Arch. Georges Cabana resigns from post

Archbishop Georges Cabana, of the Sherbrooke Roman Catholic diocese today announced that his resignation made earlier in January will take effect as of today.

He was appointed archbishop of Sherbrooke, May 28, 1952 and has been chancellor of the University of Sherbrooke since 1954.

In a letter to Pope Paul adressed January 1, Archbishop Cabana says he is convinced that a younger man should fill the charge which is becoming more and more exacting.

"It is with filial obedience that I present my resignation from the charge of Archbishop of Sherbrooke and in accordance with the wise directives that you have given in the Motu proprio Ecclesiae Sanc-tee No. 11, August 6, 1966," said the letter.

In a letter to the archbishop Charles Cardinal Confalonieri replied that His Holiness appreciates the sentiments of obedience and the pastoral sentiments that inspired the Archbishop.

"The Holy Father thanks Your Excellency for all pastoral activities during the long years of your office and he accords you and the diocese the Apostolic benediction."

Archbishop Cabana again refers to the "charge that has become more exacting" and that could be perhaps better filled by a younger man in another letter written to the Apostolic Delegate, Msgr. Clarizio and dated Jan. 1.

The archbishop will be 75 years old next October and on July 28 will celebrate his fiftieth year in the priesthood.

In a letter to the clergy and religious of the Sherbrooke diocese released today, the archbishop asked all priests to say the special universal prayer and the Mass of the Holy Spirit.

He thanked the vicars, the members of clergy, secular and members of the religious communities, the staff of the University of Sherbrooke and of the Sherbrooke Seminary

Full French-language equality expected

OTTAWA (CP) — A firm declaration that French-speaking Canadians outside Quebec should have language equality as a matter of right was being sought today at the final session of the federal-provincial constitution conference.

Overnight diplomacy by Prime Minister Pearson was expected to produce such an agreement among the 10 premiers, despite objections that have been voiced by some of them to any immediate guarantee of French-language rights in the constitution.

Mr. Pearson told the premiers Tuesday he visualized such a declaration as the first of five steps towards the eventual enshrinement in the constitution of human rights, including the right to French-language and education facilities anywhere in Canada they are required.

This first step would not be binding in any way. It would be an "instruction" to a continuing committee that would be set up to work out detailed procedures for constitutional change.

Mr. Pearson also described to the conference Tuesday an "opt-in" formula for constitutional amendment that would get around Alberta and British Columbia rejections of constitutional language rights.

PROVINCE COULD WAIT
A province could wait until it had developed French-language facilities before taking on the constitutional obligation of providing them.

Mr. Pearson's proposals indicated the federal government had given up any hope of getting unanimous agreement for the early inclusion of French rights in the constitution.

The most dramatic development of the day was a sizzling exchange in the morning between Premier Johnson and Justice Minister Trudeau over Quebec demands for "special-status" powers in Confederation.

Mr. Trudeau charged that the granting of such powers would make a mockery of French-Canadian representation in Parliament and lead to Quebec's separation from Canada.

Mr. Johnson, who dismissed as "aspirin" the acceptance of French-language rights in English-speaking provinces, insisted that Quebec requires powers in international affairs, broadcasting and social welfare to properly represent the French-Canadian nation.

MAY BE FORCED OUT
The premier said Quebec wants to stay in Confederation, but it could be forced out if the English-speaking provinces deny it the tools necessary to carry out its special responsibility.

He referred to Mr. Trudeau as the MP for Mount Royal, the justice minister's home riding in an English-speaking suburb of Montreal.

Both men continued their war of words outside the chamber in interviews.

Mr. Trudeau said the premier's Union Nationale party is dedicated to destroying French-Canadian influence in Ottawa.

Mr. Johnson said Mr. Trudeau was putting his Liberal leadership ambitions ahead of national unity.

The conference spent much of the afternoon discussing Ottawa's proposed charter of human rights which calls for a constitutional section on specifying individual rights and freedoms.

Most of the provinces expressed serious reservations about the charter, arguing that individual rights now are well protected in unwritten law.

The question of economic regional disparities, inserted into the agenda at the request of Nova Scotia's Premier Smith, was discussed only briefly at the end of the day's session.

It will be resumed today with Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland adding to Mr. Smith's plea Tuesday for greater financial aid to the Atlantic region.

Thanks premiers but wants more

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson Tuesday thanked eight provinces for their mass move toward bilingualism but said it's an illusion to think Quebec will be satisfied with this.

The fundamental problem, Mr. Johnson insisted at the federal-provincial constitutional conference, is more power for Quebec as "homeland of the French-Canadian nation."

And "there will either be equality for the French-Canadian nation or there will be a Quebec nation," said Mr. Johnson, unloading his equality-or-independence theory.

Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau challenged the Quebec premier's claims that an extension of Quebec powers is the price to be paid for equality.

The electrifying exchange was followed by further verbal sparring in corridor interviews with Mr. Johnson accusing Mr. Trudeau of playing up to English-speaking Canadians.

Mr. Johnson said all Quebecers would be grateful that New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland have decided to become officially bilingual.

But it was "an illusion to think we will be satisfied because French is being spoken elsewhere," he said the problem is more profound and cannot be solved with "an aspirin."

Mr. Johnson's demands for increased powers in social security, broadcasting and foreign affairs have been opposed virtually unanimously through the conference.

Alberta's Premier E. C. Manning told the conference that he is "in no sense against the constitutional status quo," but that changes had to be progressive.

Mr. Manning and Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia, the two provinces which have shown the least enthusiasm for bilingualism, were told by Mr. Johnson:

"We realize that bilingualism isn't a flower which grows wild on the slopes of the Rockies. Much time is needed to acclimatize its delicate seeds to the Rockies' special climate."

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese sent their Soviet tanks into the Vietnam war today, apparently for the first time, against South Vietnamese irregulars and their American advisers at a US Special Forces camp in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

Reports from Da Nang said a Special Forces sergeant had radioed that only five of the 25 Americans in the Lang Vei camp were still alive — he and four others in the headquarters bunker. He reported a knocked-out tank was on top of the bunker.

Exemptions

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition MPs appealed for higher tax exemptions for the ordinary Canadian Tuesday night as the Commons debated legislation to implement income tax increases announced in the government's Nov. 30 mini-budget.

The measure finally was given second reading — approval in principle — by an 84 to 73 vote. Only the Liberals supported the bill.

Strange deaths

NEW YORK (AP) — The Times says records at the Arkansas state penitentiary since 1936 show at least 70 of the 254 deaths reported resulted from violence.

The newspaper, in a dispatch from Grady, Ark., says records show prisoners were murdered, shot "accidentally" and during what were described as escape attempts, burned to death, poisoned, drowned, run over by farm wagons, and "accidentally" electrocuted.

Asselin wants federal documents bilingual

If Patrick Asselin, Liberal MP for Richmond - Wolfe, has his way, all circulars, forms and other documents of a similar nature, issued by and under the authority of the Government of Canada in order to supply or obtain information for statistical or other purposes, will be printed in both the English and French languages.

His proposal is contained in a one-clause private members' bill which received formal first reading in the House of Commons last week.

The explanatory note attached to the bill says:

"Since Canada is a bilingual country, it would be advisable that all forms or documents that are sent out from time to time to Canadian citizens by various departments of the Government of Canada for statistical or other purposes, be printed in both the English and French languages.

Having received first reading, the bill which carries the number C-199 now goes on the Order Paper for detailed study during the private members' hour, which means that it may not be given second reading at this session and must be reintroduced at the next session.

Unemployment rises

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment showed a normal year-end increase across Canada, rising to 464,000 in mid-January from 353,000 a month earlier, according to official figures released today.

Unemployment in January, 1967, was 381,000.

The number of men and women out of work represented 6.1 per cent of the labor force, highest percentage since March, 1964, and up from 4.6 per cent in December.

After adjustment for seasonal factors the rate was 4.4 per cent, down from 4.7 per cent in December.

A report issued jointly by the manpower department and the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said total employment dropped 244,000 from December.

But the labor force shrank by 133,000 as seasonal workers withdrew, resulting in the 111,000 increase in the unemployment count.

Pump and mop

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — Kent County residents today turned to the job of pumping out and mopping up as two flood-swollen rivers continued to subside after a four-day rampage.

Leonard N. Johnson, resources manager of the Lower Thames Valley Conservation Authority, said early today flood waters on the Thames River are dropping an inch an hour and had receded to 16 feet five inches above normal, by midnight Tuesday. The river had crested 11 at 17½ feet 24 hours earlier.

Errors, contradictions mark brutality hearing

MONTREAL (CP) — Contradictions, another fainting spell in the witness box and errors in police records Tuesday highlighted a Quebec royal commission hearing of brutality charges against two Quebec provincial policemen.

The commission, conducting an inquiry into all aspects of the administration of justice in Quebec, Tuesday started its third week of hearings to determine whether self-confessed bank robbery Karl Boomhower was beaten when first arrested in Cowansville, Que. in March of 1966.

Seven witnesses, including a doctor, have testified that Boomhower showed signs of physical violence when he was released on bail while an equal number of witnesses have maintained that he seemed in perfect health.

Boomhower claims he was beaten in a police cruiser after being picked up at his farm and was given a "third degree" again in the basement of the Cowansville municipal jail.

Tuesday the commission called on prison guard Frederick Grant, a police constable at the Cowansville station when Boomhower was arrested in 1966. But Grant suffered a fainting spell in the witness box before he could be cross-examined by justice department lawyer Roger Garneau.

SAID NOT RELIABLE

Grant's malaise followed a severe tongue-lashing by commissioner Harry Gould who said there were inconsistencies in statements to the commission by the witness, whom he described as "not very reliable."

It was Grant's second fainting spell in less than a week, both times after commissioner Gould had attacked his reliability.

The three-week inquiry has also seen the death of Cowans-ville Police Chief J. Alfred Gohier who collapsed in a corridor minutes after testifying before the commission.

It was also disclosed Tuesday that a key document in the case was inaccurate because it placed individuals involved at places where they were not during the evening of the alleged beating.

The Sweetsburg prison records were incomplete and had prevented the commission from establishing Boomhower's moves during his transfer from the Cowansville cell to the Sweetsburg jail.

rean talks for the release of the USS Pueblo and her crew. Police said the demonstrators were trying to march over the bridge across the Imvin River to the conference site at Panmunjom, where U.S. and North Korean officials met today at an open meeting of the Military Armistice Commission. But the Pueblo was not mentioned at the meeting.

Anti-American demonstration broke out in Seoul this week for the first time in five years after South Korean officials accused the United States of slighting South Korea's cause in the secret talks U.S. officials have been holding at Panmunjom would be released publicly until the families of the dead and injured crew members have been notified.

The questions raised by the Pueblo's capture off the North Korean port of Wonsan continue to echo in Congress.

RAPS SECURITY

Senator Karl E. Mundt asks why the United States, with its vast radar tracking network, can't say for certain the Pueblo did not violate North Korea's territorial waters.

The South Dakota Republican posed his question as Senator George D. Aiken (Rep. Vt.) speculated the administration is preparing to apologize to North Korea for violating the sea limit in hopes of getting back the ship and survivors of her 83-man crew.

Top administration officials have said the Pueblo maintained radio silence from Jan. 10-21, before the North Koreans captured her Jan. 23, so it cannot be said for sure she did not violate North Korea's sea limit.

These attempts to calm the rising resentment against South Korea's chief ally and foreign supporter contrasted sharply with earlier officials' complaints that South Korea's case was being neglected and the United States, in its desire to get the Pueblo and its crew back, was preparing to make dangerous concessions to the North Koreans.

North Korea, meanwhile, broadcast the sixth in a series of "confessions" by Pueblo crew members, this one attributed to marine Sgt. James Hammond, 23, of Claremont, N.H.

Church reports successful year

SCOTSTOWN — The annual vestry meeting of St. Alban's Anglican Church was held at the parsonage on Jan. 31, with a good attendance.

Rev. Canon Cuttall opened the meeting with prayer. Harvey Parsons gave the financial statement for the church, which was very satisfactory.

The reports for the Guild and W.A. were read by Mrs. Atkin and Mrs. Basil Woolley gave the financial reports which showed that both these groups had a successful year.

Lloyd Peleman, rector's warden and Jack Butler, people's warden, were elected and all sidesmen were re-elected.

Canon Cuttall expressed his appreciation to the members of the congregation and the ladies for their faithful work during the year and their many kindnesses to him.

After the business meeting, a social hour was held with the ladies of the Guild serving refreshments.

DISTINGUISHED GUEST — Archbishop Georges Cabana, second from the left, last night addressed members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club. It is believed to be the first time in Canada that an archbishop of the Roman Catholic Church has

May be a first in Canada

Arch. Cabana talks at Rotary

The Sherbrooke Rotary Club may have set a first of its kind in Canada when Msgr. Georges Cabana, archbishop of the Sherbrooke Roman Catholic diocese addressed a meeting last night at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

Rev. Bill Williams in thanking the speaker said he believed that Msgr. Cabana was the first Roman Catholic archbishop to address a Rotary Club in Canada.

Members of Sherbrooke's Roman Catholic and Protestant clergy were among the club's many guests to hear Archbishop Cabana talk.

After giving a short history of the ecumenical movement, the archbishop spoke on education through the aid of electronic devices.

The advances in this field cited by the archbishop and the possibilities make George Orwell's 1984 seem a reality.

He said in the future it would be possible to educate children in the home and they would be able to receive instructions from qualified specialists.

"Lessons could be flashed on a TV screen giving a course and with the use of an electronic book that is computerized, children would be able to ask questions and go ahead with their work at their own speed.

He said it is conceivable that children could receive testing and guidance from a central point... "an electronic library."

Archbishop Cabana pointed out that television is now being used for special courses in the province and the University of Sherbrooke is also using a similar system of giving the same course at the same time in different rooms. Similar systems are also used in the U.S.

The archbishop said that a staff of teachers could visit the children in the homes for counselling if this system is used.

Education through electronics would also enable children to conclude their formal education by an earlier age, he said.

"By 13 most of them would have completed the formal learning process."

Some of the advantages to this type of teaching, said the archbishop, would include the elimination of transportation and expense of the present system. And, said Archbishop Cabana, "the best teachers would be available on demand."

The archbishop said the need for electronic teaching is at hand but funds are needed to make it a reality.

In the future people will have to be more creative, added Archbishop Cabana.

"Children and adults will have more leisure time... we will need people who can think and be creative because one person may have the change jobs several times in his lifetime.

"A worker will no longer be judged on what he produces but by the way he develops his latent talents."

A large number of Rotarians and guests including Rev. D. J. Eustace, president of the Sherbrooke and district Ministerial Association attended the meeting.

Council backs urbanism report

City Council last night unanimously backed a report from the urbanism committee regarding the amendment of municipal zoning bylaws.

A request from Andre Pichot to operate Le Caveau des Artistes in the basement of the bus terminal on King Street West and Grandes Fourches Street was refused.

The urbanism committee had decided that an entertainment establishment was not permitted to be constructed by municipal zoning bylaws in a commercial sector of the city.

Ald. Pinard last night referred to the possibility of such a public gathering place as "dangerous to public morals."

Mr. Pichot had hoped to use the location to present films, conduct discussion groups and provide an outlet for local artists and singers.

In a second ruling, council agreed with the committee's suggestion that the Quebec Propane Gas Inc., be allowed to install heating oil tanks at the corner of King Street West and Four Pines Street. The decision was based on the stipulation that normal studies will have to be conducted before construction is actually begun.

The committee has pointed out that the company already has gas tanks on the property next to the area where the heating oil tanks will be installed.

In another decision council gave the green light to the Agricultural Society to operate a store for the sale of agricultural machinery on Galt Street East.

Yet in a slight about face, council supported the urban committee's proposal to refuse a request by the Society to install oil, and heating oil tanks in the same location.

In another action, city aldermen decided to study a request to construct a beauty salon in the basement of a home which Jean - Guy Paquet intends to build on a lot near Portland and Frechette Streets.

Monday night, Normand Gauthier, city building inspector, pointed out that if the beauty salon was separated from the house, then it could be regarded as a commercial establishment. This could be done by setting up some type of partition in the basement to separate it from the rest of the men appeared leery of the request.

Although most of the aldermen appeared leery of the request, Ald. Gaston M. Roy reminded them that 75 per cent of the residents in the area had backed up Mr. Jean-Guy Paquet's plan.

Does Bishop's cater to province's smug minority is topic of panel discussion

Despite a lengthy panel discussion held last night, it has still not been conclusively determined whether Bishop's University is an establishment which caters to the province's smug minority.

Participating in the discussion were Professor James Gray, head of the Bishop's English department, Jacques Gahois, a student at the University of Sherbrooke, Harry Eddel, of the New Democratic Youth, Roger Rose of the Bishop's psychology department and James Mabbutt, president of the Bishop's University Conservative Club.

The panel discussion was part of the Bishop's Semaine de l'Université program; a UGEE province - wide event which was designed to consider the place of the university in Quebec society.

Professor Gray said the only education worthy of the name was a liberal education, since it trains people in the principles of sound leadership which is what the province needs today.

He proposed to expand Bishop's by building five more campuses like it, preferably in the Eastern Townships, dedicated to the same kind of education.

"Only in a residential university is a continuance of the learning process possible," he said. "Perhaps the worst education is found in the lecture rooms; what happens afterward is more important and a residential university provides for constant dialogue between people with similar interests.

Mr. Rose disagreed, saying Bishop's adopted an overly-paternalistic attitude towards the students and tended to cater mainly to a small Mont-real-based elite.

"Bishop's students have no responsibility," he said, "apart from doing their laundry now and then. If we have six more campuses like it, Quebec can go straight to..."

Mr. Gahois was not entirely in favor of a liberal arts education either, saying the province needed more specialized people now. "The education here is fine," he said, "but it is only for a limited group and if the type of education were changed, as many as 3,000 students could be accepted."

He maintained a liberal arts education was a luxury in our time and that an institution like Bishop's was depriving a lot of deserving students from an education. "Bishop's," he said, "should specialize more

Discuss Carey future

LENNOXVILLE — Mayor Cecil Dougherty and representatives of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphide and Papermill Workers met yesterday to discuss the future of the Philip Carey Co. Ltd. which was destroyed by fire last December.

The meeting, held at 1 p.m. at the Lennoxville Town Hall, was called to see what the Town of Lennoxville had done and what it has proposed to do. Representing the union were its local president Andre Boisvert and secretary Robert Boisvert.

After a short meeting the union members decided to wait for another week for an announcement from the Carey management about the company's future.

Mayor Dougherty said in an interview following the meeting he was asked by the Union representatives what concessions had been offered the company.

He said the town had not offered the Carey any concessions and that Lennoxville was not in any position to give away tax money. "To begin with," he said, "it is against the law to give away tax money and furthermore the Carey has not asked the town for any money."

Mayor Dougherty said he has been in contact with the local representative of the provincial department of Industry and Commerce several times about the matter.

Herb Derick, local representative of the department was not available for comment.

Mayor Dougherty said that within a week some type of positive answer should be available.

OLD TOMB — This building on the Kenneth Little farm on the north road to East Hatley is a tomb which was constructed in 1850 by Mr. Little's great-grandfather.

Built a tomb to be a bit different

EAST HATLEY —(Staff)—Way back in the mid-1800s, Thomas Little Sr. wanted to do something a little different that would make his farm stand out in his area.

So he built a tomb.

Kenneth Little, who inherited the farm from his father, said that the farm's tomb has not been used for the last 35 years.

Thomas Little Sr. was Mr. Little's great-grandfather.

He built the tomb around 1850 and since then, Mr. Little says the tomb has been used at least two or three times.

The remains of people in the vault have long since been buried in a cemetery, Mr. Little said.

The Little's farm is on the north road to East Hatley.

The tomb is constructed of mortar and bricks and has an oval-shaped roof.

The entrance is blocked by three doors, one of wood, one of metal and the last of granite.

There is only one name which is visible on the tomb, that of Sarah Little, the sister of Mr. Little's grandfather.

Mr. Little says he has never used the tomb.

The last time he recalls it being used was back around 1910 when a family friend died.

Since it was winter at the time of his death, the remains were placed in the tomb until the spring when burial could take place.

Three trucks from Station No. 2 doused the flames and returned to the station at 7:18 p.m.

At 7:04 p.m. yesterday, Mrs. Romeo Rousseau of 430 Galt West telephoned the fire department and reported a fire.

Fires put out quickly

Sherbrooke firemen answered three different calls last night and extinguished three small fires before they could cause any damage.

At 6:48 p.m. yesterday, flames broke out in a pile of pitch in a house under construction belonging to Eugene G. Angas of Sherbrooke.

Study building tenders

The executive of the Department of Education in Quebec and its architects are presently studying the tenders offered by six construction companies for the construction of the E.T. Regional School Board school to be built in Lennoxville.

The executive decision will be announced within 10 days reports Herschel French, the secretary - treasurer of the E.T. Regional School Board.

Mr. Herschel released the tenders' figures yesterday in the following order, starting with the lowest bid and ending with the highest.

Designated area plan distributing poverty

It may be a little far-fetched to classify Sherbrooke as a "designated area" for receiving special consideration from the federal authorities in the field of industrial expansion as was proposed at Monday night's session of the City Council.

But the purpose behind the suggestion was obvious and indicates the difficulties the designated area program is placing in the way of economic development in the non-designated areas.

Designed to improve the economic standards of certain areas by encouraging new industries to locate in these regions by various forms of tax concessions, the program as it now works seems to be transferring depression from one district to another.

There have been numerous instances of firms located in non-designated areas abandoning their plants in one district to re-establish in a designated area because of the many tax advantages available from the federal government.

This is specially true when a factory is destroyed by fire or flood or when the owners desire to replace an obsolete installation by a modern plant.

And many municipalities are stymied in their efforts to attract new industries by the unfair competition inherent in the designated area plan.

Basically the idea of improving the lot of residents in depressed areas by the establishment of new industries is good but precautions should be taken to assure that this development does not result from impoverishing the more fortunate districts.

The man at the weather bureau who predicts light snow obviously cleans his walks with a snow blower.

A Dean makes a point

Prof. D. L. Mordell, Dean of the Faculty of Engineering at McGill University, said something over the weekend that will find wide support among the average individuals who have been watching with something akin to concern, some of the actions by far-out minority groups on the campuses of North American universities.

After remarking that conflicts between the universities and students had been marked by three characteristics: Issues of apparent confrontation with the so-called administration; the presence of professional agitators who have flocked to help manipulate student opinions, and who have supplied expert knowledge of techniques of protection, and some participation and activity on the part of faculty members, usually from a rather junior level, Prof. Mordell had this to say:

"To these students and staff who believe they should have absolute power, I suggest they set up their own university.

"Then they can publish what they want, give the curriculum and courses they want and have complete freedom for many restrictions other than those imposed by common law."

Unfortunately, educational costs have spiralled so much in recent years that government and individual donors are finding it increasingly difficult to meet the deficits of bona fide institutions, so the establishment of any such revolutionary type of university is virtually impossible, unless the dissatisfied students find some miraculous source of funds.

But it would be interesting to see just how such an institution, dedicated to implementing all the radical ideas advanced by some student spokesmen, would operate.

One can easily imagine the bedlam that would occur at an administration or faculty meeting when each of the diverging dissident groups sought to obtain more than its share of the limited financial pie and sought to impose its own idea of a proper curriculum on the other factions.

Probably it would take more than a few campus guards to restore order.

Bilingual Canada not fanciful dream

Dear Sir:

Referring to the brief by the Societe St. Jean Baptiste which has presented to the Quebec Government last April, as reported in the Star February 2, demanding that official unilingualism in all sectors of Quebec life be imposed, it would appear that the English-speaking residents were to be placed on the bottom rung of the social ladder if they wished to remain in La Belle Province.

Do we have to step off the sidewalk when we meet our compatriots and not bow? Will we be allowed to leave if we so desire after the iron curtain is installed on our boundaries?

This brief insists that the Quebec Government abandon its "fanciful dreams of a Canada which is bilingual from one ocean to the other". I would suggest that this brief is "a fanciful dream of a group of individuals totally unaware that their standard of living is the envy of the whole world and that this was accomplished through cooperation". What more do they want? Do they think they can improve matters by going it alone?

This group, representing a very small minority in this province, would do better if they came up with suggestions of a helpful nature rather than run around like Don Quixote.

Yours very truly,
H. K. DAMANT

French Canada shouldn't blame English

Dear Sir:

It is with deep regret that we learn the Saint Jean Baptiste Society of Montreal has forwarded a brief to our Premier recommending that English be dropped as an official language in Quebec in government administration, business and communications.

The chief aim of this society was to foster the French language and culture throughout Canada and North America and a sorry mess they have made of it when a Montrealer cannot understand a person from Beauce Co., and laughs at the way a Gaspesian speaks.

Why blame the English? They are the ones who helped to preserve your language when France decided that the sugar island of Guadeloupe was more valuable to her than Canada and the Seigneurs deserted you when they should have known better.

Napoleon would have sold you down the river like he did to the people of Louisiana had it been in his power to do so.

You should blame your ancestors. If they had not been so greedy they would have invested more money in proper schools and employed qualified teachers to carry on the French language and culture instead of following the concept of every man for himself.

To blame others for one's fault and to use a society named after a Patron Saint to do so is extremely degrading for any member who considers himself a man of culture.

Yours sincerely,
N. E. ATKINSON

Time to remember Loyalist heritage

Dear Sir:

The first Branch of the United Empire Loyalist Association in Quebec received its Charter from the Dominion Branch on December 16, 1967, and will be known as the Sir John Johnson Centennial Branch in honor of Sir John who did so much for the Loyalists when they had to flee their homes and come to Sorel, Quebec and Missisquoi Bay. He is buried at Mt. Johnson, north of St. Gregoire and it is hoped that his old ancestral home in St. Matthias will be declared a Historic Site.

There are hundreds of people in Canada and the US who must be descendants of these valiant pioneers of ours. It is time we became proud of our heritage instead of letting it sink into oblivion. Once there is a file on these early families available in Library Museums throughout the Province the tracing of one's family from these sections of Quebec will not prove to be so baffling a problem as it has in the past.

Here are a few names chosen at random; if you know they are your ancestors please attempt to trace your connection with them. John and Hendrick Ruiter, Cornelius and Gilbert Hyatt, Joseph Smith, George Hauck (Hawke), Frederick Primmerman, Garret Sigsby, Lodwig Streit, Philip Luke, Christian Wehr, John Bockus, Moses and Asa Westover, Philip Derick, MacCallum, Hawley, Shepard, Vosburg, Salls, Curtis, Embury, Saxe, Hogell, Rhicard, (Reichart) Safford, Martindale, Creller, Fordyce, Truax, Scott, Hogaboom, Ten Eyck, and dozens of others.

It is hoped that graves of United Empire Loyalists will be located throughout the Province, and a register of these prepared. If you are interested, write Mrs. Clifford Rhicard, Stanbridge East for application forms, or to Mrs. Ruby Moore, R.R. 1, Cowansville for genealogy information and sources.

Why nuclear patrols?

The Ottawa Journal

The crash of the U.S. bomber off Greenland with its awesome load of hydrogen bombs has given rise to inevitable cries of horror that these B-52s should be aloft every hour of every day on what the Strategic Air Command calls its "airborne alert."

It is a grim commentary on what is called modern civilization that peace must be patrolled by bombers with four thermonuclear weapons strapped into their bays. Yet before all the pure of heart protest the wickedness of it all, it might be remembered that the bombers went into the air some eight years ago in direct response to Russia's deployment of intercontinental missiles capable of hitting American cities with about 15 minutes advance warning.

The whole nuclear deterrent rests on a delicate balance. The SAC puts its planes aloft so that the United States could not suffer a nuclear Pearl Harbor.

PRAYER: In my moments of meditation and prayer, O God, separate me from the world of sense and time, and enable me to bow in Thy presence, with a humble, contrite heart flooded with the love of Christ. There speak to me and send me forth into Thy world to do Thy will. In the Lord's name. Amen.

Cost-sharing basis

Crime compensation system looks sure

By JOHN MARSHALL

OTTAWA — (TNS) — A system to compensate the victims of violent crime can be considered a sure thing for Canada. The consensus on Parliament Hill is that it will be established on a federal-provincial cost-sharing basis. But considering all the legislative mechanics involved, it will be at least 18 months until the program becomes law.

Little major opposition is expected, although at present it's only a private-bill gleam in the eye of maverick Liberal Ralph Cowan and a subject of discussion in the Justice and Legal Affairs Committee.

From views expressed here and from experience with such programs elsewhere, forecasts can be made with considerable confidence.

A special board or tribunal will likely be established to review applications and decide on amounts of compensation. Maximums will likely be set for such things as income loss because of criminal assaults.

For example, in Britain, compensation for loss of earnings can be no more than twice the average of industrial earnings. Thus a victim in the highest pay brackets would not necessarily get full compensation, but one in lower brackets like-ly would.

There could be a deductible feature — payment would begin only after a certain loss of income or after a certain level of medical expense.

And final acceptance by the governments of their responsibility to victims of crime could lead ultimately to equally significant changes in penology.

Efforts may be made to provide offenders with paying jobs from which they could help support themselves and their families, and perhaps help compensate their victims. This idea is being studied in Britain.

The old cliché of "paying their debt to society" may change to paying their debt to their victims.

Prof. J. L. J. Edwards, director of the University of Toronto's Centre of Criminology, points to the difficulties in "transplanting this Utopian philosophy into a realistic set of operational principles."

TRAINING PROGRAMS

But he also draws attention to the benefits that could be derived in reforming training programs for offenders and in changing the whole philosophy of law enforcement and correctional efforts.

At present, victims of crime do have recourse under civil law to extract compensation from the criminals. But as Os- goode Hall Prof. Allen Linden pointed out to the committee this week, this is of little significance.

In a study of 172 cases, only four percent recovered any money by civil suit. There is just no point in trying to sue most criminals — and in fact many people mistakenly believe that once a person has been convicted, he can't be sued.

And of course there are many victims of crimes where no criminal is ever captured.

The best news the Toronto law professor had for the committee was that the cost of a program across Canada would be only about $1,000,000 annually. This based on Britain's cost of about $2,500,000 a year for its compensation system.

Prof. Linden proposes that a Canadian plan be based on normal civil case standards of judging compensation, except that maximum limits would be set.

He and others deride a California plan in which compensation is paid only if there is proven need.

In California they set aside only $100,000 for one year's operation to cover a population as large as Canada's.

In New York State a maximum of $15,000 can be paid to a family where the bread winner has been murdered. In Massachusetts the limit in this same classification is $10,000 because in that state there are larger allowances already payable to widows and children.

In Britain, where the scheme was set up without special legislation, maximums are at the discretion of the compensation board.

The majority of the awards there do not exceed $600, but in one case $16,500 was paid out — $3,000 to the widow of a murdered man and a total of $13,500 to his children.

LOW-INCOME VICTIMS

Prof. Linden pointed out that most victims of crime in any country come from lower income families, presumably because they are in closer proximity to criminal elements. Consequently, compensation for income loss when a breadwinner is injured or killed would be comparatively low.

The fact that so many victims come from lower income groups raises another point of need. Many are not covered by health insurance, even in Ontario where most citizens do have coverage.

Of the 172 cases studied, 42 percent had medical costs and 29 percent had hospital costs to contend with.

Of the first group, only about a third of them received full compensation from insurance, and less than half of the others had full hospital costs covered.

It is presumed the situation would be even worse in many other provinces.

But the proposal is on its way, and the victim whose only day in court is when he is vital as a witness against the criminal will eventually get justice too.

Grand ball highlight of Knowlton carnival

By STEPHEN MORSON
(Record Correspondent)

KNOWLTON — The week long Winter Carnival held at the Knowlton High School and sponsored by the students came to a brilliant climax on Saturday night with the grand carnival ball held in the auditorium of the High School, featuring the crowning of the Carnival King and Queen, Richard Burcombe, a Grade 11 student majoring in electronics and Miss Eva Andrews, also a Grade 11 student.

The music for the grand ball was supplied by a new and young group called the Piccadilly Circus who provided excellent music throughout the fun filled evening.

Each evening during the week of the carnival there were games, races, exhibition hockey and basketball, all the grades took part in the snow sculptures and the grounds of the school took on the form of a veritable exhibition of models of igloos, trains, snowmen, statues and everything that the young minds could carve out of snow.

The first prize for the sculpturing went to Miss U. A. Bozer's class, Grade 7 B. Friday night again was busy with basketball games and a sock-hop to finish up the evening.

Apart from the grand finale on Saturday night the highlight of the week's events was the visit of the entire school to the Glen Mountain ski development to enjoy skiing, sliding and tobogganing. This was climaxed with a grand torch light parade down the slopes by the Knowlton Ski Club led by James Beatt and G. Potter.

The weather for the most part was very co-operative, though there were some few hours that caused deep concern when the weather suddenly turned a balmy 45 degrees, threatening to play havoc with the ice and snow statues and more important the precious ice.

Cowansville man hurt in freak accident

FARNHAM CENTRE — (Staff) — Yvan Godreau, 31, 252 William Street, Cowansville, was injured here in a freak accident Saturday.

Mr. Godreau had parked his tow truck on the north side of Highway 40, and was attempting to tow a truck from the ditch on the opposite side of the road.

Mr. Godreau said that he managed to lower the cable from about the windshield level of Lavoie's car, to about the bumper area prior to the accident.

Quebec Provincial Police Agent Garry Budge, who conducted the investigation, said the roads were extremely slippery at the time adding that he had trouble maintaining full control of his vehicle on the way to the scene of the accident.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Skipped Heart Beats No Threat to Health

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I have had extrasystoles for over nine years. They are worse after I eat. The doctors tell me not to worry about them. Is there any way to stop them?

A—Extrasystoles or skipped beats are often more noticeable after a meal or when one is excited. Since they are no threat to your health, the best treatment is to learn to ignore them just as you have learned to ignore the taking of air into your lungs 18 or 20 times a minute.

Q—I have attacks of PAT which come on with no warning. When I have an attack, it is hard to speak. I get nervous and breathless but have no pain. My doctor can stop an attack by pressing on my carotid sinus. Would it be safe for me to do this myself?

A—Paroxysmal atrial (auricular) tachycardia (PAT) is characterized by sudden attacks of rapid pulse—about 160 beats a minute. These attacks are frightening rather than dangerous.

In some victims squeezing the carotid sinus in the neck gives prompt relief and since your doctor can't be with you every time you have an attack he should teach you to do this yourself. Deep pressure on the eyeballs may be equally effective. Guanethidine or quinidine (both are prescription drugs) may be used if these methods don't work.

GROW FUNGI

Many beetles, ants and termites are skilled gardeners that grow lush crops of fungi in their nests.

Q—My heart beats so hard it jerks my whole body. Is this just something to be expected with advancing years?

A—Palpitation may occur at any age. It is caused by the pouring of adrenalin into your blood due to apprehension or similar emotions. In some women, it is more prevalent after the menopause. As with all emotional disturbances, it is important for the victim to take stock of his life situation and adopt a calmer attitude.

Q—After an electrocardiogram, my doctor told me I had an incomplete right bundle branch block of the heart. Is this bad? I take Atarax, but only when I get pains in my chest. Is this the best treatment?

A—In heart block, the degree of seriousness (ranging from inconsequential to ominous) must be determined by a doctor with special training in heart disease. Since Atarax is a tranquilizer, I would assume that your block is not the serious kind. The latter is best treated by implanting an electronic pacemaker under the skin.

Valley Weavers plan annual workshop

The Valley Weavers planned the annual workshop at the regular meeting held recently with Mrs. Arthur Ronald, Cambrai Street. Mrs. Hugh L. Wallace, vice-president, was in charge and extended a message from the president, Mrs. J. Edward Perry, who was unable to be present.

Mrs. Royce Gale, secretary-treasurer, read several items of correspondence including a letter from Mrs. Ernest Johnston now holidaying in Tucson, Ariz. also an invitation from the Hudson District Handweavers, who will host the annual Weaver's Conference this year. May 28 set as the tentative date, was accepted unanimously.

Mrs. Hubert Johnston extended an invitation to hold the annual workshop at her home on Dominion Street, on March 7, the regular meeting date, this also was unanimously accepted and committees named. Miss Kathleen Atto to arrange attendance; Mrs. William Van Horn and Mrs. Royce Gale, food; and the executive, with Mrs. Ronald, the arrangement of program, pattern, loom dressing and other final arrangements.

It was decided to purchase a book entitled 'Elements on Weaving' for the Guild library. Among other things discussed was the annual summer outing, when the Guild holds a travel day and visits other weavers, craft centers or weaving exhibition.

The usual library exchange, work discussions and display of work, which consisted of a mohair stole and acrilan afghan, woven by Mrs. George Lindsay, and a red and gold clerical stole done by Mrs. A. Fairbairn. Many had work in progress.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Ronald served lunch.

SHORT SLICKER — Sandra Hobson wears a 'Short Slicker' rain outfit for a fashion show held recently in London. The ultra-mini 'mack' is described as a 'hot mushroom' and is one of several numbers from the Lurex paper taffeta collection. The colors used to brighten a dull day are bronze and orange in panels, with the detachable collar in orange. A 'bus-conductor' styled hat sets off the swinging space age outfit, which is treated with a PVC coating. Please yourself what you wear to protect your legs.

4 years late in entering confederation

VICTORIA (CP) — Although Canada was in its first year of Confederation 100 years ago, British Columbia did not enter until four years later, and only then after much controversy.

Many people in B.C., the archives show, looked upon "Canadians in the East as vulgar, almost as vulgar as those Americans."

Mrs. Edgar Dewdney wrote from Ottawa to Mrs. Peter O'Reilly in Victoria "that those dreadful Canadians in the East didn't know how to behave in a ballroom, and they just bounced about in the rudest way."

Mrs. Dewdney continued her criticism by saying "and actually, my dear, the gloves of the ladies were often soiled."

William Bull, a prominent Victorian citizen of that day, expressed his view at a "great public meeting" called to discuss the union of B.C. with Canada.

"What we want is a simple, inexpensive government," said Bull.

"To adopt the cumbersome machinery of confederation with all its complications, its requirements of adaptation, double system of taxation, local and federal... would be the death of us."

But, Bull's dissenting voice was not among the majority, which decided it should stretch its hand out over the Rockies and unfurl the Canadian flag westward to the Pacific.

Questions readers ask

Q—I am 16 years old and planning a party. What kind of food would you suggest?

A—Here are a few tips that may help you. A recent survey to find out teens' likes and dislikes in food came up with the following:

They like foods that are sweet or salty or spicy. Teens like best foods that can be eaten or drunk without sitting down at table or using utensils. They go for party food as well as everyday snacks. They prefer foods that can be individualized by adding things. Boys, in particular, like to produce their own kooky combinations.

For and about Women

Stylish stockings make it in Moscow

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The commissar's lady and Judy O'Grady are sisters under the skin.

Ideology notwithstanding at the recent Soviet Union's first International Fashion and Clothing Exhibit in Moscow, the Russian segment of the fashion show featured as many miniskirts as any country represented.

And does a miniskirt look its best without fancy hose? Nyet! So here's where the Americans got top billing.

Tom and Kate Ryan, the man and wife team who staffed the American hose exhibit built around a kiosk by Hanes Hosiery, said the Russian women were fascinated with the gorgeous, glittery gams of the models in the showings.

"Looks like women are the same the world over," Kate Ryan said.

"A new stocking wardrobe featured 24 - karat gold stockings which sell for $7.50 a pair here and sterling and black lustre at $5.00.

"The Russian girls agreed they would think twice before buying these luxury items. But they'd be delighted to receive them as gifts from husbands or bachelor friends."

But Russians are a serious people and even fun fashions are given a long, hard look to see what prompted their appearance in the first place.

Postgraduate students in color psychology made a close study of the glittery and bright - colored hose. They "approved" the new look in legwear as evidence of American awareness of the importance of color to psychological behavior. So remember that when you think you're wearing a particular pair of stockings simply because it matches your dress.

Kate Ryan made a study of her own in Moscow, comparing her lot to the Soviet woman's way of life.

"Russian women work very hard. We've seen them carry cement, work in construction and clean the streets," she said. "A pregnant woman works until two months before her baby is born. At that time she usually moves to the country for fresh air and exercise, staying with relatives or at a state - operated home. She remains in the country until the baby is 80 days old," Mrs. Ryan said, "and then she returns to work."

The jobs which keep Soviet women on their feet for long hours may be the reason for the crowds that were attracted to the exhibit of support hose. A specialist from one of the Soviet government's medical branches showed an interest in testing the stockings and panty hose with support control.

But when the Ryans packed their kiosk display and moved on to Poland for an exhibit in Warsaw, they found a totally different reason for the popularity of support hose.

During a reception at the American Embassy, wives of officials admitted they ordered support hose through the PX at Frankfurt. The reason? Standup parties are a strain on the legs.

According to Tom Ryan, the women of Warsaw are more sophisticated and better dressed than those in Moscow. But hose is at a premium in Poland.

"The people visiting our kiosk," Ryan added, "would have purchased every pair we had, even our swatches, if the law permitted."

And now government departments in Moscow, Warsaw and Prague are studying samples of American hose.

So, maybe before you can say "Sokolniki Park" (where the Moscow exhibit took place), the Russian ladies will carry their cement in glitter hose or support hose as their fancy strikes. And the diplomats' wives in Warsaw won't have to send to Frankfurt for the wherewithal to weather those tiresome evenings of standup parties.

Victor Mollo writes: "Few players are so often in the limelight as Giorgio Belladonna. Somehow he seems to hold the right cards at the right time when the right people are kibitzing. Examples of his dummy play have inspired countless articles, but the one which follows has not been published before. It occurred at rubber bridge.

"With a sure loser in spades and another in hearts, the contract appeared to hinge on locating the queen of diamonds. What, then, was the best way to play the hand? Belladonna decided to let the opponents find the queen for him. He won the opening spade in his hand, cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs, ruffed a club, entered dummy with the ace of hearts and ruffed the last club. If East had followed to the fourth club, Belladonna would have discarded his heart, since he could not have afforded the chance of an over-ruff by West.

"Then he put the opponents on lead with a heart. Winning the spade return in dummy, he ruffed dummy's last heart and got off lead again with a spade. He was down to three diamonds in each hand and sure to make the rest of the tricks irrespective of the diamond situation."

This hand is a beautiful example of dummy play. His play wasn't a sure thing. If West had started with only two clubs, for example, the hand would have collapsed with the third club lead, but it was a far better line of play than going right after trumps.

The hand also shows one vaunted Italian system at its worst. Somehow or other a three no-trump contract would be far better and would be arrived at by any American pair. Playing at three no-trump, declarer will be worried only by a heart lead. It won't be much of a worry because he will hold off twice and then play the diamond suit so as to be sure of keeping East out of the lead. He will lose to the queen of diamonds by this play but will wind up making four no-trump anyway.

Christ Church at Stanstead holds annual vestry meeting

STANSTEAD — The annual vestry meeting of the Christ Anglican church, held on Jan. 28 in the Parish hall, followed the eleven o'clock Holy Eucharist church service. Later a pot luck luncheon was served in the Parish hall. The Church Guild was responsible for the luncheon.

Father R. W. Peirce, rector, chaired the meeting which he opened with prayers. A moment of silence was observed in memory of the deceased of the church in 1967.

Reports were given by the financial committee, the wardens and officers of all societies of the church. Uisford Cargill, people's warden, giving his own report and that of the Rector's Warden, Douglas Farrow, noted work done on the church properties during the past year. The property, known as the Gibson House, has been partly dismantled and it is planned to complete the job in the spring, making a parking lot of the site for church use.

Gratitude was expressed to Dr. K. Harper and Miss Dorothy Harper for the church hangings, given as a memorial to their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Harper. The auction held last July proved an outstanding success. Appreciation was expressed to Lorne Ogilvie and his committee for their efforts on the project.

Another gift as a memorial to the late Robert Meekren, and some of the money from the auction, cleared up the mortgage debt on the Gibson property.

The report of the Altar Guild noted the retirement of Mrs. Charles Farrow, because of ill health. Mrs. Farrow had been a faithful worker in the group for 12 years, during which time she cared for the church linens. She has been replaced by Mrs. Nellie Kezar.

Mrs. Lindsay Smith, reporting for the Guild, noted they had turned over a sum of $1,200 to the church wardens plus a gift of $100 made to the Border Community Center.

The treasury reports of the three women's groups, the Anglican Church Women, Guild and Altar Society showed interest in the life of the church, the community and further afield as contributions were made to sponsor youth summer camps, mission work in Canada and abroad.

In 1968 a sum of $200 will be forwarded to The B'shop for his Discretionary fund from the Book of Remembrance Gifts, which is Mrs. J. R. S. Scott is custodian of the fund.

The report of the rector's discretionary fund noted almost $150 used for social service and camping fees in the church and the community.

Roy Wells, custodian of the Furnace Fund committee replaced the late Miss Jessie Wootton. There is a debt which it is hoped can be paid in another couple of years.

Father Peirce, giving his annual report, expressed appreciation to the wardens, the parochial officers, Mrs. Alfred Middleton, the organist, the choir, Church School teachers, men who provide their cars for transportation, sidesmen, servers and the congregation for faithfulness and support.

He said he feels there is a need for a Parish Council to meet once a month to think, discuss, and share feelings of what is best for the fellowship of Christian worship. It would be in addition to the Parochial Council, which meets every three months. Later, Mr. Peirce was given the green light concerning the Parish Council as those present favored his plan. He further stated he proposes to change a Warden each year so that all men of the congregation may share the responsibilities of the office.

After reading the Canon articles, 11 and 17, he appointed Uisford Cargill to be Rector's Warden. Father Peirce thanked Douglas Farrow, who has served Father Peirce for the five years he has been in the parish. The vestry then elected Edward Hyatt to replace Mr. Cargill as people's warden. Other officers, appointed and elected, are: E. J. Barnes, treasurer; Donald Macfarlane, envelope secretary; Ivy Hatch, vestry clerk; Philip Poaps and Lorne Ogilvie as co-chairmen of sidesmen; Mr. Cargill and Mr. Hyatt as lay delegates to Synod, alternates are E. J. Barnes and Alton Grady. Synod will meet this year. Roy Wells and Lorne Ogilvie were re-elected as auditors.

Money from the restoration fund was voted to the wardens to complete repairs to the rectory. The budget for 1968, presented by Mr. Barnes and prepared by the committee, was accepted.

It was also mentioned there is work to be done on the church building as well as completion of the Gibson House site, all of which takes a great deal of money. It is planned tentatively to have another auction this summer.

Traffic lights soon

The new traffic lights, which have been plagued with a few mechanical "bugs" since they were installed last Friday at the Woolco Shopping Center entrance on Bourque Boulevard, should be operating smoothly by the end of the week.

A Quebec Highways Department spokesman in Quebec City told the Record there "have been some difficulties with the lines" operating the sequence of the traffic lights.

Apparently the red and amber lights wink on at the same time. The lights were installed by the provincial highways department.

Last Friday they were disconnected when a sharp-eyed motorist pointed out another defect in the new traffic lights to a QPP officer.

Motorists have said that it is dangerous to make a left-hand turn at the lights from Bourque Boulevard into the shopping center. When the light flashes from red to green there is the danger that a car headed toward Magog may collide with a car cutting across the road into the shopping center.

appearances. The group was officially known as Lowney's Caravan of D.J's. The tour was sponsored by the Walter M. Lowney Co. Ltd.

Disk jockeys visit city

It was a Sherbrooke teenybopper's dream come true last weekend when 17 disk jockeys from across Canada visited the city.

They came as guests of the Walter M. Lowney Co. Ltd., who sponsored the gala Caravan of Disk Jockeys.

While in Sherbrooke, the deejays made a personal appearance at the A.Y.P.A. dance Friday night at St. George's Anglican Church in Lennoxville.

They also taped a show which was broadcast on KCTS radio Saturday afternoon.

Many of the record spinners introduced some of the top platters in the country on Jack Cornett's local show.

While here, the deejays also made guest appearances on local French-speaking radio and television stations.

The visit to Sherbrooke was part of a four-day tour which began Thursday, and ended Sunday.

The purpose of the trip was to bring together program personalities with the same audience interests to discuss mutual problems, programming and teenage interests. Ted Little Jr., assistant to the General manager at Lowney's, said the deejays were also treated to a guided tour of the Lowney's plant in Sherbrooke to acquaint them with the products they sell on their programs.

The 17 disk jockeys represented a cross-country consensus on teenage opinions and interests.

Officers elected by acclamation at St. Luke's annual vestry meeting WATERLOO — The annual Vestry meeting of St. Luke's Anglican church was held on Jan. 29 in the church hall. Reports were tabled at the short meeting, with the exception of the rector's and financial reports, which were read aloud. Elections were also held.

Nominating committee chairman, A. J. Buckland, presented the following slate of officers, all elected by acclamation: People's warden, Stanley G. Copping; treasurer, Henry Snow; secretary, O. T. Pickford; envelope secretary, Miss Alice Ashton; convener of sidesmen, Dexter Larose; delegates to synod, Mrs. Geraldine MacIntosh and Irving Slack; alternate delegates, Arthur Reed and Russell Lawrence; ex-officio members of parish council, Reginald Blampin and Peter Owen; auditors, W. Venters and Douglas Osborne.

Mrs. Judy Haed reported for the G.A. that the girls had held 12 meetings, with 15 members, and were working toward various badges. They had twice visited the Twin Mountain Home, went Christmas carolling, sponsored two dances and assisted at the Sunday School party and hot dish supper at the cafeteria.

The A.C.W. report, submitted by secretary, Mrs. Audrey Dickerson, showed an active year, with rummage sales, two teas, dearmy meetings, a food sale and one catered event.

Miss Ashton reported that 73 sets of envelopes were used in 1967.

Mr. Larose reported that the Sunday School was quite active but with a small number of children. A Christmas party was held on Dec. 17, with gifts for all the young folk.

The financial report, given by Henry Snow, was satisfactory. The annual budget for 1968 was discussed briefly and it was decided to leave the budget apportionment undetermined. Budgeted for permanent repairs are several items, including painting and plastering, which is scheduled to be started soon; re-bricking of the abutments and wall, which has begun; the rectory roofs, organ repair and furnace and heating.

present Part shall be read and interpreted in their entirety.

So that they may be properly enforced, the provisions of this Part complement each other whenever they are interpreted.

(The present Part Five makes binding provisions of a collective Labour agreement entered into between: l'Association des Constructeurs des Cantons de l'Est (Ready-Mix section) and le Syndicat national des Métiers de la construction des Cantons de l'Est (C.S.N.), Aime Cote Ready-Mix section.)

Publication of this notice does not make binding the provisions therein. Such provisions, with or without amendments, can be made binding only by an Order in Council, which comes into force on the date of its publication in the Quebec Official Gazette.

During the thirty days following January 27, 1968 date of publication of this notice in the Quebec Official Gazette, the Honourable Minister of Labour will consider objections which interested parties may wish to make.

GRENOBLE, France (CP) — The 10th Winter Olympic Games, a measure of harmony restored to it by executive compromise, sent its skiers, skaters and bobsledders into action today.

The Games were declared open Tuesday by President de Gaulle, participating with 9,000 other persons in impressive opening ceremonies before 60,000 spectators. Uncounted millions in Europe and North America watched on television.

Canada's national hockey team started its quest for an Olympic medal in good style by defeating West Germany 6-1. It was one of three championship-round hockey games which made up the entire athletic program on opening day.

The Soviet Union swamped Finland 8-0 and Czechoslovakia downed the United States 5-1. Of utmost significance for the success of the Games was an agreement reached Tuesday by the International Olympic Committee and the International Ski Federation to curb commercialism.

The IOC, which had sought to have manufacturers' names and trademarks removed from skis used at the Olympics, ruled that the symbols could remain but that the skiers could not display them to photographers and television cameras. The athletes will be required to lay aside their skis before being photographed after their events, on penalty of disqualification.

The agreement kept the ski federation within the Olympic structure. Failure to agree could have resulted in the skiers declaring their events world championships and conducting them under their own rules, which do not currently ban the display of trademarks.

Canada's Nancy Greene, her left ankle mended after a January accident, will compete in the women's downhill runs Thursday. Seventh in the downhill in the 1964 Games, the 24-year-old Rossland, B.C., skier won an Olympic medal as a follow-up to her 1967 World Cup triumph.

At 7 a.m. (1 a.m. EST), 32 girls began the long grind in quest of the women's figure skating medals.

Peggy Fleming of the United States world figure-skating champion, is a heavy favorite, and she drew a favorable starting number, 18.

Canada's chief hopes rested with 15-year-old Karen Magnusson of North Vancouver, the Canadian champion, who reported Tuesday that a slight skate cut had healed and she was ready to compete.

Canada's other women's singles skaters are Linda Carbonetto, 18, of Toronto, and Lyndal Cowan, 19, of West Vancouver.

Jacques Monette outstanding as Beavers upset Eagles 5-2, meet here tomorrow

DRUMMONDVILLE — Sherbrooke Beavers behind an outstanding goaltending performance by their veteran goalie Jacques Monette chalked up an impressive 5-2 win over the Drummondville Eagles here last evening in the only game on tap in the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

The win moved the Beavers within three points of the St. Hyacinthe Gauls and five ahead of the Granby Vics. The same two teams will meet Thursday in Sherbrooke Sports Palace and if the Beavers can come up with the same performance as last evening they will be tough.

Jacques Monette was by far the outstanding star on the ice last evening. Time after time he robbed the Eagles of what were labelled sure goals with his terrific saves especially in the first frame. He just simply picked the puck right off the sticks of the incoming forwards.

Monette stopped Gordie Haworth, Mike Labrosse and Roger

Cote right in front of him on the edge of the goal crease. His mates were wandering around as the Eagles seemed to be parked right on Monette's doorstep. Sherbrooke's defense seemed lost and were trying to poke-check instead of stepping into their fast-moving opponents and this gave Monette extra work but he came up with the key saves.

Bob Eastman and Andre Lagueux were the first to get in on the Beavers' netminder but he kicked their efforts aside. Hibbert went off but Rene Pepin was the only Sherbrooke player to get in on Yvon Houle and he made the save.

Jacques began went off but Andre Despard was the only Sherbrooke player to get close to Houle. The Beavers were having trouble in getting organized and the Eagles were clearing well. Mike Labrosse got in and rifled a hard shot on the side but Monette blocked it and then snared the rebound right off the Drummondville player's stick for a key save.

Andre Despard teamed up with Kim Hurlbut but they failed to beat Houle from close range. Sawyer was the next to test Monette but at this point the Sherbrooke goalie was at his best and turned him aside.

Jean-Pierre Lafond must have been the most surprised player in the Civic Centre when he saw the red light go on after he had let go from an impossible angle. He rounded the defense and from the edge of the corner face off spot let go with a backhand to catch Houle by surprise as the puck went into the short side of the net. Houle moved too late to block the corner.

It was the turn of the Eagles but Monette came through. Rolfe Leclerc was put in by Gordie Haworth but the Sherbrooke bytipped the shot aside. Roger Cote was standing alone on the edge of the crease with the puck in front of him but before he could move Monette shoved his stick out to clear it into the corner. Cote had the whole side of the net open.

Pierre Lepage got in but blew his chance when alone in front of Houle. The Eagles were trying all out but Monette was still in command of the situation and came through with the big saves. He broke his stick but managed to make good use of his hands.

Andre Lagueux opened the middle session with a drive in close but Monette blocked it. Jean Levesque went off but again it was Monette who came up with the key saves while his defense looked after the loose pucks in front of the net.

Gilles Cartier rifled a hard shot to catch the upper corner after taking a pass from Bill Dupre. Lagueux came back and then Cote, but no success. Sherbrooke's third goal was a lucky one as Bill Dupre in trying to pass out from behind the net hit Houle's skate to deflect into the meshings. Dupre chalked up the fourth tally when he snared a loose puck in front to lift it into the open net. Houle had no chance on the play. The two goals were scored within a minute and a half.

Maltais was tagged with a charging penalty but despite Sawyer, Eastman's and Lagueux's efforts Monette held the fort until he returned. They had good scoring chances but failed to click.

At the start of the third period the Eagles took command and turned on the pressure but the Beavers, after a slow start kept stride with them. Jean Therrien rifled a hard one but Monette grabbed it. Roger Cote missed another great chance when he got Monette out of position but blew his opportunity.

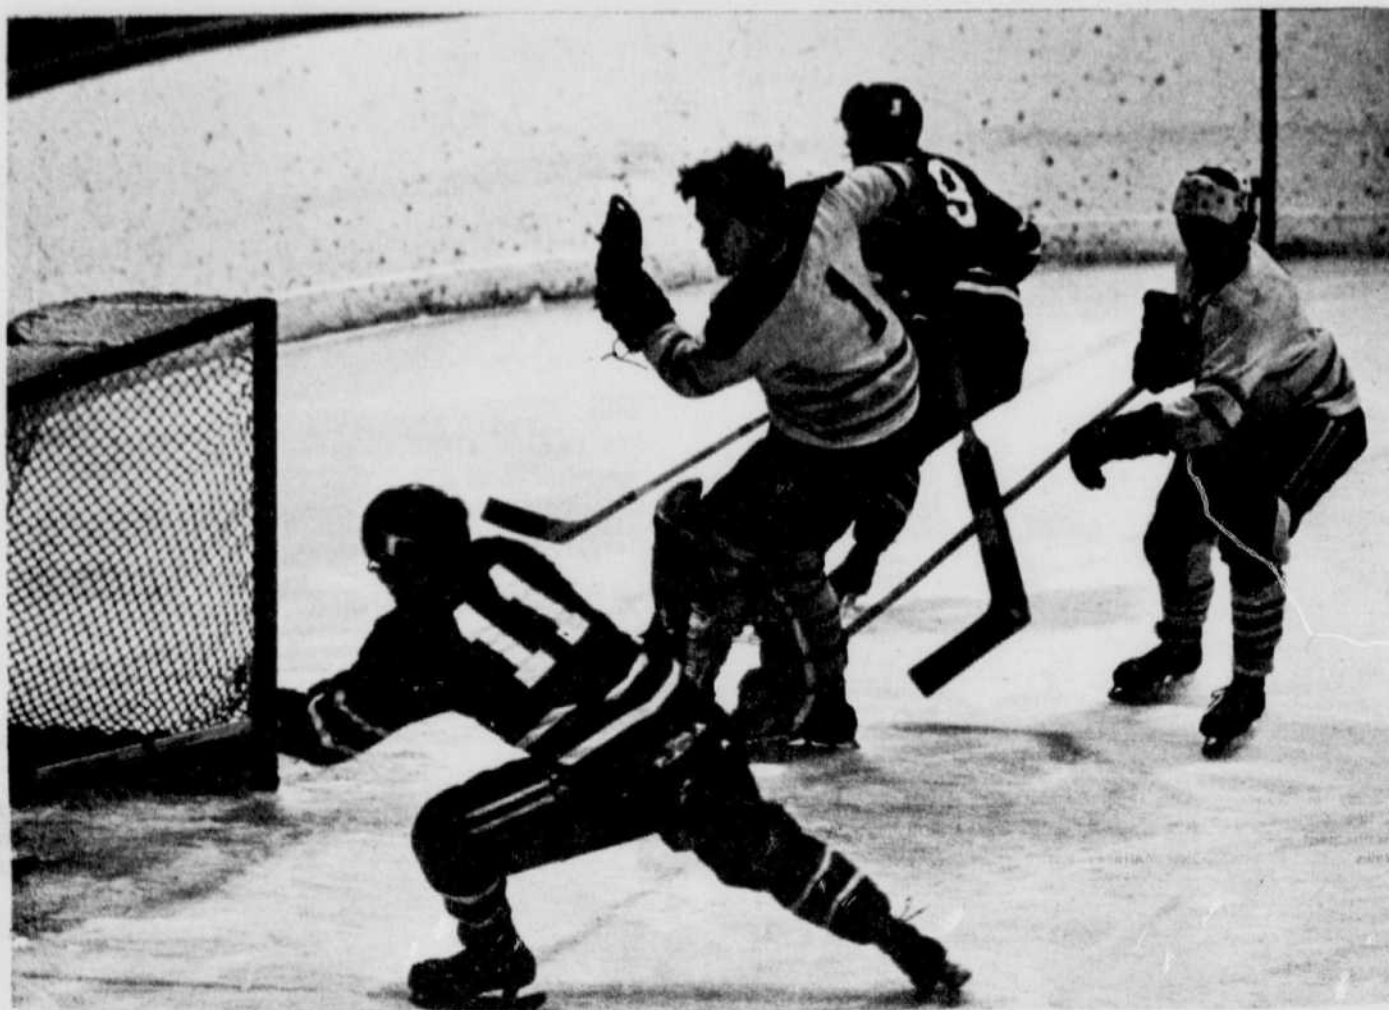

Lee Hardy chalked up the Eagles' first tally after taking a pass from Mike Labrosse, which was at least three feet off-side at the blue-line. Andre Lagueux came back when he slipped in behind the defense and beat Monette from close range.

At this stage it looked as though the Eagles were going to catch the Beavers as they were all over them but Monette was holding on. Cote hit the post and then Haworth was in but Monette blocked him. Carlier got away but missed his chance.

Levesque and Haworth went off for roughing and the Eagles kept moving. Gaston Bouchard was next to follow in the cooler. Coach Therrien tossed on four forwards but Sherbrooke held in.

With twenty seconds left in the game Drummondville pulled their goalie when the faceoff was in Sherbrooke's end but this backfired. Georges Roy cleared the puck along the boards and Andre Despard raced after it and finally got it in the corner to pull out front and lift it in the open net. The siren sounded right after the faceoff and the Beavers walked off with a well-earned victory.

CAPTAIN MITCHELL CONNECTS — Daniel Doyon, the University of Sherbrooke goaltender, and one of his defence-men watch helplessly as Willie Mitchell (11) of the Bishop's Gaitsers chalks up his team's first goal in the opening period of the game played in Lennoxville last night which U de S won 4-3. Looking on behind Doyon is Gaiter scoring ace Bill Murray (9).

Flyers clash with Habs tonight in Montreal

The fired-up Flyers from Philadelphia and Montreal's equally potent Canadiens are ready for a National Hockey League showdown.

High noon for the two clubs is tonight in Montreal when the Western Division leading Flyers and Canadiens, leaders in the East, match shooting power in one of five scheduled games.

The Canadiens had a 12-game winning streak snapped Sunday by New York Rangers while the Flyers extended their expanded Western Division lead with weekend victories over Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Chicago won the regular season schedule last year and the Leafs are defending Stanley Cup champions. Both are top contenders in the East division this year.

Two players instrumental in the Flyers two weekend wins—centres Forbes Kennedy and Lou Angotti—foresee ominous stormclouds for the Canadiens.

"That's two down and the Canadiens to go," said Kennedy, a Charlottetown native. "We'll beat them Wednesday night in Montreal."

Angotti earlier said he feels now the way he felt when with Chicago last season and the Hawks were on the verge of their first league championship since joining the league.

As for the Canadiens, they still are unsettled following reports that centre Henri Richard is considering retirement after a brilliant 13-year career with the club. A series of knee injuries have impaired his effectiveness.

Coach Toe Blake said Tuesday, with the exception of Richard the club is fully fit. He also said that Lorne Worley probably will play goal against the Flyers in his first start since suffering a pulled hamstring in a pre-game warm-up at Pittsburgh Jan. 10.

In tonight's other games, the Leafs are at Chicago while Boston Bruins are at St. Louis Blues. Pittsburgh Penguins are in Oakland against the Seals and Minnesota North Stars take on the Kings at Los Angeles.

game victories in the eight-country round-robin championship play were the 1964 Olympic champion Russians, 8-0 over Finland, and Czechoslovakia, 5-1 over the United States.

The U.S. held the Czechs 1-1 in the first period. But then Valclav Nedomansky and company started to skate, scoring two goals in each of the final two periods.

Four years ago, the Canadian national team defeated a combined German squad 4-2 while the Czechs beat the U.S. 7-1.

Canada wound up fourth in the 1964 tournament, behind Russia, Sweden and Czechoslovakia. The last Canadian team to win an Olympic title was Edmonton Mercurys in 1952.

The Russians have won every world championship since 1963, in addition to their two Olympic gold medals in 1956 and 1964. Canada's last world title came in 1961 when Trail Smoke Eaters won the big prize.

At Grenoble, Canada won't meet the Russians Czechs and Swedes until next week. Organizers rated Canada the team to beat, and they scheduled the final game of the tournament between the Canadians and Russians for Saturday, Feb. 17.

Sweden and East Germany drew byes in the schedule Tuesday, but both countries will see action today in the two championship games on the program. Canada, Czechoslovakia, West Germany and Finland are idle.

University of Sherbrooke posts 4-3 win over Bishop's Gaitsers in close battle

University of Sherbrooke Green and Gold moved into sole possession of third place in the OSLAA race last night by downing the Bishop's University Gaitsers 4-3 in what Gaiter Coach Al Grazyas called probably the best hockey game ever played on Bishop's ice.

It was a fast - skating, hard-hitting game all the way through and the issue hung in doubt till the last buzzer. No matter which side they were rooting for, the fans who jammed the W. B. Scott Arena saw collegiate hockey at its best.

The first period set the tone for the rest of the game. Both teams were definitely there to play hockey. Sherbrooke star Robert St. Aubin opened the scoring at 5:07 of the first period on passes from Jean Perron and Gerald Langelier. Jean Goulet put the visitors ahead 2 - 0 at the halfway mark of the period by converting a Bernard Brassard pass and U de S looked like it was going to put the game on ice in the opening frame.

The Gaitsers, however, would have none of it and they began applying the pressure on Daniel Doyon in the Sherbrooke net. It finally paid off at 16:25 when team captain Willie Mitchell, of Massawippi, connected to put the home team on the scoreboard. Assists went to linemate Brian Gray and defenceman Al MacAllum.

The period ended with the visitors still ahead 2-1. Bishop's took the initiative early in the second stanza and at 3:10, Bobby Sommerville, a Woodbridge, Ontario, native, scored from a scramble beside the U de S goal after both Don Cleyn and Roger Taylor had taken turns battling the puck at Doyon.

With the score tied, the Gaitsers continued their hot pace looking for the goal to put them ahead. The MGM boys who make up the Gaiter first wave had a number of golden opportunities, but they put the puck everywhere but in the net.

During the streak, Mitchell came up with the play of the game. With his team short-handed, he burst in on the Sherbrooke defence, wheeled as if to head back into his own territory, then turned again after he had sucked the U de S defencemen out completely. He then drove in all alone on Doyon, who managed to bat the puck off his stick at the last second.

Bishop's then seemed to ease off the pressure after a while and it proved fatal when Alfred Charland converted a Sherbrooke rush by dribbling the puck behind Phil Stote, who was minding the net for Bishop's. Assists on the tally to Remi Richard and St. Aubin.

The go-ahead goal for the visitors came at 18:15 of the middle frame after the Gaitsers had carried the play for most of the period and the 3-2 count remained unchanged till the end of the second.

In the third period, it was U de S who came up with the momentum carried over from the previous stanza and they drove home what proved the deciding marker while most of the fans were still working on their cigarette butts in the lobby.

The goal came at 1:40 of the final frame as Louis Vincent deflected what appeared to be a clearing pass by Remi Richard into the Gaiter goal.

Bishop's once again mounted a strong effort immediately after the goal, but they still were not getting the breaks. Bill Murray, of St. Lambert, the MGM left winger who has been the Gaitsers' most prolific scorer so far this season, finally scored at 9:50 on passes from linemate Mitchell and hardrock defenceman Gord Glass.

The score stood up throughout the rest of the game despite repeated drives by the Gaitsers and a last - ditch gamble by Coach Grazyas who pulled Goalie Stote during the last minute of play.

Both teams played superb hockey for three periods. The Gaitsers outshot their rivals 34-24, but it was the visitors who put the puck into the net when it counted while Bishop's had almost enough goals to last a whole season.

Both goaltenders, Stote and Doyon, were outstanding during the contest which was also a bruising one attested by the 14 penalty minutes handed out to Bishop's and the 19 slapped on Sherbrooke.

Apart from the OSLAA race, the University of Sherbrooke also has a 4-3 lead in the annual Skinner - Nadeau Trophy competition which is a two game total point affair.

The next game for the Gaitsers is tomorrow night at 8 p.m. against the Macdonald College Clansmen.
