JAPS FAIL IN ASSAULT.

Report Says Desperate and Bloody Two Days Attack on Port Arthur Ends in Repulse.

DETAILS OF KUROKI'S VICTORY.

Russians Forced to Retire From Strong Positions—Report That Hai Cheng Has Fallen—Kuropatkin Reports to Emperor.

BY WIRELESS FROM PORT ARTHUR.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.—(Special)—A despatch received by the Russian consul at Chefoo, by wireless telegraph from Port Arthur, states that a desperate three days' assault on Port Arthur has failed.

The earth trembled under the terrific cannonading which began July 26th, and ended during the night of July 28th, when the battle ceased.

The Japanese in their repeated assaults against Eastern forts on hills through barbed wire entanglements, and over mines, displayed fanatical bravery.

They were mowed down by the hail of shells and bullets and explosion of mines under their feet.

Their losses are estimated at 20,000.

The Russian losses, the report states, were about 4,000.

This message, it is considered, bears the stamp of reliability and is generally credited in the Russian capital.

Confirmatory news is anxiously awaited.

JAPS CLAIM CAPTURE OF STRONG POSITION.

Tokio, Aug. 3. — It is reported here that after three days of desperate fighting the Japanese have captured Shantaikow, one of the important defences of Port Arthur.

In the Japanese-Chinese war, when the Japanese besieged Port Arthur, Shwangtaikow, probably identical with the Shantaikow referred to in the above despatch from Tokio, was used by the Japanese as the mustering place of the various battalions of the first division, who gathered together on the south side of the Shantaikow, or Taikow, mountain, situated north of Port Arthur, previous to the assault of the fortress. Shantaikow is situated on the railroad leading from Port Arthur to Kin Chou, and is between Ingentzi Bay and Victoria Bay, but closer to the former than to the latter. Roughly speaking, Shantaikow is about ten miles from the actual fortress of Port Arthur. It is a position of great natural strength commanding a broaf plain leading to Wum Chiatun, another strong position on hills about four miles from the fortress.

DETAILS OF JAPANESE VICTORY.

Tokio, August 3. — General Kuroki has administered a severe defeat to the Russian forces which defended the Russian east flank at Liao Yang, winning separate actions at Yushulikzu and Yangse Pass. These two places are 26 miles apart, but the two actions were fought at the same time. The Russians held strong positions. The thermometer registered over 110 degrees Fahrenheit, and the soldiers suffered cruelly from heat exhaustion.

At Yushulikzu the Russians had two divisions of infantry and some artillery, and they resisted the Japanese assaults vigorously.

Both attacks were begun at dawn Sunday, July 31st. At Yushulikzu the Japanese carried the Russian right and left wings, but on account of the strength of the main Russian position they were unable to press the attack. The two armies rested Sunday night, facing each other.

At dawn on Monday, the Japanese resumed the attack, and by noon they had dislodged the enemy, and had driven him four miles to Laoholing.

At Yangse Pass also the Japanese were successful.

The artillery opened on the enemy; and the infantry moved forward from Makumeza. The attack on this place was made at 1 o'clock on Sunday, and by nightfall the Japanese were in possession of a majority of the Russian positions, although the enemy had resisted with determination. The Japanese force passed the night in battle formation, and another assault was made on Monday at dawn. By eight o'clock, Monday morning, Yangse Pass and the surrounding heights had been captured.

General Kuroki explains the slowness of these actions by saying that the difficult topography of the battlefields made it impossible to secure good artillery positions, and that the great heat fatigued his troops.

The Russian force at Yangse Pass was estimated at two and one half divisions, and four batteries of artillery. The enemy retreated towards Tanghoyen.

General Kuroki reports the capture of some field guns, but the number is not given. The Japanese casualties are being investigated.

The Yangze Pass or Yangse Pass, is situated thirty miles east of Liao Yang. The Russian army engaged there is generally known as the eastern army and was commanded by the late Lieut.-General Count Keller, who was killed by the explosion of a shell.

ROLL BACK RUSSIAN FORCES.

Japs Win Another Victory and Occupy Hai Cheng.

SUCCESS EVERYWHERE IN ATTACK ON KUROPATKIN'S ARMY — THOUSANDS FALL IN BATTLE.

Tokio, Aug. 3.—(Special) — The Japanese defeated the Russians at Simoucheng and turned them towards Haicheng, in a sharp fight which began Saturday and ended on Sunday.

The Russians left 1,500 dead on the field, and lost six guns.

The Japanese casualties were about 400.

General Kuroki has telegraphed that in two days' fighting at Yangtsaling and Yushulintsu his losses were six officers killed, sixteen officers wounded and nine hundred and fifty men killed and wounded.

RUSSIAN LOSS OF 1,000 MEN.

Liao Yang, Aug. 3.—(Special) — The Russian attempt to push back a numerically superior force of Japs from Kuchiatzu, on July 31st, resulted in an admitted loss of 1,000 men.

EVACUATE HAI CHENG.

Hai Cheng, Aug. 3.—(Special) —In consequence of the desperate fighting of the last two days and Japanese turning movement, the Russians have been compelled to evacuate Hai Cheng and fall back on Aushan Shan.

EMPEROR RECEIVES BAD NEWS.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.—(Special)—The correspondent of the Associated Press hears that the Emperor Nicholas has just received a telegram at Peterhoff, containing alarming news.

It is, also, reported that Viceroy Alexieff, who had gone to Harbin on his way to Vladivostock, returned to Liao Yang, yesterday, and conferred with General Kuropatkin regarding the situation.

IS HAICHENG TAKEN?

New Chwang, Aug. 3. — It is reported here that the Japanese have captured Haicheng.

BEYOND HAICHENG.

London, Aug. 3. — A St Petersburg despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says the Russians have retired beyond Haicheng.

JAPS BELIEVE IT.

New Chwang, Aug. 3. — General Fukushima arrived here yesterday morning, having marched up from Port Dalny. The Japanese here are confident that the reported capture of Haicheng by their troops is true. They say the Russians there probably were outflanked by General Nodzu.

General Fukushima called upon United States Consul-General Miller yesterday and thanked him for his work

AFTER EXTENDING SYMPATHY TO THE MAYOR IN HIS BEREAVEMENT.

Marbleton, Aug. 3.—(Special) —Any one who entered the Council Chamber Monday afternoon could not but be impressed with the idea that something out of the usual was going on. There was a solemnity prevailing. Only how the Councillors could show their sympathy with the Mayor, R. A. Oughtred, Esq., whose wife died so suddenly a few days ago, came up. Civic affairs were dropped into abeyance for the time being.

The Mayor presided and all the Councillors except two were present. Immediately after the minutes had been read, Councillor John B. Nadeau rose and moved the following resolution:

"Whereas, it has pleased Almighty

DEATH OF MR. JOHN W. CHESNEY.

Well Known Sherbrooke Citizen Passes Away.

WILL BE LAID TO REST WITH MASONIC HONORS ON FRIDAY.

A well-known citizen of Sherbrooke passed away at twenty minutes past six o'clock this morning at his residence on Montreal street in the person of Mr. John W. Chesney.

Mr. Chesney has been ailing for some months, but his death was quite unexpected, as it was thought that he would be able to regain in a measure his former good health. He took to bed last Thursday, and gradually sank until death took place this morning.

The late Mr. Chesney has been a resident of Sherbrooke for over thirty years, and during the most of that period he was employed as a turnkey at the Sherbrooke jail. He was also well known in Masonic circles in this district and through the Province of Quebec, having been a member of Victoria Lodge, No. 16, A.F. & A.M., Golden Rule Chapter No. 1 R.A.M., and Sussex Preceptory, No. 9, K.T.

He was 54 years of age and is survived by his widow.

He will be buried with Masonic honors on Friday afternoon, the arrangements being in charge of Victoria Lodge. The funeral will leave his late residence on Montreal street, to St. Peter's church, and thence to Huntingville, where the interment will take place.

JAPANESE LOSE A WARSHIP.

Cruiser Kasagui Reported From Tokio to Have Been Sunk.

WAS FORMERLY OWNED BY THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

Rome, Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The Giornale de Italia today published in an extra edition a dispatch from Tokio announcing that the Japanese armored cruiser Kasagui, formerly the Argentine warship Rivadivia and purchased in Italy, had been sunk.

The announcement caused a great sensation here.

RUSSIANS SANK GERMAN STEAMER.

THOSE ON BOARD WERE TAKEN OFF AND SHIP WAS SENT TO THE BOTTOM.

St. Petersburg, August 3.—It is officially announced that the Vladivostock squadron sunk the German steamer Thea, a vessel of about 1,000 tons.

NO LIVES LOST.

St. Petersburg, August 3.—On the morning of July 24th, the Vladivostock squadron stopped a German steamer, bound from America for Yokohama, with a full cargo of fish. She was regarded as a legal prize, and after her crew were taken off, she was sunk owing to the impossibility of taking her to a Russian port. There was no loss of life on the vessels sunk or taken.

THE STRIKERS CATCH NEW MEN.

Twelve Greeks Fail To Reach Chicago Destination.

NEGROES AND ITALIANS, HOWEVER GO TO STOCKYARDS.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Difficulty was experienced yesterday by the packers' employment agents in bringing new men into the stock yards. In one case twelve Greeks who have come from Milwaukee failed to reach their destination. They were captured while en route through Chicago by a crowd of strike pickets. The Greeks were taken to union headquarters and dissuaded from working. The packers had better success with a special train bearing 145 men and women, chiefly negroes and Italians. These were switched directly into the stockyards and unloaded at the doors of the various packing houses. A short time previous one hundred hands quit work or were discharged for incompetency. The receipts of live stock yesterday were much better than Monday, consisting of 3,000 cattle, 16,000 hogs and 14,000 sheep.

GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA.

More Light On Knight Commander Incident.

BRITISH MINISTER AT TOKIO WILL CONDUCT A FULL INQUIRY.

London, Aug. 3.—There was a full attendance of the Cabinet council at its meeting yesterday. The only absentee was Mr. Akers-Douglas, the home secretary. The council had before it for consideration the reply of Russia to England's request that the status of the Russian volunteer fleet be fixed, and to its protest against their passage of the Dardanelles. In the House of Commons yesterday replying to questions, Premier Balfour stated that the British minister at Tokio was instructed last Wednesday to conduct a full enquiry into the sinking of the Knight Commander.

THE KNIGHT COMMANDER.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.—Admiral Skrydloff reports that the British steamer Knight Commander only stopped when four shots had been fired at her. Copies of non-official and incomplete documents in her captain's possession, and his declaration, showed that the steamer was carrying to Japan a cargo consisting mostly of railway material. Having established the fact that the vessel was undoubtedly carrying on contraband trade, and being unable to take her to the nearest Russian port without manifest danger to the Russian squadron, she having insufficient coal, she was sunk, after taking off all her crew and removing her papers. Afterwards two Japanese schooners with full cargoes of salt, were destroyed simultaneously, the steamer Schinan, from Australia for Yokohama, was stopped and inspected. She was released as she was not carrying contraband.

THE TIMES' COMMENT.

London, Aug. 3.—The Times says editorially: "Admiral Skrydloff's report of the achievement of his squadron during its late cruise, which may be repeated or imitated elsewhere shows that we are not likely to be at the end of difficulties with Russia on the subject of neutral trade. His action in sinking the Knight Commander and a German steamer may be entirely in accord with the Russian prize code, as the Russian newspapers contend, but such a procedure is not in accordance with either our prize law as we have practiced it when our mastery at sea was indisputable, or with any legal equitable principles to which we are in the least likely to assent. The German steamer was summarily condemned and sunk because she was carrying fish. The Germans may protest or not, as they think proper, but we know from the lips of the Prime Minister that England has already warned the Russian Government, as she warned the French Government in the war with China, that we cannot recognize provisions as contraband. The Knight Commander carried railway material, and did not at once stop when summoned. Both points remain to be established and then we shall have to determine whether we shall assent to the Russian doctrine that rails in all circumstances are absolute contraband, but even on Admiral Skrydloff's own showinging he had absolutely no justification, outside the municipal law of Russia, for sinking the ship, and the Russian municipal law is very different from the law of nations."

DECREASE IN BANK CLEARINGS.

This is a decrease of nine million dollars, and a decrease of a million and a half over preceding month.

THE GRANBY COMPANY.

(Spokane Correspondent, Mining and Engineering Journal.)

Jay P. Graves, manager of the Granby Consolidated Co., in the Boundry district, B-C., denies the report of serious misunderstandings between himself and President S. H. C. Miner. Said he: "I own by a half more stock than any other shareholder in the Granby, and I have not offered to sell any of my stock within two years. I expect to remain in management so long as I am interested in the company. With the advent of the Great Northern Railway, which should be completed to the No. 2 and No. 3 tunnel of the mine by October 1, we shall commence shipping from those levels. We have decided on spending $75,000 in building ore bins and putting a crusher with a capacity of 1,000 tons in 10 hours, at each level. Extensions to the smelter will probably not be made this year."

To show their concurrence in the resolution, the Councillors rose in a body and declared the session adjourned until the first Monday in September.

The Electric Light Committees report was accepted.

The Road Committee was instructed to see that the by-law concerning the storing of lime in the town be enforced, and the lime house erected by W. C. Webster & Son, on Baldwin street be ordered removed from the limits of the street, if found encroaching on the same.

THE MELBOURNE VILLAGE COUNCIL.

SHORT MEETING HELD ON MONDAY — SCHOOL BUILDING TO BE IMPROVED.

Melbourne, Aug. 3.—(Special) —The Melbourne Village Council met on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, p.m. Councillors McDonald, Desmarros, Fox Alexander and Fregeau were present. Pro-mayor McDonald presided.

An account from P. S. G. McKenzie was laid over until next meeting.

A complaint was made to the Council of the unsanitary condition of a pig pen in the limits of the village, which was detrimental to the health of the neighbors, and offensive to the public. The secretary-treasurer was authorized to notify the offending party to have the nuisance removed.

Permission was granted to the School Commissioners to make necessary repairs on the school room.

FREE INSTALLATION OF ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

IS OFFERED BY WINDSOR COUNCIL AS AN INDUCEMENT TO TENANTS TO TAKE LIGHT.

Windsor Mills, Aug. 3.—(Special.)—At a meeting of our city fathers Monday evening several accounts were ordered paid. A petition from people living across the river facing the grist mill was presented. It asked for a bridge which, would, also, connect the 12th range with the town by shorter route. It was not granted, expenditure being too heavy this year to permit the building of a bridge there.

Another petition was presented asking for a by-law regulating the weight of bread. A notice to this effect was passed in the council and at the next meeting a by-law will be introduced and an inspector named.

It was decided that all tenants wishing to get electric light by advising the council of same would have the lights installed in their premises on the following conditions, namely, that the proprietor guarantee to pay the council for the use of such lights for at least one year, installation will be free of charge to either tenants or proprietors, this applying only to private tenement houses. This course was taken in order to induce tenants to take lights.

Rules and regulations regarding the public bath were also passed, viz.: that every Monday and Wednesday evenings and Friday afternoons be for ladies only, the rest of the week being left for the general public and any one infringing the rules of propriety will be liable to a fine.

TO COMMUTE TAXES CANADA PAPER CO.

A motion was made by Councillor Meagher and unanimously passed, that the Council be disposed to commute the taxes of the Canada Paper Co. at $1000 a year for the period of ten years.

In making the motion the proposer gave as his reasons for acceding to the request of the general manager that their taxes be commuted at so small an amount, a much lower amount than any ratepaper ever expected, was that he wished to remove the apparent friction between the company and the corporation, and also remove the impression which he understood the company had that the corporation was antagonistic to them, and that no race, religious or other causes have made them inimical to the present administration, but on the contrary the present Council has but the most cordial good feelings towards the company and present administration.

COMPTON VILLAGE TAXES HIGH.

TOTAL FOR ALL PURPOSES 23¼ MILLS—MAY ECONOMIZE BY DOING AWAY WITH ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Compton, Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The municipal council of the village held its monthly session for August Monday evening.

The valuation roll for the ensuing year was confirmed and a tax of six mills for municipal purposes levied on all the rateable property.

The attention of the council was then called to the fact that below the Bliss bridge the Coaticook river was daily encroaching on the land, heretofore, reserved as His Majesty's highway, and a committee composed of Councillors Hitchcock, Bureau and Craig was appointed to see that the river is given a formal "nec plus ultra" in the form of a hemlock and stone embankment.

It was also decided to make certain repairs to the Station bridge.

The question of reducing the municipal expenses was touched upon and it was suggested to do away with the electric street lights. At first sight this would seem like retrograding, owing to the "off again, on again, gone again" system the E. L. Company uses many are convinced that the village would not be losing much. The council, however, adjourned without coming to a decision on the question.

The Secretary-Treasurer of the Board of School Commissioners has given notice that a special tax of eight mills over and above all other assessments, has been levied to pay off certain debts contracted in acquiring school grounds, heating apparatus, seats and other fixtures for the model school. This. with the twelve mills of ordinary assessment and the special tax of three and a half mills to meet the fourth of a series of ten debentures to pay for the school building, forms a total assessment of twenty-three and a half mills, $23.50 per $1,000.

ASCOT COUNCIL.

One Man With the Right.

The state government was far from pure; the municipal government of the premier city of St. Louis was honey-combed through and through with foul corruption. Valuable franchises were openly, flagrantly sold by the members of the municipal council. Boodling had been reduced to such a smooth-running, respectable-looking system, that some dishonest aldermen, according to their own confessions, had come to look upon illicit transactions as business deals, not in the least illegitimate. Amid all the public conscience seemed dead.

Some three or four years ago a municipal election came around and the nomination for district attorney was offered to a clever young lawyer just working into a good practice.

As the office of district attorney holds out smaller inducements to an ambitious young man than a good law business, he did not desire the nomination and said so.

It happened that he was a respectable young man of good character. Granted that their back bones are limp, men of this type are more useful to corrupt politicians than openly disreputable office-holders, so the ring persisted in its desire to make this young man district attorney.

At length he consented and accepted the nomination with the avowed understanding that he would do his duty. This understanding was not a new thing to the ring and proved no barrier in conferring the nomination.

Joseph Folk was elected district attorney.

Without delay or ceremony he proceeded to delve into the mass of corruption laid bare to his official gaze.

The district attorney showed no sign of let-up in his investigations and the politicians began to show signs of nervousness. They grew frightened. They tried to call him off but he was not to be called off.

With his evidence collected the district attorney proceeded to indict certain of the boodlers, certain of the men who had been so solicitous that he should accept office, men of wealth, prominent in the business and social life of the city.

They were astounded. Some fled the country; the others were arrested and tried. Some of these escaped on legal technicalities; others were sent to prison.

The district attorney continued to delve and more indictments were the result and still more.

The public consciousness was at length awakened and applauded the single-handed efforts of one young man in fearlessly setting about according to his simple duty to break up a corrupt political ring.

Public sentiment has come to the support of the district attorney and is materially aiding him in his work of purification.

At the State Convention last week the young district attorney was nominated for governor as a mark of appreciation.

The Onlooker.

Granby—Sidetracked But Flourishing.

In the district of Bedford, in the county of Shefford, is the thriving town of Granby—with busy factories, city-like streets and business blocks, good water power and a progressive people.

Granby is a fine town. We, of these border counties, have reason to be proud of it. Its own inhabitants are to be congratulated upon its neat and progressive appearance. But for one thing it might today rank as a city and dispute with Sherbrooke the right to the title of "Metropolis of the Eastern Townships."

Granby is sidetracked.

It is on a branch line of the Vermont Central and it would seem as if the V.C. sought to forget that it is there at all.

In the morning at 6.45 a freight train with passenger car attached pulls out of Montreal bound for Granby and Waterloo. The time table says it will reach its destination in time for dinner. Sometimes it does. This is the first train in from the west. In the afternoon this "mixed" returns and will take you to Farnham if you have patience to undertake the journey. There is besides this a morning train eastbound, which returns in the evening.

Granby has done some hard kicking. The travelling public kicks and goes C.P.R. from Montreal to Farnham, or some other point, and then often drives to its destination.

Now, there is talk of another railway line through Granby. It is needed for competition in the railway business. is a good thing for railway patrons.

Granby, because of its population, its volume of business, and its progressive tendency, deserves an efficient railway service.

In spite of isolation, Granby flourishes.

PROTECTION OF FISH AND GAME.

LAKE SCASWANINEPUS CLUB IS PLANNING FOR AN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN.

A general meeting of the Lake Scaswaninepus Fish and Game Club will be held in the Club House at the Lake on Saturday, Aug. 6th, at 7.45 p. m.

Members are requested to attend and bring as many as possible with them of those who are not now members. The Club has been incorporated and is now prepared to go ahead with measures for the protection and improvement of the fishing, as soon as the necessary funds are provided.

Any one interested in the protection of the fish in Lake Scaswaninepus, and the game in the vicinity, is eligible for membership and is earnestly requested to join the above Club. There is a nominal joining fee of $1.00, which, if the membership is large enough, it is expected, will furnish the Club with a fund wherewith to carry on its work.

The plan of the Club is to take steps to stop the practice of netting and dynamiting fish, which has been for some time carried on by poachers, particularly towards the upper end of the lake, and to prevent the taking of fish in any other illegal manner, or out of season. This can be done if fishermen will all lend a hand, and the lake soon be brought to such a condition that good sport can be had by an almost unlimited number of honest fishermen. The residents in the vicinity of the lake and Rock Forest are particularly urged to become members and help in the work.

TOO SMART FOR THE DETECTIVE.

PRESTON, OF FOREPAUGH & SELLS' SHOW, CHANGES HIS MIND ABOUT RETURNING TO STATES.

One of the colored circus hands who was arrested on Monday evening on suspicion of having stolen a number of articles from the sleeping cars of the Forepaugh & Sells' circus at Newport, Vt., on Monday, played a quiet little trick on Mr. D. Leon, a detective, who had come across the line to look after the thief. As stated yesterday, there were two circus hands arrested here on Monday night, but when the circus detective arrived he stated that he only wanted one of the men as the other had left the circus of his own free will, while the other, who had been acting as a porter on the sleeping cars, had been discharged, and it was found that the articles stolen were from the car in which he had worked.

The detective interviewed Preston when he arrived in Sherbrooke, and after a good deal of persuasion got him to consent to return across the line with him. The detective and Preston left the Central Station to take the 3.40 p.m. train for St. Albans, Vt., and on arriving at the depot, the detective purchased two tickets. The train was about to pull out when the detective called upon his man to board the train, but was somewhat surprised to get from Preston the answer: "I guess I won't go this time, Mr. Leon."

He stood on his rights, and told the detective he could not hold him in Canada for an alleged crime committed in the United States, without going through extradition proceedings. The detective realizing that he was powerless in the matter boarded his train as it was pulling out, minus his prisoner, while Preston and his chum, Smith, proceeded down town to see the city, and get a square meal, prior to their departure for Montreal.

COMPTON

Aug. 3.—Last week the road contractor had the machine passed over several miles of our roads, and we find ourselves now travelling in the ditches, and avoiding with a care born of experience, the rough ridge in the middle. Expressions of regret are heard that this work could not have been done three months ago, as it is too late to expect the roads to be good at any time this year, and next year they will be as bad as ever.

Mr. W. G. Johnston has posted up notices announcing his desire to purchase two carloads of milch cows with calf, to be shipped to South Africa.

TO WATERPROOF SHOES

Be sure that the shoes are thoroughly dry.

Apply Viscol to all parts of each shoe, and bend and twist the leather in order to make the Viscol go in. Note how soft this has made the shoe.

Then, if the shoes are to be made waterproof, set them in a pan, and into the pan pour Viscol until the soles of the shoes are completely covered. Let them stand in the Viscol over night; in the morning take them out and rub them with a cloth. If the Viscol were left standing in the open pan, it would get so thick that it would not go into the leather.

In wet weather when other shoes will not take a shine, viscolized shoes take as fine a polish as in dry weather.

CITY NEWS

Mr. W. J. Farber and family have returned from Lake Champlain, where they have spent the last three weeks.

Mr. Henri Beauregard, of Montreal, who has spent the last few weeks with his family in Sherbrooke, has returned home.

Mrs. Robert McFadden and Miss Ella McFadden, of Lennoxville, have left for Georgeville, where they will spend a couple of weeks at Cedar Camp.

The engagement is announced of Mr. Charles E. Day, of Sherbrooke, formerly of Stanstead, to Miss Jenny Fenney, daughter of the late Judge Lyman Fenney, of Albany, Vt. The marriage will take place on September 28th.

Mr. E. Winn Farwell, Inspector of the E. T. Bank, left last evening for Lake Megantic, where he will preside at the opening of the new branch at that place. Mr. G. D. Thompson, who will be in charge of the branch, accompanied Mr. Farwell.

The return match between the Sherbrooke and Coaticook tennis clubs will take place on the club courts, Melbourne street, to-morrow afternoon. Sherbrooke will be represented by Messrs. H. M. Tomlinson, Macfarlane, Fletcher and Dunlop, and Coaticook by Messrs. Lovell, Norton, Guay and Brunton. An interesting game is promised, as when the teams met last the result was a tie. Afternoon tea will be served by the ladies.

MONTCALM VS. SHERBROOKE

The coming attraction and one that is causing considerable interest is the championship lacrosse match next Saturday, when the Montcalm club of Quebec, fresh from their victory over the Shamrocks, accompanied by band and large crowd of excursionists will pay Sherbrooke a visit.

The Quebecers have yet to meet their Waterloo, having defeated everything in sight, and it now remains for the Sherbrooke club to check their career, and this the boys intend doing on Saturday next.

The local team have been playing in hard luck from the beginning of the season. They have without a doubt, the fastest team in the league and with the defence strengthened for next Saturday, should make the big twelve from the Ancient Capital, travel a lively pace.

The players will put in hard practices this week and on Thursday the team will be out at five o'clock and will have a two hours' workout.

When the two teams have met in former years spectators were out in force, this year Quebec will send a large contingent to cheer their favorites, while the supporters of the Sherbrooke Club will be on hand to see that their boys are not outdone in this respect. The executive are making preparations to accommodate a large crowd and are leaving no stone unturned to have everything in readiness when the hour arrives for the line up.

BRITISH IN THIBET.

Appeal to Younghusband Not to Proceed to Lhasa.

REPLIES THAT HE MUST DO SO, BUT WILL LEAVE WHEN THE CONVENTION IS SIGNED.

Chucksam Ferry, Thibet, Aug. 2.—Col. Younghusband, the leader of the British expedition, received a letter Monday, under a white flag, from the Tsondu, or national assembly, of Thibet, praying him to refrain from proceeding to Lhasa. This was the first letter ever received by the British from Tsondu, which is supreme in secular matters. Col. Younghusband replied that his force must now proceed to Lhasa, but it would leave as soon as a convention was signed.

FRENCH MINISTRY.

ELECTIONS TO GENERAL DEPARTMENTAL COUNCIL RESULTS FAVORABLY TO IT.

Paris, Aug. 2. — In spite of the prejudiced calculations of the anti-ministerial press at elections to the general departmental council, which was held Monday, have resulted in a victory for the Government. This shows that France to-day is untouched by political questions of a purely theoretical order and will certainly not sacrifice local and personal interests to those of the church. The ministry is strengthened by these electoral successes, in which no big political principle is involved, and the only really great danger ahead is the proposed income tax reform, which M. Rouvier is to introduce to the Chamber at the commencement of the next session.

INVERNESS.

Aug. 3. — Mrs. George died suddenly last Tuesday at her residence on the Gosford Road. Mrs. George was one of the old and highly respected citizens of Inverness. She was born on the same day as our late beloved Queen Victoria, and had consequently reached a ripe old age. The funeral took place on Wednesday and the Rev. Mr. Kelley assisted by the Rev, Mr. Sutherland, conducted the funeral ceremony. The funeral was very large, there being seventy teams in the procession. She was laid at rest in the old Boutelle burying ground. Mrs. Whiteside, of Edmonton, with three children, came home last week to see her mother. It is said that Mr. George will return with his daughter to the Northwest. The two dear old people in the "House on the Hill" will be greatly missed.

Mrs. Samuel Mooney entertained a number of her friends to tea on Saturday evening.

Miss Annie Lambly entertained a number of her lady friends to tea on Thursday evening, and Mrs. (Dr.) Lambly did the same for her friends on Friday evening. And she and Dr. Lambly had a christening party on Wednesday evening. They have dubbed the latest arrival "Jean Nelson." The Rev. Mr. Kelly performed the ceremony.

Mr. Norman Lambly has gone to Tadousac for his holidays.

Mrs. Dan Mooney, Miss Bessie Brouard and Mrs. Samuel Mooney and her son, Charlie have gone to Old Orchard.

The following students have successfully passed the June examinations in the Academy. The names are given in the order of merit. Grade I. Academy — Mabel McVetty, Edythe Richardson, Lizzie McKinnon. Grade II. Academy — Louisa Patterson, Laura Graham, Whyte McCammon, Christina Cameron. Grade III. Academy — Charles Hamilton. Grade II. Model — Chester McIntyre. Grade III. Model — Addie Kimball, Grace Fraser, William Henderson, Eva McVetty, Samuel Duff.

The Academy will re-open on the first of September next, and the School Commissioners have been very fortunate in securing Miss Charlotte Hinds, of Toronto, as Principal. Miss Jessie McKenzie as teacher of the Model Department, and Miss Emma L. Duff as teacher of the Elementary Department. Miss Duff taught the last four months of the last term and gave good satisfaction to all, and Miss McKenzie has taught for many years very successfully in Inverness and elsewhere, and Miss Hinds is a B. A. of McGill, and holds a first-class Academy diploma from McGill Normal. She comes to us very highly recommended by Principal Robbins of the McGill Normal School, by the authorities of the Shaville Academy, and by the St. Francis College, by the Montreal West Model School, by the Dunham Ladies' College, and by one of our own untrumpeted Inverness boys, Prof. Ed. Montgomery Campbell, B.A. headmaster of the McGill Model School. We bespeak a large attendance at the opening of this efficient and successful institution.

KUROPATKIN'S REPORT.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3. — The Emperor has received the following despatch from General Kuropatkin, dated August 1st: "According to the reports of the officer commanding the eastern portion of our army his troops, after abandoning advanced positions in the Yangse Pass, retired in the direction of Liandiansian towards Saimatsze and Liao Yang.

"Yesterday, our troops after a stubborn fight, retired from their advanced positions to their principal position, but although our troops held their advanced positions they sustained heavy losses. I hope that in their main positions they will maintain a successful struggle, even against the numerically superior enemy.

"According to reports received during the last few days General Kuroki has effected a concentration of his forces in order to strike in the direction of Saimatsze and Liao Yang.

"All the Japanese troops which were posted in the direction of Bensikon and near Sassyr, seemed to be intended to operate on the right bank of the Taitse river.

"To-day the enemy is acting undecidedly on the southern front, but a reconnaisance has ascertained the beginning of a turning movement of the left wing of our troops posted at Hai Cheng by at least three divisions.

"Our eastern detachment was engaged until noon to-day in the direction of Samaitsze and Liao Yang. It was seen that the enemy was advancing, apparently in small bodies, against the right flank of our rear guard."

GREASED ROADWAYS OF CHICAGO.

AUTOMOBILES SPREADING OIL DO A GOOD SERVICE.

(From the Chicago Tribune.)

The automobile has stolen another march upon its equine rival. In fact, it is stealing the ground from under the horse's feet. Soon the boulevards of Chicago will be as difficult for horses to stand on as are the main avenues of Paris, because of the grease scattered over them by passing automobiles.

Presently, also, the appearance of the boulevards will have changed. The dust gray of the roadway will be a rich brown hue. No more the sprinkling carts will splutter along their way. And in the character of its equipages the street will resemble an automobile show.

This kind of oiled pavement is quite a different proposition from the oiled roads of California, so lauded by that last Year Book of the Department of Agriculture which Lillian Russell thinks ought to be dramatized. In California the roads are especially prepared, especially treated and never used until ready. When, however, oil is merely shaken upon the surface of a road, as in Chicago, the wheels of vehicles running over it pick it up and throw it in all directions, injuring clothing and everything delicate that it falls upon. And before it has sunk into the road it is injurious to rubber tires.

It will lay the dust, however, will shed water, and is a preservative of the roadway. So, except to those who love the horse, it may not seem to be an unmitigated evil.

ASSAILED BY A MADMAN.

CHICAGO BROKER'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH — WOULD-BE SLAYER A FOREIGNER.

Chicago, Aug. 3. — Intense excitement was aroused in the crowded Exchange Building in the stock yards, Saturday, by an attempt to kill George T. Ward, a member of the commission firm of Alexander, Ward & Conover. Ward's appearance running through the building pursued by a man flourishing a big knife, caused a stampede. Before the assailant could accomplish any harm, however, he was overpowered by a policeman. The man had made his way unnoticed into Ward's office in the exchange. Without a word the stranger produced a huge knife from under his coat, and made a lunge at Ward. With a cry of alarm, the commission man leaped from his desk and ran to the end of the office, where the furnishings formed somewhat of a barricade. Jumping behind it, he faced his assailant. The sight that met Ward's gaze prevented any further delay. White-faced and with set teeth, the intruder was obviously a madman. The fellow whetted his knife on his coat sleeve, and stealthily advanced upon Ward, who jumped over the desks between himself and the door, and rushed into the hall. The man proved to be a Lithuanian, unable to speak or understand English. He gave the name of Anton Doreskiotz.

A REDHEADED GIRL

By C. B. LEWIS

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

It was while the brig Daisy, Captain Josiah Barnes, master, lay at Port au Prince, after loading up, that a redheaded girl came aboard to secure passage to Boston. She had gone to the island from Salem two years before with an American family as governess, but had become tired of it and desired to get back to the United States. The wife of Captain Barnes was aboard, and his crew numbered seven men. He had also taken as passengers two American sea captains whose vessels had been shipwrecked among the West Indian islands. If it hadn't been that one of the captains offered to surrender his stateroom to the redheaded girl and sleep in the main cabin on a shakedown she could not have taken passage by the Daisy. Indeed it was a close shave at best, as Mrs. Barnes, who was fat, forty and plain faced, looked her over and said to her husband:

"Josiah, she's redheaded, and that means that she's giddy and sassy."

"Yes; she's got red hair," replied the captain, "but I don't see nothin' giddy about her. She looks as sober as any gal with any colored hair, and that passage money will come in handy for us. She'll probably be seasick clear up to Boston light and not eat $2 worth of provisions."

"Well, we'll take her," said Mrs. Barnes, with a doubtful shake of the head, "but you see if it don't result in a tornado, waterspout or calamity of some kind. Redheaded girls are born to make trouble."

A day later the Daisy weighed anchor and set out on her return voyage, and the attitude of the redheaded girl as she moved about was so demure that the captain almost felt like patting her on the head and speaking words of sympathy and encouragement. The brig sailed at 9 o'clock in the morning, and the girl passenger did not make her appearance at the table at noon. Mrs. Barnes' motherly heart forced her to look into the stateroom and offer her services, but at the same time she was secretly glad to find the redheaded girl in her berth and apparently suffering the pangs of seasickness.

Something like a surprise party awaited the dame when supper time came round. She was thinking of making a cup of tea with her own hands and adding a slice of dry toast when the redheaded girl suddenly appeared in the cabin fully dressed and looking as pert and saucy as if the old brig rested in a cornfield instead of climbing up and down watery hills of exceeding steepness.

"Of course not," was the reply.

"And you ain't goin' to be?"

"I hope not. Where are the gentlemen? They must have missed me. I'm so glad I'm the only girl aboard, as I will have them all to myself. Do you know if both captains are married men?"

"Yes, ma'am; I know what they are, and each one is the father of at least 'leven children," replied Mrs. Barnes, with great emphasis, being determined to crush the redheaded girl at the very outset.

"Well, they can flirt with me for a few days just the same," said the girl as she surveyed herself in the cracked mirror hanging over the table.

At supper the redheaded girl made herself thoroughly "at home." She laughed and chatted and made eyes, and Mrs. Barnes could not help but see that her own captain, as well as the two others, was more than interested. She grew red in the face, and her blood boiled, and as soon as the meal was finished and the girl had gone on deck, escorted by the two other captains, she drew herself up before her liege lord with folded arms and demanded:

"Josiah Barnes of Providence, what did I tell you?"

"I dunno," he absently replied.

"Don't lie to me, sir! I told you that redheaded girl was an impudent minx, and my words have come true. She even made eyes at you across the table."

"I—I didn't see 'em if she did."

"You saw 'em and almost blushed. Josiah Barnes, that girl has got to stop or she'll get a piece of my mind that will make her red hair curl. I won't stand by and see no such chit make fools of three or four men who ought to know better."

The captain's advice was for her to go slow, and he was glad to get on deck and out of reach of her tongue. That was the beginning of things. That night the redheaded girl walked the deck with a captain on each side of her.

The next day the "minx" got a piece of Mrs. Barnes' mind. It was a liberal piece and ought to have brought her to her knees, but it didn't. On the contrary, after she got fairly started the redheaded girl got off three words to the other's one and read her a long and severe lecture on minding her own business. In this lecture were included a few observations on false teeth and gray hairs, and when the battle was over it was the motherly Mrs. Barnes who didn't know where she was at. She tried to get even by calling her husband into the cabin and telling him what was what and that she'd take good care to see that everybody in Providence heard of it, but his reply was:

"It's all nonsense in your sayin' that I've fallen in love with that girl, but I'm tellin' you that redheaded women are just the nicest things out, and I don't care who hears me say so."

Inside of four days the redheaded girl was flirting with everything and everybody clear down to the cook, and of course jealousy crept in. The three captains hurled sarcastic remarks at each other, and the mate and carpenter had a glare in their eyes and a feeling of revenge in their breasts. Mrs. Barnes tried again and again to stem the tide, but in vain, and at length she took refuge in tears and predictions.

The Daisy sailed on and on, and the flirtations went on and on, and as the brig crept up the coast Mrs. Barnes "felt it in her bones" that Boston would never be reached. The redheaded girl had brought disorganization from cabin to bowsprit and almost taken command.

"You jest wait, Josiah Barnes—you jest wait for Cape Cod," the captain's wife grimly repeated a dozen times a day, and Cape Cod was finally reached.

Then a gale sprang up, the big brig lost her foremast, and, though the redheaded girl sought her stateroom and the crew was left free to battle with the storm, the craft was driven ashore and became a total wreck. Crew and passengers were saved, and in due time Captain Barnes appeared at the office of the owners in Boston to tell how it all happened. He was listened to until he had finished, and then the head of the firm handed him a letter that had been received the day before. It was from Martha, and it read:

I want to report that the Daisy is ashore on Cape Cod and a total wreck, and I want to report that a redheaded gal and a lot of fool men are the cause of it.

BOAT ACCIDENT.

TWO MEN BURNED BY EXPLOSION ON GASOLINE LAUNCH AT ST. ANNE'S.

Montreal, Aug. 3.—Two men, whose names could not be learned had their hands and face bandly burned by an explosion on the gasoline launch owned by Dr. Lalonde, of Montreal, who is summering at Isle Perrot.

There was a large party, including ladies, aboard the launch when the accident occurred, and it was fortunate that no others but the two men suffered injury.

The explosion occurred at 9.30, and the report followed by a sheet of flame, startled those who were near the shore at St. Anne.

Three other launches hastened to the assistance of the disabled craft, and towed her to the shore where the injured men had their burns dressed by Dr. Boulet and another physician summering at St. Anne.

But for the quick work of extinguishing the burning gasoline there would probably have been loss of life.
