Unity Boys' Club Ends Successful Year

UNITY BOYS' CLUB HOLD GYM SESSION

● This picture was taken at the Queen's School where a large group of boys belonging to the Unity Boys' Club were attending their weekly Thursday night gym period, under the leadership of Glenn Wood, Director of Physical Education, at the Sir George Williams College. The Thursday night programme includes physical exercises, games and basketball with a shower thrown in at the conclusion.

Rotary Project Gains Rapidly

● The Unity Boys' Club, sponsored by the Westmount Rotary Club as part of their boys' work campaign, has just about completed its first year of activities. The club was inaugurated last spring with its headquarters in the Calvary Church at the corner of Dorchester street and Greene avenue. This site with a gymnasium, showers and game rooms proved a popular redezvous for boys of all ages, races and creeds.

These premises, unfortunately, had to be vacated in the fall and the club was unable to obtain satisfactory accommodations for the boys. However enthusiastic groups of youngsters attended the "gym nights" held weekly at the Queen's school under the leadership of Glenn Wood, director of Physical Education at the Sir George Williams College. The club also hold a swimming night each Tuesday at the Westmount Y.M.C.A., with Al Regenstreif, one of the swimming instructors at the Y.M.H.A., as coach.

The directors of the club are now busy laying plans for a full spring, summer and fall program with the hope that facilities will be obtained whereby the youngsters will have club-room facilities every day of the week. In the meantime all boys interested are asked to turn out to the gym periods at Queen's school each Thursday night starting at eight o'clock for a session of gym work, basketball and other games or to the swimming periods each Tuesday night at the Westmount Y. The swimming session gets underway at eight-fifteen.

Chester McBride Rotarian Leader Mourned Here

Chester Warren McBride was born in the United States in 1883, resided at 112 Westminster Avenue, where he lived for nine years, and was an employee of John Lovell & Son, Ltd. He was a charter member and past president of the Westmount Rotary, joining the club at the time of its inception.

Mr. McBride was associated with the Boot and Shoe trade in Westmount for 30 years .

He is survived by his wife, the former Ethel Mathilda McLaughlin; two daughters, Mrs. Ted Evans, and Miss Hazel E. McBride; one son, Donald C. McBride; one sister, Mrs. J. McConnell, of Morin Heights; and one grand-daughter, Joan McBride, of Lachute, Quebec.

Major H. Keefler Wins Promotion

● Major-Gen. Ralph Holley Keefler, of 227 Kensington Avenue, Westmount, who was recently awarded the Distinguished Service Order for 'coolness, skill and determination' which led to one of the most successful operations ever undertaken by the Canadian 6th Brigade, according to the official citation, has been promoted from the rank of brigadier.

The official announcement gave no indication as to the nature of the command General Keefler was given with his promotion. He commanded an artillery formation and later an infantry brigade in the Normandy fighting.

General Keefler is the son of Lieut.-Col. J. K. Keefler, a former staff officer of M.D. No. 4, now living in Toronto.

Prior to the outbreak of war he commanded the first anti-aircraft battery to be incorporated into the non-permanent active militia. He was then a major, but had passed the militia staff course in 1937 and had qualified for the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Following the outbreak of war his promotion was rapid. In April, 1940, he was appointed staff captain of divisional artillery, and later became the brigade major. At the third junior war staff course at Camberley, England, in 1941 he graduated with high marks. Promoted to lieutenant-colonel, he was for a time direc-

Boys' Brigade Annual Banquet Great Success

● The Rev. Dr. W. Stanford Reid addressed the annual father and son banquet of the Westmount Boys' Brigade last Friday in the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Dr. Reid took for his topic the Object of The Boys' Brigade, which is, "The Advancement of Christ's Kingdom amongst boys and the promotion of habits of Obedience, Reverence, Discipline, Self-Respect and all that tends towards a true Christian manliness," and emphasized very strongly the great importance of building their lives upon that great, solid foundation. Other guests of the evening were Douglas Manuel, formerly of the 77th Belfast Company and now with the Fleet Air Arm, training in Canada. He greeted the Company briefly and stated that it had meant much to him as a boy, up until the time of his enlistment. Rev. Gerald Fee was also at the head table and extended a very warm greeting as well as his best wishes for the Company's success. Gordon MacIntyre, Arthur Hammond, and G. E. Richardson were also special guests of the evening. Captain J. Howard Richardson presided over the banquet.

Question—Was there a Tennis Club in Westmount in 1889, and who were the organizers?

Answer—In the year 1889, under an old elm tree, later removed in laying out Sherbrooke street, in the municipality of Cote St. Antoine, 11 men gathered together to organize a lawn tennis club. They were Percy and Guy Simpson, Fred and Arthur Crawford, Jim and Allen Kerr, Douglas MacFarlane, Bob Sweeney, Charlie Raynes, W. A. Hamilton and Harry Penfold.

In founding the Cote St. Antoine Lawn Tennis Club, they little dreamed of what a future lay before the game of lawn tennis and the leading part the new club would ultimately play in developing tennis in Canada. The grounds and clubhouse were located at the southwest corner of Kensington Avenue and Sherbrooke street with four grass and two cinder courts for play after rain. The Club flourished and many championships tournaments were held as well as club matches against McGill, M.A.A.A. and Ottawa and such was the interest in the game that many of the leading members turned out at six a.m. to practice and get in condition for these matches.

All went well till 1906 when the rented grounds were sold for build lots. Faced with this problem, strenuous efforts were made to build a new club owning its own property: after many meetings and much effort in selling stock the necessary funds to make a start with the property were procured and the new grounds below Sherbrooke street between Grey and Vendome avenues were laid out among the hay fields and apple orchards, with nine grass courts and space for seven hard courts, with clubhouse being located at the northeast corner of the grounds beside the large elm tree still standing at that point.

On March 18, 1907, the old Cote Club wound up its affairs prior to a succeeding meeting at which the Mount Royal Lawn Tennis Club took over. The following were present at the meeting among whom will be noted many local and Canadian champions of yesteryear: C. W. Yarker occupied the chair, the others being A. D. Anderson, Dr. D. F. Gurd, A. C. Dunlop, J. D. Bell, Paul Garneau, T. Y. Sherwell, A. S. Cassils, R. P. Jellett, S. McKay Edgar, W. A. Holland, F. Peacock, J. A. Prevost, James L. McCulloch, J. F. Savage, Royal and Stuart Ewing, R. T. Gaunt, Rex Denne, H. E. and H. M. Suckling and S. Nops.

Moving out to the new grounds was quite a venture as the carline's western limit was Victoria Avenue, and none of the members drove motors. A three-plank wooden sidewalk marked the way to the grounds along Sherbrooke street and many were the misgivings at moving so far out into the country. The old clubhouse was moved out intact to the new grounds via Western avenue, but before arriving at its destination it successfully blocked the tram lines for some hours at Victoria avenue in spite of all the eloquence of the contractors. This contrary attitude on the part of the clubhouse was considered to be due to its desire to see a street car which were few and far between in those days.

The fees of the new club when opened were $15 for men and $7 for ladies. The men enjoyed the privilege of a cold shower and provided their own towel which had seldom dried from the previous day. Possibly the ladies did not play hard enough to require showers as none was provided for them, till on one famous occasion the club was visited by Miss Kay Sutton who later became Mrs. Tom Bundy) champion of the United States, on her way back from Wimbledon, having won the English Championship.

After a spirited but losing exhibition with the club champion, H. M. Suckling, she demanded a shower, and being a very determined young lady it was necessary to clear all the men out of their locker room to accomplish this purpose, with the club president guarding the door. This incident may have fired the members with enthusiasm for a new clubhouse with hot water and showers for everybody which finally took shape in 1912 when the present clubhouse was started. It was occupied only a short time when World War I robbed it of so many leading players, just as World War II is doing now.

But in the meantime there were some glorious years after 1918 when tennis rode the crest of the wave with visits from time to time of the leading Davis Cup teams of the world, the Americans, Australians, Japanese and Cubans all playing Davis Cup ties on the grass courts of the Mount Royal Club to say nothing of exhibition matches in which French and English champions as well as English Wightman Cup ladies participated.

And while the club is again sending of its best to war, the old spirit prevails as evidenced by the turnout to see the exhibition put on in September 1941 on its grass courts by the former English champions in their worthy effort for the Red Cross.

Ed. Note.—We are indebted to Mr. Reg. T. Gaunt for his interesting and accurate history of the founding of the developments from 1889 to 1942.

Optimist Club Buy Farm Convert To Summer Camp

Through the purchase of farm property near Brome, which it plans to convert into a boys' summer camp, the Optimist Club of Montreal is making a big stride to assist underpriviliged boys and strengthen them against causes responsible for juvenile delinquency, John F. Dalton, Superintendent of the Boys' Bureau, Federation of Catholic Charities, and chairman of the Optimist Club's Boys' Work Committee, stated yesterday in an exclusive interview with The Examiner.

Purchase of the 340-acre property was completed when Albert C. Lloyd, president of the Montreal club, presented its cheque to the former owner, Gardner Stone. The property contains a three-storey, 15-room house, capable of accommodating 30 boys at one time, and plans are being considered to eventually provide space for many more.

CONTRIBUTORY OFFERS

At the same time, arrangements are nearing completion for a three-day bazaar to be held in Victoria Hall, on April 12-13-14. Paul Wickham, an ex-president of the local club and former governor of District No. 15 of Optimist International ,is head of the Bazaar Committee.

No Discrimination

No discrimination will be made in the selection of boys to attend camp, he emphasized, adding that the Optimist Boys' Camp will be non-sectarian, with provision being made to have religious services for boys of all creeds.

There is much need for summer camps of this kind, Mr. Dalton declared, particularly in view of war-increased juvenile delinquency. Such factors as fathers serving in the armed forces and mothers and older children working in munition plants have resulted in lack of parental guidance, with the inevitable reaction that youth has been left pretty much to its own devices.

Study and Recreation

"Through classes in dramatics, woodwork and other handicrafts of natural interest to boys, properly balanced with recreation sessions, the Optimist Club is seeking to keep its proteges off the streets and out of harm's way," he pointed out. "Now, this camp project will assure that continuity so necessary to the success of any program such as ours."

Previously, the local club had lost contact with the youth it is trying to develop into true Canadians, being obliged to send them to camps operated by other organizations, The Examiner was told. Now it will be able to maintain year-round supervision of its charges.

Although complete programs for this summer's activities have not yet been formulated, it is anticipated that a semi-recreational schedule will be arranged, with some of the boys hired out to carefully selected neighboring farmers.

Rubber Development Traced By Rotary Club Speaker

"A. C." McGiverin Gives Interesting Lecture

● A. C. McGiverin addressed the Westmount Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon held last Wednesday at Victoria Hall. Mr. McGiverin, himself a long standing Rotary member, chose as his subject "Caoutchouc," the French spelling of the name that the South American Indians gave to rubber in its original raw state.

★ Introduced by P. J. McAndrews, chairman of the Rotary program committee, the genial speaker traced the history of rubber from the first historical record of the French Academy until the present day of synthetics.

Briefly tracing the history of rubber the speaker stated "Not a great deal is recorded about Caoutchouc until 1736 when the French Academy sent La Condamine to Brazil and his report is the first particular description of the material.

"In 1768 M. Grossait published experiments which consisted of producing tubes of soft caoutchouc using ether and boiling water.

"In 1770 Dr. Priestly found it suitable for erasing pencil marks and it was to Dr. Priestly that credit was given for the change in name to 'India Rubber'. It was thought the material came from the Indies hence the associated words.

"In 1797 in England a Mr. Johnson obtained a patent for waterproofing fabric by covering one side with a varnish made by dissolving rubber in equal parts of oil of turpentine and spirits of wine. To cover up the sticky surface he added flocked materials.

"It was not until 1819 that Mackintosh used oil of Naptha as a solvent and was able to coat fabrics for waterproof garments. Mackintosh established a factory in Glasgow for this purpose.

"The name Mackintosh has remained for over a hundred years as descriptive of a type of garment.

"Getting over again to this side of the Atlantic it was in 1825 that Thos. C. Wales, a Boston merchant, introduced overshoes made by the natives of Brazil and later on footwear was sent to

Born in the United States, Maj. Berger has lived in Canada practically all his life. He is a graduate of Westmount High School, and was on the advertising staff of the Mount Royal Hotel. He joined the U.S. Army as a private in March, 1942.

Westmount Hobby Show To Be Held At Local "Y"

● Entries are being received at the Westmount Y.M.C.A. for the Westmount Boys' and Girls' Hobby Show, which will be held there during the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of April. Advance indications show that this will probably have the largest number of entries of any that has ever been held. A large scale publicity campaign has been waged amongst the youth of the community, and over five hundred entries are anticipated by entry manager Jim Parsons.

The Westmount Hobby Show is sponsored annually by the Boys' and Girls' Hi-Y Clubs in the high school, and it is run solely as a service to the young people of the city of Westmount. Along with this, the Y.M.C.A. is this year donating their building to the effort for the full four days.

During the past week the booklet has been distributed in local schools, and in it are contained the rules and regulations, the calendar of events and the list of departments. Copies of this booklet may be obtained free of charge at the Y.M.C.A.

The official opening will take place on Wednesday, April 4, with Mayor Adams officiating. It is scheduled for eight o'clock, and will be followed by the girls' swimming meet. On Thursday, the events will really start to move with checkers, chess and table tennis in the afternoon, and the boys' swimming meet and indoor athletics in the evening. Friday will see the games finals and the big music and entertainment night in the evening, both at the "Y." On Saturday the pet show will fill the afternoon, and the official closing and presentation of prizes will take place at 8.00 p.m. This promises to be one of the best parts of the whole show and well over a hundred dollars' worth of prizes have been donated by civic-minded companies and patrons.

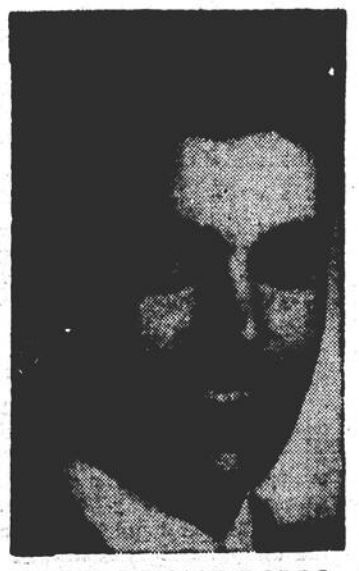

Much of the credit for this show is due to the members of the Boys' and Girls' Hi-Y Clubs, who have spent so much of their time for this cause. Members of the executive include Warren Chippendale, President; Bob Keefler, Martha Warren and John Pepper.

WESTMOUNT, FRIDAY, MARCH 30, 1945

CANADA URGING FREER TRADE

An historic tariff battle is shaping up quickly in the United States Congress with the launching of the administration's bill to extend the reciprocal trade agreements act and permit further tariff cuts, reports the Financial Post's Washington correspondent.

The bill disclosed that the Roosevelt administration has set its sights on bringing the American tariff down to a level only 25% as high as the 1930 Hawley-Smooth tariff which represents the peak high tariff in this country's history.

Writing from Ottawa, the Post's Kenneth Wilson discusses the recent Roosevelt-King conversations, thus:

"It can be stated very definitely that Canada took the lead at Washington in initiating the discussions on freer world trade.

"Out of these discussions, Prime Minister King and President Roosevelt produced a joint statement which expressed the mutual belief:

> 'that the solution of questions of international economic and trading policy should be sought along bold and expansive lines with a view to the removal of discriminations and the reduction of barriers to the exchange of goods between all countries.'

"Though Canada met a very ready and appreciative response to this question of freer postwar trade, there is no expectation that anything very sudden in the way of a 'free trade' agreement will materialize."

Wilson, reporting new recognition of the need for speed in these negotiations, says of Britain's situation:

"Unless some positive action is taken in the next few months to bring trade matters to a head along multilateral lines, it seems inevitable that Britain may find herself drifting closer and closer toward bilateral or barter deals within the so-called sterling bloc. Thus Canada, as a nation whose trade eggs are about equally divided between British and U. S. baskets, has a very large stake in seeing the two big Anglo-Saxon countries come together."

SMOKING A PIPE

A correspondent says that he has tried many times to smoke a pipe, but failed to get the least satisfaction from it.

The reason, he thinks, is that he didn't start early enough. From this he concludes that bad, as well as good, habits are acquired early in life. Thereafter we are more or less immune, he says.

Although there is much in this, it is unfortunate that he chose smoking to prove his point. None of the women who are my contemporaries smoked or drank liquor until it became fashionable to do so. They were then in their middle twenties. Now a good part of them smoke cigarettes and toss down cocktails like nobody's business.

Genuine pipe-lovers are peculiar people. Emotional stability seems to be characteristic of them. This may be the reason why pipe-smoking seldom appeals to women or nervous men.

IN THE NAME OF RACIAL PURITY

The Nazis have used their pseudo-scientific theory of racial purity to justify their cruelty to the Jews, but other races than the Jews have suffered. We learned recently that systematic extermination of the gypsy poulation of Germany was carried out, and all of the few thousands of gypsies among the 68,000,000 of greater Germany were killed. The same thing was done in Poland; wherever gypsies were found they were sent to the terrible camp at Troblinka, where they were gassed and cremated.

What justification there was for this slaughter, apart from pure cussedness, we do not know, for the gypsies are among the purest Aryan peoples of the world. Perhaps Hitler hated them because they were such poor Nazi material. It is impossible to impose order or discipline upon a gypsy; it is impossible to affect him with propaganda, for he instinctively questions everything he is told; it is impossible to impress him, and it is impossible to quench his lively sense of humour. We confess to a great admiration and affection for the gypsy people for these very reasons, and we can understand why they would not fit into the Nazi pattern.—Peterborough Examiner.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Europeans have thought the Arab was too congenital an individualist, and his different governments too jealous of their separate prerogatives, ever to get together in an effective union. But on Feb. 3, 1945, a pan-Arab League was formed at Cairo. Fully accredited delegates from Egypt, Irak, Transjordan, Syria and Saudi Arabia.

The refusal of Saudia Arabia to cooperate has slowed up the movement. Great significance attaches to the fact that on the second day of the conference the Arab observer from Palestine was invited to consider himself a full member. No doubt when the Peace Conference is held careful attention will be given to problems like those of Palestine, of the Suez Canal region and of the future of the fabulous Arabian oil.

The Arab League will put a new aspect on international affairs from Tunisia to India. Some students of the middle east think it may have as important a relation to future peace as the Yalta and San Francisco conferences.

The X-Ray is very clost to having its golden anniversary. It was in November, 1895, that Professor William Rosentgen, in his laboratory at the University of Wurzburg, accidentally found that the emanations from a vacuum tube had passed through opaque materials and caused a photographic to be fogged. Two months later he was able to photograph, before Wurzburg Medical Society, the bones in the hand of their president. The X-Ray, like every other machine, is only a machine; it tells all, does all, but it doesn't know all. It still requires the brain and experience to interpret its fascinating relations.

An interesting brochure issued by the National Dairy Council of Canada tells of the importance of, as a rule, the gentle and well mannered cow and the milk she produces, and what she means to the economy of our country.

Out of every dollar spent by housewives more than one-third goes for dairy products. Those products are the basis of business amounting to nearly $400,000,000 a year. The national investment in the dairy business is around $3,330,000,000. About 17 per cent of our population is employed in the industry and about 500,000 farmers depend wholly or to a large extent on their milk cheques.

There are 4,500 factories in which milk is handled or processed.

The daily output of millions of cows represents 17,500,000,000 pounds of milk or sufficient to fill 14,000,000,000 pint bottles. If all the eight-gallon cans required to contain the milk were placed side by side they would form a circle around the globe. And yet Canada and Canada's export trade needs more. This shows, as the brochure points out, the value of breeding cows that give a high yield of milk.

In addition to those directly engaged in the industry, there are those in the feed industry, those who make boxes, metal milk and cream cans, glass bottles, paper and wooden products, those engaged in highway, railway and ocean transportation, besides thousands engaged in retail stores.

The average Canadian home uses 500 quarts of milk a year, being the highest rate of consumption in the world a record of which we should be very proud, for at the United Nations' Conference on food for the distressed people in Europe, held a few months ago, milk was named as the "most complete single food." We should all unreservedly endorse the slogan "Drink More Milk."

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE OFTEN GOES WITH UNDERWEIGHT

It is known to most of us that overweight increases the blood pressure in a certain percentage of men and women. By cutting down on foods and liquids high blood pressure may be prevented.

What is not so well known is that underweight often goes with low blood pressure. About 50 per cent or more of underweights have low blood pressure.

Despite the fact that low blood pressure individuals live longer they do not have the degree of health of those with normal blood pressure.

Good food, more rest, and light exercise usually increase the blood pressure.

Accompanied by a driver, a major in a motor vehicle was stopped by the sentry on guard at a cross-roads.

"Who-goes there?"

"One major, a one-ton truck of fertilizer, and one buck private."

They were allowed to proceed, but at every cross-roads they went through the same formula.

After a time the driver asked if they were likely to be stopped again.

"I guess so," replied the major.

"Well, major," said the private, "the next time we are stopped would you mind giving me priority over the fertilizer?"

Give Mexican Easter Breakfast

Waffles with creamed eggs and mushrooms.

Easter buffet breakfast after church instead of a big dinner will be the rule in many homes this year. Elena Zelayeta, author of "Famous Mexican and Spanish Dishes," though born in Mexico City, now lives in California. She is familiar with Canadian tastes and gives her ideas for a Mexican Easter Breakfast to please your family and friends, exclusively to this column.

Mexican Easter Breakfast

Orange juice (Jugo de Naranja), sausage with eggs (Chorizo con Huevos), refried beans (Frijoles Refritos), hot tortillas (Tortillas Calientes), or toast or rolls, Mexican chocolate or Mexican coffee.

Mexican Sausages With Eggs

One Mexican sausage (chorizo) for each person served, 1 tablespoon oil for each sausage, 2 eggs for each sausage.

Remove skins from sausages, crumble into hot oil and fry. Beat eggs, add to sausage. Stir with a fork as you would scrambled eggs. If desired, minced onion may be added before adding eggs.

Chorizo is coarsely ground pork sausage with chili powder, garlic and vinegar added.

If you want a more traditional breakfast, serve waffles with creamed eggs and mushrooms.

Premier Waffles
(Makes 5 or 6 Waffles)

Two and one-half cups sifted cake flour, 2½ teaspoons combination baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 egg yolks, well beaten; 1½ cups milk, ⅔-cup melted butter or other shortening, 2 egg whites.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar and sift again. Combine egg yolks, milk and butter; add to flour mixture, beating until smooth. Beat egg whites until they will hold up in moist peaks. Stir quickly but thoroughly into batter. Bake in hot waffle iron. Serve with creamed mushrooms and eggs, chicken, or sweetbreads.

Mothers' Club Sponsor 6th Annual Social

The Westernaires will provide the music.

The executive of the 50-50-Club are to be in charge of the decorations and refreshments for the social.

125 'Teen-agers Study Anti-inflation

One hundred and twenty-five 'teenage Montreal high school girls met recently to study price control and anti-inflationary measures in which they could take an active part at the first general assembly of the Junior Consumer Branch committee of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The Junior Branch was formed a month ago by a group of 16 high school girls with the assistance of the Consumer Branch of the Prices Board on which it is patterned.

G. Douglas McIntyre, chief investigation officer of the Prices Board, discussed with the high school girls the method of enforcing wartime controls.

Every high school in the Montreal district was represented by from two to twelve girls who had been selected by their classmates because of their public spirit and patriotism. The meeting took place in the Montreal High School where all monthly meetings will be held. Miss Eileen O'Brien, who was recently elected as chairman of the junior branch, conducted the meeting assisted by Mrs. J. Leslie Hodges, chairman of the Montreal parent Consumer Branch.

At each of the succeeding monthly meetings the girls will be addressed by administrators of the Prices Board on subjects of wartime controls which have a bearing on their lives. The girls in turn, will keep their schools informed on current information which they receive at the meetings.

R.C.E. Auxiliary

The monthly next-of-kin meeting of The Royal Canadian Engineers Ladies' Auxiliary will be held next Thursday at 8.15 p.m. in St. Stephen's Church hall, Atwater and Dorchester Street. There will be a sale of clothing and refreshments will be served.

"Stretching Butter" Tricks Give Zip To Sandwiches

Sandwiches are the mainstay of the carried lunch.

Those who have to make sandwiches every day realize that a considerable share of the weekly butter ration disappears this way. But butter, like so many other foods is amenable to stretching in various ways. The Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture offers stretching exercises guaranteed to reduce the inroads made on the family ration. One of the most satisfactory stretchers is milk.

Cream ½-lb. butter until soft and fluffy and gradually cream in ½ cup milk, beating until all the milk is absorbed and adding a dash of salt. Mould and if not being used immediately, chill. This stretched butter is good for table use but should not be used for cooking.

Butter may also be creamed with salad dressing, chili sauce, prepared mustard, relish or horseradish, according to the filling to be used. Not only will the butter go further but sandwiches will be more flavoursome.

Even if eaten every day, sandwiches need not become monotonous; appearance as well as flavour can be changed. Children love a sandwich made of one slice white and one slice brown bread or a crusty roll hollowed out, brushed inside with melted butter and filled.

Do spread fillings generously—right to the edge. There'll be fewer uneaten crusts. And don't have the fillings so moist that the sandwich becomes soggy before lunch time. Lettuce helps keep the bread from getting soggy, acting as a waterproof protection against moist fillings.

Here are a few suggestions for fillings, some old and some new—

Sliced hard-cooked egg and pickled beet with salad dressing.

Chopped egg, a pinch of curry and a bit of crushed bay leaf, salad dressing.

Chopped egg, grated raw carrot and salad dressing.

Chopped egg, ground liver and salad dressing.

Cottage or cream cheese with chives, relish, pickles, grated turnip or carrot, green peppers, jam or jelly.

Potato salad and sliced cooked meat.

ANNE HIRST
Ponders on Problems

IF HE DOESN'T PROPOSE PLAN YOUR CAMPAIGN
By Anne Hirst

What's a woman in love going to do with a man who takes up all her leisure time, year after year, and makes no plans for marriage.

The obvious thing to do is not to give him all her leisure time. Prove to him that other men find her agreeabl too—and prove it by making other dates. It's even smart to refuse him a date he asks for because you're staying home that night; it isn't flattering to prefer your own company (or your family's) to a man's, and he knows it.

He is so smug because you've allowed him to become so. You've joyed his companionship too, and you've just let things slide. If you really want to marry him, you must show him that it must be marriage—or nothing.

make it easier for all of you.

Take The Chance

It is regrettable that a young woman allows this situation to go so far—until her heart is lost to her and she's miserable when she's with the man, unhappy when she isn't. Her health can be gravely affected, she becomes a problem to her family, she stops seeing other friends, and her whole life loses its savor.

You may lose, you know—but at least you'll find out that he has no intention of marrying you, and in that case you will waste no more time. You'll open your mind to the possibility of loving someone else; perhaps this man is just a habit to you (as you are to him) and you'll discover that you can, after all, get along without him.

If you are in this state because you love a man who can't make up his mind, plan your campaign and follow it through.

Have Courage

If you don't, you'll have to accept one of two consequences; He'll grow old and older and never talk of marriage and you'll grow old and older and miss marriage entirely; or he'll fall head over heels for some new and pretty face—and you'll have lost him completely.

People can become habits too, you know—and most people are good habits for us. But a man who is so selfish he holds you on a light love-leash for years at a stretch, is not good for any nice woman. All he usually needs is a little prodding; if you give it a tactfully and surely, he'll thank you for it in the end.

To "R.B.P.": Don't put up with this man's thoughtlessness and selfishness any longer. Better know the worst—than nothing.

To "BLUE EYES": If you are not in school now, arrange to go back next term. Talk things over with your teacher or principal, explain your difficulties at home and tell her you want to prepare to earn a living as soon as you can. She will help you, and suggest the studies which will benefit you most. If necessary, she will see your father and get him to co-operate.

Meanwhile, you must do your best to get along with your father. It upsets everyone if you two quarrel, you know. If you can't understand nor agree with him, just accept his judgment and do as he says, and bide your time for the next year or so. When you're older, he'll automatically let you have your own way more often; then if you still want to go away it will not be so hard to leave the younger children, and you'll be able tto take care of yourself.

You must try to understand how unhappy your father is, too, and overlook his unreasonableness. You cannot know how much he misses your mother, and with it all he must carry on his work, run the home, try to raise his children right. It is no wonder that the strain is too much for him at times.

You'll do your best, I know—but try to be patient so it will

Fiance Renounces Troth

"Dear Anne Hirst: I am 18, and the boy I became engaged to is 19. He asked my parents' consent, and he gave me a ring. We were to get married on a Monday; he came to see me as usual the Saturday night before—and that's the last he's come to my home!

"We meet on the street occasionally and he just says Hello. I wish you could tell me what to do—I really love him.

"Lonesome and Blue"

It's hard to see how any girl could go on loving a boy who practically left her at the church door, and for no reason that he cared to give. You can't trust this boy, you can't respect him, and without those two factors, what little meaning your love can have!

However, you are entitled to some explanation. The next time you meet this boy on the street, step and ask him what it's all about. If he won't tell you, ask him if he'll talk to your parents—you'll arrange for them to meet him if he doesn't want to come to your home. Perhaps, though, your parents are just as well satisfied that things have turned out this way and won't want to talk with him. Should that be the case, you, too, had better see it that way and forget him as soon as you can.

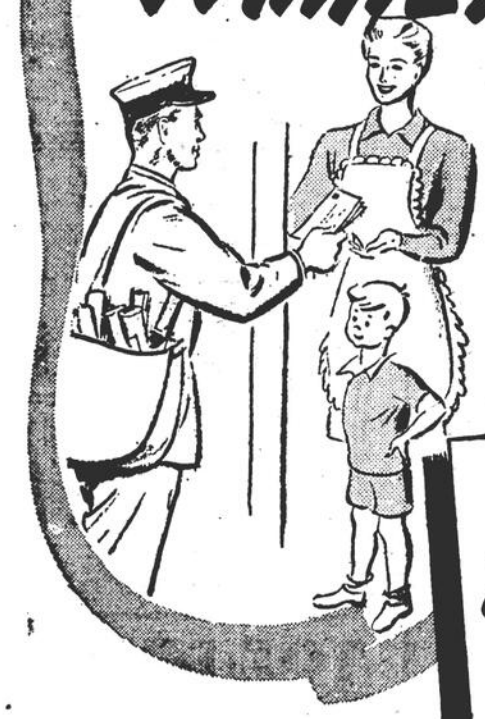

Like most comedians, William Demarest, who has a featured role in Paramount's "Salty O'Rourk," nursed an ambition to play Hamlet. Unlike most of his fellow comics he actually realized his ambition, doing the Melancholy Dane with a touring show troupe early in his theatrical career.

ADDING NEW LINES

Dominion Sash Limited, of Streetsville, have made steady progress since being founded in 1910 by H. W. Pope, now the president. Originally the firm specialized in manufacture of sash. During the war, numerous products made from lumber materials have been produced in large quantities b ythis company. Manpower has dwindled to a minimum by reason of enlistments and the transfer of workers to other war plants, but the Company is taking steps for post-war employment and an increase in the products manufactured.

And then there is the girl who climbs the ladder of success the wrong by wrong.

REGISTRATION FOR FAMILY ALLOWANCES
Starts on
MARCH 22nd, 1945

TO OBTAIN THESE ALLOWANCES
every child under 16 must be registered

PARENTS: Through the mail, shortly after March 22nd, all families will receive a Family Allowances Registration Form. Fill in this form as soon as it is received and mail it back in the envelope in which it came. Please do this promptly—it is in the interests of your children.

The form you will receive is very simple. There are only seven questions and only a few minutes need be required to complete the form, but be sure to answer every question.

Family Allowances are being provided to assist parents in the raising of their children. This monthly allowance is to be used for health protection, for doctors, dentists and nurses; to provide better food, adequate clothing and shelter, and to help equalize opportunities for all children.

INCOME TAX: No one will benefit from both Family Allowances and a full income tax deduction for their children. Parents have the choice of applying for their Family Allowances or not claiming the allowance and claiming the full deduction for their children under Income Tax. If they claim the Family Allowance, the amount of deduction from tax allowed for children under the Income War Tax Act will be reduced by the amount of any Family Allowance received. Anyone who is uncertain whether or not he or she will benefit from Family Allowances more than from Tax Deduction should register for the Family Allowance and in this way be on the safe side. Incomes may change during the course of a year.

Roast Lamb And Glazed Ham Grace Traditional Easter Meal

Whatever the dinner, it is important to remember that sharing what you have with guests, particularly boys and girls from the Services—will make an occasion of the simplest Easter meal. The following menu will be popular:

Rhubarb Cup
or
Fresh Fruit Cocktail
Roast Lamb with Mint Sauce
or
Baked Ham with Apple Rings
Potatoes au Gratin
Parsley Parsnips
Mixed Salad Bowl
Spanish Cream
Rolls Coffee

The roast lamb may be a leg, rack, crown or rolled shoulder, depending only on your preference and pocket book, for all cuts are equally juicy and tender. A rolled shoulder or forequarter makes for easy carving and lends itself to a savoury stuffing. But whatever the cut, rub with salt and pepper, place fat side up in an uncovered roaster and cook at moderate temperature, 325-350°F, allowing 30 to 35 minutes to the pound. Place a rack under a boned roast and turn it several itmes during cooking.

If ham is the choice, the method of cooking will vary with the type. When the ham is one that has been specially processed for tenderness it may be baked without previous par-boiling. Use an uncovered roaster and place a rack in the bottom of the pan. A moderately slow oven, 325°F should be used and the cooking time calculated at 20 minutes to the pound, though the time will vary a little with the thickness and shape of the ham and the proportion of bone and fat. When baked, remove skin, score diagonally and drain off excess fat. Cover ham with one of the glazes suggested below and return to the oven to brown.

Hams not specially processed for tenderness are best par-boiled, then finished in the oven. Place ham in a kettle of warm water, bring slowly to simmering point and cook just below boiling point until tender, allowing about 25 minutes per pound. Lift from water, remove skin, score diagonally, cover with glaze and brown in the oven.

Suggested Glazes

Maple syrup, honey, corn syrup or fruit juice.

A mixture of 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1½ tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 cup water or stock. Pour over ham and baste several times during browning period.

A mixture of ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup dry bread crumbs and 1 teaspoon dry mustard.

A mixture of ½ cup brown or white sugar and 2 tablespoons flour.

Honey sprinkled with cinnamon.

A mixture of ½ cup white sugar and the grated rind of an orange.

Cloves may be used with any of the above glazes.

Apple rings to accompany the ham are easily made. Core but do not peel rosy apples, cut in slices ½ to ¾ inch thick. Cook until tender in a pan containing a sugar syrup (syrup from canned fruit may be used), basting frequently. The syrup may be coloured and should be flavoured with spices or lemon.

At The York United Saturday!

Turhan Bey and Susanna Foster in a scene from the thrilling Technicolor film "The Climax," opening at the York United Theatre on Saturday playing until Tuesday night.

"The Very Thought of You" Is Heartwarming Romance

A warmly moving story of our youth today ,a tender tribute to their unwavering faith in the future, has been brought to the screen with all the humanness a really fine screen play and a select cast can achieve, in Warner Bros.' heartwarming romance, "The Very Thought of You,' which is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre until Saturday night. Dennis Morgan, Eleanor Parker and Dane Clark are starred.

"The Very Thought of You" is the kind of picture you'll take away with you when you leave the theatre, for it is made of the stuff that is "Yourtown," U.S.A. today. It is a timely story of the problems facing all couples in love during war. Here are their hopes and plans, their hours of loneliness and tears, their brief moments of joy, their ringing laughter. And in their laughter and courage is the answer to all the problems awaiting us tomorrow.

The film is concerned with the brief courtship and the equally hasty marriage of Dave and Janet who firmly believe their love of just a few days is of enduring timber. The solution to this problem ,which has faced so many of our young people, is a salute to the youngsters who have made their lives firm footholds in this overcast world at war.

Dave (Dennis Morgan), a serviceman just home from overseas, and hopefully looking for some assurance that the hardships he has endured have not been in vain, is skillfully portrayel by Dennis Morgan. His characterization as the sensitive young builder, who by some trick of fate has been assigned to a demolition battalion is the best job Morgan has done to date. The gentle manner in which he handles himself throughout the production should be ample proof that Mr. Morgan has now added another talent to his ever-growing list, to be displayed along with his other screen successes in musicals and farce comedies.

If the words, thoughts, and the music of "The Very Thought of You" could presumably drift out across the seas, they might well act as a bridge of hope and reassurance between our men over there and their women over here.

Brian Donlevy Star of "American Romance"

"An American Romance," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Technicolor hit which opened yesterday at the York United Theatre playing until Friday night, not only is a stirring film that must be ranked among the year's best, but also presents to film audiences a new kind of matinee idol.

In "An American Romance," Brian Donlevy, more handsome and rugged than ever ,and always the he-man "man's man," emerges in addition as a woman's man who has had few equals in cinema annals.

For in this new King Vidor-directed production, Donlevy has been blessed with a role to bring out potentialities heretofore latent even in his numerous successful performances. As Steve Dangos, an immigrant to the United States who rises the hard way to become an industrial genius and giant, the star also is called upon to take part in one of the most thrilling romances Hollywood has yet brought to the screen.

This is his meeting, marriage to and life with Anna O'Rourke, superbly played by a brilliant young newcomer named Ann Richards, when Steve makes his way from Ellis Island to Minnesota and the iron ore fields.

The kind of man who could have had any woman, Donlevy marries the sweet school teacher who has taught him to read and write. Side by side, with a devotion that is at one heart-warming and eternal, they work together for the American success that eventually they enjoy.

"An American Romance," a picture sure to be long remembered, is perfectly cast, with John Qualen as Steve's cousin who gets him his first job; Walter Abel, as the man who becomes Steve's partner; Horace McNally, as the son whose heritage is the same devotion to ideals as those of his parents, and little Jackie Jenkins as one of the children the Dangos bring into the American way of life.

It is, by any standard, one of the most important motion pic- agree when you see it—as you agree when you see it—as you certainly must—at the York United Theatre.

While to many the period beginning 1920 is "the roarin' twenties", there is one young lady who dubs it the "ugly twenties." She is Mary K. Dodson, young designer at Paramount, who planned the complete wardrobes of Gail Russell and Diana Lynn in "Our Hearts Were Growing Up."

Three slightly deaf men were motoring from the north to London in an old, noisy car, and hearing was difficult. As they were nearing the city, one asked.

"Is this Wembley?"

"No," replied the second, "this is Thursday."

"So am I," put in the third. "Let's stop and have one."

"What are you doing to my daughter?"

"She nearly drowned and we are giving her artificial respiration."

"Stop—I want nothing artificial; give her the genuine. I can afford it."

"Days Of Glory" Brings New Faces, Heroic Love

Love is greater than certain death in RKO Radio's newest romantic drama, "Days of Glory" which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Friday night. The impressive cast of brand-new faces includes Toumanova, noted prima ballerina of the Ballet Russe, and Gregory Peck, Broadway favorite, in the stellar roles.

The setting for the stirring film is a bomb-shattered monastery within the Nazi lines near Moscow. Using its cellars for a hide-out, a little band of Russian patriots wage ceaseless warfare against the enemy troops around them and wait eagerly for the day when they can play a vital part in the opening of the Russian counter-offensive.

Peck portrays the determined commander of the guerilla group and Toumanova has the role of a ballet dancer forced to take refuge with them when her front-line show-troupe is broken up by a Nazi raid. During their perilous sorties against the Nazis a romance grows between the pair, and culminates heroically when the dancer, after carrying an important message back to Red Army headquarters, returns to share her lover's fate on the day of the big attack.

At The Westmount United Sunday!

Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon in a scene from the romantic film "Mrs. Parkington," which opens at the Westmount United Theatre on Sunday playing until Tuesday night.

"Frenchman's Creek" Recalls Days of Pirates, Lovely Ladies

The picture which is now playing at the Seville United Theatre until Friday night, Paramount's "Frenchman's Creek," is first of all an exquisitely beautiful Technicolor production. If you are affected by color, as is this reviewer, you will be delighted with the seascapes which the camera has caught in full panoramic beauty.

Filmed in northern California, a locale most nearly resembling the rugged Cornish coast where the story action takes place, the sea and the clouds, the seagulls spiralling to the water and the pirate ship La Mouette cutting its way through the warm blue waters, are all captured by the camera in myriad breath-taking color sequences. "Frenchman's Creek" is unquestionably the most amazingly beautiful Technicolor picture ever produced, as far as this reporter is concerned.

Aside from this feature is the story itself. Adapted from the best-seller by Daphne du Maurier, who wrote another Joan Fontaine starrer, "Rebecca," the story concerns the flight from reality of a very beautiful and important English lady of the seventeenth century. Leaving behind her the pomp and deceit of a sophisticated wanton society, as well as a foppish becurled husband, Lady St. Columb, played by the beautiful Miss Fontaine, retires to her country estate in Northern England. Upon arriving at the desolate, sparsely populated province, she is advised of a very imminent danger — the presence in the coastal waters of a dangerous French pirate.

Needless to say, Lady Saint Columb takes heed, but not as her good advisers intended she should. The pirate represents the first glamorous prospect in her otherwise dull life and she prepares for his possible appearance by applying her finest powders and perfumes. The Lady and the Frenchman meet. In fact, for many months he has been using her home for his land retreat leaving behind his own personal servant when he went to sea.

Arturo de Cordova plays the part of the pirate. A newcomer to the American screen, he'll probably be known as well in this country after his appearance in "Frenchman's Creek" as in Mexico, where de Cordova is the country's favorite male star, having won the actor's award for three consecutive years.

A handsome, dark, stalwart fellow, Arturo has warm brown eyes and a flashing smile. The part of the adventurous Frenchman whom all men fear meeting and whom all the ladies dream of meeting, is perfect for this talented new discovery, who gives the characterization fire and glamour and a vivid strength.

Together, Miss Fontaine and de Cordova bring to the screen one of the most beautiful of love stories. With the Englishmen hunting for the French pirate whom she does her best to shield, Lady St. Columb pretends illness in order to sail out to sea with her lover.

Surrounded by as vicious a band of cut-throats as one could imagine, she ventures from the little hidden cove and participates in a raid on an English ship. The pirates sing on deck after completing their raid and a scene of pure romance comes to life with the gypsy music, the lash of the wind on the sails, the strong sea and the star-studded sky.

Finally the Frenchman is captured but through the aid of his Lady and servant, he is rescued. The two lovers then come face to face with the greatest decision of their lives as his ship makes ready to sail.

"Frenchman's Creek" tells a story that is perhaps, at sometime or other, in every woman's heart —the story of escape from all the practical realism of life into the arms of the most romantic of men living a life of complete freedom upon the high seas of adventure.

It is a woman's picture and a man's picture, filled with beauty, action and romance. Produced and directed by Mitchell Leisen.

Early Spring Heralds Reopening Of Westmount Mushball Doings

With the quick fadeout of the snow from Westmount Park and adjoining vacant lots, many a youngster's or fan's thought runs to softball. Plans are already underway by Recreation Supervisor Jim McCormick to line up teams in all sections of the Westmount Municipal Softball League.

Last year some 44 teams played in seven sections of the league and it is expected that at least this number will again be on the roster this season. The men's senior loop will not lack for entries although two of the strongest air force units, the championship R.C.A.F. No. 3 Training Command and Joey Richman's R.C.A.F. No. 1 Wireless School, will not be back. At the present time the R.C.A.F. Lachine station is the only new entrant, but at least one more army team is expected to enter the fold. The District Depot from Montreal South and the M.D. 4 team from the Sun Life building are two of the possible army clubs.

There is also a chance that two civilian teams will enter the circuit. Art Mann's Dodgers will be back, although they will also field a team in the Snowdon loop, and reports have it that Ozzie Dalzell will field the old Royals' team of pre-war issue. Many of the players who formerly lined up with this team are once more available, most of them being returned men. There should be no scarcity of players as there were plenty of good men in the junior section of the league last year.

The senior league will hold an organization meeting in about two or three weeks' time when most of the early detail will be ironed out.

The first sections of the league to get underway will no doubt be the Inter-troop, pee wee and bantam groups. Last year these sections were able to start in April and if the fine weather keeps up, a similar condition may exist this season.

It is hoped to operate the pee wee section along the same lines as the hockey with teams coming in from the elementary schools and St. Leo's Academy. This will be for boys 12 years of age and under who do not weigh more than 80 pounds. A bantam section for boys 13 years and under who do not weigh over 100 pounds will also be organized along these same lines, but the midget section for boys 15 years and under who do not weigh over 115 pounds will be an "open" section. If there are enough teams over this limit, another section will be organized, but it is thought that these brackets should just about include all the players in the pre-high school group.

There will be more news along these lines next week but any teams wishing to enter the midget section or the one for teams over these limitations, should immediately get in contact with the recreation supervisor at the office in the greenhouse.

Y's Chats

The Westmount Y.M.C.A. considers itself fortunate in having a Mothers' Club within its Organization. Last Friday, at a gathering of twenty mothers, the Club was formally organized. By common consent, the meeting elected as its Officers for this term:—Mrs. A. W. D. Swan, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Dawson. Mrs. Smith was asked to be the Convener for future refreshments.

The business of the meeting included election of Officers, a discussion of what the Club intends for its purpose, and an outlining for future meetings. Next meeting to be Friday, April 27th at 3.00 p.m.

The refreshments for this meeting were served by Mrs. C. S. Smith, Convener, who was assisted by Mrs. W. Sparrow, Mrs. T. Parrot, Mrs. F. Gutelius and Mrs. McCubbin. Mrs. A. W. D. Swan and Mrs. R. Gregor-Pearse poured tea. Thanks are due to Miss Lyle who prepared the sandwiches.

Altogether, the afternoon was most successful—business was accomplished and socialities made for a pleasant meeting.

PREPS & JUNIORS

The Preps & Juniors are going to enjoy the great outdoors this Saturday. 9.30 a.m. will see the boys set out from the Y.M.C.A. for a fair tramp. They'll have lunch out and return in time for the Movies. We are looking for a large group to go.

BASKETBALL

A semi-final game between our Intermediate team and North Branch Intermediates was held Thursday. Full report later.

Hockey League Trophies To Be Presented Soon

Although hockey is a dead issue as far as Westmount is concerned, there still remains the presentation of trophies and crests won during the season by the teams in the Westmount Municipal Hockey League.

A tentative date for this presentation is Tuesday evening, April 17, at the Victoria Hall. In addition to the presentation of awards, there will also be a full programme of entertainment. Last year's bill of fare in the entertainment line was a grade A success with the youngsters and adults attending the gathering being shown almost two hours of fun.

Seven trophies will be awarded to the winning teams while crests will go to the players on nine clubs. Doug Alexander's Golden Eagles, as champions of the juvenile section, will receive the "Johnny Hill Memorial Trophy" while the Golden Eagles' midgets will retain possession of the "Russ McConnell Memorial Trophy". Andy McGillis' St. Leo's Academy bantams will receive the "Walter A. Merrill Trophy" for the second year in succession. The "B. W. Roberts Trophy" will go to the St. Leo's troop in honour of their winning the title in the Inter-troop section of the league. A trophy, so far unnamed, has been obtained by Andy McGillis for presentation to the winners of the midget B section, this year's winners of course being Yves Hudon's St. Leo's club.

Two trophies will be awarded to the championship pee wee teams, the St. Leo's Greens will receive the "Jack Rimmer Trophy" emblematic of the league championship while the Roslyn Grosvenors will be given the "Westmount Rotary Club Trophy" as runners-up to the championship Greens' squad. All the players on the teams mentioned will receive crests for playing on championship teams as will the players on the Queen's Eagles and the King's Panthers, pee wee titlists in the Staynor and Prince Albert sections respectively.

North-South air Route supported

Support will be given to the establishment of an air route through Regina from the U.S. to Edmonton and thence to Whitehorse, Y.T., according to the resolutions passed at the north-south air conference held at Edmonton.

Federal government has been asked to authorize the operation of an air route from Whitehorse to Fairbanks, thus having aerial transport directly from the United States to Alaska, instead of along the Pacific coast.

BETTY IN ARIZONA

Betty Hutton is vacationing at Phoenix, Arizona, with her hairdresser and close friend Eunice McFarlane, for two weeks before Miss Hutton reports for the finish of her role in Paramount's "Cross My Heart."

Student: "I hear the Board of Trustees is trying to stop necking."

Second Student: "That's so?" First thing you know they'll be trying to make the students stop, too."

"Mother: "Don't cry about it; you should laugh."

Child: "I di-did."

Daughter: "But, Mother, I want to see the folly of it, too!"

And then there was the cow which after jumping the barbed wire fence said, "I'm udderly ruined.'

TORONTO BETTER THAN EXPECTED

Toronto Maple Leafs and Canadiens play back in Montreal tonight, with the Leafs strong favourites to win the series, even if they drop tonight's match. They have three games to win that all-important tilt that will give them the right to go into the finals, and with two teams as evenly matched as these two are, the law of averages is certain to come into play. It is unlikely in the extreme, barring accidents of course, that Canadians can take three straight, one of which must be played on Toronto ice.

In the first two games of the series, perhaps the most surprising feature was the inability of the Lach-Blake-Richard line to click. All kinds of excuses have been made to explain it, but the real reason is the tenacity with which Toronto players clung to their checks. Rugged Bob Davidson watched Richard so closely, as an example, that the man who scored fifty goals in the regular season had only a couple of chances all night in the first game, while he was completely ineffective in the second. Blake and Lach fared little better.

It was claimed that Toronto's success was due to the fact that in both the first two games the Leafs got the first goal which enabled them to adopt their tight defensive tactics. This theory seemed to be borne out in the third game when Canadiens got the first goal and went on to win in a wide open game, but it was blasted in the fourth game Tuesday when the Leafs overcame an early two-goal lead to win, outplaying Canadiens all the way.

make the change. Tommy Gorman needn't pay much attention to the criticism. With Horace of old he can say: "The people hiss at me; but I myself applaud myself at home, when I gaze at the money in my coffers."

This Toronto team is much better than most of the experts conceded before the series started.

Incidentally, there is plenty of criticism among the fans at the action of the Forum in reserving the rush end. Blame for the action was placed on the inhabitants of the north end, but this is just so much twaddle. The missiles came from all over the rink, most of them from reserved seat holders close to the ice. However, the incident provided a good alibi to

Sports Parade 1945 Sees Maroon-Canadien Classic

Though Leo Dandurand has been rounding up an all-star aggregation to represent Les Canadiens, which he piloted to fame and glory in previous years, there is no doubt that the Habitants will clash with some very serious opposition with the Montreal Maroons at the Forum Friday, April 6th, in the grand Sports Parade of 1945, which is to be presented under the auspices of the Montreal Rotary Club in aid of their many deserving Charities.

Mr. Dandurand will have Wilf Cude in the Canadien nets, and on the defence will be such well-known figures as Sylvio Mantha, Walter Buswell and Battleship Leduc. Up in front will be Marty Barry, Paul Haynes and several other stars of bygone seasons.

Canadiens will really produce a team that could hold it's own in any company. Leo Dandurand is working night and day on his Canadien problems, and has promised to place on the ice a team that will give an excellent account of itself.

Maroons-Canadiens Organize

Maroons are also getting organized. Tommy Gorman, who has promised to handle his old Big Red Machine for the April 6th festivities, announced yesterday that Gus Marker, one of the best right wingers that ever wore the Maroon colors will certainly be on hand for the occasion. Marker was in Montreal for the playoff game and he offered his services for the Sports Parade.

There is a strong possibility that the famous Green Line of the Maroons — Gracie, Marker and Cain, will be re-united for the big match. Gracie recently tied with Bob Walton for the scoring championship of the American Hockey League, and Cain has been playing brilliant hockey for the Boston Bruins. Cain will be available if the Bruins are not in the championship finals at that time and Gracie has already promised to be on hand.

Toronto will confer with Lionel Conacher and also with Cy Wentworth and other Maroon graduates, with a view of having them here. Hooley Smith and Joe Blinco are certainties for the Maroon team. Archie Wilcox will also figure on the defence of the Big White Maroon team.

Alex Connell is coming down from Ottawa, accompanied by Allan Shields, and like Canadiens, the Maroon team will be a formidable one. Lionel Conacher is already training at Toronto, and there is a probability that Dave Trottier, who has been refereeing in the Maritime Provinces, will be up for the gigantic charity show.

Rotary Club Committee

Col. St. Clair Holland, chairman of the Rotary Club committee in charge of the Sports Parade, announced yesterday that Cooper Smeaton had consented to referee the Canadien-Maroon game, thus adding another touch of color to the gala program. His assistant will be made known within a few days. Smeaton was one of the greatest referees who ever graced the National Hockey League.

Col. Holland has also completed negotiations with Secretary James Foley, of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, President Norman Dawe of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, President George Foley, of the Quebec Senior League, and President Bob Lebel, of the Interprovincial Group, whereby a high class amateur hockey exhibition will also be presented in connection with the Sports Parade. Plans for the amateur display are in the hands of the afore-mentioned officials, and they will announce early next week their complete program.

Speed Races

In addition to the Maroon-Canadien classic, which will be the chief attraction, and the amateur match, there will also be other breath-taking sport features, including speed races, in which amateur and professional contestants will take part; puck carrying and stick handling competitions, and several entertaining variety features, which well-known Montreal artists will be requested to give.

President Wurtele Rankin, of Montreal Rotary, predicts that the program will excel anything that has previously been given in the Forum. One of the novel features will include the introduction by Mr. Michael Normandin of the various old-time Canadien and Maroon players, and the other artists taking part.

Seats for the Sports Parade of 1945 may be secured through Secretary Alf Okill, of Montreal Rotary, at the Mount Royal Hotel. Many out of town visitors are coming for the occasion and it is expected that the Forum will be jammed to the rafters. The cause is a worthy one, and, in addition, Canada and the British I patrons will witness a grand play of sport and other fascinat features.

Plywood and Plastic centre

Vancouver will be the post-war nucleus of a great plastic and plywood industry, and the centre for the manufacture of prefabricated dwellings for devastated Europe, predicted Henry Castillou, K.C.

Such international trade would provide employment for returned members of the armed forces.

Here's the situation: Makers of telephone equipment have been busy on orders of all kinds for the armed services. For them, the time to start reconverting still lies ahead. Even after war needs have been met, these manufacturers must make a major change-over before they can resume normal production of supplies for civilian use . . . Which means that we must continue to defer many requests for telephone service, awaiting the day (we hope it may not be too long delayed!) when materials in adequate volume and skilled manpower again become available. The applications on our waiting list will be filled as promptly and fairly as possible, on a first-come-first-served basis.

Rubber

Brazil to be covered with rubber.

Lasts were also sent in order to improve the shape and fit of the rubber shoes. All this time articles of rubber went unvulcanized, were sticky in warm weather and hard in cold weather.

"Charles Goodyear in 1835 thought he might solve the successful use of rubber and first used Nitric acid for removing the sticky surface. This did to a great extent present a dry surface but did not change the interior of the material. He also experimented with sulphur and it was only by accident that the stick mass of rubber and sulphur coming in contact with a hot stove lid gave him the idea of the application of heat for vulcanization."

Mr. McGiverin then revealed how the rubber plantations arrived in Ceylon. "In 1876 the British Government were looking for a crop to replace coffee in Ceylon, as coffee had developed a blight which seemed difficult to eradicate. Henry Wickham had been carrying on research in Brazil and studying the value of rubber. He found he could make plantings from seed and this interested Sir Joseph Hooker who was head of Kew Gardens in London, England. As a result—Hevea Braziliensis seeds were brought to Kew Gardens and planted and shipped out to Ceylon. Out of a cargo of seeds, at the end of their wanderings only 17 plants survived in Ceylon."

Of the wartime demand on both natural and synthetic rubber "Alawys Congenial" McGiverin revealed "The demands for huge quantities of essential rubber or rubber type war items, such as tank tracks, bogey wheels, automobile equipment, clothing, footwear, gas masks, boats, floats, gas and water storage tanks, puncture proof gas tanks and hose, fire hose and myriads of items, many strange to the industry were produced. Produced in hitherto unheard of quantities and on express schedules. These were some of the problems laid in the lap of the rubber industry. That they met that crisis is a tribute to the workers and management of one industry that will stand as a record of great achievement."

Turning now to the development of synthetic rubber which took place over a period of time in all the major countries of the world the speaker gave important dates in the synthetic rubber history. Beginning in England in 1826 Mr. McGiverin stated that "In 1826 Michael Faraday (England)showed that natural rubber was composed of five atoms of carbon and eight atoms of hydrogen. It was therefore called a hydrocarbon. Other familiar hydro carbons are gasoline, kerosene, turpentine, lubricating and fuel oils, benzine, and natural gas.

"In 1860 Grenville Williams (England) broke down natural rubber by heat and derived from it a liquid with the same chemical composition as rubber, C_5H_8 and he called it Isoprene.

In 1879, G. Bouchardat, (France) while experimenting with Isoprene obtained a substance which had elasticity and some of the other properties of rubber. He was the first to suggest that rubber is a polymer, a substance in which the original molecules have linked together to form giant molecules.

"The Russians were early workers in synthetic rubber and because of the threat of blockade during the last war continued their work until interrupted by the Revolution. Later the Soviet Government continued the work of the great Russian chemists, Ostromeslensky, Kondakow and Lebedeff.

"In 1915 the Germans built and operated a synthetic rubber plant but the quality of the product was inferior."

The speaker then gave some of the various types of synthetic rubber: Butadiene, Styrene, and how the process of "Polymerization" or, as the speaker simplified the term, "the drying or hardening of paint on the side of a house is polymerization," takes place. Describing 'Buna S', 'Butyl', 'Neoprene', and "Thiokol' as the principal forms of synthetic rubber the speaker closed with the wish that the wartime development of synthetic rubber would in some way benefit mankind in the future

The Rotarians stood for a minute's silence at the suggestion of President-Chairman A. W. Callard in memory of the recently deceased past-president C. W. McBride.

An artist confesses he put ten years' work into a picture he has just sold. Nine of them are said to have been devoted to selling it.

Ask new vets to Support Legion

Discharged war veterans should get behind the Canadian Legion, "to their own advantage," according to W. H. Burke, secretary of the Ontario provincial command, speaking in Toronto recently.

He said that: "A vital part of the Canadian Legion program should be the enrolling of veterans of this war into our membership. Only in this way can we attain the influence and full representation we require to assist boys coming back after the war."

First wife: "Is your husband a book-worm?"

Second: "No, just an ordinary one."

War Veterans Insurance NOW AVAILABLE

Offers protection, without medical examination in most cases, to those discharged.

When Canada entered the present war, it was realized that men and women who went into uniform faced the possibility of returning to civilian life with their health impaired, or with some physical disability. It was realized also that, as a result of this impairment in health or disability, many service men and women would be unable to provide protection for their families through the normal channels of commercial life insurance. To meet this situation, Parliament, at its 1944 session, passed an Act known as The Veterans Insurance Act. This act has now been proclaimed and applications may be made for policies under it.

WHAT ARE THE SPECIAL FEATURES OF WAR VETERANS INSURANCE?

One of the principal features of War Veterans Insurance is that, with very few exceptions, it is available at low cost, without medical examination. No extra premiums are charged where the veteran's occupation is unusually hazardous—such as, mining, construction, commercial flying, etc. —and, in addition, premiums are waived in the event of total disability. There is no extra cost for this waiver of premiums.

WHO MAY APPLY FOR WAR VETERANS INSURANCE?

Any ex-service man or woman is eligible. In addition, widows or widowers of veterans may apply for the insurance on themselves if the veterans were not insured under the Act. Merchant Navy personnel in receipt of a war disability pension from the present war are eligible also.

WHAT TYPES OF INSURANCE ARE AVAILABLE?

The plans of insurance available are 10 Payment Life, 15 Payment Life, 20 Payment Life, Life Paid-up at 65 and Life Paid-up at 85; that is, premiums may be paid for 10, 15 or 20 years or until age 65 or 85 respectively. The longer the term of payment the smaller the premium required. Term and Endowment policies are not issued. The insurance is of the non-participating type, that is, no dividends are paid.

WHAT AMOUNTS OF INSURANCE ARE PROVIDED FOR?

Policies may be applied for in amounts ranging from $500 to $10,000. The amount of the policy is payable only in the event of the death of the insured.

HOW ARE PREMIUMS PAID?

At the option of the veteran, premiums may be paid monthly, quarterly, half-yearly, or annually. There is no additional cost to the veteran for paying premiums on a monthly basis.

IS THERE ANY CASH SURRENDER VALUE?

After premiums have been paid for two full years, the policy may be surrendered for its Cash Surrender Value, or it may be transferred to Paid-up Insurance or Extended Term Insurance. There is no provision for loans against the policy.

AT DEATH HOW WILL THE INSURANCE BE PAID?

The maximum amount which may be paid at death is $1,000, with the remainder being paid, at the option of the insured, in one of the following three ways:

(1) The money, plus 3½ per cent. interest, may be paid to the beneficiary in equal instalments over a period of five, ten, fifteen or twenty years, as selected. If the beneficiary dies, the payments are continued to his or her estate.

(2) The money may be paid in equal instalments as long as the beneficiary lives.

(3) As in (2), but instalments are guaranteed for five, ten, fifteen or twenty years, whether the beneficiary lives or dies.

WHAT IS THE EFFECT OF A WAR DISABILITY PENSION?

If, on the death of the insured, the beneficiary receives a pension, the insurance money will be paid as follows:

(1) If the policy is paid up, the full face amount of it will be paid to the beneficiary in the manner elected by the insured, plus the pension.

(2) If the policy is not paid up, then the capitalized value of the pension will be deducted from the face value of the policy and instead, the beneficiary will receive the paid-up value of the portion deducted, plus the excess, if any, of the face amount of the insurance over the capitalized value of the pension. If the policy has been in force at least six months and the beneficiary is the wife or husband or children, or both, of the insured, at least $500 will be paid as well as the paid-up value of the remainder.

WHO MAY BE NAMED AS A BENEFICIARY?

Where the insured is married, the beneficiary must be the wife or husband, or children, or both. If the veteran is single, the beneficiary must be the future wife or husband, with a parent, brother or sister, named as a contingent beneficiary to receive the insurance money should the veteran die unmarried.

CAN RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT OR PENSION BE USED FOR VETERANS INSURANCE?

Yes, this is one of the purposes for which the re-establishment credit may be used. Premiums may be deducted from pensions also, if requested.

IF THE VETERAN BECOMES TOTALLY DISABLED, WHAT HAPPENS?

If this occurs before the veteran reaches the age of sixty years, and he is not in receipt of full pension for the disability, no further premiums need be paid.

ARE THERE ANY RESTRICTIONS AS TO TRAVEL, RESIDENCE, OR OCCUPATION?

In addition to being free of occupational restrictions, the insurance also is free of restriction as to travel and residence.
