DIEPPE RAID PRELIMINARY TO REAL INVASION

Churchill Says Results Justify Cost Of Action

Prime Minister Tells House of Commons that Attack on Dieppe Was Preliminary Move for Invasion Rather Than Essentially Commando Raid—Predicts Little Danger to British Forces on Desert Front.

London, Sept. 8.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that the storming of Hitler's Europe at Dieppe was the "indispensable preliminary" to bigger undertakings and that Britain's army in Egypt "now is stronger actually and relatively than it ever has been."

Britain, he reported in a war summary to the reconvened Parliament, "may be confident in our ability to maintain a successful defence of Egypt not for days or weeks but for several months ahead."

Speaking of Dieppe, Mr. Churchill said "Military credit for this most gallant affair goes to the Canadian troops who formed five-sixths of the assaulting force, and to the Royal Navy, which carried them all there and carried most of them back."

Mention of the Canadians was greeted with cheers. The Prime Minister added it was a mistake to speak of Dieppe as a Commando raid though some Commando troops distinguished themselves remarkably in it.

"The raid must be considered as a reconnaissance in force," Mr. Churchill continued. "It was a hard, savage clash such as I have become increasingly numerous as the war deepens. We had to get information necessary before launching operations on a much larger scale."

He said that apart from its informational and reconnaissance value, the Dieppe raid "brought on an extremely satisfactory air battle in the West, which the Fighter Command wish they could repeat every week."

"It inflicted perhaps as much loss on the enemy in killed and wounded as we suffered ourselves," he continued. "I personally regard the Dieppe assault—to which I gave my sanction—as an indispensable preliminary to full-scale operations."

"I do not intend to give any information about the operation and I have only said as much as I have because the enemy can see by daily reconnaissance of our ports many signs of movement that we are unable to conceal from his photography."

Declaring that "the tendencies of war have continued to move in our favor" since he last addressed the House, Mr. Churchill declared that in the period from June to the first week of September "we have dropped a double bomb-load on Germany compared with the same period last year."

DECISIONS COMPLETE ON SECOND FRONT

WAR CREATING ACUTE DEARTH OF MINISTERS

Large Number Enlisting in Armed Forces as Chaplains or Combatants Has Created Serious Problem for Church.

Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 8.—(P)—The large number of clergy who have entered the armed forces, whether as chaplains or as combatants, has created a shortage of clergy which is serious, said Dr. Leonard Dixon of Toronto, General Secretary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, in his annual report to the General Synod conference here.

Speaking last night, Dr. Dixon said the shortage of clergy is particularly serious in the missionary diocese. He said the war had far-reaching effects on the work of the Anglican Church in India, Japan, China and in Canada. He also spoke of the need for assisting missionary societies in Britain and Europe. They were prevented from lending support to their missionaries abroad.

Rev. H. G. Watts of Toronto, Field Secretary, told of the need for workers among the non-Anglo-Saxon Continued on page 2, column 4.

Activities Of Federal Newsprint Controller Are Menace To Vital Quebec Industry, Says Duplessis (Record Staff Writer) as lumber and colonization were brought up, but the former Premier, making his first appearance in this section of the province since his recent critical illness, was in fine fettle and found little difficulty in satisfying the desires of his questioners for information.

Mr. Duplessis was strongly critical of the efforts in certain quarters to form a third party in the provincial political field, claiming that it was nothing but a new face for a section of the old Liberal party, that it had the same viewpoint on life and politics as the present administration and that the chief row between the two elements was the division of the spoils rather than any desire to give the province a real administration. He warned the people that little good would come of the new party, declaring that the accomplices of the traitors of 1939 were no less guilty for what happened than were the traitors themselves. Clarifying his warning, he explained that there are those who break into a building to rob it and those who stand at the door to watch for the police. Both groups were equally guilty, and in 1939 those who had called themselves Liberals and those who had called themselves Independents, and worked together for the downfall of the Union Nationale party of that time were equally responsible for the conditions which existed today. Together they had forged a scaffold upon which the people of the province were being mounted.

Both Mr. Duplessis and Col. Johnny Bourque, M.L.A. for Sherbrooke, found reason to mention the presence of Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Continued on Page 2, Col. 5.

RESTING PILOT FINDS TASK IS RATHER HEAVY

Pilots, Withdrawn from Front Line Service After Completing Allotted Tasks, Used as Instructors.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—(P)—Pilots of the Royal Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force who finish their long quota of successful bombings over Germany become "resting pilots," R.C.A.F. headquarters said here today, but the process is far from restful.

After completing a number of operational sorties, the pilots are sent to various schools in Britain and in Canada, where they run a "taxi-service" for airmen training as pilots, bomb aimers, navigators, wireless operators and air gunners.

Flying from dawn to dusk, many "resting pilots" find themselves spending more time in the air than they did on operations. During the long summer days in Britain such men may be up and down a dozen times or more in the course of a single day. R.C.A.F. headquarters said. White House Announces Preparations Made At London July Gathering

Statement Issued Following Speech by President Roosevelt Declares that "Necessary Decisions Regarding Military Operations" Were Made at Conference Between British and United States Officials.

SEVEN ARMENIANS KILLED IN NEWFOUNDLAND PLANE CRASH

Halifax, Sept. 8.—(P)—The death of seven Armenians in the crash of a Royal Canadian Air Force plane in Newfoundland was disclosed during the weekend when relatives at nearby Chester were notified of the death of one of the men.

News of the death of Ft. Lt. Albert R. Schlacks, formerly of Detroit, and six other members of the plane's crew came to Mrs. Schlacks and their six children. No details of the accident were given. Ft. Lt. Schlacks was stationed at nearby Eastern Passage until a few weeks ago.

Washington, Sept. 8.—(P)—The White House announced today, after President Roosevelt had made it plain that preparations were underway for opening a second front in Europe, that the "necessary decisions regarding military operations" were made at a London conference between British and American officials in July.

The conferences, held with Prime Minister Churchill and the British chiefs of staff, lasted ten days and covered the whole conduct of the war.

The United States Government was represented by Harry L. Hopkins as President Roosevelt's personal representative, Gen. George C. Marshall, Army Chief of Staff, and Admiral Ernest J. King, Chief of Naval Operations.

Stephen Early, Presidential Secretary, was in London at the same time conferring with Brendan Bracken, Britain's Minister of Public Information.

The decisions on military operations were, of course, not revealed, although Mr. Roosevelt in his radio " Fireside Chat " last night pointed out there are at least a dozen different places at which attacks could be launched.

There was a probability that the meetings, described by the White House as important, were related directly to the recent conferences in Moscow between Mr. Churchill, Premier Joseph Stalin and W. Averell Harriman, American lend-lease agent in England.

The announcement follows: "An announcement was made at the White House today (Tuesday, September 8, 1942) of a conference held in London in July, between British and American officials."

"The representatives of the United States Government were Harry L. Hopkins, personal representative of the President, Gen. George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff of the Army, and Admiral Ernest J. King, Chief of Naval Operations. The American Chiefs of Staff and Mr. Hopkins held important meetings covering a period of ten days with the British Chiefs of Staff and the British Prime Minister. At these conferences the whole conduct of the war was canvassed, and, with the approval of the President, the necessary decisions regarding military operations were made."

"Stephen Early, Secretary to the President, was in London at the same time for conferences with Brendan Bracken, British Minister Continued on page 2, Col. 8.

GRIM STORY OF MALTA CONVOY IS RECOUNTED

Royal Navy Commander Gives Vivid Description of Experiences in Breaking Through to Malta.

(The following story of an Allied convoy's fight to get through to Malta was told in the BBC magazine, The Listener, by Cmdr. Anthony Kimmings of the Royal Navy.)

London, Sept. 8.—The object of the operation was clear-cut and straightforward—the relief of Malta, the only base from which really effective steps can be taken to destroy Rommel's supplies from Italy.

The navy had a personal interest, however. Malta, over a long period of years, has become the navy's second home. It was a foregone conclusion that the enemy would throw in all his forces and attack our ships with every available bomber, torpedo aircraft, U-boat and surface warship.

During the Sunday forenoon when we entered the Mediterranean, Divine Service was held—a simple service, asking for help and guidance during the next few days. That night we slipped through the Straits of Gibraltar.

First went the leading ships of the destroyer screen, then the convoy with its escort of cruisers and destroyers, closely guarded by battleships, and immediately astern, the aircraft-carriers. By the first light we were well to the Eastward of Gib. There was nothing that Monday and on the following forenoon, the Eagle was a salvo of torpedoes.

But suddenly the peace was shattered. A great brown column of water rose from the side of the Eagle to about three times the height of her topmast. Almost immediately there was another column, then a third—a salvo of torpedoes. Eagle was an old ship and the torpedoes were too much for her. She listed rapidly with aircraft slipping off her flying deck into the sea. Soon—almost before one could believe it was true—she had gone.

Everyone was subdued until later in the afternoon we received a report on enemy aircraft approaching. The carriers turned into the wind and Fleet Air Arm fighters got off. From then on they were at it continually, but mostly out of sight. The known results were thirty-nine Continued on page 2, column 4.

URGES REVISED TARIFF POLICY FOR DOMINION

Unofficial Conservative Convention Suggests that Atlantic Charter Be Basis for New Tariff Policy.

By FRANK FLAHERTY, Canadian Press Staff Writer
Port Hope, Ont., Sept. 8.—(P)—Adjustment of Canadian tariff policies in accordance with the aims of the Atlantic Charter and a hoped-for regime of international co-operation is favored as a Conservative policy by the group of 150 unofficial Conservatives who met in Trinity College here during the week-end.

Members of Canada's traditional high tariff party they made no specific declaration on Canadian post-war tariff rates.

The peace for which we fight must produce a world in which the benefits of specialized production are not destroyed by barriers to trade," said the formal report of the group which was adopted unanimously, not as a platform but as a "statement of aims and beliefs."

The conference's report will be sent to Conservative leaders and Members in Federal and Provincial Parliaments and its framers hope it will influence the official policy of the party when and if that comes up at a National Convention.

On labor relations, the conference broke its new ground for a collective Conservative viewpoint on Labor Day. That ground was the endorsement of collective bargaining to be enforced by penalties on employers who refused to bargain with associations of their employees.

On war, the prosecution of which was declared to be the sole immediate concern of Canada, the gathering declared for immediate conscription for service anywhere in the world.

On agricultural problems it urged co-operation, land conservation and creation of a central farm bank to deal with the problem of credits for farmers.

On post-war rehabilitation it called for governmental measures to make sure that every man able and willing to work has employment at rates of pay which will enable him to maintain a family.

It stated the provision of opportunities for work to be a fundamental objective of the state and called for expanded programmes of public works during times of trade depression.

Russian Rejection Of Japanese Suggestions May Bring Invasion

By The Canadian Press
Reports circulating in Chungking, China's wartime capital, said today that Russia had rejected "suggestions" made by Japan in the last few days and that a break into open conflict between the two nations was expected at any moment.

These reports, unconfirmed elsewhere but closely attuned to recent indications of Japanese preparations to attack Soviet Siberia, said Japanese Ambassador Nootake Sato had presented the "suggestions" to the Kremlin since the Tokyo Cabinet shakeup last week.

The "suggestions" involved Japanese demands on Russia's Pacific maritime provinces, particularly the key port of Vladivostok only 650 miles by bomber across the Sea of Japan from Tokyo.

Military analysts pointed out that such demands might serve as a pretext for a Japanese invasion of Siberia, seeking to guard Japan's Northern flank for an ultimate major operation against Alaska or the Pacific Coast of North America.

Upwards of 500,000 Japanese troops, including many thousands withdrawn from the East China war theatre, have been reported massing recently along the Siberia frontier in Manchukuo.

Meanwhile, the Mikado's far-flung invasion armies sought desperately to reinforce their battered forces in the Southeast Solomon island and launched a new thrust toward the important United Nations outpost at Port Moresby, New Guinea.

Brome, Sept. 8.—All attendance records were shattered yesterday as thousands stormed the grounds of the Brome County Agricultural Society for the Labor Day opening of the annual Brome Fair. The gates were jammed yesterday morning, and streets for a half-mile away from the grounds were blocked most of the morning as holiday-makers, many of them from the United States, made their way to the Fair.

The grandstand, holding 2,200 people, was filled to overflowing both afternoon and evening, and extra benches were placed on the grass beside and in front of the stands. It was necessary to stop selling tickets in order to allow the programme to be run off smoothly.

With Albert Blier, of Waterville, as Master of Ceremonies, a brand new grandstand programme was loudly applauded by the huge crowd. Most popular acts being a six-piece string band, a dance team, trained animals and a musical clown. The Farnham Military Band provided stirring music throughout the day, and will be at the Fair today and tomorrow.

accept his recommendation for rate increases which would limit individual incomes to $25,000 a year. They speeded consideration of the new revenue measure in an attempt to bring it before the Senate by September 21.

In his message to Congress, the President said he is prepared to act in an executive capacity to stabilize wages, but insisted that farm prices must also be controlled. He contended the present law would permit the average of all farm commodities to rise to 116 per cent of parity.

It seemed certain in view of the President's outline of his programme in his message and radio talk, that no specific wage controls would be proposed in the legislation. Some farm state Senators were critical of the attitude the President took on agricultural prices, but others said that if some guarantee were given for farm income, it might be possible to lower present ceilings. This might be done, it was suggested, by passage of legislation already approved by the Senate, to provide 100 per cent parity loans on major crops.

landing—the trickiest part of aviation—makes the job a hard one. Most of the men report they would much rather be back on operations, but all are aware of the necessity of the task. Their chief reward comes in the form of frequent thanks from the men they train, for they find "It is sure good to know we are doing a real job."

Grim Story Of

Continued from page 1. enemy aircraft shot down and the raggedness of the enemy formations which did get through made it clear that those gallant young naval pilots were doing for us. The barrage put up by our ships was one of the most staggering things I have ever seen.

My last impression of that day was a JUB8 making an attack astern. He found himself committed to making a getaway over the fleet. Tracers screamed from all directions. We soon steamed past a burning patch in the water where he had crashed. The terrific gunfire subsided at nightfall. There had been no damage to any of our ships. That was Tuesday.

Next morning, our Fleet Air Arm fighters were off again at the crack of dawn and throughout the day they were almost continuously in the air, formation after formation of enemy came into attack.

Through the colossal din, the great mushroom clouds of bombs dropped, the blinding flashes of our guns, I am left with one main impression—the merchantmen plodding steadily on, at times completely hidden by near misses, and then appearing miraculously through the columns of spray.

The welcome lull came at about a quarter to eight in the evening. Men who had been fighting right through the day slipped off anti-flash helmets and gloves and cooled off. The ship's cat came out of her hiding place and gave her five kittens a much-needed meal.

Then there was a flash, a terrific explosion and complete darkness left by shattered lights. A U-boat had got torpedo home to us. The ship started to list as we groped our way to doors.

A destroyer approached and the Admiral shouted to the ship's company: "I hate leaving you like this, but my job is to go on and get the convoy to Malta, and I'm going to do that whatever happens."

As the Admiral and one or two of us moved over to the destroyer Ashanti, a dive-bombing attack developed in the fading light. I shall never forget the scene. Stukas roared down, their bombs dropped and explosions split the air.

The cruiser Cairo sailed rapidly by the stern. A merchant vessel which had been hit burned fiercely. A great pall of smoke rose up into the sky. There were patches of flame where aircraft had crashed.

There was the disconcerting thought that darkness which was closing in would provide cover for E-boats and U-boats lurking near Cape Bon, which we had to pass before daylight.

The trouble soon started. Searchlights pierced the night and star shells climbed up and then floated down the stern. A merchant vessel and tracers whistled through the dark. The Cruiser Manchester was hit by mines or torpedoes and later had to be sunk. The merchant ships were not unscathed. On the credit side, at least two E-boats were blown out of the water.

It was an ugly, uncomfortable night. With Thursday's first streaks of light, back came the dive-bombers and torpedo planes in a desperate effort to smash the convoy on its last leg.

Beam searchlights from Malta were there to help us by now. As we got nearer the island, we came within the comforting range of her Spitfires.

There were non-stop attacks all morning. In the early afternoon, a look-out gave the welcome shout of ships in sight ahead. They were the mine-sweepers and motor launches from Malta who were to take the merchantmen into harbor.

Our job was over and "good luck" signals were exchanged between escort and convoy before we turned to make our passage back to Gibraltar.

Activities Of

On his attitude to the Canadian war effort, he broke no new ground, rather confining his remarks to a review of his earlier declarations at Joliette and elsewhere, in which he criticized the hypocrisy of those leaders who had promised a moderate or limited war effort for the Dominion, declaring that it was obvious from the earliest stages that a limited effort was impossible.

The people of French-Canada now recognized this and were prepared to do their part along with residents of the rest of the Dominion, but they wanted to do it voluntarily and not from compulsion.

But, he warned, despite the evenness of the Liberals at Ottawa and Quebec, conscription was now on the statute books of the Dominion—under the guise of military training. It was now the law and must be accepted the law, no matter how much the people disagreed with it. But the people could remember how they had been betrayed and in the future would have the opportunity of showing their displeasure of the traitors. This, he said, was the purpose of his speaking tour, to inform the people of Quebec just how they had been double-crossed by their supposed leaders and protectors.

The habit of the Dominion Cabinet to rule by Order-in-Council also drew the ire of the Opposition leader, who declared: "We must denounce not only Hitler and Hitlerism, but all who in this country copy Hitlerism." It was here that he found nothing more than a paper industry, which was the major threat to the autonomy of the province. He assailed Ottawa generally, Premier Goulet in passing, and Air Minister Power in particular. He had no confidence in the supposed Liberal Government at Ottawa, which was nothing more than a puppet government by Order-in-Council, which he doubted the ability of the Air Minister to competently direct the great scheme which he heads. As for the Conservatives at Ottawa, the less said the better.

Mr. Duplessis said that he had the same programme now as he had in 1936, to educate the people of this province to be masters at home. And how could they be masters, he asked, if they did not have the means to do so? There had been no need for elections in 1936 for five years. But he did not love power and patronage for themselves and so called elections to sound a note of warning against the monstrous treasons which were being hatched in the shadows. Had they not been deceived what is going on at present would not be going on, but they had been deceived, and while laws should be respected, and the people of this province were proud of their spirit of loyalty to the law this did not mean that the traitors could not be unmasked and punished when the time came.

"We do not want to run anyone, but we want to run ourselves," he declared in outlining his autonomy stand. He believed that the people of the province should have the right to elect their own government by law and not as Ottawa saw fit, to have rural credits which would really save agriculture in Quebec and not a Federal system which did not lend in Quebec, but which had been devised to benefit the other provinces.

"We do not want to run anyone, but we do not want others to run us," reiterated the National Union chief. "Certain people and certain newspapers do not like us to talk of autonomy, or the rights of the province. These are people without logic, to say the least. There are three provinces, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, which combined have not the population of Montreal. Try to unite them so that each will lose its individual autonomy, and see the trouble you will start, and yet some people do not like us to talk of the autonomy of Quebec. These opponents of the National Union party do not want Quebec to claim her rights, and among those who reproach us for wanting to conserve our rights, are

Ulster, explained Mr. Duplessis, consisted of six counties which did not want to join the rest of Ireland because they feared if they did they would be run by a Catholic majority. They wanted their own autonomy, and yet people from there did not want Quebec to have autonomy.

"I say to these men of Ulster, of Belfast, that they should mind their own business. If they want to run their own affairs, let us in a province that is bigger than Ulster, the rest of Ireland and Britain at least run our own affairs. Let them be sincere. The reason they do not like the National Union party is that we do not worship the golden calf. We believe that the money which comes from taxes should go to the people. In our three years of administration we sent rats of sunshine to the widows and the orphans, and to the farmers, enabling them to stay on their farms. We took sunshine and consolation to the people who needed it. Today we also shed rays of sunshine in denouncing the hypocrites of our opponents."

Mr. Duplessis talked of the new taxes imposed by the Goulet regime, saying everything was taxed, ginger ale, ice cream, soda, the candles around the coffin and the coffin as well.

Speaking immediately prior to his chief, the Sherbrooke member, Col. J. S. Bourque, declared that he felt quite free to discuss the war. His record was clear. He had served from 1914 to 1918, and again at the commencement of the present war had been named commandant of the training camp at Sherbrooke, but had been retired to civil life because of the intervention of politicians. Whether a soldier or a civilian, he was loyal, with the same feeling of loyalty as possessed friends, both English and French. In 1939, Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe and other Liberals had talked of a moderate war, of a limited war, so much so that it would have been thought that Mr. Lapointe had made an agreement with Hitler for such a moderate war. Now came Mr. Cardin to talk about the rights of the French-Canadians, to say that they should be masters at home, another champion to defend the rights of French-Canada. Yet Cardin was one of the men who in 1939 had denounced Duplessis for spending money to keep the French-Canadians on the land. He thought these patriots were a trifle late.

Let the people beware of false promises, he warned. They were showing themselves, trying to distract attention from the evils of the Goulet Government. During his administration, Duplessis had administered affairs like a good father of a family, trying to see for the needs of all.

The National Union Party was for a glacial victory over the Goulet Government. The National Union Party wanted to be fair to all elements, labor and farmers, and to English and French, something he said he mentioned because of the attempts being made to picture the party as devoted to the interests of one group.

Tenrecde Labbe, M.L.A. for Magog, criticized the hypocrisy of the Liberals on the conscription issue. First they promised no conscription, then instituted one month compulsory training, extended it to "our months, and then held the trainees in the army for the duration. The autonomy of the Province of Quebec was being trodden under by the Liberal party, disguised as the protectors of the minority. In reality Maurice Duplessis was the champion of the province and the defender of the rights of the workers of Quebec, and the people of Quebec have found out too late that they have been sold out.

The Goulet Government was reminded of its promise to reduce taxation by Dr. Camille Pouliot, M.L.A. for Gaspé South, who said that the members had preferred to raise their own salaries rather than to think of the needs of the people.

J. P. Perron, of East Broughton, former M.L.A. for Beauce, also cautioned the people against the Liberals coming disguised as members of the third party. As ever the National Union and National Union alone

Churchill Says

Continued from page 1. which he visited during Parliament's recess and reports on which many members had awaited expectantly. Mr. Churchill said the results—"although not secret"—will "justify any trouble or expense incurred" when they become apparent.

Mr. Churchill said that before he left England he "had some reason to believe the condition of the desert army and the troops in Egypt were not entirely satisfactory."

In his first explanation of the switch in command in the Middle East from Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck to Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Mr. Churchill said that Gen. Auchinleck had "gone on leave" at his own request but that he hoped his "services might be available later in the war."

The spirit of the troops was admirable, Mr. Churchill said, but "it was clear to me the army must have a new leader."

He gave cheering news of the war at sea with the report that, though losses still are heavy, they dropped so sharply they are at a slower rate than replacements through new building.

was the real protector of Quebec rights. Paul Beaulieu, M.L.A. for St. Johns-Napierville, had little use for the Government efforts to aid agriculture, saying that too many of their projects were being administered by professional civil servants, interested in earning their salaries, rather than by practical men.

LARGE NUMBER AT CLOSING OF BEDFORD FAIR

Shower Saturday Afternoon Failed to Mar Enjoyable Programme that Attracted Thousands to Fair Grounds.

Bedford, Sept. 8.—Bedford Fair was written into the records Saturday night after three highly successful days, and a shower Saturday afternoon failed to mar the enjoyable programme which attracted a large number of Fair-goers until a late hour in the evening.

On Saturday the Bedford Band provided pleasing music and led the livestock parade. Grandstand attractions were well-received afternoon and evening, while the Midway operated at full blast throughout the day and night.

Lucienne Corrivreau and Vivian Campbell, of Pike River, finished first and second in the lady driver class, with Gilberte Poutre, of Bedford, winning the bicycle race for girls under eighteen. E. Desranleau, of Pike River, entered the best pair of matched draft horses, David Ralph and Gerald Cummings, of Bedford, finished one, two in the one-half mile pony race, and Francois Descheneau, of Pike River, won the horse chest raffled by the I.O.D.E.

Results of races:

"On the return trip from London the American conferees visited Iceland and inspected the American bases there."

President Roosevelt told of the offensive preparations in reporting to the country that he had called on Congress to give him quick and specific authority to stabilize the cost of living as a means of averting economic chaos on the home front.

"The power of Germany must be broken on the battlefield of Europe," he added: "In due time you will know what these decisions are—and so will our enemies. I can say now that all of these decisions are directed toward making the offensive."

By implication, he said that at least 528,000 American troops already have been sent Overseas, or, as he put it, more than three times the number sent to France in the first nine months of the last war.

CITY and SUBURBAN

Dedication Of New City Hall At Granby Was Attended By Delegation From Sherbrooke

(By Record Staff Reporter) Granby, Sept. 8.—Granby's modern City Hall, erected on the Main Street site of the old municipal headquarters, was officially dedicated and opened during the week-end in the presence of a large group of visiting dignitaries, including Hon. T. D. Bouchard, Provincial Minister of Roads, Mayor J. A. Reynault, of Montreal, and many other mayors, aldermen and civic officials from centres throughout the province. The new edifice was blessed on Sunday noon by Mgr. Walter Quintal, Vicar General of the Diocese of St. Hyacinthe, and speeches of welcome to the visitors were given by Mayor Horace Boivin and Pro-Mayor James G. Fuller. With favorable weather prevailing, hundreds of visitors attended the two-day celebration. Principal events of the celebration included a solemn High Mass in Notre Dame Church in the morning, blessing of the modern edifice, a tour of the city—especially arranged for the out-of-town guests and receptions and a banquet at the Granby Hotel. Mgr. Quintal pronounced the blessing in Latin, after which he translated the passage into both English and French, Mayor Boivin, members of the City Council and clergymen of Granby's other faiths stood at the City Hall entrance during the blessing. Mayor Boivin in his brief address of welcome in the morning at the dedication and at the afternoon ceremonies at the baseball stadium said that Granby was the last city to take advantage of the Federal Act providing assistance to municipalities. He pointed out that work on the new building was started before the outbreak of war and that construction of the City Hall could not have been halted, in view of the fact that it was continued only on advice of the Government. He then thanked J. H. Leclerc, M.P., and Carl Bullock, M.L.A. for their cooperation and assistance in the building of the new City Hall. Reiterating Mayor Boivin's welcome in English, Pro-Mayor Fuller said: "Canadians are fortunate to be living in a country like Canada, while in other countries, edifices, even more imposing than our City Hall, are being razed by enemy action." Recalling that Sunday was a National Day of Prayer, Mr. Fuller added a prayer for early victory. Following the blessing and a tour of inspection of the City Hall, lunch was served the visitors by the Granby police and fire department, while the visiting bands were luncheon guests at the Windsor Hotel. Following the inspection tour in the afternoon, the guests were impressed with the facilities the city of Granby had to offer and praised the advantages for both industry and labor. The tour of the city was followed by a parade of bandmen from the City Hall to the Stadium, where the different band units played. In praising the growth of Granby, Mr. Bouchard said at the afternoon ceremony that the city's present industrial status proves that it has achieved the most progress of any Quebec centre during the past decade, regardless of its war industries. Congratulating Mayor Boivin and his Council on their success, Mr.

SHOULD AVOID NEEDLESS USE OF TELEPHONE

Bell Telephone President Appeals to Telephone Users to Conform to Self-Imposed, Voluntary Rationing.

"Use of the telephone, both local and long distance, should be confined to calls that are absolutely necessary, and even essential calls should be as brief as possible," C. P. Sise, President of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, said recently. In detail Mr. Sise's statement was: "From the outbreak of the war, telephone calls, both local and long distance, have increased steadily. To meet the situation we have added greatly to our telephone plant. Today, more calls are being made than ever before. "In the boom days of 1929-30 we handled a peak of 5,200,000 local calls a day. Now they average 6,600,000 a day. Long distance calls then reached 70,000 a day; now they exceed 83,000. "Telephone facilities cannot be further expanded to take care of this ever-growing volume of calls. The materials that build telephone plants, copper, rubber, aluminum, zinc, are no longer available. They are needed for war purposes. "There is but one answer, use of the telephone, both local and long distance, should be confined to calls that are absolutely necessary, and even essential calls should be as brief as possible. "That is the only way in which the mounting volume of necessary calls can be handled by a telephone system which cannot grow. "I am confident that the telephone-using public will cooperate fully in order that our facilities may be equal to the ever-growing requirements of a nation at war." Mr. Sise is appealing to telephone users to conform to a self-imposed, voluntary rationing. If this is not done, some other method may have to be adopted, since time is precious to the interests of Canada's war job. Whenever an unnecessary call is avoided or a necessary one cut down to the minimum of time telephone apparatus at central is cleared for calls that may be of great importance to the war effort. It is essential that war calls go through without delay, and this can only be accomplished through the co-operation of all Canadians.

Trucks And Autos Involved In Mishaps, Man Injured In Fall

Trucks and autos involved in two accidents were damaged during the week-end and a man, who fell down a flight of steps at the baseball park, was injured and taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital for treatment. Valerand Tardif, thirty-six years of age, 92 Marquette Street, suffered shoulder and knee injuries as a result of a fall down steps underneath the grandstand at the baseball park. The injured man was rushed by police to the hospital, where he was attended by Dr. J. O'Neil Noel. Tardif, an employee of the Ingersoll Rand concern, was attending a picnic held by the company when the accident occurred. He was reported to be resting comfortably today. A truck and auto involved in a collision in front of 65 Depot Street were driven by Lionel Cote, R. R. No. Four, Sherbrooke, and W. Lande-borg, of Compton, respectively. The drivers were travelling in opposite directions when the mishap occurred. Jean Gilbert, 126 Alexander St., and Emile Beauregard, 111 Wellington Street South, were the drivers of a car and truck, respectively, figuring in the second accident, occurring at the intersection of Wellington and Aberdeen Streets. Motorcycle Officer A. Desbiens, who investigated the accident, said that both the auto and truck were South-bound on Wellington Street South.

DEATH REMOVES MRS. GALLINGER IN 44TH YEAR

Active Member of I.O.D.E. in Sherbrooke Died Last Night at Her Home on Magog Street After Long Illness.

One of the most active members of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire in this city, Mrs. S. H. Gallinger, died last night at her home on Magog Street in her forty-fourth year following a long illness. Educational Secretary of the Municipal Chapter and of her primary Chapter, Duke of Wellington, Mrs. Gallinger was keenly interested in I.O.D.E. work, and since the war had been one of the most faithful workers in behalf of the boys in uniform in this district. She will be missed greatly by the I.O.D.E. and also by the ladies' organizations of Plymouth United Church, of which she was a valued member. Born in Lunenburg, N.S., Mrs. Gallinger was the former Elizabeth Liddle, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Liddle. She was married in Lunenburg twenty-one years ago, and came to Sherbrooke with her husband in 1925. In addition to her husband, Mrs. Gallinger is survived by three children, Douglas, Doris and Donald, and one sister, Mrs. Frank MacInnes, of Ottawa. Prayers will be held at the house at one-thirty o'clock on Thursday, and a service will be held at two o'clock at Plymouth Church.

Student Pilots Lost Lives As Planes Crashed In Mid-Air

LAC. Thomas B. Fetherston and LAC. James Robertson Davie, 19, Both of Toronto, Victims of First Fatal Accident Since Opening of Windsor Mills Elementary Flying Training School—Planes Hit While Preparing to Land.

In the first fatal accident to occur at the Windsor Mills Elementary Flying Training School during the two years and three months it has been in operation, two young Royal Canadian Air Force student pilots lost their lives when their planes crashed in mid-air at four-thirty Saturday afternoon. The dead are LAC. Thomas B. Fetherston, 21, of Toronto, who was killed instantly when he suffered a broken neck and other injuries, and LAC. James Robertson Davie, 19, also of Toronto, who died fifteen minutes after the crash in the School hospital. Flight Lieutenant Mackenzie Hume, Officer Commanding the School, said the accident occurred at about 1,000 feet, a mile Southeast of the School, and that the two young fliers were turning about to come in for a landing. Flying Officer Gravel, Medical Officer, could do nothing to save Davie, who failed to regain consciousness after the accident. Both lads had been at the school for five weeks, and would have graduated to a higher branch of training in three weeks. Their bodies were taken to Toronto Sunday night, where funeral services will be held. Davie is the son of Mrs. Mary Davie, of Toronto, and Fetherston the son of Mr. T. Fetherston, of Toronto.

POLICE PATROL ORGANIZED ON MAGOG RIVER

Director of Police Percy Donahue said today that a police patrol has been organized on the Magog River, following reports that young boys are shooting wild ducks within the city limits. In issuing a warning to the boys who are discharging firearms in the city limits, he said that anyone found guilty of violating this by-law will be fined twenty dollars or sent to jail for a month, or both. Director Donahue added that the rifles or firearm will be confiscated under this by-law. "Most of the reports that wild ducks are being shot are coming from Collinsville, recently annexed by the City of Sherbrooke," he declared. He explained since Collinsville is now a part of Sherbrooke, police have been instructed to enforce the by-law in the annexed sector as well.

NEW VALUATION ROLL IS OPEN TO INSPECTION

City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers said today that the valuation roll of the City of Sherbrooke for 1942 has been prepared, completed and deposited at his office in the City Hall. He explained that the roll will remain open to examination of the parties interested or their representatives for the next thirty days until October 8, following its deposit tomorrow. At the regular meeting of the City Council which will be held a month from tomorrow, the Aldermen will take into consideration and decide upon all complaints against the roll, made according to law, and proceed with the examination, revision and homologation of the valuation roll.

CHEQUE GIVEN POLICE FUND

Coffers of the Municipal Police and Fire Department were enriched by five dollars this morning by receipt of a cheque from Dr. W. W. Lynch for the protection given his property while he was on holidays. Dr. Lynch wrote Director Percy Donahue as follows: "As it has been my custom in the past to recognize the efficient protection of my property while on holidays, I am enclosing a cheque for $5.00 to be used in the activities and benefit of your Athletic Association. You have a splendid corps of men."

C.P.C. GROUP RECEIVE HOSE

The Firemen's Auxiliary Unit of the Sherbrooke Civilian Protection Committee today received two thousand feet of one and a half inch hose from the Government, it was announced by Director of Police and Fire Percy Donahue. He said that the hose will be used with the special gasoline pumper which was recently received from the Government. Although the special nozzles have not as yet been received, the members of the C.P.C. Firemen's Unit will start training again this week. Uniforms and helmets were issued to all members of the auxiliary several weeks ago.

BAND CONCERT THIS EVENING

The Sherbrooke Regiment Band will give a special concert tonight at Portland Square, provided the weather is favorable, to make up in some measure for the open air concerts that have had to be cancelled this summer owing to inclement weather and the fact that the members were away at annual training camp. The following programme will be given: March, "Triumph"; Waltz, "Gold and Silver"; Selection, "Old Favorites"; Popular Songs; March, "St. Louis Cadets"; Waltz, "Nights of Gladness"; Selection, "Yeomen of the Guard"; Hymn; March, "Colonel Bogey". RESPIRE FOR FIRE-FIGHTERS There were no calls received by the Municipal Fire Department during the week-end and holiday period. Firemen have been given a respite since last Friday when the last alarm was answered.

ALL CITIZENS ARE URGED TO ASSIST DRIVE

Steel Controller Issues Appeal for Every Last Pound of Scrap Metal Available.

With the appeal of the Steel Controller for every last pound of available scrap of metal, citizens of Sherbrooke are urged to do their very best during the three-day city-wide salvage drive, which starts tomorrow. It was pointed out that the Government expects it will be harder to collect scrap metal during the winter and that it is up to Sherbrooke holders to make the best use of the milder weather to get these materials out from their homes, garages and garages and into Canada's munition plants. Although the Government has not produced because of the shortage of scrap, it is worried about supplies during the winter and spring, it was explained by the Steel Controller. According to word received here from him, he said "Unless we all do our very best now, the time may come when the metal equipment and appliances, considered almost essential to our modern way of life, will have to be turned in for use. "As paper in any shape or form is not wanted in the next collection starting tomorrow, do to the tremendous response in the past, efforts of citizens can now be devoted to spending some time looking for scrap metal and scrap rubber, too, as well as rags and bottles," said an official of the Sherbrooke Salvage Committee. "I might point out that there is only a day before collections start, and I trust that citizens will spare one or two hours to produce this material for Canada," the official said.

NAZI VICTIMS MAY EAT GRASS

Mackerel fishing reportedly has been very good along the Norwegian coast this year, but Norwegian housewives have not been able to get much, if any of the fish for their families.

In one shop in Oslo a scant supply of the mackerel had been received, and this was being sold in small quantities to housewives who had long been waiting in line. Suddenly a German walked in and bluntly "requisitioned" all the remaining fish. Efforts to explain that the mackerel was intended for Norwegian families were in vain. "But what are we Norwegians going to have to eat?" cried one mother in desperation. The German looked at her briefly. His answer was also brief: "Grass!"

During recent months many a Norwegian seaman, forced to work for the Germans, has escaped from the grip of the Nazi hand by leaping overboard as his ship skirted the Western coast of Sweden and then swimming for shore. In one week came two reports indicating that two seamen, attempting such an escape, had failed to negotiate the distance from ship to shore. The first report stated that two Norwegians, aged nineteen and twenty-eight years, leaped from a German-bound ship 3,400 meters off Varberg harbor; the sea was very rough and one was drowned, the other being rescued by a Swedish pilot boat. The other report stated that the body of a Norwegian seaman had been washed ashore somewhere on Sweden's coast.

A funeral service was arranged in this case, with almost the entire population of a small Swedish fishing village participating, in addition to a company of Swedish soldiers. Wreaths decked the coffin, and thoughtful Swedes had seen to it that several of the floral tributes bore sympathetic inscriptions.

THE BATTLE OF THE ATLANTIC

What is going to beat Adolf Hitler in the long run will be the Allies overwhelming resources of all sorts, coupled with their control of the seas over which those resources must be moved to the theatres of battle. Therefore, the disclosure that the last two months have produced record-breaking destruction of U-boats, and a sensational drop in sinkings of merchant ships in the Western Atlantic, is great news for the United Nations.

The importance of control of the seas has been cited numerous times, but it is so vital it is worth repeating. Without that domination we would lack adequate means of moving our resources, and our mountainous production would be love's labor lost. For anxious months we seemed to be losing the Battle of the Atlantic. From January right through June of this year the sinking of ships by Hitler's sea-wolves went up by leaps and bounds. An Associated Press tabulation of announced sinkings showed that some 381 ships were sent to the bottom in that time, and close to 3,000 seamen were lost.

The victims of submarines rose steadily from twenty-one in January to a terrible peak of 109 in June. The shipyards were out-distanced in their efforts to keep pace. Then came a drop to forty-five sinkings for July, and a further slump to twenty-three for August.

A few days ago Rear-Admiral Emory S. Land said United States shipyard production was slowly but surely getting the edge on Axis submarine activity.

Now along comes A. V. Alexander, Britain's First Lord of the Admiralty, who adds an illuminating chapter to the above. He says July and August were record-breaking months for the destruction of Axis submarines.

Moreover, Britain's heavy warship losses—the Admiralty already has announced the loss of 423, big and little—have virtually been made up by British shipyards. And that is an item of vast importance, because it takes a mighty fleet of fighting ships to act as convoys and patrols and hunt down U-boats.

America's task at sea has been eased. United States warships have been escorting cargo ships in coastal waters and in the Caribbean. Canadian, United States and British airplane patrols have been working together, and a huge fleet of small craft, including innumerable one-time pleasure boats, are scouting.

On the face of it Hitler's sea-pack seems to have taken a nasty knock. However, Navy Secretary Frank Knox has had a word of caution for those who jumped to the conclusion that all was well. Said he: "This thing is not by any means solved. It is a long job and we may never lick it completely, but I believe we can reduce it substantially so that it will not interfere with victory in the war."

Mr. Alexander says that new methods of handling the submarine menace have been developed, and that the under-water boats have turned the offensive back to their more usual haunts. He did not say what new methods he had in mind.

However, we lately have seen the birth of a most devastating anti-submarine weapon—the heavy bombing of U-boat shipyards in Germany by Allied bombers operating from Britain. Hitler has been turning out submarines in mass production, so they say, but between destruction of his U-boats at the source, and destruction of those already at sea, the Allied position in the Battle of the Atlantic certainly is looking up at last.

NEWSPRINT PRODUCTION MOUNTS

Canadian production of newsprint has increased within the past year but United States and Newfoundland production has slumped, according to a report to the Department of Trade and Commerce from D. S. Cole, Canadian Trade Commissioner in the United States.

"Of the total production of newsprint in North America for the first six months of 1942, Canada contributed 4,638,000 tons or 72 per cent of the total of 2,297,000 tons," Mr. Cole said. "The United States produced 481,000 tons of the remainder, 21 per cent of the total output, and Newfoundland produced 153,000 tons, seven per cent of the total."

Mr. Cole added that while Canadian production during the above-mentioned period was 37,000 tons greater than in the corresponding period of 1941, United States production was 34,000 tons less, with Newfoundland showing a 20,000-ton decrease.

Mr. Cole reports that the Newsprint Service Bureau of New York says that in the United States the paper business as a whole has shrunk considerably due largely to the reduction in the use of paper in the fields of consumer goods.

The greatly expanded use of paper for wartime purposes is not currently of sufficient tonnage to offset the shrinkage, his report added.

PLACE OF IMAGINATION

By Grenville Kleiser

Frank A. Howard, Vice-President of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, is described as having a mind that is always moving forward.

He is today responsible for the Company's research, development, patent and chemical interests. His numerous inventions, of which he holds ninety patents himself, bespeak a life of incessant and intelligent activity. Imagination has played a vital part in his business and social success. He has made his dreams come true.

Imagination once roused must be fostered. All beauty ministers to imagination. To wander alone by the sea or on the mountain; to watch the stars majestically wheeling through the dark night sky; to study the flight of a bird, the growth of a flower, the delicate tints of a butterfly's wing; all these breed imagination.

In books, in art and in music, the imagination fostered by the study of men and of nature meet in one; for all art is beauty interpreted by man. Read, listen, look, ponder; make the world of art your own. If you feel that you cannot yourself judge of what is good in art, you must, at first, depend on the judgment of admitted authorities.

At this early stage, never say that you consider this or that to be good or bad. You cannot yet tell whether you yourself do think so; you only know that authorities think so. What you should do is find out why they hold these opinions, so that in the future, you may have guiding principles by which to form your own judgment.

Imagination enters into all real human relationships. True sympathy is based entirely on imagination. To suffer or rejoice with another, one must first realize vividly the mind, the nature, the circumstances, the very soul of that other human being. True charity needs imagination.

To be charitable, in thought and word as well as in deed, one must be able to understand the difficulties and limitations of others; to see why they are unreasonable, irritable, erratic, shiftless, peevish, unfortunate. Only by imagination can one human being do justice to another.

Sympathetic imagination of this kind is almost an instinct in some people; some do not possess it naturally, but even these can acquire it, to some extent at least, by training. Practise putting yourself in the place of other people; do not merely say, "If I were So-and-so, I should do this or that."

Begin by thinking what X is like, and then try to see how he, with that nature, under those conditions, must be feeling; why it is that he acts as he does; what makes him speak, behave and express himself in that particular way.

This "putting yourself in your neighbor's shoes" is an immensely valuable imaginative training, not only in giving the right understanding and sympathy for others, but also in developing that part of the mind which alone can lead a man to see the truth and beauty of the world about him and the unseen world beyond. The understanding of men comes first, then follows the understanding of nature and of art.

Thirty Years Ago

FROM THE RECORD FILES

A special train brought two ships' companies of Naval Reserves and a detachment of the Maine National Guard from Portland, Maine, to take part in the Sherbrooke Exhibition festivities. They were the guests of the officers of the 33rd Regiment.

Only the prompt work of the police prevented the militant suffragettes in Aberdeen from causing bodily harm to Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, during his visit to that city.

Among the speakers at the opening ceremonies for the Waterloo Academy were Dr. J. H. Symons, Rev. F. B. Jenkins, Rev. F. W. S. Coates, Principal R. D. Wells and Mr. R. F. Shaw.

Those awarded medals and scholarships at the opening of the Sherbrooke High School were Donald Macfarlane, Charles Drummond, Ray Edney, Douglas Read, Bessie Ebenberg, William Woodwork, Bessie Bryce and Howard Fry.

An increase in the number of birds has caused the Provincial Government to remove the ban on the sale of partridges for the next two years.

Municipalities located along the route of the proposed Sherbrooke-Rock Island highway are holding a series of conferences to study the proposals under which the Provincial Government is prepared to construct the road.

WHO PAYS FOR THE CANOE?

To the Editor of the Record,

Dear Sir: Now that the Sherbrooke "Gestapo" have declared the death penalty for appearing in a canoe in shorts, will someone explain if the sentence is to be carried out by shooting, or drowning, as well as the forfeiture of five dollars in cash? The ridiculous By-Law 562 should be rescinded and the "gallant" marksman transferred to the Armed Forces, where, no doubt, his accurate marksmanship could be made good use of.

Yours very truly,
"DISGUSTED."

A REPLY TO M. L. WATSON

Dear Correspondent: Your letter of August 25th has proved of such interest to me that I take the liberty of giving you a few brief facts concerning the Catholic Syndicate.

If you are a Roman Catholic you have a very poor knowledge of your religion, and you are perfectly ignorant of the point you are trying to discuss.

(1) A Roman Catholic, of whatever nationality he may be, recognizes the supreme authority of the Pope and follows his directions.

(2) The virtues of justice and charity are the fundamental principles of the Catholic Syndicate in which workers unite in view of co-operating with their employers on a fair basis.

(3) If the French-Canadians were not the first pioneers of the Eastern Townships, they have been the early co-operators of the British Settlers. The French-Canadians were the fathers of numerous families while so many others gave their solicitude to birds and dogs.

Our dear neighbours are now surprised to realize that the French-Canadians form a very large majority of the population and claim the liberty of forming a Catholic National Syndicate to protect their rights.

(4) When the writer says "there is no trace of democracy left" he should say "In a certain town" where the French-Canadian citizens are not given the right to defend their principles and enjoy liberty.

(5) As for the cloak of religion my poor friend has certainly borrowed the one he is wearing today for there is no sign of Catholicism in his language.

(6) As for "the drunken brawls and destructive riots," please remember what has just happened in a very small town when the International Brotherhood signed the contract thirty-two dozen of beer were considered necessary to quench the thirst of sixty men—Please open your eyes!

(7) Never will the word Catholic be dropped from the Syndicate you dream so much because you do not understand it.

(8) Whoever is fighting against the Catholic Syndicate is working against the prosperity of his own country.

Yours truly,
Pierre de Bellefeuille,
Windsor, P.Q.

Editor's Note: On August 25th, the Record published a letter from M. L. Watson criticizing the activities of the Catholic Syndicate. Today we publish a letter from Pierre de Bellefeuille in defence of the Syndicate. Having given the two sides of the matter, we now consider the issue closed so far as this question is concerned.

HAVE A SMILE

"Sugar Pie," said the dark swain, "did that kiss Ah just gave you make you long for another?" "Sho' did, boy, 'h't sho' did! But he's outa town."

"What have you been doing in the country?" "Oh, just lying around and fishing."

"You mean fishing and lying around."

PRESS COMMENTS

"THEN CHAOS WOULD FOLLOW"

Winnipeg Free Press

It is for labor to remember that the fixing of wages and the denial of its right to press for higher pay, was part of a broad policy for preventing inflation, which is a most valuable protection to the workers and their families. Some may be dissatisfied with the restrictions on wages, but if wages, rents and prices were all allowed to rise, there would be swift inflation, higher wages would mean nothing—less than nothing—and the workers would soon be very glad to get back to their present position. The attempt has been made to adjust wages in a reasonable way, and difficulties are dealt with by the National War Labor Board and the regional labor boards, on which labor is fully represented. The effort has also been made to deal fairly with the different classes of people—farmers, workers, consumers and others. The various adjustments have properly been made with a view to conditions within Canada. If the workers look to the United States, where some wages may be higher, and if they press for such higher wages, the farmers will have just as good a right to demand higher prices for wheat and other products. Then chaos would follow. What is actually happening is that thinking people in the United States are coming to see that they will have to adopt full control of prices and wages as we did nine months ago, because it is the only way to prevent all the evils of inflation.

THE JAPANESE RETREATING IN CHEKIANG

New York Sun
Once more the Chinese high command has proved itself competent and alert. Chungking's report of a general Japanese retreat in the provinces of Chekiang apparently means a regrouping of forces, but whether this portends a campaign in Siberia or one against India, or perhaps a new adventure toward Australia, Japan's military leaders are the only persons who know. The significant thing is not that the Chinese have won successes and recaptured sites, but that they have been so forthcoming in discovering weak spots and so prompt to take advantage of them.

After five years of warfare the basic strategy of each side has become plain. That of the Japan has consisted of itself with occupation of ports and key points West of the coast line, the main idea being that if the Chinese forces could be locked up in the interior they could be more or less disregarded until either they were broken up piecemeal or became completely discouraged.

Chinese strategy, on the other hand, has been more or less Fabian, fighting where occasion offers, retreating in before superior pressure, harassing the enemy's extended communications, counter attacking at the first sign of weakness.

The present Chinese advances in Chekiang and Kiangsi serve new notice on the invader that no matter to what quarter of Asia he may turn his attention, he can expect to find a resolute and resourceful Chinese.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

CANADIAN SHOWS SKILL IN DEFENCE

Introducing Aaron Goodman, of Montreal, Canada, who with Robert von Engel, of New York, won the national men's pair championship recently. In 1936 a Canadian foursome won the United States board-a-match team-of-four championship, until now the only time Canada has been represented on a U.S. contract bridge championship pair or team.

I met Mr. Goodman for the first time at the tournament, so I know little about his style, but I had an opportunity to kibitz when he played the interesting hand shown today, sitting West. Goodman opened the king of diamonds, and in response to his partner's ten-spot, continued with the ace. On a third diamond lead, dummy put up the queen of trumps. Then the declarer took out trumps.

At several tables South made four spades because he was allowed to set up the clubs for a heart discard. Goodman, however, made matters easy for his partner by discarding all

THE SECRET GARDEN

Now for a while we lock this door behind us,
This garden door set in the moss-green wall,
Where only sun and flowers and trees could find us
Who now must venture forth beyond by all.
Part of a moving army bound towards places
Beyond imagination and foretelling;
There will be knowledge of new names and faces
When we return to our leaf-shadowed dwelling.

And when we do come back I somehow feel
We shall not lock the secret door against
Our new-found comrades. Dangers may reveal
That we have held our hearts too safely fenced
And that the world beyond the wall is one
In friendship with our flowers and trees and sun.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers given below:

- 1. When a man takes two women to the theatre may he sit between them?
2. If he is riding in the back seat of a car with two women, should a man sit between them?
3. What if he is walking down the street with two women?
4. At an evening party where there are both men and women, should women guests who came alone be permitted to go home alone?
5. Is it all right for young people to use first names as soon as they are introduced?
What would you do if—
Your fiancée is in the army and you are wondering what you should do about dating—

- (a) Continue to go to parties, but don't date any one man exclusively?
(b) Feel that you must sit at home until the war is over?
Answers
1. Yes, unless one seat is on the aisle.
2. Yes.
3. He keeps the curb side.
4. No. Some man or some man and his wife or data should see that the lone woman gets home safely.
5. Certainly.
Better "What Would You Do" solution—(a) is probably the better solution—but it is a question which must be decided by each girl and her fiancé.

Lipstick Variety Gone With The Wind But Simplified Cosmetics Linger On

War has struck at beauty aids. From now on, according to a War-time Prices and Trade Board regulation, no manufacturer can make more than six shades of nail polish, or four shades of lipstick, rouge or face powder.

But while color tones are being taken out of lipsticks and blushes, life is taking on a brighter hue for the girl behind the cosmetic counter. "Boy, Oh, Boy! Am I glad to hear this news!" said one of them cheerfully when told about the new cosmetic restrictions. It seems that in the past women shoppers in search of the season's newest color tone have had sales girls turn their stock upside down looking for a special lipstick called rosy glow, cyclamen-in-the-morning, or some such shade. Fashionable shoppers sold on the idea that their nail polish must match their lipstick have lingered at counters, making other people wait their turn while they investigated the exact shade tones of their purchases.

One of the popular nail polish manufacturers has been turning out polish in as many as 22 different shades and a well-known American cosmetic house has had 15 different shades of lipstick.

As practically all cosmetics now sold in Canada are made in this country, although some of them carry the trade names of big American firms, the board's order will affect their production. Not only is the manufacture of lipstick, rouge and polish being simplified but the order also covers perfumes, colognes, toilet waters, talcum and dusting powder which, in future, shall be made in only four colors, while hand and face lotions, hair dressings, hair oils and tonics will be made in only three.

HATLEY

A meeting of the Women's Association was held in the vestry. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. L. H. Parker. The meeting opened with a hymn and Scripture reading. The minutes and roll call were read by the Secretary. It was reported by Mrs. Allan Wheeler the Parsonage committee had examined and decided to dispose of most of the old if possible and buy new pieces. The date for the annual chicken-pie supper was decided on, near the last of the month and committees for work that evening were appointed. Mrs. A. Wheeler and Mrs. J. S. Webster were asked to solicit food. At the close of the meeting, Rev. Leroy Rice, who with Mrs. Rice and their children were present, kindly consented to give a talk on his visit to the Holy Land, which was much enjoyed by all. A delicious tea was served by the hostesses.

Mrs. Harriet Ayer, Miss Helen Ayer and Mr. and Mrs. F. Woodman were in Sherbrooke and visited their cousin, Mrs. Robert Bradley. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Astell and Miss Alice Astell, of Lennoxville, and Mr. and Mrs. Howell Smith and daughter, Marion, of Bath, Me., were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McClary.

Mrs. Reford Wilson, of Valleyfield, is a guest of her father, Mr. Taylor Little, and sisters, Mrs. John L. Hodgson and Miss Phyllis Little. Mrs. Rosamond Tucker, who has been a guest of her sister, Mrs. J. B. Reed, at North Troy, Vt., has returned to Highland Place to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Young before returning to Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foote, Miss Marion Foote and Master Kenneth Wright spent Sunday at Mr. Turner's cottage at Bacon's Bay. Mr. Arnold Wheeler has purchased the house and land formerly owned by the late Mr. Henry Haines, also the fifty-acre lot belonging to Mrs. J. S. Webster, between the Barnston and Kingscote roads.

Mrs. Maria Knight and Mrs. Allan Wheeler spent a few days in Sherbrooke as guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Doane, of Newport, Vt., visited Mrs. Doane's mother, Mrs. J. S. Webster. Miss Audrey McCullum, of Gaspe, who taught the Primary room of the Intermediate School last year, has arrived to again take the same position. She is staying with Mr. and Mrs. George Macdonald. Rev. Leroy Rice, Mrs. Rice, daughter and son were guests of Rev. H. Rice at the Parsonage.

MARRIAGES

ROSS-CAMERON. The marriage of Margaret Christina Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Cameron of Lennoxville, to Mr. Herbert W. Ross and the late Mrs. Ross of Bury, took place on Saturday afternoon at half past three o'clock in Gothic United Church, the Reverend Roy P. Stafford officiating. Hydrangea and gladioli were used to decorate the church and the guest pews were marked with bunches of white asters. The organist of the church played the wedding music. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white sheer having an embroidered bodice and collar. Her veil of tulle illusion was arranged in coronet effect and she carried a bouquet of gladioli. Mrs. Clinton Weston, sister of the bridegroom, who was the bride's only attendant, wore a pink dress and carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli. Mr. Clinton Weston, of Marlinton, was best man for Mr. Ross and the ushers were Mr. Harold Frizzell, of Lennoxville and Mr. Ivan Barter, of Bury. Mrs. Cameron, the bride's mother, wore a gown of powder blue with navy blue redingote, a navy blue hat and a corsage bouquet of roses. The reception was held in the church hall, where the bride's table, decorated with tall white tapers and blue corn flowers. Later Mr. and Mrs. Cameron left for their honeymoon, the bride travelling in a turquoise blue suit with black hat and accessories and wearing a corsage bouquet of sweet-peas. On their return they will reside in Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Smith, of Richmond, spent the holiday week-end visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunsmore, London Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hale, Verdun, spent the week-end and holiday visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Goodfellow, at "Hillslope Farm," and other relatives on the Brompton Road.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. MacLay and Master Ian MacLay have returned to their home in Westmount after spending the summer with Mrs. MacLay's sister, Miss Beatrice McLung, in Lennoxville.

Miss Elizabeth Dunsmore Stevenson and Miss Verna Eger have returned to their homes in Montreal, after spending a few days in Sherbrooke as guests of Miss Elizabeth Dunsmore, Portland Avenue.

Miss Ruth Kaiman, of Ottawa, was a guest for the holiday week-end of Miss Doris Ross, in Lennoxville, and while here she and her cousin were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Tracey, in South Bolton.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin F. Redmond, who have been guests for the week-end of the latter's sister, Mrs. Harold Shearn, and Mr. Shearn, Wolfe Street, have returned to their home in West Hartford, Conn. They were accompanied by Mrs. Shearn, who will visit them for the next few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bayley, Ayer's Cliff, who have been guests for a week of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bayley, and the Misses May and Nellie Bayley, Waterville, who also spent the week-end with their nephew and his wife in Sherbrooke, have returned to their respective homes.

ASBESTOS

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Demers, Mrs. Nadeau and son, Guy, of Melbourne, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Beliveau, Penetion Street. Mr. Demers' many friends in Asbestos will be glad to know that his condition has improved, after his long illness.

The Women's Association of the Asbestos United Church held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon, in the Asbestos United Church. The President, Mrs. Deely, was in the chair and conducted the meeting. The Secretary and Treasurer's reports were read and approved, and old items of business cleared up. New business was discussed and plans were made to entertain the other Church Associations on September 23rd in the Church parlour. The annual fashion show is scheduled to take place in the early part of October. There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Beliveau and two children, Errol and Estelle, spent the week-end in Plessisville, the guests of Mr. Beliveau's uncle, Mr. Joseph Giguere, and Mrs. Giguere. Mr. W. Gauthier and Miss Bessie Whitehead, of Magog, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whitehead and son, Hubert, motor to Plessisville to attend the Torch Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Charles Young, at Richmond Lake. Swimming and boating were enjoyed by the ladies during the afternoon. At the supper the ladies were joined by their husbands, when a delicious picnic supper was served. The party continued until dark, when a huge bonfire, built by Mr. George Morrill, drew all present to its cheery warmth and light. The bonfire proved to be one of the finest seen at the lake this summer. The sparks which could be seen from a great distance reminded one of fireworks, and other cottagers joined the party at this time to sing songs both old and new. Mrs. George Morrill furnished violin music and old-time dances by moonlight were enjoyed on outdoor platform. After dancing, the party turned to the glowing fire for a corn-roast, after which all joined in extending thanks to the hostess for a very pleasant afternoon and evening.

Mr. Melvin Wilson, of the R.C.A.F., is home on leave prior to his departure for Cartwright, Labrador. Mr. and Mrs. W. Beliveau and three children, Estelle, Leonard and Errol, motored to Montreal for the week-end, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vallotton. While there they were entertained on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and presented with a silver tea service from their family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Young are enjoying a two weeks' holiday at the home of the former's parents, Mr. P. A. E. Young, of Almonte, Ont. Mr. Donat St. Cyr, of Richmond, spent a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Beliveau, Penetion Street.

Mrs. Vera Kathon, of Lysander, was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Patterson. Mrs. Maud Simons and niece, Miss V. Miles, visited Mr. and Mrs. Stanley White. Mr. James Douglas, of Montreal, was a visitor of Mrs. Alex Graham and family. Masters Hugh and James Douglas accompanied their grandfather back to Montreal. They will go to Toronto where they will attend Upper Canada College. Gerald Patterson was a visitor of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Meahase, Dublin Range. Miss Lois Haskett has left for Stanbridge East, where she will take up her duties as teacher. Miss Therese Drouin has left to attend the convent at St. Sylvester. Mr. Arthur Lowery, of Sawyerville, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alger Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Fortier and family spent two days in Valcartier, the guests of Mrs. Fortier's father, Mr. Anthony Meagher. Mrs. A. Wiggzett, of Sherbrooke, is the guest of Mrs. R. E. Wark. Mr. K. C. Fraser, of East Templeton, Mrs. C. A. Fraser and Miss M. E. Fraser called on Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Allan, of Lemesurier. Guests at the home of Mrs. John Fortier were Mrs. John Parker, of Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Parker and family, of Lemesurier; Mrs. A. W. Goff and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fortier and son, Forest. Mrs. John Duncan, of Edmonton, Alta., and Mr. George Church, of

ARMY IS CALLING UP DOCTORS YOU DON'T DELAY YOUR CHECKUP

By ALICIA HART. Some of our best beauticians are off to war and many more will follow soon. I refer to dentists and doctors. If you are still on the home front, it would be a pretty smart stroke to avail yourself of their services now while you can — if you still can. I will not suggest that you put on the overworked doctor's shoulders the task of handling those minor beauty defects. War's need for doctors suggest we just forget about medical service for external beauty alone. But a periodic checkup on your general health is essential both to looks and efficiency in a war-time occupation which, although would try to avoid skipping that this year. It might save a great deal of money and time. For skin, hair, figure problems on which women expend great gobs of time and energy often are the result of some inner dysfunction. Her Cardboard Lover

ADAPTED FROM THE METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER PICTURE By BEATRICE FABER

SYNOPSIS

Terry Trindale, who has written a hit song number with his partner, Chappie, comes to Palm Beach to compose a follow-up tune. But he is side-tracked when he falls in love with Consuelo Crocenda whom he encounters at the Casino Club. Dreamily fascinated, he loses thirty-two hundred dollars to her at the gambling tables which he doesn't have. Consuelo then has him sign an agreement. For ten weeks he is to be her "cardboard lover," to pretend that they are sweethearts so that she can fight off the magnetic charm of one, Tony Barling, whose love is a mixture of adoration and fiendish neglect. Taking on the job, Terry finds that he must scheme in numerous ways to keep Consuelo from flying back to the arms of Tony. But the whole thing is climaxed one night (just after Consuelo has happily said she is cured and dismissed Terry) when Tony and Terry get into a brawl. They are baled into court. Next morning, Consuelo rushes in, right to Tony's arms. Terry realizes that he was lost.

CHAPTER SIX (Conclusion)

The Judge banged on his desk. "QUIET! QUIET! Young woman, what do you mean by comin' in here and disturbin' the dignity of this court? What's your name?" Tony stopped up. "She's my fiancée Your Honor, Miss Consuelo Crocenda."

The Judge got kind of wise. "Oh I see. And this other fella here tried to bust it up huh?"

"Oh Judge," Consuelo retorted, "don't be stupid."

The Judge's gorge rose. He swallowed it. "Young lady," he bellowed, "that's real contempt a' court. I'll have you know."

It was then that Terry interrupted. "Wait a minute, Judge, this has gone far enough. She wasn't there. She doesn't know what happened. You've got the charges in front of you. Fine me or stick me back in the jug or whatever, but why question her? You can see she hates me. Anything she says will be prejudiced."

Consuelo flamed. "I do hate you but I'm not prejudiced. Have I ever been unfair to you? You're wrecked my house, worn out my car, jumped out of my window, pounded my piano..."

The Judge was thoroughly interested. "Well, 'pon my soul,"

Just then, into the court room galloped a newcomer—Chappie to the rescue. "Hey Terry," he yelled, "we sold the song and I got the moola. You honor, Your Honor, what's the bite?"

The Judge was sad. He hated to see this case end. "You goin' to pay, damages and all?" Chappie nodded. "The clerk of the court'll figure up the damages." He reached for a glass of water and accidentally pumped it in his lap. Dripping he rose and howled, "And I'm callin' a recess so the court can step out in the sun and dry out."

Terry said loudly, "We're flying straight to New York. Back to work, old nose to the grindstone."

Chappie was thrilled. "That's my Terry said loudly, 'Well, Chappie, glad that's settled. We're flying quicky, he handed seven hundred dollars to the clerk and grabbed Terry's arm. "Come on fella, we're on our way."

As they left Consuelo stood there with a funny tremor running through her, Terry gone. Terry out of her life forever. She should feel wonderful. Well, maybe she had gotten used to him the way you get used to a street drill outside your window. She was startled when Tony spoke.

"Guess the show's over darling." He smiled down at her. "Well, now that we can be married right away—why not here?—I'll let you in on a little secret. You know, last night after you called me and said you were on your way, an amazing thing happened. At first I wasn't very impatient and then little by little I began to miss you more and more. Suddenly I knew I couldn't go through life without you."

She was strangely quiet. "Really Tony?"

"Yes." His smile was tender. "I'm afraid you've won darling. I'll meekly answer all your 'whereas' and 'whys' from now on. But there'll be no reason for them." He was aware that things were not quite right. "Consuelo, what are you doing?"

She was holding up her hand, watching it intently. "Look Tony it doesn't tremble. I see you and it doesn't tremble. I'm here in the same room with you and it means nothing. My dear Tony, very simply, I don't love you any more."

Of course this was impossible. "Consuelo, are you all right?"

"Quite. This is a real cure. Wasn't it odd? Two months ago, two hours ago she'd have died for him. And now it was gone. There was no magic any more. She was quite, quite free."

He spoke frantically. "But you came here because you loved me."

She was bewildered. "No, I don't know. Then why? Oh Tony, when did I stop loving you? Maybe it's been weeks... maybe ever since..." Her hand went to her throat. She was stricken. "Oh Tony what have I done?"

He said, utterly dazed, "I'm sure I don't know."

She let out a wail. "I've ruined everything. All because of this mania I had for you." It came over her in a flood. Terry, dear marvellous Terry. "I loved him all the time and never knew it." She rushed to the door. "Oh... good-bye Tony."

Outside Terry and Chappie were just stepping into a taxi. "Terry," she called. "Wait. Wait."

He returned grimly. "Give my love to Eva."

Chappie was more to the point. "Princes, you're a dead pigeon."

The cab pulled away and Consuelo was in a fog. She moped. "Oh why does he always make things so difficult." She thought in circles. If she went to the airport he'd give her the cold shoulder. Then there would be a scene. She had no seat for the plane either, so that was out. An idea electrified her. Of course. There was only one way to do it and she'd get busy now.

It was just a half hour later that she was back in the courtroom.

Terry stood before the magistrate again, in a towering fury. "What's in this, Judge?" he demanded. "What's the idea of yanking me off that plane? Who says I committed grand larceny? What's the big idea?"

Even the Judge was puzzled. "Can't figure it out myself." He turned to his clerk. "Who's the complainin' witness?"

Consuelo moved forward. "I am Your Honor."

Terry almost jumped a foot in the air. "Oh, so that is your doing. Judge, now it must be obvious to you that..."

The Judge banged. "Look heah young man, you heckle this court once more and I won't put you in the bull pen I'll have you incarcerated for a year." Now he addressed Consuelo. "What's happened? You found out about that between leavin' this court and now, huh?"

"No, Your Honor."

"No? Well when did you find out?"

"I didn't, Your Honor. The magistrate's eyes bugged out. 'You see Your Honor, he didn't really steal my silver.'"

"What'd you say?"

"I said that he didn't steal the spoons."

The Judge let out a roar. "Then what are you doin' makin' a mockery of the laws of this state, havin' him arrested?"

Terry who had been listening suspiciously sprang forward. "There you are Judge. It's a frameup."

"QUIET. Answer my question Ma'am."

"Please Judge," she said tearfully, "he was going away."

He nearly fell off the bench at this irrelevance. "Goin' away? What's that got to do with it?"

Terry was triumphant. "You see Judge? Dismiss the case. There's been no theft."

She turned. "Do be quiet Terry. Your Honor, don't you dismiss anything. Not 'til we finish." Her eyes were misty. "I wanted so much to talk to him outside. But he thinks I'm a dead pigeon. And you see the way he turns on me."

The Judge was sympathetic. "Well, he does seem to be right sore at you."

Terry yelled. "Who wouldn't be? After what she..."

"Oh I don't," Consuelo said in a small voice. "I've behaved very badly to him. I've treated him abominably. Her whole life was staked on this moment. 'And now I have to make him understand that it was only because I didn't know I loved him.'"

Terry's patience was at an end. "Your Honor I have a plan to catch and..." He came out of the fog. "WHAT DID YOU SAY?"

"She said," the Judge told him, "that she loved you. But dogged if it makes sense to me."

Terry turned to her. "Did you say that?"

They faced each other, alone on a desert island. Sweet music seemed to be wafted on spring zephyras.

"Yes." She went to him, softly radiant. "Yes I said it darling. Right out loud. The way you said 'Banco.' And if ever again I treat you badly..."

They were in each other's arms, their lips ready to melt in a kiss. "I know," Terry's voice was a silken caress. "If ever again you treat me badly... I beat you and then everything will be all right."

There was a disturbance at the door. It was Chappie. "Your Honor I got built for him, I..." He stopped in horror as he saw the "cardboard lover," exchanging a long kiss with the Princess who was a "dead pigeon."

"Terry!" he bleated just once. "Noooooh..." He swayed and crashed to the floor in an old-fashioned swoon.

"Come darling," Terry said, "let's go where there's a little privacy."

Dreamily, he and Consuelo stepped over Chappie's prone figure and so to love.

To be shown at the Granada Theatre shortly.

Government War Risk Insurance

INFORMATION OF IMPORTANCE

TO PROPERTY OWNERS
AND ALL CITIZENS OF CANADA

Regarding

THE WAR RISK INSURANCE ACT

Government plan provides for purchasable insurance at low rates

The Government of Canada, by Act of Parliament, has set up a Plan of War Risk Insurance against damage to property caused by enemy action—by countermeasures taken against the enemy—by explosions of war munitions handled by third parties.

In terms of general information, it may be stated that the Plan provides a certain limited FREE COMPENSATION for damage to owner-occupied homes and to chattels, but the main feature of the Plan is that owners of most types of property can protect their property by PURCHASE of GOVERNMENT WAR RISK INSURANCE at very moderate rates.

This type of War Risk Insurance is not being sold today by private insurance companies, because of the risk involved. Consequently, the Government has established a national scheme to make it possible for each citizen in Canada to purchase the sense of security that comes from knowing that if his property does suffer war damage (and the war has come much closer to Canada in the last twelve months) he can call on the resources of Canada to help him make good his property loss.

HOW TO OBTAIN GOVERNMENT WAR RISK INSURANCE

The Fire Insurance Agents and Companies of Canada have volunteered to the Government the services of their extensive facilities and personnel, on a non-profit basis, thus avoiding the setting up of the large organization that otherwise would be needed to handle details of this nation-wide Government War Risk Insurance scheme.

YOUR FIRE INSURANCE AGENT OR COMPANY WILL GLADLY SUPPLY COMPLETE DETAILS OF THIS GOVERNMENT INSURANCE PLAN.

TO HOME OWNERS HOUSEHOLDERS AND OTHERS

Limited free compensation is provided under the Act for War Damage by enemy action to owner-occupied homes up to $3,000, Damage to Householder's Chattels, up to $800—for those of his wife, up to $400—for each child under 16, up to $100—for others, not householders, up to $200.

No policies are needed in this classification but insurance additional to the above amounts may be purchased.

Ask any Fire Insurance Agent or Company for complete details.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT IS PUBLISHED so that the public may have notice of the Government War Risk Insurance scheme. The information given above is not intended to be a complete resumé of the scheme. Full information regarding conditions, exclusions, etc., is available elsewhere.

News Budget From Knowlton

The August meeting of the Women's Missionary Society took place at the home of Miss N. A. Robb with the President, Mrs. N. H. Robinson, in the chair. There were eight members present.

The theme for the month was "The Bible, the Word of God." The meeting was opened by responsive reading given by Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. D. H. Mapes, Jr.

The hymn, "O Word of God, Incarnate," was read by Mrs. W. T. Godden, Mrs. H. L. Parkes, Mrs. D. C. Mapes and Miss N. A. Robb each taking a verse as her portion.

The President then offered prayer, after which the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison.

Mrs. C. B. Bullard read a thank-you letter from a member, after which Mrs. Robinson conducted a "Bible Quiz." Mrs. C. B. Bullard obtained the highest score and was presented with a prize.

The President then informed the Society of her departure from Knowlton and tendered her resignation as President of the Society. She thanked all the officers and members for their co-operation and support during her term of office.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Robinson by Miss Robb on behalf of the Society and expressed the regret of all at her departure from Knowlton but extended good wishes for her happiness in her new home. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and family are moving to Richmond, where they have purchased a farm.

The meeting was brought to a close with the benediction repeated in unison, after which the hostess served refreshments. Mrs. Elton Bockus assisted in serving.

Those present at the meeting were Mrs. C. B. Bullard, Mrs. W. T. Godden, Mrs. George Stone, Miss N. A. Robb, Mrs. N. H. Robinson, Mrs. D. H. Mapes, Jr., Mrs. H. L. Parkes and Mrs. Elton Bockus.

STREET EVENT BEING PLANNED FOR RICHMOND WATERLOO RED CROSS MEMBERS HARD AT WORK

Richmond and Melbourne Citizens Committee Sponsoring Dance in Aid of Boys Overseas.

Richmond, Sept. 8. — The Richmond and Melbourne Citizens' Committee met Tuesday evening under the chairmanship of Mr. H. N. Becker to make final arrangements for a Street Fair. Mr. Norman Ross acted as Secretary as Mr. J. Cameron, Secretary, had resigned, expecting to leave on active service shortly.

The following societies were represented: I.O.O.F., Mrs. G. A. Chamberlain and Mrs. C. R. Boast; Auxiliary to the Legion, Mrs. J. Kelly and Mrs. W. Lasonde; Senior Catholic Women's League, Mrs. C. Delaney and Mrs. Tremblay; Eastern Star, Mrs. R. F. Lockwood; Junior Catholic Women's League, Miss L. L. Landon and Mrs. Margaret Bedard; Spoon and Poni Institute, Mrs. V. Beattie; St. Patrick's Society, Mr. J. L. Burns and Mr. O'Donnell; Girl Guides, Miss M. Bedard; C.G.I.T., Mrs. C. R. Boast. Several members of the Legion were also present as was Mr. T. L. Tanner, Convener of the committee appointed to pack the parcels for the boys overseas.

The Band Concert and Street Fair in the Coliseum on Saturday, September 19, will be the outstanding activity in this community for the whole year. The entire proceeds are to be used to fill Christmas parcels for Richmond, Melbourne and other boys overseas and to keep the boys supplied with cigarettes.

The public is urged to co-operate by assisting the committee in every possible way to promote this worthy cause. There were one hundred and seven parcels sent last year to members of the armed forces, from this district. Many letters are on file from these boys expressing their gratitude for parcels received. Cigarettes have also been sent during the year.

The amount of tickets to date has reached four hundred, a testimony of the popularity of this event. There will be a grand door prize and twenty-five other attractive prizes will be awarded to those holding the lucky numbers.

The booths were allotted as follows: Apple Booth, Senior Catholic Women's League; Refreshments, Utophous Lord Aylmer Chapter of the I.O.O.F.; Bingo, St. Patrick's Society; Fish Pond, C.G.I.T.; Chocolates, Eastern Star; Soft Drinks, Cigarettes, etc., Auxiliary to the Legion; the latter society will also have an information booth where pictures of "Our Boys" will be on display; Fruit, Junior Catholic Women's League; Variety, Mr. George W. Ewing and Mr. F. Newell; Groceries, chicken and ham, Knights of Columbus. The popular fortune teller will again be in her tent.

The committee is endeavoring to secure a unit to demonstrate precision drill. Music will also be an added attraction.

A large number of fruit baskets are required for the Fruit Booth and citizens are requested to call 103 if they have any baskets to donate.

Mr. L. A. Wilson motored to Montreal one day.

Mr. John Boright spent two days in Montreal.

The Red Cross group are putting on a dance in the dance hall of the Glen Sutton Inn, on September 19th. The proceeds are to be given to the Red Cross. Henry Gilbert and his orchestra, of Montreal, are furnishing the music. Mr. Derochie is donating the use of the hall.

If there is anything the women volunteers in the Red Cross Branch at Waterloo make better than quilts it must be mine sweepers' mitts.

There are only 100 workers in the Branch, and this includes the women from the groups at Boscobel, Warden and South Stukely, but the volume of work turned out is consistent in standard and quantity in spite of hot weather, summer fairs, vacation seasons, but the extra tasks entailed with home canning and fall work such as the women in the rural areas are called upon to perform in providing for their families. The Red Cross work seems almost to come first in the Waterloo community.

The quilts are turned out in large quantities and all the materials are donated. Even the wool for padding is received from generous spirited citizens, which is hand carded as a further donation from a business firm. The volunteers in the Warden group specialize in the making of mitts, but the women in Waterloo are also masters of this fine art and generally turn out two quilts every day the workrooms are open.

However it is really on the mine-sweepers' mitts that Waterloo Red Cross Branch takes its rightful lead. These intricate, hand-to-make articles are turned out with speed and professional appearance that can be maintained only through the patient faithfulness to that task by the volunteers engaged in this particular work. Since the first of January these intricate, hand-to-make articles are turned out with speed and professional appearance that can be maintained only through the patient faithfulness to that task by the volunteers engaged in this particular work.

French and English volunteers in the Branch work in close association on the various quotas sent out from the Branch by the various Denims. It is twelve-year-old boys' kits, eight-year-old girls' clothing, layettes and dressing-gowns for children, all of which the Branch has specialized in during the past summer.

The large workrooms are donated to the Branch by Thomas Denims. It is a large, cool site of approximately twenty-five feet by forty feet in size. The wood for heating the headquarters in the winter is supplied by the town free and all the cartage needed is provided by Melvin Chantier, head of the local transportation firm.

Special waist-high cupboards were built by a local carpenter who gave his work as a donation to Red Cross. These cupboards are especially made so that the tops may be used for work-tables and the underneath parts as bins for quilts and cupboards for wool and other supplies. All finished woolen garments are kept in a large sealed container provided by the Mack Moulding Limited, who also donate large quantities of buttons for the boys' and girls' clothing which go into the kits. These large containers provide protection from moths, dampness and mice until a shipment is ready for Red Cross House. All cupboards and containers can be locked by one operation.

The work of keeping the Branch's activities progressing are in the capable hands of Mrs. R. B. Moyses, President, and Mrs. L. C. Godbout, who is Secretary.

MADE IN CANADA

"We'll have a real nest-egg after this war!"

OUR FAMILY went through hard times once. It taught us that you can't keep your independence without foresight and sacrifice. We learned what we could do without when we had to. So we know that a real nest-egg means more than just compulsory savings. It means all the War Savings Stamps and Certificates we can lay our hands on.

They're safe. And they're an investment every Canadian should make. Why? Because they help equip our fighting men to protect everything we've got. And because, too, they pay back $5.00 for every $4.00 we put aside now. We've got to win this war no matter what it costs — and we've got to prepare against the time when the boys come home.

Obituaries

KEITH COREY, OF STANBRIDGE EAST
Stanbridge East, Sept. 8. — This community was shocked on Wednesday, August 26, to learn of the tragic death of Keith Corey, at Beloit.

Born at Stanbridge East, the deceased was twenty-nine years of age, the third son of Delbert Corey and his wife, Etta Leavitt. The greater part of his life was spent in Stanbridge East and vicinity, where he was held in respect by all who knew him. He married Shirley McKelvey, of East Dunham, of which union there is a nine-month-old son.

The funeral service was held on Saturday, August 29 at the Stanbridge East United Church, with Rev. Mr. Lynn, of St. Hilaire, officiating, assisted by Mr. George Moore, local supplying pastor. The choir, with Mrs. Donald Blinn at the organ, sang three hymns, "Abide With Me," "Lead Kindly Light" and "Peace, Perfect Peace."

Those left to mourn his untimely death, besides his parents and wife, are four brothers, Clair Corey, of Brownsburg, Lyall Corey, of Stanbridge East, Pte. John Corey, of Petawawa, Ont., and Alden Corey, of Bedford; five sisters, Bessie, Mrs. Everson Miller, of St. Hilaire, Ruth, Mrs. Orville Boomhower, of Stanbridge East, Marjorie, Mrs. Lloyd Miller, of Bedford; Doris, Mrs. Nelson Boomhower, of Stanbridge East and Miss Hilda Corey, of Montreal, besides many more distant relatives. Burial was at Sutton.

MR. CHARLES BURNET, OF MONTREAL
Farnham Centre, Sept. 8. — This community was greatly shocked and saddened by the sudden death on August 23 of Mr. Charles Burnet, of Montreal, a former resident of this place.

Mr. Burnet, the eldest son of the late James Burnet and his wife, Elizabeth Leggett, was born April 25, 1875. The greater part of his life was spent here, except the last few years in Montreal, where he had employment.

On December 28, 1898, he married Miss Nellie Brevoort, of Georgetown, who survives him, also five children, Arlie, Eric, Jennie, Mrs. Kerr, Verena, Mrs. Cotin, all of Montreal, and Park in the Canadian Navy. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Bell, of Colgate, Sask., and Mrs. Morrison, of this place, and one brother, Guy Burnet, of Montreal, besides several grandchildren.

Prayers were held at the undertaker's chapel in Montreal and the remains were brought here to the home of his sister, Mrs. W. Morrison, where a service was held, conducted by Rev. Mr. Tanner, of Longueuil, and attended by a large number of friends and relatives from these parts.

The bearers were Messrs. Miles Johnston, W. L. Crawford, C. M. Powers, A. Mahannah, Lynn Bell and Albert Moynan.

The remains were interred in the family lot in the cemetery here.

The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, expressing the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The sincere sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Burnet and family and relatives in their bereavement.

ALBERT BROWN, OF SUTTON
Sutton, Sept. 8.—The people of Sutton and community were bereaved by the sudden death on Saturday, August 30, of a highly esteemed citizen, Mr. Albert Brown, who for the past many years resided in Sutton, and was employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway for whom he served thirty-seven years. Mr. Brown married Agnes Elizabeth Dance, of England, some forty-one years ago at Brigham.

The funeral service was held in the Grace Church here where Venerable Archdeacon Charters conducted the service. Hymns sung during the service, led by the church choir, were "Abide With Me" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." In a few chosen words Mr. Charters spoke of the character and life of the deceased. The bearers were H. E. Eastman, J. Bowers, F. A. Reynolds, P. Smith, A. Grieves and R. S. Eastman.

Mr. Brown was a native of England and a born soldier. He served many years with the Imperial Army and saw active service in India and

Obituaries

South Africa with the 28th Infantry (Gloucesters) Regiment, receiving the Queen's medal with three bars. He was mentioned in despatches, being promoted to a Queen's Sergeant at the Relief of Ladysmith. At the outbreak of the World War he enlisted with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, held title of Regimental Sergeant Major with the Second Reserve Park, Canadian Army Service Corps and saw service in England and France, where he received the Mons Star and Meritorious Service Medal, returning to Canada in 1919.

Later he enlisted in the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons as Lieutenant and Quartermaster and offered his services at the outbreak of the present war. He was remembered by the Great War Veterans of the district who were represented by a group including Colonel H. E. Eastman, T. Devlin, J. Boudrick, L. J. Holden, S. D. Taylor, A. C. Jameson, W. E. Hall, A. Grieves, P. Smith, W. Dow, S. R. Symonds, A. J. Todd, I. Bowden and K. Jenne.

Surviving Mr. Brown in addition to his wife are four daughters, Gladys, Mrs. John Payne, and Edith, Mrs. Clinton Boright, of Abercorn, Jessie, Mrs. Ernest Robinson, of Montreal, and Georgina, Mrs. Clyde Bertram Brown, of Montreal, and Douglas, Royal Canadian Air Force, and seven grandchildren.

Out-of-town friends attending the funeral were Mr. E. S. Deckstedt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Good, Mr. Auncleuk, and Mr. and Mrs. James Parry, all of Montreal; Mr. J. Timmins, Mr. J. Dimerick, and Mr. Bert Emmett, of Farnham, and Mr. John Payne, Sr., of Abercorn.

The many beautiful floral tributes testified the love and esteem in which Mr. Brown was held by all with whom he had come in contact. He will long be remembered as a good citizen and a great soldier.

MR. JAMES WARD, OF BOLTON CENTRE
Bolton Centre, Sept. 8.—The funeral service of James Ward was held in the United Church on August 30, with the Rev. Graham Barr officiating.

The bearers were Messrs. J. M. Cameron, G. E. True, A. C. Davis and C. C. Davis. The casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings.

Two favorite hymns of the deceased were sung by the choir, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Shall We Gather at the River."

The body was taken to Georgetown and laid to rest in the family lot there beside his wife, who predeceased him several years ago.

Mr. Ward was sixty-nine years old and spent his boyhood days in East Bolton. He was united in marriage to Gertie Flanders, of Fitch Bay, and they settled on a farm near Georgetown. After the death of his wife and owing to failing health, he sold his farm and came to Bolton Centre and made his home with his brother, Mr. William Ward, where he was faithfully cared for by his brother, assisted by his sister, Mrs. Ellen Fuller.

He leaves to mourn his loss his step-daughter, Mrs. Howard Rollins, of Fitch Bay; two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Willey, of Georgetown, and Mrs. Ellen Fuller, of Highwater; and a brother, Mr. William Ward, of this place, to whom the community extend their sympathy.

MRS. MINNIE E. BALDWIN, OF DIXVILLE
Dixville, Sept. 8.—The funeral service for Miss Minnie E. Baldwin, widow of Richard C. Baldwin, of this place, who passed away at Montpelier, Vt., was held from the home of Mrs. E. W. Damon, Maplewood Farm, on Sunday afternoon, August 30, and was largely attended.

Rev. E. C. Ward, of St. Cuthbert's Anglican Church, officiated, and at the close of the service Mrs. Fred L. McCoy officiated rendered as a solo the hymn, "Abide With Me." There was a number of beautiful floral offerings, silent tokens of love and sympathy.

The bearers were four nephews of the deceased, Messrs. Clarence Straw and Richard B. Martin, of Montpelier, Vt., A. F. Damon, of Island Pond, and L. W. Childs, of North Hatley. Burial was made in the family lot in the Crocker Cemetery.

Mrs. Baldwin was born in Dixville on October 16, 1856, on the farm which is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Laurin Drew, and was the eldest daughter of the late Albert E. and Annie (Fenton) Damon. With the exception of a few years at Island

Pond, Vt., the greater part of her life was spent in this immediate vicinity. She was a life-long member of the Anglican Church and a woman of integrity, and was highly esteemed by her many friends and neighbors.

The last few years were spent in Montpelier at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. G. Martin, where during her last illness she was tenderly cared for by the members of the family. In 1874 she was united in marriage to Richard C. Baldwin, who passed away in 1905.

Three brothers and three sisters also predeceased her.

She is mourned by two brothers, Messrs. B. C. and A. E. Damon, of Island Pond, Vt.; two sisters, Mrs. W. G. Martin, Montpelier, and Miss Emma Damon, of Dixville, and a large number of nieces and nephews and other relatives.

Among out-of-town friends to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Martin, Miss Annie-Belle Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Laird and Mr. Clarence Straw, of Montpelier; Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Damon, Mr. and Mrs. Huntress Mayhew, Mr. A. E. Damon, Mr. and Mrs. F. COOKSHIRE HAS EFFICIENT RED CROSS WORKERS

One of Most Active Branches in Eastern Townships Ships Two Hundred and First Carton of Articles to Headquarters.

For a town its size, Cookshire has one of the most active Red Cross Branches to be found in the Eastern Townships.

On a trip which covered nine different centres, this Branch showed that Red Cross work is an "all-out" effort among its 175 volunteer workers.

Not only does the Branch keep up its quota sent from Red Cross House in Montreal, but it specializes in making quilts, rolling bandages, raising funds for incidental expenses and, during the present week, arranged a Red Cross exhibit at its summer fair which showed almost every phase of the Society's work.

Last week the Branch shipped its two hundred and first large carton of finished articles to Red Cross House.

The nearby country points which work with the Cookshire Branch include Bulwer, Eaton, Island Brook and Leamed Plain.

Within the town's organization is the Bonne Entente group of fifty French women, who specialize in making quilts.

To date they have made more than a hundred of these, and their proudest possession is a letter which they received from Overseas expressing appreciation for one of their quilts.

Although the Post Office officials have donated the use of a workroom in their building, the space is not large enough for much work to be done there.

the premises of the Fraser Thornton Company which donates space for Mrs. Macrae's workers.

Not only do the women keep up their heavy programme of actual work, but they also raise funds for the incidentals which, although they can be secured from Red Cross House, they prefer to buy with their own contributions.

These incidentals include such things as buttons, tape, needles, thread and other small articles which are necessary for many of the garments made by the Branch members.

Many various types of donations are also received which fit in with this part of the activities. One company has made donations of buttons, the Singer Sewing Machine Company has made the use of machines for the workrooms, while the local trucking services take care of all transportation of materials without charge.

Local volunteers also assist with the distribution of the raw materials and returning of finished articles so that no time will be lost in the work being forwarded to Red Cross House.

Recently one of the volunteer workers received word that her son had been killed on active service, so as a token of tribute she turned over to the Red Cross her boy's victrola and books so that they might be placed in a recreation centre for use by other men in the service.

Another volunteer donated a large selection of records to accompany the victrola.

There are many more such examples at Cookshire. The people there have made a place in their very lives for the work of the Red Cross. The entire town is Red Cross conscious.

LODGERS AND CARDS WOBBLE TOWARD WIRE

Divide Labor Day Twin Bills To Keep Margin Of 2½ Games Unchanged

Brooklyn Beats Boston 11-4 Then Bows 5-3 as Bobo Newsom Is Shelled Off Slab—Cardinals Fold Before Pirates 11-6 Then Rally to Take Second Game 6-4—Yankees Widen Lead by Blasting Athletics 6-5 and 11-2.

Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals are giving the National League its typical tight finish, but both clubs seem likely to stay within the speed limit in the race down the stretch.

Both clubs looked tired and wobbly in dividing Labor Day Double-headers and kept the margin between them unchanged at 2½ games. Today the standing was:

W. L. G.B.L. T.P.
Brooklyn... 93 45 — 18
St. Louis... 91 46 2½ 17

At the end of the Dodgers' recent Western trip Manager Leo Durocher named the five pitchers he was relying on to bring Brooklyn home in front. They were Rookie Max Maceo and the veterans Whit Wyatt, Curt Davis, Kirby Higbe and Bobo Newsom. During the week-end all five worked and not one of the veterans, pitching on short rest, was able to last a complete game.

Yesterday at Boston Davis was removed after three innings although Dolph Camilli had given him a three-run lead with his 22nd homer in the first frame. The Dodgers ultimately won 11-4 with a six-run slug in the fourth frame, but Rookie Les Webber received the credit.

Then in the nightcap Newsom lasted less than six innings and was charged with the 5-3 loss. Hugh Casey, John Allen and Larry French also seeing service. Pete Reiser, the staggering batting champion, was removed for a pinch-hitter in the first game, but broke his slump with three hits off Jim Tobin in the second affair.

The Cardinals showed the extent of their reaction to pressure by letting Pittsburgh Pirates score eleven runs after two were out in the sixth inning of the first game although Max Lanier had been given a five-run lead. The Pirates won 11-6 but the Cards came back battling to take the nightcap 6-4.

In the American League the story was a bit different with New York Yankees sweeping a doubleheader from Philadelphia Athletics and gaining half a game on Boston Red Sox, who won the one encounter that escaped the Weatherman at Washington. This put the Yanks nine games in front and able to win another pennant by any combination of eight victories or eight Boston defeats from here out.

Roy Cullenbine, latest acquisition of the World Champions, hit a home run with two out in the ninth inning to decide the first game 6-5. New York bunched ten runs in the sixth inning of the second game to coast to an 11-2 verdict.

Boston clubbed Sid Hudson for 14 hits and beat the Senators 9-7 although Washington worked down to the ninth inning with the score tied.

St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers divided their doubleheader. Tigers took the first game 5-3 and the Browns won the second 3-0.

Cleveland at Chicago was postponed until today.

New York Giants pounced on Philadelphia twice 5-3 and 4-0 to extend the Phils' losing streak to 13 games, longest of the National League season, as Bill Lohrman and Bob Carpenter pitched five and four-hit ball, respectively.

Buck Walters finally achieved his 13th victory with a six-hit job as Cincinnati, held to seven blows by Bill Lee, nudged out the Chicago Cubs 3-1 in the first game of a doubleheader. Then the Bruins took the second affair on the strength of Lou Stringer's three-run double in the eighth inning.

The Labor Day programme drew 123,000 fans at seven parks.

TED SCHROEDER FIRST TENNIS CHAMP OF WAR

Veteran Frankie Parker Beaten 8-6, 7-5, 3-6, 4-6, 6-2 in Final for U.S. Singles Crown.

New York, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Ted Schroeder, a big, awkward-looking youngster with a "blowby" walk, something like Bob Feller's, is the United States' first tennis champion of the present war era.

He polished off the veteran Frankie Parker with undistinguished ease and relish in the final at Forest Hills yesterday, 8-6, 7-5, 3-6, 4-6, 6-2, proving himself a much finer tennis player than had been realized previously.

When Schroeder, with a much superior service, forehand and overhand game wanted to win any particular game or set, he simply went in and won it. The two sets he lost were window-dressing for the crowd of 9,000.

When he slammed the ball away for the final point of his victory, Schroeder spoke his valedictory to tennis for the duration. Within a week he expects to be in the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Schroeder shared another championship when he and Louise Brough won the final of the mixed doubles from Alejo Russell of the Argentine and Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd of New York, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4. Miss Brough also paired with Margaret Osborne of San Francisco to capture the women's doubles with a 2-6, 7-5, 6-0 victory over the Argentine and Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd.

Miss Brough scored an upset triumph over Miss Brough in the women's singles final on Sunday, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Schroeder's victory was a major league salary. That is what they're out there for—to get the other side out.

Of the batted ball which as early as the second inning deprived Hank Borowy of being the first big league slugger to turn in a no-hit, no-run performance this season, Second Baseman Gordon says: "The scorer obviously thought it was a hard chance and Cliff deserved a hit. I thought it was an error all the time. It was an easy ball and I played it normally. I got both hands on the ball and should have made the play. On 99 chances out of 100 I'd have gobbled it up. I wish I had a chance to play the ball over again. There'd be no doubt about it."

Official scorer explains: "Gordon was playing toward second base for Cliff, a right-hander, who hit the grounder to Joe's left. Gordon made a good play just in getting his hands on the ball and therefore couldn't be penalized for not making the out."

The scorer called it as he saw it and there was no change made when the final count showed how closely young Borowy came to the Hall of Fame.

Speaking of pitching, Borowy's shutout was the 18th turned in by a Yankee this year—six by Jumbo Bonham, four each by Borowy and Charley Ruffing, three by Spurgeon Chandler and one by Atley Donald.

This ties a 33-year-old record for the New York Americans—one originally established by George Stalling's 1909 highlanders.

It is further evidence of just why the Yankees roll on — year in and year out.

I sat with an old-time pitcher as Spud Chandler and Borowy swept the double-header with the Browns. No two pitchers put more into their work. They bend until their heads almost touch the ground in starting their windups. To them pitching is as hard work as it is to Bob Feller, who goes through all kinds of contortions.

"That's why pitchers are injured so often," remarked the old-timer. "Practically all of the pitchers of today lack the easy delivery of the old masters—Walter Johnson, Herb Pennock, Lefty Grove and Red Ruffing, to name four."

The old-timer may have something there.

Most of the current pitchers do it the hard way.

International League Playoffs To Be Decided By Today's Final Game

Syracuse is host to Jersey City tonight in an International League game that will break the three-place tie between the two and determine the set-up for the circuit's annual Governor's Cup series.

The Chiefs were denied a chance of taking the field in yesterday's windup of the league schedule and Jersey City skidded into the deadlock by dropping both its contests with Newark, the pennant winner.

Should the Little Giants triumph tonight they will move on to Montreal for the opening of the playoff series Wednesday night. Syracuse would remain at home to entertain the Bears in that round's opener Thursday night.

If Syracuse wins tonight, however, Montreal will open in the Chiefs' wigwam Thursday night and the two Jersey clubs will get together in Newark on Wednesday afternoon.

The semi-final rounds are for the best-of-five games and two-game opening series will be played at the sites to be determined by tonight's fracas. They will be followed by three-tit visits to the opponents' parks during the week-end.

In yesterday's finale, Newark swept two-game encounter with the Little Giants, 3-1 and 7-5. Buffalo lost the first of the two games at Toronto, 6-2, but Floyd Giebel's four-hit pitching job in the nightcap brought the Bisons a 1-0 triumph.

Montreal made sure of second place by taking the first game of its holiday menu with Rochester, 9-1, and then blanked the Red Wings, 8-0 behind Bob Chipman's steady fielding.

WILLIAMS AND REISER GUARD BATTING LEADS

Boston Red Sox Slugger Lifts Average to .352—Reiser's Long Slump Ends with Three Hits at Boston.

New York, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Ted Williams keeps going up and Pete Reiser keeps coming down, but thus far both have retained their major league batting leadership.

Williams, the long, lean slugger of Boston Red Sox who a week ago had a mark of .346, today had lifted his average to .352 and the only question about his winning the American League hitting crown for the second straight year appeared to be the distance over the rest of the field.

Reiser's long batting slump, which was interrupted but not ended by a trip to Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore, finally was broken with three hits at Boston yesterday. But even so the Brooklyn Dodger ace dropped from .328 to .324 during the week and would have lost the lead except that Enos (Country) Slaughter of St. Louis Cardinals, previously his most persistent pursuer, also skidded sharply.

Sherbrooke Scores 9-4 Victory At Farnham In Playoff Series Opener

Locals Score Seven Runs in Last Two Innings to Come from Behind Before 1,000 Fans in First Game of Provincial Intermediate Semi-Final Baseball Series—Series Will Be Concluded Here Next Sunday.

Farnham, Sept. 8.—A crowd of 1,000 fans filled the local stadium on Sunday afternoon for the opening games of a best-of-three Provincial intermediate semi-final baseball series and saw their favorites go down to a 9-4 defeat at the hands of Notre Dame, of Sherbrooke, who last year won the junior championship of the Province.

The Sherbrooke team, again handled by Tony Pinard, who pitched them through the junior wars in 1941, turned on their hitting power in the last two innings of the game, scoring four times in the eighth frame and three times in the ninth to come from behind and win going away.

Notre Dame drew first blood by scoring one in the opening inning. No more scoring was done until the fourth, when the home team started swinging their war clubs and tallied four times, shelling Nova Coriveau of the slab. Sherbrooke picked up another run in the sixth, to trail 4-2, and then cut loose in the eighth and ninth.

Lamotte, who toiled for Farnham, proved no mystery for the Sherbrooke outfit, being touched for seventeen hits, including doubles by "Lefty" Dube, who relieved Coriveau on the mound in the fourth, and Dion. Both Dube and Dion had two singles besides the doubles, while Lalulippe clouted three singles and Phillipon and Mariel two each. Lamotte issued two free tickets and fanned three.

During his stay on the rubber Coriveau gave up six hits and walked five. Dube, working five and two-third innings, gave only two hits, fanned four and walked two. The teams will clash in Sherbrooke next Sunday in the second game, and a third will be played if necessary to decide the series.

Yankees' Former Ninth-inning Home Run Decided First Game and Latter Pitched Six-hit Ball to Win Second.

Lou Finney, Red Sox: Drove in five runs with triple and two singles against Senators.

Bucky Walters, Reds, and Lou Stringer, Cubs: Walters pitched six-hit ball in first game for thirteenth victory and Stringer settled second game with three-run double in 8th inning.

Bill Lohrman and Bob Carpenter, Phils: Pitched double triumph over Pirates, former allowing five hits and latter four.

Ed Stewart, Pirates, and Frank Crespi, Cardinals: Former climaxed 11-run rally by hitting triple with two on in first game and latter made three hits to lead attack in second game.

Pinky Higgins, Tigers, and Harland Clift, Browns: Higgins drove in two important runs with two singles in first game and Clift made five straight hits, including a triple and two doubles, to account for all scoring in nightcap.
