The figure for non-white women in 1947 was 61.9 and for non-white men 57.9. The average for the country as a whole was 66.8.

Istanbul, Aug. 18.—(P)—A violent earthquake rocked a large part of eastern Turkey last night, the Interior Ministry reported today.

Highest hit point was Kigi in Bingol province where four persons, including two children, were reported killed. Twenty houses were levelled, the ministry report added.

Wellington, N.Z., Aug. 18.—(C.P.)—Prime Minister Peter Fraser today told the House of Representatives that New Zealand will send three Dakota air transports to assist British forces at Hong Kong. The British government had requested the planes.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 18.—(P)—Six women died in a flaming death early today when their automobile and a car of soldiers crashed into a transport truck between here and Camp Campbell. Kentucky state police said two of the three soldiers in the other automobile were injured.

Strasbourg, France, Aug. 18.—(Reuters)—Winston Churchill left here by air today for the south of France, where he is to be the guest of Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born newspaper magnate, at Nice. Churchill plans to return here next week to attend sessions of the European assembly.

Corner Brook, Nfld., Aug. 18.—(CP)—Volunteer guards and regular firemen today brought under control a fire which earlier raced through this west coast mill town, destroying a department store. Loss was estimated at $250,000. There were no injuries reported. The blaze for a time threatened the court house and a church but it finally was checked by hard-fighting crews.

Polish Consul General In Montreal Resigns His Post

Washington, Aug. 18.—(P)—Jacek J. Rakowski, Polish consul-general in Montreal, has resigned in protest against his country's communist government and "the onslaughts of the communist governments" upon the Roman Catholic church.

Rakowski's resignation was announced last night in a statement issued here by Arthur Bliss Lane, former United States ambassador to Poland. Lane said he knew Rakowski in Warsaw several years ago.

In Montreal, members of the Polish consulate expressed surprise at the announcement of their chief's resignation. Vice-consul Sygdyf Wolniak said he had heard nothing about the matter until reached by newspaper men last night.

"Dr Rakowski left last Friday on holidays," Wolniak said. "He said nothing to us at that time." Wolniak said Rakowski and his wife had left for a vacation in the United States and their daughter had preceded them a few days before. The vice-consul added Rakowski was not a member of the Polish workers' (communist) party. Lane told reporters that Rakowski, who is seeking political asylum in the United States, came to Washington on leave in order to establish his status in the United States while still holding diplomatic rank.

Chinese Nationalists Admit Fall Of Foochow To Reds; British Ships Draw Protest

Mineral Resources Are Strained

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Lake Success, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(CP)—Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside, Canada's deputy minister of mines and resources, today warned that rising population and standards of living will place an unbearable strain on world mineral resources.

A solution of the problem must be sought in discovery of the new ore bodies, improved mining techniques and conservation, Dr. Keenleyside told the United Nations scientific conference on the conservation and utilization of resources.

Dr. Keenleyside, formerly Canadian ambassador to Mexico, spoke before the full assembly of some 400 scientists and experts from 45 countries, as one of the main speakers in a review of world critical shortages including food, forests and fuels and energy.

He heads a 25-man Canadian delegation including agriculturists, and mining, forestry, fishing, wild life and water and power experts. "The lonely prospector with hammer and pan is today a romantic rather than a significant figure," Dr. Keenleyside said. "In his place the contribution of the scientist must be brought to the rescue of the mining industry."

He said there now is not any "serious and immediate overall and irreplaceable shortage of any essential mineral."

But he added that "combination of an increasing population and rising standards of living will place a strain on our metal resources which will almost certainly in the end prove beyond the capacity of man and nature to supply."

The population of the earth was increasing at the rate of 20,000,000 persons a year. The universal demand for a higher standard of living would mean an expansion of demand for mineral products.

For example, he said, the United States used 760 pounds of pig iron per capita in 1945. World usage not including the United States was 47 pounds. If the world demand should develop comparable to the U. S. demand there would be no means of supplying it.

Dr. Keenleyside also noted that the utilization of atomic energy will require vast increases in the production of steel, copper, lead and rarer metals.

(Utilization of atomic energy was ruled out as a topic of discussion at the conference. Russia and the western powers have been deadlocked for three years in U. N. discussions in international control of atomic energy. Russia declined to attend the resources conference.)

Placing discovery of new ore bodies first in solution of the shortage problem, Dr. Keenleyside said the greatest hope lies in the undeveloped areas of northern Canada, South America, Africa, Asia and Australia.

"New discoveries will certainly be difficult to find but with our constantly-growing knowledge of the geological and allied sciences it may reasonably be expected that many discoveries will yet be made."

Communist Armies Make Big Gains In Asian Mainland War—Violation of Territorial Waters Charged to British.

Canton, Aug. 18.—(P)—China protested today that British warships, displaying a bellicose attitude toward nationalist naval units, had violated Chinese territorial waters.

The protest was handed to the British embassy yesterday by the Chinese foreign office as these developments came swiftly in the Asian mainland war:

1. Foochow, big port opposite Formosa, fell to the Reds.
2. The nationalists admitted withdrawing from the Miao islands, 210 miles east of Tientsin. The islands had been used by nationalist naval units to blockade northern communist held ports.
3. Communist armies mounted a big offensive in Hunan province.
4. Americans and other foreigners fled from Canton.

The United States consulate general expects to be closed by tomorrow.

The Chinese note of protest to Britain was given to John Coghill, embassy representative in Canton.

The note warned Britain against repetition. It said the British destroyer Concord was sighted off the mouth of the Yangtze river in territorial waters on July 31. After dark, the destroyer moved into the mouth of the river, the note said.

(The Concord that night kept a rendezvous with the British sloop Amethyst, which had been held on the Yangtze between Shanghai and Nanking for months by communist shore guns. The Amethyst escaped in a running fight down the wide river.)

The Chinese note said that any British warship entering territorial waters must have the approval of the nationalist government.

Fall of Foochow was first announced by the official central news agency from Taipei, capital of Formosa.

At the same time an army spokesman in Canton claimed the big port city still was in the hands of nationalist forces. The spokesman warned newspaper men, especially foreign correspondents, they were liable to arrest if they publish "false news."

Nationalist southeast China headquarters at Taipei, Formosa, announced all nationalist forces in the Miao islands off the north coast had pulled out.

The Hunan offensive was reported in official dispatches. They said Red Gen. Lin Piao was regrouping four armies totalling 120,000 men west of the Canton-Hankow railroad apparently for a drive southward.

Their objective probably would be to cut the escape route of nationalist Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi into Kwangsi province and bottle up his forces.

(Dispatches from Shanghai and Nanking said Mao Tze-Tung, Chinese communist leader, had decided to make Peking the Red capital of China when a Red sponsored coalition government was set up.)

(Mao, the dispatches quoted Shanghai and Nanking newspapers as saying, would rename the old Chinese capital Peking, the name it bore for 500 years before Chiang Kai-Shek changed it in 1928. In Chinese Peking means northern capital. Peking, the name chosen by Chiang for the historic old city, means northern peace.)

(Mao, the Nanking dispatch said, called for reconstruction of Peking to fit it for its traditional role as the capital. Mao's suggestion was made August 13 at a conference.)

Globe Aviatrix To Have Party

Cambridge, England, Aug. 18.—(P)—There is a party waiting here for Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait, who may finish today the round-the-world flight she started just a year ago.

Her husband, a Cambridge engineer, who stayed home with baby daughter, Anna, while his wife went flying away, said he had it planned.

"We will have a celebration of some kind," he said. "Then we're off for the holiday I've been saving up. My wife will probably want a good long rest after that trip."

The 25-year-old former artist's model hoped to fly today from Iceland to the Scottish island airport of Stornoway for refuelling, then on to London's Croydon airport which she left August 18th, 1948.

In London, civil aviation headquarters said shortly before noon that its Prestwick, Scotland, control had no word of Mrs. Morrow-Tait's Iceland to Stornoway hop.

Milk Grading System Is Ontario Aim

Toronto, Aug. 18.—(P)—A new system of milk grading, expected to be introduced during 1950, may cap a program of agricultural improvements aimed at making Ontario farm products the best in the world.

Agriculture minister Kennedy said last night he hopes to see buyers everywhere in the world bidding for Ontario butter, cheese, milk—and for dairy livestock—brought to perfection under a plan launched more than three years ago and now nearing fruition.

The program includes soil conservation, to retain and build up valuable mineral elements in the land itself, calfhood vaccination to eliminate disease from livestock herds, and educational projects to improve stock breeding and bearing.

The new milk grading plan under consideration is that now in use in New York State. It calls for grading milk as A, B or C, taking into consideration not only butterfat content but also the bacteria count and the condition under which the milk is produced and handled.

Only milk from cattle free from tuberculosis would be certified as grades A or B. Grade C milk, obtained under conditions below those set for the higher grades, would be banned from human consumption whether raw or processed.

Agriculture department experts have expressed belief that most Ontario producers could conform to the grade B standard. The department hopes to encourage as many farmers as possible to produce under grade A conditions—white washed barn walls and ceilings, absolutely clean utensils, and with facilities to cool milk to 50 degrees within an hour after milking.

If Ontario reaches the point where it has an exportable surplus of milk, the milk will meet the specifications of adjacent New York state.

Erich Von Manstein Goes On Trial Aug. 23 In Hamburg

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
Hamburg, Germany, August 18.—(P)—One of Hitler's top generals, Erich von Manstein, will stand trial in Hamburg August 23, as a war criminal—his defence paid for by the charity of his conquerors.

He will be the 938th—and last—German to face a British military court on war crimes charges. Of his predecessors in the dock 655 were convicted and 192 sentenced to death.

There has been considerable controversy in Britain concerning the case because of the length of time which he left August 18th, 1948.

In London, civil aviation headquarters said shortly before noon that its Prestwick, Scotland, control had no word of Mrs. Morrow-Tait's Iceland to Stornoway hop.

Forest Fires In The Townships

The smoke seen rising hundreds of feet into the sky in the top picture comes from fire in a sugar bush about four miles from Magog. This fire, one of a dozen in the district, is on the property of Hyacinthe Leblanc and Romeo Lacroix. The lower picture shows the road bulldozed through the woods near St. Elie d'Orford in an attempt to halt a fire burning there. Seen in the picture is Edmond Grimaud, one of the farmers whose property is burning. Grimaud has been fighting the blaze on his land, without help, for four days.

Two Major Fires Still Burn In E.T.; Heavy Rain Needed To Check Spread

Two large and many minor forest fires continue to bite unchecked into widespread chunks of bushland in the St. Elie d'Orford-Oromville area today, as much needed prolonged rainfall—forecast yesterday and today—has failed to materialize.

Concentrated at two sparsely settled spots—one near St. Elie and the other in sugar-bush about two miles from Oromville—the fires burn virtually unopposed.

So far damage has been confined mostly to woodland, as only one structure has been reported razed.

Low-hanging rain clouds forecast much-needed relief yesterday afternoon, but a 20-minute burst shortly after 5 p.m. did little more than level the dust. Clearing skies were forecast for this afternoon. Most serious of the two major fires, the St. Elie blaze was partially checked yesterday when a bulldozer cut a road through 10 acres of bushland, blocking it off. But the operator, Pat Ducharme, of St. Elie, was not very optimistic. "With a little wind," he explained, "the fire could easily jump this road."

With several helpers, Mr. Ducharme, a contractor, worked on the road all day yesterday. Due to the pressure of their own work, he said, they would have to give up fighting the fire. They estimate an area of 15 square miles has already been burnt out.

Owners of the land where the St. Elie blaze is confined—Gerald Mailhot, Leo Guilmette and Edmond Grimaud—blame the fire on careless blueberry pickers. Four acres of Mr. Grimaud's 50-acre lot have been razed, he said yesterday. He has been fighting the fire without help for four days now.

Also affected by the St. Elie fire are two Sherbrooke men, Dona Laliberte and Emile Cote. They have spent the last two days carting away 200 cords of cut wood which was piled just a few hundred yards from the fire's edge.

Mr. Laliberte said a large log cabin belonging to him and his partner on their 150-acre lot was destroyed yesterday. This is the only structure that has been reported levelled to date.

Dense smoke and a pungent odour permeate the area here.

Tito To Get Steel Mill From U.S.A.

By JOHN SCALI

Washington, Aug. 18.—(P)—Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia today picked up new reinforcements to carry on his fight with Moscow with assurance from the United States that he can buy an American steel mill.

After months of consideration, the Yugoslav government an export licence which it needed before placing the order for the plant.

The American decision represents the strongest and riskiest move taken by the United States government to help the Yugoslav dictator since he split with Moscow nearly 14 months ago.

It also settled a long-standing argument between the national defence and state departments on whether shipment of a steel mill to Yugoslavia would endanger American security. Defence officials had frowned on the idea.

The decision to go ahead foreshadowed possible approval of a loan to Yugoslavia from the world bank, where the United States has a dominant voice.

Government officials, who disclosed the approval of the Yugoslav plan, request to a reporter, said it was intended to help combat the tightening, Russian-directed economic blockade of Yugoslavia.

Shipment of the steel mill, valued at $3,000,000 would mark the first time since the war that the United States has deliberately sent "war potential" material to a communist-run country.

Poland and Czechoslovakia have been clamoring for American machinery and equipment for the last year. The United States has flatly refused to heed their appeals for fear such strategic materials might be used for war purposes.

The plant is to be built by the Continental Foundry and Machinery Company, in Pittsburgh. The delivery is scheduled one year after the company begins work on the order. In Pittsburgh, William B. Todd, an official of the company, said work on the mill already has started.

Government officials declined to disclose the payment provision but indicated the Yugoslav government is paying cash in dollars or making a substantial down-payment.

Smith Brothers Cross Atlantic

Dartmouth, England, Aug. 18.—(CP)—A pair of modern "Christopher Columbus" today completed an epic Trans-Atlantic voyage in their homemade 20-foot sloop. Brothers Stanley and Colin Smith sailed into this seaport in the southeast of England 43 days after setting out from Halifax.

Hundreds of people lined the docks as Stanley, 30, and Colin, 29, berthed the little craft they built in Canada. When they stepped ashore, they told a story of storms and calms, of privation and loneliness during the voyage of the Nova Espero—one of the smallest craft to ever make the Trans-Atlantic trip.

Mayor Bertie Lavers of Dartmouth was there and received from them a scroll with a message from the Dartmouth, N. S. mayor. Then he and his councilors took the voyagers off to a civic reception where the fare promised to be much better than the "few spuds" they fried up for their last meal aboard before landing at Dartmouth this morning.

They refused a tow from motor-boats that whizzed around the last few miles into the harbor, but the sea calmed in the last few hundred yards and they had to accept.

New Lieutenant-Governor Is Named For Newfoundland

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—(P)—Newfoundland, Canada's newest province, last night got five new dignitaries—a Lieutenant-Governor, a Chief Justice and three Senators.

Prime Minister St. Laurent announced the appointments after a three-hour cabinet meeting.

The new Lieutenant-Governor is 60-year-old Sir Leonard Outerbridge who will take office Sept. 5 when the present Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Albert Walsh, resigns to become Chief Justice of the Newfoundland Supreme Court.

The three new Senators are Ray Pettit and Maj. Alexander Baird of St. John's and George Penny of Ramea. They are the first of the six Senators Newfoundland is entitled to under the terms of its union with Canada.

Their appointment gave the Liberals 77 of the 102 seats in the Upper House. There are 15 Progressive Conservatives and 10 vacancies.

Services during the war as Chief of Civil Defence in the St. John's area.

Sir Albert, knighted just before confederation for his work on Newfoundland's commission government, was vice-chairman of the commission that governed Newfoundland from 1934 until confederation.

Just before union, he said he planned to retire from public life after a career as a politician and magistrate. He took the post of Lieutenant-Governor temporarily.

He was elected to the Newfoundland legislative assembly as a Liberal in 1927 and became Secretary of State in the government in 1932. But he was defeated when the Liberals were swept out of power in the 1932 general election. He was appointed to the commission government during the war and was head of the Newfoundland delegation that negotiated confederation.

Mr. Pettit, a former newspaper man, was associated with the pro-confederation movement in the days before union while Mr. Penny lived in St. John's but operates a business on the southwest coast. Maj. Baird's wife is a descendant of one of the Fathers of Confederation.

Hollywood — Remember that bright new world we were promised a few years ago? Well, it's here. Television has deposited it on the doorstep. You know what television is. Everyone does. Everyone, that is, who has the $250 to buy a set, a good credit rating at a store, or a nodding acquaintance with the corner tavern.

So I bought a television set. I'd pictured long quiet evenings at home with my little brood gathered about, enjoying the entertainment.

I overlooked the shambles the installation made of the living room. Furniture shoved around. Aerials waving on the roof. At last I was ready for the home-grown entertainment.

So what happened? Everything. And nothing. Did you ever see Shirley Dinsdale with stripes down her face and Judy Splinters suspended from the ceiling?

Next morning the repairmen came. They didn't have any trouble at all. In a matter of seconds, they had the video equivalent of Ma Perkins, fence and all. I had the bill for their visit.

Waits With Bated Breath
That night we rushed through dinner for the big show. With bated breath I turned the dials in the proper order. The screen couldn't have been clearer. Five minutes to go... then the door-bell rang.

"Hello, Eve," a booming voice bounced me against the wall. And there were my old friends from Weehawken whom I hadn't seen in six months. Hadn't missed them either. "Just driving by and saw the aerial on your roof. Figured you had a television set and we'd drop in and watch some shows with you."

Before I could say I was on my way out, the whole mob—actually, there were only four of them—rushed past, headed for the set, and each attacked one knob. They worked like a football team, with pop calling the signals.

I consulted the log for shows the next evening. We dragged out the blackout curtains from the attic and camouflaged the house. So what happened? The writers of my radio show telephoned. They wanted me to come right over for a story conference.

Into The Darkness
Off I went into the cold, dark night, leaving the happy little family group alone by the fireside. This wasn't the brave new world the advertisements promised. I was supposed to be in the circle—not off helping to keep it round.

Next morning the children reported that the show was great. They never had such a good time in their lives. So, that evening, we went through all those preparations again. You know what they are; we're suffering with this together.

I was comfortable in a robe and slippers. My chair was soft, life was never cozier. The children were lined up on the couch, their bright eyes shining anticipatorily.

The program came on. And before my eyes I saw a short-eared donkey riding on a clown's back. The clown looked like a little boy I used to know in grammar school. Then the clown flew into the air and the little boy did a ballet like Moira Shearer in "The Red Shoes." Suddenly he looked like Moira Shearer. I never thought he'd grow up to be so beautiful. Then everything turned purple and someone was tugging at my arm.

"Nanny, wake up. You sleep all through the television show!" Liza was saying. And so I did.

But don't misunderstand. I think television's great. I just hope I get to see it sometime before this brave new world passes on.

Salad Tea Sponsored By Women's Groups

Cookshire, Aug. 18. — A salad tea was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Farnsworth sponsored by two groups of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church.

The house was decorated with masses of garden flowers, gladioli predominating. These were grown by Mrs. Gordon Learned.

Friends began to gather at three o'clock and a pleasant social time was spent on the spacious lawn under century-old pine trees.

A delicious tea was served from 5 to 7 to upwards of 50 guests. Much credit is due to those who worked behind the scenes preparing the food so much enjoyed.

A business meeting was held earlier in the afternoon. A report was given by the kitchen committee on the splendid work done on the church hall kitchen.

The proceeds of the tea were very satisfactory.

Explanation Of Proposed Valuation Roll To Be Given To Chamber Members

The advantages of a permanent valuation roll, prepared on a scientific basis, will be outlined to the members of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce by J. Omer Lacroix of Three Rivers who has been engaged to establish such a system for the City of Sherbrooke. The meeting, to be held in the City Hall at four o'clock next Tuesday afternoon, will be under the chairmanship of G. M. Young, president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce.

In calling this session, to be held jointly with the members of the local branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Chamber of Commerce points out that a number of local business men have expressed fears that the proposed system will prevent new industries from coming to Sherbrooke and will discourage existing industries from going in for any further expansion.

However, the letter from the Chamber of Commerce points out that Sherbrooke never has had a scientific method of property valuation and that in fairness to the ratepayers generally some more equitable system should be worked out.

Specially invited guests at the meeting include Mayor Alphonse Trudeau, Ald. Armand Nadeau, sponsor of the resolution to hire Mr. Lacroix, Ald. H. Labonne, the recorder, and Ald. Eugene Thibault, chief opponent of the plan.

Gaston Taillon, secretary of the Chamber, also announced this morning that a municipal committee, composed of Chamber members, will be formed this week, for the purpose of dealing with various municipal questions which have been brought to their attention.

One of the main issues to be investigated is the use of property on Murray and Chalifoux streets as a dump. Several citizens have complained that a number of people are disposing of their refuse in this spot.

THE SEASON OF FIRES

August is one of the most dangerous periods of the year for forest fires, with woods and brush land, left tinder-dry by weeks of hot weather, easy prey for the unextinguished fires of campers or the matches and cigarette butts of berry pickers.

Last night's rain eased the situation somewhat in the Townships but at least a dozen fires, some large, others small, have sprung up in the last few weeks between here and Magog.

In most cases it is the farmers who suffer most from these fires for they are burning on their property. And the farmers blame the blazes on careless blueberry pickers who dropped their cigarettes into the bush without extinguishing them.

Such carelessness is an offence that cannot be over-emphasized. The loss caused is not to property alone, which in itself is not inconsequential. The farmers, at this time of year, are busy in their fields and cannot afford to devote days on end to fighting fires that should not have been started in the first place.

Woods areas in two sections of eastern Canada—in northwestern Quebec and in the northern Ontario district of Temiskaming—have been closed to all travel because of the fire hazard. Unless people travelling through the woods in this district are less careless, it might be best if travel in the Townships bushland were restricted as well.

TO THE NAVY'S CREDIT

The focal point of celebrations of Navy Week last week was the seaport city of Halifax. There the Royal Canadian Navy, assisted by fleet units of the Royal Navy and the United States Navy, put on demonstrations which reflected happily on the efficiency of the service.

Judging by comments appearing in the Halifax press, citizens and visitors in the wartime Eastern Canadian Port were high in praise of the show. Drills, naval displays and exciting recreational programs were run off with excellent results. The show provided a fitting highlight in the Halifax bicentenary celebrations.

As the Halifax Chronicle-Herald comments: "Our Navy can hold its head high for its displays and demonstrations presented by its men and ships."

U. S. SELF-SUFFICIENCY AND WORLD TRADE

The British dollar dilemma serves to stress the deep-seated shifts in the world trade pattern which lie behind the economic problems plaguing the world. One of the most significant changes taking place is a growing self-sufficiency for the United States in certain fields where it was formerly dependent on foreign supply sources.

That country is attaining that greater economic independence through expanded use of synthetic and other substitute products. In several cases, war's interruption of normal overseas trade lines spurred development of domestic alternatives.

Some examples come easily to mind. Chemical detergents are cutting into the market for regular soaps, with resulting damage to the demand for such South Pacific products as copra and palm oil, prime ingredients in ordinary soap.

The huge growth of American nylon production has all but wiped out the market for Japanese silk. This has been a grave handicap to Japan's postwar recovery.

Synthetic rubber production, developed during the war when East Indian sources of natural rubber were seized by the Japs, has stayed in the picture after the war. It is an increasing threat to the future American demand for the natural product.

While the United States is still importing oil heavily from the near East, Venezuela and other points, the nation has underway some costly experiments in the conversion of coal and gas into liquid petroleum. Should these experiments pan out and permit commercial-scale output of synthetic fuels, the time would come inevitably when the United States would pretty well forget about foreign oil sources—except perhaps some potential imports from Western Canada.

The United States already makes more of what it needs than most countries and now its ingenuity, driven faster by the war, is spreading self-sufficiency to still more fields.

On the other hand, foreign nations, their resources badly depleted by the war, need more desperately than ever to sell their products in United States markets. Unless they do so, they cannot get the dollars they require to buy the goods they want from this continent. In other words, it is this problem of the American advance that the Marshall Plan seeks to solve. It is clear this program will provide no permanent solution unless it somehow attacks the basic maladjustments growing out of such trade shifts as have been above outlined.

PRESS COMMENTS

BARRIERS FALLING

Sudbury Star

A two-paragraph item appeared in the news columns of the daily press, which we believe is deserving of re-publication to answer those who are critical of Canada's racial intolerance.

Date-lined from Victoria, B.C., the item states: "The British Columbia government yesterday wiped out a 27-year-old ban on the employment of Chinese and Japanese."

"It rescinded an order passed in 1902 which prohibited the employment of Japanese or Chinese on any Crown grant or leased timber or mining properties or on any government contract, or below ground in the mines. A new regulation provides that these restrictions are wiped out on any future contract for Japanese or Chinese who are Canadian citizens."

One of the themes preached by Prime Minister St. Laurent is that of racial tolerance and Canadian unity, a theme that has the support of the majority of the Canadian people.

The British Columbia government has taken a step that is in accord with the expression of Mr. St. Laurent and will do much towards the destruction of racial discrimination in the Dominion.

During the war years there was a great deal of sympathy voiced for the Japanese-Canadians who were exiled from British Columbia. The provincial government of that day was not reluctant to see successful Japanese businessmen and farmers hustled into the interior provinces. The re-establishment of these people in new homes and new livelihoods is not a happy chapter in Canadian history.

The loyalty of these people to Canada, was in nearly all cases, beyond question. The hysteria of war prompted actions which could only later cause regret.

The lifting of the ban by the British Columbia government is small recompense for the sufferings of the innocent but at least it is a healthy sign that racial tolerance is on the upswing in Canada's Pacific coastal province.

THE "BURDEN OF STATESMANSHIP"

Ottawa Journal

Because Prime Minister Attlee has gone to bed with a "bad chill" and Sir Stafford Cripps is being treated in a Swiss clinic and Mr. Bevin is said to be suffering from high blood pressure, a whole crop of writers are beginning to ask: "Are we killing our leaders?" Answering their own question, they conclude that we are killing them; and one of them, discussing "Ulcers and History" in the New York Nation, says our world is "being run by sick men."

We wonder if these writers, really put to it, could prove their claim? Mr. Attlee, Sir Stafford Cripps and Mr. Bevin, all leaders, are ill. But there must be millions of people in Britain, the United States and Canada who are also ill, people who have chills, or digestive ailments, or high blood pressure. Seeing that they are not leaders, what is "killing" them?

And leadership, what the writers call "the burden of statesmanship," doesn't always affect public men the way it allegedly is affecting Messrs. Attlee, Cripps and Bevin. There is Mr. Churchill. Mr. Churchill, who happens to be older than any of these gentlemen, did a lot of work during the war, carried many burdens. He somehow managed to get along without ulcers, and to emerge with pretty fair health. Mr. Lloyd George, in World War I, carried quite a few burdens; we never heard of him going to clinics until a very old man. General Smuts has had a pretty active career as a leader, has managed to do a lot of things; he is still going strong. We could extend the list indefinitely.

May it not be, therefore, that ailing British statesmen are not victims of leadership burdens at all, but of their own constitutions; that Sir Stafford Cripps would be ailing if he merely had remained with his law, and that Mr. Bevin's high blood pressure would be with him had he never seen Whitehall, and that Mr. Attlee's chill is merely something that comes occasionally to all sorts of people in all walks of life?

We are not saying that statesmen don't work hard; here in Ottawa most of them, largely because of lack of trained help or of faulty technique, work too hard. What we feel, however, is that this business of picturing public men broken in mind and body by having to carry Atlas on their backs is mostly a lot of nonsense—certainly something bereft of any scientific proof.

ESCAPE OF THE AMETHYST

Edmonton Journal

The night escape of the Royal Navy sloop Amethyst down sixty miles of treacherous Yangtze current and between Chinese communist shore batteries is "one for the book." Canadians—except possibly some of our redder Reds—will join in the general rejoicing occasioned by the little craft's daring exploit.

Typical is the official communist yarn that the Amethyst sank a Chinese vessel "drowning hundreds of passengers."

Possibly such a passenger ship was sunk, but if it was, it's dollars to doughnuts it was wild communist gunfire that did it. The Amethyst reports shore batteries did set fire to a small communist gunboat. One can imagine the indiscriminate firing that followed the warning that the British craft was escaping. Without doubt, anything moving on the river got it hot and heavy that night.

Bravo, Amethyst, and here's hoping the Hong Kong welcome will help your crew to forget the three months in which they were trapped on the Yangtze.

One Third Of Quebec's Working People Run Their Own Banks

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec, August 18.—(C)—About a third of Quebec's 1,400,000 working people run their own banks due to the curiosity and industry of a smalltown newspaper man of a half-century ago.

Gaspé fishermen, Lake St. John lumberjacks and Abitibi miners are among 400,000 little bankers, members of more than 1,000 credit unions, in Quebec.

The credit unions call themselves Les Caisses Populaires Desjardins. The "Desjardins" part of their name commemorates the initiative of Alphonse Desjardins, founder at Lévis in 1900 of the first credit union in North America.

Since the weekly newspaper editor and reporter of House of Commons debates hustled about hilly Lévis at the end of the last century signing on the 64 people who formed the first caisse, the movement has spread right through Quebec.

Today the province counts 1,019 Caisses Populaires in which the 10-cent-weekly subscriptions of their members have piled up into an asset total now upward of $150,000,000.

The entire structure of the credit union chain, supervised by a province-wide federation is built on the pennies, nickels and dimes that low-wage-earners have been able to scrape together.

A farmer, a settler or anyone else, can become a credit union member by buying a $5 share at the rate of 10 cents a week. An extra 10 cents, bringing his total membership fee to $5.10, is charged as an admission tax.

Members borrow from their caisse to settle a doctor's bill, to pay for repairs to a house or to build a new one. Interest rates are low—just enough to keep the caisse going and pay its manager who in most cases is the only paid employee.

Other work is voluntary. A committee of members approves all loans. Another group controls investment of funds. Any member

The Record Short Story

GHOST PLANT

By SANFORD JARRELL

Many of the great war plants that mushroomed over California are idle now, huge reminders of the industrial defense effort that came into being in the late 1930s and supplied the armed forces of half the world with the tools for victory. Several of these structures near Los Angeles, once part of an aircraft factory, were now empty shells, although the main part of the plant was still a going concern, turning out craft for the government and commercial aviation concerns.

It was to this group of buildings that Ben Joplin was tooling his convertible on a torrid Summer afternoon. A number of small factories had rented quarters there, but it was not the teaming place it had been, where at the peak of wartime production thousands of workers in three eight-hour shifts toiled in each of the buildings. And on a Saturday afternoon, Ben knew the place would be all but deserted.

However, he had been told that a typesetting machine in good condition could be had reasonably at a printshop that had moved its plant away from high rentals downtown. He had telephoned and learned that although it was Saturday afternoon, the foreman would be there late and would let him inspect the machine. Ben himself owned a small shop, and was doing well enough to consider expanding. He did need another typesetting machine.

Ben Joplin drove carefully in the week-end traffic of people from the city headed for the mountains and those from inland communities bent on a holiday in the city or at the seashore. Most of them in a hurry, too, to get somewhere fast. He passed the main section of the aircraft plant, which was still a busy place; ugly factories set in a plain, with miles of runways. The faded camouflage added no beauty to them, although the buildings had plenty of sunlight and were very modern. Beyond were the vacant structures, barns of vast dimensions, where lesser manufacturing firms in the business of making more peaceful articles than bombers, fighters, guns and munitions were gradually moving in, some with only a few on their payrolls and others with more ambitious rosters.

Ben turned in and then wondered if the man who had the machine to sell, Mr. Brown, had told him it was Building Two or Building Three. He stopped at Three, and no one was in sight save a customer or two in a small luncheon room across the way. He got out of the car and walked over.

"I'm looking for the Brownie Press," he said. "It's a printshop in one of these buildings."

The youth behind the counter shook his head. "I've been here only a couple of days," he said.

One of his customers put down a hamburger and said: "There's a printshop here, in Three, I think. Anyhow, there are some printers I run across here every day. I think they're in Three."

Ben thanked him, and the man said: "Better drive in. You'd get lost if you don't know where to go exactly, or it would take you an hour, maybe, even if you didn't get lost."

You could have laid four lanes of railway tracks into the building through the big open entrance. It was built somewhat in the shape of a gunset hut, multiplied many times in length, width and height. Far off at the other end was an other entrance; it seemed a mile away.

Down the length of the structure between yawning spaces that were barren of any machinery—it had all been moved out and stored—were narrow two-story mezzanine floors, with iron stairways at intervals leading up to them. It was gloomy in there, and Ben decided to drive along looking for a light along one of the upstairs corridors, which were divided into offices or shops. If he found a light, he could inquire.

Ben drove to the far end, entered the second corridor and doubled back, and then took the third. There was not a sign of life. It was really sepulchral, but after all, it was late on a Saturday afternoon in Summer, and who would be hanging around a gargantuan barn when the lakes and streams in the mountains were teeming with fish, and the cool breezes from the Pacific washed the beaches.

He stopped the car and got out, THE END

Lesson Hand

SHREWD PLAY WINS DOUBLED GAME BID

Before discussing the lesson on the play of today's hand, I just want to call your attention to one bid. When West doubles one heart, North bids two hearts. He does not redouble. The reason for this is to make it a little more difficult for East to get into the bidding. Also, North is trying to tell his partner that all his hand is good for is hearts. North and South can make five hearts. South, however, elects to double four spades, instead of bidding five hearts.

The ace of clubs is cashed. South then leads the queen of diamonds which is won in dummy with the ace. The hand now looks rather hopeless and it is, unless declarer starts to think. If declarer leads a trump at this point, South will win and lead a small diamond. North will win and return a club, which South will ruff.

Declarer knows from the bidding that South is all probability has both the ace of spades and the ace of hearts. Therefore, declarer should lead the king of hearts from dummy, and discard the losing seven of diamonds. In this way he breaks up the communication between the North and South hands. South will win the trick, but now when he leads a diamond, declarer can trump. He can lead a trump which South will win and thus East and West can make four spades doubled.

So once more let me remind you how important it is to keep the bidding in mind when you are playing the hand. All the bidding today's hand marks the all of the high cards in the South hand.

COMMUNITY-WIDE TB SURVEYS CAN SAVE UNWITTING VICTIMS

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

The great white plague, or tuberculosis as it is more commonly known today, is an infectious disease. The germ which causes it is most commonly caught from a person with the disease although it can be carried also by unpasteurized milk or contaminated meat.

The best line of attack is to prevent the spread of the germ. One of the best ways to attack this problem is to survey the entire population of a community or city with the aim of picking out those who have the disease but do not even know it.

People who do not even know they have tuberculosis may infect others. The community survey has now become possible because of revolutionary improvements in the technical methods of diagnosing tuberculosis. This technical improvement involves the use of a tiny or miniature X-ray film.

Big-City Equipment
Probably Savannah, Ga., was one of the first large cities to try this method out on a large scale. The county in which Savannah is located has a population of 150,000. During the autumn of 1945, nearly 75,000 residents of the county appeared voluntarily for chest X-rays.

Since that time several other cities including Washington, D.C., Seattle, Washington, and Cleveland, O. (in which such a survey is now in progress), have carried out similar X-ray surveys aimed at revealing unsuspected cases of the disease.

Mass tuberculosis surveys offer a wonderful means of picking out unknown tuberculosis (and often equally unknown other diseases of the chest). This permits many thousands to obtain proper treatment early enough to bring about a cure and helps to protect their many relatives and friends from acquiring this serious disease.

Q—Some members of my family are subject to bloating indigestion and nervousness with coated tongue and backache. What is this condition?

A—There are several possibilities. The most likely is a condition called spastic colon. The bloating could be caused by swallowing air unconsciously, a condition which is fairly common and associated with some nervous dispositions.

Customers' Corner

Have you ever noticed the date stamped on each carton of A&P eggs? It is put there to protect the quality and freshness of this perishable item.

An egg that is Grade A when it is inspected and packed could become Grade B or C by the time you buy it if it has been improperly or slowly handled.

We don't want that ever to happen to an A&P egg. That is why we put the date when the eggs were graded on each carton. Eggs not sold within a few days of that date are removed from sale even though they are still of good quality.

If you should ever find that any of our egg cartons bear old dates or that any eggs fail to live up to our high quality standards, please tell us about it. Please write:

MR. and MRS. GEORGE ALEXANDER McCAMMON, of Montreal, pictured with their attendants as they are leaving Christ Church, Lower Ireland, following their wedding which took place recently. The bride is the former Miss Irene Dorothy Christie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Christie, of Clapham, Que., while the groom is the son of the late A. M. McCammon and Mrs. McCammon, of Thetford Mines. He is a graduate of McGill University.

MARRIAGES

McCAMMON—CHRISTIE

Lower Ireland, Aug. 18.—Miss Irene Dorothy Christie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Christie, of Clapham, Que., was united in marriage to Mr. George Alexander McCammon, son of the late A. M. McCammon and Mrs. McCammon, of Thetford Mines, Que., recently at Christ Church, Lower Ireland. Rev. A. V. McLaren officiated, and the organ was played by Mrs. John Fargy. The altar and sanctuary were adorned with pink and white flowers with tall standards arranged on either side of the altar steps, and the guest pews were marked with daisies tied with white satin bows.

Maid of honor was Miss Phyllis Christie, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth (Betty) Johnston, cousin of the bride, and Miss Marion Christie, another sister of the bride.

Acting as best man for the bridegroom who is a graduate of McGill, was his brother, Mr. John McCammon, and the ushers were Mr. Grant Vaudry and Mr. William Christie, brother of the bride. Given away by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over heavy white satin, fashioned with a tight fitting bodice having a V neckline edged in scallops, and dolman sleeves tapering to points over the hands. The straight lines of the skirt were gathered to a bustle back fullness and fell into a short train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a cluster of Stephanotis and she carried a bouquet of Pinocchio roses tied with a white tulle bow.

Miss Phyllis Christie, the maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore similarly styled sleeveless gowns of organza, embroidered with a white scroll design and made with semi-Chinese collars, the skirts gathered to bustle back bows and fashioned with slight trains. The maid of honor wore butterfly yellow, Miss Betty Johnston, enchanting pink, and Miss Marion Christie, summer's green. They had headresses of carnations which blended with their frocks and carried carnations in the same tones.

Mrs. Christie, the bride's mother, wore an afternoon gown of mist blue crepe trimmed with lace, navy hat and accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. McCammon, the bridegroom's mother, in an afternoon gown of heavenly pink, also wore navy accessories, and a corsage of deep purple pansies and pink carnations.

A reception was held later at the home of the bride's parents, where luncheon was served on the lawn amid the flowers and shrubbery. The couple went to the Laurentians for their wedding trip, the bride wearing for traveling a navy blue linen crepe dress, Panama hat in natural shade with navy veiling and a corsage of cream colored roses.

Mr. and Mrs. McCammon are residing in Montreal.

LAVERS—HUNT

Ayer's Cliff, Aug. 18.—At a large formal home wedding, at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, August 17, Barbara Alice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. R. Hunt, of North Troy, Vermont, became the bride of Winston John Lavers, Jr., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lavers, of Ayer's Cliff.

Before a beautiful arch of trailing pine and white flowers, the double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert C. Yoh, pastor of North Troy's First Church. Miss Beverly Leavens, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Norman Toof, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in her lovely bridal gown of white silk marquisette and Chantilly lace, fashioned with a high neckline and lace encircled yoke, the skirt ending in a long train. Her fingertip length veil fell from a white satin coronet caught with orange blossoms and she carried white gladioli, with a shower of baby mums.

The bride's twin brother, Mr. Bertram Hunt, acted as best man. Mrs. Bruce Fauchs, of St. Albans, Vt., as matron of honor, wore a pale blue taffeta gown with coronet of the same material. She carried a bouquet of pink roses tied with multi-colored ribbon.

Little Patricia Hunt, niece of the bride, was her flower girl and looked winsome in a floor-length yellow organza dress. She carried a nosegay of pink and yellow rosebuds tied with narrow ribbon matching that on the matron of honor's bouquet. The bride's mother wore a navy dress with corsage of yellow rosebuds, while the groom's mother chose a flowered silk frock, also with a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The rooms were artistically decorated for the occasion and Mrs. Maude Douglas, aunt of the bride, presided at the bunch bowl, assisted by Mrs. Beverly Hunt, the bride's sister-in-law. Mrs. Ruth Hunt was in charge of the wedding cake, and Miss Alice Fauchs of the bride's cake.

A pair of sapphire earrings was the groom's gift to the bride, while she presented him with an engraved cigarette lighter. The bride gave pearls to her matron of honor, and the groom's gift to the best man was a collar pin and tie clip.

For their wedding trip to the White Mountains, Old Orchard and the Maine Coast, the bride wore a navy gabardine suit with red accessories.

Guests were present from Sherbrooke, Asbestos, Lennoxville, Ayer's Cliff and Coaticook.

DUNHAM

The August meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the summer home of Mrs. R. S. Selby, at Selby Lake. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. R. S. Selby. There were ten members present and fifteen guests. At the close of the business meeting Mrs. Donald Martin, of Sherbrooke, gave a very interesting demonstration of Wear-Ever brushes. Several prizes were given, and the W. I. received 15 per cent bonus of the sales made. After the demonstration a delicious lunch was served by the members.

A meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church was held in the Sunday School room. A hot supper was served to the public. After supper the business meeting was held, and it was decided to cancel the last meeting in August and the first one in September. Regret was expressed that Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Boomhour would soon be leaving for their new home in Ayer's Cliff.

The Misses Margaret, Muriel and Ruth Boomhour were in Abbotford to visit their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Gillespie. Miss Alice McElroy, R. N., has returned to Sherbrooke, after spending a week at her home. She was accompanied by Miss Helen McElroy and Mrs. Carl Brock.

Mrs. Edith Small, Mr. Donald Small and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown, of Cowansville, motored to Vermont for a family gathering at Dream Lake, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wright, of Hartford, Conn., called on Mrs. E. Pettes and Mr. Albert Guillet, also on Miss Carrie Baker. They attended the supper at the United Church.

Terry McElroy, of Sutton, spent a few days at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McElroy.

A'S DOWN BRAVES 7-3; MEET TONIGHT IN DOUBLEHEADER

Eddie Thomas Chalks Up Third Win Of Season With Three-Hitter; Brandt And Mellis To Hurl Tonight

Sherbrooke Athletics last night downed St. Johns 7-3 and gained a full game in the second-place race to Farnham. Drummondville kept pace on top of the loop by downing St. Hyacinthe 9-4.

At St. Johns the locals took over the lead at the end of the third inning with a 4-1 count, and from then on were never headed as they extended their count with a single in the fifth, and added two more in the ninth to finish well out in front. The Braves got their last runs in the sixth for a total of three, which was the best they could do against the hurling of Big Eddie Thomas.

Thomas, who chalked up his third victory of the season, allowed only three hits and retired eleven Braves at the bat. Manager Gladu continued his bat manager spurge and helped his team's cause. This evening, weather permitting, the Athletics will be at home to the Braves again in the second doubleheader at the local park. The first game, which will be seven-inning tilt, will commence at 7.15 with the second following immediately.

Royals Split With Syracuse Chiefs

Jim Wilson, Buffalo right-hander, is the proud possessor of a no-hitter today, even if it is only an abbreviated job.

The 200-pound six-footer last night pitched the Bisons to a 5-0 triumph over Jersey City in a game that was halted by rain while the Little Giants were at bat in the seventh inning.

Wilson, making only his second Buffalo start since his purchase from Baltimore a week ago, allowed only four runners to reach base, all on walks. He fanned three. Two of the passes came with one out in the seventh. Rain halted the game at that point, and the umpires called it after a delay of 45 minutes.

It was the second no-hitter this season, and the first by a Buffalo pitcher since 1943 when Rufe Gentry accomplished the feat in an 11-inning triumph over Newark.

The other no-hitter this season was turned in by Alfie Porto, Toronto southpaw, who did it in a seven-inning game early in the campaign.

It was Wilson's fifth victory, his first with Buffalo. He has lost nine. Home runs by Cy Block, Lonnie Frey and Jack Hussey accounted for four of the Bisons' runs.

Rochester moved into second place, one game in front of the Giants, with a 15-6 triumph over Newark Bears. Don Thompson paced a 13-hit attack with four safeties and batted in four runs. Jim Hearn coasted to his seventh triumph.

The fourth-place Toronto Maple Leafs swept both ends of a doubleheader from Baltimore, 3-2 and 11-0. Jocko Thompson gained his 12th triumph in the opener. He has lost only two. Bubba Church, although injured in the fourth inning of the nightcap, was credited with his 11th victory.

Montreal and Syracuse divided a doubleheader, the Royals winning the opener 3-1, and the Chiefs only two hits in racking up 7-1 in the nightcap. Bud Byerly limited the Royals to seven hits to gain his 16th pitching triumph in the nightcap.

Spokane Ball Player Married At Home Plate

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 18. — (P) — A baseball player was married last night at home plate before 6,000 fans and nobody yelled "you're out!"

Catcher Jack Parks of the Spokane Indians married Betty Mae Tibbett before donning his mask to play against Victoria.

It was a beautiful wedding. There wasn't an umpire in sight.

Fire Destroys Barns At Raton Race Track

Denver, Aug. 18. — (P) — Fire early today was sweeping through the La Mesa horse race track at Raton, N. Mex.

Chet Nelson, sports editor of the Rocky Mountain News, said Mrs. Harvey Foster, racing secretary, telephoned him that "it's a bad fire. Three barns have been burned."

She reported that about 50 horses were probably destroyed. She said there were fears that some groomings and other stablehands might have been injured.

Saratoga Yearling Sales Move Upward

Saratoga Springs, N.Y., Aug. 18. — (P) — The 1949 Saratoga yearling sales stood a good chance today of finishing almost on a par with last year's auctions.

When the sales began last week, it was feared that the figures would show a decided slump from 1948 prices.

Although the second week has not broken any records, sellers fared much better than expected. Through last night, 363 colts and fillies changed hands for $1,311,300 and an overall average sale of $6,610.

New York, Aug. 18. — (P) — Two short blocks back of Yankee Stadium will help perpetuate the name of the most famous Yankee of them all—Babe Ruth.

"Babe Ruth Plaza" was dedicated last night before a crowd of 5,000 including the entire present-day Yankee team.

Manager Casey Stengel and his American League leaders stood, in uniform, around the speakers stand as tribute was paid to the late home-run king.

Mrs. Claire Ruth, widow of the late Yankee star, attended the ceremonies.

Jose Cortinas, 32-Year-Old Cuban, Forced To Abandon English Channel Swim After Six Hours In Water

Calais, France, Aug. 18. — (P) — Jose Cortinas abandoned his attempt to swim the English Channel today and returned to Calais after covering half the distance to Dover in six hours.

The 32-year-old Cuban left Calais at 8:45 p.m. ADT, Wednesday.

Earlier, it had been reported from Dover, on the English side of the Channel, that fresh northeasterly winds had stirred up choppy seas in that area.

Dover headquarters for Shirley May France, 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., high school girl, announced that in view of the roughening waters she would not attempt her Channel swim this afternoon.

If later forecasts are favorable, she may begin her swim at midnight, her advisors said.

Cortinas was beaten by the bitter cold and adverse winds that rolled heavy waves into his face.

When the boat that accompanied him returned to Calais, Cortinas was lying on the deck asleep, covered with blankets. His petite wife, Elda, stood over him.

"He was magnificent," one crew member exclaimed.

Emile Ranson, official timer who made the trip in the boat, said: "Cortinas is a superb swimmer. I am sure he would have beaten the record if conditions had been any good at all. It was too cold, that is what beat him."

Docusen Brothers Aspire To World Titles At Same Time; Salvation To Promoters In New Orleans.

FIGHTING FAMILY—Maxie, left, and Bernard Docusen are two fighting brothers, both of championship timber at the same time.

New Orleans, La.—The current shot at Robinson's title in Chicago. He later went to Honolulu and beat Frankie Fernandez, the pride of Hawaii.

In 60 professional fights Maxie was held to a draw only twice. That's the closest he came to ever losing a decision.

Returning home after an absence of more than four years, the two boys drew terrific crowds in New Orleans. They've been the salvation of the boxing promoters in the Crescent City.

Maxie defeated Joey Barnum of Chicago in 10 rounds, drawing 8170 fans and Bernard followed two weeks later by defeating Al Guido of New York before 8484 fans.

The two drew combined gates of $34,566.89 gross, $40,708.47 net. The $28,489.74 gross, and $20,999.08 net for the Docusen-Guido bout set a modern record here.

Until the return of the Docusens, the promoters, Heard Rags and Abe Katz, were struggling along with gates of $3000, occasionally getting one at $5000.

The fight game has had many brother acts but today the Docusens stand out as threats for two titles.

You'll be hearing plenty about them from now on.

Maxie, the younger of the two, is only 20, yet has had 60 professional ring engagements without a defeat, is regarded as the one likely to succeed Ike Williams as lightweight champion.

Bernard, a welterweight, is 22 years old.

Throughout the years the fight game has produced many fighting brothers but rarely are two from a family considered championship timber at the same time.

The boys aspire to become world's champions in their respective divisions, hold the titles at the same time.

"They're both boys who will go on," to quote Lew Raymond, veteran promoter who has settled in New Orleans.

"I believe Bernard has reached his peak and from now on will go places. If Sugar Ray Robinson finds it difficult to make the weight, Bernard is the boy to succeed him. He is a master boxer, clever and can take a punch."

"Maxie is a good prospect," Raymond continued. "He looks like a comer but he is still a year away from meeting a champion. He is the more rugged of the two and a good puncher. It will take a good boy to beat him."

Both boys, of Filipino parents, were raised in New Orleans.

"They've been boxing since they were babies in arms," to use Raymond's expression. They boxed in the gym long before they started as amateurs. Both had illustrious careers before turning pro.

For the past four years both boys confined their boxing to parts away from their home, especially in California where they have trained fast. Bernard got one
