Sixty-Third Year

State Funeral Likely For Smith

OTTAWA — (CP) — Sidney Smith, Cape Breton farm boy who built an enviable reputation as a university administrator, died Tuesday, 18 months after embarking on a new career as Canada's external affairs minister.

He was found by his wife in their apartment where he was resting before going to the Commons. He had complained of feeling unwell and apparently succumbed to a heart attack.

SIDNEY SMITH

His death at 62 was announced to the Commons by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, his voice choked and his eyes moist. Both the Commons and Senate ended their sittings until today as a mark of tribute.

PM TAKES OVER

Mr. Diefenbaker assumed the external affairs portfolio on Mr. Smith's death.

Funeral arrangements were to await the decision of his wife and three daughters. However, it has been the practice to hold a state funeral for ministers who die in office.

The death of the genial, white-haired external affairs minister was followed by tributes from those with whom he was acquainted in politics, international affairs, university administration and the law.

Mr. Diefenbaker described him as "a happy warrior, possessed of a keen intellect and a tremendous capacity for public service." Opposition Leader Pearson said he was "a happy, whole-souled and generous person who made friends and kept friends easily."

BORN AT PORT HOOD

Sidney Earle Smith was born March 9, 1897, at Port Hood, N.S., the son of a farmer. His deeply religious mother influenced him toward the ministry but after entering the University of King's College at 14, he eventually was graduated in law from Dalhousie University.

He studied at Harvard law school, returned to lecture at Dalhousie, then at Toronto's Osgoode Hall law school and again at Dalhousie, but this time as dean of the law school.

At 37 he became the youngest Canadian university president when he went to the University of Manitoba for a 10-year term. He then moved to University of Toronto as principal of University College for two years before moving up to the presidency of this country's largest university in 1945.

In September, 1957, Prime Minister Diefenbaker — to use the words he used in paying tribute to Mr. Smith — "called upon him to sacrifice himself by giving up his position in education."

Mr. Smith threw himself with enthusiasm into the task of following Nobel Prize winner Lester B. Pearson as Canada's spokesman abroad. He won Hastings-Frontenac constituency in a by-election and began a heavy round of travel and international conferences.

His death occurred on the eve of one of these—the visit here today of British Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. They are en route to Washington for talks on Berlin with President Eisenhower.

He had just returned home from a speaking engagement in Halifax when he was stricken. Ross Campbell, a secretary, said he had been suffering from flu recently, had been under care of two doctors for about a fortnight but appeared in no difficulty.

Although he had a fever all last week he refused to remain in bed.

Philip Is First

HONOLULU, Solomon Islands (Reuters) — Prince Philip today landed on the small island of Gizo near here to begin the first royal visit in the history of the Solomon Islands protectorate. The royal yacht Britannia brought the Duke across the Pacific from Hong Kong.

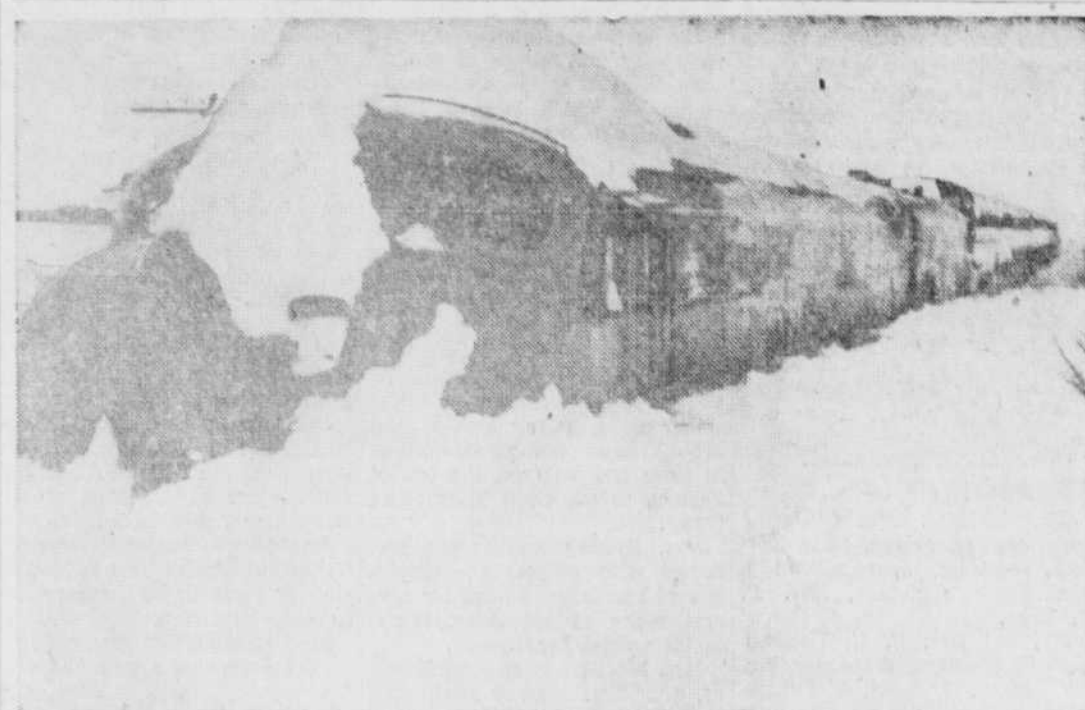

Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain, who arrived in Ottawa today and had planned to discuss the Berlin situation with Mr. Smith as well as Mr. Diefenbaker and other officials, both paid tribute to him before leaving London.

Mr. Macmillan said in an advance message to Mr. Diefenbaker that he was "deeply distressed" at the loss, and Mr. Lloyd said Canada "has lost a distinguished public servant and I have lost a trusted colleague and friend."

Dr. Claude T. Bissell, who succeeded Mr. Smith as president of the University of Toronto, said that "in the fullest sense (he) gave his life for his country. He inspired both admiration and affection. He was great both as a person and as a public servant."

Davidson Dunton, president of Carleton University in Ottawa, said "a wonderfully warm person has gone from Canada. . . His contribution to higher education was great, going far beyond his own universities, and his interest stayed warm and alive after he joined the government."

STALLED BY SNOW — Stranded in the deep snow, a Chicago and Northwestern streamliner stands on the tracks near Campbellsport, Wis., waiting for a snow plow to clear the way. The train, with 70 passengers aboard, was stranded for eight hours during a blizzard that struck the area.

Indians Puff Pipe Of Peace

OTTAWA (CP)—A pow-wow between Citizenship Minister Fairclough and disputing factions on the Six Nations Indian reservation near Brantford, Ont., apparently has pointed a way toward settlement of their differences.

Edward P. Garland, chief of the reservation's elected council, said Tuesday after the meeting here that he will support any move to grant amnesty to Indians involved in the recent uprising of hereditary chiefs against his council.

Mrs. Fairclough said the attitude by the council was a "major concession" in efforts to settle the dispute.

She said a letter from Malcolm Montgomery, lawyer for the Six Nations Iroquois Confederacy, stated that the faction supporting the hereditary chiefs would be willing to return to a peaceful existence if all charges are withdrawn and an amnesty granted.

The council of hereditary chiefs seized and held power briefly last week until their hold on the council hall was broken by an RCMP raid.

Mrs. Fairclough said it is not within her power to grant amnesty. However, she would consult with Justice Minister Fulton on the possibility of a request to Ontario Attorney-General Kelso Roberts.

Mrs. Fairclough said the next council election on the reservation will be in December. The Indians then could decide whether they want the hereditary chiefs or an elected council.

Canteen Profit

OTTAWA (CP) — Maple Leaf Services, the Canadian Army's non-profit canteen organization, Tuesday declared a special dividend of $90,000 after successful 1958 operations.

W. H. Moore, building inspector, said arena manager Percy Knoblauch called him last December, concerned about snow on the roof.

Mr. Moore said there were "about a dozen joists" showing signs of warping, but that these had been evident since the arena was built in 1950.

There were two cracks in one wall, one zigzagging for 10 feet and the other stretching for six feet. Daylight could be seen through them. "I was satisfied, however, that the building was safe enough," the inspector said.

Two fathers who feared the arena was unsafe testified they forbade their children to enter it. Watchmaker Douglas Bricker laid down his edict a week before the collapse; salesman Les Burnett enforced his the night before the crash.

Russell Daley, a carpenter with a construction firm, said the roof had not been enough tight to allow snow to slide off and that sections that should have been bolted or nailed were glued.

Several senators indicated, however, they would oppose additional funds unless they were needed for strengthening Allied forces in the Berlin situation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has prepared a tentative draft of a German peace treaty for possible use in a foreign ministers meeting with Russia.

By contrast with Russia's peace treaty proposal of several weeks ago, the U.S. provisions would leave the way open for a sovereign all-German government to forge whatever links it wished with other countries of the world.

The U.S. document—some officials say it is more a statement of principles than a tentative treaty draft—has been proposed to Britain, France and West Germany for discussion.

ALLIES COOL

The Western European allies were reported today to be cool to the idea of carrying forward plans for a German peace treaty at this time. They apparently feel the more urgent problems are those involved in reunifying Germany.

The United States, officials here said, is not pressing the issue.

But U.S. officials emphasize that the Soviet government obviously intends to raise the question of a peace treaty at a foreign ministers meeting, and they want the Western powers to be ready to meet it in some way.

Western planning now is based on the idea that the essential first step in solving the problems of Germany is some move toward reunifying the divided country and creating an all-German government.

British Prime Minister Arrives In Ottawa; Tribute To Smith

OTTAWA — (CP) — Prime Minister Macmillan said today he believes it now is generally accepted that East-West negotiations on Germany "must" take place this summer.

Arriving in Ottawa on a one-day visit as a prelude to talks in Washington with President Eisenhower, Mr. Macmillan called on the West to frame a united policy based on "firm principles combined with a readiness to negotiate."

Mr. Macmillan arrived at suburban Uplands Airport at 7:20 a.m. EST in clear, cold weather. He was greeted by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who pronounced Mr. Macmillan a "welcome" visitor.

TRIBUTE TO SMITH

The British leader, in a short statement at the airport, paid tribute to External Affairs Minister Smith who died suddenly Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Macmillan said when he heard of Mr. Smith's death he suggested to Mr. Diefenbaker that the Ottawa visit should be postponed but the Canadian prime minister had thought otherwise and "I am sure he was right."

There was a "serious purpose" underlying the visit in view of the tension caused by the Berlin crisis.

His first words to Mr. Diefenbaker as he came down the gangway from the aircraft were: "Terrible hour to visit you, isn't it?"

He then shook hands with members of the diplomatic corps and went to a microphone to speak briefly on his visit.

MOSCOW SUCCESS

Switching to French, he said he went to Moscow to feel out the ground, and he believed success had been attained in that rather modest objective.

The British prime minister said Mr. Smith was "widely known and respected throughout the world." Mr. Smith's arduous work had "hastened his death."

Mr. Macmillan, accompanied by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and a party totalling 29, arrived in a Comet jet airliner.

Mr. Diefenbaker greeted him as a man who is always welcome in Canada, "particularly at this time in view of the tremendous contribution he has made to the preservation of peace" through his journeys to Moscow, Paris and Bonn.

On hand to greet the prime minister were H. F. Feaver, chief of protocol at the external affairs department, and Norman Robertson, external affairs undersecretary.

ALL-DAY TALKS

Mr. Macmillan and Mr. Diefenbaker were expected to go into conference at 10 a.m.

Mr. Macmillan and Mr. Lloyd were to lunch with Mr. Diefenbaker at 24 Sussex Street and then resume talks in the afternoon.

The visiting prime minister leaves for Washington Thursday morning after staying overnight here with Governor-General Massey.

On the German problem, Mr. Macmillan said in his airport statement that there are "of course, still very wide differences" between East and West.

But he believed there is general acceptance now that negotiations must take place "in the course of the summer and I believe that is a great gain."

He said he feels sure that "we can and will" consolidate a united will in the West to stand firm against threats.

YOUTH HELD FOR MENTAL TESTS

EDMONTON (CP)—Stan Williamson, 19, was remanded to a mental hospital for observation when he appeared Tuesday in police court on a murder charge arising from a shooting spree Monday in Ross Sheppard High School.

Williamson was charged after 16-year-old Howard Gates was killed as 22-calibre rifle fire swept the school corridor. Five teen-aged girls were wounded.

Two ministers, given to arguing about their respective faiths were in a very heated discussion. "That's all right," said one, calmly. "We'll just agree. After all, we're both doing the Lord's work—you in your way and I in His."

Union Office Wrecked

By GERALD FREEMAN
GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—An unidentified group of men wrecked the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) office at nearby Bishop's Falls early today in the latest incident in the IWA strike against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company.

Five IWA men, posted in the office as guards, escaped through the back door when the raiders began hacking through the front door with axes. There were no injuries.

The IWA men said the raiders arrived in two cars and a van. The number in the group was estimated at about 20. They chopped out the windows in the one-storey wooden office buildings, hacked at the outer walls and splintered the front door. A typewriter in the office was smashed by an axe.

OFFICE MOVED TWICE

One of the IWA men said he recognized one of the raiders as a Grand Falls resident. The IWA office was moved to Badger after the windows of the office here were smashed by a crowd escorting the body of Const. William Moss to a train last Thursday. The office was moved to Bishop's Falls Tuesday.

The IWA men said they received several anonymous threatening telephone calls Tuesday night. They were set to guard the office to prevent damage, but fled when they realized they were outnumbered.

Bishop's Falls, a town of about 2,500, 10 miles from here, is regarded as a stronghold by the IWA. About half the work force are loggers, the others railway employees who support the IWA.

RCMP were called after the raid and launched a hunt for the raiders.

CALM SHATTERED

Today's violence shattered an uneasy calm that blanketed the area since the "clash between police and loggers in which Const. Moss died. The battle between company and union appears to be settling down into a war of attrition.

C. R. Tittemore, A. N. D. mill manager, said Tuesday that if the cold weather lasts two more weeks the winter log drive will be cleaned up. The company anticipated no trouble in normal operations.

Hank Skinner, an organizer for the decertified IWA, said the company will be faced with a manpower shortage when the fishing season begins.

"We'll keep up the strike indefinitely until we win," Mr. Skinner said.

Mr. Tittemore claimed the company now has 1,200 men in the woods and would have no trouble hiring that many more.

The loggers now working in about 45 of the 69 A.N.D. camps are members of the Newfoundland Brotherhood of Woods-Workers.

Champlain Isn't Champlain

MONTREAL (CP) — The picture of Samuel de Champlain commonly used in history books isn't Champlain at all, says Dr. Morris Bishop of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.

The picture, he said Tuesday night, is that of a disreputable French finance minister in the reign of Louis XIV and was drawn by an armless painter.

The picture, he said in a lecture at McGill University, represents "a fat, well-fed, complacent man with coquettishly upturned moustaches and a goatee. Champlain wasn't that at all."

Champlain, the founder of Quebec City, was "a quick, vigorous ascetic sort of man such as came from the south of France where he was born," said Dr. Bishop.

He based his judgment on Champlain's records as well as those of missionaries, other explorers and by his career.

The picture that has been used is that of Michel de Particelli, an Italian who was finance minister under Louis XIV and who earned a bad reputation with the way in which he handled the treasury, Dr. Bishop said.

The artist, he said, was an armless, one-legged Frenchman who made his living with a paint brush in his mouth and a pallet in the four toes of his only foot.

A former soldier, he said second-rate portraits in Louis' reign and somewhere along the line Particelli's picture became Champlain's.

Other monies committed to it for universities collectively and generally to deal with the business problems of Canadian universities.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jill St. John's saga might be titled "how to marry a millionaire."
Her problem is that she is going steady with Lance Reventlow, the heir to Barbara Hutton's millions. Their friendship has been much publicized.

"Everyone is trying to marry us off," she wails. "I'm not ready to get married. I did it once when I was 16, and it was a terrible mistake. I married a man of 24 whom I had met on a blind date. I had known him only two months."
"I've known Lance three years. I think I might like to know him another three years before I decide about marrying him."

NEVER MENTIONED
Lance's feelings on this score? She said he has never mentioned marriage.
There's another problem with Jill. Reventlow's hobby, business and whole life revolves around racing cars.
"Racing is a fine sport—for other people's boy friends," she commented.

"People say to me that if Lance loved me, he would give up racing," she said. "But if I loved him, I wouldn't ask him to. It's his whole life, and he has had fantastic success with it."
Another problem is not so serious, but just as vexing: How do you buy a gift for a young man who has everything?

"He gives me such nice things—like a ring with a white rose set in diamonds," remarked the 18-year-old, brown-haired beauty. "I like to give him nice things, too."
"But what? Jewelry? His mother has given him everything he could possibly use. I solved the problem last Christmas by stealing one of his spoons with his family crest on it. I had a jeweler copy the crest on gold buttons for a blazer. Lance was delighted."

No Cause For Pride

No one in Canada can take much pride in the Newfoundland strike affair. The loggers' strike has become a national issue, not only because the federal government has become directly involved, but because of the violence and bitterness and the recriminations which are threatening the foundations of Confederation.

Of the parties concerned in the strike, none can take much satisfaction in its actions.

Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland may feel justified in attempting to oust the International Woodworkers of America union, but the method he is using amounts to judicial strike-breaking of the most blatant type. A union certified as a bargaining agent for a group of workers has been decertified by a special act of the Legislature without even a vote of the workers being taken. This is a violation of the right of workers to join the union of their choice.

The IWA, with a long history of violence, whatever benefits it has brought to its members, must accept responsibility for the outbreaks which preceded Premier Smallwood's action. It is not good enough to say piously that union leaders cannot be held responsible for the acts of individuals.

The federal government has made a few gestures but has not acted decisively except to stop the movement of RCMP reinforcements to Newfoundland.

This last act had the regrettable consequence of forcing RCMP Commissioner L. H. Nicholson to resign. The RCMP, as the law enforcement agency of eight provinces as well as the federal government, runs the risk of being caught in a squeeze between duty and politics. The federal decision not to send reinforcements to Newfoundland despite the province's request was political although probably justified. Mr. Nicholson, who felt obliged to live up to the contract under which his men served, had no alternative but to resign.

The Liberal members of Parliament from Newfoundland who have supported Premier Smallwood in defiance of their national party stand need not waste their breath trying to justify their actions. Politically-educated Canadians know the quintet wouldn't stand a chance of re-election without Premier Smallwood's support.

The people of Newfoundland, of course, are New Canadians in a real sense of the word. Misunderstanding with their adopted countrymen may have been inevitable. But it is not too late to prevent further damage. The federal government has the power to intervene to bring the disputing powers together and Prime Minister Diefenbaker's "cooling off period" would make more sense if Ottawa made greater efforts to do so.

Sidney Earle Smith

The death of Secretary of State for External Affairs Sydney Smith leaves a gap in the top ranks of government which will be difficult to fill. Mr. Smith's ability, his training, his background and interests fitted him admirably for the difficult External Affairs post.

Mr. Smith, distinguished in the academic world, had yet to make his mark in the councils of the world where Canada's voice is listened to with greater respect than ever before. But his counsel will be greatly missed by his old friend, the Prime Minister, and his other colleagues in the Cabinet.

Although a novice Parliamentarian when he took office shortly after the Conservative government came to power in 1957, Mr. Smith was no stranger to politics. He had been active in Conservative circles in the late 1930s and early 1940s and had been mentioned as a possible leadership candidate several times.

Mr. Smith will be remembered especially, however, for his work in the academic field. He had headed Toronto, Manitoba and Dalhousie universities with marked success, bringing honor to those institutions and himself. His wise counsel will be recalled with affection by thousands of students who came under his guidance. A native of Nova Scotia, whose greatest export is sometimes said to be brains, he became one of Canada's outstanding citizens.

The Berlin Crisis — 3

The Western allies, hoping and evidently believing there will be no war with Russia over Germany, still are charting moves for every eventuality. But debate rages among and within the nations of the free world as to the best way to prepare.

We state, as President Eisenhower did Monday night, that we will enforce Western rights in and to Berlin if Khrushchev or the East Germans should try to oust us. What does this mean?

Does anyone think Communist soldiers told to block Western convoys would stand idly by if we sought to smash through checkpoints and run the 110 miles to Berlin? They would shoot. And so would thousands of other Red soldiers.

Once the Russians got into the fray, as they surely would, we would quickly feel their crushing superiority in conventional arms. American Defense Secretary McElroy says we would inevitably resort to nuclear weapons, presumably tactical at the outset.

At what point might the fighting get out of hand, and lead Khrushchev or Eisenhower to signal the big bombers away with their deadly payloads destined for Russian and North American cities? We can't even guess at this one, but we can speculate on how we would meet the challenge.

The military people say the United States has long-range bombers in sufficient force to strike decisive retaliatory blows against Russia. The West has no operational long-range missiles and won't have for many months. There are a few intermediate types at NATO bases overseas.

Probably the Russians have no operational long-range missiles yet either, but some experts say they're ahead of the U.S. In addition they have huge conventional forces, fleets of submarines and aircraft.

If the worst happened, the West would need flawless timing, superior judgment, and an immense amount of good luck to hold its own against such military might. Despite this, President Eisenhower says the United States is adequately armed, and there is no urgency to step up missile programs.

He is challenged all along the line on this, not only by his political foes in Congress but by many experts. Yet, even if more money were appropriated for defence, in the U.S. and throughout the North Atlantic alliance, it would be months before the results would be evident — long after the Berlin issue has come to a head.

The chief benefit of a stepped up defense program would be psychological. The Russians would be warned anew of the consequences of its war-mongering and European allies would have new faith in American leadership.

But the whole Western approach needs an overhaul. We need to get on the offensive, throwing out new ideas, programs and policies in a steady stream which will bolster freedom's friends and warn its enemies. The rigidities in our position weaken our position at the international bargaining table.

It is encouraging that President Eisenhower at last has taken a step toward a new summit meeting. We should welcome such meetings, not live in fear that the Russians would score another tactical and propaganda victory. We should be able to show the world our ability to think, plan and lead the world's underprivileged millions to a better life, a life better than the Communists offer.

Big Three Take Second Look

Small Cars Continue To Gain

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Manufacturers of big cars predict a good year for automobile sales in Canada this year but all of them are taking more than just a side glance at the small-car field.

The industry's Big Three, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, are studying the possibility of manufacturing smaller, less expensive models competitive with foreign-built autos.

At Detroit recently the Ford Motor Company said it has a smaller model under development for production in the United States. Said President Henry Ford II: "When we feel the demand of the American market is great enough to assure profitable production of such a car, we will be ready to meet that demand."

Canadian Ford sources, who predict their 1959 sales will be up 12 per cent over last year, adopted the same attitude as Mr. Ford.

Ford and other members of the Big Three are reported watching closely the sales of the Lark, Studebaker-Packard's entry this year in the small-car field.

Studebaker-Packard, which sold 5,500 units last year, said "we have set ourselves a minimum objective" of 9,000 this year and hope to go over the 10,000 mark. Production at its Hamilton plant is currently running at triple the 1958 rate.

Sales of foreign-made small cars took a big jump in Canada last year, a Canadian Press cross-Canada survey shows.

Of the 44,098 motor vehicles—cars and trucks—sold in this country, 82,573 were made overseas. Sales of foreign-made vehicles soared 53 per cent from the 53,800 units sold in 1957.

Big-car and truck sales dropped three per cent from 458,299 in 1957.

The United Automobile Workers (UAW) Canadian council has warned the industry that the combination of automation, imports and small cars threaten its status as an employer. Canadian auto workers would be caught in a two-way squeeze "if the industry decided to meet the European small-car competition by manufacturing small cars in the U.S."

The big-car industry, meanwhile, remains outwardly unconcerned, predicting an over-all increase in sales of at least 10 per cent over last year—but last year was a bad year.

Big-car officials note that the last three months of 1958—when 1959 models were introduced—were the best fourth quarter for sales in the industry's history. Dealers throughout the country are optimistic.

Predictions of increased sales in Montreal range from 20 to 30 per cent. Dealers in the lower-priced big-car models expect increases of 25-30 per cent. Studebaker dealers, pinning their hopes on the smaller Lark, predict the 50-per-cent increase.

In Nova Scotia coal-mine shutdowns may affect car sales. But a Volkswagen dealer at Halifax said he expects to "sell everything I can get my hands on."

Volkswagen officials in Toronto say the only reason their sales will not increase this year is that they can't get any more cars from the German factory. They will bring about 25,000 cars to Canada this year and expect to sell them all.

Winnipeg dealers say sales were up 10 to 15 per cent in the first few months of the new car season.

Regina was about the only city not reporting increased small-car sales. Rugged road and weather conditions prevent European models from being as popular there, officials said.

Dealers in Saint John, N.B., said they may sell more than the 1,700 cars that were bought in 1958. Prices are expected to be up two per cent because of increased freight rates there. One dealer has set a 10-per-cent increase over last year as his target.

In Quebec City, all dealers predicted a better year. The easing of buying restraints after the recession year of 1958 can already be felt, one dealer said. Most optimistic were Nash Rambler and Vauxhall dealers, hoping for sales increases of 35 per cent.

British Columbia and Alberta dealers predict better sales. One Alberta dealer said sales of North American-built cars will be up 30 per cent, but another dealer who handles both large and small cars said the sales of little autos would go up 100 to 150 per cent.

E. T. Orr, manager of the Vancouver Motor Dealers Association, said sales should be "fairly stable; if anything, a little better."

Nobody is predicting a great year, however optimistic they may be for a good one. General Motors, for example, hope Canadians will buy 475,000 cars and trucks in 1959 compared with the 440,000 in 1958.

This would be a little above the 458,000 of 1957, but below the record 469,921 of 1956.

Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford of Canada, has said he does "not anticipate a swift return to the relatively prosperous levels of 1956 and the first half of 1957."

LEADING KILLER

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The National Safety Council of the United States has issued its report for the last year and, as would be expected, the motor vehicle continues to hold the record for accidents.

The total number of people killed in all kinds of accidents was 95,307, and 9,100,000 people were injured. Of the fatalities, 37,000 resulted from motor vehicle accidents which is a slight improvement over the past few years.

Next to the motor vehicle comes the home — 27,000, killings. Home deaths occur in many ways — falling down stairs, off step-ladders, while cleaning windows, burnings, inadvertently swallowing a poisonous liquid and so on.

There were 13,998 fatal and non-fatal accidents on U.S. railways. Of these 887 were on grade crossings.

Planes had 114 fatal accidents to passengers and 15 among members of the crews. The air percentage of accidents was 44 per million passengers miles flown.

Which reminds us of the story, which quite possibly is true, of an incident reported at an airport. After the plane landed the hostess remarked to a passenger who had been very nervous throughout the trip: "Now you are facing the most dangerous part of your journey. You leave the plane and go down town in a taxicab."

Letter To The Editor

The Editor,
Sherbrooke Daily Record,
Dear Sir,

I would like to congratulate Mrs. J. Bryant, through your paper on the letter she wrote in regard to the Stansfield Central School Board disposing of the supervisors services. If she was to run for an M. P. I think I would vote for her. The way her letter reads, she is not afraid to say what she thinks.

I was a commissioner on the Magog High School Board at the time supervisors were introduced. I was called a penny pincher, I guess. I was against it. I thought it would cost too much, but there were men on the board that could see the way education was developing and what the needs were going to be. After knowing what the duties of a supervisor were and hearing his reports brought to our board, I deemed it a great help to the board principals and teachers.

To bring my point out, education like all other things, has gone ahead by leaps and bounds. The School Board could be compared to our smooth running cars. One may say it costs too much to operate so you say, I'll fix it and take out a spark plug. You will see the way it yanks and jumps and at the end of the year you will find your operating cost is more.

The Central Board has taken out the plug, to save what no one asked for. If the supervisors expenses and duties are what we are told they are, who is taking his burdens without pay? The ones who will do it will be inexperienced and may not have the qualifications. The tax payers are nice people. They pay enormous taxes and seldom attend a school meeting to see for themselves where the money is spent and don't know the operating costs of the schools. I do want to say that when the Stansfield Central Board has taken out this front plug, which they say costs too much, if any tax payer sees one penny less on his tax receipts, I would like to shake hands with him.

The Stansfield County Central School Board stated in their letter to the supervisor that after June 30, he would be out of office. They regretted doing this as he had been of such benefit to the Board since he had been with them. I would like to know who asked them to do it. I always thought the Central Board was a mother to the other boards and ratepayers. It looks to me that mother had kicked up her heels and was licking her children for it.

Bygone Days

THIRTY YEARS AGO

The worst disaster in the history of the United States aviation claimed fourteen lives when a tri-motor transport crashed near Newark, N.J. Officials in charge of the Lenoxville Short Course were: C. A. Crawford, V. R. Beattie, Mrs. G. G. McCurdy, and S. W. G. MacDougall.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

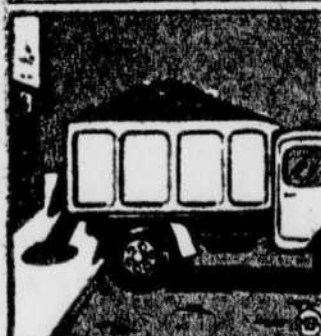

Proposals have been introduced into the United States Congress for the revision of the neutrality legislation and for granting extended powers to the President in view of the deteriorating European situation.

TEN YEARS AGO

Frederick Charles Main, a well-known resident of Lennoxville, passed away in the Herring Nursery Home in Lennoxville yesterday, after a long illness. He was in his 65th year.

Soviet controlled German Communists have launched a campaign to woo all of Germany into the Russian orbit.

Matter of FACT

In the United States more than half of the power (including heating of buildings) and about 60 per cent of our electricity comes from coal. To get the same amount of power from horses, each man, woman and child in the country would have to drive at least seven heavy work horses day and night, every day in the year, without a moment's rest.

Jacoby On Bridge

NOTHING SWINDLES LIKE SUCCESS

Nat Lou Green of New Orleans writes: "My partner's two diamond bid was the Jacoby transfer. Naturally enough, he intended to pass when I bid two hearts but I decided to try a psychic two spade bid instead."

"He could not pass this bid so he responded two no-trump whereupon, I went to game."

"West's queen of diamonds was won by East's ace and the suit returned. I ducked and West was in with the eight. The jack of diamonds was allowed to hold and the last diamond lost to my king."

"East had to make two discards. A spade discard would have fixed me but my psychic had foiled him and he let two clubs go."

"Now I played ace and one club dropping the king and queen together. The queen of spades was finally led. I took the ace and crashed my last two clubs. As you can see this last club lead squeezed East completely and no matter what he discarded the rest of the tricks were mine."

A lucky hand indeed. I cannot recommend Mr. Green's bidding of the hand but nothing succeeds like success and I congratulate him on putting across a neat swindle.

WINNING CARTOON — This cartoon by Raoul Hunter, published in Quebec Le Soleil last April 3 just after the federal election, won the cartooning competition in the 1958 National Newspaper Awards. The Progressive Conservatives returned 58 members from Quebec compared with 10 in June, 1957. The cartoon's title was "Quebec's Traditional Fecundity" (La traditionnelle fécondité québécoise). It shows a victorious John Diefenbaker surrounded by 50 happy milling children and a smiling Mama Quebec. Mama says: "In 10 months they have multiplied by five — are you happy?" One of the children is holding a flagstaff, awaiting a national flag.

Cotton Activity Up In February

MONTREAL — Activity in domestic cotton textile mills, as indicated by the number of bale openings, continued to rise during February according to figures released by the Cotton Institute of Canada.

Canadian mills opened 31,561 bales of raw cotton (500 pounds each) compared with 30,080 for January of this year and the total of 27,318 recorded for February of 1953.

Producers feel that increased Government interest in the problems of their industry may account for the year's encouraging start.

Death Claims Two Residents Of Ayer's Cliff

AYER'S CLIFF — Death took its toll twice in this community over the week-end.

On Saturday it was learned that Mrs. Ray Merrill had passed away suddenly in the Sherbrooke Hospital, where she had been a patient and had seemed to be improving. She had been frail for many years.

Mrs. Merrill, as long as health permitted, was active in all branches of church and community work and her interest in all town happenings was keen. She enjoyed giving pleasure to others, visiting sick and shut-ins regularly as often as her strength allowed. She will be greatly missed in the community as well as by her husband and other relatives.

Archie Laduke, a resident of this place for several years, was taken to the Sherbrooke Hospital on March 10, following a stroke, and never regained consciousness. He passed away Sunday night.

Deceased leaves his wife, Eva Jones; two daughters and their husbands, Mrs. William McCrea, Geraldine, and Mr. McCrea, of Beauport; Mrs. William Cranston, Evelyn, and Mr. Cranston, of Long Island, N. Y.; five grandchildren and other relatives.

The funeral was held today with burial at Massawippi.

DETROIT (AP) — The first of three triplet boys born Tuesday to the Robert Shannons was named quickly — Patrick Shannon, 30, and his wife, Margaret, 28, parents of five other children, held off naming the other two. At hospital they are being listed as B and C.

Aloneness as Important To Man as Togetherness

"Why don't women realize," asks one of my men readers, "that a man needs to be alone once in a while?"

"I'm a salesman," he says, "and I am with people all day long. If there is some problem I want to think about, either business or personal, I try to get off by myself for an hour or two—but my wife won't have it."

"She seems to think that if I'm in one room and she is in another she has to do something about it. So she'll follow me to the spot where I've gone off to be alone and start to chatter, or she'll send one of the children to tell me I simply must watch a TV show. If she is in a bad mood she will complain that she is sick of the house and ask to see a movie."

"I tell you it never fails. I simply cannot get a few minutes alone in my own house. If I answer her absent-mindedly when she starts to chatter she accuses me of not hearing a word she is saying."

"If I say I'd rather read than watch the TV show, she says 'You can read that old book any time.' If I say I don't want to go to a movie because I have a business problem I want to work out she says, 'You aren't working, you're just sitting.'"

"Don't misunderstand me. I love my wife. But just once in a while I'd like to be left undisturbed for an hour or two. Why can't a woman understand that?"

Maybe she acts that way because you've never tried to explain it to her. Perhaps you have just expected her to be sensitive enough to your feelings to know when you prefer aloneness to togetherness.

Try explaining to her that while she has hours of being alone during the day you have none, and that your only chance for solitude is in your own home.

Today's wives have been sold on the idea of togetherness to such an extent that many of them

Irish Program Highlights Annual Shamrock Supper

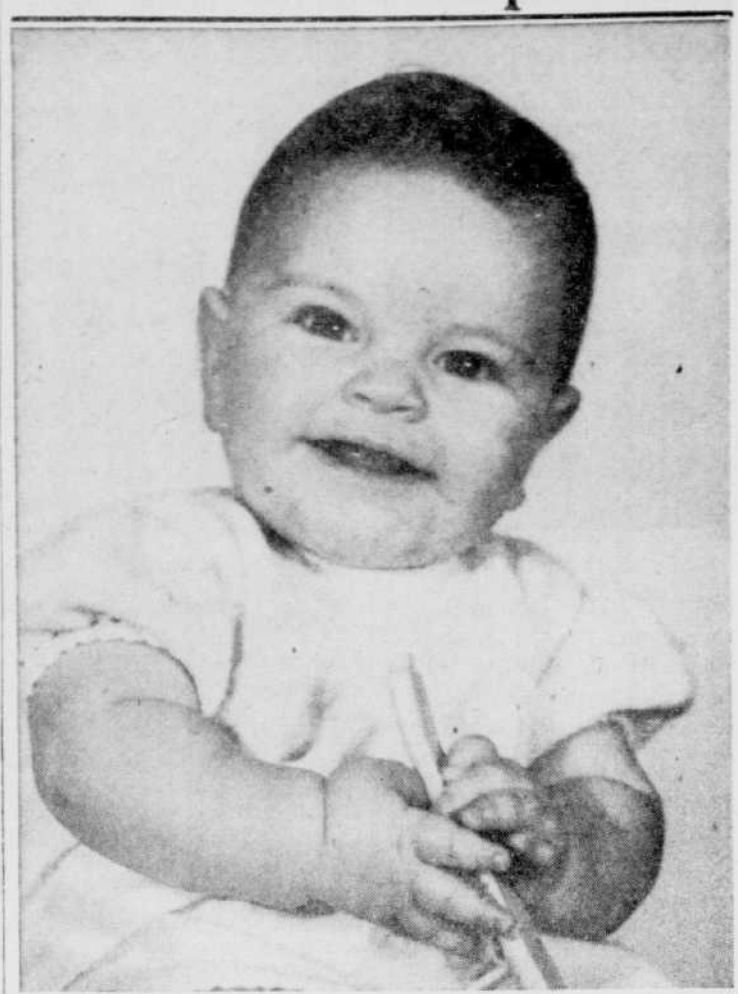

An air of gaiety and good fellowship prevailed in St. Anthony's Parish Hall, Lennoxville on Sunday evening March 15th, during the annual Shamrock Supper, sponsored by St. Anthony's Ladies' Society. Green and white streamers and festoons of balloons adorned the gaily decorated hall. The linen covered tables centered with daffodils and narcissi and green tapers in glass holders, presented an atmosphere of approaching Spring.

The highlight of the evening was the bilingual entertainment presented by the children of St. Anthony's School under the direction of the Sisters of Charity of the Sacred Heart. Numerous Irish songs together with those of French folk lore were rendered by a chorus of boys and girls. The ever popular singing of the boy soprano, Jimmy Messenger, was enjoyed by young and old. In contrast to the voices of the children, Mr. G. Lalande, tenor, accompanied by a group of young men of the parish, was heard in both Irish and French numbers. Accompanists were Miss Janine Auger and Miss Francoise Labbe. Master of ceremonies for the evening was Mr. Richard Spry.

The small group of members of St. Anthony's Ladies' Society worked ardently for several weeks in making preparations for their annual supper which has proven to be one of the most popular events of the year in the vicinity of Lennoxville and Sherbrooke.

At the close of the evening,

Children's Styles — Colourful, Practical

MONTREAL — The Easter parade of girls and boys will be colorful, fashionable and practical, reports Canadian Fabrics Foundation following a survey of children's wear for Spring 1959.

A wide range of fabrics is used for fashions which are adaptations of adult styles, modified and varied to suit active children.

An almost endless variety enables all to dress according to taste and figure. As many of our better manufacturers have adopted standard sizing, indicating on a tag the waist-size, height and weight for a particular size, the purchase of children's clothing is greatly facilitated.

OUTERWEAR
Suits and coats are made for an early Easter in fabrics chosen for their long wearing qualities, as well as for their appearance; they are durable and keep their shape after hard usage. Fabrics, all made in Canada, range from the familiar wools to the newest of man-made fibres. Soft wools are in pastel, flower-garden colours or tweeds; flannels of a blend of viscose/acetate, viscose gabardine, and a blend of viscose and wool are among the most popular synthetic fabrics. Special finishes have been applied to many to make them spot and stain resistant, and one of the newest is a water-repellant finish applied to a viscose/acetate blend in a large houndstooth check.

The high-rise line and wide top silhouette of adult fashions are seen in children's coats and suits. Coats are marked with bows or seaming details, large collars give a broadened effect to the top of the garment and suits are given the same treatment with jackets having an easy fit. Fresh white cotton pique collars give a spring-bright look to little girls' coats—but are easy-care because they are removable. The "boy" coat is low back belt and often shown popular, double-breasted with a with a nautical flair.

Cotton and acetate blended in an iridescent fabric is news in rainwear for boys, while rubber-backed nylon is shown for girls in a coat with an oversize collar which can double as a hood.

Sportswear news for little girls are nylon stretch coordinates in brilliant colours. Nylon stretch fabric is soft to the touch, easy to wash and keeps its shape indefinitely—features tailor-made for playtime.

Boys' slacks in viscose/acetate or Terylene/viscose flannel show a new slim line, often held at the waist by elastic—a practical feature for sports-minded children. These are coordinated with Orlon sweaters for play, and sports jackets for dressier occasions.

DRESSES
Little girls' dresses follow fashion trends for '59 with raised waistlines, pleats, flounces, harem skirts and cropped boleros leading the parade. For the very young, full skirts and tight bodice, often with a wide yoke, are still favorites.

Delicate floored or embroidered nylon sheers and chiffons are popular partywear fabrics. Blends are important, notably Arnel/cotton and Terylene cotton-easy to care for and seen in a wide range of Easter-egg colours. Prints in shiny viscose/cotton sateen and dainty Terylene batiste are news, as well as viscose linen seen in pleated-skirt-and-middy costumes. THE POPULAR NAUTICAL LOOK

A nautical air is shown for coats with large sailor collars, both girls and boys in sailor suits, middie dresses and playtime clothes, and ranks as one of the most popular looks for Spring '59 in children's wear.

Easter features colours picked from a garden—apricot, apple green, hot pink, lemon yellow, as well as bright red and blue—in fresh, fashionable, "made in Canada", clothes.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Munday announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen Isobel, to Mr. Kenneth Lorne Pyle, of Ayer's Cliff, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pyle, of St. Raymond, Que.

Drumville Wins Intermediate Championship

Joe Lacoursiere Stars As Rockets Win 3-0; Kenny Biggs Gets Two; Record Crowd Of 2,306 On Hand

By LEN O'DONNELL
DRUMMONDVILLE — The Rockets wrapped up their first Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League championship here last night when they blanked Sherbrooke Beavers 3-0 before a record crowd of 2,306 fans to win the four-out-of-seven finals 4-1.

Kenny Biggs, the veteran centre player from Montreal, was the kingpin for the newly crowned champions with his two goals while Jacques Morin accounted for the other in the hard-fought battle. The team will now meet Montreal Laval League champions in the Provincial playoffs.

The fighting Beavers battled the whole way and never gave up. They held the upper hand in territorial play but their big stumbling block was Joe Lacoursiere. He was outstanding and it was his great performance which kept the Rockets in the thick of the battle.

Sherbrooke was all over Lacoursiere but he was at his best and turned aside everything which came his way. Time after time Dube, Dussault and St. Cyr along with Frankie Reid were right in on him but he came up with the saves.

In the first period the Beavers started with a bang and Frankie Reid got the first shot but he hit the goal post and that was a sign what was coming for the rest of the evening as he and his mates hit the posts during the night on several occasions when they had the Drummondville goalie beat.

Claude Senecal also was tops for the Sherbrooke team and the three shots which beat him were screened the whole way and he never had a chance on any of the Beavers turned on the pressure but they were stopped.

The third period was another real battle from the opening face off with the Beavers trying to even matters and Rockets with victory in sight were holding on. The Rockets had two players in the box but even then the Beavers couldn't dent Lacoursiere's armour.

Rocheffort was the next to get tagged but the Rockets held during his absence. Kenny Biggs sealed the decision when he lifted a screened shot by the Sherbrooke goalie who never saw it as his view was blocked.

At the final siren the mob just poured over the boards to congratulate their new champions. Sherbrooke players offered them congratulations and success for

Albert Fellerin and Conrad Dore, of Drummondville Anglers and Hunters, with the trophies they won on Saturday in the team bait casting event in the Provincial Fly and Bait Casting and Spinning Championships, held at the Montreal Sportsman's Show. At right is Arthur M. Wood, of Shawinigan, president of the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations, who presented the trophy. Johnny Wilson Tied Record Of 508 Consecutive NHL Games Last Night; Wings Win, Keep Playoff Hopes Alive

Detroit Red Wings should mark Johnny Wilson "fragile" and wrap him up in cotton wool until next Saturday afternoon.

For if the muscular Detroit leftwinger can avoid office or practice injuries until then he'll set a National Hockey League record for consecutive games played.

Wilson tied the 22-year-old record of 508 regular season games Tuesday night in Detroit as he played his usual useful, if unspectacular, game and helped his team to a 2-0 win over Chicago Black Hawks. The win kept the last-place Wings within mathematical distance of the NHL playoffs.

Wilson assisted on the first Detroit goal, scored by Norm Ullman from seven feet out after Wilson fed him a pass. Warren Godfrey let a 55-footer go at 5:15 of the third for the night's other goal.

It was Terry Sawchuk's fifth shutout this season and he stopped 22 shots to get it. In the Chicago nets goalie Glenn Hall had 31 saves.

Detroit must now win both its remaining games and have both fifth-place Toronto Maple Leafs and fourth-place New York Rangers lose all three of theirs to gain a playoff position.

Murray Murdoch of the New York Rangers set the consecutive-games record he and Wilson now hold when he entered the NHL with the Rangers in 1926 and played through 11 consecutive seasons with them.

Wilson, a native of Kincardine, Ont., started his string Feb. 10, 1951, with Detroit, shifted to Chicago in 1955 and came back to the Wings last season.

In his NHL career Murdoch scored 84 goals and collected 108 assists while Wilson has thus far counted 121 goals and assisted on 137.

All the Wings carefully nourished playoff dreams may perish tonight in New York as the Rangers are host to Boston Bruins, for even a New York tie would put fourth place out of the Red Wings' reach.

Provincial Juvenile Championship To Be Held Here On Sunday; Juniors To Clash For E. T. Title; Three Games

What should prove to be the best hockey program of the season will be presented at the Sherbrooke Arena on Sunday afternoon, and will incidentally close the local hockey season. The provincial juvenile hockey championship will be decided, as will the Eastern Townships Junior Hockey championship.

In the first game which will start at 1:00 sharp, the winners of the Montreal district will meet the Windsor Mills Juvenile club, champions of the Eastern Townships. Windsor Mills won the E. T. championship for the second year in succession and are considered much stronger than last year. They are again coached by George Guilbault and eliminated Granby champions in one game by a 9-0 score and Victoriaville in two-game total-goal series by 4-3. It is expected that they will bring the Provincial championship to the Eastern Townships, but will receive strong opposition from the Montreal and Three Rivers District Champions.

The second game which will start at 2:15 will decide the Eastern Township Junior championship. St. Francois club, champions of Sherbrooke, will meet the Windsor Mills Junior aggregation for the championship. This should prove to be a very interesting game and should be worth the price of admission alone.

At 3:30 the winner of the first game between the Montreal champions and Windsor Mills will meet the Three Rivers District Champions for the Provincial Juvenile Championship. A very large delegation from Windsor Mills will be on hand for this afternoon of hockey and with such a program, this should close a very good local hockey season.

Johnny Wilson Bears No Resemblance Of An "Iron Man" In Any Sport, Is Slender And Tips Scales At 168 lbs

DETROIT (AP)—Johnny Wilson bears no resemblance to an iron man in hockey.

He is blonde, wears a crewcut and is slender, almost fragile looking. He weighs 168 pounds and plays a sport dominated by tough, hard-checking men many pounds heavier.

Yet Tuesday night Wilson equaled a record of durability set 22 years ago as his Detroit Red Wings kept their dim Stanley Cup playoff hopes alive by defeating Chicago Black Hawks 2-0.

Wilson played in his 508th consecutive National Hockey League game.

"I had to be pretty lucky to do it," he said. "I've had lots of injuries, charleyhorses and bangs in the head."

International League Clubs To Get Summonses For Breaking Agreement Of League Players' Association

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says summonses have been served on Rochester Red Wings, Buffalo Bisons, Ford Frick, George Trautman, New York Yankees "and all other clubs in the International League" on behalf of the league players' association.

The story says the summonses charge, among other things: "Agreement and rules of the National Association (of minor baseball leagues) violate general business laws in the state of New York."

"Also that contracts of all International League clubs as employers are null and void in violation of employees' rights;

"Also that clubs be enjoined from enforcing salary limits and from taking any disciplinary action against players."

Under United States federal law, baseball contracts are exempt from anti-trust laws but if a state court should rule otherwise, the federal courts would have to take another look.

All named in the summonses have 20 days to reply. Meanwhile, the story says, all members of the players' association—who had adopted a "no sign in '59" motto because pension demands were not met by clubs—have been advised by their lawyers to go ahead and sign 1959 contracts.

Yankees Get Ready For Bargaining With Senators For Dick Hyde As Relief; Red Sox And Indians Win

The New York Yankees today prepared to sit down at the bargaining table to work out a trade with Washington Senators for relief specialist Dick Hyde.

The price is unknown, but expected to include at least a trio of Yankee rookies and/or benchwarmers.

Hyde, who pitches underhanded, compiled a 10-3 won-lost record and a brilliant 1.75 earned run average while saving a host of games for the last-place Senators last year.

The Senators defeated Pittsburgh 4-1 Tuesday in one of three exhibition games played as rain lashed most of the clubs. Boston beat San Francisco 6-1 and Cleveland thumped Chicago's Cubs 10-5.

Hyde allowed the Pirates only run but pitched strongly in relief of Chuck Stobbs, who blanked Pittsburgh for the first five innings.

Frank Sullivan, who pitched six innings, and reliever Herb Moford limited the hard-hitting Giants to four hits.

Cleveland's 13-hit attack, including Woody Held's homer, was too much for the Cubs, who got home runs from Ernie Banks, Lee Walls and Bobby Thomson.

Premier Frost Against Night Racing In Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—Hugh Proudfoot, president of the Canadian Trotting Association, said Tuesday "there is little likelihood of United States promoters attempting to invade Ontario" if night harness racing was allowed.

Premier Frost said in the legislature he was opposed to night harness racing because in the U.S. it was "thoroughly shot through with graft and all sorts of things."

"I'm not going to open up Ontario to a bunch of U.S. gangsters," the premier added.

them. He handled only 19 shots compared to 27 for Lacoursiere.

In the opening frame the Beavers carried the play but the Drummondville goalie and his defense stood up. Dube waltzed in and had everybody beat but his back-hander missed the side of the open net. Dussault rifled another which caught the side of the meshings.

The Rockets just couldn't seem to get started but the defense held up with Lacoursiere. Play was going back-and-forth at a good clip. Ray St. Cyr went off for tripping but his mates held during his enforced rest.

In the second period Morin put the Rockets out in front when he drove one by Senecal. Sherbrooke jumped back to the attack but they ran into a stone-wall in front of Joe Lacoursiere and when they did get in they were stopped or they missed.

Dussault had a good chance of tying the game but his hard shot nicked the post to roll aside. Kenny Biggs made it 2-0 for the home club just before the half-way mark. Illick went off and

Ike Hildebrand Is Favorite Of Czechs Following Sportsmanlike Exhibition During Hockey Tourney

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (CP)—On the boards last week an enraged opponent was swinging wildly in an effort to clobber Ike Hildebrand and Hildebrand was doing his best to fend him off.

At the same time, the playing coach of Canada's world hockey champions was shouting instructions to the bench as to the players he wanted on the ice in the event of his getting a penalty.

In the dressing room after the game, Ike shrugged off the incident, in which only his assailant was sent to the box, as "just part of the game," and added a few words of praise for the play of the opposing club.

The whole thing was an example of the sort of thing that made Czechoslovakia take the little Winnipeg native to its heart as he piloted his boys to the world title.

DREW MOST PENALTIES

Belleville's best friend wouldn't drape a collective halo around the heads of the Canadians for 100-per-cent gentlemanly conduct during their seven-game march to the championship. Their total of 97 minutes in penalties was far and away the highest in the tournament, with the Russians a distance runner-up at 54.

Rinkside observers thought some of the Canadian sentences unjustified. If Ike agreed with them, he kept his thoughts to himself.

As the only playing coach in the competition, Hildebrand shouldered plenty of responsibility. On the ice, his six goals and four assists left him just one point behind the scoring leaders. Elsewhere, he was the club's unchallenged spokesman.

The Hildebrand grin, a constant feature in both Bratislava and Prague, was just as wide when the Canadians dropped their last game to the Czechs as when they won the preceding six.

Czechs will remember him as an outstanding rebuttal to the old proverb that nice guys finish last.

Jordan-Akins Bout Postponed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The welterweight boxing title fight between titleholder Don Jordan of Los Angeles and challenger Virgil Akins of St. Louis was rescheduled Tuesday from April 3 to April 24 because of the illness of Jordan's wife.

Promoter Sam Muchnick said Jordan's wife gave birth six weeks ago to a premature baby and Jordan was fearful of leaving his wife's side at this time.

Boy Scout Group Committee Planning Fund Raising Projects At Coaticook

COATICOOK — The Boy Scout group committee met at the home of the chairman, Louis Abdalla, present were Rev. Nevil Tucker, secretary, Roland Racicot, treasurer, S. C. Low, Scoutmaster, Gordon Sarasin, George Engelhardt, George Jensen and Stanley Beerworth, vice-chairman.

Proposed projects for both the Scouts and Cubs were discussed, and included a paper drive later in the Spring, collection of coat hangers for resale, a sugaring-off party, and later in the year a father and son banquet.

The plan to arrange for instruction of patrol leaders and holding of discussion groups with their Scoutmaster was discussed. A draft of an appeal letter, prepared by the secretary, was read and approved by the members. The Troop and Pack members are looking forward to the annual Rally this summer, and it is also planned that honor patrols will be given a chance to visit other Troops in the area as a reward. The Scoutmaster was given permission to arrange for an assistant leader.

Scoutmaster Sarasin outlined the need for instructors to help the boys pass tests for badges, especially in signal codes, first aid, etc. The majority of the boys now have uniforms but many have no troop or patrol identification badges. The committee will arrange for their purchase and distribution to the boys. The next meeting of the committee will be held on the third Monday in April.

Following the meeting Mrs. Abdalla served coffee. Mr. Abdalla provided transportation for the Scoutmaster from his home in Massawippi.

W.A. MEETING

Sisco Memorial United Church W.A. were welcomed at the home of Mrs. Frank Peters, with Mrs. Jack Gledhill as co-hostess. The president, Mrs. Cecil Akhurst, was in the chair and led in a devotional period.

Cowansville Town Council Report

The Pro-Mayor for the quarter February, March and April is Alderman Leo Chouinard.

The following motions were carried at recent meetings:

That a strip of land from part of lot 124-88 reserved for street, be transferred to the Provincial Department of Roads for the widening of Albert Street, route 13, at Willow Brook Bridge, sale to be for the sum of $1. Mayor and secretary-treasurer authorized to act for and on behalf of Town...

That permit be granted to C. Poupart, to sell chips and hot dogs from stand to be installed on his own property, 362 River Street, at same distance from street and same conditions as last year.

That permanent employees of the Town be advised, that from now on, they will not be allowed to operate businesses or industries, not hold situations other than those of the Town to which they have been appointed.

Correspondence tabled included a letter from the Cowansville Lions Club thanking the Town for the reception given to the radio station personnel when here to play hockey for the benefit of the relief fund of the club.

It was voted that the sum of $10 be paid to the Scouts' Campaign.

The Town has been authorized to acquire a Ford 1957 light truck, six cylinder, from Roland Harrison, for the sum of $1,000 plus used Fargo 1951 L. D. truck in trade.

Surveyor Guy Migue submitted a plan of subdivision of part of the former Pangman Farm which now lies in Cowansville. This request was postponed to the next meeting.

Emile Viens mentioned snow removal at the end of Dieppe Blvd., which terminates at the ball grounds, and the difficulty for equipment to turn back at said point.

Alderman Brock is to look into this.

Robert Choquette inquired whether Dion Street is commercial and if the street plan to join Albert and Dion is to be opened or abandoned. He was informed that Dion Street is residential and that nothing has been decided about the other street.

It was voted that the Town be authorized to obtain permission from the Quebec Municipal Commission to contract a temporary loan of $45,000, refundable on or before September 1st 1959, to provide for payment of bonds and coupons maturing between March 1st and June 1st, 1959, in case required general funds are not all available. This is in order that the Town may not be in default of meeting these maturities.

Reginald Bessette reported in connection with the bus service on Dunham Road within the new limits of the Town, explaining that the small number of commuters on South Street does not allow him to operate at a profit. If someone else is interested in giving the service, he will be only too glad to relinquish his rights. The Provincial Board of Transport have been informed and the matter is to be studied further.

sentative to the Conference, spoke to the group on Fellowship, the bridge to mutual understanding.

Improved Exhibits, Increased Entries At Ninth Compton County Seed Fair

COOKSHIRE — The Compton County Ninth Seed Fair, one of the highlights of the mid-winter season, was held in Victoria Hall. Thanks for their untiring efforts are due Walter Hodgman, secretary-treasurer of the Compton County Agriculture Society, and D. J. MacMillan, the local agronomist.

The fair was again a huge success, with the largest number of entries recorded to date and a marked improvement in the selection of exhibits — hay ensilage, grains, root crops, beans, grass and clover seed being shown.

Citizens of the surrounding communities are justly proud of this annual event, the inauguration of which was due to the foresight and thoughtful planning of the late T. H. Kirby, a progressive farmer of the Cookshire district. All are anxious to further the good work.

At 10:30 the morning of the fair, the students of Cookshire High School and a few others, in all 13 seniors and 28 juniors, participated in a judging competition on oats, crop seed, potatoes and turnips.

In the afternoon, groups of interested people from town and the outlying districts assembled to view the splendidly arranged display.

At 7:30 p.m. the evening session opened. Mr. Macmillan called on W. S. Richardson, from the Lennoxville Experimental Station, who praised the quality of the exhibits and gave the young people a number of pointers to help in their judging next year.

Mr. Methot, from the Quebec Department of Agriculture, followed. His topic dealt with labor and grains. He stated that farmers were showing more interest in new varieties and recommended Gary oats as especially suited for the Eastern Townships because it was resistant to rust. He also spoke on other grains and told of the results from the different testing stations. Special mention was made of the exhibit of clover and timothy seed by H. G. Hodge.

Norman Gill's exhibit of Cranberry beans was in the spotlight, closely followed by different lots of the famed Soldier type.

Mr. LeGrand, of Compton, spoke on experiments carried out on pastures since 1956 at Macdonald College. He told of the value of fertilization and the use of different seed mixture over this period of time.

Curtis Ross, president, thanked all who had helped to make the project successful.

Mr. Hodgman said special thanks were due to Claude Gosselin, M.L.A., who had been instrumental in procuring the grant which made the seed fair possible.

Wells Bishop, past president of C.C.A.A. and president of the Quebec Farmers' Association, thanked the judges, Mr. Richardson, Joseph Ferland, and Paul Deniger, the last two seed inspectors, the donors of special prizes and all who had supported the fair. He gave highlights of recent conventions he had attended at Port Arthur and Down East, assuring the farmers that if they would do something for themselves the Association and the government would stand behind them.

He also elaborated on the benefits derived by Farm Forum members in the way of Group Insurance plans.

Then followed the distribution of prizes. Claude Gosselin, detained by a previous engagement, came in at this late hour to offer congratulations to the Association. He pledged his continued support, as far as possible, to make this a permanent affair.

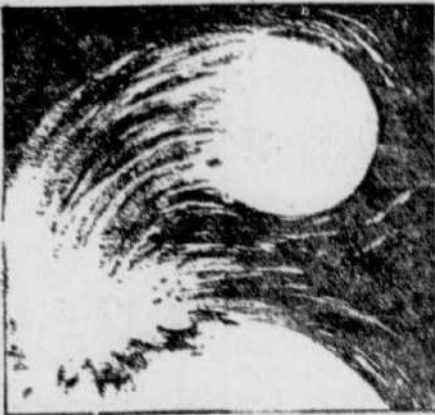

Winners of first and second place, listed in that order, were as follows:

OATS, EARLY VARIETIES: Beaver: Frank Kerr, Island Brook; R. G. Hodge, Cookshire. Garry: H. W. Loomis, Waterville; Loyola Couture, Lennoxville. Rodney: Wesley Bowker, Cookshire; Curtis Ross, Bulwer. Any other variety: John Nichol, Lennoxville; Wesley Bowker, Cookshire.

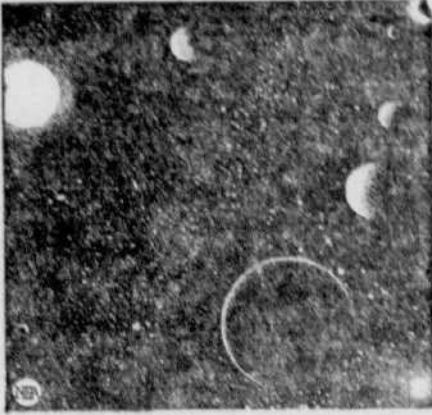

OATS, LATE VARIETIES: Roxton: Donald Fraser, Cookshire. Vanguard: H. W. Loomis, Waterville; Wells Coates, East

FLYING SAUCERS—Increased information on the sun's energy processes could explain sightings of unidentified flying objects. If the rocket can establish the existence of unique particles of energy and X-rays from the sun, "flying saucers" seen on earth may be shown up as only unique atmospheric tricks of solar origin.

BIRTH OF THE MOON—If the moon is found to have a weak magnetic field it would support the theory that it was torn loose from the earth's surface billions of years ago, giving it only sparse iron deposits. High gravity would indicate larger metal content and suggest it had beginnings separate from earth.

"EMPTY" SPACE—Recent rocket shots have indicated that space is not entirely vacant, but has density. The theory that the planets were formed from condensed gases may gain support as Lunik and later devices reach out millions of miles, sending back a description of man's most challenging frontier—space.

The musical portion of the service will be in charge of Rev. Plans were completed for a Spring Bonnet Tea to be held on Wednesday, April 1st. Mrs. Doug Osborne and Mrs. Reg. Blampin will be in charge of the entertainment, while Mrs. Bev. The Doctor Says

MENOPAUSE IS A CHANGE IN LIFE—NOT THE END OF IT

At any one time millions of women are in the stage of life known as the menopause, which probably accounts for the large number of letters I receive on that subject.

I have questions before me asking whether the menopause is responsible for dizziness, nervousness, panic, and a whole lot of other unpleasant symptoms.

At the start, it should be emphasized that most women pass through this phase of life without either serious physical or mental disturbance.

It is properly considered as a normal change in the physiological functions and represents principally a decrease in the activity of some of the hormones manufactured by feminine glands and not simply as the cessation of the menses.

Considered this way, the change of life, or menopause, is a gradual process and does involve changes in the physiology or functioning of the human body, as well as mental adjustments.

The most constant reflection of the change of life is the cessation of the menses and the impossibility of further reproduction.

However, this should not lead to concern. Nature has provided these changes for the benefit of both of the individual woman and for mankind as a whole. It would hardly seem beneficial for a woman to be able to go on producing children into her 60s or 70s.

If symptoms related to lessened hormone production do develop, the most common are hot flashes, abnormal menses, a tendency to melancholy, putting on weight, headaches and sleeplessness.

However, glandular products are now available which can be given by injection or by mouth which will help most of those whose symptoms are severe enough. They act by supplying some of the internal secretion which the patient's own glands fail to manufacture. Adjusting the size of the dose to the need is desirable.

Many women are greatly concerned about the possibilities for pregnancy during the latter stages of the menopause.

It is difficult to tell exactly when conception is no longer possible, and pregnancies have occurred as late as 55 years of age or beyond. In general, however, there is little chance of conceiving when a year or more has passed since the last period and the woman is over 50.

During the usual two or three-year period of adjustment to the menopause, a woman should be active, both mentally and physically. At this time old interests can be renewed profitably and new ones developed.

It should NOT be considered as the beginning of old age.

O'Keefe?

Naturally!
isn't everybody?

"in SHERBROOKE,
these comments are typical of the way people are thinking about O'Keefe Ale. Its flavour has become a talking point among people who enjoy mildness in an ale."
SAYS JEAN-LOUIS DUPUIS

Here's the Reason for the Change in local taste
THE O'KEEFE MILDNESS SECRET

Ever bitten into a grape seed? It's bitter, unpleasant. Grape growers found by experiment that they could develop seedless grapes with nothing to spoil the delicate flavour. It's the same with hops.

Ordinary hops contain seeds which give an unpleasant bitterness to ale. However, O'Keefe master brewers insist on costlier "Seedless Hops", result — there's no unpleasant bitterness, just the right, natural mild flavour.
