon transport flew non-stop from Tokyo to Trenton in 17 hours and three minutes, a distance of 6,750 miles—the longest flight in RCAF history.

Doc O'Connor and others like him in Transport Command are among the few members of the air force who are able to see for themselves the world-wide picture of the RCAF in action. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Dinnes O'Connor of Capreol, Ont., Doc joined the RCAF 11 years ago and flew Dakota transports for nine years before joining 437 Squadron a year ago.

During his service he has logged 7,300 hours of flying time, equivalent to 304 days in the air. In other words he has spent nearly one of the 11 years he's served in the air force sitting at the controls of transport planes.

BECOMES ROUTINE

Long-distance flights have become routine to him after flying the largest aircraft built in Canada for 750 hours or some 31 days.

"The first few non-stop trips from Trenton to Marville, France, were novel," he says. "But I've got more than 50 crossings in my log book now and that makes the normal run routine."

A routine flight in a Yukon consists of cruising at altitudes of 30,000 feet at speeds of more than 400 miles an hour with 100 tons of aircraft and load.

List of comments designed to make Santa Claus mad

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that make a street corner Santa Claus want to turn in his bell:

"Here's a penny for you . . . and a penny for each of your dear little elves."

"I'm from the city licence department. If you don't have a licence to collect, I'll have to call the Black Maria and give you a free ride downtown."

"Oh, Grace, go ahead. I dare you to pull his beard off."

"I'm the inspector, McGillicuddy. Let me sniff your breath. If I smell liquor, you'll turn in that uniform this minute."

"Is it true that except during the Christmas season all you Santa Clauses hang out down on the Bowery?"

"Sure, I'm sure it's Uncle Jake. Nobody—not even Santa Claus—ever had a nose as big and red as Uncle Jake's."

"Uncle, mama said to tell you she didn't care whether or not it's against the rules for you to go shopping in your costume. She says that if you don't stop and pick up a couple of pounds of boiling beef on the way home, you won't get any dinner tonight."

"Stop dinky — don't get that bell, fellow. It's making my hangover worse."

FIRE HAZARD?

"I'm from the fire department. I suppose you have a certificate guaranteeing that beard is fireproof under ordinary wind conditions. That's what the regulations clearly state."

"Now, standing out in the cold doesn't bother him. After all, he lives at the North Pole, doesn't he?"

"What're you doing going around in a red suit like that? You some kind of a Communist nut, or something?"

"I'm the inspector, McGillicuddy. The Santa Claus in the next block is collecting twice as much as you. Unless you do better, you might as well forget about hanging up your stocking on Christmas Eve."

"Frankly, in my opinion he's seen a lot more pink elephants in his life than he has reindeer."

"His nose was red when I passed him on the way to work this morning. Now it seems to be turning blue."

"All I can say is, daddy, if he's going to come down our chimney, we'd better start widening it right now."

DIFFER OVER ECM — Opposition to Britain joining the European Common Market came from Canada's Prime Minister Diefenbaker, seen chatting with British Prime Minister Macmillan at the 15-nation Commonwealth conference in London last September. Mr. Diefenbaker's "alternative" plan called for discussions among all like-minded countries, including the United States and Commonwealth members, to deal with world-wide trading problems. Plans for another workshop made at meeting of United Church board

COATICOOK — A meeting of the official board of the Ayer's Cliff, Coaticook and Way's Mills pastoral charge was held in the hall of Sisco Memorial United Church on Dec. 6, with Rev. Geoffrey Joycece presiding. The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn, with Mrs. Nelson Pierce, of Ayer's Cliff, presiding at the piano, and a prayer by Mr. Joycece.

A report of a one-day seminar held recently at Cornwall was given by Mr. Lamborne, of Ayer's Cliff, who attended with Mr. Joycece and Rev. Mr. Rogers, of Beebe.

Mr. Joycece reported on the success of the one day workshop an audio-visual aids, held at Lennoxville, and congratulated Mrs. Carl Mayhew one of the staff which planned and led the workshop sessions. Alfred Keeler, who attended the workshop and was named convener of a planning committee for another workshop on the pastoral charge level, reported that plans were being made to hold a one-day workshop in this charge early in the new year. Lyle Thompson, treasurer of the board, gave a financial report and also presented a proposed budget for the coming year.

Mr. Joycece reported for the committee which looked into the plan to print a monthly newsletter for the charge. The venture has proved to be so successful that an additional 50 copies a month will be printed to meet the demand. Contributions to the bulletin fund have nearly covered the cost of publishing for the year.

The New Year's Communion service will be held on the first Sunday in January at Coaticook and on the second Sunday at Ayer's Cliff. The date for Way's Mills will be decided later.

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and the ladies of Sisco Memorial served coffee and doughnuts.

Richmond Unit 4 gives Christmas cheer to needy

RICHMOND — Unit 4 of the Richmond and Melbourne United Church Women held the last meeting of the year in the church parlor. Mrs. Stanley Bushey was in charge of the of the devotions. Twenty-nine calls were reported.

A satisfactory account was given of the Christmas sale and tea held on Dec. 5.

Unit 4 is helping with donations towards Christmas stockings for needy families to be left with Mrs. Lyall Simpson; donations for the children at the Bondville Home to be given to Miss Edith McCourt; and gifts to be left with Mrs. C. Pope to be sent to the group's adopted Chinese boy for his birthday in January.

This Unit is to be in charge of decorating the church for Christmas.

Mrs. B. Moffat presented the slate of officers for 1963, as follows: Captain, Mrs. B. W. Armatage; assistant captain, Mrs. P. Frazer; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. G. W. Barrington; program convener, Ms. C. Pope. Following the meeting the hostesses, Mrs. M. Griffiths and Mrs. C. Pope served refreshments.

I wish to thank the English-speaking people for their patronage and I hope to continue to serve them.

Stop signs installed

MAGOG — (Special) — Temporary stop signs have been placed at the intersection of Sherbrooke and St. Patrick Streets here pending installation of a new type of traffic control light system.

The new signals will have one foot in diameter lens on the lights. They'll also be mounted on posts as the old lights were. The Sherbrooke and St. Patrick Streets intersection is one of Magog's busiest.

Christmas only post office opens

CHRISTKINDL, Austria (Reuters)—A special post office in this tiny Austrian village of Christkindl—or Christ Child—has opened as usual to put its postmark on Christmas cards and letters from all over the world.

Every year, from Dec. 2 to Jan. 6, hundreds of thousands of stamp collectors from Austria and abroad route their Christmas mail through this village, which is too small to have its own post office at other times. When the post office opened for this year, some 3,000 cards and letters had already arrived, most of them from Australia, New Zealand, Africa, the United States and West Germany.

Cultured pearls are tops in gift appeal

Pearls are wisdom, so far as Christmas gifts for women are concerned. Regardless of what forms, shape, size or price tag pearls carry, they are a most important accent in the fashion picture.

The ageless beauty and flattery of pearls have been enhanced by a new fashion appeal to make them one of the most wanted gifts of all this Christmas.

Simulated pearl necklaces come in all sizes, shapes, lengths to fill a wide variety of fashion needs. Multiple strands of tiny simulated pearls are twisted, draped and climaxed by a beautiful clasp to make the necklaces and bracelets; they are matched by earrings reflecting fashion's new "soft" trend.

Others, gently graduated, are limited to a 22-inch length and paired with strands of simulated lapis, jade or topaz to give the necklace a whole new fashion appeal.

Bibs of three to five strands boast of beautiful stone-set clasps that are meant to be worn to the front for fashion show. Chokers, single or multiple strands of simulated pearls, enhance any wardrobe.

Cultured pearls also feature shorter lengths of 18 to 22 inches to frame the new necklaces. No graduation or a very gentle graduation is the newest mark of cultured pearl necklaces.

Enchanted Oriental pearls continue their ageless appeal with necklaces, earrings, rings and pins that are never-to-be forgotten gifts.

Oriental pearls, singly or in a cluster, also highlight some of the most beautiful pins on the gift market. However, whether real, cultured or simulated, they give a glow of lasting beauty to any jewelry.

MAGOG — (Special) — Magog has more Christmas decorations along its streets than in any previous year. Most of the decorations are city owned, and erected at the request of the merchants and the Magog Chamber of Commerce.

To the individual merchant, the lights and special decorations are all very well, and definitely appreciated, but what he is most interested in is traffic, and to get the crowd, display windows are dressed up gayer than ever. However, the trend is for less in the windows, providing shoppers a better opportunity to see inside stores, and the results have been extremely gratifying to date.

As one merchant stated, "We seem to have proven the theory, that if you show shoppers what you have inside your store as well as in the window, they'll stop to look around," adding, "and that's when they buy!"

This merchant and others have boasted that they've gone all out this year to stock popular, attractively priced lines.

The Magog OTJ Association has a record deficit for 1962, reported by Miss Lucille Pare, secretary-treasurer of the organization. The Association exceeded its expenses by $1,061.10. These deficits were mainly caused by the exchanging of electrical fixtures, buying of playground equipment, a record library, cost of transporting children and higher salaries to the recreation supervisors hired during the year.

MAGOG — (Special) — Very few fires have been registered in Magog this year, however, the municipal fire department is taking into account the danger posed by Christmas trees, and are warning residents to take all precautions against inflammable decorations.

The fire department also warns people in Magog to guard against overloads when assembling decorations and lights, which they note is one of the prime causes for fires in December.

MAGOG — (Special) — Light is the main theme of Christmas decorations in Mexico City.

Thousands of multi-colored bulbs illuminate more than 12 miles of streets in the centre of the city and other busy commercial districts.

More than 120,000 bulbs turn night into day from Dec. 7 until Jan. 10 at a cost of more than 500,000 pesos ($40,000).

Illuminated biblical and fairy tale scenes, animals, Mexican Indians and "charros" (cowboys) decorate public parks and many streets and boulevards.

BOYNTON — Mrs. Margaret Mosher, Beebe, Miss Beverley Mosher, Gold Beach, Oreg., Mr. and Mrs. Newborn Beake, Ayer's Cliff, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cooper.

Magog is indeed a bustling community this time of year, and the merchants are without a doubt the busiest of any other time in their fiscal term and for the shoppers, they're promised better values, greater selections and truly the best dollar-for-dollar buys.

Annual event

Concert, prize-giving held at Beebe Elementary School

BEEBE — The annual concert and prize giving took place at the Elementary School, Dec. 7. The auditorium was filled and the concert was presented from a stage trimmed in Christmas decor against a backdrop of a painted forest.

The Grade 1 rhythm band was again well received as they opened the program in their colorful costumes.

An operetta, The Selfish Giant, was well presented by pupils from Grade 11 and 111.

Grade VII was represented by square dancers and Barry Rediker rendered a vocal solo. A demonstration of physical fitness was also given by Grade VII students.

The program closed with a medley of Christmas carols sung by Grades IV-VII.

Mrs. Howard Cass, who presided at the piano was accompanist throughout the program, she was presented with a corsage as a token of appreciation for her work with the children.

In his remarks, the principal, Harry Costello, stressed the need of co-operation between parents and teachers, especially with the pupils who are not reaching desirable marks.

Festive air marks Christmas tea held by Richmond-Melbourne UCW

RICHMOND — The U.C.W. of Richmond and Melbourne United Church, held its annual Christmas tea and sale in the church hall on Dec. 5.

The hall was festively decorated in the traditional manner with small lighted trees, pine boughs, red bows, cones and bells on the pillars. Sparkling snowflakes and ornaments on the dark drapes provided a contrasting background for the gay decorations.

The tea was convened by Mrs. A. Galbraith and the guests were received by the president Mrs. A. T. Smith and Mrs. Lyall Simpson.

The tea table was covered with a Christmas cloth and centered with an attractively arranged basket of evergreens and poinsettias, flanked by red tapers. Ladies who poured tea were: Mrs. J. Cripps, Miss E. McCourt, Mrs. D. Perkins and Miss R. Lanigan. Replenishers were: Mrs. J. S. MacNaughton, Mrs. H. Hills and Mrs. W. L. Gee.

The small tables were covered with lace cloths and centered with candles. The guests were served by Mrs. F. Wintle, Mrs. M. Lodge, Mrs. M. Armstrong, Mrs. M. Hughes, Mrs. B. Rodgers, Mrs. M. Griffith, Mrs. E. Wentworth, Mrs. E. Stimson, Mrs. D. Dykeman, Mrs. G. Taylor, and Mrs. P. Taylor. Additional tea tables were set up in the church parlor, which was seasonally decorated for the occasion. Serving the guests were Mrs. J. Barrington, Miss V. Miller, Mrs. P. Frazer, Mrs. S. Bushey, Mrs. D. Kerr, and Mrs. J. Hawker Jr.

The kitchen committee, under the convenship of Mrs. W. L. Gee and Mrs. C. E. Manning, consisted of Mrs. R. Ewing, Mrs. R. McMannis, Mrs. R. Berry, Mrs. W. Boa, Miss M. Boast, Mrs. E. Healy, Mrs. J. S. MacNaughton, Miss F. Fletcher, Mrs. E. Bricker, Mrs. H. MacKenzie, Mrs. C. Osborne, Mrs. S. Husk, Mrs. C. McMannis, with Mrs. E. Hutchings, Mrs. D. Stevens and Mrs. D. Armstrong making tea.

The attractive display of home cooking for sale was presided over by Mrs. S. Billson, Mrs. C. Cote, Mrs. W. Reed, Mrs. F. Fleck, Mrs. H. Hills, Mrs. M. McCart, Mrs. F. Copping, with Mrs. F. Roster and Mrs. V. R. Beattie as cashiers.

The variety table, sponsored by Unit I, was in charge of Mrs. W. J. Ewing, Miss R. Lanigan, Mrs. E. W. Birch and Mrs. G. E. Chamberlain.

Unit 2 featured a display of aprons with Mrs. D. Fletcher and Miss H. Boast in charge.

Unit 3, was responsible for a table of knitted articles, baby dolls and clothing, which was taken care of by Mrs. W. Moreland, Mrs. C. Johnston, Mrs. H. Rick and Mrs. J. Gagnon.

Unit 4's white elephant table and surprise boxes were looked after by Mrs. Elmer Stimson, Mrs. G. W. Barrington and Mrs. R. Turner.

Worst in world children's shoes made in Canada

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada leads the western world in producing the worst conglomeration of children's shoe styles and shapes, says Roy Arnold, 49-year-old father of six, consulting engineer and operator of a children's shoe store in suburban North Vancouver.

He says the pointed toe that has been gaining popularity in children's shoe styles in recent years slowly but surely causes crippling deformities in young feet.

He says he got the British Columbia division of the Canadian Medical Society to agree with his belief there should be minimum design standards that would eliminate inferior and dangerous children's shoes in future.

"Because to have no standards to work to, the manufacturers just turn out exactly what they feel caters to consumer demand. They know that children like to copy their parents so they build children's shoes the same way they build adult's shoes. But the difference is that children's feet are growing and are easily deformed by bad-fitting shoes."

The medical body passed a resolution calling for a minimum standard of design of lasts for children's shoes, controls of advertising claims of "correctness" in shoe design, and a form of certification for shoe salesmen in children's departments to ensure proper fitting.

Mr. Arnold has written to the federal health department about his views on pointed shoes.

The original of said By-Law No. 1261 is kept at the City Hall, in the Municipal Archives, where everybody can take communication thereof.

The By-Law will take effect on December 28, 1962. Given at Sherbrooke, this 11th day of December 1962.
