Compact, ornate and ultra-modern could very easily describe the revamped and enlarged Westmount Fire and Police Station building situated at 21 Stanton Avenue. The station was officially opened in the presence of numerous representatives from other municipalities on

Stamp Club Holds 15th Exhibition At Victoria Hall

The 15th Annual Stamp Exhibition of the Westmount Stamp Club was officially opened by His Worship J. S. Cameron, Mayor of Westmount last night at Victoria Hall, Westmount.

Also taking part in the opening ceremonies was T. J. Hughes, General Manager of the City of Westmount; Sarto Chartrand, Regional Director of Postal Services; Rene Boileau, M.B.E., Postmaster, Montreal; and Emelien Corbeil, District Post Office Inspector.

A special feature of the Exhibition was the Post Office exhibit, where Montrealers were able to see for the first time a unique display of proofs and essays of Canadian stamps.

This exhibit consisted of frames showing the original art-work, die-proofs, press-proofs, etc., developed during the preparation of the following stamps: — the 4 cents Royal Visit Issue, the 10 cents Fur Resources ordinary issue, the $1.00 Fish Resources ordinary issue, and the 2 cents King George VI 1949 issue.

By courtesy of the Postmaster General a special Post Office has been erected in the hall of the Exhibition, which sells stamps and handles mail. Visitors were able to see their letters being cancelled with the special slogan cancellation that has been put into use in connection with the Exhibition.

Tonight G. M. Desautels, Public Relations Officer, Canada Post Office, Montreal, has kindly arranged to show to adult audiences a number of films, two of which will be shown for the first time.

A very fine range of over 120 frames of stamps will be on display including a strong showing of the stamps of Canada and the Provinces. A number of exhibits that won awards at "Capex" in Toronto last September will be shown by members in the non-competitive class.

The Exhibition Committee, under the chairmanship of Major R. M. Watson, extend a very cordial invitation to both collectors and non-collectors to visit the Exhibition.

Police And Fire Station Now Ultra-Modern Abode

Only a Bard could wax lyrical about the swank enlarged and remodelled Westmount police and fire station at 21 Stanton Avenue which was officially opened Tuesday.

Renovated at a cost of $200,000 the station carries numerous conveniences which makes it one of the country's finest.

Ald. B. Panet Raymond presided in the absence of Mayor J. S. Cameron, and Ald. R. L. Campbell furnished particulars of the overhauling given the old building that served as the city hall until 1923.

On the police side alterations include a modern garage, a new general office and officers identification, guard, radio, kitchen and dining rooms. A modern cell block was installed with showers.

On the fire side, the remodelled building provides office, sleeping and recreation accommodation for the whole brigade.

Once a former school house the station now boasts one of the most modern in fire alarm systems and the near perfect three way patrol car radio.

Officers and men now have the most modern convenience to suit their needs. There are adequate recreation facilities and a reading room.

Connected directly to the adjacent fire department on the southern part of the building is the police department section.

Present equipment of the Fire Department is: two 800 gallon pumps, a 100 ft. aerial ladder truck, a tractor drawn service ladder truck, a chemical combination hose wagon, a hose wagon, salvage and general service trucks, an auto and trailer pump.

Represented at yesterday's ceremony were Mayor Romuald Bourque and Ald. L. O. Nelligan, M.D., of Outremont; Town of Mount Royal, Mrs. Joan Storey; Verdun, Ald. George O'Reilly; Town of St. Laurent, Ald. Norman Hartenstein and Leonard Jantier; City of St. Lambert, Police Chief Gerald Reilly; Montreal, Fire Director Raymond Pare.

Westmount Civil Defence Complete Winter Training

Westmount Civil Defence volunteers have completed their winter training season.

Since courses began last October 369 residents have qualified in Basic Civil Defence, 106 in Basic First Aid and 177 in Warden Service Training. Many others have completed parts of courses.

With an advisory council composed of Col. R. D. Harkness, Chairman, Col. George S. Currie, Dr. Lorne C. Montgomery and Mrs. H. S. Jacques, the planning and organization was entrusted to Lt.-Col. B. W. Cook as director.

With appointment last summer of Brig. J. A. de Lalanne as Chief Warden and Brig. K. G. Blackader as his deputy, the work of subdividing the city into administrative areas was begun.

Almost all Post Wardens and many Block Wardens are already trained and appointed.

About 150 women have taken part in Basic Civil Defence, Basic First Aid and Warden courses. In addition, several complete First Aid and Nursing courses have been conducted under the guidance of Mrs. Jacques.

Household Registration

Organization has now reached the point where the post wardens and their field workers, the block wardens, are beginning the registration of householders on special cards designed to record all information important to the operation of Civil Defence.

The concluding exercises of the first Wardens' Training Course took place Wednesday evening at the Westmount Athletic Grounds clubhouse, when 80 wardens will take part in a panel forum covering work done last winter. A second group was held Thursday.

The Examiner will carry a special story on this forum in next week's issue.

The panel for this forum discussion included Lt.-Col. Philip Cook, Director of Civil Defence, Mr. J. G. Atkinson, Mr. Alyn Shiller, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Scott, Mr. Walter Challis, Lieut. A. Avery, Mr. R. W. Quigley and S-Sgt. D. M. Craig, all of the Westmount instructional staff. A special guest on the panel will be Lt.-Col. F. C. Pace, RCAMC, Commandant of the Atomic, Biological and Commercial Defence School, Camp Borden.

About 175 wardens will receive their certificates. All of these have already qualified in Basic Civil Defence and many in Basic First Aid as well.

The course just completed covers the practical subjects of household registration, organization of self-help parties, organization and administration of a Warden Post, liaison with other Civil Defence Services, light rescue techniques, and procedure in reporting casualties and destruction.

Among the Metropolitan Civil Defence authorities who will be present at these exercises are: Brig. J. Guy Gauvreau, Chief Inspector Pleau and Lt.-Col. Laureat St. Pierre of the Metropolitan Region. Mayor J. S. Cameron and members of the City Council will also be present.

... That Mr. Anderson, former history teacher at Westmount High School, was on Bob Hawk's Camel program on C.B.S. a week ago Monday night. Made quite a hit with his definition of a Scotch mist. Mrs. Anderson had been on the same program at an earlier date.

Subscriptions To Campaign "Lagging"

The Red Shield Appeal of the Salvation Army for a minimum of $165,000 in order to carry on its 24 humanitarian services this year, is dragging somewhat, as many large subscriptions from companies, which were in at this time last year, have not yet been received. Consequently the figure of receipts today, of $121,694, is about $17,000 below what it was twelve months ago.

C. F. Harrington, general chairman of the campaign, is puzzled at this result because independent reports show that everywhere the canvassers are being graciously received, and contributions in house-to-house solicitations show an increase.

A. W. D. Swan, Chairman of the Board, presided over the monthly meeting of the Westmount "Y" Board of Management. Reports were received from the various committees. A special report was given by H. C. Nourse, Chairman of the Boys Work Committee about the Westmount Hobby Show.

The Foremen's Club of Montreal, one of the Y.M.C.A. Industrial Clubs, are planning their May Meeting. Rabbi Solomon Frank will be the guest speaker at this affair. A cheque for a substantial amount will be presented to the Montreal Y.M.C.A. by the Foremen's Club, the money to be used for the purpose of sending Boys to the "Y" camp at Ile Perrot and for improvements on the camp site.

The Foremen's Club from General Steel Wares enjoyed a night of volleyball and swimming at Westmount "Y" on Wednesday last. After the session in the gym the group listened to an address from H. S. Ireland, Manager of the Papineau Branch of the Dominion Rubber Co. Ltd. Mr. Ireland is also a member of the Board of Management of Westmount Y.M.C.A. and a resident of Westmount.

Hi-Y Installation Service

The Girls Hi-Y Club held their installation of officers tea on Saturday afternoon. Club members, parents and teachers were present at the ceremony. Miss Barbara Wilson was installed as president replacing Patsy Smith. Janet Buzzell was installed as secretary, replacing Elizabeth Alexander, while Trudy Cornell was installed as treasurer, taking over the books from Bonnie Lawson. Anne Clayton was installed as Chaplain, replacing Margaret Cragge.

The Club wishes to express their thanks to Miss Phyllis Wood, whose inspiration and guidance has helped make the Club such a success during the past year.

John Brierly, who was the 10th grade vice-president of the Westmount Boys' Hi-Y Club during the past year, was re-elected president for the coming school year. The elections, and installation of new officers, were held on May 8 at the Club's last meeting of the year. John replaced Derek Dawson as president, Dave Smith took over for Skip Warnock as vice-president, Colin Atkinson succeeded Mike Pratt as secretary, and Lloyd Kishino was re-elected treasurer. A new official position in the Club, that of Club chaplain, was innovated for next year, and Bruce McFarlane is the first to hold that position.

The Boys' Hi-Y Club had a very successful year under the leadership of the executive committee, and other important committees in the Club. These were headed by Morley Swan (Hobby Show and Service Committees), and John Nourse (Entertainment Committee). The Club was most fortunate this year in having Bob Sproule as lay-advisor. His generous help and cheerful spirit added greatly to the success of the Club. Thanks go to Mr. Burton Schaffelburg who was the school advisor to the Club.

The Club's program of service projects and social activities included the following: Safe driving lessons, in co-operation with the Girls' Hi-Y and the Westmount Rotary Club; the presentation of "Great Expectations", the movie form of a matric novel; the class-to-class sale of poppies and the decoration of the Hall of Honour at W.H.S.; a gift hamper to a needy family at Christmas; a Hallowe'en Party, for boys and girls from elementary schools, in co-operation with the Girls' Hi-Y; two successful dances; and a parent-teenage relationship talk, after a supper meeting of boys, girls and parents.

Johnny "X"; John Jackson, assistant secretary of the International Branch, and advisor for two Hi-Y Clubs in Montreal; Mr. Dharmardj, a Y.M.C.A. secretary and Hi-Y advisor in India; Mr. Millington, Executive Secretary at the Westmount Y.M.C.A.; C. A. Buckley; and Roy Locke, Metropolitan Boys' Work Secretary, advisor to the Grand Chapter of Hi-Y and director of Kamp Kanawana.

There were several supper and mixed meetings with the Girls Hi-Y, a sleigh ride and party, a dinner at Chinatown after the first term exams, and two Hi-Y conferences.

E. J. Anderson, Superintendent of Parks, is shown with a group of children from Roslyn school in the Conservatory as he toured the greenhouses with the children and answered their questions on plant life. Object of the lesson was "The Queen of the African Violet Show", which opened here this week. The winning plant entered by Mrs. H. Hill, of Beauharnois, copped silver cups for best in the show and highest aggregate.

Tour Of Conservatories Popular With Children

E. J. Anderson, Superintendent of Parks, has been the 'kiddies answer man' for the past week. In fact, he will be showing children about the Westmount Conservatory for another week imparting his knowledge of plant life to them.

This program has been going on for the past three years and is restricted to pupils of the 5th and 6th grade of the elementary schools. More than 500 children from Roslyn, Kings, Queens, St. Leo's and St. Paul's, will have a chance to attend the descriptive tour this year.

Following the tour a demonstration on the potting of a plant is given and each pupil receives a plant of "Tradescantia Flumensis," commonly called "Wandering Sailor." Later on they will have a chance to return their plant to the green houses so that judges may pick the best. Trophies and individual prizes are donated.

"The interest displayed by the children makes this program well worth while," Mr. Anderson points out.

Two classes are held daily with about 30 children attending each tour.

Korean Y.M.C.A. Grows Stronger Month By Month

"Month by month the Y.M.C.A. of Korea grows stronger!"

This proud statement highlighted a report received by the Westmount Y.M.C.A. from authorities of the "Y" in battle torn Korea.

From a single association at the end of World War II, the Korean Y.M.C.A. had grown to 19 by the time the Red armies drove southwards in 1950. And now, despite unprecedented devastation as the tides of war swept down and back, the total stands at 22. Membership has climbed to 5,800 and in 1951 an estimated 300,000 people benefitted from Y.M.C.A. activities.

The strongest Y.M.C.A. in Korea today is in Kwangju. With 775 members, it maintains a basic "Y" program of classes, clubs, physical education, and religious emphasis. A welfare committee works among refugees and beggars, and over 250 students attend its English Language School. A small demonstration farm is maintained, and farmer institutes are held at regular intervals. Weekly religious meetings have an average of 180 in attendance. This year the Kwangju "Y" played host to a conference of 250 young adults, the conference motto being "Overcome Hardship Through Christ."

With its building in ruins, the Seoul Association has been operating "in exile" in Pusan. Plans are under way now for returning to the capital and for roofing and flooring a shack in the back of the destroyed building to serve as temporary quarters. Meanwhile the membership secretary and a faithful janitor live in Seoul and conduct a community center for members and friends now returning.

Leslie Roberts Addresses Rotary On Canadian Life

"Though Canadians have sometimes been referred to as 'stuffed shirts', it is my opinion that they are a relaxed and happy people who love gayety and laughter", Leslie Roberts, noted Canadian writer, told the Westmount Rotary Club this week.

The reference that Canadians have no great cultural life is absurd, the speaker said.

"Considering that we are next door to the United States and greatly influenced by them we are still able to maintain a basic Canadian way of life."

Elaborating further, he pointed out that numerous Canadian writers, artists, producers and actors have fared exceptionally well in competition with their American counterparts.

Using as the subject of his address "Canada and the World of Tomorrow", Mr. Roberts reflected on Canada's early struggle for Confederation.

"As the Americans put together a nation formed in the sharp hand of bloody revolt, we have taken our time in Canada and brought about a nation through evolution."

"We have learned the art of tolerating the other man and his point of view", he added.

Warning that our resources will not last forever, the speaker urged that we use them sparingly.

"As the Americans have used up a great bulk of mineral and now must rely on us, we are in a position to benefit by their knowledge and mistakes", Mr. Roberts concluded.

R. Ducharme Charged With Loitering

Roger Ducharme of 1700 Ontario street, was fined $10 or two months in jail by Recorder A. E. Laverty for loitering during the day, May 5.

Ducharme who has a previous record was handed over to the Montreal Police Force in connection with breaking and entering an establishment on Atwater avenue.

The accused was nabbed by Westmount Police after he had made inquiries at 4250 Sherbrooke west and caused the janitor to become suspicious.

Folk Dances

On May 21, at 8:30 p.m., a demonstration by Folkloristes du Quebec (Folk Dances) will be presented under the direction of Miss Simone Voyer, at Unity Boy's Club.

Dances will include: a) French Quadrille, b) Lancers, c) Brandy. Followed by international dances when the audience will be invited to participate. Older members, parents and adult friends are invited.

Bank Of Montreal Ad Readership Highest Rating

Two public surveys just issued, covering transportation and publication advertising, show the Bank of Montreal as gaining the highest readership rating of any of the national advertisers tested in the studies.

These honors follow closely upon a citation recently awarded the B of M by the American Bankers Association for its entry in "Banking's 1952 Forum in Print." of the 27 banks on the North American continent receiving awards, the B of M was the only Canadian institution so honored.

The transportation survey, which is the fourth annual study of this nature undertaken by the Canadian Advertising Research Foundation, is an intensive scientific analysis of the value of street-car and bus advertising, and determines the relative readership ratings of individual advertisements.

B of M advertising cards appeared in all C.A.R.F. transportation studies to date, and have consistently attained high readership ratings. The latest survey indicates that 53 per cent of the public riding on streetcars and buses saw the bank's message which consisted solely of a picture of a blond-haired young boy grinning over the good news in National Breweries Limited became Dow Brewery Limited by vote of its shareholders at a special general meeting held Monday.

Wilfrid Gagnon, chairman of the board and president, told the meeting that definite advantage would be gained because the new name is the same as that of the company's principal product.

He announced the company's decision to "concentrate our energies on the main products of our company and to strengthen our sales organization and distribution." Savings already effected and plans made should, over a period of time, bring the company's volume of production for profitable operation into line with that of the industry.

Continuing, Mr. Gagnon said: "In the process of time, certain brands will be eliminated, but we feel confident that eventually the sales total will be improved. Our Dow Ale and Kingsbeer Lager are by far our largest sellers and account for 70 per cent of our bottled goods sales."

He also announced that at the end of this year, the Frontenac plant will be turned over to its new owners and that Kingsbeer, which is in increasing demand, will be brewed in the downtown brewery.

In Quebec City, the Boswell plant will be maintained and further developed if public demand warrants it. In indicating a slight decrease in sales for the first four months of the year, Mr. Gagnon

A Model Labor Union

International Typographers Mark 100th Year of Success And Service

This year marks the 100th anniversary of the International Typographical Union, the printer's union, called by many labor experts the "finest union in the world."

This union is the oldest in America. Its first local, in Washington, D.C., was founded in 1815. In 1852, this and other locals merged to form the national union which now has its headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind. This was the start of the I.T.U., although the union did not become known by that name until 1869, when Canadian organizations of printers were given recognition and made eligible for membership.

William Hand, an authority on unionism, says of the I.T.U.: "Clearly it has been successful for itself. It has also been successful for its members."

Consider some of the reforms the union has brought. Print shops used to be dark and dirty; the air in them was foul; the workday was 12 hours; tuberculosis was an accepted printer's ailment; the average age of printers at death was 28.

The union formed Committees on Sanitation to fight these evils, and in 1892 established the Union Printers' Home in Colorado Springs, Colorado, a sanatorium for tuberculous members and a place of retirement for aged printers. This has cost $12,000,000 to date.

But above all else, the union has reduced the workday. The maximum now is a 40-hour week, but most I.T.U. employees are working 38-hour weeks.

The consequence to the life expectancy is more than a coincidence. Today, a printer's average age of death is more than 64 years.

This union is a democratic one. Elections, both for national and local officers, are held by secret ballot, with universal suffrage for all members in good standing.

A democratic union has two advantages for this country. The first is that it tends towards relations with employers that are more human, intelligent and stable. The second, it strengthens democracy.

The chapels, or individual company groups, of the union, represent daily, hourly practice in democratic living. They represent participation in democratic government and government by consent. They train their men to detest autocracy and to desire democracy.

Freedom needs such men. The final merit of the International Typographical Union is that its institutions are organized to produce such men.

Radio Licences In Canada

Reluctance of People To Pay Fee Indicates Dislike of System

Hardly anyone would deny that Canadians are naturally law abiding people. They are slow—too slow—to protest against even those laws with which they disagree. But their marked reluctance to pay a $2.50 radio licence fee indicates as clearly as anything could that they don't like the system, that has put a government bureau, or its equivalent, in control of broadcasting in Canada, writes Joe Rutledge.

The figures show that there is a radio for one out of every four Canadian homes. But of these 3.6 million taxable radio sets only 2.2 million pay the tax. A licence fee that should provide some $9 million produces $5.5 million and that at a collection cost of $679,000.

Don't think, because we mention it, we are friendly to such evasions. Evaded laws are never a wholesome sign. Anyway, who wants to be an evader for $2.50, when by paying up one is in the soundest possible position for protesting against a system that he doesn't like?

the home of Mrs. W. H. D. McKinnon, 70 Columbia Ave., Westmount.

J. A. Ellis President Solar Club

At the annual meeting of the Solar Club Inc. held at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, the following officers were elected for the 1952-53 year:—

- W. E. Stracey, President.
- J. A. Ellis, R. E. Allworth, Vice Presidents.
- E. G. Gurman, Secretary.
- J. G. Hilton, Treasurer.
- G. E. Ferguson, R. R. White, L. A. Osmond, E. C. Ramsay and A. R. Grafton, directors.

Club activities during the year, ended March 31 and were reviewed by the retiring president, H. Harding who expressed modest satisfaction in the year's results, which enabled the club to give further assistance to the Queen Elizabeth Hospital in keeping with the objectives of the Club which are to assist the Hospital, to develop a better understanding and knowledge of Hospital and Community Problems, and to promote lasting friendship amongst the members.

Calvary United

A Family Week Service will be held in Calvary Church on Sunday morning next when the Cubs, Trail Rangers, Explorers, C.G.I.T., and Mission Band, along with their leaders, will attend the Service in a body. The Minister, Rev. W. J. Spence, will preach on the theme, The Hope of the World.

At the evening service Mr. Spence will preach on a Play which ran for a long period in New York, and, because of its success, was made into a movie, "Death of a Salesman". This story depicts in graphic detail the life of a man who considered himself a success, but whose life was a miserable failure. He was sick mentally and built his life on shallow foundations.

All are most cordially invited to attend and share in the enthusiasm of these special services.

Monday, May 19, at 8.15 p.m. the Officers and Teachers of the Sunday School will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sargent, 37 Bruce Ave., Westmount.

Wednesday, May 21, at 8.15 p.m. the Evening W.A. will meet for a Sewing Bee at the home of Mrs. G. L. Fowler, 131 Claudioboye Ave., Westmount. The new program for the Fall work will be discussed.

Thursday, May 22, at 2.30 p.m. the Western W.C.T.U. will meet at prise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Shall mortal man be more just than God? shall a man be more pure than his maker? Doth not their excellency which is in them go away? they die, even without wisdom." (Job 4:17, 21.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Whatever is material is mortal. To the five corporeal senses, man appears to be matter and mind united; but Christian Science reveals man as the idea of God, and declares the corporeal senses to be mortal and erring illusions. Mortals are not fallen children of God. They never had a perfect state of being, which was subsequently regained. Mortal man is really a self-contradictory phrase, for man is not mortal; neither indeed can he," man is immortal."

THE EDUCATIONAL FILM

The educational film has been accepted wholeheartedly by the modern school. Thanks to the wizardry of the motion picture makers it is now possible to bring the world into the classroom. Teachers have realized the immense educational potential of the film and today, in almost every school, a motion picture projector is standard equipment.

There are certain techniques* that members of the teaching profession have been compelled to learn in order that their pupils may derive full benefit from what the film libraries of the Department of Education at Quebec City and the Montreal School Board have to offer. What has evolved is a variety of procedures.

It may be of some interest to sketch the use to which a film can be put in an average elementary school classroom. Let us imagine that a grade five class is studying the Prairie Provinces and have reached the point where they are investigating wheat farming. They have learned what soil and climate are needed for the successful growing of the grain, the importance of the wheat farmer in the economic life of the nation, and a great deal of miscellaneous information about Canada's wheat farmers.

But they have difficulty in visualizing their knowledge. They have learned verbally — with words — and now the teacher wishes to give those verbal symbols their real meaning.

She orders a film called "The Wheat Farmer." That is only the first step. When the film arrives in the school she arranges to preview the film. At noon hour or after school she will screen the film for herself, possibly for a few other teachers who are also interested in using it. During the screening she jots down points of information and ideas that occur to her.

Next day she shows the film to the class. But it's not quite as simple as that sounds. Before the class showing she leads a discussion which gives the pupils an opportunity to tell what they already know about the subject and which reveals those points about which they are not too certain.

She then is apt to uncover a "what to look for pattern" which she had written on the blackboard before the lesson began. This may be a list of questions, the answers to which are found in the film.

Then the lights are turned off and every pair of eyes in the room is focussed on the screen. That is one of the advantages of the motion picture. Complete attention is almost assured.

After the screening the pupils, in discussion or possibly in an informal written test, crystallize their thinking. The teacher clarifies concepts and may show part or all of the film again to clear up any misunderstandings.

But that is not necessarily the end. The film can be used to motivate language, art and hand-work activities. Pupils might be asked to write a description of something they saw in the film. They might be asked to draw a picture of the wheat farmer and his family at work. They might make a model wheat farm.

I have outlined just one possible procedure. All kinds of variations of techniques are possible and are employed by teachers. But whatever technique the teacher chooses to employ, one thing is certain: the film is used with a definite purpose in mind — and that purpose is not entertainment.

Miss Mimi Guay and Mr. David Elias have been directors of the Fashion Arts Academy for the past few years. The graduating class included students from France, Australia, Poland, Estonia, Florida as well as Canadians from Vancouver to Halifax.

This year's graduating class was tested and the plaque award made on their respective standing in a special competition wherein each pupil designed and made entirely by his own effort an original graduation dress especially commissioned by Jas. C. A. C. Reports

... A Committee At Work ...
... Some Consumer Problems ...

At the Complaints Division, set up by the Consumer Research Committee of the Canadian Association of Consumers, many and varied are the queries and "beefs" which come out of the mail-bag and into the hands of C.A.C.'s housewife "experts". A typical cross-section taken from this mail-bag produced the following questions and C.A.C.'s answers. One consumer asked "I have tried to buy panties and they are nearly all made with the elastic sewn right onto the material. Why is this? Have had some of these before and found that they fray from the elastic down and cannot be fixed. Also I like the kind with inserted elastic which can be replaced."

Dual-Purpose Liquid Tames Unruly Locks

With the aid of new hair product, this young woman finds greater ease in setting her unmanageable hair. A final spraying after her tresses are arranged helps keep them neatly and docilely in place.

If you've been condemning your hair as unmanageable, you may find helpful a new preparation dedicated to making difficult tresses respond to desired arrangements.

It's not a lacquer, its makers claim, but rather a dual-purpose liquid which may be used to hold your hair in place either before you set it or after it's arranged and combed.

To make your hair easier to work with when you're setting it, try spraying on a bit of this preparation just after your shampoo. Because it adds extra body to limp, fly-away hair, makers claim, it offers additional control.

After your hair is dry and your curls and swirls put carefully in place, either at home or at your favorite hairdresser's apply the product in a light mist to help maintain the perfection of your coiffure.

Simple Clam Chowder For Last-Minute Meal

Here's a quick and delicious "Ten Minute Clam Chowder":

- 1 onion

Bit of carrot
Milk, butter, salt, pepper, pinch of thyme

Cut potatoes in half, and grate on large grater. Grate onion on small grater, both into the same kettle. Grate bit of carrot on small grater. Boil in two cups water five to eight minutes, or until potatoes are tender, but not mushy. Add clams. Bring to boil few minutes. Add warmed milk, about two cups, salt, pepper and thyme. Serve with pat of butter the next day.

With fried chicken and cream gravy ("gravy" is the word), serve fried slices of cold corn-meal mush and currant jelly to go with it. (all fried chicken deserves this last item.)

Sights Are Set On "Miss Canada" Title

—Central Press Canadian.

Auburn-haired and brown-eyed Joan Marie Treble of Mimico, Ont., is first beauty aspirant to file an official entry in the 1952 Miss Canada pageant to be staged next Aug. 11, 12 and 13, at Burlington, Ont. A dramatist and writer, the 19-year-old beauty will compose and present her own dramatic reading in the contest.

the kitchen table and chairs and at a recent meeting of processors and manufacturers. We personally button-holed a representative of one of the largest producers of containers and asked the reason. He protested that the idea of a pint-size container meant a return to pre-war practises in which so many different size containers were used that the cost of production went up. He also said that the pint-size container had been discontinued during the war at the orders of the War-Time Prices and Trade Board and that he was quite happy to see the restriction to half-pints and quart kept up. We pointed out that the convenience of the consumer might need to be considered too, but failed to make any dent in his conviction that half-pints and quarts should be enough for anyone.

Still Wondering

The official answer which the C.A.C. Committee made to our consumer querist bears out what we learned. C.A.C. stated that before the war, paint was packed in 60 or 70 different sizes and shapes of cans. With the coming of the war, only essential sizes were retained. However since the relaxation of the war-time regulations, very few manufacturers have gone back to the old practice, the principal reasons being that there was an overall shortage of the raw materials for containers, and with the fluctuations in prices, distributors and dealers have tried to hold their stocks to a minimum, which would be impossible to do if they had to stock a great number of sizes. Such sizes as do exist, follow more closely the Weights and Measures Act which calls for the use of Imperial Measure. However C.A.C. has heard of a few manufacturers who are packing in the pint-size, but the practice is not widespread.

This matter of sizes, particularly the old sizes and weights in which food stuffs are packed was dealt with in an earlier issue of this column. Possibly many homemakers have noticed the 11 ounce and the 13 ounce bottle of ketchup and wondered "Why?" Your reporter tackled the same representative of the container manufacturer on this too and the resulting conversation had its elements of humour. We said "Why do you pack Tomato Ketchup in an 11 ounce bottle instead of in a multiple of a pound, such as 12 or 16 ounces?" He replied: "It would cost us a quarter of a million dollars to make such a change-over. We should have to re-design all our machinery". We countered: "But who told you to design an 11 ounce bottle in the first place?" — the reply: "Well please excuse me now as there is someone looking for me." So we are still buying ketchup in the 11 ounce bottle and still wondering why?

Fashion Hints

The bolero suit, youthful and jaunty, is well represented in the fashion line-up, and it appears in many attractive versions. Black wool gabardine is used for a flattering outfit which would be a nice addition to any wardrobe. The upstanding collar of the jacket stems from curved tucks, and the slim sleeves bell out at the wrist. The jacket discloses the gray and white striped tucked sheer blouse which has linked buttons at the plunging neckline.

Hamid-Morton Show Saturday At The Forum

Trained wild animal displays. Including lions, leopards and tigers appearing in an all-teel cage under the whip of Prince El Ki Gordo and more than 300 other performers will be included in the appearance of the Hamid-Morton Trained Wild Animal Show, combined with specialty European acts, which opens a seven-day engagement at the Forum next Saturday afternoon until Saturday evening, May 24. The show is under the auspices of the Karnak Temple for the benefit of the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children.

Two special trans are required to transport the organization to this city, coming here from Buffalo, N.Y., where they fill a week's engagement in that city, also under the auspices of the Shriners Order.

Among featured acts will be the Allan Trio, Sweden's aerial motorists, a demonstration of courage and ingenuity performed on the newest and oddest rigging ever constructed. Girls in glamorous costumes perform trapeze routines while the male partner races his motorcycle around the inside of a circular drum.

The Three Sidneys, a clever bicycle act, will be another feature on the program. The Three Sidneys are all masters at maintaining their equilibrium under unusual conditions. They use a number of props which enable them to continue the most difficult tricks.

One of their principal stunts involves the use of a standard supporting a huge globe which, in turn is encircled spiral-fashion with a narrow runway. One of the performers, balanced on a unicycle, plummets at a mile-a-minute from the top of the globe to the stage.

Two Big Hits At The Monkland Sat. Till Tues.

"Death of a Salesman" and "Red Skies of Montana" at the Monkland

Columbia Pictures' producer Stanley Kramer, who moved into the "wonder-boy" class with his first hit, "Champion," has long ago traded this ephemeral status for a more solid reputation as a Hollywood innovator whose production methods have had a revolutionary impact on movie-making.

Kramer, whose screen production of "Death of a Salesman," the Columbia picture which stars Fredric March at the Monkland Theatre starting Saturday till Tuesday, eschews the formula approach to picture-making. He prefers off-beat themes and dares to produce them without necessarily resorting to the so-called "safety-insurance" factors of star names. Perhaps Kramer's most original contribution to the movie-making art has been his technique of intensive pre-shooting rehearsals and plotting of every movement on the sound-stage. This results in an economy of production costs without sacrifice of creative integrity and the envy of almost every producer in Hollywood.

With such films as "Champion," "Home of the Brave," "The Men" and "Cyrano de Bergerac," Kramer has given the industry some of its most exciting new personalities. Kirk Douglas, Ruth Roman, Marilyn Maxwell, Frank Lovejoy, Lloyd Bridges, Marlon Brando, Jack Webb, Mala Powers and the Academy Award winning Jose Ferrer, are just a few who became important film names because Kramer dared to cast them in roles for which they ordinarily would not have been considered.

Following his graduation from New York University in 1933, Kramer methodically grounded himself in the fundamentals of every phase of movie making. He has worked as a writer, swing-gang worker, scene shifter, studio carpenter, technician, researcher, film editor and associate producer. During the war, he worked on training and orientation films for the Signal Corps. It was in that Army unit, no doubt, that he first discovered how simply effective motion pictures can be made.

"Death of a Salesman," Kramer's most important production to date, is based upon the Pulitzer Prize play. The film stars Fredric March, one of America's greatest actors, in his greatest role.

"Death of a Salesman" features, in support of March, Mildred Dunnock, Kevin McCarthy, Cameron Mitchell and Howard Smith, all of whom appeared in Broadway or London productions of the play.

Added Attraction
"Red Skies of Montana," Twentieth Century-Fox's exciting Technicolor saga of the "Smoke Jumpers" starring Richard Widmark, Constance Smith and Jeffrey Hunter.

Filmed in the mountains of the northwest with the full co-operation of federal authorities, "Red Skies of Montana," brings to the screen, for the first time, the exploits of the parachute shock corps of the U.S. Forest Service—the intrepid fire-fighting heroes who bail out of ancient Ford tri-motor planes to stalemated raging timber blazes in isolated and often uncharted wildernesses.

This blazing tale of heroism and danger backgrounds a tense, dramatic story of two men who question each other's courage in the face of their common enemy.

Producer Samuel G. Engel and Director Joseph M. Newman spent four weeks during production burning down the largest artificial tract in history, searing seven acres of manmade woods with 100-foot flames. The conflagration cost Twentieth Century-Fox $250,000 before the last embers died away.

Richard Widmark, following his sterling achievements in "Halls of Montezuma" and "The Frogmen," plays the daring crew chief in the kind of action role that has made him one of Hollywood's leading actors. For Widmark, how has engaged in violent action for the better part of his career. "Red Skies of Montana" proved his most difficult.

"Aerial Winters" At Belmont Park

Probably the most celebrated water athlete Canada ever produced is Alfie Phillips, Dominion Champion diver for a decade and points winner at two olympics, co-star with Eleanor Holm in the Billy Rose Aquacade at both New York City and San Francisco. He brings his brilliant company of diving and swimming stars to Belmont Park this season.

"A flirtation with death" is the way a writer recently described the performance of the Aerial Winters, who inaugurate the free outdoor attraction at Belmont Park this week.

The Winters, Mary and Emil, perform on sway-poles, and their act is rated in the profession as one of the most dangerous in America. Two sway poles, over 110 feet in the air, are used, and the arc of movement is more than 30 feet. Climax of the act is a double handstand, in which their bodies seem to meet as the poles swing together. A whole series of gymnastic feats are executed during the performance, as both artists are expert aerialists who have adapted their aerial routines to the slender, tricky sway-pole.

Emil Winters himself comes from a long circus tradition. His father owned and operated a circus in Europe, and Emil started in the business as a child. In London he was featured with the famed Mills Circus, and he was brought to America to perform with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey, with which organizations he has toured most of the important cities on this continent. In London he was honoured by a Command performance before the late King and his consort.

The Aerial Winters perform twice daily, at 5 p.m. and 11 p.m. Additional attractions for the Official Opening of Belmont Park this Saturday, May 10, and Sunday May 11, include the popular Benny Louis Band returning to the scene of their first big triumph, and Alfie Phillips with his celebrated Aqua-Frollics, playing their first engagement at Belmont Park. Both attractions are scheduled for the entire season.

"American in Paris" Tops Bill at the Westmount

When his romantic "line" with pert Leslie Caron falls, Gene Kelly tries a bit of horseplay in this scene from "An American in Paris," the spectacular Technicolor musical featuring the music of George Gershwin. Miss Caron, star of the Ballet des Champs Elysees in Paris, makes her film debut in the picture, opening Sunday at the Westmount theatre.

As different and exciting, as gay, colorful and romantic as the famed French capital itself is M-G-M's "American in Paris", coming to the Westmount Theatre this Sunday. Starring Gene Kelly, introducing Leslie Caron, lovely danseuse of the Champs Elysees ballet, and featuring Oscar Levant, Georges Guetary and Nina Foch, this Technicolor love story is set to the favorite songs of George Gershwin and the enchanting tempo of Paris.

Vincente Minnelli, who directed "Meet Me in St. Louis," which proved an earlier smash hit in unique musicals, directed the new offering. Arthur Freed ("Annie Get Your Gun," "On The Town," "Easter Parade") is the producer, with the story and screen play the work of Alan Jay Lerner, author of the Broadway stage success, "Brigadoon."

Gene Kelly, who worked with Producer Freed in making "On The Town" an acclaimed innovation in film musicals, teamed with Freed and Minnelli during a year of painstaking preparations designed to give "An American in Paris" a formula completely new and fresh to motion pictures. It is his first film appearance since "Summer Stock."

It was also Kelly who, on a visit to Paris in search of a leading lady and background atmosphere for the story, discovered Leslie Caron in the French ballet. This talented and appealing Parisian appears destined to become a startling new personality in her first motion picture.

Oscar Levant, probably the foremost exponent of Gershwin melodies as a concert pianist, comes to the new picture following his record-breaking concert tour of the nation. His last screen appearance was in "The Barkleys of Broadway." Georges Guetary, France's top romantic singing star, was a Critics' Award winner for his Broadway singing role in "Arms and the Girl." Nina Foch, who scored in films in "Johnny Allegro," recently completed a successful engagement in the Chicago company of "The Respectful Prostitute."

Also on the same program is the tautly realistic drama of the fight of an average American city's newspaper editor against the vicious power of a country sheriff and his organization in "The Sellout." The new picture, as arresting as today's headlines, boasts an unusually fine cast starring Walter Pidgeon, John Hodiak, Audrey Totter and Paula Raymond, with Thomas Gomez, Cameron Mitchell, Karl Malden and Everett Sloane in pivotal supporting roles.

Such a starved bank of moss Till that May-morn, Blue ran the flash across: Violets were born.

Flag Presented At Lower Canada

To the precision of a military parade the Lower Canada College Scout Troop was presented their flag Tuesday night by Lt. Col. J. P. MacPherson, M.C., Officer Commanding the Royal Montreal Regiment.

P/L Walter Panasuk received the colors on behalf of the troop.

Lt. Col. MacPherson inspected the Scouts as did H/Major The Reverend G. F. Leigh and Headmaster D. S. Penton.

Lt. Col. MacPherson told the Scouts that many famous men who were soldiers are connected with the Scout movement such as the late Lord Baden-Powell. He pointed out that the soldiers belief is a simple one based on the Scout motto "Be Prepared."

"You as Scouts will always have an advantage because you are taught self-reliance, honor, self sacrifice and truth," he added.

Following inspection of the Scout Troop the flag was placed on the drum head. Headmaster Penton then called on Lt. Col. MacPherson to bid God's blessing on the flag.

The ceremony was attended by parents and friends of the Scouts who joined in the prayers and singing of hymns.

The famous Royal Montreal Regiment Band in official dress accompanied the Scouts and cadets through the precision part of the program.

Officials present for the ceremony were Cyril Dendy, Chief Scout Commissioner of the Province of Quebec; Leslie Houldsworth; J. A. Calder, Chairman of the Board of Governors of LCC and Earl Moore, President of the Montreal Metropolitan Scout Council.

Westmount Recreation Dept. News

How Municipal Recreation is Conducted

Local governmental recreation is administered principally by three governmental agencies — separate recreation commissions or departments, park departments or districts, and public school authorities. In rural districts and very small towns the program is usually developed in a different way as will later be shown. In a very few cities two or even three departments conduct community recreation activities. In most of these co-operative working arrangements have been developed. Whatever the sponsoring agency, experience has demonstrated five principles which should be followed. These are (a) a responsible lay board of control, (b) a full-time trained executive, (c) a definite budget set aside for recreation, (d) the availability for recreation of all suitable city owner property, and (e) a varied and comprehensive program. These merit brief discussion.

A Lay Board

The lay board or commission is responsible for policies. It is made up of influential citizens who should be non-politically appointed. Good boards give continuity to the department, are a bulwark against political pressure, negotiate advantages for the work, reflect and create public opinion and act as a court of appeal for citizens. They are quite as necessary as school boards, public welfare, or library boards.

Leadership

A full-time executive is necessary in any community undertaking year-round community recreation service. Success cannot be expected if the director divides his time between recreation and business or recreation and teaching. The work has come to be a special profession and requires all the energy and capacity of well trained men and women. In a small city the director may be the only full-time employee except for secretarial assistance. Associated with him are summer playground directors, swimming instructors, special teachers, club leaders and other part-time workers. In large cities the superintendent of recreation has a considerable full-time staff including supervisors of playgrounds and community centers, supervisors of such special activities as music, drama, crafts or athletics, a construction and maintenance department, and a group of community center directors, playground directors and playground assistants.

Recreation leadership demands persons of broad general training and special schooling in the philosophy and methods of organized recreation. The superintendent must have the qualifications of any good executive and be able to instruct the members of his staff, co-operate with the leaders of other agencies, plan ahead in his program for a period of years, and interpret the work of his department. Although the public is not in every community aware of it, good leadership is the very heart of successful community recreation. It must be unobtrusive and skillful. Men and women of enthusiastic and buoyant personalities, possessing good health and teaching capacity and respecting the personalities of those whom they are leading are required. It is fallacious to believe that a playground may be turned over to children without leadership. If that is done, the areas will not be fully utilized and what goes on there will be far from satisfying or educational. A playground without a leader is like a school without a teacher. Adults also require leadership, persons who will organize activities, create enthusiasm and give instruction.

Putters

The Putting Committee for the 1952 season held a meeting at the Westmount Athletic Grounds on Thursday evening, May 8, at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. G. Cairns was asked to be

The purpose of this meeting was to draw up a set of rules, and discuss the programme for the coming season. The opening date will be May 24, providing the green is in playing condition by that time.

All putting enthusiasts who are Westmount residents are eligible to play on this green, which is situated at the south end of Westmount Park. Before playing, you must have a card issued by the Recreation Department. These cards may be had by applying in person, with some proof of residence, at the Westmount Athletic Grounds, 4350 St. Catherine St. West. There is plenty of room for new faces, so please come out and enjoy this friendly game.

St. Leo's Bouts Thrilling, Cardinal Defeats Ahearn

Last Friday night, was boxing night in the Academy Hall, and close to five hundred fistic fans turned out and showed their approval by applauding sixty youngsters, who gave a manly exhibition of the manly art of self defence.

A record total of thirty thrilling bouts were reeled off with precision. It was a three hour show, a little on the long side but it nevertheless provided the opportunity for every boy with a desire to fight, a chance to display his wares. There was no bench warmers and it was a big night for the St. Leo's mittmen. The senior students handled the organization end, like veteran ring officials.

Jimmy Grant and Peter Cullen, walked off with the silverware. Jimmy turned in a polished ring performance against Peter Lunny, to earn the Hector Caron Trophy, emblematic of junior boxing supremacy in the school. Peter Lunny gave Grant a good fight but was a trifle short on condition. Peter Cullen, was a diminutive ball of fire in the ring, swarming all over young Danny Carrier, to gain the Pee Wee Boxing Championship and with it goes the Catholic Mothers' Club Trophy. Paul Genereux won the trophy for the gamest loser, in his battle against the classy Brian Martin.

For sustained action, the feature bout of the card, was undoubtedly the best. In this bout, husky Bob Cardinal slugged his way to a close decision over Ronny Ahearn. These two ring gladiators had the fans in a continual uproar, as they stood toe to toe, throwing caution away to the wind, trading fierce blows that shook the foundation of the ring. A mild upset was registered, when Mike Consiglio, took the measure of popular Mike Lunny. Another close fight was Andy Bleua's spiltion, scored over Edgar McDougall, decision over Bob Doherty. Frank Jago, a symbol of perpetual mo-who put up a game fight. Steve Macintyre, got a first class ovation from the crowd, for his fine stand against the taller John Sullivan.

Little League Baseball

Coach Andy McGillis, is having his troubles getting his St. Leo's Indians ready for their league opener next Tuesday evening at Kent Park, against the St. Andrew's Youth Center White Sox.

The team has exhausted the supply of ball players in the school and are at liberty to accommodate a couple of youngsters 10 and 11 years of age from the district, who are interested in playing Little League baseball. Boys interested are requested to get in touch with coach McGillis. The team is very short on experience but this is probably due to the local by-law that prohibits baseball on local parks. With the introduction of a badly needed baseball diamond at the Athletic Grounds, the situation is eased considerably and youngsters are now free to play without interruption from the long arm of the law. St. Leo's will participate in the official opening at Town of Mt. Royal tomorrow afternoon. This opening will feature parade, band music, flag raising ceremonies and exhibition baseball.

Dick Robinson or Bob Belanger are the two top candidates to pitch the opener next Tuesday. Jules Larandeu is a cinch to catch the opener.
