In the Shadder. I'm a settin' in the shadder, Down in the Medler shade, An' my heart's feelin' no more, Ez I listen to the strain, Or the boberlink, a singin', Like his heart's full an' glad, Wife memory is a singin', Me, jist like a bumblebee.

Long years ago we sot here, My Mary Jane an' me, An' a finer, nicer lookin' pair, You'd scarcely ever see; We'd be down in the shadder, Next night we'd come again, But now I'm sore an' grievin', An' all for Mary Jane.

'Taint because she died and left me, She didn't go that way, For if death had bereft me, I'd not hev much to say, But she left me in the winter, When the joys begun to sing, Then she will me, she's agoin' ter Git married in the spring.

So I'm a settin' in the shadder, Ov the maple in the lane, An' my heart's feelin' no more, Ez I listen to the strain, An' winter's chased the summer, More'n twenty years ago, Since Mary Jane, she left me, On that dark December day, G. W. Gleason in Cincinnati Tribune.

FIVE MILLION POUNDS

CHAPTER XIII. CONTINUED. "And did she make any reply?" "She said she hoped it would be so, as it would be miserable both for her and for her uncle to live in perpetual estrangement."

Fosdyke was the next witness. He produced Mr. Maulverger's will, and, amid a general murmur of excitement, gave some details as to the amount of his wealth. By the will that had been duly executed in the month of August in London the prisoner inherited everything.

Early in October (the witness) had gone down to Great Lorton Hall on business, and had there received instructions from Mr. Maulverger to prepare a second will, by which, in the event of the prisoner marrying Mr. Cyril Featon, the property, which under the first will was to be vested in trustees for her benefit, was to be applied in the erection and endowment of public hospitals in the Australian colonies, with the exception of a sum of fifty thousand pounds, which was to be paid to Miss Standifield on the day of her marriage. When these details were given I thought that these people in court, and especially the many ladies who were in the galleries, turned to my darling with more kindly looks than those with which they had hitherto regarded her. "Poor fools! They could look upon that sweet face, and not read there the plain signs of purity and innocence. Yet no sooner did they know of the wealth which was now hers than they began to doubt and hesitate, and allow the strong conviction of her guilt which they had previously entertained to them that a woman who was at this very moment the owner of millions should be a vulgar murderer!"

There was one part of Fosdyke's evidence, however, which told heavily against us. It was that in which he related how, at the request of Mr. Maulverger himself, he had made Daisy acquainted with the terms of the new disposition of her uncle's property.

"And what did she say in reply?" was the question put by Hawke.

Fosdyke adjusted his pince-nez, and, with a momentary assumption of that air of self-satisfaction which had distinguished him in happier days, but which had undoubtedly been missing of late, said: "Miss Standifield is a lady, sir. I did not expect any other kind of attention when I told her of what was practically her disinheritance, and I was not disappointed."

"And how comes it, sir," cried Belmont, rising to cross-examine him, "that this will has never yet been executed?"

"I was leaving the hall, immediately after taking Mr. Maulverger's instructions, for Norway, where I had business to transact on his behalf. The fair copy of the will had to be made by my clerks in London, and I myself suggested that the matter might stand over till my return."

"Ah! You were going to Norway, you say; rather a stormy voyage at this time of the year, and you would of necessity be leaving your client, a delicate old man, for several weeks, yet you did not think it necessary to complete his will before your departure?" "I did not."

"Now, sir, are you quite sure that Mr. Maulverger was in a proper state of mind at that time to execute a will?" "I should certainly say he was; but I am no doctor."

"Was he not under the influence of an extraordinary degree of excitement about that period?" "He was certainly very much excited."

"Would you be surprised to hear that this excitement was such as to lead him to employ one of his servants to abduct Mr. Featon, the gentleman towards whom he appeared for some reason or other to entertain so extraordinary an antipathy?"

It was Daisy's turn to start and look surprised at this question, as, indeed, most persons in court did. I had never told Daisy the truth about my voyage to the north, nor should I have allowed that truth to be made known now but for the imperative demand of Mr. Belmont.

Fosdyke was manifestly disconcerted at the question. "Come, sir," cried Belmont, "I must have an answer." "I heard something of it."

"Heard something of it! Why, were you not aboard the ship in which that gentleman was pointing to where I sat--" "I was abducted?" "Yes, I know that such an abduction took place by the orders of Mr. Maulverger."

"Now, upon your solemn oath, did you not think that the deceased was not in a fit state of mind to manage his own affairs? And was not that the real reason why you never completed the execution of the will?" "I certainly thought him very much excited and prejudiced on that particular point, and I felt that on the whole it would be better to give him time for reflection before completing the will."

"In fact, you are prepared to swear that when you left him, two weeks before his death, he was so much excited that his mind was not in its normal condition?" "I think so."

Fosdyke was the last witness of any importance. It was now five o'clock, and everybody in court was exhausted. No one, therefore, was surprised when the judge announced that at this point the trial would be adjourned until the next day. Daisy was instantaneously spirited out of the dock, but before she left the waiting room below I was allowed to have a momentary interview with her. She was warm and worn; but her sweet composure enabled me to keep up my courage in her presence, and to assure her that, so far as I knew, all was going well.

I have no heart to write of the events of the next day. There was again the eager crowd of sightseers in court, and again all the actors in the dismal tragedy looked faded after their night of confinement at the neighboring hotel; and I was conscious that not only on myself, but upon my darling, the awful ordeal of the previous day, and of the sleepless night which followed, had told heavily. But she preserved the same air of sweet serenity which had distinguished her from the first.

Mr. Hawk's speech for the prosecution was the coldest, clearest and most merciless exposition of the facts that could by any possibility have been laid before the jury. He was no novice at his work, and I shudderingly felt when he sat down that he had not left a loophole by which Daisy could escape. That Mr. Maulverger was undoubtedly poisoned by strychnia on the night of October 24, that the prisoner was the person who must have committed the crime, and that she had a strong motive for committing it--these were the three points which he labored to establish beyond the power of refutation, and it was only too clear that he did establish them in the minds of nearly everybody in court.

A BREATH OF SPRING.

OUR FASHION EDITOR PEEPS AT NEXT SEASON'S STYLES.

Princess Dresses and Polonaises Are to Be Worn - Bonnets and Hats Will Come Down Over the Ears - Funny Little Pan-cake Hats - New Fancies and Colors.

The preacher says that in the midst of life we are in death, and it occurs to me that in the midst of winter we are in spring, for, behold! the spring bonnets and fabrics begin to show a little, like and early flower beneath the snow. They are naturally not to be displayed in the stores yet--at any rate, until all the winter stock is exhausted--but I have seen them, and it is like a breath of spring days to be able to tell of something belonging to that season.

First let me say that princess dresses and polonaises are to be in high style, and very pretty they are too. This season is out just like a princess gown, but shorter in front, and the line is lifted on the hips, with deep pleats, under buckles, stumps or buttons, raising it to quite high pinnacles, and leaving the back breaths to fall straight down, but on two or three I noticed that there was a slight looped effect in the back.

Probably there never was a garment designed so admirably well calculated to display a trim figure as the polonaise, and it should be a matter for congratulation that it is now possible to wear one. But the step from a polonaise to a Dolly Varden is a short one, and a waist-line is also expected to follow that.

We will be thankful for anything sent us, so it is not boots, which the French are about to try again to force upon us.

The most noticeable of the new spring fashions is that bonnets and hats are made to come down over the ears, more than ever like those of our grandmothers. One quite novel is made of yellow leghorn, fine and flexible, and this is a regular "cottage shape," with long sides. On the crown there are two rows of narrow black velvet ribbon, drawn down so as to accentuate the shape. The inside is faced with shell pink florentine, and on the top is a pinache of pink plumes, and two of them curl down inside the edge of narrow velvet ribbon, waists. These are warm, and with a light cape or fur capelet will be sufficient. I saw to day several very handsome gowns fitted and made in a way. Among them was a handsome black cloth suit for a young lady. The whole of the dress was black, but the vest front and cuffs were of white satin nearly hidden under a mass of jet passementerie. Several variations were made on a gown of black India silk, with the whole of the skirt accordion plaited. The waist had a corselet made of the same plaited velvet. The upper portion was of maize florentine. The puffed sleeves were of maize florentine.

There is an infinite variety in tea and house gowns, each surpassing the last. The more in rich colors, with slight but graceful floral patterns thrown over the surface, is much liked for this kind of gown, and when made with plenty of lace there could be nothing handsomer. There are several new patterns in laces, which virtually make new laces of them. For instance, the bourdon lace has a very delicate and careful imitation of real point at the edge. Bourdon venetian, real duchess and point de gene are now made in patterns, carrying out the designs of the edging lace. The insertions are laid flat on the tea gowns as headings to the frills of edging.

I found another novel but most excellent thing to-day, which I believe was said to be a design made by Mrs. Cleveland recently. It is a dress for expectant mothers, and as she no other gown has ever been so well designed for the purpose. The back has three deep box plaits falling from the shoulders under the deep pointed collar, which falls from a velvet V shaped imitation, both front and back. The collar crosses the breast and fastens loosely at the left side with a slight drapery, which lets the front hang in graceful folds. At each side a deep pleat. The sleeves are large and drooping and finish at the elbow under an embroidery frill. I should have said the dress was of tan cashmere, with brown velvet inset and forearm pieces. The ornamental portions were simply cashmere embroidered.

Like Her Elders. Edith, who is 8 years old, was invited to a children's party. Her blonde hair is perfectly straight, but was becomingly arranged, and she started off evidently well pleased with her personal appearance. On her return her mother asked: "Did you have a nice time, Edith?"

There was a moment's hesitation, and then the little girl responded: "Yes, I had a good time, but I should have had a better one if it hadn't been for my hair."

"Why, Edith, what was wrong with your hair?"

"Well, it don't curl, and all the other girls' hair curls. I shan't go to another party without my hair can be fixed in kinks."

The next week, when another invitation came for the little girl, her hair was curled and smoothed in the most approved style. "The hair mother had her up to a mirror and said: 'There, Edith, what do you think of it?'"

Edith regarded herself soberly for a moment and then turning slowly around, she said: "It's vain, but I like it."

A Youthful Bigamist. Recently a little girl six years of age was tried at the Berhampur (Japan) Criminal Sessions for having committed bigamy with a boy three years her senior, her husband being then alive. The parents of the children were accused of aiding and abetting them. As the girl was only six years of age she could not plead seven years of absence from her former partner. For three days these two desperate young criminals stood tearfully hand in hand in the dock while their respective parents were being charged with abetting the offense. It is pleasant to be able to record that the jury at length returned a verdict of not guilty, and the youngsters went cheerily home again with the smallest possible conception of what all the bother was about.

A Homely Request. Men of influence must be often amused at the odd requests made to them by persons ignorant of the limitations of human power.

While Sir Edwin Landseer was at Ballinacorney, painting a picture for the Queen, one of his models was a great brawny fellow, who had wandered into the Highlands from London, where he had been a coteranger. One day, when Landseer was painting the man said: "Mr. Landseer, you are often alone of the Queen; I wish you'd ask a favor of her for me."

"What is it?" answered Landseer; "perhaps she might grant it."

"Well, sir, you see I keeps a pig, and I should be very much obliged to her if she would let me have her swill."

A Missionary's Opinion. Miss Virginia Dox, a missionary, says there are people in Utah who never saw a Bible and she is of the opinion that more good would be accomplished if missionaries would devote their energies to christianizing polygamites than in seeking converts in foreign lands.

of that always genteel color. The prettiest of them all is the mordore. One very elegant model in brown had an under-kirt of seal brown velveta. Above each side. Around the bottom of this skirt there was a bias band of the same edged with a narrow braid of gold. There was a short redingote jacket of a sort of cedar brown, with a vest and a high Worth collar of tan cloth. Under the cape was fastened by a thick cord, and this was lined with gold colored silk. The whole outfit was a study of harmony in color.

For wear in the spring there are numbers of new fancies in velvet basque and which are to die singly under the chin. I cannot tell you how cunning and quaint this is. There was a hat made of violet and green straw, intermingled and woven into a fine, satiny surface. This had an aureole brim and a high peaked crown, surmounted by black and purple feathers and ribbon. Black velvet strings start on top of the crown and are drawn straight down to tie under the chin.

If we can judge of these pan-cake bonnets and some funny little pan-cake hats, we are of a surety to be treated to the choicest and daintiest of the headwear of a long forgotten time. But no one can say they are not pretty. Let us hope, however, that they are not the precursors of the redoubtable coal scuttle bonnet. With this style of pan-cake the sleeves grow larger, and the 1830 fashion is quite as startling as before, though, generally speaking, sleeves are not so very large as they were. Still, they are quite wide enough.

One of the new fads is to have wide ties of silk edged with lace, or all of lace, tying in an immense bow under the chin, or falling in a deep jabot nearly covering the whole front of the dress. Some of them when made of lace have dozens of little "stickpins" in rhinestone or other imitation jewels set along to hold the pleats in place. One that attracted my attention to-day had several pins of imitation emeralds, set to resemble a clove leaf, and though the stones were palpably cheap the effect was certainly pretty. Fashion does not require them to be real. Another tasty caprice was to have a corsage of two kinds of silk, one dark, with the light one as yoke, basque frill and large puffed sleeves. The lighter portion was done in regular pattern with quite large garnet beads. The effect was very novel and pretty. There are many other ways of utilizing the jewel beads, chief among them being the sewing of crystal or pearl beads on dancing dresses.

We return to the question of spring, we have several samples of a new, but very glossy and silky. This is shown in many very bright and rich colors, besides in soft, shaded stripes of gray to black or white. The new black goods of this kind are exceptionally handsome and will make up very well, besides being which, we are now told, is to be a rage on all gowns that will permit it. The new endora cloth is the most perfect Priestley silk warp harristie included. I notice among the things that will not be publicly shown until along in the middle of Lent a new cloaking for spring wraps called Campbell tartan and deacons, but it is reversible, and the facing is of large plaid in tartan colors. These will be made up into empire capes and York coats. The black on the surface are brown, blue or black. The same style of goods were given some outlandish name last season, but they did not appeal as strongly then as they do now under their new title. These goods in higher quality are worn a slight extent now.

RAILWAY MATTERS

T. A. MacKinnon to Take the General Management of the B. & M.

His Successor as General Manager of the Concord and Montreal Not Yet Known—Passenger Rates on Some Lines Demoralized—C. P. R. Connections.

T. A. MacKinnon, formerly of this city, but at present General Manager of the Concord and Montreal road, is about to cease to be connected with that road and to enter the service of the Boston and Maine Railroad.

As interest awakens in the city through the B. & M. meetings the country districts are not slow to follow. Christian Endeavor organizations west in Ontario and east in Quebec have arranged to run excursions over the Grand Trunk as follows:

A very urgent request for attendance of Eastern passenger officials at a meeting to be held to-day has been issued by Commissioner Blanchard, of the Central Traffic Association, Chicago.

A recent report of the Wabash says: The Detroit connection with Canadian Pacific has been arranged on the following basis:

It is reported from St. Paul that President Hill, of the Great Northern, who is now in New York, and is expected to visit Europe shortly, has a scheme on foot to circumvent the plan of the Canadian Pacific in regard to the proposed connection of the latter road with Duluth by means of the Duluth and Winnipeg.

To Protect the Chamelions. The judgment of Judge Dugas on Saturday, holding that Chamelions are not domestic animals, has caused the S.P.C.A. to resolve to take steps to have the law re-enacted, amended, so as to embrace all animals wild or tame.

How Mr. Nantel Dined. Hon. Henry Starnes gave a dinner at the St. James Club on Saturday evening to Mr. Starnes, Commissioner of Public Works, on the occasion of the latter's early departure for Europe.

Cars for the Caledonians. Mr. Franklin, superintendent of the Street Railway Company, promises to have the 15-cent service from Centre Street put through the tunnel between 7 and 8 o'clock, in order to enable people to reach Windsor Hill.

Fire On St. Lawrence Street. At 10:05 last evening the eastern portion of the brigade was called out for a fire at the corner of St. Lawrence and St. Catherine Street. It arose from a spark from the furnace in rear of the story.

Professor Killick's Lecture. The Killick's illustrated and instructive entertainment Saturday last on the methods of rescuing and saving the apparently drowned in the Day School of St. John the Evangelist, corner of Ontario and St. Catharines streets, afforded so much pleasure that it will be given another evening.

Protestant Workingmen. The regular monthly meeting of the United Protestant Workingmen's Benevolent Society was held last evening in the Engine Room, at the corner of St. John and St. Catherine streets.

PROVINCE OF QUEBEC, DISTRICT OF MONTREAL, No. 971. Circuit Court, Edouard Roy, Plaintiff, versus Cyrron Desjardins, Defendant. On the 1st day of March, 1894, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, the domicile of the said defendant, No. 403 Marie Anne street, in the city of Montreal, will be sold by authority of Justice, all the goods and chattels of the said defendant, seized in this cause, consisting of household effects, Terms cash, D. A. St. Amour, B.S.C. Montreal, Feb. 19th, 1894.

SUBURBAN NEWS

Indiscriminate fakirs sometimes run against a snag, as was proven yesterday by a clever arrest made by the Chief of Police at St. Antoine.

When arrested about two o'clock there was $2.50 in his pocket, so that in cash the day's business paid well.

There was a lively time at the Cote's Council meeting last night, Mayor Reardon presided. There were present Councillors Hutcheon, Elliott, Walker, Greig, Evans, J. H. Hutchinson and McCormick.

A petition was read from the proprietors of Clarke Avenue against granting permission to the Montreal Street Railway to enter that thoroughfare.

Councillor Hutcheon spoke on behalf of the mountain side tax payers, who he said had contributed their quota, during the last four years to the general and special improvement of the city.

The new Montreal Railway intended only to have one car every hour and would therefore disturb no one to any great extent.

Hon. J. K. Ward, who was present as a property owner on Mountain Ave., said that the street was too narrow, and the grade was one of the steepest in town.

After some discussion the Finance Committee reported that Mr. Minto, formerly known as treasurer, might be hereafter called comptroller, and that all municipal documents be signed by the Mayor and Comptroller instead of as formerly by Mayor and Secretary.

Yesterday was nomination day for the new election in St. Augustine Ward. H. Forgue, W. Robidoux, and A. Leduc, were the three candidates chosen.

More Incendiarism at Chicago. Chicago, Feb. 18.—Another of the too frequent World's Fair fires broke out this afternoon in the east wing of the Illinois State Capitol.

By Wire and Cable. BAY ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17.—A disastrous fire visited this place to-day, and the principal buildings of the town are in ruins.

ROME, Feb. 17.—It is reported that Marquis Curtiss, at present in Milan, Minister to Romania, will succeed Baron Fava as Italian ambassador to the United States.

THE HERALD'S GREAT BOOK OFFER

Readers of This Paper Can Get High-Class Literature at Nominal Prices.

THE PREMIUM LIBRARY'S WORKS The Latest Addition to It Is "Rab and His Friends."

Since The Herald, some three months ago first announced its book offer, it has distributed many thousands of volumes among its readers, and the demand increases steadily.

The books in the "Premium" are in one sense the dearest little volumes imaginable; in another, cheapest. They are just right for the pocket; are nicely printed on good paper, and are bound by a new system which permits them to open almost flat. They are in every way equal to ordinary twenty-five cent editions, but readers of The Herald, by following the directions in the coupon, can obtain them for a purely nominal price.

Many persons have taken every number and are waiting anxiously for new issues. The books represent the best authors, nothing trashy is allowed in this library. No. 27 of the library, which has just been issued, is the famous "Rab and His Friends," by Dr. John Brown.

Twenty-seven books are now ready for delivery by mail or at our office. 1. The Reveries of a Bachelor, or, A Book of the Heart. By Wm. Edmondstone Aytoun. This stirring ballad of Professor Aytoun of Blackwood fame, have their only rival in Macaulay's Lays of Ancient Rome. Their poetry is not lessened by the fact that they are to be met with in every school reader and in the repertoire of most sensible students.

2. Lays of Ancient Rome. By LORD MACAULAY. (BEAUTIFULLY ILLUSTRATED.) Macaulay's Lays are distinctively the very best of poetry and prose, and are full of energy. Like Scott's spirit-stirring ballads, they have a grandeur of style, with a freshness of breath, and a grandeur of power of expression. The English, no less than the Roman, have been benefited by the vigor and the sounding notes of the charge to battle.

3. The House of the Seven Gables. By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. This masterpiece of Hawthorne is full of the imaginative charm of romance. In felicity of touch, its author is unapproached by any writer since his own day. The work is, perhaps, the purest piece of poetic prose in all the range of American literature.

4. Cranford. By Mrs. GASKELL. "Cranford," in its charming miniature painting and sketches of character, recalls the best of Jane Austen, and is a delightful and a piece of old world social life in an English country village, descriptive of the feelings, habits, and character of the people of the little community. The story is quiet earnestness and with fine literary aptitudes in the writer. It is beautifully illustrated.

5. The Coming Race. By LORD LYTON "The Coming Race," by Lord Lyton, is a never and ingenious excursion into the realm of science, as the inventive genius of man in the coming time. It presents a curious and a very original and interesting environment, as we may see it realized in the sixteenth century, when human hands will be served by every resource of science, and mechanical contrivance—when the coming race, for instance, will be enabled to exchange domestic clips for ingenious and intricate footed apparatus, and have at command every appliance adapted to the changed social and industrial condition of things.

6. Dream Life. By R. MARVEL (DONALD G. MITCHELL). There is a profound insight into this world of the American classic. It contains a series of very vivid and picturesque studies of individual character and feeling. It has a seducing power over the reader, who is a faithful chronicler of the literary appreciation of the most thoughtful, though sometimes pathetic, poet.

7. Frankenstein; or, The Modern Prometheus. By Mrs. SHELLEY. Like Mrs. Crowe's "Night Side of Nature," Shelley's "Frankenstein" is a book every one should read. Its author has great imaginative power and a weird but original genius, here are passages in "Frankenstein" that appeal to the mind and make the flesh creep. And the book can hardly ever be forgotten.

8. A Book of Golden Deeds. By C. M. YONGE. This is just the book to put into the hand of a child, circulating a healthy morality, and inspiring the noblest feelings. Few books are better formed than this to develop and encourage the noblest and most heroic instincts of the young.

9. Mosses from an Old Manse. By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. Another delightful companion for idle hours is a collection of tales and papers, which the author entitled "Mosses from an Old Manse." Like all his works, it is distinguished by its simplicity and truth. Its high literary excellence commends it anew to public favor.

10. The Scarlet Letter. By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. A romance of intense interest, exhibiting extraordinary power of mental analysis and graphic description. For an ardent student of artism, as modified by New England colonial life, we have nothing like it in our literature. The passages in which the author touches the local manners and scenic features of the age and place.

11. Essays of Elia. By CHARLES LAMB. These charming essays are full of gay humor, interspersed with many a bit of happy puns and bright sayings, and are so carefully illustrated as they are, they are written with the most ease and grace, and composed in a style of rare delicacy and unobtrusiveness. Such material in the compass of a life—even a humble one—Lamb gives an impregnability to style and sheds a grace over every word.

12. Vicar of Wakefield. By OLIVER GOLDSMITH. This beautifully illustrated edition of a most English classic will increase its attraction for those who recognize the claim it has essentially a "home book" for the whole reading world. Goldsmith has shed over his work a halo of glory which is not to be surpassed in any other writer of his time. As Sir Walter Scott said: "I have read the Vicar of Wakefield in youth and in age, and return to it again and again, and bless the memory of an author who conveys so well a knowledge of human nature."

13. Paul and Virginia. By BERNARDIN DE SAINT PIERRE. This idyllic story, by a classic French writer the wholesome romantic classic, is a beautiful book, and has won a place for itself in the homes of almost every people who possess literature and can appreciate the work of genius. It may, with some literary propriety, be termed an idealized Robinson Crusoe, and has all the fascination of that renowned work. It is a book that is sure to go down the centuries, charming as well as edifying, gentle as well as strong, and it is a book that is a gem among the books of the "Premium Library."

14. Story of an African Farm. By (RALPH IRON) OLIVE SCHREINER. Under the name of plume of Ralph Iron, Miss Olive Schreiner has written an extraordinary and a story, full of graphic descriptions of the most appealing pathos. The author seems to have followed no recognized model of romance, but struck out a new path in fiction for herself. Her novel consists of a series of sketches illustrating the wild life of an ostrich farm in South Africa, and setting before the reader, with striking vigor, the problems which trouble a strong intelligence and an imaginative ambition, remote from any possibility of culture. The work which leaves an abiding memory on every reader is one of the most remarkable novels of the age.

15. Lays of The Scottish Cavaliers. By Wm. Edmondstone Aytoun. These stirring ballads of Professor Aytoun of Blackwood fame, have their only rival in Macaulay's Lays of Ancient Rome. Their poetry is not lessened by the fact that they are to be met with in every school reader and in the repertoire of most sensible students.

16. Lucile. By OWEN MEREDITH (ROBERT LORD LYTON). "Lucile," by the Lord Lyton, late Governor-General of India and British Ambassador at Paris, is a masterpiece of the French style, cast somewhat in the mould of Mrs. Browning's "Aurora Leigh."

17. Dreams. By OLIVE SCHREINER. Though unlike the "Story of an African Farm," "Dreams" has many of the characteristics which make the "Story of an African Farm" famous. The book is both interesting and suggestive, and besides its high literary qualities, it is a study of the human mind and moral problems which this clever writer delights to treat in her self and her fellow creatures.

18. Beauty. By ANNA SEWELL. The tale well deserves its great popularity, for it is wonderfully realistic, and makes a strong appeal to those who love dumb animals and possess the instinct of common humanity. It is a book to charm and impress all who have to do with horses, especially those who seek to suppress that most senseless of vices, cruelty to animals.

19. A CHARMING THEATRICAL NOVEL. The book chains the interest of the reader from the first chapter, and holds it fast by fascination and mysterious charms which the play, having one life in a minute world of its own, and another mysterious unknown world will always have for the people on the other side of the footlights.

20. Sartor Resartus. By THOMAS CARLYLE. Few men have given so thoughtful an impulse to the intellectual and moral life of his age as Thomas Carlyle. He is perhaps the most profound, the most earnest, the most original, the most original, and the most original writer of the century. With great earnestness of thought and a marvellously powerful and descriptive style, he has enriched the literature of the time as no other writer has enriched it. "Sartor Resartus" (the tailor's trade) is the same type as Carlyle's own character. It is a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind.

21. The Pleasures of Life. By SIR JOHN LEBROCK, Bt. This is one of the most instructive as well as the delightful books of the time. It is written in a style of rare beauty, and is a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind.

22. The Lady of the Lake. By SIR WALTER SCOTT. This, the most popular of the great modern troubadour's poems, is of the same chivalric type as "Marmion," and is a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind.

23. Mornings in Florence. By JOHN RUSKIN, LL.D. There is no greater writer of English prose than Ruskin; his diction is magnificent, while his feeling for the beautiful in art or in nature is unbounded. He is a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind, and a study of the human mind.

24. Rab and His Friends. By Dr. JOHN BROWN. This intimitable tale, by a notable Scottish physician, one of the most genial of men, has won its way to the universal human heart. It is a pathetic story of canine sagacity and fidelity, for Rab is a dog, and "his friends" are an old Scotch carter and his wife, "Ellie." The story tells of how the latter falls ill of a fatal malady, and is taken to the infirmary at Edinburgh, closely followed by her faithful attendant, who watches by her bed, day by day, and only leaves the hospital when his master comes with his cart sorrowfully to take his old helpmate home on her last journey. The story is beautifully and sympathetically written and is full of tender touches of human nature.

FINANCIAL.

MONDAY, Feb. 19.

There was more activity on the Local Stock Exchange to-day than has been the case for many weeks.

The London market was reported as being dull and steady for American and Canadian securities.

To-day's highest, lowest and closing prices, the number of shares sold, and the net changes from yesterday's closing prices for actual sales were as follows:

Table with columns: Description, High, Low, Close, Change. Lists various stocks like Canadian Pacific, Dominion, etc.

Ontario Lands and Oil Co. The annual meeting of the Ontario Lands and Oil Co., Limited, was held on Wednesday, January 31st, in London, Eng.

The number of wells drilled during the year ended at that date was 29, making the total number being worked 161.

The severity of the winter of 1892-93 considerably interfered with the oil business in Canada, and the continued frost during an expensive overhauling of the wells to be necessary, which has been duly charged in the profit and loss account.

A further loss has been suffered by the collapse of a local iron-mining company, in which this company held nearly $1,800 in shares, and these shares have made a debit balance to the company's working for the year.

The indebtedness in Canada will be considerably reduced during the present year by the sale of some of the surplus lands as provided for in the scheme of reconstruction of the oil company, and when the liabilities are completely settled, the well sinking and production of oil can be further augmented.

THE DOMINION COAL CO.

The syndicate which about a year ago secured control of the principal Nova Scotia coal mines, and has since then been working them under the name of the Dominion Coal Co., held its first annual meeting in Boston last week.

THE QUEBEC LOAN.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The arrangements have now been completed between Messrs. Coates, Son & Co., bankers (through Harson Bros., financial agents, of Montreal), and the Quebec Government for the purchase of 200,000 of four per cent. Provincial bonds, which will probably be shortly put up on the London market by Coates, Son & Co., say that the terms obtained by the Quebec Government show a marked advance upon those obtainable last year.

MONDAY, Feb. 19.

In the case of Andrew J. O'Neil, insolvent, E. Quintal was appointed provisional guardian, but declined to act. Mr. Thomas Liggett has been appointed in his place.

A meeting of the creditors of Herman S. Scheyer was held this morning, when Amedeo Lamarch and Wm. A. Caldwell were appointed curators, and Michel Benoit, R. A. E. Greenhields, James Baxter and Louis H. Boisseau inspectors.

At a meeting of the creditors C. Collette, Mr. C. Desmarais was appointed curator. The inspectors appointed were: Charles Rossoni, and Louis Wilfrid Talmesse.

Mr. Jules J. Germain, of St. Hyacinthe has been appointed liquidator to the estate of A. Leost and Co., St. Hyacinthe, in liquidation.

Mr. L. P. LeBel, was appointed curator of the insolvent estate of W. C. Acteson, New Carlisle.

HALIFAX, Feb. 19.—J. F. Burns and Co., produce merchants of Kingston county, this Province, have made an assignment to Amos Burns, of De Long and Seaman, of Boston. Their liabilities are about $20,000; assets not stated.

New York Stocks.

Messrs. L. J. Forget and Co. received the following by direct private wire from New York:

The Stock Market was very feverish and irregular. The traders as a general thing continued bullish and they lost no opportunity to sell stocks and in depressing them they endeavored, for purposes of their own, to bring about as low a level of prices as they possibly could.

It was natural that D. C. F. should go down. Peoria and Chicago sold it, and the D. C. F. insiders milked the stock, as they will do every opportunity. As far as the active rally is concerned, there is nothing to say. It is a "catch-penny" speculation.

We feel bullish upon Gas. On a slender margin the stock may not be a purchase, and those that buy it thinking that it is going clean out of sight on the bull side, will lose their money.

MONDAY, Feb. 19.

There is very little doing in Canadian wheat markets at present, and what business there is, is almost exclusively on millers' account.

With regard to prices, the feeling is somewhat easier, a natural consequence of the depression in Chicago. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is held at about 77c, west of Montreal freights; prices to farmers are about 45c to 46c; No. 2 hard is quoted proportionally less.

COMMERCIAL.

MONDAY, Feb. 19.

The official visible supply issued to-day gives what a decrease of 893,000 bush, corn an increase of 787,000 bush, and oats a decrease of 345,000 bush.

According to Meredith and O'Brien's special Chicago advices, receipts of grain in Chicago to-day were:

Wheat, 27 cars; contract, 8 cars. Corn, 423 cars; contract, 10 cars, 133 cars; contract, 81 cars. Hogs, 28,000.

To-morrow's estimated receipts are: Hogs, 28,000; wheat, 75 cars; corn, 750 cars; oats, 225 cars.

Minneapolis received 100 cars wheat to-day and Duluth 57 cars.

Fifteen loads wheat have been taken for export.

On the curb at the close, May wheat puts were quoted at 57 1/2 to 57 1/4, and calls at 53 1/2.

Following shows the wheat in sight this week, and at corresponding periods:

Table with columns: Description, 1894, 1893, 1892, 1891, 1890. Lists wheat in sight and on passage to various ports.

Foreign grain markets, according to Beecham's report, are somewhat quiet and steady.

On passage to the United Kingdom, 23,485,000 bushels, 22,480,000 bushels, 21,480,000 bushels, 20,480,000 bushels, 19,480,000 bushels.

On passage to the Continent, 6,988,000 bushels, 6,988,000 bushels, 6,988,000 bushels, 6,988,000 bushels, 6,988,000 bushels.

Exchange in New York.

Messrs. W. L. S. Jackson & Co., foreign exchange brokers, Notre Dame Street, have received the following from Messrs. C. Schumacher and Co., New York:

The week which elapsed since our last review of the 9th inst. has been, like its predecessor, conspicuous only for dullness and stagnation. The supply of commercial bills shows a further decrease this week.

The demand for the import trade, however, although very scanty, seems to have been somewhat in excess of the supply, which resulted in a gradual advance aggregating 1/2 per cent since our last report.

The rates ruling to-day are now again dangerously low, and the gold-export point, and unless something happens to change the present situation we may look for such gold exports very soon.

Money in London, 1/2 per cent.

Chicago Markets.

Messrs. Meredith and O'Brien received the following by direct private wire from Counselman and Day, Chicago:

Wheat ruled weak from the start, although the opening price was 1/2 higher than the close on Saturday, owing to some curb buying caused by the bullish feeling, induced by the considerations of weather movement interior and abroad, cables and Minneapolis quotations.

The highest, lowest and closing prices in Chicago to-day are reported as follows by Meredith and O'Brien:

Table with columns: Month, Op, High, Low, Close. Lists prices for Wheat, Corn, Oats, Pork, Lard, Short Ribs, etc.

PRODUCE AND PROVISIONS.

The receipts of produce and provisions in Montreal to-day are given as follows:

Table with columns: Description, G.T.R. C.P.R. Canal Total. Lists Butter, Eggs, Lard, Bacon, etc.

CHEESE.—Nothing new can be said of the cheese situation. Shippers do not appear to be getting any orders from the other side, though reports of the New York market go to show that shippers there are pretty generally buyers, and in one or two instances as high as 1 1/2c has been paid on choice selections.

On the curb at the close, May wheat puts were quoted at 57 1/2 to 57 1/4, and calls at 53 1/2.

Following shows the wheat in sight this week, and at corresponding periods:

12c to 14c can be quoted as a fair idea. Really fresh stock holds fairly steady on the basis of 20c.

DRESSED HOGS.—The position of the market is much the same. Business is very light, and packers are holding off owing to the uncertainty in the tariff. Prices are unaltered, and good stock is procurable at 85.75 or thereabout, f.o.b. West. On spot 85 is thought to be about the idea for car lots.

Oat tongue, 2 lb., per doz., 0.00 to 0.25.

GRAIN.—The feature of the market at present, is the firmness displayed by established prices. Offerings are not large, and holders do not seem disposed to trade at other than their own figures; 42c was the price generally asked for No. 2, with a slight premium for 41c for immediate delivery. The speculative inquiry is very light, and material falling off. Peas and barley also show a fair volume of activity, but nothing has turned up out of the usual in these lines. Rye is dull. CITY HALL NEWS.

Council Meeting and Council Meeting Thursday.

Five Aldermen Call a Meeting of the Council for Thursday on the Mayor's Refusing to do so—No Change in the Number of Committees.

Life is once more being instilled into civic affairs. The aldermanic caucus is to be held this afternoon at three o'clock and a lively time is expected by some when the different factions propose their candidates for chairmanships and the seats on the choice committees. Others say that the whole affair is cut and dried, and that everything will go along smoothly, alleging that the differences have been settled and the hatchet buried in many instances in private caucuses.

The City Council meeting will be held on Thursday. This was decided at 3:30 yesterday afternoon, when Ald. Rainville and Marsola called on City Clerk David with the following requisition signed by themselves and Ald. Smith, Beausoleil and Leclerc.

THE ALDERMEN CALL A COUNCIL MEETING. The undersigned Aldermen of the City of Montreal call on the Mayor to do so, a special meeting of the City Council for Thursday, the 22nd inst., for the purpose of forming the permanent committees of the Council, and we request the City Clerk to call the members of the Council, the whole in virtue of clause 68 of the Charter.

Ald. Beausoleil and Leclerc called on Mayor Villeneuve yesterday morning with a requisition signed by themselves and Ald. Prevost, and asked the Mayor if he would call the meeting of his own accord. Mayor Villeneuve replied that he would not call the meeting of his own accord. He said that he would call the meeting of his own accord.

THE INAUGURAL MEETING. The inaugural meeting will in all likelihood be held on Monday next. Thursday's order of day is for the appointment of committees only.

It is not likely that there will be any reduction in the number of committees or in the number of representatives on each committee. The by-laws of the council would have to be amended before any such change could be made. There will, therefore, be the same number of committees as at present, at least, be eleven committees as heretofore with seven representatives each, although it is understood that Ald. Smith will introduce an amendment providing the amalgamation of certain committees.

From what could be gleaned from various sources yesterday it is thought that Ald. Hurteau and Prefontaine will retain their chairmanships, although Ald. Beausoleil will probably be elected as a candidate for the Finance Chairmanship. The Markets, Light, Health and Mount Royal Park are mentioned as committees which will be presided over by French-Canadians, while the Police, Fire, Water, City Hall and Parks and Amusement will have English speaking Chairmen. If the eleven committees are retained and the number of representatives on each unchanged, the 20 aldermen will not have almost time for the next two years, if they attend conscientiously to their duty.

INCREASE IN SCARLET FEVER CASES. The mortality statistics amongst the Catholic population for last week show that there were 27 deaths from scarlet fever alone. This is an unusually high death rate, the highest in any previous week— from both denominations—being 25, in cases of scarlet fever, and one of measles completed the list of deaths from contagious diseases. There were also twelve deaths from meningitis, 9 consumption, 3 bronchitis and 2 pneumonia, the total daily death being 132 from all causes.

Dr. Beaudry, of the Provincial Board of Health, thinks that both wings of the Civic Hospital should be utilized for the scarlet fever outbreak, one each under the control of the Notre Dame and General Hospitals respectively. Dr. Laberge states he has no objection to one wing being occupied for this purpose, but he does not wish to give up the entire hospital in case a sudden outbreak of smallpox should occur. Mr. Dore's cap of the cases known since January 1 shows that the cases are usually confined to the narrower streets and the red marks used to indicate the house in which the disease was located are usually in small clusters, this being almost invariably the case, although nearly all the districts in the city seem to have been affected.

RETURNING OFFICERS CENSURED. St. Lawrence Council, Royal Templars of Temperance, Point St. Charles, have passed the following resolution unanimously:— We, the officers and members of the St. Lawrence Council, Royal Templars of Temperance, in council assembled, having learned through the press of the loose and careless manner in which the late elections were conducted, thereby causing many citizens to lose their votes, and also endangering the election of Alderman Turner, our temperance representative, who lost twenty votes out of a majority of twenty-seven, do hereby express our entire condemnation of the action of the Council, and do hereby appoint our officers to act as returning officers. We also express our condemnation of the returning officers who made such simple and glaring errors that a school boy, with only a few days' work, could have avoided most of them.

J. E. Vanier, C.E., has deposited the homologated plans of St. Denis Ward in the City Hall. The plans, which were prepared by Mr. Vanier, comprise twenty-eight sheets, two of which are used as indexes.

Ex-Ald. Tansey stated positively yesterday that he could prove that Ald. Turner could not qualify, and he would contest the latter's election on that and other grounds. He has retained Mr. Bisillon, and states he will enter the action shortly.

Tickets for Irving. Tickets for the Irving performance will doubtless be at a premium ere the week is over, but although the superiority of Hirsch's Terquid Mixture is recognized, it still remains at the same uniform price of many of its inferior competitors. Headquarters, Hirsch's, opposite Post-office.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Little Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, and disordered stomach.

Their gentle action and good effect on the system really make them perfect little pills. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection."

CORN EXCHANGE ASSOCIATION.

A Flour Inspector Needed—Reduction of Canal Lockmen.

The newly elected committee of management of the Corn Exchange Association held its first meeting yesterday, there being present: D. G. Thomson, President; Wm. Stewart, Treasurer; F. Craig, R.M. Esdaile, W. A. Hastings, Joseph Robillard, Adam G. Thomson. The President appointed Robert Bell as acting President for the year. The Council of the Board of Trade having invited nominations for the Boards of Examiners for grain and for flour, the names of certain members were approved for the respective boards.

The matter of excessive shortages of grain lighted from the grain elevators in the harbor, which was brought up at the annual meeting by Mr. Alex. McPhail, was considered, with the result that it was resolved to communicate with the companies which regulate the locks. The need of a flour inspector being felt by many members in that trade, and a disposition existing on the part of some of them to guarantee a certain income to an inspector, was agreed to call a meeting of members of the trade to call a meeting to discuss the matter.

Attention was called to a paragraph in an evening paper stating that it is the intention of the Department of Canals to reduce the number of lockmen on each lock in the St. Lawrence canal. The committee was of opinion that it was very unlikely that the Department would take such action, but it instructed the secretary to enquire of the Department as to whether there was any foundation for the Star's statement.

It was agreed that the committee should meet throughout the year on the first Monday of each month.

Prof. Carlyle on Coal. A lecture will be delivered this evening in the G. T. R. L. & S. hall, Point St. Charles, by Prof. W. A. Carlyle, of McGill University, his subject being "Coal and Coal Mining." Prof. Carlyle has had practical experience in the coal districts of the Province and will undoubtedly be a most interesting one.

Liquor License Applications. Three hundred and sixty applications for hotel and restaurant licenses have been received by Mr. Archambault, Clerk to the License Commission, up to date. Last year this time only 90 had been received. The increase is due to the fact that under the new law they have to be in by a certain date. All applications must be in by Saturday next or they will not be entertained.

New Steamship Line. There is likely to be a new steamship line between Montreal and Toledo, Ohio. C. A. Jacques, of Montreal, and A. B. Mackay, of Hamilton, have just returned from Toledo, where they made arrangements for the establishment of the line. The boats to be used in the service are the Acadia and Melbourn. These boats are amongst the finest in the passenger and freight service on the lakes. It is proposed to run these boats so as to connect with ocean steamships running to Great Britain. The boats carry 100 passengers and 600 tons of freight.

Amherst Land Park Co. The annual meeting of the Amherst Land Company was held recently, and the following were elected as directors for the ensuing year: Geo. Ross Robertson, Thomas Gauthier, A. Haig Sims, Fred E. Nelson and Albert J. C. Roberts. The four first named were re-elected. The directors met at 145 St. James street yesterday forenoon and elected officers. Geo. Ross Robertson was elected President; Thomas Gauthier, Vice-President, and C. E. Bouthillier, Secretary-Treasurer. Routine business was then proceeded with.

Marriage at Trinity Church. On Thursday evening last at Trinity Church, St. Denis St., the marriage of John Walter and Miss Sidnie Jones, both of Montreal, was solemnized. The Rev. Canon Mills, assisted by Rural Dean Saunders officiated. The bride was handsomely attired in brown silk, and wore a veil of white lace. Miss Lizzie Smith was the bridesmaid, and she performed her duties most gracefully. The groom is well known in railway circles having for some years been in the employ of the C. P. R., M.P., expressing the pleasure the club's secretary in Montreal.

Mr. Langelier's Denial. Mr. Francois Langelier, advocate for the defence in the case of Angers vs. Paquet, writes to "The Quebec Chronicle" denying the journal's statement that he had refused to undertake the case, owing to the nature of the exception a la forme made by the defence. Mr. Langelier states that he has been from the outset consulted with the case, and he says that the "Chronicle" is not justified in calling the plea "shameful," and on the contrary that it is legitimate and supported by many precedents. The exception is in effect that in his deposition Mr. Angers did not give his true name.

The Macdonald Club. The Macdonald Club resumed its weekly meetings at the Walford Hall last evening, under the presidency of Mr. C. A. McDonnell. A letter was read from Dr. Montague, who, the officers of the club, also endorsing the invitation gave him to deliver an address under its auspices, and asking for a few weeks' time in which to fix the exact date of his contemplated visit.

A question of tendering Hon. John S. Hall, Provincial Treasurer, a reception at which he would deliver an address on the financial condition of the Province, etc., met with general favor. The President and Secretary were appointed a committee to take upon Mr. Hall and ascertain a date for the proposed meeting. It was also decided that Messrs. James Crankshaw and Francis Topp prepare two papers on "reform and improvement in conducting meetings by ballot" to be read on Monday next. A musical programme is also being prepared for the meeting.

All disorders caused by a bilious state of the system can be cured by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. No pain, griping or discomfort attending their use.

RICH LANDLORDS—POOR TENANTS. Knights of Labor Condemn the Lease System. The report of River Front Assembly Knights of Labor, presented at their last meeting, indicates a deplorable state of affairs in the poorer districts of the city. Mr. Ponton, in reading the report, said that in St. Lawrence and St. Louis wards, where he had been, nearly all the houses were plundered with a view to the tenants. This was due to lack of work, which prevented the tenant from paying rent, to the uninhabitable condition of many of the houses, and to an increase in rents by landlords. In places he had found as many as three families in a house of as many rooms. At the close of the meeting a resolution was passed condemning the lease system as it exists in Montreal.

Their gentle action and good effect on the system really make them perfect little pills. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection."

Mrs. E. St. Pierre, No. 146 Church st., Ottawa, says: My sister caught a very bad cold and was completely cured after using two 25c bottles of Dr. Lavolette's Syrup of Turbentine.

"IN THE ENEMIES' CAMP."

H. ST. LOUIS' ACTION AGAINST FATHER LACASSE.

The Canada-Revue Case—Interesting Matrimonial Suit—Actions Against the City.

The case of Horace St. Louis vs. the Rev. Father Lacasse was decided by Judge Davidson yesterday, when he rendered judgment on an answer-in-law. The action which was for $10,000 was taken by Mr. St. Louis against Father Lacasse and Cadieux, and Demone, the publishers of his pamphlet, "In the Enemies' Camp," and alleged that the work contained language and references, reflecting on him. In this work Mr. St. Louis was referred to as a renegade, an excommunicated member of the church, an enemy of French-Canadians and unfit to associate with them. The answer-in-law prayed for the rejection of paragraphs 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, 15, except the first three lines; 16, 17, except the last sentence of the plea of the Rev. Father Lacasse. Mr. St. Louis was accused by paragraph 2 of being a collaborator on the Canada Revue. Paragraphs three and four set forth that Father Lacasse as a Catholic priest was qualified to assert the rights, powers and privileges of the church and one of its adherents. Paragraphs five and six asserted that those who lost their religion were in danger of losing their nationality. Paragraph nine claimed that the authorship of the work was in the exercise of any sacerdotal or ecclesiastical function or office. The writing of the libels was shown to be a voluntary act. Paragraph nine declared that the action taken by the Canada Revue against the Archbishop was intended to prevent the exercise of the ecclesiastical jurisdiction in the sense of the promulgation of a Bull by the Pope, referred to in the action.

The Judge referred to the ruling of the alleged libels was shown by the above paragraphs to have been a voluntary act, and that the plea granting him special immunities was irrelevant to the charges brought against him. The defendant must justify according to the public civil law of the Province. Paragraphs 3, 4, 5, 6, 9 and 15 were therefore struck out. As to the costs His Honor asked Mr. St. Louis to produce authorities to show that he was entitled to them.

Paragraphs 15, 16 and 17 still remain to be considered.

CANADA REVUE CASE. The Canada Revue case is expected to come up before Judge Davidson this morning. All the witnesses have been subpoenaed, and it is possible that the case may be delayed for another day, owing to the two unfinished cases on hand.

WANTS HIS WIFE TO RETURN. An action has been taken by Edward Cree against his wife, which will doubtless prove exceedingly interesting. It is alleged that Mrs. Cree has left her husband and gone to live with another man, and she is ordered to return or that in default of so doing Mr. Cree shall be empowered to seize her wherever he may find her.

NOTES. Two actions have been entered against the city, one by Dame E. Stuart for $7,200 and another by M. J. McFarley for $5,000.

An action for $20,000 damages has been entered against La Banque Nationale by Dame M. L. Marcotte.

Actions for separation as to property have been entered by Dame A. Lefebvre and Z. Charlebois, and Dame A. Lefebvre and M. Lefebvre.

Judge Teller sat in one of the divisions of the Superior Court in all the cases mentioned in this column.

Judges Loranger, Archibald and Pagnon opened the February term of the Court of Review yesterday morning.

PETER MITCHELL'S LETTER. A. F. Gault Tells How it Came to be Written. In a telegram from Newcastle, N.B., yesterday, the Hon. Peter Mitchell says that he did not authorize the publication by The Toronto News of the correspondence between himself and Mr. A. F. Gault in reference to the late Sir John A. Macdonald. The letter, he states, was written solely for his personal vindication to Mr. Gault and others, and the only one who had permission to publish it was Mr. Gault, but he himself had repeatedly refused to publish it.

A. F. Gault was seen last night, and said: "I have not given any authorization to publish the letter. I only showed it to one person, a very intimate friend. The correspondence between myself and Mr. Gault is confidential, but Mr. Mitchell did not consider it so. He gave me permission to publish the letter, but I will never do so, because I considered it private."

"How did the letter originate?" Mr. Gault was asked. "Coming down in the cars one day Mr. Mitchell made some remarks about Sir John Macdonald, to which I objected. I spoke to him then, and afterwards wrote him a letter in which I stated my reply. I remonstrated with him when I heard he intended to publish it, and I again remonstrated recently."

THAT ELEVATED RAILWAY. Property Owners Protest that It is Not Needed. A meeting of the owners of property along the route of the proposed elevated railway was held at 443 St. James Street yesterday afternoon to protest against the bringing of the letter in question to the attention of the public. There was a large attendance, and many ladies. W. F. Lighthall and F. X. Moisen were joint chairmen, and J. O. Gravel acted as secretary.

Strong speeches were delivered in condemnation of the proposed railway by F. X. Craig, W. E. Lighthall, F. X. Moisen, Henry Hogan, Warden King, and J. Boivin. All the speakers expressed the opinion that the line was not required by the city, and that it would be a detriment to the city. Some of them said that if the company ever got the privileges they sought they would sue the city for damages. Several gentlemen stated that they had protested individually.

Resolutions were passed, which are to be presented to the Road Committee on Thursday, protesting against the granting of any such rights to any company. It is pointed out that the proposed railway would cost 160 millions of dollars to the amount of 50 millions of dollars to be paid for the 50 millions of dollars so far and people could not get their claims satisfied. All property owners are invited to attend the meeting on Thursday.

Two Roof Cleaners Fell. A man named Louis Chapeau, while cleaning snow off a roof on Vitre street east, between 4 and 5 p.m. yesterday afternoon, missed his footing and fell a distance of thirty-five feet. He was conveyed to Notre Dame Hospital.

Louis Tailon, a laborer, while engaged cleaning snow off the roof of a house yesterday afternoon, on Argyle avenue, fell to the ground, a distance of twenty-five feet. He was taken to the General Hospital.

Both were severely injured.

POLICE RECORD.

The Grose-Wood Case—Charged With Bigamy.

The Recorder's sheet contained 34 cases yesterday morning. The name of Grose-Wood of a serious character. Five men named James Doolan, Thos. Ryan, James Callaghan, Michael Doolan, and Thomas Money were fined $3 or 10 days each for obstructing the pathway on St. Paul street.

Leon Lefebvre 15 years and Alphonse Roy 12 years were fined 75c and $1 or 8 days for smashing Sam Ching's laundry window with chunks of ice.

The Grose-Wood case conspiracy enquete is concluded and the case taken on delibere by Judge Desnoyers.

A woman named Lizzie Manning, residing on Jurors Street, was charged with assaulting one Peter Nicholson in her house. She pleaded guilty and was fined $10 or 30 days for keeping a disorderly house.

A man named Jacob Gluffin, who but recently arrived from Kingston, was arrested yesterday afternoon at No. 39 Elizabeth Street, by High Constable Bissonnette and Deputy High Constable Lambert, on a warrant charging him with having committed bigamy with one Dora Grimwood at Kingston, P.E.I. The first wife is now residing in Boston, and a divorce from that city is expected here to-morrow. Gluffin was taken before Judge Dugas, and, pleading not guilty, was remanded to jail.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY. Change of Time. Commencing Wednesday, Feb. 21, 1894. Pacific express for Ottawa, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Pacific Coast points via Windsor-Dalhousie Square Station, instead of Windsor Street Station, at 4.50 p.m. daily, except Sunday, and express from Pacific coast points, Winnipeg and Ottawa, will arrive at Dalhousie Square Station at 12.35 p.m. daily, except Sunday. The train will continue to leave Windsor Street Station at 9.10 p.m., with sleeping car attached daily, except Sunday for Winnipeg and Pacific coast points. City ticket office, 129 St. James Street.

Getting Even With Burglars. The idea of establishing a company to protect merchants, householders, etc., against burglaries and to give them a guarantee against loss or damage arising from the same has proved a good one and has become popular in Montreal, which is shown by the books of the Dominion Burglary Guarantee Company, Limited, and who have within eight months issued over 1,200 policies to some of the best business houses and private residences in the Dominion. Canada and applications are coming in every day for the same. It is certainly a relief to merchants to be able to sleep at night without any anxiety, and it is a relief to householders to have their property in the hands of a company as strong as the Dominion Burglary Guarantee Company, Limited, and that if their place of business is broken into that they will not be the losers. This company has established a patrol system not only for the protection of their clients, but for the company's protection as well. It will also add to the enjoyment of many when they go to the country or seaside, to know that their homes are being guarded by a strong and reliable force, composed of as strong a line of shareholders as can be shown by any company in the Dominion. The head office is at 226 St. James Street, Montreal.—Advt.
