Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh,

AND other affections of the LUNGS and CHEST, cured by INHALATION, local and general treatment. Inhalation alone will fail to cure most of these diseases, but in connection with proper general remedies, under Dr. HEATH'S direction, it is highly curative in these, heretofore, incurable affections. Dr. Heath is frequently applied to by persons who have neither been relieved by Inhalation, nor benefitted by shoulder-braces, nor inhaling tubes. The fact is that inhalation is only an auxiliary, and that those "Traps" are absolutely injurious.

As a proof of the success attending Dr. Heath's combined treatment, we refer to the subjoined—a few only of a large number of letters:—

423 Broadway, New York, Sept. 8, 1855.

DEAR DOCTOR:—Although not indebted to you pecuniarily, I am under obligations of gratitude which I do not expect to be able to pay for your skill in curing me of a Bronchial affection, some three years ago, which had troubled me for a number of years, and which would not yield to caustic applications, gargles or washes. Notwithstanding my profession requires the almost constant use of my vocal organs, the cure is permanent. If you think this will be of any service to yourself or the public, you will please use it in any manner to attain it. You will, no doubt, remember two or three of my friends were also cured by you. MARCUS COLBURN.

Nervous, Chronic, Scrofulous, and affections of the Generative system, tax the constitution to such an extent as to render it liable to take no Tuberculous and other Chronic forms of disease in both sexes. Those afflicted with any of these diseases can apply with a certainty of relief to Dr. HEATH, No. 850 Broadway, New York, from 9 A.M. to 4 P.M., Sundays excepted. Patients at a distance may be treated or advised by letter on stating their cases fully.

Who is Dr. Heath? For the information and satisfaction of those who perchance do not know, we refer them to an interesting editorial which appeared in the New York Day Book two weeks since, and which has been extensively copied in the leading papers of that city, and pretty generally in the country papers. We will let others answer this question, lest our readers who have not read the above-named article, entitled "The Character and Men of New York, the Metropolis of North America," should complain of our neglect to publish it also.

I have known Dr. Heath for ten or twelve years, during which time he has assiduously devoted himself to the study and treatment of Chronic Diseases, Genito-urinary, Nervous and Constitutional Affections, Diseases of the Ear and Eye, but especially in treating Consumption and affections of the Chest with flattering success.
J. K. SNELL M.D., Green Point, Brooklyn.

We most cheerfully recommend Dr. Heath to an enlightened public, as a professional friend of surpassing attainments, and of eminent success in his departments of practice.
LESTER GREEN, M.D., N. Y.

The two chief characteristics in a good doctor are moral excellence and professional ability, both of which Dr. Heath possesses in an eminent degree.
Hon. A. LOOMIS, N. Y.
New York, Sept. 24, 1855.

DR. HEATH—Dear Sir: I have taken my pen in hand to inform you that I am entirely free from every symptom of that alarming Consumptive Throat Disease, which I came under your medical care with, and which was so rapidly undermining my constitution. I was almost despairing of getting cured at all, until I was advised by Mr. Shaw to try you, and see if you could not relieve me. You have not only cured me physically, but you have relieved me of excessive suspense and anxiety of mind.—Yours, in gratitude,

N.B.—The Doctor's Introductory Work on the Cause and Cure of those Diseases, will be sent free to an address, upon application.

From the Lowell Journal.

This is the title of a very handsomely printed pamphlet, which we received yesterday from Boston. It contains a well written essay upon the anatomy and physiology of the skin and hair, by William Bogle. Mr. Bogle is a gentleman of intelligence, and has examined into the philosophy of his craft, and reduced it to a science. The treatise which he has written on the nature of the skin and hair speaks well for him. Mr. Bogle is the inventor of the celebrated Hyperion Fluid for the hair—an article which is becoming very widely known, and has an extensive sale; probably there is no better mixture than this for the prevention of baldness, removing dandruff, and preserving the natural beauty and softness of the hair. Those who have paid but little attention to the hair—among whom we are—would be surprised to learn how much can be said on the subject by an intelligent person who has studied the nature of it. Those who are anxious to know more, we would recommend to buy this treatise by Mr. Bogle.

To be had of WM. LYMAN & Co., Wholesale Agents for C. E.; and sold by A. SAVAGE & Co. ALEX. URQUHART, and S. J. LYMAN & Co., Druggists, Montreal. In Quebec, of JOSEPH BOWLES and Dr. MUSSON, Druggists.

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 29, 1856.

TRADE OF MONTREAL WITH THE EAST.—The early trade of the St. Lawrence with the East was carried on in cargos of the East Indian Company, which claimed the monopoly of supplying the Province of Canada with tea, and a ship used to arrive from time to time from China consigned to the old and respectable house, which still survives under the name of Anderson and Evans. After the abolition of the East India Company's monopoly of trade, and the discontinuance of their large mercantile fleet, no more cargoes were brought here direct from the East for a great many seasons. Within a few years, however, attempts have been made to bring a direct China and East Indian trade to our waters, so as to secure for our own merchants, and, perhaps, hererfter for our own ship owners', profits which have been hitherto wholly absorbed by English and American houses. The first vessel which of late years arrived in Montreal from China was if we recollect rightly, consigned to Messrs. Gillespie, Moffat & Co.; but since that time the Messrs. Torrance have shown the greatest disposition to enter upon an extended wholesale commerce with the wealthy regions of Eastern Asia. They have accordingly in each of the two last years imported an entire cargo of the "herbs we infuse," from the place of native growth. We may presume from the repetition of the "venture," to use the phrase of our old English merchants—that the business has at least not been a losing one; and here with the third year we have the arrival of a third ship, with enough of the leaf to supply all the teatotallers with their favorite beverage for the next twelve months. It is with great pleasure that we notice the progressive character of our trade; for beyond the advantage gained directly by each additional enterprize, it must not be forgotten that in commerce as in arts and sciences, each is linked to the other; so that every new step opens the way to a wider prospect and larger future field of action. This fact has been illustrated by the experience of the tea trade. We have mentioned that the revival of the trade has taken place only within a few years. But the enterprizing firm by which it has been chiefly carried on are already pushing the oriental traffic into other quarters. Besides the Auguste and Meline which has already arrived with tea, they daily expect cargos direct from Singapore and from Calcutta, as far as we know the first which have ever entered our waters from those ports.

We are not in possession of the particulars of the cargos of these two vessels; but we believe they are largely composed of rice; spices; nutmegs; hemp; and castor oils.

Here again we are struck with the gain which several branches of industry are likely to receive from the progress of each one. Calcutta is one of the ports whence linseed is exported in the largest quantities. We know not whether the "Tyne" is to bring any of that grain; but we do know that one of our most promising manufacturing establishments is the oil mill of the Messrs. Lyman. No doubt there is room for more such mills here or in other parts of the Province; and hence by the new line of commercial intercourse we may obtain from the farther ends of the earth at the cheapest rate, an important raw material, upon which to set in motion our Canadian water powers—a material, too, which converted into oil cake would afford to our farmers that kind of food which has been found so desirable for the purpose of fattening cattle.

The sales of these several cargoes at about the same period will, no doubt, bring a large number of buyers to this city. Dealers in groceries will be enabled by the sales of these and other merchandize, of a less uncommon kind, to make up complete assortments at first hand, without going elsewhere. We shall now feel the advantages of the Grand Trunk. Though some of these cargoes will arrive late in the season, there will be no absolute necessity for despatching them inland before the close of the navigation. Large portions of them will, of course, be offered time enough to be forwarded by water; but buyers may come here all the winter, and may transport their goods to their homes during the same season. A very important gain arises out of this fact, for hitherto when a merchant has had on hand a heavy stock of goods, he must sell during the Fall, or he must let his capital remain idle, waiting for the return of the market in the Spring. This will not be so for the future. Business may go on throughout what were formerly the dead months, and hence no loss will arise upon locked-up capital. The road hence to Portland will also be an element of considerable weight in determining the possibility of doing a regular trade with these distant ports; for a vessel may be loaded in the East Indies—if circumstances should recommend it—at a date which would render her arrival in Canada before the close of the navigation uncertain. All danger may, however, be obviated by giving her a choice of going into Portland, in case she should find herself more than a certain distance from the gulf of St. Lawrence at a given date, and she will still be on a great Canadian line of commerce, in communication with all the connections of Canadian trade.

Of course the advantages of an extended commerce, such as we have contemplated, cannot be confined to any section or locality. With the water communications which are now open from Anticosti to Fond du Lac and Milwaukie, there is no trade which can be advantageously undertaken in one part of the line, which may not be participated in throughout. The merchants of Toronto or Hamilton may, and no doubt will, either as sharers in joint speculations or singly, on their own accounts, take part in every sort of trade done by the St. Lawrence, no matter who shows the way. This consideration will, naturally, cause all parts of the Province to feel an equal interest in the events on which we have been remarking, and induce all to desire to promote by every legitimate method the national, and the most profitable, rather than a foreign, and less profitable commerce.

MORTGAGES—BILLS OF EXCHANGE—COLLECTION OF DEBTS.— Among discussions of general politics it is desirable not to forget those particular matters which have a practical influence on our every-day life; and among these there are few of more importance than the promotion of all facilities for the lending and borrowing of money, and the collection of debt. The accounts recently published in this journal, from intelligent business men of Upper Canada, show what difficulties are at present experienced by borrowers, as indicated by the high rates of interes, which they find it necessary to pay; and thought probably, the same straits may not have been experienced in the neighborhood of the accumulated capital in Lower Canada, where the spirit of speculation is not so rife as it is farther West, there can no doubt that borrowers here, as elsewhere, have felt the stress of the times. One great blunder in our legislation is the restriction it imposes upon the rate of interest which may be legally taken, which is as if an island, reduced by the failure of the crops to famine, should seek to create plenty by decreeing that the price of wheat should be less than prevailed in all neighboring countries. But we now allude to a difficulty of another kind—that arising from the troublesome process which is necessary to recover money which has been loaned. We have, on several occasions lately, pointed out how much the transfer of all real property is fettered by the defects of the system of registration and the law of ratification. We now proceed to indicate a method by which foreclosures of mortgages may be rendered much simpler than at present.—This method consists simply in taking an authority from the borrower to sell the property pledged, if the debt be not paid when due. This reduces the trouble of foreclosing a mortgage to that which a pawnbroker has in getting rid of a German flute pledged for a loan of half-a-dollar. It may be advisable, perhaps, to make the lender give a few days notice to the borrower, and to prescribe the mode in which he shall sell; but there can be no good reason why default on the part of the borrower to fulfil his engagement should not be followed by realization of the property mortgaged without putting the two parties interested to the expense and delay of a suit at law. This plan prevails in many parts of the United States, and might be advantageously introduced here. We mean that it might be adopted in principle; for it is true that to fit it to our present system, it would be advisable either to modify the system or to modify the law. If our registration were perfect, any buyer might trust to a careful inspection of the books to satisfy himself that he was not purchasing lands on which there were prior claims. It is imperfect registration which makes all buyers desire a judicial title. That cannot be granted by judges or officers of the law until time enough has elapsed, and due notice has been given to secure the presentation and trial of all conflicting rights.—In order, then, to render the simple mode we speak of applicable, it would, perhaps, be desirable that the lender should, before selling, not only give notice to the borrower, but also advertise the sale, as it would now be advertised after seizure by the Sheriff, in order to call in all opposants. At least the lawsuit between the borrower and lender would be got rid of. The best plan of all, however, would be to make our registers perfect, and then to treat the mortgagee, on default of payment by the mortgage, as the absolute owner for the purpose of selling the property, subject of course to rules to prevent collusion to defraud the mortgagor. The buyer would then simply run the same risk as he does when he purchases property from the proprietor, and parties having counter claims would, of course, as in sales by the proprietor, retain their security on the property.

An improvement on the law of more frequent application is imperatively called for, with respect to suits for Bills of Exchange. These are documents so simple that honest contestations can rarely arise upon them. Yet, we know that in practice, holders of such instruments are forced to go through all the mazes and windings of litigated actions, because the existing legal forms enable the defendant to obtain delay by pleading. This ought not to be allowed. In Scotland the action on Bills of Exchange is a very summary one. The plaintiff having simply lodged the protest of the bill with the proper officer, the defendant is served with a notice to appear within eight days, and pay his debt, under penalty of what we believe the Scotch law calls "horning and poinding," in other words of immediate execution of his goods. If the defendant have a defence he may put it in within the eight days; but he must, in that case, give security within forty-eight hours of the expiration of that term. The plaintiff may object to the security, and, if his objection is sustained, another forty-eight hours is granted for new security to be proposed. If, on this occasion, the judge hold the proffered bail to be insufficient, a peremptory order is made to give good security within twenty-four hours, in default of which the defendant is "put to the horn." This, we believe, is a tolerably correct account of the Scotch action on a bill of exchange. It will be seen that the holder of a bill can bring his affair to a crisis, and either get his money or know that he may write down the acceptance to profit and loss within about fourteen days from the protest. Our own Legislature appears to have intended to enact a somewhat similar law in Lower Canada, for, by 41st Geo. 3rd, a process is given to the holder of a promissory note, bill of exchange, or any cedule, whereby the defaulting debtor could be called in within three days. The enactment appears, however, to have been drawn rather too loosely for practical purposes, which, perhaps, accounts for the remedy it provides having fallen into disuse. A similar law is, at any rate, in use in some of the United States, and has been, if we mistake not,—for we have not the means of reference at hand,—been recently introduced into England.

Some may think that in these recommendations we are only studying new machines to pinch the debtor. That would be a mistake; for capitalists are ready to let their money or goods go into the hands of men without capital on terms "easy" in proportion to the facility with which they can recover their hold upon their property at the term agreed upon. It may suit individuals, even at the cost of heavy law expenses, to put off the payment of a debt; but the more individuals are found to do so, the more difficulty will be found in obtaining credit. Of course, in every business, the charges must be in proportion to the risk. Make the recovery of money easy and the risk of loss light, and business will be done at lower rates of interest and profit.

THE CAUCHON DINNER.—Mr. Cauchon has had a dinner given to him by the Quebeccois, because he has done his best to get the Province to spend a large amount of property upon a rival to the Grand Trunk Road between Quebec and Richmond, which will not pay, even without competition. We hope it has not affected his digestion as much as it has that of the Journal de Quebec, otherwise the dyspepsy must be a case truly fit for the pages of the Medical Magazines. The Journal has never been able to get the dinner off its stomach ever since it took place, and here, a week after the event, we have that respectable newspaper with a topographical chart of the table at which was given this diner de trois cents cinquante couverts.

☞ The Firemen's Annual Pic-Nic.

The Annual Pic-Nic of the Neptune Company No. 2, the Protector Company No. 3, and the Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, came off on Wednesday last. The gloomy prognostications which the unsettled state of the weather in the morning called forth, were, happily, completely falsified by the result; for a gentle breeze, a bright summer sky, and a balmy atmosphere enabled the excursionists to enjoy themselves with hearty good will, and, we may say, without any qualification, that throughout the day "all went merry as a marriage bell." The arrangements of tde Committee gave general satisfaction, as they left nothing undone that could contribute to the amusement and pleasure of the excursionists. Beauharnois was selected as the place of rendevous, and certainly a more delightful spot it would be difficult to name, as the scenery about Beauharnois and the surrounding country is of transcendent beauty and loveliness, being richly timbered, and having a pictorial diversity of light and shade. The time announced for the excursionists to start from Montreal was half-past nine, but it was nearly ten before all were seated in the respective carriages allotted for them, when the train darted off, and arrived at Lachine about twenty minutes past ten. Here the fine steamer "Iroquois," gaily dressed with flags, was in waiting. In a short time all got on board in perfect order, when dancing was commenced with great spirit, and continued till the steamer arrived at Beauharnois. Nunn's fine band which was in attendance during the day, and played some delightful pieces, now headed the excursionist sand proceeded to the scenery grounds, which Mr. Keith, the agent, in the most handsome manner granted for the occasion. Many of the excursionists divided themselves into little groups and commenced regaling themselves with rustic simplicity and comfort. Others adjourned to Mr. Thom's, where, at a short notice, a capital dinner was provided. The cravings of the inner man having been duly satisfied, the amusements of the day were diversified by foot-ball, quoits, swinging, and dancing. At half-past four the excursionists repaired on board of the steamer, and after a few revolutions of the paddles, left Beauharnois amidst the hearty adieus of the inhabitants, the band playing "Cheer Boys, Cheer." Dancing was now resumed, and continued with renewed spirit till the steamer arrived at Lachine, where the train was in readiness to receive the Company. All being comfortably seated, the train dashed off amidst the enthusiastic greetings of the spectators, and arrived at Montreal about half-past seven. The kindness and courtesy of Captain Baker to all on board, particularly his considerate attention to the ladies and children, were the theme of general commendation, as were also the indefatigable exertions of Conductor Crosby, who displayed his usual zeal in accommodating the excursionists. The satisfactory manner in which all the arrangements were carried out by A. Rough, Esq., the able manager of the Montreal and New York Railway, was above all praise.

RECORDER'S COURT.

THURSDAY, August 28.

Before the RECORDER.

Lawrence McGrath, plasterer, was charged by the city authorities with having erected, between the 1st of May and the 19th instant, a wooden building within the limits of the city, on a lot of ground situated on the line of Catherine street, in the St. Ann's ward. Fined £5 and costs, and 30 days' imprisonment.

John Eward, saddler, pleaded guilty to a similar offence. Fined £5 and costs, and 30 days' imprisonment.

There were thirteen other cases, consisting of drunkenness and vagrancy, in which the usual fines were imposed.

There were also several complaints against the assessment returns.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, August 28.

Before CHARLES J. COURSOL, Esq., Inspector and Superintendent of Police.

Richard Philbin, contractor, was charged by Murdoch Morrison, advocate, with having, on the 26th inst., used violent and insulting language towards complainant in the public streets.

The prosecutor having been sworn, said:—On the 26th inst., about 4 o'clock, p.m, I had occasion to go to the shop of Lamplough & Campbell, to purchase medicine; I came from the stable where I keep my horse in Fortification lane, along Notre Dame street; having a very quiet horse I threaded my way through the stones that lay in the street; I passed by some of the workmen and the defendant without having received any interruption or molestation; upon reaching Mr. Gauthier's shop I heard a voice behind me shouting and screaming at me, threatening that if I dared to do what I did in the morning personal violence would be inflicted on me, as well by the speaker as by his men; this took place in Notre Dame street; I turned round and looked at the person addressing me, and found it was the defendant; I said to him, "Mr. Philbin, you are a gentleman," and rode away, wanting to go to Lamplough and Campbell's; at this time I saw your honour, Mr. Montreuil, and Mr. Dorval, standing in the street and taking no notice of what had occurred; whilst I was speaking to these gentlemen, defendant come to me and commenced a great tirade of abuse. To the best of my recollection, one of the expressions defendant made use of, was, "You d——d brainless pup."

The prosecutor produced several witnesses in support of the foregoing allegations.

The defendant; in extenuation, stated, that on the afternoon of the day before the prosecutor leaped his horse over a number of stones connected with the works in Notre Dame Street.

The Court did not consider that the defendant had a right to take the law into his own hands, and imposed a fine of 50s, including costs, or fifteen days' imprisonment.

Joseph Levine, of no occupation, Thomas Saunders, carter, and Hugh Doyle, steward of the ship "Queen of the Lakes," were charged with being drunk and disorderly. Levine was fined 5s, or four days at hard labour; Saunders, was fined 8s 6d, or eight days; and Doyle was discharged at the entreaty of the Captain of the ship.

FOUND.—Mr. J. Sexton, residing in St. Nicholas, Tolentine St. reported at the Police Court, having picked up a canoe, which was drifting down with the current in the river, opposite the city. The owner of the canoe can have it by applying to Mr. J. Sexton.

ATTEMPTED TO STEAL ON THE RIVER.—An attempt was made, on the night of the 25th inst, to break into the Steamers Fashion and Fenton a pane of glass was broken in the window of each boat.

FIRE.—Yesterday afternoon, about a quarter to four, a fire broke out in Mr. Vosburg's stables, situated between Hermine and Alexander streets, and extended to some wooden sheds adjacent—In a short time the Fire Brigade were on the spot, and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but unfortunately not before the stables and sheds were destroyed. We understand that the damage is covered by insurance.

WEEKLY LINE OF STEAMERS BETWEEN LIVERPOOL AND THE ST. LAWRENCE.—We have been requested to publish the following Memorial of the Montreal Board of Trade:—

To His Excellency SIR EDMUND WALKER HEAD, Baronet, Governor General of British North America, and Captain General and Governor-in-Chief in and over the Provinces of Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the Island of Prince Edward, and Vice-Admiral of the same, &c. &c.

The Memorial of the Montreal Board of Trade,

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH,—

That the advantages arising from the establishment of direct communication by steam between this country and England, already apparent in the marked increase of exports from the St. Lawrence, in the partial restoration to our own channels of the import trade, which, of late years, has sought American routes, and in the earlier receipt of European intelligence, would be greatly augmented by the formation of a Weekly Line

That while your Memorialists have great pleasure in bearing testimony to the highly satisfactory manner in which the service has been performed by the steamers of the present line, they are, nevertheless, of the opinion, that in any contemplated enlargement of the service, vessels of greater tonnage and larger speed should be stipulated for, in order that a continued successful competition with rival routes may be secured.

That as it has formed part of the Imperial policy, ever since the navigation of the Ocean by steam was shown to be practicable, to provide facilities of rapid and direct communication between the Mother country and her possessions abroad, it appears but reasonable to assume that the Imperial Government would, if applied to for that purpose by the Provincial Government, cheerfully consent to defray some share of the cost of maintaining direct communication by steam with this country; but, if this assumption should prove to be unfounded, your Memorialists believe that the resources of the Province cannot be more wisely or advantageously employed than in granting such a measure of aid from the Provincial treasury as will secure the great object now respectfully urged on Your Excellency's attention.

Your Memorialists, therefore, pray that Your Excellency will be pleased to take such steps as will ensure the early establishment of a weekly line of steamers between the ports of the St. Lawrence and Great Britain.

[Seal.] And your Memorialists, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

President.

BURNING OF THE PROPELLOR "TINTO."—ADJOURNED INVESTIGATION.

(Reported for the Kingston News.)

The Coroner and Jury met at the Court House, on the evening of Thursday the 20th, for the purpose of hearing further evidence. Thos. Kirkpatrick, Esq., appeared for the Crown; G. L. Mowat, Esq, for the owners of the Tinto.

Captain CHARLES ARMSTRONG examined—Is Lloyd's Agent—Agent for the underwriters at Montreal. Inspected the Tinto in the month of June. The Captain came to have her examined, with a view to have her insured. It was said her machinery was disarranged owing to her having struck on a rock; therefore the machinery was defective. He seen her on the stocks at Sorel and thought her seaworthy. She could not be called a hot boat, as her boilers were unusually small, and remained below in an eleven feet hold. she then had three boats, one large and two smaller ones. The small boats were entirely too small. Did not know of any life preservers; she was not intended to be a passenger vessel. The three boats were [illegible] people on board. The small boats were capable to hold 25 each, the large one 50. It is not the practice for freight steamers to carry life boats; I do not think there is a steamer from Hamilton to Quebec, on lake or on River, has her funnel cased with iron. From what I have seen it was entirely impossible that fire could have originated from a spark falling between the funnel and the boilers—particularly from what I learn in this case—the wind blowing fresh must have sent the sparks beyond the vessel. I would not hesitate for a moment to insure the vessel. Do not think her master justified in going to sea with only one boat. The great quantity of wood on board amounts to nothing. There was hose on board which could easily be used, the only trouble being to affix it.

DELANY, the mate, was re-examined. He swore positively that there was an iron casing around the funnels, which, he said, yet remains to be seen; here, only, his evidence differed from what has been already stated.

The Coroner requested all others, save the jury to retire, when it was agreed:—

That the two persons deceased, whose names appear at the beginning of this inquiry, came to their deaths by the burning of the Propellor Tinto; and that the captain and Engineer were highly culpable in proceeding to sea without having taken proper precaution to secure the lives of the passengers committed to their charge.

We have been told that such was the substance of the verdict.

NORFOLK ON THE ALERT.—A largely signed requisition has been presented to Walker Powell, Esq., Warden of the County of Norfolk, asking him to call a meeting of the electors, to "consider the propriety of petitioning the Governor General to dissolve the present Parliament, with a view to a general election." The requisionists "believe" that "the policy and legislation of the existing Administration have tended to the subversion of the constitutional rights of the people of UpperCanada, and the demoralization and serious injury of the whole province." They express a fear that, "unless a timely appeal to the country be made, yet greater evils will result."

The warden has called the meeting for Saturday, the 30th instant, at 1 o'clock, p.m, at the Court House, Simcoe. We doubt not "glorious old Norfolk" will do its duty on the occasion.

UNITED STATES.

THE ARMY BILL.—There is nothing new from Washington with reference to the Army bill. It is reported that Secretary Davis has given orders for the discharge of all the workmen employed in the various armories, assigning the want of funds as the cause of such action. Doubtless the Secretary imagines that the clamor raised by the mechanics thus turned adrift will have a potent effect upon certain members of the House. The Senate yesterday was occupied in debating Mr. Weller's bill for the settlement of the Kansas difficulties. It is entitled a "bill to annul the obnoxious laws passed by the Legislature of Kansas." The majority, however, are of opinion that the measure interferes with the rights of squatter sovereignity, as defined and guaranteed by the Kansas-Nebraska act, and therefore have agreed in cancus to defeat it. Mr. Crittenden intends offering a proposition annuling the objectionable laws of Kansas, abolishing the Territorial Legislasure, and placing the legislative power in the hands of the Governor and Judges. This, also, will be defeated. Indeed, it is evident, from the tone of the speeches delivered yesterday, that the Senate intends to adopt the advice of Mr. Mason, and reduce the House to submission, before entertaining any proposition for the pacification of Kansas. In the House the investigating committee on the McMullen and Granger assault and battery case made reports. The majority report concludes by stating that the matter requires no further action on the part of the House.

FROM KANSAS.

CHICAGO, Tuesday, Aug. 26.

Advices from Leavenworth, up to Thursday state that Lawrence was still unharmed, and a thousand men, completely armed, were ready to defend it at a moment's warning.

ST. LOUIS, Monday, Aug. 25, 1856.

At a Kansas meeting, held yesterday, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That, as organized armed bands of desperate men had invaded Kansas for the purpose of expelling or exterminating peaceable, law-abiding citizens, and, in carrying out the said purpose, have been guilty of arson, robbery, and murdering inoffensive citizens, while engaged in their lawful pursuits; women and children have been driven from their homes, rendered widows, orphans, houseless, and penniless; therefore,

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the sufferers, and are willing to extend them shelter and protection, and whatever aid may be required to supply their necessities.

Resolved, That we condemn the spirit of bigotry of the fanatical abolitionists, which has produced this state of things.

Resolved, That a Committee of ten be appointed to gain proper information, and, if thought advisable, to visit Kansas, and report if they recommend the raising of relief funds, and if so, that a committee be appointed to effect that object, and appropriate properly the funds raised.

Resolved, That in no event will we sanction any interference or action against the Constitution, or anything warranted by law or right.

Resolved, That we desire the interposition of the Federal Government to subdue insurrection and protect the rights of citizens in the Territory.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

(From Willmer & Smith.)

The splendid harvest weather continues, and in many parts of the country harvest operations are general, the only difficulty in the case being the absence of labour. As a substitute for manual power, the reaping machine is coming into pretty general use, and before many years have elapsed the benefits of this excellent substitute will be fully appreciated. At present, the difficulty with farmers of limited means is the price of the instrument; and it is to be hoped that this obstacle will vanish at no remote day. In the meantime, to attract men to the fields high wages have been offered—in some districts high enough to induce "navvies" to abandon road-making and take to shearing. For years past, we have advocated the necessity of the executive Government, at a time like the present, doing everything in its power to aid the farmer to secure, in as fine condition as possible, the produce of the earth; and the Government could do this effectively by allowing the soldiery to work in the fields during harvest time. We are glad that this subject has been taken up by Sir S. Morton Peto, and we hope that through his instrumentality the "pressure from without" may succeed in wringing this concession from the Government. Sir Morton has a strong inducement to push the matter to a successful issue, for his "navvies" have left him, and joined the agriculturists. In France the soldiers invariably aid in securing the crops, and no reason that we know exists why the same rule should not exist in this country.

The extreme heat which prevailed during the last fortnight has been without a parallel in this country of recent years. This has ripened and mellowed the cereal crops rapidly, and precipitated that demand for labour to which we have referred. But the heat has been attended with occasional thunder storms in various parts of the country, and these have done more or less injury in particular districts. Influenced by the fine weather the markets have given way, but the averages show wheat to be still dear. The average struck this week, for example, makes the price of wheat 76s. per quarter, barley 43s. 3d., oats, 23s. 1d., and rye 46s. 4d.; but these will decrease with each succeeding market.

But it is a singular anomaly in connection with this promising state of things that the condition of the money market is by no means satisfactory. The glorious sunshine has not raised the price of the public securities, now lower than they were a month ago; and the commercial world has been in the expectation every day that the Bank would raise the rate of interest.—Under the old system of Protection this was always a critical time of the year, especially when the harvest was unpromising, for then gold left the country in enormous quantities for food purchases, and the Bank, in self protection, put on "the screw" to stop its egress. At present we have daily arrivals of the "precious metals," but the bullion in the Bank of England has declined, the reserve of notes has largely declined, and we witness nearly the same results as if we were on the eve of a famine, while the nation is on the point of enjoying one of the most bountiful harvests within the memory of man.

Sir Archibald Allison, the historian, has been propounding some of those fanciful theories this week with which his name is associated. He found an audience the other day in the county of Durham, where a marchioness and a nobleman stood sponsors to his platitudes. Sir Archibald traced our disasters in the Crimea to an over-reduction of our naval and military establishments in time of peace, and to give an illustration he cited the Affghan war, for the purpose of proving that a niggardly policy in that instance jeopardised our Indian supremacy, and entailed upon us a loss of twenty-five thousand lives and ten millions of money. The assumption and the inference from it have been promptly knocked on the head by some of the ready writers in the daily papers. Every one not wilfully blind knows that the Crimean disasters were not owing to a want of men or material, but to the want of a system—to that wretched thing called routine, as understood in official life, of which the aristocracy, like their historic defender, have always been the advocates.

The Queen and the Royal family have been enjoying a pleasant cruise to the Channel Islands and have called, on their return, at some of the coast towns, where they have been received with marked enthusiasm. But Prince Albert is not a general favourite. Perhaps the fact of his being a foreigner may slightly operate; but the real cause, we suspect, is the parsimonious character which he has everywhere acquired. The Prince knows the value of money, know how to provide for his family, and in the great art of cheese-paring is said to be without a rival. Even this week we hear of a transaction which will increase the disfavour—the purchase of an enormous quantity of land in Australia, the paymaster for which,—so goes the story,—is to be the Marquis of Westminister! The fact of the last-mentioned nobleman opening his purse-strings to advance money to the Royal Consort gives an additional flavour to the statement, as the Marquis has the reputation of being one of the greatest "screws" living in these diminions.

The subscription recently opened in this country for the sufferers by the inundations in France cannot be accurately named in consequence of some of the towns having sent the sum collected to Paris direct.

The Daily News of yesterday, in an article on Australia, mentions a characteristic ancedote respecting the rapid rise of a part of the world which now absorbs so much attention, and in which there is a great moral—"One day, in the year 1788," says our contemporary, "a thoughtless 'Middy' was leaning over the bulwark of his ship, then anchored off Spithead, listlessly gazing into the water. His captain, who had been pacing the deck, all at once stopped short, tapped him on the shoulder, and pointing to some ship sailing past, said—'mark those vessels, young man; they carry in them the germs of a mighty empire.' The vessels the captain pointed to were the small squadron in which was embark the first batch of convicts sent to 'Botany Bay.'" As a commentary on the foregoing, it may be added that, including New Zealand, there are now six colonies in Australia, and a population of half a million of souls. Half of the wool imported into Great Britain comes from Australia, and Melbourne exports annually a hundred tons of gold to England. An Adelaide commercial circular with which we have been favoured, published by Messrs. M'Dermott, Dutton, and Co., contains the following remarkable paragraph respecting the colony of South Australia,—and as it came to hand by the Royal Charter this week it affords a striking commentary on the "Middy" anecdote. According to this authority the exports from Adelaide during the season amounted to 1,175,000. Relative to population the circular says—

Our population has increased since 1st January this year, by about 2346 souls, making a total estimate to date of about 93,000. The large and continued success of the gold-diggings in Victoria, however, exercises a very injurious effect on our Colony, by withdrawing able-bodied labourers and skilled workmen from us.

INDIA.

(From the Times' Correspondent.)

CALCUTTA, July 3.

The attention of the public has been occupied almost exclusively with social reforms. The bill for permitting the re-marriage of Hindoo widows, though not formally passed, may be considered safe; 58,000 persons petitioned against it, and 55,000 for it. When the bitter prejudices of the old Hindoos against any innovation are remembered, these numbers are equivalent to a declaration of opinion in favour of the bill. It has been found necessary to limit the right of the adult widow over her own children, but this concession to prejudice matters little. It is the child-widow for whom we are legislating. Adult widows will not often avail themselves of the privilege. Hindoo women wither so rapidly that they will scarcely be sought for their money, and the control of the husband is in this country so absolute that wealthy widows will probably prefer independence. It is the child-widow whose husband dies before she enters his house who will benefit. In this country, between the tropical climate and a code of manners lax beyond what Europeans can even conceive, such widows are certain to go wrong. Hindoo fathers are well aware of the danger, and heavy dowries will be given to overcome the lingering prejudice and secure the family permanently from disgrace.

Mr. Grant has just pledged himself to the extirpation of a similar abuse. Some centuries ago Bullal Sen, then ruling in Bengal, imported five Brahmins from the north to improve the standard of learning among his own priests. Their descendants are the "Koolin," or high-born Brahmins of Bengal. These men, partly to preserve their pedigrees, and partly to make money of their superior sanctity, have introduced some monstrous customs into the country. They claim the privilege of dispensing with Hindoo law as to affinity, which is stricter than that of Rome, and marry first cousins, nieces, and aunts. They also claim the right of marrying as many wifes as they please. No Brahim can refuse a Koolin's alliance. They therefore demand heavy dowries, and leave their wifes upon the fathers' hands. They sometimes never even visit them, and the wretched women, married but widows. add one more to the thousand sources of native corruption. Strange to say, all this happens while the Koolins, their pride, their customs, and their character, are all alike detested by the community. The Legislative Council has been deluged with petitions praying for the extirpation of the nuisance. It is to be at once abolished. According to the Friend of India, Mr. Grant intends to go still further, and strike at the custom of polygamy itself. This is regarded as a dangerous experiment, but it is always difficult to ascertain the real opipion of the native community. Hindoos in Bengal are not much addicted to the practice. It is a fundamental law of their creed that a man must have a son. Accordingly, if the wife, up to the age of 20, prove barren—women are mothers here at 14—or if she bear only daughters, the husband must marry again. This privilege it is not proposed to abolish. But some few marry twice even after sons have been born to them. And it is this practice which it is proposed to abolish. It is not frequent, and is considered, if not exactly disreputable, still an indication that the husband is rather a "loose fish." My own opinion is that the law will excite a great degree of irritation, and is uncalled for.

A contest, not without warmth, has sprung up between the missionaries and the indigo planters. The former, powerful in numbers, in their minute knowledge of the people, and in weight of character, recently passed at a general conference resolutions condemning the planters for oppression. The planters declare that they are misrepresented, and that the native Christians are the worst class of the community. Moderate men hold that both parties are guilty of exaggeration. On the one hand, the planters have undoubtedly effected much good for the country. They have introduced capital and new cultivations, have restrained the tyranny of the zemindars, and have sometimes really enriched the peasantry. On the other hand, they will never recognize the fact that a ryot is not a laborer, but the owner of the soil. They therefore compel him to cultivate indigo, whether he will or not, and the force thus exerted leads occasionally to oppression.—For themselves, they are like most Englishmen in tropical countries, generous, hospitable, and usually fair in their dealings, but with a genuine contempt for the timid, shiftless race among whom they dwell, and a tendency to appeal to force on every occasion. The missionaries, again, though perfectly single-hearted in the matter, and though the instances of oppression they quote are strictly correct, labor under one disadvantage,—they are apt to believe all the statements of their converts without sufficient enquiry. The discussion has done much good. It has thrown much light on some dark places, and has increased the dispositions of the public to inquire into the social position of Bengal.

As I have before mentioned, the Lieutenant Governor has recorded a minute on the arrangements for securing justice and repressing crime. By a law older than Mohamedan rule every cluster of 50 houses is bound to maintain a watchman, and pay him. The village system, however, is dead. The rights of the inhabitants are transferred to the zemindar, who appoints either a personal servant, or the cheapest and oldest beggar he can find. The consequence is that one half the police are able-bodied criminals, and the other half feeble-bodied old men. The magistrates are too few to be of any use. There is at this very moment a case in the papers in which a man murdered a woman by tearing the fœtus from her, and he received only seven years imprisonment. It is a beautiful specimen of what Warren Hastings called the "tenderness of our institutions." Mr. Halliday proposes to remove these evils by enforcing the payment of the village police, improving the position of police officers, trebling the number of magistrates, and introducing juries. The latter innovation, once dreaded, is becoming popular.

The Committee of the Calcutta University have resolved that the titles of degrees shall be the same as those in England; so in a few years Joygopal Ghose, M. A. or Eshurchunder Chuckerbutty, B. A., will take their places among the literati of the world.

A terrible outbreak of cholera has occurred at Agra, which struck down even the Europeans. Usually we are so exempt from the scourge that we become culpably indifferent to the most ordinary precautions. The water of the Jumna has become putrid, apparently from the discharge of stagnant water from the Jumna Canal. The natives appear to be almost insane with fright. They declare that a mysterous horseman is riding over the country, and wherever his horse's hoofs strike there the pestilence appears. They are actually offering up figures of this demon rider in the temples.

Some officials of the Punjab have recently called attention to a frightful practice there prevalent. Bands of lepers go roaming about, extorting contributions from the people by the threat of bathing in the wells. The contagious character ot this disease in the Punjab is, I fear, fully proved. Major Lake is building an asylum, and as soon as it is complete stern and summary measures must be adopted for the suppression of this horror.

All is quiet in the Punjab and in upper India generally, but the increase of the cholera at and in the neighborhood of Agra forms no insignificant item in the intelligence of the fortnight. Among the natives the cases known to and reported by the police have risen to about 100 a day, of which an average of one-third prove fatal, but these returns are very imperfect, and are thought to under-rate the mortality by no less than one-half. Many English also have fallen, especially in the ranks of the Company's 3rd European Regiment, whose quarters have, consequently, been shifted to the other side of the Jumna. In the gaol the disease proved so virulent that the remaining prisoners, upwards of 3,000 (it is said) in number, have been formed into encampments on the plain. On the bearing of the two great bodies of the native inhabitants under this terrible scourge, a correspondent of the Delhi Gazette has the following:—

"The Mahomedan temples are nightly thronged and surrounded with worshippers, crying aloud to the Almighty. The Hindoos fall back upon superstition. Their tale is a curious one. One night lately, about midnight, a horseman rode down to the opposite bank of the Jumna, and called to the ferryman to convey him over. It was too late, it was not worth the fee to take across a single man with his horse. But being promised a large douceur, he agreed, and brought over horse and rider. The stranger mounted, and, asking the way to the next westward village, rode in that direction. As he approached it he met one of its villagers, and desired him to show him the path westward. He refused, and would not be bribed. In the morning this villager was dead of cholera, and his village was immediately ravaged by the disease."

The spread of the disorder to Delhi was apprehended at the last dates, the continued drought being very unfavorable to health. It had already appeared at Muttra, and was reported to have shown itself at Alighur.

MELANCHOLY DEATH OF A CLERGYMAN BY POISON.

body of the Rev. Thomas William Marsh, the manager of a missionary station in Norval, Canada, in connection with the English church, who came by his death on board the screw steamship Canadian, which arrived at Liverpool on Thursday morning.

Catherine Marsh, widow of the deceased, said he was a clergyman, 34 years of age. We came from Quebec in the steam-ship Canadian, which place we left on the 2nd of August. The deceased had not been in very robust health before we embarked. On Saturday morning he became ill about half-past eight, and complained of cold perspiration and vomiting. He took some medicine administered by the doctor, and appeared to improve in the afternoon. In the evening he became worse, and his strength seemed to be failing, until the 11th instant, when he died in his birth. When he was first taken ill he said he did not think he should get over it, saying that he had been poisoned. Afterwards he said he had asked the bedroom steward for some Plantagenet water, but the latter did not seem to know whether there was any on board; he then asked the steward if there was not mineral water on board, who replied he thought there was, and brought some in a basin, which he gave him. The deceased drank a mouthful of it, but finding it so hot he took no more, and went on deck, where he began to feel very ill. He told me that after he had first taken what the steward brought, he said to him, "You have half-killed me." He said that he did not believe the steward knew what he was giving him.

George Harrison, the bedroom steward, said that at a quarter to eight last Saturday, deceased asked for some Plantagenet water, when witness told him he did not know whether there was any on board, and that he did not know what it was. He then asked witness what kind of water there was on board, when witness said he did not know of any prepared water—there was chloride of zinc or chloride of lime. He asked if witness would be kind enough to bring him some, but did not specify which. Witness took the second bedroom steward with him, and went down into the lazarette, and filled a slop-basin full of water that was in the jar, which came on board under the name of disinfecting fluid.

The basin was taken to the deceased, and witness told him that was the water that was under the name of disinfecting fluid. The deceased thanked witness for it, and as he was going away witness told him to keep the basin, and put it in the washing-stand. In about 20 minutes witness saw the deceased again, when he said the water had not agreed with him. He was then holding the basin in his hand, and witness asked him if he had drunk any, to which he replied he had. Witness then told him he had not given it to be drunk, but to be sprinkled on the floor.—He did not understand from Mr. Marsh that he wanted the Plantagenet water to drink. When deceased asked for mineral water witness did not know that that was intended to be drunk; when mineral water and Plantagenet water were called for witness thought it was for something to sprinkle the floor. When witness told the deceased that he did not know there was any prepared water on board, he meant anything besides pure water. Understood soda water was prepared water, and that it was to be drunk; but understood at that time the deceased was asking for deodorising or disinfecting water. If he had thought the deceased wanted drinking water he would not have taken it to him in a slop-bowl. The large airports of the ship had not been open for some time, and the closeness induced witness to think that the deceased wanted the disinfecting fluid.

Edwin Collier Whitenbury, surgeon on board the Canadian. On Saturday, morning last, Harrison, came to witness's cabin and told him that Mr. Marsh had taken some disinfecting fluid in mistake, and was affected from the effects of it. Hearing that deceased was on deck, witness sent for him to his cabin, and when he came he said that he had asked Harrison for some Plantagenet water, and that he had given him some disinfecting fluid by mistake. He appeared to be suffering greatly, and a large dose of castor oil was administered, intending it to act as an emetic and as a sheath to the inflamed passages. Witness ordered him forthwith into his room, and applied the usual remedies and antidotes for poisoning by chlorides. After a great deal of suffering, he appeared to be relieved

The next day he was not suffering quite so much, but had great flatulent distension of the abdomen, and the character of the pain altered. At intervals he had great relief during Monday, the 11th, and on Tuesday morning he remained in about the same state; in the afternoon he seemed to be better. At nine o'clock the same evening he died, having for an hour previously a sudden cessation of pain. Witness considered that inflammation in the course of the alimentary canal, with ulceration and preforation, was the cause of death. These would be the effects of such a poison. From the conversation he had with deceased he should consider him to be a person of remarkably good sense. There was nothing in deceased's manner or conversation to lead witness to suspect that he had willingly taken the poison.

The Deputy-coroner said this being the whole of the evidence connected with this unfortunate circumstance, however much it might be regretted, it was clear that very little more blame attached to the steward than to the deceased himself, who, it appeared, was quite competent to judge whether he ought to have drunk it as a medicine. The only verdict that could be arrived at would be either a verdict of chance medley, that the deceased had taken the fluid by mistake, or a verdict of manslaughter against the steward. The latter, he thought, could not possibly be arrived at; but this was for the jury to determine.

After a short consultation the jury returned a verdict of chance medley, that the deceased had incautiously and by mistake taken the fluid, and that no blame whatever is attachable to the steward.

A fire of extraordinary magnitude, involving immense destruction of valuable property, illuminated the western districts of the metropolis for several hours on Tuesday evening.

Upon a plot of ground exceeding a couple of acres in extent, and running from the Horseferry-road to Holy-well street, Westminster, have stood for the last thirty years the principal manufacturing shops of Messrs. Broadwood, the famous constructors of every description of first-class piano-fortes. The premises consisted of five distinct ranges of buildings, three stories high, running parallel with each other, and embracing shops for every department of the manufacture. At six o'clock in the evening 420 workmen left the various shops in the establishment, and, as was invariably the case, one of the foremen inspected the whole premises after their departure, for the purpose of ascertaining that everything was safe, and the stove fires properly extinguished. In little more than half an hour after the workmen had left, smoke was observed issuing from the upper floor of the central range of buildings, immediately beneath the clock tower. An alarm was instantly given at the residence of Mr. Russell, one of the principal managers, who lives adjoining the premises in Holywell-street. He immediately hastened to the building in question, and at once saw that the fire had made considerable progress, and was rapidly increasing in its ravages. The peculiar construction of the workshops—built to obtain the best possible light, and consisting of distinct floors several hundred feet long, without a break of any kind—rendered them any easy prey to the flames, and in less than an hour the fire had obtained so terrible a mastery that very little hope existed from that time of saving any portion of the establishment.

Into the interior of the shops very shortly after the outbreak it was impossible to enter, and it was lamentable to observe the workmen looking on—their eyes suffused with tears—at the destruction of their valuable tools and materials, without the smallest chance of rescuing them.

Out of the five ranges of shops four had ignited, when Mr. Stadles, foreman of the Brigade, determined to cut off the communication with the fifth range, by the employment of a large number of men with pickaxes and other instruments. The rest of the vast manufactory is a total wreck, and the loss thus occasioned to Messrs. Broadwood is understood to be something almost fabulous. Nearly 1000 piano-fortes, in various stages of manufacture, have been utterly lost, and the value of the woods and other materials destroyed amounts to an immense sum. 5s. per square-foot for veneers used by Messrs. Broadwood is not at all an extravagant price, and from this some notion may be formed of the loss that will be occasioned by the fire. The tools of a single first-class workman also may be estimated at £70.

RUSSIAN NAVAL REVIEW AT CRONSTADT

The special correspondent of the Morning Post at St. Petersburg, under date of August 4, gives details of the naval review at Cronstadt:—

This morning the thunders of artillery awoke all St Petersburg, and the sea-coast towns for many miles, to witness a grand review of the Russian mortar-boats, off Cronstadt.

The whole of Cronstadt was alert at day-break on the 4th, and we passed through the whole line of steam mortar-boats. There were 75 in number, extending along a diagonal front of 15 versts (or ten miles English) within Cronstadt, and from that place to the shore of Peterhoff. Every one of these boats were furnished with the screw propeller. More than two-thirds of them carried three mortars each—one in the stern, one amidships, and one in the bows; the rest carried only two pieces. They were very large. The crew of each boat numbered from forty to fifty. The boats were hastily got up; they are very light in motion, and of very shallow draught. They offer scarcely any mark, and are considerably lower in the water than the French boats of ours of similar construction.

This was the great naval review, not only of the Russian Baltic fleet which has lived through the war, but of the new fleet of Russian mortar-boats which may be said to have been born in it. To this review Sir Chas. Napier, inasmuch as he was on a visit to Russia and in the neighborhood, received a special invitation from the High Admiral of the Empire, the Grand Duke Constantine.

The very first direct intimation conveyed to him was couched in phrases which would have made many a man wince. He was told that orders had been given at Cronstadt and elsewhere to receive him, and he was politely assured that he would not now experience any difficulty in entering the various fortresses. At the same time the Grand Duke Constantine ordered a steamer to be stationed in the river, and a Russian officer informed the visitor that this vessel was for his special accommodation; but, first, he was begged to repair at once to the Grand Duke's residence. Sir Charles forthwith donned his Russian cross of St George (received long ago for the St. Jean d'Acre hit), and waited on the Grand Duke.

When he went to Peterhoff he proceeded in his off-hand way straight to the Emperor's palace, and demanded of a servant in the grounds whether his Majesty was there. The man could not speak any language that Sir Charles spoke (or translated the question, and then translated the answer, which was that Alexander II. was not there, but at his farm a little distance off. No appearance of mystery or reticence was observed towards Sir Charles in any of the warlike establishments.

COMPLIMENTARY ADDRESSES TO THE CAPTAIN OF THE SCREW STEAMER CANADIAN.—At a meeting of the cabin passengers on board the screw steamer Canadian, Lieut.-Colonel Gordon, of the 17th regiment, was called to the chair, and Major Griffin was requested to act as Secretary. The following resolutions were unanimously passed:—

Resolved,—That this meeting express their unqualified confidence in the seamanship of Captain Ballantine, and his excellent management of the vessel; also their thanks for the uniform courtesy they have received at his hands. Resolved,—That they have the utmost confidence in the Canadian steamship, and record their opinion that the voyage of twelve days from Quebec to Liverpool, in the face of head winds and seas, is an admirable test of her capability. They have further to say, their comforts have been well provided for, and the table has been well furnished with every delicacy consistent with circumstances. They would add that they consider the conduct of the officers of the ship truly meritorious.—The chairman and secretary were requested to communicate the foregoing resolutions to Captain Ballantine.—Signed by William Gordon, Lieutenant-Colonel 17th regiment; Major Griffin, 34th regiment; and the rest of the passengers.

The following was likewise handed to the captain as the vessel neared the port:—

We, the third-class passengers by the above-named steamship, wish to express our thanks to the captain, officers, and crew, for their uniform kindness and attention to our comfort while on board, and at the same time to express our satisfaction at their care and watchfulness in the navigation of the ship, and hoping they may always meet with success and equally short passages.—We beg to remain, your obliged passengers.

(Signed by the steerage passengers.)

ENGLISH MARKETS,

PER "NIAGARA."

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

(From Kenneth Dowie & Co.'s Circular.)

LIVERPOOL, August 15, 1856.

Since our last the weather has been partially changeable, but on the whole favorable for ripening and securing the crops, though not so forcing as for 14 days before. Harvest is general South of this, and has commenced this week in this district. The general impression is that we have a large crop of Wheat, more in the breadth sown than in the yield, which as well as the quality will be various. Of Peas there is said to be a good crop; of Oats a fair average one; and of Barley not so good, and with much less breadth sown. So far as the new grain has appeared in Southern markets, it appears to be good. Of Potatoes there appears to be a fair crop, with here and there slight injury reported as having commenced.

At our market on Tuesday there was a good demand for the finest white Wheats at 2d advance on the week—no other kinds saleable; and for the extra qualities of Flour, which were in demand, 6d to 1s advance was got. Inferior could only be forced at a decline. Indian Corn was in good demand at 6d to 1s advance on the week.

At to-day's Corn market there was a good demand for the finest Wheat, which, in some cases, sold 1d to 2d dearer; and the best extra Flour 6d dearer—no other qualities saleable at all. Indian Corn 6d dearer, with a good demand.

There is a heavy arrival of Breadstuffs, principally from the United States, in week ending 11th August, amounting to 39,442 quarters Wheat, 11,831 quarters Indian Corn, 32 sacks and 48,878 barrels Flour, and there is subsequently a good supply reported.

In the Timber market the sales of the week are improving in prices, and to a fair extent.

There is rather a better demand for Ashes. The stock of Pot Ashes was reduced before the arrival of the Canadian to 500 barrels.

LIVERPOOL, Friday Evening.

The advices received from Australia, extending to the 26th of May, per the Royal Charter, are of an extremely favorable character, affording ample proof of the growing prosperity of those highly valuable colonies. Not only does the supply of gold continue to improve, but new discoveries of diggings, giving abundant yield of the precious metal, are confirmed. The receipts of gold at Melbourne, for the three months ending May 17th, was 861,700 ounces, against 495,460 ounces in the corresponding period of last year. During the five months ending May 24th, the colony has sent to the mother country one hundred tons of gold, being the amount predicted to have been received in the half year.—The accounts of the commerce of the colony are less satisfactory, trade having assumed great steadiness.

The iron market is quiet, and prices of manufactured iron is without change. Many of the works have ceased operations the last two or three weeks on account of the sultry weather, and the make of iron has consequently been very small. Scotch Pig Iron is flat at 73s f.o.b. at Glasgow, cash. Present quotations in Liverpool: Merchant Bar, £8 5s; Nailrods, £8 15s; Hoops, £10 10s; Sheets, £10 10s; I C Charcoal Tin, 37s.

In the manufacturing districts a satisfactory course of trade continues to be reported. At Manchester a rather tamer feeling seems to prevail in Cloth, but the absence of demand appears to have arisen more from purchasers having satisfied their present wants, than from any other cause.

LONDON MARKETS—August 14.

IDIGO.—Public sales Guatemala were brought forward, and were well attended; fully one-half was sold, and, although prices, which ranged from 3s 3d to 6s, a few lots 2s 9d to 3s 2d, were very irregular, they were on the average about 3d per lb above the small sale held on the 1st instant, which, however, went at relatively low rates.

JUTE.—The market is still flat, but the small proportion placed does not exhibit any quotable reduction in value, and in auction sold at £14 to £14 5s for common; good bright but rather short at £20.

METALS.—Purchasers in Scotch Pig Iron have been less than last week, and prices are not so high, mixed numbers selling at 72s 9d to 73s cash, still shipments are rather better than of late. The currency for Welsh is 85s to 90s for number one, with not many transactions. Purchases continue to larger in manufactured Iron, and rates ranged stiff; common Welsh bar and rails at the works £7 17s 6d to £8, Staffordshire £10 to £10 5s; sheets, single in London £11; hoops, first quality, £10 10s to £11, and nail rods £9 to £9 5s. There are further transactions in Swedish bar for arrival at £14 to £15 5s. In Copper much done, and prices stiff; English tile and cake £107 10s, sheet 1s and Peruvian £95. A fair business in Quicksilver at 1s 8½d to 1s 9d. Spelter continues in good demand, and prices still rule stiff, £24 5s to £24 7s 6d per ton having been obtained on the spot. For steel there is less firmness in the market; business in Swedish kegs has been done at £19 to £19 10s. In Tin many transactions, and prices stiff, Banca at 129s 6d to 130s, Straits 128s to 128s 6d, English 129s to 130s, and refined 135s to 136s. Trade is brisker for Tin Plates, and the currency rules firm; I.C. Coke 30s, I.X. 36s, I.C. Charcoal 35s 6d, and I.X. at 41s to 42s per box,

NAVAL STORES.—There have been no arrivals either of Rough or Spirits of Turpentine, and prices remain without material change. In common Rosin there is nothing fresh to notice; for fine qualities there is a good demand.

OILS.—After receding to 36s demand has recovered to 37s, on the spot; sellers for December at 33s. Rape quiet; Ground Nut and Gingelly firm at 45s. Olive in large demand and advanced; Mogadore made £50 on the spot and for arrival. Fine Palm scarce, and worth £43, inferior kinds dull at 37s @ 39s. Large sales of Cocoa Nut on the spot and for arrival at 45s 6d @ 46s for Cochin, and 43s @ 45s for Ceylon. Fish Oils unchanged.

RICE.—In the prices of cargo Bengal and other common descriptions on the spot scarcely any alteration can be quoted, but only scanty sales have been effected, while the better qualities of white Bengal have not met much enquiry at the decline of last week, and offered by auction was disposed of fine bold white at 12s 6d, middling to good middling white 10s 6d @ 11s 6d, Moongby and Ballam 9s 6d; good Bassein bought in at 9s 9d; Rangoon, paddy, sold at 8s 6d; Carolina, American cleaned, of fair quality, rather small, at 28s to 28s 6d. The private sales are Bengal, cargo kinds, 9s 6d @ 9s 9d, middling white 10s 3d, good 11s @ 11s 6d; Necranzie Arracan at 9s 6d; low Rangoon at 8s 9d.

SALTPETRE—The market has been very quiet, and in some instances easier prices have been taken privately, and reported at 33s cash for 2½ to 3 per cent. In auction fair white refracting 5 per cent sold at 32s 6d to 38s, and fair white, 6½ per cent, at 32s 6d, and 7 per cent 32s per cwt. Refined is a quiet sale at 35s 6d to 36s per cwt.

SPIRITS—Full prices are required for Jamaica Rum; still taansactions are much less than previously, but larger parcels are not brought forward. The limited quantities sold were from 4s 6d to 5s for fine 34 to 36 over proof, and plain to good qualities 3s 10d to 4s 4d for 30 to 34 over. A quiet market for Leeward Island, and the prices rather lower, 2s 3d to 2s 4d having been accepted for proof. East India cannot be obtained under 2s 3d, but few buyers are to be met with. Full prices asked for Demerara; yet sales have been trifling at 2s 7d to 2s 8d proof. A slow trade for foreign at 2s 2d to 2s 5d for proof to 10 per cent over. A firm market for Brandy, and more business is doing, accounts from France being rather unfavorable with respect to the vintage. Prices have ruled for Cognac best brands of the vintage of 1855 at 10s 3d to 10s 5d; 1851, ditto 10s 6d to 10s 8d; older 10s 7d to 11 6d; inferior 9s to 10s 2d, and low 5s to 7s.

[TEA, continued] 1s 1½d, which were about the average; plain Orange Pekoe 8d to 9d low in price, but some very low and faint in quality; Canton young Hyson at 7d, and Canton Gunpowders at 9d per lb were cheap, and the few better young Hysons at 1s were below ruling rates. Twankays at 6d to 7d show no alteration, and the few good and fine gunpowders at 1s 3d to 2s were much as before.

THE FISHERIES.

The Fisheries this season, promise to be very successful, both the Cod and Mackerel. The early arrivals from Labrador have been so, and they report an abundance of fish. The same is true from the Banks. Vessels arriving at Marblehead and other points, engaged in the Banks fishing, have found fish of the largest size, and are arriving with full fares. Two vessels arrived at Marble head this week, from a voyage of about three months, one with 15,000 and the other with 10,000, of such size as to consume the first 130 hhds, and the latter 120 hhds, of salt. The 15,000 fish make 900 quintals; and the voyage is profitable enough to divide $300 to a man. The [illegible] eries, and but for the difficulty of obtaining competent crews, would be much more extensively prosecuted.

Of the Mackerel catch, the report is favorable. On our shores they have done well, and the latest returns from the Bay of St. Lawrence declare them plenty and fat. It is to be hoped that the Mackerel men may have a good season; generally it is a poor business, and of late years has declined in this section, except in Gloucester that takes the lead, and which is more abundantly supplied with men from the Provinces.

TONNAGE OF UNITED STATES

The statistics of the navigation of the United States for 1855 show an aggregate tonnage of 5,180,983 tons. Of this amount, 4,321,951 is owned in the Free States, and 859,032 in the Slave States. Of the entire amount of tonnage of the Country, New York, Massachusetts and Maine own 3,250,036 tons, or nearly two-thirds of the whole. Of the tonnage owned in the slaveholding States, Louisiana and Maryland own 439,000 tons, or more than one half. The following table shows the tonnage of the principal maritime States in 1851, 1854 and 1855:

SEA WAVES AND SEA SICKNESS.

The old vague account of waves being "mountains high" was well known to be an exaggeration; but we do not think even philosophers were prepared for the statement made at a meeting some years since of the British Scientific Association by Dr. Scoresby, that they averaged no more than twenty feet in altitude, and rarely exceeded 28 feet. The popular impression, principally produced by marine painters, that waves formed valleys thousands of yards across, down the sides of which ships slid as though they were about to be engulfed, seems to have been equally erroneous, as the maxium length of the ocean waves, according to the same authority, is 600 feet, whilst in a moderate gale they are only 300, and, in a fresh sea, about 120 feet in length. A moment's consideration of these facts leads to the conclusion that long ships must have a great advantage over short ones with respect to the rapidity with which they make their journey, as it is quite evident that whilst the latter have to perform their voyages by making a series of short curves—much to the impediment of their progress, and to the discomfort of their inmates—the former by ruling the waves with their commanding proportions, make shorter and smother passages. As steamers grow larger and larger, sea sickness must therefore gradually diminish.—Scientific American.

MARITIME EXTRACTS.

Mr. Baby's new Tug-steamer, Napoleon III, left here yesterday afternoon for Sydney, where she will take the ship Tchernaya in tow to bring her to Quebec, the latter vessel having put into Sydney leaky, as before reported.

Large quantities of lumber and pieces of a vessel came ashore on the southeastern part of Cape Ann, 21st. Nothing has yet been found to indicate the name of the vessel. It is presumed some vessel struck on the rocks off the Cape during the night of 20th, and immediately went to pieces, and that all on board were lost.

MANTLES! MANTLES! MANTLES!

REED & RAYNOR

HAVE on hand and offer for Sale an extensive Assortment of

Mantles, Table Tops, Pier Slabs, &c.,

Which for Beauty and Durability defy Competition, at prices from $12 to $150.

These articles are manufactured of SLATE STONE, enamelled in imitation of the Richest and most expensive Egyptian, Sienna, Lisbon Brocatella, Vera-Antique and other rare and desirable Marbles.

The process of converting this Stone into Marble is by fusing MINERAL COLORS, by the use of Chemical Agencies [aided by a powerful heat] which are absorbed by the stone, and being thus incorporated, they become one body, and cannot be again separated. This enables them to resist the action of oils and acids [which stain and deface ordinary marbles] and also to withstand a greater degree of heat. They have six times the strength of marble and their appearance is superior.

Architects, Builders and others are invited to call and examine these articles at 134½ Craig Street.

THE Proprietors of this Establishment beg leave to inform the Printers of Canada that they have now manufactured and ready for delivery, a large quantity of LONG PRIMER, BOURGEOIS, BREVIER, and SMALL PICA, of Scotch Face, which they will guarantee cannot be surpassed by any Foundry upon this Continent for durability and appearance.

The prices at which these and other Types are sold at the CANADA TYPE FOUNDRY, will be found at least Thirty per cent less than they could be purchased previous to its establishment.

TARRANT'S PREPARATIONS.

To the Medical Profession and the Public.

THE attention of the Medical Profession and Public is invited to the following preparation:

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient prepared on an entirely new principle, from a late and accurate analysis of the celebrated SELTZER SPRING, IN GERMANY, combining efficacy, economy, and portability, with such additions and improvements as will be found materially to increase its efficacy.
This much esteemed highly valuable preparation will not fail to effectually remove Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious Affections, Headache, Heartburn, Acidity of the Stomach, Costiveness, Gout, Rheumatism, Loss of Appetite, Gravel, Nervous Debility, Nausea of Vomiting, Affections of the Liver, &c. &c.

Tarrant's Compound Extract of Cubebs and Copabia,
Sanctioned by popular opinion and the high authority of the most distinguished of the medical faculty; it offers to the afflicted a remedy whose success has in every instance supported its deserved reputation. Being convenient and agreeable in its use, experience has proved that it retains in every climate its desirable and truly valuable character. It is in the form of a paste, is tasteless, and does not impair the digestion. It is prepared with the greatest possible care, upon well tested principles. To persons following the sea, or going long voyages, this preparation possesses qualities far surpassing any other—neat and portable in its form, speedy and efficacious in its operation, successful both in the earliest and worst stages of the severest diseases, while the usual and nauseous taste and unpleasant odor to copabia is wholly avoided in this preparation.
Prepared and sold, Wholesale and Retail, by JOHN A. TARRANT, successor to James Tarrant, 278 Greenwich, corner of Warren street, New York; and for sale by the principal Druggists in the United States, British Provinces, West Indies and South America.

Thorn's Compound Extract of Copabia and Sarsaparilla possesses a few advantages not enjoyed by any other medicine, and which must, with an enlightened public, render it assuredly highly popular, and a desideratum long sought for in the medical world. It needs no confinement or change of diet. In its approved form, that of a paste, it is entirely tasteless, and causes no unpleasant sensation to the patient.
It has acquired the utmost fame in almost every part of Europe. It has been examined, approved of, and sanctioned by the faculty of medicine, and recommended by the most eminent of the profession. Prepared by J. B. Thorn, Chemist, London, and for sale wholesale and retail by J. A. TARRANT, sole agent for the United States, 278 Greenwich street, New York.

Dr. Grover Coe's Standard Family Remedies.
Dr. Coe's Liquid Harmattan is guaranteed to be the most efficient external application extant, for the certain cure of Ulcers or Fever, Sores, Abscesses, including Psoas and Lumbar, Felons, Biles, Carbuncles, Chancres, Buboes, Ague in the breast, and every variety of external inflammation.
Warranted to arrest Mortification, when arising from Burns, Wounds, and other external conditions, and to prevent it when used in time.
Also warranted to check Felons, and prevent suppuration when applied before matter has commenced forming. Used early in cases of punctured wounds from nails, pitch-forks, &c., it prevents all symptoms of Tetanus or Locked-jaw, and removes them when arising from want of its timely application.

Dr. Coe's Anti-Mercurial Alterative Syrup

Dr. Coe's Family Vegetable Pills.
The best and safest Cathartic Pill for popular use ever offered to the public.
For the cure of Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Constipation, functional derangements of the Liver, Spleen, and other viscera, they stand unrivalled. These are not crude and untried remedies, experimentally placed before the public, but they have stood the test of years. The proprietor is a practising Physician, and they are the same remedies he relies upon to sustain his wide-spread reputation as a competent and successful guardian of the public health. The Harmattan has stood the tes of 50 years, the original formula having been obtained from the Indians by an ancestor of the present proprietor, who has improved and brought it to its present degree of perfection.
The Syrup and Pills originated with himself, and during 12 year's extensive practice, thousands have had cause to feel grateful for their efficacy.
For wounds and sores on Horses, the world is challenged to produce anything equal to the Harmattan.
For full directions and explanations, see pamphlets accompanying the medicines.
