BANQUE JACQUES CARTIER.

Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders. The annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Jacques Cartier Bank took place at the head office of the bank, in this city Wednesday afternoon. There were present the president, Mr. Alphonse Desjardins, M.P.; A. S. Hamelin, vice-president; and Messrs. L. Huot, D. Laviolette, A. L. de Martigny, H. Beaupré, Armand Prevost, J. Melancon, Thomas Gauthier, R. Forget, H. Desjardins, I. A. Huot, J. E. Beaudry, Z. Chapleau, K. Roy, and others.

The president then read the following report of the directors on the business of the past year:

The Board of Directors has the honor to submit its report relative to the situation of the bank ending on the 31st day of May last:

Balance at credit of profit and loss May 31, 1891, $15,014 61

Balance, $30,000 00
The figures submitted to you in this report show that our Bank continues to increase and extend its business in a most satisfactory manner.

After having written off the losses sustained by the commercial depression, of which we spoke last year, and provided for future losses, we are enabled to add to our reserve an additional sum of $25,000.00, which makes the amount on this account at the present time 33 per cent. of our capital, at the same time leaving a balance of $15,014.61 to be carried later to the credit of profit and loss.

COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH.

One Acquittal and One Sentence Yesterday

The business transacted in the Court of Queen's Bench yesterday was neither interesting nor important. When the Court opened at 10 o'clock Hon. Chief-Justice Laocote presided, the Crown being represented by M. F. Quinn, Q.C., and J. L. Archambault, Q.C.

The first case called was that of Francois Frigue, indicted for feloniously wounding. When placed in the dock the prisoner offered to plead guilty to simple assault, and permission being granted by the court, he did so. He was then immediately sentenced to a fine of $30 or two months imprisonment in jail.

Theophile Gauthier was then placed on trial, charged with refusing to provide for his wife and family. The same witnesses were heard as were examined at the preliminary investigation in the Police Court, and at noon the jury returned a verdict of acquittal, and the accused was discharged, the court taking recess until 2 p.m.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

When the court resumed at 2 o'clock after recess, Joseph Lavigne, the young man indicted for perjury in impersonating a voter at the elections of March 8 last, was placed on trial. He was defended by Mr. Roy, et al., and Mr. Archambault conducted the prosecution. The only witnesses examined were Mr. J. C. Auge, registrar in Montreal East End, and L. J. A. Desnoyers, clerk of the poll where the accused had voted. The evidence of both witnesses was the same as at the Police Court enquete, and at the close of Mr. Desnoyers' testimony the court adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

It is probable that to-day will witness the close of the term, as the conspiracy case of Nicholas Sorensen has been put over until next term, and there are only one or two cases to be heard in arguments.

Bridge Has Long Been Wanted. Bridget McNaughton and Wm. Audette, an account of whose arrest by Sergeant Charbonneau and Constable Prevost appeared in yesterday's HERALD, were in the Police court yesterday. It was then ascertained that the woman was wanted for a robbery of goods valued at $300, committed four years ago. She pleaded guilty and Audette not guilty, and both were remanded until Monday.

True Bill Against Kelly. Detectives McMahon and Campeau returned from Joliet yesterday, where they had gone to testify before the grand jury against the absconder, Kelly, who was charged with robbery at Montreal a year ago, particulars of which case were recently republished in THE HERALD. A true bill was found against Kelly, and now his bondsmen will have to forfeit the bail.

Loranger vs. Jacobs. Judgment was rendered yesterday by Judge Taschereau in the case of Loranger vs. Jacobs. Opposition has been entered against a seizure after judgment in the property of a Caughnawaga Indian, plea being that the law governing the property of Indians allowed them this exemption. The court, however, did not take this view of the matter and held that the only property of Indians exempted from seizure are presents and properties purchased with the annuities given them by the Government.

Mr. Ewan Explains. "If your reporter had gone to the office of the mill," said Mr. Ewan, of the Merchants' Cotton Co., to a representative of the HERALD yesterday morning, "he would have learned that the reason of the hands not being at work yesterday afternoon was because the management had given them a half holiday."

"It was the intention of the company to have worked all day yesterday," continued Mr. Ewan, "and to close down Dominion Day and the Saturday following, but as a number of the weavers had staid out in the morning, and as there was a probability of still more of them absenting themselves after dinner, the management thought it better to close down at noon for the remainder of the day, and thus give the whole of the hands the benefit of the half holiday. All the hands are at their posts this morning as usual, and the mill is in full running order. That is the whole matter."

The Cotton Mills at Valleyfield.

The cotton company at Valleyfield has risen to the level of improved advantages, and is keeping pace with the times. For many years after the mills were started their staple product was bleached cotton. After a while colored goods were made, but only to a small extent, until the present manager took the helm. Mr. Simpson has revolutionized the business of the mills, and instead of depending upon two or three lines of goods its fabrics approach a hundred. From the daintiest of dress goods that the prettiest lady could fancy to the stoutest lining that tailor or shoemaker may require, the mills stand ready to supply, so that they are safe from the snags of a glutted or changed market upon which so many Canadian cotton mills have been wrecked. The beauty of the shades of cambric, flannelles, and so on turned out by the mills have an added value in that the colors are fast. Dyed pieces of cloth are exposed to the sunlight to test them. The fact that the company's goods are honestly made accounts for their increasing demand. Mr. Simpson says he does not fear United States competition either in quality or prices. With cost of Atlantic transportation and the incidental protection of a revenue tariff, let us hope the day is not distant when this company will be able to say it is willing to see the N. P. bars removed as against Britain. The company has 1600 looms at work and 1100 hands on its pay-roll. A costly improvement is being made in cutting a new canal between the old Watte mill and the Bolduc property. Here three Hercules turbines will be placed, 60 inch in diameter, which, with 10 feet of head, will add 800 horse power to the mills. The machinery has lacked power and will, when these wheels are in place, increase the output.—Huntingdon Gleaner.

The Montreal Safe Deposit Company's security and storage vaults are on the ground floor of the Royal Insurance Building, Montreal, which is fire proof throughout.

The vaults of this Company which were built by Messrs J. & J. Taylor, of Toronto, are the largest, strongest and best guarded in Canada. The Montreal Safe Deposit Company has made a thorough study of the subject of protection of valuables, and to-day there is no other institution which can show such a complete network of safeguards and precautions surrounding the property confided to its care.

To afford some idea of the extent of this institution, it would be well to state here that it has three immense vaults. The security vault far surpasses any heretofore constructed in Canada and possesses many decided points of great advantage.

The safes, or safe deposit boxes, as they are commonly called, are of all sizes, from the small ones at $10 per year upwards. These boxes are secured by combination locks or by finely-constructed key locks; in either case the safeholder has entire control of the safe, either by selecting his own combination or by having in his possession all the keys that will open his lock.

These safes are arranged to receive tin boxes for the convenience of business men, merchants, bankers and brokers, who can deposit their securities morning and evening to and from their offices, should they so desire. Every safeholder, at the time of taking a safe, has his personal description and private password entered upon the register, and after being properly identified, is given the keys of the safe selected by him; there are no duplicate keys held by the company, and the lock on each safe is changed with every change of occupant. A safe is arranged that it will require the presence of two or more persons to obtain access to it. No safeholder can open his safe without the assistance of a vault attendant, by whom he must be recognized. No one is allowed access to a safe without being duly authorized upon the books of the company. A safeholder may appoint a deputy to go to his safe and act for him; but such authority would cease in the event of the death of the safeholder, and no one but the proper legal representatives would be permitted to enter the safe. A safeholder may associate one or more persons with him in the title to the safe, and can also name a successor who may have access to the safe in case of his death. Deposits are received in escrow, deliverable only under certain agreed conditions.

Upon entering the premises it is necessary to pass through the great grille gate in front of the vaults before access can be had to the vaults themselves; this gate is guarded by a watchman, who must recognize the applicant before admission can be obtained, and everyone going through this gate is obliged to pass the scrutiny of an officer of the company, who controls all entrance and exit by means of electric signals and locks. The lock on this grille gate is also connected by electric wires with all parts of the premises, so that in case of an emergency it may be instantly and securely fastened, thus preventing exit or entrance. The entrances to the vaults are protected by double doors of great strength and of unequalled perfection of construction; each one of these doors is secured by two combination locks of the most improved pattern, thus making for every entrance four sets of combinations, which are so distributed that it requires the presence of at least two officers of the company to open the vaults. Each entrance is also guarded by a Sargent & Greenleaf chronometer-time-lock, which absolutely prevents entrance to the vaults, except during business hours. The electric connections on these vaults surpass anything of the kind heretofore attempted, each separate door being in direct telegraphic communication with the police, so that any tampering with the vaults would be instantly known, and a large force of police would reach the premises in less than three minutes—the officers of the Company also being notified.

Besides the immense security vaults the company has two large separate storage vaults where it receives for safe-keeping, at very moderate rates, packages of jewelry, gold and silver plate, valuable papers, books, wills, manuscripts, heirlooms, pictures, and other articles of value. These massive storage vaults are of iron, well ventilated and constructed especially for this department of its business. Those who shut up their houses while away from home, or who leave them in charge of possibly careless servants, will appreciate the advantages here offered. Close to these vaults are examination rooms, secured by gratings, where patrons of the company may examine or pack their trunks and cases, under lock and key, and free from observation or interruption.

With a number of rooms, for the use of subscribers in examining securities and valuables; with a ladies' parlor and private rooms, separate from the main business offices, with desks fitted with every appointment for correspondence, newspapers and directories of the principal cities, and a large number of books of reference, with its special police, its private burglar alarm and telegraphic system, with its numerous other safeguards, some of which are not made public for prudential reasons—with all these points in its favor, there is no question but that subscribers here obtain complete security and facilities for conveniently transacting business.

A safeholder in the Montreal Safe Deposit Vaults finds not only an absolutely safe depository for his securities and other valuables, but also obtains what is practically a private office, and an office, too, which is fitted up with comforts and conveniences not obtainable elsewhere. His mail can be received, and in case of absence from the city will be forwarded to him. Where can such a return be obtained upon so small an investment?

This institution appeals particularly to, and particularly meets the wants of, the business man, the professional man, the gentleman of leisure, the hard-working clerk, the laboring man, the lady of wealth or of moderate means, the residents of the city, those residing out of town, in fact, it is for all.

Safes range in price from $10 per annum upwards, and all safe-holders obtain the full benefits of the security provided, no matter whether $10 or $100 is paid, there is no difference in the safety obtained, and herein this safe deposit is different from other forms of business, in that the man who pays the least obtains proportionately the most for his money.

A visit to these vaults will convince anyone that these statements are not exaggerated, but are the bare recital of facts. The company is empowered to receive upon deposit, money, specie, bullion, stocks, bonds, securities and generally all valuables of any kind whatsoever, and to invest money and collect interest, rents, dividends, mortgages, debentures, and all other obligations of indebtedness.

Can you afford to continue the risk of keeping securities and valuables in your house? Can you afford to run the risk of leaving them in the hands of an obliging friend, or at your lawyer's, when you recall the accounts of embezzlements, breaches of trust, robberies and fires daily recited in the newspapers?

Look at this subject thoroughly; it is deserving of your careful attention. A little carelessness, or short delay, may lead to an irreparable loss.

NO ONE is allowed access to a safe unless duly authorized on the books of the Company. Safe-holders are warned not to impart their Pass-Word or Number, nor to deliver their keys to any one not properly authorized.

Safes must not be left unlocked at any time.

Papers or securities must not be examined in the vault; rooms are provided for that purpose.

If a key is lost, the Company should be notified without delay, and the remaining key returned, that the lock may be changed. Lost keys must be paid for. Every safeholder receives at least two keys, except in case of some combination locks.

Payments for use of safes, or for storage, are due and payable in advance.

The Company should be notified of any change of address.

The officers and employees of the Company are not allowed to give information from the books, or concerning customers, their names, addresses, etc., except upon production of proper authority, and even then, no more than is absolutely necessary.

The President of the Capital Lacrosse Club Resigns Because Quinn Has Rejoined the Club—To-day's Big Matches—Cricket Matches—Morris Park Races and Entries—Quitting—Baseball—Betting on To-day's Lacrosse Match.

About 1,800 people assembled at the M.A.A.A. grounds last night to witness the first attempt to carry on athletic games by electric light in Canada. Everything passed off with the greatest success. One of the runners in the third heat of the 100 yards dash, who made his first appearance on the track, made a slight objection to the manner in which the 100 yards race was run, the winners in the third heat being called out to run in the trial heats before they had a sufficient rest. A regrettable accident occurred in the three mile bicycle race. Low and Louson were the scratch men, and were making a grand race together. Upon Low trying to pass Louson on the inside he ran into the side of the track and took an ugly fall. He was badly cut by the cinders and otherwise generally broken up.

The proceedings were enlivened by music by the band of the Royal Scots. The following was the result:

100 yards run (11 entries)—First heat: 1. H. D. Carr, scratch; 2. A. W. Gifford, 18 feet. Time, 1.1. Second heat: 1. A. Leithhead, 2. J. Ness, 34 feet. Time 10.3. Third heat: 1. W. F. Van Vleet, Lacolle, 20 feet; 2. E. H. Courtemanche, 24 feet. Time 11. Second trial: 1. A. Leithhead; 2. H. D. Carr. Time 10.2. Final heat: 1. H. D. Carr, 2. A. Leithhead. Time 10.1. Putting 16th, shot, 12 entries—1. W. R. Thompson, 2 feet; 2. P. Whitty, Shamrock, 3 feet. Distance, 33 feet, 11 inches. Three mile bicycle—1. C. A. Archibald, M.A.A.A., 1 foot; 2. W. H. C. LACROSSE.

Apprehension in Cornwall. CORNWALL, Ont., June 17.—Great interest is being taken in to-morrow's match between the Cornwalls and Capitals. On every street corner the merits of the teams are freely discussed. Reports have been going the rounds of the press that the Cornwalls are in the pink of condition for to-morrow's match. Such is not the case. It is true the champions have had a great game with the Cornwall Island Indians this week, but the team pitted against them was by no means a strong one, and the Cornwall did not loom up very brilliantly, and the general feeling here is that the home team will meet their first defeat at the hands of the senators.

THE LACROSSE COMPETITION.

The Montreals and J. Paterson Away Ahead in the Race.

Perhaps the Montrealers are not in it. This week they have captured both lacrosse competitions. The Shamrocks have hitherto led the club record with hand-some majorities, and this week Montreal tops them by 15 votes.

In the players' competition J. Paterson of the Montreal has increased his lead. The vote up to last night was:

Quinn Back in Ottawa. OTTAWA, June 17.—There was another big stir in lacrosse circles here to-day, caused by the resignation of Downing, president of the Capitals. He informed the committee last night that if Barney Quinn were brought to Ottawa to play on the team, he would resign, and he kept his promise, for this afternoon he handed his resignation to Secretary Kent, just as soon as he was apprised of the departure of Quinn from Orillia. Ever since the amalgamation between the Ottawas and Capitals was effected, Barney Quinn's case has been under consideration by the executive, all of whom with the exception of the president, and one other member, were in favor of having him on the team. The president strongly protested against Quinn, and all along maintained that he had good reasons for objecting against that stranger. He was not asked to prove any of his assertions, however, and probably would never have, if the team had proved themselves world beaters, as was expected early in the season. The question, however, was introduced at last night's meeting, when the executive told the president that they had decided to place Quinn on the team. The supporters of the club are pleased that Quinn has been brought back, but a great many of them regret Mr. Downing's withdrawal. Quinn arrived here at six o'clock, and looks in fit condition. He will play cover-point to-morrow instead of Barnie's berth. Many are of the opinion that the Cornwalls will either protest or not play at all, if the Capitals persist in playing him.

BILLIARDS.

Schaefer Resents Having to go to Paris. New York, June 17.—Ex-Billiard Champion Jacob Schaefer will sail to-morrow on the French steamer. His wife will not accompany him. She is in Chicago, looking after little Miss Schaefer, who is six weeks old and a bouncing baby. Schaefer visited both Maurice Daly's and George Slosson's rooms last night. He is much piqued at Champion Ives's queer action in naming France as the battle ground for the coming match for the Brunswick championship cup. He says that it was a foolish thing for Ives to do.

"The idea of an American naming a foreign country as the place to play another American for an American trophy," he said. "Why, it's the height of absurdity. Nobody else in creation would have done such a thing. I am going to Paris because I have got to play the match. But there is one thing you can bet on, and that is, that if I win the Paris match I'll name America as the fighting ground in any subsequent match. America is good enough for me any time against all the world."

Schaefer said further that Ives was the luckiest man he had ever heard of in billiards, and that his last two games for the championship cup were samples of Dame Fortune's favor. Ives made 200 on these victories, he said. Schaefer feels that, after all he had done to help Ives to the front in billiards, it was a pretty shabby return on Ives' part to make him cross the ocean to play for the cup.

The Dominion Line Steamer Labrador
Makes a Fast Voyage.

Gossip on the Wharves—Beacons Carried Away by the Late Storm—Provisions for Labrador—Notes from the Ancient Capital —Items of News from River and Sea.

Tuesday's storm has caused much inconvenience to navigation by carrying away the two beacons on Ile a l'Aigle. They will be replaced as soon as possible.

The Allan line Numidian sails for Liverpool this morning with a large general cargo and 516 head of cattle on board. She only carries salmon passengers this trip.

The schooner Eugene, which is now loading off the Custom house, will shortly sail for Esquimaux bay, in Newfoundland, and Labrador, with a full cargo of provisions for the Hudson Bay company's stations on that inhospitable coast, besides two or three passengers. The Eugene, which is usually engaged in the Cape Breton coal trade, will take about two months on the voyage out and back.

The steamship Labrador, which left here on June 8, reached Liverpool at 9 o'clock Thursday evening. It is a very quick passage, being nearly as possible eight days, 12 hours, but is not the fastest trip on record, which, if we mistake not, is the Labrador's own achievement of eight days, two hours, the Parisian coming next with about eight days, six hours. Captain McAndrew, of the Dominion line, hopes next week to arrive in Montreal on the Friday evening instead of Sunday morning, as is usually the case.

An Action for Damages Threatened.
The Montreal Gas Co. are going to get in trouble through the alleged brutality of two of their men. It is claimed that on Wednesday two men from this company went to the residence of W. C. Craig, 178 Mansfield street, to turn off the gas and that instead of doing it quietly, according to one of the rules of the company, they proceeded to threaten Mrs. Craig in a very loud and boisterous manner, saying that they were going to take a warrant out for her husband's arrest, and in fact frightened the children so badly that one of them has not yet recovered. Mr. B. Stanley Weir has taken an action and will proceed against the company for damages.
