

FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLAR FIRE

Broke Out in Heart of Congested District of Montreal Last Night.

(Special to Chronicle.)
 Montreal, Aug. 31.—Fifty thousand dollars damage was caused this evening by a fire which broke out in the sold storage warehouse of Gunn, Langlois & Co., on St. Amable street, in the heart of the congested district. The fire broke out just as the staff was leaving at six o'clock, and a double alarm was given, calling out 375 firemen from the central division. The warehouse staff was divided into two gangs to aid the firemen, and owing to their assistance the losses were kept to a minimum, there being over half a million dollars worth of cheese, butter, eggs and other perishable goods in the two warehouses.
 The fire broke out in the top storey, close to the ammonia tanks and condenser, and a stiff fight was had keeping the flames away from these, as if they had been reached they would have exploded and probably wrecked the building. The fire was out in an hour and a half, the flames having been confined to the section of the building where they started.
 Most of the damage was caused to the stock by water. Messrs. Gunn & Co. estimates their losses at between $30,000 and $40,000. The building was damaged to the extent of from $15,000 to $20,000. The losses are fully covered with the Norwich Union, Western and Lloyds Insurance companies. Owing to the perishable nature of the stock the meeting of insurance adjusters has been called for half past six to-morrow morning, so that a road start can be secured on salvage operations.

GRAIN SHIPPING RATE UP

Montreal, August 31.—The low rates for shipping grain from Lake Superior to Montreal has been increased to the winter schedule. During the summer the charge has been as low as 34 cents a bushel, but it is now announced the ordinary winter rate of 7 cents will be charged till the close of navigation.

MAJOR LAFERTY'S SUCCESSOR

Kingston, August 31.—It is said that the successor to Major F. E. Laferty, Assistant Staff Adjutant at the R. M. College, will be Capt. H. A. Kaulbach, of the Royal Lancaster Regiment, Assistant Gymnastic Superintendent, Belfast, Ireland. Captain Kaulbach is a Canadian, a native of Nova Scotia, and graduated from the R. M. College.

PREMIER'S CHAUFFEUR FINED

Ottawa, August 31.—On Saturday morning, Henry Birks was fined $22 in the Police Court for driving an auto on Rideau street the day before at 10 miles an hour. No defence was offered and the case was disposed of in about a minute. It transpires that Birks is Sir Wilfrid Laurier's chauffeur, and that it was the Premier's auto which was held up. Lady Laurier was in the machine at the time.

EARL GREY'S TOUR

Parry Sound, Ont., August 31.—His Excellency Earl Grey, the Governor-General of Canada, in his tour of the Georgian Bay and the Upper Lakes, arrived in Parry Sound this morning. To-day he was conveyed on a yacht down the beautiful inside channel and around the islands. On his return this evening to Parry Sound His Excellency and members of his party were taken for a drive around the town. To-morrow the party will visit Depot Harbor, the terminus of the Canada Atlantic division of the Grand Trunk, after which they intend to resume their tour up the lakes.

KEIR HARDIE IN TORONTO

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 31.—Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P., spent the morning accompanied only by his wife and daughter, in exploring the big retail stores with the double purpose of appreciating the possibilities of the departmental stores and also of observing the phases of the labor problem which the establishment presents. A committee composed of J. H. Kennedy, W. J. Hovey, Wm. Glockling and W. T. Thomson was appointed by the Trades and Labor Council to take care of Mr. Hardie and his family while they remain in the city. Labor problems do not exclude appreciation of the lighter side of life from Mr. Hardie's character. This afternoon under the guidance of a special committee he visited Scarborough Beach. To-night, in the assembly hall of the Labor Temple, he addressed a large audience. Hamilton sent over Mr. Britton, representing the Labor Council, to induce Mr. Hardie to speak in their city which he has consented to do to-morrow night in Savoy Theatre. The labor men are moved at the statement that Mr. Hardie has come to Canada in the character of an arbitrator or adviser, and say on the contrary, that he offers nothing but information.

RECONSTRUCTION OF QUEBEC BRIDGE

Effort Will Be Made to Have it Ready for Use by Transcontinental R.R.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—In connection with the re-building of the Quebec Bridge an effort will, it is said, be made to have the structure completed and ready for use by the time that the Transcontinental Railway is ready for operation in 1911. It seems to be taken for granted that the bridge will be rebuilt where the old one stood, and it will be for the three eminent engineers, Messrs. Vautlet, Fitzmaurice and Modjeska, whom the Government has appointed to prepare plans, to say also whether the present piers shall be used again and also whether any portion of the steel made by the Phoenix Bridge Company for the old bridge shall enter into the construction of the new one. But if this is not to be done and the new bridge is to be simply a modification of the old one, it goes without saying that the job can be completed in considerably less time than it would take to work out a complete new design and to place the latter under contract. These are questions which Messrs. Vautlet, Fitzmaurice and Modjeska will have to consider when they assume the important duties to which they have been called.

CONDITION OF C.P.R. STRIKE

Denied that Conductors, Engineers or Kindred Organizations are Interfering.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 31.—There is no truth whatever in the reports that meetings of conductors, engineers, and other organizations of the C. P. R. have been or are being held here or in Toronto, to take any action regarding the settlement of the strike. Those statements all emanate from the same source, and are sent broadcast to delude the striking workmen and those not fully posted on the actual existing conditions. "Strikers should know that a strike cannot be declared without an arbitration under the Lemieux Act."
 Reports that the government will interfere are contradicted by Hon. Mr. Graham, Minister of Railways. The fact is, arbitration has already been rejected by the men. The strike followed this rejection. The company waited two weeks to give the strikers an opportunity of returning to work. When they failed to do so the company proceeded to fill their places and will continue to do so until the staffs are completed, a process which is now progressing most satisfactorily to the company. It is understood that the railway company has schedules with all the other unions and these have advised the company that their position will be neutral in the present difficulties.

HARVESTERS BADLY DISTRIBUTED

Winnipeg, Man., August 31.—The case of the cry raised regarding the congestion of farm hands is that their distribution to centres where most needed has been very poorly managed. Many of the remoter districts are still in need of help, but at the more central points there is a plethora. Many farm laborers have passed through here on their way east during the last three or four days, stating as their reason that there is no chance of work in the harvest fields and they want to get home before their money gives out. One young man from Coldwater, Ontario, claimed to have been at Moose Jaw eight days and to have only got one day's work.

GOLF TOURNAMENT

New York, N.Y., Aug. 31.—Most of the professional golfers, who took part in the annual open championship at Myopia last week tried to-day for the money prize offered by the Scottish-American Golf Club, at Vancortland Park. There were 55 starters, and only two failed to turn in cards for the first day's match play at 36 holes. To-morrow's play also calls for 36 holes, making the two rounds equivalent to the test for the open championship. H. H. Barker, of Garden City, carried off the honors in the first half of the match with 148, while Willie Smith, who was runner up to McLeod for championship honors at Myopia last Saturday, was ten strokes behind. Following are the leading scores of the days play:—

Name	Club	Total
H. H. Barker	Garden City	148
Gilbert Nichols	Tedesco	150
Isaac Mackie	Fox Hills	152
George Sparling	Balducci	152
George Sparling	Brooklawn	154
Will Anderson	Onwentsia	154
Alec Smith	Nassau	154
Jack Hobens	Englewood	150

STORY OF SHOOTING AT ATLANTIC CITY

Told by Mrs. Williams, who was Wounded, with Roberts who He was Wounded.

Baltimore, August 31.—In her home at Long Green Valley, Baltimore County, Mrs. W. S. G. Williams, described in detail the shooting of Chas. B. Roberts, jr., who was wounded on Wednesday night on the board walk at Atlantic City while in her company. "It was an attempt at robbery, pure and simple," she declared, "and Mr. Roberts was shot because he refused to comply with the demands of the man in the mask, who had ordered him to give up his money. Words have been put in my mouth about this sad affair that I never spoke. Sentiments have been ascribed to me that I never had. The whole thing has been distorted and greatly exaggerated. Mr. Roberts was going along with me in the rolling chair and a masked man thrust a pistol into the chair, having first opened the window and ordered us to get out."
 "Mr. Roberts followed me, and as soon as he had emerged from the chair the man told him to give up his money. Mr. Roberts declared that he would do nothing of the kind, and started after the man. The latter, who wore a mask of some grayish material that came to his chin, was small and emaciated. He wore the roughest kind of clothing, and judging from his appearance, though, of course, neither of us could see his face—he looked like a tramp."
 "I begged Mr. Roberts to give the man what money he had, but Mr. Roberts instead rushed at the man, who was covering him with a pistol and stood a few paces off. As Mr. Roberts started forward the man fired two shots in all, one of them taking effect. At the moment I did not know that Mr. Roberts was shot, and doubt if he realized it. Although struck by one of the bullets, he kept on toward the man without pausing, and the villain ran and escaped in the darkness."
 "Did either you or Mr. Roberts recognize the voice of his assailant?" Mrs. Williams was asked.
 She replied in an indignant negative: "If it had been any one whom we knew well," said she, "do you think we would have recognized the voice at once? My husband, as has been proven, was here at Long Green, and my brother, Tom, Deford, was in Chicago on a business trip. The names of other men friends of mine and of my husband have been dragged into this, and very unjustly."
 Mrs. Williams was asked regarding a statement she was stated to have given to Chief of Police Woodruff, of Atlantic City, in which she was reported to have said that her husband had not been in Europe at all, but had been in a sanitarium.
 "I never said anything of the kind," declared Mrs. Williams, emphatically. "To this very day I have never even seen Mr. Woodruff. Any interview with me that he has given out would, of course, be a fabric of his own imagination."

SIR WILFRID'S TOUR

Toronto, Aug. 31.—In the course of his tour through Ontario Sir Wilfrid Laurier will spend a day in Toronto and another at London though it is not his intention to deliver addresses at those cities.

INTERNATIONAL FISHERIES COMMISSION

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—Mr. S. T. Bastedo, the Canadian member of the International Fisheries Commission, returned this morning from the Pacific coast. He reports that the work of the Commission "has given great satisfaction to fishermen generally in all the places which the Commission has been during the recent visit across the continent and is of the opinion that a point of that body was a provident step on the part of both nations if the fish are to be conserved."

THE BETTING QUESTION

Baltimore, N.Y., Aug. 31.—The first day of the hearing in the case of Sheriff John Bradley, jr., of Saratoga County, on charges filed with Governor Hughes, was productive of considerable testimony relative to the alleged gambling at the Saratoga race track which Sheriff Bradley is accused of failing to suppress. Geo. W. Schurman, of New York, is conducting the hearing. Oscar Jones, a witness, testified that he was in the employ of Assistant District Attorney Elder, of King's county, as well as of Rev. Father Laidlaw, the complainant in the case. He said on cross examination, that Mr. Elder had recommended him to Mr. Laidlaw as a good man to investigate the race track conditions. Jones declared he received $100 advance money from District Attorney Elder and $5 a day and expenses from Mr. Laidlaw. He also admitted that he cleared $5 a day on his bets and turned them over to Rev. Mr. Laidlaw to go towards his expenses. Since a the Saratoga meeting, Jones testified, he has been doing detective work at the Empire City track. He said conditions there were not as bad as at Saratoga. During the cross examination by Senator Brackett, Jones admitted that he did not know what the money was for that passed between the men at the race track. He admitted that he saw no bets made excepting his own. Robert M. Scott, a medical student of Brooklyn, also was a witness for the complainant. He was at the track for seven days during the Saratoga meeting. He said that on Congress Hall plaza he heard bets made and saw them recorded and witnessed the passing of money. He also testified that he visited the race track and made bets there.

TEN TONS OF MOLTEN METAL

Flew in All Directions in Hamilton Iron-Works, Burning Five Men.

Hamilton, Ont., August 31.—Ten tons of molten metal, flying in all directions, caused what probably will be a fatal accident at the east end plant of the Hamilton Steel and Iron Co., this afternoon. Five men were seriously burned as a result of the accident, and it is feared that one of them, John Southam, will not recover. The other unfortunate who figured in the accident were R. Connolly, B. Volterman, John Beveridge and C. Whitefield.
 Ten tons of molten metal had been poured into a travelling cauldron and by means of an electric crane, were being taken to one end of the shop. While the cauldron was still suspended in mid-air the bottom suddenly gave way and the ten tons of metal fell to the floor. They descended like a fiery curtain, struck the floor and rebounded in all directions. Shots of red hot metal struck the ceiling. Those Southam was fully thirty feet away, but blotches of liquid covered his face and body and he fell unconscious. Connolly was also badly burned, but the other three men escaped with smaller injuries.

POISONED BY TOADSTOOLS

London, Ont., Aug. 31.—Mistaking toadstools for mushrooms nearly caused the death of four people on Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. N. Kimball, of Ann street and two boarders were poisoned and suffered severely but are now out of danger.

THE CASE AGAINST HAINS

New York, August 31.—After a conference to-day with District Attorney Jerome the plan of prosecution to be adopted in the trial of Capt. P. C. Hains, jr., and Jenkins Hains, charged with the killing of Wm. E. Annis, District Attorney Darrin, of Queen's County, said that he was going to be governed largely in his preparation of the case by Mr. Jerome. He would do this, he said, because of the similarity of the case to that against Harry K. Thaw, the prosecution of which Mr. Jerome directed. "I do not think there is a lawyer in the United States better qualified than Mr. Jerome," said Mr. Darrin, "and I shall take advantage of his aid."

COL. LESLIE'S CASE

Toronto, August 31.—Col. J. Knox Leslie came up again to-day before Col. Denison on the charge of stealing $18,000 from the exhibition funds. He was remanded until Friday. After considerable discussion between the counsel for the defence, Mr. H. H. Dewart, K.C., Crown Attorney Corley and the magistrate, Detective Twigg was allowed to give his evidence as to the conversation he had heard between Col. Leslie and his wife at the time the arrest was made. Mr. Dewart argued that Leslie had not been cautioned that he was under arrest. "I heard him say to his wife," said Twigg, "prepare for bad news. There is a shortage in my accounts. She seemed very much struck, and said that it could not be so. Of course, I can't give this in exact words, but it is as I remember it." He replied that he had made admissions to the Mayor. "What is the amount?" she asked, and he replied "I'll tell you later." Mr. S. V. Hutchins, one of the city auditors, was called by the Crown but did not appear. He was out of town. The case was adjourned until Friday, September 4.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 31.—The representatives of the trainmen employed on the Grand Trunk system, who have been in Montreal for some time conferring with the officials regarding wages and the length of their runs, returned to-day well satisfied with the result of their conference. While the men declined to make a statement until they had reported to their different organizations, it is understood that the men received about a five per cent. increase.

Belleville, Ont., Aug. 31.—Padoo Bogdan, the young Serbian, who was accidentally shot by a companion yesterday morning, recovered consciousness and corroborated the story of the shooting, that the affair was accidental. The victim died this afternoon. Notice has been given that an application will be made to the Legislature at its next session for permission to build an electric railway from this city to Point Ann, a distance of about five miles.

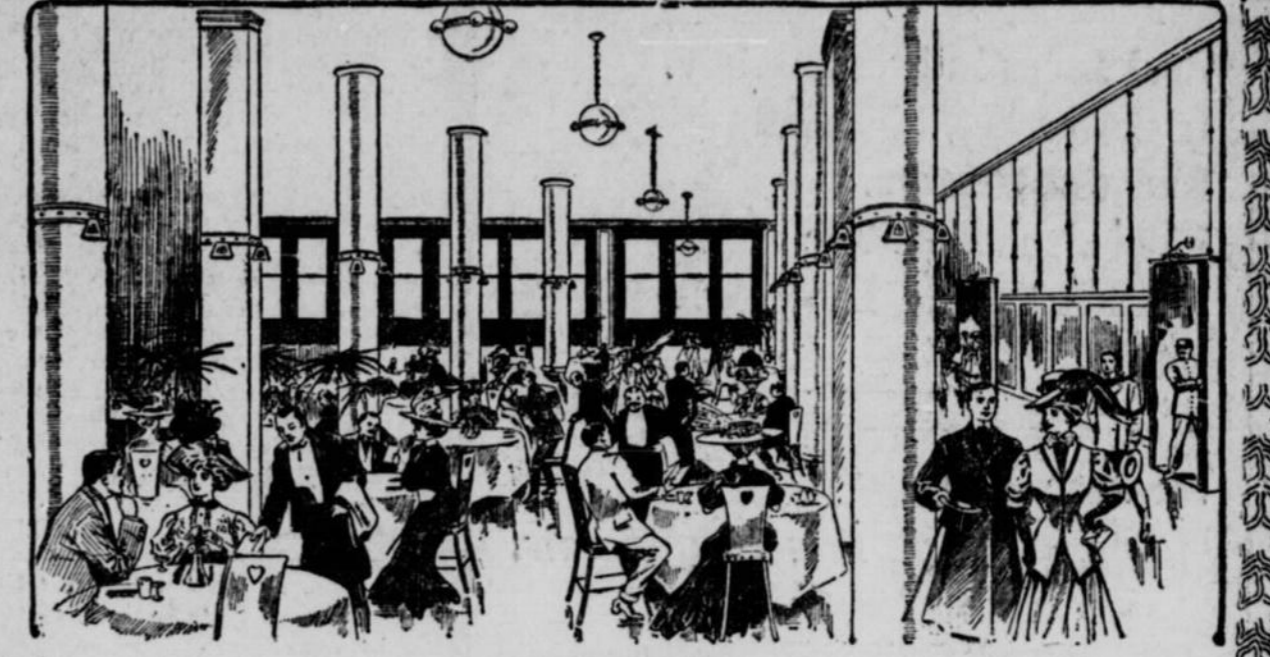

The two cement companies at the Point, now pay out about half a million dollars a year in wages, and the purpose of the railway is to try to bring the trade of the workmen to this city.
 Chatham, Ont., Aug. 31.—A curious explosion took place this morning at the power house of the C. W. & L. Electric Ry. Co. Natural gas is used for heating the boilers and in some manner the gas was left turned on. When Engineer Stator arrived this morning to light the boilers he opened the door of the furnace and lit a match. The furnace doors were blown off and one side of the furnace wall was completely blown out. The noise of the explosion awakened residents all over the city. The peculiar part of the accident was that the station came through it all uninjured.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 31.—A. C. Bertram, formerly of the North Sydney Herald, died at North Sydney this morning, aged 58. He was at one time president of the Press Gallery at Ottawa.

STREET NUISANCES.

We have had a number of complaints made to us recently of the disgraceful and insanitary condition of several of our streets, a condition which is quite as worthy of attention by the authorities as the purity of the water with which the city is supplied. Garbage is dumped down on the streets, and enclosures, and nuisances are committed in frequented places. Last week the roadway at the junction of Ste. Ursule and St. Louis streets was strewn with small fish which lay festering there for at least a couple of days, and which even the nocturnal cat turned up his nose at, and else-where packages of garbage are done up in paper and dropped in the street where they lie till some vehicle passes over them and distributes their unsavory contents; the walk on the ramparts, especially over the gateways is rendered unpleasant by various unsightly objects, and Kent Gate is what, at the risk of being considered coarse and vulgar, we can characterize by no milder term than a veritable stink pot, the effluvia from which is sickening to those whom evil fortune compels to pass through it—and this in close proximity to butchers' stalls and a large market.

Such is the burden of the numerous complaints that have reached us, and we are exceedingly sorry to say that they are not an exceptional thing, but are of annual recurrence. They constitute a lasting discredit to the decency and self-respect of the persons who are guilty of committing these public nuisances, to the energy and vigilance of the municipal authorities, and to the good standing of the city in the eyes of the numerous strangers who visit us at this season of the year. It is not a pleasant condition of things to think of, public opinion in the shape of frequent remonstrances in the press, and municipal authority in the shape of civic ordinances are alike set at naught and it would seem as if it were impossible to remedy the thing complained of; yet we fancy a little more energy, or a little more zeal on the part of the police would considerably ameliorate the situation, and might even eventually put an end to it altogether. We are quite aware of the extreme difficulty of catching an offender in the act, or of tracing the offence to him afterwards, but there is no rule without an exception, and surely among the many sins of this nature committed annually it is not unreasonable to believe that one offender at least might be detected, and a severe example made of him.

THE COLCHESTER BY-ELECTION.

There has been an investigation going on for some time at Truro, N.S., into the charges of corrupt distribution of whiskey and expenditure of money by one A. R. Baynes during the Colchester by-election, which resulted in the return of the Conservative candidate, Mr. John Stanfield, and a vigorous effort was made by the prosecution to establish a guilty connection with them on the part of the sitting member. The Government press seized eagerly on the charges, and held them up as proof positive of the hypocrisy of the Conservative leaders, and party in professing to desire clean elections, though, for a wonder, they did not urge it as a vindication of the corrupt practices they themselves had been caught indulging in, and it was hoped that considerable capital would be made of the "Colchester revelations" in the approaching campaign; in fact, that was the real object, and intent of the prosecution, for the charges were brought at so late a day, that it was obvious they could have no effect upon Mr. Stanfield's seat, even if his connection with Mr. Baynes had been successfully established.

And now the investigation has been concluded, and is likely to turn out a political boomerang. Not only was there failure to show that Mr. Stanfield had anything to do with Mr. Baynes' operations, but it was proved that he had refused to hold any communication with him, and had repudiated him beforehand. Mr. Baynes, indeed was not the man to inspire the Conservative with confidence, even if there had been any design of adopting his measures. In the first place, Mr. Baynes was an alien without any political interest in the country one way or the other. He is an American, not particularly in good odor with the people among whom he resides, and with whom he transacts his business, but rather the reverse, and it is claimed that his operations in the by-election injured Mr. Stanfield rather than benefited him, as his vote in Baynes' district fell below that cast for the late Mr. Gourlay in the general elections. Moreover, Mr. Baynes' antecedents were not reassuring; in the provincial election, he had worked for the Liberal candidates, Messrs. Pearson and Hill, and it was in the highest degree improbable that he would be received as a Conservative worker.

But Mr. Baynes settled all idea of any connection between himself and the Conservative leaders and party by his explicit statement under oath at the preliminary examination. "I never gave any money or liquor in the interest of John Stanfield, and I had no connection or relation with him in any form whatever. I am not guilty of the charge preferred against me." Seeing that it appears to have been tolerably conclusively proved that Mr. Baynes did distribute about a hundred dollars, and did open up several cases of whiskey for free drinking purposes, this assertion of his seems at first sight not quite compatible with the truth, but the explanation is simple. For some reason or other, which is not given, Mr. Baynes had had a violent quarrel with Messrs. Pearson and Hill after the provincial elections were over, and wanted to get even with them. He is, as we have said, an American with no particular penchant for either of the two Canadian parties, but having worked for the Liberals without obtaining satisfaction from them he concluded to take his revenge by a little campaigning against them on his own hook at the by-elections. It was a little bit of private spite and revenge with which the Conservatives as a party were not concerned.

It is really distressing that so much virtuous Liberal indignation should have been wasted, for the party has not such a stock of it that it can afford to throw away any, and here was a seemingly excellent opportunity to show the lustre of the Liberal jappaned black by contrast with the dead depths of the Conservative black, and lo it turns out that the wicked dispenser of dollars and whiskey, whom they had been at such pains to drag to light, was a Liberal supporter and a worker for Liberal candidates at the last provincial elections, and, we should not be at all surprised to learn, a sufferer by the Liberal weakness for not keeping ante-election promises. It is sad, very sad to think of the terrible disappointment.

THE REVOLUTION IS COMING.

"Nothing short of a revolution" will effect a change of government at Ottawa, is the declaration by which the Liberal organs hope to keep up the spirits of despondent members of the party. But revolutions frequently occur in politics. There was such a revolution in 1878, when the Liberal Government of Alexander Mackenzie had a larger majority than Sir Wilfrid Laurier has to-day and the position of the parties was almost exactly reversed. There was another revolution in 1896 when the Conservative majority of fifty was wiped out and replaced by a Liberal majority of seventy. There was a revolution in Quebec when the Mercier Government was wiped out. And there was a revolution on a small scale in the province of New Brunswick, in March of the present year, when the Robinson Government's majority of 25 or more was swept away and Mr. Hazen returned to power with a majority of 20.

October or November will see still another. These revolutions are not very surprising, either. A change of two or three votes in each hundred does the trick.

NOTHING TO BRAG ABOUT.

The speakers at the Liberal meeting in Richmond on Wednesday were somewhat more careful than has been the rule in recent years in claiming the credit for the increase in Canada's foreign trade. With exports on the down grade too loud a mouthing of the usual description might have prompted the query from some hostile critic in the audience as to why, if the Government was alone responsible, it had not kept up its good work. Appreciating that crops this fall are not as satisfactory as they might be, the weather and fertility of the soil have been admitted into a limited partnership with the Laurier spendthrifts. Of all the hollow claims set up by the Government the assertion that it has been in any way responsible for the trade increase will bear the least examination. This is emphatically true for the simple reason that the trade increase referred to has not been remarkable when the improved opportunity to export is taken into consideration. Take, for instance, bacon. From some of the gush uttered at times by Liberal orators or set forth in Laurier organs Canada to-day cuts the widest sort of a swath in the British bacon market. What are the real facts? Great Britain in 1906 imported $10,500,000 worth of bacon and hams over and above the quantity imported in 1900. Of that $10,500,000 worth of new market how much came to Canada? Not one cent's worth. We actually sold $750,000 worth in that year less than in 1900. Denmark got the most of that good money. Why did the Laurier Government allow this to happen?

Take butter. A few years ago the Hon. Sydney Fisher talked butter almost all the time. Canada's exports were increasing. But what is the story now? In 1906 Great Britain purchased abroad butter to the value of $29,000,000 over and above the purchase of 1900. And how much of that $29,000,000 came to Canada? We got six cents out of every dollar for our share. Denmark got more, Australia got more, New Zealand got more.

Then there are eggs. For a few years after 1896 our exports of eggs to the British market ran up rapidly. Judging from the cackling in the Laurier organs no one could have been blamed for arriving at the conclusion that the Laurier Government laid each and every egg sent to Great Britain. But what does the record show? In 1906 Great Britain spent $8,000,000 in purchasing foreign laid eggs over and above the amount spent in 1900. How much of that extra $8,000,000 did Canada get? Not only did we fail to get a cent of that money, but we likewise did not get the $1,000,000 we received in 1900.

The list might be enlarged with similar results. Sufficient has, however, been given to show the hollow-ness of the Liberal claims to the creation of the increased foreign demand for our products. While our trade has grown the increase has been only a fraction of what it might have been. In not one place can a sign be found of having displaced any foreign competitor. We have simply had a modest share of the increased demand. There is nothing in the record to warrant any bragging. There is certainly nothing which entitles the Laurier Government to any laural wreaths. — Montreal Gazette.

Correspondence

Quebec, August 31st, 1908.

To the Editor of the Chronicle:
Dear Sir—The attention of the Committee of Lloyd's having been called to various articles which have recently appeared in the United States and Canadian press concerning the financial status of members of Lloyd's you will kindly publish the following:
The statements made in the articles referred to are, we need hardly say, greatly exaggerated, and it appears likely that a principal reason which inspired the writers was the pressure of competition.

The fact is that three or four members, out of a syndicate of 18 underwriting members of Lloyd's, are undoubtedly in financial difficulties; but there is every reason to believe that, owing to the satisfactory arrangements that have been made, no loss whatever will fall on any of the holders of the policies which they have underwritten.
As articles of this nature only tend to raise doubts among the general public as to the security afforded by policies of insurance underwritten by underwriting members of Lloyd's, we are directed by the committee of Lloyd's to bring these facts under the notice of the public and by publishing the above endeavour to afford enquirers information so as to alleviate any uneasiness which may be caused by the articles referred to.
It may possibly be of interest to the public to know that there are at the present time 708 underwriting members of Lloyd's and that the security provided by them and held by the Committee of Lloyd's amounts, for marine risks, to close upon $4,000,000, while the additional security provided for fire and other non-marine risks amounts to over $2,000,000. This, of course, does not take into account the private means of members which amounts to considerably more than the security provided.

We remain,
Yours faithfully,
HENRY FRY & CO.
Agents for Lloyd's.

READY FOR THE DOLLAR.

Marjorie, aged nine, had not been having very satisfactory reports from school. Her father finally said: — "Marjorie, for the first hundred you get I'll give you a dollar." Time went on and the reports could not be claimed. One day the child was taken suddenly ill. Her mother sent for the doctor. When he had gone, Marjorie said, "Mama, am I very ill?" "No, dear; your temperature is a little over a hundred, but the doctor thinks you will be all right in a day or so."
Smiles broke through Marjorie's tears.
"Now, mama, I can have my dollar. Papa said he would give it to me if I could get a hundred in anything."

DEPRECIATION OF STEAMSHIP VALUE. Messrs. H. E. Moss & Co., in their recently issued semi-annual steamship circular, say:—The depreciation in the value of steam shipping has been appalling; new cargo steamers of about 7,000 tons deadweight capacity presently building, and which a few years ago easily realized £45,000, have recently been sold at £35,000, or about £5 per ton deadweight, and at this price steamers of similar tonnage with moderate specifications can be built to-day, and other sizes in proportion. Second-hand steamers have depreciated to a greater extent, and some steamers of about 6,000 and 7,000 tons have been sold at about half their cost four or five years ago. Very little business has been done during the last six months, for though the supply of tonnage is great, buyers are scarce and transactions are difficult to carry through. In spite of all this, forced sales have been but few. Shipbuilders are feeling the pinch most acutely, many yards are empty and but few are partially occupied, mostly with liners and special types of steamers. The competition for new orders is exceedingly keen, and is likely to be more so as the work in hand is completed. Whether the price of steel and coal will fall further is an open question. On the other hand, it will likely to go up, but ships are very cheap to build now and should attract buyers. That the present is a favorable opportunity for men with capital to buy or build with late delivery and wait developments goes without saying.

LLOYD'S ANNUAL SUMMARY OF VESSEL LOSSES. The Statistical Summary of Vessels of all Nations Totally Lost, Condemned, etc., during the year 1907, has just been published by Lloyd's Society. This Summary is based upon the quarterly returns of total losses, etc., which have been published by Lloyd's Register. It includes, however, vessels which had not been given up as total losses, or of the loss of which information had not been received, when the returns for the quarters in which they respectively occurred were compiled. On the other hand, a few vessels which, being definitely considered as total losses at the respective dates of compilation, were included in the quarterly returns, have since been floated, repaired, etc., and are accordingly now excluded from the statistics given herein. A distinguishing feature of the Wreck Returns published by Lloyd's Register is that with certain exceptions named in the returns, they are compiled strictly according to the dates at which the casualties resulting in total loss actually occurred, and not according to the dates at which reports of casualties were received. The summary shows the total number of steamers lost, etc., 273 of 253,619 net tons, and 307 sailing vessels of 213,110 tons. Vessels under one hundred tons are not included in this return.

ARGENTINE SHIPPING RATES. A Hamburg despatch to the Kohische Zeitung announces that all the German and English shipping lines which are engaged in the Argentine trade have associated themselves with the arrangement already arrived at among the owners of the tramp steamers in respect of the fixing of minimum freight rates for corn. The adhesion of the regular shipping lines to the tramp steamers imparts an important support to the agreement, and it is therefore assumed that the remaining tramp vessels, which only comprise 25 per cent. of the total, will also become parties to it. The minimum rate has been fixed at 3s. 6d. for steamers of over 4,500 tons. It appears that the rates hitherto in force were less than those obtaining in former years notwithstanding the fact that the Argentine harvest is a record one.

NOTES. Steamer Thorsa, Captain Jensen, having discharged her cargo of coal, left for Port Hood yesterday afternoon. Doctors Do Taste Drugs.
"Do doctors know how their own medicine tastes?" was a question put to a group of physicians.
"To be sure," said one, "but we have hard work to convince our patients that we do. If you only knew how this beastly stuff tastes, doctor, you wouldn't ask me to take it—that is what they say. And they are hard headed people, too, who say that, people who are by no means raving in delirium. It's hard ever to convince them that a doctor has a tasting acquaintance with his medicine."
"How did you find out about it?" is one of their trumpery questions. "You have never been laid up with all the diseases in the dictionary. How did you learn what the different remedies taste like? It never occurs to the average patient that tasting drugs is a part of the medical student's education and that no man is qualified to practice until he has learned the flavor of the medicines he expects to prescribe."

Ancient Beards.
The ancient Jews considered it the greatest insult that could be offered to a man to pluck his beard. It was a notion of the Mohammedans that, though Noah reached his thousandth birthday, no hair of his blessed beard fell off or became white; but the Mohammedans had no more authority for that than for their belief that the devil has but one solitary long hair for a beard.
It was, as some say, in order to distinguish themselves from the ancient Israelites that the followers of Mohammed cropped the beard, but Mohammed, as we know, sanctioned the dyeing of the beard and preferred a cane color because that was the traditional hue of Abraham's beard. More than that, have we not the common Mohammedan oath, "By the beard of the prophet," as well as the supplication, "By your beard, or the life of your beard?"

Ruskin's Impulsive Generosity.
One day, walking near Radley, his attention was caught by a group of little girls playing in the road, and he went and talked to them. One of them specially attracted his attention. He asked her why she was playing in the dust. Had she no garden at home? Did she love flowers? What was her name? And she replied modestly, with wonder in her eyes. On reaching home he gave orders to his solicitor to look out for and buy a cottage with a garden in Radley and have a deed of gift made out in the little girl's name, which was done accordingly, and she, full of wonder, with her astonished parents, entered at once into possession of it.—From "Ruskin in Oxford."

Wedding Tours.
The custom of taking wedding tours is a remnant of the ancient times when men got their wives by capture," said a professor to a class in Roman history recently. "As soon as a man captured the woman he wanted to marry," continued the professor, "the young couple ran away to avoid the wrath of the bride's relatives. Men don't get their wives by capture now, but the custom of taking wedding tours still survives, a remnant of the ancient times." The professor was led to make these remarks while discussing the legend of the capture of the Sabine women.

How Cossacks Catch Fish.
The Cossacks on some of the rivers in Russia have a singular method of catching the hazy tribe in winter. They cut a long trench across a river when frozen and run a net from one bank to the other; then, riding several miles up the stream, they form a line across the frozen surface and gallop their horses down toward the nets. The fish, hearing the noise and clatter of hoofs, become frightened, dart with a rush downstream and are thus entangled in the net.

The Cause, Not the Effect.
Little Lucy Brown, while running in the yard one day, suddenly tripped and fell. Her mother, being attracted by the child's screams, rushed out, crying:
"Why, Lucy, what's the matter? Was it an accident?"
"N'm," replied Lucy, between her sobs, "it was a brick."

Rivers in Korea.
On the western coast of Korea the tides of the Yellow sea are higher than anywhere in the world outside the bay of Fundy, and while the rivers of eastern Korea are clear streams, that run swiftly from the mountains, those on the western side are great brown, muddy rivers, upon which the thirty foot ocean tides surge many miles.

Unlucky.
The burglar noiselessly opened the jewel case and examined the contents. "Ah," he said to himself, "madam ought to have known better than to invest anything in opals. They are unlucky." And he transferred them to his pocket and quietly climbed out of the window again.

A Cruel Pun.
A certain young man told his girl the other night that if she didn't marry him he'd get a rope and hang himself right in front of her home.
"Oh, please don't do it, Harry," she said; "you know father doesn't want you hanging around here."

An Encore.
Tommy—What's an "encore," auntie?
Auntie—An "encore" is when you are asked to go over the same thing again.
Tommy—Then my teacher is always encoring me at lessons.

History is indeed little more than the register of the crimes, follies and misfortunes of mankind.—Gibbon.

RUMORS / BOUT C. TAVIAT
Kingston, Ont., Aug. 31—A member of Sir Richard Cartwright's family, in the absence of Sir Richard in Ottawa, states in an interview with the Daily Standard today, that there is absolutely no foundation for the report that Sir Richard has had any trouble with Sir Wilfrid Laurier or has been requested to withdraw from the Cabinet. As for the story of Sir Richard contemplating forming a new party that is pronounced preposterous.

PACKED HOUSE AT BENNETT'S

For Reopening of the Vaudeville Season Last Evening—Bill for Opening Week a Great One

The vaudeville season was re-opened under the most favorable auspices at Bennett's Auditorium last evening. There was an audience present which jammed the theatre to the doors, and the bill provided was in every way worthy of the occasion.

There are a couple of comedy sketches, which are strong foes to melancholy, and they kept the big house in roars of merriment throughout. Gavin, Platt and Peaches present "A Stolen Kid," which in addition to its riotous humor also serves to display the singing ability of the team.

One of the most artistic musical acts seen here in a long time is the Olivetti Troubadours. These two performers are away out of the class of general rough and tumble vaudeville musicians. The violin player is an artist of great merit and he fairly electrified the audience by his remarkable talent.

The orchestra is now under the direction of Geo. A. Becker, and their share of the evening's entertainment was well taken care of.

TO THE COLLEGIANS. You will be well dressed if you buy your suits or overcoats at Faguy, Lepinay & Frere. We are keeping everything you may want. Do not forget that we are sole agents for the Semi-Ready. We give double bonus this week.

BISHOP HOLSEY SAYS: "PE-RU-NA IS A BLESSING."

He Declares Pe-ru-na to Be a Triumph of Medical Science, A Magnificent and Sovereign Remedy.

After Twenty Years Bondage to Catarrh He Is Relieved By Pe-ru-na. Having Tried Many Remedies and Failed to Find a Cure, Tried Pe-ru-na and Was Promptly Relieved.

The Bishop's Strong Tribute to Pe-ru-na. L. H. Holsey, Bishop C. M. E. Church, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I have found Peruna to be a great remedy for catarrh. I have suffered with this terrible disease for more than twenty years, until since I have been using Peruna, which has relieved me of the trouble."

"I have tried many remedies and spent a great deal of hard-earned money for them, but I found nothing so effectual in the cure of catarrh as the great remedy Peruna. "I feel sure that Peruna is not only a triumph of medical science, but it is also a blessing to suffering humanity."

"Every individual who suffers with respiratory diseases will find Peruna a magnificent and sovereign remedy."—L. H. Holsey, Bp. C. M. E. Church.

A public speaker cannot afford to have catarrh. Even a slight catarrhal hoarseness of the throat becomes intolerable. This is especially true of the minister who is called upon to preside at religious functions of all sorts.

WHY NOT ANOTHER BOAT RACE?

The success of last Sunday's boat race has revived interest in the sport and has awakened a desire to have a repetition of the fine contest which was provided last summer between the Ace and the Clip, two of the crack boats along the Cove, and which was without doubt one of the greatest aquatic events seen here in many years. This may be possible, as the crew of the Clip are eager to again pile the crew of the Ace upon the same conditions and over the same course as last year. It is to be hoped that the race will be arranged.

IS SPIT BALL DOOMED?

President Harry Pulliam, of the National League, has his hammer out for the "spit ball." He has talked with various club owners and managers on the subject, and says he finds a majority of them opposed to the damp fling. Therefore an attempt will be made this winter to legislate the "spitter" out of baseball in the big leagues. Several American League managers, including President Hedges, of the Browns, Taylor of Boston, and Navin, of Detroit, are also "agin" the moist delivery. The chances are that the matter will receive careful consideration from the Rules Committee next winter.

THE AMERICAN CONTEST.

Detroit, Aug. 31.—Detroit played very erratic ball to-day, errors giving Cleveland three runs in the fourth, while passes by Summers paved the way to three of the others. Chet Ford Detroit's hits scattered and was well supported. Goode's home run drove one of the longest hits ever made on the field, was the feature of the contest.

THE NATIONAL BATTLE.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Both Overall and Raymond pitched great ball to-day but Overall was the steeper in pines and struck out 11 men. A pass, a sacrifice and a hit by Evers gave Chicago one run at the start. In the sixth Sharekard singled, stole second and scored on infield drives by Evers and Steinfield.

McDougal—Rose, 65; Hay, 64; Creegan, 63; Young, 63; Porter, 62; Goudie, 61, are the Quebec prize winners. GRIFFITH IS FORMING BRAND NEW LEAGUE.

New York, Aug. 31.—Clark Griffith, in conversation with members of the Chicago White Sox team here to-day, stated that he was organizing a new baseball league for the next season. The location of the league, he said, would be in the Middle West. The only town he would name as being in the new league was Pittsburgh, where, he declared, the fans were tired of the Pirates. The other town, Griffith said, he would keep for a surprise to the baseball world. He added that the new league had ample financial backing. He is already negotiating for players.

HOW DORANDO BECAME RUNNER

He Slept Overtime and Ran to Work Some of His Methods.

My success as a long-stance runner has, said Dorando Pietri to an interviewer, depended largely upon my father's business, and not, as many have supposed, on any extraordinary feat of endurance. In the first place it may be well to mention that as a child I was extremely delicate, and but for the devoted attention of my mother I should never have lived to compete for the great Marathon race. I was born at Correggio, a small town in Northern Italy. Here I remained for twelve years, when my father moved his family to a place about twenty miles away, called Carpi, where he opened his second confectionary business. IN FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES. Unfortunately, however, his business made no progress, and owing to financial difficulties I had to discontinue my education at the high school and assist in the shop. Little did I realize at the time that these unhappy circumstances would be the means of leading me to compete in the Olympic Games at the Franco-British Exhibition, and make my name known in five Continents. This is how it all came about. My father's shop was situated about two miles from the house where we lived, and it used to be my duty to go and open the shop at half-past five o'clock in order to catch the early customers. If this were not done my father lost a considerable portion of his weekly takings, for, strange to say, he did more business at that hour than all the rest of the day. This necessitated my arriving at the shop punctually. But I had a weakness—common to many boys both in Italy and this country—of not being able to get up at the required time; thus when I was late I had to run the two miles to make up time. HARD PRACTICE. At first, of course, it came somewhat of a strain to me, but as my father was rather strict I was compelled to keep up the pace. In the course of time I found that my strength and wind were improving so much that I could cover the distance practically without exertion. But, while all this was good practice, I did not begin to train seriously until four years ago, or just after I had turned eighteen. In Italy sports are equally as popular as they are in England, and nearly every boy is a member of the local athletic societies. But in most cases the best athletes, specialize in a certain feature. So at the age mentioned I joined the local society and took up running as my speciality. Every day, after being in the shop for twelve hours, I used to go out for practice. At first I covered about three miles each afternoon. Then I would go six, and afterwards nine, increasing the distance every now and then. DETERMINATION NECESSARY. Perhaps to a large extent, however, my success depends on the determination with which I practised, for I ran every day, wet or fine. Frequently I was in a condition under which it was practically impossible to run. But I always forced myself to complete the distance I had determined to go. This I have found since has been of great assistance to me when racing. Then I always timed myself carefully, so as to make sure that I kept up to what I thought should have been my pace, always taking care to see that I was improving in my time. MY METHODS. In racing I do not slavishly follow the ordinary methods advised by trainers. For instance, if I want to finish fast in a long race I always start fast and keep it up as far as I can. If that if I make a slow start I tire much earlier, and consequently am unable to spur myself into a sprint when it is most necessary. Then, again, I am not particularly keen on husbanding my strength on a hill. I simply change my stride to a very short, choppy step, but take it quickly. Another point I try to keep in the body from all unnecessary jolting. I lost seven pounds in weight in the Marathon race. The last rule I observe is perhaps the most important. Avoid the long stride, but cultivate the quick and springy stride, which does not fatigue so rapidly.

WHAT OLYMPIC GAMES TAUGHT

Methods of Old Country Athletes Must be Changed, Says Critic.

Says a Scottish exchange—

Although the athletic and cycling events decided in connection with the Fourth Olympiad are now things of the past, the world of sport, and in London especially so, is still interested in the two-fold possibility of Lieutenant Wyndham Halswell still meeting the three other finalists in the 400 metres race and running for a £1000 which Sir Thomas Lipton has offered to give. He is keen upon bringing the four men together and finding out which is really the world's best, and he, too, is wishful that a Scot should have the chance of beating world's record for the fuller distance, a quarter of a mile.

THAT BORING.

After all is said and done, the most of this unsavoury subject was made by the newspapers and by hosts of Americans who haunted certain parts of the Stadium at the other side to where the incident took place. It has been our pleasure to meet J. C. Carpenter, the American who has raised such a storm, and within the last few hours he strenuously denied that the foul was intentional. Furthermore, not one of his confederates—we have seen them nearly all—have personally a word to say against the British officials or the manner in which they did their duty. We asked Carpenter for a message to the British public. "No," he said, "I would rather decline for I am in a curious position." But we got out of him this much, that America was quite satisfied with the results of her sons' work on track and path, and that "the American team certainly fulfilled expectations."

BREAK RECORD.

There is a bigger chance of Lieutenant Halswell being given the opportunity of running in a 20 yards limit handicap against good men on the Stadium arena, and getting his opportunity to break the record. Lieutenant Halswell is the real athlete of the moment—may, he will be so for a year here in London. Should each effort fall through to get out of him the good which in his paces lie, then the good sports management is dead in England.

It is impossible to record in a few words what appeared to be the real lessons of the games. To be blunt, we shall have to adopt some of the American systems which prevail if we are to get from our premier pathmen the best of their running and riding. First and foremost there should be a slight alteration in the reading of the A.A.A. code of laws as to the definition of an amateur. That is to say, there should be greater latitude allowed so that our men might get and keep fit. Now when one states that the noble sum of £2 was allowed some of our British champions for a week's or even 14 days' expenses in London—and some Southern men got nothing—is it surprising that Britishers will not specialize in any branch of athletics?

SOME CONTRAST.

Contrast that niggardly payment of expenses, in a contest for the world's greatest honors, with the lavish expenditure of dollars upon the Stars and Stripes men! They were fed and housed at one of the costliest hotels in the southwest district of London. They were trained and overlooked by two men, one of whom has the proud boast that he could "put pace upon a cockroach." They were at Brighton and were lionized. They will be national heroes when they get home. Compare that with £2 for a fortnight's board and lodgings in a cheap and nasty Shepherd's Bush lodging house; think of the fact that the men who ran for Britain took what advice they could get and were very glad of the attention of the few enthusiasts who did try to help them! The system and the specialization of the Americans stood out in bright contrast to the haphazard methods under which our men were brought into the arena. And yet we won the majority of races at the Stadium—thanks to our cyclists and to our swimmers. We should have cut a very poor figure without them. There is no need to tell Herald readers that the Americans owe their success to the training their men received. It is a business with them, just as much as winning races is among their athletes. They run to win and to win only.

SWEDES BEST.

When the men who ran for Britain and for America at the Stadium in 1908 are nursing their sons, the athletic nation to be then in evidence will be the Swedes. In that event to what will they owe their supremacy? To nothing else but their exercises, their training, and their gymnastic methods. We are wrong in our ideas of building muscle and strength. We lift dumbbells of abnormal weight and wrestle with all kinds of brutal herculean tasks. They, on the other hand, are building up sound constitutions, which will remain sound when a man has passed beyond the gates of the Stadium and entered the world of work. They are training eye and nerve and muscle. Their gymnastics are now employed in Denmark and Norway. Finland has taken many of them, and in Germany, Belgium, France, Greece, and America there are countless hundreds who practice the system. Swedish gymnastics are based upon the teaching of anatomy and physiology, and, of course, their chief objects are to develop the human body in health, strength and elegance of form, combined with hardness and suppleness. They do not understand by the term "gymnastics" a mere collection of exerciases, but they mean a theory of bodily development.

ALL YEAR ROUND.

If our athletes who train only in the summer and go thoroughly idle in the winter would keep fit by the aid of Swedish gymnastics they would do better. One of the Olympic champion cyclists said to the writer the other day, "My greatest difficulty is keeping fit in the winter for the reason that I don't know what to do."

ITALIANS, TOO.

After the Swedes, the Italians caught the eye. They do not yet know how to sprint, but they are great half-mileers. Germany and Hungary sent us a few men of parts at quarter-mile work, but they too are primitive in their sprint preparations, and to the Americans, the Canadians, and the South Africans go all the honors for short, sharp bursts, from 100 to 200 metres. A Dutchman and a Russian ran well in the Marathon race, and although at distance work, at swimming, and at cycling we held our own, one cannot get very far away from the superiority of the Americans in those specialized events, the hurdling, the hammer throwing, the pole leaping, and the stand and other jumping.

MATHEWSON'S BIG CONTRACT.

Christy Mathewson is about to assume the most monumental task that a major league pitcher ever had thrust upon his shoulders. He has expressed his willingness to pitch three games a week for the rest of the season, provided that the Giants are at any time in danger of dropping out of the first place.

Mathewson is the most powerfully built pitcher in America, and though he believes that his constitution is rugged enough to stand such a continuous strain on his muscles, it looks as if the task were too much to ask of any one man. He is determined to make the effort, however, and if he succeeds he will have performed the most wonderful feat that baseball has seen since the National League was organized back in the '70s.

Some time ago McGraw admitted that he had had two pitchers of the magnitude of stars, and that on Wilton and Mathewson he would have to rest the chances of New York winning the pennant. The other pitchers can be used when there is not so much at stake, but, speaking generally, it is up to these two men to land the championship. Wilton is of frail physique, and to ask him to pitch more than once in three days would be almost inhuman. McGraw explained the situation to his men, and asked, "Matty what he thought of it."

"I can go in there and pitch every other day until the end of the season," replied the great pitcher, "and if you think it a good idea I am perfectly willing to take a chance."

"You are on," said McGraw, and it was decided to put Mathewson up against a proposition that would make almost any athlete quail.—New York World.

BROTHER JONATHAN WON.

Sheepshead Bay, N.Y., Aug. 31.—Brother Jonathan, with E. Dugan up, won the turf handicap, at Sheepshead Bay to-day. The turf course suited him and Dugan sent him to the front. Rounding the lower turn Brother Jonathan took a big lead and increased it to four lengths at the far turn. In the stretch, however, he began to stop, but Dugan went to the whip and managed to win by a length. Moquet was second by a half length from Master Roberts.

Lady Bedford, which is to be shipped to England this fall, won the autumn maiden by a half a dozen lengths. She is owned by J. E. Madden.
