Head on collision, two injured

Car crash kills four

MAGOG — (Staff) — Four persons died and two were injured yesterday morning as the result of a two-car head-on collision two miles west of this city, on Route 1, near the Orford interchange on the Eastern Townships Autoroute.

The accident which occurred at about 9:30 a.m. resulted in the deaths of: Rolland Dion, 53, of 2828 Laurier Boulevard, Ste. Foy, Quebec, driver of the first car; his two sons, Jacques, 13, and Pierre, 9; and Daniel Hendrykowski, 16, of Bolton Centre, Brome County.

Other students in the Eastern Townships Regional who achieved 80 per cent or over are:

The three boys were dead on arrival at La Providence Hospital here, but Mr. Dion was taken to the hospital to Hotel Dieu in Sherbrooke, due to the extent of his injuries.

He died in Sherbrooke several hours after the accident.

The two injured in the accident were Henry Hendrykowski, 44, of Bolton Centre, driver of the second car; and Walter Tracey, 16, also of Bolton Centre.

Mr. Hendrykowski who was not seriously injured is presently in satisfactory condition at La Providence Hospital.

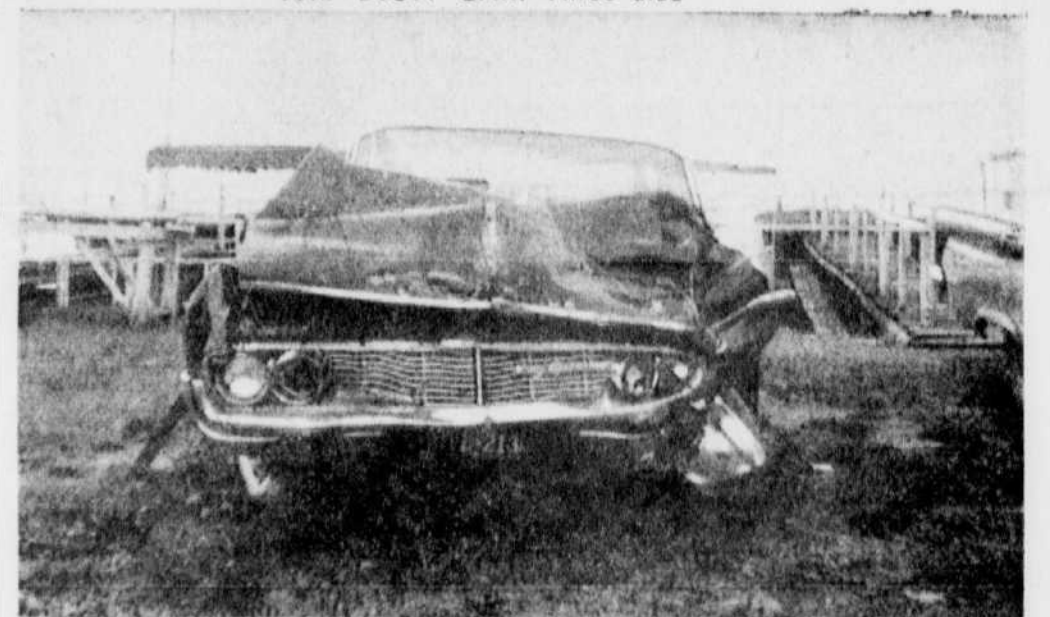

The Tracey boy was released from hospital yesterday after first aid treatment.

Mr. Dion's car was heading towards Montreal and Mr. Hendrykowski's into Magog when the two cars collided. The Dion car was sent several yards into a field on the side of the road following impact.

Quebec Provincial Police at Coaticook are still investigating the accident to determine exactly how it occurred.

Preparation dampened by downpour

Bedford prays for 'fair' weather

BEDFORD — Directors of the 138th Bedford Fair were praying for "fair", weather today as preparations for the annual event were dampened yesterday in the aftermath of a heavy downpour.

Eastern Townships, and will continue to do so, as long as there are people dedicated in preserving their traditions. One cannot imagine the Townships without fairs, especially the one at Bedford.

Don't campaign

SAIGON (CP) — Civilian candidates today maintained their boycott of the presidential election campaign and ignored two planes waiting at Saigon airport to fly them to the northern city of Da Nang.

Seven of the 10 civilian candidates, including former premier Tran Van Huong and former head of state Phan Khac Suu, have announced they will not campaign publicly until they receive a guarantee from the government of better facilities and security.

Close border

HONG KONG (Reuters) — British authorities today closed part of the border between Hong Kong and China after Communist Chinese workers temporarily took over a Hong Kong border police post.

After the workers went back to Chinese territory and that part of the frontier was closed, British troops used tear-gas to disperse about 30 Chinese farmers who broke through a border fence.

On defensive?

PARIS (Reuters) — President de Gaulle made a vigorous counter-attack against his critics Thursday night, but several commentators suggested today the 76-year-old general was on the defensive for the first time.

De Gaulle assailed his critics as "apostles of decline" who renounce French independence and "experts in disparagement" who oppose the development of France.

'Revolution'

HAVANA (CP) — Premier Fidel Castro said Thursday night a new revolution in the United States will sprout from the Negro sector — "bent by daily oppression" — and called on the world's revolutionaries to support that revolt.

"Rapprochement of the revolution of the United States and those of Latin America is the most natural thing. The revolutionary movement of the entire world should give it the U.S. Negro revolt its support."

Politics pricey

John MacLean, first of nine candidates for the national leadership of the Progressive Conservative party to enter the race, said in Quebec Thursday young persons find it too costly to enter politics.

Cattle judging started this morning, with produce, handicrafts and horticultural exhibits undergoing the eyes of the judges this afternoon.

Youngsters will enjoy the midway attractions, the usual wide eyed assortment having been on hand, yesterday, to supervise erection of the rides. Helpful comments were heard in abundance, rebuttals, well!

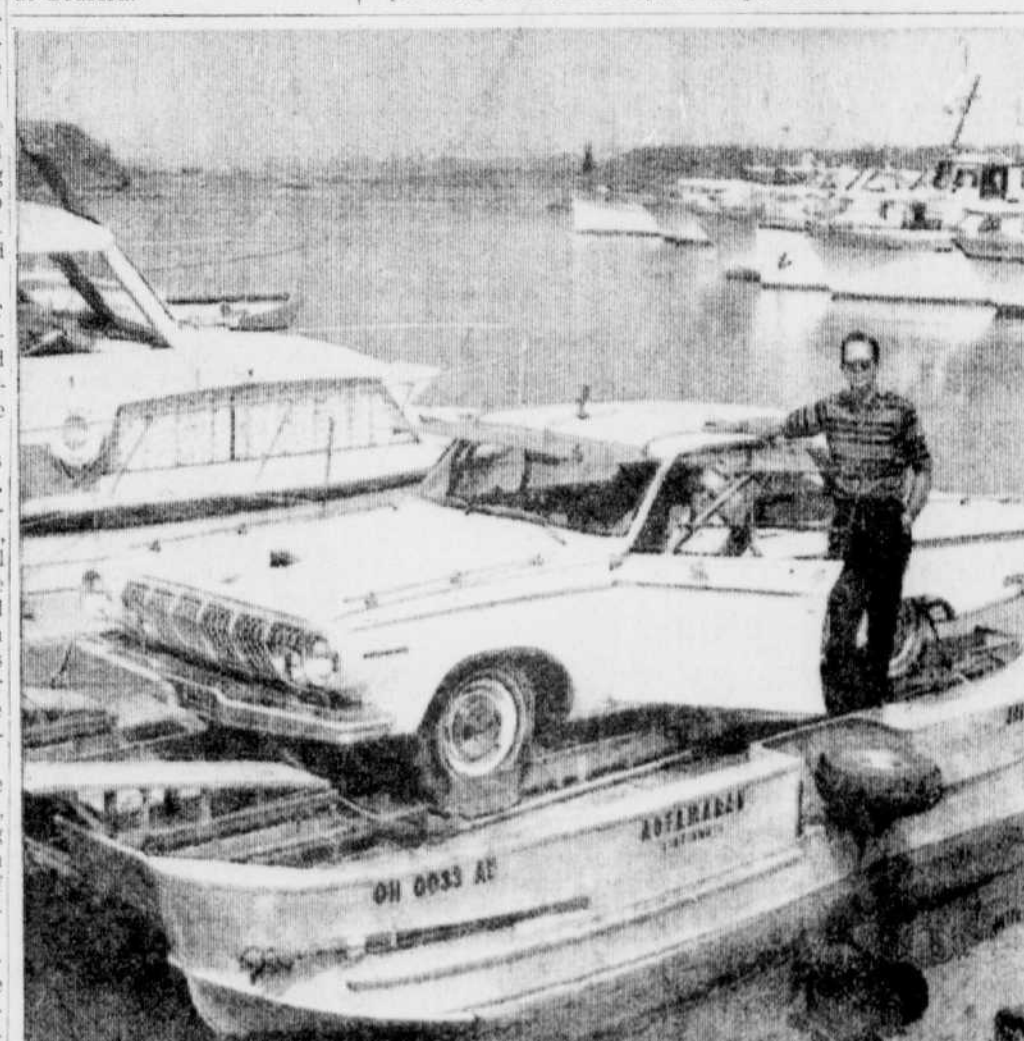

Saturday morning will usher in further cattle judging, followed by races, pony shows and a parade of machinery. Saturday evening features a horse show and cattle parade.

Many of Saturday's activities will be duplicated on Sunday. The endless grooming of animals goes on in the stalls, machinery being shined and all the other activities that make these fairs a success, with rural and urban residents carry on through the bustle. The cries of the pitchmen offering their wares are interspersed with the joyous cries of tots experiencing their first fair visit.

All this surmounted by the ever fascinating smells of a fair, onions grilling, coffee perking in huge vats, not to mention the clean yet pungent odors of the stall areas, as they permeate one's senses.

Sounds of joy, snorts of horses, cattle lowing against the background of the jennies powering the amusement rides, assail the ears. The lonely cry of a child separated from its parents stills the bustle.

They, along with popcorn and the everpresent cotton candy, have helped make the Bedford Fair one of the finest in the area.

HE AVOIDED ALL THAT HIGHWAY TRAFFIC — John Brush, of Cincinnati, with Mrs. Brush at the wheel of their car, stands on his "automaran" after they "motored" to Montreal and docked in the marina at Expo 67. Brush, a 54-year-old mechanical engineer, designed the auto-boat which is driven by connecting the car's engine to a drive shaft of the boat's propeller. He can get 15 miles an hour on water with a top speed of 25 miles an hour. The car can be driven off the twin aluminum hulls and used normally on land. He gets two miles to a gallon. (CP Wirephoto)

Rests feet at Expo

MONTREAL (CP) — Hank Gallant ditched his 50-pound pack and lowered himself gingerly into a chair at Expo Thursday after trudging 3,000 miles on foot from Victoria.

"I nearly froze to death on a 30-mile summit between Hope and Princeton, B.C.," said the 24-year-old construction worker, "and I've got a pretty itchy case of poison ivy right now, but otherwise I feel great, just great."

"I wanted to know what a courier de bois felt like and didn't carry a watch, radio or alarm clock with me," he said. "At times things were really tough particularly between Hope and Princeton. It was only my second week out and I'd covered about 25 miles."

"I had been perspiring heavily. It was mid-February and before I could get a fire going, the five-below-zero weather began to get through to me. All I wanted to do was lie down and I kept hitting myself in the face to keep awake."

"I know that sounds like a stupid thing to do but it saved my life. I built the fire and sat awake all night."

As the seasons changed, Hank shed his cold-weather garments and used lighter clothing.

Housing law violation charges are filed by Montreal against temporary operators

MONTREAL (CP) — The permits and inspections department of the City of Montreal Thursday filed court charges alleging violation of housing laws against 10 lodging establishments built or converted specially for visitors to Expo 67.

One of the establishments charged is the Canadiana Motel, a temporary lodging facility constructed with prefabricated components in east-end Montreal.

Earlier this week the Canadiana was the object of an embargo by U.S. postal authorities. Any mail addressed to the motel was returned to the sender on grounds that the establishment's owners had advertised fraudulently in the U.S.

With the filing of charges against the 10 establishments, the provincial lodging service, a government agency responsible for inspection and approval of lodging facilities, revoked the certificates which all approved establishments are required to display on their premises.

The rental permits issued by the city to the establishments now charged have been returned to the lodging service. Along with the Canadiana Motel, other lodging establishments against which charges have been filed are: College Hostel Inc., Belavista Tourist Reg., Olympic Bowl Motel, Tibbo Hostel, Montreal Motel, other lodging establishments.

Canton men said deserting Mao

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Travellers arriving here today from China reported mass desertion by troops around Canton to join anti-Maoist forces still holding out in the industrial city of Wuhan.

They said army officers, too, were quitting their posts in Kwangtung province, of which Canton, south China's largest city, is the capital.

Fierce fighting involving 10,000 Red Guards and workers raged in Canton Thursday, leaving 500 persons killed or injured, travellers reaching here disclosed.

One of today's Chinese arrivals said there were indications that the Kwangtung army command was taking emergency steps to stop the desertions.

Wuhan, a key industrial and railway centre straddling the Yangtze River in central China, was previously thought to be virtually back under Maoist control after fighting there last month.

REPORT HONAN CLASH

Other travellers from China today reported that 10,000 persons were involved in a clash in Honan — a big island linked to Canton by the Pearl River bridge. Casualties were estimated at up to 500.

Today's arrivals said discontented peasants were surging into cities and towns throughout Kwangtung province complaining they had not been paid.

The Hong Kong English-language newspaper The Star says Defence Minister Lin Biao sent two army divisions into Kwangtung province to help restore order.

The move is a direct result of Premier Chou En-lai's sudden visit to Canton last week, the newspaper says.

St. Stanislas Hall, Gilles Montpetit and Hotel El Convento.

Meaning Donald Mumford, managing director of the downtown Queen Elizabeth Hotel, said he no longer believes Expo authorities will go through with their offer to hand over the administration of the fair's accommodation service to his hotel.

Wednesday Robert Shaw, deputy commissioner-general of Expo, offered to turn over to the Queen Elizabeth, part of the Hilton chain, the staff and facilities of Logexpo, the fair's accommodation service.

Logexpo, which refers requests for accommodation to various lodging establishments on its list, has been under heavy criticism alleging inadequacy in the service's referral system.

Mr. Mumford said Thursday: "After hearing Premier John son's statement and speaking briefly with Robert Shaw, I don't believe Mr. Shaw's offer now can be taken seriously."

Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec said in a televised interview Wednesday night that the provincial government will veto any attempt to turn control of Logexpo over to the hotel industry.

Impatient

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters) — African members of the United Nations, angered and frustrated by the successful resistance of Rhodesia to UN sanctions imposed by the Security Council, are expected soon to lay the issue before the 15-country council again.

They are expected to present demands for stronger measures aimed at bringing down the white regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith.

PC's Camp calls for shedding our nuclear 'encumbrances'

QUEBEC (CP) — Dalton Camp, president of the national Progressive Conservative Association, Thursday called on Canada to express its "uniqueness" by means of a major shift in foreign policy which would do away with the "encumbrance" of nuclear association.

In a major address to the party's advisory conference on policy, Mr. Camp challenged the Conservatives to examine his belief that Canada "can create a sense of itself through the creation of a foreign policy that is a demonstrable expression of its uniqueness."

He said the basic pillars of that policy are not NATO, NORAD and the United Nations. "They are disarmament, non-proliferation and the development of a special role in foreign aid and assistance."

He greatly emphasized Canada's possible unique and beneficial role in the field of foreign aid.

Mr. Camp had the impression that "what we are in the process of doing in Canada is developing a military policy and then developing a foreign policy to suit it."

At one point he indicated he would like to see Canada outside of NORAD, adding that "we will not in the long run be negligible."

judged by strength of our military power but by the strength of our purpose."

He said Canadians could become "the first citizens of the world, that we can best serve the higher purposes of American foreign policy by not being imprisoned in their tactical considerations but by remaining free to complement their strategic objectives, about which I have no doubts as to their worthiness."

Another speaker at the "thinkers" conference, Bernard Flynn, a Montreal lawyer and president of the Quebec PC Association, said the price for English-Canadians of granting equal status to French-Canadians throughout the nation is "we will not in the long run be negligible."

Separatism no answer Graftey poll shows

OTTAWA (Special) — A poll released here yesterday from the office of Howard Graftey (PC — Brome-Missisquoi) noted that "only a small handful (less than two per cent) advocated separation of Quebec from Canada."

"Many people mentioned separatism," the reports said, "and were against it."

In the Quebec soundings some 1,450 people in Montreal, Sherbrooke, Quebec City, Hull and a number of centres in the Eastern Townships were asked what important matters they thought federal legislators should now be dealing with.

One of the surprising findings was that there was little interest in, or enthusiasm for, separatism as a solution to the problems of Quebec.

LONDON (AP)—"The difference between us is that the American censor is concerned with moralities, while I am not. I am merely an assessor of public attitudes."

British film censor John Trevelyan was explaining his work while enjoying an end-of-the-day drink in his office at 2 Soho Square, in the heart of Film Row. Thrice-married, with twins sons of eight by his most recent marriage, he is a balding man of 63 with an engaging frankness. His background is education, but his interest in films led him to join the British board of film censorship in 1950.

The disparity between U.S. and British censorship is curious. The Hollywood Production Code, long influenced by pressures of the Roman Catholic Church, is primarily concerned with sex and morality.

The main concern of the British censor over the years has been violence.

BAN 'WILD ONE'

"We've had outbreaks of juvenile violence, and we are very edgy about allowing anything that might encourage it," said Trevelyan. "The Brando film, The Wild One, has never been allowed in this country, nor has Key Witness."

British censorship predates the U.S. system by more than 15 years. City councils here

Natural gas in Sherbrooke by 1969?

If negotiations for the purchase of the Sherbrooke municipal gas system by the Saint Lawrence Gas Society prove successful by the end of this month, it is possible that citizens will be heating their homes with natural gas by 1969 or 1970.

On July 17, city council passed a by-law to sell the gas works to the Saint Lawrence Gas Society, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Quebec Natural Gas Corporation, Montreal.

A meeting of Sherbrooke property owners was held on July 31, and no signatures were submitted for the holding of a referendum.

Presently, negotiations are underway between the Quebec Natural Gas Corp. (QNC), and the municipal gas system. In a telephone interview yesterday morning R. B. Craddock, Chairman of the Board of QNC said,

"we expect negotiations for the purchase to be brought to a favorable conclusion by the end of the month."

If this is so, then the QNC definitely intends to introduce natural gas into Sherbrooke. "It's difficult to give a date when natural gas could be piped into Sherbrooke hopefully by 1969 or 1970," Mr. Craddock said.

Should natural gas be piped into the city, it will use the same system as propane gas which is now being used throughout the city.

"The only change," Mr. Craddock explained, is that the propane gas system will have to be expanded. But, in regard to the British Thermal Unit (BTU), content, natural and propane gas are almost the same.

To bring natural gas into Sherbrooke would involve an expenditure of millions of dollars, according to Mr. Craddock. "The present distribution system in Sherbrooke is quite good, but there has been no construction in the last 10 years. Therefore, a large amount of additional construction will be needed for the distribution system to reach the city's growing population."

An underground pipe line for natural gas could be brought into the city from various locations, in Mr. Craddock's estimation. Although he didn't give any definite transportation routes, Mr. Craddock suggested that a gas line could be brought in from the St. Lawrence, or from a line from Vermont that passes in the vicinity of St. Jean and Ibterville, Quebec.

(Record staff reporter)

In addition, a natural gas system in Sherbrooke would involve the construction of regulator stations and a city gate station at every point of service in the city. The purpose of the city gate station is to lower the pressure of the gas coming into the city to a certain level before it reaches the home owner.

Mr. Craddock said the cost of natural gas to the home use would be cheaper than that of the present system of propane gas, and would be competitive with any other type of fuel heating.

"We hope that the major uses of natural gas would be for home heating and cooking, and the heating of business and industrial buildings," he explained.

A main impetus that has been the forerunner of a possible natural gas system in Eastern Quebec, is the recent progress made in the Great Lakes Transmission Co. Emerson, Manitoba, to Sarnia, Ontario, pipeline.

In a telephone conversation with the Record yesterday morning, Edmund Bovey, president of Northern and Central Gas Company Ltd., Toronto, which has a 65 per cent interest in Quebec Natural Gas, predicted that with the Great Lakes project now making good progress, it is possible and economical to bring gas to Eastern Quebec. He also suggested that TransCanada Pipe Line Ltd. could build the extension of the Great Lakes project to strategic points in Quebec, from which supplies could be delivered to the various cities.

Mr. Bovey agreed with Mr. Craddock's prediction that natural gas could be brought to Sherbrooke by 1969 or 1970 if negotiations for the purchase of the municipal gas system come to a successful conclusion by the end of the month.

A recent report in the Toronto Telegram said that natural gas to Quebec goes only as far as Montreal which consumes about 112 million cubic feet of gas daily. And, if Quebec cities east of Montreal receive natural gas in the near future, the estimated potential consumption for this area would be approximately 165 million cubic feet per day.

Mr. Craddock said officials of QNC will be in Sherbrooke at the end of the month, if the present negotiations for the purchase of the municipal gas system are successful.

Judge is angered at witnesses who can't remember anything

Two of a dozen or more cheques stolen from the City of Sherbrooke's paymaster's office at the beginning of July of this year turned up in Court of Sessions yesterday.

Listed as exhibit P-1 and P-2 the cheques were serving as evidence that one Andre Chico Martel had stolen and cashed them under assumed names.

The cheques were in the amount of $31.86 and $171.82 for two City Hall employees who told the court that the signature on the back of the cheques were not theirs.

The two hotel keepers who accepted the cheques, one the manager of the Manoir de l'Estrie, said they couldn't identify Martel as the man who gave them the stolen cheques. Judge Benoit Turmel burst out several times saying to Crown Prosecutor Roland Dugre that the testimony of hotel keepers in matters of identification was completely worthless.

And thus for this reason — the lack of sufficient identification by witnesses — Andre Chico Martel of 79 Bowen Street North went free.

"Unless witnesses carry their responsibility we can do nothing," he said.

At one point Judge Turmel lashed out at the manager of the Manoir de l'Estrie and said he had testified before two judges many times and could never remember anything. Once there had been a case of assault in his hotel and the manager was unable to give any evidence and once he had told the court he could not see because he had been wearing dark glasses.

"You come and laugh at justice," Judge Turmel said.

Sherbrooke City Hall paymaster Jean - Paul Duquette said he couldn't explain how the cheques had been taken from his office.

They had been taken when he was away on holiday.

Ken reappeared in the interval and said he needed more money to go out west and offered two guns and two fishing rods and reels for a bargain price, $75. They were estimated to be worth $300.

Soon the police appeared and charged Dauphinais with theft and selling stolen goods.

Dauphinais said he met Ken in Sherbrooke West awhile ago and gave him a lift in his car. The acquaintance told him he could get him an identical car (a 1960 Rambler) in much better condition than his own car for a good price. Several days later Ken showed up at Dauphinais' place with the car which he bought for $100.

Since the car were similar in appearance, he switched the registration, scrapped his own car after stripping it of some essential parts that he used to improve the car he had just purchased from Ken. Then on July 6, eight days after the purchase he sold it for $150 to a Mrs. Morin.

CAME TUMBLING DOWN — This wall was one of the victims of yesterday morning's short but fierce rain storm.

The wall surrounds the grounds of the Holy Family Convent on Galt Street West.

Storm short but destructive

The rain only fell for about a quarter of an hour but some Sherbrookers spent the whole of yesterday cleaning up the mess and a lot of the damage still remains.

Following yesterday's short but savage rainstorm which lasted only 14 minutes but dropped eight tenths of an inch of rain on Sherbrooke and the surrounding area, City Hall was besieged by calls from irate taxpayers whose homes and business suffered flood damages. There were nearly 75 calls to City Hall yesterday and more to the aldermen.

The downpour backed up sewers, flooded streets and basements, crumbled walls and in the rural areas washed out vegetable and crop gardens and ruined hay stands.

Workers at Combustion Engineering Superheater had to take a forced break yesterday after rains-flooded one of the factory's departments.

The workers were back as soon as the mess was dried up.

Just across the street, water flooded the heating plant of Bryant Inc. and technicians had to be called in to repair damage to the furnaces.

At the Holy Family Convent on Galt Street West, rain water built up such force that it knocked over part of the wall around the convent grounds.

On the short sixth hole at the Sherbrooke Country Club golf course, a small brook in the middle of the fairway became a raging torrent, and carried away the bridge used by golfers lucky enough to drive over the stream.

Farmers' gardens were turned into messes of thick mud and rain washed away precious topsoil.

Waterville alderman quits post

WATERVILLE — (Special) — With regret council accepted the resignation of Bertrand Bourassa from seat 6. To fill the balance of his term which ends in the fall of 1968, Mayor Cote has set nomination day. With regret council accepted resignation should be necessary it will be held on August 30.

A report from the provincial Department of Health showed that the test on water taken from the municipal system in July was excellent. Tests are being done regularly. Two cheques were received from the provincial government. One of $6,000 is a grant towards the cost of the waterworks system, while the other of $3,900 represents an adjustment on the town's share from sales tax receipts.

Council was advised that the provincial government is calling tenders to rebuild the road connecting Waterville with Route 5. Since the work to build Swanson Boulevard has been halted for a number of years now, and since it is felt that it will not be continued in the foreseeable future, notice of motion was given to rescind this bylaw.

During the past month the town police have issued 26 tickets for traffic infractions.

A centennial trip

Fourteen young people and old bus, bearing a sign "Mag four adults from Lennoxville, daleen Islands or Scrap It." are camping at the Magdalen Islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The round-about trip is a unique Centennial project, according to the leader of the group, Cecil Dougherty, the mayor of Lennoxville.

The group is travelling by bus, camping along the way. The 14 youngsters are members of the Anglican Young People's Association from the Anglican church in the Quebec town. In addition to Mayor Dougherty and his wife, the group is being accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenne and their two small children.

They left Saint John, N.B., Wednesday morning for Charlottetown where they embarked on the boat for the 11 to 13-hour trip to the islands. Mayor Dougherty said the expedition has been planned for a year, but "we are not travelling de luxe. We have an

Motorcyclist is injured

MAGOG — (Staff) — A young motorcyclist was seriously injured at approximately 7 p.m. yesterday when he collided with a truck at the intersection of Summer and Victoria Street.

Daniel Bombardier, 17, son of Yvon Bombardier, 1050 Sherbrooke Street, Magog, was taken to the Providence hospital in Magog with undetermined injuries.

Later, he was transferred to the Hotel Dieu hospital in Montreal when it was decided that his condition was too critical to be treated in the Providence hospital.

Magog police said the truck, driven by Guy Gauthier, 30, Cherry River Road, Magog, had stopped at the intersection on Victoria Street. When it started to move forward it collided with the motorcycle driven by the Bombardier boy who was travelling along Summer Street.

Bits and pieces

In charge of the Salvation Army in Sherbrooke now is Capt. Frank Phelps, who arrived here from Napanee, Ont. about a month and a half ago... he and his wife and son Randy, 14 have taken up residence in Sherbrooke... biggest concern to Capt. Phelps right now are Sherbrooke's fast and furious motorists... There's a hot report floating around town that the local hockey team, the Sherbrooke Beavers, are trying to secure a very well-known hockey figure for their 1967-68 season... he played for the New York Rangers of the NHL and is currently in the Black Hawk training camp. His name?... Camille Henry... an unofficial source got wind of the news from another unofficial source who claimed Henry paid a visit to Sherbrooke and spoke to the Beaver management... Donald MacArthur of Milan successfully trapped and shot a bear in his area a few days ago... earlier he caught a bear in a trap, but the bear escaped, leaving only the skin of his forepaw in the trap... so far this summer, bear have killed two of Mr. MacArthur's sheep... Two miles of the Milan-Nantes (Springhill) highway have been paved, and another portion of the road is scheduled for reconstruction later this year... Among the displays at the Arts and Handicrafts display at Newport on Aug. 5 was one of articles made by the children at the Dixville Home for Retarded children... in charge of the display was Mrs. Norman Andrews, principal of the Ginette Roy School at the home...

Talk about coincidences... some family friends from Toronto were visiting the Don Patricks in Lennoxville last week... while motoring back to Ontario, they stopped for a hitchhiker at Brownsburg, Que... turned out to be the Patrick's son Mike, on his way back to duty with the Old Fort Henry guards in Kingston after visiting his girl friend in Montreal... Halle Evans tells this one: a man in a car up on the Stoke Road inside the city limits stopped him to ask directions... he was looking for Sherbrooke East... "This is it," said Mr. Evans... then the man asked for a certain apartment house, and showed Mr. Evans a piece of paper... turned out to be a Logexpo reservation for an apartment on Sherbrooke Street East in Montreal... the motorist, who had his family in the car, was understandably discouraged, when he was told he would have to go back onto the autoroute, from which he had just come, and return to Montreal... Are you collecting the history of Missisquoi County for future reference?... if so, do not overlook two new books published by the Historical Society... "Here and There" in Missisquoi, and "The Fenian Raids" of Missisquoi County, both available from the Treasurer N. F. Creller of Stanbridge East... Price is $3 and $2... add 10 cents for postage if mailing... The front of the Health Unit Building in Cookshire, has had a face lifting... the verandah has been removed, new cement steps and walk have replaced the old ones, and the lawn has been levelled and seeded.

The Family Motor Coach Association, a North American organization that groups people who travel around in buses converted into mobile homes, meets Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the home of Jim Hodges, Bourque Boulevard... 40 to 70 vehicles of various kinds are expected to descend on the Hodge property... this is the first time the Association has met in Canada, and the reason is — you guessed it — Expo 67... The 4th and 5th Banners at Ditchfield were isolated for several days due to flooding caused by an unprecedented downpour on August 5 which washed out the bridge over the White River and several culverts as well as sections of the C.P.R. tracks... Le Gourmet Restaurant was invaded by a flock of middle aged diners wearing the AAA tag the other day... the group of 30 Oklahoma City visitors were part of a Trailways tour that just happened to stop by in Sherbrooke for lunch coming back from Expo... as one southern lady put it, while looking over the menu "Why, some of the words are very similar to English." Dr. and Mrs. K. R. Willis, directors of Camp Wilvaken at Lake Lovering and five other staff members left Tuesday morning for Notre Dame du Portage to take part in a centennial canoe trip through southeastern Quebec and New Brunswick... the trip ends on Aug. 15.

At home to mark 25th anniversary
AYER'S CLIFF — (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. H. Carl Mayhew of The Willows, Route 50, will observe the 25th anniversary of their marriage on Tuesday, August 15. They will be at Home to their friends between 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon also from 8 o'clock in the evening.

Midnight rampages of motorcyclists

Experts investigating the operation of the Sherbrooke Police Department apparently returned to Montreal after conducting an inquiry session, or at least decided to spend their leisure hours in some of the luxury motels on the outskirts of the city.

Basis for this assumption is that if they had attempted to sleep in the central part of the city they might have found cause to make comment on the wild antics of the motorcycle hoodlums who are making life miserable for residents of the downtown area.

Late in the evening these individuals move in to make Strathcona Square the headquarters for their operations, which consist largely of using Wellington North, Grandes Fouches and King street as a race track, operating with the apparent tacit approval of the police until two or three o'clock in the morning.

The situation reached a climax one night this week when no less than 27 machines, some of them with two occupants, staged a marathon — racing with the exhausts wide open and without any police interference.

Complaints against earlier incidents of this nature have been largely ignored, at least there has been no visible effort to curb the practice.

Bright prospects for county fairs

The fall fair season is with us again — starting this week-end with the annual Missisquoi County Agricultural Society's show at Bedford.

Perhaps the chief interest in the fairs this year will be the extent to which they are affected by the great show being conducted in Montreal.

Some observers are inclined to believe that the popular participation in Expo 67 by the residents of Quebec generally will mean a temporary setback for the local fairs, the argument being that people will have become surfeited with exhibitions for 1967 at least.

It is said that they have been so impressed by Expo 67 that a year must elapse before they can appreciate the virtues of the local fair; that their financial resources have been drained by the visits to La Ronde; that the local fair will make such a poor comparison that its efforts will be pitiful.

But be this as it may, the next month probably will show that the local fair still has its place in the design of things.

Somehow or other the county fair is different from any other institution.

It does not compete with or supplement the great exhibitions, rather it fills a particular place in the hearts of the people.

The crowds are smaller but they are friendlier. Mrs. Smith's handiwork may not stand up to the lace treasures of the Iran Pavilion but it draws more interest.

Thus, we may expect that local fair directors will experience a satisfactory season — provided the weather man plays his part.

It would be appreciated if, through your paper, the students from the Graduate School of Education at Bishop's University, and myself as one of their professors, could express our deep appreciation to the citizens of various communities in the Eastern Townships, for their cooperation in our studies of value orientations.

We have not been able to thank all of them in person. Their participation in our research is acknowledged with sincere thanks.

Double purpose in de Gaulle speech

Prime Minister Lester Pearson's original "rueful tolerance" has given way to the clear statement that certain of President de Gaulle's remarks on Canadian soil were "unacceptable." We still commend his restraint. There is nothing wrong about the French President's putting most of the emphasis on the French — speaking Province of Quebec during his current visit to North America. It is the other side of the coin of the Queen's having been more than circumspect about the province during her visit to Canada earlier this month.

But having already strained the proprieties of protocol before ever stepping ashore from the Colbert, it is inexcusable that the General should abuse Canadian decency and hospitality with such mischievously loaded utterances as have fallen from his lips at French — speaking centers along the north shore of the St. Lawrence. We believe, however, that President de Gaulle has egregiously

The Christian Science Monitor misread the signs in both English — and French-speaking Canada.

Apparently the French President sees his current visit to Canada as serving two purposes. The first, of course, is to encourage the vigor and health of the great outpost of French culture on the North American continent. The second would seem to be to inhibit what he now argues increasingly is the unhealthiness of United States preponderance in the world. To him, Canada, at present, is a compartment of and an accomplice in it. Thus, in his eyes, anything that impedes today's Canada vicariously impedes the United States — and so inhibits the latter's preponderance or hegemony.

General de Gaulle is thus manifestly using French Canadians for his purposes — rather than theirs. We suspect that he may discover that they are using him for theirs — rather than his. Certainly their culture is French. But after more than three centuries in Canada, they are essentially Canadian. And as such they are essentially North American. Some of them would claim to be the original and only true Canadians. Somebody should tell General de Gaulle about the French Canadian enthusiasm for (if not obsession with) the Stanley Cup ice hockey matches. Presumably he has never watched French Canadian television.

After nearly a decade of heart — searching, all the evidence points to French Canadian recognition after all that full rights as first — class citizens and shapers of a national destiny will mean more within a united Canada than without it. A corollary to that is the eventual emergence of a Canada more distinctive than today's from the great neighbor south of the border. And it is such a distinctive but united Canada that will be able to influence United States policy decisions far more effectively than one disrupted by out — of — place demagogues.

Montreal Le Devoir — Mr. Duff Roblin, after months of waiting, finally made known his decision . . . to be a candidate for the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party.

Mr. Roblin shares with Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia two qualities which other leadership candidates cannot claim. Neither of the two men has been directly implicated in quarrels with Mr. Diefenbaker. Each has shown for several years that he is capable of winning elections and of administering public affairs with competence and honesty.

The entry of Messrs. Roblin and Stanfield into the race raises two important questions. Which of the two men will have the better chance to convince Mr. Diefenbaker not to be a candidate? Which of the two men will have the better chance of recruiting forces account for more casualties among the Viet Cong than does the South Vietnamese army of 320,000, say military sources.

But this is done at a cost because artillery support and air strikes are not always available to beleaguered popular forces outposts.

As a result 10 P.F. soldiers are killed for every 13 Viet Cong they kill, while 25 Viet Cong are killed for 10 government troops.

Vietnam's forgotten soldiers

DA NANG (Reuters)—He is the forgotten soldier of the war, ignored, ill-kempt and ill-paid, with a lonely and dangerous job of guarding bridges, hamlets, watchtowers and outposts in South Vietnam.

He belongs to the South Vietnamese popular forces and American troops have been asked to remember him—at least with a friendly smile and a wave.

Nobody seems to notice the part-time soldier, recruited to defend his village and nearby possible targets of Viet Cong attack, because he has become almost a part of the scenery, blending into a background of rice paddies, lumbering water buffalo and plodding peasants.

A pamphlet distributed by U.S. forces here shows a picture of a typical P.F. soldier, in dusty khaki uniform, standing with his wife and family in front of his simple home.

"It does no harm to give him a friendly wave," the pamphlet suggests.

There are 150,000 popular forces soldiers throughout the country in nearly all the 234 districts.

Together with the 110,000 troops of the regional forces, which operate at the level of district towns, the popular

The Glory That Was France

French Canada says:

Government powerless to solve crisis in Maritimes migration

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste—In the Maritime provinces, migration is most alarming. Since the start of the century the population has scarcely increased.

Faced with this fact, the economic council of the Atlantic provinces has requested aid from all levels of government and from private enterprise to determine the reasons for the mass migration from the Atlantic provinces. The council does not hesitate to say that the migration has reached alarming proportions.

According to a recent council report, the annual exodus is of the order of 20,000 and takes "most of the dynamic young people who are best prepared to make a positive contribution to the area where they were born."

Council figures disclose that from 1961 to 1966, emigration from the Maritime provinces reached 100,000, the highest for a five-year period in history.

No Maritime government is ignoring the problem. Ottawa recognizes its gravity. All are seeking a solution, but they seem powerless to discover it. — Hector Heroux (Aug. 2)

Montreal Le Presse—It appears there are very few Quebecers among the "thinkers" gathered together at Montmorency House near Quebec to formulate a new platform for the Progressive Conservative party.

For the old parties, just as for new political formations, there is nothing more healthy than these meetings where an effort is made to set aside partisanship and face such problems as exist. The Conservatives need at this time to examine their political conscience. If they don't start one of these days, others will do it for them. This would only add to the confusion.

In fact the word "confusion" best describes the present situation. Even the NDP doesn't know which way to turn.

By veering slightly to the right as it did last month in Toronto, it can only follow a road parallel to the Liberals. — Cyril Filteau (Aug. 8)

Montreal Le Devoir — Mr. Duff Roblin, after months of waiting, finally made known his decision . . . to be a candidate for the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party.

Mr. Roblin shares with Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia two qualities which other leadership candidates cannot claim. Neither of the two men has been directly implicated in quarrels with Mr. Diefenbaker. Each has shown for several years that he is capable of winning elections and of administering public affairs with competence and honesty.

The entry of Messrs. Roblin and Stanfield into the race raises two important questions. Which of the two men will have the better chance to convince Mr. Diefenbaker not to be a candidate? Which of the two men will have the better chance of recruiting top-ranking collaborators in Quebec province?

To the first question, no one wants to hazard an answer. However, we noted with interest that Mr. Diefenbaker himself last week forecast the announcement that Mr. Roblin would be a candidate. This he did apparently without acrimony, irony or spitefulness.

Did the old leader wish to indicate by his actions that, with Mr. Roblin a candidate, he himself would be more inclined to take a well-earned retirement? It is to be hoped that that is the case. The general feeling is that Mr. Diefenbaker should retire with dignity and elegance. This gesture will be much easier for the old leader now that Mr. Roblin has become a candidate.

As far as French Canada is concerned, Mr. Roblin, at the outset, has an indisputable advantage over Mr. Stanfield. The premier of Manitoba speaks French very well and is fairly well known in many Quebec areas. On the other hand, his Nova Scotia colleague speaks a labored French and until recently was little known in Quebec. It is clear that everything will depend on Mr. Roblin's views on the important questions which preoccupy Quebec. The Manitoba leader will have to define his position within the next few weeks. . . . Of all the candidates, Mr. Roblin is the one who will have the most chance to interest prominent men in Quebec.

There were published reports recently about the possibility of a last hour drive which would make Jean Drapeau leader of the Conservatives. We do not believe in this possibility. The mayor has a job to finish in Montreal. . . . There will be time a little later for one or other of the parties to call upon the services of Mr. Drapeau and for him to make himself available. — Claude Ryan (Aug. 4)

Quebec L'Action—As a general rule a man does not become premier without having a good amount of common sense. When a man remains premier for 24 years, one doesn't question his realism. Therefore it is necessary to take seriously the challenge which Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta has made to "thinking Canadians."

Mr. Manning's prestige permits him to toss out rather bluntly a certain number of truths. The most important is the lack of precise ideologies on the part of the major federal parties. People see no fundamental difference between the Liberals and the Conservatives and they do not believe that a change of government will accomplish very much. So what happens is that an unsatisfactory government is returned to the opposition benches. Mr. Manning feels that the people are thus deprived of a very important right: Any real alternative is suppressed.

Such a statement clearly shows that political parties do too little research and do not exert themselves to draft modern and dynamic platforms.

Mr. Manning demands that an effort be made to produce precise platforms and to include in them a particular philosophy. He hopes that research will lead the Conservative party to include in its ideology the things which have contributed to the success of the Social Credit governments in Alberta and British Columbia.

By so doing, a true right-wing party would be created under the "Social Conservative" banner and it would be easily distinguishable from the Liberal party. Mr. Manning states quite eloquently that he is not trying to move in on the federal scene. His view is that the federal parties should be sufficiently different to permit the voter to exercise his freedom. . . . — Laurent Laplante Aug. 7.

Bygone days TEN YEARS AGO

A motion calling for a form of compulsory military service for all physically — fit young Canadians as a defence measure and as a means of insuring fitness and character was approved unanimously at the business meeting in connection with the annual reunion of the 117th Eastern Townships Overseas Battalion Association held here on Saturday. The resolution will be forwarded to the defence minister, Mr. Peakes.

During the day, Frank Price, of North Hatley, was named to succeed Major E. E. Locke.

Other officers elected were: Jim Breckenridge, of Weir and Harrow, of Stanstead, vice — president; Ed Kingsland, of Magog, secretary-treasurer; J. A. McCallum, of Danville, honorary president; H. Parsons, North Hatley and E. G. Probyn, of Stanstead, honorary vice — presidents; L. Bowden, of Sherbrooke, W. Breckenridge, Lachine, W. E. Stanstead and G. Macdonald, of East Hatley, directors.

NORTH HATLEY — At a recent meeting of the North Hatley Community Club, plans were made to hold a garden party, to which the public would be invited, at Clematis Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Virgin.

The Community Club was organized some years ago by a group of public — spirited citizens who felt the need for a community center and a meeting place for the many activities of the town. Through their persistent endeavor, the Community Club members provide for the use of all organized groups in North Hatley, a completely equipped kitchen, a large and well-furnished committee room, two washrooms and a large reception room. Heating, lighting and care — taker service is provided to all subscribing groups for a small yearly rental.

To keep up this ambitious program, additional funds are urgently needed. Mr. and Mrs. Virgin have graciously extended the hospitality of their beautiful gardens and home on the afternoon of Friday, August 15.

After two years of drought

Monsoon rains are satisfactory

By INDER JIT

NEW DELHI (C.P.)—After two grim years of drought that wrought havoc with India's food situation and its economy, meteorologists have given the country something to be cheerful about. They describe the rainfall this monsoon season as "satisfactory."

Although now facing one of the most critical phases of its food problem, which dates back to 1965, India's agricultural experts are enthusiastically optimistic about the prospects of a good food crop next season as a result of the rains.

The monsoon season in India normally extends from June to November.

The farmers and others who depend on the land for their livelihood are jubilant that the rain gods are benign once again. In several Indian towns, people welcomed the rain by dancing in the streets.

Some experts who were critical of the government's policy of emphasis on industrial development say that even the drought—although it has caused hunger and misery to millions—had a silver lining. It has made government policy-makers sit up and drastically revise their agricultural policy, which hitherto went by default.

MUST IMPROVE FOOD
The latest census figures show India's population has touched the 320,000,000 mark and there are 12,000,000 new mouths to feed every year.

India had its biggest crop in 1962, when food grains production was 88,000,000 tons. But the dependence on foreign food aid, principally from the United States, has continued to be heavy primarily because of the population explosion. The promised break-through in indigenous production has been elusive.

The U.S. last year alone supplied 11,000,000 tons of wheat under its Food for Peace program, for which India pays in rupees. Shipments under this arrangement since 1961 have been valued roughly at 16,000,000,000 rupees (approximately $2,285,000,000).

STRESS CULTIVATION
Indian planners, having learned a harsh lesson from nature, now are busy encouraging a mass national drive for systematic cultivation of agricultural land. This includes production of artificial fertilizers, procurement of high-yielding varieties of seeds, intensification of small-irrigation programs and dissemination of improved agricultural knowledge to farmers.

While one group of food experts is passing sleepless nights worrying over where to obtain more food to tide over the present acute crisis, the others are already looking optimistically ahead to a bumper crop after the recent rains. Indeed some of them think that India will be able to raise 100,000,000 tons of food grains by next year, a target which the government planners had set for 1970.

FOUNTAINS IN CENTENNIAL SQUARE — The inauguration of the fountains in Waterloo's Centennial square took place Tuesday night. Hundreds of townspeople and guests surrounded the square, located between Foster and

Waterloo artists show their craft at library

WATERLOO — (Special) — A display of art and crafts by local artists is on view for the duration of centennial week until August 12, at Waterloo Public Library. Visiting hours are 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m. every day including Saturday.

On view is handiwork of every kind mostly by craftsmen from Waterloo. Many of the paintings are by students of Sister Louise at Maplewood Convent. Besides art work each of the rooms contains ceramics, needlepoint, woodwork, tapestries, carvings, soapstone and wood carvings, jewellery, embroidery and quilts.

The exhibition was set up by librarian Miss Juliette Pinsonneault.

Several antiques are shown including a tapestry by Miss Pinsonneault's mother, Mrs. Edward Pinsonneault, which won first prize at the Canadian Handicrafts Competition in Ottawa about 20 years ago. The books of seven local authors are also on hand for browsing or borrowing.

The exhibition includes a demonstration of weaving on an old loom and making yarn on a spinning wheel. These are demonstrated by Mrs. Rosaire Duranleau, Mrs. Margot Lavigne, and Mrs. Aime Duranleau.

SCOOTER ACCIDENT — A young man was injured when the scooter on which he was riding collided with a car, Tuesday on Western Avenue, Waterloo. David Doherty, 17, Western Ave., Waterloo, was thrown from his scooter, when a car driven by Henry

forted by Mrs. Gerald Hollenbeck before he was taken to Sweetsburg Hospital, where he was treated for a broken leg and minor abrasions. The scooter is a total loss while the other two vehicles were only slightly damaged. (Record photo: Marcel Cote)

Horticultural Society plans annual flower show

BEDFORD — (Special) — An executive meeting of the Bedford Horticultural Society was held Monday night in the arena, conducted by president, Mrs. Roy Cook.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Lloyd Elliott who also read several letters of thanks from members.

The report of the treasurer, Miss Marguerite Beauvais showed a bank balance of $493.93.

As the result of the membership drive the membership of the society has greatly increased from 70 to 135, it was announced. All outstanding bills were ordered paid.

A vote of thanks was passed to Romeo Boulais, for designing the flower boxes, which are on the grounds of the county building and for the work which he did on the project.

This year the list of donors to the annual flower show, which will be held August 11, 12, 13, will not be on exhibition. All flower show entries must be in by 1 p.m. August 11. Mr. Reid of Hemmingford, who judged exhibits during the past years, will again officiate at the flower show.

A thank you was tendered D. Rhicard and Mrs. Grace Yeats of Stanbridge East for their work in planning the centennial program for the flower show book, which was printed at a cost of $114.75.

As the donation from Simpson-Sears, Montreal arrived too late to be included in the prize list it was decided to give it as a runner-up sweepstake prize in the class B arrangement.

The committees were appointed to be on duty during the three days of the exhibition. The next meeting of the society will be held at the high school on August 28, at 8 p.m.

The program for the evening will be a contest for floral arrangements and a quiz program. At the same time the prizes won at the flower show will be presented to the winners. The president gave an interesting resume of some of the centennial projects of the various horticultural societies in the province which included the Rotary Rose Day, inaugurated at the Rotary International Garden on June 26 at Expo.

Some societies organized the planting of the centennial tree and the centennial flower. In some districts window boxes contest were organized and requests were made to the municipal council to install urns of flowers.

This was done in Bedford and added much to the appearance of the town, because of the many beds and flower containers which the Bedford horticultural society planted in various sections of the town and at church doors.

This year several parks have been arranged through the town, one of which is on Church Street on the banks of the Pike River, and on River Street.

Preparations were made in 1966 by some societies to prepare their projects by the planting of thousands of red and white tulips, while other societies did the same with annuals of the same colors in the spring of 1967.

Following the business meeting, members spent the remainder of the evening in preparing for the exhibition.

THE QUEBEC SCENE

Construction lull for the Granby Hill WI group now in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Architects from all over the world who came here to build skyscrapers and pavilions at Expo 67 are feeling the pinch as construction slows down.

Many architects recruited from such countries as Egypt, India and Hong Kong during a decade of feverish construction have remained and are having a hard time finding work.

But they say the building lull in the city is temporary. The slowdown following a period of peak construction has been felt in many quarters.

"It is not an easy period," one architect said. "With tight money and high construction costs, building is being cut back and there is a tremendous shortage of work."

"There has been a serious drop in industrial building and the situation in residential construction is catastrophic. We are getting less than half the work we had a year ago."

During the decade that saw the construction of Expo and about a dozen large office buildings, including the Place Ville Marie and Place Victoria, there was often more work than the local architects, offices could handle.

Architects, engineers and draftsmen were recruited from other parts of Canada and from overseas.

Montreal architects say work cannot be provided for them all and many of them have been advised to go elsewhere.

But an architect whose office has handled some of the biggest assignments in recent years said many foreign architects were not going back to their native countries.

Some were going into interior design of free-lancing, but most saw their future in Canada.

Picnic area centennial project

GRANBY — (Special) — The members of the Granby Hill Women's Institute have felt for some time that there should be a true picnic area for the use of the public near the city of Granby, so when centennial projects were discussed the picnic area was first on the list.

A centennial committee was formed and a site obtained from public minded citizens on the Granby-West Shefford Highway about a mile from Granby. The work committee were authorized to buy materials and husbands sons and friends of members made picnic tables, cleared the site and erected a sign. These tables, garbage cans and sign are painted in Women's Institute colors of blue and gold and also bear the Women's Institute crest.

The Provincial Roads Department have been contacted and have promised to erect standard picnic area signs. The Women's Institute have made arrangements to have the garbage cans emptied, the site cleaned and the grass cut.

The members of the Granby Hill Women's Institute are watching with keen interest the use being made of the site and are prepared to add additional tables if necessary.

KNOWLTON — (Special) — England in Knowlton begins one hundred and twenty-five years have gone by now since Rev. Edward Cusack became the first resident Church of England clergyman in the Village of Coldbrook, which in 1851 was renamed Knowlton. History records that travelling missionaries had previously come to the village of Coldbrook and held occasional services in the schoolhouses in the area.

The history of the Church of England in Knowlton begins with the arrival of The Rev. Cusack who began regular services in the Ball School House which stood on the North side of the Old Road Hill, on October 2, 1842.

Plans were made for the building of a church and land for this purpose was given by Colonel Paul Holland Knowlton. The first church was erected on the same site as the St. Paul's. It was opened for worship by Right Rev. G. J.

Mountain on Sunday, August 27, 1843. The wardens at that time were Luke Morgan Knowlton and Thomas Farmer.

In 1892 it was decided to replace the former building with a new structure and in that year the second St. Paul's Church was erected on the same site as the former building. The building was dedicated by Right Rev. James Carmichael, Conductor Bishop of Montreal on the first day of December of that year. The rector was Rev. Percy Chambers. This edifice was destroyed by fire on January 18, 1941.

The present St. Paul's Church erected on the same site as the two former buildings was consecrated on the 18th day of October, 1941 by Right Rev. Albert Rollit, and the wardens were Lee A. Boyd and Dr. A. S. Douglass.

The present rector, is Canon T. E. R. Nurse with the wardens W. G. Blackwood and Wells Martin.

Marsh-Labrie marriage

BEEBE — A pretty summer wedding took place at 11 a.m., August 5, at St. Therese Church, when Pierrette Monique, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Labrie, Beebe, became the bride of Mr. Michael Carmi Marsh, of Newport, Vt., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmi Marsh, also of Newport. Rev. J. Melasco officiated at the double ring ceremony and the altar boys were Gerard and Claude Labrie, of East Angus, cousins of the bride.

Mrs. T. Lecours played the wedding music and accompanied the soloists, Mrs. George Brault and Mr. Conrad Haselton. Seasonal flowers decorated the church and the guest pews were marked with colored glass.

Off-beat styles highlight Paris collection

PARIS (Reuters) — Balenciaga brought new life to Paris' fashion shows today with sexy evening clothes exposing a bare midriff and side vents slashed open to the thighs.

The Spanish couturier's collection also highlighted such off-beat styles as sable pants and transparent organza gym bloomers for hostesses.

The basic new themes of his collection were pants and trouser fashions, cape treatments and a cutaway bird-tail line shown in suit jackets and the irregular hemlines of evening dresses.

The most opulent winter sports outfit on record came as a pair of long tight pants and matching great coat made of Russian sable skins. Another novel fur treatment was Balenciaga's evening coat in canary yellow mink.

MAKES BIG SPLASH Balenciaga made a big splash in winter sportswear with dozens of ski and chalet costumes featuring trousers made of plush teddy bear fabrics and imitation furs, paired with long tunics.

The new trousers were cut longer than the leg itself and are worn draped up around the ankles. He developed capes in a variety of ways, ranging from the nine-tenths length nurses capes that button down the front, to Victoria - inspired waistlength capes, and tiny shoulder capes made of everything from mink to stone-embroidered tulle or ostrich feathers shown with formal dresses.

The cutaway line was developed in suits with long fitted jackets shaped like a man's morning coat. The deep cut bird-tail back was often accented with a flare over a series of tiny fan pleats set into the side seams. Many of these new jackets were shown with culotte skirts or wide - legged funnel - shaped trousers that feature the same general length of skirts, which have dropped to just below the knee cap.

The bridesmaids were in charge of the guest book. Following the reception, many relatives and close friends assembled at the Labrie home, for a buffet lunch, served on the lawn, with family members and neighbors assisting.

Guests were from points in Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, as well as Quebec. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Marsh will take up residence in Derby Line, Vt.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH EDWARD CHARLEAU.

Charleau - Gautrey vows exchanged

A pretty summer wedding took place July 15 at 2.30 p.m. at St. George's Anglican Church, Lennoxville, when Shirley Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gautrey, Sherbrooke, became the bride of Mr. Kenneth Edward Charleau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Charleau, Coaticook. Rev. C. B. Brett-Perre officiated at the double-ring ceremony and the organist, Mrs. E. Pennington, played the traditional wedding music. The church was decorated with pink and white roses and white satin bows marked the guest pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white lace over taffeta with scalloped neckline and long sleeves ending in lily points over the hands. Her waist length veil, held in place by a rhinestone tiara, was bordered by lace matching the tiers at the back of her bouffant skirt. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Thelma Bailey, was in a yellow street-length dress of sheer nylon over taffeta with floating back panels falling from the shoulders. Her headdress was a white hat and she carried a bouquet of white and yellow carnations.

The Misses Betty and Joan Gautrey, sisters of the bride, bridesmaids, wore street-length aqua dresses, similar to that of the maid of honor. Their headdresses were bands of white lace with net and they carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Little Christine and Donna Rolfe, nieces of the groom, as flower girls, wore identical dresses of pink and blue organza trimmed with lace. Their table being centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, a gift of the groom's aunt, Mrs. William Sisco.

Later, the couple left on a wedding trip through the New England states, the bride travelling in a yellow chiffon dress over taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

Guests were from Calgary, Alta., Peterboro, Ont., and surrounding districts. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Charleau have taken up residence at 137 Queen Street, Apt. 5, Lennoxville.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at Connaught Inn, the bride's za trimmed with lace. Their headresses were matching bands and they carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Mr. Andrew Smith acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. Guy Charleau, brother of the groom, and Mr. Donald Galvin, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Gautrey, mother of the bride, chose a pale blue linen dress with matching coat, white accessories and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Charleau, mother of the groom, wore a blue floral dress with matching jacket and white accessories. Her corsage was also pink Sweetheart roses.

Immediatly following the ceremony a reception was held at Connaught Inn, the bride's

DEAR POLLY—I am the one who does all the little odd jobs around the house. I often bang my thumb or finger when using a hammer to set a nail. My husband suggestst my using a spring-type clothespin to hold the nail in place while I hammer it. This works beautifully, so no more bruised fingers.—DOROTHEA

DEAR POLLY—Like Cindy I, too, have small children and do not have much time to spend on my nails. When painting my nails in a hurry I let them dry to the touch, then hold them under cold water for a few seconds. This hardens the polish in a hurry. Blot, do not rub dry.—CAROL

DEAR POLLY—Tell the gal who does not have time to let her nail polish dry that I have six children and had the same problem until I started putting the polish on before going to bed. I find I can lay relaxed long enough for them to dry with no smears and I have pretty nails the next morning.—FRAN

DEAR POLLY—Old plastic tablecloths with flannel backing make good drawer liners. Cut to size they stay smoothly in place, are colorful and easily cleaned.—MRS. R. L. W.

DEAR POLLY—As soon as I have finished mopping my linoleum, I place several thicknesses of paper toweling in the mop and go over the floor again. This removes any streaks and hastens the drying time.—GRACE

Beauty Tips

Tan Gradually
A sun tan enhances beauty, but be sure you don't pay too big a price for it. Tan gradually, about 15 minutes the first day and increase exposure to longer periods thereafter. Use a screening agent and a good oil to lubricate skin constantly while tanning, to avoid painful sunburn. Wear sunglasses to protect your eyes and, if you feel the glasses will leave marks that mar your even tan, use soft cosmetic puffs to cover eyes while sunbathing. The puffs also are good for applying oils and lotions.

Conveners reports given at WI meet

The August meeting of Belvidere Women's Institute was held on Saturday the 5th, at the home of Mrs. G. Montgomery, Lennoxville. The president, Mrs. K. Smart, presided at a busy business session, as through unavoidable circumstances, no meeting was held in July.

Due to the absence of Mrs. C. Pitman, Mrs. W. R. Bell acted as secretary for the day. Correspondence included a thank you note from a friend remembered in hospital; an acknowledgment from Canadian Save the Children Fund for Christmas stockings received; a notice from the Lennoxville Park Commission of the Annual Chicken Tombola and Parade to be held on Saturday, September 9; and a letter from Glen

Brown, M.L.A. for Brome County accompanied by excerpts of the debates of the Department of Agriculture regarding the Women's Institutes of the Province of Quebec and "les Cercles de Fermieres."

Conveners reporting were: Agriculture, Miss Hazel McGee, reminded members of a donation to the School Fair and asked for helpers to work at the fair.

Citizenship, Mrs. C. Drummond, read on Royal Swans and a Centennial Bee.

Education, Mrs. G. Montgomery, read an article from the Macdonald College Journal, by Mark Waldron.

Welfare and health, Mrs. J. Tarte, stated that knitted socks were turned in and cotton for the Cancer Society.

Sunshine, Miss E. Beaton, reported a Sunshine basket, a plant and cards sent to friends.

Ways and Means, Mrs. A. E. McGee and Mrs. J. Tarte reported on a paper drive held, and thanked members who worked at the canteen at an auction sale held recently, which proved very successful.

Mrs. G. Montgomery gave a report from the Park Commission and discussion took place concerning the parade to be held in connection with the Tombola, in September.

An interesting report of the Annual W.I. convention held at Macdonald College in July was given by the official delegate, Mrs. K. Smart, who thanked the members for giving her an opportunity to attend. The new W.Q.I. Publicity Convener is Miss Viola Moravine, Box 263, Beebe, Que.

As this was Home Economics Day, Mrs. W. R. Bell, in the absence of Miss Edna Smith, conducted an Ice-Box Cookie Contest. Prizes were won by Mrs. Gladys Melver, Mrs. W. R. Bell, and Mrs. K. Smart. Mrs. Gordon Matheson acted as judge and was thanked by Mrs. Bell who presented her with a small gift.

Five articles were turned in on the work calendar and the monthly drawing was won by Miss Tammy Lamberton. It was decided to donate $10 to the School Fair. Helpers were chosen to work at the W.I. Handicraft Booth in the Sports Palace on Saturday, Aug. 26.

Members donated articles for a Sunshine Basket to be given a friend who has been in hospital.

Announcement was made of a Centennial Tea to be held by Milby W.I. in the club room, on Aug. 16, from 3 to 6.30 p.m. There will be a display of antiques.

Mrs. F. Tarte offered her cottage for a get-together for the W.I. members on September 13.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Gagnon in Huntingville.

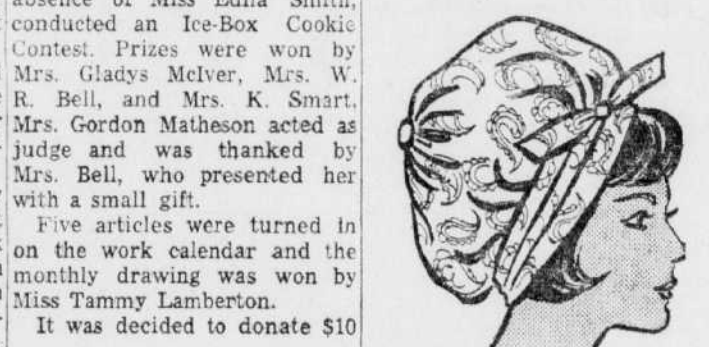

Cattle compared to wife's worth

AUCKLAND (C.P.)—A New Zealand judge has declared that a wife seems to be worth as much as two good bulls.

Studying case history to assess damages awarded to a successful petitioner in divorce, he found several awards of a wife's worth at $700. At the same time he came across a case in which good beef bulls were assessed at $350.

The judge evidently accepted the assessment, for after quoting his researches, he duly awarded damages in the case in question at $700.

Today's Pattern

Today's recipe

Fresh corn is without doubt one of nature's sweetest gifts to man. At least that's the way many people think. If you have any doubts, try the two following — corn-on-cob with seasoned butters and fresh corn pudding.

6 ears fresh corn-on-the-cob
1 teaspoon salt
Corn Butters
Husk fresh corn and remove silks. Place in large saucepan with water to cover. Add salt. Cook five to eight minutes, or until tender (time depends upon maturity of corn). Remove from water and serve with one of the following butters. Soften butter and blend in any of the following ingredients. Serve with baked ham.

CORN BUTTERS
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh parsley
2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh chives
1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh onion
1/2 teaspoon ground oregano
1/2 teaspoon minced fresh garlic
Six servings (one ear per serving)

COUNTRY CORN PUDDING
2 cups fresh corn, cut-off-the-cob
1/2 cup cottage cheese
3 tablespoons chopped fresh green pepper
3 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 1/2 cups light cream
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
In large bowl combine corn, cottage cheese and green pepper. Add beaten eggs, salt, pepper, sugar and ginger. Stir in melted butter, cream and bread crumbs. Pour into buttered 1 1/2 quart casserole. Place in pan of hot water and bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for about one hour or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve immediately. Six to eight servings. (NEA)

Jungle version of Tokyo Rose exhorts Bolivians to surrender

CAMIRI (AP)—A woman guerrilla named Tania has brought psychological warfare to Bolivia's Marxist rebel front in the mountains.

A jungle version of the Second World War's Tokyo Rose, she uses a bullhorn during combat to exhort Bolivian troops to lay down their arms.

"Surrender, little soldier. You're surrounded," she will cry unseen in the dark green foliage of the mountainside.

Or the message ringing down a ravine amid gunfire might be: "The fight is not with you, little soldier, but with the imperialists. Surrender."

"It is startling and really shakes you the first time you hear her," said a medic who has been involved in two clashes between the army and the guerrillas.

"We've learned to start taking cover when we see her footprints," said the medic. "They usually mean ambush."

Tania is well known to many people in this oil town of 22,000 in southeast Bolivia, about 360 miles from La Paz, the capital. Her full name is believed to be Tania Gutierrez Baurer.

She was a frequent visitor in February, a month before the fighting began, and because of a weakness for pasta became a regular at the Maestria restaurant, run by Italian Federico Foriori. He says she is about 20 with a deep voice and authoritative mien.

"She used to come in with four men and order food for all of them," Foriori says. "The men were silent most of the time. Her authority never seemed disputed."

It was not known then, but at the time the guerrillas already had established a clandestine base 40 miles north of Camiri.

She is believed to have come on shopping or intelligence missions.

The fact the guerrillas brought Tania along for psychological warfare purposes is another indication to Bolivian military authorities here that the rebel band is largely an import from Cuba.

Emphasis will be on the arts

The emphasis will be on the arts in the coming week, when lectures, films and concerts play a major part in the Expo 67 program. RE-ENACT FAMOUS CALL — The world's first long-distance telephone call, made by Alexander Melville Bell to his son, Alexander Graham Bell in August, 1876, was re-enacted in Brantford, Ont., Thursday. Using the original equipment, Willard Stewart (left), playing the part of Bell Senior, placed a call from Brantford to Bud Fisher, playing the inventor of the telephone, eight miles away in Paris, Ont. The event was organized by the Telephone Pioneers of America. (CP Wirephoto)

New letters at start to cut later dropout

MONTREAL (CP)—The principal of McGill University has suggested that a new 44-character alphabet, which educationists meeting here have praised may reduce "dropouts," notably at university level.

Dr. H. Recke Robertson was addressing 285 delegates from all parts of the English-speaking world meeting this week for a conference on the Initial Teaching Alphabet, first introduced in England in 1961.

Dr. Robertson said research on failures among first-year students at McGill had indicated in some a lack of interest and that "obviously something has dampened the student's desire to learn."

"Anything that would increase the love of reading and writing would be of great aid in the educational process," he said.

Dr. J. R. Block of Hofstra University, Hempstead, N.Y., said the initial teaching alphabet, which makes use of 44 alphabetical symbols instead of the traditional 26 in the English language, was not designed to replace the standard alphabet.

Students taught with ITA for a year or two were then easily introduced to the standard alphabet.

NEED MORE PATTERNS

An information pamphlet released in conjunction with the conference says that each of the 44 characters "has its own special relationship to the approximately 40 sounds which make up the English language. In contrast, it takes more than 2,000 patterns of our present 26 letters to do the same job."

Dr. Block said 2,205 schools are using ITA in England as compared to 20 in the first year. The system was introduced to the U.S. in 1963 and schools in Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver began experimenting in 1964.

The information statement indicates that after three years ITA-taught children in Great Britain showed an average reading gain of six months over their traditionally-taught counterparts.

Permit drive-ins

QUEBEC (CP)—The legislative assembly Wednesday adopted a bill which would allow the construction of drive-in theatres in the province, with an amendment that gives the cabinet the power to decide the rules of operation.

The amendment states that operators of drive-in theatres will have to conform to the rules of operation set down by the cabinet—including the type of program which may be shown in a given region — if they wish their operating permits to be renewed annually.

They were ready to cooperate with members of the clergy and wanted to pay back the damage said their lawyer Laurent Dubé.

Sentence was remanded until August 31.

Geochemist appointed

United Explorations and Mining Corporation has appointed Guy Lapointe, geochemist, to supervise a geochemical program on the firm's property in the Townships of Lesseps and Lemieux, in the Gaspé National Park.

Wilfrid C. Olivier, president of the company, said that he expected results from Dr. Lapointe's survey within two weeks.

The geochemical survey complements an airborne magnetometer survey that has been completed on the property.

A big game hunter zeroes in on Expo

MONTREAL (CP)—Big game hunter Tom Lithgow came to Expo 67 Thursday to tell the people about his homeland of Tanzania and quickly zeroed in on what he called one of the great truths about the fair.

"Over 90 per cent of the people don't want to see the exhibits or find out much about the countries involved they just want their Expo passports stamped," he said.

He said he came to this conclusion after standing in Tanzania's section of Africa Place and trying to tell visitors about the country.

"I have color slides and a color movie about Tanzania I had planned to show but when I saw how the crowds rush the passport-stamping desk, trampling anyone in the way in the rush, I wised up and stuck to talking about it."

A member of the 120-member East African Professional Hunters Association, he was brought to Minneapolis, Minn., by an airline company promoting tours of Africa. Afterwards he visited an uncle in Toronto and came to Expo where he will tell visitors about Tanzania "for a few days."

"I've just finished a safari with astronaut John Glenn and my next, Sept. 2, will be with Roy Rogers, the Hollywood cowboy."

"It costs $150 a day to go on safari and they generally last about three weeks. There is one hunter for every two clients and the usual number on a safari is two clients although you do get three or four sometimes."

"Things have changed in recent years and now s days nearly everyone shoots with camera instead of rifle."

"On the John Glenn safari we got a first-class and very rare film sequence of an elephant charging straight at the camera."

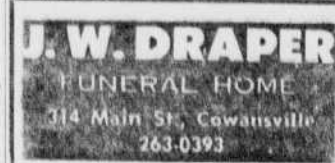

An Englishman, Lithgow has been in Tanzania for 20 years. "I started out as a reporter on aviation, military affairs and safaris for the East Africa Standard."

Jean-Marc Gagnon hurls no-hitter as Senators blank Red Sox, Tigers win

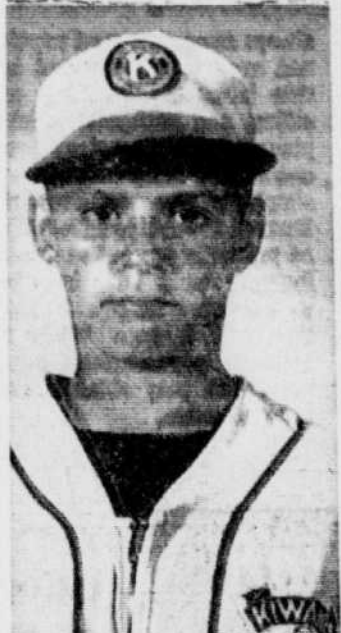

It's something you dream about whether you are a pitcher or a fan. Jean-Marc Gagnon, a no-hitter no-run game.

It happened to young Jean-Marc Gagnon, diminutive pitcher of the Senators, when he shutout the Red Sox 3-0 in the second game of the best two-out-of-three series in the league semifinals.

The Senators had taken the first of the two games Monday evening 7-3. They now wait the winners of the Tigers-White Sox series which is tied at one game each. Tigers showing a reversal of form won last night's game 9-1 over White Sox. The Tigers lost 5-2 Monday and the deciding game will be played this evening at 6 p.m. at the Parade Grounds.

Gagnon, in his win, issued only two walks and a tight infield gave him all the support he needed to accomplish his feat. Two errors in the bottom of the first inning got the Senators away to a 2-0 lead with hits from Gagnon and Jutras. A base on balls and a sacrifice fly gave the Senators their third run in the last of the second inning.

The Red Sox batters were having trouble with Gagnon's pitching and anything they did hit were easy infield outs. Releas Roberge, pitching for the Red Sox, after the first two innings held the Senators to two hits in the remaining innings. Provencher and V. Halle were the hitters for Senators in the fourth. Gagnon was the big man all the way in this one. Tigers coming back with a vengeance romped to a 9-1 win over White Sox. R. Roy pitched for the Tigers gave up seven hits but kept the White Sox off the score sheet until the fourth inning when they got their lone run.

JEAN-MARC GAGNON

Dewey Raban, Tigers' catcher, who had been hitting everything that came his way lately was at it again last night as he got three hits for four times at bat.

Tigers at the end of two full innings had a 4-0 lead. Pariseau had two hits in two innings. Tigers made it 7-0 in the third with hits from Ducharme, Bell and G. Roy doing the damage. White Sox errors, which were three in the three innings did not help their cause.

The White Sox single run in the fourth was on an error and a single by Letourneau. Tigers finished off the scoring with two runs in the top of the sixth. Tigers were up for this one and were in their usual form. Raban was a big man in their win along with pitcher Roy. The teams will play the deciding tonight with the winner meeting Senators in the finals commencing Monday night.

Europe wins meet over Americas by slim five points

MONTREAL (CP)—There won't be a re-match until 1969, so track and field coaches on both sides of the Atlantic will have ample time to sit back and take a long hard look at their athletes.

The inaugural Europe vs. Americas track and field match by a two-night total of 169 points to 155, with the next of the biennial series scheduled for Europe two years hence.

The Americas team had entered Thursday night's final stage with a slim 79-74 point edge, only to see the final figures give the opposition a 109-100 advantage in men's events, and a 60-55 margin in the women's.

Unfortunately the match was plagued by poor weather, a dampness prevailed the first night and cool temperatures and wind gusts of 20 miles an hour kept the athletes from top performance on the second.

Points for the events were on a 5-3-2-1 system with the exception of relay races, which were awarded as five points for first and two for the last-place finishers.

European athletes placed first in nine of the events Thursday night while the Americas came home in front six times. The latter also won the men's 1,600-metre relay for an additional five points.

However, track officials after the match was completed, pointed to the fact the Europeans had finished one-two in six of Thursday night's contests, while the Americas team had managed the feat only once.

COACH NOT SURPRISED Robert Robin, coach of France's team with the European squad, said he was not surprised by his side's success. "Europe has more coaches and desire," Robin said. "They have the potential and they have forgotten about wars and poverty."

Herve D'Encausse of France, the pole vault winner, was named the men's outstanding athlete and the outstanding male track man was Vince Matthews of the U.S., who ran in the 1,600-metre relay Thursday night and was within one-tenth of a second of the world record in winning the men's 400 metres Wednesday.

Named the outstanding woman athlete and the outstanding female field performer was Margitta Gummel of East Germany, winner of the women's shot put.

The outstanding woman runner was Madeleine Manning of the United States, winner of the women's 800 metres.

As in the opening night competition, the U.S. team got off to a fast start.

Ron Whitney won the first event, the 400-metre hurdles, in 50.1 first event and John Carlos beat favored Roger Bambuck of France in the 200 metres.

WON EARLIER EVENT

Bambuck had taken the 100-metre dash in 10.2 opening night with three yards behind himself and Willie Turner of the U.S.

"He (Bambuck) didn't impress me Wednesday," Carlos said after his win. "We ran against that wind tonight and this was in my favor because I figure I'm stronger."

The Americas continued their early mastery of the track when Cherrie Sherrard and Mamie Rollins of the U.S. gave their side its only one-two finish in the night in the women's 80-metre hurdles, finishing in 10.9 and 11 seconds respectively.

Madeline Manning of the U.S. won by inches over Vera Nikolic of Yugoslavia in the women's 800 metres. Both were timed at 2:02.6.

Olympics rip Cougars 15-4, Terry Burgess wins goaling crown, playoffs Sunday

Sherbrooke Olympics ended he edged out Drummondville's Jean-Paul Tellier for the League goalkeeping title. Burgess finished the season with a remarkable 6.01 average, a fraction better than Tellier who was the leader until Sherbrooke's final two games when Burgess allowed only five past him.

The fans also applauded Denis Dagenais who chalked up five points as one of the offensive stars of the game. Andre Despard finished his superb season second in the individual scoring race behind Dagenais as he counted for nine points in the course of the contest.

The Olympics didn't waste any time in climbing into the helm.

Robert Nauman stops Als as Royals win; Thetford Miners blast Granby

Bob Nauman pitched a sensational game last night, walking only two men while striking out ten, to lead the Drummondville Royals over Sherbrooke Alouettes 1-0 in a game at Drummondville. But if the Alouettes ever threw away a game it was this one.

Russ Ayoub, who usually occupies right field, started the game on the mound for Sherbrooke, gave up a double to the first Drummondville hitter, Jim Ridley, walked Chuck Hughes, Michel Sawyer and George Gmelch to allow the only run of the game and gave up the hill to Simon Perez who held the Royals scoreless for the remainder of the match.

Other hits for Drummondville went to Claude St. Vincent and Bob Nauman. Sherbrooke held hitless until the sixth inning when Willie Madison connected with his only hit of the game. Russ Ayoub and catcher Gerry Lamoureux counted the other two Alouettes hits.

Charles Middlebrooks gave up only two hits as the Plessisville Braves maintained their hold on first place by stopping the Cougars 4-1. The Braves capitalized on five Canadian errors to romp to their win.

Lozer Pedro Sierra also turned in a fine performance on the mound as he allowed six hits and struck out ten.

Billy Bates limited the second-place Granby Cardinals to a mere two singles as he led the Thetford Miners to their 13-0 humiliation over the Cardinals.

The Miners came through with 19 hits as Charles Robinson starred with three doubles and a pair of singles. Big John McKee kept up his fine hitting streak with two singles.

In the only other game on tap, the Quebec Indians eked out a difficult 2-1 win over the Mets of Lachine. The win puts them a game and a half behind third-place Lachine and a half game ahead of Thetford.

Williams best showing of the preseason games was against the Argos when he completed four of seven passes for 152 yards and showed a surprising agility by scrambling for 134 yards.

Major Ed Warner, Bisley vet, wins King Trophy in DCRA Meet

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP)—Maj. Edson Warner of Lennoxville, Que., won the King Trophy in the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet shooting in a drizzling rain driven by a 25-mile an hour wind Thursday on the Connaught Ranges.

"I could say I was lucky, but I've been at this too long," said the veteran of three Canadian Bisley teams.

Maj. Warner, who won the coveted Queen's prize at Bisley, England in 1953, scored 85 out of a possible 105 in the Cornwallis, Magetown, and Uplands matches comprising the aggregate.

After finishing firing on the ranges near this community 20 miles west of Ottawa, Maj. Warner said he had been fortunate in making "no serious errors in judgment" despite "tough" weather. Runners up in the King match were Sgt. Jacques Dugas of the Royal 22nd Regiment, Valcartier, Que., Cpl. R. E. Wesley, and Cpl. L. B. Rhodenier both members of No. 1 Canadian Air Division in Europe. All three shot 945.

SHOT PERFECTLY Maj. Warner shot a perfect 35 in the Uplands match and perfect 40 in the Standing match at 100 yards.

In a special Centennial Year match called the Expo 67 aggregate Clint Dahlstrom of Calgary shot 164 out of a possible 175 to win.

Earlier this week Dahlstrom won the Canadian sporting rifle championship beating Maj. Warner by five points.

The Expo match was fired in prone, standing and kneeling position from 100, 200, 300, and 500 yards. Alain Marion of Hull, Que., placed second with 160 and M. W. Tompkins of Long Beach, Calif., third with 155.

For Tompkins it was his first taste of the Canadian competition. 303 calibre Lee Enfield rifle converted to use the 7.62 mm. NATO ammunition. About the half-way point he said he had no complaints with either weapon or ammunition.

TO SETTLE WINNERS Shoot-offs were needed to settle the winners of Sherwood, 1st Battalion Canadian Guards won the rapid shoot-off with 48 out of 50 at 200 yards, defeating Cpl. J. W. Matthews of the 1st Princess Patricia's Light Infantry, Edmonton.

In the Bytown, Capt. Cliff James of Burlington, Ont., a member of the 1967 Bisley team shot 32 out of 35 at 600 yards to

Ayer's Cliff and Magog clash in crucial tilt, first place at stake

Ayer's Cliff Lakers of the Mississippi Baseball League play one of their most crucial games this season on Saturday when they host Magog in a tilt that will determine whether they settle unchallenged into first place or whether they must tackle the second-place Sherbrooke Indians in a sudden-death pennant clash.

The Lakers at present head the league with a record of 12 wins and five losses, half a game ahead of Sherbrooke with a 12-6 record. A win on Saturday will give them the pennant trophy while a loss throws them against the Indians on Sunday in Magog.

Should the Cliff drop Magog, the semi-finals will start Sunday with the Lakers meeting Ascot in Ayer's Cliff in a best of five series. Sherbrooke and Magog will square off Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. in Sangster Park.

Wayne Hall is expected to be on the hill for the Lakers on Saturday against Magog. Nuge starts Sunday afternoon against either Ascot or Sherbrooke.

Paint seals, swelling cause sticky windows

Windows are to look through and to control ventilation. When everything works well, the window is seldom noticed.

But now and then it doesn't work well. It sticks or it rattles and makes itself noticed.

A window may stick due to hardened paint or varnish or to swelling.

A paint seal should be broken gently with a chisel, so as not to mar the wood. With the paint carefully scraped away you should sand the spot smooth and then coat it with paraffin or wax.

Often it is easier to spot where the excess paint is with the window open. Start the window by pounding the sash edges with your fist.

If sterner measures are required, use a hammer and a block of wood with the block between hammer and sash to absorb the blow.

Try pounding the sash sideways as well, since the sash is narrower than the frame and can be moved slightly from side to side.

Paint may work its way between the sash edge and the inner surface of the groove against which it travels. The only way to remove it is to remove the sash and work on it.

You will have to remove the molding that is really the front edge of the groove. Work carefully to prevent damage. Sometimes you can get at the paint without removing the sash. Use a razor blade or a thin blade knife to scrape it out.

If this doesn't work, undo the sash cord and pull out the window.

With the paint removed, rub in paraffin on the raw wood to prevent moisture from soaking in.

Sticking can also be due to swelling. This generally happens in wet weather. Sanding and waxing either the sash or the stop will cure the condition. In extreme cases you may have to plane away some wood.

If the sticking is not too severe, wait until dry weather when the window works easily and then rub in paraffin along the grooves.

Windows that rattle can be tightened by removing the molding that forms the stop and nailing it closer to the sash.

If the top and bottom sash are rattling against each other and air is entering, reset the window lock so that the parts fit more tightly.

Many of the more unusual and useful perennials are in bloom at the moment. It is a good plan to make note of the ones you admire and plan on adding them to your garden this fall and next spring.

Some garden centres or nurseries also carry them in containers and these can be planted any time.

One of distinctive and eye-catching perennials for the back of the flower border is the Yucca with its picturesquely common names of Candle of Our Lord and Adam's Needle.

Some varieties of Yucca have been cultivated for centuries and come to our gardens from the south western United States, Mexico and some of the islands of the West Indies.

In the warmer climates some of the Yuccas grow 25 to 30 feet high, but in this part of the world the average height is anywhere from four to six feet. Here we have a stately perennial with stiff, sword-like leaves produced in clusters just above the ground level. You'll like the way the foliage stays evergreen throughout the year.

Yuccas give bold sub-tropical effects at the back of the flower border. They grow well in a variety of well drained soils but grow best in sandy soils on the dry side. They must have a sunny location in the garden.

Flowering at their best right now are the Lythiums of loose strifes as they are often called. This perennial is hardy, does best when planted in full sun but also grows quite well in partial shade.

It is not a bit choosy about soil and has no trouble making a home for itself from sandy soils to partially wet locations. It requires almost no care after planting and is seldom attacked by insects or diseases. Bloom is continuous from late June until some time in September.

After it is through blooming the seeds have a most attractive color and in the fall the foliage turns a striking reddish purple. Plants are bushy and grow as much as three feet high under good soil conditions. Morden gleam is the nearest red of any lythrum with its color, a brilliant gleaming carmine. Morden pink will bear dozens of spikes covered with deep and glowing rose pink blooms. Many of the clumps will be three feet or more in diameter.

One of the least planted of all the worthwhile mid-summer perennials is the Veronica. This was a favorite of the Victorian era but has since fallen from favor.

Blue spire is a striking violet blue with silvery foliage. It grows two feet high and each spike is literally covered with tiny blue flowers which open from the base towards the top in the same way as gladiolus or delphinium.

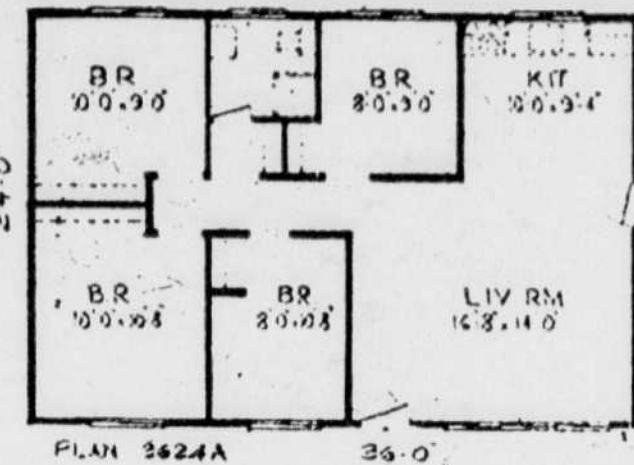

Minuet grows in the same manner as blue spire but it produces dense pure pink spikes growing to the same height. Both of these distinctive varieties are erect, compact and ideal for flower arrangements that are a little different.

Plant them in clumps of three or more in a sunny location about two feet in from the front of the mixed border or in a large pocket in the rock garden. Veronics are able to withstand hot dry weather with ease and so are excellent for planting at the summer cottage.

Halliday Homes' "CUSTOM" ...

always among the most popular pre-fabricated summer homes, and even more respected by builders who often winterize this handsome building with vertical "between window" siding, and horizontal clapboards. Because of the ease of planning, the floorplans found in this style house make it one of the most common erected today, and of course its simplicity also accounts for lower building costs. In the Eastern Townships especially, houses such as this, which can be primarily erected as summer homes, then winterized later for year round living have become most popular. Plans such as presented in this Halliday number are typical of this wonderful feature. While the Halliday homes shown are basically pre-assembled structures, those wishing separate blueprints may obtain them from the district Halliday representative:
