PRINCE OF WALES LEAVES AT DAYBREAK

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS HAD A BUSY TIME

During His Final Day in the Ancient Capital
---Planted Tree, and was Present at Number of Events.

PRINCE MAKES GIFT TO CANADA

Yesterday, the last day of the stay of the Prince of Wales in Quebec was a busy day for His Royal Highness. In the morning he proceeded to Victoria Park and planted a tree in commemoration of his visit here. In the afternoon he paid calls to the gymnastics on the Q.A.C. grounds and the children's fete on the Plains and afterwards attended the garden party given by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor at Spencer Wood. Last night His Royal Highness took formal farewell of the citizens of the Ancient Capital and proceeded on board H.M.S. S. Indomitable on which vessel he sailed for home at daylight this morning. Last evening the Prince was host at a dinner given on board H.M.S. Exmouth. The visit of the Prince has added a peculiar and particular lustre to the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the foundation of Quebec, and the enthusiastic manner in which he has been received by the residents of the Ancient Capital during his brief stay among them showed in striking manner the high appreciation in which they have held the great honor done them.

PRINCE PLANTS A TREE.

One of the most interesting features of yesterday was the planting by the Prince of a tree in Victoria Park in commemoration of his visit to the Tercentenary celebration. The tree was planted in close vicinity to the monument erected to the late Queen Victoria. His Royal Highness received an enthusiastic greeting from the large crowds which lined the route along which he passed to the Park, while in the Park itself there was a great demonstration in his honor from the assembled multitude. On d'Aiguillon street the orphans from the convent of the Sisters of Charity lined both sides of the thoroughfare, with the Sacred Heart flag at their head, and they greeted the Prince with cries of "Vive Son Altesse Royal; Vive la Prince de Galles," while a company of diminutive military cadets presented arms as he passed by, and which caused H.R.H. to stop and return the salute. In front of the Hospice St. Charles, the children greeted the Prince with "God Save the King," to which H.R.H. listened with uncovered head. On arrival at the Park, a choir of young ladies, under the direction of Mr. J. Arthur Paquet, sang "O Canada!" "Carillon" and "God Save the King" in French. The Prince was received at the Park by His Worship the Mayor, Sir J. George Garneau, the members of the City Council, Mr. E. J. J. B. Chouinard, City Clerk, and a large gathering of leading citizens. His Royal Highness was accompanied by His Excellency the Governor-General, and there was also a guard of honor. After his reception by Mayor Garneau, the Prince proceeded to the planting of the tree, during which ceremony he used the magnificent ebony-handled spade, which bears the arms of the city, specially prepared for the occasion. During the ceremony the choir sang the hymn "God Bless the Prince of Wales," the French translation by Judge A. B. Routhier being used. After the ceremony, the Mayor called for three cheers for the Prince, which were given with enthusiasm. There were a couple of incidents at the Park which aroused much interest. Between the guards stationed to keep back the crowd ran a little six-year-old girl right in front of the Prince. The frightened mother tried to reach the child, when the Prince graciously restored the little one to her. Two women close by the Prince tendered their hands to His Royal Highness, who cordially grasped them and spoke a few words in French to them. The return to the Citadel was made amid the same scenes of enthusiasm which had marked every appearance of the Prince in public.

SPENCER WOOD GARDEN PARTY.

The garden party given by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor yesterday afternoon in honor of the Prince of Wales and other distinguished guests of the nation proved one of the most charming functions of the official life of the Tercentenary. As at the visit to St. Joachim on Monday an opportunity was afforded His Royal Highness to meet the other guests sans ceremonie, and the Prince availed himself of it with apparent delight. He was dressed in ordinary afternoon costume, with grey top hat, and spent an hour walking around the beautiful grounds of Spencer Wood, there being nothing apparent to the ordinary guest to distinguish him from the rest. But those who knew recognized that not for one moment did His Royal Highness get away from the cloud of secret service men that surrounded him from the first moment of his landing.

The Prince was presented to a number of the guests, and walked around with them, spending some time in a close conversation with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, and later on having a walk with Lord Strathcona. The Duke of Norfolk and the other members of the party at the Citadel, as well as the leading military and naval officials were also amongst the guests, as well as a large number of leading citizens of Canada who have been gathered here during the past week.

The Prince drove to Spencer Wood in state, guarded by a squadron of the North-West Mounted Police, and was greeted at the doors of the residence by a guard of honor of the R.C.M. the band playing the National Anthem. He, however, drove up so quietly that he had been welcomed and joined the groups on the lawn before the majority of the guests had arrived, and his departure was managed in the same unostentatious manner.

Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks aided Sir Louis Jette in receiving the guests, and, posted in the main drawing room welcomed each arrival with hearty cordiality.

DEPARTURE OF PRINCE.

All the warships in the harbor again thundered forth a royal salute of 21 guns last evening when the Prince of Wales left Canadian soil and boarded the Indomitable. The departure of the Prince is really the beginning of the end of the series of festivals of the past ten days, though the Tercentenary celebration will continue until the end of the week. The holiday spirit has by no means been used up yet.

On leaving Spencer Wood His Royal Highness drove in state to the Citadel, where he bade formal farewell to his hosts. In the meantime the streets leading from the Citadel to the King's wharf had been lined with soldiers, and every preparation was made to give the heir-apparent a fitting salute as he left the soil of Canada. The streets were crowded over the entire route. When the royal cortege appeared, preceded by officials in automobiles, the Prince's carriage, preceded by two detachments of the Royal North-West Mounted Police and a guard of honor from the R.C.M., it was greeted with cheers, the Prince having to salute during the entire distance. A picturesque feature was afforded when the royal procession swung into sight from above in the narrow streets of the Lower Town. As soon as his carriage came into view the immense crowd on the Terrace, as though by a preconcerted arrangement, broke into a tremendous cheer, and the Prince rose in the carriage, waving his hat in acknowledgment of the compliment.

A moment later the guard of honor from the Garrison presented arms at the King's wharf and the National Anthem pealed forth, which was immediately taken up by the band after band from the warships, the strains being borne in fleeting fragments from all directions by the wind in picturesque and imposing confusion. The Prince inspected the guard, and bade farewell to the pinnace from the Indomitable, which ran out to the big cruiser followed by half a dozen other boats from the fleet. As soon as the Prince reached the deck of the Indomitable the Royal Standard was hoisted from the foremast, and once again the war scarred heights of Quebec resounded with the thunderous greetings of three nations to Great Britain's future King.

Every warship was fully manned, the rails being lined with blue-jackets and marines, waiting motionless as the sharp flashes and noisy smoke marked the salute. As the last echoes died away the band of the Leon Gambetta was heard in the distance playing "God Save the King," then the Admiral Aube took up the refrain, the American warship, the New Hampshire, followed, and then in rhythmic succession the six British battleships, until the national paean died away up the river.

A solitary trumpet then rang out from the deck of the Exmouth, and a second later three tremendous cheers were given by the ten thousand sailors and marines with a volume of sound that reverberated from shore to shore, and was answered by the crowds that lined the Terrace. It was practically the farewell of Canada to the Prince, as well as that of the fleet, and the ceremony was well worthy of the occasion, the stately, ceremonial and warlike salute harmonizing perfectly with the natural amphitheatre, which is so picturesquely beautiful.

Early this morning, in fact shortly after daybreak, the British fleet will sail, so that yesterday's proceedings were possibly the final farewell to be given by the people of Canada to George Prince of Wales, as in the ordinary course of events it is scarcely likely that he will revisit Canada before he succeeds to the throne—an event, however, which all Canadian citizens will join him in hoping will long be deferred.

AN INCIDENT.

An odd incident occurred during the return of the Prince and his party from the garden party at Spencer Wood. Lord Roberts, Field Marshal and idol of the British army, had attended the reception, of course, in mufti, in which he looks very different from the "Bobs" of the chromo-lithograph, and he drove back to the Citadel in an ordinary carriage. In the meantime the streets had been lined with troops for the state departure of the Prince, and when Lord Roberts' carriage reached the corner turning up from the Grande Allee to the Citadel it was held up by the line of troops. They failed entirely to recognize the Field Marshal, and refused to let his carriage pass, although Lord Roberts, who was in a great hurry, tried to convince them of his identity. "Bobs" finally had to get out, and started to walk up the hill to the Citadel, when Chief Detective Duncan, of Toronto, and Detective Carrington, of Montreal, in an automobile, passed the lines with their "No Hindrance" pass. They immediately recognized Lord Roberts toiling up the steep ascent, and hailed him to join them. "Bobs" lost no time in accepting their invitation, and was delighted with the incident, shaking hands with the detectives, and chatting with evident glee as they covered the road to the Citadel.

The last official function in connection with the visit of the Prince was the dinner which His Royal Highness gave last night on board H.M.S. Exmouth. The list of invited guests was as follows:

The principal toasts honored were the King, the Prince of Wales, the President of the French Republic and the President of the United States.

MILITARY AND NAVAL GYM-KHANA.

No gayer spectacle than that of the military and naval gymnastics, which took place on the Q.A.C. grounds yesterday, has ever, we opine, been seen in the Ancient Capital. To sustain the interest of the large crowd of spectators present for three solid hours, without intermission, goes a far way to show that an exceptionally high-class and all-absorbing entertainment was provided. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was the object of a great ovation on crossing the grounds to the royal box just as the R.N.W.M.P. were about to commence their musical ride. Lord Roberts preceded him a few minutes, and also met with a demonstration of public favor.

As the Jack Tars of the British fleet made their appearance on the ground with six 3.7 guns a great and enthusiastic demonstration took place. The manner in which they dismembered these guns, weighing nearly 1,000 lbs., leaving the bare gun in the centre of the field, scurrying to the other end of the grounds with all the other various parts and the rapidity with which they re-assembled the whole, was really a marvellous performance. How to scale walls in time of war was exhibited by them carrying their guns over an improvised 5 foot dyke, and the lightning formation of a tableau scene at the conclusion roused the audience to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. Later on these squads engaged in a competition for supremacy, the H.M.S. Duncan squad being the victors.

With eager interest every one looked forward to the musical ride of the Royal North-West Mounted Police, a constabulary whose area covers the widest territory of any like force in the whole world. They went through a series of musical drill, which evoked considerable applause, the manner in which their steeds pranced and kept proper time to the music being a feature of this event, showing they entered with as much vim in their "turn" as those whom they carried.

The exhibition of free gymnastics and vaulting horse work, by the Gentlemen Cadets of the Royal Military College of Canada, was a splendid show, their dusky faces and arms showing that they are much accustomed to open air work. It is rare to see such gymnastic work performed with such remarkable precision, especially in reference to the vaulting horse, a run being necessary before the spring-board is reached, which is likely to put them out of gear, but they do the work so remarkably well that they land as one man on the ground, after executing either a long arm or a short arm balance, after leaving the springboard. They concluded their turn with a very fine tableau.

Four teams entered for the tug-of-war contest, namely, from H. M. Ships Albemarle, Duncan and Russell, and the French ship Leon Gambetta. In the first heat the Albemarle and Leon Gambetta were pitted against one another, and at the first pull the Frenchmen seemed to be taken unawares and were easily pulled across the tape almost before they got the strain. On changing sides they recovered somewhat, but had to give way to their heavier opponents of the Albemarle, who won the heat. The second heat was between teams from H.M.S. Duncan and H.M.S. Russell. This proved a better contest, as the men were more equally balanced in weight and strength, and the H.M.S. Duncan captured both the pulls. The final, between the Albemarle and Duncan men being equally matched, was a stiff battle, but the H.M.S. Duncan held on to the hempen coil firmly and finally won the contest.

The R. C. H. A. repeated their musical drive which event bears a more warlike aspect, probably, than any other on the programme.

Sack races and other events of a like character brought a most enjoyable and spectacular exhibition to a close.

CHILDREN'S FETE.

There were probably 10,000 to 12,000 children, with their parents and friends at the children's fete and daylight fireworks display on the Paquet ground on the Plains yesterday afternoon. The display greatly pleased the immense crowd, the exploding bombs, which discharged showers of toys, being a particularly favorite feature of the exhibition, and the scramble for the free gifts from the clouds being a lively one among the young people, not to speak of the rush made by those children of maturer years who accompanied them. During the afternoon, His Royal Highness paid a brief visit to the grounds and seemed greatly interested in the general enjoyment of the younger portion of the population of the Ancient Capital.

THE HISTORICAL BALL.

The interior of the Parliament Buildings was last evening the scene of another very interesting function when about six hundred guests attended the historical ball in which a large number of the pageantry were present. The Legislative Council chamber had been placed at the disposal of the guests and dancing was kept up until the wee sma' hours of the morn to the strains of the R.C.G.A. orchestra. At midnight a sumptuous supper was served in the Legislative Assembly Chamber, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Among last evening's guests were Earl Grey and the members of the Gubernatorial party, the Duke of Norfolk and several officers of the fleet.

We employ from 400 to 500 expert workers on Furs the year round, and Paquet Furs have come to be recognized as the highest standard of excellence from Halifax to Vancouver. Under these circumstances, it is scarcely to be wondered at that our values are the best in Canada, that we sell more furs than any other house in the country, and that we can offer you a set of the finest Canadian Mink, exactly like the illustration, at the remarkably low price of Forty-Four Dollars. Tourists and Visitors, desirous of getting better value in Furs than they can secure across the line, will find that nowhere else in Quebec can such fur value be had as we offer in Paquet Furs.

THE RACES.

We are sorry to notice that the attendance on the race meets on the Exhibition grounds this week has not kept up with that of the preceding one. Some falling off was, perhaps, to be expected on the departure of the visitors drawn hither by the fetes, but there should be sufficient local sporting interest among the citizens to ensure a hearty and vigorous support to an enterprise which is in every way worthy of encouragement, and which promises such beneficial results if its annual recurrence can be secured. Just as the fetes have been celebrated with a splendor never seen before, so the present races are exceptional in their character, and under the management of gentlemen so prominent in racing circles as Messrs. Andrew Shearer of Montreal, Harry White of Toronto, and Barney Schreiber of New York have drawn here a large number of the best and speediest thoroughbreds to be found in the Dominion and the United States. The difference between the Tercentenary fetes and the races of which they have formed a part, is that, in the nature of things, we cannot expect a repetition of the former, whilst we may have good grounds for hoping for an annual recurrence of the latter, if they are heartily patronized now. There is no reason why they should not be; they are admirably managed; the track is an exceptionally good one; and the different events are as well and closely contested, and as full of excitement to the lovers of the sport as those of more noted racetracks. It means a great deal to Quebec if her annual races should assume a more general character than they have hitherto borne, and attract noted horses from a distance, and all lovers of sport should encourage the present enterprise which has cost so much money and pains to carry out, and show their appreciation of an undoubtedly good thing by according to it a hearty practical support. When it is absolutely certain that a race will be well worth seeing it should be superfluous to ask people to go and see it.

AFTERWARDS.

The Tercentenary fetes are drawing to a conclusion, and Quebec is beginning slowly to assume her normal appearance. The month of July has this year been an exceedingly exciting one from the very beginning, and the Laval and Tercentenary celebrations have given it an éclat and magnificence which will not be soon forgotten either by the citizens themselves, or by the thousands of visitors who have come from all parts of the world to witness them. Quebec has the deep satisfaction of knowing that she has carried out her intentions with a success that is simply phenomenal, that both in the preliminary honors to Monseigneur Laval, and in the succeeding honors to Samuel de Champlain, there has been no hitch in the proceedings, everything has gone off smoothly, and few if any of those little contretemps which, like mistakes in cropping up in even the most thoughtfully planned, and carefully supervised public rejoicings; a scale of splendor unparalleled on this continent has marked the whole proceedings of the month, and the general enjoyment has been enhanced by weather so singularly propitious that it might almost be regarded as having been furnished specially for the occasion. Now, we are facing the close of the entertainment and the fall of the curtain on the drama of the month, and it may well be that some of the inevitable reaction has already begun to set in, but if such should be the case we must fight it back; we cannot allow the end to be in any way inferior to the beginning, to make what the Latin poet calls an artistic mermaid.

of it, and to terminate the beautiful upper part with the slimy tail of a fish. The citizens must see to it that the termination of the festivities, the events which still remain, should not detract from the éclat of those which have preceded them. It will be time enough for relaxation when the last pageant shall have been exhibited, the last race run, the last firework discharged; when the illuminations die out, to return no more, from public and private buildings, when the flags and streamers are taken down, the visitors all gone, and the citizens feel

"Like one who treads alone
Some banquet hall deserted,
Whose guests are fled, whose garlands dead

And all save he departed."
And when all is over we shall find time to transfer our interest and to pay attention to the things of the outside world which have been passing unnoticed and unheeded in the whirl of the celebrations. The speeches which have been made by the illustrious individuals who have graced our fetes have rung the changes of peace, and amity, and the mutual rapprochement and better understanding of races and nations to such an extent that we are induced to take it for granted that the world's skies are serene, without the vestige of that little cloud the size of a man's hand, rising out of the sea to make the heavens black with storm. Yet the cloud is there.

A short time ago Lord Cromer, speaking on the Old Age Pension Bill in the House of Lords took occasion to warn the British Government and nation against a general European war which he asserted to be imminent. His reference though carefully veiled, is generally understood to be to Germany, whose spies have been recently studying and taking photographs of strategic points in England, and to whom an opportunity for bringing on a conflict is not unlikely to be afforded by the events now happening in Turkey. The Montreal Witness contents itself with characterizing the speech as a renewal of the cry of "Wolf," forgetful of the fate of those who ceased to attend to it, and the Montreal Gazette says, "Lord Cromer thinks there is danger that Great Britain and Germany will before long be at war with each other. Sir Charles Dilke thinks there is no occasion for fear. Sir Charles Dilke is the older and, in matters of foreign politics, the more experienced man. He should be right, and in all probability he is. It would be a huge and inexcusable crime to bring Great Britain and Germany or Britain and any other European country into war," "equally oblivious of the fact that huge and inexcusable crimes of this sort have been perpetrated before now, and that Lord Cromer is a special authority on the politics of the Mediterranean and Black Sea littorals so far as the Sultan of Turkey is concerned, and Sir Charles is not.

But whether Lord Cromer is right or wrong in his suspicions of Germany, there can be no doubt that there is a very real danger threatening the Christian races in what we may term the Asiatic revival. The races whose teeth have been drawn, and whose hands have been paralyzed, who have been under enforced tutelage and domination by the Christian races for centuries are fast coming to life again, and arming themselves with the weapons of their masters. A great step to this is the acquisition of constitutional liberty, and the demand for it is becoming general from China to the shores of the Black and Mediterranean Seas. It is not in Turkey alone that the seed is germinating; it has sprung up in Persia, and in India also, where the mischief-maker Keir Hardy cultivated and encouraged the dormant aspiration. The progress of events may well be watched with interest, for the signs betoken the coming of a time before whose troubles even a general European war would be insignificant.

ROSEATE TIDINGS.

Census Commissioner Blue is a constant source of useful and inspiring information. Now he tells us that we are living longer and that we are much more desirable risks for life insurance agents than we, or predecessor Canadians, were thirty odd years ago. Commissioner Blue, it will be seen, does not take an ultramarine view of life either in the abstract or concrete. He looks at it, not through cerulean but through rose-colored spectacles. He is an optimistic statistician and he has the figures to show us that he knows what he is talking about.

Taking the several decennial census enumerations since 1871, Mr. Blue finds that the average of those who died thirty-seven years ago was 23.5 years; during the next decade it was 24.62 years; from 1891 to 1901, it was 25.72 years and in the year 1901 it was 26.78 years.

Thus we find that in thirty-six years the mean average lifetime of the Canadian citizen has widened by three years and three months. And why would it not? For what are pathologists and therapists and etiologists for if they are not to make our days longer in the land? Moreover, without in any way casting reflections on the noble profession of medicine, it justifiably may be pointed out that the longer a man lives, the longer will he need the services of a physi-

Dead men pay no fees, so, therefore, the scientist who prolongs life renders a duty to himself and to society.

But a tinge of pessimism creeps into one paragraph of Mr. Blue's report. Accuracy, as it should be with a statistician, is a passion with the Commissioner. In certain districts his subordinates have found it impossible to obtain the unimpeachable information which alone will satisfy their chief. Local authorities have been found who have fallen into the habit of being satisfied with approximations in filling up mortuary returns. Also, relatives are not exact in their answers to the statistical questions. Thus Mr. Blue is impelled to remark that "the living are not so easily missed as the dead." Perhaps this mournful note is the result of the continued presence in this vale of tears of some persons whose loss would be a distinct gain to society at large. Most of us know one or two of them. The Commissioner in his official capacity is aware of the presence of many of them. But it cannot be helped. There is no legal means of getting rid of them. Leaving them out of the census is of no avail if they have the bad taste to continue as members of the community. Their presence is one of the fardels that the philosophic mind is content to bear uncomplainingly.

If, on the other hand, Commissioner Blue means by his lament that he finds in the census records of the living better ground for forming conclusions than are afforded by the mortality statistics of the various provinces, there can be no dissent. Certainly a person still extant can give better information about himself than one who has joined the majority. Still, the figures furnished us are satisfactory. In 1911, let us hope, Mr. Blue may be able to tack a few months more to the "average duration." Even those of us who are continually kicking about the inefficient ways of society are not anxious to proceed in a direction where our kicks will be over for good and all. Even the pessimist hopes that in his next bulletin Mr. Blue will see fit to allow him a year or so longer in which to prove that he could manage the world better than those who presently have that unimportant task.

KENT HOUSE GROUNDS.

No visitor to Quebec can consider his trip complete without taking a run down to the delightful and historic Kent House grounds and Montmorency Falls. There is frequent and speedy train service and no one will regret the time spent in this interesting trip.

Seats will be provided for the performers on the Grand Stand at each performance of the pageants.

NOTICE.

Beginning Tuesday, 28th inst., the trains which the Canadian Pacific Railway ran at 11.00 p.m. and 12.30 a.m., will be withdrawn. Passengers wishing to remain in town to see the fireworks, display, etc., can return home by the regular train, leaving Palace Station at 11.30 for Montreal and intermediate stations. Sleeping cars are attached to this train, and reservations of berths can be made at 30 St. John Street, Chateau Frontenac and Palais Station.

LEFT FOR THE FAR NORTH.

All things being in readiness, the C.G.S. Arctic, Captain Bernier, weighed anchor shortly after two o'clock yesterday afternoon and left this port for the ice region of the Far North. The gallant captain and his crew were in excellent spirits, and were hopeful of a successful voyage. Before any of the crew were shipped for the voyage
they had to undergo a rigid medical examination. All the men were found to be in first-class health. The departure of the Arctic was very quietly conducted, there being no demonstration as she steamed away.

NEW ICEBREAKER.

Details have just reached here of the new icebreaker which is being built by Messrs. Vickers, Sons & Maxim in the Barrow yards for the Canadian Government, and which will, when completed, ply between the mainland and Prince Edward Island, with mails and passengers. The new vessel is to be 250 feet long, between perpendiculars, 46 feet beam, and 27 feet molded depth. Her horse power is to be 6,000 and she is to have a speed of capacity of 17 knots. The new vessel promises to be exceptionally strong, with nine transverse watertight bulkheads, and 30 watertight compartments. The rudder is to be 10 feet below the water line, and all the watertight doors may be shut from the wheelhouse in 30 seconds. Large trimming tanks and powerful pumps are also to be provided, so that when at work in the ice they can materially help. There is to be excellent passenger accommodation for about 60 first-class passengers. The new vessel is to cost $515,000 and will be ready by next year.

Correspondence

To the Editor Morning Chronicle, Quebec:

My Dear Sir,—I understand that another representation of the "Pageants"
will be given at the close of the "Festivities." Don't you think that an opportunity might be afforded to all the "Orphan Children," of our Charitable Institutions; to contemplate this wonderful display of our early history?
Supposing a small entrance fee of ten cents was charged, I would cheerfully give ten dollars to pay for one hundred children, and believe that many others would do their "mite"
for that same object.

Thanking you for your valuable space, and trusting that some one in authority will take the matters in hand, I enclose my card.

Yours truly,

"BENEFACTOR."

To the Editor of the Chronicle:

Dear Sir,—I venture to appeal to those taking part in the Pageants to make an effort, even though it be at some inconvenience to themselves, to be present at the final performance.
The Pageant of last Saturday reflects great credit in all concerned and it would be a pity if the level of excellence were not maintained. We should all, as good citizens, make this effort for the credit of our town and country. For in this we represent not only the past of Quebec, but also of all Canada. As we have agreed to take part in the Pageant, we must loyally stick on to the end, and show that we are proud that to us has fallen "the labor of love" of interpreting these glorious scenes of history.

Lastly, let us remember what we owe to the Master of the Pageants, without whose unfailing tact, courtesy and patience these reproductions would have been impossible. Surely for this reason alone we should turn out en masse.

ed, and he is glad to learn that very few accidents occurred during the week.

His Royal Highness was particularly pleased with the effective and tasteful manner in which the city was decorated, also with the illuminations, the splendor of which was so much enhanced by the beauty of the natural surroundings.

In the pageant itself, the Prince was greatly interested, and, indeed, impressed, by the magnificent scenes illustrative of many of the memorable and stirring events in the history of Quebec. His Royal Highness knows that the hard work involved has been a labour of love to all concerned, but he sincerely congratulates all the men, women and children who played a part and the organizers, whose efforts have been crowned with such conspicuous success.

To you, Mr. Mayor, personally, and to the municipality, His Royal Highness desires to express his sincerest thanks for your kindness and consideration.

The Prince has very much pleasure in forwarding to you for the relief of the poor, the sum of one hundred pounds.

In bidding you farewell, His Royal Highness fervently trusts that, under the blessing of Providence, Quebec may, for all time, enjoy the fullest measure of prosperity and happiness.

Believe me,
Dear Mr. Mayor,
Yours very truly,
(Signed) ARTHUR BIGGE.

His Worship the Mayor of Quebec.

PRINCE GREATLY PLEASED.

Citadel, Quebec, 28th July, 1908.

Dear Lord Grey,—On the eve of my departure, I wish to express in the strongest terms the intense pleasure and satisfaction which I have derived from my stay in Quebec.

I have been deeply touched by the enthusiastic and affectionate welcome accorded to me on all occasions, and by all classes, not only from the people of Quebec, but from the vast numbers assembled within her limits from all parts of the Dominion.

From the moment of landing I have received nothing but the greatest kindness and have been most hospitably entertained by Your Excellency, by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec, by its Premier and Executive Council, and by the Mayor and Municipality, as also by the Laval University.

I shall return home with a lasting sense of satisfaction that it was possible to avail myself of the kind invitation of the Canadian Government, to take part in the memorable events of the past week, and that I was thus able to help you and the people of Quebec, in giving effect to the great conception you had formed for doing worthy honor to the Tercentenary of Quebec and to the joint memories of Wolfe and Montcalm.

It is my earnest hope that this movement may be still further supported, and that no efforts will be relaxed to ensure the consummation of the work which has been so happily inaugurated.

As to the interesting and impressive Pageant, I have already dwelt in a letter addressed to the Mayor but I desire to express through Your Excellency to the National Battlefields Commission and to Mr. Lascelles, the master of the Pageantry, my sincerest congratulations upon the marvellous results achieved by their historical research, artistic feeling and untiring energy.

Similarly do I congratulate all the authorities, official and honorary, upon the unqualified success which has characterized every incident and detail of the celebrations.

The manner in which the other provinces joined with Quebec, and gave both moral and material support to the idea of the Tercentenary celebration, must do much to strengthen those ties of common feeling and mutual trust so essential to the unity and strength of the Dominion.

It was with the greatest pleasure that I reviewed the Canadian troops, and the seamen and marines of the French, American and British fleets on Friday last. The presence of the sailors on such an occasion is always highly popular, and I feel sure Your Excellency and the people of Canada appreciate the kindness of the French and American admirals, in landing their smart detachments to take part in the march past.

All I saw, and especially all I hear from so high an authority as Field Marshal Lord Roberts, convinced me that the work of the Canadian militia is progressing satisfactorily.

My stay in the Citadel has indeed been a most happy one and I desire to record the expression of my warmest gratitude to you and Lady Grey for your very generous hospitality, and for all the care and trouble which you have so kindly given to every detail which could conduce to my comfort. I also wish to thank the members of your staff for their most efficient and ever-ready services.

It is with heartfelt regret that I bid farewell to Canada. That God may ever watch over and bless its people, inspire their ideals, prosper their works, and guide their destinies, will ever be my earnest prayer.

Believe me, My dear Lord Grey,

Very sincerely yours,

GEORGE P. ADMIRAL MUCH IMPRESSED.

"Exmouth," at Quebec, 28th July, 1908:—"Your Excellency,—On leaving Quebec with His Majesty's ships, under my command, I have the honor to address to Your Excellency a few words of grateful acknowledgment for the extraordinary kindness shown to every officer and man of the Atlantic Fleet. The gracious welcome received from Your Excellency and your family will never be forgotten by me, and it would be presumptuous to refer to this, but if I might be allowed to request that my deep acknowledgment to Your Excellency a personal staff, to the military secretary and assistant military secretary, to the admiral and general officers and all ranks of the Canadian marine and military forces who have so materially assisted our duties here, and have enabled me to carry out my orders with such punctuality and comfort—may be conveyed to them, as well as to the Mayor and citizens of Quebec, who have been so courteous and obliging. The authorities of the Dominion have all been only too kind and helpful, and we leave with a profound sense of the great courtesy and attention we have received during the memorable occasion of the Tercentenary festivities in Quebec; and with my respectful and hearty vows and good wishes for the prosperity and well being of the great Dominion of Canada under Your Excellency's beneficent Government.

I have the honor to be,
(Signed.) A. G. CURZON-HOWE.

PRINCE'S PRESENT.

The Prince of Wales has given His Excellency the Governor-General, for presentation to the people of Canada, a chair which belonged to General Wolfe. His Excellency proposes to have the chair placed in the Archives Building, Ottawa, for the present. The following information which will be read with interest about the chair, is contained in an extract from a letter, dated 25th March, 1908, addressed to the Comptroller of the Prince of Wales's Household, by Mr. C. E. Boothby, of No. 1 Palmeira Square, Brighton, and brother-in-law to Lord Suffield:—"A curious old chair is now in my possession, the history of which is that it was given by the late General Wemyss, who was Esquerry to Queen Victoria, some time in the forties, to Mr. Anson, who was keeper of the Privy Purse, when he died in 1840. It was stated to have belonged to General Wolfe, and was used by him in his campaign in Canada, where he died on the field of battle in 1759."

Mr. Boothby placed the chair absolutely at the disposal of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

LITERARY NOTE.

Then and Now, by J. M. Harper—The Trade Publishing Company, Toronto and Quebec.

Those who had the pleasure of reading the memorial brochure published by our talented fellow-townsmen, Dr. Harper, at the time of the visit of T.R.H. the Prince and Princess of Wales in 1899, of which H.R.H. the Prince was graciously pleased to accept the dedication to himself, will be glad to welcome it again in its new form as a memorial of the Tercentenary under the title of The Prince's Booklet, with the additional "dropping in poetry" of the learned author in the descriptive verses of Then and Now, and The Silvery Mission, an elegy composed on similar lines to that famous elegy of Gray which Wolfe declared he would rather have written than take Quebec, and of which the verses of Dr. Harper strongly remind the reader. Of the literary merits of the Booklet it would be quite superfluous to speak; it is got up in a pretty and handy form, with interesting illustrations, and as a souvenir historical booklet we have great pleasure in recommending it to the public.

THE LAMBS ON THE TRACK.

One never knows the value of an amiable deed till he knows all its consequences, and the merit of it is in not knowing them all beforehand. An engineer of a passenger train was driving through a snowstorm, eagerly scanning the track as far as he could see, when, halfway through a deep cut, something appeared lying on the rails. It was a sheep with her two little lambs. His first thought was that he could rush on regardless of them, probably without damage to his train, but the sight of the innocent family cowering in the storm touched him, and as they paid no heed to his warning whistle he pulled the air brake and sent his train ahead. In a few minutes the man came back with a terrified face. There had been a landslide, and just beyond the cut the track was covered with rocks. It seemed certain that if the train had gone on, it would have been impossible to stop in time to escape disaster, in the absolute sense the incident was providential, as everything is, but circumstantially the passengers on that railway train owed their safety, if not their lives, to an engineer who was too tender-hearted to kill a sheep and her lambs.

OFFICIAL INSPECTION VISITING PRESSMEN AT CRANE ISLAND WERE ENTERTAINED

Of Dredged Beaujeu Channel by Minister of Marine and Party.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and a distinguished party of Montreal and Quebec representatives, leave to-morrow morning for Crane Island to inspect and officially open the dredged Beaujeu channel.

Formerly this Beaujeu bank was the point of delay below Quebec. With a bad bend and only 21 feet depth at extreme low water. Dredging was commenced slightly less than two years ago, and the channel has been deepened to 30 feet at all stages of the tide. The width of the completed channel is now over 600 feet, and it is hoped to make it 1,000 feet before the end of the present season. The sweeping having been made and found satisfactory, the lights have been lighted, a new gas buoy placed, and at the urgent request of the shipping people the Minister has decided to open this new cut to navigation.

The change will come as a great relief, as ships will now be able to pass at any stage of water. The St. Thomas flats, a few miles nearer Quebec, is now the only point below Quebec where there is not sufficient depth at low tide. The new dredge completed by the Department at Sorel, last year, has been working very successfully all season at this place.

The urgency with which this work has been carried out has been very favorably commented upon by the shipping people generally. The Galveston, a dredge purchased for this work, has proved a splendid success and by the end of the season nearly 1,000,000 cubic yards will have been removed.

Yesterday in the Police Court, four women arrested as pickpockets, were arraigned, and committed to jail to await an investigation. A man convicted of assault was fined $2 and costs.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT.

Theodore Gingras, residing at 161 D'Aiguillon street, who sustained injuries by falling from the firework walls while witnessing the fireworks and naval display on Monday night, succumbed to his injuries in the Hotel Dieu yesterday, and Coroner Jolicoeur will hold an inquest at the residence of the deceased this morning.

SMALL FIRE.

Fire declared itself yesterday morning in the barn in the rear of Albert Emond's grocery store, corner of St. Claire and Oliver streets, and before the blaze had been subdued considerable damage had been done to the building and contents. A carriage was among the effects destroyed.

PRESENTS FROM THE PRINCE

Yesterday morning Mr. H. N. Bartlett, Superintendent of the Citadel division of the Q. R. L. & P. Co., was summoned to the Governor-General's quarters on the Citadel and upon his arrival was ushered before H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, who presented him with a handsome stickpin. The pin is gold with enamel head, the transparent enamel covering the crest of the Prince set in diamonds. Several similar presents were made by His Royal Highness to the detectives who have acted as his body guard during the past week.

PRESENTATION AT POST OFFICE.

There was an interesting event at the General Post Office yesterday, when the clerks assembled and presented Mr. J. B. Caouette, who has been promoted from the office of Deputy Postmaster to that of Inspector of the District, with a magnificent gold watch. The watch was presented on behalf of the staff by Hon. T. Paquet, Postmaster, while the address accompanying it was read in French by Mr. J. Emile Carrier and in English by Mr. J. J. Battle. Mr. Caouette, who was taken completely by surprise, made a most eloquent reply, in which he testified most feelingly his high appreciation of the honor done him.

The sixteen clerks from outside of offices—Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Halifax and St. John—who have been doing duty here during the Tercentenary celebration were not forgotten either, the staff of the local office presenting them with souvenir badges in commemoration of their trip to Quebec. These clerks are now leaving for home, and it was thought that a little souvenir such as they received might prove acceptable.

CASTORIA.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

By the Chronicle at the Garrison Club Last Evening—Enjoyable Time.

There was a very pleasant gathering at the Garrison Club last night, when a number of representative newspaper men from England, the United States and Canada, who have been doing such remarkably good work in making known to the outside world the wonderful celebration which Quebec has been holding in honor of its three hundredth birthday, were entertained at dinner by the Quebec Chronicle. The menu card said it was a "dinner to visiting friends of the fourth estate," and this just filled the bill, for the assembly was an informal and exceedingly enjoyable meeting of friendly spirits. Mr. D. Watson, the popular managing director of the company, who left nothing undone which could add to the pleasure of the assembled convives. The resources of the Garrison Club had been called upon to supply an appetizing meal, and the menu, which was as follows, left nothing to be desired:—

Potage Dariois
Boiled Haddock. Capers Sauce
Potatoes a l'Anglaise
Poularde a la Parmentier
Roast Ribs of Beef Yorkshire Pudding.
New Potatoes
Green Peas with Butter
Salad
Lemon Sherbet
Cakes
Fruit. Nuts. Raisins.
Black Coffee

After full justice had been done to the good things provided, cigars were served, and Mr. Watson proposed the toast of "The King," which was drunk with enthusiasm.

The health of Mr. Watson and the Chronicle was then proposed in felicitous terms by Mr. Hector Charlesworth, of the Toronto Mail and Empire, and Mr. P. S. Bullen, of the London Daily Telegraph, both gentlemen testifying on behalf of the visiting pressmen to the many courtesies which they had received from the members of the fourth estate in Quebec and the Chronicle in particular. The latter paid a tribute to the good work accomplished by the Chronicle, whose daily reports of the celebration had been so full and so correct as to prove a revelation to him of the journalistic aptness of the pressmen of the Ancient Capital. He spoke of the good feeling which existed among the pressmen of all nations who had assembled in Quebec for the celebration, and declared that no international line divided the members of the journalistic fraternity.

Mr. Watson acknowledged the compliment paid the Chronicle. He spoke of the pleasure which it had been to make the stay of the visiting pressmen in the Ancient Capital an enjoyable one, and also paid a high tribute to the staff of the Chronicle, whose ready and cheerful response to the extra demands made upon them had been most praiseworthy.

The guests were as follows:—Messrs. Hector Charlesworth, J. A. MacNeill, of the Mail and Empire, Toronto; F. L. Jones, Herald, New York; S. N. Williams, World, New York; J. Lewis, T. Meldrum, Star, Montreal; S. M. Powell, Herald, Montreal; P. S. Bullen, C. Hanbury Williams, Daily Telegraph, London; E. J. T. Passingham, J. Copeman, Gazette, Montreal; J. L. K. Laflamme, Secretary Press Association; D. Watson, T. W. S. Dunn, C. Mills Teakle, Chronicle, Quebec.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT AT THE DRILL HALL

Madame Pasquali and Other Artists Made Great Hit Last Evening.

Madame Pasquali and Maitre de Concert Vezina held supreme sway over a fairly numerous audience at the Drill Hall last evening. A very select programme had been arranged comprising the most popular features of the recent production of "Christophe Colomb" and the Concert de Gala and the different numbers were rendered and received with the enthusiasm which greeted the original performance.

Madame Pasquali's two selections enthralled the audience and it was necessary after her second selection to explain that there were no other orchestration at hand before the clamorous applause ceased. Messrs. Dubois' violoncelle solo and Mr. Gilbert's violin selection were executed with the finish that is characteristic of these artists while the choral and orchestral work, under the irresistible leadership of Mr. Vezina left nothing to be desired and drew frequent outbursts of applause from the audience.

TAFT OFFICIALLY NOMINATED.

Cincinnati, July 28—Officially notified to-day of his nomination for the Presidency by the Republican party, Wm. H. Taft, standing on the portico of his brother's home in this city, the city of his nativity, formally accepted the honor, pledged anew his allegiance to the policies of President Roosevelt and declared that the chief function of the next Republican administration will be to clinch what has been already accomplished by the present occupant of the White House.

A CRYING

SHAME

Acts That Are Continually Being Perpetrated By Ignorant Conductors.

The Quebec Railway, Light & Power Company is no doubt doing their very best at this trying time, to meet in every way possible, the heavy demands made upon its resources by our public. It is most unfortunate, however, for the company that they are handicapped in these efforts by the pigheaded stupidity of some of their conductors. Take for instance yesterday afternoon at the races at the Exhibition Grounds. The promoters of this meeting have been up against a hard proposition in educating our public in this meeting, and very welcome indeed is the very great increased patronage that has followed their efforts within the last few days, judging from the very much increased attendance. Yesterday afternoon just as the races were nominated a large number of people very naturally anxious to reach town were delighted to see a car waiting at the entrance of the grounds, but just as they were to get on, the car pulled off practically empty, and left the disgusted public waiting for the next car. As there are only three cars on that line it was some considerable time before they could get home, and then the crush was so great as to make the situation still more uncomfortable. The car in question was No. 211 and the management should take strong measures to have this conductor taken to task for his stupidity and carelessness.

OFFICIAL GUESTS ARE LEAVING

Vice-President Fairbanks and French Representatives Go To-day.

Vice-President Fairbanks, of the United States, leaves with his wife this morning at 7 a.m. via the Grand Trunk Railway, travelling in that Company's private car "Violet." He will be accompanied by General Murray and wife and Major Mott.

Mr. C. W. Johnston, Travelling Passenger Agent, and Mr. S. B. Kramer, Master of Transportation, representatives of the Grand Trunk, will look after the arrangements en route.

AT THE NICKEL.

The programme to be shown to-day at the Nickel is one that surpasses in many respects any ever shown at this hall. Tragedy and comedy are both shown, the subjects being of a most interesting character. Winter Sports is a new series of pictures of Norway's many winter pastimes. The scenery is very fine. A Tragedy at Sea is a good description of a sea voyage and a fire at sea, and the rescue by the lighthouse boat. Behind the Stage, a comedy of everyday life behind the scenes of a Drury Lane theatre. A Victim of Honesty. The story of a poor but honest beggar who suicides because he is accused of robbery. Side Shows is another comedy picture which will create considerable laughter. Driven from Home. The story of a young girl who gives up her home to marry the man of her choice. The Strong Man. A comedy which will more than create applause, as it is full of snap and vim from start to finish.

LAID AT REST.

The last tribute of respect to the memory of the late Mrs. Patrick Kerwin, was paid yesterday morning by a large concourse of citizens, who accompanied her remains to St. Patrick's Cemetery, where the last prayers were said and the interment took place in the family lot. In the exceedingly lengthy funeral cortege all classes, in the community were represented, and the requiem service at St. Patrick's was most impressive. Rev. Father Delargy officiated, assisted by Rev. Fathers Gannon and Krickser, as deacon and sub-deacon respectively, while Rev. Father Turgion, Superior of the Jesuits, and Maguire, rector of Sillery, occupied seats in the Sanctuary. The musical service was very impressive, Miss Henchey, Miss Ennis, Maguire and Mr. Lawrence Eithney giving the end of their fine voices to brighten its effect. Miss Henchey singing the "O, Salutaris!" Mr. Fitzhenry the "Miserere!" and, after the Libera, Miss Maguire rendering in English, with admirable feeling and sweetness Schubert's Adieu. The chief mourners were the bereaved husband and the deceased's brother. At the grave, Rev. Father Gannon officiated. The orphan children of St. Bridget's Asylum, for whom the deceased had worked so hard, attended the funeral, in charge of the nuns.

BARBAROUS ACT.

Plunging a pocket knife twice into the head of a horse attached to one of Pfeiffer's delivery wagons, left standing at the foot of Mountain Hill, on Monday last is the latest in the line of the practical "joker." Three hoodlums were descending the Hill and one drew the knife from his pocket and sunk it twice in the flesh of the poor dumb animal. The police were summoned in all haste, but not until late in the evening did they have a suspect on Champlain Market. The prompt action of Dr. Ed. Morin in dressing the wounds probably saved the animal's life.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS

SPLENDID SPORT AT THE RACES

Yesterday—Unique Offer by the Management in Connection With Meet To-day.

Yesterday was an ideal day for racing—beautiful weather, a fast track and good entries—and quite 3,000 people took advantage of the opportunity and were well repaid for the little inconveniences of getting out to the track, for no better racing has taken place at this meeting. Many ladies graced the grand stand with their presence and followed each race closely, encouraging the jockeys who rode home winners by their plaudits, an attention which the boys in silk gallantly appreciated. It appears that the management who evidently have also fallen victims to the witchery of the ladies, have generously offered every lady who brings in a "mare" man today a free entrance and if to-day's entries are any criterion Manager White fully intends to make good his word to give good sport.

Col. Ashmead—one of the mainstays of the meet—who is acting as presiding judge, is to be congratulated on his handling of the judging which on account of so many close finishes has been difficult. The Colonel in order to give so much time to the meeting gave up many engagements and the management must feel a debt of gratitude to him for the splendid help.

The first race of 5 furlongs brought together a good bunch with M. Englander's Manheimer, who put his worker up, a hot favorite. After a good start Manheimer forged ahead and soon outdistanced the others, winning easily by five lengths. Vardoe and Trey of Spades contesting keenly for second place, which fell to Vardoe by half a length, Trey of Spades taking third money. Time, 1:05.

The second race for 3-year-olds and up fell to Way Past, though Grey Plume ran him close, but J. Murphy, leaving it too late, had to take 2nd place. Mr. Jaeger's D. G. Taylor taking 3rd place. Time, 1:19 1-5.

In the 3rd race Herman Johnson won his fourth race at this meet, just beating Gibson with Englander up by a neck. Mr. J. Burtchell's L. M. Eckert coming in third.

The 4th race with four runners was really a good race between the favorite Hannibel Bey, with McGee up, and Mr. Burtchell's Cocksure with little Griffin up. Cocksure just getting home the keenest, Martius with McGee up first, third money going to Ballycastle with the Toronto boy, Knight, up.

The last race of the day was one of taking first money with Fieldwick a close second, Rower getting home third.

NOTES OF THE MEET.

It is not often the books benefit the public, but one of the most noticeable things of the meet is the big prices the bookies are laying, although they are so far heavy losers.

Starter McGinnis, who has been such a success at the Quebec meeting with his prompt starts attributes part of his successful work to the machine he uses, which is his own invention. When one examines this apparatus he no longer wonders how on earth Mr. McGinnis gets his horses off so promptly. The machine is worked by electricity and all the starter has to do is to press a wooden fork and hey presto, they're off. The inventor of this piece of ingenuity is a native of Quebec Province.

2nd race, 3 mile—Inventress, 87; L. M. Eckert, 94; Hasty, 87; Alia, 108.

3rd race, 3 mile—Risk, 106; Park Row, 118; Whisk Broom, 109; Dandy Dancer, 109; La Thorpe, 104.

4th race, 3 mile—Col. Brady, 102; Miss K.O.B., 105; Woodline, 107; Rounding Elk, 100; Red Monk, 107; Way Post, 105; Ever True, 105.

BASEBALL

The Tercentenary sporting programme closes this afternoon with a baseball match on the Q.A.C. grounds. In keeping with all the other events on this programme the best baseball available has been procured in the Montreal Eastern League team. They will bring down their full team and for opponents will have the strong Rock City Club of Quebec, especially strengthened for the occasion by players from the big American leagues. The game is sure to be a hummer and the playing of the Montreal will be a revelation to many of our people who have never hitherto seen the game except as played by local teams. The Eastern League stands very high in American baseball circles and the Montreal are one of the best teams in the league, putting up a fast, snappy game and being particularly strong in the batting department. No follower of sport in this city can afford to miss this opportunity of witnessing what will be one of the chief sporting events in Quebec this year.

TURF CLUB MEETING.

A meeting of the Quebec Turf Club was held last evening, when the matter of holding a fall meeting was discussed. It was finally moved and adopted that no meeting be held, but it is earnestly hoped that no such decision will be persisted in. The meeting of the Quebec Turf Club has always been one of the great events of the season in the Ancient Capital and there will undoubtedly be a great amount of disappointment if it is not held this year.

DISSATISFIED RUNNERS

Canadians Will Hold Another Race Over the Marathon Course.

Lou Marsh cables:—Manager Crocker and Coach Sherring are so disgusted over the result of the Marathon race and the showing made by the Canadian runners on Friday that they are looking around for some means to demonstrate to Canadians at home that the distance men are better than they showed in the big Olympic event.

With this in view, and with the idea of proving that it was not the fast early pace that killed off the Canadians, Longboat, Simpson, Cotter and Wood will be sent over the course on Wednesday providing the weather is cool. It is the opinion of Crocker and Sherring that the intense heat knocked the men out.

"All of these men can cover the Marathon distance in two hours and 40 minutes," is Crocker's declaration. The manager looks for big things on Wednesday from the Indian Simpson, who is now properly acclimatized and he is expected to win.

Manager Crocker is in Birmingham to-day making arrangements with the Alexander Birchfield Harriers to send a team of eight Englishmen to Canada next year. He has promised them union meets at Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton.

The Canadian team has scattered all but Savage, Keath and Elliott will sail for home on Friday.

Tom Longboat has completely recovered and will sail for New York on Wednesday evening, accompanied by Tom Flanagan.

GANS HELD TITLE

Longer Than the Average of Any Other Fighter.

Joe Gans is one of the exceptions to the rule that has limited the careers of top-notch fighters to about six years. In view of the ephemeral glory of other boxers, the defeat of Gans, if it does mark the end and means that he will not "bring the bacon home" any more, is not surprising. His case is like that of Jimmie Britt, Eddie Hanlon, Big Jim Jeffries and Jim Fitzsimmons, who was in his glory from 35 to 45 years old, is, of course, an exception.

Tex Rickard, the Nevada promoter, has decided to call off the proposed fight between Battling Nelson and Joe Gans, which he had intended to hold at Ely, Nev., on next Labor Day. The reason assigned for this action on the part of Rickard is said to be because he could not get a reduced rate from the railroad companies of that section of the country. It might be suspected that Rickard has other reasons for this action, and is satisfied to leave the public to think as they please. The proposition to have a return match between these lightweights has not met with the tremendous enthusiasm which the promoters seemed to think it should attract. In fact, many of the boxing critics appeared to look on the contest with considerable popularity.

On the other hand, it begins to look as if Jimmy Coffroth would succeed in getting the Gans-Nelson bout, which brings to mind the fact that this very enterprising young boxing promoter has the knack of getting most of the good things in that line which are pulled off on the Coast.

PITCHER STRUCK OUT 42.

The Corry, Pa., Baseball Club Saturday won a 23-innings game from the Falconer, N.Y., team by a score of 3 to 1. Pitcher Bedient, of Falconer, struck out 42 men, a world's record, while Bickford, of Corry, retired 16 men.

The game was a pitchers' battle throughout, as the score shows Corry being hit six hits and the visitors receiving ten. Each side had 5 errors. The two teams played a 15-innings tie game here several days ago, the score being 2 to 2.

Bedient was given a great ovation at the end of the game for his brilliant work, and all united in congratulating him on making a world's record.

CANADA'S CRICK SHOT A HOCKEY PLAYER.

Charlie Spittal, of Ottawa, who shot second place for the King's prize at Bileys, Saturday, is none other than "Baldy" Spittal, the well-known hockey player, who figured all last season at point for the Benfrew team.

It was "Baldy" who, with Alf and Harry Smith, appeared in the Montreal Police Court two years ago as the result of that celebrated Ottawa-Wanderer game in the Montreal Arena, in which the late Hod Stuart and C. Blatchford were victims of alleged assault by the Ottawa players. Some years ago Spittal managed the Pittsburgh team in the international League.

MINTO CUP GOES WEST.

Montreal, July 28—The Minto Cup goes West. Notwithstanding the hopes that Shamrocks would to-day show some improved form that the New Westminster team would not be in it, the lacrosse tourists from the Pacific Coast turned out and walloped the Shamrocks, the Eastern champions by a score of 6 to 2.

MARATHON WINNER SELF-TRAINED

John J. Hayes, Will Receive Promotion For His Great Victory in England.

New York, July 27—When John J. Hayes won his great victory in the Marathon race at the London Olympiad a good example of the self-developed athlete was shown. Up to last Thanksgiving Day this boy had been practically unknown. He had developed nearly all of his speed and stamina in the Sunday runs across country in the Bronx while a member of the St. Bartholomew Club, and ran purely for the fun. Unlike the athletes in the big clubs, Hayes had no trainer to help him, but he just plugged away along the city streets at night after work, and spent all his holidays in competition with other youngsters in the little clubs.

Hayes first came into great prominence when he won the Yonkers Marathon race last November. He finished comparatively fresh far ahead of his field. After this race he was invited to join the Irish-American Athletic Club, and since then has been competing for the "Winged Flier" organization. As a member of the latter organization he ran another fine race last May, finishing second to J. P. Morrissey in the Boston Marathon.

Hayes is only nineteen years old and is 5 feet 3 1/2 inches tall. When in condition, which is practically all the year round, he weighs 125 pounds. He was born in the United States of Irish parents. Hayes worked as an assistant in the superintendent's office of Bloomingdale Brothers' prior to his sailing for London, but as a reward for his victory he will be promoted to the position of manager of the sporting goods department at Bloomingdale's.

MAPLE LEAF IN EVIDENCE.

In the procession of Marathon prize-winners past the grand stand on Saturday the lead was taken by Walker, the 19-year-old South African, who won the 100-metre sprint.

Next in line was Bobby Kerr, the Canadian, who won the 200-metre race. As he approached the dais where Queen Alexandra sat, it was noticed that he was wearing a maple leaf sweater.

Queen Alexandra presented the medals and an attendant the diplomas.

Ewing, the champion Canadian trap-shooter, was 69th. Minor prizes were presented earlier by the Duchesses of Rutland and Manchester.

There was the greatest enthusiasm when Dorando circled the arena carrying the cup donated by the Queen in recognition of his heroic effort of yesterday. The reception swamped Hayes' reception completely.

Ewing later received Westbury's double-handled silver cup, 30 inches high.

DUFRESNE TRAINS HARD.

That "Kid" Dufresne intends to give a good account of himself in his coming meeting with Alf Lynch is evidenced by the conscientious manner in which the French-Canadian boxer is training for Saturday night's contest. With his Irish rival yesterday, the hard-working "Kid" was speeding along the St. Foye Road before seven o'clock in the morning, accompanied by his trainer. In the late afternoon he "worked out" on the punching bag and after doing some "shadow boxing," rope skipping, etc., he donned the gloves and went eight fast rounds with his trainer. The boys went at a fast clip and the bout certainly showed that as far as condition goes Dufresne has it on either Allen or Lynch. Lynch, however, has not forgotten the fact that Dufresne gave him the hardest battle of his career, and that it was only his good condition that pulled him through upon that occasion, which, by the way, was the most sensational and spectacular contest ever seen in Canada, and judging by the earnestness with which both these rivals are training it is safe to say that when they face each other in the ring at the Q. A. C. grounds Saturday night, the spectators should witness one of the fastest bouts that has ever been seen in a local arena.

TRIP WORTH TAKING.

Among the many side trips which visitors to Quebec may enjoy is the visit to Montmorency Falls and the famous Kent House grounds, which no one should miss. The Falls are one of the most interesting sights in the world, while the attractions of the historic Kent House, once the residence of royalty, is well worth a visit alone.

Another 1908 Improvement in "Hecla" Furnaces

The fire pot is the most effective radiating
surface in a warm air furnace. That is why
every manufacturer
seeks to increase that surface by the addition of cast iron flanges, or pins or corrugations.

As each of these flanges or pins covers a large part of the primary surface of the fire pot there is a limit to the number of such cast flanges as can be effectively used.

The "Hecla" Steel Ribbed (Patented) Fire Pot is a step far in advance of any other fire pot. Instead of thick and sandy cast iron flanges those in the "Hecla" are steel and are neat and clean. Being uniform they can be set so close together that, where we formerly used 19 cast flanges we now use 97 steel ones without covering any more of the primary surface of the pot.

Steel Ribbed (Patented) Fire Pots provide twice as much effective radiating surface as any other fire pots made,
and in consequence radiate far more heat with the same amount of fuel.

In a test extending over two years, Steel Ribbed (Patented) Fire Pots showed a saving of 11% in fuel, over cast flanged pots.

Our Catalogue explains other exclusive "Hecla" features viz: Patent Fused Joints, Individual Grate Bars, etc.

JUMPING TO SANCTITY: THE STRANGE WHITSUNTIDE PROCESSION IN ECHTERNACH, LUXEMBOURG
On the Tuesday of Whitsun-week a strange procession of pilgrims is held in Echternach, Luxembourg, in honor of St. Willibrord, abbot of Echternach, who died toward the end of the eighth century. It is said that pilgrims to his shrine may be cured of nervous diseases. They take three steps forward and two steps backward, thus making five steps in order to advance one. The pilgrims believe that this pious act will insure happiness in the future life.

20,000 PERFORMERS IN MAGNIFICENT PAGEANT

Diamond Jubilee of the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria Celebrated in Succession of Superb Historical Scenes

Special Correspondence

VIENNA.

THE Emperor Francis Joseph, who is on the verge of 78 years of age, stood for three hours today on the royal stand in the famous Ringstrasse to witness the passage of the most imposing and magnificent pageant in history. For most of the time the sun was brilliant and hot, but the aged monarch was unconscious of the trying nature of his ordeal, and from beginning to end of the magnificent five-mile historic procession which passed before him was an intensely interested as any of the half-million persons whose privilege it was to be present.

The pageant, which was in celebration of the emperor's sixty years' reign, had taken four months to prepare, and had cost $750,000. It was on such an immense scale that the whole inner city of Vienna appeared to have been transformed into a vast theater, in which hundreds of thousands of spectators could watch the immense company of 20,000 performers, including 600 horsemen. Many spectators paid from $200 to $500 for seats facing the pavilion which accommodated the royal party.

Austrian aristocrats of the most famous families marched or rode in the procession in the robes of their ancestors, who had distinguished themselves and won their historic titles as statesmen and generals hundreds of years ago. In many cases, too, they wore the very armor and trappings of the time represented, which had lain for centuries, undisturbed in their family castles.

First came a group representing the founder of the Hapsburg dynasty, King Rudolph I, surrounded by the chivalry of his age. Most of the members of this group belonged to families which can trace their titles back to the time of Rudolph's reign at the end of the thirteenth century, and included Prince Auerberg, Prince Puchberg, Prince Liechtenstein, Prince Harrach, four Counts of Khevenburg, and about forty other counts and barons whose families have the proud distinction of being as old as the dynasty, the Austrian equivalent of the English "coming over with the conqueror."

King Rudolph, represented by Count Eltz, carried his helmet in his hand and bowed to Francis Joseph as he passed, the monarch replying with a military salute to the greeting of his ancestor.

This group, like several of the others, afforded a remarkable study in medieval armor. The knights were all on horseback and armed with lance and sword, and their helms and shields were all with the crests and escutcheons which are nowadays only emblazoned on the carriage panels of their descendants.

After King Rudolph followed a living picture of an expedition of Vienna, citizens setting out to destroy one of the robber barons' castles which were a terror to the countryside in the fourteenth century. The artillery of the period—great catapults to throw stone balls—the ballista, and the battering ram, and a kind of movable redoubt on wheels, excited much interest as they rumbled slowly by.

Rudolph IV, called the Founder, formed the central figure of the next group. He was followed by builders, masons and craftsmen, the great master mason, and the burgomasters dragging a model of St. Stephen's Cathedral, which he founded, as well as the Vienna University—and by a number of church dignitaries in gorgeous vestments.

A procession of twenty knights, with attendant squires, and pages, on their way to a tournament was portrayed in the fourth group.

The next group represented a pastoral scene in Austria, the double marriage of two grandsons of the Emperor Maximilian, which brought the crowns of Hungary and Bohemia to the house of Hapsburg. The aged Emperor Maximilian and the king of Bohemia were carried by in litter, and the king of Poland and Hungary rode on horseback in gorgeous costumes. After them followed the youthful brides, and in a golden chariot, accompanied by other carriages full of court ladies, represented by a number of ladies of the aristocracy, dressed in ancient brocades and velvets.

Several military groups representing the storms which the Austrian empire passed through in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, came next. There was the first siege of Vienna by the Turks, with a long column of landsknechts—the mercenaries of the time—headed by Count Robert Salin, the descendant of Count Niklas Salin, who organized the defense of the city. The picture of the second Turkish invasion of Vienna showed the triumphal entry of the Polish army into the city after his victory over the Turkish besiegers outside. He was surrounded by adons of the Polish noble families Lubomirski, Potocki, Sapieha, Zamojska, and others, whose ancestors distinguished themselves in helping to roll back the tide of Turkish invasion which might otherwise have swamped all central Europe.

The Thirty Years' War and the army of Prince Eugene supplied the next group. A picture of the time of Maria Theresa followed, in which Princess Wundischgratz, the emperor's granddaughter, the Princesses Hohenlohe, Liechtenstein, Kinsky and other ladies of the aristocracy, appeared as ladies of Marie Theresa's court driving in old court carriages to a fête at Schoenbrunn.

Rising of the Tyrolese.

The sixteenth group represented the famous rising of the Tyrolese under their leader, Andreas Hofer, against the French invaders. Several hundred real Tyrolese peasants in national costume, armed with pitchforks, scythes and axes, passed, followed by the original wooden cannon bound with iron hoops, which were their only place of artillery.

Another of the campaigns in which the Austrian arms covered themselves with glory, that of Field Marshal Radetzky in Italy in 1848, formed the subject of the last of the historical groups. Count Joseph Radetzky took the part of his grandfather and was followed by a brilliant staff and long columns of troops, dressed for the occasion in the uniforms of the middle of last century, many of which were taken from the museum at the Vienna arsenal.

A short pause ensued, and then the second and longer part of the procession began to defile by to the strains of national music, sometimes as quaint and strange as the costumes worn, for it represented the national life of the many different peoples whom the emperor has held together in peace during his long reign.

BURGLAR ASKS POLICE TO AID IN ROBBERY

Phones to the Station for Detectives to Arrest Bogus Revolutionary.

USES THEM AS TOOLS

ST. PETERSBURG.

An audacious burglary in which four policemen were unwittingly implicated took place at Odessa yesterday.

Just before midnight the police station in the Alexandrovsk district received a telephone message to send four detectives to the house of the governor general.

On their arrival they were met outside the door by a captain of the gendarmes, who informed them that the arrest of a dangerous revolutionary had to be effected, and that they must be prepared for an armed resistance.

He then drove off with them to the house of Dr. Buchstab, a prosperous young physician, which they entered in the name of the law.

Only the doctor's mother and the servants were in the house, and the captain asked the old woman to hand over all the money in her possession, informing her at the same time that she would be arrested in the morning. He then ordered the policemen to make a careful search for bombs. No bombs were found, and the captain ordered the four detectives back to their station. He then drove away, taking with him over $500.

This morning it was discovered that the whole affair was a fraud, and that the police had given assistance to a new Captain Koenigskind.

MOTOR CAR RUNS AT TWO MILES A MINUTE

This Extraordinary Speed Attained by Nazzarro on Italian-Made Vehicle.

IS THE WORLD'S RECORD

NAZZARRO, FAMOUS MOTORIST.

Special Correspondence

LONDON.

Two miles a minute! That was the wonderful speed attained at the track meeting at Brooklands, and the man who attained it was the famous driver Nazzarro.

The great match was between S. F. Edge as challenger and D. A. Gray Baker as acceptor in the 30-horsepower standard class. Mr. Edge was hopeful of repeating the victories achieved over O. Cupper, his Belgian acceptor, by the Napier six-cylinder cars in the 26 and 40-horsepower classes, but the sudden collapse of the Napier through something going wrong with the engines left the match, which was for $200, to Mr. Baker.

This was a great disappointment, as the keenest interest was evinced in the race in that it was a match between the British-made car and the Italian Fiat car.

The Napier rather had the advantage, bounding clear away and improving on the lead during the first lap, passing the members' enclosure 500 or 1000 yards in front of the Fiat. Nazzarro, the famous driver, who was at the wheel of the Italian car, reduced the distance between his car and the Napier during the second lap, but Newton (Mr. Edge's driver) still had a considerable lead when the rivals again got round.

The third lap had barely been completed when the Fiat appeared to shoot ahead with an amazingly increased speed, but the fact was that the Napier was slowing up, and it immediately left the track. Nazzarro continued the race alone, and the timed speed showed that he had put his car to her best speed.

Nazzarro achieved a world's record of 120 miles an hour over a distance of 2 1/2 miles, his being officially certified by the Brooklands Racing Club and the secretary of the Royal Automobile Club. The speed over the whole distance of 2 1/2 miles averaged 94 1/2 miles an hour.

DANCERS ON FIRE

Seven Persons So Badly Burnt That They May Die.

PARIS.

—During a ball at Madeleine, near Lilla, yesterday, seven persons, dressed as cats, caused great amusement. As they were dancing together a spark from a cigarette set fire to the cotton wool of which the "cats" dresses were composed. In an instant the dancers were in flames, and they are in hospital so frightfully injured that they are not expected to recover.

KING VICTOR'S CAR UPSETS OFFICIALS

Three Town Dignitaries, Self-Important and Haughty, Sent Sprawling in Mud.

COMPLAIN TO THE POLICE

ROME.

The police authorities of this town are in a state of serious embarrassment. On Thursday, along the high road which leads to Comunanza, was proceeding a country car drawn at a slow pace by a hairy nag, evidently somewhat tired. In the car were three stout personages, the syndicate, the communal secretary and an assessor. They were carrying on a discussion concerning the affairs of the commune and their administration. Their steed, left to himself, changed his trot into a walk.

Suddenly from the white surface of the road there arose a cloud of dust, from which emerged a large motor car. The three occupants of the car abandoned the discussion of local politics and began to discuss the local police, but it was too late. Frightened by the approach of the thrashing monster, the steed quickened his pace and there was a slight collision, as the result of which the three dignitaries of Ascoli Piceno were rolled in the dust.

The automobile was immediately brought to a standstill. Two gigantic individuals, of military aspect, but dressed in civilian, stepped out of the car and began to inquire with unaffected sympathy whether they were hurt.

They had not come to any great harm, but they were furious, and threatened all the penalties of the law, not omitting also the civil code, for the damage done to their vehicle. Soon came another car, into which the angry functionaries climbed, while the motor car resumed its journey. At the first village they came to the syndicate made a complaint against the occupants of the automobile and the cyclists, due note of which was taken by the chief police officer.

The syndicate and his companions departed, but soon the chief of police was running after them, crying: "But the motorist is his majesty the king! I have just received the news by telephone!" Still, the denunciation had been made, and the chief of police must do his duty and report the complaint to the authorities. Certainly, the king will solve the difficulty in a satisfactory manner by paying for the car, and perhaps, by creating the thrashing syndicate a chevalier.

DUSKY AFRICAN KING AND MEETING OF HIS CABINET

In his recent expedition through the African possessions of France M. Millies-Lacroix, minister of the colonies, witnessed some unique sights, snapshots of which were taken by a member of the suite. This picture represents a meeting of Adjuik-Toufa, the young king of Porto-Novo, and his cabinet. The king, who succeeded his father in January last, is of an enlightened type of potentate and is a vigorous ruler in adjoining states. The cabinet meetings are held in the palace, and the king, dressed in a robe of red velvet, is seated in an ornate chair. On the walls of the palace are affixed large maps in which there are square holes, and the members of the cabinet, except the two highest, prostrate themselves before the king.

CZAR'S LIFE SAVED BY WOMAN'S SUICIDE

Schoolmistress Ordered by Anarchists to Slay Him Prefers Death to Crime.

IS MANGLED BY TRAIN

Throws Herself in Front of it to Escape Becoming Wholesale Murderess.

ST. PETERSBURG.

It has just leaked out here that, despite the extraordinary precautions taken to protect the czar, on the occasion of his visit to Revel to meet King Edward, his majesty has had a narrow escape from assassination. A terrorist plot was organized by the revolutionaries which would have been successful but for the refusal of the woman appointed as "executioner" to carry out the work.

The woman, a local schoolmistress, committed suicide on the railway by throwing herself in front of a train two days before the czar arrived in Revel from Putorhof.

Her Connection With Terrorists.

The connection of this woman with the revolutionary organization was never suspected by the authorities. Apparently she joined the revolutionaries a long time ago, and afterward withdrew from active work in the organization.

When it became known that the czar would come to Revel to meet King Edward, the principal terrorist groups at once tried to devise means for attacking the czar. The czar's train was so well guarded that an attack was out of the question during the journey to Revel.

Learning that no one would be admitted to the railway station here to witness the czar's arrival except the school children and their teachers, the terrorists at once called on the mistress who had been identified with their cause to prove her loyalty by assassinating the czar.

Terrific Alternative.

Inasmuch as there were no barriers at the station, and no special precaution to keep back the school children, it would have been an easy matter for the woman to walk up to the czar and throw a bomb, which would have destroyed all the members of the imperial family as they walked from the train to the quay.

The schoolmistress either repented of her connection with the terrorists, or she was too fond of her school children to take a step which would have destroyed them. She was therefore faced with a terrible alternative. She could either carry out the mandate of the revolutionaries, or she could commit suicide.

The police searched her rooms and found nothing of an incriminating nature, but her fellow-teachers and the townspeople are aware of the story.

This shows the risk run by the czar, despite the most painstaking efforts of the authorities to protect him. His majesty has shown great courage in thus venturing from the security of his palace for the first time in years, and taking a long railroad journey solely in order to receive King Edward.

JEALOUS BY MUSIC MAD LOVER KILLS TWO

His Cousin, Violinist, and His Sweetheart, Accompanist, Shot Dead.

IS SAVED FROM SUICIDE

BUDAPEST.

A terrible tragedy, reminiscent of Tolstoy's "Kreutzer Sonata," occurred yesterday at Buda on the mad jealousy of a lover.

Josef Lital, aged 28, who belongs to a well-to-do family, was engaged to a young widow. She was an accomplished pianist, but Lital had no ear for music, and could not distinguish one note from another.

Yesterday Lital's cousin, a violinist, studying in Vienna, arrived in Buda to pay him a few days' visit, and Lital took him to his fiancée so that she might hear him play.

The cousin played to the accompaniment of the young widow the whole of the afternoon. The widow was enraptured, and thought Lital suggested that the performance might very properly come to an end, she insisted on the violinist continuing.

Lital, in a frenzy of jealousy, instantly drew a revolver, and fired at his sweet-heart and his cousin. Killing them on the spot. He then attempted to shoot himself, but was dissuaded by a domestic and was arrested.

KAISER'S FOURTH SON AND HIS FUTURE WIFE
The Kaiser has just decided that the marriage of his fourth son, Prince August Wilhelm, will take place on October 22, the anniversary of the birthday of the empress. The future bride of the young prince is Princess Alexandra of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg.

WOMEN LEAP FROM BALLOON THAT WAS TWO MILES HIGH

Clinging to Frail Parachute, Intended Only for One, They Plunge to Earth at Terrific Rate—One Seriously Injured

LONDON.

RAVARY.

Several villagers at Leigh, near Utteter, had been watching the descent with apprehension, and when the parachutists dropped on Mr. Holli's farm they hastened to render assistance.

Miss Shephard Injured.

It was found that Miss Shephard, who touched the ground first, and was fallen upon by her companion, was very seriously injured. Despite the fact, she was very cheerful, and showed the greatest fortitude and endurance. Miss May was practically unhurt, though shaken, and was able to return later to Longton, with Captain Gordon, who had followed the course of the balloon by road. First aid was rendered by several villagers, who procured a stretcher and conveyed the injured woman to Mr. Holli's farm, where a reporter interviewed her yesterday morning. No one would have thought from her laughing countenance that she had undergone such a terrible ordeal the previous night, or that she was suffering from spinal paralysis, as diagnosed by Dr. Hild, of Harley, Fletcher, of Tottenham, and Smith, of Tean, who were summoned.

Miss Shephard, in the course of a conversation, seemed to make light of the thrilling adventure. "Oh," said she, "I shall be long before I am making an other descent." "What made you go at high before descending?" was asked. "We had to," she replied; "Miss May could not loosen her parachute, and, of course, I could not leave her alone with the balloon, so there was no alternative."

"But you found an alternative," the reporter suggested.

"Yes, thanks to an awfully plucky leap in mid-air by Miss May. I was astonished to find her in my parachute."

Asked what were her feelings when she was coming down at such a furious pace, Miss Shephard said: "Oh, I could describe them. I never had time to think of feelings. I had to keep a sharp lookout for landing. I came down an awful crash, but I saved Miss May, for she fell right on top of me."

ART OF DANCING LOST, SO EXPERT SAYS

International Choreographic Congress to Discuss Question and Provide Remedy.

HE POLKA IS BLAMED

PARIS.

Is dancing degenerating? Next month, in Berlin, will be held an international choreographic congress, which will have to answer that grave question. M. Lefort, secretary of the French Choreographic Association, gives a forecast of the task which will lie before the meeting.

"The art of dancing," he said today, "threatens to lose all its charm if something like the polka is not done in time. Either dancers turn like teetothums with stiffened joints or they make violent efforts to look graceful, with still more dire results, graceful about, contorting themselves, and exhibiting grotesque. This, sir, is a lamentable state of things. Dancing should, above all, have grace and elegance, and should impart distinction to the bearing. The dancer should study to acquire elasticity and suppleness of movement, not the habit of disarticulating his or her limbs—a most disastrous practice."

"Department is the first thing to be learnt, and it will be useful to the proficients in all walks of life. It was thus in the olden times. In the day of Prevot, of Galant du Desert, and of Guillaume Ruyal, who were dancing masters at the court of King Louis XIV, who founded the Academy of Dancing. Then the minuet, the gavotte, the pavana, the passepied, the forlane were danced. What could be more exquisite? But in 1850 the polka was introduced in France. That was the beginning of the end. To dance the polka the man held his partner round the waist. The novelty of the thing pleased the popular imagination. Good-bye, then, to the beautiful old dances in which partners just touched the tips of each other's fingers. The mazurka, the schottische followed, and the waltz, imported by Desart from Russia."

"Nowadays, when a man comes to us to learn dancing he generally stipulates that he is to be taught only those dances in which he holds the girl round the waist! What have we come to? Still, there are hopes, after all. In the last few years some little has been done to restore the art of dancing its pristine nobility. The polka, the mazurka, the schottische, now happily past, of the negroes' cakewalk, we observe that the Boston is increasingly popular in drawing rooms. The Boston comes from America."

"Let us, then, the Americans, not for the step, but for the development of the body, which they have given it, and which makes it an admirable physical exercise. The Boston gives breadth of movement and expands chest and lungs. This year we started with considerable success a new dance, the waltz, a kind of more undulating and supple movement, recalling the rhythm of the sea, hence, name. Next winter we intend to revive the old dances of France, the pavana and the gavotte, for instance, and we shall require our pupils to execute these dances, recalling the rhythm of the sea, hence, name. of Armand Gagne, aged 19 years, son of Francois Gagne, merchant, of that parish recently. The youth was on a fishing excursion in the Grand Discharge, and being minus of a thumb
on his left hand experienced some difficulty in propelling his canoe, the craft finally upsetting. Three men anchored not far distant in another boat, but the anchor had got caught on bottom, and before the chain could be severed the youth disappeared down the rapids. The river at that point being exceedingly deep, the body has not yet been recovered.MEN NOT PAID.There is much dissatisfaction among the men employed on the work of the rock slide in Champlain street, owing to delay in payment of wages. These men have not seen any sign of money for the past four weeks, and as the conditions at present existing in Quebec, as in other cities of the Dominion, are not favorable to living without the collateral incident to sustaining a family at the present big prices existing, it is hoped that the Federal authorities will promptly see their way clear to pay the wages of the men who are engaged in the work at the

CHOSEN IN PAGEANTSAll Good, Some Show Surpassing Merits in Portraying Their Parts.Whoever was responsible for the selection of "dramatis personae" in the Pageants, must have used a happy discrimination, as there is very little room for improvement anywhere. And this, where each scene has its own special characteristic, and each principal role requires most versatile acting to reproduce its many traits. To begin with the first scene, the impersonation of Cartier by Mr. Moise Raymond has been the subject of general admiration.
Nor have the chief actors in the court scenes failed to do justice to their parts, having acquitted themselves right royally. But if any lover of Canadian history were suddenly confronted with the chief players and had to name three of them, he would in all probability choose Mme. de Champlain, de Tracy and Frontenac.
The first role is admirably adapted to Mlle. de Lery: while no representative of the veteran soldier, who carried terror among the Iroquois lodges, could be found to surpass the Chevalier Rouleau. And for those who have read with interest the stormy career of haughty Count Frontenac, there is a revelation in the acting of
M. Datois, that clears away the mists of time.That these are praised so highly is no disparagement of the others, who are good beyond exception. And it must be remembered that many roles,
which may appear minor and trivial,
are, however, just as necessary as any others. If there is the slightest deviation or carelessness in these the whole scene suffers. So that there is credit in playing a minor role well,
just as there is in playing a principal part.THE INDIANS.A special word of praise should be given to the Indians, who have played so conspicuous and so exciting a part in several of the scenes. They have been here but a short time, but they immediately rose to the occasion, and in the vivid portrayal of their ancient customs, their songs, dances and battles, they have added an interest and color, which have done much to promote the success of the Pageants.
They are men of splendid physique,
hard workers and possessed of great intelligence and cheerfulness. Prominent among them are Chiefs American Horse, Deep Sky, Scarface, Sozay,
and Big Thunder. American Horse, who plays the part of Donnacona in the first two scenes, is the hero of a romance, for while he was touring at the Hague he attracted the attention of a Dutch lady, who straightaway fell in love with him and followed him to London, where they were married. Deep Sky has performed in several other Indian plays, notably in "Hiawatha," when he acted the part of Sagoy, the great braver, the marvellous story-teller. Scarface, who is also a good actor, has but lately celebrated his golden wedding but is yet as hale and hearty as many of the younger ones. Sozay is the Robin Hood of the party, the best archer.
The Master of the Pageants may feel proud to be made a chief of such men as these. Many of them served on the Nile expedition, where their services were invaluable. These Iroquois are in no way a dying or degenerate race, for they have eliminated those vices which came in with civilization
and destroyed many of the tribes.
To-day they are increasing. While in camp here they are under the direction of Mr. Armstrong and Mr.
Blaney, both of whom are chiefs of other nations. To-night Mr. Blaney is to be initiated with Mr. Lascelles as one of their chiefs. The Calumet or peace-pipe used in the Calumet dance was brought by Mr. Armstrong from the original red stone quarry in Minnesota whence Hiawatha obtained his.
Deep Sky's mother, whose Indian name signifies "Endowed with Many Presents," is responsible for the picture-writing on the teepees, and though she is absolutely untrained, her work shows a vigor of conception and much natural art. This and many other reasons make the Indian village well worthy of a visit.Dining car on the Grand Trunk

the pressure caused by the Tercentenary celebrations, gathered in his apart-

appreciation of his care and attention to them during their term of duty in the Ancestry City. Mr. Bolduc, of the Montreal Post Office, made the presentation and in well-chosen words expressed the sentiments of the staff.
Mr. Bolduc replied in his usual happy style, thanking the visitors for their present, and at the same time stating that the services of the extra staff had been invaluable during the extreme pressure of the last week. Dr. Coulter, Deputy Postmaster-General, and Mr. George were spectators of the event and each,

in few words, expressed their views as to the satisfactory manner in which the extra work had been han-

of health but who have exacting duties
to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating medicine. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operative table and the surgical knife, would it be believed, seldom have to be employed in the most valuable womanly work of the world, to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character,
but is a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients decides the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, and contains no glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol in its make-up. In this connection it may be of use to place on record that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and all menstrual troubles through druggists, and the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as a remedy for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.
A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, with absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, stipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.WAS NO INCON-VENIENCE*Mr. L. A. Wilson Declares Reports of Lack of Accommodation at Quebec Were Exaggerated.

(From Gazette.)

Mr. Lawrence A. Wilson, who returned from Quebec yesterday, stated that he was surprised upon his arrival in Montreal to hear on all sides
in that city that visitors to Quebec had suffered great inconvenience in that city during the festivities of the past week. "Insufficiency," he said,
"of food, refreshments and sleeping accommodation was not heard of. It is true that on Thursday, the big day, there were at least 60,000 strangers in the city, thereby doubling almost the population of the city, and in spite of this fact every man, woman and child saw the military and historical processions without the slightest crowding or inconvenience, as well as the magnificent illumination of the warships and the fireworks. I estimate that 25,000 people left the city that night, when the place was as calm and peaceful as ever it was. I cannot speak too highly of the manner in which the Chateau Frontenac handled its 2,000 guests, while the clubs and homes of the city were filled with guests from every part of the world, and I repeat that it is an untruth to assert that people were held up as to the prices paid. Even the cabby, with his tired horse and dusty calèche,
was quite reasonable in his charges.
Everything was wide open, yet there was not a drunken man to be seen.
Quebec alone," he concluded, "can produce such a show of splendor and gaiety, and my advice is for all who can do so to go to the old capital this week."BASEBALL

instant, a highly flattering compliment was paid to Mr. L. O. Commet-tant, who was a farmer and the first superintendent of Anticosti Island, under Mr. Henri Menier, by quite a number of the old employees of the administration. Mr. Commettant was tendered a "Punch d'honneur." Among the parties present on that occasion were Messrs. Raoul Landrieu, Major LeVas-seur, De L. Montreuil, Fernand Le-Bailly, Henri T. Paquet, E. Servestre, Ovide Montreuil, L. Malouin, E. Nadand, O. Malouin, S. Desrochers, with Madame H. T. Paquet, Miss Fuchs, Messrs. Ulric Barthe, Albert Peters.
It was quite a spontaneous tribute of homage and consideration to the ex-Governor of the Island. During the "Punch d'honneur" Mr. Commettant was presented with a very cordial and well written address by Mr. Landrieu, retracing all the work he had done for the benefit of Mr. Menier's property, and all the feelings of esteem and sympathy he and his family had left after having left the shores of the St.
Lawrence for his native country,
France. Mr. Commettant was deeply moved by this cordial expression of feelings on the part of nearly all the parties, who for about ten years had worked under him, and who still are holding him in such high esteem.
Speeches were afterwards invited by the gathering from Mr. U. Barthe and Major LeVasseur, this last gentleman retracing the whole history of Anticosti Island from its inception under
Mr. Menier until to-day.The party was back to town in time for the grand illuminations on the river in the evening.
Mr. Commettant must indeed feel highly gratified in finding again in Canada so many true friends.F. SIMARD & CIE*Great Price Reductions*WOMEN'S LINEN COATS$ 6.00 For Half Fitting Linen Coats trimmed with Black Silk Braid, regu-
