TRAGIC STORY OF NOR'-WEST MOUNTED POLICE PATROL'S STRUGGLE AND CRUEL FATE

Inspector Fitzgerald Made Will With Burned Twig on Torn Paper, Leaving Everything to His Mother, and Closing With Words, "God Bless All!"—Illimitable Pathos in Stern Facts as Recited by Corporal Dempster, Who Found Bodies.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, May 17.—The annals of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police contain no more tragic tale of heroic endurance culminating in a slow and horrible death than that disclosed in the detailed report of the finding of the frozen bodies of Inspector Fitzgerald and three other members of the force by Corporal Dempster, of Dawson, last February, received yesterday by Comptroller White.

The diary of Inspector Fitzgerald for the ten days preceding his slowly and grimly approaching death, and a will of twenty-two words found on his body, accompanied the report. The will was written on a torn piece of paper, with a burned twig. The Inspector by it left all effects to his mother, and concluded with the words, "God bless all."

The last few days of desperate endeavor to make Fort MacPherson are thus described in Inspector Fitzgerald's diary.

Inspector Fitzgerald's Notes.

"Wednesday, February 1, 51 below in a.m., strong south wind; left camp at 7.30 a.m. Nooned one hour, and camped at 4 p.m. Followed our old trail, but found it very heavy. Killed another dog to-night. This makes eight dogs we have killed, and we have eaten most of them."

"Thursday, February 2, 23 below in p.m., fine; very misty in mountain in p.m. Left camp at 7 a.m. Nooned one hour, and had to camp on the mountain 3.30 p.m., as we got astray in the mist. Going heavy in creek; very good on the mountain; ten miles.

"Friday, February 3, 26 below, misty in a.m., clear in p.m. Strong northeast wind. Left camp at 7.45, crossed the mountain by 1.30 p.m., and camped on Trail Creek. Killed another dog to-night and had to feed some of it to the dogs, as we have no dried fish. The men and dogs are very thin and weak, and cannot travel far. We had travelled about 200 miles on dog meat, and have still about 100 miles to go, but I think we will make it all right, but will have only three or four dogs left. Fourteen miles.

"Saturday, February 4, 52 below; fine; with strong southeast wind. Left camp at 7.45. Nooned one hour, and camped at 6 p.m., eight miles down Trail Creek. Going very heavy, and everybody suffered very much with the cold. Eight miles.

"Sunday, February 5, 48 below; fine, with strong southeast wind. Left camp at 7.45 a.m. Nooned one hour and camped about eight miles farther down. In afternoon I broke through the ice and had to make fire; found one foot slightly frozen. Killed another dog to-night; have only five dogs more, and can only go a few miles a day. Everybody breaking out on the body, and skin peeling off. Eight miles."

That was the last word before the final tragedy.

A camp kettle was found near the bodies of Kinney and Taylor, half full of moose hide, cut into small pieces, which had been boiled for a stew.

Constable Taylor Blew Head Off.

The last entry in Inspector Fitzgerald's diary was evidently made while the party was proceeding down Trail River to the Peel River. Corporal Dempster, of the relief party, says that at this point he began to fear the worst on account of the camps that the Fitzgerald patrol made being now so close together. On March 21st, about three miles below the portage on the Peel River, he found the bodies of Constables Kinney and Taylor. The two men lay side by side, the fire being at their feet; each lay on his back.

Dempster's report continues:—

"They had three Alaska sleeping bags; one under and two over them. Constable Taylor evidently committed suicide by blowing the top of his head off. It is quite probable that he had become insane with the terrible hardships which he had undergone.

"It seems to me that Inspector Fitzgerald had concluded that these men were too weak to travel, and left them, all the equipment he had, and with Carter had pushed on towards Fort Macpherson with the hope of getting relief to send back. This he was not fated to accomplish. About ten miles farther on he and Carter yielded up their lives. Carter succumbed first, and was laid out by Inspector Fitzgerald, who probably died shortly afterwards."

Greatest Tragedy on Record.

The report of Commissioner Perry, who transmitted the diaries and records to Mounted Police headquarters at Ottawa, concludes that the party had undertaken the trip light of provision, with the view of making a rapid passage.

He says that Dempster's report shows that the unfortunate men had wasted to shadows. All were strong, powerful young men, and in the best of health and condition when they left on their ill-fated journey.

"That they should have lost their lives is greatly to be deplored. It is the greatest tragedy which has occurred in this force during its existence of thirty-seven years. Their loss has been felt most keenly by every member of the force, but we cannot but feel a thrill of pride at the endeavor they made to carry out their duty, and their gallant struggle for their lives."

DELAY FOR SAULT ST. LOUIS MEASURE

House Met Before Committee Could Reach Conclusion—Members Want More Time.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Ottawa, May 17.—A special meeting of the Railway Committee was held this morning to consider the Sault St. Louis Power bill, but no progress was made, as the House met before a conclusion could be reached. Mr. Sharpe urged that there had been no time to look into the bill, and Mr. Monk referred to the water power as very valuable. He was afraid of a merger of some sort. Others pressed for time.

Amendments have been prepared to establish a time limit to the franchise, to place the rates under the Railway Commission, and to make municipal consent necessary for the erection of lines, but they were not presented.

The committee having failed to dispose of the bill, decided to ask power to meet during sittings of the House. When a motion to this effect was presented later in the House by Chairman Guthrie, the battle was renewed. The proposal was combatted by Messrs. Henderson, Sharpe, Sproule and others, and finally Hon. Mr. Fielding declared that if the committee wanted to sit he was willing to support them, but not much would be gained. The motion stood as a notice till to-morrow.

FATHER TO GET A CHANCE IF SPOKANE WOMAN GETS HER OWN WAY.

What about poor father?

This is a question which has been raised by the spread of the observing of mother's day.

The champion of the gallant, uncomplaining, long-suffering bread winner of the family has now come forward in the person of Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, of Spokane, who is writing to the secretaries of the different Boards of Trades in Canada, asking them to use their influence in getting "Father's Day," the third Sunday in June, observed in Canada.

She states that while "Mothers' Day," observed last Sunday, was inaugurated several years ago, by Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia. "Fathers' Day" is a product of last year. In Spokane, last year, her suggestion that a day be set aside in honor of father, met with instant recognition, and the city churches fell in line with remarkable unanimity. While Mothers' Day" has its white carnation as the emblem of mother, "Fathers' Day" has its rose, colored for the father who is in the land of the living, and white for the father who has passed away.

RIVAL INTERESTS CLASH IN BRAZIL

American Capitals Will Cease Development If German Firm Gets Concession.

Rio Janeiro, May 17.—Rival foreign financial interests engaged in Brazilian railway extensions have clashed as a result of a proposed concession to a German syndicate for a railway line from Porto Alegre to Passo Fundo, in the State of Rio Grande do Sul.

Percival Farquhar, of New York, representing interests which have undertaken to construct interior lines, running north and south and connecting the five present roads extending east and west, and so incorporate all the railways of Rio Grande do Sul in one system, has notified the president of the State that he will not continue the work if the German concession is granted.

Pending a decision by the State Government, the survey gangs on the Farquhar lines in the eastern part of the state have been discharged. Work has also been suspended on the projected road from Porto Alegre north to Blumena, in the State of Santa Catharina, which line was to have been financed by French capital.

Cruiser Lacks Supply of Coal

U. S. S. Buffalo Can Get No Canadian Fuel, and Lies Helpless at Cordova.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Cordova, Alaska, May 17.—Within thirty miles of millions of tons of Canadian coal, the United States cruiser Buffalo lies here with empty bunkers, practically helpless for want of fuel.

It is said that the Government will send a collier from the Puget Sound Navy Yard, about 1,600 miles, with more coal. Efforts to secure a supply in Alaskan waters proved unavailing.

The cruiser sailed from San Francisco to establish wireless telegraphic stations in Alaska. The Behring river coal fields, near by, cannot be touched until the title to them, claimed by private individuals, is decided.

Hard Fighting Around Fez.

Tangier, Morocco, May 17.—A courier who recently left this city for Fez returned here to-day and reported that he was unable to get within ten miles of the southern capital, having been turned back on May 15 by the rebellious tribesmen.

A fierce battle, according to the courier, was waging around Fez. The Sultan's troops had left the city and were engaging the rebels in the environs. Both sides were fighting desperately. The rebels admitted having suffered heavy losses.

ORIOLES IN TOWN FOR FIRST VISIT TO THE ROYALS

Jack Dunn Still Has His Peerless Soprano Voice Lashed to the Mast.

The Baltimore Orioles, which, dear reader, is a baseball aggregation and not a burlesque show, arrived in town this morning bright and early for four days of thrilling combat with our own collection of gifted athletes.

The Orioles, as is right and proper, are chaperoned by J. Dunn, the peerless soprano.

J. Dunn's voice still has Tetrazzini lashed to the post, and carries as many thrills, adagios and other gaunts as ever.

J. Dunn declares that the Rochester team is playing in the middle of one bread, wide and deep, streak of phenomenal luck just now, and he predicts that when the luck lets up Rochester will hit the toboggan with a severe crash.

J. Dunn says the Hustlers should have had only one game from the Birds with an even break of luck.

Along with J. Dunn, comes M. Corcoran who was our champion sulk producer last season, and Mr. Dygert, who was once a pitcher of renown.

Mr. Dygert is a pitcher that got broke going so often to the well. That is to say that after pitching seven or eight successive games in one week for Connie Mack's Athletics, Mr. Dygert blew up with all on board, and has not yet returned to earth.

Doc. Adkins, our old friend, who is widely celebrated as the only beef trust pitcher in captivity, will probably hurl for Baltimore this afternoon. Burke will be our choice.

Conservatives Hold a Caucus

Decide to Organize and Carry Out Active Anti-Reciprocity Campaign During Recess.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, May 17.—The Opposition members were in caucus this morning. The main object was to impress upon members the desirability of returning promptly after the adjournment and standing firm in opposition to reciprocity.

This course was agreed to unanimously. It was further decided that during the recess members will hold meetings actively to campaign against the agreement.

THE OLIVER INQUIRY COMMITTEE MEETS FOR ORGANIZATION

Mr. A. H. Clarke, of Essex, Chairman—Take Nothing for Granted Says Member.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Ottawa, May 17.—The special committee of the House, consisting of Messrs. Clarke (Essex), Carvell (Carleton), Geoffrion (Chambly), Meighen (Portage la Prairie), and Crothers (Elgin, W.), appointed to investigate the charge against Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior, had its initial sitting this morning, for organization.

Mr. Clarke was selected as chairman. The proceedings were brief, and an adjournment was made until to-morrow to allow for the production of papers.

The subject matter of the investigation is a statement made in certain newspapers, "that on the Minister's recommendation an order-in-council was passed on May 8, 1907, giving the Canadian Northern Railway power to select in the Province of Saskatchewan 600,000 acres of land, in place of lands granted to the Manitoba and Southwestern Railway, and that on October 3, in the same year, $50,000 was paid into the Imperial Bank of Edmonton to the credit of Hon. Mr. Oliver, and that about one year later the further sum of $19,000 was similarly paid into the same bank, to the like credit of Mr. Oliver."

A desultory discussion took place as to the method of proceeding, and the Chairman expressed the opinion that the source of the information should be ascertained. "The newspaperman must say how and where they got the information," asserted Mr. Geoffrion.

"I think we may take it for granted that they had no personal knowledge," said Mr. Clarke.

"We won't take anything for granted," asserted Mr. Carvell.

Minister Made No Statement.

Hon. Mr. Oliver was asked if he had any statement to make. "All I would like," he said, "is that the committee inquire as to the merit of the transaction. I would like the committee to call the officer of the Department who had the matter in hand." The Minister added that at the moment he did not realize the necessity of having counsel.

It was suggested that the newspaper correspondent be called, but Mr. Meighen characterized this as unusual, and Mr. Carvell said he did not wish to do anything to prejudice the correspondent. The editor was responsible.

The chairman suggested that Mr. Dan McGillicuddy, the supposed author of the charges, be notified to attend, but the committee did not act on this. Mr. Meighen said McGillicuddy would be summoned later.

It was then agreed to adjourn till to-morrow, when papers relating to the transfer of the lands, and also the newspaper articles will be produced. The further proceedings will then be determined.

Queen Mother Alexandra returned from the Continent to London in time to participate in the memorial services of the late King Edward VII. on May 6. The steamer Albania, from Southampton, arrived in port this morning, after being held up at the quarantine station for over 24 hours. The usual ceremonies when a child is born in mid-ocean were not gone through, but mother and child were happy when they landed at Quebec.

The ship was held up at the quarantine station for over 24 hours, on account of a suspected case of smallpox, and 61 passengers were landed.

When the passengers were ordered ashore at the quarantine station they went as meek as lambs, being foreigners and not knowing that they were not being landed at Quebec. They cheered as they landed, but changed their cheers when after the ship had left its moorings, they found that they were being held at the quarantine station.

Lina Cavalieri Wants Hard Cash

Singer Refuses Cheque for $75,000 and Insists Upon Sterling Settlement.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, May 17.—Robt. W. Chanler has deserted his New York studio and his usual haunts till he learns whether Lina Cavalieri Chanler will come back literally and pose for his painting of "The Perfect Woman."

He deserted New York for Lenox, Mass., it was learned to-day, after being informed that the opera singer had refused to sign a release of her claim against him, and that she had refused to compromise the ante-nuptial agreement unless $75,000 in cash was paid to her.

Cavalieri declined a cheque and insisted on cash in hand before she would absolve Chanler from his solemn engagements.

An Appeal to Girls.

To the Editor of the Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—In your columns lately I have noticed the heading "More arrests in the White Slave Traffic," etc. This leads to the question, what are we women who have daughters of our own doing to prevent this evil? What are the churches doing? Prevention is better than cure. What are the girls who have comfortable homes and mothers to protect them doing? Have they any time to spare for the girl who has to work from 6.30 a.m. to 6.30 p.m.? The young ladies of our churches have time to teach Chinamen, time to write papers and make garments for foreign missions. Have they time to say a kind word, or to give a helping hand up the girl who washes their clothes and makes them? It would be interesting to know what some have time to do for working girls. We all know about the Y.W.C.A. and thank God for what it is able to do but where do the lonely girls go when factory hours are over? Where does she find her recreation? Where does the servant go on her night out? To the prayer-meeting, to the social in the church parlors? Is she welcome? Does the mistress ever ask the maid where she spends her time or tell her where there is a place where she would be welcome?

The season for immigration is here again, and many hearts are sore in the Old Country, mothers weeping over their sons and daughters who have left or are leaving them soon for the land far, far away. How eagerly every scrap of news in the home paper on Canada is read. How many girls land in Canada lonely and sad? Is there any one to call for them and take them to church or give them a little pleasure in life? How it cheers a lonely girl to meet a girl of her own age on whom she can lean for council and advice.

Girls of Canada, what are you doing? Have you no nobler purpose in life than to whirl round and round in a skating rink, to dress and have fun? Does your heart not burn with indignation when you read about the wrong of some poor girls? Do you say to yourself, "If it had not been for God's good care and Providence in making my lot so different it might have been my fate." A nation's prosperity depends upon the women who are to nurse, and teach the rising generation. What are you going to do, girls?

A TRAVELLER.

MR. HACKETT AND THE STAR CRITIC PASS COMPLIMENTS

Disagree as to the Meaning of Satire as Applied to Play-Writing.

Mr. James K. Hackett, the Canadian actor who is appearing at the Princess this week in "The King's Game," writes to The Star to complain about the criticisms which his play has provoked in Montreal. He goes to some length to explain that the critics must have misunderstood the play and quotes from a letter written by George Brackett Seitz, the author of the play, who also appears to have but a poor opinion of the critics' mentality.

"Are the critics unbelievably dense, or have I rendered the satire of the play too subtle to be grasped?" modestly asks Mr. Seitz. Farther along he wants to know whether the critics are not "lacking in a sense of humor and of what satire is."

Mr. Hackett is laboring under a misapprehension; so is Mr. George Backett Seitz. The Star's critic was duly warned in specific language that "The King's Game" is a satire, and not to be taken seriously, both by the advance agent and by the management of the Princess Theatre.

The warning was, however, wholly gratuitous. The only difference between the viewpoint of Mr. Seitz (presumably, also, Mr. Hackett) and The Star critic is in regard to the meaning of satire. Mr. Seitz obviously considers that to be satirical it is only necessary to be ridiculous. From that viewpoint "The King's Game" is a masterpiece. The Star critic holds that to be satirical one must ridicule. The difference between ridiculing and being ridiculous is so patent to the average mind that one is somewhat appalled at Mr. Seitz's obliquity in this regard.

It only remains to be said that one of the duties of a critic which Mr. Seitz has overlooked is to protect the public against impositions.

NEXT WEEK'S SHOWS.

Orpheum.

Next week's attraction at the Orpheum will be a production of Clyde Fitch's comedy, "Girls," which was originally produced by the Messrs. Shubert at Daly's Theatre, N. Y., where it ran for an entire season to record-breaking business, and was revived in the ensuing fall, securing another metropolitan run of 115 performances before being sent on tour. Pamela Gordon, Violet Lansdowne and Kate West, three attractive young women, have formed a bachelor club with "Pan" as their leader, swearing to have nothing to do with mere man, scorning them as inferior beings and proclaiming themselves as firmly wedded to a life of eternal celibacy. They take up their quarters in an apartment house in New York City, where in one room four flights up they make a laughable attempt at light housekeeping. Their neighbor across the court, Lucille Purcelle, a spinster of somewhat uncertain age, holds views regarding the opposite sex entirely at variance with the "Girls," who apparently are very much disgusted with her flirtatious disposition. After a very stormy and ridiculously funny scene with their drunken janitor, who in plain language expresses his opinion of them, the club prepare for rest. They, with crossed hatpins as swords, again pledge themselves by their solemn oath, and after singing the club's anthem, "No Wedding Bells for Me," arrange their sleeping accommodations for the night. The story from this on is full of very funny situations and interesting love scenes. The pledge of "No Wedding Bells for Me" is forgotten, and each girl finds herself the victim of Cupid's power.

Royal.

At the Royal Theatre, commencing next Monday, the melodrama, "The Wages of Sin" will be the attraction. In the early day of melodrama this was considered a masterpiece, and it was played last week in ten different cities. Away from the usual sensational melodrama, it is a true story, the characters are all real. Four acts and ten scenes.

Dominion Park.

A fire department composed of forty-five uniformed men, who have been drilling and training in Longue Point ward for a month past, under the direction of Chief James H. Riley, of the Boston Fire Department, in the use of up-to-date life-saving devices, will make its first public appearance to-morrow, Thursday, when it will parade through the streets about noon. Forming a part of the parade will be the hundred actors and actresses, who have been training under the guidance of the stage director, for their part in the "Fighting the "Flames" spectacle. Some of these people will jump from the fourth storey of the "doomed" building at Dominion Park this summer, while others will take part in the street scenes that precede the fire-fighting spectacle.

The line of march for to-morrow's parade will be Notre Dame to St. James, to Windsor, to St. Catherine, to St. Lawrence, to Notre Dame and back to the park.

The "Fighting the Flames" spectacle will be presented six times a day when the park opens for its next season.

Grahame-White and Pauline Chase

Both Realize Engagement Was Mistake and Agree to Break If Off.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, May 17.—The romance of Pauline Chase, the actress, and Claude Grahame-White, the aeronaut, which begin, thrillingly, on an airship in America, has crashed to earth in England.

If Miss Chase is certain of her facts, no hearts were broken in the mishap. The wings of love's biplane simply refused to fly any further. Miss Chase said to-day:

"Yes, it is true. There is no unpleasantness. Mr. Grahame-White realized, as well as I, that our engagement was a mistake. After knowing him well, I concluded that he could not compensate me for my retirement from the stage. Please don't say that I am engaged to any one else."

TORONTO DAY BY DAY

From a Special Correspondent.

Toronto, May 17.

THE ambitious and at one time seemingly chimerical scheme of park improvement planned some years ago by the Guild of Civic Art, and toward which the city has been gradually working, has received an unexpected and gratifying addition in the offer made by a real estate syndicate to hand over to the city a strip of land over three miles in length, along the banks of the River Humber, one of the natural beauty spots of which Toronto is justly proud, and which in summer provides an ideal boating place for the citizens.

Naturally enough, there will be cavillers who will object that the syndicate have an ulterior motive in their gift, in that they will expect the city to spend a great deal of money to create a driveway and boulevard which will immensely enhance the value for residential purposes of the property fronting upon the driveway and owned by the syndicate. The fact that the syndicate have also been unable to purchase a couple of small parcels of land in the district, one being intended as a site for a foundry, is also another reason why the astute speculators should desire to get the city interested, for the municipality can expropriate the land at a valuation fixed by arbitration, whereas the syndicate could only secure it by paying whatever exorbitant price the present holders choose to put upon it.

These considerations, however, will probably not be allowed to weigh against the value to the city of a gift of land which, even in its unimproved state, is valued at $150,000, and which is capable of transformation into a driveway which will form a natural continuation of the sea wall boulevard now under construction.

The objection that the syndicate's property will be increased in value is one which could as easily be applied to any other civic improvement, while as for the expropriation of the foundry site, the citizens are as vitally interested as the syndicate in any action which will prevent the desecration of the rolling green banks of the beautiful winding stream.

The project is one which will fit in admirably with other plans already in hand, such as the Grand Trunk Railway grade separation work past High Park and the good roads system about to be constructed jointly by the city, the county of York, and the Ontario Government, for it will link up the two main roads between Toronto and Hamilton, and furnish a delightful alternative route for motoring or driving around Toronto's western limits.

* * *

To-day, when it is almost possible to count the days to the date when Canada will have three transcontinental railways in operation, it is difficult to believe that this enormous expansion has been accomplished within the memory of living man. Yet there is still living at 177 Balmoral avenue, Toronto, in full possession of his faculties, the man who acted as conductor of the first railway train in Ontario, and on Wednesday Mr. John Harvie celebrated the 58th anniversary of that epoch-making event in this province.

The line, which was opened on May 16, 1853, was the portion of the old Northern Railway from Toronto to Aurora, and the running time of the first train for the 29 miles was two hours flat. Two years later the line was opened through to Collingwood, but the citizens of the growing town of Barrie had to walk to Allandale to get railway connection to Toronto, and it was many years before the road was extended northward toward Orillia and Gravenhurst. This pioneer road in Ontario, like the Great Western, which was built soon afterward, ultimately passed into the hands of the Grand Trunk Railway, while that now gigantic and prosperous system was going through its strenuous period of struggle against hard times, the dissatisfaction of its English shareholders, and the bitter criticism of its Canadian patrons. With so much accomplished by Canadian railway builders within less than sixty years, it would be a bold man who would attempt to set a limit to the possibilities of expansion for a corresponding period of the future.

* * *

If the Whitney Government desired to exhibit a revengeful spirit in return for the constant worrying and misrepresentation to which it has been subjected by the aggressive temperance forces of the province, it could easily accomplish this object by merely passively allowing the technicalities of the Courts and the acts of the license commissioners to take their course. That the Government has no desire to "get even" with the temperance extremists, however, has been made apparent many times by the policy pursued by the Hon. W. J. Hanna, the Provincial Secretary, in whose department the enforcement of the license laws is included. Mr. Hanna it was who laid down the rule that even where local option by-laws were upset in the Courts by technicalities, the commissioners must not issue licenses in the municipalities affected by the judges' decisions. In other cases, the Provincial Secretary has not hesitated to exercise the power of veto assumed by him under recent legislation, and when license commissioners have acted in the face of local public opinion, their official acts have speedily been reversed by Mr. Hanna.

* * *

Only a month or two ago, he cancelled a license issued by the North Ontario Commissioners for a hotel at Atherley, just outside the municipal boundaries of the local option town of Orillia. The Atherley Hotel had gained an unsavory reputation because of the scenes of debauchery enacted there, and any good effects of local option in Orillia were largely nullified by the ease with which bibulously inclined citizens could obtain liquor at Atherley. The climax of the situation came when a drunken orgy was followed by the tragic death of one of the participants, who staggered under the wheels of an approaching train. When the Commissioners renewed the license in spite of the opposition of the residents, Mr. Hanna at once rescinded their decision.

Now the same commissioners have received another official slap, the Provincial Secretary having vetoed a license which they granted to a hotel at Washago, a little farther up the Grand Trunk line from Atherley.

The actions of the Commissioners in question in issuing licenses in the face both of local feeling and the clearly-understood policy of the government revive interest in the frequently-mooted suggestion that the licenses of the whole province be issued and controlled by a central board of commissioners at Toronto. Opponents of the government have claimed that such a board would result in making the liquor traffic more directly a factor in politics than it was even under the Mowat, Hardy and Ross Governments, but anyone who has studied the course of the present administration in relation to license affairs must reach the conclusion that whatever plan is followed, the end attained will be the one which most effectively makes for a sane, workable, and reasonably strict regulation of the traffic.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

From a Special Correspondent.

New York, May 17.

THE other day a men's club of one of the Brooklyn Churches wrote Mayor Gaynor, asking him to do something towards the prevention of selling liquor on Sunday, a practice which is against the law. The committee alleged that liquor was on sale over many bars.

As the law stands, saloons are required to be closed on Sunday and to have their front windows open so that passing patrolmen may see inside and be satisfied that the law is regarded. However, the back door of practically every bar in New York is open, and in the back rooms there is always Sunday drinking, and in many cases liquor is sold openly across the bar.

The hotels, large and small, are protected, because it is within the law to sell liquor on Sunday, if something to eat is ordered in addition. But in the cheap bars, this something to eat is not required. There are either old musty, ago-worn sandwiches on the table or the customer is not asked to buy anything in the way of edibles.

* * *

When the Brooklyn church club led by Canon Chase, a clergyman whom the erratic Mayor once called a "popgun") wrote to the chief executive, Mr. Gaynor got very mad. In fact he gets very mad whenever anyone criticizes his policy or administration in the slightest. He wrote a heated letter in answer, in which he alleged that Sunday observance was more perfect under his own regime than it had ever been under any other Mayor's. In addition he offered to pay from his own pocket $10 for proof in each instance that liquor had been sold over a bar on Sunday.

This was just what the church club was looking for, and it has now sent the Mayor a letter telling of conditions it discovered on a Sunday. It sent out a corps of investigators in Brooklyn, who went into 84 saloons between 10 a.m. and noon on Sunday, and found 67 of these bars doing business right along. They also drank over two bars which were crowded with men, and now ask the Mayor to produce $20 from his pocket in response to his offer.

Another thing they ask him to do is to close the moving picture shows on Sunday, but he holds that the picture shows are educational and instructive, and that it would be a hardship to the public.

The committee reports having visited 17 of these shows and found none of them instructive, but on the other hand, very vicious. They have taken up the matter of the shows and the open saloons with the District Attorney of King's county, in which Brooklyn is situated.

The Rev. Theodore Selgwick, rector of Calvary Episcopal Church of 4th Avenue and 22nd Street, a part of the city once fashionable but now passe, has antagonized his choir by a new and unexpected move. The night before last, Dr. Sedgwick had his choir go out in front of the church and sing in the streets for ten minutes before the regular service began, in the hopes that this would attract a larger congregation than usual. Calvary church used to be crowded. Now people are moving up town and but few attend the services.

Dr. Sedgwick's scheme worked well, and he will continue it, but the choir is about to go on strike, the artistic temperament of the singers being diametrically opposed to street singing. Some of them have sarcastically compared the procedure to Salvation Army methods.

A body found floating in the East River to-day was thought to be that of the missing Dorothy Arnold, the rich girl who disappeared December 12, and whose disappearance caused such a stir throughout the country. But Miss Arnold's brothers viewed the body in the morgue, and, although it was badly disfigured, they were able to state positively that it was not that of their sister. The clothing was altogether different from what a girl in Miss Arnold's circumstances would have worn.

The fact that the two Arnold boys rushed to the morgue when the police told them that there was a body there, has given the public reason to believe that the family really considers that the girl is missing. For weeks there were doubts that the family was overanxious about Miss Arnold, as she was commonly supposed by reporters and the police to be in hiding. The general idea now seems to be that the family believes her dead, and that they really know nothing of her whereabouts since she first left her home in December to ostensibly walk down Fifth Avenue to a book store.

Ever since the terrible Asch factory fire, that resulted in the death of 142 people, the factory inspectors and the owners themselves have been unusually active in keeping the regulations up to the limit. Yesterday one employer had one of his men hauled into court for smoking cigarettes where it was prohibitory. The boy was only 15 years old, but the judge thought he was old enough to know better, and gave him a severe lecture. In addition, his employer has discharged him. There are over 100 people employed in the factory where he worked, and the fire hazard was strong.

The youngest daughter of the late Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott, the wife of John Elliott, the celebrated English painter, to-day through her writings bids fair in many respects to equal the literary genius of her more than distinguished mother.

Toronto, May 17.—Mrs. Burton Keyser, wife of the manager of the Walker House barber shop, who lives at 616 Bloor Street West, has received word that her father, Mr. Alex. Thoman, of Arcona, Michigan had fallen heir to about one-twelfth of $38,000,000.

This sum, it appears, was held by the Government of Scotland, and was in the form of six barrels of gold. How Mr. Thoman came to get a share of it is not known, as the information received is very meagre.

Mr. Thoman is about sixty years of age, and lives in the town of Arcona, Michigan. He has a family of four, of whom Mrs. Burton Keyser is one.

LACK ESCAPES NO FIRE GUARD CHIEF STATES

Apartment House Report Finished and Presented To Board of Control

Chief Tremblay Condemns Many Structures and Suggests More Stringent Building Laws.

Chief Tremblay appeared before the Board of Control, to-day, and deposited his report upon the inspections the fire captains have made of all the apartment houses in the city and the moving picture shows.

In regard to the apartment houses, the Chief states that "in nine cases out of ten the houses are not provided with proper or sufficient protective apparatus against fire, and in many instances there are no fire escapes at all."

In some instances, Chief Tremblay states that houses have been built in direct violation of the laws of public security, and there is need of more stringent by-laws being adopted to provide for safety in such places where so many families are congregated. The buildings ought to be fireproof throughout. In several cases this class of building exists, but it ought to be insisted upon in all instances.

In regard to newly annexed wards the building by-laws permit of a class of building being put up different to the kind provided for under the existing city laws. This is the case in Laurier Ward, and it is recommended that measures be adopted at once to make the building by-laws uniform throughout the enlarged city.

The fire captains in their reports have shown that there is need for improved fire protection in many of the moving picture shows in the city. Notably better exits are necessary, and more of them; while in certain of the shows the aisles are too narrow.

The Controllers will discuss the reports with a view of taking action upon them at an early date.

WIFE WAITED FOR SIGNAL; DEATH STAYED IT

Rushing from Home Mrs. Hobman Sees Husband Taken from Under Engine

Daily Signal of Waved Handkerchief Failed When Tragedy Overtook Young Husband.

Standing at the window in their summer home at Valois this morning, Mrs. Harry Hobman was waiting to see her husband wave to her as usual from the train as it pulled out of the station.

No train pulled out.

Seeing a crowd gathering around the station she rushed out of the house, fearing something was wrong. When she had covered the short distance separating the house from the tracks, and pushed through the crowd of people collected around the engine, she found her husband lying lifeless on the ground.

He had missed the Grand Trunk train which it was his custom to take and running across the track to catch a Canadian Pacific train on the parallel line he was run down by the train he had missed.

The accident occurred in full view of all the passengers on the train he was trying to catch, on the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The two lines run parallel for some distance at that point.

The Canadian Pacific Station is nearer the city. Both stations being in plain view, the victim saw that he was too late for the Grand Trunk train and hurried to the nearer station to make the Canadian Pacific Station. Misjudging his distance he was killed run down as the Grand Trunk train gathered speed.

When picked up he was in a dying condition and lived only a few moments.

His chest was terribly crushed and his right arm broken. The train which struck him stopped and the body was brought into the city on it, and met at the Bonaventure Station by a waggon from the morgue.

Mr. Hobman leaves a wife but no children. He was twenty-eight years old, a native of Lancashire, England, where his mother is yet living. He came to this country eight years ago, and for the last five years has been an accountant with the Dale and Company, Marine and Fire Insurance Agents, in the Coristine building.

There is one brother living in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobman resided at 650 St. Antoine street and were spending the summer at Valois. He was a member and sidesman of St. Jude's Church.

HUSBAND AND WIFE DIFER IN DETAILS OF THE HONEYMOON TRIP.

Hyman Lazarovitch, 2312 Papineau Ave., was charged before Judge Lanctot to-day by his wife of 17 years, a bride of only fifteen days.

According to her story, she had $200 saved up when the latter proposed and was accepted. They were quietly married, and Hyman, also quietly persuaded her to let him take care of the $200. A honeymoon trip was made, with New York as the objective. In New York, however, she claims that her husband preferred to spend her money in some one else's company and abandoned her. She returned to town alone.

As soon as she heard that Lazarovitch was back she swore out the warrant. The latter pleaded not guilty and was remanded for trial on the 23rd.

STAY DEATHS, BIRTHS GROW IN THIS CITY

Controllers Order Health Officer to Safeguard Children

Infantile Mortality Yet High in Montreal and Efforts are Being Taken to Reduce it.

An analysis made by thes Civic Health Department to-day shows that infantile mortality in the city stands at about the same rate as last year, while the birth rate is on the increase.

It is in July and August that the slaughter of the innocents takes place, and it is in order to prepare a campaign of salvation for that time that the Board of Control has ordered the medical health officer to devise some means which will result in keeping down the death rate among young children.

"The best recommendation that I can give to mothers," said Dr. Laberge today in conversation with a Star representative, "is to nurse their babies. That is the biggest and best assurance against heavy infantile mortality, and towards this end I would like to see a band of qualified nurses organized who would go into the home and give instruction to poor mothers as to the care they should take of themselves and their newly born children."

A regular supply of pure milk ought to be also provided. This was a matter that required careful superintendence, and Dr. Laberge sugested that the distribution should be made with the watchful care of medical men.

With a view of aiding him to make his report complete, Dr. Laberge has written to a number of cities in the United States asking the medical authorities the following, among other questions:

What means are taken to instruct mothers as to the care of their newly-born children?

Is there free medical consultation available for the infants of poor families?

Are there means taken, like the "Goutte de Lait" in France, to assure pure fresh milk being supplied free to the infants of the poor?

Are there milk dispensaries for the furnishing free or on payment of pure fresh milk to the infants of the poor.

Polar Bears at Sea on Iceberg

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, May 17.—Three Polar bears marooned on an iceberg were sighted from the Cunard Liner Carmania on Sunday. The iceberg was several leagues away, on the starboard bow. All the telescopes and binoculars aboard the ship were put into commission. Estimates put the length of the berg at over 300 feet, and its height at between fifty and a hundred feet.

A little beach was at the foot of the central hill of the ice chunk, and on this, three Polar bears were made out. The berg was revolving slowly from left to right. The bears were running round and round the berg, following the narrow and slippery beach, in the opposite direction to that in which their little planet was turning. Their tongues hung low, and their sides looked gaunt and hunger-stricken. Their labor of rotating around their prison never ended while the passengers viewed them.

Tuberculosis Society Meets.

London Ont. May 17.—The eleventh annual convention of the Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis opened here to-day in the Hygienic Institute. A large number of delegates were present but many more are expected to arrive this afternoon. This morning's session was given over to business. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and were very encouraging.

Professor Adami, of McGill, occupied the chair and announced that the society contemplated building a new sanatorium. Dr. George Porter, of Toronto, read a report of the conditions in the various provinces from coast to coast.

WHAT ARE THEY WHISPERING?

The friends of Reciprocity at Washington are pressing through their proposals in silence.

This is a noteworthy fact. Practically all the popular deputations that journey up to the American Capital from different parts of the Republic, go to oppose the agreement. The simple-minded people who only know that Reciprocity with Canada will pinch them somewhere, bear the expense and trouble of laying their case before the Senatorial Committee which is supposed to be considering the bill.

But—with one or two almost frivolous exceptions—no popular demand is heard for the bill. Deputations do not gather in the committee-room from the far West and the far East to clamor for Reciprocity. Representatives of sectional or class "votes" do not tell the leaders of both parties that they will lose their support hereafter if they do not pass the measure.

Yet the force behind the measure is enormous—and silent.

✿ ✿ ✿ ✿ ✿

By all the rules of American politics, Canadian Reciprocity should be doomed. It is the proposal of a Republican President which is repudiated by his own party. It comes from this Republican President at a time when his party is discredited and when the Democrats are sweeping in on a tide of victory. The farmers—so far as heard from—are against it. The fishermen are against it. Many active and powerful "interests" are against it. The only noise made in the "lobby" is against it.

Yet it is silently and irresistibly making its way.

Now, nothing is so sinister as silence when a great public policy is concerned. Men who work in the dark invariably have good reason for their secrecy. The forces which are pushing Reciprocity through Congress must have reasons to give which are convincing to themselves and to the many representative men who come under their hypnotic influence. Why do they not give them to the American people? Why is the stage left to the opponents of the bill? Why is there no popular clamor for the measure from the citizens of the country which proposed it?

✿ ✿ ✿ ✿ ✿

The Taft Administration is carrying its point by means of "a still hunt." And it is succeeding. Whatever the arguments are which it can present behind sealed doors to the members of Congress, they are bowling these Congressmen over like nine-pins, Democrats as well as Republicans. Every now and then we hear of a "group" which is going to "block" the bill. But when the bill gets up to the "group," it is found that the "still hunt" has preceded it and the "group" has silently disorganised and disappeared.

What is the whisper which weakens men's stoutest resolutions and induces the most craven politician to out-face the declared opposition of his own constituents?

The American opponents of the measure are doing their fighting in the open. We know what they mean. They are appealing to the people in the good old constitutional way. They are not ashamed of their arguments. They do not care who is listening in the "whispering gallery" of the world.

But the friends of the measure are not bothering to present a case before the Senate Committee. They are permitting things to go by default. On any other proposal, they would be beaten before they start. But, so far, they have hardly suffered a delay. Magically, the way is opened before them. The politicians whose votes they need, become convinced that it does not matter what the uninformed people think they want. Possibly they may have something to tell the people when it is no longer dangerous to do so.

✿ ✿ ✿ ✿ ✿

We should dearly like to have those who do not think that the Americans mean Annexation, tell us what they imagine this deadly, dragon's-breath whisper is. What is the "word" that is passed along which silences all opposition and brings every one to heel? What is it that is so potent at Washington but cannot yet be spoken to the American people?

If it is not Annexation, what can it be?

Do you know of any other argument which could be so effective in secret, but which could not safely be entrusted to the popular ear just yet? Is there any other "whisper" which it would be fatal for Canada to over-hear?

Here is an argument upon which the statesmen of the United States are agreed. Taft and Roosevelt, Bryan and Aldrich, Root and Champ Clark, everybody of importance but "Joe" Cannon, favor Reciprocity. Yet they do not give reasons for the faith which is in them that are convincing enough to sway a public-school debating society. They talk drivel in public. President Taft's speeches consist of denying that he means Annexation and pointing out that the chief barriers to Annexation in our case are "light and almost inperceptible." Secretary Knox "proves" that he doesn't mean Annexation by an argument which would excite ridicule in a country grocery. Most of the others are wisely silent.

But they are all agreed. The brains of the United States is behind this proposal. What has been the convincing reason? There must be something. It is not usual for the big men to agree in this charming fashion. In most countries the leaders of both parties never agree in this way, except in time of war. When the nation is defending its frontiers or seeking to extend them, then all party leaders get together and act as a unit.

✿ ✿ ✿ ✿ ✿

Commonly, however, they can give the reason quite openly. The nation is at war to the knowledge of all men. But the American nation is not at war to-day. If it is seeking to extend its frontiers, it could not hope for success unless it kept that very fact exceedingly secret. We have the union of the leaders of both parties; and we have the exceeding secrecy.

What do you think it means?

It appears to us that if there be any Canadians who sincerely are of the opinion that no question of political union is in the minds of our neighbors, they are bound to tell us what this mysterious argument is which convinces all the statesmen and dissolves every "cabal" in Congress, but which cannot be allowed to reach the public. They must see the surface facts as clearly as we do. The unanimity is not denied. Neither is the secrecy. There is plainly something being hidden.

We say that "the African in the wood-pile" is Annexation. If we are wrong, then what, in the opinion of our opponents, is this silent, secret, sinister whisper?

A whisper has a way of hissing itself into notice. It is heard at times when the whispers did not intend it to carry so far. Have there not been revealing accidents of this sort at Washington

There was Champ Clark's "break" which the Washington press agencies at once tried to smother up. Why did they try to smother it? If it were not notoriously dangerous, why did they not treat it as a taking bit of sensational news? The quickness with which the "silencer" was applied surely betrayed previous preparation for some such "accident"!

Then there is the sudden cessation of Annexation talk by the interested American press. No newspaper, which is in touch with the situation at all, has allowed itself to utter the explosive word since Taft's loud "hush" was heard from the White House. This very conspiracy of silence looks suspicious. Men conscious of a perilous secret guard it closely. The provincial press is not silent, however. It has not been brought into the magic circle.

Then the exceedingly conscious air with which opponents of the bill blurt out "Annexation" as if they were school-boys in mischief, reveals an electric condition at Washington which is very suggestive. Why are they so obviously "daring" in touching the thing at all? Why should they not say "Annexation" if they like? Who is scaring them? Yet they handle it as if it were dynamite.

Then Taft's stout denials would arouse the suspicion of the most incredulous. He cannot even keep quiet about it. He must deny and deny and deny. There is a growing suspicion of his motives, even in London where a touching confidence in the Americans has long been a part of their religion. They bore with Cleveland; they loved Roosevelt; but they are getting doubtful about Taft.

If ever a secret was not well kept, it is the secret of the Annexationist plot at Washington. We would not give much for the mental vision of any Canadian who cannot see it by this time.

EXCISION OF CHATEAUGUAY BATTLE SCENE

Canadians Took It Out On Suggestion of U.S. Ambassador

And Try to Stir Up Anti-British and Anti-Canadian Feeling in the United States.

By Special Cable from Our Own Correspondent.

London, May 17.—The reports of the Ministerial statements at Ottawa regarding the excision of the Chateauguay scene from the Festival of Empire pageant show several misconceptions. The British Government has nothing to do with the pageant. It is an entirely private affair, Lord Plymouth being head of the organization. "The whole responsibility for the excision remains, not with Englishmen at all, but with a little handful of Canadians here who attended the meeting of the Canadian committee. Lord Strathcona was not one of them.

Mr. Lascelles, the master of the pageant, declared in the press to-day that the rejection of the scene had nothing to do with the fear of hurting the susceptibilities of American visitors to London, but in the fact that one of the Canadians on the committee took it upon himself to write privately to the American Ambassador, and though in his private reply Mr. Whitelaw Reid in no way proposed the rejection of the scene, he did say that as his opinion was asked, he thought it possible that the yellow press of the United States might seize on the scene to try to stir up anti-British and anti-Canadian feeling in the United States.

It was with his reply in view that the Canadian on the committee excised the scene. It was throughout an entirely Canadian affair.

The discussion is, however, serving one excellent purpose here—namely, in instructing Englishmen in a little known and glorious page of French-Canadian history.

WINDERMERE.

BLAME BAD ROADS FOR ACCIDENT TO FIRE CHIEF'S RIG

Could Not Get to Charcoal Blaze Because Waggon is Out of Commission.

On account of an accident to District Chief Briere's waggon while he was responding to a chimney fire this morning, he was unable to attend a blaze in the Standard Chemical, Iron and Lumber Company's premises.

The alarm to which District Chief Briere was responding came from box 242, at the corner of Laprairie and Chateauguay streets. He was driving at full gallop along Notre Dame street when one of the wheels flew off, putting the waggon out of commission. The hub had given out, because of hard usage of the waggon in long runs inevitable in his division over rough roads. The waggon has to be sent to the repair shop, while the District Chief continued to the scene of the fire on a hose waggon. The chimney fire was at 77 Laprairie street, and there was practically no damage.

At 9.30 o'clock, the alarm came in from the Standard Chemical Iron and Lumber Company on St. Ferdinand street, and Distrrict Chief Lussier had to take charge of the men in District Chief Briere's division. The fire was in a shed used for storing charcoal. It was adjacent to the shed used for the same purpose which was burned a week ago, when 10,000 bags of charcoal were destroyed, and at which a dozen firemen were overcome by gas. In to-day's fire 3,000 bags were burned. Several firemen were half smothered in the burning shed, but all were able to get out in time. It is not known how the fire originated but it is thought that a spark from a passing engine was responsible.

CANNOT BURN ALL GARBAGE OF THE CITY.

Dr. Louis Laberge, medical health officer, has made a special inspection of the garbage dumps in St. Denis ward and on Fullum street, and he states that work is in progress to remove all possibility of the spread of contagion from them. The pits are being drained and the refuse is being sprinkled with disinfectants.

The medical officer, however, asserts that the only effective remedy will be reached by the construction of additional incinerators for the burning of the garbage.

EJECTED FROM SHOW FOR HOLDING CIGAR BUT GETS DAMAGES

Can a Man Enter Theatre With Cigar After Extinguishing Fire? is Question.

Because he refused to throw away a half-smoked cigar at the request of an attendant at the Francais Theatre, and insisted on putting it in his pocket, Arthur Ramisch, accompanied by a girl named Philimore Coroteau, was expelled from the Theatre. Action was entered against the theatre and Mr. Justice Greenshields this morning, granted the lady $150 damages, while Ramisch will receive $100.

Ramisch, together with his lady friend had purchased tickets and entered the theatre, but it is claimed that Ramisch had neglected to remove the fire from his cigar. The attendant requested that he throw the cigar away but Ramisch considered he was within the law, when he extinguished the cigar and placed the unsmoked portion in his pocket.

This did not meet with the approval of the attendant, and Ramisch was requested to apply at the box office, have his money refunded and leave the theatre, but before he could do this, it is claimed that he and his companion were thrown into the street.

TO REMOVE TRACKS PURPOSE OF SUIT

Henry Hogan Estate Avers Masson Street is Private Property.

Proceedings were started in the Superior Court this morning against the City of Montreal and the Montreal Street Railway Company, demanding the removal of the latter's tracks from the Masson street extension, on the ground that the extension does not belong to the city and is private property.

The action was entered by Messrs. Brown, Montgomery and McMichael on behalf of the Estate Henry Hogan. It is alleged by the plaintiff that the tracks were laid without their consent and that when objection was made to the Street Railway officials, a resolution was passed by the City Council authorizing the laying of the tracks, before they had gained possession of the property themselves.

CITY WILL INSURE IS THE DECISION AFTER FIRE DAMAGE

Municipal Structures Valued at $3,827,535 Carry $62,000 Insurance Fund.

The Board of Control intends to insure all municipal buildings in the city against fire with one or other of the big fire insurance companies.

The value of the buildings, exclusive of land and furniture, owned by the city is entered in the City Assessors' books at $3,827,535, of which $531,800 is put down as the value of the City Hall, being about the sum it cost to construct the building.

As insurance against fire the Controllers have set aside $62,000, but in the light of yesterday's fire at the waterworks shops, they say this fund is far from being a sufficient insurance.

Mr. T. Lesage reported to-day that the fire yesterday did not effect the damage the water department first reported, inasmuch as it was found that many of the instruments, tools, etc., had been saved from the wreckage, and a number of the most valuable plans were injured only by smoke and water, and they could be restored.

SAYS LIGHTED MATCH WAS THROWN INTO STORE.

The barber shop of E. Duclos, 67 St. Andre Street, caught fire shortly before 0 o'clock this morning. The proprietor complains of mischevious boys who are fond of pranks, and he believed that they threw a lighted match into his shop, setting fire to the curtains and drapings. The building is entirely of wood, and upstairs were Mr. Duclos' two sisters. As the ceiling started burning before the firemen under District Chief Giroux arrived, they were so frightened at being burned alive that they fainted in their rooms. Only buckets of water were used, however, to extinguish the fire.

Smallpox in Gaspe.

Information was received at the Provincial Health Office this morning to the effect that a case of small pox was reported from the County of Gaspe. Dr. Pelletier said it was from a new centre.

Gets $62 for Blow on Head.

Sixty-two dollars was the amount allowed O. J. Tansey this morning by Mr. Justice Bruneau in compensation for a blow on the head with an iron bar, at the hands of Olivier Renaud.

STATED DIAZ TO RESIGN IN TWO MONTHS

Washington Hears From El Paso That Peace Is Approaching

MEANWHILE REBELS ARE STORMING MANY CITIES.

They Fling Lighted Sticks of Dynamite Into Buildings by Means of Slings.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Merico City, May 71—There was some anxiety and irritation apparent in the capital yesterday because there was as yet no official publication forthcoming in regard to the manner which, and the time when President Diaz and Vice-president Corral are to resign and a temporary government under the Presidency of Senor De La Barra is to be established.

The delay should not be interpreted as indicating that any hitch has arisen or any obstacle been presented. There may be further modifications, but, as a matter of fact, everything is arranged, even to the names of the members of the provisional Ministry which is to serve with De la Barra until the elections, which will be hurried along.

Or course, the whole arrangement may be upset, but there is every probability that peace will be declared on a definite basis.

The resignation of Diaz and Corral have been received and filed away, it is declared, and a provisional government may be installed on or about May 25. By that date, barring accidents, General Reyes will have arrived, and he will immediately take charge of the Ministry of War, while De la Barra, as provisional President with Congress, will issue writs for the new elections. General Reyes will be especially charged with the enforcement of law and order.

DIAZ TO RESIGN IN TWO MONTHS, WASHINGTON HEARS

Special to the Montreal Star.

Washington, May 17. — President Diaz of Mexico, is now willing to resign the presidency within two months, according to the latest information received at the White House. This sudden and entirely unexpected turn of affairs was reported in an official despatch sent to the War Department from Col. Steever, commanding the American forces at El Paso.

The despatch reads: —

"Prospects for peace in Mexico seem fairly bright to-day. Armistice probably will be agreed upon within twenty-four hours.

"Madero demands four places in the Cabinet. One of them Secretary of War and fourteen governors. The Mexican government agrees to give him Gobernacion (territorial administration), and Justice, and possibly one other, while the Secretary of War is to be chosen jointly by the two parties. Madero will likely get ten governorships.

"Diaz is to resign after the new governors are appointed, probably in two months."

ANOTHER BATTLE IS IMMINENT AT CHIHUAHUA.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Jaurez, May 17. — Last night a courier came dustily in with the news that Rabago and Luque, Federal generals, were coming toward Juarez with guns and from 1,500 to 4,000 men. They say they will fight at Chihuahua, 300 miles distant.

It is without doubt true that Rabago and Luque, with their men, are to the south of Juarez and distant not 150 miles. But whether their faces are toward Chihuahua or Juarez is a thing no one can surely say.

The rebel army occupying Juarez should have started south after Rabago and Luque last night. But Manager Pasquero, of Juarez, promulgated a bull fight for the afternoon and naturally the army's start southward was postponed. The fight was for the benefit of the wounded, and General Orozco presided.

MADERO'S MILLS AND FACTORY ARE BURNED.

Destruction by fire of the cotton mill and rubber factory at Parras, Coahuila, was reported in a telegram to-day to Francisco I. Madero, Sr. Both factories were burned by Federal troops under the orders of General Juveniro Robles before retreating from Parras.

The properties were owned by the Maderos. The rubber factory had a monthly output of $150,000 worth of goods, while the output of the cotton mills each month was valued at $200,000.

SENOR LIMATOUR IS NOT SO SANGUINE.

Mexico City, May 17.—Finance Minister Limantour was not quite so sanguine as his colleagues in the Ministry this morning. He said that the Government had the greatest desire to conclude a peace agreement but "among the demands of the rebels are some contrary to the dignity of the Government and the President."

SLINGING LIGHTED STICKS OF DYNAMITE INTO TOWN.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, May 16.—The World's correspondent at Torreon, Mexico, wires the following:

The city of Terreon, which has been menaced by rebels for a month past is hourly expecting a decisive attack. It is believed the attack will be made in such strength that the city will fall and so place the whole of the eastern part of Mexico, or one-third of the country, in the hands of the rebels.

Gen. Emiliano Lejero, with 400 Federal troops, has fortified the place with intrenchments and barbed wire defences.

A fierce battle began last Thursday and ended Saturday in a massacre of Federal troops at Sombrerck, midway between Torreon and Aguas Calientes. The Federal commanding

Break Up In The Inter-Provincial Rugby and District Cricket Bodies

At Soccer Meeting Jude was Transferred From G. T. to R. R. Y.M.C.A.--Rovers Stick to Burns

The usual weekly meeting of the Senior Soccer League was held last evening at the Y.M.C.A., Dominion square. Mr. T. Mitchell was in the chair, being supported by the following delegates: Messrs. Wilson and Yulie, Grand Trunk; F. Stenhouse and J. Rose, C.P.R., McEwan, Fairmount; Hoskinson and King, Royal Rovers; J. Kyle and Campbell, Sons of Scotland; Rogers, Lachine; G. Moss and W. Neville, Sons of England, and W. Lee, Locos.

The reports of Saturday's games were received and passed, with the exception that a complaint was read from the Grand Trunk players, about the dressing facilities on C.P.R.'s ground. This was referred to the C.P.R.'s secretary, who promised to have the matter placed in the proper quarter for remedy. As there is to be a junior game on Grand Trunk's ground, permission was granted by the league for the senior game with Locos to start at 4 p.m. It was then read and carried that every home secretary, or some such other official, upon the arrival of the referee, compare timepieces, so as to avoid unnecessary arguments, and safeguard the clubs. Greatly to the surprise of the Grand Trunk representatives, Jude, who has been playing inside left for them, asked to be transferred to R.R. Y.M.C.A. As Grand Trunk had no desire to keep Jude, he was granted his transfer.

Edward Burns also requested a transfer from Royal Rovers to Fairmount, this was held up until next meeting, as Rovers objected.

It was brought out by the referee's report of the Fairmount-Sons of Scotland match on Saturday last, that the game was interrupted by a spectator blowing a whistle. The home clubs were ordered to keep a sharp eye on individuals of this kind, as it was up to them to keep order amongst the spectators. In this particular match, play was suspended for nearly ten minutes, the referee trying to locate the delinquent. The meeting then adjourned until next Tuesday evening, at the Y.M.C.A. It was afterwards learned that Jack Sheels reports himself fit and well, and will take the field next Saturday in the big match, Royal Rovers versus Sons of Scotland.

SERIOUS INJURY TO BRITISH POLOIST

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, May 17. — In a mad gallop after the ball, Captain F. W. Barrett, the back of the English polo team, was painfully injured by a blow from Rene Lamontagne's mallet yesterday on the field of the Rockaway Hunting Club, at Cedarhurst, Long Island. The ball had been hit up the field, and the Briton and American started full tilt in the chase. Each swung his mallet for a shot. Lamontagne's crashed against his opponent and accidentally hit him a glancing blow on the left eye and cheek-bone.

Capt. Barrett managed to guide his pony behind the goal posts, where he dismounted, although groggy from the blow. A flow of blood from a gash in his cheek was staunched, and he continued to play out the last few minutes of the game, which was nearly at an end. He was in a sorry plight as he rode off the field, although he made light of the accident.

Capt. Leslie Cheape, who was injured at Lakewood, made his appearance in the saddle and materially helped the Britons to defeat the Red Freebooters by a score of 9½ goals to 2½.

Only Two More Days Before The Big Boston Terrier Show For Crippled Children

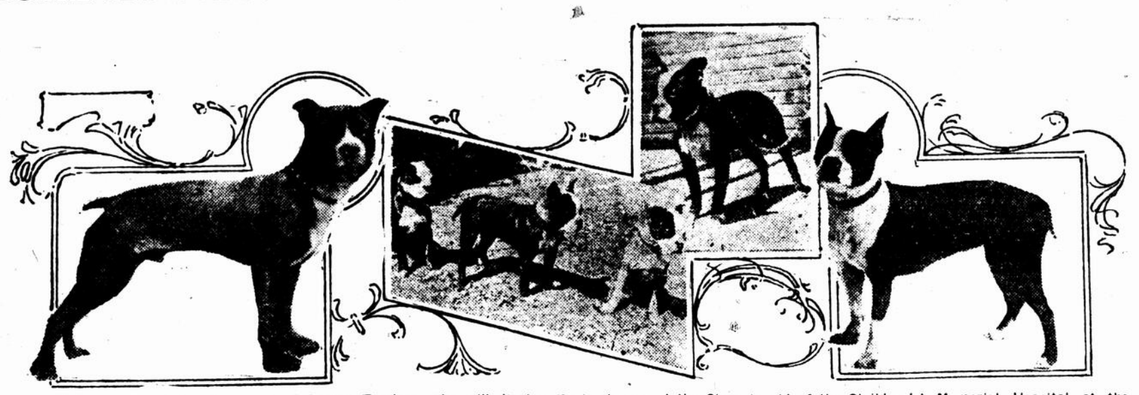
There are only two more days before the finest Boston Terrier Show that ever took place in this city opens at the Victoria Rifles Armory for only one day.

This is Saturday, and if every Boston Terrier on the Island of Montreal, and the very best ones are owned in other cities, are not to be found there, it will not be the fault of the committee in charge.

The judge is a man of great keen prominence in his line, and one who knows neither fear nor favor, and the exhibitors may be assured of getting for their dogs "what is coming" to the crooked tailed beauties they exhibit.

The club has done everything in their power to make the show the first of its kind ever held in Canada and it is to be hoped the public will give any assistance they can to help swell the proceeds, which go to the children.

MORE ATTRACTIVE EXHIBITS FOR BOSTON TERRIER SHOW



Some more of the fine pointed Boston Terriers, who will display their charms at the Show in aid of the Children's' Memorial Hospital at the Victoria Rifles Armoury, on the twentieth of this month. On the right is Artheusa, one of of the sensations of the year 1910, owned by Mr. R. E. Collinshaw, of Burlington, Vt. Next to Artheusa is Mlle. Genee, the property of Mr. Frank Abbott, of Stanstead, Que., while the three in the middle are Happy Duff, Mlle. Genee and Revello, all Mr. Abbott's. On the left stands Mr. Fred. McBride's Sir Doodles.

One Bet Made on the Canadian Derby Entry, Kel d'Or, in Canada --Chances of Some Other Horses

There has been one bet made on the Canadian horse Kel-d'Or in Canada, and that was laid by a well-known bookmaker on English races, at 100-3, 12-1 and 6-1.

Which shows that expert followers of the track do not think much of its chances to win.

London, Eng., May 17. — With the Derby now two weeks distant, English horsemen are beginning to believe that perhaps after all an English bred one will be returned the winner of this Blue Ribbon of the running turf. A few weeks ago there seemed to be no really classy English colt in sight, but the 2,000 guineas brought to the front one of far more than usual promise, in Sunstar, and immediately there came a big shift in the odds in the early books for the Derby. The French colt, Lord Burgoyne, receded rapidly in favor, while Sunstar in a single day stiffened so in price that from 10 to 1 no better than 5 to 2 was obtainable, and he is still the favorite at these odds.

Sunstar is owned by J. B. Joel, one of the largest supporters of the English turf, and as a two-year-old last season was out upon a half dozen occasions, winning three of his starts. His best performance was in the Hopeful stakes at the fall Newmarket meeting, when he dead-heated with the American bred Borrow, after a terrible drive. He is heavily staked right through the season and to all appearances is one of the improving sort.

The fact that very little has been done with Lord Burgoyne, M. Blanc's French bred colt, that many English turf lovers have been compelled to make the favorite upon form when the betting was first started, has, of course, tended to add to Sunstar's popularity, and has increased the call for him in the books. There are also likely to be several American colts in the Derby field, but the only one from the States that has thus far received much attention has been Adam Bede, shipped here recently by John E. Madden and sold a few days lated to L. W. Winans, for years an English resident, although retaining his American citizenship and his belief in the American thoroughbred blood.

INTER-PRO. LACROSSE LEAGUE REDUCED

Special to the Montreal Star.

Cornwall, May 17.—The Rovers, of Cornwall, and the Moulinette team, have dropped out of the Interprovincial League, and the league will now consist of five teams instead of seven. This necessitated the drawing up of a new schedule. The old schedule ran from May 20th to November 11th, and even at that it was two matches short, and three were scheduled to be played on Wednesday evenings, or it would have run well into the Christmas holidays. The new arrangement is better all round. The season opens on May 27th, and closes on September 30th. The schedule is as follows:

May 27.—Victoria at International.
May 27.—Minto at Wales.
June 3.—International at Mille Roches.
June 3.—Wales at Victoria.
June 17.—International at Minto.
June 17.—Mille Roches at Wales.
June 24.—Minto at Mille Roches.
June 24.—Wales at International.
July 8.—Minto at Victoria.
July 8.—International at Wales.
July 15.—Minto at International.
July 15.—Victoria at Mille Roches.
July 29.—Victoria at Wales.
July 29.—Mille Roches at Minto.
August 19.—International at Victoria.
August 19.—Wales at Mille Roches.
August 26.—Wales at Minto.
September 16.—Mille Roches at International.
September 23.—Victoria at Minto.
September 30.—Mille Roches at Victoria.

Toronto, May 17. — Representatives of Brampton, Woodbridge and Young Torontoes, the senior Ontario Lacrosse Association teams, drafted a double schedule at their meeting here last night. The Athletics, of St. Simon's, withdrew from the senior series, figuring they were hardly strong enough to cope with the more experienced teams, and will play intermediate O.L.A.

Jack Shea and George Marsh turned out with the Capital squad. Over thirty players were in uniform. Whelan and O'Malley, members of the Ottawa Shamrock team, and Armstrong, an Almonte recruit, were likewise in line, as well as Gordon Roberts, the Wanderer hockey man, who will be tried out on the Capital attack, which so far appears to be weak. Goodwin will complete the defence

SPORTING VIEWS AND REVIEWS

When the West begins to talk loud about growth and greatness, the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association has a few statistics to which it can point with pride and view with satisfaction. It is not in the West only that things have been going ahead generally. There has also been some little progress right here around home. For instance, it is within the memory of men whose hair has not yet turned grey, that the M.A.A.A. once had a membership of only three hundred; now it exceeds four thousand. Once five thousand dollars represented its working, or rather, in this case, it should be called its playing capital. Today that capital exceeds two hundred thousand dollars on every dollar of which the best of dividends are paid in the shape of health, recreation and good fellowship.

Although the weather was dark and threatening the other evening, the Capital Lacrosse Team turned out for its regular practice. Perhaps the weather that afternoon was an indication of the sort of team the Capitals are going to place in the field this season. This team may be the dark horse of the Union; and, it may not only threaten everybody else; but, it may carry out its threats. Whatever comes out of Ottawa is worth watching.

And now Baltimore comes along with designs upon the little bunch of laurels left our somewhat depressed Royals. Bold Baltimore used our precious boys badly at the opening of the season, and although it is nice to be kind to visitors there are times when hospitality, like generosity, must give way to justice. The Royals owe it not only to themselves, but also to fandom to do unto Baltimore as Baltimore would do unto them, only do it first, as David Harum would say.

Having passed his physical examination with flying colors, Burchell is to come back to the box and strike out the adversaries of the Royals. Like the other pitchers, Burchell is to be given a chance, and it is to be hoped that when he has his chance the other people will have none.

Do unto Baltimore as Baltimore would do—only do it first.

ONLOOKER.

Montreal and District Cricket League Schedule will be Broken Up for Victoria Intends to Quit

Local cricketers will learn with regret that the Victoria Cricket Club, owing to their inability to secure a renewal of the lease of their grounds at St. Lambert, have most reluctantly decided to resign their membership of the Montreal and District Cricket League, confining themselves entirely to friendlies. It is reported from a reliable source that this decision was the outcome of a serious discussion on the part of the officers of the club, who thoroughly weighed up the pros and cons as to their future fate. The Victorias have long held an honorable position in Montreal cricket, and it in no way implies that they have gone out of business; but until a suitable ground can be obtained within reasonable limits, the Victorias will drop league cricket, and for the purpose of keeping the club together, will play exhibition games with teams having open dates. As the cricket schedule is already arranged, Victorias' defection will cause a certain amount of inconvenience to other clubs, but they feel, in justice to the game there was no other way out of it.

How McGraw Double Crossed the Royals in That Tesreau Deal

President S. Lichtenhein turned down two other pitchers this morning, by way of light exercise before breakfast.

R. Glaze arrived to-day. R. Glaze, who believes that every man should be his own advance agent, declares that he is in the best of shape, and that he has been playing ball for many moons past.

It will be gathered from the advance notices sent out by Glaze that there is no relation between this famous hold-out and the quince family.

The two heavers who were to-day refused admission to our ranks were Messrs. Zurich and Hearne, of the St. Louis Browns.

Mr. Lichtenhein declares that all rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, he is not running an institution for the relief of worn-out twirlers, and he will not take anything that's offered to him just because it is offered.

Mr. Lichtenhein had hopes a week or so ago that he would be able to land Pitcher Frock, of the Boston Americans. Pitcher Frock has lots of stuff, but we couldn't get him. He went south to Atlanta.

This makes it that Mr. F. Tenney still owes us one. Mr. Tenney has taken out Mr. Bridges and is making a catcher of him, but we have nothing in return.

It is a mistake to suppose that Mr. Billie Burke came to us by way of exchange for Bridges. Mr. Burke was loaned to us on option for a consideration, and there is still something coming to us for Bridges.

It will be noted that Mr. Tesreau, late of Shreveport, continues to win games with monotonous regularity for Toronto.

This is the more mournful when it is remembered that but for the duplicity of one McGraw, of New York, Mr. Tesreau would have been ours.

Mr. Burns, the world famous detective, when not busy arresting dynamiters and other anarchists, should spare an eye for Mr. McGraw, who is probably one of the most active hold-up gents in the business.

Mr. McGraw, it will be remembered, when interviewed by Mr. E. McCafferty, at Richmond, Va., in the spring, assured him that he could have first chance at Tesreau if he was let out.

Matters were thus left. In the meantime it would appear the Toronto club tackled Mr. McGraw and implored to be allowed to have Mr. Tesreau along with Rudolph.

Mr. McGraw being of a friendly disposition, said, "Why, of course."

Only by a powerful effort was Mr. McGraw prevented from offering Tesreau to the teams of Kalamazoo, Achesen, Indianapolis, and Painsec, N.B., also.

When E. McCafferty journeyed to Philadelphia to close up the deal in the latter end of April, Mr. McGraw, putting on a haughty look, demanded two hundred dollars per month for the use of Tesreau. This was outside Mr. Tesreau's salary or other incidentals.

Having recovered from the shock, E. McCafferty returned to New York and laid the matter before President Barrow.

The hire system suggested by McGraw, being entirely different from any baseball law or regulation, Mr. McGraw was severely called.

He then refused to name any reasonable terms, ignored his promise to Eddie Mac, and sold Mr. Tesreau to Toronto.

The Star will give several lines of enthusiastic approbation to the talented reader who sends in a carefully prepared description of the most horrible form of torture which could be inflicted on Mr. McGraw, for his heartless conduct toward us in this matter.

POSSIBLE SUCCESSOR TO CAPT. MATTHEWS

It is rumored that Norman C. B. Cox for a little while connected with the Swimming Department of the M. A. A. A., may return here as a successor to Captain Matthews.

This is what the New York Globe says of him:

"Another Australian swimming coach Norman Cox, of Sydney, has arrived in New York and promises to prove a valuable acquisition to aquatics. He has made a close study of strokes all over the world and his writings show ready familiarity with the scientific and theoretical side of swimming, as well as the practical. He is the only coach to have given deep thought to the physiology of natation, and his essays on the circulation of muscles and strokes are lucid and convincing. His handling of the subject marks a complete departure from the ordinary, stereotyped style of past writers.

GRAND OPENING OF INTERMEDIATE GAME

On Empire Day, May 24th, will be the grand opening day of Section B, Intermediate League, on Shamrock Grounds.

The first game starts sharp at 3 p.m., with Celtics and Shamrocks II. as the opening attraction, and judging by the enthusiastic following of the four Irish Associations there will be a large crowd on hand to cheer their families to victory.

Celtics won the junior championship last year, and have a fast team of youngsters and expect to turn the tables on their older rivals.

Shamrocks will be very strong for this particular match. Malone and Munro, who are senior possibilities, will be on the line up, and many lacrosse fans will be on hand to see what the new arrivals are like.

The second game will be between the rival Saints, namely St. Patrick and St. Thomas Aquinas, and another good game is to be expected, both these organizations have harrower teams and the lacrosse boys have participated in many paper chases in the past month, and re all in excellent shape.

St. aPts are working hard and have got a fast bunch together. It is rumored that Harry Smith and Frankie Nolan will be in the line up, and if they are they will find old friends in the opposite camp, namely Jack McBrearty, Tommy Tracy, and Middie Sullivan.

A good afternoon of sport is assured to those who will journey to the Mile End as all four teams are well balanced.

Inter-Provincial Rugby Union Breaking Up--Montreal and Ottawa Teams To Withdraw

A sensational rumor has gone abroad to the effect that next year will see a breaking up of the Inter-Provincial Rugby Football Union.

In a nutshell the story amounts to this: that the M. A. A. A. and Ottawa will withdraw from it.

Suspicion was first aroused by the announcement that Westmount, when it decided to go into football again intended to apply for membership to the Province of Quebec Rugby Union. It seemed very improbable, that if Westmount did go back into Rugby it would go back in any other capacity than as seniors.

This is borne out by the latest news. Ottawa, it is stated, is agreeable. The Inter-Provincial arrangement proved too expensive in the past, and the Quebec Rugby Union is to be revived, with Montreal, Westmount, Ottawa, an entirely French-Canadian team, and probably one other club.

This was the preliminary decision arrived at during a meeting to discuss the matter in which General Manager John Davidson, of the M. A. A. A. and Mr. Andrews, of the Westmount A. A. A. were prominent.

LAVELLE, LIKE PATTI, MONEY DOWN FIRST

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, May 17. — The Mail and Empire to-day says:

"The Torontos tried to arrange a trade with Ottawa for Harry Lavelle, the diminutive inside home player, but Caps refused to listen to it, so anxious are they to get back the former Durham player. Harry has both been written to and wired, asking him to report, and naming terms, which are on the basis of every game, with a position besides. Harry is not very keen on going back to Ottawa, and will only go when the club deposits the season's salary in the bank. Harry's first season with the Caps was not a very profitable one, and he figures it better to have the mazuma where one can get it, than have it coming and not knowing where to get it."

Umpire-in-Chief Billy McEwen's absence from the field of strife was felt. With Bill on the job things will be restored to their accustomed order.

WOMEN BREAK THE JUMPING RECORD

Auburn, N.Y. May 17.—The record for the high jump among the women's colleges was broken and a new record established by two students at Wells College in the annual field day. Mariam Heermans, 1911, of Evanston, Ill., and Isabelle Swain, 1915, of Philadelphia, both went over the bar at 4 feet 9 inches. The previous record was held by Carolyn Hale, of Ingleside School, New Milford, Conn., who jumped 4 feet 7 5-8 inches on June 13, 1910. The Wells College girls who established the new record are centres of their respective class basketball teams.

Some speed to the City League folks. First game called at 1.30 sharp, finished at 3.15. Second game called at 3.30, all over at 5.15, and everybody home for six o'clock. How about it?

Montreal and District Cricket League Schedule will be Broken Up for Victoria Intends to Quit

Local cricketers will learn with regret that the Victoria Cricket Club, owing to their inability to secure a renewal of the lease of their grounds at St. Lambert, have most reluctantly decided to resign their membership of the Montreal and District Cricket League, confining themselves entirely to friendlies. It is reported from a reliable source that this decision was the outcome of a serious discussion on the part of the officers of the club, who thoroughly weighed up the pros and cons as to their future fate. The Victorias have long held an honorable position in Montreal cricket, and it in no way implies that they have gone out of business; but until a suitable ground can be obtained within reasonable limits, the Victorias will drop league cricket, and for the purpose of keeping the club together, will play exhibition games with teams having open dates. As the cricket schedule is already arranged, Victorias' defection will cause a certain amount of inconvenience to other clubs, but they feel, in justice to the game there was no other way out of it.

AUSTRALIAN GOLFER SURPRISED AT HAZARDS

Boston, Mass., May 17.—Mrs. W. C. Johnson, of the Royal Club, of Melbourne, Australia, and Mrs. James McLaughlin, of Oakland, N.Y., competing in the woman's open medal play of the concluding event of the open spring tournament of the Country Club, at Boston, Mass., made a poor showing. Mrs. Johnson expressed surprise at the "hazardous bunkers" and "mountainous greens" of the Clyde Park course, and neither she nor Mrs. McLaughlin finished their game. Miss Fannie C. Osgood, woman's champion of the East, was the winner of the tournament, with a gross score of 102. There were twenty-two starters.

Toronto, May 17. — Art Warwick, the speedy Toronto player, who coached Harvard this spring, has returned home jubilant over turning out a champion team in his first coaching venture. Harvard beat Pat McDonough's Hobart team Saturday by 7 to 0, and Monday defeated Cornell for the championship. Cornell was coached by Hunter, of the Torontos.

A game of lacrosse between the Maples and the Crescents was very interesting, and resulted in the Maples winning by an easy score of 5 to 1.

THE WESTMOUNT GOLF CLUB MEET

The adjourned annual meeting of the Westmount Golf Club was held at the Y. M. C. A. The President of the Club, Mr. Graham Dunlop was able to report to the meeting (which was well attended) that the committee had completed all arrangements for carrying on the Club for another season, that meals would be served in the Club House as in previous years as they had been fortunate in securing the services of an experienced housekeeper, and that a competent professional had been engaged in the person of O. Brault, formerly assistant to Black the professional at Beaconsfield. As the links are in excellent condition, a good season may be looked forward to.

Junior Soccer Meeting.

The Junior Soccer League meets this evening in the Carslake Hotel for the final adjustment of the constitutional amendments which have been necessary for the affiliation of the League to the P.Q.F.A., and the consideration of other matters of league business.

MAPLE LEAF III HAS TO BE REPAIRED

The fast motor boat Maple Leaf III, built for E. Mackay Edgar as a challenger for the British International trophy for motor boats, is being repaired at the Saunders works at East Cowes. This speed boat was seriously damaged while racing at Monaco. Her propeller was broken, the rudders torn off and the shaft tore a big hole in the bottom of the vessel. A new bottom built on the patent sewn system is to be put on the yacht. Thin veneers of mahogany are sewn together with silk varnished between them. This makes a very light and strong construction. The Yachting World says: "The repairs will be made as quickly as possible and the Maple Leaf will be running again at an early date."

One or two of the changes made by the special committee, appointed by the intermediate N.L.U. for the revision of the constitution and playing rules, are calculated to have an important bearing on the game. This is especially the case with the ruling with reference to intermediate players who have played senior and have thereby, under the old ruling, shut themselves out of the intermediate game forever. Appreciating the harm that this rule was doing, this committee drafted a rule that has met with the approval of the Union and will be embodied in the constitution. This is to the effect that a player who has played more than three games in senior company in the current or preceding season will be disqualified from playing intermediate. There is a rider to the effect that a player drafted from an intermediate club, by a senior organization, if found to be unfitted for senior company, must be returned to the club from which he was drafted and may not be retained by the senior club in question, for use on its intermediate team.

Each club in the Union will be allowed to sign up 25 players before the first of June. On the 3rd of June the committee will meet to decide where players, over whom there may be some discussion, belong. Then up till August 1st the clubs will be allowed to sign up players, which other clubs have released or who may be still free. After that date, however, no new players may be brought out.

A playing rule adopted by the committee will allow teams to substitute three men on the team up till the last five minutes of the third quarter. After that no substitution may be made.

Shamrocks had a scratch practice last evening. To-night will see the whole senior squad in line, when a good hour's practice is expected.

The once oft-heard phrase "devil wagon" is seldom mentioned nowadays. "Speed maniacs" has likewise dropped out of sight.

The Upper Westchester Automobile Club, of Ossining, N.Y., will hold another high-climbing contest on "Sunset Hill," Ossining, on June 17 next.

INTERNATIONAL BOXING BOUTS

New York, May 17.—A big entry list has been received by the Pastime Athletic Club for the international boxing tournament in Madison Square Garden on Friday and Saturday. The entries comprise the cream of the talent in the amateur boxing world, for not only will nearly all of the large cities of the United States be represented but Canada, France and Great Britain have sent their champions. All the winners of the recent national championships at Boston have sent in applications and several of the colleges will be represented. The entries close on Thursday night, with Manager Tim Hurst at the Hotel Bartholdi or Secretary Lee at the Pastime A. C.

JOHNSON AGAIN ARRESTED.

Gets Summons Because License Was Not Up to Date.

New York, May 17.—Jack Johnson, the champion heavyweight pugilist is again in trouble with the police. He was about to cross Columbia Circle yesterday afternoon when Patrolman Johnston, of Traffic C, noticed that the Automobile the colored champion was driving had nothing more than an old Chicago license of the vintage of 1910. The pugilist was served with a summons to appear in the West Side Court this morning. The big fellow drew a sigh of relief when he learned that he was not to be locked up. Johnson's detention while the summons was being filled out caused a big crowd to collect, who good-naturedly joked the fighter on his habit of falling afoul of the police.

St. Louis, Mo., May 17.— The baseball team from Keio University, Tokio, Japan, defeated the St. Louis University team, 7 to 6, in a hard fought eleven-inning game.

R.R.Y.M.C.A. Issues Schedules.

The management of the R.R.Y.M.C.A. has issued a fixture card which makes one of the most complete and comprehensive schedule lists seen this season.

The card which is neatly arranged and printed on stiff cloth board, contains not only the athletic fixtures which the R.R.Y.M.C.A. is immediately interested in but the entire fixtures of all the leagues and associations of which R.R.Y.M.C.A teams are members. The card is therefore a complete guide to the engagements in the Senior, and Junior Soccer Leagues, the Point St. Charles Church and Baseball League, and the Lawn Tennis Association of Quebec.

Prizes for the Biggest Trout

The Montreal Star has decided to hold another trout competition for speckled trout this year, which is to be extended over two months, it being argued that as few people get vacations till the month of June, that month and Dominion Day should be taken in, so that the competition will be open this year from May 1st till July 5th, for trout brought to the Star Office with a statement of the conditions under which it was caught.

(a) Name of the fisherman.
(b) Place of capture.
(c) Witnesses of capture, if any—apart from fishermen.
(d) Whether caught with bait or fly.

The prizes will be as follows:

CLASS I.—TROUT OVER 3-LBS

First Prize—Fifteen Dollars.
Second Prize—A first class trout rod.
Third Prize—A first class reel.

CLASS II.—TROUT OF 1-LB. OR OVER AND UNDER 3-LBS.

First Prize—Ten Dollars.
Second Prize—A first class silk line
Third Prize—A first class fish basket.

CLASS III.—TROUT UNDER 1-LB.

First Prize—Five Dollars.
Second Prize—A first class landing net.
Third Prize—A silver and glass article—generally known as "The Bait Box."

All competitors are invited to bring their fish to The Star Office for exhibition in The Star window.

The latest contribution to the trout competition is a beauty belonging to the second class and caught by Mr. W. G. Hickey, of St. Adolphe, P.Q., in the Laurentian Mountains. It was caught with a worm in Lake St. Joseph.

Fishermen are reminded that even for trout under one pound there are three good prizes.

Mr. Hickey's trout was between one and three pounds.

EXODUS OF HORSES FROM PIMLICO

Baltimore, May 17.—With the closing of the spring meeting of the Maryland Jockey Club at Pimlico this afternoon, there will be a great exodus of horses and horsemen to Canada. The majority of those which have been raced here will go to Toronto, and from there to Montreal for the spring meeting of the Montreal Jockey Club from Saturday, June 3, to Saturday, June 10. The pick of the horses now being raced on the American continent will race in Canada this summer, and many will be shipped direct from here to Montreal to take a week's rest up before racing over the course at Blue Bonnets.

The idea of the management of the Montreal club in running only four stakes and putting on an extra lot of over-night handicaps has met with the general approval of the owners at Pimlico. They look on this as a good idea, and that it will work out satisfactorily to all. The fields in these handicaps are generally better than the stake events, as they are not conditioned, and the proper horse gets a chance as well as the stake horses. There are to be six handicaps run during the seven days as well as the stakes, according to the club's representatives here.

The horses in the Beverwyck stable, now being trained by Willis Martin, will be shipped from here on Thursday night, so that they will arrive at Blue Bonnets on Friday. This stable owns Sir John Johnson, one of the most-talked-of horses now in training, and he will likely be brought along. Aidrian is the best of the three-year-olds in this lot, and out of eleven starts at Jacksonville last winter, was only out of the money on three occasions.

Martin wired yesterday to have his stalls bedded down so that they would be in readiness for the horses. He states in his message that he will bring ten horses. This number will include the stake entry, Tasteful, which is one of the likely ones in the string. The owner of this stable is a thorough sportsman, and would rather see his colors come down in front that anything else that could be given him. The Beverwyck stable is owned by Frank Nolan of Albany, N.Y.

NEW BALL BRINGS A DELUGE OF HITS, STAR TO HAVE ANOTHER BASE-RUNNING CONTEST SHORTLY; NOTES OF THE GAME

Portrait of A Loyal Fan looking for a noise like a couple of live-wire pitchers.

We are prepared to-day to add a few more vital statistics about the 1911 ball to prove it. It is getting in its deadly work at all points and there is no question now that the new filling in the ball this year is largely responsible for the big scores being piled up in the leading leagues.

Last week in the American League there were 167 hits and 286 runs. In the National League there were 472 hits and 301 runs.

In a game in one of the Irish leagues the other day, no less than 8 home runs were made, as many as had been made in the whole season of the year previous.

Every League now has hosts who are batting over the 400 mark.

The only way the harder batting can be accounted for is through a change in the central anatomy of the ball. Up to 1910 the regulation ball carried a solid rubber core. In 1910 a cork centre was substituted, with a light fringe of rubber around the cork. This switch produced a much livelier pellet, but 1911 brought the change that set off the fireworks. The cork centre of 1910 was reduced by half and then surrounded by more than double the thickness of rubber employed the year before.

In order to prevent financial disaster overtaking the people who offer premium smokes for home runs, we will either have to extract the cork from the pill or move the left field fence over across the trolley tracks on St. Catherine street.

"One of these days some T. Cobb or H. Wagner will meet the pill on the nose and kill off the relief party in Mexico with a home run blow.

Baltimore, with J. Dunn, the gifted sopranist, begins a series here to-day. J. Dunn's leading cork pill artist is "Butcher Boy" Schmidt, who is hitting over the .400 mark. M. Corcoran, who used to second base for us, is well over the .300 mark.

Speaking of propelling the thing with the cork in it have you noted the record of the Rochester lavout? Six of them are hitting over .320, with H. Balch over the .400 mark.

There was no pastime yesterday, as it was an open date.

G. Gibson, the ex-Montreal catcher, now with Pittsburg, is catching fast as well as ever and still ranks with the top notchers, but he has not been there in the hitting department. Up to date G. Gibson's batting average is .176. Perhaps the cork pill does not agree with him.

The fans will be glad to see Roth get into harness behind the bat. He is a fast base-runner.

The Star will shortly announce a base-running contest that will be open to all teams that come here. The chances are that one of the men on the local team will get away with the prize-money. Last fall Miller won the big base running contest at Cincinnati, and it doesn't look as if he had slowed up any since then.

DE. J. Casey, who used to third base for us in such a happy vein, contributes to a series of articles on "The Greatest Play I Have Ever Seen," as told to Hugh Fullerton. J. Casey speaks as follows. "I had the luck to have a small part in what I believe to be the greatest play ever made on a ball field, although Joe Tinker and Johnny Evers made the play. My part of it was to catch the ball and complete the thing, although I always have wondered that I didn't forget to catch it through sheer wonder. I was as much surprised at the play as any of the spectators could have been, and hardly could keep from applauding Tinker and Evers myself when it was over.

"The play was pulled off in a game with Philadelphia. The Cubs were making their first bid for a pennant. Although we did not swan out that season, we were fighting hard. It was the first time in many years that the team ever had a chance and we were giving every one a fight. The game was in early September, while we still had a chance, and the score was 3 to 2 in our favor, with a runner on second base and no one out. We had moved in, expecting a bunt, and I was close, while Tinker had edged up closer and closer across the dirt almost to the edge of the grass. Magee was the runner at second and I think John Titus was hitting. Anyhow, instead of laying down the bunt as we expected him to do, he whaled away at the ball and sent a hard bounder a few feet to the shortstop's side of second base. If Tinker had been playing back where he usually plays he could have stopped the ball without much trouble, but he was so close to that he didn't seem to have a chance. It looked a certain base hit, and Magee wasn't even going at top speed. I think he was slowing up and swinging out of the line a bit so as to make the turn at third without losing ground. Tinker was going with the ball as hard as he could, when he reached out, grabbed it and hung on although he was staggering. There wasn't a chance for him to straighten up and throw Titus out at first, as his back was toward the plate, and besides, he was staggering. I heard Evers yell, and like a flash Tinker tossed the ball to Evers and then plunged on with his face in the grass. I didn't look for a play at all, but the moment Evers got his hands on the ball he shot it at me like a bullet. I was so astonished at the play I just had time to throw out my hands, grab the ball and shove it into Magee's ribs just as he turned his head to see whether he would have to run hard to score or could loaf home.

THE CORK CENTRE BALL

The arrival of some of the long hits in Mexico has been very trying on Insurrecto nerves.

"Evers, in half a second, had seen Magee slow up, and knowing Titus was across first, he yelled to Tinker for the ball and threw to me. He had figured Magee would loaf on the turn and stop to see where the ball was and he figured it to the tenth of a second and got his man, saving the game for us and giving us another chance at the pennant.

"The crowd, instead of appreciating Evers's wonderful work, thought Magee had blundered, and roasted him, scarcely noticing the brilliant feat of Tinker and Evers."

PRO. BALL LEAGUE LATEST STANDING

Cherriers vs. Delorimier and Voltigeurs, of St. Henri, vs. All-Montreal, will be the attraction at Delorimier grounds on the 21st. The games of the Montreal Professional Baseball League are causing no little interest this year, and there has been a large gathering of enthusiasts at every game. The games this wek, however, are two first class exhibitions, as all four teams are out to win. The first game, which starts at 1.30, should be worth seeing, for although both the contesting teams have dropped their first two schedule games, they have been practicing hard during the past two weeks, in an effort to regain their lost laurels. Both will have their strongest teams in uniform, and the battle should be a hot one right from the start to the end.

The second scheduled encounter between the Voltigeurs of St. Henri, and the All-Montreal nine promises to be a battle royal, for these two teams, together with the Canadiens, are tied for first place in the league standing, and both intend to go on the field determined to hold their positions. The All-Montreal nine got the better of the Cherriers in their last contest, but the Voltigeurs, as any one can see by the standing, are going strong, and least wavering. The Voltigeurs have not met, nor in their last schedule battle, but they will have to travel all the way to secure a victory this week. Paquette pitched a perfect game against the Delorimier team, and will likely again be on the mound for the Voltigeurs. He is only a youngster in the game, all the speed and curves of an old veteran, and should be able to make the hard hitting All-Montreal boys plac their heads off to win.

The standing of the league to date is as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Voltigeurs	2	0	1.000
All-Montreal	2	0	1.000
Canadiens	2	0	1.000
Shamrocks	1	1	.500
Montreal Reserves	1	1	.500
Royals	0	2	.000
Cherriers	0	2	.000
Delorimier	0	2	.000

The Delorimier team are leaving for Granby on Saturday, where they are scheduled for a game. They return on Saturday evening for the game at Delorimier Park the next day.

TOM FLANAGAN TO ENLARGE HIS RING

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, May 17. The boys at the National Sporting Club house in Hespeler Park will be treated from eight to ten o'clock to-night to a real boxing bout between Tom Flanagan, the clever Toronto lightweight, and Billy Ayers, of Hamilton, who is looking to advertise himself against Flanagan, the Toronto boy, in an endeavor to get a match with Jimmy Britt for the lightweight championship after the latter has disposed of Ad Wolgast, who meets Al Palzer, of Chicago, Tom O'Rourke's welterweight, on the night of May 31, at Colma, Cal., for eighteen rounds, under the auspices of the Colma Athletic Club.

As per usual it was one of the big Flanagan boosters who broke up the game for the Mascotte. Three days before the match Tom, who is training at the Hespeler Park, was sparring with Billy Ayers, and in the fifth round he caught the latter with a left hook to the jaw, which sent him to the floor. Ayers was counted out, but when he came to he was in a bad way, and it was found that he had a fractured jaw. Ayers is now in the hospital, and will be there for some time. Flanagan is very much cut up over the affair, and says he will not box any more in Hespeler Park.

HOCKEY STARS ON DIAMOND

Well-known hockey stars were seen on the diamond when the Hull and Montreal Stars, touring players, met Dupuis Park, Hull, the former defeating the visitors by 12 to 1. Sprague Cleghorn, who won't allow his matrimonial adventure to interfere with his athletic career, caught for the Stars, while Odie Cleghorn, another of Renfrew's hockey lessees, played short. Art Ross, the celebrated Wanderer pedagogue, holding down the initial bag. Billy McEwen played second base for Hull, and The gaurs was umpired in a very capable manner by Emile Gratton over two thousand people attended.

Hull put the Stars on ice when they scored five runs in the first inning, but after Capt. Ross had substituted Cullara, the slaughter ceased, and thereafter it was good baseball, with Hull showing the way. Billy McEwen did brilliant work at second for Hull and Ha Ne-Gagnon battery was also of the best. Those who saw it are prepared to say that Art. Ross will soon be installed for the big leagues.

The Stars proved a drawing card that they will be brought back at a later date.

CANADIAN BALL LEAGUE OPENS TO-DAY

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, Ont., May 17. The Canadian Baseball League is to open its season to-day. The schedule calls for 154 games. The teams have been all rounded to full strength and will have a few weeks to cut down their squads to the dimensions of the league limit.

The class of ball promised the patrons of the game in the various cities is somewhat problematical. Many of the big towns in organized baseball are not getting as good a service of the summer pastime as is promised in the Canadian League. There will be opening ceremonies, with parades and other appropriate doings, in Guelph, Berlin and St. Thomas, where the 3d opens off to-day.

A Long Walk.

Ed. Carson, a young man who whose home is in Montreal, but who has been living in Los Angeles for the past four months, has undertaken the task to walk from Los Angeles to New York in hopes of breaking the record of Hue. Carson will undertake the long walk on a wager, and should he make the trip successfully he will walk back to Los Angeles from New York.

He plans to leave Friday or Saturday morning, and will walk the southern route via Yuma and the Southern States. He is to leave the city devoid of capital, and will be obliged to make his living on the road. He plans to walk 28 miles a day and seven days a week.

The umpires had the time of their lives keeping the Whitney-Mascotte game in hand, every player being keyed right up. Laporte, the Mascotte catcher, made a pass at Umpire McCaughan which cost him $10. This fine was promptly imposed by President St. Pere.

EASTERN LEAGUE.

The Baltimore-Rochester game was the only one that was played in the Eastern League yesterday afternoon, and Rochester lost for the first time on their home grounds by 2 to 1 in eleven innings. Hughes and Vickers had a great battle, the latter pitching the better ball. But for a passed ball which allowed Balch to score from second in the fifth there would have been no Rochester run. A pass to Seymour and singles by Hetherington and Schmidt scored Baltimore's runs in the eleventh. Score:

West Indian Cricketers.

The West Indian Cricket Club held a general meeting, and the committee of management was very pleased with the attendance and hope that a greater number of the members and friends will avail themselves of the next opportunity to visit the grounds. Members are requested to attend practice on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Strenuous efforts are being made to break up the Mascotte team, but the line of salve handed out by the featherweights working the underground wires couldn't win away the batterie.

The Cherriers were very erratic in the field. Practice in large quantities is what they require.

The Y.M.C.A. Marie outfit were there with the wallop, accumulating nine bingles off Dennis.

When Colds First Come

That's the time to strike them, when they first come. Strike them hard. Master them completely. No delay, no trifling, no foolishness. Hit your cold hard right from the start. This is the way: a hot footbath, some hot drink, and Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The cough goes, the inflamed throat membranes are healed. Show these statements to your doctor. Ask him if every word we say here is not true. Then follow his advice. He knows.

J. C. AYER COMPANY, Lowell, Mass

Robust health is a great safeguard against attacks of throat and lung troubles, but constipation will destroy the best of health. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Pills.

New Member Succeeds Mr. Chas. Macdonald — Well Know in Profession.

Ottawa, May 17. — An Order-in-Council has been passed appointing Mr. C. C. Schneider, of New York, a former president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and one of the foremost brigde engineers on this continent, to be a member of the commission of three engineers in charge of the construction of the Quebec bridge. Hon. Mr. Graham secured the services of Mr. Schneider in New York yesterday, as a consulting member of the commission. Mr. Montsarrat, who was recently appointed chairman of the commission, will be chief engineer in charge of construction, and will devote his whole time to the work, with Messrs. DALAI LAMA WOULD THROW THIBET OPEN TO WORLD

Great Buddhist Ruler Tells Interviewer He Wil Send Students to America.

New York, May 17. — A newspaper interviewer has succeeded at last in talking with the Dalai Lama of Thibet, generally regarded as the most unapproachable being in the world.

The first interview ever obtained with him will be published here this week by the Continent, a Presbyterian denominational journal. Its representative, William T. Ellis, of Philadelphia, met the Lama in the village of Darjeeling, where he is exiled in an asylum prepared for him by the British.

"The Lama is not an impressive individual in appearance," writes the interviewer. "His face is pock-marked and his ears are large and curiously shaped. His moustache is waxed horizontally. His head is bullet shaped. He has a hobby for cleanliness unusual in these regions. He eats from a gold n bowl, and sleeps between spotless sheets of satin."

Prophesies Buddhist Revival.

The thing that most impressed his interviewer was a statement by the Lama that he intended, upon his return to Thibet, to send many of his young men to America for a western education, as the Japanese and Chinese example in this regard had impressed him very much, and he declared that it could be followed by the people of Thibet with great advantage.

He also proposed that Thibet, and even the sacred city of Lhassa itself, should be thrown open to the commerce of the world, and the ancient policy of seclusion be abandoned.

The Lama declared that Buddhism as a religion was superior to Christianity, and prophesied that in four hundred years all mankind will be enrolled in a Buddhist fellowship.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

Coroner's Jury Believe Caughnawaga Fire Was Work of Incendiary.

The Coroner's jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of homicide against some person or persons unknown in the case of Mrs. Annie Stacey, who lost her life at Caughnawaga about three weeks ago when her house was destroyed by fire, and the jury added a request that the police do everything in their power to find the parties responsible for setting fire to the house.

The provincial police have the matter in hand, and it is said that although lacking evidence strong enough to warrant an arrest just now, they have a good idea who the incendiary is. The fire originated in a shed to the rear of the house. Mrs. Stacey who was 60 years old was unable to escape from the burning house. Her husband, an old man, still lies in the hospital as the result of injuries received in jumping from a second storey window. A little grandchild who was also in the house when the fire broke out escaped without injury.

BAHAMA RUBBER.

Mr. T. B. Macaulay Receives Sample of Island Product.

Mr. T. B. Macaulay has received a sample of rubber grown in the Bahamas Islands. The sample was forwarded by Mr. L. G. Brice, M.L.A., who seconded the resolution in the Legislative Assembly favoring annexation of the islands with Canada, which was passed recently in the Bahama Parliament. Sea island cotton also grows freely in the island. The rubber is of excellent quality, strong and elastic. Mr. Brice states that this industry could be largely developed either by utilizing the rubber vine or by planting ordinary rubber trees, which grow well.

Theological College Deficit.

The financial report of the Montreal Diocesan Theological College for the past year was presented last night at a meeting of the Board of Governors. It shows a deficit of about $1,000. The total deficit since the foundation of the College amounts to some $3,400.

Mr. Geo. Hague was re-elected Vice-President of the college, and Bishop Sweney, of Toronto, was elected honorary vice-president.

G. T. P. Steamship Service.

The Grand Trunk Pacific management is considering the establishment of a line of fast steamships to ply between Prince Rupert and the Orient. It is not proposed—for the present at any rate—to establish an Atlantic fleet, the Company's relations with the White Star and Cunard lines meeting the traffic requirements.

BANKS AND BURGLARS.

Pinkerton's Agency Reports on the Year's Attempts on Banks.

Pinkerton's National Detective Agency has just issued its annual report on the results of the system of protecting banks against criminals which it inaugurated on February 17, 1910. This scheme does not cover defalcations and crimes by employes of the bank, but protects subscribing banks against burglary, robbery, sneak theft, forgery, swindle and confidence tricks. The agency furnishes a sign "This Bank protected by Pinkerton's National Detective Agency," to hang over the teller's window, and on the safe or vault door at night. These signs are regarded as in themselves a protection. Pinkertons, the report states, are educating bank criminals to avoid that sign, by using every possible effort to arrest and convict every criminal who makes an attack on a subscribing bank. To show the need of such protection, it is stated that for the year ending January 31 last there were 139 burglaries of bank safes and vaults by professional burglars, being an increase of 36 per cent, while the amount stolen by such means was $66,076.09, being an increase of 42 per cent. The report proceeds to give details of a large number of these cases in which the Agency ran down the criminals and secured their conviction.

JUDGE SICOTTE BORED.

Wants Royal Commission to Reach Decision Soon.

Magistrate Bazin, who is the Royal Commissioner to investigate the friction between Judge Sicotte and the City Recorders, was to have held a public session yesterday, but he adjourned it sine die, as the recorders were not ready to submit their side of the question or of the evidence.

When seen about it, Judge Sicotte expressed his regret that the investigation was lingering so long. "I would like to rid myself of it as soon as possible," said he, "I have been the faithful servant of the law and I am afraid of nothing; nevertheless all these adjournments are boring me."

INDIGESTION GOES IN FIVE MINUTES

Heartburn, Gas, Sourness, Dyspepsia, and Other Stomach Misery Vanishes Before You Realize It.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach, or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad Taste in mouth and stomach headache —this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these 50 cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspepsia trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour out-of-order stomachs or Indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Biliousness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or Gastritis or any other stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion.

BARTLETT MINE DEAL IS AIRED IN COURT.

In an effort to recover $3,750, which he claimed he lost in a mining stock deal with George H. Munroe and W. P. Kearney, with whom he became associated in a pool on Bartlett shares, Andrew Maloney brought suit against his two former asesociates, the hearing taking place yesterday before Mr. Justice Lafontaine in the Superior Court.

Maloney's contention was that he had been guaranteed against loss by the defendants and had been assured by them that his money would be refunded by them on one day's notice. The plaintiff alleged that he had asked Munroe and Kearney to refund the $10,000 he had invested in the deal and that he had been compelled to dispose of his holdings of 25,000 shares in the Bartlett mine at a figure much less than he had originally paid.

The defendants claimed that, according to the contract with Maloney, the stock was to be pooled until January 1910 with a local bank, but that the plaintiff had in October of the previous year advertised his stock for sale through the newspapers, at a time when it was selling on the curb at 50 cents. Maloney they alleged, had finally sold his stock at 26, which materially affected the market price of the stock.

W. P. Kearney testified that the Bartlett mine at the present time, so far as he is aware, is in a good condition and has men of wealth and influence behind it.

In cross examination by Mr. S. W. Jacobs, K.C., counsel for Maloney, Mr. Kearney stated that he had given the plaintiff the letter of guarantee to strengthen the pool in which he and a number of friends were interested. His position, he stated, differed from Munroe's, who was promoting the sale of the company's shares.

After argument by counsel, the case was taken en delibre.

EVENTS IN VERDUN.

Residents Still Watching for the Big Street Cars.

For some weeks past the residents of Verdun have been eagerly watching for the long wished for and long rumored big cars. The past three weeks the know-it-alls have declared that "the big cars" would be on the line "to-morrow," and of course some people believed them.

Ye Olde Folkes concert, by the Verdun Methodist Church choir, under the direction of Mr. D. E. Turner, and the excellent accompaniment of Miss R. Turner, was without doubt the best concert event ever given in Verdun, and Mr. Turner has been congratulated on every hand by those present on the success of his untiring efforts in providing such a concert for the benefit of the concert-going people of Verdun. As noted last week the demand for seats was beyond the capacity of the hall, and those early secured the best seats.

The quarterly official board of the Verdun Methodist Church held its regular annual meeting on Thursday last for the reception of reports and the election of stewards for the coming year. Reports were read from Mr. S. Goss, secretary of the trustee board; Mr. Wm. Rogers, superintendent of Sunday School; Mr. Fred. Coles, secretary of Sunday school; Miss L. Way, secretary of Mission Circle; Mrs. C. King, past president of the Ladies' Aid; Mrs. M. Scott, superintendent of Junior C. E., and Mr. Wm. Rodgers, secretary of quarterly official board. The reports show the various departments in a very satisfactory condition. The following stewards were elected for the ensuing year: Messrs. Wm. Waugh, John Way, Wm. Rogers, S. Coles, C. King, D. E. Turner and E. H. Tilley; secretary of quarterly official board, Mr. Wm. Rogers, re-elected, representative to annual district meeting, Mr. D. E. Turner; alternate, Mr. Wm. Rogers; Mr. Woodburn was unanimously re-elected as class leader for another year.

The annual meeting of the congregation will be held in the school room on Wednesday night for the purpose of electing seven society representatives. A large attendance is requested. The reports of the various departments will be read.

That the town of Verdun is growing is proved by the fact that over 200 families have been added to the population during the moving days this year; and the number that have left Verdun is very small. Verdun's fame as a first class residential suburb is still a good drawing card.

SAULT ST. LOUIS POWER SCHEME MEETS WITH CHECK

Bill Was Sent Back to Railway Committee for Public Consideration.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Press Gallery, House of Commons, Ottawa, May 17.—A bill which has an important bearing on Montreal's lighting problem was discussed last evening for half an hour and then sent back to the Railway Committee for further elucidation. The bill is entitled an act respecting the Sault Ste. Louis Light and Power Company, and purposes to renew the charter of that company for the development of power at Ile au Heron, just adjoining the Lachine power plant.

The company was given its charter in 1903, and was limited to five years for the commencement of its works. In the meantime it has confined its expenditures to certain "engineering" purposes, and the present act continues the charter "notwithstanding" that limitation.

The original incorporators of the company were Rodolphe Forget, H. B. Rainville, Colonel Henshaw, J. J. Westgate, Robert Lucas and Robert Bickerdike. Under the amending act are substituted the names of Robert Bickerdike, Duncan A. Campbell, J. J. Westgate and Robert Bickerdike, Jr.

Mr. Robert Bickerdike, who was its sponsor, explained that it merely extended the charter of the company, and added that similar bills were passed very frequently. The only expenditures made by the company, he said, had been for "engineering purposes," and there was some doubt whether this was sufficient under the act to keep the charter alive.

Mr. Bickerdike explained that the works were on the outer side of Ile au Heron, adjoining the plant of the Lachine Hydraulic Company.

Major Currie supported Major Sharpe and then Mr. F. D. Monk came in and declared that the franchise was most important to Montreal.

"We are glad to have these companies," he said, "but we want them to be surrounded with proper safeguards."

Here Major Sharpe got hold of the old charter. He claimed that the new act read with the old would give this company a perpetual charter.

From that moment the fate of the bill for the time being was hardly in doubt. Mr. Bickerdike in fact, withdrew all effort to put it through, and consented after registering a formal protest, to its being sent back for further discussion before the Railway Committee.

ON THINGS IN GENERAL

This store has a reputation that we're proud of, and we guard that reputation with the greatest possible care, for it dates back 44 years and has only been brought to its present standard by strict observance of 3 things—Good Quality, Fair Dealing and Moderate Prices. In our present store we're crowded—very much so—and we're sorry for it, but at the same time we're doing all we can to relieve the situation and in the not very far off future we'll be able to welcome you to spacious aisles and plenty of counter space. In the meantime we'll be glad to serve you as in the past and can but promise a continuance of our present policy.

Our Summer Millinery

The dainty loveliness of the summer wardrobe is so exacting in its demands for harmony in details that more than at any other season of the year is it necessary that there should be an appropriate hat for every gown.

Our display of midsummer millinery is replete with stunning models from the Paris shops, as well as clever adaptations from our own workrooms.

Millinery Salon—First Floor.

Embroidered Jabots, 25c

Women accustomed to purchasing here do not associate the words "inexpensive neckwear" with poor workmanship or trashy materials. On the other hand our neckwear sells so fast that we are often enabled to take advantage of special small lots that the manufacturers offer, at prices exceedingly low.

Take, for instance, our 25c Jabot on sale to-morrow. It's daintily, yet not too profusely embroidered, and has natty edging of lace. Will wash and iron perfectly.

See them to-morrow at our Neckwear Section.

Sanitation in The School

Medical inspection, school nurses, instruction in theoretical and applied hygiene are getting to have a regular place in school work. It all suggests improved health conditions; but the deep-thinking department of child hygiene of the Russell Sage Foundation believes there is more to the hygiene of the school and it has begun to peer into the corners of the class rooms to see how often they are swept out, and down upon the floors to see how well they are kept clean, and at the windows, to see whether they are shutting out the light.

Too well are the suspicions confirmed that school-room cleanliness is sometimes overlooked. It finds schools where the floors are never washed and the windows never cleaned and where sweeping takes place once in five months. Of course it finds, too, schools where things are kept clean, even to daily floor washing and dusting with moist cloths; and states of partial cleanliness and dirtiness all the way between these two.

There is only one school in all the country whose floors are washed and windows cleaned daily. Its name should be known but the report withholds it. There is another school that indulges in these performances every second day, and one that has the floors washed every third day, but washing class-room floors is more commonly a monthly or quarterly performance than a daily or weekly one. A three-months schedule is the usual one for washing school windows.

In three-quarters of the cities school room floors are swept once a day, but there remains a balance of nearly two hundred in which they are cleaned up less frequently. Six cities report that they are swept only once a week, two once a month and two once in the space of five months.

Ten cities out of the 758 investigated report that the floors are swept "as needed;" 678 that floors are washed as needed, and 129 that windows are washed as needed. Whether the women teachers are the ones who make the decision as to the need or the necessity, is not stated. There might also be a difference of opinion among them as to what constitutes cleanliness and dirtiness.

In nearly all the cities some dust-absorbing compounds are used in sweeping; half the cities use moist cloths in dusting; and one in every ten cities supplies the schools with vacuum cleaners.

Health and Beauty

The Care of the Eyes.

Beautiful eyes have done as much to mold history and to sway the hearts of men and women as all the other features of the face combined. Since they are the windows of the soul, it is proper that they should have a pretty and graceful setting, and if nature has been a trifle remiss in this respect we are at liberty to remedy the omission.

The growth of the eyebrows can be stimulated by rubbing them gently with warm oil. Warm oil does not become more fluid when applied, and so does not run down into the eye. In warming be careful that no dust gets into the oil, because oil as an invigorator was used first in the Orient and no more effective medium for the growth of the brows has been used. Strong soap or other facial irritant, or an extension from the scalp of a condition which prevents the hair from being healthy will cause the eyebrows to become thin.

Eyebrows that meet over the bridge of the nose give a severe expression to the face. This unpleasant expression is removed by bleaching the centre with peroxide of hydrogen, which makes the brows in the centre of the line less conspicuous. They or the objectionable portion may be removed by soaping over so that the hairs lie smooth to the skin and then rubbed off gently with the pointed end of a piece of pumice stone.

Eyelashes of the long, sweeping variety, that cast mysterious purple shadows underneath, never grow only from healthy lids. Their beauty depends entirely upon the care of the lids and the condition of the eyes. The belief that cutting the lashes promotes their growth is wrong and should not be put into practice. Bathing the eyes with powder boracic acid, a scant teaspoonful in a basin of water, removes all inflammation and gives them a becoming brightness.

Renovating Silk

Many women have dresses of taffeta and rajah silks which require only a little home cleaning and pressing to be made as good as new.

Shake the dress well. For slight grease spots rub thickly with powdered magnesia. Let remain for two or three days, then brush off. If the stain is bad rub lightly with weak ammonia water applied with a cloth. Remove egg stains with common salt. Grass stains, also coffee stains, may be removed with a little alcohol, rubbing until no trace is left. Chloroform will remove the paint stains.

If stains are obstinate place the stained spot over a hot iron, cover with chalk, rub off with a clean cloth and repeat until the stain disappears.

Old fruit stains may be removed by an application of strained liquid chloride of lime. But this may injure the color of the goods. Perspiration stains are hard to remove. Rub with pearlash. Hang the dress in the sun and air for several hours.

Alterations in style may be made if desired, and new binding and white lace collar and yoke will change an old gowning entirely in appearance. Press the dress well, using a good hot iron, but beware of scorching. Press on the wrong side always, placing each plait in position as one proceeds with ironing. Press the sleeves last. Hang carefully on closet hooks until cool.

A FASHION HINT

A PICTURE HAT IN ROSE AND MAUVE TONES.

The straw is pale pink chip, the huge bow at the right side matching in color. The brim is caught back at the left of the front and over it trails the rose and orchid trimming which almost covers the crown. This hat is in shades of rose and delicate mauve. The whole style of the hat suggests grace and charm rather than dash or daring, and the deep brim casts a most becoming shade over the face.

SOME TRIED RECIPES

Cheese Healthful and Nourishing.

Cheese can no longer be discriminated against because of the superstition that it is not a healthful food. The United States Agricultural Department has been conducting experiments on the value of cheese as a food. A total of one hundred and eighty-four experiments were made and sixty-five human subjects were employed. The facts were established beyond question that cheese can be eaten in large quantities without disturbing the equilibrium of health.

The housekeeper who needs to practise economy in the purchase of food would do well to turn her attention towards cheese. For the simple reason that a pound of cheese has about the same food value as two pounds of fresh meat, it is worth more than a pound of ham and is much more digestible, and it is equal to two pounds of eggs or three pounds of fish.

There are good and sufficient reasons for advocating the greater use of cheese. I regard it as the most important of all I have to describe in connection with the science of cookery. Containing more nutritious elements than any other food that is ordinarily obtainable, its cookery is an art unknown.

The stories told against the Welsh rabbit are based on a fallacy. If it is made hygienically, it is not indigestible, does not create disturbances in the bowels and as a matter of fact is not responsible for sleep that is miserably eventful.

American Rarebit.

Stand a granite-ware saucepan in a vessel of boiling water and put it on the range. Put four tablespoonfuls of milk in it. Add to it a quarter of a pound of grated cheese, a level teaspoonful each of salt and dry mustard, a few grains of white pepper, one grain of cayenne, and a quarter of a level teaspoonful of saleratus. Heat this carefully until the cheese is completely dissolved. Then add a well beaten egg and stir until the mixture is very hot and thickened. On no account must it boil. This must be carefully remembered in the cookery of cheese. It is the basic principle of the easy digestion of cheese. Prepare three thick slices of buttered toast, having the crust thinly pared off. Arrange them on a hot platter, pour the rabbit over evenly and send to the table.

English Rarebit.

In making this rabbit, the same method is followed, with this difference—old ale is used instead of the milk.

Golden Buck.

Prepare the American rabbit as directed. While it is cooking put a shallow saucepan on the stove half full of water to which has been added sufficient salt and a few drops of vinegar. When it is boiling rapidly, slide in separately six eggs. Then draw the saucepan back, where its contents will just barely simmer for two minutes. Have the toast arranged on a very hot platter, pour the cheese mixture over them and gently lay a poached egg on each piece of toast, and send to the table.

Yorkshire Buck.

Prepare the English rabbit as directed. Put a poached egg on each slice of toast and arrange slices of crisp bacon around the dish and send to the table at once.

Notre Dame Hospital Accommodation

In order to meet the increased demands which are being made for accommodation at Notre Dame Hospital the building east of the institution has been rented, adding fifteen rooms to the hospital. Present demands emphasise the need for further enlargement, and ex-Judge Loranger, president, announces that arrangements are progressing favorably for building a new hospital on Sherbrooke street.

Special Prize for Mr. W. R. Hastings.

In the list of prizes won by students in the graduating class of the Faculty of Law of McGill University, W. R. Hastings, was also awarded the prize given by the Association of the Junior Bar of Montreal, for the highest standing in Civil Procedure.

Head of Holy Synod Resigns.

St. Petersburg, May 17.—The resignation of S. M. Loukianoff, procurator-general of the Holy Synod, has been accepted. V. C. Sabler, member of the Council of the Empire, and a former vice-procurator-general, has been appointed as his successor. The retiring procurator was appointed in February, 1909, to succeed M. Iswolsky.

VICARS, QUE. — Mrs. Alex. Waddel, prominent in church circles in this village, is dead.

TAG DAY TO BENEFIT ALL CITY CHARITIES

Ladies' Organizations Plan a Big Campaign for Victoria Day.

Great efforts are being put forth by the members of the Local Council of Women, the Federation N. Lorette and the affiliated societies of each, to make May 23 a success as Victoria Charity Day, and every charitable organization in the city will profit.

The affiliated societies include: The Victoria Sunshine Society, working for the Grace Dart Home; Victorian Order of Nurses, supporting the establishment of pure milk stations; Alumnae Association of McGill, engaged in McGill Settlement work; King's Daughters, furthering summer creche work; Day Nursery; W. Y. C. A.; Hervey Institute; Protestant Infants' Home; Goodwill Holiday House; Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Society; Murray Bay Convalescent Home; Royal Edward Institute; Ladies' Benevolent Society; and Parks and Playgrounds.

In connection with the establishment of pure milk stations through which the Victorian Order of Nurses hope to reduce the high rate of infant mortality in this city, it is pointed out that the share of the proceeds which this movement will be given is to supplement the money the city has granted. Stations are to be established in different parts of the city, from which pure milk, prepared by the Foundling and Sick Baby's Hospital will be furnished to mothers, together with advice on the care of their infants.

NOT TYPICAL OF CANADIAN LIFE

Reason Why Chateauguay Battle Omitted From Empire Pageant Says Mr. Lascelles.

London, May 17.—Frank Lascelles, master of the Festival of the Empire pageant, in an interview with reference to the strictures in the Canadian Parliament in regard to the omission of "The Battle of Chateauguay," said that it was a storm in a tea cup. The abandonment of the scene, he asserted, was not due to fear of American feeling, but the result of the conclusion reached by the Canadian committee that the episode was not typical of Canadian life.

NURSE INHERITS HER PATIENT'S MILLIONS.

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York, May 17. — Walter E. Duryea, son of the millionaire starch manufacturer, who died last week after having existed for twelve years with a broken back, left $1,750,000 to his nurse, Miss Eleanor Perrane, according to his will, filed at Mineola, L.I., to-day.

Mr. Duryea leaves to his nurse the attended him for all the twelve years during which he was compelled to lie on his back and was instrumental in helping him more than double his inheritance of $800,000, all comparatively small bequests to his sisters and their children, and a number of other minor bequests to various charitable institutions.

ENVER BEY WEDS PRINCESS.

Given Hand of Princess Nadjil as a Reward.

Constantinople, May 17. — Enver Bey, the Turkish Military Attache of Berlin, upon whom a royal bride was bestowed as a reward for his services during the recent revolution here, was married yesterday to the Princess Nadjil and thus becomes the Sultan's nephew-at-law. It has been erroneously reported before that the pair were wedded, but instead there have been two or three postponements. These are attributed to a reluctance on the part of both to assume the connubial yoke.

The ceremony was unimposing. Neither bride nor bridegroom was present, but three witnesses for either side signed the contract on the part of the principals. The Sheik-ul-Islam presided.

It is probable that Enver Bey will be recalled from Berlin and promoted to a place on the General Staff here, as the Sultan does not think it desirable for the Princess to live abroad.

Mayor Thorp, of Guelph, Ont., will attend the Coronation as the representative of that city, but at his own expense.

THE POETS' CORNER.

A Song of Suffrage.

(Tune: "John Brown's Body.")

In the light home the Light is that has reached into the night;
Where the cowardice and misery have known its cleansing might;
In the hour of its becoming, every wrong will be set right;
His Day is marching on.

Chorus—Glory, glory, etc.

There's a sunrise in the future that no eye has ever seen,
There is witness to its beauty, in the light of what has been;
All the nations are awaking from the night that lies between,
The Light is marching on.

Hark, the wailing of the mothers, with their children lying dead!
The despair of stricken fathers, with their little ones unfed!
For the wolf is loose among us, and its fangs are crimson red!
Relief is marching on.

We have seen the advance of woman, she will come into her own;
She will cast aside the bondage that she patiently has borne;
She will show the world the mercy that our Lord to us has shown;
Her Cause is marching on.

Justice stands upon the threshold; she will put Oppression by;
She will weigh the Rights of Woman in the scales of Liberty;
She will give a gracious sentence in the Great Equality;

To whatever height she reaches, woman's duty goes before;
To her influence in Statehood let us open wide the door;
And as needed, she will honor love the more;
Her Power is marching on.

God has formed the perfect woman in the image of His Soul;
He has asked of her the graces for man's lack of self-control;
In her care to make us happy, let her help to make life whole;
For God is marching on.

Myra Wiren.

From Our Readers

Grape Fruit Marmalade.

Thanks are due to the couple of ladies who sent in this recipe in reply to a request. Six grape-fruit, four lemons, three pints cold water for each pint of prepared fruit, one pound of sugar for each pound of material. Cut the fruit in quarters and then slice through pulp and rind as thin as possible, discarding seeds. Add water and set aside for twenty-four hours. Let boil gently until the rind is perfectly tender, then set aside until the next day. Then weigh the material and add a pound of sugar for each pound material. Cook slowly until it thickens slightly on a cold dish. The mixture will thicken still more when cool and care must be taken not to cook it too much. Stir occasionally to avoid burning. Store as jelly.

Pot Pourri Recipe Wanted.

Several young ladies have asked for a recipe for pot-pourri made from rose-leaves. Will someone who has a good recipe, not too elaborate, send it? In the meantime the rose leaves should be thoroughly dried and put in a jar with a little coarse salt.

Girls' Club Wanted.

A young girl writes as follows. Would you kindly tell me if there is any club which I can join where there are young girls with whom I could associate and which is chiefly a club of summer sports, such as tennis, golf, etc. I am sixteen years of age and have been living in the city very long and should like to get acquainted and also take a part in summer sports."

It is with regret that I am forced to tell this young girl that I know of no such club. The Westmount Golf Club can be joined for six dollars, and there are various tennis clubs. There is a real need for a girls' club in the city and much has been said about it, but as yet there is no immediate chance of it becoming a fact.

Stylish Chains

Long chains of ornate style are high in favor with the spring tailor-made. Nearly all the smart models have a breast pocket into which to tuck the end of the chain, and to this may be attached the watch chain purse or small vanity case of the sort that only recently reached this side of the water. After all, it matters little whether or not anything is attached to the end of the decorative large chain, as its apparent purpose is hidden in the pocket. There is no end to different varieties expressed in the combinations of these little affairs. Many have several different semi-precious stones mounted to odd shapes, while others are more conservative in pearl decoration.

Fads and Fancies

Many French handkerchiefs are embroidered in delicate colors.

Rosettes in novel shades are fashioned of straw with centres of silk.

Striped and dotted rainproof foulards are very attractive for hoods for motoring.

The new marquisette waists are lovely. Many of them are embroidered in colors.

Many skirts show tunics that are buttoned over at one side under rows of buttons.

Among the English and French importations are metal-net millinery, as the saucy little tricornes and helmets.

Beautiful are the new embroidered silk gloves. Some are done in colors others have tucks and embroidery.

Odd little tunics are used to veil lingerie frocks. Bright blue, coral, black and white marquisette and chiffon are the materials. Filet lace and beadwork are the favorite ornamentations.

Bead work is now occurring in attractive striped patterns and embroidery shows alternating patches of color arranged to give stripes.

DR. WORKMAN'S TEACHINGS AND HIS STUDENTS

Latter Were Upset by Former, Testifies Dr. Jackson.

More Intricate Teaching of Theology in Trial of Dr. Workman's Libel Suit.

At the conclusion of the cross-examination of Professor Jackson, a former professor in the Wesleyan College, in the libel suit brought against the College by Dr. Workman before Mr. Justice Weir in the Superior Court yesterday afternoon, the case was adjourned until Saturday morning.

When the case was resumed after lunch, Dr. J. S. Ross was recalled.

Judge Weir—"In view of the fact that no one in the Conference has laid a charge against Dr. Workman, would that not look as if trials of heresy were undesirable? Are not these a moralists' view of theology?"

"There is an indisposition to deal with heresy trials. I would not go further."

"Because they would be unpopular with a section of the church?"

"I would not say that. So far as my knowledge is concerned there are very few pastors who preach a denial of the doctrines brought up in these appeals."

"Are there not a large number of pastors who sympathise with Dr. Workman?"

"There are some."

Mr. Smith—"You are familiar with the basis of the Union of 1883?"

"Yes."

Dr. Ross here read from discipline showing that even the general conference were not at liberty to envoke any article of religion contrary to the Methodist standards and doctrines.

Had No Authority.

"You have been questioned as to why no charge of heresy was laid against Dr. Workman to the annual conference. Had that conference any authority over Dr. Workman or the college?"

"No."

"Was there any publicity given to the investigation concerning Dr Workman's teachings?"

"It was strictly private."

Judge Weir—"Could not the Board of Governors have dismissed Dr. Workman without trying him for heresy?"

"Yes."

"There is nothing in the constitution which shows that the board of governors can try a man for heresy?"

"There is in the constitution of 1910."

Dr. Jackson, who was engaged as professor in the Wesleyan College during the time of the trouble with Dr. Workman, was the next witness.

Dr. Jackson said that he was familiar with the theology of the Methodist Church, and added that he knew no standard writer who interpreted Wesley's works in the same way as Dr. Workman did.

"Were your relations with Dr. Workman friendly?"

"I do not think he would have been in that college had it not been for my action."

Doctrines are Vital.

"Are the doctrines of the church held to be cardinal and substantial doctrines?"

"I think each one of them is vital. If you attack one, you attack the whole of them".

"You are familiar with the articles of religion."

"Yes."

"Is there any difference of opinion as to what is meant by the Virgin Birth of Our Saviour?"

"I do not think so. In the Anglican Church there is. I had a private conversation with Dr. Workman in which this was mentioned and he stated that it was an open question.

"If you eliminate the Virgin Birth you take away the basis of the real incarnation and totally destroy the conception of the atonement as taught by St. Paul."

"What are your views with regard to the atonement?"

"The resurrection is the only surety we have of the validity of the sacrifice."

Considerable stress was laid by Dr. Jackson on the sentence which he quoted from the disciples pertaining to original sin "for as much as their child is born in sin."

Judge Weir—"I am informed that John Wesley separated himself from the English Church and formed the Methodist Church?"

"No, John Wesley died a member of the Church of England."

"If so great a reformer as John Wesley could have views of his own on the scriptures, why should Dr. Workman not be allowed the same privilege?"

"As a Methodist minister he must live up to the Methodist doctrines."

"Was any loophole allowed by John Wesley for reform in the Wesley Methodist system?"

No Room for Doctrine Reform.

"It has been transformed variously and in many ways and he left room for it, but doctrinally he left no room for reform."

"Then he left no room for change by future development of critical criticism?"

"John Wesley was 150 years ahead of the times."

"What about the next 150 years?"

"Never mind about that, let those answer who are alive."

Mr. Smith—"You say that the teachings of Dr. Workman caused unrest among the students?"

"When a man comes to my room flooded in tears——"

Mr. Stephens—"Who was that man?"

"I do not remember now, but that student was so upset as a result of Dr. Workman's teachings that he left the college. Under these circumstances it is not very difficult to see that there was unrest among the students."

Mr. Smith—"Who was the very sensitive man who came to you flooded in tears?"

Dr. Jackson looked around the room, and replied: "I do not see him here." He afterwards pointed out a Mr. Jones, whom he said had left the college together with two other students.

"Can you remember the names of the others?"

"I received a letter from Rev. Silas H. Hughes, saying that his son had left college and that he could not get him back. There was another man left whose name I cannot recollect."

Did Not Inform Dr. Workman.

Judge Weir—Did you inform Dr. Workman of any of these happenings?

"I did not. Things were brought into my lecture room where they belong, but students got the notion that some one was carrying tales to me from Dr. Workman's lecture room, and they called a meeting and asked to consult with me. I replied that I would answer them in the class room, and I said: "Gentlemen, some of our brethren are thinking some one is carrying tales to me. My answer is: No one has ever carried tales to me. I will never allow students to carry tales from one lecture room to another.'"

Cross-questioned by Mr. Stephens as to what Mr. Jones had said to him when he came to him flooded in tears as the result of Dr. Workman's teachings, Dr. Jackson replied.

"Mr. Jones is here and can speak for himself."

Mr. Stephens—"But I want to know from you what he said?"

"He spoke chiefly regarding the Atonement."

"When was it that Mr. Hughes came to you?"

"I cannot tell, but it was while Dr. Workman was engaged in the college."

"Are you positive that Mr. Hughes was ever in Dr. Workman's class?"

"Whether he ever attended class or not I do not know, but I registered him in English Bible. I only know what his father wrote me and I would accept anything that Silas J. Hughes told me."

"Especially if it were against Dr. Workman?"

"Let that stop at once. I have no animosity against Dr. Workman. There were at least ten or twelve students who complained of Dr. Workman's teachings."

"Is it to your knowledge that thirty-six students out of forty who were taking Dr. Workman's lectures spoke in the highest terms of his lectures and petitioned the board of governors to have him retained on the staff?"

"I have heard that."

"How do you account for the fact that twelve students complained of his teachings?"

"I might answer that by asking what do the students know about the Christian doctrine?"

"They must have known something about it if they came to you and told you they were at sea on certain doctrines."

Judge Weir—"Would not thirty-six be about the total number of Dr. Workman's students?"

"Yes."

"Where would the twelve come in?"

"I never saw the petition and do not know who signed it." I am not surprised at the petition, however, because I know of the magnetic power of Dr. Workman over his students."

Prof. Jackson.—"I would like to know before going any further who wrote that petition."

Mr. Stephens.—"Then you doubt that they wrote it?"

"I know where I am."

"Why did you leave the college?"

"The friends of Dr. Workman got up an agitation against me. They thought that I had much more to do with Dr. Workman's trouble than I had."

"Then Dr. Workman was so popular that his mere influence was enough to drive you out?"

"I would not say so."

"Then you left the college because you were not popular with the students?"

Another Petition Heard Of.

"You say so, but that does not make it a fact. I can show you a petition signed by a large body of the students asking the board of governors to retain me?"

"Well show it to me."

"I did not carry these things around with me."

Judge Weir—"Was this hostile feeling in the college?"

"There was among the students."

"Was this hostile feeling not shared in by some of the professors?"

"I know of none."

"Do you not think it would have been a Christian act to warn Dr. Workman that complaints were being made against him?"

"It would not have been better for me. If Dr. Workman had been a pastor, or on a district, I would have reported it, but a brother professor—No, it would have been most unseemly."

Mr. Stephens—"Regarding Dr. Workman's views on the virgin birth, Dr. Workman says that the account of the gospel is a tradition; he does not say that it is left open for further consideration?"

"That is a common claim set forth by the opponents of the virgin birth; That the accounts in the gospel were not historical."

"Are there no variations?"

"There are endless little variations, but no vital ones."

"Then if Dr. Workman says it is right you give it some other interpretation?"

"You can put whatever interpretation you like on it."

"What are Dr. Workman's views regarding the resurrection?"

"All I heard from Dr. Workman regarding the resurrection was his endorsing of Dr. McBride's lecture."

"We have not got McBride's lectures here?"

"I cannot help that. When one man denies the reality of the resurrection and another man approves that view, I form my own conclusions. And Dr. Workman approved of McBride's lecture in strong terms."

"Can you give me his language?"

"No; it would take ten minutes."

"We do not care how long it takes."

Judge Weir—"I suppose he complimented him on his lecture, but did he use the words accept, endorse, or approve?"

Words of Endorsation.

"I do not know that he used these words, but his words were words of endorsation."

"You do not agree with Dr. Carman who claims that the body arose in the same form as it went into the ground?"

"The resurrection was a spiritual one, the same as ours will be."

Judge Weir—"Has Dr. Carman the authority to voice the opinions of the Methodist Church?"

"He has no more authority to voice the opinion of the Methodist Church than anyone else."

"There is no pontiff in the Methodist Church in Canada?" "No."

"I thought Jesus Christ was the head of the Church?"

Witness answered that Jesus Christ was the head of all Christian organizations, but that each organization must of necessity have a visible chief on earth.

Judge Weir—"So Dr. Carman is your chief salaried officer. Is that the situation?"

Witness—"Oh yes, if you wish to term it such."

Mr. Stephens—"He has the right to speak of his own individual opinions?"

"Yes."

"Then the body that Christ walked around with did not ascend to heaven?"

"The resurrection was in animal form."

"Is that the same body that was transformed and went to Heaven?"

"I do not know. It is a mystery."

"Is that the same body that appeared and disappeared at will?"

"Yes it is the same body that went into the ground and came up again."

"When was it transformed?"

"I do not know."

"You will admit then, that there is a great deal of mystery?"

"Yes, and if we went into it, we would find it to be a fact, by witnesses but it is a fact which we cannot explain. It seems to me that to talk of the resurrection of a body which is not a body is to talk nonsense."

"How about the ascension. Is that the same body?"

"Yes."

"When was it transformed?"

Some Special Theories.

"I do not know."

"Is it to your knowledge that there are special theories regarding the Resurrection?" "Yes."

"Supposing Dr. Workman explained that to his class, would you call that denying the Resurrection?"

"No, I would do it myself, but I would put special emphasis on my own views."

"Regarding the Deity you say you heard Dr. Workman refuse to use the work 'Deity' in conversation?"

"Yes."

"Do you find anything in Dr. Workman's statement to show that he denies the Divinity of Christ?"

"If I read that in a new book by an unknown writer I would certainly become suspicious."

"Are not the words 'Divinity' or 'Deity' used by Dr. Workman?"

"I heard Dr. Workman refuse, in conversation, to use the word 'Deity,' and I cannot make out whether he means 'Deity' or 'Divinity.' The word Divinity, to my mind, is not complete."

Witness was then questioned on Cebellianism, or the theory of one God with three Manifestations (Father, Son and Holy Ghost), when he was turned over to counsel for defendants, R. C. Smith, K.C. In answer to questions, he declared that he was not a member of the board of governors at the time when Dr. Workman was dismissed, he had known of no animosity towards the plaintiff, and that it was generally understood that the plaintiff's views were contrary to Methodist belief.

Hearing was then adjourned until Saturday morning at 10.15.

EARL GREY TROPHY COMPETITION TO BE PERPETUATED

Three Federal Trophies Proposed, for Which Provincial Eliminatory Competitions are to Be Held.

Ottawa, May 17. — His Excellency the Governor-General attended a meeting at Rideau Hall of the Executive Committee of the Earl Grey Musical and Dramatic trophy competition. It was decided, in view of the success which has attended these competitions for the past five years, and on the suggestion of Earl Grey, that trophies shall be awarded by the committee for provincial competitions in future years, and that the best of the provincial companies shall compete for the Federal trophy.

Three Federal trophies are now proposed, one dramatic, one orchestral and one for choral work.

The next federal competition will probably be held in Ottawa, and it is hoped that His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught will be present.

The committee has also decided in future to extend the time limit for dramatic performances to two hours, while three-quarters of an hour only will be given to musical productions. Heretofore one hour and a half has been given to each, which has not appeared practicable.

Many obstacles which confronted the executive committee in the past few years have been overcome, and it is expected that the competitions instituted by Earl Grey will be able to be continued for many years to come.

WELFARE MOVEMENT SHOWS PROGRESS THROUGHOUT CITY

Committees Appointed for Proposed Exhibition for Montreal In 1912.

The Canadian child in every possible aspect of his life and being was the subject that engaged the attention of a large and representative gathering of French and English speaking members of various phinanthropic societies held at the Monument National last night.

At its previous meeting the "child welfare" movement had appointed a committee consisting of Dr. Adami, Mr. Olivar Asselin and Dr. Atherton to prepare a report of the scheme for a suggested exhibition to be held in October 1912. Last night the report that had been prepared was read in English by Dr. Atherton, and in French by M. Asselin.

It dealt with various sections of the proposed exhibition, and suggested the appointment of a general and subsidiary committees and sub-committees each of the latter to have special charge of one section of the exhibition, as the health of children, their education, home surroundings, their relation to civic life, and the law, their social environment, the care of abnormal children, blind, epileptic, or feebleminded, and philanthropy in general as regards its dealings with children.

The report was unanimously adopted, and the Governor-General, the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, and Archbishop Bruchesi were appointed patrons of the projected exhibition, and Messrs. O. Asselin and T. Gauthier were appointed active presidents.

The vice-presidents elected, included the Prime Minister of Quebec, the Mayor of Montreal, the Presidents of the Catholic and Protestant School Commissioners, Dr. Richie England, and others representing the City Improvement League, St. Jean Baptiste Association, the Local Council of Women, and La Federation Nationale.

Considerable progress was also made with the appointment of the members of the Finance, Research, Amusements, Reception, and Publicity Committees, the last named comprising many of the leading newspaper men of the city.

Dr. Atherton and Abbe Maurice were appointed secretaries.

SYNOPSIS.

Germaine Gournay-Martin is engaged to be married to Jacques, the last Duke of Charmerace. Gournay-Martin, Germaine's father, is a member of the newly-rich, who has used part of his wealth to acquire the ancestral home of the Charmeraces in France. Jacques has recently returned from a seven-years' South Pole expedition, during which he was reported as having been killed. Everybody who knew him before he went away is surprised at the change in his appearance and manners wrought by his absence. Germaine has a companion-secretary, Sonia Kritchnoff, who shows by her attitude that she is more in love with the Duke than is Germaine herself. Germaine, in fact, appears to be more in love with the Duke's position than with his person. The Duke has just engaged in a duel with M. De Relzieres. He teases Germaine by refusing to acknowledge that the duel is about her. He prefers to discuss their approaching wedding for which the presents are already arriving.

THE Duke walked up and down the hall, looking at the pictures of some of his ancestors—somewhat grotesque persons—with humorous appreciation. Between addressing the envelopes Sonia kept glancing at him. Once he caught her eye, and smiled at her. Germaine's back was eloquent of her displeasure. The Duke stopped at a gap in the line of pictures in which there hung a strip of old tapestry.

"I can never understand why you have left all these ancestors of mine staring from the walls and have taken away the quite admirable and interesting portrait of myself," he said carelessly.

Germaine turned sharply from the window; Sonia stopped in the middle of addressing an envelope; and both the girls stared at him in astonishment.

"There certainly was a portrait of me where that tapestry hangs. What have you done with it?" said the Duke.

"You're making fun of us again," said Germaine.

"Surely your Grace knows what happened," said Sonia.

"We wrote all the details to you and sent you all the papers three years ago. Didn't you get them?" said Germaine.

"Not a detail or a newspaper. Three years ago I was in the neighborhood of the South Pole, and lost at that," said the Duke.

"But it was most dramatic, my dear Jacques. All Paris was talking of it," said Germaine. "Your portrait was stolen."

'Stolen? Who stole it?" said the Duke.

Germaine crossed the hall quickly to the gap in the line of pictures.

"I'll show you," she said.

She drew aside the piece of tapestry, and in the middle of the panel over which the portrait of the Duke had hung he saw written in chalk the words:

ARSENE LUPIN.

"What do you think of that autograph?" said Germaine.

"'Arsene Lupin?'" said the Duke in a tone of some bewilderment.

"He left his signature. It seems that he always does so," said Sonia in an explanatory tone.

"But who is he?" said the Duke.

"Arsene Lupin? Surely you know who Arsene Lupin is?" said Germaine impatiently.

"I haven't the slightest notion," said the Duke.

"Oh, come! No one is as South-Pole as all that!" cried Germaine. "You don't know who Lupin is? The most whimsical, the most audacious, and the most genial thief in France. For the last ten years he has kept the police at bay. He has baffled Ganimard, Holmlock Shears, the great English detective, and even Guerchard, whom everybody says is the greatest detective we've had in France since Vidocq. In fact, he's our national robber. Do you mean to say you don't know him?"

"Not even enough to ask him to lunch at a restaurant," said the Duke flippantly. "What's he like?"

"Like? Nobody has the slightest idea. He has a thousand disguises. He has dined two evenings running at the English Embassy."

"But if nobody knows him, how did they learn that?" said the Duke, with a puzzled air.

"Because the second evening, about ten o'clock, they noticed that one of the guests had disappeared, and with him all the jewels of the ambassadress."

"All of them?" said the Duke.

"Yes; and Lupin left his card behind him with these words scribbled on it:

"'This is not a robbery; it is a restitution. You took the Wallace collection from us.'"

"But it was a hoax, wasn't it?" said the Duke.

"No, your Grace; and he has done better than that. You remember the affair of the Daray Bank—the savings bank for poor people?" said Sonia, her gentle face glowing with a sudden enthusiastic animation.

"Let's see," said the Duke. "Wasn't that the financier who doubled his fortune at the expense of a heap of poor wretches and ruined two thousand people?"

"Yes; that's the man," said Sonia. "And Lupin stripped Daray's house and took from him everything he had in his strong-box. He didn't leave him a sou of the money. And then, when he'd taken it from him, he distributed it among all the poor wretches whom Daray had ruined."

"But this isn't a thief you're talking about—it's a philanthropist," said the Duke.

"A fine sort of philanthropist!" broke in Germaine in a peevish tone. "There was a lot of philanthropy about his robbing papa, wasn't there?"

"Well," said the Duke, with an air of profound reflection, "if you come to think of it, that robbery was not worthy of this national hero. My portrait, if you except the charm and beauty of the face itself, is not worth much."

"If you think he was satisfied with your portrait, you're much mistaken. All my father's collections were robbed," said Germaine.

"Your father's collections?" said the Duke. "But you're better guarded than the Bank of France. Your father is as careful of them as the apple of his eye."

"That's exactly it—he was too careful of them. That's why Lupin succeeded."

"This is very interesting," said the Duke; and he sat down on a couch before the gap in the pictures, to go into the matter more at his ease. "I suppose he had accomplices in the house itself?"

"Yes, one accomplice," said Germaine.

"Who was that?" asked the Duke.

"Papa!" said Germaine.

"Oh, come! what on earth do you mean?" said the Duke. "You're getting quite incomprehensible, my dear girl."

"Well, I'll make it clear to you. One morning papa received a letter—but wait. Sonia, get me the Lupin papers out of the bureau."

Sonia rose from the writing-table, and went to a bureau, an admirable example of the work of the great English maker, Chippendale. It stood on the other side of the hall between an Oriental cabinet and a sixteenth-century Italian cabinet—for all the world as if it were standing in a crowded curiosity shop—with the natural effect that the three pieces, by their mere incongruity, took something each from the beauty of the other. Sonia raised the flap of the bureau, and taking from one of the drawers a small portfolio, turned over the papers in it and handed a letter to the Duke.

"This is the envelope," she said. "It's addressed to M. Gournay-Martin, Collector, at the Chateau de Charmerace, Ile-et-Vilaine."

The Duke opened the envelope and took out a letter.

"It's an odd handwriting," he said.

"Read it—carefully," said Germaine. It was an uncommon handwriting. The letters of it were small, but perfectly formed. It looked the handwriting of a man who knew exactly what he wanted to say, and liked to say it with extreme precision. The letter ran:

"Dear Sir,

"Please forgive my writing to you without our having been introduced to one another; but I flatter myself that you know me, at any rate, by name.

"There is in the drawing-room next your hall a Gainsborough of admirable quality which affords me infinite pleasure. Your Goyas in the same drawing-room are also to my liking, as well as your Van Dyck. In the further drawing-room I note the Renaissance cabinets—a marvellous pair—the Flemish tapestry, the Fragonard, the clock signed Boulle, and various other objects of less importance. But above all, I have set my heart on that coronet which you bought at the sale of the Marquis de Ferronaye, and which was formerly worn by the unfortunate Princesse de Lamballe. I take the greatest interest in this coronet; in the first place, on account of the charming and tragic memories which it calls up in the mind of a poet passionately fond of history, and in the second place—though it is hardly worth while talking about that kind of thing—on account of its intrinsic value. I reckon indeed that the stones in your coronet are, at the very lowest, worth half a million francs.

"I beg you, my dear sir, to have these different objects properly packed up, and to forward them, addressed to me, carriage paid, to the Batignolles Station. Failing this, I shall proceed to remove them myself on the night of Thursday, August 7th.

"Please pardon the slight trouble to which I am putting you, and believe me,

"Yours very sincerely,

"ARSENE LUPIN."

"P. S.—It occurs to me that the pictures have not glass before them. It would be as well as repair this omission before forwarding them to me, and I am sure that you will take this extra trouble cheerfully. I am aware, of course, that some of the best judges declare that a picture loses some of its quality when seen through glass. But it preserves them, and we should always be ready and willing to sacrifice a portion of our own pleasure for the benefit of posterity. France demands it of us.—A. L."

(To be continued.)

DAYLIGHT BURGLARY.

Housebreakers Smashed Furniture and Stole Fittings.

A daring burglary was perpetrated, in broad daylight yesterday afternoon, when some men now unknown to the police penetrated into houses No. 937 and 939 St. Denis street, and pillaged both places. These houses belong to Mr. E. Lemire, but are unoccupied, although furniture has been moved in. Chairs and tables were wantonly broken up, the lead pipe fittings for bath rooms were cut off and carried away, and all the copper available was also taken. Two gas meters were rifled and a small sum of money obtained.

Railway Agents Convene Here.

About two hundred members of the Association of Railway Claims Agents and their ladies are expected to be in Montreal on the 24th, 25th and 26th of the present month, for the annual convention of that organization. The meetings will be held at the Windsor Hotel, and the visitors will be entertained in the conventional manner—a lunch on the mountain, given by Mayor Guerin, and Ald. Dandurand, a drive round the city in special cars on the Street Railway, and a trip down the Lachine Rapids.

ABBATEMAGGIO SCORNS TAUNTS OF PRISONERS

Desidiero Confronts Informer Who Remains Calm Nnder Accused Man's Abuse.

Viterbo, May 17.—Francesco Desiderio, one of those charged by Gennaro Abbatemaggio, with having been at the Aida tavern in Bagnoli, when Gennaro Cuoccolo was condemned to death, for treachery, by a court of the Camorra, faced the informer at the trial of the Camorrists today.

The exchanges were similar to those in which the State's witness has engaged with other prisoners. Abattemaggio again recited his version of the meeting at the tavern, and charged Desidoro with complicity in the crime. The accused denied each assertion in turn, and sought to confuse the other by taunting him.

"You did not learn your part well this morning," said the alleged assassin.

Abbatemaggio replied calmly: "Do not put yourself to unnecessary trouble. It is useless to try to confound me."

Desiderio was frequently prompted by others of the accused, especially Enrico Alfano, the alleged ruling spirit of the Camorra, and Ciro Vitozzi, the priest. The latter, quoting from Alfano's earlier denunciation, shouted at Abbatemaggio, "Assassin, you are the real murderer."

Abatemaggio Showing Strain.

At the afternoon sitting of the Camorra trial yesterday, Abbatemaggio was confronted by Salvators De Lucia, Luigi Fucci and Salvatore DiSano, all of whom denied the accusation made against them by the informer.

Fucci is alleged to have summoned the Camorra leader to try Cuoccolo, and Di Sano and De Lucia are accused of being present, when Cuoccolo was condemned to death. Di Sano ridiculed Abbatemaggio, and congratulated him on having become fat since he underwent the treatment administered to him by the carabiniers.

Abbatemaggio, after the court proceedings were well under way, said that he had a fever, and asked that the sitting be suspended. The accused laughed loudly on hearing this request, saying it was the same fever that the informer had when, on being a soldier, he did not wish to do military service. The president of the court at this point adjourned the sitting.

Giovanni Bartolozzi, who is an epileptic, was stricken with another attack just before the sitting was closed. He was taken out of the prisoners' cage by the court doctor for treatment.

TRAINING WORKERS.

(Boston Globe.)

From the farms of the East and the West to-day comes the old Macedonian cry for "help" and it is answered in vain by countless voices of the city. The workers fail to connect with the work. Why? Because they are inexperienced.

The farms will take neither the time nor the trouble to teach them the business of agriculture. Conditions in many other industries are the same. Manufacturers seem to think that skilled mechanics will spring into existence and fill up the ranks of the laboring armies as miraculously as Minerva sprang completely armed from the head of Jupiter.

Worst of all, only "experienced" boys are wanted nowadays to do chores, carry bundles, cut lawn grass and deliver icewater.

Face the facts and ask yourself if it isn't high time for all employers to shoulder a fair share of the responsibility for training their own industrial forces, as a very few have done already.

FIGHTING MAN.

(Elwood Hendrick in the Atlantic)

It is man's nature to fight. It is his merit to fight for what he believes to be right. Courage and bravery are not achieved by hiring a lawyer. A man who is not willing to fight to the death for the right or for his own is not as good or complete a man as one who is willing. But opinions about this are not so important as the fact that it is man's nature to fight, and that neither resolutions nor legislation nor provision to get over all kinds of trouble in any other way than by fighting will avail.

"ASK FOR IT."

Did you ever see the sign displayed in a store that you have visited bearing the words, "If you don't see what you want ask for it?"

Many readers are attracted to the Star's Want columns in search of definite items — some seek to rent houses or apartments, others are looking for work, some are in want of business opportunities or advantageous purchases in various lines, still others are prompted in scanning the Wants in an endeavor to locate the owners of Lost and found articles, while many carefully examine the Wants to see if there is presented a chance for money making that is to their advantage.

To all readers of "Star Want Ads: there's an excellent suggestion in the thought, "If you don't see what you want ask for it"—if what you are interested in most is not listed among the Wants to-day — send a Want of your own for to-morrow's paper.

QUARTER MILLION AMERICAN SETTLERS FOR CANADIAN WEST

Estimate of This Year's Immigration Surprises Even C. P. R. Officials.

Between 200,000 and a quarter of a million settlers from the United States will take up their homes under the British flag in Western Canada this season. This is an estimate from Mr. William, Whyte, vice-president of the C. P. R., which reached the headquarters here to-day. The figures surprised even the most sanguine of the officials here, for last year's movement from the United States, when 103,798 people came over the border, was looked upon as a record that would be hard to beat.

Commenting on his estimate, Mr. Whyte says: "The American settler is worth twice any other to us, if only for the reason that whereas the British settler is brought into conditions which are widely different from the comparative comfort of farm life in England, the American farmer finds conditions more akin to his own, and comes over with gasoline ploughs and a full outfit of up-to-date machinery. The European probably buys a few acres at first, plants a crop of potatoes or cereals, keeps a cow, and is content to live frugally and develop from that small start. The American, on the other hand, is both a larger consumer and a bigger producer. He is accustomed to a richer form of living, and therefore spends more, while he probably buys a thousand acres or more, breaks it all up, and gets a crop, say of flax, in the first year. He opens up and cultivates the land, the quickest, and is at the same time the largest consumer."

AID LAME DUCKS.

Special Classes at McGill for Arts and Science Men.

Summer classes will be held at McGill till the end of the first week in June for those unfortunate First-year students in Arts and Applied Science who failed to secure the necessary number of marks to pass the sessional examinations. Those who come safely through the examinations at the close of the classes will receive the same credit as though they had passed the sessional examinations.

One thing in the favor of these "lame ducks" is that during this quiet period they can devote their entire study and energies to two subjects only.

This is the last year that this privilege will be accorded in the Faculty of Arts and probably also in the Faculty of Scienc.

Gale Damages Banana Plantations and Local Shipping.

Kingston, May 17.—A heavy gale has been prevailing here for the past twenty hours. It has been very severe on the north side of the island, where a large number of banana trees were destroyed, and there was much damage to local shipping.

MAKE WAR FAIR.

(Ellwood Hendrick, in the Atlantic.)

War is now carried on in an uncivilized fashion. It is fought as if all participants were savages. What is politely called strategy is taking the enemy unawares and not giving him a fair show. Formerly, when two men had a quarrel, they settled their differences in the manner of modern warfare. But now, whenever one man stabs another in the back, or men shoot each other at sight because of a grievance or an agreement that they are enemies, we justly say that they are uncivilized, and in the measure that they fall upon one another like wild beasts, we declare that they render uncivilized the communities in which they live. On the other hand, where the Code Duello exists, and the civilization is of a high order, there is a court of honor to determine among gentlemen of similar connections, whether the challenge is justified or not, and something of the conditions under which the fight shall take place. Unfair conditions are not allowed, seconds and an umpire are insisted upon, as well as the presence of surgeons, to prevent unnecessary loss of life. A duel, fought under the code, is a more civilized proceeding than a Kentucky shooting. Could not civilization invent similar amenities for a fight between nations?

TELEPHONE RATES RAILWAY PLANS BEFORE COMMISSION

City Will Ask for Reduction of Bell Company's Charges in Montreal.

Twenty-six cases are on the roll which comes before the Railway Commissioners who open their session in Montreal to-morrow.

The most important cases to be heard are those regarding the proposed elevation of the Grand Trunk tracks to provide for new terminals, and the question of the application of the city of Montreal for an order directing the Bell Telephone Company to provide a uniform rate within the city limits.

Regarding the question of elecated tracks, Mr. J. L. Archambault said this morning that he was of the opinion that although the plans submitted by the Grand Trunk had met with the approval of the city engineer in part, he expected that there would be strenuous objection laid before the Commissioners by proprietors in the vicinity of the proposed changes.

Regarding telephone costs in the city of Montreal, Mr. Archambault said that the Bell Telephone Company were charging exhorbitant rates for phones in the newly annexed wards and in some instances were asking as high as $150 and $200 per year for a private 'phone. It is the intention of the city, said Mr. Archambault, to endeavor to have the regular city rates reduced to conform with the Toronto rates, namely, $30 for business 'phones and $25 for private 'phones. Mr. Archambault said that he was endeavoring to have this question of telephones put off until the next meeting as it had been impossible for him to obtain the information which he required from other cities in such short notice.

Besides the application for uniform rates laid by the city two private complainas have been lodged with the Commissioners against the Bell Telephone Company.

Mr. C. P. Newman, Lachine Locks, complains of the rates charged by the Bell Telephone Company for his instrument, and the Publishers Press, Limited, allege inadequate service.

An application has also been filed by the Lachine, Jacques Cartier and Maisonneuve Railway, asking permission to enter the city to a point on East St. Catherine street, with permission to cross Demontigny, Logan, Lafontaine, Harbour, Ontario, Forsythe, Hochelaga, Sherbrooke, Frontenac, Rachel and Masson streets.

FERRY WHARF WORK.

Construction Has Commenced—Ferry Service at End of Week.

The work of building a new pier at St. Helen's Island starts to-day, and this afternoon a large dredge will be put into commission. This pier is being built for the ferry boats that make daily trips across. To-morrow the work will start in earnest, but as the pier is to be made of cement it will be some little time before it will be completed.

The service from the city to St. Helen's Island will start on Caturday, when the St. Lawrence and the Valleyfield will be put into commission. The company have decided this year to allow children under ten years of age, to sail free, providing that they are accompanied by older persons.

DOCTORS WILL ASK THAT SPEED LIMIT APPLY NOT TO THEM

Physician Motorists Moving for Geneva Cross Cars Without Speed Limit.

The Auto and Aero Club is having an influx of applications for membership lately.

There are over one hundred physicians in Montreal at the present time who own automobiles. Some forty of these have already joined the association.

So soon as all have come into the organized fold, the medical men purpose petitioning the city council for exemption from the civil rules governing the speed limits of autos within the city limits. In order to distinguish the medical motorists from the rest of the benzine brigade, a red Geneva cross will be carried on their cars, so that the police and plain clothes inspectors may not interfere with them as they spin through the streets of the city.

Dr. J. E. Bolvin and Dr. Arthur Derome with others of the profession, have been interesting themselves in the movement, and the application to the municipal authorities is likely to be made within a short time. The doctors are counting on the support of the Auto and Aero Club in their endeavor to shake off the speed yoke, which apparently sits heavily on the shoulders of many of the local motorists.

It is said that the basis of the request will rest upon the fact that the doctors claim that haste is often necessary in the performance of their professional duties.

JESPHA WANDERED AFAR FROM WEEPING MOTHER.

Constable Jolicoeur at midnight, noticed a young girl about ten years old, wandering at the corner of Bleury and St. Catherine streets. She appeared to be very tired and was crying bitterly. At the Chenneville station, she turned out to be Jespha Manmutk, and told a story of having arrived in the city with her parents on Sunday night. This morning an interpreter was secured, but she could not tell where she lived, but from the description of the surroundings it was ascertained by the police that it was either St. George or Anderson St. A constable was detailed to look up any late arrivals amongst foreigners in that vicinity and at 300 St. George Street he found the mother in tears, and apparently desolate at the loss of her child. Not knowing how about locating her, she had not reported the case to the police.

Jespha will wander no more along the great white way.

"MONEY," PLAYED BY COMMAND, WAS A NOTABLE EVENT

Cast Said to Be Unequalled in History of Any Stage—Decorations Magnificent.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, May 17.—Many things combined to make the command performance of "Money," at which King George Queen Mary the German Emperor and Empress and other Royal personages were present at the Drury Lane Royal Theatre last night a red-letter event in the annals of the English stage. Beside it the gala performance of opera fades into conventional insignificance.

"Money" is an English play with a glorious tradition, and Drury Lane is the unofficial national theatre. The cast for the occasion was perhaps unequalled in the history of any stage, and the decoration of the theatre was carried out on a scale of lavish splendor, converting it into a bower of rare magnificence.

"Money" was first produced by Macready in 1840, and in selecting the play for last night's performance King George was probably influenced by the fact that fifty-seven years ago Queen Victoria commanded that the play be given at Windsor Castle.

To the playgoing public the performance made a strong appeal. This was demonstrated by the congregation of a great crowd outside the doors yesterday. The earliest arrival, a woman, took up her position outside seven hours before the raising of the curtain.

Art and Nature.

Editor Montreal Star.

Sir,—When electric lights were first introduced into the streets of Montreal it was said that in order to get the full benefit of them some of the trees in the streets would have to go, but the unanimous reply to this from all citizens was that not the trees, but the electric lamps would have to go. To-day we have both.

Unfortunately the citizens have no voice in preventing the vandalism going on on Sherbrooke street, where the new Art Association building is being erected. The parties who are looked up to as the protectors of Art are not in accord with the citizens so far as the protection of beautiful trees goes, for their idea is that the trees must go. Were the citizens consulted the building would be modified to suit the beauties of the site, not the site destroyed to probably meet the fancies of an architect or other officials.

Were it a factory, or other building for business purposes one could understand the want of sentiment and taste, but to witness those most beautiful elms being destroyed by those who should be the first to protect them is beyond comprehension. I fear a distinct harm is being done to the Art Association of Montreal.

OBSERVER.

Montreal, 17th May, 1911.

Suggestion For Exhibition Site.

To the Editor of The Montreal Star:

Sir,—Permit me to express my views with regard to the proposed exhibition and the site upon which it is decided to have it and to offer a few suggestions. It seems plainly enough that personal interests are playing a prominent part in the selection of the proposed site as can be seen by the actions of this committee in recommending a site that has no license at all to be even thought of in comparison to the site at the head of Park avenue.

I would suggest that a vote of the railway companies, the different transportation companies, the Hackmen's Association, and all others interested be taken and finally let the Mayor appoint a day for the citizens (who are the ones most interested and not the committee) to vote on the sites, and by so doing put an end to this farce that is being carried on of postponing from week to week and month to month until the public are beginning to look on the actions of those in charge of it with distrust and suspicion. The site at Maisonneuve should be considered, in my estimation the last of all the sites mentioned. The very idea of a site in the bush with no way to reach it and (oh what a distance) with no street car accommodation, no steam railways near it, in fact, nothing to recommend it at all. Why there are thousands of people in Montreal who would not know how to start to look for it and even if they got on the track of it would become so disgusted at the distance that they would turn back before half the journey was completed.

EARLY CLOSING CASE NOW UP TO JUDGE

Defendant Upheld in Point of Law—Case Turns on Hour of Sale.

The first case in connection with any infraction to the early closing law, was tried this morning before Judge Leet, in the Police Court. The information laid by J. H. Roberts was that on May 3, J. H. Dupuis, saloonkeeper, No. 373 Wellington Street, had sold complainant a flask of "Perfection Canadian Rye," for a consideration of 25c., at 6.40 a.m.

There was an attempt made to prove that Dupuis was not a licenseholder, inasmuch as his license for 1910 had expired April 30th, and he had not then, taken out his license for the current year. Mr. D. McAvoy represented Dupuis and contended that license-holders were allowed the whole month of May before having to secure their license and this was upheld by the judge, who ruled that Dupuis was a license holder.

Mr. Roberts testified as to his having bought the liquor in question, at 6.40 a.m., the place doing business at that time. The bottle was produced in Court, intact and still unopened.

Cross-examined by Mr. McAvoy, witness was positive the time was correct and he had compared his watch, with the time shown on the clock of one of the largest jewelry houses uptown.

"I presume you went to bed sober?" asked Mr. McAvoy.

"Yes," Mr. Roberts replied, smilingly.

Judge Leet took the case "en delibere," and will render judgment on the 31st inst.

SPANISH TROOPS MAKE WAR UPON HERD OF SWINE

Comic Opera Hostilities Around Tetuan—Artillery Shells Battalion of Bolting Pigs.

London, May 17.—A despatch from Tetuan to the Daily Mail says a great comedy lies behind the official report sent out from there of an attack by Anjera Moors upon Spanish troops and a brilliant victory gained by the latter.

The enemy were, in fact, a drove of 500 pigs, which were put to flight by the courageous action of artillery and infantry. The Spanish consul himself has confessed that the Anjeras did not attack the Spaniards.

The facts were these: A Moor had charge of 500 pigs belonging to a Tetuan Spaniard. When the Spanish troops arrived and entrenched themselves, the Moor got frightened and drove the pigs to another place.

In the night the pigs, not liking the new place, returned to where the troops were posted. The position being surrounded by cork woods, the pigs made a great noise.

"Like a Modern Ajax."

The Spaniards thought the Anjeras had come to attack them, and the troops began firing, while the artillery came into action.

The pigs immediately bolted, and the Spanish commander, thinking he had gained a glorious victory, sent a special courier to inform the Spanish consul that he had had a great success and had killed six Anjeras.

The Spanish consul informed the other consuls and the people of the Spanish victory.

The consul to-day had to deny the report he had spread and to admit that the Spanish commander, like a modern Ajax, had spent his strength and courage in a dreadful war with swine.

Dr. Reid Submits Amendment to Act Establishing International Waterways Commission.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Press Gallery, House of Commons, Ottawa, May 17.—The damming of the Long Sault was again the subject of a long discussion last evening. The discussion occurred over Dr. Reid's amendment to an act establishing the International Waterways Commission.

Dr. Reid's motion declared that nothing in the Act should empower the commission to authorize the erection of a dam in the St. Lawrence channels, recited in the Ashburton treaty, or to pass upon the question whether such a dam would impair or improve navigation.

Dr. Reid urged the adoption of this amendment to place the protection of the Long Sault beyond doubt. He did not think such an issue should be left to the Waterways Commission. Parliament alone should have that authority.

The Minister of Public Works described the amendment as "foolish and unnecessary"; and, therefore, did not want to ask the House to pass it. It was unnecessary because full protection was given in the Act passed last session in connection with the St. Lawrence Power Transmission Co.

"That affects that company only," said Dr. Reid.

"No, it affects any company," asserted Dr. Pugsley. Parliament must give its consent."

Mr. C. J. Doherty supported Dr. Reid. His amendments could do no harm, he said, and if their view was right, it was necessary to protect Canada's rights.

Dr. Reid's amendment was later put to a vote and declared lost. The vote was strictly on party lines.

"Too Much Looking to Washington."

The section fixing the salaries of the commissioners stated that they should be "not in excess of the sum paid by the Government of the United States."

"There is too much looking to Washington by the Government," said Mr. Clarence Jameson, of Digby. "These words should be taken out."

The suggestion was accepted by the Minister.

It was nearly one o'clock this morning when the bill finally passed its third reading. The debate had occupied over seven hours.

A Question of Treaties.

The afternoon opened with a discussion of the provisions of the Waterways treaty as regards the Milk and St. Mary's rivers in Alberta and Saskatchewan. These provisions were severely criticized by Mr. C. A. Magrath, of Medicine Hat, and were defended by the Minister of the Interior.

Mr. Magrath pointed out that the Dominion Government had rejected the advice of its own expert in regard to this work and had accepted the judgment of the United States experts by preference.

Mr. Oliver replied that the treaty gave Canada half of the water of the two rivers, while, if the treaty had not been made the United States had the power to take all of the water in the Milk river.

The Opposition leader raised the point whether this treaty would not be overruled by the proposed general arbitration treaty between Great Britain and the United States. If so, would it not be better to await the general treaty rather than to create this separate tribunal? Would it not be better that Canada should stand with the rest of the Empire rather than to create her own machinery?

To this Mr. Pugsley replied that this treaty in itself marked a considerable advance in international relations, as well as would be the proposed arbitration treaty. Besides, if that treaty should, as he would like to see, be ratified, and should overrule this treaty, no harm would be done.

When the discussion in committee was taken up, Major Currie protested against proceeding without further time for study.

"Canada is now suffering," he said, from a pro-American British Ambassador at Washington."

He maintained that Parliament should have the right to ratify all treaties.

Discredits the Labrador Story

No Unusual Suffering. Says Captain Keene, of Labrador Steamer Home.

Curling, Newfoundland, May 17. — Reports that 5,000 persons are starving on the Labrador Coast are discredited by Captain Keane, of the steamer Home, which plies between Curling and Battle Harbor.

"I do not believe the report of unusual suffering," said Captain Keane. "In the first place, the inhabitants of Labrador number but 4,000, and in the region where dire destitution is reported there are less than 800 residents.

"Of course there is always some want along that coast, and we were carrying relief there off and on all late last summer."

The Home will sail again Wednesday with supplies for the Labrador coast.

SWIFT JUSTICE AT FALLS.

Sentence Imposed Six Hours After Stabbing Occurred.

Special to The Montreal Star.

St. Catharines, Ont., May 17.—Within two hours after he had slashed another negro employee of Howe's Circus here, yesterday, Hezekiah Mann had received six months sentence to Central Prison.

Chas. Jones, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., joined the circus grounds with Mann when it was at the Falls, Sunday. He got into an altercation with Mann who stabbed him several times with a knife, once in the back and once in the cheek. Jones was hurried to a hospital, and Mann placed under arrest. Mann pleaded he had acted in self defence.

Leper is Cured By New Process

Special to The Montreal Star.

Honolulu, May 17.—A leper was released here today, being officially pronounced as cured, after having undergone fourteen months of treatment, which consisted of freezing the affected portions with carbon dioxide. Such a cure has never before been attempted.

Other patients who are now under the same kind of treatment, are reported as showing a marked improvement.

Dr. Wayson is the discoverer of the method used. The patient who has been released shows neither bacteriological nor clinical evidence that he was ever affected with a disease that hitherto had been regarded as incurable.

Often Exhausted

When Spring Came On, But Never Since Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. A. Hopkins, 255 East Ragle St., East Boston, Mass., writes:— "Years ago I learned what a good medicine Hood's Sarsaparilla is. When spring came on I was thoroughly exhausted and obliged to take my bed. I thought I would rather die than be so tired. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before long was perfectly well. Since then, spring has never come without my having Hood's Sarsaparilla."

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT FIGHTS TUBERCULOSIS.

THE British Chancellor of the Exchequer has inserted in his last budget a proposal to spend seven millions and a half in erecting Sanatoria for consumptives. This is a pretty good "vote" for one year. Seven to eight millions will provide a considerable accommodation for people suffering from Tuberculosis. No doubt, it is intended as no more than a first step, and shows how alive the British Government is to the greatest peril to health and life which threatens its people. Moreover, it has no superficial notion that fighting Tuberculosis is a task to be left to private philanthropy. It realizes that it is a national problem more menacing to the people, year in and year out, than the danger of foreign invasion; and it proposes to combat it with the resources of the national exchequer.

Private philanthropy has already done far more in Britain than has been dreamed of here. It has provided Sanatoria, hospitals, homes, dispensaries and all sorts of institutions and organizations for limiting the ravages of the plague. Moreover, it has produced results. The death-rate has been notably reduced in the United Kingdom by the tireless and generous efforts of these volunteer soldiers against the common foe. But the Government sees plainly that it is a giant task far beyond the powers of the private purse. The vitality of the whole people is attacked; the general average of health is lowered; men are less effective both in the ranks of labor and of the army by reason of this weakening affliction; the standard of manhood and womanhood is depressed. If ever a plain duty confronted the national government, this condition presents it.

We will be interested in Canada in seeing how Government intervention works out. The British Government has a lot of such irons in the fire; and it may easily happen that one of them may grow a bit cold. But the purpose is praiseworthy; and there will be a general wish that it may meet with success. In Canada, we have few or none of such Governmental enterprises; and we might well make a beginning by concentrating on Tuberculosis. It is for just such purposes that Government is organized. It is not properly a plaything of the parties, but the business executive of the nation which should do for the whole people what they cannot better do for themselves by individual effort.

Our Dominion Government is always boasting of its surpluses and is ever ready to open the national purse to enterprises which can produce strong political support. It might well devote a part of its surplus to this holy cause which means the elevation of health, the increase of happiness and the deprivation of death of its deadliest weapon.

"PAYMENT OF MEMBERS."

THE "payment of members" naturally does not appeal to those members of the British Parliament who do not need the pay. But it is surely better, if the British people insist upon electing representatives who must be paid by somebody, that they should be paid by the nation and not by the party organizations. There should be as few reasons as possible why a member of Parliament must lean upon his party committee or take orders from the "caucus." If—as Mr. Austen Chamberlain argues—the payment of members will result in " flooding the House with money-grabbing politicians seeking an easy livelihood," then these "money-grabbing politicians" will be very loth indeed, to give up their "easy livelihood"; and will it not be in the public interest that they shall depend upon the confidence of the people for that livelihood and not upon the commendation of a party "machine?

It may be an ideal condition that men should serve the public for nothing, and seek only the high reward of duty done and public esteem deserved. But, with a crowned Democracy, the poor man may easily desire to have another poor man for his spokesman. He may distrust the class bias of the man who can pay his way. The logical conclusion of the argument against allowing any man to sit in Parliament who must get an indemnity, is to disfranchise the voter who is not independently rich. Otherwise, you give the poor voter the franchise on the understanding that he will never exercise it to elect himself or one of his own kind to Parliament. Now this is both absurd and impossible.

The people, however, should be the paymaster for their own public servants. No member of Parliament should be compelled to look to any sectional organization for the means to enable him to continue to sit and vote in Parliament.

GERMANY AND MEXICO.

A cable to the Chicago Daily News reports that the Cologne Zeitung takes a most cynical view of the American attitude toward the troubles in Mexico. It says that, though "President Taft announced to the world at the Peace Conference in Baltimore that the United States assumes the right to intervene and help in the restoration of peace and order," "nevertheless the American Government provisorily is following a policy of creating factors of disintegration which—in the form of weapons, ammunition and even money—are being carried over the border to destroy all order, while the nation itself watches the growing disorder with grounded arms."

These Germans certainly do have a disconcerting way of brushing aside all the draperies of a case, and presenting the elements of the situation to us as they see them, naked and unashamed. The Cologne Zeitung goes on to compare American tactics toward Mexico with those pursued toward Venezuela and Guatemala. Why did it omit Texas, Panama, and Hawaii, where the philanthropic policy was followed to its logical conclusion? It thinks that President Taft may have been honest in his expressed desire to postpone intervention as long as possible, as he must know that "a march to the beautiful Mexican Capital would not be a mere promenade"; but it adds that "one thing is certain—President Diaz must abdicate as Castro and Zelaya abdicated to make room for a man acceptable to Washington."

Nor is this opinion confined to the Cologne paper. Another journal remarks that "the arm of American Imperialism is again being raised"; and Professor Hans Delbruck insists that this incident proves the incincerity of the Taft-Grey peace plans. "Shall the great German nation," he enquires, "let itself be permanently shut up within its Continental boundaries, and look on while England, Russia, France, Japan and the United States divide the world among themselves." Apparently the "great German nation" will not. It is building a railway through Asia to the Persian Gulf which means something; it is building a splendid navy which means more; it has already once stopped France on the way to Fez; it has won the friendship of the Young Turks quite as effectively as it held the friendship of the Old Turks; its alliance with Austria makes it master of the biggest fighting machine in the world.

This jealous eye on American "benevolence" should carry a hint to Washington which that astute capital ought not to ignore. To-day German interest in the Mexican situation is purely academic. It could not get a regiment of soldiers there past the combined British and American fleets. But if the German Dreadnoughts ever do drive the British navy from the seas and gain the mastery of the Atlantic, then German interest in Mexico or Venezuela or Brazil will be quite as effective as her present interest in the operations of France in Morocco. The German navy will be able to force the American battleships to take cover, and land as many troops as it pleases on Mexican or South American soil. Under such conditions, even the proposed fortification of the Panama Canal might not be left undisturbed.

So long as Britain commands the sea, the Americans are pretty free-handed in their operations in this hemisphere; but if the command passes to a power which has no Canada to give the Americans as a "hostage," and which possesses the greatest army as well as the greatest navy in the world, the Americans will find that they must get their foreign policy endorsed at Berlin.

NOVA SCOTIA.

THE Liberal Government in Nova Scotia is going to the people, after that party has held office for twenty-nine years, and after having for the first time since Confederation run out the full five years' term. The conditions which enabled one party to hold office so long and eventually get control of the province, even in Federal elections, are peculiar. At the time of Confederation, the Free School Act had the hostility of many who did not then appreciate its advantages, and some school houses were burned. Then a vigorous agitation against Confederation, under the magnetic leadership of the late Hon. Joseph Howe, added to the unpopularity of the Conservative party under Hon. (now Sir Charles) Tupper. The Conservative, or Tory party, as it was called, were "blamed" for Confederation and free schools. The result was that in the first election after Confederation, Tupper's personal strength carried his own county, Cumberland, but every other county in the province went Liberal. Tupper was elected to the House of Commons, and the two local Cumberland representatives constituted Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the House of Assembly. There was just enough of them to move and second a resolution, and they were known as the "tandem."

The Opposition in the next election, that of 1874, was somewhat larger, but was still a mere handful. The Conservative wave which followed the depression and brought the Conservative party back to power at Ottawa in 1878, swept the Liberals out in Nova Scotia. The Government then formed was generally known as the Holmes-Thompson Government, but as a matter of fact, Simon H. Holmes was the Premier and John S. D. Thompson (afterwards Sir John) was the Attorney-General. During this administration some very drastic reforms were brought about, expenditures were reduced, the accounts of the province got into shape and the Municipal Incorporation Act was passed. Up to this time the expenditure for the maintenance of roads and bridges was used as party patronage, and municipal affairs were administered by the Court of Sessions, consisting of such justices of the peace as chose to attend meetings. These magistrates were appointed, as they still are, by the party that happened to be in power, and held office for life.

The Municipal Incorporation Act established a system of elective councils in each municipality, with whom rested the power of taxation for local purposes, and into their hands was entrusted the Government grants towards the maintenance of roads and bridges, removing it from party patronage. In Nova Scotia they do not have the toll gate system, all roads and bridges being maintained by direct local taxation aided by moneys granted from the provincial treasury. The coal and gold mines of the province are owned by the Crown, but are leased to those who operate them on a royalty; coal for instance, paying a royalty of ten to twelve cents a ton.

The abolition of the Courts of Sessions turned the wrath of a large number of the magistrates—all influential men—against the Conservatives, and the party had deprived themselves of a powerful aid in surrendering the expenditure of the road and bridge money to the municipal councils. The result was that at the ensuing elections, (1882) while the Conservatives carried the province for the House of Commons, the Liberals carried the House of Assembly and have easily held it at every ensuing election.

This has been due to several causes. There are no great issues in Nova Scotia provincial politics, and the attitude of the Conservatives has been one of comparative indifference. Then the Liberal Government passed a law disfranchising Dominion officials, who were largely Conservatives. They did not repeal the Municipal Incorporation Act, but by a system of loans for special road purposes and for building and maintaining bridges they managed to have considerable money to spend in the constituencies as party patronage. In their bridge expenditure, however, much of the loans was expended in substituting steel bridges for wooden ones, the work being done by contract. Since the Liberal party attained power at Ottawa, the province has been pretty generously taken care of in the way of federal aid to harbors, breakwaters, and other public works. Thus, one party has been very well provided with patronage while the other had none. This fact with the indifference of the rank and file of the Conservatives in provincial politics has given the Liberals a "soft thing."

The first Premier, in 1882, was Hon. W. T. Pipes, but after nearly four years he tired of the job, and without consulting anybody, sent his resignation to the Lieut.-Governor, and went to his home in Cumberland county. Hon. W. S. Fielding had been offered the Premiership at first, but had declined it. He took the post on the retirement of Mr. Pipes, and continued in office until he entered the Laurier Cabinet in 1896. He was succeeded by Hon. George Murray, who has held office ever since.

There are some evidences of friction on the eve of election. In Halifax the Liberal organ, owned by Hon. B. F. Pearson, a member of the Government, is opposing one of the sitting members, who has been re-nominated by the party, and is giving its support to the Labor candidate. In Shelburne, one of the late members has been "turned down" by the convention, and letters in the local paper claim that influence from Halifax accomplished this. Whether there is any serious division in the party such as will effect results remains to be seen. The Conservatives are without a recognized leader in the House, Mr. Tanner having met defeat at the last general election. The polling takes place the middle of next month.

THE LAW'S PURSUIT OF THE STANDARD OIL OCTOPUS

No individual or company has ever been so extensively sued in efforts to end or modify its existence as has the Standard Oil. It was sued when but a loose, indefinite association of interests. It was sued when it existed in the form of a pool of oil companies and again as a trust. It was prosecuted in each of its various metamorphoses, and most recently of all it has been prosecuted as the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, a holding company of the type popular since the old trusts went out of existence. The outcome has been that the Supreme Court of the United States has upheld the decision of the lower courts, has held it to be a monopoly in restraint of trade and must be dissolved within six months.

The present action brought on indictments presented in the Federal Circuit Court of the Eastern division of the Eastern District of Missouri, resulted in the decree given on Nov. 20, 1909, by Judge Sanborn in that court, dissolving the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

This decree was taken up for review by the Supreme Court of the United States in March 1910. Court then granted the litigants the right to restate their case, and this new presentation proceeding has been progressing before the Supreme Court since the beginning of the present year.

The Garfield investigations of the Standard Oil had much to do with the outbreak of litigation against the trust witnessed in 1906 and the years immediately following. It was the direct forerunner of the "$29,000,000 fine case," in particular, and of the great suit for the dissolution of the combination.

Finally there appeared on May 2, 1906, the first instalment of the report on the great investigation. The report treated what it termed the most pressing and important aspect of the investigation. It exposed a large number of secret preferential interstate rates in favor of the Standard Oil, still in force despite adverse laws. It also showed how the published rates of the railroads discriminated in favor of freight points in such ways as to give the trust advantages in all directions over independent shippers.

Following this arraignment of the Standard Oil's freight rate methods, the United States brought indictments against the trust in five states. Nine-teen indictments were filed, containing a total of 5,710 counts of illegal freight-rate making. The Federal judicial districts where these indictments ran included northern Illinois (the $29,000,000 case), eastern Tennessee, eastern Missouri, western Louisiana and western New York. These suits dealt in most cases with illegal rebates and freight discrimination accepted by the Standard Oil from the railroads.

* * *

In May, 1907, appeared the second instalment of the Garfield report, under the title of "Position of the Standard Oil Company in the Petroleum Industry." It made the point that the present Standard Oil combination was a survival of the original combination which had been outlawed by the courts in 1892. At the time of the report, it was said, possession of nearly all the pipe lines in the country gave the Standard Oil a monopoly of the purchase of crude oil. It showed that in the year 1904 the combination predominated in the oil trade in the United States to the extent of doing 86.5 per cent. of the total business.

The third instalment, entitled "Prices and Profits in the Petroleum Industry," followed in August, 1907. It showed that the Standard Oil charged widely different prices for its products in different localities, and was governed only by the consideration of what the market in each locality would bear.

The trust was built primarily upon rebates from railroads, according to the investigators. They unearthed a copy of the original rebate contract document of 1872.

To sum up the situation as disclosed by the Garfield investigation and submitted to the Federal Court by the Kellogg prosecution, nearly 90 per cent. of the business in oil and allied products was done by a combination, originally composed of competing companies, brought together with a purpose of checking competition; long since outlawed as a trust, and reorganized in spite of that ban; employing advantages in the way of transportation which had every method not positively illegal to destroy competition selling its product at several times the fair profit margin; and drawing from its operations a profit of many times the fair return on the investment.

* * *

Suit was brought by the Government against the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey et al. in the Federal Circuit Court of the Eastern Division, Eastern District of Missouri, in November, 1906. For several months previous the Government prosecutors, Messrs. Kellogg and Morrison, specially retained in the case, had been at work. They had at hand the copious results of the Garfield investigation of the Oil combination, but to present the material at hand in a form legally binding against the trust was in itself the work of months.

The petition against the oil trust was filed in St. Louis by these prosecutors on November 15, 1906. It named the Standard Oil, of New Jersey, the seven individuals at the head of the Standard Oil and seventy of its subsidiaries and allied concerns as co-defendants.

The petition based its prosecution of the trust on section 1 and 2 of the Sherman anti-trust law, which make conspiracies in restraint of trade illegal. The two sections of the law are brief, direct, but somewhat indefinite in their wording. They read as follows:

"Section 1.—Every contract, combination in the form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce among the several States, or with foreign nations, is hereby declared to be illegal. Every person who shall make any such contract or engage in any such combination or conspiracy, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine not exceeding $5,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both said punishments, in the discretion of the Court."

* * *

The Government's case, using this brief bit of statute for a foundation, built up an enormous structure of evidence. It incorporated into its prosecution practically the whole of the material brought out by the Garfield investigation. It was drawn from some 400 or more witnesses. Among the most striking names on the witness list were those of Charles M. Pratt, John D. Rockefeller and John D. Archibald, all Standard Oil heads.

The Government's case attacked the Standard Oil on various grounds. The defendants were sued primarily for being a combination of companies that should otherwise carry on competition with each other. The manner in which these various component concerns had been impressed in a single control and forced to enter the great army of Standard Oil corporations was fully set forth.

The next feature in importance, as brought out by the prosecution, was the use of secret illegal practices in carrying on the oil business. The striking disclosures of the Garfield investigation regarding railroad rebates and discriminations in favor of the Standard Oil were advanced as proof that the combination had for many years been a law breaker in its methods of carrying on business.

* * *

Unfairness in its dealings with competitors was among the most interesting of the Government's contentions against the defendant combination. While the offences charged in this portion of the case may not have been against any existing law or punishable in themselves, the Government made a great effort to use them as additional bases for the contention that the combination was in restraint of trade. The systematic cutting of the price of oil wherever a competitor appeared in any locality, the operation of make-believe independent concerns to keep new competitors out of certain fields, and the following up of the business of independents by means of systematic espionage were brought against the defendants much in the manner in which they were set forth in the Garfield report.

The existence of a monopoly in the refining of oil and in sale throughout the United States was proved by a lengthy exposition of the overwhelming proportion of oil business done by the Standard Oil. That the monopoly resulted in inordinate profits was made apparent in an exhaustive set of tables showing the average profit to the trust per gallon on the oil refined and sold in this country. It was made further apparent by computation showing that on an original capital investment of less than $70,000,000 the Standard Oil had earned from 1882 to 1906 over $800,000,000 above all charges.

Fully one-third of the testimony gathered by the prosecution dealt with the methods used by the Standard Oil to overcome its competitors. These means were not in most cases unlawful in themselves nor would they have been subject to particular comment or attention if they had been pursued by a competitor of no more than approximate strength with that of its rivals. They fell under four main heads: local price cutting, to drive out competition when entering a Standard Oil field; paying rebates to parties purchasing oil exclusively from the Standard Oil; maintaining concerns that pretended to be independent oil companies and to have no connection with the trust; and running a system of espionage on growing independent companies' business.

The defence of the Standard Oil took the form of a fight all along the line. Nothing was admitted that could well be controverted. Testimony was introduced in great volume as to the Standard Oil's cost of production, selling prices and methods of marketing; its relations with other concerns, subsidiary, independent or doubtful; its dealings with railroads and with consumers.

The contention was advanced that the profits of Standard Oil business were the result chiefly of its foresight and business ability; that they came from its establishment at an early date of a system of pipe lines and refineries which gave it unapproachable facilities for doing a legitimate business; that it had developed much of the business which was now its own; had perfected the oil industry and had kept down prices within certain limits.

The decision finally rendered by the court on November 20, 1909, granted a perpetual injunction to the Government, forbidding the continued operation of the combination of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the subsidiary companies named and the seven individual defendants. The payment of dividends was forbidden previous to the liquidation of the combination, and the individuals and companies were forbidden to vote the stocks of the subsidiary companies which they held.

No provision was made in this decree for confiscation. In case the defendants failed to obey the mandates. This left the Standard Oil, in case it disobeyed the orders of the court, amenable only to contempt proceedings. The right to appeal was, of course, granted.

The defendants, as had been expected, immediately carried their case to the Supreme Court of the United States on appeal. As the Circuit Court had sat en banc, with all four judges present instead of but one, it was not necessary to carry the case through the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The case was originally entered upon the October term of 1909 in the Supreme Court. The delay of the review of the case was occasioned by the action of the court in granting an entire rehearing of argument instead of a mere review. While new arguments and briefs were being prepared by both sides, three vacancies occurred in the court, which have but recently been filled. It is but lately, therefore, that the Supreme Court took up the case again.

Streets In Bad Condition.

To the Editor of The Montreal Star:

Sir,—As a resident in Cote St. Paul, I want to know why the part of Church street from the locks to the bridge is in such an abominable condition. The road is bad enough, but the pavement (so-called) is not only an eye-sore, but a death-trap to walk on. It is a wonder to me that some one has not got seriously hurt on it before now, but I suppose as usual it won't be put right until some one is hurt and the city sued for damages. It will be the same old cry, no money to do it with, but they can always find money for deputations and luncheons, as per the feast at Quebec. They might also inform me why there are never any cups at the drinking fountains, and in many cases the water is not turned on. The present council and Controllers were to do a lot, but, in my opinion, they have not made good, and, if they cannot do as they promised, then they ought to get out and give the ratepayers a chance. Montreal at present is, as usual, a disgrace and an eye-sore, and the filth even on some of the main streets is enough to cause disease, suffering and death to many.

The Collection of Garbage.

To the Editor of the Star:

Sir,—Apropos of the article in a recent issue regarding the dirty condition of the lanes, and especially that portion where it states "that more co-operation will be needed on the part of the public, a big section of which regards the back lanes as legitimate dumping grounds for rubbish."

It has always been a mystery to me why the authorities remain so passive and dormant about this matter. When great piles of rubbish etc., are so often seen piled up in the lanes outside the rear entrances of houses, it surely requires no flight of imagination to find out who is responsible for placing it there. The most effective means of bringing about better conditions is surely to proceed under the law against those who are so careless of the public health. A few well-merited prosecutions would soon have a salutary effect.

Ark of the Covenant in Ireland.

To the Editor of The Montreal Star:

Sir,—We read with interest your article on the "Ark of the Covenant" possibly being found on Mount Moriah, where Jeremiah is said to have hidden it. There is another legend that Jeremiah took the Ark to Ireland and hid it in a mound or hill near Tara, and I have often wondered that archaeologists have not looked for it there.

When Nebuchadnezzar carried away the Jews and their King, Zedekiah, to Babylon, Jeremiah remained for some time in Jerusalem, but later he is supposed to have gone to Egypt, where the King's daughter had been sent for safety, and from these he took, according to the legend, this young Princess, Tephi, and some temple treasures, including the Ark of the Covenant (which he may have removed from its past hiding place in Jerusalem) and sailed with them to Ireland.

The reigning King of Ireland is supposed to have fallen in love with the young Jewish Princess and married her—and, if this is true, the hill was probably her burial place, and the treasures of the temple were buried with her.

The tribe called Scots with which this Princess, according to the legend, was connected, long afterwards migrated to Scotland, taking the "Stone of Destiny" with them—upon which their Kings were always crowned. It is a matter of history that that stone is now in Westminster Abbey encased in the Coronation Chair, which will be used as usual for the next coronation, and that King George and Queen Mary can both trace their ancestry back along that old line of Kings.

It is said that in Ireland the Kings were crowned on this stone, on the hill of Tara; that it was removed to Argyllshire about 330 B.C., where it remained until A.D. 840, when Kenneth II. having acquired the East of Scotland by conquest had the stone brought to Scone. Here, encased in a chair, it was still used as the coronation seat until in 1296, Edward III., King of England, placed the stone in Westminster Abbey, where you may see it to this day in the Chapel of Edward the Confessor.

FROM THE STAR FILES THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The Late Hon. S. H. Blake.

"Special despatch to The Star from Toronto: "It is stated that Vice-Chancellor Blake's resignation will take effect from Monday next. There will be a deadlock in the Court of Chancery in consequence, as Vice-Chan. Proudfoot has obtained leave of absence, and there will be two absentees." — From The Montreal Star, May 17th, 1881.

THE late Hon. Samuel Hume Blake was the second son of W. H. Blake, who was Chancellor of Upper Canada during the years of 1850 to 1862. This part of our Dominion is now known as Ontario, but it had made history in the early days of the Blakes and others. He was, as many great men were, educated at Upper Canada College. Entering Toronto University, he graduated B.A. in 1858, the very year in which the late Mr. Cochone submitted the report to the then United Canada Parliament sitting in Toronto under Sir Edmund Head, on the benefits that might accrue to Canada by taking in the Hudson Bay Territory, the lease of which by the Gentlemen of the Hudson's Bay Company had about expired. Mr. Blake's association with the bench was something not only to be remembered, but to be revered. Like many other gentlemanly characters, he compelled his personal feelings to sink in the presence of duty. The name of Sam Blake was ever mentioned with affection.

"The Merchants Cotton Company, at the close of the poll at St. Henri, on Saturday, 188 votes were cast for granting the bonus of $10,000 to the Merchants Manufacturing Company, and only seven against it. The result is much more than the most staunch supporters of the scheme anticipated. In the evening the Town Band gave an open-air concert on the square in front of the parish church in honor of the event." — From The Montreal Star, May 17th, 1881.

AT that time giving away just a little for the advancement of a private corporation would seem both pleasing and commendable, feeling assured that ultimately the cost would fall upon their big sister Montreal.

ST. JOHN VALLEY BILL CRITICIZED

Dominion Loser if Sixty Per Cent. of Earnings Do Not Pay for Operation.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, May 17.—The St. John Valley railway project was discussed in the Senate, yesterday, and while the bill respecting it was given a second reading it was only after some criticism of the Government project.

The bill respecting the sale of seeds was given third reading.

In moving second reading of a bill to authorize Canada to lease the Valley Railroad of New Brunswick, Sir Richard Cartwright stated that the proposal was a somewhat unusual one. The province proposed to build a line of railway down the valley of the St. John River from Plaster Rock to St. John and the Dominion Government was to lease it. The road had not yet been built, but the passage of the bill was a preliminary to construction.

Sir Richard explained, in answer to questions, that if 60 per cent. of the earnings did not pay the cost of operation the Dominion would stand the loss, and if 40 per cent. of these earnings did not meet interest on its investment the Province of New Brunswick would be the loser.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Senator Power joined in criticizing the bill, the latter declaring the road was not needed, and would compete with the Grand Trunk Pacific. Senator Thompson defended the measure, and the bill was given a second reading.

Will Rush Other Work.

The construction of the Hudson Bay Railway and also of the extension of the Intercolonial Railway in Nova Scotia will go ahead this season according to present plans.

"As soon as the money appropriated on the supplementary estimates is voted the construction work will be proceeded with," stated Hon. Mr. Graham to-day.

He added that the work would be done by contract after public tender in the usual way.

KEEP OFF TRACKS, BOARD'S WARNING

Commissioners' Ask Magistrates to Enforce Law Against Trespassing to Save Life.

Ottawa, May 17.—A note of warning in connection with trespassing on railway companies' private rights of way is sounded in a letter sent out by Mr. A. D. Cartwright, secretary of the Railway Commission, to the attorney-generals of all the Canadian provinces.

The letter runs as follows:—

"During the year ending March 31, 1911, one hundred and forty persons were killed and sixty-nine were injured while trespassing on railway property. Many magistrates look upon the matter as so trivial that it is found most difficult to obtain convictions.

"Unless the offenders are punished, it will be impossible to lessen this death rate. It is regarded by this board as highly important that magistrates should appreciate the importance of this matter, not only as it affects the companies themselves, but also from the public point of view.

"In England the law is rigorously enforced against trespassers on railway lands.

"We are endeavoring to reduce the toll upon human life from railway operation, and it is discouraging to find 209 trespassers killed and injured in one year. Cannot steps be taken to bring to all magistrates the view that the laws should be enforced in all proper cases?"

FORTY THOUSAND HOMELESS IN KIRIN

Disaster Even Greater Than Reported—Loss Placed at $20,000,000.

Harbin, Manchuria, May 17.—Forty thousand persons at Kirin are homeless as a consequence of the recent conflagration in that city. The money loss is estimated at $20,000,000. Four thousand shops, 15 banks and 8,387 other buildings were destroyed.

Big Fire at Chattanooga, Tenn.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 17.—One thousand persons were without shelter last night, as the result of a fire that destroyed twenty houses and two large "bull pens," in which men working at the lock and dam on the Tennessee River near here, were housed. No one was seriously injured, but the employes lost all their belongings. The loss is $40,000.

Portland High School Burned.

Portland, Me., May 17.—Portland's High School building, valued with its contents at upwards of $100,000, was practically destroyed by fire early this morning, and many other structures in the business section of the city were for a time seriously threatened.

Imperial Education Report In.

London, May 17.—The official report of the Imperial Education Conference has been issued. The Board of Education desire it to be expressed to the overseas representatives concerned that the examinations in science and art in the Dominions have not been completely abandoned.

Warm appreciation is expressed of the services which the office of special inquiries and reports rendered, at the board is asked to permit the continuance of the same, with such extension as to meet the needs of the various education departments of the Dominions.

BOMB OUTRAGE IN NEW YORK,

Broadway and West 44th Street Scene of Explosion.

New York, May 17.—The heart of the hotel district had another early morning bomb explosion to-day, and two thousand half clad frightened hotel guests choked the streets. The explosion occurred in front of a house on West 44th street, near Broadway, and shattered a few windows without hurting anybody, but it caused such consternation among the sleepers in the big hotels that cluster in this neighborhood, that the police reserve had to be called out to quiet the excitement. The bomb, witnesses say, was placed in position by two men who drove away in a taxicab ten minutes before the explosion.

MEDALS FOR BOYS FANS FOR THE GIRLS ON CORONATION DAY

City Will Spend $8,500 on Fireworks, Music and Souvenirs.

The civic reception committee met today, and decided to ask Council for an appropriation of $8,500 to spend in honor of the Coronation.

It is proposed to present every boy in the schools with a commemoration medal, and every girl with a medal and souvenir fan. Twenty bands are to be engaged to discourse music in different parts of the city on the evening of Coronation Day, and there is to be a firework display on the mountain, and from another public park, to be selected at a subsequent committee meeting, when the manner of the distribution of the medals and fans will be also decided upon.

Ald. Dandurand wanted to arrange for a general street parade, and distribution on the Champ de Mars, but it was pointed out that this would be impracticable and a distribution from the schools may be carried out.

Foolish Woman Upsets Reichstag

Yells When Prevented From Speaking and is Ejected Shrieking Hysterically.

Berlin, May 17.—The deliberations of the German Reichstag were interrupted to-day by a scene similar to those witnessed in the British Parliament when the militant suffragettes disturbed the proceedings of the House of Commons.

A woman in the gallery attempted to make a speech protesting against the inaudibility of the debate on the floor of the Reichstag.

CATTLE AND RECIPROCITY.

Senator Stone Cites Figures Which are Challenged by Cattle-Raisers.

Washington, May 17.—Controversy over the prices of Canadian cattle arose between members of the Senate Finance Committee and a witness at today's hearing of the Canadian reciprocity bill.

E. C. Lasater, president of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, asserted the cattle raising industry would be destroyed because Canadian prices were lower.

This, Senator Stone declared, was not the case. He quoted statistics which Mr. Lasater questioned.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Prof. Emery of the Tariff Board will be called to explain the figures and apparent contradictions.

Smith's Falls School Board Wins.

Toronto, May 17.—Mr. Justice Middleton this morning dismissed the action brought by James Scott against the Board of Education of Smith's Falls, for an order restraining the Board from spending more than the $16,500 voted by the people for the new High School. The plans under consideration call for an expenditure of some $57,000, but these provide for twenty-five years' growth and may be amended.

If the Board spends more than has been voted, further proceedings may be taken.

Toronto Teamster Gets Fortune.

Hamilton, Ont., May 17. — Peter McKenna, a teamster with a wife and three children, has just been left a fortune of $75,000 by Miss Elizabeth McCarrow, of Toronto, an aunt, whom he befriended in her old age.

The money is in Toronto real estate and the will is to be probated on Friday. McKenna receives $35,000, and the balance is to be divided among the three children when they become of age.

OPIUM SEIZED MAY HAVE TO BE GIVEN BACK TO OWNER

If Legal to Ship in Bond it May Continue Journey to Mexico—Stevens on Bail.

The seventy-five pounds of smoker's opium discovered yesterday by Inspector D. J. O'Grady, of the Canadian Customs service, is still under detention in the customs office at Windsor station, pending a complete investigation into its shipment and ultimate destination.

Officials of the Canadian and United States governments who, with Inspector O'Grady and Captain Percy Gorman, American vice-consul-general for Canada, have been investigating the illicit trading in the drug and the smuggling of it across the boundary, have formed a theory that the shipment of three boxes at the C. P. R. is one of many that have come from the Pacific coast, ostensibly for trans-shipment to Mexico and other places, but which are really kept in Montreal and distributed from here to American cities and to take care of the local demand for the drug.

But do these packages really reach their ostensible destination? is the question the investigators are trying to solve.

"There is little to prevent a man switching the packages containing the opium for those of a similar outward appearance and keeping the valuable ones here, allowing the others to go on board ship in their stead," said Captain Gorman this morning to a representative of The Star.

The manner in which the three packages, which hold the tins containing 75 pounds of the drug, was shipped from Vancouver, is irregular, to say the least, in the opinion of the officers. The outside cases are clearly of Canadian origin, one being a box in which canned goods were originally shipped from Hamilton, Ont., another an old coffee case, and the third a nondescript package with the mark "Vancouver."

Employes of the C. P. R. informed the collector that the packages were destined for Mexico and that the Vancouver customs authorities had allowed them to come on as "Chinese effects" in bond. They were, however, not included on the customs' manifests and appeared only on the one sent by the baggage agent at the Pacific Coast to the one in Montreal.

Yee Doe Chung, who was caught by Inspector O'Grady yesterday morning with ten pounds of the drug on his arrival at Windsor Station, still suffers a complete lapse of memory and is unable to tell the officers from whom he received the package or to whom it was to be delivered. His case has been referred to the federal authorities for instructions and Doe is still under the surveillance of the Customs service.

Stevens, who was in jail at Plattsburg, was released on $5,000 bail yesterday and came to Montreal by auto.

ROYAL SOCIETY BACKS RED ROUTE

Proposals to Form New Sections for Social Science and Economies Submitted.

Ottawa, May 17.—Discussion of the formation of new sections was the principal subject of discussion before this morning's session of the Royal Society of Canada. The annual report was also adopted and a resolution passed approving the All-Red cable scheme.

The proposal to establish a section of social science and economics, to engage in the methodical classification, observation and description of the various races now blending in Canada as a result of immigration, was left over until to-morrow.

A suggestion that two sections be established instead of section IV., one to be devoted to the biological and the other to the geological sciences, was also held over.

Speaking last night, Ambassador Jusserand discussed the joint ideals of Britain and France and wished King George as long a reign as his illustrious grandmother, during whose occupancy of the throne there had been no Franco-British war. He complimented Canadians on their joint ancestry. They possessed two literatures, both of which were alive and vital to-day.

BISHOP FARTHING AT OTTAWA

Says Anglican Church Ignores Petty Trivialities of Past.

Ottawa, May 17. — In a sermon at Christ Church Cathedral to-day, at the opening of the Anglican Diocesan Women's Auxiliary, Bishop Farthing, of Montreal, pointed to the greater unity of the Anglican Church in Canada to-day as compared with twenty-five years ago.

"Who cares nowadays," he said, "for the trivialities over which our forefathers used to rend the parishes." He said that the Church had realized its divine mission to mould the character of the thousands of people who were each year coming into this country, and had dropped petty animosities in this work.

He referred in warm terms to the union of the various ecclesiastical provinces of Canada into a united whole.

STOLE HORSE HERE DROVE MANY MILES DEATH THREATENS

At Plattsburg, N.Y. court house infirmary there lies a dying man, Nelson Lavarnway, of Ellenburg, N. Y. From Montreal he drove a horse attached to a waggon, belonging to Mr. F. St. Charles, of this city, five hundred miles through Quebec and the State of New York, until Chief Connors, of Plattsburg, caught him near to the border town on Monday night and charged him with horse stealing.

Lavarnway has been several times convicted of horse stealing, but he has not been so daring until this occasion. He is also charged with attempting to shoot an officer, but, while admitting the horse theft, he claims that he did not shoot.

Lavarnway is eighty years of age. His condition is such that his death may be expected at any time.

STEAMSHIP RATE WAR MIGHT BE GOOD FOR CANADA

Mr. C. M. Hays, in New York, Says it Would Prove a Great Stimulus to Travel.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, May 17—Mr. C. M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Railway, returned from Europe this morning aboard the White Star liner Oceanic, accompanied by Mrs. Hays. Mr. Hays says he has been abroad on his usual trip to attend the annual meeting of the board in London, and has been away about six weeks. He said that as far as he was able to observe financial and industrial conditions were good in England.

In connection with the Standard Oil decision Mr. Hays remarked that he believed it would prove a good thing for business here, and that corporations could go on now with their plans without fear of unreasonable interference.

With regard to shipping matters, Mr. Hays said that he understood the Atlantic pool meeting would be held late in June in London, and he thought it would be difficult to keep competing lines together in the matter of rates. He said that in his opinion a steamship rate war would not be entirely evil in its effects, because it would result in giving a great stimulus to European travel.

LITTLE MONEY LEFT FOR CITY PROJECTS

Loan Account Almost Depleted by Public Works.

An examination of the city's loan account after the recent appropriations for sewers and waterworks shows that less than $100,000 is available for further public works this year. Therefore, the project to acquire the Molson properties and other park lands will have to be dropped.

GOT FACE MUSSED UP AND WAS FINED TWENTY.

"Paddy" Shiles showed a decided taste for other people's beer last night. He walked into a saloon on St. Paul street and loudly proclaimed that he was the best fighter in Montreal, and challenged every one in the house to a few rounds. Shiles, who is a giant in size and apparently very powerful, thought it a great joke to wait until customers had ordered a drink, and when it was laid on the bar he would snatch it up and absorb it himself. A few faint hearted beer drinkers, awed by the physique of "Paddy," did not remonstrate any too loud and ordered another, but when Shiles attempted to take a glass of whiskey away from a little sailor boy, the latter failed to appreciate the joke and closed in on the giant.

Although the tar is only about five foot six, he proceeded to make a mess out of Shiles' countenance, and it was evident from the latter's appearance in the Recorder's Court this morning that another "white man's hope" had gone by the board. In spite of all his boasting of his ability as a fighter, Paddy received a beautiful trimming. He also received $20 or two months from Recorder Dupuis, on a charge of creating a disturbance, as the sailor was not on hand to lay a charge of assault.

As "Paddy" could not produce the necessary twenty simoleons, he will be in training at Governor Vallee's sanitorium for two months.

SHE STRUCK HUSBAND FIRST JUDGE THINKS.

Geo. Jaques was tried this morning before Judge Leet, on a charge of assault, laid by his wife. Mrs. Jaques first related her story, quite calmly, and stated to the judge that she had given him no provocation as she had a very mild disposition.

While her brother-in-law was giving his evidence, however, she suddenly rose from her seat, and berating the witness in terms not altogether measured.

Her outbreak settled her case, Judge Leet declared. It was evident that she was very excitable, and was possessed of a warm temper, and that, no doubt, although it was illegal for a man to hit his wife at any time, in this case, his opinion was that the husband had probably been struck first.

CAMPAIGN STARTS.

An interesting election campaign has commenced amongst the aldermen in relation to the appointment of two representatives from the City Council on the Catholic and Protestant Boards of School Commissioners.

Ex-Alderman Stearns will retire from the Protestant Board and ex-Alderman Gallery from the Catholic Board in June next, and the new members will be chosen by the Council on June 15.

Ald. Boyd is named as the Protestant candidate, but a contest is threatened on behalf of Alds. McMahon, Ward and Carter. Ald. O'Connell is to be proposed as the successor to Mr. Gallery, on the Catholic Board, and he is assured of good support, but there is an element in Council who wish to nominate Ald. Tetreau.

MR. RECORDER WEIR DEFENDENT IN SUIT PRISONER ENTERS

Superior Court Finds Sentence Illegal, Now Guilty Man Sues.

The most unusual proceeding of a prisoner claiming damages from the Judge who sentenced him to prison, developed today when Mr. L. Houle entered action against Mr. Recorder Weir, on behalf of Alexander Ouelette, who had been condemned to two months imprisonment and who subsequently was released by order of Mr. Justice Demers, granted yesterday in the Superior Court.

Ouelette is asking $200 damages from the Recorder to soothe his feelings.

Ouelette was found guilty of wife beating and had been sentenced by Mr. Recorder Weir, two months in jail, and $20 and costs, or two additional months.

Mr. Houle appealed from that judgment to the Superior Court, before Judge Demers, on the ground that the Recorder's sentence was illegal, the law not allowing the Magistrate to give more than two months in jail with the option of a fine, for such an offence, but not the two concurrently.

The contention of Mr. Houle was not denied by Mr. J. C. Walsh, who appeared for the Crown, and the liberation of Ouellete was ordered by Justice Demers.

It was at the request of Ouellete's wife that Mr. Houle took the case before the Superior Court.

BRITISH FEDERATION.

Canadian Associated Press

London, May 17. — United States Ambassador Whitelaw Reid gave a luncheon to-day to Premier Fisher, of Australia. Among those in attendance were Sir Lewis Vernon Harcourt, Lord Strathcona and Earl Denman.

Responding to the toast, Premier Fisher said the idea of governments associated in control of the affairs of British communities might serve as a model Federation to the whole world.

GREVALO IGNORANT OF EFFORTS MADE TO SAVE HIS LIFE

Tried Three Days' Fast, But Has Returned to Former Regime.

Grevola is being kept in ignorance of any efforts that are being made on his behalf, to save him from the gallows. His attorney, Mr D. McAvoy, made one trip to Ottawa last week, and presented some additional evidence, and will leave again for the Capital to-morrow.

Grevola always maintains the same sullen attitude, and for a few days refused to accept any nourishment of any kind, but after a three days' fast, he decided to return to the old regimen.

He seems to derive great consolation from the visits of Father Caramello, but as the latter was out of town for a few days, and has not called on him since Saturday, Grevola seems to be very anxious to see him. Father Caramello will call on him this afternoon or to-night.

Eastern Ontario And Quebec

COBOURG.

A Series of Burglaries.—The village of Brighton on the Cobourg District, has been the scene lately of several burglaries and attempts at shop breaking. The Central Hotel was entered and the cash register rifled. The following night, S. S. Ross' hardware store was entered by forcing the front door, and four dozen razors, two revolvers, 32 calibre, a number of pocket knives, also silver knives and forks, were taken. There was also evidence of an attempt to force open the doors of Mr. B. Lepospsky's store, and Fletcher's barber shop. Mr. Hare's blacksmith shop was entered, it is thought for tools. Two strangers seen in the village are suspected. County Crown attorney Kerr, of Cobourg, was communicated with and High Constable Jarvis, of Bowmanville, went to Brighton to investigate.

SHERBROOKE.

Aggressive Publicity Compaign. — Sherbrooke business men have practically decided upon the erection of an electric sign in the vicinity of the Union Station as a feature of the publicity campaign. It is felt that a brilliant electric sign proclaiming Sherbrooke as the "Electric City" will be a good advertising feature. Some two hundred thousand people pass through Sherbrooke every year over lines which enter the Union Station. The Sherbrooke Railway & Power Company have offered to furnish current free for this sign makes this electric display possible. The committee also has in view a day sign to be established near the diamond, Lennoxville, when Sherbrooke's industrial advantages will be set forth in words under the caption of "Sherbrooke Next." It is hoped also to place at both the Sherbrooke stations neatly painted and framed announcements giving a few striking facts relative to Sherbrooke and its advantages.

CORNWALL.

Conservatives Prepare for Campaign. —The Conservative Association of Glengarry intend to take no chances as to whether the elections will take place this fall or not. They will hold their annual meeting on Saturday next, May 20, and several prominent men of the party have accepted invitations to be present and deliver addresses on the reciprocity question and other important issues. The afternoon meeting will be a public one, thus permitting Liberals as well as Conservatives to hear the issues discussed from a Conservative standpoint.

Mr. Scott had been known far and wide as a respected and successful business man. He had for years been noted as a Church and Sunday School worker. He leaves four sons, Messrs. N. G. Scott, R. A. MASONRY FIGURES IN ELECTION CASE BEFORE THE COURTS

Ex-Ald. Robillard Claims Damages From Publishers of a Pamphlet.

Efforts on both sides were made today to reach a settlement in the case of ex-Ald. Clement Robillard, M.L.A., for St. James division, who has taken action for $999 each against A. J. Lemieux and Joseph Elzic Bergh, because they had accused him of being a Freemason and a member of Emancipation Lodge, in pamphlets which they had published.

Mr. Robillard claims damages on account of these charges, mainly because he says that it is impossible for a man in politics in Quebec to keep the confidence of his electors unless he is known to be a good Catholic.

The case was to have come up Monday and was called again today, but owing to the desire to settle the case out of court, it was again postponed until to-morrow.

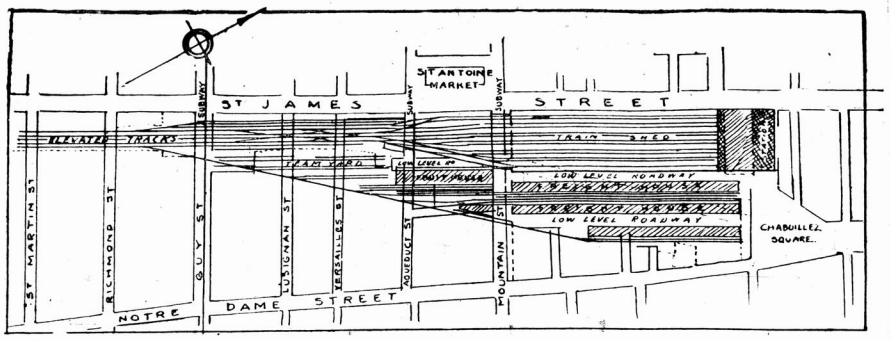
In his plea, ex-Ald. Robillard declares that for over a year certain papers in the Province of Quebec have inaugurated a campaign in which they try to make the public believe that certain members of the Liberal party in Quebec are affiliated with the French Freemasons under the name of Emancipation Lodge, which lodge the papers pretend, has for its sole object to make war on the Catholic religion and the Catholic clergy in Quebec.

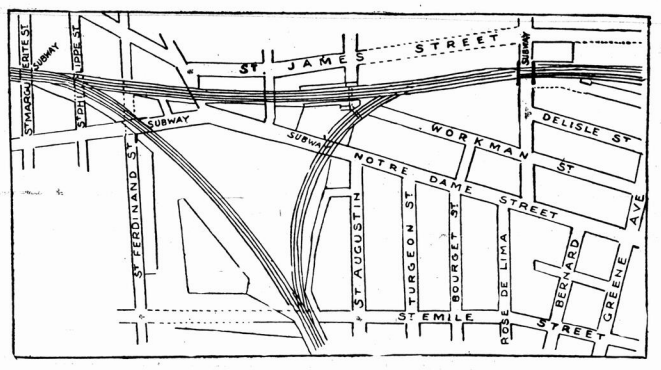
Mr. Robillard also alleges that Mr. Arsène Lemieux maliciously, illegally and without cause or reason, introduced his name as that of a member of Emancipation Lodge, and that he declared that Mr. Robillard owed his election as member of St. James Division in the Legislature to the support of Freemasons in this city.

These charges Mr. Robillard declares, are calculated to ruin his reputation especially in St. James Division where he has resided for over twenty-five years, and where for many years he represented that ward in the City Council. For over twenty-five years, he says, he has been known to belong to the Roman Catholic Church.

Mr. Robillard concludes that he is a good Catholic and that he never had anything to do with Emancipation Lodge, and that his name had been introduced solely through malice and with the object of ruining his reputation and hindering him from being re-elected, if his election were annulled.

ST. JAMES HOTEL COMES DOWN TO MAKE WAY FOR NEW GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY STATION





The St. James Hotel, corner of St. James and Cathedral streets, one of the best known hostelries in the city, is to be handed over to the wreckers for demolition to make way for the terminals which the Grand Trunk proposes to erect at Bonaventure Street.

This was officially announced at the Grand Trunk offices to-day. The hotel will probably be vacated next May, as there is plenty of work which can be carried out on the site of the new terminals without calling for the demolition of the hotel before that time.

The ground plans of the terminals which have been submitted for the approval of the Railway Commission and the city of Montreal, show that the present Bonaventure Station will also be demolished, and that the new station will be erected on the site of the present roadways and cobstand in front of the station. This roadway is the private property of the company.

The station will be built more up to the St. James Hotel, which now belongs to the company. All the properties except the St. James Hotel, between the station and Cathedral street, including the London House and the Lajoie Hotel, have already been vacated, and are then demolished or in process of demolition. The site of the St. James Hotel and the other properties will be used as an open space for a roadway and a stand.

The train shed will cover the site of the present station, and will extend as far as Mountain street. The freight sheds will be on the present site, and will also extend to Mountain street. Practically all the property with two lower level roadways running alongside them from Chabeillez Square to the shade of Dorchester.

The ordering of the trackage accommodation will commence just west of Wurtele at Mountain, Aqueduct and Guy, the proposed Guy street subway and streets, while Versailles and Lusignan run in a long slant on the south side to the full width of the terminal site.

In the vicinity of the St Henry station at Mountain street, thus involving the need for the subways provided for are at occupation of considerable property on Notre Dame street, Rose de Lima Lusignan, Versailles and Aqueduct, and St. Marguerite streets.

The upper illustration shows the elevated tracks running into the station, which now will be on the site of the present private roadway and cabstand between the station and the St. James Hotel. The old station will be part of the train sheds. Towards Notre Dame street will be the low level roads and the fruit and freight sheds. The lower illustration shows the four subways at the St. Henry station.

BIG DISCREPANCY IN GRAIN FIGURES

Canadian Statistics Do Not Tally and Some 21,000,000 Bushels are Unaccounted for.

From the Star's Special Representative Resident in England.

London, May 9.—Lost, stolen or strayed, 21 millions of bushels of Canadian wheat. Such an advertisement is suggested by an interesting controversy now in progress in the columns of the Canadian Gazette. The Gazette comments upon the fact that the Canadian Government returns account for the whole of the Canadian wheat crop and seeing how much Canada's wheat production has been the subject of British discussion in connection with increased British food prices and the United States reciprocity arrangement, he asks for further light. Taking the average Canadian production of wheat in the last five years at 121 million bushels he shows that 59 million bushels only were exported. If the Canadian consumption of wheat per head is the same as the United Kingdom, the Canadian requirements for local purposes would average 36 million bushels in this period, leaving requirements another 12 million bushels, leaving 21 million bushels unaccounted for. What, he asks, has become of this annual balance of 21 million bushels? It is no explanation to say that it is to be found in the farmers' hands and in the interior elevators, for, taking a five years' average this could only be true if the quantity thus left over at the end of the year is less than the quantity left over at the end of the following year. He adds this correspondent, "this quantity has no existence in fact and was available for use in the United Kingdom, the menace to British food supplies arising from the reciprocal arrangement with the United States would be obviously reduced," and he goes on to hint that perhaps the Canadian crop estimators share the general Canadian optimism and over-estimate Canadian production.

Mr. Archibald Blue, the head of the Statistics office at Ottawa, makes a lengthy reply. He shows first of all the remarkable discrepancies and contrasts between the Dominion census figures of production and the provincial returns, and points out that it is noted by the journal as most desirable that the information annually given to the British public through the official reports of the British Government in regard to Canadian production should be at least as reliable as those given through the same channels in regard to British production. Canada moves far too quickly in these days to let the only reliable figures be those obtained after each census every ten years. In other words Provincial Governments should make their crop reports exact or the Dominion Government should undertake the work itself.

Mr. Blue makes a number of interesting suggestions to account for the missing 21 million bushels. For one thing he suggests that Canadians eat more wheat than Britishers. If so, surely that is a new and somewhat surprising fact. But, accepting Mr. Rhet's figure under the head, which he shows that the Canadian eats 10 per cent. more bread than the Englishman, and making other small allowances in accordance with his suggestions, there still remains something like 8 million bushels unaccounted for. The Secretary of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, whose communication comes through the Hon. R. P. Roblin, the Premier of Manitoba, adds a suggestion to the effect that quantities of Canadian grain are now used for whiskey making purposes as well as in various industrial establishments for making pastes, breakfast foods, etc., but it would be interesting to know whether this can really be said to explain anything like the unaccounted balance.

The subject is one of much interest to British trading and political circles and should certainly be cleared up.

FRENCH COURSES ARRANGED AT M'GILL

Holiday Programme for Teachers of That Tongue in Quebec.

French holiday courses will be given for the fifth session at McGill University in July. They will extend over three weeks, beginning on Thursday, July 6th, and ending on Wednesday, July 26th.

These courses are not meant for persons possessing no knowledge of French, but are intended for teachers of French and persons desirous of perfecting their theoretical and practical knowledge of the language. What is particularly aimed at is that every student who enters on these courses will after preliminary knowledge of five o'clock should be, by the end of three weeks, be able not only to understand French, but also to express himself in that language with a high degree of facility. The course is framed by means of lectures and practical lessons, the French boarding department, excursions, sightseeing under the guidance of French speaking persons, and evening entertainments. The students will thus have an opportunity of hearing or speaking French during the whole time they are in Montreal.

Arrangements have been made for a practice school for the training of teachers of French employed in the Province of Quebec.

The lecture courses are divided into elementary and advanced. Lectures and lessons, elementary as well as advanced, will be given in the morning, in the afternoon. The students will, three times a week, be divided into groups, each under the direction of a French-speaking person, for the purpose of conversation in the grounds of McGill University or on Mount Royal.

"TOLSTOI'S RELIGION."

It may be well to try to clear up here just what Tolstoi's attitude to Church doctrine was. He denounced all metaphysical dogma, all belief in the miraculous and the unreasonable, as being neither true or good, futile and confusing. He denied that God was Christ's father in any other way than as the father of all humanity by admitting, however, that to those divine the nature the nearer it must be to the source of being. He ranks of the Old Testament writings with the great early literatures of other peoples. As to the New Testament he concurs with Mill, Shelley and many other free-seeking thinkers in a frank disapproval of the epistles of Paul, whom he accuses of giving a fatal bias to Christ's teaching, enabling the early Church to ally itself with the State and turning men's minds from the simplicity and directness of Christ's teaching. "How can it be," he asks, "that he who is ordained of God," he quotes, scornfully, and then asks, "Which powers? Those of Pompeii-hater the Russian rebel leader who held the Volga provinces under his sway? or those of Catherine II.?" In the early part of his Christian life he saw no reason to believe in immortality, but having transferred all the powers and interests of his personality from his own service to the service of God, that is, to matters of universal interests his consciousness of himself as part and parcel of the Infinite was a great upon him that towards the end he could not conceive of consciousness as ending with the death of the body. He refrains, however, from any definite assertions as to what such a continuance might mean; whether a personal immortality, a series of reincarnations, a group consciousness, or a merging of the personal into the whole. Even in his last years he refused to admit that he really believed in what is known as a personal God and reiterated that man is virtuous and happy in so far as he unites himself to the whole.—Louise Collier Willcox in the February number of the North American Review.

DIAZ TO RESIGN IN TWO MONTHS

officer, Lieut.-Col. Torres, who was holding Sombrerete, was reported to have committed atrocities among the people.

According to one force numbering 1,500 men, Sombrerete, which has a population of 40,000 was defended by 125 Federals, with 40 machine guns, 80 State guards, 50 rurales and 140 civilian volunteers, a total of 300 uniformed fighters.

The rebels fired down from the summits of the surrounding hills, having the advantage in shelter behind the trees. The Federals replied from behind barricades and the old Spanish adobe walls.

Crossing down and capturing the American mines, the rebels found a great quantity of dynamite stored there. They then pressed the attack and threw lighted dynamite sticks into the town with terrific effect. It was then that the barracks and all church were simultaneously blown up. While reverberations were still in the air, the ground rebels charged into the town on horseback and inflicted a severe lesson. They cut off the fleeing officials to a ravine, Avia Madera, and to those who refused they gave no quarter. In their anger they struck down soldiers and merchants alike who would not cheer for Madero, and more than a hundred were massacred in the streets.

Col. Toro, whom it had been hoped to capture, escaped alone. When he reached the railway he was fortunate enough to find a train, which he discovered himself as a peasant and got away.

The rebels suffered serious loss in the death of their leader Luis Moya. His loss added to their anger when they reached the town.

THE GOVERNMENT LEARNS A LESSON IN ENGRAVING FROM A COUNTERFEITER

(From "Great Cases of Detective Burns," in the May McClure's.)

"Did I ever tell you about Charlie Ulrich?" Burns asked. "Charles F. Ulrich was the greatest counterfeiter the world ever knew until the advent of Tavior and Bridell at the Dalhousie. But Ulrich was, perhaps, the most versatile counterfeiter that ever operated. The government itself adopted his method of engraving a national bank note, and has used it ever since. Up to this time, the government had been engraving a complete plate for each bank. Ulrich engraved only one plate, leaving out the title line; he then engraved separately the title lines of the different banks, and combined any one that he wished with the plate of the note. The government at once utilized Ulrich's ingenious device.

"Ulrich came to this country from Germany in 1885. He was a raw young German then, but a real artist. When I knew him he was one of the finest-looking men I ever met—six feet tall, straight as an arrow, with long, curly hair. He was one of the most entertaining and most genial companions in the world, one of the most interesting fellows to talk with on any subject. He was one of the best penmen I ever knew. He was a gentlemanly fellow, and his principal fault was that he was the best counterfeiter that ever lived."

"My Wife Had a Varicose Vein as Large as My Little Finger

And I didn't know anything would reduce them until I tried ABSORBINE JR." said a prominent travelling man a few days ago. There is no necessity for suffering with Varicose Veins when a true specific for this trouble is within the reach of everyone.

Use ABSORBINE, JR., Liniment For It

That ABSORBINE, JR., is a true specific for Varicose Veins has been proven time and time again on severe as well as mild cases often after others have failed. Enlarged veins are reduced.

Mrs. E. M. Lemier, of Federal, Ky. Kansas, was first troubled with a Varicose Vein on the thigh in 1907. It kept getting worse, causing considerable pain and inconvenience, finally breaking so that she lost a quantity of blood before it could be controlled. Physicians advised an operation to have the vein removed, for which the charge would be $200, plus nurse fees, etc. which she could not at that time afford. Instead, Mrs. Lemier used ABSORBINE, JR. faithfully and persistently four bottles in all. The leg soon after becoming a real thing with ABSORBINE, JR., began to look clean and healthy, gradually the green discoloration left it and also the large knots in the veins which had been as large as hens' eggs. In a few months they were entirely healed and she has not been troubled since. That was in July, 1909.

This is but one of many successful cases any one should offer sufficient encouragement for people similarly afflicted to adopt the treatment.

ABSORBINE, JR., is a mild, safe, antiseptic liniment and is equally successful in reducing GOITRE, WENS, CYSTS, WEEPING SINEWS, heal'ng CUTS, BRUISES, LACERATIONS, curing SPRAINS, STRAINS; allays pain and inflammation, healing and soothing.

Send for letter with special instructions for Varicose Veins and pamphlet "Evidence."

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND CABINET IS REORGANIZED

Hon. Cyrus Crosby, of Bonshaw, Enters the Government, Without Portfolio.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., May 17.—A reorganization of the Liberal Provincial Cabinet took place last evening. Hon. H. J. Palmer succeeded Hon. F. L. Haszard, called to the bench. Hon. Cyrus Crosby, of Bonshaw, was appointed a member of the executive without portfolio, filling a vacancy existing for several months. These were the only changes.

Hon. John Richards remains Commissioner of Agriculture and Secretary-Treasurer, Hon. J. H. Cummiskey, Commissioner of Public Works. Other members are Hon. George E. Hughes, Benjamin Gallant, John McMillan, Lauchlan McDonald, and J. D. McInniss, all without portfolios.

Mr. H. James Palmer, K.C., M.L.A., the new Liberal Premier of Prince Edward Island, succeeding Hon. F. L. Haszard, who has been elevated to the Supreme Court Bench, is a native of Charlottetown, where he was born on August 26th, 1857. He is a son of the late Hon. Edward Palmer, who was Chief Justice of Prince Edward Island at the time of his death, and who had formerly been a prominent member of Parliament. H. James Palmer was educated in the public schools of Charlottetown, in the Prince of Wales College, and King's College, Windsor, N.S. During 1872 and 1873 he studied law in his father's office, and when the latter was elevated to the Bench Mr. Palmer entered the office of Palmer and McLeod.

In 1876 he was admitted to the Bar as an attorney, being made a notary at the same time, and in 1877 was made a barrister. In the latter year he became a partner in the law firm of Palmer and McLeod, his other partners being the late Charles Palmer, the late Malcolm McLeod and D. C. McLeod. On January 1st, 1891, Mr. Palmer opened a law office on his own account, and has been very successful. In 1898 he was made a Queen's Counsel.

He entered political life in 1900, being elected for the Third District of Queen's County, as colleague of Honorable J. H. Cummiskey, Commissioner of Public Works. He was defeated by a small majority at the general election of 1904, but was re-elected in the general elections of 1908. Mr. Palmer is married to Miss Ada Palmer, daughter of the late Charles Palmer, a former law partner. They have five children, the eldest, Helen, being the wife of Mr. Reagh, C.E., of Lachine, Que.

Mr. Palmer is a forceful and convincing speaker, possessing a thorough grasp of public affairs. He is an able debater and a gentleman of genial personality, who stands high in the estimation of the people. It is probable that he may be also selected for Attorney-General. He has acted in that capacity in other years, during the absence of the late Premier Peters on delegations. Premier Palmer will select his Cabinet this week. It is not expected that any changes will be made on reorganization. There is one vacancy, and that will probably be filled by Mr. Cyrus Crosby.

NEW PREMIER OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Lust for Wealth Overwhelming

And Will Lead to Disaster Unless Curbed, Says Roosevelt to Thousand Clergymen.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, May 17.—Theodore Roosevelt told 1,000 clergymen yesterday afternoon that materialism and paganism are a serious menace to the welfare of the United States; that men who blew up the buildings of capitalists at the behest of labor leaders are murderers, and that, unless something is done to remedy present conditions, the results will be dire.

He informed the ministers that they ought to get together, irrespective of creed, and see if they can't do something about it.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that by materialism he meant concrete forms of wealth and power. This lust for wealth was overwhelming, and would end in disaster unless curbed.

Peace Treaty Draft is Ready.

Washington, D. C., May 17.—The proposed treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain has at last reached the stage where it is to be presented to the British Government for its approval.

Mr. Scott also declares the people of Saskatchewan are unanimous in endorsing reciprocity, and he expresses the opinion that with reciprocity in effect Canada's population will be doubled within ten years.

Mr. Bryan Lectures in Toronto.

Lemberg, Austria, May 17.—A cloudburst at Borysław, a town of 11,000 inhabitants important for its petroleum and ozokerit deposits, to-day flooded the place, inundating the houses and shops and causing great damage at the oil works, where the derricks and other equipment were washed away.

DRINKING BUSINESS MEN

Men In Business Who Find It Necessary To Take Several Drinks a Day To Attend To Business

TO KEEP FROM BECOMING NERVOUS.

You would be surprised if you knew the number of men in business in Montreal who have to take several drinks a day to attend to business. If they did not take about so many drinks each day they would be so nervous that they could not attend to busn ss. They have drunk liquor, more or less, for many years. The habit has steadily grown upon them. Now they have to drink to keep from becoming nervous. They find that it requires more liquor each succeeding year to do them than it did the previous year. That they are drinking more and more. That they now have an appetite for liquor—a craving and desire for it. No, they were never drunk in their lives. They are above getting drunk. They consider that the man who gets drunk acknowledges to the public that liquor has the best of him. They cannot and will not tolerate the drunken man. Still the insidious habit caused by liquor has a strong hold upon them, and it is getting a stronger hold each day. they know it, feel it and realize it. Each day they drink a little more than they drank the day before. It is taking more and more to steady th ir nerves. Later they are troubled with their stomachs. They cannot eat. Instead of food they take liquor. No, they cannot quit liquor of their own accord. Many of them have tried it and failed. They could not quit liquor for a single day. Their systems now require liquor. The habit is so firmly formed that it must be indulged. Quit it, certainly they want to quit it. They would be the happiest men in the world if they could only be freed from the craving, desire and appetite for liquor. The public does not know that they drink. Such a thing was never dreamed of. Only their intimate business associates and the bartender know it. But they, themselves, know it, and they bear the burden of their appetite for liquor in silence. After many years of anguish and suffering from the curse of liquor, they awake to the fact that something must be done. They cannot continue their drinking any longer. They seek help. Indeed it is right at their hand. The Neal Institute, 226 Sherbrooke street east, Montreal, offers just the timely aid that they so much need. A treatment that takes away all inclination to drink, all craving, desire and appetite for liquor, in three days, without hypodermic injections. In an institute that furnishes all of the comforts of a refined house, where in the privacy of their rooms their meals are served, and they have the constant attendance of physician and nurse, and the treatment is completed at the end of the third day, when the former drinker has been regenerated physically, mentally and morally—made a new man. The Neal Institute in a three day treatment especially appeals to the business and professional man and mechanic, whose time is valuable. Those desiring institute accommodations should call on, write, 'phone East 459, or wire Mr. G. E. Hepburn, manager, in advance of coming, as the institute is filled, every room and bed taken. But as the treatment is completed in three days, those desiring to enter will not have long to wait. Everything strictly private and sacredly confidential.

P.A.Y.E.

Some years ago a small account book was picked up on a Toronto street.

It was a very interesting account book.

It was the account book of a wise man.

It contained items showing how the wise man beat the street railway company by riding a bicycle.

This was one entry. August 6th One fare 1st quarter's worth of tickets bought June 2nd.

The account book showed that the owner had saved nearly THIRTY DOLLARS IN SEVEN MONTHS.

GREAT HIGHWAYS PLANNED.

National Automobile Highway Bill Introduced in Congress.

Washington, May 17.—A bill providing for two national automobile highways was introduced to-day by Representative Hobson. It authorizes the appointment of two commissions, its members from various states to work out two gigantic improvements, one, a highway to extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean along the 35th parallel of north latitude; the other to extend from Canada to Mexico, on a line near the 23rd meridian west from Washington.

These highways, the bill provides, shall be known respectively as the National East-West Auto Highway, and the National North-South Auto Highway.

METHODIST VOTE ON UNION.

Annual Conferences Will Deal With Great Question.

Toronto, May 17.—Church union is to be voted upon at all the annual conferences of the Methodist Church. The union of the Presbyterians, Congregationalists and Methodists is proposed. Since a federal union of the Church was proposed by the Presbyterians at the meetings held in St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, a number of Methodists seem to favor that plan rather than organic union.

The following official statement in regard to the manner of voting on the question of church union at the annual conferences was made by Rev. Dr. Carman, General Superintendent:—

"Each annual conference is to report its decisions and votes thereon, with any additional information deemed desirable, to the General Conference special committee immediately after the close of the conference.

"The report should state the votes of the annual conferences as one body, ministers and laymen in their joint sessions, also as to how the ministers stand by themselves, and how the laymen stand by themselves, in order to make a summary for the whole church."

EVERS OUT FOR KEEPS.

Cubs Famous Second Baseman Victim of Severe Nervous Disorders.

Chicago, May 17. — Johnny Evers, second baseman of the Chicago Nationals, will probably be out of the game for some time and there is reason to believe that he will not play again this season.

President Murphy of the Cubs received a letter from Evers yesterday. Evers is now at his home in Troy, N.Y., and the news was anything but encouraging. He complains that his nerves are completely gone. He is unable to remain on his feet for ten minutes at a time, and the attack is so severe that it has caused large swellings about the face.

On Fire Insurance

(No. 3)

There are always two sides to a question; there are also two classes of clients to a Fire Insurance Company: those who insure to protect themselves—the class we are catering to—and those who insure to sell something. To the latter, any high rate is cheap, they soon get it all back, and it is wiser for them to select a company who may not look into things as closely as we do—we cannot deny that we are hard-headed on that point—but the man with a reputation, who is careful of his risk, and who does not care to pay for the other kind, will find it to his interest to investigate this Company and give it a share of his business. Clean honest losses, are settled and paid promptly, but we could not merit the sympathy of fair-minded people if we treated the other in the same manner.

In a preceding advertisement we have endeavored to make our Company better known to you; we are at your disposal if you desire more information—send along your broker, or give us a call, and one of our Agents will see you—as we said before, it is a question of both sentiment and business—Do It Now.

"Shorts" Badly Squeezed--Bewick-Moreing Deny $250,000 Profit Story

ANOTHER BIG RISE IN THE WALL ST. LIST

The enthusiastic Wall Street bulls carried the advance in the market still further to-day, and there were advances all along the line. Exceptional strength was shown by Erie, Union, Steel and Reading, with the dealings on the old-time large scale.

In all quarters the view was taken that the decision was a victory for the trusts.

If the dissenting opinion, given by Associate Justice Harlan, in the Standard Oil case, is sound, American combinations of capital have little further to fear from the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, despite the order dissolving the Oil Trust.

Justice Harlan holds that the court, by interpreting the Anti-Trust Law to apply only to "unreasonable" restraints in trade, has, in effect, enacted a new law, the original law declaring "every" contract in restraint of trade illegal.

"The opinion to-day means that the courts, by mere judicial construction, amend the Constitution of the United States and amend the statutory laws," says Justice Harlan.

Hereafter all the trusts will have to do, when attacked, is to prove that their contracts are not "unreasonably" in restraint of trade.

The local market is not responding to Wall Street's enthusiasm. The tone here is firm, but all eyes seem to be on the New York list.

Rio was better, and Cement common acts well. Detroit was easier on strike talk.

U. S. Rubber Directors Were Re-Elected

New Brunswick, N.J., May 17.—At the annual meeting of the United States Rubber Co. the directorate of the company was re-elected. It developed that not since the company had acquired control of the Revere Rubber Co. had the latter paid a dividend. President Colt said that as far as he knew the United States Rubber Co. does not come under the ban of the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Standard Oil case.

An attorney, who said he represented about 6000 shares, made a plea for the election of an additional member of the board of directors to represent the common stock holders. It was decided to consider this proposition at the meeting of the directors in New York on Thursday.

In answer to a query, Treasurer Ford said that each member of the executive committee received a salary of $5000 a year, and was allowed $20 and expenses for each meeting he attended.

SAME TEXTILE DIVIDEND.

The regular quarterly 1½ p.c. dividend has been declared on Textile common, payable July 1st to holders of June 15th.

In Wall Street

A wire said: "The market absorbed offerings so readily that bear traders were forced to cover hastily, and the upward movement, after being halted temporarily, was resumed with increased vigor. The feeling of confidence aroused by yesterday's reception of the Standard Oil decision was the chief factor in the continued rise in prices.

"Another source of strength was the large operations of Western speculative interests, which have purchased stocks heavily of late on account of condition of the crops, which have been benefited by recent rains."

LISTING OF CEMENTS ON PARIS BOURSE

Additional particulars were received to-day in regard to the proposed listing of Canada Cement on the Paris Bourse.

It is proposed at first to have the contemplated new 5 p.c. debentures listed, provided they are sanctioned at Ottawa.

One of the insiders told the Star to-day that there is no movement on as yet to have the preferred or common stock listed in Paris. The preferred stock is listed on the London Stock Exchange.

ANGLO-CANADIAN CONCERN.

Another new financial concern has been formed, with a capital of $100,000. It is called the "Anglo-Canadian Negotiations, Limited."

Hally Will Continue After Detroit United.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Detroit, Mich., May 16.—Although he will become a Circuit Judge on January 1, Corporation Counsel Hally will continue to direct the legal fight of the city against the D.U.R. until the present cases are completed. Mr. Hally himself has said that he would never have run for the judgeship if it had meant his quitting the street car litigation, and Mayor Thompson has exacted a promise from him that he will continue in the fight until the present cases end.

OPINIONS ON THE MARKET.

Head & Co.: In some quarters it was thought that a Boston operator had accumulated a large line of stocks last week, and that he was converting part of the profits into cash on the present rise.

C. W. Farrell & Co.: The local market is absolutely dead, all attention being centred on the New York market, which is very strong, and looks like going higher.

Oswald Bros.: There is no doubt that much of the buying was for the account of investors who refused to take on stocks until it was known how the Supreme Court would interpret the Sherman law.

J. S. Bache: There is still a large short interest which is stubbornly holding out. Indications point to much higher level ultimately.

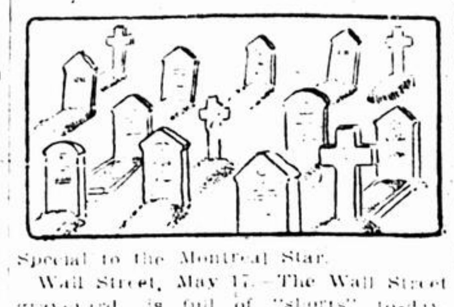
"SHORTS" HIT HARD IN WALL STREET.



Special to the Montreal Star.

Wall Street, May 17.—The Wall Street graveyard is full of "shorts" to-day, with nobody to mourn their loss.

The shorts have lost millions as a result of the big two-day rise, with a large short interest still outstanding, according to the brokers.

It is rumored that T. W. Lawson has made a killing on the long side of the market, as he figured stocks would go up no matter which way the decision went.

FROM THREADNEEDLE STREET.

From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star in London.

London, May 16.—The City of Winnipeg is about to issue £900,000 4 p.c. bonds at par.

The London Stock Exchange has listed £154,600 5's of the Algoma & Hudson Bay Railway, Calgary Power, £72,100 5's of Canadian Wheatlands, 350,000 £1 shares, City of Hamilton £204,100 4's, and Montreal Water & Power 4½'s.

Canada Cement debentures are about to be quoted on the Paris Bourse.

WINDERMERE.

TOPICS OF THE STREET

The man who has "inside information" is not always a winner.

Supposing a trader had been able to get an inkling of the U. S. Supreme Court decision on Monday. The chances are 10 to 1 that he would have taken a plunge on the short side of the market, and would have been badly trimmed.

The man with inside news has no better chance, half the time, than the man who knows nothing.

A Montreal man carrying 300 shares of Union confessed he scarcely slept a night after the Oil decision came out.

Yet the market gave him an extra profit of $1200 the next day.

"I'm not going to quit speculating," he said, "but am going to quit crossing bridges until I get to them."

Comparisons are sometimes interesting.

Atchison is 15 points below the high of 1909, and 20 points above the low of 1910. St. Paul is 45 points below the high of 1909, and only 5 points above the low of 1910. North-Western is 51 points below the high of 1909, and only 8 points above the low of 1910. New York Central is 42 points below the high of 1909, and only 1 above the low of 1910. Southern Pacific is 25 points below the high of 1909 and 11 points above the low of 1910. Union Pacific is 43 points below the high of 1909 and 21 above the low of 1910.

One paper asserts that the largest speculative holders of U. S. Steel stock at present are: J. P. Morgan, jr., George F. Baker, Frank Munsey, George W. Perkins, E. H. Gary, H. C. Frick and Norman B. Ream.

It is only unexpected bad news that puts stocks down. When the "Street" has time to put up a defence and brace itself for a body blow, it can usually weather the storm.

It looks as if a dead set was being made upon W. M. Aitken, M.P. The talk of an enquiry into the Steel Company of Canada following the Cement charges would indicate that some of his enemies seem to be getting busy.

SHORT ITEMS OF THE GOLD CAMP.

Every one of the eight claims on the Armstrong-McGibbon group in South Tisdale are to be thoroughly prospected under the direction of William Moore, formerly with the Tisdale Mining Co.

The Dome Extension's shot drill has been discontinued temporarily pending the arrival of casings.

The Vipond's drifting now totals 200 feet, with excellent results.

Engineer Chas. Watson, who has charge of the work of the Tisdale Mining Co., is engaged in surface and underground prospecting on the Dobie, and also on the Tisdale Mining Company's holdings to the north and west of the Dobie.

The shaft on No. 2 vein of the Pearl Lake is now down 50 feet.

Wheat in Chicago Sold Lower Again.

From the Special Correspondent of The Montreal Star on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, May 17.—Wheat was lower for May, sales being made at 95½ to 95 and back to 95⅝, against a close of 95c yesterday; July at 89 to 88¼ to 88⅞c; the latter up ¼c; September at 87 to 87¾c, against 87½c last night.

Wheat opened lower on the weakness in Europe, following rains in Russia and increased and cheaper offerings of Indian, Australia and Argentine wheat. Further fine rains in the north-west were also a factor. This weak opening, however, caused covering by shorts, and there was a drying up of offerings. Oats scored a sharp advance and "new crop" wheat futures rallied to a shade above last night's close. Buying at the advanced level, however, was not good and values eased off a little. Primary receipts to-day, 415,000 bushels against 281,000 bushels a year ago and 208,000 bushels two years ago.

J. F. PRITCHARD.

MILLFEED TRADE ACTIVE.

Millfeed is in good demand at steady prices.

Ontario bran, $22; Ontario middlings, $24; Manitoba bran, $21; Manitoba shorts, $23; pure grain mouille, $30.00; mixed mouille, $25 to $28.

COARSE GRAIN PRICES.

Coarse grain quotations: Corn, American No. 3 yellow, 60c to 61c; oats, No. 2 Canadian western, 41½c to 42c; No. 1 feed, 41 to 41½c; oats, No. 3 Canadian western, 40½ to 41c; oats, No. 2 local white, 40 to 40½c; oats, No. 3 local white, 39½ to 40c; oats, No. 4 local white 38½ to 39c.

RE-SOLD THE HOLLINGER AT A $5 PROFIT?

Shareholders of Hollinger will be interested in the following items from the Boston News Bureau. They are given for what they are worth:

"British interests have made a second unsuccessful bid for control of the Hollinger Gold Mines, Ltd., the latest bid being $25 per share. The previous offer by practically the same syndicate some months ago was $15 per share.

"The holdings of 50,000 shares credited to England have recently been increased to 75,000 shares, the additional amount having been purchased in the open market.

"D. A. Dunlap says that the vein at the 200-foot level was much better than anything yet found in the mine. Across the 12-foot vein assays went over $80 per ton. In the cross-cut 115 foot long at the 100-foot level, three quartz veins from 3 to 4 feet carrying free gold were cut, and gold can be found in the schist. This leads to the belief that all will make milling ore. Reconstruction of plans for the new mill will delay matters so that it is not likely that it will be running till well into July or August.

"In connection with the recent sale of 50,000 shares of Hollinger to Englishmen who eventually turned it over to the Northern Ontario Co., shares of which were marketed in London, it has developed that $5 per share was paid for this stock. It was sold to the Northern Co. at $10, representing a profit to insiders in that corporation of $250,000."

Profit Denied.

The statement that a profit of $250,000 was made by the English interests created a sensation on the "Street" to-day, but was positively denied.

Mr. Richards, of the Bewick-Moreing Co., said to The Star:

"The statement is absolutely false. The shares were purchased for the company, and not one cent of profit was made on them. We do not do business that way."

Detroit United

Reports from Detroit state that some of the employes of the D.U.R. voted to demand an increase in wages.

Woman is a Partner in Broker Firm

The announcement by the New York Stock Exchange firm of Robert Goodbody & Co. that Mrs. Margaret J. Goodbody has been admitted to the firm as a special partner has created considerable interest among brokers. The assumption by a woman of an interest in a Stock Exchange house, even as a special partner, is a very rare occurrence.

Mrs. Goodbody is the widow of the late Robert Goodbody, who was admitted to membership in the New York Stock Exchange on April 16, 1891.

If Mr. Plummer Is Not Elected.

(Toronto Globe.)

Mr. Rodolphe Forget says he will pay 57½ for a thousand shares of Steel Corporation if Mr. J. H. Plummer is not re-elected president, and if Mr. J. H. Plummer is not re-elected president Mr. Forget can obtain a good many thousand additional shares at a considerably cheaper price.

BROKERS ADVISED JUDGES TO HUSTLE

Special to the Montreal Star.

Wall Street, May 17.—It is said that the Stock Exchange may discipline J. S. Bache & Co. because the firm addressed an open letter to the Supreme Court judges last week asking them to hurry along the decisions, as the business of the country was being held up.

There was a meeting of the Stock Exchange committee to-day to discuss the affair. The firm, when it heard of the adverse comment, withdrew many circulars from the mails.

Business Success

Some years ago Mr. Walter Cottingham, president of the great Sherwin-Williams paint concern, wrote a little book called "Business Success." It was intended for distribution among the hundreds of Sherwin-Williams employes.

A friend of Mr. Cottingham's read the little volume, and was so much impressed with it that he suggested putting it on the market so that others might have an opportunity of benefiting by the inspiring advice and sound common sense it contained.

The book is now on sale in Henry Morgan & Co.'s book department at 50 cents a volume. Every young man in business should read it as it will teach him in ten minutes what would ordinarily take him ten years to learn. It is one of the best books of its kind ever written, for what Mr. Cottingham does not know about business success is not worth knowing. This enterprising ex-Montrealer has built up one of the greatest industrial organizations in the world.

CHATS ON CHANCE.

Wholesale fruit dealers in Montreal are very much interested in the fight being waged by the growers in Ontario who are against excessive express rates. Prior to the opening of the fruit season, changes are probable in connection with the shipment of fruit. The fruit growers are dissatisfied with the commission men and on top of it all is a five-cent advance in the express rates between Oakville, Clarkson, Bronte and points along the water front to Toronto, making 35 cents per hundred.

A deputation of fruit men are now in Toronto endeavoring to secure a boat line to points between Burlington and Toronto.

It is expected that the shipments to Montreal this season will be the heaviest on record.

Cable advices from the principal markets of Great Britain give butter markets as very depressed and prices have declined from one to one and a half cents the past week. The Home, Irish and Continental makes are very large and still lower prices are looked for. Finest Grades—Danish, 24 to 25c; New Zealand, 20½ to 21½c; Australian, Argentine and Siberian, 19½ to 20½c. American Creamery butter entirely neglected.

Cheese: All markets clearing up well; the demand continues large and absorbing all receipts as fast as landed. Finest grades of September Canadians 14 to 14½c; new, 12 to 12½c. Full cream, American white twins and flats continue in active request at 11½ to 12½c.

The Japanese Government has issued an edict to Japanese tea growers that hereafter the manufacture of artificially colored teas in Japan is prohibited.

FAIR TRADE IN POTATOES.

The market for potatoes is steady, with a fair volume of business passing. For car lots sellers are now asking $1.05 to $1.10 per bag, and in a jobbing way sales were made at $1.15 to $1.20.

GOOD DEMAND FOR EGGS.

Receipts of eggs were 2097 cases, compared with 3599 a year ago. Prices are steady under a good demand. Sales of straight gathered stock in round lots were made at 18½ to 19c, single cases, 19½ to 20c, and selected stock 22½ to 23c per dozen.

MAPLE PRODUCTS PRICES.

Prices of maple sugar and maple syrup are well maintained under a fairly active business. Maple syrup, in tins, 75c to 80c, and in wood at 7½ to 8c per lb., with maple sugar 9 to 10c per lb.

M. P. INQUIRES ABOUT LATEST STEEL MERGER

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, May 17.—The Steel Company of Canada will be the subject of a query in the House to-morrow.

The charges made concerning the cement merger are understood to have suggested the following queries by Mr. E. M. Macdonald, of Pictou:

1. When was the Steel Company of Canada incorporated?
2. What was the amount of the capital stock?
3. What amount of bonds have been issued, and what is the amount respectively?
4. What were the names of the companies and their places of business which were combined together, and what was the value of each of them which went into the combination?

The Steel Company of Canada was formed last summer, taking over the Montreal Rolling Mills and several western plants.

WHEAT IS WELL UP AND WAVING IN THE BREEZE

Western Associated Press Special.

Brandon, May 17.—With heavy showers covering most of this district during the last twenty-four hours, conditions are splendid. The wheat is well up and waving in the breeze gives the rural districts an appearance that could hardly be better. "The country never had a better start," said a prominent farmer, of thirty years experience today. The rain last night was the first moisture of any account since the snow storm of last week.

Winnipeg Wheat Had a Cent Dip.

MORE RAIN IN WEST BIG HELP TO CROPS

Winnipeg, Man., May 17.—Further rainfalls are reported to-day throughout the West, Manitoba and Saskatchewan being visited by copious showers that improved the crop prospects throughout both provinces—precipitation also occurred in Alberta, though not to the same extent. Between one and two inches fell at Regina, while Moosomin was plentifully showered for fully twelve hours, so the crops in that district are reported to be in better condition than known previously. At Moosejaw a twelve-hour rain also prevailed. The seeding in that district is well advanced, the wheat being practically all in, oats are well advanced, while many farmers are now busy putting in flax.

C.P.R. Report.

The usual C.P.R. crop report is incomplete this week, owing to the recent wire trouble, but it shows that both Manitoba and Alberta have had very heavy rains and snowstorms, though at different periods. Saskatchewan, however, has not had a general precipitation, though light rains are recorded at a number of points.

Sentence will not be imposed while the other defendants are on trial.

They include, Col. C. C. Wilson, president of the company, charged with sending out literature representing that the Corporation was making money.

1. The Company began business on October 1st 1910, consolidating the business of the King Radiator Company, Limited, and the Expanded Metal & Fireproofing Company, Limited, both of Toronto.

2. The Company owns and operates a new and thoroughly modern plant on St. Helen's avenue, Toronto, which covers about three acres of land, and is equipped for the manufacture of Hot Water Boilers and Radiators; also a new plant on Fraser avenue, Toronto, of Concrete Fireproof Construction, equipped with modern machinery and tools for the manufacture of Expanded Metal, Metal Lath, Reinforcement Rods and Fenestra Sash. The Company owns exclusive rights for Canada for the manufacture of "FENESTRA STEEL SASH" and "CASEMENTS," which goods are now being installed throughout the world in fireproof construction.

3. The earnings for the three months ending December 31st, 1910, as certified to by Messrs. George A. Touche & Company, Chartered Accountants, of London, England, New York, and Toronto, would average, for the year almost three times the interest on the entire amount of Bonds now offered for sale, without making any allowance whatever for the increase in business for the remaining nine months of the year. The consolidated business will show largely increased earnings, following the introduction of new and modern methods whereby great economies are to be secured.

4. The issue of 750,000 of bonds is for the purpose of the extension of the business, the erection of a new plant at St. Catharines, Ont., and the purchase of other plants in kindred lines of business which the company is now arranging to acquire.

5. The St. Catharines plant will have a capacity for a daily output of 150 tons of iron for the manufacture of Boilers, Radiators, Soil Pipe, Cast Iron Fittings, and heavy commercial castings. This latter plant is made necessary by reason of the demand for the Company's products having asumed such proportions as to tax to the utmost the Company's present capacity.

6. The above issue of bonds forms a first charge upon the Real Estate, Works, Plants and ssets of the Company, and the Trust Deed provides that all further issues of Bonds are Limited to 75% of actual expenditures to be made on capital account for the acquisition of further properties.

7. All legal matters pertaining to the issue of these securities have been passed upon by Messrs. Brown, Montgomery & McMichael, of Montreal, and Messrs. Dunbar & Dunbar, of Guelph.

TRAMPS ARE BLAMED FOR FIRE IN HOUSE

Stretch Three Thousand Feet of Hose to Reach Blaze—Engine Ruined.

Tramps are thought to have been responsible for a fire which destroyed Nos. 823 and 825 Aylwin street, Hochelaga, last night, when fire was discovered at 8.50 o'clock. On account of the bad roads and the lack of hydrants, one house was gone when the firemen got there. Three thousand feet of hose, had to be used, the nearest hydrant being at the corner of Forsyth and Aylwin streets, while the burning house was above Sherbrooke street.

When the fire was discovered, it had gained great headway.

In running to the fire, the engine of No. 13 station, East St. Catherine street, was stuck hard and fast in the sand at the crossing of Sherbrooke street. It was sunk below the hubs and could not be moved until after the fire was over. An engine from No. 19 station, which was successfully got to the scene had to do the work.

Both houses, one of which was totally destroyed, and the other next door, was damaged, were vacant. As tramps were frequently seen sleeping in these houses, it is thought that it was through their carelessness that the fire started.

District Chief Giroux said to a Star representative, that it was a difficult blaze to handle, especially on account of the difficulty in reaching it, the bad roads, the distance from water, and the impossibility to getting the apparatus into operation quickly enough. The loss is $2,000.

HIT BY PITCHED BALL—BATTER NOW IN HOSPITAL.

Rendered senseless by a pitched ball in a game between Loyola College and Westmount Academy yesterday, Herbert Rittenhouse, 17 years, was removed to the Western Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain. It was said to-day that there were strong hopes for his recovery.

The game was being played yesterday at Windsor Park and young Rittenhouse was at bat for the Westmount Academy team. A fast, high ball thrown by the Loyola College pitcher, struck him on the side of the head and he dropped senseless to the ground. It was not till late in the evening that he regained consciousness.

He is a son of C. B. Rittenhouse, of 4877 Sherbrooke Street, Westmount.

Congress yesterday passed a resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee to investigate the operations of the United States Steel Corporation.

LATE MR. HECTOR FABRE.

Patriot of Canadian Commissioner in Chateau de Ramesay.

A portrait of the late Hector Fabre, former Canadian trade commissioner in Paris, was placed in the Chateau de Ramesay last evening, when many of Mr. Fabre's friends were present. Judge Sicotte, Mr. Edouard Montpetit and others praised the interest Mr. Fabre had always taken in literature and art, and said that the country should commemorate his services.

CONSTIPATION

WILL PROSECUTE OPTICIANS.

Nineteen Said to Be Practising Without Proper Qualifications.

Nineteen opticians in Montreal will, it is stated, be prosecuted for practising without licenses and because they are alleged to be unqualified. This is the outcome of investigations made by the Association of Opticians of the Province of Quebec, whose sixth annual meeting was held last night.

In 1909, it was provided that all practising opticians in the province must be members of the Provincial Association. It is now proposed to lengthen the college course and to hold examinations at stated periods in place of irregular periods.

Two thousand dollars have been set aside for a building fund. The annual banquet will be held to-night at the Place Viger Hotel.

The Council of the association were re-elected, as follows:—J. Lewis Williams, of Three Rivers, the present president; N. Beaudry, R. de Mesle, secretary; P. G. Mount, H. Mothersoll, R. Carriere, F. C. Fox, H. Senecal and F. Emond. All except Mr. Williams are residents of Montreal.

Toronto, May 17.—A saving of half a million dollars to Toronto consumers of electricity is within hailing distance. The city's hydro-electric commission conferred with the Ontario Power Commission to-day, and will soon issue a schedule of rates that are very low. Hon. Adam Beck says that if the Toronto Electric Light Company would, as it announced, meet the city's rates, $500,000 would be a fair estimate of this saving.

Picton Workman Electrocuted.

Picton, Ont., May 17.—Reuben Jewell, aged 60 was electrocuted at the electric light station yesterday morning twenty-two thousand volts passing through his body and killing him instantly. He was cleaning the switchboard, and, by mistake touched two parts of the transmitter, getting the full force of voltage.

Hyde and O'Reilly in Court.

New York, May 17.—Charles H. Hyde, the city chamberlain, and Daniel O'Reilly formerly counsel for Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw, met in court here, where both were waiting to plead to indictments. Hyde pleaded not guilty, to an indictment superceding the original indictment against him, and was given until May 26 to change his plea.

O'Reilly pleaded not guilty to charges of receiving stolen goods.

England Protests Against Duma.

London, May 17.—The Russian Duma having declared that twelve miles from land was the fishing limit for foreign fishermen in the White Sea, Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, has notified Russia that the three-mile limit is unalterable without international agreement.

PARLIAMENT TO INVESTIGATE THE CEMENT MERGER

Semi-Official Statement Made To-day —Senator Edwards Views Situation Complacently.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, May 17.—That there will be a parliamentary investigation into the Cement Merger is the positive semi-official statement made to-day. It is understood that the matter has been discussed by the Government and the views of members elicited. Many of them are favorable to an enquiry. Some are indifferent, and some again consider that there is no authority. However, it is maintained that Parliamentary committees are vested with extensive power to go behind any legislation presented to them and this course is intended to be followed in regard to the merger in question.

Senator Edwards, president of the Cement Company, is viewing the situation very complacently. By reason of his long association with Sir Sandford Fleming he does not like to indulge in any criticism of him. It is known that considerable correspondence on the subject has passed between them, only a part of which has been published.

Says Company will Stand Up.

"The Cement Company will stand up, whatever breezes blow," remarked the Senator to-day. "It is bound to be the biggest thing in Canada. The Cement Company is not interested in the case in point. If any concern is involved, it is a bond company, not ours."

"What about an investigation?" he was asked.

"There is no authority for an investigation," answered the Senator, "but if some people are bent on having it, let them go ahead. We have nothing to fear from it. The present kick does not come from the shareholders."

The Senator, however, thinks that the chances are against the passage of the bill sanctioning the change in the stock issue.

Sharp Criticism of the President

Ex-Governor John Strange, of Wisconsin, Says it is Time for Taft's Resignation.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Washington, May 17.—Anyone who happened to entertain a "grouch" against the President need only go before the Senate Committee on Finance to have any views, no matter how disrespectful, accepted without rebuke and duly recorded in official "hearings."

Ex-Governor John Strange, of Wisconsin, has testified before the Finance Committee. He took occasion to say, apropos of the reciprocity agreement, and as an elaboration of his contention that it was fostered by the Association of Publishers.

"Why shall any man be privileged with an exalted office who will yield to the demands, through cowardice, of such an unworthy compialnt? When a man occupying an exalted place in the United States fears for his own election rather than to be concerned in welfare of nation, I say it is time for his resignation."

YALE STAR OUT FOR TIME.

Injury of Tommers More Serious Than Supposed.

New Haven, Conn., May 17.—The injury to Bennie Tommers, the Yale utility baseball player, proved more serious than was supposed. He turned his ankle in sliding to a base in the Pennsylvania game Saturday, and was on crutches today. He will be benched two or three weeks.

Tommers was just beginning to pitch again, and it was planned to use him in the box in the big games. He was Yale's leading twirler last year. As Leary, a promising pitcher, has left the squad, Yale seems likely to run short of pitchers soon.

Captain Corey, Stillwell, and Carhart, who have been laid up rejoined the nine today and will play against Brown on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Haughton left by motor for Albany. From there they will depart for the West, where their honeymoon will be spent.

The bride was the widow of Rev. Dr. Richard Lewis Howell, a millionaire clergyman of Baltimore.

SERIOUS GRAFT CHARGES.

U. S. Senator and Other Prominent Men in Trouble in Columbus.

Columbus, Ohio, May 17.—Senator Edgar T. Crawford, of Carroll County, and Representative A. Clark Lowry, of Lawrence County, Republicans, and Representative Owen J. Evans, of Stark County, Democrat, were indicted yesterday by the grand jury for bribe solicitation.

Crawford is alleged to have asked $200 from W. H. Cook, of Springfield, in connection with trading stamp legislation.

Lowry is now charged with soliciting $1,500 from Opha Moore, secretary of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association, for his vote on the 9-hour day for women bill.

GLASS BOTTOMED SHIPS.

An invention for covering ships' bottoms with glass with a view to securing greater speed and a saving in coal consumption has been patented in England. Arrangements have already been made for testing the practicability of the process on an ocean-going steamer. Greater speed at a lesser coal consumption are the advantages claimed for the invention. Hitherto it has been found impracticable to attach glass to the steel plates of a ship, as the expansion of the steel broke the glass after a very slight rise in temperature. After many experiments a composition of resin and linseed oil was adopted as the adhesive material, and the difficulty of the expansion of the steel was overcome by the introduction of a thin layer of wood pulp under the glass.

NICE TRIP FOR THE BOYS.

Contingent of Boy Scouts Will Go From Montreal to Coronation.

It was decided at a council meeting held yesterday afternoon to send a contingent of eight local Boy Scouts to the Coronation. Selection will be made from the 150 Scouts in the city, composed of 20 troops and 70 patrols.

Subscriptions to the amount of $1,650 from local gentlemen interested in the project were announced at the meeting, and those who have guaranteed the funds to cover the expenses of the trip are: Lieut.-Col. Whitehead, $500; Sir Edward Clouston, $500; Lt.-Col. J. Burland, $250; Lt.-Col. F. Meighen, $200; R. B. Angus, $50; general subscriptions, $135.

After witnessing the events in London immediately preceding and following the Coronation ceremonies, the boys will remain in England for the grand Scout rally at Windsor on July 4, at which His Majesty King George will be present.

A Toronto despatch states that a number of British army officers from Hong Kong are there en route to the Coronation.
