RUSSIA AND CHINA SIGN FRIENDSHIP PACT

World News In Brief

Cum. Aug. 27.—(P)—Mighty Superforts which had rained death on Japan became winged angels of mercy today and dropped food to Allied prisoners of war at Weihien, China.

Nine bombers carried oil drums filled with canned goods anchored to bomb racks by the same shackles that were used in carrying bombs.

Bombardiers released the drums the same way they had dropped bombs and the bomb sight played its usual part in this mission of humanity.

New York, Aug. 27.—(P)—An NBC Manila broadcast reported that Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters "winds up its affairs in the Philippines tonight, for a stepping-stone call in Okinawa."

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—(P)—Lt.-Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, conqueror of Singapore, Malaya and Corregidor, has opened formal surrender negotiations with Gen. MacArthur's forces on Northern Luzon, NBC Radio correspondent Merrill Mueller said in a broadcast today.

Holed up in the rugged Carabao mountains of Luzon, the Japanese General has asked Maj.-Gen. William Gill for instructions in surrendering his remaining Japanese Philippine Defence units, Mueller said.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—(P)—Allied landings on Southern Kyushu have been postponed from September 1 to September 3 "owing to bad weather," the Domei Agency reported today in a dispatch recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

Regarding previous-arranged airdrops for first Allied air-borne landings on Atsugi airdrome near Tokyo Tuesday, "everything remains the same," a Japanese government message to Gen. MacArthur today disclosed.

New York, Aug. 27.—(P)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, President of the Provisional Government of France, today is to receive honorary citizenship of New York. He is scheduled to visit Ottawa Wednesday.

Gen. de Gaulle arrived here yesterday after he visited the United States Military Academy at West Point and placed a wreath on the grave of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park.

A reception and private dinner were given him last night at Hotel Waldorf-Astoria.

Gen. de Gaulle this morning inspected the city's new Idlewild airport, now under construction, and will go to City Hall at noon to receive a certificate of honorary citizenship from Mayor LaGuardia.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—(P)—The destructiveness of America's atomic bomb, coupled with Emperor Hirohito's "love for the people," was the reason for Japan's surrender, Premier Prince Higashi-Kuni told the Japanese cabinet and members of the House of Representatives today, according to a Domei agency dispatch.

One purpose of the forthcoming extraordinary session of the Japanese Imperial Diet, the Premier declared at today's conference is "to clarify frankly" the reasons for capitulation.

Japan's radio today announced postponement of the Diet session to coincide with surrender delays.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe announced today the lifting of all metals control restrictions on

Treaty Designed To Block Further Jap Aggression In Asia

Agreement Provides Russia Will Give Military Supplies and Moral Support to Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's National Government to Exclusion of Northern China Communists Manchuria Will Be Returned to Chinese.

Chungking, Aug. 27.—(P)—Russia and China were bound today in a 30-year friendship treaty which is designed to block for that period any possible Japanese aggression in Asia and which apparently paves the way for a peaceful settlement of Chungking-Chinese Communist differences.

The pact, terms of which were announced simultaneously by the Chinese and Russian governments last night, provides that Russia will give military supplies and moral support to Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist Government to the exclusion of the Northern China Communist regime and calls for mutual aid in the event of any Japanese attack.

The treaty also assured the return of Manchuria to the Chinese, with Russia promising to complete withdrawal of her occupation troops—which wrested this country from the Japanese—within the next three months.

JAP SURRENDER PREPARATIONS ARE DISCLOSED

Extraordinary Diet Session Has Been Postponed by Japanese to Coincide With Surrender Delays—Greater East Asia Ministry Abolished.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—(P)—Japan's radio broadcasts today announced postponement of its extraordinary Diet session to coincide with surrender delays, and reported a continuing series of other home-front and Foreign Office changes to adapt the country to its new role—defeat.

The two-day extraordinary session will begin Sept. 4 instead of Sept. 2, Domei Agency said. Also announced was abolition of Japan's Greater East Asia Ministry—the wartime consolidator of Asiatic conquest.

Other surrender preparations disclosed by Tokyo Radio broadcasts included:

A central liaison office, to deal with Allied occupation authorities, is now ready to function.

The Japanese Government today requested Gen. MacArthur's permission to resume suspended ferry service between Japan and Korea, to enable Koreans and Japanese to return to their respective homes.

Rail transportation, another broadcast said, will be restored to pre-war levels by the end of the year. Restoration of all communications facilities and rebuilding of destroyed homes of railway workers are expected to be completed by the end of November.

Japan also notified Gen. MacArthur that not all her unarmed planes used in connection with surrender activities can be white-painted. Some army planes will carry only the prescribed green cross and trail red streamers, the message said.

Cities Of Nanking, Canton Are Back In Chinese Hands

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Aug. 27.—(P)—The two great Japanese-held metropolitan centres of Nanking and Canton were reported in Chinese hands today as Chinese Government and military officials prepared to complete Japan's formal surrender in China.

A Chinese army correspondent said Chinese troops first entered Nanking, former seat of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's Government and planned site of the surrender signing, on Saturday and found most buildings there in good condition.

This writer said there was some disorder at first but occupation troops soon returned the situation to normal. All puppet organizations were dissolved, he reported, and two pro-nationalist newspapers started publication.

Meanwhile, the 159 Chinese officials who had been waiting here for the liberation of Nanking to start surrender proceedings were said to have left by plane for Nanking. Formal surrender ceremonies are scheduled to take place in the pre-war Chinese capital on September 3.

Optimism ran high over prospects of an early settlement of differences between Gen. Chiang's Chungking Government and the North China Communist regime as Maj.-Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, U.S. Ambassador to China, left by plane today for Yenan, where he will accompany Communist Leader Mao Tse-Tung back to Chungking for conferences with Gen. Chiang.

BELIEVE SLAYER OR SLAYERS NOT IN WINDSOR AREA

Suspicious Characters Still Being Rounded Up and Questioned in Connection With Three Brutal Murders.

By FRASER MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Windsor, Ont., Aug. 27.—(P)—This bustling border city has just about recovered from the jitters which disturbed its residents for several days last week after three persons were brutally slain in ten days.

Although police have been able to find no solution of the slayings, persons who feared to venture into dark corners a week ago have taken heart from the fact that there has been no fresh outbreak and generally share with Inspector of Detectives Duncan Macnebb the theory that the slayer of slayers may have left the city.

The theory that the man they want may no longer be in Windsor has not slowed up the intensive police investigation, however. Suspicious characters are still being rounded up and questioned. Every report and clue is being painstakingly investigated.

In the eight days since the last slaying—the stabbing of Sgt. Hugh Blackwood—police have picked up about 140 persons. Many are still being held.

Reports have been flowing in from police in Ontario, Michigan, Illinois and other states about suspicious characters but so far none has been shown to have any connection with the Windsor cases.

The inspector said yesterday that of all the men who have been questioned, suspicion is directed at only one, 51-year-old Richard Rowe from New York State.

Suspicion fell on Rowe because he had a knife in his possession when arrested and because there was blood on the handle. The knife has been sent to Toronto for analysis of the blood stain but no report has been received yet.

Two of the slaying victims—Price and Frank Sciegalski—who was stabbed Aug. 7—were found in a weed-grown field along the river front. The other victim was a garage night watchman, William Davies, who was wounded to death Aug. 15 with a machinist's hammer.

Col. Triquet Given Duties At Farnham

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—(P)—Lt.-Col. Paul Triquet, who joined the Canadian Army's permanent force as a private in 1929 and who won the Victoria Cross for gallantry in action at the Moro River in Italy, has been appointed chief instructor at an advanced training centre at Farnham, Que., Defence Headquarters announced today.

He leaves the command of the 17th Training Battalion to assume his new post.

Col. Triquet, a native of Cabano, Que., was a Regimental Sergeant Major early in the war and was commissioned Overseas in March, 1941. He became a captain in July, 1943 and was made a major the following year, assuming his present rank in March of this year.

Mass Meeting of Windsor Workers Seek Permission for Strike Ballot Among Its Members.

By FRASER MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Windsor, Ont., Aug. 27.—(P)—Officials of the United Auto Workers (U.A.W.) today awaited official sanction from the Union's International office in neighboring Detroit before making final preparations for a strike ballot this week which may lead to a general walkout by 20,000 workers in the automotive industry in the Windsor area.

George Burt, Canadian director of the Union, yesterday was instructed by a mass meeting of U.A.W. local 260 to ask permission for a strike ballot among its 12,000 members employed by the Ford Motor Company of Canada as well as for similar ballots among an estimated 8,000 members of Amalgamated Local 195 in possibly 30 other Windsor plants.

A Union statement, issued after the meeting which was open only to Union members, said that the issue involved in the Ford dispute is a new collective bargaining contract embracing the check-off, maintenance of the enemy with information.

Col. Walker, counsel for the defence, said the defence would admit practically all that the prosecution alleged. At a social party Hale was asked to work for the German and he refused. He then was returned to a working party.

Col. Walker said Hale then pretended to succumb to the German offer, because he suspected some other prisoner of war in the camp was supplying the enemy with information.

TREASON TRIAL OF PTE. HALE IS CONTINUED

Member of Essex Scottish Regiment Charged With Aiding Enemy After Having Been Taken Prisoner at Dieppe in 1942.

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Farnborough, Hampshire, England, Aug. 27.—(CP Cable)—After a two-day, week-end adjournment, Pte. George Hale, of Vassar, Mich., a member of the Essex Scottish Regiment, appeared again before a Canadian Court Martial on a charge of aiding the enemy after having been taken prisoner at Dieppe in 1942.

On the first day of the trial the prosecution produced evidence that the Germans had put Pte. Hale in charge of working parties of prisoners and that he told one witness the Germans had placed $500 in his credit in a neutral country for information he had given them.

Today's first witness was Norman McLean of Regina, a discharged Canadian soldier, who said that questions had been put to Hale at a meeting of six Canadian warrant officers at Stnag 88 in February, 1943, and that he was made to answer them.

McLean said Hale declared that he was allowed to go about quite freely and to wear civilian clothes when engaged on working parties. He had attended parties at a village near Landsford when the guests were German men and women, civilians.

The Germans had asked him to make tanks bigger than the Churchill and if so where; and whether Canadians were still training on the Isle of Wight.

McLean said Hale was also asked if he had signed any German documents and replied that he had. Hale said he did not consider he was doing anything wrong and that it enabled him to get more freedom and more food.

Lt.-Col. Walker, counsel for the defence, said the defence would admit practically all that the prosecution alleged. At a social party Hale was asked to work for the German and he refused. He then was returned to a working party.

Hong Kong To Surrender To British Navy

Manila, Aug. 27.—(P)—The battleship Missouri led powerful American and British naval forces into Sagami Bay below Tokyo today in a quiet but dramatic move preparatory to the final act of Japanese surrender, scheduled to be signed aboard the Missouri at Tokyo Sunday (Japan time).

Manila Headquarters of Gen. MacArthur, Supreme Allied Commander for Japan, said it had not been informed officially of the fleet's entry. However, a spokesman stated the fleet was operating without reporting to Gen. MacArthur on all details of the master plan already laid down for the occupation and formal surrender.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed two more phases of that steadily-unfolding programme: The United States Army 24th corps, under Maj.-Gen. John R. Hodge, will occupy the southern half of Korea, and the surrender of Hong Kong will be made to Rear Admiral C. H. J. Harcourt of the British Navy.

Correspondents with Allied naval forces which have been standing off Japan for weeks reported the great warships of the 3rd Fleet and a British task group steamed serenely into the waters and dropped anchor. This was at a spot 30 miles south of Tokyo and two miles off a beach crowded with bathers and sightseers at 10:34 a.m. today (9:34 p.m. Sunday, E.D.T.) (10:34 p.m. A.D.T.).

Minesweepers immediately began the tremendous task of clearing the channel into Tokyo Bay in anticipation of Thursday's scheduled landing of 10,000 marines and sailors who will occupy the important Yokosuka naval base simultaneously with Gen. MacArthur's arrival at Tokyo with 7,500 or more airborne troops.

The naval entry had been scheduled originally for Sunday but was called off at the last minute by receipt of Gen. MacArthur's orders to postpone the occupation plan for 48 hours because of typhoons around Japan.

The drama began afresh this morning, Fleet correspondents reported, when a party of 21 Japanese, including two emissaries, six interpreters and 13 coastal pilots, met the fleet at sea.

At least five battleships, 11 cruisers, 26 destroyers and 69 other ships were among the forces entering the bay, although this was by no means all of the fleet. The battleships included the British warship Duke of York, Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser's flagship which sank the German battleship Scharnhorst in 1943, and her sister battleship, the King George V.

Fleet correspondents reported that while the sea outside was fairly rough there was nothing about the weather to hamper the operation.

Speared units of the fleet anchored two miles off the town of Katase on the Miura Peninsula, which separates Sagami Bay from the 1-2-mile-wide entrance to the bay.

Japan Taut To Breaking Point

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

We shall be able to breathe easier when the occupation of Japan is an accomplished fact.

We do not mean to cross our bridges before we come to them, but there is the possibility that the Allied forces may encounter untoward incidents. Nippon is taut to the breaking point in face of the terrible punishment which comes with the first major defeat of her centuries of history.

This is true of the population as a whole, as witness Tokyo broadcasts reporting numerous suicides before the Mikado's Palace. The Jap Radio may be emphasizing this for propaganda purposes, but there's no reason to doubt that there have been such cases of hara-kiri, and that there will be others.

More to the point, however, is the fierce resentment of the militarists, and the fanatical hatred of the Kamikaze forces which have pledged to give their lives in suicide attacks against the Allies. Not even the Tokyo Government can know how these radical elements, or the people in general, will react to contact with the armed forces of occupation.

The Mikado's government has made it quite clear, and more than once, that there is danger of clashes. There's no reason to question the sincerity of the Japanese authorities in this respect, since they have nothing to gain by lying about it. They might lie about other things, but not about that. The way things stand they undoubtedly are quite anxious to see the occupation go off smoothly as are the Allies. Japan is soundly beaten, and foolish attacks by fanatical elements on our forces could only mean heavy retribution.

Anyway, if the Allies encounter difficulties, they will be prepared to deal with them, thanks to the obvious precautions which our High Command is taking. So, having recognized the possibilities, let's hope that the landings pass off without trouble.

Appropos of this situation, the MacArthur newspaper Press calls on the Allied powers "not for one minute to trust the false and cunning manoeuvres of the Japanese imperialists." Pravda declares Japan's rulers are preparing for revenge in another war.

Pravda's point is well taken. This column long ago reported from informed sources in the Orient that the Japanese militarists, recognizing that Nippon was losing this war, were making preparations for another conflict 25 years hence. Of course, since that time the country's war potential has been smashed, but as long as the militarists remain alive, and retain their unholy ambitions for conquest and enslavement of their fellow men, they are dangerous.

The moral to this is that the Japanese militarists, like the Prussians, must be put out of circulation permanently, one way or another.

Our occupation of the Japanese home island will represent a mighty triumph. But it is a task far greater than the one we have just finished in defeating Nippon.

It's been easier to beat them in war than it will be to make good world-citizens out of them. Don't forget that we are dealing with a primitive people, many of whom are living in the middle ages.

U.N. Government To Set Up Provincial Youth Ministry

Granby, Que., Aug. 27.—(P)—Premier Duplessis announced here last night that his Union Nationale Government was working on a plan for the setting up of a provincial ministry of youth at the next session of the Quebec Legislature, late in January or early in February. He was addressing the opening session of the three-day convention of the Federation of Junior Chambers of Commerce of the Province of Quebec.

As soon as the next session starts," he said, "we shall create and organize a Ministry of Youth, especially charged with the interests of the youth of Quebec. We are convinced that there is no possible survival for French-speaking Canada without assuring the future of our youth."

He did not amplify nor give any indication as to who will be named Minister of Youth. Some rumors suggest Hon. Paul Beaulieu, Minister of Trade and Commerce, will take over the new portfolio while retaining the trade and commerce affairs. Mr. Beaulieu was present yesterday when Mr. Duplessis made the announcement.

Other reports name Paul Sauve, Union Nationale Member of the Quebec Legislature for Two Mountains, who was a Lieutenant-Colonel Overseas when the election was held last August.

Premier Duplessis said he came to the annual Congress of the Federation on a special request from Hector Choquette, Union Nationale Member of the Quebec Legislature for Shefford. He added that Granby was "a example of well-understood collaboration," but two great races lived side by side in harmony and that it was "an example for the whole of Canada." He also lauded the mottoes of the Congress which are "Let us be businessmen" and "United or enslaved."

He said the Junior Chambers of Commerce of the province were "the future of the future." "Let us hold with pride the glorious doings of our history," he added. "Don't let us be fooled by those who say to always look ahead. The most beautiful example of the necessity of the past is an automobile. The car has a motor to go ahead, but also a mirror to look in the back. Those who ask you to look ahead all the time may be sincere but I find the same words in the mouth of those who want us to forget our past so as to assimilate us more easily."

Mr. Duplessis said he had "no confidence in unity" and that the word "unity was a dream." He added that he had more confidence in "union—union in diversity where everyone will be able to enjoy full liberty." He also said that "pessimism" had no place whatsoever at present and that it belonged to youth to collaborate.

SUCCESSFUL FAIR ENDS AT AYER'S CLIFF

Ayer's Cliff, Aug. 27.—Shattering all previous attendance records, and setting all-time highs in exhibits, both in number and in quality, the curtain was rung down Saturday night on the Stanstead County County of Progress Exhibition.

Over 10,000 people thronged the grounds on Friday alone, the accommodations to the limit, and attendance figures for Thursday and Saturday were away above those of any previous year.

Highlight of the afternoon grandstand performances were the parades of horses and cattle, with over 285 head of cattle being exhibited in the latter Cavalcade alone.

The winner of the parade special for dairy cattle was Miss Ellen Beit Speyer, of Massawippi, with a splendid Jersey herd, and second place went to D. J. Johnson of Georgeville, with his Ayrshire herd.

The best cattle parade special was won by Percy Sherman of Gould, with the J. A. Woodward Estate of Lennoxville taking second place. Miss Speyer's herd also captured the T. Eaton Co., Ltd. parade special.

In keeping with the theme of the Exhibition, showing 100 years of progress in the county, two outstanding features were shown in front of the grandstand each afternoon, "The Parade of the Years," reviewing agricultural progress and "100 Years in Fashion," dramatically portraying the changes of dress since 1845.

In the "Parade of the Years," the line-up of exhibits was as follows: two one-horse chaises, including one from the Lee Farm at Rock Island, in use over 100 years ago, two modern carriages, an old Ford of 1910 vintage followed by a 1945 model car, the old-time racing sulky and the streamlined edition of today, a yoke of oxen pulling a modern first wooden plow ever manufactured, followed by tractors pulling modern farm implements including one-furrow, two-furrow and three-furrow plows; then a replica of the first reaper ever manufactured, built by the late Cyrus McCormick, back in 1831; followed by four men each carrying a cradle scythe, a flail, a wooden grain fork and a bull rake; closing the procession with a modern threshing machine, a combine and one of the largest combines in use in the Townships today, engine self propelled, doing a complete operation at one time, cutting, threshing and bagging the grain as it proceeds along the field.

The "100 Years of Fashion" portrayed styles of each changing era, beginning with the gay young blade of 1845 and Miss 1845, then introducing Father and Mother 1845, followed by 1855, 1865, 1870, 1875, 1885, 1895 (the gay Nineties), 1900, 1910, 1925 (the jazz age), 1935 and finally Miss 1945. Previous to the introduction of each style, the bathing suits of 1845 and 1945 were modeled for the audience.

Horse racing occupied the attention of a great proportion of the crowds filling the grandstand, with Saturday's closing events bringing the following results:

2:17 Stake Pace, $300.
Calvin (Huckins) 1 2 1
Danny Barsac (Hammond) 2 1 3

Saturday was American Day, and crowds of visitors from across the border were noticed among the throngs which established a new closing day record for attendance. Guests present included Senator John Bradley, of Newport, Vt., who brought greetings from Mayor Raymond Blake, of Newport, in his absence, and Wallace Gilpin, editor of the Newport Daily Express, with Mrs. Gilpin, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Conferences are known to be in progress among a number of departmental officials and it is considered likely that legislation officially establishing a Canadian nationality may be submitted to the first session of the new Parliament which opens September 8th.

It is also expected that Parliament will move toward adoption of a national flag to put Canada on an equal footing with her sisters of the British Commonwealth and perhaps also to officially recognize a National Anthem. Although "O Canada" is usually sung at functions as the anthem of the country, actually it has no official status as such.

A distinctive Canadian flag has been a national issue in Canada for more than twenty years. It has been discussed by the House of Commons and once a committee was appointed to study proposed designs but ran into such criticism that nothing was done. But now with the war over and national attention once more focused on domestic problems, indications are that Canada may not much longer remain the only member of the Commonwealth without a flag of its own.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King himself has lent strength to this belief. He has time and again indicated his favor of adoption of a Canadian flag and as recently as the federal election campaign indicated that action to that end might be expected soon.

An official flag of Canada is the Union Jack, except in Canada's offices abroad where she flies the red ensign, originally a marine flag with the Union Jack in the upper staff corner and the Canadian coat of arms in the fly.

Tokyo Bay. The Yokosuka naval base is eight miles across the peninsula from Katase.

The schedule called for the fleet to anchor off Misaki, on the Miura Peninsula which separates Sagami Bay from the 2-12-mile-wide entrance to Tokyo Bay.

Gen. MacArthur also ordered the Japanese in the Ryukus to surrender to Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, 10th Army Commander, and those in the Philippines to surrender to Lt. Gen. W. D. Styer, Commander of Army Forces in the Western Pacific.

Rear Admiral Robert B. Carney gave the Japanese emissaries their instructions. The party, including two officers and thirteen pilots, were told among other things:

"Any violence or resistance by the Japanese will be held to be a mutinous act against the orders of the Emperor and dealt with in force. All naval and other military personnel except those actually necessary must be withdrawn by 4 a.m. Wednesday (3 p.m. Tuesday, E.D.T.) along with all civilian employees. All personnel must be withdrawn from the island forts without exception."

ances by the Band. Mr. Ross declared that a band organization was "the cleanest and best sport any community can back up." The new forms he said, represented "money well spent."

"I congratulate the Harmony Band of Sherbrooke on their sixty years of excellent service," he said. "Sixty years is a long time to stand up."

Senator Howard stressed that the citizens of Sherbrooke cannot do too much for their Harmony Band, who are a great work for the city. He congratulated Professor Delvenne on his work with the Band during the past twenty years.

Provincial Bands represented at the ceremonies were: Asbestos, Drummondville, Three Rivers and Victoriaville.

Guests included Lt.-Col. Leopold Chevalier, City Treasurer Maurice Cormier, Aldermen O. Desjardins, A. Trudeau, A. Fiset, Paul Hamel and Sylvio Rousseau, J. K. Flaherty, Alphonse Gauthier, Fire Chief Percy Donahue, Michael Stenson, patron of the Band, P. E. Fortier, President of the Sherbrooke Symphony Orchestra, and Dr. Real Lafond Treasurer.

During the intermission period at the evening concert the names of active and non-active members of the Sherbrooke Harmony Band were read by M. E. R. Doeman, of Shawinigan Falls, who introduced each musical number.

Non-active members are W. B. Lebaron (1893), Joseph Masse (1896), W. M. Murray (1905) and Leo Laliberte (1908).

Active life-members include Alphonse Houle (1902), J. D. F. Marotte (1912), Ovide Poudrette (1913), G. W. Taylor (1919), Louis P. Letendre (1919), Irene Gagnon (1914), Ashley Buzzell (1919), Rosario Poulin (1919), Paul Sylvestre (1919), Lucien Thibault (1920), Georges Duchesne (1920), and Sylvio Rousseau (1920).

The concert opened with the two Harmony Bands, 125 musicians, under the baton of Professor Charles Elvén, and the march "Jean" by Leo Riquetti; and a second march, "Semper Fidelis" by Sousa, with an obligato of thirty trumpets. The same bands then under Philippe Filion, played the "Hospitality" march by Hughes, and the musical comedy, "Bull Trombone," arranged by Fillmore. Mr. Marcotte followed, accompanied by the Sherbrooke Harmony Band.

Following intermission, the Shawinigan Falls Symphonic Orchestra under Mr. Filion played Tchaikovsky's famous "Slave March," Rachmaninoff's "Prelude," Op. 3 No. 2, in C Sharp Minor, and a second well-known Tchaikovsky piece, "Caprice Italien."

Mr. Vian was well received as he sang "J'ai Fait Trois Fois Le Tour Du Monde," from Les Cloches de Corneville by Planquette; "I Love Life," "La Valse Du Souvenir," from the radio programme "Un Homme Et Son Peche;" and "Ma Donalda," a favorite French-Canadian folksong. He was returned for two encores.

Union officials estimated that more than 7,000 of the 12,000 local 300 members attended the meeting at which three related decisions were taken: By a 96 per cent vote they rejected a report of Mr. Justice S. E. Richards of Winnipeg, government-appointed commissioner to negotiate a new collective agreement with the Company, that the existing agreement be continued to the end of 1945 and that negotiations for the new contract be deferred until October 15; they decided to ask permission for the strike ballot and approved a recommendation that a strike ballot be taken simultaneously in all plants of Local 195 "where deemed necessary."

The recommendation was made by a joint policy committee of Local 195, 200 and 240, the latter being organized among Ford office workers and having a membership of about 600.

An official statement on the meeting reported that Mr. Burt said most of the agreements in the Windsor area were patterned after that with the Ford Company and were unsatisfactory. He charged the company with violation of the existing agreement by failing to inaugurate a 32-hour week to compensate for layoffs and he added that workers would not be satisfied unless they received a higher pay to compensate for a 32-hour week. They now work a 40-hour week.

The Richards report, which was made public by Union officials last week, said that because of bad feeling between the Ford Company and the Union there should be a cooling off period before resumption of negotiations for a new agreement to replace the present one which has been in force since May 10, 1944, at the conclusion of an 18-day strike involving 14,000 workers.

Mr. Justice Richards was appointed as a commissioner to reach a new agreement but negotiations between the company and the union broke down last June.

Since 1942 there has been one strike each year in the Ford plant, largest automotive plant in Canada. The 1942 strike lasted from Nov. 24 to Nov. 30 and the issue was equal pay for equal work by women. The Company's plant No. 2 was closed April 22-25 in 1943 in a strike involving 5,000 men over speedup charges.

Forecast: Moderate to fresh west to southwest winds; partly cloudy today and Tuesday; slightly warmer on Tuesday.

SHERBROOKE JUBILEE FAIR OFF TO AUSPICIOUS START

Splendid Programme Is Arranged For Entire Week, With Today Set Aside For Children By Directors

A sixtieth anniversary is always a noteworthy occasion, and when it commemorates the founding of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association it is especially noteworthy and even more significant. Appreciating this significance, the directors of the E.T.A.A. this year have arranged a fine programme for Sherbrooke's week-long annual fair. Opening yesterday with the best historical parade Sherbrooke has ever seen, the fair will continue throughout the week to sponsor the best in every division of activities.

Yesterday afternoon, there was a paid admission of 8,535 people, and all crowded Midway attractions and the buildings throughout the grounds. The Manufacturers' or Main Building did not open until today, but citizens found much to interest them in the Agricultural and Dairy Products Building, and the Livestock, Poultry and Swine Buildings. This year all are well filled, and yesterday, owners were completing arrangements for judging which began early this morning.

Local firms have been preparing for the Children's Day at the fair, with concessions arranged on the grandstand, in the midway and at the entrance gate. Children are admitted today to the ground free of charge. Eager to have a little fun before school opening, children will find myriads of balloons, colored whips, squeakers and assorted toys in the Midway along with rides and side-show attractions. The grandstand entrance will be reduced for them, and prices on all rides will be reduced.

All children should make a point of visiting the Children's exhibit upstairs in the Floriculture Building. Here they will find exhibits up for competitive prizes in all varieties of woodwork, painting and handicrafts. This should encourage youngsters to compete for the prizes that will be offered in successive fairs. Tonight is "first night" for the George Hamel grandstand show. The bill includes musical and dance routines, acrobatic and animal acts as well as comedy and juggling features, acts to appeal to every type of fair-goer.

Visitors will be interested in a display of new car and truck models in the Building, and may spend a profitable visit in any of the buildings housing first-quality animals. Harness races were cancelled yesterday afternoon after rain damaged the track, but will continue as weather permits for the week in the afternoon before the grandstand.

THREE INJURED OVER WEEK-END, NONE SERIOUSLY

Three people were injured in an automobile accident near Richmond yesterday afternoon. All were passengers of a car which struck a post when its steering mechanism broke. The injured were Mrs. Roger Henri and her small son and Elaine St. Cyr. Mrs. Henri suffered severe shock while her son had to be treated for cuts on the head. Elaine St. Cyr suffered a broken shoulder, which was set this morning. Officials of the hospital state that Mrs. Henri's condition is good and that her son is now home.

SALMON RIVER PROJECT TO START SOON

Col. the Hon. J. S. Bourque has announced that work on an irrigation project for the Salmon river will be started shortly. The project in question is situated in the Town of Lennoxville, outside the properties of Mr. Beaulieu and Mr. Dean, as well as several others. New embankments will be made for the river and the bed will be dredged. Cost of the undertaking has been estimated at between $60,000 and $75,000.

Attendance very satisfactory. The Sherbrooke Exhibition coffers ran $2,133.75 in paid admissions yesterday, comparing with a take of $2,260 on the first day of last year's fair. However, considering the unfavorable weather yesterday this revenue was considered as highly satisfactory by Exhibition officials today, who stated that all indications pointed to a record attendance during the week.

Fair officials announced today there were 417 head of cattle on exhibit, a record number which compares with a little over 100 at last year's fair. These do not include the cattle club entries. There are 180 horses, 124 sheep and 55 goats.

Fairgoers will bless the paved midway this year. Several innovations are noted. The hazardous row of restaurants under the grandstand have been eliminated, and permanent "Bingo" booths installed in the Midway. Boxes on the grand stand have been re-arranged, rebuilt and repainted.

And all this to help make your visit to the Diamond Jubilee Sherbrooke Fair a happy and more convenient occasion.

Have you read the Want Ads lately? Perhaps there is something advertised you would like to buy.

Sherbrooke Harmony Band Observed Its Sixtieth Anniversary Sunday

One of the finest open-air concerts ever to be presented here was heard by four thousand citizens last night at the exhibition grandstand, when the Sherbrooke Harmony Band, marking their sixtieth anniversary yesterday, united with the Harmony Band of Shawinigan Falls and the Symphony Orchestra of the same city in a two and a half hour concert of band and symphonic music.

Soloists were Marcel Marcotte, clarinetist, of Sherbrooke, and Albert Viau, baritone, of Montreal, and directing were Professor Charles Delvenne, musical director of the Sherbrooke Harmony Band, and Philippe Filion, of the Shawinigan Band.

The Harmony Bands of both cities joined together for the first time in the programme of the march and a musical comedy number, "Bull Trombone." Marcel Marcotte, accompanied by the Sherbrooke band, followed with a concerto by Weber. His excellent interpretation was received with great ovation.

The second half of the programme was given over to the Symphony Orchestra. Seventy musicians, under Mr. Filion, presented three well-known symphonic pieces, and accompanied the guest artist, Mr. Viau, in four songs, which brought a couple of encores.

At the intermission period of the concert, three members of the Sherbrooke Harmony Band with twenty-five years continuous service were decorated. His Worship Mayor J. W. Genest, J. Bilodeau, Mayor of Shawinigan Falls, and Mr. Filion presented the decorations to Georges Duchesne, Past-President, Sylvio Rousseau, and Lucien Thibault, Vice-President.

Before the evening concert, officials of the Sherbrooke Harmony Band were hosts at a banquet held at the New Orleans Restaurant for active and retired members of the band, their guests from Shawinigan, members of the 53rd Regiment Band and members of the City Council.

Formal activities marking the anniversary began yesterday morning, when members of the Band attended in a body a special mass in the chapel of St. Charles Seminary. Celebrating mass was Rev. Hermann Morin, Principal of l'Ecole Normale Marguerite-Bourgeoys, and for a quarter of a century musical director of the Harmony Band of St. Cecile. At two thirty in the afternoon, the Band took part in the great parade that marked the opening of the Sherbrooke Exhibition, which is this year celebrating their sixtieth anniversary along with the Sherbrooke Harmony Band.

At the head table at the banquet, attended by two hundred and fifty, were Ovide Poudrette, Sherbrooke Harmony Band President; His Worship Mayor J. W. Genest, Honorary President; Hon. J. S. Bourque, M.L.A., Honorary Vice-President; Hon. Senator C. B. Howard; Maurice Gingues, M. P., Honorary Vice-President, and former member; Rev. Father Morin; Professor Charles Delvenne; Alex. Ross, President of the E.T.A.A.; Georges Sylvestre, life-member and master of ceremonies; Mayor Bilodeau; Maurice Coutu, Secretary of the Harmony Band of Shawinigan Falls and of the Band Association of the Province of Quebec; and J. H. Hains, President of the Harmony Band of Drummondville, and Chairman of the Band Association of the Province.

All were introduced by Mr. Sylvestre, who spoke briefly of the great service the Band rendered to the community, at a great sacrifice. Rev. Father Morin suggested wintertime concert-hall performance.

NATIONAL FILM SCREENING IN LOCAL THEATRE

The premiere of the French version of the film "Ordeal by Ice," was presented at an exclusive screening in the Granada Theatre to local newspaper men Saturday morning. The picture was produced by the National Film Board.

The film depicts some of the training routine carried out by the Canadian Army in the frozen wastes of Alaska. Hardships which the photographer must have had to endure, during the making of the picture, are apparent in most of the scenes. One scene in particular shows troops, equipped with ice picks and spikes, climbing carefully over a great mass of sheer ice while a violent wind threatens to carry them away.

Other scenes impressed this reviewer with the vastness and barrenness of that land which is a part of the frozen North. The great emptiness of that little-populated country has been caught by the photographer as he took pictures while flying in a plane, of mountains of wind-swept rock, snow and ice.

There are no actors outside of the troops themselves and what dialogue there is, consists of a running commentary. The film is both interesting and educational and the feeling that it gives of being different is probably due to the fact that it is Canadian, made by Canadians and showing Canadians.

Other films, produced by the Film Board, which were shown to the newspaper men included: La Guerre Finis, a French version picture of five minutes duration, showing the celebration which took place all over Canada on V-J Day; Chants Populaires, a seven minute short of popular French songs in which the audience is invited to take part; and Singing Pipes, which follows the making of organs in the Casavant Company in St. Hyacinthe, from the melting pot to the finished article.

Historical Parade Is Witnessed By Thousands Of Interested Citizens

Thousands of Sherbrooke citizens lined the streets yesterday afternoon to witness the historical parade which marked the official opening of the Diamond Jubilee Exhibition and also the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of the Harmony Band.

Although heavy showers continued till late in the morning, the sky cleared up just in time to allow the public to come downtown to see the beginning of the event. While the various exhibitions arranged their different displays, three bands, the Sherbrooke Harmony, the Junior Harmony and the Union Musicale of Shawinigan gave an impromptu concert on Wellington Street to keep the people patient.

Things finally got moving at half past two. Three of the oldest members of the band, wearing their original 1885 uniforms, led the parade, and they were followed by the band, led by drum major Gerard Donahue. Charles Monday, of Sawyerville, came next, riding his 1870 model bicycle and wearing the proper clothes to match it. Three other bicycles, all decorated to fit the occasion, followed.

A 1905 model Buick was shown by Nelson Andrews, of Lennoxville, who rode in it with his daughter, Joyce. Close competitors to Mr. Andrews was Ted French, of Sawyerville, who had a 1908 Ford in working condition. He came in it all the way from Sawyerville, together with three friends of his, Joyce Buckland, Dot Hamilton and Bob Nugent, all the time praying that the rain would keep away long enough to get his car under shelter.

E. Lapointe, also of Sawyerville, displayed a home made miniature car, complete with all the comforts of a larger one except for a self starter.

A native of the Eastern Townships, Mr. Briggs was born in Cowansville on July 26, 1872, and has lived in the Townships for the past seventy-three years. He was recognized for his work with service organizations in this city and for his interest in floral gardens. His own delphinium garden adjacent to his residence has always been a city landmark and show place.

Mr. Briggs was associated with the Eastern Townships Bank and the Bank of Commerce for thirty-three years, entering the E.T. organization in May 1899. When he retired in July, 1932, he was manager of the Wellington Street Branch of the Bank of Commerce. ATTLEE PRAISES CHURCHILL

British politics contain one outstanding characteristic at least. While tempers flare during the course of the election campaign, it is seldom that the exchanges which occur on the hustings are carried over into the Parliament which follows the election. Thus, there is a marked tendency among one group of leaders to appreciate and affirm publicly the accomplishments of their predecessors in office. This reached its height recently when the new Labor Prime Minister, Clement Attlee offered his tribute to the work that the former Prime Minister Winston Churchill had done towards victory of the United Nations. In this connection he declared:

"I think it is fitting that I should pay tribute to one of the main architects of victory... in the darkest and most dangerous hours, the nation found in Mr. Churchill the man who expressed supremely the courage and determination never to yield which animated all the men and women of this country. In undying phrases, he crystallized the unspoken feelings of all..."

"His place in history is secure, and although he is no longer at the head of affairs when final victory has come, it really was the outcome of plans made long before under his leadership. History will link the name of Winston Churchill with that of another great leader of democracy, the late President Roosevelt. One is present with us today. The other did not live to see victory, but his service to the course of freedom this country can never forget..."

THE BALLOON VS. THE ATOMIC BOMB

Japanese complaints against the use of the atomic bomb by the Allies seem particularly inconsistent in face of the announcement that at least 225 of their balloon bombs reached this continent in the final months of the war. They talk loudly about the "inhumanity" of the atomic bomb and it may be admitted that the balloon bomb did not compare with the atomic bomb in its destructive potentialities. But the manner in which the balloon weapon was used by the enemy was infinitely more barbaric.

Not even the enemy made any claims as to the accuracy of their balloon bombers nor did they claim the bombs were launched against any specific objective. The Nipponese simply released the balloons, hoping they might explode with damaging effect somewhere in enemy territory. They knew the mathematical chances were several thousand to one against them exploding on any military objective. They could be reasonably assured that the majority of the victims were more likely to be innocent people than anyone actively connected with our war effort.

As a matter of fact the only recorded victims were six small children on a Sunday School picnic. By way of contrast, the atomic bomb was used with precision, so much so that only two were used and each of these against a prime military target. The difference is that the Allies adhered to the rules of war with their atomic bombs. The Japanese, with their balloon bombs, violated every rule of warfare. The fact that the Japanese weapon proved a complete "bust" was due to no lack of desire on the part of the enemy. It was the worst thing he could think of doing under the circumstances and he did it. And it may be assumed without much fear of argument that the only reason his balloons were not laden with atomic bombs was the fact that he did not know the atomic secret.

EIRE SURPRISED

The world-wide surprise at the defeat of the Churchill Government in Great Britain was nowhere stronger than in Eire, according to information coming out of Dublin. Irish political observers were of the general belief that Labor would make a good showing, but the extent of the Labor victory and the debacle of the Conservative party were beyond all expectation.

The Labor victory brings up some important questions in regard to Anglo-Eire relations, including such queries as: Will it release more of the badly-needed imports which Eire requires and which the Churchill Government so sparingly gave? Will it give the Eire farmer better prices for his agricultural products? How will a wide range of other questions be met? These are problems which only subsequent developments will answer.

Of course, the Irish Labor groups express delight that Labor in Great Britain has come out so well, but Irish Labor is, unfortunately for itself, not in a position to offer the solid co-operation that it could have done a few years ago. As an organization it is hopelessly split, and that not only on domestic issues, but on one matter which directly affects British Labor.

As a political party it had reached a point where it seemed likely in point of numbers to be the coming alternative to the de Valera party in the formation of an Irish Government. But two years ago a split occurred ostensibly on the question of the admission to its ranks of persons known to have Communist leanings. A new party called the National Labor Party was formed and gained several seats in the Dail Eireann. An important part of the policy of this party is to require trade unions, which have headquarters in Britain, to relinquish their British connections and to form unions which are solely Irish. The fact that the backbone of the official Labor party is composed of such unions makes it dependent upon them. Consequently, the new group are able to charge the official party with not only being "tainted with Communism" but being "pro-British" as well. It is interesting, although perhaps not significant, that both wings of the Eire Labor movement telegraphed congratulations to the British Labor Party.

WHY THE WAR MINISTERS?

One question which pops into the mind of the average person, on learning that the new Japanese Cabinet formed by Prince Higashi-Kuni, the new Prime Minister, contains among other appointments an Army Minister and a Navy Minister, is: Why are such appointments necessary?

It is only reasonable to wonder why a defeated government needs such positions. Perhaps he made the appointments as matter of form, but Emperor Hirohito knows, and Prince Higashi-Kuni knows, that the Allies will demand an absolutely non-military cabinet, and that when the peace terms are submitted, Japan will have to abolish her armed forces entirely. Even an Army Minister and a Navy Minister will not be required to carry out their liquidation. Rather the responsible authority will be the representative of the Allied high command in the occupied regions.

Japan has long been under the control of its generals and admirals, but there is certainly no place for them in the new set-up. The Japanese ministries for years past have been liberally sprinkled with military and naval officers in key positions. General MacArthur is now in the process of occupying the Japanese homeland, and among his first duties will be, undoubtedly, to inform the Prime Minister that in the future he will work only with a civilian administration.

With Japan, as with Germany, the words "army and navy" have to be eliminated from the vocabulary of the people. Otherwise considerable in the way of trouble is in store for future years.

PEACE MAY BRING POLITENESS

The end of the war and the return of competent help to various establishments of the type in which service is regarded as an additional stock in trade may produce some beneficial changes.

The clerk who gives you the absent treatment while carrying on gossip with a colleague may suddenly develop an interest in your presence—or give place to one who will.

The waiter who stands off and tosses plates containing soup and other spillable goods in your direction much as quoits are tossed may suddenly develop the proper technique in such matters—or be replaced by one who has it and takes pride in using it.

Employers couldn't do much about discourtesy when help was hard to get. Customers had to get what they wanted somewhere, and if discourtesy went with it—well, it just had to be borne.

In the days to come, practitioners of discourtesy may discover in particular that some people have disconcertingly long memories and in general that rudeness neither attracts trade nor assures steady employment.

The return of politeness bids fair to be not the least of the blessings of peace.

Scientists believe civilization can gain great benefits from the atomic bomb. And what it helped bring about in Japan proves the thought.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And Moses was a hundred and twenty years old when he died: his eye was not dim, nor his natural forces abated. — Deuteronomy 34:7.

PRESS COMMENTS

THE LONG LANE HAS A TURNING

Ottawa Journal
It was noted in the despatches the other day that exactly forty years had elapsed since negotiations were opened at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, for ending the Russo-Japanese war of 1904 and 1905. That war the Japs won handsily; now the Soviet regime has avenged the humiliations inflicted by Tokyo on the czarist regime it succeeded.

The Japanese began that war too with a characteristic bit of treachery repeated at Pearl Harbor with modern variations. On February 8th, 1904—two days before the declaration of war—the main battle fleet of Japan under Togo made a surprise attack on the Russian fleet in Port Arthur and inflicted serious losses, later in the day engaged coast batteries.

It was a curious sort of war. Japan, just emerging from long feudal sleep, was anxious for a quick and spectacular victory over a great power as a means of establishing her own prestige in the world. Her army was highly trained and well armed, her fleet efficient, and the little yellow men were cocky and confident. The Russian forces, on the other hand, were badly armed, poorly equipped, led mostly by incompetents. Czarist Russia even then was shot full of graft and corruption, the armed forces were in the hands of court favorites—the great Russian bear went into battle hamstrung and blinded by its own worthless rulers.

UNIVERSITIES OVERCROWDED

Winnipeg Free Press
Nothing better could be done for the ex-service men and women than to assist them in obtaining a university education, and the Government wisely made that a part of its re-establishment programme. But it puts a difficult task up to the universities and, in some cases at least, it is proving too much for them. President Newton, of the University of Alberta, states that a record enrollment is expected this fall, both of ordinary students and ex-service men, and he says that the university cannot receive them all, due to lack of staff and shortage of classroom and laboratory accommodation. As a result, a rigid quota system is being adopted, limiting the number of students who may be admitted to the various faculties. Many qualified students may be excluded as the Edmonton Journal notes with regret.

AS FASCISM WORKED OUT

Toronto Star
By 1936 Germany had become a place of suffering for the average German worker and his family, and all the common people who looked to Hitler to bring a "new order." That year, close to a fifth of all German school children were employed at an average rate of four cents an hour. Schools had deteriorated in every respect. In 1937, it was officially admitted that Germany was short a million dwellings, and the extreme overcrowding and low standards of living conditions indicated the figure was probably higher. The 10 to 12-hour working day became the average by 1937. After September, 1939, labor conditions changed from "serious to desperate."

ATOMIC BOMB DANGERS

St. Thomas Times-Journal
The newspapers have published many articles since the first atomic bomb was dropped on the Japanese city of Hiroshima last week, in which scientists have predicted the most wonderful things that may be achieved by the control of atomic energy. A professor at Cambridge University, England, who remarked that he would not be surprised at anything, asserted that by putting some of this stuff in the Great Lakes, they would become such warm water lakes that Canada would have a climate like Florida's in the winter time and we could grow tropical fruits. The potentialities of atomic energy, which can radiate a degree of heat estimated at up to 2,000,000,000,000 degrees centigrade, which means 3,600,000,000,000 Fahrenheit, are beyond human comprehension.

But having made what may even be called an auspicious beginning, scientists as well as laymen are perturbed as to what may be done with this substance in future. Its potentialities for harm are as terrible as its potentialities for good, and if it gets in the hands of the wrong people, a madman, for instance, like Adolf Hitler and his gang, they might employ it to destroy whole nations that stood in their way of world domination. At present it is in the hands of peaceful nations, and this Dominion of Canada is in the position of holding the key to its development because we possess the chief source of supply of the essential substance of uranium.

The Australian Weekly News contains a macabre story about jujitsu and it is noteworthy that those who have infiltrated into the wilds and have witnessed native sorcery at first hand have the strong convictions in such potency.

This report tells about a little bunch of Australian commandos in New Guinea with definite ideas about native jujitsu. It began in the Torricelli Range when their radio operator brought home to camp one night a curious bone made from a human shin, shaped like a dagger with a knobby handle on top. Perhaps there's nothing in it but the boys, as level-headed as they are, find, swear it must have been a jujitsu bone.

Someone threw it on a bunk and it lay there for the rest of the day. When the occupant went to bed that night, the bone was near his head. He had the most appalling nightmares and woke up half a dozen times terrified. It seemed that someone was strangling him. He could feel the fingers on his throat.

Next night, without having thought of the bone or its possible significance, he went off to sleep again. This time he was seized with thoughts of suicide. On the third night the performance was repeated with the result that one of the commandos took the loaded magazine from his rifle just in case.

The bone was handed to another commando who experienced the same sensations. It was no joke. But someone suggested pointing the bone to the corporal to see what happened. Next day the corporal was pulled out of the line with dizziness.

After that they threw away the bone and all untoward manifestations ceased. Not long afterwards the men came on a cache of similar things. Although they were souvenir hunters to a man, not one of them would touch another shaped bone.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority

NEVER GIVE UP ON A WEAK HAND

"Never say die" is a good rule in a bridge game. In today's hand, for example, it looks as if the declarer may have to lose a spade, two diamonds and two clubs. Well, here is what happened.

The opening lead was won with the ten of hearts; the heart king was cashed and the queen overtaken by dummy's ace. The jack of diamonds was played and allowed to ride when East refused to cover. West won with the queen. On the second heart trick East had discarded the club three, trying to mislead the declarer as to the location of the club ace. Now West was afraid to play a club, lest he lead into a tenace, nor did he want to lead a spade. The nine of diamonds was led back, dummy played the ten, the king and South won. He cashed his good eight of diamonds and the suit broke, establishing dummy's five-spot. The six of hearts was led to dummy's eight and the seven of clubs discarded on the good diamond. The jack of

WEAVER-BEATTY

Hamilton, Ont., August 27.—The wedding was solemnized in MacNeil Memorial Baptist Church here on Saturday afternoon August 11, 1945, at three o'clock, of Elizabeth Mabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Beatty, Markdale, to Rev. Samuel Robert Weaver, Welland, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Roy Weaver, Montreal. Rev. Ivan C. Morgan conducted the ceremony. The organist was Mr. Henry Bowdlen, who accompanied Miss Lillian Young, the soloist, in the singing of "O Perfect Love," before the ceremony, and "Still As the Night," during the giving of the register.

Given away by her father, the bride wore an ivory brocade satin dress fashioned with a shirred bodice, a floor-length veil draped from a headpiece of orange blossoms, and she carried red roses and stephanotis. Miss Marion Thomas was bridesmaid, gowning in a yellow sufficed chiffon dress trimmed with marquisette applique with a large yellow picture hat trimmed with violet shade. Her nosegay was of yellow roses and mauve asters. Dr. William S. Weaver, Montreal, was best man. The reception for sixty guests was held at the Corner House, the bride's mother receiving in a navy blue and white costume, her corsage being of Better Times roses. The mother of the groom, who assisted, wore dusty rose sheer and navy blue, with a corsage bouquet of Tallman roses.

DOROTHY DIX

Thrift Is A Virtue

Circumstances Compel Girl Used to Luxury to Change

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: How can a person who has been used to luxury acquire habits of thrift without feeling sorry for herself? Until my father died I had everything my heart desired. Then, suddenly, my mother and I found ourselves with barely enough income to feed and clothe one of us.

So I went to work and am now making a fair salary, but, no matter how much I get, we do not seem to be able to save, and I am beginning to lie awake at night worrying about what would happen to us in an emergency. Yet, on the other hand, I would be very miserable if I didn't have a car, good clothes and take a nice trip once a year. What's the answer?

DOROTHY DIX

ANSWER: The answer is that you can't have your cake and eat it, too. Evidently your father belonged to the eat, drink and be merry school of thought, and that was why when he died his sole bequest to you was the curse of luxurious tastes and nothing with which to gratify them.

And if a parent can wish any worse luck on a child than that, I don't know what it is. Malice itself can invent nothing crueler than to rear a child up with habits that it cannot indulge, with desires that it must forego. What we then cultivate in their children's character is tastes and habits and leave them no money with which to buy flummery.

But, my dear, it seems to me that you have learned nothing from the bitter lesson that you have had, because you also are spending everything you make and laying up nothing for that rainy day which is sure to come. You have suffered from the improvidence of your father. You are preparing to suffer a second time through your own improvidence, and this time your sufferings will be greater because your power as a money-earner will have ended and you will have no way to retrieve your fortune.

Everything in life is a matter of adjustment, and it seems to me that you will be happier now and certainly happier in the future if you will, as the homely old phrase goes, cut your pattern according to your cloth, and bring your expenditures down more within the limits of your income. No doubt you will miss many of the luxuries you now enjoy, but you will also miss the fear of what would happen to you if you got sick or lost your job. And that will be a great compensation. And deny yourself the greatest of all luxuries, which is self pity, and adopt a brave attitude toward life.

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think of nursing as a profession? Is the profession held in respect? What are a nurse's matrimonial chances?

ANSWER: No one should attempt to be a trained nurse who has not a vocation for it, because it is a profession that is full of hard work and sacrifice and that calls for a great devotion to duty. But it is a profession that is held in the highest respect and that is well paid. A nurse's matrimonial chances are A-1 because, in addition to the ordinary run of mankind, she can always marry a doctor or a patient.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have a good husband when he is on speaking terms with me, but if anything goes wrong he gets mad and will not speak to me for a week at a time. What is the best remedy?

ANSWER: Absence. The next time your husband passes into the silence tell him that you feel that he doesn't want to be disturbed by the sound of the human voice, and that you are going to stay with your mother or visit a friend until he is ready to talk again, and that when he is, he can telephone you and you will be glad to come back home.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

TO THE CANADIAN PUBLIC

WE SAY

Thank You

DURING the war, so happily ended, the Canadian National Railways, as Canada's greatest transportation system, had a gigantic task to do.

Our ability to fulfill this duty to the credit and satisfaction of the Nation is due not only to the skill, devotion and zeal of those who are our workers, but in large measure to the Canadian Public who, by their generous responses to appeals for help and their uncomplaining acceptances of restrictions and controls, lightened our burden.

We wish to thank the Canadian Public sincerely for their help—the millions of passengers who used our trains and steamships, the shippers of freight and express, the guests in our hotels, the patrons of our telegraph and other services and the unnumbered citizens who refrained from travelling needlessly as their contribution to the common cause.

The surrender of the last enemy has ended the fighting but it has not ended the war job of the Canadian National Railways. The men and women in the Services have to be brought home without delay and for that purpose we shall continue to employ all our available passenger equipment. Millions of tons of materials must be transported for industrial reconversion.

So in saying "Thank You" we express the hope that in carrying out these and other extensions of our war job, we may continue to enjoy the understanding of the Canadian Public.

HOSPITALS SET REGULATIONS TO AID PATIENT RECOVERY

By William A. O'Brien, M.D.
Hospitals have visiting rules and regulations to help their patients make more speedy recoveries. Voluntary hospitals today have a large number of short stay patients, most of whom were taken acutely ill, or were hurt, or who came to have a baby.

When we hear that a friend or relative has been taken to the hospital we have a natural desire to visit, but before yielding to the impulse, we should ask ourselves, would want visitors at this time.

Physicians usually prescribe several days of complete rest following an operation or serious illness, and limit visitors to a few members of the immediate family. You may find this out by calling the home or the hospital in advance.

Most patients dislike having visitors come too soon. Women want to look their best at all times, and if you come before they have a chance to fix up, they will not like it. Men have told me that they dislike receiving visitors while they are flat on their backs as it is difficult to carry on a conversation from this position.

Be brief. Make your visit brief. Most of us tire easily after an operation or an acute illness. Patients need the extra rest. With the large number of patients and the shortage of help, treatments must be carried out on schedule. In addition certain drugs are given at regular intervals in order to obtain their maximum effect. Only a few people should visit a sick person at a time. The number who visit during the day should be restricted.

Hospital patients seem different from those at home to some people. We wouldn't think of pushing by the front door of a home and going right up to the sick room and staying as long as we please. But many hospital visitors seem being told that they must obey the rules which are made for the patient's protection.

Make your visit productive of good. Do not use the opportunity to tell about your own troubles. Few people are interested in the other fellow's troubles at any time, and this is especially true when we are sick. Visitors should not try to cheer patients. They should be just as natural as possible.

When the patient is convalescing or the disease has become chronic, visitors are notable by their scarcity. This is the time when the sick need visitors, letters, small gifts, and other evidence that their friends have not forgotten them. A short, thoughtful letter is the best way of expressing regret that a friend or relative is sick, but send it to his home so that a member of the family can deliver it in person.

CANTERBURY EAST

The W. I. met at the home of Mrs. A. J. McLeod on the 16th, with Mrs. Elwin Coates as joint hostess. Eight members and several visitors were present. The Creed was said in unison. The minutes of the previous meeting and the report of the salad supper were read and adopted. Correspondence from Mrs. Smallman and the Navy League was read, thanking the W. I. for money sent. Eight dollars was voted towards the School Fair and five dollars towards the Jam for Britain Fund. Some members paid into the Self-Denial Fund. The roll call, "Song Guessing," was much enjoyed. Mrs. Sharman gave the history of the Quebec Women's Institute, and plans were made to co-operate with Mr. McMillan to fix the picnic grounds at Bo-Bo. What Was She To Do?

John Hines' widow and young children inherited a valuable farm property, but of cash, not nearly enough to pay the heavy Dominion and Provincial Succession Duties. What was Mrs. Hines to do?

Of course, the farm could be sold—at a sacrifice—but then the family's only source of income would be gone. Borrowing meant interest charges, which, with wages to necessary hired hands, could not be met out of the earnings of the farm.

Fortunately, there was a third choice. Among her husband's papers Mrs. Hines found an Imperial Life policy that provided cash for Duties and other expenses connected with her husband's death.

How about your estate? In cases where some assets are located in other provinces there are even triple Succession Duties. Life Insurance is regarded as the best method of providing against such contingencies. Discuss this with your local Imperial Representative.

The above describes an actual Imperial Life claim. The name "Hines" is purely fictitious.

LAST OBSEQUIES HELD FOR GEORGE H. JACKSON

Many friends and relatives paid a last tribute to George Henry Jackson, who passed away at the Sherbrooke Hospital on August 14 after a prolonged and trying illness.

The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon, August 16, the long cortege wending its way from the Johnson Funeral Home to St. Peter's Church, where the rector, the Reverend Russel F. Brown, officiated, and who later conducted the committal service at Elmwood Cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. Cliff Bryant, Edward Falkner, John Callahan, G. Gagnon, Kenneth Kinder and Roland Farr.

The late George Henry Jackson was born in Halifax, Yorkshire, England, in 1878, and came to Canada, settling with his family in Sherbrooke in 1908.

His wife, Jennie Ryder, predeceased him in 1937.

He leaves to mourn his passing his present wife, Mary Callaghan Jackson, a son, George Ryder Jackson, of Montreal; two daughters, Mrs. Gordon Mackay, Toronto, and Mrs. Wesley Pearce, Lipton Staff, England.

Three sisters and one brother also survive, Mrs. W. McManus, Mrs.
 H. Hoyroyd, Mrs. L. Elwood, and his younger brother, Mr. Frederick Jackson, all of Philadelphia, also two grandchildren, David Gordon Mac-Kay, at present on active service in the Pacific, and John Pearce, Montreal.

DR. C. A. H. TANNER,
 WINDSOR MILLS.

Windsor Mills, Aug. 27.—Obse-quies for the late Dr. Charles A. H.
 Tanner were held on Monday, August 13. After prayers at the house at 1:30 p.m., the funeral service was conducted by Rev. V. M. Gilbert in St. Andrew's United Church at two o'clock. Rev. Mr. Gilbert was assisted by Rev. P. Pollitt, B.D., of the United Church, Lake Megantic, and Rev. A. J. Oakley, of St.
 George's Anglican Church, Windsor. Also in the pulpit were J. N.
 Caswell and S. M. Paige, representing the Session of St. Andrew's Church, of which Dr. Tanner had been a member. In the choir were members of both St. Andrew's and St. George's Churches, and Mrs.
 Robert Sims presided at the organ.
 The sanctuary was filled to overflowing with relatives, friends and associates from all walks of life.

The lesson was read by Rev. A.
 J. Oakley, and comprised verses taken from Revelations 21, John 14, and the closing lines of I Corinthians 15. The address was delivered by Rev. P. Pollitt, who had ministered for eleven years as pastor of St. Andrew's Church, and was a close friend of the deceased.

His theme was based on words from Acts 10:38: "He went about doing good." He spoke of the doctor's modest, unassuming manner, his kindly disposition, his staunch adherence to religious principles, his ever-ready and willing support of the church and of whatever he considered for the good of the community. Outlining his professional career, Rev. Mr. Pollitt said the doctor never refused to go when he was called to anyone in need. Although ailing for a considerable time and for many months suffering acute pain and weakness, he nevertheless attended patients up to within two months of his demise.

The deceased was a member of the Odd Fellows and Rebekah Lodges, served as Chairman of the School Board, and as Alderman on the Town Council for two consecutive terms. With these and all his professional duties, he yet found time to serve as elder and in whatever other capacity his services were needed by St. Andrew's Church.

He will be sadly missed in the community, where he ministered to the needs of all, irrespective of language, race, creed or fortune.

Rev. V. M. Gilbert read a poem which had been composed by Miss K. Vaughan, R.N., on the occasion of the passing of the late Dr. Winder, of Lennoxville. Two hymns were sung, "Rock of Ages" and
 "Forever With the Lord."

At the cemetery, Rev. V. M. Gilbert made the commitment and pronounced the benediction. The reading was by Rev. A. J. Oakley, and the prayer offered by Rev. P.
 Pollitt. This was followed by the I.O.O.F. service, led by Irwin Robertson, Acting Noble Grand, and S.
 Mackenzie Paige, chaplain.

The mourners were his widow,
 Mrs. C. A. H. Tanner; two sons,
 Mr. Charles Debert, N.S., and Edward, of Windsor; two sisters, Mrs.
 H. O. Budden, of Niagara Falls,
 Ont., and Mrs. D. R. MacCrimmon, of Longueuil; five brothers, Rev.
 Dr. J. U. Tanner, Lancaster, Ont.,
 Rev. W. P. Tanner and E. R. Tanner, of Longueuil, Dr. L. E. V. Tanner, of Toronto, Ont., and T. L. Tanner, two sisters-in-law, Mrs. T. L.
 Tanner, of Westmount, and Miss M.
 Campbell, a brother-in-law, William Campbell, of Windsor; and Fred
 Tanner, of Lennoxville, Crombie Tanner, of Westmount, A. H. Tanner, K.C., Henry Tanner and Mrs.
 Parmelee, all of Montreal, nephews and cousins.

Among the friends from out-of-town attending the service were Messrs. John Cascarden and Gilbert Douglas, of Sherbrooke, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Samson, of Coaticook, Dr. Mary Vaudry, Mrs. Stephen Caswell and Mr. Walter Henderson, of Lennoxville, Mr. Kenneth Nourse, of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ross and Miss Irma Ross, of Bromp-tonville, and many others, including a large group of local and out-of-town members of the medical and odontic professions, who walked in the cortege as honorary pall-bearers. These were followed by members of Willowdale Rebekah Lodge

 No. 24, and Jubilee Lodge No. 31,
 I.O.O.F.

The bearers were brother Odd Fellows, Noah Caswell, Arthur
 Noble, George Witte, Robert Sims, Howard Ward and Harry Perkins.

BYRON NELSON WILL BID FOR BRITISH OPEN

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 27.—(P)—Byron Nelson possessed the most fabulous collection of tournament victories in all golf history today—but he said he wanted one more.

"I won't be satisfied until I win the British open," the umbrella man from Toledo asserted.

"If I could win the British Open I would feel that I had really hit the top and that there would be no other way for me to go but down."

Nelson, who captured the Knoxville open yesterday for his 15th major victory of the year, said he hoped to get a shot at the title in 1946.

The British open was suspended during the war but a revival next year has been predicted.

The Toledo stroking master already has won every big event this side of the Atlantic—the U.S. open, the Canadian open, the P.G.A. twice and the Masters twice.

But even more amazing has been his unparalleled winning streak this year—15 major tournament victories in 20 starts.

The former Texas caddy ran off and left the boys in the 72-hole Knoxville open, finishing with a score of 276, 10 strokes better than his closest challenger.

He turned in rounds of 67, 69, 73 and 72 over the tough, 7,000-yard, 72-par Holston Hills Course, which was seldom ticked by the spotlight pros during the four-day event.

His windup 67 burned off all challengers. Sammy Byrd of Detroit, the former big league ball player, rushed in with a 70 to take second place at 286.

Little Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., making his big time comeback, faded after pushing to within four strokes of Nelson and wound up with a 287 for the third spot. Wild with his irons and timid with his putts, the popular Hogan took a 74 on his final round.

Royals Split Doubleheader With Rochester, Leafs Defeat Buffalo

By The Canadian Press

After notching his 23rd victory in the first half of a doubleheader, Jean Pierre Roy essayed the iron man role for the Montreal Royals yesterday but bowed to Rochester in the nightcap, 7-6. The Royals squelched a ninth-frame rally for a 6-5 verdict in the first.

Roy scattered a dozen wing blows in the first game, yielding single runs in the first, third and fourth. Rochester got only six blows off Roy's delivery in the after piece but bracketed them with walks for pairs of tallies in the first and fourth and three in the third. Old Bill Trotter, spreading 11 Montreal blows, limited the Royals' scoring to three innings.

Toronto Maple Leafs came back strong to pound out a 14-3 verdict over Buffalo to gain an even split as Canadian day was celebrated before 4,000 clients in Buffalo yesterday, after the Bisons had won the opener 7-3.

The Leafs made it an easy pitching journey for Woody Crownson as they doctored nine times in the first three innings by knocking out rookie Bill Pierce and Joe Cleary.

A sensational relief hurling exhibition by Quinn Lee of the Bisons, backed by the home runs of Jack McHale and Eddie Boland's 22nd of the season, sunk Luke Hamlin. Lee took over for clearly in the second inning and permitted only two safeties for the rest of the distance.

Newark Bears took a long stride toward clinching a play-off berth as they vanquished the Jersey City Giants in both ends of a twin bill 10-3 and 10-5 before 1,864 in Newark.

The Bears clinched the opener by scoring seven times in the eighth inning with the help of one single which was the only ball hit out of the infield.

Mike Portner's three-run homer was the offensive highlight for the Bears in the nightcap which was credited to Johnny Moore, who lasted only four frames.
