

COUNCIL DISCUSS A REDUCTION IN GAS PRICE

Hylan Re-Elected In New York By A Large Plurality

NO RESUMPTION OF NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THE BRITISH AND SINN FEINERS TO BE ATTEMPTED UNTIL THE ULSTER DIFFICULTY IS OVERCOME

Forecasts of King's Speech Proroguing Parliament, Which Will Very Likely Be Delivered Tomorrow, Are to the Effect that It Deals Almost Exclusively with the Irish Problem — Conferences Between Premier Lloyd George and the Ulster Cabinet in Regard to Basis of an Irish Peace Settlement Will Probably Not Take Place Until Next Monday.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, November 9.—Forecasts of the King's speech proroguing Parliament, which it is thought will be delivered tomorrow, are to the effect that it deals almost exclusively with the Irish situation. Mr. Lloyd George presided last night over a Cabinet Council at which the terms of the speech were said to have been discussed.

Conferences between Mr. Lloyd George and the members of the Ulster Cabinet in regard to the basis of an Irish peace settlement had been set for tomorrow, but prorogation of Parliament on that date, together with the fact that Friday is Armistice Day, would probably force a postponement until Monday of official conversations.

All the parties to the negotiations engaged in informal parleys yesterday. Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, saw Mr. Lloyd George and Foreign Secretary Curzon, and also sought out influential parliamentary leaders in an endeavor to gain their support for the Ulster viewpoint.

No resumption of the formal negotiations between the representatives of the British Government and the Sinn Fein will be attempted until after the Ulster difficulty has been overcome.

The report continues that should the Ulsterites be unable to reconcile their views with those of Mr. Lloyd George, he will offer his resignation as Premier.

ADDITIONAL SINN FEINERS RELEASED FROM CAMPS

(Associated Press Despatch)

BELFAST, Nov. 9.—Twenty-nine more Sinn Feiners, held in internment camps, were unconditionally released yesterday. Eleven were freed from the Rath Camp, Curragh; eight from Spike Island, Queenstown, and ten from Ballykinlar.

This makes the total released to date 113, leaving the number interned at approximately 4,720.

APPROVE STAND TAKEN BY SIR JAMES CRAIG

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Ulster Cabinet representatives here unanimously approved today "the firm attitude" which Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, has maintained in the interest of Ulster in his conferences with Premier Lloyd George over the question of an Irish settlement.

This decision was reached after a prolonged meeting between the Ulster Premier and the members of the Cabinet he summoned to London. At this meeting, Sir James explained the situation in the Irish negotiations so far as he had been made aware of it in his recent interviews with Mr. Lloyd George, and outlined the course he had pursued in the circumstances.

COL. J. KEEFLER ADDRESSED THE ROTARY CLUB

Discussed Advantages of Physical Training—Urged Its Adoption in Schools.

The speaker of the evening at last night's session of the Rotary Club was Lt.-Col. J. K. Keefler, Inspector of the cadet service for this district.

Col. Keefler observed that in 1908, Lord Strathcona had given a grant of $250,000, subsequently raised to $500,000 for the promotion of physical training in schools. One of the provisos of this grant was that the schools accepting assistance from this grant should make physical training compulsory and that teachers with certificates higher than the elementary grade should also have physical training certificates.

Col. Keefler emphasized the fact that this was in no way intended as military training but merely to encourage cadet training, obedience, discipline and incidentally make better citizens of our boys.

In the Dominion we now have 80,000 cadets of which 32,000 are in the Province of Quebec and 26,000 in these are French speaking, while in this Province we only have 4,000 cadets in the Protestant schools.

The speaker pointed out that 45 p.c. of the young men examined under the M.S.A. were unfit and stated that the majority of these defects might have been rectified with physical training earlier in youth. He referred to the gradual training of children and urged a little physical exercise during the day's work and that it should form part of the school's curriculum. Insofar as the games were concerned he favored volleyball for girls followed by basketball.

At the conclusion of his remarks Col. Keefler was warmly thanked for his courtesy in addressing the meeting after which Rotarian T. Keefler added a few interesting remarks.

Earlier in the afternoon, Col. Keefler discussed the matter of physical training with the Protestant School Board Commissioners and the matter is now receiving their careful consideration.

SPIKE OFFERS HIMSELF TO PROGRESSIVES

Likes Sherbrooke, But Finds It Lonely, Not Knowing Anyone—Will Play the Game, and Defies Local Sleuths—Will Attend Meighen Meeting Tonight.

Hello, Folks:—

Say, I like your town. I've been here twenty-four hours, and I'll tell the world you're good people.

But say, ladies and gentlemen, and especially ladies, it's mighty lonesome to be alone in a town like this. As I was walking along Wellington Street, yesterday afternoon, I just longed for someone to come up and grab me by the hand and exclaim, "Hello, Spike, old boy! How are you?" I want to get acquainted with you people. I want to get in the swim, as it were. If properly approached, I'd accept some lucrative position. The only job open, as far as I can see, is that of Farmers' candidate. I'm some runner, as this town will find out in the next few days, and I'd be very grateful if Mr. Morris would mention my name the next time he speaks at Lennoxville.

Say, I've got into trouble with the Record people. I tied them down to a column of space a day while in town, and they evidently don't like my stuff, for they are now offering $25 for my capture. Well, I may not be good-looking and I may not be much when it comes to writing for a newspaper, but I'm a good sport, just the same. I'll play the game. I'd like to make the acquaintance of some clever Sherbrooke sleuth, and I'd like to see him get $25 for finding me out. So, from Chief Couture down to little Willie, the amateur Nick Carter, my advice is to read carefully the rules governing my capture and then get on to the trail. I'll give you a little hint now and then that will help. The Record won't let me say too much, for they want a merry chase for that $25. Some clever sleuth will get me in the end. Next week I'll start in publishing my picture.

In the meantime, I'll poke around your city and perhaps discover a few things that may be new to you, for I'm somewhat of a detective myself.

They tell me the fishing is good in your river. I read in the paper last week that one fellow fished up one hundred and twenty-seven bottles of Scotch. So, if you see anyone, about daylight, down by the Grand Trunk Railway bridge, fishing, well, that may be me, and then again it may be someone else, for I was told half the town and a bunch of Yankees from across the line were trying their luck.

I guess there won't be any trouble keeping warm in Sherbrooke for a couple of weeks, if I keep out of the "cooler" for that time, for it looks like a good, hot election. You have two mighty fine candidates in Sherbrooke in Mr. McCrea and Colonel Worthington, and if the Progressives would accept Spike, the trio would be complete.

I'm going to the political rally tonight. I want to hear what that fellow Meighen has to say. He's a clever debater. I know, for I'm somewhat of an arguer myself. He'll be worth hearing, no matter what your politics are.

Say, feller citizens, I took a peep into your City Council meeting last night, just as they were talking reduction in gas rates. Fine idea just now with election campaign on. Gas will be plentiful. But the City Fathers postponed action, evidently waiting for the civic elections, when there will be more.

Well, fellers, I can't write any more just now, as I have some shopping to do and want to get a look around the Sherbrooke stores. I'll drop in at McKechnie's, who made some attractive offerings in yesterday's Record, and then cross over to Skinner, who said truly in his adv. yesterday, "The thing is to get a good start."

So long. Will write you again tomorrow.

Yours truly, BILL.

TREMBLAY WAS ACQUITTED AT JURY TRIAL

Number of True Bills Returned Yesterday.

After hearing the evidence of Dr. Hayes, of Richmond, as well as that of Chief of Police Douglas and other witnesses from that district, the jury took about half an hour to consider the evidence and subsequently returned a verdict of not guilty.

The following cases were reported by the Grand Jury yesterday afternoon:

True bill was found as follows:—The King vs. John Whitelegg, charged with accepting a bribe to protect those violating the liquor law. The

$25 REWARD

The Record will give $25 reward for the capture of one William Spike, now at large in Sherbrooke and vicinity.
In order to give Spike a sporting chance to elude the local sleuths and get acquainted with the town, this capture may not take place until such time as will be announced later, and must conform to certain rules, which will also be published.
In the meantime, all should endeavor to "get a line" on said William Spike and be prepared to lift the reward when the time comes.

King against A. Zakaib, accused with obtaining under false pretences. The King against Lize for obtaining under false pretences. The King vs. N. Houle, alias Hall, for arson. The King against Poliquin for obtaining under false pretences. No bills were found in the following cases:—
The King vs. M. Plante for perjury. The King vs. Emile Berard for perjury. The King vs. O. Doyon for assault and theft.

Democratic Candidates, Headed By Mayor Hylan, Made A Clean Sweep In Elections In New York—Ten Killed In Kentucky

Mayor Hylan's Plurality Is the Largest Ever Received by a Democratic Candidate for Any Office in New York City—Several Arrests Were Made During the Day—Shooting Quite Frequent During Election Day in Kentucky.

(Associated Press Despatch.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Democratic candidates, headed by Mayor John F. Hylan, made a clean sweep of the principal city and county offices in yesterday's municipal election, the Mayor receiving the unprecedented plurality of 287,986.

The complete vote in the city's 2,079 election districts was Hylan 754,874; Curran, Republican running on a Coalition ticket, 336,838; and Jacob Panken, Socialist, 83,209.

On complaint of two Socialist watchers, Daniel Platt, chairman of the election board in the second election district, and three of his clerks were arrested today charged with mutilating ballots in yesterday's election. They were also charged with making fraudulent election returns.

Mayor Hylan's plurality is the largest ever received by a Democratic candidate for any office in this city, and is comparable only with the vote cast for Morris Hillquit, president Harding's plurality of 438,471 in the presidential election last year.

Approximately fifty-five per cent of the city's 1,263,940 registered voters, which included 447,015 women, went to the polls.

It was one of the quietest elections New York has ever had. No serious disturbances were reported.

The ticket elected was: Mayor, John F. Hylan, Comptroller, Charles L. Craig, President of the Board of Aldermen, Murray Hulbert, President Borough of Manhattan, Julius Miller, President Borough of Brooklyn, Edward F. Riegelmann, President Borough of Bronx, Henry Bruckner, President Borough of Queens, Maurice E. Connolly, President Borough of Richmond, Matthew J. Cahill.

The smashing democratic triumph gives the party all the votes on the important Board of Estimate and apportionment, which consists of the Mayor, Comptroller, president of the Board of Aldermen and the five Borough presidents. The Democrats also are assured of a heavy majority in the Board of Aldermen.

There was a slump in the Socialist vote. Jacob Panken polled approximately 62,000 less for Mayor than the vote cast for Morris Hillquit four years ago. Socialists elected two assemblymen and a third was leading in his district on incomplete returns this morning. Women candidates for municipal and county offices, with the exception of Miss Annie Mathews, successful Democratic candidate for register of Manhattan County, did not fare well in the results.

DETROIT ENDORSES MUNICIPAL PROGRAMME.

(Associated Press Despatch.)
DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 9.—Again endorsing the City administration's municipal ownership programme, Detroit voters re-elected Mayor James Couzens at yesterday's election by nearly two to one.

By about the same ratio, a charter amendment under which the Detroit United Railway would be forced to vacate Fort Street and a part of Woodward Avenue, two principal thoroughfares, to make way for Municipally owned street railway lines, was passed.

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF GAS WAS RECOMMENDED TO CITY COUNCIL; RATHER FEATURELESS MEETING

Aldermen Edwards and Langis Engage in Another Little Tilt—Engineering Department Authorized to Have Plans Completed This Week or Give Good Reason Why They Cannot Be Completed—City Will Borrow from Bank of Montreal the Sum of $186,000.

LAST night's session of the City Council was rather featureless, although Aldermen Edwards and Langis made several references to the tenders for coke, which have now become historical.

The Gas and Electricity committee made several recommendations relating to a decrease in the net cost of gas to the consumer, and Alderman Langis naturally took this as a high compliment to the quality of the coke which had been submitted by his firm. On the other hand, Alderman Edwards held that if the lowest tender for coke had been accepted, it might have been possible to have recommended a further reduction.

Alderman Tremblay offered to make a motion to reduce the rate an additional twenty-five cents per thousand cubic feet, but he was politely told by Aldermen Edwards and Brault that inasmuch as he was not a member of the gas and electric committee and knew nothing or little of the costs, it would be rather presuming on his part to suggest such a drastic cut without being cognizant of the facts.

Minutes Allowed to Stand.

After the minutes had been read Alderman Delorme and Alderman Edwards proposed and seconded, respectively, that the section referring to the purchase of the Fairbanks site be referred to the Finance Committee.

Alderman Delorme:—"We have not got the necessary funds."

Alderman Tremblay:—"If we have no money, so much the worse. The law holds that the minutes must either be accepted or thrown out."

A vote being taken on the acceptance of the minutes, Alderman Delorme was the only dissenter.

Finance Committee Report.

The Finance Committee recommended that the Secretary-Treasurer be authorized to prepare the assessment and collection rolls for the half of the cost of the permanent municipal works, sewers, pavements and sidewalks undertaken since January last.

The dates for the payment of the annual charges were fixed as follows: The 1921 payment will become due December 1st next, while the subsequent annual payments will become payable June 1st of each year. The rate of interest was fixed at six per cent, and a discount of five per cent. will be allowed for those who pay cash for what they owe for permanent works, in five, ten, twenty or forty year payments.

In future accounts for arrears in civic charges will only be placed in the hands of the City lawyers after the debtor has been sent a request for payment by registered mail and a reasonable delay granted.

Loan From Bank of Montreal.

The Finance Committee recommended, and it was subsequently approved, that pending the sale of bonds amounting to $207,500 authorized by the by-laws 389 and 419, the City borrow from the Bank of Montreal the sum of $186,000, the value of these bonds being established by the price of the last offer received, namely $89.50, and which was refused by the Council.

Of this amount, $132,500 will be used in paying back to the Bank of Montreal the amount borrowed to carry on the paving works.

With reference to the sewers, etc., referred to by the Finance Committee, Alderman Edwards asked why these plans for permanent works had not been completed, while other plans if less consequence had been made. Thereupon moved, seconded by Alderman Langis, that the Engineering Department be authorized to have plans prepared this week, or else give some good and valid reason why they cannot be completed.

The process-verbal of deliberations of the Gas and Electric Committee as follows, were accepted by the Council:

Taxi-chauffeurs—Application asking the city to heat the cab shelter at the G. T. R. Station.

The Committee cannot recommend that this request be granted.

Operators, Rock Forest Station.—Application asking the city to build a shed for autos and other vehicles. The Committee recommends that the city supply the lumber the petitioners, to erect the shed themselves and that they be advised accordingly.

Julius Kayser & Co.—Application for rebate on power bill. The Committee, after taking communication of by-law No. 373 is unable to recommend that the request be granted.

City of Sherbrooke vs. Canadian Ingersoll Rand Company. MacBain & Williams vs. the City and other cases.—The Committee requests that a written statement be furnished the Council by the City Attorneys giving all particulars with regard to the progress of proceedings in all cases, before the local courts, in which the electricity and gas committee is interested.

Claim from Albert and Adjutor Lacroix. Report of city engineers Lawson and Tremblay, November 2, 1921.—The Committee recommends that the engineers be authorized to obtain the following information:

Price paid by the claimants for the property alleged to have been flooded, and if such price be found to be as stated by the claimants, to wit $1600 for fifty acres, their claim be settled in conformity with the engineers' report.

Mayor D'nault's Unpaid Light Bill.

Racine Building. Electric light and heat bill $450.06.—Inasmuch as the amount $367.00 which the Committee has recommended the council to accept in settlement of the amount in report No. 27, 1921, has not yet been paid, the Committee recommends that the debtor Mr. D. O. E. D'nault be immediately notified that unless the amount is paid within the delay fixed by the notice, the payment of the whole amount $450.06 will be insisted upon and the supply of light will be discontinued, the whole in conformity with by-law 373.

Dollard Snowshoe Club. Contract for supply of electric light to Montreal Road.—The Committee, having taken communication of the draft of contract, recommend that it be signed by the Dollard Snowshoe Club and the City on behalf of the club by its authorized officer; on behalf of the City by the Mayor and the Secretary-Treasurer. That the Mayor and the Secretary-Treasurer be hereby authorized to sign the said contract on behalf of the City.

Gas oil. Tenders received and considered.—The Committee recommends that the tender of the Sun Oil Company of Canada, Ltd., be accepted for thirty thousand gallons of gas oil at $0.1135 per Imperial Gallon, delivered f.o.b. cars Sherbrooke, payable in Canadian funds. The whole according to specifications contained in the tender. Immediate acceptance.

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me many sleepless nights. I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no relief for two or three hours. For sixteen months I ate nothing but Shredded Wheat biscuits, as I dare not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried so many different remedies, as well as doctors' medicines, without gaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box noticed that I was improving. I continued the treatment until I am now fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, so we are glad to recommend it to others."

HAD BAD COUGH AND SORE THROAT

Never neglect a cough or cold however slight. If you do it can have one result; it leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. A single dose of

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP will help to stop the cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs the healing virtues of the Norway pine tree along with the soothing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs, roots and barks promptly eradicate the bad effects, and the persistent use cannot but help to bring about relief.

Mr. Albert Marsh, Lower L'Ardoise, N.S., writes: "About a year ago I contracted a cold accompanied by a very bad cough and sore throat. I sent for the doctor, but what he prescribed did me no little good. I began to get discouraged. A friend came to see me and asked me if I had ever used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I told him I had not and sent him right away to get me a bottle. I started using it and after a couple of days I found the sore throat and cough taking two bottles the sore throat and cough seemed to be leaving me, so I resolved to continue its use, and after I had used five bottles both my sore throat and cough were gone. I would not be without 'Dr. Wood's' for any money."

TRAVELLING MAN IS LIKE NEW PERSON SINCE TAKING IT

Rene Boyer Says He Eats Anything, Sleeps Fine and Feels Good All the Time.

"Tanlac put me on the road to good health and I don't remember the time I felt better than I do now," said Rene Boyer, of 450 Amherst St., Montreal, well known travelling salesman for the Constantineau printing establishment.

"About two years ago my appetite went back on me and I began to suffer from stomach trouble. I felt sick and worn out all the time, and it was all a rundown condition that it was all I could do to keep plugging along at my work. Everything that I ate disagreed with me and caused terrible cramps in the pit of my stomach that lasted for hours after every meal. I bloated so with gas I could hardly get my breath at times, and it certainly made me feel miserable. My nerves were on edge all the time, and my sleep was so restless and wakeful that mornings I felt completely worn out and not at all like starting my day's work."

"Tanlac has certainly changed things for me though and made me feel like an entirely different man. The medicine has rid me entirely of stomach trouble, and I eat whatever I want these days without it bothering me a bit. My sleep is sound and restful and I wake up mornings feeling fine and ready for a good day's work. Tanlac has certainly delivered the goods for me, and I'm glad to give the medicine my highest endorsement."

W. M. S. Held Meeting and Drew Up Plans—Other Newsy Notes of Interest.

BURY, Que., Nov. 9.—Although last Thursday's meeting of the W. M. S. was the usual monthly meeting, it proved to be one of absorbing interest. Held at the home of Mrs. L. E. Rainey, with a very good attendance of members, the meeting, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Abel Whitehead, quickly settled down to the business of the afternoon. The roll call was responded to by quotations re missionary work. The report of the district convention held recently in Lennoxville, prepared by Mrs. M. Heseltine, delegate for the afternoon session, was read by Mrs. A. Saunders. This proved to be very full

SCHOOL SKATING RINK

A special meeting of the Home and School Co-operative League is called for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the High School, when several important matters will come before the meeting. One, which has occupied a good deal of time and attention on the part of the League is the need of having a good rink at each of the Protestant schools. Quite a little progress was made last year in the providing of skating places for the children, and the League will take the work up again this season, still more confidently.

The programme committee is also expected to be present and submit a report of what is in store for the members, and visitors at the coming meetings.

One of the League's slogans is, "Do not come alone, bring a friend."

FOUND TWO DEER IN SHEEP-YARD.

Reports show that deer are plentiful this fall, also that several hunters have been fortunate in getting one or two during their trips through the woods. Some others have been able to run down a deer within a short distance of their homes, as the beautiful little creatures often stray in enclosures during their wanderings. In regard to the latter, Mr. Hebert, who resides on the sixth range in Stoke, has had, perhaps, the most unique experience.

One morning last week, Mr. Hebert went out to his sheep yard and found two bucks in the enclosure fighting, with their horns locked. He returned to the house for his rifle, and taking aim at one fired, killing it. The other tried to get away, but could not free himself from his dead antagonist, and was soon a prey to Mr. Hebert's rifle.

Two deer before breakfast in his own farm yard was an entirely new experience to the Stoke farmer.

FREE DRAWING SCHOOL SHOWING GOOD PROGRESS.

The teachers and students of the Free Drawing School were pleased to welcome at one of last week's classes, Mr. J. P. L. Berube, of Montreal, secretary of the Council of Arts and Manufacturers, who paid a visit to the school, accompanied by Mr. J. W. Gregoire, one of Sherbrooke's most interested members. Both visitors expressed themselves as well satisfied with the progress of the classes since the reopening, a few weeks ago. Teachers and students were also pleased to learn that their school room was going to be made more attractive by having the ceiling whitewashed and the woodwork painted. These improvements will show to advantage in the well-lighted quarters, where very gratifying classes, in the three departments, meet twice weekly.

Last year it was found that Friday evening for various reasons, was not conducive to well attended classes, and shortly after this season's work began the local officials received permission to change to Thursday evenings. The superintendent, Mr. Geo. McClay, states that it has made a decided difference in the attendance. There are now forty students taking mechanical drawing, twenty-one architectural, and twenty-four in the freehand drawing class, the latter being composed of young men and women, boys and girls. All classes are already giving evidence of a most successful term, and of the best training, and though there are eighty-five enrolled, Mr. McClay says, "still room for more."

Those who follow the work from year to year can better realize the advantage of such an opportunity, given free to all who are willing to devote their evenings to the instruction, and when rightly followed, fascinating study. Some latent talent has already become evident in the freehand drawing class, among the young women, who have shown a desire to make themselves more efficient with the pencil and crayon, and friends will look for some nice specimens at the annual closing exhibition.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY ON MORNING OF ARMISTICE DAY.

One of the most impressive parts of Armistice Day celebration is the memorial ceremonies at 10:30 a. m. on Portland Square, when the March Past the cenotaph will take place.

The long procession will include the school children, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, representatives of the Red Cross Society, Victorian Order of Nurses, and many other patriotic, national and civic organizations.

Addresses will be given and with bands in attendance the ceremonies will be as dignified and impressive as those of last year.

A feature of much interest and appreciation in last year's event, which will be repeated on Friday morning, was the preference given the children of the city in the formation of the march. This in the minds of everyone having an important part in impressing upon the young mind the true spirit of loyalty.

The committee in charge of the day's celebration has everything well in hand, and it is expected that last year's loyal demonstration will be repeated in every detail.

WOMEN VOTERS OF CITY HELD MEETING YESTERDAY

Conservative Candidate Addressed Gathering—Good Advice Given Voters by Those Who Have Been Working for Successful Registration.

A largely attended meeting of the women voters of Sherbrooke was held yesterday afternoon in the Art Hall, Miss White and Miss Campbell, joint chairmen, presiding. On the platform also were Mrs. Worthington, wife of the Conservative candidate, Mrs. C. H. Bowen and others.

Miss Campbell opened the meeting shortly after the appointed hour, with a few words in regard to its object, which to those, who for the first time were about to vote, the principles of the Liberal-Conservative party, and to put them in possession of facts which would enable them to win others to their cause. Miss White spoke briefly, congratulating the women on the work they had already accomplished, and declaring that if it were kept up, the victory would be won.

Continuing, the speaker said, during the past ten days we have been occupied with registration. Now the canvassing of the organization is complete and there is much to be done. The ward captains must keep in touch with the poll-captains; the poll-captains with the canvassers, and the canvassers with the voters. The ward-captains must also keep in touch with each other.

Miss White made two announcements, one that the Hon. Arthur Meighen would be in Sherbrooke on the following day and would be accompanied by Mrs. Meighen, and that after the meeting in the Armory, a reception would be given at the residence of Mrs. G. L. Hume, Montreal street, kindly placed at the disposal of the committee by Mrs. Hume. In order that the women voters might have an opportunity of meeting Mrs. Meighen; the other, that Mrs. John Scott, of Montreal, would also speak at the meeting. The candidate, Colonel Worthington, C.M.G., was then called upon and came forward amidst applause, being evidently in the house of his friends. Colonel Worthington said: "It is the proudest moment of my life, when I have the privilege of addressing those who, at last have obtained the right to vote and are on an equality with the men of this country. I have always been in favor of the franchise for women, and when in London watching a suffrage procession, a rather formidable woman came up to me and demanded if I was in favor of votes for women. I answered at once, 'Madam, I believe that each woman should not only have one vote, but two.' She went away quite satisfied."

"Speaking seriously, I hope that all the bribery, corruption and low-down tricks which have made politics shameful in the past, will be swept away, and that we are entering upon a new era. Thank you for your confidence and support."

Mr. J. A. Lemere, Poullet, advocate, who has recently arrived in the city, was introduced by Miss Campbell, and spoke in fluent and polished French along strict Conservative lines, emphasizing this fact, that as he and thousands of others believed in the growth and progress of Canada.

Mr. W. H. Lynch, K.C., made an able speech, which was intelligible to his audience, and were heard with profound interest and frequent bursts of applause. Mr. Lynch referred to the National Policy, which only one suited to the development has been so fiercely attacked, as the of a great country, with vast resources, and tremendous possibilities and under which the Dominion had prospered. Speaking of the Union Government, he said the great broad-minded men who composed it had been brought face to face with many problems and had solved them so successfully that their methods had been copied and accepted by other countries. In some respects, Canada had taken the lead.

He contrasted the manly, straightforward utterances of the Hon. Arthur Meighen, upon whom the mantle of Sir Robert Borden had fallen, with those of the Hon. Mackenzie King, who said one thing in Ontario, another in Quebec, another in the West, and still another in the Maritime Provinces. The speaker dwelt upon the railway policy of the Government, which had been so fiercely attacked by its opponents. They said in effect: "You fellows got yourselves into a mess and something must be done." What that something was to be, nobody knew, and they did not know themselves. The fact was, that the Government had done the only thing it could do under the circumstances. He congratulated the women of the country on securing, at last, and after long struggling, the right to vote, and he felt sure that they would support the party which had given them their privileges.

Mrs. C. H. Bowen's remarks were cut short by the lateness of the hour, but she appealed to the mothers, grandmothers and the women voters of Sherbrooke generally to rally around and elect their candidates, whose honorable record and great services during the war were known to all. These services were not only given to his country, but to every Canadian boy, especially those from the Townships, who sought him out. It was a breath from home, overseas, to meet Colonel Worthington, to hear his kindly voice and cordial greeting and to be helped in every possible way. Mrs. Bowen said that she knew his father before him, the good and beloved physician who thought only of others, and whose death was a blow to the community. Many, too, would remember his brother, affectionately called "Dr. Nory," and never forgotten.

The policy of prohibition, the speaker said, was approved by women, who protected their children in every possible way, their homes, and would foster and protect the industries of their country.

The chairman thanked the speakers for their excellent addresses, and the meeting adjourned.

A BUSY PAIR.

"So your wife is trying to get into society, eh? I suppose that keeps her busy, but not as busy as it keeps me trying not to get into debt."

THE Y.M.C.A. DIRECTORS HELD MONTHLY MEETING

Several Very Interesting Reports Were Presented—Future Plans Were Discussed.

Last night at the Y. M. C. A. the Board of Directors had a splendid session for their regular monthly meeting. The number of Directors present was large, while optimism characterized the whole meeting.

After dealing with correspondence, Mr. Robins was asked to tell of activities in missionary effort. He spoke very highly of the work done by Murray Brooks while here, and named a committee to undertake the work outlined by Mr. Brooks. The committee named is as follows: R. N. Robins, Chairman, C. B. Howard, J. T. Reid, M. C. Woodard, J. M. Jenckes and A. L. Windsor. It is expected that a meeting of this committee will be held on Thursday, November 10th.

Mr. Geo. Lothrop then gave a report on Membership, indicating that fifty-five new applications had been received during October, with a large number of renewals. Despite the industrial depression, there is an increase in membership over last year, with very large numbers expecting to renew.

The Finance Report was then given by Mr. H. V. Haight, which showed an increase in receipts of roughly $2000, while the expenditure is $2,600 more than last year.

The Boys Work Committee was then given by Mr. F. W. Dakin showing a good live programme was to be carried during the winter.

The Physical Director's report was then read by Mr. G. D. Wadsworth, which indicated that Mr. Smith was conducting fifteen classes a week, with the gymnasium going every day in the week till 10 and 10:30 p.m.

The General Secretary's report was given and showed a very lively interest in every department. This Special emphasis was laid on the work done by the Ladies' Auxiliary, whose work on October 1st made the Boys Conference the great success it was, and on the 81st had prepared the splendid supper for Murray Brooks and his friends.

The Secretary further called attention to the fact that $500 had come in from Mr. H. A. Hyndman, as part payment of the Association's interest in the Hyndman Block.

A Committee was then appointed, consisting of Messrs F. W. Dakin, and D. J. Salls to fix up a skating rink, which will be attended to in the immediate future.

CITY BRIEFLETS

LIQUOR CASES BEFORE COURT.

The following cases were heard before Judge H. W. Mulvena in the District Magistrate's Court at Sherbrooke yesterday:

Eugene Lamonde vs. Hormisdas Bloudeau. The accused was charged with violation of the Canada Temperance Act and pled a plea of guilty for $100 and costs.

In view of his being an old offender, the court gave judgment, the accused was given the option of thirty days in jail in default of payment.

John Cookson vs. George Ferraris. The accused was charged with violation of the Canada Temperance Act. The defendant pleaded not guilty and a large number of witnesses were examined. Upon failure of proof the defendant was discharged.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION MEETS.

At the regular meeting of the Sherbrooke Protestant Teachers' Association, the political situation was taken up for consideration as applicable at the present time, when the women of the county are exercising their privilege of voting. The association had been divided into three groups, each one of which had studied the questions of the day carefully, and at the meeting, papers were read by Miss Purdy, representing the Conservative party, Miss Florence Drummond, M.A., the Liberal party, and Miss Ina Cobligh the Progressive party. The platform, the principles and the aims of each were presented plainly and well, without any bias or attempt at propaganda, and the result was excellent. A great amount of valuable information was imparted, and the keenest interest aroused in which every woman, as well as every man, should have at heart the public affairs of their country. Animated discussion followed the reading of the papers, and Principal Hatcher, who was present, made a few remarks, commending the work of the association in obtaining an insight into the various problems of government.

It was stated that a visit is shortly expected from Mr. J. C. Sutherland, member of the Protestant Committee of Public Instruction, who will address the association upon "The Geography of Canada."

NAPANEE, Ont. Nov. 9.—Hon. Mr. Crerar speaking here yesterday reiterated charges that statements attributed to the Premier were reflection on the loyalty of many people in Western Canada. He declared that people, irrespective of class or creed, were flocking to the Progressive movement. In the Maritime several profession men were running as Progressive candidates.

Charges that the opponents of the Progressive cause are seeking to divert the mind of the people from the great issues, are made by Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive party in a manifesto issued to his electors in Marquette.

Be sure to read Miss Dalton's interesting story of how to quickly acquire a beautiful complexion, soon to appear in this paper. In the meantime get Derville at any toilet counter and try it today; you will be delightfully surprised.

The November meeting of the Orford Women's Institute was held at the residence of Mrs. Lawrence Wyatt, Montreal road, and was a pleasant social event, as well as a business meeting. Mrs. Arthur Mills, the president, was in the chair, and the usual routine was followed, a good balance being reported on hand by the treasurer. A letter was read from Miss Roach, of Macdonald College, superintendent of institutes, signifying her intention of coming to Sherbrooke shortly to give demonstrations before the institutes of invalid cookery and care. An incident of the afternoon which was greatly appreciated, was the singing of Mrs. George Stevenson, who gave two charming selections. Mrs. Wyatt and Mrs. Walter Green, the hostesses, served very capable and delicious refreshments.

A very pleasant social event, on Saturday evening last, marked the opening of the Magog Street "500" Club, after the usual summer vacation. This small, but friendly club is entering its third season of social card parties, and has adopted a programme based on ten commandments, some of which show a slight deviation from the usual order of such events. Mrs. W. R. Moore was appointed chairman, Mrs. G. Bishop, secretary-treasurer, and Mr. W. R. Moore, score-keeper. The club meets Saturday evenings, playing to commence at eight, and finish at eleven-thirty o'clock, one of the novel features being the taboo of refreshments. The small fee of twelve-and-a-half cents per capita, (some of the members find it a matter of economy to attend in couples) is collected, and donated to some worthy charity. All the members are pledged to be present, or supply a substitute, and to do their best to entertain the club on the dates assigned to them, the season covering a period of five months. The individual scores of each member, for all meetings are to be kept by the score-keeper. It being found at the first meeting that the honors went to Miss Margaret Robins and Mr. Walter Reid.

FARMERS BUSY ORGANIZING AT RICHMOND

Women in the Rural Districts Are Registering — Other General News Notes from Richmond.

RICHMOND, Que., Nov. 9.—Nothing is being said just now of the political situation. The Farmers Progressive Party leaders are quietly getting things in shape and are quite optimistic over the situation. They are organizing the country districts and getting down to real work. Mr. Temire, chosen at Richmond last week, has accepted the nomination, and is in the fight. The Liberals are confident that nothing short of an earthquake can prevent the return of E. W. Tobin. The women's vote is a puzzle. It is learned that the women in the rural districts are registering, and the chances are they will all vote, while the women in the towns and villages are more or less inclined to steer away from politics.

General Notes.

A very fine meeting of the Women's Institute of Richmond and Melbourn, at which members from Cleveland and surrounding districts were present, was held in the W. C. O. F. Hall last week to hear Miss Crane and Miss Farshaw, two competent demonstrators. Miss Crane, of Macdonald College, gave a practical demonstration of invalid cooking. Miss Crane has been here before and needed no introduction. Her creations were enough to tempt the patient. Miss Farshaw is a graduate nurse of the Victorian Order, who comes from British Columbia, and is well versed in her line and enthusiastic in her work. She pointed out the need of conserving ones health as the important thing without which happiness fades and the joy of living is gone. Both speakers advocated a community nurse. No home is rich enough nor too poor, but could welcome the services of a Victorian nurse. The Institute is hoping with the help of the men and organizations of the place to further command this matter.

Mr. George J. Alexander, who has been a patient in the General Hospital, Montreal, is doing so nicely that he expects to be home this week.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Guild of St. Anne's Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Coles on Thursday next.

ABERCORN

Mr. and Mrs. Murray England, of Ottawa, were guests for the week-end at Mrs. Caspar Willey's.

Workers were busy at the new hall on Saturday, and a good deal of interest is being shown by all who wish to see an effort made to live things up in this place and make an improvement in any direction.

Mr. E. Bazenet was at the Post Office all Saturday for the convenience of ladies wishing to register their names as voters who had not already done so.

Mrs. Montgomery was the guest of Mrs. F. F. Fyles last week.

New Cook—"What do you say, ma'am, 'Dinner is served' or 'Dinner is ready'?"

Mistress—"Well, if it is anything like it was yesterday, it would be simpler to say 'Dinner is spoiled'."

Green—"What is a sense of humor?"

Brown—"A sense of humor is that which makes you laugh at something that happens to somebody else which would make you angry if it happened to you."

'OUT OF NOWHERE'

(By Ruby M. Ayres.)

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

Violet Ingleby, a pretty but poorly dressed English girl, is walking along a London street in the rain, when her shabby little hat is blown off and quickly trodden upon by a well dressed and monocled young man. The latter picks up the ruined headpiece and smilingly offers to pay for it, but is haughtily told by the young woman that she is no beggar. With this rebuff he goes on his way and Violet proceeds on hers to run into a motor accident in which a flower woman with a little baby boy in her arms is run over by the car. The mother is killed, but Ronnie, her baby, escapes unhurt and is caught up by Violet, who hurriedly takes him to her cheap lodging house, and in spite of the protests of Mrs. Higgs, her landlady, to whom she is in debt, proceeds to mother the little waif and adopt him.

CHAPTER—III

He stopped crying. He eyed her half fearfully from beneath his long lashes. Once he looked pitifully round the room as if seeking some one, or something, familiar to him.

She gave him some warm milk and some bread and butter, then carried him over to the fire and began to unfasten his worn clothes.

Such old little garments they were, made from pieces of material that her tightly-gloved hand. "Crums! Whatever next! Who is he, Violet?"

"He's mine—at least, I'm going to keep him."

Violet's voice was defiant. The other laughed—she shrugged her sloping shoulders.

"Rubbish! I hate kids. Besides, you can't keep him—you can't keep yourself!"

"I can work—I will work—I'll do anything to keep him."

"Old Higgs will raise the rent. She always does for children."

"I know—she said she would—I don't care..."

The tall girl was arranging her smart hat in the small glass.

"What work are you going to get?" she asked carelessly, as if she were greatly interested. "You look as weak as a rat and your clothes are awful! Why don't you get some more? You wouldn't be half so bad if you dressed better."

"Clothes don't grow on gooseberry bushes," said Violet with a little chagrined laugh.

Olive Hale produced a minute powder puff from a lace handkerchief, and powdered her nose.

"What will you do with the kid if you do get a job?" she asked. Violet laughed ruefully.

"I haven't got one yet," she said. The tall girl swung round with a must once have been a woman's frock; badly, but neatly made, and fastened with old buttons—some times with safety pins.

Then she wrapped him in a long nightgown of her own and laid him back in the bed.

He kept quite still. He offered no resistance, but his piteous eyes followed her every movement as she cleared away the simple meal and mended the fire—now and again a sort of sighing sob shook his little body.

The girl knelt down beside him—she drew him into her arms.

"Oh, darling," she said tremulously. "Oh, my dear little man—"

She kissed his face, his hair, his dimpled neck, his small cold hands, she held him in her arms, crooning over him.

Presently he fell asleep—the heavy lashed eyes closed, his breath came with slow regularity.

The girl laid him back and covered him over warmly, then she crossed softly to the fire and began folding the tiny garments she had drawn from the baby limbs.

As she held the ugly frock something in its skirts rustled beneath her touch. She looked down wonderingly—there was a paper sewn securely to the lining.

Her hands trembled as she cut the stitches. She took the paper to the center of the room and held it beneath the lamplight.

There was writing on it, written in faded ink, as if it had been completed months ago... she bent closer and read the words:

"I am the wife of Ronald Hastings—he deserted me! This is our child. If I should die, some one please be good to him."

That was all, there was no signature, no address.

The girl stared down at the paper incredulously. She read the sad little message through again. Some one tapped smartly on the door. A girl entered without waiting for a reply.

She was very tall, and showily dressed—rouge and powder were fully applied to her dark face. She swung a fashionable bag from a tightly-gloved hand.

"Hello," she began in rather a high-pitched voice. "I heard you come in—what is it?" she broke off as Violet hurried forward, her finger raised warningly. She pointed to the child asleep on her bed.

"Hush—he's asleep—he's asleep."

The tall girl started—she looked from the boy's flushed face to her friends—she stifled a laugh behind at Gatwick's, and if you smarten yourself up a bit, I don't see why you shouldn't stand a chance...."

"I don't know who to apply to."

"Bless the child! I suppose you can find out! Ronald Hastings is the name of the man who's put the money up. He.... What did you say?"

"Nothing," said Violet, but there was a little gleam in her eyes.

When she was alone again she unfolded the paper she had found in the child's dress and read it through once more.

So Ronald Hastings was the much-talked-of millionaire who had "back-ed" Violet's, was he?—at least, it was probably the same man—the name was uncommon—and if so.... Well, he was rich and influential.... Violet gave a little triumphant laugh as she locked the letter away in a drawer.

She undressed quickly and crept into bed beside the sleeping child. He moved a little, sighed sleepily and flung a soft arm about her neck.... Olive Hale was in Gatwick's Drapery Stores.

She spent her time in the showroom trying on costumes for people who liked things cheap and fashionable. Her tall, slim figure showed off coats and mantles to advantage. She loved pirouetting before long mirrors and taking graceful steps to and fro for the benefit of some likely purchaser.

She lodged in a room above Violet's. It was a better furnished room, but smaller, and was always littered with dresses and scraps of finery, and bottles of scent, and samples of boxes of powder.

Olive had many admirers. The shopwalker at Gatwick's had taken her out on two occasions. Mr. Green, of the ribbon department, sometimes presented her with flowers, not to mention the young man at the china shop opposite, who had dared to write her several love letters.

She loved admiration, but she had no intention of getting married until she found a man with money, and she said so quite frankly.

She was well paid at Gatwick's, but she spent all her money on finery, which was why she lived at Mrs. Higgs'. She had to retrench somewhere and preferred to do it in her rooms.

She and Violet Ingleby had met on the stairs at No. 13. Olive had reluctantly considered Violet pretty—Violet had admired Olive's figure and the clothes she wore. The casual acquaintance had ripened into an odd sort of friendship, prompted by loneliness on Violet's part and desire for admiration on Olive's. She liked to see Violet's wistful eyes when she showed her a new coat or hat, or flowers from Mr. Green, of the ribbon department. Admiration was food and drink with her; she could absorb any amount of it.

In her way she was kind to Violet. She got her into the showroom at Gatwick's, although she knew that the younger girl would not be able to stand the life. She had been kind to her since, though that she was not particularly interested in her way obvious by the casual way she questioned her concerning the child. It was of no consequence to her what Violet did, so long as she was ready and willing to admire when it was expected of her. She forgot all about the child before the door of Violet's room was closed behind her.

She did not remember him again until the following morning, when Violet came shyly into the showroom at Gatwick's.

Olive was pirouetting, before a long glass. It was still early, and there was not much business to do. She went forward to meet Violet, conscious that she was looking her best in her black silk shop gown. She smiled down at the younger girl's shy face.

"My dear child, what can earth do you want?"

Violet explained hesitatingly. She had got some money; she was going to call at Violet's and ask to be taken on.

She showed Olive a couple of sovereigns. Olive sniffed.

"Oh, well, you won't be able to get very much for that," she said disdainfully. "But I'll do what I can..."

Finally she fitted Violet with a coat and skirt at thirty shillings, and sent her down to a bosom friend of hers in the millinery to purchase an 8s. 6d. hat. Violet hardly knew herself when, arrayed in her new finery, she left the shop and walked quickly down the road.

It was a bright sunny morning the rough wind had dropped, there were crocuses and daffodils in the window boxes of some of the big houses she passed. She had left the child with Mrs. Higgs—she had almost been afraid to bring him out with her—she wondered if she had done very wrong in taking him away last night, if any one would wish to claim him, if it would be suspected or traced.

She had raised some money on a ring. She had still a few shillings left of which she had no told Olive—with them she meant to buy some clothes for the child.

CANADA'S UNKNOWN WAR- RIORS.

In Canada, the suggestion is being made that this Dominion should honor its soldier heroes by bringing from across the seas a Canadian "unknown warrior" for interment in the National Cemetery.

This ceremony has taken place in England and in France and on Friday, in the national cemetery, at Arlington, the United States will honor its unknown soldier in the presence of the representatives of the Allied nations.

Why not Canada? Have we not been a little tardy in this respect already? Well might this Dominion have followed closely on the ceremony at Westminster Abbey.

But, even now it is not too late.
Canada gave fifty thousand lives to the cause of liberty. Many of the heroic lads from the Land of the Maple Leaf lie in unnamed graves in Flanders Fields. On some day, not too far distant, let us pay a national tribute to the unknown dead of Canada's grand army.

The following is one of the appropriate and touching poems which the ceremony across the line has brought forth:

No floral tribute, wreath or cross,
No cold and graven shaft of stone,
Need grace the final resting place
Of him who passes as Unknown.
A thousand feet might pass him by
With none to claim the loyal slain,
And yet an e'er enduring God
Has marked his grave upon the plain.

The golden sun and silver star
Each in his turn shall guard his bier,
And Heaven's rain shall be the tears
That fall in sorrow, year on year,
The rumbling thunder of the storm
Shall be the echo of the charge,
The sombre grandeur of the clouds
The spirit of the smoke barrage.

Between the twilight and the dawn
Unheard, yet with celestial tongue,
The name that has been lost in war
Upon the sighing wind is sung.
Unknown! Not so, for angel hands
Shall point in glory from the skies
Towards the humble sepulchre
And Fame shall say, "Here Valor Lies?"

REGISTRATION IN SHER- BROOKE.

Reports tell of a great rush to the registration booths on the closing day for the recording of votes in the city. The lists, it is said, will show more women voters than men.

It is doubtful if the public, generally, realizes the novel situation that will exist on the coming Federal election day. The number of voting booths will have to be about doubled as there will be double the vote. The task of counting the vote and assembling the returns throughout the country will be greatly augmented.
With three-cornered fights in many constituencies, it is very possible that in close constituencies the definite results may not be known for some time.

Just what effect the introduction of women's votes will have upon the result is of course problematical.

In the case of an election run on party lines, with the issues pertaining to tariff, finance, etc., it does not seem probable that the effect will be very great. The vote will be larger, but will the result be different?

The election in the nature of a referendum on the question of prohibition, for instance, one would expect that women's votes would have a marked effect in favor of temperance legislation.

One thing is certain, candidates and party organizations have a new and tremendous task on their hands in getting out the vote.

Tuesday, December 6th, will be an historic day in Canada.

LATE R. L. RICHARDSON.

A strong and interesting figure of the late Parliament has passed forever from life's stage through the death of R. L. Richardson, M.P., of Winnipeg. Mr. Richardson was a fighter. Though a Unionist he was, also, somewhat of a radical. He was a democrat to the hilt. Mr. Richardson was associated with Mr. Nickle, M.P. for Kingston, in the drive against the awarding of titles in Canada and the development of a Canadian aristocracy.

The Montreal Gazette referring to Mr. Richardson, says:

"In the death of Robert Lorne Richardson, founder and for many years editor and publisher of the Winnipeg Tribune, there passes one of the best known men of western Canada. Mr. Richardson obtained his newspaper training in this city, but it is with the west, and more especially with Manitoba that his chief journalistic achievements are associated. A man of independent views, he gave no permanent alliance to a political party; he was temperamentally unsuited for the exactions of party discipline. At the same time, his vigorous utterances, through the newspaper which he controlled and also upon the public platform, made him a force to be reckoned with, not in the provincial field of politics alone, but in the wider sphere of Dominion affairs as well. He fought through many parliamentary campaigns, not always with personal success, but always upon the side of what he believed to be the right. Whether his judgments were right or wrong, they were honestly formed and he never lacked the courage of his convictions, and the causes which from time to time he espoused were prosecuted with all the force at his command. His last public service was rendered as a supporter of the Union Government in the Parlia-

PRESS COMMENT

LET THE TRUMPETS BLARE.

(Louisville Courier Journal.)
America loves Foch because he is a fighter. It admires Foch because he is a successful fighter. It holds Foch to its heart because, as a leader of our gallant American troops, he is a comrade and a blood-brother.
Let the trumpets sound and the cymbals clash, let the cannon roar and the voice take up the welcoming tumult! Foch is in America!
Let us show him our love for his great work, not only by earth-shaking noises and the eye and voice that bespeak the warm heart, but by preserving him from indignation!

SENATOR WATSON'S CHARGES.

(Springfield Union.)
If, as Senator Watson of Georgia alleges, soldiers of the American Expeditionary Forces in France were hanged without court martial or any other form of trial, it is astonishing that the country did not learn of it after the army returned and was demobilized. Nearly three years elapsed before anyone in a responsible position gave voice to such a charge. Even Senator Borah, ordinarily quick to seize upon such material, passed it up with suspicion, and Watson, apparently, is the only man in the United States Senate willing to attach credence to it.
However, an investigation has been ordered, and the truth or falsity of the charge will soon be established.

$30,000

The Man Who Saves

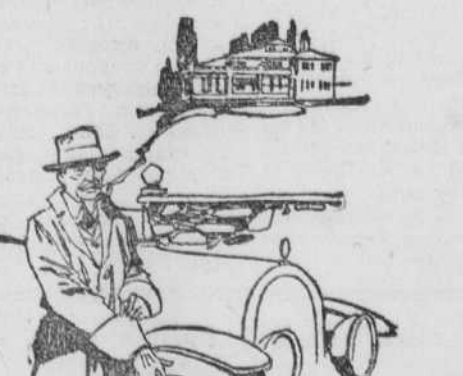

At age 19 his bills exceed his income.

At age 21 his Canada Life Policy creates an estate and saves his money.

At age 35 his "bills" include a "premium due," which, while counted as an expense, is really a saving.

At age 50 he can "spend" anything in reason.

At age 60 he has no anxiety for the future, and leisure for his many interests.

can be more easily saved
than most people imagine

If you look ahead you can easily picture how useful $30,000 would be to you. If you were to start in and save $200 each six months and let it compound at 5 1/2% you would have that substantial sum in 30 years, but—you know of many people who could have set aside this amount, yet who are still "drudging along."

You know yourself how hard it is to save cash.
Human nature is such that very few people allow ready money to remain untouched for any length of time.

The Canada Life Plan

Provides that any sum you name will be delivered to you in cash at any age you desire, or to your beneficiary should you die in the meantime.

You see by this Plan how an IMMEDIATE ESTATE is created in event of death—the full face value of the insurance policy. At one stride you anticipate years of effort, you capitalize your present health and earning power, you make certain of many years of progress now. Take, for instance, an Endowment at 65

issued by the Canada Life. It makes saving money attractive, systematic and very profitable.

You can be certain that the full amount will be paid in any case whether you live or not. Other investments may fail—the Canada Life Endowment is a certainty. It will take care of your home, your business, your children's future, or yourself, as nothing else can.

Profits Will Hasten Maturity

If the profits are allowed to remain each year instead of being withdrawn and spent, a special clause provides that the face value of the policy will be paid some time well in advance of the due date.

Regular saving, an immediate estate, substantial profits, absolute safety—this is a combination that you should look into today.

Ask for particulars.

On Saturday evening a concert took place in the hall. The proceeds which amounted to over forty dollars will go towards the painting of St. Paul's Church, which was done last summer. Saturday evening was the first occasion on which the fine new drop curtain was used. The curtain was only recently purchased by Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Byers with proceeds from the two pianoforte concerts which they so successfully staged at the hall on August. Besides being a thing of beauty the curtain fills a long felt want in local theatricals. The affair was brought to an enjoyable close with a dance.

Canada Steamship Lines Expansion Keeps Pace With Transportation Developments Of Entire Country

Steady Growth of Canada's Largest Transportation Company from River Line to Complete Unit of Transportation from Head of Canadian Lakes to British and European Markets—Company's Financing Has to Grow with Addition of New Services.

It was only a few years ago that the centenary of steam navigation on the St. Lawrence was observed. Since the first crude craft was propelled up the river current by steam power there have been a series of wonderful developments which rank prominently in the industrial and economic annals of the Dominion.

The various stages of development of river craft as passenger and cargo carriers stand out distinctively to those who have followed the history of Canadian navigation. As a correlative development the industrial development of the territory served can be traced.

As the country grows and its commerce expands the transportation facilities must of necessity keep pace. The tremendous value of our chief waterway as it stands today, and without which Canada's industrial history would have been dwarfed, suggests what the possession of the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes will mean a few decades hence.

Growing Up With the Dominion. At the same time the development of traffic facilities must take place at a tremendous rate to keep up with the requirements. It is only a comparatively few years ago that the business was done by the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company and a few lesser large companies carrying grain in small bottoms. Then came Canada Steamship Lines, with its acquisition of the principal facilities for river and lake transportation, later developing into a transatlantic carrier.

This company can no more stand still in its development than the current of the St. Lawrence can cease its progress to join the waters of the Atlantic. One sees in the present offering of bonds which the company is now making to the investment public one of the signs which are merely incidental to the onward march of events as they affect the Dominion as a whole.

This cannot be regarded as a local incident. It is one of the broader measurements of our future capacity to carry on. The larger the funnel of our country's productiveness grows, so must the spout extend its size to permit of the outflow to the markets of the world beyond the seas.

Keeping Pace With Transportation. Canada Steamships is one of the vital factors in the task of keeping the spout big enough to perform its function. If it is to do this adequately it must from time to time seek the means from the investment public. There can hardly be any question of the value of this class of security. The service is so vital to the nation that it must be maintained in first class efficiency and the security should rank in the same class as high grade railway bonds.

That earnings sufficient to meet interest requirements could execute a retrograde movement, or even stand still, is inconceivable. In the past five years gross earnings have increased from something in excess of twelve millions to over twenty millions per annum. Net earnings in the same period averaged $4,120,707, some years running slightly over four millions and sometimes slightly under that level. The value of the property employed in the creation of these earnings, according to their appraised value, amounts to $41,870,848. As the interest charges on the present and existing obligations amount to $695,843.86 per annum, it will be seen that the five years average of net earnings is sufficient to pay the charges six times over.

With the trade of the Dominion continually expanding, as the western country increases its production, it will prove one of the most interesting incidents of our economic expansion to watch the growth of the shipping facilities of the lakes and St. Lawrence in which Canada Steamships will have such an important part to play.

PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM JAIL. GUELPH, Ont., Nov. 9.—Slugging Jailer McNab and Turnkey Everson into helplessness, three prisoners awaiting transfer to Portsmouth Penitentiary made their escape from the county jail here last night, and one of them got away in a stolen car.

Several Vessels Have Been Sent in Pursuit of the Paraguayan Gunboat.

(Associated Press Despatch.) BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 9.—The naval cadets on board the Paraguayan gunboat Adolfo Riquelme, led by the chief gunner, mutinied Sunday, overpowered the commander, took possession of the warship and fled with it northward up the Parana River, according to dispatches from Asuncion yesterday.

This incident is said not to be connected with the present disturbed political situation in Paraguay. Captain Jess, in command of the craft, who is said to be a former German submarine commander, was locked in his cabin, according to one of the officers, who was put ashore because he was ill. Several vessels were sent in pursuit of the Adolfo Riquelme, which carries a battery of four guns.

Public Utility Companies Furnish Fine Examples Of Profitable Investments

City of Montreal, with Large and Steadily Growing Population, is Among Best Illustrations of Successful Mergers with Cases of Increases of Original 4% Dividends to Returns of 10 Per Cent.

Financial history supplies few better examples for profitable investment than the securities of public utility companies, with special reference to hydro-electric issues. This applies with equal emphasis to the security of bonds and the speculative possibilities of common stocks of such corporations.

Larger centres of population, with their possibilities for continuous growth of population and consequently steady gain in the employment of power, provide the best opportunities for profit extending over a period of years. The greater the growth and expansion a company enjoys the safer becomes its senior securities, and this is why public utility bonds now rank among the best the market can provide.

The city of Montreal, with its large and steadily growing population and its extending industrial importance, provides one of the most notable illustrations of the kind in question.

When the merger afterwards called the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company was formed in 1901, the three principal companies taken in at that time were the Royal Electric, the Montreal Gas Company and the St. Lawrence (Chambly) Power Co. The Royal was the nucleus of the distributing system for power. St. Lawrence was the chief source of power, while the Montreal Gas Company attended to its own sphere. Later the Lachine Rapids Hydraulic and some smaller concerns were absorbed.

The original Royal Electric shares of the par value of $100 were taken into the merger on the exchange basis of 2 1/2 for one, that is, the old $100 shares reached a value of $250 by the deal, expressed in $100 shares of the new company.

The merger proved a success and grew in importance with the advantages of excellent management, with the result that the initial dividend of 4 per cent. was increased from time to time until it grew to 10 per cent.

Cedar Rapids Merger. Then in 1916 came a further reorganization and merger, when the Cedar Rapids Development was absorbed and the shares of the old merger exchanged three for one. Before this was done, the original shares of the Royal Electric, which were given a par value of $250 by the deal, increased in value. The new $100 shares became worth $250 before the second deal was completed, so that the original investment in the Royal Company became worth nominally $500 and $600. The dividend in the meantime had kept on growing, with the result that on the present basis of 5 per cent. for the existing company, it is equivalent to 15 per cent. on the first merger issue.

The capital of the original Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company was $17,000,000, and a few years later it was increased to $22,000,000. The capital stock now amounts to $64,475,500.

All companies have not been such shining examples of prosperity and profit to investors as the Montreal concern, but companies which may be organized and financed today for the serving of large cities which promise considerable growth in years to come have the same opportunity, if conditions are anything like equivalent, and there is no reason why they should not be, as nothing seems more certain than that the leading cities of the Dominion will enjoy steady growth as the country becomes populated and its resources developed on a broader scale.

Public Utility Companies Furnish Fine Examples Of Profitable Investments

City of Montreal, with Large and Steadily Growing Population, is Among Best Illustrations of Successful Mergers with Cases of Increases of Original 4% Dividends to Returns of 10 Per Cent.

Financial history supplies few better examples for profitable investment than the securities of public utility companies, with special reference to hydro-electric issues. This applies with equal emphasis to the security of bonds and the speculative possibilities of common stocks of such corporations.

Larger centres of population, with their possibilities for continuous growth of population and consequently steady gain in the employment of power, provide the best opportunities for profit extending over a period of years. LLOYD GEORGE HAS REPLIED TO LORD ASHFIELD

Government Unable to Promote Legislation to Protect Underground Service Against Competition.

(Associated Press Despatch.) LONDON, Nov. 9.—Premier Lloyd George replied last night in the House of Commons to the proposition made by Lord Ashfield, head of the London Underground Railway and Omnibus combine, that he could spend six million pounds in building a new underground route and thereby relieving unemployment if the Government would guarantee the combine against competition for ten years.

The Premier said he had informed Lord Ashfield that the Government was unable to promote legislation to protect his services against competition. At the same time he had suggested to Lord Ashfield the desirability of proceeding with the work from the viewpoint of permanent value and the great relief it would afford for unemployment. The Government, said the Premier, is still in communication with Lord Ashfield.

SIX THOUSAND BOLSHEVISTS WERE KILLED

(Associated Press Despatch.) KRONSTADT, Russia, Nov. 9.—Six thousand Bolshevists were killed in their nine day siege of Kronstadt, following the seizure of the fortress by mutineers last March, the correspondent was informed today by Bolshevist sailors. Mutineers who escaped had previously placed the losses at a much higher figure. Sixty thousand troops were engaged on both sides. The sailors now are apparently far more interested in discussing football than war. Louis Apparah, one of them, merrily described how their team had defeated the crew of a British merchant ship, at soccer, which recently unloaded in the port. After the vessel had left port, he said, it wirelessed another British ship on the way to Kronstadt to avenge it, but the Russians defeated the second crew, he said, by an even greater score than the first.

This incident is said not to be connected with the present disturbed political situation in Paraguay. Captain Jess, in command of the craft, who is said to be a former German submarine commander, was locked in his cabin, according

the reduction in the price of gas was finally withdrawn from the report and referred back to the committee for further action.

The committee recommends that the price of gas remain at $1.75 per thousand cubic feet, with a minimum monthly charge of $0.55.

That a discount of 10 per cent. be granted to those who will pay their bills within fifteen days after the date thereof.

That the meter rate be abolished. These conditions to take effect on bills rendered on and after the first of November next.

Alderman Edwards:—"The possible reduction in gas is due largely to lower prices for oil, coke and coal."

Alderman Tremblay:—"I am opposed to the fixed minimum charge of fifty-five cents a month. A large number of people are starting to use wood and coal fires for the winter so that they will use very little gas and I do not think it fair to ask them to pay for more than they use."

A good proportion of people go out of town during the summer months and again they will be called upon to pay for something they do not use. We cannot compare the gas to the electricity because if the electricity is not used it is lost whereas the gas is stored. I really do not approve of lowering the price and then raising it by a fixed charge.

Alderman Edwards:—"No doubt Alderman Tremblay has under consideration the case of his own office where the gas is more of a nuisance. On the other hand the electric bills call for a minimum of seventy-five cents."

Alderman Edwards:—"I do not think we should raise a temper over this matter, and the gas meter is just as useful as the electric meter."

Insofar as coke is concerned, I suppose Alderman Langis has touched the point. It would appear that the coke cost much before but is evidently cheaper in the long run, as we make more gas with less coke, and I hope we can reduce the price of gas still further.

"I do not, however, think it reasonable for members of the council, who are not on the committee, to come and say reduce it to $1.50 without knowing the facts."

We know the elections are near and if it is a matter of obtaining popularity, well.....

Alderman Edwards Replies.

Alderman Edwards:—"It has been remarked that it was a hardship for those away from their houses in summer to pay the gas bills, but I wonder whether people are ever given an allowance on their telephone account when they are out of town and do not use the phone. It seems that we will have to refer the report back to the Superintendent and see what effect this will have in cancelling the fixed charge altogether. I would therefore move that this clause be withdrawn from the report and referred back to the committee, and we will also arrange to provide Mr. Langis with the report he asks for."

A report was made to the effect that the case of Mayor D. O. E. Denault vs. City, submit for arbitration, had been thrown out and the City given the judgment.

Mr. Gregoire was engaged to superintend the construction of the municipal offices as well as the work in connection with the new fire station. The question of a new pump for the new stations was taken up by Alderman Delorme and referred to the finance committee.

Alderman Langis then asked that reports be produced showing a comparison of the different cokes. This Alderman Edwards assured him he would be pleased to do.

Alderman Delorme and Trudeau expressed themselves as opposed to the minimum charge of fifty-five cents.

Langis Resurrects Coke Question.

Alderman Langis:—"I am glad to see Mr. Edwards is able to lower the price of gas, but I am sorry he does not give the reason for his ability to do so. I presume it is on account of the good coke the City is using. I think the prices of oil and coke have dropped to such an extent that the price should be $1.50 per thousand cubic feet, less ten per cent. We should give the people the benefit of the full drop in prices."

Alderman Tremblay:—"I would be prepared to move that the rate be fixed at $1.50 less ten per cent. if paid within fifteen days."

Alderman Edwards:—"Mr. Langis note is well taken, and if the City had accepted the lowest tender for coke we might have been able to reduce the price of gas still lower. If conditions justify it, we hope to make further reductions in the spring, but as Alderman Langis and Tremblay are not on the committee it seems absurd for them to submit motions relative to a question of which they do not know the full facts, and I would ask the Council to support this report."

I think the prices of oil and coke have dropped to such an extent that the price should be $1.50 per thousand cubic feet, less ten per cent. We should give the people the benefit of the full drop in prices."

Alderman Edwards:—"Mr. Langis note is well taken, and if the City had accepted the lowest tender for coke we might have been able to reduce the price of gas still lower. If conditions justify it, we hope to make further reductions in the spring, but as Alderman Langis and Tremblay are not on the committee it seems absurd for them to submit motions relative to a question of which they do not know the full facts, and I would ask the Council to support this report."

Alderman Langis then asked that reports be produced showing a comparison of the different cokes. This Alderman Edwards assured him he would be pleased to do.

Alderman Delorme and Trudeau expressed themselves as opposed to the minimum charge of fifty-five cents.

Langis Resurrects Coke Question.

Alderman Langis:—"I am glad to see Mr. Edwards is able to lower the price of gas, but I am sorry he does not give the reason for his ability to do so. I presume it is on account of the good coke the City is using. I think the prices of oil and coke have dropped to such an extent that the price should be $1.50 per thousand cubic feet, less ten per cent. We should give the people the benefit of the full drop in prices."

IN CANADA the reward is still to the pioneer. The Canadian longs to go forward. He loves the man who points the way.

In every corner of the world the New Improved Gillette has met with unprecedented success, but nowhere has the enthusiasm been greater than in our own Canada, where the razor is made and the Gillette word and record of achievement is best known.

No one can forget the peculiar tribute expressed in the way so many loyal followers of the old-type Gillette affectionately laid it aside for the new.

They believed Gillette when Gillette said the new razor is better. They bought, tried and told about the New Improved Gillette. The news spread from man to man and now many of your very own neighbours express their enthusiasm over the real shaving advantages brought to them by the New Improved Gillette.

NOTE.—One of the first things to strike the user of the New Improved Gillette is its simplicity.

Most men prefer to screw the handle up tight to get the most satisfactory shave.

The Gillette Blade and Gillette Razor are developed to work together. No Gillette Blade can deliver its full shaving quality unless used in a genuine Gillette Razor—built by Gillette, in the Gillette way and up to Gillette standards.
