Sixty-Fifth Year

Asks West 'willingness' in E. German talks

K may not sign treaty

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev said today that he would not insist on signing a peace treaty with East Germany by the end of this year if the West showed willingness to negotiate on the German problem.

Khrushchev told Soviet and world communist leaders that Russia still "insists on the speediest solution of the German problem."

But, the Soviet premier said, "if the Western powers display readiness to settle the German problem, the question of the time limit for the signing of a German peace treaty will not be so material."

The Russian leader also told the opening of the Soviet Communist party's 22nd congress that he was confident there would be no war with the West.

Khrushchev said he was confident that communism would be victorious in competition with capitalism.

"We are confident that the victory will be won in peaceful competition and not through war," he added.

He repeated his theme of peaceful coexistence, stating that Russia would do everything to strengthen peace throughout the world.

He said the Communists were against the "export of revolution."

But they do not recognize anybody's right to export counter-revolution," he added.

"In the event of imperialist export of counter-revolution, the Communist will call on the peoples of all countries to rally and firmly repel the enemies of freedom and peace."

The Soviet premier, making his first major speech for several weeks, was given a two-minute standing ovation when he entered the recently constructed new congress hall within the Kremlin walls for the opening of the important conference. The congress is being attended by more than 4,000 delegates, including representatives of most Soviet-bloc countries and of Communist parties in many Western nations. The Chinese delegation was headed by Prime Minister Chou En-lai.

Among the surprise delegates was Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, the former Soviet premier who was denounced in 1958 as a leader of the "anti-party" group.

There was one absence from the congress—Albania boycotted the meeting.

Albania's absence apparently was the result of its espousal of Communist China's viewpoint in recent ideological differences between Peking and Moscow.

Khrushchev in naming the 80 countries represented also ignored Yugoslavia, which was represented at the 1959 party congress by its ambassador in Moscow.

After unanimous election of the congress presidium, secretariat and committees—all honorary posts—the congress adopted an agenda including discussion of the new party program, new party rules and the report of the party's central committee.

Khrushchev then arose to review the new party program, Communist policies at home and abroad and the situation of the Communist movement.

The congress was called primarily to endorse Khrushchev's grandiose new program which envisages a Communist Utopia within 20 years.

But Western nations were more concerned about what the Russian leader had to say about the world situation and about the first cautious contacts between East and West over the Berlin crisis during the last month.

If the imperialists dared to attack the Communist countries, Khrushchev said, "this mad act" would be their last and it

Statement eases East-West talks

BONN (Reuters) — West German government sources said Nikita Khrushchev's statement today that he would not insist on signing a German peace treaty before the end of this year would probably make it easier to find a basis for East-West talks.

The sources said the statement did not come as a surprise since the deadline for the peace treaty signing had been omitted from Soviet talks with British and American statesmen in Washington, New York and London.

The sources also noted that neither East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht nor Soviet Deputy Prime Minister Anastas Mikoyan had referred to the deadline during Mikoyan's recent visit to East Berlin.

But the sources said the West German government considered today's statement significant since it showed that the Russians might have been impressed by their recent talks with Western statesmen and so created a more favorable atmosphere for negotiations.

Sabre jet sale outcry

Yugoslavia asks if U.S. changing policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Yugoslavia was reported today to have asked the United States if it is changing its policy toward the Communist country.

Informants said the Belgrade note came in response to the outcry here over the U.S. sale to Yugoslavia of 130 surplus Sabre jet fighter planes.

Yugoslavia diplomats, the informant said, fear a change in U.S. policy toward President Tito's government might put Yugoslavia in a diplomatic no-man's land between East and West.

State department officials would not confirm receipt of the note.

Informants said that Tito's government expressed the hope there will be no change in basic relations—including U.S. economic co-operation—between the two countries.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Monday a current review of U.S.-Yugoslav relations "goes into all aspects of assistance to Yugoslavia."

The Tito regime recently asked the United States to consider selling to Yugoslavia some additional surplus agricultural commodities with payment to be in Yugoslav currency. The United States has not agreed to negotiate this request.

It's been reported that President Kennedy was irked by Tito's stand at the Belgrade conference of 25 non-aligned nations. Tito's speech at the conference tended to support Soviet policies.

Diplomatic sources said Kennedy made known his views in a sharply worded memorandum handed to the Yugoslav leader by U.S. Ambassador George F. Kennan last month.

Nasser also indicated that a cabinet shakeup was on the way when he said government reorganization necessitated putting "the right men in the right places."

Nasser did not say when the cabinet changes or government reorganization would come, but sources said news of Nasser's plans could be expected this week.

Nasser admitted that errors had been made which led to the recent Syrian revolt.

Just as imperialism wanted to take back the Suez Canal after its nationalization, "reaction" now wanted the land in Syria to dominate and exploit, he said.

"I am fully confident that reaction will collapse and will be compelled to evacuate the bridgehead it had occupied in Damascus."

Moslem hurred over a cliff

ORAN (Reuters) — A European mob today hurled a young Moslem over a sea wall with a drop of 120 feet as new rioting flared in this western Algerian coastal city.

The Europeans had just come from the funeral of a European killed Monday by a Moslem. They stormed into the Moslem market and upset stalls, set fire to a car and threw the youth over the wall.

The youth's fall was broken by a projecting buttress but he was badly injured.

Oran authorities ordered an extension of an evening curfew to the entire city. It previously applied only in the suburbs.

Hope to start Windsor bridge repairs today

WINDSOR — Repairs on the bridge connecting Windsor and Greenlay, closed Monday morning after the back end of a truck crashed through a section, were expected to begin late today. Repairs are expected to take two or three days.

Officials were forced to close the bridge early Monday morning when the rear wheels of a truck went through the bridge, leaving a twelve foot hole.

No one was injured. Crews worked for over two hours to free the truck.

Monday morning the mayor of Windsor, Raymond Noel, phoned the Department of Roads in Quebec, asking for permission to repair the bridge as maintenance of the bridge is under Government jurisdiction.

The government agreed to send a representative from Quebec as soon as possible to oversee the repairing work, which will be done by roads department men.

The mayor said that the representative was expected today and that if he arrived in time the bridge might be re-opened to some traffic Wednesday morning.

Mayor Noel said that everything is being done to repair the bridge as soon as possible as it has interfered with school and work schedules.

3 flee E. Berlin in truck

BERLIN (Reuters) — Three young East Germans today crashed a truck through a border checkpoint in West Berlin.

The trio protected their windshield with a thin iron plate, leaving only a tank-like observation slit for the driver, West German police said.

Two other East Germans made escapes through the border today after a spectacular leap to freedom Monday by five persons who jumped from a second-storey window of an apartment house onto a loaded West German gravel truck.

The driver of the gravel truck Monday noticed several persons waving frantically at him from a window of the apartment house and realized they wanted to flee.

He quickly steered his truck onto the sidewalk and shouted: "Okay, now jump."

One by one, the refugees dropped onto the gravel — a couple aged 36 and 33, and another couple, aged 45 and 41, with their 15-year-old son.

Order desegregation on three railroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Robert Kennedy has announced that three major railroads have ordered racial desegregation of all their facilities in the southern states.

But two of the railroads said later they hadn't been practicing segregation.

Kennedy issued the statement after Rev. Martin Luther King told a press conference that the justice department had told him of the desegregation orders put out by the railroads — the Illinois Central, Southern and the Louisville and Nashville.

King, Negro integration leader from Atlanta, had conferences Monday with both President Kennedy and his brother, the attorney-general.

King said he had been advised the railroads had "issued orders, to go into effect immediately, that all facilities, all terminals be desegregated immediately."

As King was making his announcement, department officials were preparing a statement detailing the plan.

They said the statement was to have been issued today after confirmation that the order had gone into effect in 10 southern states — Louisiana, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida,

Red radiation study opposition expected to continue in the UN

UNITED NATIONS — more Communist speakers when the Soviet bloc was expected to return to the attack today.

In a major speech Monday, Tremblay listed figures and then declared: "The basis for our urgent examination of this problem is the indisputable fact that sharp increase in radioactive fallout has occurred as a result of nuclear weapons testing."

Czechoslovakia's Jan Pudelak launched the counter-attack by formally presenting a resolution which — while much more limited in scope than that of Canada — seeks to take the steam out of the anti-radiation drive.

Both the Canadian and the Czech drafts address themselves to an annual progress report of the 15-country UN scientific committee on the effects of atomic radiation.

NOTES WORK

But the Czech aim was merely to take note of the committee's work while the Canadian initiative was to speed up its work. The Canadian resolution would also start collection of radioactive data through the global facilities of the World Meteorological Organization, of which 102 countries are members, and by analysing samples of soil, atmosphere, bone and other materials.

Tremblay, Canadian ambassador to Chile, said radioactive fallout has increased greatly in Canada and elsewhere since the Soviet Union resumed testing nuclear weapons in the atmosphere.

Although Tremblay stressed

Canada ponders Common Market

Study effects of joining various trading groups

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Quebec (CP) — The Canadian government is studying industry by industry the results that would follow from Canada joining various trade groups, Trade Minister Hees said Monday night in an address to the Canadian Exporters' Association.

"We are considering Canada as a whole," he stated, "and on the basis of what we learn we will make our decision."

Mr. Hees, departing widely from a prepared text, said that Canada probably has never been faced with a more important decision.

Some Canadian industries, such as the pulp and paper industry, would be helped if Canada were in the European Common Market.

"But," he added, "when we make our decision we have to make sure that it will be of net benefit to the whole economy."

LOWER WAGES FACTOR

If Canada were to join the Common Market, Canadians would have to face the competition of European skills and lower wage rates and the ability of European management and labor to sit down together, and see what is needed to make products that will sell.

"We can, he said, "have that sort of situation in Canada as soon as management and labor stop fighting one another like cats and dogs."

He concluded: "If ever there was a time

Revolution plot claimed

QUITO (AP) — Ecuador's government announced Monday night the arrest of 16 persons charged with a widespread plot to topple the regime of President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra.

Security director Gonzalo Jaimes claimed Lt. Col. Cesar Paredes, chairman of the municipal council of Quito, in Los Rios province, headed a country-wide network that planned to start a revolt today.

He said government agents seized a shipment of arms from Communist countries and Communist literature including Che Guevara's book Guerrilla War, when Canadians have to think in terms of Canada, this is it."

Mr. Hees said Canadian business men should feel "just as much at home" in any part of the world as in any part of Canada.

To this end they could call upon the services of Canada's trade commissioners and, if they felt any deficiency, he asked the exporters to write him a personal letter.

PROMOTION SUCCESS

Since the export trade promotion conference in Ottawa last December, some $22,000,000 worth of new business had been developed as a direct result of the conference, mostly in fully-manufactured goods.

Canadians, Mr. Hees stated, enjoy a great deal of good will in Europe and, if price, product and salesmanship were right, "they like to do business with us."

Earlier in the day the association approved a plan designed to greatly increase its role as a source of information for exporters and as their voice in discussions with the Canadian government and at international trade gatherings.

Five women and seven men comprise the jury.

The prosecution ended its summation Monday. The defence did so last Friday.

Miss Reis, fourth defendant to be tried following the convictions of three alleged conspirators last spring, is accused of hiring burglars to crack the safe of John B. Rich. Rich has testified that only about $3,000 in cash was taken. He has called police testimony "all lies" concerning the amount.

The prosecution contends that the shapely brunette used about $25,000 from the Aug. 7, 1959, burglary at the home of Rich, a wealthy coal operator to purchase the Celebrity Room night club in Philadelphia. Miss Reis once danced in the chorus line of the club.

In his summation, Assistant District Attorney Calvin J. Friedberg told the jury that Miss Reis had "planned it, aided it and abetted it and shared in the proceeds."

"She is implicated up to her neck," Friedberg said.

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Communist China is granting exit permits to citizens who want to leave the country—in return for 15 tons of fertilizer from abroad, it was reported here today. Hong Kong newspapers reported that so many Chinese had asked their relatives abroad to comply with the demand that the price has shot up in recent weeks.

Mother, son killed in plane crash

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A mother and her ailing son were reported killed Monday night in a private plane that crashed into Conception Bay near Carbonear.

The pilot, Donald MacKenzie of Halifax, escaped after being thrown through the glass cockpit into the water. He swam for part of the 200 feet to shore before being rescued by Carbonear resident Fred Earle.

A search and rescue report, listing both mother and son as dead, said the bodies were believed to be in the cockpit beneath about 60 feet of ocean water.

Neither was identified, and search and rescue officials said the pilot was unable to supply the information in a brief interview before being put under sedation in hospital at Carbonear.

Guy Earle, owner of the Earle Freight Service of Carbonear and a close friend of the pilot, gave some details of the mishap after talking briefly with MacKenzie.

Greater love hath no transplanted Californian than that he can't even say a bad word about Los Angeles smog. That demonstrates the extent of the love affair between the suave Italian and California.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Benny, to echo the opinion of an admiring colleague, is without question the best comedy actor of our time.

And, continuing to borrow from Steve Allen, the first reason we laugh at Jack is that we have been conditioned for more than 25 years to do so.

Jack Benny returned to weekly television on CBS Sunday night to start his 11th season — or his 29th, if you count all those years on radio. We laughed.

We laughed at all the things we have learned over the years about the character Jack plays: His stinging, his vanity. We laughed at his long, long takes and that cocky assurance so easily punctured.

It was familiar stuff. But if it had been anything else we would have been disappointed.

He had Phil Silvers for a guest star Sunday night. There also were surprise appearances by

Dist. governor:

Optimism—source of inspiration

"Optimism is rooted in divine truth and is a philosophy of life that answers the needs of you and me."

These were the words of Alf Percival, district governor of zone 28 who visited the Sherbrooke Optimist Club Monday night.

The governor traced the history of Optimism back 1900 years, explaining that the first Optimist Club consisted of twelve members who believed that there was a hope in life and upheld this philosophy until it spread the world over.

An Optimist must always look on the bright side of things, Mr. Percival said.

"We know that people are going hungry in the world but we also know that something is being done about it. We read the papers and see that there are wicked criminals in the world but we also know that there are far more good people than there are bad people."

The governor said that the main thing to do in life is to search for the "brighter side." He added:

"Optimists are no star gazers, always looking to the star in the sky."

As an example of this Percival pointed out the millions of dollars being spent by Optimist International for the youth of today.

"Tomorrow the world will be what we, who are training the youth, make it. It does no good to build million dollar highways if we let our youth have the crumbs that fall from the table."

In closing, the governor said that "life has always moved forward for those who hold their heads in the sky and dare to have faith. To succeed in life one must hold to the light and believe that tomorrow will be a brighter day."

Driving charge nets motorist heavy fine

A 22 year old Greenway man was fined $100 and costs, or one month in jail, in District Court yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

Donald Godbout also pleaded guilty to a second charge of injuring five persons while driving his car in a criminally negligent manner.

Judge Redmond Hayes recommended sentence on the second charge to October 23. The maximum penalty on this charge is 10 years.

School marks anniversary

The 100th anniversary of the incorporation of Bishop Mountain Hall in Coaticook was celebrated last Saturday with an afternoon tea sponsored by the Quebec Committee of Bishop Mountain Hall.

Bishop Mountain Hall is a boarding home for girls without homes and for girls who live too far away from home to attend school. At present, there are 15 girls staying at the home although the school can accommodate up to 20 girls.

The home was originally founded in Quebec City but was moved to Coaticook in 1942.

Two matrons, Miss M. Carter and Mrs. G. Humphrey of Ayer's Cliff.

Guests from Sherbrooke, Lennoxville and surrounding districts attended the tea. Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Ross of Quebec and Miss A. Gillard of King's Hall in Compton.

Pourers at the tea were Mrs. J. K. Goodfellow of Coaticook; Mrs. G. Kendrick of Coaticook; Mrs. Teakle of Quebec City; and Mrs. H. M. Black of Coaticook.

Father of 13 given break

A father of 13 children was given a suspended sentence yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of theft.

The accused told the Court that he came upon a chain saw lying in a wooded area as he was hunting during the weekend. He admitted intending to keep the expensive saw, but was immediately arrested by the QPP.

Judge Hayes told the accused that he was giving him a chance because of his family. The latter promised the Court that this was his first and last appearance in a Court House.

City to build road to golf club

Residents ask city to move race track

A group of 30 persons representing the residents of Park, Terrill, St. Michel and other streets in the East Ward, petitioned the City Council last night to remove the Sherbrooke race track from its present location.

The petitioners said that while they felt bad about the race track they did not wish to raise objections as long as the grand stand was there.

Now that the grand stand is destroyed they said they would like the council to reconsider the possibilities of moving the whole thing to another site.

The representatives claimed that with the loud-speakers being used until late hours three times a week, the heavy traffic and the odours coming from the stables the area hardly looked residential.

With the present schools and the new teacher school to be built in the area, the district is becoming an educational centre, said the petitioners.

The existence of race tracks in this area is no longer tolerable they maintained. The petition was supported by Ald. Felix Thibault.

Ald. P. Gervais expressed his sympathy with the residents but pointed out that the rights acquired by the people running the race track a long time ago cannot be just taken away.

The city council promised to look into the matter but suggested that this problem be settled in a friendly way and asked the residents to meet the harness race organizers.

The council last night decided to fine the city's suppliers who fail to deliver orders after 10 days. The penalty will be 1% per day late of the order value. The decision was taken in view of the fact that most suppliers are delivering the orders with long delays.

E.T. Auto Supply which was asked last week to return to the city the order for 600 imp. gallons of anti-freeze declined to do so. Because of a clerical error made by the City Hall 6 tenders were placed in the wrong box and among these tenders 2 bid lower than Auto Supply. The error was found out too late.

Section of West Ward has power black-out

Nearly one quarter of West Ward homes in Sherbrooke and one major plant, the Canadian Ingersoll Rand Company Limited, were without electricity for sixteen minutes early Tuesday morning.

According to a spokesman for the City of Sherbrooke Electricity and Gas department, West Ward electricity was shut off at 12.30 a.m. so that a broken "lightning arrester" could be taken down from the Rand Sub station on Courcelle Street.

The Sherbrooke Electricity and Gas department had been notified of the break down around 4.30 p.m. Monday afternoon. It was decided to take down the broken arrester late in the evening so as not to inconvenience West Ward residents.

Large plants, such as the Canadian Ingersoll Rand and the CPR station, had been notified ahead of time of the City's intention to shut off the electricity.

Police continue search for bank robbers

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Cowansville and Montreal provincial police are still on the lookout for any clues that would help them in their search for thieves who held up the Mansenville Branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce last Friday night and got away with approximately $5,000 cash.

Jean Staniulis, head of the Cowansville detachment told the Record Monday that police were still on the lookout for a get away car that could have been used in the robbery.

The thugs, wearing red cloth bags over their heads, gloves on their hands, and each armed with a revolver forced four customers and three employees, including the bank manager, J. C. Longpre 31, of Mansenville, to lie on the floor while they emptied a drawer of a teller's cage.

Thieves entered the bank at 7.55 p.m. Friday evening, five minutes before closing time.

No getaway car was seen by any of the witnesses, but police believe there was a third bandit waiting in a nearby automobile while the holdup was taking place.

Citizens sign petition to gov't.

WATERLOO — (Special) — A petition is being circulated in Waterloo at the present time saying: "We, the undersigned, paying taxes in Waterloo request that the proper department of the provincial government be instructed to clean Waterloo Lake with regards to the weeds and other foreign objects."

Fire burns and burns

MOIRA, England (AP) — (AP)—Theodora Insley turned on the cold water faucet and out came hot water and a cloud of steam.

Her husband, William, in the garden, dug his spade into the ground. Out came smoke.

The Insleys sent for the fire department.

The firemen found an underground fire in the garden. All day Sunday they dug and by dusk they had removed 50 tons of old coal mine waste.

"My house stands on filled-in ground and the soil is full of pieces of coal," said Insley, 62, a mine official.

"The fire must have started last July when I burned some garden refuse."

Chief fire officer William Stretton said "we'll just have to keep digging until we get all the burning coal out."

City to build road to golf club

Site not yet decided; Musset St. possible

City Council last night brought a solution to the heated dispute over a proposed Vermont St. entrance to the Sherbrooke Country Club.

The city has decided to build a new road leading to the club.

Lots bordering the future Musset St. are considered as a possible site of the road.

Council hit a snag on the question of financing the construction of the road. The new asphalt road is estimated to cost $15,000 but according to city charter governing road construction projects, the city can only pay 40% of the costs. The remaining 60% is divided among the residents of the street.

The problem arises because there are no residents at this spot, the question is who then will bear the costs.

The aldermen submitted the motion that the city bear all the costs and charge the 60% for re-allocation to the future residents. Council believed that once the street is opened people won't hesitate building there.

The city is also anxious to obtain the necessary guarantee to ensure that the lots which will border the future street will not be used as parking space but instead developed as a residential area in compliance with the zoning by-laws and urban development plan.

In order to iron out these questions, city hall representatives will meet the Sherbrooke Trust Company trustees of the site.

The council's decision puts an end to fears that the new club entrance would be located on Vermont street—a project that was condemned by the street's residents.

Adopted also was a motion urging that means be taken to obtain the right of negotiation and collective bargaining for postal employees.

Vanishing farm lands

One of the growing problems in connection with the rapid expansion of Canadian cities is the steady transfer of prime agricultural land from farming to residential properties. While the situation locally may not be too serious, the past few years have witnessed several fine farms on the outskirts of Sherbrooke being transformed into residential sub-divisions and even industrial properties. This results in a diminution of the supply of readily-available farm produce at the very time the urban population formerly served by the farm is increasing.

Then, too, those green belts on the outskirts of heavily-populated areas, which provide some measure of relief for the oppressiveness of city living, are disappearing.

The problem is one for which there is no easy solution. Agricultural production must be maintained. But it is unjust to compel a farmer — faced with steadily mounting local taxes — to retain his farm when offered a high price for it by some real estate developer.

Driver retraining

Hailed as the first program of its kind to be applied on a state or province-wide basis, a driver retraining program for traffic law offenders is being introduced in the State of Vermont later this month.

Under the legislation adopted at the last session of the Legislature, a judge can order that any driver who has a record of repeated traffic offences undergo a period of retraining before he can use the highways again. By this retraining, it is hoped that the danger of traffic accidents will be reduced. Safety authorities all over the continent are watching the outcome of the Vermont test with interest.

Undoubtedly the new system will impress upon many drivers the real nature of the traffic regulations, especially those individuals who received their licenses before compulsory examinations were required before permits were issued.

oper. One suggestion put forward at the annual meeting of the Community Planning Association held in Halifax was that municipalities offer tax concessions to farmers who keep their land in production. But the value of this is dubious, as in very few cases would the tax concessions be sufficient to offset the prices offered by the development groups.

The use of marginal or sub-marginal lands for real estate development has been suggested and offers certain attractions. But, too often, especially in the Eastern Townships, this type of land is rocky with only a few inches of soil over solid rock. This makes the cost of excavating for foundations and the provision of required water and sewage services almost prohibitive.

The only solution, and even this is open to many, many objections would be to have all real estate developments controlled by some central, public authority, who would purchase the land required after determining its respective values from an agricultural and urban development viewpoint.

SMILES ACROSS THE SEA

(New York Herald Tribune)

A nice bit by Howard Lindsay in the Saturday Review (American) bears the provocative heading: "The British have no Humor." Then it goes on to report as follows:

At the time of the recent trial for obscenity of "Lady Chatterley's Lover" in England, a Member of Parliament gave the book some qualified support.

"I have read this book," he announced. "I would not object to my wife reading it. I would not object to my daughter reading it. But I'm not so sure I'd want my game-keeper to read it."

And in a debate in the House of Lords a tiresome member had been speaking at excessive length. During his peroration he said, "And now I have to ask myself —" An impatient voice interrupted him.

"Well, you're going to get a damned silly answer."

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — We made a spectacular addition this summer to our list of national misdeeds by carelessly and wantonly putting the torch to eight million acres of timberland.

The 1961 forest fires don't surpass the slaughter of the buffalo and the pollution of our lakes and rivers, but they are of the same order.

How much is eight million acres of forest? It's four times as much as the average annual forest fire loss.

It's more than the total annual cut in Canada of about 3,100,000,000 cubic feet of wood.

It's enough lumber to build more than a million houses, plus enough pulp logs to keep three big pulp mills running for 10 years.

It's the greatest waste of our magnificent forest resource ever recorded in one year.

"Most of this waste is inexcusable," says Deputy Minister of Forests J. D. B. Harrison, "because eight out of 10 fires are started through human carelessness. A few are even set deliberately, from spite, or to gain a few days' employment in fire-fighting."

There are even records of blueberry pickers firing the forest because blueberries grow well on burned-over land.

Compared with the average annual burn of two million acres for all of Canada, this year the flames gorged themselves on two million acres in Manitoba alone. Ontario, British Columbia and Newfoundland each lost a million acres; other provinces lesser acreages. In Newfoundland, Premier Joey Smallwood reported sadly that hopes to persuade private capital to establish a third pulp mill in his province had literally gone up in smoke.

Nor was that all. Isolated homes and even small communities were destroyed. The savings of poor men's life-times billowed skywards. Wildlife perished in tragic numbers — in burrows and in dens, in cover and in panic. Forest clad haunts of the well-heeled tourist and hunter and angler lie blackened and dead — in many places perhaps for generations, for the scorched earth is slow to regenerate life.

Two things can be done — indeed, must be done — to minimize this appalling loss. First, people must be made personally aware of the cost of their carelessness. We must instill an active consciousness of the forest fire danger in the minds of all whose vocation or travel takes them to the forest.

The same kind of propaganda effort that went into saving the whooping cranes would save millions of acres of forest.

Second, as Dr. Harrison points out, fire fighting "requires extensive organization, large and varied supplies of equipment, and big investments in communications, strategy and tactics somewhat akin to military operations."

For months the new Department of Forestry has been under pressure from provincial governments and from wood industries to form a national fire fighting service. It would be a "Forest Guard" — analogous to the Coast Guard for which the Tories pressed while in opposition, but which still doesn't exist.

The government appears to have rejected the proposal. When Prime Minister Diefenbaker visited fire stricken Newfoundland recently he disclosed the government "is giving consideration to" earmarking army formations for emergency forest fire service.

Good — but is it good enough?

SAVING FREE SPEECH AT THE UN

(Christian Science Monitor)

South Africa's Eric Louw is right about one thing. Someone on the United States delegation should have risen to speak against the Liberman move for United Nations censure of his racist policy speech.

Unfortunately Ambassador Stevenson was not in the hall when the African nations, justifiably angry at parts of Mr. Louw's speech, took the unjustifiable course of trying to expunge it. But it is too bad that no other member of the United States delegation had the wit at least to quote Voltaire to the chamber.

For the United States does not indeed agree with Mr. Louw's apartheid ideas, but it should be defending to the utmost his right to say them. So should the new UN members.

bers. They, too, may someday wish to say things that are repugnant to a majority of members.

While this issue is out in the open, instead of tiptoeing silently away from it the American representative ought to face it head on. It won't do to try to offend no one by saying nothing. That way both sides will end in being suspicious of Washington intentions. The better course would be to again express disagreement with Mr. Louw's policy but declare that where speeches, not acts, are concerned the United States will back the right of any member to express its views, however contentious, short of slander.

As evidence, Mr. Stevenson and his colleagues can cite America's calm reaction last year to that four-hour harangue by Fidel Castro and to Mr. Khrushchev's exhibition of sticking to his last.

United, progressive party

UK Tories create a new image

BRIGHTON — (TNS) — Harold Macmillan can look back on the Conservative Party meeting here last week with deep satisfaction.

During the four day conference which Macmillan did not attend, the party did exactly what Macmillan wanted:

It presented Britain with an image of not only a united but also a progressive party: the government's victory in bitter controversy over Britain's entry into the European common market astonished everybody by its extent.

Only about forty people or less than one per cent of the conference participants voted against the common market negotiations.

The government feared the conference would split, perhaps even defeat the government on reintroduction of judicial corporal punishment the medieval cat-of-nine-tails whip — extension of hanging.

Among ordinary members of the Conservative party there are very strong demands for whipping and more hanging and the government was afraid the party might show itself as a blood-thirsty retrograde movement.

In some moments this fear seemed justified. Hundreds wined when the proposer of the hanging-whipping motion began "Ladies and gentlemen I am not a sadist". Howls of disapproval were sweet music to government ears when he went on to demand Butler appoint ex-Governor of Cyprus, Field Marshal Harding, his special assistant to deal with violent crimes.

A speaker who shouted "If necessary we must have the courage to put the clock back a hundred years," was answered with loud shouts "No".

A stout middle-aged businessman from Liverpool was howled down by horrified Tories when he said hanging and whipping were not enough and the only solution was sterilization. (He is married but has no children).

Even the motherly lady demanding the whipping of criminals got more disapproval than applause.

It is socially significant that all speakers in this debate whose origin was the working class or lower middle class demanded whipping and more hanging, while all of higher social background

By EDWIN ROTH passionately opposed it. Many conference participants showed they favor total abolition of capital punishment.

A very pretty girl of 29 in a delightful hat who made a brilliant speech against hanging and whipping was loudly applauded and gave the nation the finest possible image of progressive young Tories.

Finally Home Secretary Butler got a tremendous ovation for a speech in which he refused to change his liberal policy of progressive penal reform.

A demand for reintroduction of the Medieval whip and increased use of the gallows was overwhelmingly voted down by the conference.

During the debate on the economic crisis and on Chancellor Selwyn Lloyd's crisis measures there was loud applause for speakers insisting capitalists as well as workers must make sacrifices and demanding a capital gains tax.

Such speeches and such applause is very new at Conservative conferences.

Annoyance at criticism was more than compensated by the speeches value for a new party image.

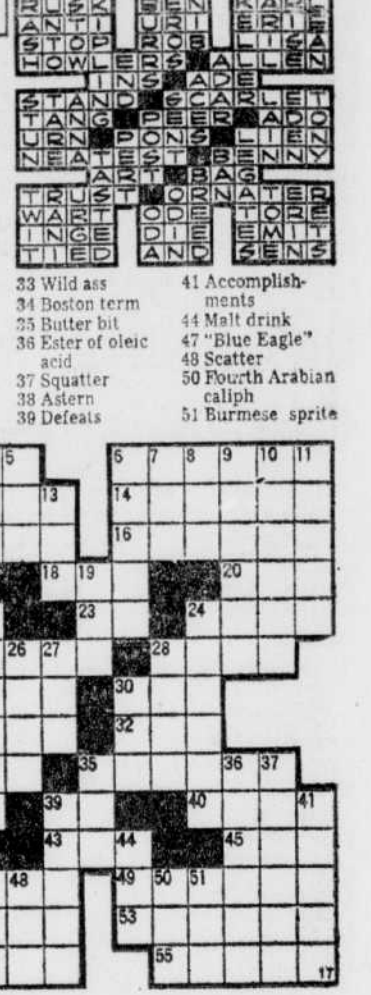

To improve this new look even more Macmillan has appointed "leftist" Iain MacLeod as party chairman. This removes MacLeod from the colonial office for which he was too liberal to suit many Tories tastes, but will enable him to turn the party into a progressive modern creative force.

The conference made very clear that that is what most Tories want today. It's extremely worrying for the Labor party.

The Doctor Says

Dr. Hyman

WIDE AWAKE DREAMS OF A LETTER READER

There are days when I have to pinch myself while I'm reading my mail just to make sure I'm not in the midst of some fantastic dream. Let me give you a few samples to illustrate what I mean:

"I have hesitated writing you about your column entitled 'Home Remedies are Not Cures for the Common Cold' for the reason that it is very difficult for a layman to discuss anything that has not been developed by a medical doctor or has AMA approval (But) an engineer, a research chemist and myself developed a medicinal item for the relief of colds which has sold extensively on the open market. Further research was made at one of the large medical schools but because we did not have medical training we were unable to do anything with it. We spent thousands of dollars on TV advertising and took in large amounts of money but gave up when the pressure was put on. Your comments would be appreciated."

"Recently I read the article you thought up on osteoarthritis. You made the statement that there was no hope for the osteoarthritic at the present time—that one would have to grin and bear it. You even stated that diet was no benefit. Will you admit that osteoarthritis is a degenerative disease? If so can't our bodies be regenerated by eating the correct foods and drinking the right liquids and getting a correct balance of our blood?"

"I know it can be regenerated and many hundreds more know about this regeneration. . . . Hundreds, yes hundreds, have been cured by my doctor (a D.D.S.). And his patients and ex-patients are building a big research foundation for additional research yet the AMA says he is a quack."

"I think your article did a disservice to you and the profession and the people of the world for you flatfootedly said that there was no hope for the arthritic. If you want to know the name of the D.D.S. that cures arthritis through biochemistry, I will give you his name. He has been checked and double-checked by the AMA. They know what he can do. But his treatment is no good. Because he works through regeneration of the blood."

What makes these and similar letters appear so fantastic to me is the obvious fact that there's not a doctor, a medical school, a research foundation, a corner drugstore, a pharmaceutical manufacturer or a government agency of the Health, Education and Welfare Dept. that wouldn't give their eye teeth to obtain one or other of these "cures."

Many of the great discoveries in medicine were made by persons who were not physicians. Pasteur, the Curies, Roentgen and Ehrlich to name a few, at random.

The AMA has neither the power nor the desire to curb research much of which, at this very moment, is being performed by scientists trained in fields that are only remotely related to the field of medicine.

Neither I nor any other physician nor the AMA as a body can label a person a quack without exposure to an action for libel.

Only a governmental agency, such as the Food and Drug Administration, has the power to obtain an injunction to protect the public against worthless and fraudulent remedies and treatments. And such actions may take years to complete; as in the case against the "Knoch Treatment" for cancer (actually sterile distilled water given by injection) which started in 1943 and continued until the seizure of equipment and material by U.S. marshals on Nov. 3, 1950.

Rangers' Andy Bathgate Setting Pace In NHL Scoring Race

Charlie Shepard's Punting And Lions' Fumbling Kill Their Chances For Playoff Berth, Bombers Win

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charlie Shepard's punting and their own fumbling have wiped out all on grounds the referee changed hope British Columbia Lions might have had for a playoff berth in the Western Football Conference—regardless of the decision of Commissioner Sydney Halter on their protest of an earlier loss to Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Shepard's last-minute single Monday night gave the Bombers a 16-15 victory over the Lions, who turned in their best home performance of the season but lost the game on two third-quarter fumbles that led to eight Winnipeg points.

The victory gave Winnipeg a three-point lead over the second-place Edmonton Eskimos in the Western Conference standings, while it left the last-place Lions down three points from 14 games.

Halter has said he will announce his decision on the protest Wednesday. But even if the Lions are awarded the win and the first Bomber touchdown, catch Calgary Stampeders for the third and last playoff berth since they have only two games left in the regular schedule.

The Lions protested their 24-20 loss to Bombers a week earlier on grounds the referee changed his decision on a field goal attempt, first ruling it good then throwing it out.

The Lions gave it a great try Monday night, keeping up the hopes of the 20,778 fans in Empire Stadium until the last second.

They trailed 1-0 in the first quarter, led 7-1 at the half and were in front 15-7 before the Bombers tied the score as the third quarter ended. The Lions got to the Bomber 30-yard line with 31 seconds left in the game, only to have a 26-yard gain wiped out by an offside penalty that kept them out of range for the tying single.

Shepard got two points, the while it left the last-place Lions down three points from 14 games.

His first came from the Lion 42-yard line in the opening quarter. But even if the Lions are awarded the win and the first Bomber touchdown, catch Calgary Stampeders for the third and last playoff berth since they have only two games left in the regular schedule.

Indians Setting Pace For Honors In AHL Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Springfield Indians have picked up where they left off last year in American Hockey League scoring.

After the first week of play, Springfield players hold five of the top seven spots.

League statistics released today show Floyd Smith and Brian Kilrea of the Indians are co-leaders with seven points in three games, with last year's scoring champ, Bill Sweeney, right behind with six.

Rochester Americans' Alex Faulkner of Bishops Falls, Nfld. is one of five players tied with five points each.

Charlie Hodge of Quebec Aces is the leading goalie, although he has played only one game. He allowed one goal.

Unknown Places Rose At Spot Where Ace Died

MONZA, Italy (AP)—Plutonium gently against the track's edge at Monza Raceway is a red rose, replaced almost daily by a never-seen hand to mark the spot where a star German race driver was killed.

Track officials have been unable to learn who places the rose at the track, but they suspect it is a woman mourning the death of Baron Wolfgang von Trips.

Von Trips, 33, was killed Sept. 10 when his car careered into spectators during the Italian Grand Prix. Fifteen spectators died with him. The first rose appeared a week after the accident.

"Thus far we have failed to solve the mystery," Giuseppe Baccigalupi, director of the track, said Monday. "But we shall go on keeping our eyes open."

The rose marks the spot where von Trips' Ferrari racer bounced back, cockpit down, and crushed him. The letters "W. T." were found printed in chalk on the edge of the track. No one removed the first rose, placed in a water-filled vial and stuck into the ground.

The mystery deepened when attendants noticed that the rose was soon replaced by a fresh bloom almost daily.

Baccigalupi ordered what he called "a discreet, unofficial investigation."

MAGOG HOLDS SPORTS DAY — Princess Elizabeth High School of Magog held a Sports Day last Saturday when they entertained Mount Bruno High School. A full day of games introduced a new type of competitive sport and the officials of both schools were more than pleased with the result. Italy Knocks Over United States 4-1

ROME (AP)—Italy trained itself had already sewed things about the U.S. getting back in sights on Australia and another crack at the Davis Cup today.

The United States began the long wait until next year.

The Italians—after beating the U.S. in the interzone final 4-1—promptly began preparations for the trip to Australia.

In December, the Italians for the second consecutive year will meet Australia in the Challenge Round for the top prize in international tennis.

Italian tennis officials said they probably will use the same three men against Australia who beat the U.S.—Nicola Pietrangeli, Orlando Sirola and Fausto Gardini. Last year the Italians lost to the Australians 4-1.

Pietrangeli, 28, who has dominated European amateur tennis for the last few years, decided a year ago to join Jack Kramer's professional troupe, then changed his mind, saying he wanted to remain an amateur to help Italy win the Davis Cup.

In the matches with the U.S. he won two crucial singles matches, defeating Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., and Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif. He was instrumental in giving Italy a third point, teaming with Orlando Sirola to beat the doubles team of Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., and Reed.

Gardini won Italy's fourth point by beating Reed Monday in the final match after Pietrangeli had covered 706 yards in 108 tries, compared with 712 yards in 100 carries before Tiger-Cats crushed Argonauts 37-10 Sunday.

Thelen, who shares the major Rough Rider carrying chores with Ron Stewart, made second place in rushing gains with 730 yards in 135 attempts.

Stewart, the league's top scorer with 10 touchdowns in nine games, is in fourth spot in the rushing with 684 yards in 100 tries. Montreal's George Dixon has carried 99 times for 556 yards and fifth place.

Gerry Thompkins of Alouettes heads the passing list with an average gain of 11 yards per pass thrown, although he has completed only 34 in 71 attempts.

Toronto's Tobin Rote has completed 181 of 317 passes for 2,473 yards, but stands sixth in the average gain list with 7.8 yards.

Als' Don Clark Setting Hot Pace In Yards Gained Rushing In Big Four, Has 930 Yards For 157 Bucks So Far

TORONTO (CP)—Fullback Don Clark, ball-carrier-in-chief for the last place Montreal Alouettes, is almost two lengths of a football field ahead of his nearest rival in yards gained rushing in the Eastern Conference.

Clark was set loose 23 times in Ottawa Saturday and ran 168 yards to help Alouettes overpower Rough Riders 24-14. He increased his 11-game total to 930 yards in 157 bucks and sprints for an average net gain of 5.9 yards.

Toronto's Cookie Gilchrist crumbled before the Hamilton defence Sunday, recorded a net loss of six yards on three carries and slipped into third place in the rushing race behind Ottawa's Dave Thelen, the leading ground gainer in the 1959 and 1960 season.

Gilchrist, the east's leading scorer for the last two seasons, yards.

Redlegs Make Five-For-Two Player Deal

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati Reds today announced the second five-for-two player purchase deal in two days with their Indianapolis farm affiliate of the American Association.

The Reds acquired the contracts of catchers Don Pavletich and Larry Himes, plus infielders Chico Ruiz, Francisco Obregon and Cookie Rojas. Indianapolis bought pitchers Marv Fodor and Ray Ripplemeyer.

Monday the Reds purchased five pitchers from Indianapolis—Bob Miller, Bob Risenhoover, Sam Ellis, Bob Krop and Tom Leder. The Indians bought first baseman Rogelio Alvarez and Fred Hopke.

Gary Player Should Win Top Money Prize

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—They might as well start fitting Gary Player for this year's professional golf money winning crown.

With only a few major tournaments left in the season, it doesn't appear the South African will be seriously challenged.

Player leads the top ten with $64,540 for 28 tournaments.

Second is last year's record breaking money winner, Arnold Palmer. Palmer has banked $57,732 for 22 times out on the tournament trail. He won more than $80,000 last season to set a record.

Still a strong contender for Palmer's spot is Doug Sanders. The California pro has earned $53,513 in 35 tournaments for third place.

Bill Casper Jr., is fourth with $36,993 and Jay Hebert is fifth with $33,983.

Als' Don Clark Setting Hot Pace In Yards Gained Rushing In Big Four, Has 930 Yards For 157 Bucks So Far

TORONTO (CP)—Fullback Don Clark, ball-carrier-in-chief for the last place Montreal Alouettes, is almost two lengths of a football field ahead of his nearest rival in yards gained rushing in the Eastern Conference.

Clark was set loose 23 times in Ottawa Saturday and ran 168 yards to help Alouettes overpower Rough Riders 24-14. He increased his 11-game total to 930 yards in 157 bucks and sprints for an average net gain of 5.9 yards.

Toronto's Cookie Gilchrist crumbled before the Hamilton defence Sunday, recorded a net loss of six yards on three carries and slipped into third place in the rushing race behind Ottawa's Dave Thelen, the leading ground gainer in the 1959 and 1960 season.

Gilchrist, the east's leading scorer for the last two seasons, yards.

Holds Three-Point Bulge Over His Closest Rival, Ed Litzenberger, Bower And Hall Share Goalie Honors

MONTREAL (CP)—Andy Bathgate, veteran right winger who has been up among the National Hockey League point leaders during the last six seasons but never has won a scoring championship, leads this year's race after one week of play.

Official NHL statistics released today show Bathgate has scored three goals and picked up five assists in four games for the league-leading New York Rangers.

The eight points are three more than the totals picked up by runners-up Eddie Litzenberger of Detroit Red Wings and Don McKinney of Boston Bruins.

Litzenberger, acquired from Chicago Black Hawks in the off-season, has three goals and two assists in three games while McKinney has two goals and three assists.

SHARE FOURTH PLACE

Eight players, including three from Toronto Maple Leafs and three from Boston, shared fourth place with four points.

The three Leafs are veterans Red Kelly, Frank Mahovlich and Allan Stanley. The Boston representatives are Johnny Bucyk, rookie Cliff Pennington and Jerry Toppazzini.

Also bracketed at four points are Claude Provost of Montreal Canadiens and defenceman Jack Evans of Chicago.

Ten other players have three points. These include six from New York—Andy Hebenton, Camille Henry, Dean Prentice, Doug Harvey, Earl Ingarfield and Ken Schinkel.

Also at three points are Detroit's Alex Delvecchio and Mahovlich, Gordie Howe and Montreal's Ralph Backstrom and Marcel Bonin.

The 1960-61 scoring champion—Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal—has two points on one goal and one assist. Geoffrion has played two games.

ALLOWS FEWEST GOALS

Goalie Glenn Hall of Chicago has allowed the fewest goals—five in two games for a 2.50 average.

The best goalkeeper's average, however, belongs to Johnny Bower of Toronto. Bower, near-

Phil Watson May Be In For Tough Season With Boston, Claims Club Is Undergoing Rebuilding Program

Phil Watson sold big league hockey to New York fans by the Bruins are going along with doing what comes naturally to the youngsters. But I'm going him—talking. And when he was to insist on a pleasing hockey at his vocal best, Rangers re-team which will put on a good sponsored by making the National show.

Hockey League playoffs three years in succession, 1956-57-58.

All of that appears to be gone nobody is going to push us and Phil, now coach of Boston Bruins, may be in for a rough hockey teams and of my winter. An indication of this hockey. Write what you think came a few days ago when he I can't read English. I'm in announced that the Boston dressing-room would be barred to newspaper men after games and practices.

Watson said he'll be available for interviews, but this isn't Bruins opened the season a likely to be the same, although he last Wednesday night with betting around the NHL is that a 6-2 loss to the Rangers, and Phil will bust out with some choice quotes. And the targets most likely will be his players because Bruins aren't likely to improve their 1959-60 last-place finish.

LOST HIS JOB

Watson adopted a self-imposed silence for the first three weeks of the 1959 season and the results were disastrous. Rangers missed the playoffs. Watson went to hospital with a case of ulcers and also lost his job.

Rangers were showing fans how easy it was to lose games—they were in last place at the time—and finally, after a 4-1 loss to Toronto Maple Leafs, Watson let go.

"I'm sick and tired of this club," he steamed. "that game with Toronto stunk and it was my brightest stars who were the stinkiest."

"They'd better wake up because this stuff isn't going to go on."

But it did. Two weeks later, Watson was in hospital and the Blueshirts had won only three of their 15 games. Alf Pike, up from Winnipeg Warriors of the Western Hockey League, took over and things didn't get any better. Rangers finished sixth that year and fifth in the 1960-61 season.

Watson has a three-year contract with the Bruins and he was at his talkative best at the signing last June in Boston.

"We may not win too many games at first—I'm no miracle man," he said. "This is a com-

World Champion Yanks Place Four Players On All-Star Squad

Roger Maris And Warren Spahn Are Only Repeaters From Last Season's Squad, Howard Polls Top Votes

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1961 Associated Press major league all-star team lists outfielder Roger Maris of New York Yankees and lefthanded pitcher Warren Spahn of Milwaukee Braves as the only repeaters from last season's squad.

The world champion Yanks landed four players on the team named Monday in the annual poll of members of the Baseball Writers Association. They were outfielder Mickey Mantle, catcher Elston Howard and shortstop Tony Kubek, as well as Maris.

Others selected on the squad included first baseman Norm Cash of Detroit Tigers, second baseman Frank Bolling of the Braves, third baseman Ken Boyer of St. Louis Cardinals, outfielder Frank Robinson of Cincinnati Reds and right-handed pitcher Joey Jay of the Reds.

Howard, near unanimous choice for catcher, polled 156 of the 171 votes cast. Johnny Roseboro of Los Angeles Dodgers was runnerup with four. Mantle was named on 156 ballots to share top vote-getting honors with Howard.

Keenest competition was the battle for shortstop between Kubek and Maury Wills of the Dodgers. Kubek won by two votes, 59 to 57. Spahn and Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh (24); Whitey Ford of the Yanks also and Rocky Colavito, Detroit, waged a close race for the outstanding southpaw with Spahn, Frank Lary, Detroit (74).

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Veteran Robin Roberts, after 14 years with Philadelphia Phillies, is going to be a New York Yankee. And the 35-year-old pitcher couldn't be happier.

"Playing with the Yankees is the only place to be," grinned Roberts Monday after general manager Roy Hamer announced the Yankees would take a chance on Roberts.

New York is believed to have paid slightly over the $20,000 waiver figure in the straight cash deal. Roberts, who pitched only two complete games in 1961, while winning one and losing 10, insisted the Yankees

Dufferin Heights Golf Club Holds Closing

The above photo shows the new executive of the Dufferin Heights Golf Club who were elected at the annual meeting held recently. In the front, left to right, Gerald Farrow, Alfred Bedard, who was re-elected president, and Normand Chamberlain. Standing, same order, Larry Hill, Gilles Ledoux and George Joyal.

STANSTEAD — The annual meeting of the shareholders of Dufferin Heights Country Club, was held on Friday evening, Oct. 13, at the club house. President Alfred Bedard noted the past successful year activities.

The main projects completed were the renovation of the ladies locker room, construction of a storage room and veranda on the west side of the club house, as well as quarters for the steward. The reservoir which was built in 1960 was found to be too small and was enlarged.

A larger parking space at the rear of the club house was made, a Page Wire fence was constructed on the south and west sides of the club property. A golf course architect was engaged to ascertain if the club required additional property for expansion, it was found the club might require a small addition if a new mine was to be built.

The club membership reached a new high with 363 members. The club enjoyed a very active match committee with a great deal of interest shown by the members. A new event this year was the matches with Newport Golf Club which proved very popular with the members.

Wednesday night golf proved very successful. The Field Day had a record turnout and financially the club gross receipts were at a record high and they showed a substantial net profit.

President Bedard in conclusion, acknowledged the efficient manner in which Mrs. Lillian Winslow and George McClintock had looked after the club. He also expressed appreciation for the co-operation of the board and the able assistance of Gerry Farrow, secretary-treasurer, and the excellent care of the course by Lawrence Phaneuf and L. Rider.

Riders' Ron Stewart Rolls Along In Quest For Big Four Football Scoring Championship With 60 Pts.

Ron Stewart, the chunky little scabback of Ottawa Rough Riders, ran his total to an even 60 points during the weekend as he rolled along in his quest for the Eastern Football Conference scoring championship.

Stewart scored his 10th touchdown in nine games as the Riders lost 24-14 Saturday to Montreal Alouettes.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Stewart, a 10-point leader over teammate Gary Schneider after the previous weekend, now is 13 points ahead of Don Sutherland of Hamilton who moved into second spot as the Tiger-Cats downed Toronto Argonauts 37-10 Sunday. Sutherland kicked four converts and a pair of singles off field goal attempts. He now has 47 points, one ahead of Schneider, on 30 converts, five field goals and the two singles in 11 games.
