New Bill For Next Session

A three-pronged proposal to set aside one day in the year as Canadian Independence Day and empowering the Canada Council to select a distinctive national flag and anthem will be introduced at the next session of Parliament by Maurice Allard, Progressive Conservative M.P. for Sherbrooke.

The proposals are contained in a two-page private bill filed with the Clerk of the House of Commons, Leon Raymond, on Tuesday by Mr. Allard. The bill is expected to be debated at the session to be opened next January.

The bill proposes that December 11 be recognized as Canadian Independence Day, the anniversary of the signing of the Statute of Westminster in 1931. When December 11 falls on a Sunday the legal holiday will be observed the following day.

The measure also proposes that the Canada Council should select, after a national competition, a distinctive national flag and anthem. They would be submitted to the Commons and Senate within one year after the bill became law.

Under the legislation proposed by Mr. Allard the flag would be "free of the emblem or emblems of any other country." It would be submitted to the Queen for her approval after being sanctioned by joint resolution of the Commons and Senate.

Commission On Transportation

Suggest $15,000,000 Subsidy To Aid Maritime Marketing

FREDERICTON — (CP) — A leading Maritime rail-shipping firm has suggested that an annual federal subsidy of $15,000,000 be made available to help move Maritime goods to Central Canadian markets.

The suggestion was made by Acadia-Atlantic Sugar Refinery Limited, second largest rail shipper in the Maritimes, in a brief Tuesday to the royal commission on transportation. The commission ended its New Brunswick hearings and opens hearings in Charlottetown Thursday before heading to Halifax and St. John's, Nfld.

The submission urged the federal government to subsidize full freight rates from Maritime shipping points as far as Levis, Que. Maritime producers now get a 30-per-cent cut on freight rates from the federal government under the Maritime Freight Rates Act, unchanged in 32 years.

The proposal would make Levis the starting point for freight rate charges on Maritime produce. Alex B. Hill of Toronto, president of Acadia-Atlantic Sugar Refinery Limited, said such a subsidy would put Maritime produce on the "competitive threshold" of Central Canada.

EXPLAINS EXPENDITURE

Mr. Hill explained that nearly $13,000,000 was paid in rail subventions by the federal government to assist the shipment of Maritime produce to Central Canada, but half the money went towards extra Maritime shipping.

He said a similar amount of money added in assistance to the outboard shipment of area products would increase the flow of such traffic and constructively be an aid in maintaining and expanding the Maritime economy.

Quiz Probe Wake

No 'I Told You So's' From British TV

LONDON (CP) — Reflected across a vast intervening ocean, the bright glare of the U.S. television scandals has shone somewhat less spectacularly in Britain.

Instead of saying "I told you so" and embarking on a recital of the shortcomings of American culture, the British press admits it could happen here, too.

Godfrey Winn in The Daily Express says his reaction to the ordeal of Charles Van Doren and others is that "there but for the grace of God go I."

Quiz programs on British television now are strictly regulated and the prizes are much smaller than in the U.S. To some extent, British vigilance may result from an investigation last winter into the Granada TV program, Twenty-One.

CANADIAN INVOLVED

Sir Lionel Heald, then attorney-general, was asked by Granada to inquire into allegations by a contestant that Canadian producer Bob Esten had given the contestant "definite leads" before he appeared on the program. Sir Lionel, in his report, described Esten's methods of briefing competitors as "highly imprudent," saying there was a conflict of testimony between Esten, 43-year-old former Toronto broadcaster, and the contestant, Stanley Armstrong.

The Times, in an editorial comment on what it calls l'affaire Van Doren, says the former English literature professor is as "much the victim of a confusion of values inherent in American life as he is of his own cupidity."

In The Observer, Patrick O'Donovan reflects on the fact that the fundamental aim of American TV is to sell advertising time to sponsors. "Almost unchecked, the profit motive leads to fiercer and fiercer competition, to short cuts, to vulgarization, to trickery and at last to something close to contemptuous fraud."

In The Guardian Alistair Cook comments:

"Nothing so far has been said about the supreme irony of American TV advertising. In a country that counts its medical Nobel Prize winners by the score, and that has probably the most progressive pure food and drug act in the world, there is hourly proof through the day and night that the true teacher of the people in matters of sickness and health is a form of medical advertising that is often crooked, sometimes obscene and nearly always preposterous."

Several Arrests Made

PAARL, South Africa (Reuters) Squads of police patrolled the streets again today after a second night of violent rioting around the home of a banished Negro woman union leader.

Shots were fired Tuesday night into a huge crowd of Negroes who stoned cars, set fire to a store and demonstrated near the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Mafekeng, mother of 11. She has not been seen since Sunday and was reported fleeing the country with her baby.

Police wielding clubs and rubber pipes, backed up by three armored cars carrying heavily armed officers, scattered thousands of rioters in the area where a colored (mixed blood) man was killed by a bullet and at least 11 persons were injured Monday night.

Several arrests were made. The crowds had gathered again after being charged twice by police earlier in the day when they refused to move from a main road.

RUN ON AMMUNITION

The shots were believed fired by one of a group of white men living in the danger area. A run on ammunition at the local store was reported.

Special police reinforcements were rushed in from Capetown.

Mrs. Mafekeng, meanwhile, was reported heading for asylum in the British territory of Bechuanaland or Basutoland.

The nationalist government a week ago ordered Mrs. Mafekeng, president of the African Fruit and Canning Workers' Union and vice-chairman of the African National Congress Women's League, to leave her home because her continued presence would be "injurious for the peace, order and good administration of Africans."

The Whole Town's Bug-eyed Over Annual Bi-Valve Orgy

By NICK POWELL
(Record Staff Reporter)

This is the oyster party season.

And oyster party season lasts from September until the end of the following April, that is, during any month in which the letter "R" appears.

One man describes the oyster party for men in the following glowing terms: "Wives are left with no one to nag. Children run rampant, mothers-in-law are relieved. But do these facts disturb hubby? No sir. It's his night to gorge."

Various areas and lands have their respective tastes for delicacies. In Texas it might be rattlesnake meat. In France it is generally acknowledged to be the snail. In China, grasshoppers are eyed hungrily.

In the Eastern Townships, it would appear that the oyster is the target of gastronomical preference. Right now, anyway.

Although the oyster party's main course does consist of oysters, there are other items of food for those who lack the courage to swallow these fishy bivalves, such as spiced meats, pickles and other sundries, equally highly spiced.

For the majority of men, an invitation to an oyster party evokes wonderful memories of the parties last year, a great spirit of conviviality, and resigned shrugs from exasperated wives.

And, as further food for thought, there are at least two this week: one last night, sponsored by the Optimist Club of Sherbrooke, and one tomorrow night at the Legion on Prospect street, sponsored by the R.C.A.F. Association starting at 8:00 p.m.

The Optimist party was part of youth Appreciation Week and the R.C.A.F.A. party marks the celebration of the 10th anniversary of the Association.

Threaten Suit In Cranberry Scare

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States government sent out 100 inspectors and 60 chemists today to test cranberries for possible contamination by a dangerous weed-killer.

Only limited quantities of berries from Washington State and Oregon have been found to be contaminated, but checks will be run also on those from other producing areas. Canadian authorities are also investigating.

Cranberry producers are calling for the resignation of Arthur S. Flemming, U.S. secretary of health, education and welfare, who set off the gigantic cranberry scare at a press conference Monday.

Ambrose E. Stevens, vice-president of the National Cranberry Association, said in New York that Flemming's action could wipe out the $50,000,000 industry. He wired Flemming asking that "you take immediate steps to rectify the incalculable damages caused by your ill-informed and ill-advised press statement."

ASK FOR REIMBURSEMENT?

The association is a co-operative that markets 75 per cent of American cranberries under the Ocean Spray label. Its president, George C. P. Olsson, said in Boston he is thinking about asking Congress to reimburse the industry for $100,000,000.

In the confusion, a number of grocery chains have taken all cranberry products off their shelves until the situation becomes clearer. There was similar quarantine action in British Columbia.

At least one big chain, First National, said it would go on selling cranberries because all its berries come from Massachusetts, New Jersey and Wisconsin.

Flemming's announcement said there was no reason to suspect berries from any place but Washington and Oregon, which produce about 10 per cent of the crop. Massachusetts growers stand to lose most from the scare since they produce almost half the crop.

Speaker Of Quebec Assembly Resigns Company Directorship

MONTREAL (CP) — Maurice Tellier, Speaker of the Quebec Legislative Assembly, has resigned as a director of La Salle Equipment Company, it was announced today.

Mr. Tellier was attacked last September by Liberal Leader Jean Lesage who said the company had done business with the Quebec government.

The announcement was contained in a letter sent to Montreal newspapers by Leo P. McCullagh, general manager of La Salle Equipment Company.

Mr. Lesage charged in a speech at l'Assomption, Que., Sept. 27 that Mr. Tellier had no right being director of a firm which obtained contracts from the government.

He listed 10 transactions between the company and the government between 1953 and 1958 worth a total of $102,833.

$2 Bettor May Be Left At The Post

NEW YORK (AP)—The $2 bet, minimum wager at race tracks, may become a thing of the past in the United States.

Spencer Drayton, executive secretary of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations, announced today that the agenda of the organization's annual meeting at New Orleans Dec. 7-10 includes discussion on increasing the minimum wager.

The late Col. Matt J. Winn of Kentucky Derby fame introduced the $2 wager in 1911 at Churchill Downs. Before that the standard betting unit in the mutuels was $5.

United Nations

France Under Pressure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Britain and Italy today campaigned busily for support of their proposal that the United Nations urge France to join any agreement that may be reached at Geneva on banning tests of nuclear weapons.

Debate, meanwhile, resumed in the 82-member UN political committee where some 15 countries were still to be heard on the question of France testing her first nuclear bomb in the Sahara Desert.

The mildly worded British-Italian resolution introduced Tuesday avoided any direct call on France to change its plans for exploding the bomb, merely asking that the French take full account of views expressed in the UN debate.

Twenty-two Afro-Asian members are co-sponsoring a stronger demand that the UN express grave concern over the proposed test and urge France to refrain from holding it.

Bury NORAD Headquarters Inside Colorado Mountain

WASHINGTON (CP)—NORAD is being buried alive.

The United States Air Force says the operational nerve centre of the North American Air Defence Command is to be placed deep inside a mountain near the present headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Brush has been cleared and a four-mile road leading up the side of the Cheyenne mountain chosen for the site is to be completed next week. Then tenders will be called and the job will begin of digging deep below the granite surface to carve out a network of tunnels and a deep base for a three-storey steel building.

The job will take more than two years to complete at a cost of about $30,000,000. The air force figures it will provide protection against atomic attack for the combat nerve centre of the heart of continental air defence covering both Canada and the U.S.

Sutton Honors War Dead At Sunday Service

SUTTON.— Remembrance service was held Sunday, the nearest Sunday to the 11th of November. It was a typical cold, hazy November afternoon, which reminded veterans of other sombre settings.

Adding color to the parade were Boy Scout units under the command of Cubmaster C. O'Brian and Scoutmaster N. Kirby. Most colorful were the American Legion Color Parties, white helmets, blue uniforms, rifle bearing guards from Richford and Enosburg, Vt.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's a television figure who has made a quick fortune — but not from a phony quiz show.

His name is Peter Gilman, and he made the mint with his trusty typewriter. He wrote a hefty novel about present - day Hawaii, Such Sweet Thunder, that has been swept up for $100,000 by Columbia Pictures. That may well be the highest price paid by a studio to an unknown author.

Pete has been laboring in comparative anonymity as publicist for the film subsidiary of NBC, for such series as Not for Hire and The Lawless Years. That job ends Friday.

Variety reported that he is quitting because of "an embarrassment of riches." That's nonsense. What writer (or anybody else) was ever chagrined by too much moola? The fact is that Pete is leaving the post to write another novel in Europe, and is being paid a tidy sum for his trouble by the publisher.

"It's all pretty amazing," says Gilman, a well-spoken young man of 31.

WAS NEWSPAPER MAN

The New York-born Pete aimed at a news career. He worked for the Monterey Peninsula Herald, the AP in San Francisco, the Honolulu Star-Bulletin and Los Angeles Times before taking nine months off to gestate his novel. He re-worked it for another eight months while laboring part-time for a publicity office with such accounts as Sheena, Queen of the Jungle.

And was the book an instant hit?

"Nope," admitted Pete. "It was turned down by New York publishers, and my agent sent it back to me."

The author had already struck out with two previous books and was about to give up hope when he showed Such Sweet Thunder to a fellow publicist, Joe Morhaim. The latter enthused over it and interested Ted Loeff, local scout for New American Library. The latter snapped it up with promise of a million-copy printing and arranged for a hard-cover publisher.

Then came the Columbia deal and everything's coming up roses for Pete Gilman.

St. Patrick Parent - Teacher Meeting

Family Child's First 'Primary School' Principal Stresses Role Of Parents

The family is the first primary school for all children. It is within the home that a child's education begins as he watches the actions of his parents.

"Actions speak louder than words," said Father Paul Avallone, principal of St. Patrick High School who was guest speaker last night at the parent - teacher meeting at the school.

This meeting is held quarterly when parents are given their children's reports so that they can discuss them with the teachers.

Father Paul stressed that parents can never have enough interest in education. He quoted the words of Pope Pius XI who wrote that it is the right of Catholic parents to educate their children and no one can take this right from them.

"It is your duty as parents to maintain this right and share it but not replace it, with our teachers," said Father Paul.

He asked the parents to help the school authorities by teaching their children at least five things.

First they should be taught to respect authority in the home.

Secondly, each must learn to carry responsibility. He should have chores to do at home and it is the parent's duty to punish his child if the duties are not carried out in a pleasant manner.

Parents should check their children to be certain that they have a quiet place to do their homework, said Father Paul. He recalled that one faithful parent had made a sign for the family T. V. set - "Temporarily out of order due to homework."

"In the fourth place, I would advise parents to worry a bit each day and help Johnny a little each week to save themselves having all the surprises and worries in June," suggested the principal.

Finally, in order that the boys should have a Christian education, they must lead the Christian life at home.

"We want to take the best out of your boys and make it shine forth," said Father Paul. "We wish to prepare them for life, to teach them how to behave and how to appear. Their marks are of secondary concern to us."

Toys, Toys, Toys Firefighters Start Repairs

Calling all toys. Calling all toys.

This is the cry that can be heard these days at fire stations throughout the city.

This year, as in the past, citizens are urged to send new and old toys to Number One fire station on Marquette street, where members of the Firemen's Athletic Association, under the direction of Lt. Gerard Donahue will repair the toys.

"We take all toys. It does not matter what state they are in," Lionel Boudreau, secretary of the Association said.

After the necessary repairs, the toys will be distributed to poor children throughout the city by members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Saved Churchill's Life
Reveals '43 Incident

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — A wartime diary indicates Sir Winston Churchill came close to death in his 1943 illness but the doggedness of an Irishman named Kelly helped pull him through.

Air Vice-Marshal Thomas K. Kelly, now retired, has been keeping the story secret for 16 years. On the urging of his family and this reporter, he finally consented to its publication today.

Churchill, then 69, was stricken with pneumonia and heart trouble in December, 1943 in North Africa while at Carthage, a few miles from Tunis. His temperature rose to 102, his pulse to 130 and he suffered two heart flutters. His doctor, Lord Moran, feared a clot might form, and it was decided to fly Churchill to Marrakech, in Morocco, more than 1,200 miles away, for sunshine and rest.

At this point Kelly, then a senior medical officer with the RAF, intruded. His diary relates:

"When the prime minister's illness was first announced I was in Algiers and on Sunday, Dec. 19, it was stated in the 9 p.m. news that he had pneumonia and a cardiac irregularity.

CALLS FOR OXYGEN

"I at once decided to return to headquarters at La Marsa and told Wing Cmdr. Ellis, medical specialist, to come up to the Tunis area and bring with him three portable oxygen apparatuses I had prepared some months previously.

"I wanted Ellis particularly, as I knew he had some influence with Lord Moran and that he could add weight to my opinion that oxygen should be available if the prime minister be moved by air.

"Lord Moran said he did not agree with me and they would only travel on a fine day when there were good weather reports and would not go above 3,000 feet.

"I told him that on a long journey . . . even if the start was made in good weather and with good reports there was no guarantee that the good weather would last the whole of the journey."

At a second conference, however, Lord Moran agreed to consult the prime minister, and Kelly was asked Dec. 26 to see Churchill.

"He was lying propped up in bed and surrounded by documents," the diary says. "He looked at the oxygen apparatus and asked me to explain how it worked."

Then he asked for a demonstration. He ended by asking Kelly to fly with him to Marrakech next morning.

The takeoff was in fine weather, but the weather became bad and visibility very poor at 4,000 feet. Finally, Churchill declared, "If I were not in this aircraft, it would be flying at 19,000

Sher-Lenn Choir

Perform Remembrance Day Requiem Tonight

A performance of Brahms' Requiem will be given tonight by the Sher-Lenn Choir in Trinity United Church, at 8.30 p.m.

Presented in memory of those who fell in two World Wars, the noted work will be sung by a choir of over 30 voices and three soloists, Suzanne Gagnon, soprano, Jean-Paul Fortier, tenor, and Fred Sangster, baritone.

This special Remembrance Day program is being sponsored by the Optimist Club of Sherbrooke in conjunction with their Youth Appreciation Week. The choir will be under the direction of Morris C. Austin and Mrs. Bertha Bell will be at the organ.

Brahms' "German Requiem" (Opus 45) is held by some to have been written in memory of Schumann, by others in memory of the composer's mother. In any case, it was started about 1866 and said to have been finished—all but the fifth number, which was an afterthought–in 1867. This aria, "Ye Now Have Sorrow", was written in 1868, and according to Brahms' own testimony was prompted by the memory of his mother.

The German Requiem has nothing in common with the ordinary Requiem Mass and verbal purists have been disputed its claim to be called a Requiem at all, since it offers up no prayer for the dead. The text is freely selected from the Bible and the Apocrypha.

The complete Requiem was first performed in Leipzig in 1869 and in England two years later.

This is the day set aside in honor of the men and women who gave their lives in the cause of freedom during World Wars I and II.

Many local communities have already had their memorial services and parades, others will observe Remembrance Day today and still others will have services this weekend.

A memorial service was held in Bury this morning at 10:45 in front of the Town Hall in which the 7/XI Hussars Regiment RCAC and other organizations took part. Mayor Osborne Dougherty placed a wreath at the cenotaph and other wreaths were laid in memory of Bury's war dead.

The Remembrance Day services at Scotstown and Magog will be held this afternoon.

At 2:30 p.m. in Scotstown, the service will be held in front of the high school when wreaths will be laid by Mayor Donald MacLean, the Canadian Legion, Scotstown Branch, and other groups.

French Veterans Boycott

PARIS (AP) — War veterans today boycotted the solemn armistice ceremony at which President Charles de Gaulle, as commander - in - chief, honored France's war dead

The reserved places for veterans were conspicuously vacant as de Gaulle stood in the shadow of the Arc de Triomphe and silently placed a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

However, a solemn mass of citizens was banked around the famed monument and gave the 68-year-old Second World War leader a hand - clapping ovation as he appeared in the uniform of a brigadier - general — the tunic in which he led the Free French. After that, the crowd stood in an impressive moment of silence.

Only Tuesday in a press conference de Gaulle refused to back down on his earlier decision to trim some veterans pensions — the move which prompted today's boycott.

In Algeria, Armistice Day ceremonies also ran into unpleasantness. Crowds of veterans lining the street shouted extremist slogans as troops marched past. The veterans yelled "The army to power" and "Algeria is French" —slogans backing an unbending stand toward the nationalist rebellion now in its sixth year.

'Unfulfilled Dreams'

EDMONTON (CP) — Hazen Argue, CCF leader in the Commons, said today Remembrance Day "reminds us of the unfulfilled dreams of those who died in two world wars."

Speaking at the annual convention of the Packinghouse Workers of America CLC, he said those who died asked for peace but "we have let them down."

"We grope again on the brink of war. Tension surrounds us and nations concen-

Steel Strike May Cause Lennoxville To Lose Industry

Lennoxville is facing the prospect of losing one of its industries employing some 50 people it was learned yesterday.

The H. S. Beane Glove Company Limited, located for some years on Queen street, has closed down operations indefinitely.

Harold Beane, plant manager, told The Record that work has been considerably affected by the steel strike in the United States. The company is an important supplier of heavy material industrial gloves to the striking companies.

The only remaining operations at the Lennoxville plant involve shipping of the finished articles.

Mr. Beane was unavailable yesterday for comment on the effect on the break in the strike, but it is known that much of the equipment in the factory has already been removed to another of the Tapatco plants in Ayer's Cliff.

Mr. Beane sold out to Tapatco at the beginning of 1959. Meanwhile, he said, operations are continuing as usual at the Ayer's Cliff factory.

Armistice Day Marked By Sherbrooke Rotary

Members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club observed Remembrance Day last night with a fitting Armistice program following their weekly dinner meeting.

A two-minute silence in a darkened room with light focused only on a blowing Canadian ensign, flanked by remembrance wreaths, was broken by the sounding of the Last Post and Reveille.

Films of particular interest locally followed this brief, but impressive tribute.

One dealt with the history of the tank "Bomb", now situated on the parade grounds, the only Canadian tank to survive D-day to VE-day during the European campaign.

The other two films were taken last Sept. 19, on the occasion of the presentation of the Guidon to the Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment Association by the Hon. George Pearkes, V.C., Minister of National Defence.

Rotarian Bert Lyon, who was in charge of the program, introduced the films and Lee Watson expressed the club's thanks.

Head table guests introduced by President Lyman Tomkins included: Charles E. Frost, president of the Sherbrooke Branch 10 of the Canadian Legion; Major A. C. Britton, O.C., 24th Technical Squadron, RCEME; Major F. Tanguay, O.C., 8th Medical Company, RCAMC; Lt.-Col. Aime Biron, president of the Sherbrooke Fusiliers Regiment Association; Lt.-Col. D. W. Ward, C.O., The Sherbrooke Regiment, RCAC; Lt.-Col. Richard Crepeau, C.O., Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke, RCIC; Col. J. P. Gautier, C.O., Quebec 9 Militia Group; S/L L. H. Cameron, O.C. No. 2450 AC & W Unit RCAF; and Rotarians Forrest Lord, chairman of the Rotary Air Cadet committee and past C.O. of the 67th RCAF Cadets, Lt.-Col. Bert Lyon and Lt.-Col. Lee Watson.

MR. C. B. BURNETT who has been appointed President and Chief Operating Officer of Johns-Manville Corporation, Asbestos, effective January 1st, 1960. Mr. Burnett, who joined the company in 1931 has attained wide company experience and was elected Executive Vice-President and a Director in 1957. During the past year he has served on various coordinating committees of companies under the jurisdiction of the Johns-Manville Company, and he has managed large American branches. Mr. Burnett, who resides in Candlewood Isle, Conn., is a member of the Engineers Club, New York, the Tau Kappe Epsilon, national social fraternity and other such societies.

Invited To Give Blood

Citizens of the counties of Compton and Wolfe who have contributed 2,038 pints of blood to the Red Cross since 1950 will be invited to participate in the Sherbrooke blood donor clinic which will be held at the Armouries, November 16, 17 and 18.

Mr. W. F. Clifford, president of the East Angus Red Cross Branch said it would be better, at this time of the year, to join the Sherbrooke organization rather than hold a seperate clinic in East Angus. "We prefer to concentrate our efforts in the spring when chances of fair weather are in our favour," he said. "Poor results at a blood donor clinic are a costly experience for the Red Cross."

Mr. Clifford urges all citizens of Compton and Wolfe who have transportation facilities to attend the Sherbrooke blood clinic. He also suggests to all former donors to bring a member of their family or a friend who has not yet given blood. "The Red Cross needs 2,800 pints of blood each week," he said, "and it is the concern of every good citizen in normal health, to maintain an adequate supply of blood."

The Sherbrokoe clinic will be open from 1:00 a.m. to 9.00 p.m. without interruption.

Let Us Pay Tribute

Today, as we pause in remembrance, let us pay tribute to the dead of two great World Wars.

But let us honor as well those who selflessly surrendered their capacities to enjoy the peace they helped make possible — the maimed, the blind, the nerve shattered.

And let us not forget the civilian casualties, the refugees, stripped of loved one and belongings, who still seek a place in the sun fourteen years after the last shot of World War II was fired.

All of these should be in our thoughts not only today but always.

They should be in the thoughts of our leaders as they tread the perilous paths of international politics, in and out of the United Nations.

Their sacrifice must not be in vain. With it they dearly bought the peace. It is our responsibility and that of our leaders, that that peace be not surrendered easily or needlessly.

Coordinated Giving

The president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce has called for coordination of Sherbrooke service clubs in the distribution of Christmas gifts and other charitable donations.

Speaking, appropriately enough, at a meeting of the local Kiwanis Club this week, Mr. Genest made the point that while service clubs assist needy families, and do much good work in this area, there is both overlapping and overlooking in the cases of some of those who should be helped.

It is not a case of mismanagement or inefficiency; but rather a lack of unity.

It was also announced this week that the Sherbrooke Welfare Agency will set up a special office to act as a "clearing house" for all Protestant church clubs, associations and persons interested in welfare work.

Here, it would seem, is a fine basis for coordination and cooperation. Acting through such a central agency, all service clubs in the city would be assured that their money and effort would be spent to the best possible advantage.

Unifying charitable and philanthropic enterprises is a trend that is gaining momentum more and more every year on this continent. The ever-growing United Appeal is the principal example of this growth.

Individual service clubs are justifiably proud of their several projects in aid of the needy, but following the trend need not diminish this feeling of achievement in any way.

On the contrary, the even greater achievements of unified effort can only add to the stature of those already dedicated to community service.

Removing A Bottleneck

Compared with some of the extravagant projects under consideration by the City Council, the proposal for eliminating the railway crossing at the King-Belvedere street intersection should not prove a financial impossibility.

The railway line affected is but a spur serving the C.P.R. freight shed and a number of small warehouses, all of which might have to be re-located. However, there is a possibility that some of these, especially the oil storage tanks, may be shifted in the near future in any case, substantially reducing the cost of the project.

Clearing the east side of Belvedere street from King to Frontenac streets of railway lines would make a considerable stretch of valuable street Frontage available, substantially recompensing the railway for its share of the re-location costs.

But, if they wish to accomplish something towards easing the traffic bottleneck at this vital intersection, the aldermen must do something more than make loud noises. For a comparatively modest cost, tentative plans for a new freight terminal scheme could be prepared and submitted to the railway and the Transport Commission for consideration.

It is unreasonable to expect that either the Commission or the railway will accede to vague demands for a change unless a definite alternative is provided.

Perplexing British Problem

Sale Of Arms A Delicate Issue

By JOHN EARLE

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government has been facing what diplomatic observers here regard as a series of delicate decisions over the sale of arms to foreign countries.

British policy is to permit the sale of arms manufactured by British firms to foreign countries in sufficient quantity for their genuine defence needs, but not to sell arms which might be used against other countries.

In addition, Robert Allan, joint parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, told the Commons last January, with reference to Cuba, that British policy was not to permit sales of arms which could be used to carry on civil wars.

In practice, observers here say, arms sales often raise delicate issues. Other countries, which have strained relations with the buyer, are liable to see them as a threat to their own security.

Moreover, a new factor has arisen in recent years with the appearance of the Communist-bloc countries as major exporters of arms. If the British government refuses permission for an arms deal, the intending buyers may turn to one of the countries of the Communist bloc and the whole balance of East-West relations may be affected.

At present, the British government is wrestling with the problem of whether to allow jet fighters to be sold to Cuba. Other difficult decisions have concerned the sale of arms to Indonesia, Iraq and Tunisia.

Britain is selling Indonesia 18 Fairey Gannet patrol aircraft over a period of years and, under an order approved last May, 180 scout cars and 1,500 parachutes. The United States also is supplying equipment for the Indonesian armed forces.

Western arms sales to Indonesia have aroused fears in Holland lest Indonesia should become strong enough militarily to attack Dutch West New Guinea, which Indonesia claims under the name of West Irian.

Britain, traditional supplier of arms to Iraq under the monarchy, faced a new situation after the revolution of July 14, 1958. The new republic of Iraq received considerable quantities of arms from Communist countries and withdrew from the Baghdad pact, now the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO).

The question was whether continued sales to Iraq would constitute, in effect, wasting them on a country already under Communist influence, or whether they would help Iraq's new rulers to practise their declared policy of neutrality.

Eventually, in May this year, the British government approved the sale to Iraq of a "reasonable quantity" of military equipment.

Britain and the United States have supplied Tunisia with small arms and infantry equipment under an agreement made last November. Since then there has been little public friction. But before that, observers here recall, relations with both Tunis and with Paris had passed through some delicate phases, as the French feared that arms would find their way to the Algerian rebels, and Tunisia objected to what it alleged was a French "veto" over its arms supplies.

Anti-Communist Campaign

Malaya Achieves Peace, Success

By RUSSELL ELMAN

KUALA LUMPUR (CP) — Malaya's 11-year campaign against Communist terrorists is drawing to a peaceful conclusion.

As police and armed forces prepare to wind up their long, arduous struggle against the few bandits still in the jungle, hopes rise that the state of national emergency will end within the next year.

"We hope very soon to be able to call off the emergency," said Prime Minister Tenku (Prince) Abdul Rahman in an interview. "We could declare it at an end now, but we must work out the arrangements carefully since some subversive activities still are going on."

For all practical purposes the military emergency already is over, and conditions are normal and stable throughout most of the 50,000-square-mile federation. All major towns are terrorist - free "white areas," only a few remote jungle districts still being called "black."

Operations now are confined almost exclusively to the Thailand border area in the north. Recent talks in Bangkok between federation and Thai defence officials may lead to closer co-operation to clean up remaining pockets of terrorists.

Meanwhile, the new chief of staff of the federation armed forces, Lt. - Gen. Sir Rodney Moore, has pledged himself to continue the "intensive campaign" to crush the remaining bandits in the jungle.

Chief concern in the federation today is quickly reducing the cost of the emergency so that funds can be diverted to national development. Although many leaders agree the emergency helped knit the federation together and speed up political independence, a heavy price was paid.

In 1952 the emergency cost $70,000,000, in addition to a heavy military contribution by Britain, Australia and New Zealand in men and material. But costs have been progressively cut to an estimated $30,000,000 in 1959, and possibly to $18,000,000 - $20,000,000 in the coming year.

Approximately 700 terrorists are believed still at large. Although not militantly active, they still are getting food supplies and spreading Communist propaganda in some villages.

A COUNTRY WITHOUT TAXES

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The income tax was "invented" by the younger Pitt in 1799 to help finance the wars that seemed to always involve Britain somewhere in the world, but subsequently it became a permanent fixture. Most other countries adopted it also. Premier Khrushchev has been boasting recently that in a few years time he will abolish the income tax in Russia.

That seems a startling objective and if true it would make Russia appear a splendid country to live in. Of course he could abolish the income tax—by merely saying it is done—but the income tax would in fact remain. Only about 15 per cent of the national income is derived from income tax. The rest is derived from what is called "a turnover" or sales tax on everything a Russian buys. But Khrushchev does not call the "turnover" tax a tax at all.

Abolishing income taxes can be easy for Khrushchev. To replace revenue lost, he can simply adjust turnover taxes—prices—to meet his needs. As it is, the turnover tax raises the prices of goods bought by Russian consumers by around 100 per cent, on the average. Rates vary, though, as Moscow thinks best. Retail prices of beef, say, or soap, may include a tax of 60 to 70 per cent. Other rates run lower, still others very much higher. Fact remains that the tax takes a bite out of every consumer ruble spent in a state store.

For Khrushchev, a turnover tax hidden away in consumer prices has special advantages. He can step up the tax—price, that is—when he needs to put the brakes on consumption. The "takes" from these taxes can be diverted to heavy industry, including armaments, without risking inflation. And, since Khrushchev says the turnover tax isn't a tax, no one in Russia can safely say it is.

DOESN'T WANT IT; WON'T KEEP IT

(Fort William Times-Journal)

That story in today's paper about the man of 77 years who won $140,000 last week in the Irish Sweepstake commands attention.

Here is a man who lives in a room with an outside toilet for $12 a month, whose idea of fun is to get liquored up in a pub. With the money he is getting he could travel back to see Scotland, the land of his forebears. Or he could fix up a cosy home with all the modern equipment for pleasant, comfortable living.

But no. He doesn't want to leave his present quarters or his old cronies who tip the bottle with him.

"What do I want to move from here for?" he asks. And he answers his own question, "I'm quite happy."

He is too old to change, he says at another point.

Oh well, if that is his philosophy and he doesn't care about money in large quantities, he will surely find those who do care for the commodity and will do their best to wrest it from him.

Press Comment

NUMBERS GAME

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

Many years ago a veteran foreign correspondent, speaking of the Russians he had recently been watching first-hand, said:

"If it's documents you want, the Russians will get 'em for you by the carload."

His point was that the Russians had come to understand a free democratic society's dependence upon evidence, especially of the written variety, in the making of its decisions. They were only too happy to oblige, by providing manufactured documents in volume.

Some of this, unfortunately, goes on within our society itself. But of much greater peril is subtler practice, which has become painfully common in the public life of a nation.

This is the practice of arguing a case, whether it be on a political issue, on a matter of government policy, in a labor dispute or whatever, from what one sharp observer has called "self-serving statistics."

We live; in an age that is truly over-run with statisticians, data computers and a host of other information gathers and analysts.

They supply enough material for everybody in the country who wants to argue anything at all. Just pick your topic, pick your side, dip into the huge reservoir of facts and statistics, and you can make out a case.

It's been happening for years in the union-management disputes in steel and other big industries. It goes on all the time in political arguments over the federal budget. Self-serving figures are dealt out relentlessly by all kinds of organizations and individuals seeking licenses and privileges from government agencies.

Pity the poor commissioners who must choose between opposing sets of foolproof statistics, or the arbitrators who seek the truth in the highflying ammunition fired by management and union.

Most of all, pity the poor public, trying to decide where the truth lies so it can weigh issues, policies and men wisely.

What we need, obviously, is a Bureau of Selfless Statistics, independent of government, business and labor, drawing upon the resources of all but answering only to the public's crying necessity for balanced, thoroughly honest information.

matter of FACT

The first sewing machine was invented by Thomas Saint, an Englishman. In 1790, he patented a machine that had many of the features of the modern chain-stitch machine. Saint's machine was largely intended for work on leather. It had a moving awl which punched holes through which the thread could pass. The Saint machine was never used industrially and the inventor made no profit from it.

NO TRUMP IS BETTER BID

The hand hog always finds some execuse to take the play from his partner. He also is likely to go through life wondering why he never wins.

South's excuse for his four-heart bid was his 100 honors and he was unlucky not to make his contract. West opened a diamond. The finesse lost to East's king and East promptly returned the diamond eight. South won in dummy and the heart finesse lost. Now West put his partner in with a spade and a diamond ruff defeated the heart contract.

If South had not been a hand hog he would have let North's three no-trump bid alone. East would have opened his fourth best spade and West's queen would force North's king.

At this point it would have been necessary for North to play very safe for his contract. He would have to go to dummy with the ace of clubs and take the diamond finesse. East would take his king and try to get West in with a heart. Now North would have to refuse the heart finesse and just cash his diamonds and clubs for nine tricks.

session of the two Houses.

OFTEN SUGGESTED

Motions proposing a distinctive national flag and anthem have been debated in the Commons in past sessions but without the house reaching a conclusion. The last one was submitted last session by Mr. Allard.

However, according to Ottawa sources, this is believed to be the first time that a proposal has been made for a Canadian Independence Day. Law officials of the Commons said they could recall no earlier proposal of a similar nature.

The late Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King instigated the establishment of a parliamentary committee in 1946 to study a flag design. After considering 2,695 designs it recommended that the Canadian flag be the Red Ensign with a maple leaf in a bordered white background replacing the coat-of-arms in the fly, and a smaller Union Jack in the upper left hand corner.

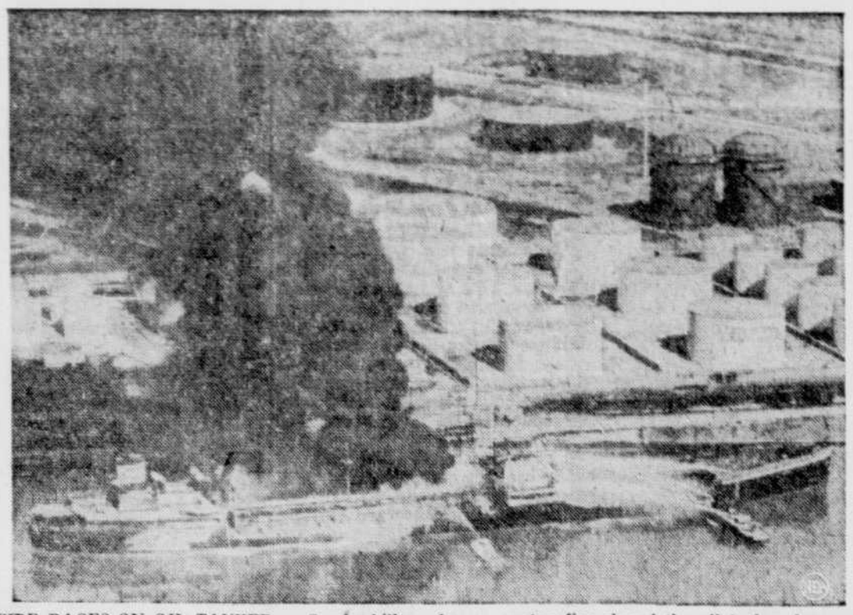

The design was never submitted to Parliament for approval.

The Red Ensign now is flown, where necessary, to represent Canada but it is not a national flag. Both God Save the Queen and O Canada are played, but neither is recognized officially as the national anthem.

In previous sessions flag designs which did not include the Union Jack have run into stiff opposition from many members. Many Liberals and Conservatives said they could not approve a flag which did not contain the Union Jack in its make-up.

However, the Young Liberal Federation of Canada at its national convention in September approved a national flag built around the maple leaf and without either the Union Jack or the fleur-de-lis emblem.

An explanatory note on Mr. Allard's bill says: "A distinctive national flag, a distinctive national anthem and a national independence day constitute external signs of sovereignty and it is the purpose of this bill to provide these attributes for our country."

FIRE RAGES ON OIL TANKER — Smoke billows from a raging fire aboard the oil tanker Amoco Virginia in Houston, Tex., harbor. The explosion and ensuing fire Nov. 8, killed the captain and at least six crewmen, and threatened to spread to nearby oil tanks. After battling the blaze for 18 hours, firemen reported Nov. 9 that it was believed to be under control. (NEA Telephoto) feet. It is ridiculous keeping it low—and it will crash into the mountains."

He told his daughter, Sarah, "It is my wish—but do not give it as an order . . . that the captain fly higher."

"I thought that the prime minister looked slightly cyanosed (blue) in the face," Kelly says. He set the oxygen for 10,000 feet and then 20,000 as the plane climbed higher. The prime minister's color became normal and his pulse slowed down.

At dinner that night after landing, Kelly adds, Churchill "put his hand on my shoulder and said, 'You have rendered me a great service and I am very grateful to you.'"

Turning to Lord Moran, Churchill said, "And you, Charles, foresaw the need for everything."

"Lord Moran beamed with delight," the diary reports.

Apple-Picking Farmer

Life's Ups and Downs Never Seem To End

TORONTO (CP) — The sad story of a farmer who got more than his share of ups and downs while picking apples is related in a letter received by Harold Wright, safety expert of the Ontario department of agriculture.

The farmer, whose name was withheld, attached a barrel to a rope, threaded the rope through a pulley and pulled the barrel to the treetop, then fastened the other end to the tree trunk.

"I then went up the tree and picked the first barrel of apples," the farmer wrote. "Then I climbed down the tree and unhooked the line from the trunk. Unfortunately the barrel was heavier than I was and before I knew what was happening the barrel started jerking me off the ground."

"I decided to hang on, and halfway up I met the barrel of apples coming down and received a severe blow on the shoulder. I then continued to the top of the tree, banging my head on the limbs and getting my fingers jammed in the pulley.

"When the barrel of apples hit the ground it burst and all the apples spilled out."

At this point, the farmer wrote, the barrel was considerably lighter and something else happened.

"Half way down I met the barrel coming up and received severe injuries to my shins. Then when I hit the ground I landed on the truck rigging, getting painful cuts."

The farmer wrote he then panicked and let go of the rope.

"The barrel then came down again, giving me another heavy blow on the head and putting me in the hospital."

2.15 p.m. at the cenotaph.

Prior to the service there will be a military church parade at the 8:30 a.m. mass to be held at the Notre Dame Presentation Church. Following the mass at the Recreation Grounds at Ste. Therese School, the Gzowski Trophy will be presented to Thetford's 15th Field Squadron RCE. This is a trophy awarded for the first time to the local regiment and was won by them at Petawawa camp this past summer for the best unit of the Eastern Militia Group of the RCE's. This will take place at 9:45 a.m.

In the afternoon, the 15th Field Squadron RCE will assemble at 1:45 in front of the Arts and Trades School, and will march over to the cenotaph.

At the cenotaph, the benediction will be given by the St. Alphonse Parish priest and Rev. Sydney Meade, Rector of St. John's Church. All dignitaries taking part are requested to be at the cenotaph at 2 p.m. where instructions will be given by Lt. J. H. L. Poulin.

Among those taking part in the parade will be the Legionnaires, the 15th Fd. Sqn. RCE CA (M), a detachment from the RCAF Station at St. Sylvestre, Cadets from LaSalle College, Scouts, Girl Guides and the Union Musical Band. The salute will be taken at the City Hall.

TAKE A CHANCE

BUNNY, England (CP)—Residents of this Nottinghamshire village took 10 years to save £500 to build a village hall. Now they are investing the money in premium bonds in an attempt to win the further £500 needed to start construction.

GIFTS FROM SEA

PAKEFIELD, England (CP)—A bumper harvest of coal was washed up by the sea in this Suffolk village, one woman gathering three hundredweight in an hour. Also washed up were three bottles of spirits.

DRUNKEN EELS

HULL, Eng. (CP) — Eels believed intoxicated by water sweetened with sugar when a sugar-carrying barge sank in the harbor here were caught by the dozen as they floated listlessly. Normally they lie in the mud at the base of the docks.

Child's Love Is Natural, But Respect Must Be Earned

If you want your children to respect you (not love, mind you, but respect)—

—Think a long time before saying "No." But when you've said it make it stick.

—When you tell a child to do something, see that he does it, even though it might be easier to go ahead and do it yourself.

—Be scrupulously honest in even the smallest matters.

—Control your temper, for an adult in a temper tantrum seems childish even to a child.

—Keep your promises to a child. If it is impossible for you to keep a promise make sure that he understands why.

Treat your child with courtesy and demand courtesy in return.

—Give your child chores to do that are his responsibility and make sure that he does them.

—Punish a child when necessary but don't nag at him about his faults.

—Meet upsets with a calm, "What can I do about it?" attitude, instead of throwing up your hands in despair.

—Really listen when your child talks to you and try to do most of your teaching without preaching.

—Make his friends welcome and don't do anything to embarrass him in front of them.

—When your child tells you something in confidence, don't let him down by repeating it because you think it is cute or funny.

—Give him a feeling of family loyalty by the way you behave toward all members of the family.

—When it comes to important matters let him see that each of his parents is ready to stand beside the other.

—If you do all of these things, your child will respect as well as love you.

Realism Keynote To New Toys

By OLI DAUM
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Perhaps little girls now won't have to wait for domestic science classes to learn the arts of homemaking.

A preview of discoveries to be made on Christmas morning disclosed that a greater number of the toys being turned out by a Canadian toy company (Canadian Playthings Manufacturers) are replicas of the things mama has around the house.

For instance a new doll, 36 inches high, could double for a three-year-old child. Its hair can be washed, combed and curled—but not dyed or bleached—and the little mother can dress it in the clothes she wears herself.

The living doll may have difficulty lugging her life - sized companion around, but its limbs move, are washable and warm to the touch. It is made of lightweight plastic.

REALISM KEYNOTE

"Dolls will be more popular this year than ever," said J. C. Schaffter of Toronto, president of the toy company. The demand for "realistic" dolls has been so great that manufacturers now hardly trouble to produce any without at least movable limbs. Realism is the keynote; the youngsters are demanding it.

Another newcomer is a barbecue set which threatens to relegate the old-fashioned tea-set to the shade. It includes everything from a cauldron to a two-pronged fork to flip the steaks. There the realism ends, however — the young cook will have to provide her own steaks.

Tea sets have been given a lift. A silver service has been added to cups and saucers but sometimes the service, complete with engraving, is gold-colored so that mother doesn't mistake it for the real thing.

Nor have boys been forgotten. Former metal trucks, mobile cranes, trains and other equipment of miniature size have been enlarged "so that they can ride them as well as push them," said Mr. Schaffter.

The use of plastic instead of metals has allowed greater use of detail such as marking on tires, ribs and panels on trucks and outlines of the mechanics of a motor.

TV INFLUENCE

While mother may not have a real cowboy hooting around shooting up the livingroom she does have a television set that transmits wild west shows, and most gun and holsters sets bear the names of current television heroes. That applies to boxed parlor games too.

Mr. Schaffter said the Canadian toy industry really came into its own during the Second World War. Because of import restrictions Canadians had to start producing their own toys.

"The industry now has 125 firms employing 10,000 people," he said. "This year sales of Canadian-made toys will be in the vicinity of $80,000,000."

Snip Off A Cookie

You can delight your guests of all ages with your kitchen artistry this Christmas by decorating a small table tree with gaily iced cookie cut-outs.

At dessert time, or during those frequent informal get-togethers, simply invite your family and friends to snip off from the branches any delicacy they fancy.

You can prepare now for this form of entertaining by choosing from your card index or cookbook your favorite cookie recipes. Recommended for decorating are Scotch shortbread, almond cutups, Swedish sprits, sugar cookies and lebruchen or honey cakes. Drop cookies, as well as the more moist bars, squares and fruit cake, may also be used to hang on the tree if wrapped in plain or colored cellophane.

After cutting your rolled cookies into Santa Clauses, angels, reindeer, bells, stars, snowmen, or any other design you choose, place a looped thread in the top of each cut-out on your cookie sheet before placing it in the oven for baking.

When your cookie designs have cooled, decorate them imaginatively with white or colored icing, using a handy cake decorator for the fussier artwork. When you come to the final touches, you can put into effective use many materials that you have been harboring in your pantry. Try cutting up into tiny pieces colorful candied citron, orange and lemon peel, gumdrops, cherries, dried raisins and hard candy, to serve as buttons, eyes, nose, mouth, wings or scarves on your designs.

Be sure to make enough decorative cookies to see you through the holiday season. And don't forget to remove the unsnipped bobbles from your tree after each party and return them to their jars to keep them fresh and crisp for the next occasion.

Homemaking

Small cabinets with tiny plastic drawers, now on sale in hardware stores, are designed for the home workshop. Homemakers can use them to good advantage for holding buttons and other small sewing aids ready-sorted by size.

$3,000 Set As Objective For Special Fund, Mayor Nadeau Presents Cheque To Start Drive, To Send Jean Lessard To Olympic Winter Games

Mayor Armand Nadeau, on behalf of the City of Sherbrooke, opened the subscription campaign of the Olympic Ski Fund last evening at a special press conference held at the King George Hotel. Mayor Nadeau presented Robert Gingras, president of the fund, with a $300 cheque.

The Mont Orford Ski Club made their donation towards the special Fund and forwarded a cheque of $150 to the committee. George Masse, local representative of Molson's Brewery, also presented a cheque to help the Fund.

President Robert Gingras pointed out the reasons for creating the Fund and fixed the amount of $3,000 as the objective which must be reached in order that Jean Lessard, Canadian Ski champion, can take part in the pre-Olympic training which opens next month at Rossland B.C.

President Gingras thanked the City of Sherbrooke, Mont Orford Ski Club and George Masse for starting the campaign off with a bang. "It is a great pleasure to see so many of the City Council here this evening and it certainly gives the members added help to know that our project has the blessing of the City of Sherbrooke."

"The objective may look a little high to some people but when you stop to figure how much this entails it certainly has been put at a low level. Our champion, Jean Lessard, leaves Nov. 26th for British Columbia to commence training and will be on the steady go until the Olympic Games at Squaw Valley in Feb-rury," stated President Gingras.

President Gingras pointed out that the committee had no intention of making a door-to-door subscription but would rely mainly on skiers of the City and Townships to help in the movement. So far the committee has collected close to a $1,000, which is one-third of the objective.

This evening at the Belvedere Street Armoury a special ski fashion parade will be held and the proceeds from this event will go into the Olympic Ski Fund. The show is being sponsored by the Hillcrest Ski Club with the co-operation of Schiller's Ski Shop.

The campaign will last until Nov. 24th and the committee will be doing their best to reach their objective by that date. President Gingras wished to thank all who have helped to get the Olympic Ski Fund underway and wished his co-workers success for the drive.

Maple Leafs' Big Line Beginning To Hit Their Stride, Tally Twice To Down Black Hawks 3-1 In Only Game

A Toronto Maple Leafs forward line that was expected to score at least 70 goals in the National Hockey League this season may have finally hit its stride.

Before the season started George (Punch) Imlach, Leafs' manager - coach, picked Frank Mahovlich to score 30 goals and linemates Gerry Ehman and Billy Harris at least 20 each. But after 12 games the trio, which tallied 15 times in the Stanley Cup playoffs last spring, had produced only four goals.

Tuesday night in Chicago the line scored twice as the Maple Leafs defeated the Black Hawks 3-1, recalling Imlach's observation of some time that it would only be a matter of time until the line started to click.

"They've had the chances and the way they play they'll get many more," he said then.

THIRD FOR FRANK

Mahovlich got his third goal of the season and Harris his first in the Toronto victory. Ron Stewart scored the other in an empty net after Hawks pulled goalie Glenn Hall in the dying minutes. Bobby Hull tallied for Chicago.

The win pushed Leafs into a second - place tie with Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings, five points behind league-leading Montreal Canadiens. The Leafs, Bruins and Wings each have 17 points with Toronto having one game in hand over the other two teams.

The loss stretched the Hawks' winless streak to 13 games, during which they have managed only two ties.

Harris, who centres the big line, scored 22 last year as did Mahovlich. Ehman got 12 in 44 games after being bought from Hershey Bears of the American League. Ehman and Mahovlich each scored six in the playoffs, Harris three.

HARRIS OPENS SCORING

Harris put the Leafs ahead 1-0 at the 7:07 mark of the second period Tuesday night, his shot bouncing off Hawks' defenceman Pierre Pilote. At 15:38 Mahovlich made it 2-0, tipping in Harris's shot.

Hull blasted a short drive behind Johnny Bower with 29 seconds left in the period. It was his sixth goal of the season.

Stewart's goal at 19:12 of the last period was his first of the season.

The Hawks were back at full strength with wings Eddie Litzenberger and Eric Nesterenko restored to active duty after being benched two games for ineffectiveness. Veteran Ted Lindsay also played after sitting out two games with a slight concussion.

New York Rangers, with general manager Muzz Patrick coaching, host the red-hot Boston Bruins in tonight's only game. Coach Phil Watson undergoes an operation for an ulcer today and will be lost to the club for a month.

Victoria Sells Hockey Tickets On Credit Cards

VICTORIA (CP)—"Two on the aisle, centre ice about half way up—and charge it."

Hockey fans in Victoria have been using this, or a similar line for nearly a month now to buy tickets to home games of the Cougars in the professional Western Hockey League.

They've got credit cards for hockey. If the plan works it may spread to other WHL cities.

Hal Laycoe, former National League player who now is coach and general manager of Victoria Cougars, introduced the plan when early - season attendance lagged. In three weeks, Cougars issued more than 900 credit cards which permit the fan to obtain his tickets for each game without any cash outlay, then get the bill at the end of the month.

Most others in the league, questioned about the idea, said it seemed to have merits and Edmonton and Winnipeg operators said they're studying it closely with a view to possible use there.

League President Al Leader said Seattle Totems have been doing the same thing this season through "select restaurant" credit cards issued by a number of Seattle restaurants. Hockey tickets can be charged to these credit-card accounts and he said about five per cent of the 15,000 in Seattle who have such cards are using them for Totem home games.

Phil Watson To Have Operation For Peptic Ulcer

NEW YORK (AP)—Coach Phil Watson of the New York Rangers will undergo an operation today for a peptic duodenal ulcer, the hockey club said Tuesday.

Watson is expected to be lost to the club for a month.

He will be replaced for the time being by general manager Muzz Patrick, a former Ranger coach.

The Rangers, with a record of two victories, nine losses and three ties, are in fifth place in the six-team National Hockey League.

Alouettes Dickering With Three Coaches In Search For Walker's Successor, Assistants Resign

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—Somebody is bound to say it sooner or later, so here goes: Montreal Alouettes have rolled out of the Big Four football picture but they haven't gathered any moss. Not yet, anyway.

For a while Tuesday there was quite a flap. Has Perry Moss, head coach at Florida State University, been signed or hasn't he as successor to Douglas (Peahead) Walker.

The Miami News said Moss "is signed, sealed and delivered for the Montreal Alouettes."

President Ted Workman of the Als, who let out Walker Monday, indignantly and emphatically denied that Moss has been signed.

Then, from Tallahassee, Fla., came Moss' own flat denial.

All of which, coupled with Walker's dismissal Monday, resignation of the assistant coaches Tuesday and Workman's invitation to all players to return next season, has kept the Als in the forefront of the football news almost as much as if they were still in the running for the Eastern Canada title.

Nobody was squawking about that situation; certainly not Workman. News of the assistant coaches' intentions came late in the day. Jimmy Dunn, eight years backfield coach, plans to return to his home in Kennebunkport, Maine. Pat Preston, one-year line coach, would like to return to University of North Carolina.

Meanwhile, Workman, the youthful Alouette president, admitted Moss is being considered as head coach but said two others are also. He declined to name them.

Workman said it probably would be a month before an announcement is made as to Walker's successor.

Workman didn't say so, but the implication is that he can't or won't sign anybody—presumably another American coach — until the college football season in the United States ends.

In Tallahassee, Moss made it plain that his main concern now is a game next Saturday.

He said if and when he signs a contract that would take him from Florida State, he will "make it a matter of public record."

HELPED TICATS

He is completing his first year of a three-year contract, his first job as a head football coach. Several years ago he spent the training season, and was on hand for exhibition games, as a special coach with Hamilton Tiger-Cats. The Cats then were coached by Carl Voyles, also a Florida resident.

Walker had just finished two years of a three - year contract. If he doesn't take another job offered by the As, he said the management has agreed to buy up his contract. Best guess is Walker will reject the development-program job.

Meanwhile, Workman said that all players with this year's team will have a chance to retain their jobs next season.

One of the missing will be Red O'Quinn, veteran end, who has announced his retirement but has been rumored a sure thing for a front-office job.

D'Amato's Case Finished But Decision Withheld

NEW YORK (AP) — The state athletic commission Tuesday reserved decision on a motion by Cus d'Amato's attorney who asked dismissal of four of the five charges against the fight manager. The charges were made in connection with the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight.

D'Amato's hearing ended Tuesday with cross examination by James Fusscas, the commission attorney, as the manager of former heavyweight champion Patterson stuck to his original story. D'Amato's licence was suspended Sept. 14.

There was no indication when the commission would make a decision on the d'Amato case. It has asked Julius November, his attorney, to produce copies of certain contracts.

The hearing on Bill Rosensohn, the suspended promoter, will open Thursday. He is charged with irregularities in the promotion of the June 26 title bout.

D'Amato denied he ever threatened to pull the Patterson-Johansson fight out of New York.

Tony Trabert To Retire As Pro Tennis Player

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Tony Trabert, former U.S. and Wimbledon champion, says he may retire from pro tennis as a player.

He said Tuesday he was considering an offer in the promotional end of pro tennis promoter Jack Kramer's troupe.

"If I stop playing it will be regretfully because everything I have I owe to tennis. However, competitive tennis takes me from my family a big part of the time. I am about ready to quit playing."

Harold Johnson, Rusty No. 1 Light Heavy Contender, Is Favored Over Sonny Ray In Tonight's TV Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold Johnson, the rusty No. 1 light heavy contender with a shining record, takes on fifth-ranked Sonny Ray in a Chicago Stadium 10-rounder tonight.

Johnson, 31, unbeaten in 10 bouts over the past four years, is a 3-1 favorite over the much younger Ray, who is 23.

The bout, to be televised nationally will be scored by the five-point must system.

Johnson, from Philadelphia, has an overall record of 61-8 including 28 knockouts. Four of those few defeats came at the hands of current 175 - pound champion, Archie Moore. Moore shattered one Johnson winning streak at 25 and another at 12. But venerable Archie also lost once to Johnson on a decision.

In their last meeting, a title bout five years ago, Moore knocked out Johnson in the 14th with the challenger ahead on points at the time.

Johnson has had only one start this year, knocking out Johnny York in six rounds May 4. His last defeat was a second round knockout by Julio Mederos, May 6, 1955, in Philadelphia.

Johnson is trying for another shot at Moore through a convincing victory over Ray, a rough tough Chicagoan. Ray's record of 20-8-5 includes three victories over Jesse Bowdry.

Ray lost his last two bouts. Von Clay stopped him in five last Aug. 21 and last March 20, he dropped a decision to Tony Anthony in Madison Square Garden.

But against Von Clay, Ray was putting up a stiff battle until the bout was stopped because the busy Chicago fighter suffered an eye cut.

Aces Walloped 7-3 By Indians

Springfield Indians, beaten only once in their last eight games, look as if they're about ready to take over the lead in the American Hockey League.

A 7-3 whipping of Quebec Aces moved the Indians to within one point of the league-leading Providence Reds Tuesday night, thanks to an assist from Hershey Bears, who knocked off the Reds 3-2 on on Les Duff's goal with 10 minutes left to play in Providence.

Floyd Smith and Billy Mc Creary each scored two goals for Springfield while Brian Kilrea, Harry Pidhirny and Jim Anderson chipped in one apiece. Jackie Leclair scored twice for Quebec, which dropped to fifth place behind Hershey.

Twelve penalties, including seven majors, were called during the final period at Providence—resulting from four fights and one free-for-all with both teams out on the ice in force and skirmishing around.

The Bears grabbed a 2-0 lead on goals by Bob Solinger and Dunc Fisher before the Reds came back on goals by Dutch Reibel and Dan Poliziani. Duff got the winner after intercepting a pass near the Reds' cage, scoring at 10:07.

Tudor Era Remains Favorite In Today's International Classic At Laurel, 12 Horses Entered

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — The colorful and often controversial Washington D.C. International will have its eighth running today with a dozen picked horses from nine nations battling for a part of $100,000 at Laurel race course.

Tudor Era, the six - year - old British-bred horse who is one of the United States representatives, remained the favorite, at odds that switched overnight from 8 to 5 to 2 to 1. Tudor Era is owned by Mrs. Herbert Herff of Memphis, Tenn.

This was a lukewarm selection, for the unknown quality of several thoroughbreds including a pair from the Soviet Union and two strong French contenders could easily upset the calculations.

NO. 1 POSITION

For the second year in a row a Russian horse drew the No. 1 post position for the 1½ mile over Laurel's new enlarged infield grass course. Garnir, who drew the extreme outside No. 10 post a year ago and finished sixth, got the inside post this time. Flang, the other Russian, drew No. 11. The entry, racing in the blue silks of the Soviet government, was listed at 20 to 1 odds.

Second choice at 3 to 1 is the French three-year-old Midnight Sun, owned by the Paris hotelman, Francois Dupre, a pioneer French war pilot. Midnight Sun last month finished in a dead heat for first with the Aly Khan's Saint Crespin in the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, Europe's richest race. But Midnight Sun was disqualified and placed second for bumping Saint Crespin.

OTHER U.S. ENTRY

Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim's Bald Eagle, the other U.S. runner, and the three-year-old French filly, Mi Carina, are next at 5 to 1. Mi Carina was fourth in the Arc de Triomphe, but the finish was so tight she was only a neck behind the two who dead heated for first.

Others in the field, which will be sent away at approximately 3:45 p.m. EST, are New Zealand's Up and Coming, owned by Noel Simpson; Aggressor, England, owned by Maj. Gen. Sir Harold Wernher; Lea-B, three-year-old filly and Mexico's horse of the year, owned by Mrs. Maria Ugarte de Bava; Lightning—a Peruvian - bred owned by Col. Cloyce J. Tippett; Pensilvania, Flying the Green and Gold Silks of Gustavo Rotundo of Venezuela and Vogel, representing Australia but owned by Roy E. Faircloth of Johnson City, Tenn.

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—Clint Hodgins, one of the nation's top harness racing drivers, drew a 10-day suspension at Roosevelt Raceway Tuesday night, effective Nov. 11 through Nov. 21.

Charles Plumb, steward representing the New York State Harness Racing Commission, said Hodgins failed to take out when his horse, Su Mac Lad, broke stride in the fourth race.

Gold Putters Arrive For Xmas Gifts

NEW YORK (AP)—If you haven't finished your Christmas shopping, just relax. A swank Fifth Avenue jewelry store has announced it is getting another shipment of those $1,475 solid gold putters.

The first shipment already has been sold out.

Of course, it is understood that the club will not improve the recipient's golf score. In fact, it might even hinder it. But there is this consolation. If you miss a two-footer and smash the club across your knee, you can always melt the head of it into a $1,475 lump.

Eskimos 3½-Point Favorites Over Blue Bombers Today In Opener

Experts Can't Seem To Agree On Outcome, Have Bombers 9-To-7 To Capture Best-Of-Three WIFU Finals

EDMONTON — (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos fire their punishing ground attack and the magic of quarterback Jackie Parker against Winnipeg Blue Bombers and versatile Kenny Ploen today in the first game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union final.

The big question :

Does Ploen, who found himself Winnipeg's No. 1 quarterback when Jim Van Pelt was hurt earlier this season, know enough about the bewildering Eskimos to beat them?

They installed Eskimos 3½-pointed favorites today but rated Bombers at odds of 9 to 7 to capture the best-of-three series. Winnipeg coach (Bud) Grant doesn't know.

TERMED EVEN

"We're pretty even clubs. Edmonton outscored us 55-50 in four games during the season. We each won two, each lost a game at home and away.

"Now the quarterback we've used all season gets hurt, so we fill in our safety (Ploen). That hurts us offensively and defensively.

"Ploen hasn't quarterbacked a full season since his shoulder separation two years ago. Van Pelt has played Edmonton nine times since then. He knows the Eskimos. Kenny couldn't be expected to."

Those who have been kicking around the merits of Ploen and Van Pelt will get some idea of the Bomber offensive after today's opening kickoff at 4 p.m. EST on Clarke Stadium's frozen turf. A breezy north wind was expected to make the temperature feel colder than the 15 degrees above zero forecast.

The second game is set for Winnipeg Saturday and a third, if needed, also there Wednesday.

Edmonton coach Eagle Keys said Tuesday night: "Van Pelt killed us with his passing this year. Two years ago, Ploen did as much damage along the ground. One's as good as the other as far as I'm concerned."

Jimmy Brown Is Top Scorer In National League

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Fullback Jimmy Brown of Cleveland Browns, who has led the National Football League in rushing all season, now has taken over first place in scoring.

He scored two touchdowns Sunday against Philadelphia Eagles to increase his season's total to 10 for 60 points.

He is trailed by Tom Davis of San Francisco '49ers with 55 points; Bobby Joe Conrad of Chicago Cardinals with 53 and Bobby Layne of Pittsburgh Steelers with 51.

Brown has gained 862 yards on the ground in 183 carries for a 4.7 average. Second in rushing is J. D. Smith of San Francisco, who shows 696 yards in 139 carries for a 5.0 average.

Jimmy Carter KO's Nunez

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—Jimmy Carter, former lightweight boxing champion, exploded with a right under the heart and knocked out Kildo Nunez of Sonora, Mexico, in the fourth round Tuesday night.

Carter was trailing on points as Nunez caught him with right hand leads and beat him to the punch. Carter was puffing from the torrid pace.

In the fourth the ex-champ caught his younger foe coming in and dropped him for a 10-count. Nunez tried gamely to rise, but crashed again.

The victory was Carter's third straight in a comeback. He outpointed Nunez last August in San Jose, Calif. Carter, of San Francisco weighed 139; Nunez 141.

Chuck Stanley Comes Up With Two Long Runs To Help Sarnia Bears Upset London Lords In ORFU Final

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two wild runs by a wing - footed import halfback fractured an otherwise solid London Lords defence Tuesday night and gave Sarnia Bears their second successive Ontario Rugby Football Union Senior championship.

Chuck Stanley, the league's most valuable player, twisted and dodged 56 yards for a touchdown in the final three minutes to fashion a 17-14 win and nail down the best-of-three final in straight games.

It was the second spectacular charge by the 25-year-old speed artist from Tulsa, Okla. In the third quarter he put the floundering Bears into contention with an 89-yard zigzag gallop.

It was a bitter end for Lords, who lost their third final playoff in four years. Until Stanley got loose the second time, London appeared certain to make up for a 39-21 loss in the first game and force a deciding match at Sarnia Saturday.

Ed Vernes accounted for a convert and Tony Aloisio kicked a 33-yard single to round out Sarnia's scoring.

London's points came on touchdowns by Earl Kaiser on a five-yard burst up the middle and end Larry Aldrich on an eight-yard pass to the end zone. Kaiser converted both.

After a scoreless first quarter, London led 7-3 at the half and 14-10 at the close of the third period.

Hockey's Big Seven

Chicago Black Hawks' Bobby Hull scored his sixth goal of the season Tuesday night to move into a three-way tie for sixth place in the National Hockey League scoring race with 14 points.

Miami City Accepts Bid For Bout

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The city commission unanimously approved Tuesday Vincent J. Velella's offer of $60,000 for the Orange Bowl as the site of the return heavyweight championship fight between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson.

Te decisioon now rests with the board of trustees of the Florida National Bank, which holds the Orange Bowl bonds.

Velella said last week the fight would be held in the bowl, probably March 1, if his offer is accepted. Normally, the bowl charges 17½ per cent of the gross gate receipts.

Johansson has said, however, that he wouldn't be ready to fight in March and that he preferred to defend his title in New York in June. The Swede, rehearsing for a dramatic part in a television show, couldn't be reached in New York immediately for comment on Tuesday's move.

The city commissioners noted that the $60,000 would be the biggest fee ever collected by the Orange Bowl for a single event.

Velella, New York attorney who holds the contract for the fight, said in a news conference Tuesday he has offered to sell a portion of the contract to a group "of prominent Miami citizens." He did not name them.

Bob Carpentier Is Interested In Backing Club In AFL, Ready To Spend $1,200,000 Yearly For Operations

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bob Carpenter reportedly is willing to go for the $1,200,000 yearly operational costs of an American Football League franchise if he is convinced the league won't fold.

Carpenter, owner of the Philadelphia Phillies baseball team is very interested in the proposition.

A source close to Carpenter told The Associated Press Tuesday that operational costs of an AFL franchise were between $900,000 and $1,200,000 a year.

For a team to break even with these costs, it would have to average 25,000 fans for each of six home games in a 12 game schedule, the source said.

CAUTIOUS APPROACH

Carpenter, who some believe loves football more than baseball, reportedly is willing to dive into pro football, but wants assurance initial financial reverses won't scare off other club owners. He figures that the new teams must figure on red ink for at least three years.

In New York, Harry Wismer, president of the New York entry in the AFL, said the league's final franchise would go either to Philadelphia or Boston within the next 10 days. He said, "either city would be a fine one for the league."

The AFL, which expects to operate in 1960, already has granted franchises in Los Angeles, Dallas, Minneapolis - St. Paul, Houston, Denver and Buffalo, as well as New York.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

Frank Mahovlich of Toronto, who scored the winning goal and assisted on another as the Maple Leafs defeated Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 Tuesday night.

Richmond, Calif. — Jimmy Carter, 139, San Francisco, knocked out Kildo Nunez, 141, Sonora, Mex., 4.

Tale Of Tape Shows Finalists In Big Four Fairly Even, Riders Hold Slight Edge In Over-All Picture

OTTAWA (CP)—The tale of the tape shows little to distinguish between the antagonists in Saturday's first game of the Big Four two-game total-point final.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats beat Ottawa Rough Riders in their first two games this season, by scores of 34-10 and 23-14. Then Ottawa in the last two encounters won 9-7 and 17-16. The points total of 80-50 in favor of Hamilton indicates better scoring power on their part, at least in the earlier games.

In the yards-gained department in the four games, Ottawa picked up 694 rushing and 560 passing, while Hamilton totalled 418 rushing and 818 passing.

TOPS IN YARDAGE

So in the over-all picture, Riders have a yardage edge of 1,254 to 1,236 for the season.

Ottawa has made 80 first downs to Hamilton's 57 in games against each other.

Both teams have pretty well the same personnel as when they met in the 1958 final, which Ticats won easily 54-14.

But a look at statistics for the first game of that series, won 35-2 by Hamilton is interesting.

Hamilton gained 221 yards rushing, largely on the strong effort of fullback Gerry McDougall who won the Big Four rushing title in 1958.

Ottawa that year didn't have any kind of ground attack, and in this game rushed only nine yards.

TABLES TURNED

The tables are turned this year. Ottawa's Dave Thelen holds the league rushing record, and McDougall hasn't been producing as formerly.

In the first game of last year's final Bernie Faloney caused his usual destruction through the air, gaining 303 yards to Ottawa's 261.

Faloney hasn't slowed down, and Ottawa's passing attack hasn't improved appreciably, so judging by the changed rushing situation a much closer match can be expected.

Saturday's game begins at 1 p.m. EST. The second game is to be played the following Saturday in Hamilton.

Billy Carter Is First 20-Goal Player In EPHL

Billy Carter, 21-year-old centre with Hull-Ottawa Canadiens, became the first 20-goal player in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Tuesday night as his club moved into a first-place tie with Montreal Royals.

Carter, the former National Leaguer with Montreal who is scoring goals at a rate of more than one a game, flicked in two as Hull-Ottawa defeated Kingston Frontenacs 6-3 at Kingston.

Canadiens outskated the Frontenacs, firing 34 shots at goaltender Normand Jacques. Rookie Ken Walters handled 23 for Hull-Ottawa.

A crowd of 2,010 watched the Habs crack open a 3-2 game with three goals in the final period. Carter, who now has 20 points, got his two then and the other scorer was rookie Bill Mahoney.

Other Canadiens' scorers were defencemen Jean-Claude Tremblay, who got two, and Frank Chiarelli. Tremblay has just arrived from the Habs' parent Montreal Canadiens.

Veterans Stan Maxwell and Orval Tessier and rookie Gerry Ouellette scored for Kingston.

Jungle Jim Trimble Of Ticats Is Strangely Quiet As Big Four Final Draws Near, Six-Point Favorites

HAMILTON (CP)—Jungle Jim Trimble, the usually - voluble coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, is strangely quiet as his defending Big Four champions prepare for the opening of their two - game, total-points eastern football playoff Saturday with Ottawa Rough Riders.

It appears to be deliberate. As is well known, Trimble isn't the sort who can confine himself to platitudes. When he opens his mouth, he can be counted on for some hard-hitting talk.

It will be recalled that he didn't mince any words before last year's Grey Cup final in declaring his Ticats would beat Winnipeg Blue Bombers. The westerners responded by making him eat his words.

Last week Trimble made some remarks to the effect that it wouldn't surprise him if Montreal Alouettes beat Ottawa in the Big Four semi-final. He got quite a ribbing from Ottawa fans after Riders blasted Als 43-0.

MAY BE MOTIVE

If he can avoid saying anything that might further stir up the high-flying Rough Riders before Saturday's game in Ottawa it will serve his purposes. Ticats, with a split in four regular season games against Ottawa, would dearly love to win that first one and come back here the following Saturday with a cushion for the second meeting.

Hamilton is rated six - point favorite to win the nationally-televised opener scheduled for 1 p.m. EST, despite the fact that it has been having injury troubles.

Bronco Nagurski, 22-year-old tackle from Notre Dame who qualifies as a Canadian because his famous father was born in this country, is out with a knee injury first suffered in a pre-season game and aggravated several times. He hurt it again in practice Monday night and team doctor Jim Charters suspects it's a cartilage injury.

"Nagurski's out for the first game of the Big Four finals for sure and he might be out for the rest of the year," Trimble said. "That will hurt us badly."

REPLACED BY CANADIAN

Dale Klassen, 220-pound tackle who came up from Brantford last month, will replace Nagurski.

Another of Trimble's problems is to stop Ottawa's outside running. This would be less worry if he had Steve Oneschuk and Eddie Bell healthy. But Oneschuk is out of action and Bell's leg is hurting. The former Philadelphia Eagles player will play but there is some question whether he'll be 100-per-cent effective.

The reason for concern about protecting the corners follows from Ticats' thoughts that Ottawa might try running wide in event the strong Hamilton defensive backfield stops the pass attack and linemen John Barrow and Dave Suminski keep Dave Thelen from running wild up the centre.

In the final analysis Hamilton's fortunes likely will rest on quarterback Bernie Faloney. And, recalling that Hamilton scored only 23 points in losing their last two games to Rough Riders during the season, it's a good bet Trimble will come up with some surprises in the Faloney-directed attack.

It takes a giant highway to speed up automotive traffic and it takes a giant medium to speed up sales traffic. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town.

Reader traffic through the daily newspaper is greater than ever. According to Sindlinger & Co., statistical analysts, newspaper reader traffic reached an all-time high of 100,000,000 on an average day in January. More people read newspapers than viewed, listened to or read any other medium.

Reader traffic leads to sales traffic. The greater the traffic the greater the opportunity for retailers, wholesalers, distributors and regional manufacturers to sell more goods to more people. Your daily newspaper gives you that opportunity every day throughout the year.

Friends from Trinity United Church W.M.S., the Women's Institute, the Eastern Star, St. Peter's Guild, St. Margaret's Guild, some from Sawyerville and from the Town of Mount Royal, and many from Cookshire and district, Mrs. Dickson's daughter, Mrs. John Cruickshank, of Inverness, and Mrs. Meade, of Thetford Mines, were included in the guest list.

Mrs. Dickson was presented with a bouquet of flowers from St. Peter's W.A. and a copy of the new Prayer Book. Canon Dunn expressed his best wishes and those of the gathering and wished Mrs. Dickson many more years of happiness.

Mrs. Dickson replied thanking all for the many acts of kindness shown her, since she came to Cookshire, stating it had been a pleasure to be able to serve the community in a small way, and that she would always treasure the memory of her 90th birthday with its special surprise party.

A social evening was held and also another meeting at the home of Mrs. Darker. Sick and shut-ins were remembered and cards sent to cheer them.

The Guild met again at the home of Mrs. A. Worby, and Mrs. C Maskell presided. Rev. Canon Dunn was in attendance, and told the ladies about the new Prayer Book, which can now be ordered. The ladies missed Miss L. Hodge, who was in Montreal undergoing treatment.

Thanks are due to all ladies, both in the Senior Guild and St. Margaret's Guild who have been so faithful in their service on the Altar Guild for the past year. Mrs. Angus Standish is convener.

100 Tons Of Dynamite To Blast Tunnel Through Mountain

By LARRY STANWOOD

LYTTON, B.C. — (CP) — Two hundred thousand pounds of dynamite will be used during the next 18 months to blast a half-mile-long tunnel through a mountain south of here.

When the debris has been cleared, a modern highway will snake uninterrupted along the Fraser Canyon and the worst and most costly road-building territory in North America will have been conquered.

Construction is expected to start this winter on the final and most expensive section of the 70-mile route from Hope, 100 miles east of Vancouver, north to Lytton.

NEAR HELL'S GATE

Final gap in this section of the Trans-Canada Highway is a craggy outjutting of rock known as the China Bar and located near the Fraser River's Hell's Gate rapids.

The British Columbia highways department, seeing great difficulties because of the Canadian National Railways line below and other obstacles on top, has decided to punch through the obstruction with a 2,000-foot tunnel instead of trying to follow the present road around it.

The tunnel and its approaches constitute about 1.2 miles of new road and will be hewed out of solid rock at a most of more than $3,000,000.

Its construction will mark the climax of a 100-year roadbuilding saga that began when the Royal Engineers carved out a pack trail along the precipitous banks in the days of Governor Douglas.

The entire Fraser Canyon highway project has been difficult and costly, even with today's modern construction equipment and engineering techniques. It has cost an average of $300,000 a mile with some sections exceeding $1,000,000 a mile.

Fraser Canyon Project Toughest On Continent

Two other tunnels 900 and 1,100 feet in length have been driven through the base of mountains whose sheer walls have left room only for the railroad grade.

The fact that both the CNR and the Canadian Pacific chose their transcontinental routes along the canyon — one on either side — probably has presented the greatest difficulty to the modern roadbuilders.

Through most of the 100-mile canyon section, the only feasible road location is above the railway right-of-way. All earth and rock removal work had to be handled with extreme caution to prevent falling rock or earth slides from striking the railways.

The danger to the railways was demonstrated two years ago when blasting uncovered an unknown rock fault and 30,000 cubic yards of granite cascaded down on the CPR near Yale, disrupting transcontinental service and resulting in thousands of dollars in damage.

Heavy rock cuts of hard granite, slides of overburden and vertical drops from the grade of 600 to 800 feet into the boiling Fraser River below and the extreme hazards to men and equipment are other factors that have contributed to the high cost.

STARTED IN 1950

Reconstruction of the canyon highway to Trans-Canada Highway specifications began nine years ago with the first federal-provincial agreement to share the cost on a 50-50 basis. For 20 years before, the canyon route was passable but each trip was a cliff-hanger and often a hair-raising experience.

The entire canyon section will be completed in 1960 with possible exception of the China Bar tunnel.

The completed highway will be a monument to explorer Simon Fraser, who gave his name to the river and its gorge. It also will bear testimony to the foresight of the Royal Engineers, who under Sgt. - Maj. George Cann pushed the first road through to Spuzzum—about half-way through the canyon — in 1860 and then went on to cut a trail to Spences Bridge.

Then called the Cariboo Road, it led gold seekers to the quartz and placer mines of Barkerville and Wells.

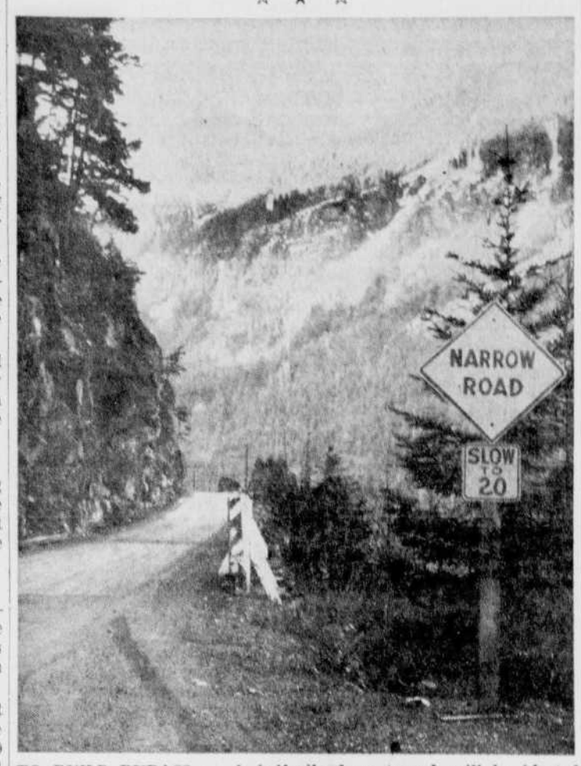

SOME PARTS REMAIN

CPR construction and ensuing roadbuilding destroyed most of the Engineers' early work, but there still are a few sections of the original trail remaining high above the present highway.

Joe Romano, head of Highway Construction Company and dean of the canyon roadbuilders, summed up the views of contractors and engineers when he said:

"This is the toughest roadbuilding country for any man in the whole world."

Simon Fraser, however, said it first, more than 150 years ago, when he commented in this concise fashion: "We had to pass where no human should venture."

TO BUILD BYPASS — A half-mile long tunnel will be blasted through a mountain to by-pass this section of the Fraser Canyon as British Columbia works to complete the last gap in the most difficult section of its Trans-Canada Highway construction. The tunnel will be located on the east side of this section of the canyon, known as China Bar. It is located near the Fraser River's Hell's Gate rapids. The tunnel, costing $3,000,000, is the last and most expensive link in the 70-mile route from Hope, 100 miles each of Vancouver, north to Lytton. (CP Photo)

Indian Tribe Not Paid By Railway

THE PAS, Man. (CP) — The Canadian National Railways brought to light a 45-year - old mystery recently when it asked The Pas Indian band to sell three acres of reservation land.

The CNR, seeking the plot for drainage improvements along its Hudson Bay Railway to the northern Manitoba port of Churchill, asked the band to set a price on the land.

The band council referred to records of negotiations between the railway and the band back in 1914, when the CNR used eight acres of reservation land for a portion of the railroad.

To everyone's surprise, the council could find no record of payment having been made for the original tract.

Chief Cornelius Bignell told the CNR that the band was not prepared to sell either the three acres it now was seeking or the original eight acres.

He said the band was prepared to lease the land to the railway for $30 an acre—with payment on the original eight acres to be retroactive to 1914.

CNR OFFER REFUSED

The CNR countered by offering $2,000 to cover the use of the eight acres from 1914 to 1959. It said it would consider leasing the whole 11 acres from 1960 on.

The band refused the offer.

Neither railway nor Indian affairs department officials are able to find why the band was not paid for the original land in 1914.

Records at Ottawa show that the two parties negotiated the sale and agreed on a price of $500 an acre. The agreement said that when the $4,000 was forwarded to the band, the transfer of ownership would be transacted.

From there, the record is blank. Apparently the money never was forwarded to the Indians, although survey plans were drawn, the roadbed constructed and finally, steel laid down.

Hard To Make Ends Meet

Manitoba Farmers Hit Hard By Snowstorm, Heavy Rain

SANFORD, Man. (CP)—Farmer Ralph Junkin stood in a rain-soaked field of unharvested flaxseed on his farm near here and spoke of looking for work in Winnipeg this winter to help make ends meet.

His situation is typical of that faced by most farmers in southern Manitoba, hard hit by early snowstorms and heavy rain.

Unless clear cold weather settles on the area for about eight days—to freeze the ground solid enough to support heavy harvest machines—his 300 - acre flax crop will be lost.

Even if some of the grain is harvested, the yield and quality likely will be poor, Mr. Junkin said in an interview at the 1,400,-acre farm he operates with his brother about 25 miles southwest of Winnipeg.

The southern part of the province is estimated to contain about 75 per cent of Manitoba's flax—considered a good cash crop under normal circumstances. About 66 per cent of the province's expected production of 4,200,000 bushels is still unharvested.

Similar conditions exist in many prairie areas. About 60 per bushels of flax was unharvested at mid-October and 28 per cent of Alberta's 6,500,000 bushels still was in the fields. Other grain crops also were heavily hit.

Mr.Junkin, 42, said he was more fortunate than many of his neighbors in one respect—during a relatively good stretch of weather last month he managed to harvest his 300 acres of wheat.

However, 25 per cent of the wheat had been destroyed by hail in August and the remainder, combined after rain and snow, was of poor quality.

WHEAT IS POOR

A neighbor, Pat Ebb, drew a hopper of his combine. It felt wet and heavy.

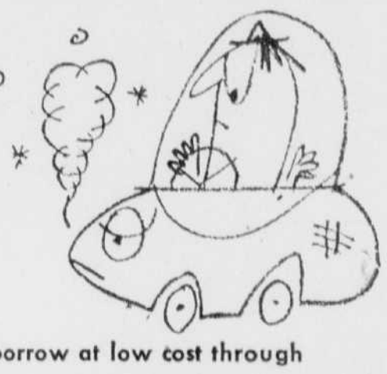

"Almost good for nothing," he said.

Livestock producers also were affected by the weather. Mr. Junkin said he will get little use out of a new $1,200 open pole barn built to accommodate about 50 head of cattle.

He was able to gather only 200 bales of bedding straw of an expected crop of 1,000 bales.

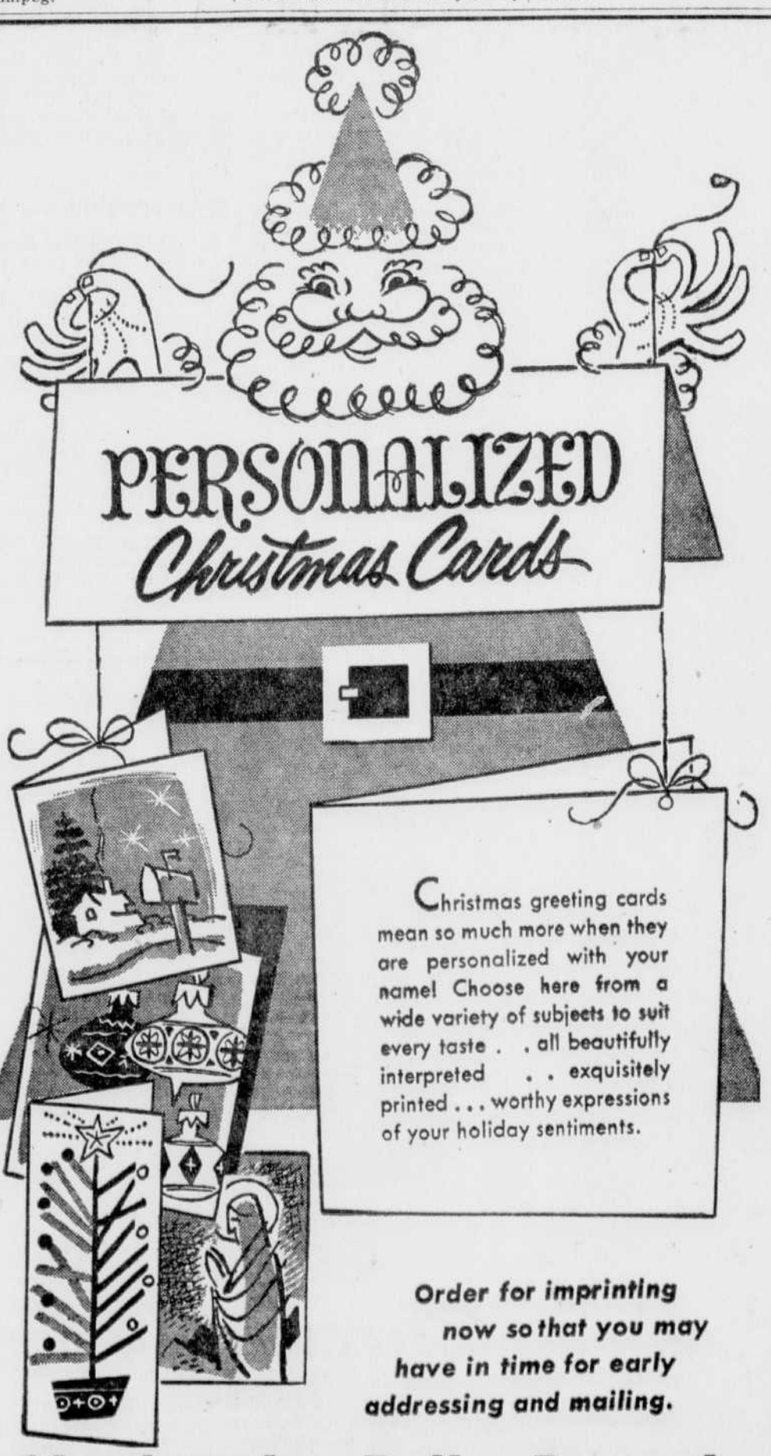

He said he already has cancelled plans to buy a new oil burner for his stoker furnace this fall and he expects to have to look for work in Winnipeg for the winter.

Sunnyside High School News

ROCK ISLAND — Students of Grades 7 to 11 assembled in the auditorium of Sunnyside High School for an introduction to the various student organizations.

Nancy Alexander, president of the Students' Council, was chairman and introduced the council's executive. They are: Vice-president, Jamie Edgar; secretary, Edith Davis; treasurer, Bruce Chamberlain; staff advisers, Mr. Kerr and Miss Neill.

The president also explained the activities of the four Houses: Gibson, Libby, Hacket, and McClary, and stressed that they were competing not only in sports but also in academic work.

"S" awards was another topic. Only Junior "S's" could be awarded this year as one must have first earned one of these to be eligible for a senior "S". Outstanding achievement in extra-curricular activities as well as in academic work is a requirement.

Deanna O'Leary, President of the Junior Red Cross Council, presented her executive. They are: Vice-president, Geoffrey Denney; secretary, Nancy Wilkinson; treasurer, Leland Bullock; and staff adviser, Mrs. Moore.

Deanna expressed the hope of the executive that every class in the school would make some contribution to the Junior Red Cross in the form of knitting, sewing, toys or other type of work which would benefit the Society. She also urged the students to sell Red Cross calendars, suggesting that each student sell at least three.

Richard Wing, president of the Athletic Association presented his executive: Vice-president, George Cooke; secretary, Bryan Griffiths treasurer, Robert Channell; staff advisers, Mr. Denton and Mr. Farr.

Richard talked about inter-House sports and said that money must be raised to support all athletic activities. Games for the elementary grades and equipment for the various teams must be purchased. He said that the Association would sponsor an ice carnival at the Arena. This would include racing and other forms of competition.

The editor of Strobe the school annual, Howard Smith, the last speaker introduced the editorial board as follows: Assistant editor, Doreen Fisher; literary Gloria Carruthers; social, Andy Rever; French, Enid Bacon; boys' sports, Robert Channell; girls' sports, Diana Cripps; art, Bronni Patterson; photography, Tom Hill business manager, Mary Haselton; staff advisers, Miss Phillips and Mr. LaBonte.

Howard went on to say that the annual was prepared to provide a complete record of the year's activities. He stressed the fact that the success of the magazine depends on the individual co-operation of the students themselves and on the conscientious work of the editors and advertising committee. After mentioning that the book would contain class pictures, messages from the school leaders, and many other features, Howard concluded by asking everyone to do his best to make the school's first annual a success.

—DIANA CRIPPS

BOYS' BASKETBALL

The Doctor Says

DETERGENT, SUN LAMP HELP CONTROL FACIAL BLEMISHES

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M. D.

What can you do about acne or pimples besides wait until you grow older when it will disappear by itself?

Many are the "cures" you are offered, and surely there will be many more magic pimple removers in the future. I have explained the dangers that lurk in some of them.

I will now tell what can be done now to control this annoyance with safety to the young patient until the body regulators are running smoothly.

Here's a list of things a conscientious parent can do to help a co-operative boy or girl control these facial blemishes:

First, assure your child that his pimples have nothing to do with failure to wash or to eat the right foods.

Shift to plain salt if you use the iodized kind. Otherwise, forget the common ban on fats, chocolate, starches, spices, etc.

Provide the youngster with a few bars of any nationally advertised sudsing detergent to replace soap, with freshly laundered turkish towels daily and with a sudsing detergent shampoo.

If you can swing it, get an inexpensive sun lamp which carries the endorsement of the American Medical Association or an institute of some reliable magazine. This is a source of ultraviolet irradiation.

Here is how it should be used:

Each morning have your youngster scrub his face with a lather made by soaking the soap substitute in the rough towel. Give special attention to the skin folds and creases.

Each evening, after return from school or work, repeat the scrubbing and then expose the face for a short time to the sun lamp. Regulate the time and distance so that the face is tanned but not burned, flakes but does not peel.

At bedtime apply hot towels to the face until it is flushed. With scrubbed fingernails or a pimple extractor gently push out the secretions from whiteheads and blackheads. Repeat the facial wash before retiring.

At least twice weekly, shampoo with the sudsing detergent. Scrub the scalp vigorously with a tough hand brush.

Lay off medicated or cosmetic lotions or ointments because they may cause additional plugging of the oil sacs in the face.

And, above all, do not blame the pimples upon any suspected misdeeds of your child. It's his pituitary gland, not his morals, that is to blame.

WEST BROME —

Mr. and Mrs. Galen Johnson were in Waterville to attend the funeral of Mr. Johnson's grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Lowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Darrah, of St. Come, visited Mrs. Minnie Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. James Foster spent a few days in Montreal with their daughter Miss Beverly Foster.

Mrs. Casper Scott returned from a two weeks' visit in Grand'Mere with relatives.

The card club met with Mrs. Charles Bisaillon and cards were played at three tables. The prize winners were Mrs. A. Pollander and Mrs. Maurice Jolley.

ready for the oven in minutes...

Accurate measuring guaranteed. With Brodie XXX Self-Raising flour, simply omit baking powder and salt. Correct proportions of each are controlled by the amount of flour used.

Perfect blending assured. Ingredients are thoroughly "dry-homogenized" throughout the flour. No doughy lumps. To get a perfect, even texture, sift only once before blending.

No premature leavening. Here's the dramatic difference! Brodie's exclusive baking powder is "heat-triggered" — delays raising action until your baking is safely inside the oven.

Cakes, pies, doughnuts, pancakes . . . everything you bake turns out lighter, fluffier, tastier . . . every time. Use as you would any flour, omitting salt and baking powder.

SHORT RIBS

OBITUARIES

CHARLES W. HARDCASTLE, OF BISHOPTON

BISHOPTON — Charles William Hardcastle, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hardcastle, of Pateley Bridge, England, passed away suddenly on Oct. 23, 1959, after a brief illness. Although he had been in poor health for many years his sudden passing came as a great shock to his family and friends.

Mr. Hardcastle was born at Pateley Bridge on May 5, 1886, the elder of two children. He was a direct descendant of Marmaduke Hardcastle who had Hardcastle Fort in 1352 also a descendant of William Hardcastle who captured the notorious highwayman and murderer, John Nivison, and brought him to justice in 1784 in Yorkshire, England.

In 1903, Mr. Hardcastle came to Canada and made his home for some time with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Westman of Bishopton. On Oct. 28, 1930, he was united in marriage to Miss Lucy Betts of this place. He is survived by His wife, two sons, Charles and Arnold, and a sister, Fleda, Mrs. Bert Leech, of Pateley Bridge, England.

The funeral was held from the residence on Oct. 26, with Rev. D. N. Stirling conducting the service. The bearers were nephews of the deceased. Peter, John and George Matheson, of Bury, Alfred and Jimmie Vintinner, of Waterloo, and Roy Betts, of Bishopton.

Interment was in Brookbury Cemetery.

MRS. JOHN E. DRENNAN, OF COOKSHIRE

COOKSHIRE — The many friends of Mabel E. Drennan were saddened to hear of her death on Saturday, Oct. 24, 1959.

Mrs. Drennan was born on August 17, 1884, the youngest daughter of John Cascadden and his wife, Margaret Suitor, and had lived in this district all her life.

The deceased was married to John E. Drennan, who predeceased her on Feb. 25, 1957. Since that time, Mrs. Drennan did not enjoy very good health, but took a sudden turn for the worse nine days before her death, and was taken to the Sherbrooke Hospital, where she passed away.

She was a lady of quiet habits and was much interested in the Church, the Women's Institute and the Order of the Eastern Star. In her younger days, she held the office of treasurer for 17 years in the Woman's Association, various offices in the W.M.S. and was treasurer and a Past Matron of Unity Chapter, No. 3., O.E.S. She was a charter member of Cookshire Chapter No. 46, O.E.S., and was a member of the session of Trinity United Church at the time of her death.

When unable to participate more actively in the church, she was greatly interested in radio and television programs of the Gospel.

Mrs. Drennan, who was in her 76th year, is survived by a son, Claude, and his wife, Gabrielle, numerous nieces and nephews.

Rev. E. Breen conducted a short service at her home, followed by a service in Trinity United Church, Cookshire, on Monday, Oct. 26, at 2.30 p.m. Members of St. Peter's Anglican Church Choir joined with Trinity Choir and led in the singing of two hymns, Unto the Hills and My Faith Looks Up to Thee. The organist, Mrs. Heatherington, provided music throughout the service.

A large group of Eastern Star members attended in a body, and formed a guard of honor as the body entered and left the church. The bearers were Harold and Arnold McVety, Stanley and Arthur McVety, Herb Wark and Don Cathcart, all nephews of the deceased.

Interment took place in the Cookshire Cemetery in the family plot.

Numerous flowers testified to the high esteem in which this venerable lady was held by all who knew her.

Rock 'n' Roll Loses Punch In United Kingdom

LONDON (AP)—Rock 'n' roll is losing its punch in Britain.

The nation's record manufacturers say the British public wants classics now. A price war is on to capture the market.

Electrical and Musical Industries (EMI) is putting a new issue of six 12-inch, long-playing classic discs in the shops at $3.08 each. Decca is putting out a classical series at $2.94 a record. Up to now, the price has been about $5.60.

Between them, Decca and EMI turn out 70 out of every 100 records in Britain.

An official of EMI said: "We believe there are signs that the teen-age idols like Elvis Presley and Tommy Steele are beginning to lose their hold and that a sizable fringe of teen-agers with a taste for better music is rapidly growing."

All major record companies have been jolted by a sudden and unexpected drop in record sales.

The target for the big record concerns now is to develop a regular record-buying habit among a wider and more dependable cross section of the public than the group which went for rock 'n' roll.

Quiz Scandals, Latin American Threats Are Creating Very Bad Impressions

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — What with quiz scandals and Latin American threats, Uncle Sam is frankly pert u r b e d about the image he is creating abroad.

"In France," says Richard Cushing, an officer in the United States Information Agency, "they still refer to us as the Coca-Cola and comic book culture. The television quiz scandals don't help."

This agency, an arm of the U.S. government, spends more than $100,000,000 each year to disseminate information about the U.S. in 80 countries and thus help to retain friends and perhaps make new ones.

This money spent through films, broadcasts, books, magazines and speeches is in addition to the billions of dollars poured out each year in U.S. foreign economic and military aid.

BLURRED PICTURE

As depicted by George C. Allen, the agency's director and personal friend of President Eisenhower, what the U.S. would like to create abroad is a picture of a dynamic capit a l i s m providing generous benefits, a country seeking peace with justice and creating scientific achievements beneficial to all mankind.

But then along came Russian Luniks to circle the moon, Cubans who shout anti-U.S. slogans in Havana and Panamanians who threaten to smash the U.S. Embassy in Panama.

Cushing, chief of the agency's public information division, suggested in an interview that the Cuban anti-U.S. feeling is rooted in Cuba's economic troubles but said the Panamanian action was "frankly inexplicable."

BALL GAME NOT OVER

As for the television quiz show scandal in Uncle Sam's living room, Cushing said:

"There is no doubt this business has damaged the U.S. image abroad. But we haven't lost the ball game. The congressional hearings may lead to laws to prevent such frauds in the future.

"A saving grace is that we've aired our linen in public. We've let the whole world into our problem."

The quiz scandals not only have added to the agency's work abroad. They have led the U.S. to question its moral standing and to question the morals of supposedly low - paid, high - purposed scholars.

VAN DOREN FANS SAD

Did former Columbia University teacher Charles Van Doren do wrong in accepting $129,000 on the rigged Twenty-One TV quiz show? And what will the impact of his confession be on the thousands of his former viewing fans?

"You sold out for money," cries a former fan in a letter to a Washington newspaper.

"The Charles Van Doren story is a sad one, especially in a day when we search hungrily — and not too successfully — for someone we can believe in," says another.

Van Doren, bright heir of a literary family, was eased out of his $50,000 - a - year TV network post and his $5,500-a-year Columbia University job.

IKE WANTS CLEANUP

But that isn't likely to satisfy a hungry public. Said Eisenhower: "Nobody will be satisfied until this whole mess is cleaned up."

At the president's request, the justice department is trying to reach some conclusions as to what should be done. Involved may be stiffer federal control over broadcasting.

No one will be happier than the U.S. Information Agency when the "mess" finally disappears.

Producer Wants Van Doren As Movie Actor

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Producer Mervyn Leroy said Monday he's trying to hire Charles Van Doren of rigged TV-quiz fame—as an actor.

Leroy said he had a part in mind for Van Doren in the film, Wake Me When It's Over, which he's making at 20th Century-Fox.

"I don't want to go into the details," said Leroy, "But it's a major part. I think he's a very good actor."

Van Doren testified this month that he was acting when he pretended he was struggling to remember the answers to questions on the Twenty-One quiz show, now defunct.

Trans-Atlantic Cable Difficulties

PARIS (AP)—One of the two new Atlantic telephone cables linking France and North America ceased functioning Monday because of a defective amplifier some 250 miles off Newfoundland. Emerg e n c y circuits borrowed from the cable with Britain and radio channels took some of the calls.

Nikita Claims Policy Of Force Died With Dulles

CAIRO (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev was quoted here today as saying the Western policy of force died with the late American secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

The Russian premier also was reported to have told a correspondent of the newspaper Al Gomhouria that the Middle East is "unripe for a Communist regime."

Khrushchev promised to continue sending the United Arab Republic arms.

The newspaper published the results of a 4½-hour interview between Khrushchev and Maj. Salah Salem, former Egyptian minister of national guidance now visiting Moscow as a newspaper man.

Guilty Once More

NEW YORK (AP) — An ex-convict was found guilty Monday of second-degree murder in the 11-month old bandstand stabbing of the assistant manager of Birdland, the big jazz spot on Broadway. The jury deliberated three hours before reaching a decision on Lee Schlesinger, the 43-year-old defendant. Judge Thomas Dickens set sentencing for Dec. 1. Schlesinger could receive up to life in prison.

WHAT IS A RETARDED CHILD?

The Canadian social conscience is becoming aroused on behalf of a group of children who are suffering from an especially challenging handicap-mental retardation. What is mentally retardation? Briefly it is a condition of impaired or incomplete mental development dating from birth or an early age. Because mental retardation is a case of arrested development, it should not be confused with mental illness. Mentally retarded children are found in every race, class and creed. Their backgrounds are good and bad, their bodies weak and strong. They number only 3% of the population yet this represents about 480,000 persons of which 160,000 are children in Canada and their homes are in cities, towns, villages and country communities. For years their problem has been kept behind closed doors, resulting in a lack of knowledge of the number who can be helped by medical, educational and social techniques to lead useful lives. Furthermore, the knowledge of what causes the many forms of mental retardation is so small that preventative measures are slow in being developed.

The Canadian Association for Retarded Children was incorporated in January, 1958. The 116 parent groups in Canada represent a total membership of over 12,000, mostly parents of retarded children. These parents believe in ten essentials for improvement of conditions for retarded children —

1. Diagnostic — treatment clinics — 2. Home Visiting Counsellors — 3. Residential Centres — 4. Training for the Educable Retarded — 5. Social Training for the Trainable — 6. Sheltered Workshops — 7. Recreational and Social Centres — 8. Summer Camps — 9. Retarded Children in Regular Employment — 10. Research into the Medical and Educational Aspects.

Weatherman Not Necessarily At Fault When Prediction Is Slightly Wrong

By GERALD L'ANGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Next time your're caught in a blizzard without an overcoat, don't cuss the weather forecaster too much. His prediction was probably only partly wrong.

A completely accurate weather prediction, say the experts, would be as unique as four consecutive home runs in baseball. Every time the weatherman goes to bat he faces four pitchers — rain, cloud, temperature and wind. He's lucky if he gets a home run off them all.

Toronto headquarters of the federal transport department's meteorological branch estimates that the average forecast is about 79 per cent accurate.

VARYING NEEDS

The accuracy of a weather prediction depends to a great extent on what you require in it, says Keith McGlening, assistant superintendent of public weather services. If the weather man correctly forecasts sunshine, but slips up on winds, the sunbather is happy but the yachtsman is very much annoyed.

So many factors influence the weather estimates that some countries have given up trying to verify forecasts, says Mr. McGlening. Despite international co-operation in this field, no standard evaluation has been evolved.

The Toronto office, as headquarters of the federal forecasting system, verifies forecasts every 36 hours from 19 cities. The prediction based on the four elements and split into three-hour periods is checked against the actual weather that follows, and points are awarded for accuracy.

Last year the national average came out at 76.4 per cent. There was a 79-per-cent accuracy in forecasting precipitation (rain, snow, hail, sleet), 77.6 for sky conditions, 78.2 for wind and 70 for temperatures.

Last month, the national overall score was 76.1 per cent. This included 81.6 for precipitation, 76.3 for cloud, 77.2 for wind and 67.5 for temperatures. Halifax weather bureau led with an 82.5-per - cent accuracy. Calgary, which had difficult forecasting conditions, was lowest with 69.2.

NOT SERIOUS

The variations are not considered serious by the bureau here, which would not start really worrying unless they fell to perhaps 60 per cent.

The system is not considered accurate enough for a variation of a few percentage points to be serious. The check is purely for administrative use, and the figures could be changed by using a different system, says Mr. McGlening.

The system, in fact, shows the usefulness of the forecast, rather than the skill of the forecaster, because predictions are more difficult in some areas than in others, and at different times of the year.

Figures recently issued in the United States gave a national accuracy there of 89 per cent, but Canadian weathermen believe this is based on a less rigid evaluation system. American forecasters, says Mr. McGlening, probably take points if their forecast comes up some time during the day, whereas Canadians lose points if they are out by only a few hours.

"The Americans leave themselves loopholes," he says. "Our men are called on to stick their necks out."

Artist Has Seen All BC's Rugged Topography

VICTORIA (CP) — Howard Davis says there isn't one peak in British Columbia's rugged topography he hasn't seen, although he's never been further in the province than North Vancouver.

Mr. Davis is an artist with the surveys and mapping branch of the lands and forests department which now is preparing six detailed sectional maps of the province's surface.

His job is to draw the relief picture on each of the maps compiled from the branch's stock of 180,000 aerial photographs.

Although it takes 40 or 50 persons to complete one map, Mr. Davis is the only man in B.C. engaged in geomorphology—the art of illustrating the earth's surface in relief.

His tools are a stereoscope, through which he is able to reduce the 10-inch photographs to a fraction of their size, a magnifying glass, bottle of ink and a crow quill pen. The photographs were taken at various altitudes up to 12,000 feet.

VALUABLE MAPS

The maps, treasured by geologists, miners and prospectors, show the direction of the old ice flow, geological faults in the earth's crust, lava flows, glaciers, volcanoes, old lake and river beds and scores of other peculiarities.

"It is tremendously interesting work," he said. ". . . It's just like going into another world and seeing things from a new angle."

Each photograph when fitted together like a jig-saw puzzle completes a pattern which illustrates earth features in scale. Scale of the maps will be one inch to 10 miles.

With the aid of his magnifying glass, Mr. Davis has seen such things as the old bed of the Fraser River, places where huge lakes once formed, and earth faults which stretch the length of the province.

He has been with the government for 11 years. Previously he was a sign painter in Vancouver.

Chinese And Malay Craftsmen Apply Traditional Skills To Assembly Line

By RUSSELL ELMAN

SINGAPORE (CP) — Chinese and Malay craftsmen are applying traditional skills handed down from generation to generation to building new automobiles in a Canadian - owned assembly plant, first in Southeast Asia.

Stripped to the waist in blue jeans, sons of village silversmiths now are skilled metal workers on the assembly line. The leisurely, timeless life of the Kampong has been replaced by a five-day work week with a regular pay packet.

As Singapore seeks to expand secondary industries to diversify its economy and open new employment channels, the Ford Motor Company of Malaya Limited with 250 employees is one of the largest industrial operations in the new self-governing state. It is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ford of Canada.

In its plant at Bukit Timah in the centre of Singapore Island, right - hand drive cars, light trucks, tractors are assembled from knocked - down components imported from Canada and the United Kingdom. Five Canadians supervise operations.

MOST WORK BY HAND

Most of the work is by hand, with an average daily production of 10 passenger cars and two commercial units. Nearly all are British models as post-war dollar restrictions, only recently relaxed, and higher price tended to limit sales of Canadian cars.

"It's a free market here and highly competitive," said D. L. Vicary of Windsor, Ont., sales administration manager. "North American methods of selling cars don't always apply.

"People here are very conscious of quality, fuel consumption and brand. They are susceptible to a change and like to buy the latest thing."

However, he added, the market potential in the area, including the Federation of Malaya and nearby North Borneo, Sarawak, Brunei, is good and steadily increasing as the tempo of economic development is stepped up. Malaya and Singapore have the best highways in South Asia and a registration of 140,000 private cars for a combined population of 7,000,000. By comparison Pakistan, a country of 80,000,000 persons, has an estimated 36,000 cars.

The Ford Company began its operations in Singapore in a garage in 1926.
