US Senators Reply To Canada Criticism Of Give-Away Wheat

WASHINGTON (CP) — The problem of wheat surpluses—and Canadian criticism of how the United States disposes of them—has occupied opening phases of a U.S. Senate study of Canadian-American relations. Two American senators took Canadians to task Friday for such criticism.

Senator Wayne Morse (Dem. Ore.) asserted that Canada was "guilty of gross injustice" in saying U.S. wheat sales to underdeveloped countries for the "soft" currencies of those countries were depriving her of foreign markets.

Morse contended that Canada could not afford to sell wheat for those currencies.

The U.S., he continued, is helping to develop a market for future wheat sales by shifting the taste of Asian people from rice to wheat and is not happy about "getting kicked in the teeth by Canada for doing something she cannot do."

BLAME CANADA

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (Dem. Minn.) said Canadians were to blame for the size of their wheat surplus because, while they had a price support policy for wheat, they had no control to limit production.

They expressed their views at a Senate foreign relations committee hearing. The committee is on the Canadian phase of a study of U.S. policy around the world, and one of its objects is to improve U.S.-Canadian relations.

The senators questioned Livingston Merchant, U.S. ambassador to Canada for more than three hours.

With much of what the ambassador said, the committee was in general agreement. But Morse and Humphrey dissented on the wheat question.

"I do not believe that we can expect to hold our position unless the United States pursues liberal trade policies."

The witness himself came under criticism from some members of the committee for not in-

Municipal Garage Contract Awarded

The contract for the construction of the municipal garage was awarded to Eugene Marcoux for a bid of $168,700, Mayor Nadeau said yesterday.

The tender was received in 1956 but work on the project was postponed when the bids were higher than the money borrowed.

Under this year's public work by-law, $120,000 was set aside for the project.

Today's Chuckle

Doctors doubt that hard work ever really killed anybody, but they have known cases where it seemed to scare a person half to death.

Lion Kills Young Girl At Zoo

WASHINGTON (CP) — Smithsonian Institution officials ordered a formal investigation today into the death of a 2½-year-old Canadian girl who wandered too close to a lion cage at the Washington zoo.

As her horrified grandfather fought vainly to save her Friday, little Julia Ann Vogt was hauled screaming into the cage by a lion and decapitated.

The grandfather, Harry Jackson, 67, suffered a mild heart attack and was unable to give a coherent account of what happened.

"We're still trying to determine just what occurred," said J. Lear Grimmer, associate zoo director. "There are no substantial facts we can go on."

He said Dr. Leonard Carmichael, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution which supervises the big zoological park, ordered a formal investigation.

The incident occurred as Jackson was escorting Julia Ann and her sister, Judy, 4, through the zoo. The girls had come here with their mother from Chilliwack, B.C., for a visit. Their father, Ben Vogt, a mill worker, was en route here today.

Julia Ann, clutching a bag of peanuts, somehow got away from her grandfather and squeezed through a 3½-foot guardrail which keeps spectators some six feet away from the lions cages. A lion suddenly grabbed her.

After the child was pulled into the cage, a lioness named Princess mauled the remains. Zoo keepers retrieved the body after driving the lions back with fire extinguishers.

Mrs. Rex Potts was sitting on a bench with a neighbor when the tragedy unfolded.

"I saw this elderly man at the cage... then I heard someone scream. I looked back and saw the man wrestling with the lion, trying to get a child away."

"I don't know what I was thinking of, but I ran over and grabbed the man's arm and pulled, thinking his strength and mine might pull the child away."

"But suddenly I realized it was a little child we were pulling on and I got scared and ran away."

NS Motorists Scare Engineers

KENTVILLE, N.S. (CP) — Engineers on the Dominion Atlantic Railway here have the jitters. They're frightened of being run down by automobiles.

They want to fight back and have asked town council to rescind a by-law prohibiting the sounding of whistles or sirens in the town limits.

Engineer Arthur N. Ellis, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers (CLC) asked the council to do something about curbing the menace.

"It's nerve-racking to say the least," he complained. "Some drivers practically defy the trains to hit them."

News Of The Week In Review

De Gaulle, Army Frighten Politicians To Action

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Many times during cabinet crises in France, the cry has gone up, "call de Gaulle." But Gen. Charles de Gaulle never responded.

This week the 67-year-old general who led the Free French during the war proclaimed himself ready to take power if called upon. "In the past," he said, "the country in its depths placed its confidence in me to lead it wholly to its salvation."

De Gaulle's bid for power followed army seizure of control in Algeria which had jolted deputies in the National Assembly as they bargained for a new premier. It frightened the politicians enough to make them give Pierre Pflimlin solid endorsement as premier.

Pflimlin, saying "there is a real plot against the republic and the established order," won overwhelming approval for emergency powers from the assembly.

RAILWAY ACCORD

A test of strength between the Canadian Pacific Railway and the firemen's union ended after a three-day strike.

The firemen returned to work accepting the principle that all firemen on freight and yard diesel operations will be dropped eventually. In return, the company promised to keep about 475 firemen on their jobs until removed by promotion, retirement or death.

Automatic Air Retaliation

OTTAWA (CP) — A written agreement detailing joint Canadian-American plans in the event of Soviet air attack on this continent is to be tabled Monday in the House of Commons.

The New York Times says the agreement authorizes the joint forces to retaliate "without governmental consultation" but covers only tactical defence weapons — and not strategic nuclear weapons which can be used in retaliation for an enemy attack only upon the authority of the president.

This concurs with the Canadian government's previously announced ideas about the agreement as voiced by Defence Minister Pearekes in the Commons.

"This is the background," Canada and the United States last Aug. 1 established the North American Air Defence Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., operating on a temporary and verbal agreement.

Chinese Sputnik

LONDON (CP) — A Communist Chinese scientist said Friday Russian techniques are being studied "so that a Chinese Sputnik could be launched in the near future." But Kuo Mo-Jo, president of Communist China's Academy of Sciences, gave no indication that a Chinese launching is imminent.

Sound Sleeper

METZ, France (Reuters) — A baby, tucked comfortably in its cradle, slept on peacefully Friday when a heavy truck crashed into his bedroom. It halted with the axle over the cradle.

Its commander is Gen. Earle Partridge of the U.S. Air Force and his deputy is Air Marshal Roy Slemmon, former RCAF chief of staff.

The two countries then set about drafting an agreement on what NORAD should do if a Soviet air attack materialized against North America.

Canada's defence and external affairs departments scanned the draft, added comment, and passed it along to Washington in January. It was one of the topics discussed by External Affairs Minister Smith on a subsequent visit.

Now it has been returned by Washington.

Mr. Pearekes has said an emergency such as a Soviet air assault would leave little time for consultation and the agreement would establish conditions under which RCAF squadrons could be ordered into battle from Colorado Springs without approval being sought from the Canadian government.

Opposite speakers in the Commons had suggested that the nine RCAF squadrons involved as of Aug. 1 had been committed to NORAD's command without parliamentary approval.

Gronchi Leaves

LONDON (Reuters) — Italian President Giovanni Gronchi and his wife were seen off at London airport by Foreign Secretary Lloyd Friday night after a three-day state visit.

Canadians Probe Life 50,000 Years Ago

TORONTO (CP) — A group of Canadians working in South America have made a major fossil discovery that will help scientists fill in the picture of life on earth 20,000 to 50,000 years ago, the Royal Ontario Museum said Friday night.

Two sharp-eyed Canadian geologists working in the oilfields near Talara, Peru, made the discovery when they saw fossil bones in a gravel pit used by highway-repair crews. A museum-sponsored expedition went to Peru, and after six weeks of digging, uncovered enough specimens to keep a team of scientists busy for 20 years.

Four tons of specimens now are being cleaned and restored at the museum in Toronto. They include bones of mastodons, crocodiles, camels, horses, giant sloths, sabre-toothed cats, flesh-eating birds and other forms of life, many now extinct.

Officials say the end result of the work will be a series of scientific publications, an important research collection for further study and a new public gallery at the Royal Ontario Museum which ranks among the top dozen such institutions in the world.

The study of fossil animals and insects is important since not only are they ancestors of modern species, but many groups now extinct often throw light on the relationship of existing animals and plants.

MUSEUM OFFICIALS TRACE WHAT HAPPENED OVER THE AGES IN THIS WAY:

Some time during the ice age in South America, oil tar flowing through a fault in the earth's surface formed a pool in a natural depression. Birds and animals were trapped in the tar and eventually gravel and sand filled the depression, preserving the bones of pre-historic life for as much as 500 centuries.

Last year, Dr. Hugh MacDonald and Bob Fraleigh, Canadians with the International Petroleum Company at Talara, spotted the fossils uncovered by highway crews. They shipped a crate of specimens back to the museum where Dr. MacDonald once studied.

INSULTS COSTLY

LONDON (Reuters) — Inflation note: The price of bowling out bobbies may rise shortly. A private member's bill, approved in principle by the House of Commons, increases the fine for using "insulting words" to police to £10 from £2.

De Gaulle Supporters Rounded Up; Algiers Still Held By Junta

PARIS — Premier Pierre Pflimlin used his new emergency powers today to organize a tough police regime to oppose any rightist move to seize power in France.

Some 35,000 police and special security troops patrolled Paris while special agents fanned out across the country to arrest persons suspected of plotting to raise Gen. Charles de Gaulle to power. Two air force generals were among those reported arrested.

But while Pflimlin consolidated his four-day-old government's hold on continental France, the military-civilian rightists in Algeria who seized control of that North African territory Tuesday remained in undisputed control.

de Gaulle To Speak Monday

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle today decided to break his silence for the second time during France's crisis over Algeria. He scheduled a press conference for Monday.

The general announced two days ago that he was ready to take power if necessary.

of the Republic (senate). Jules Moch, a tough old socialist who beat down Communist riots in Paris 10 years ago, was moved back to his old job as interior minister. That gives him control of the police and the Surete.

The two arrested air force generals were identified by reliable sources in the interior ministry as Lt. Gen. Andre Challe, air deputy to the head of France's joint chiefs of staff, and Brig. Jacques Martin, Challe's deputy as well as personnel officer on the staff of Gen. Lauris Norstad, American supreme allied commander for Europe.

PRESUMED RIGHTISTS

Presumably the two French officers were involved in rightist moves against the government.

In speaking to Parliament,

MET SECRETLY

An all-Algeria insurrection committee met secretly in Algiers Friday night to consider a stalemate in which Pflimlin holds France and—for the moment at least—appears unable to do anything about the Algerian defiance, while the rebels in Algiers are unable from there to put de Gaulle in office.

There was no sign of the Algerians' "committee of public safety" backing down in the face of overwhelming parliamentary support last night for Pflimlin. The committee was set up Tuesday under paratroop Gen. Jacques Massu after rioting against the possibility that Pflimlin would not be tough in prosecuting the war against Algerian Moslem rebels.

The French government has let it be known that plotting by rightists to seize power had been reported since the last government fell April 15. The plotters apparently planned to win the army's support for making de Gaulle a military dictator.

ISSUED CHALLENGE

In asking for 90-day emergency powers, Pflimlin issued an open challenge to de Gaulle to explain whether he would agree to march to power with the aid of a coup. The general remained silent under the watchful eyes of police.

Pflimlin was granted the emergency powers by a 461-to-114 vote of the National Assembly and approval, 211 to 94, in the Council

$250 Million Ore Project For Ungava

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Duplessis Friday announced a project by the Steel Company of Canada and Wabush Iron Company Limited to mine iron ore in Ungava in an area straddling the Quebec-Newfoundland Labrador boundary.

During a press conference Friday Mr. Duplessis said an outline of the project was discussed during an interview he had with H. G. Hilton, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Stelco, and John Sherwin, president of Wabush.

Mr. Duplessis said the mining project as outlined would cost $250,000,000 and involve the establishment of two towns, the construction of an iron ore concentrating plant, a power plant and shipping facilities on the St. Lawrence River north shore.

The towns would be built on the shore of the St. Lawrence near Sept-Is and Clarke City, about 300 miles northeast of Quebec City.

The new project would involve the mining of relatively low grade iron ore and its concentration into pellets.

Opposition MPs Ask Lower Mortgage Rates

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition pleas for lower interest rates on housing mortgages have been sounded in the Commons with no indication of government action on the matter.

Two other measures, passed by both Commons and Senate, received royal assent and became law—the new Parliament's first legislation. One provided the government with an interim money supply and the other extended to June 28 the period for seasonal unemployment insurance benefits which otherwise would lapse today.

Liberal and CCF members Friday suggested ways of reducing the maximum six-per-cent rate established on government-insured National Housing Act loans. One proposal was for the federal treasury to shoulder half the interest cost.

Works Minister Green made no reply on that suggestion, but made clear that the government feels any cut in the maximum NHA rate might dry up the flow of private mortgage lending.

The discussion developed on a government bill to make available another $350,000,000 for direct mortgage lending through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

As the Commons housing debate progressed, the annual report of CMHC was made public showing the government agency last year provided 47.2 per cent of all NHA mortgages — a remarkable rise from 4.8 per cent in 1956. Last year high interest rates on the money market steered lenders away from mortgages.

NO OPPOSITION

No one opposed the bill itself. It was passed in its second day of debate and sent to the Senate for approval.

WOULD CHANGE BNA

Maurice Allard, newly-elected Progressive Conservative from Sherbrooke, Que., suggested that Canada's constitution may be "a strait jacket that prevents us from solving our economic problems."

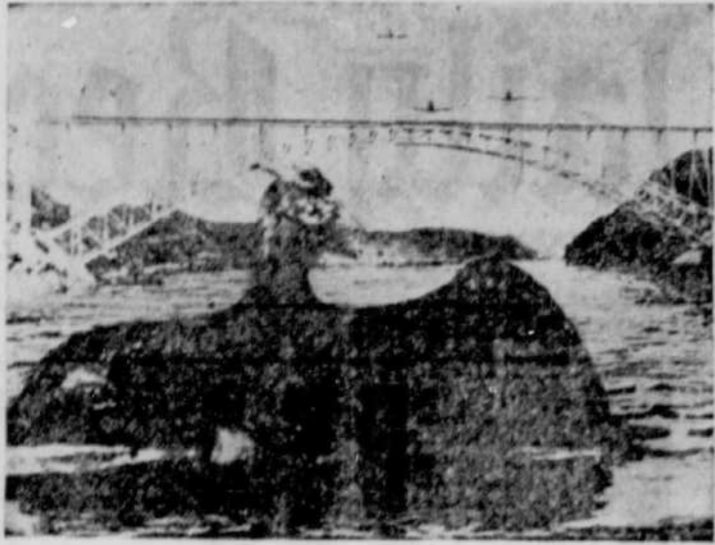

That cleared the decks of urgent government legislation. The throne speech debate, interrupted following party leaders' speeches last Tuesday, can resume Monday.

He proposed progressive and gradual restoration to the provinces of complete rights in direct tax fields — personal and corporate income taxes.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Her fans will be happy to know that Gale Storm is recovering from what she calls "second seriesitis."
 Actually, Gale is recuperating after major abdominal surgery. But she attributes her health breakdown to the rigors of doing a second television series. She made 126 My Little Margies and recently completed her 78th Oh Susannah. Then came collapse. "Second seriesitis is different from first seriesitis," she remarked clinically. "When you do a second series, you become so tired you're numb. You say to yourself, I can't possibly be tired than I am now, so why not do more?

 "And you do. Do a guest spot? Why not? Go on a personal appearance tour? Sure! Then all of a sudden—wham! It hits you."
 But Gale is coming along fine now. She's her old bright and cheerful self, though she grumbles about being immobile for a while on doctor's orders.
SOUNDS BORED
 "The rest is wonderful but I'd like to be able to do something—anything," she said. "I can't even pick up my baby yet."
 She's not even thinking about going back to work. Renewal of her show is still in doubt, though it's rated a good chance to be back next year. The audience surveys have been holding up nicely, and the sponsors seem happy with the show.
 She'll take a long rest before resuming the show — if it is renoved. Her only commitment is to return a guest shot with Pat Boone in June. She and husband Lee Bonnell may take their three boys to New York and then on to Jamaica. That second seriesitis is tough to cure.

Boundary Couple Tendered Reception Marking Silver Wedding Anniversary

ROCK ISLAND — On the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bouchard were feted at a reception held in the Oddfellows hall.
 Mr. and Mrs. Bouchard had been invited by a member of the family to go for a drive, which much to the couple's complete surprise, ended at the hall where approximately 150 relatives, neighbors and friends awaited them.
 On entering the hall, Mrs. Bouchard was presented with a corsage of pink carnations and Mr. Bouchard with a white carnation boutonniere. The orchestra played the Anniversary Waltz as the couple were escorted to two special chairs, one on either side of the parish priest, Father George Guay.
 Their elder son, Gilles, paid tribute to his parents, on behalf of their eight sons, Gilles, Guy, Andre, Rene, Denis, Jacques, Jean and Paul, offering congratulations and thanking them for the many sacrifices they had made for their children. He hoped they would be blessed with continued health and that all might be together for the golden anniversary.
 The tribute was composed by Gilles, and written by Rev. Mother St. Louis de Gonzague of the Ursuline convent. Gilles also presented his parents with a bouquet of mauve and white baby chrysanthemums.
 Father Guay, as he rose from his chair, said "25 years ago on May 15, 1933, the late Father Deseve joined in marriage two persons of the parish of Our Lady of Mercy Arthur Bouchard and Beatrice Bushnell". He paid high tribute to this couple, to whom the years have brought happiness. On behalf of the assembled relatives and friends, Father Guay wished Mr. and Mrs. Bouchard continued happiness and presented them with a complete cooking set of steelware, also his own personal gift, a beautiful silver leather bound edition of the Bible.
 Mr. and Mrs. Bouchard expressed their appreciation for all the pleasure given them on this happy occasion.
 The remainder of the evening was spent dancing to music supplied by "Eactus Jim and his boys". The first dance was the Grand March and Circle the leading couple, being the bride and groom of the silver years.

 Refreshments were served in the dining room, where long tables were attractively decorated. The head table, with a white and silver cover, was centered with the anniversary cake, decorated in white and topped with lily of the valley and a silver "25". White candles in silver holders completed the arrangement.
 Seated at the head table with Mr. and Mrs. Bouchard were her mother, Mrs. John Bushnell, the following brother, sisters and in-law Mr. Maurice Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. Mendoza Bouchard, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lisotte, Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Bouchard.
 The party was arranged by Mrs. Paul Emile Bouchard, and she was assisted by other members of the families. Assisting with serving refreshments were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bushnell, Mr. Paul Emile Bouchard, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bushnell, Gilles, Guy, Andre and Rene Bouchard.
 The hall and dining room were beautifully decorated with blue and gold garlands and silver "25's" within silver circles.
 Guests present were from Magog, Sherbrooke, Montreal, Rock Island Stanstead, Beebe, Barre and Granville, Vt., Derby Line and Newport.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Tyson, Mrs. Golda Standish, Miss Etta Taylor and Mrs. Byron Ellis.
HAPPY GANG CLUB
 Mrs. Leo Devost was hostess at a meeting of the Happy Gang club, honoring the birthday of Mrs. Mabel Crawford of Rock Island.
 After receiving the best wishes of her friends, Mrs. Crawford was presented with a gift of money. Games were played and many won prizes. A door prize was won by Mrs. Neil Adam.

 Refreshments were served by Mrs. Devost, and included a prettily decorated birthday cake presented to Mrs. Crawford. As the "gang" sang the birthday song, Mrs. Crawford made the initial cut.
 The next party will be held on May 28 at the home of Mrs. Neil Adam.

Annual Cadet Corps Inspection Held

Lt. Col. S. V. Radley-Walters, D.S.O., M.C., C.D., a graduate of Bishop's College School, inspected the schools No. 2 Cadet Corps yesterday afternoon.

The program although shortened because rain forced it to be held indoors, was still very impressive.

Accompanying Lt. Col. Radley-Walters were Maj. Douglas Ward, commanding officer of the Sherbrooke Regiment; Eric T. Webster, a governor of the school; Ogden Glass, Headmaster; Fred Baldwin; R. R. McLernon, Vice Chairman of the school's board of directors and Lt. Charles Lamontaigne, Cadet training Officer.

The program included, in addition to the inspection, a march past in column of route, a band demonstration, the presentation of awards by Lt. Col. Radley-Walters, an advance in review order and an address by the inspecting officer.

A march past in line, a training demonstration and a gym demonstration were cancelled because of rain.

Col. Radley-Walters, in his address to the cadets, congratulated them on their appearance and the skill they had shown in the various drill manoeuvres. He told them that they were fortunate to be going to Bishop's and to be in the Cadet Corps. His own training at the school, he said, has been beneficial to him all his life.

Lt. Col. Radley-Walters, Commanding Officer 1/8th Canadian Hussars (Princess Louise's) is a former CO of the Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment which he commanded in Europe during World War II. He retained command until the regiment was disbanded as a regular unit after the war.

Four Accused Sentenced To Time In Jail

Judge Joseph Marier exercised clemency when a number of men appeared before him in Court of Sessions yesterday for sentencing on a variety of theft charges. For the most part they were released with sentences that amounted to time spent in jail.

Gilles Brette, of Sherbrooke, found guilty five weeks ago of stealing a $50 bicycle from a 14-year old boy, was released with a five-week sentence to date from the time of his incarceration.

Roger Auger, 21, and Jean-Claude Roy, 19 both of East Angus, who pleaded guilty May 8 to nine charges of thefts from parked cars amounting to $135 were also released with the time spent in jail.

Marcel Goulette, of Notre Dame de Ham, who pleaded guilty to a charge of damaging private property on the night of April 12, was also freed with a sentence of three days — the time he spent in the local prison.

Physique of children up to 14 years old in Japan last year was reported better than the highest pre-war standards.

OPINION...

by Gerald McDuff

A wolf escaped from the Sherbrooke zoo last Tuesday.

A week before, a lioness escaped from a zoo in Nanaimo, B. C., with much more serious consequences. An eight-year-old girl was killed.

There's a connection between the incidents.

In B. C., the zoo owner (it was a private enterprise) was charged with criminal negligence mainly for not having reported the lioness' escape.

He considered the beast harmless.

Whether zoo officials in Sherbrooke shared the same view is not known but their reluctance to give a general alarm was equally foolish.

Reports say that only the farmers in the immediate surroundings heard of the danger and this was by word-of-mouth.

Between the time the animal left the grounds, around 5:30, and the time it was shot, 8:30, it could have travelled to a heavily populated area of the city.

As it was still early in the day, there might have been children around. There could have been a tragedy.

Perhaps the zoo officials were just being cautious by not giving a general alarm. Maybe they did not want to cause panic. Perhaps they thought the beast was to be captured in a short time.

Perhaps, may-be and ifs, are all that became of the situation.

The wolf, by the way, wasn't a minor league. It took two men to leave the carcass on a table.

As a parting conjecture, let's remember that the next time, (and let's hope there isn't) it may be an escaped bear.

A bit of public panic could mean saving a person's life.

The Lennoxville Town Council's approach to the park project is sane and democratic.

Yesterday was the closing day for all organizations to present their nominees for membership on the executive committee to administer the park.

The disgruntled elements of the population, whatever their reasons for complaining, will have a say.

The Lennoxville St. Jean Baptiste Society demanded representation.

In a nutshell: they did not want a non-sectarian organization supervising their children. It was the Lennoxville Optimist Club which originally, and solely, offered to manage the park.

The Society's criticism is an indication of increasing gibes at service clubs, especially in the field of children's recreation.

The criticisms are always couched in high toned phrases and usually refer to something about corrupting or controlling or influencing the youngsters' morals.

Of course, it has rarely been noted that as far as morals go, service clubs are one of the best mainstays against juvenile delinquency; that there is many a family in Sherbrooke which might have starved were it not for the service clubs (this is usually referred to as "charity" in religious parlance) and that service clubs demand that their members be upstanding citizens.

When a youngster is tossing a ball he is not liable to be listening to lengthy dissertations on comparative religion, Communism or the hygienic value of nudism.

The morals argument is just so much frippery.

The Portland Square traffic lights are operating full time now.

A few adjustments to the timing is perhaps all that is needed to put the finishing touches.

Not only are the lights useful but in the dark of the night they are also decorative.

English Nurse At Local Hospital Carries Unusual Symbolic Items

(The Sherbrooke Hospital is at present conducting a campaign for $50,000. The following article is one of a series dealing with the hospital and those who work in it.)

By BARBARA WARK

Two maple leaves adorn the emblematic buckle on the belt of one of the nurses at the Sherbrooke Hospital.

But they have no connection with the Canadian maple leaf.

The symbolism, the belt and the nurse are English.

Elisabeth Baker is the nurse. She's been at the hospital almost a year now, having come from London last June.

The belt she explained is received by graduates of the University College Hospital in London (affiliated with the University of London before National Health).

Ordinarily graduates receive pins — as they do at the Sherbrooke Hospital. But this is one hospital where they don't.

Miss Baker said. The blue belt with its distinctive pewter buckle is the sole mark of a UCH graduate (and one of which they are extremely proud).

The pin at Miss Baker's throat means that she is a member of the University College Hospital Nurses' League, an organization, equivalent somewhat to our alumnae groups. After completing a fourth year as a graduate nurse (they pass their exams after three years as here) they are invited to join the League. Almost 90% of the graduates stay for the four years, Miss Baker said.

The two maple leaves appearing in the upper corners of the buckle are in recognition of one of the hospital's founders, a Mr. Maple. He left a large bequest specifying that the hospital was to take in all colors, creeds and religions. Most hospitals were

MISS MARJORIE LAMB, will address an open meeting at St. Peter's Church Memorial Hall on Tuesday, at 8:30 p.m. on "The War Of Ideas—Are We Meeting It?"

Miss Lamb is the founder of the Anti-Communist Alert Service which informs Canadians on communist developments in Canada and communist front organizations operating within the country.

Most recently, Miss Lamb has concerned herself with the fact that new Canadians find it difficult to reconcile with their own experience, the apparent Canadian tolerance towards communism.

Miss Lamb's visit to Sherbrooke is under the auspices of the Municipal Chapter of Sherbrooke, I.O.O.F.

THE BLUE BELT DISTINGUISHES NURSE BAKER'S UNIFORM

run by denominational groups up to this time (around 1837) Miss Baker explained.

Below the leaves is the ship of learning on the sea of knowledge and the ship's sail has the medical serpent. "Let reason be your guide", is an approximate translation of the motto, Ratione Dirige Cursum, according to the graduate.

Miss Baker trained in one of Britain's largest hospitals (over 1000 beds) but she chose to come to the Sherbrooke Hospital because it was small. She works in the operating room.

"There's a greater feeling of being needed in a small hospital," she said. "In a large one, you're one of many and easily replaced."

The nurse from Newcastle-on-Tyne said she likes Canada and wants to stay over here for three or four years, but not permanently. The nurse shortage is just as acute in England as it is here she stated.

Following her graduation in 1954, Miss Baker did post-graduate work in operating room and also took a six-months course in midwifery to be eligible to work in Canada as the nurses don't get the maternity training in their regular course as the Canadian girls do. The full 12-month course allows the nurse to practice midwifery in England.

Miss Baker is one of seven nurses from England who are at present on the hospital's nursing staff in addition to two from Europe and a number from other Canadian centres.

Three young men under 20, who pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing $200 worth of pigs from the Servite Fathers, of Ayer's Cliff, a week ago, received their sentences in Court of Sessions yesterday morning from Judge J. Marier.

Two of the accused who had no previous record, received a one month jail sentence each after the judge said that such a robbery was a pre-meditated act.

The other young man, received a four-month jail sentence after the judge found out that this was the third time that he was appearing for theft.

Man Eats Steak Again After 17 Years

BY GERALD MCDUFF

Gaetan Fauteux is blasé about eating steak.

So what? Would you be nonchalant if you had eaten this week your first meat in 17 years?

Thirteen days ago, a surgeon made it possible for Mr. Fauteux to chomp on a piece of meat again the first time since he burned his esophagus with sulphuric acid when he was 10 years-old. He is 27 now.

Mr. Fauteux did not seem especially impressed yesterday as he dug into a meal of filet mignon garnished with creamed potatoes.

But then maybe it's because he hasn't quite got over initial surprise of flavoring meat again.

"C'est bon," he said noncommittally. "It taste like meat," he shrugged.

Mr. Fauteux was going through a trial run, one of several last week.

Reporters and photographers were squeezed into the semi-private room at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital along with Mrs. Fauteux, three nurses and a nursing nun to witness the feat.

Was Mrs. Fauteux happy now that her husband could eat meat? "It is as much a relief for me as it is for him," she replied. As

Smothering The Individual

In recent months some observers have commented with some force on the dominance of the Group in so many of our activities.

Government is a kind of group to which we are all beholden in ways not common a few decades ago. We are taxed and regulated and managed in considerable areas of our lives by federal, provincial and local authorities.

Whether we live in city, or town or country, other parts of our lives are affected by group doings. Particularly is this so in the larger cities and suburbs.

In both school and playtime, children are taught to blend with the Group, to join in group doings. The tendency to organize is seen in juvenile gangs, which in turn reflect the criminal combinations of the adult world.

Of course much good flows from group organization. It can spell order, regularity, some measure at least of discipline, security. It can satisfy man's need to belong, to be accepted and protected.

The difficulty is that so much organization, such wide-spread allegiance to the Group, can smother his individuality. It can make him timid, afraid to rebel against set ways of living, complacent behind the Group's stout shield.

If what the Group does, what the Group authorizes and approves, represents "normality," then the man who fails to join or departs from group thinking is odd, non-conformist, sometimes a nuisance, now and then even dangerous.

In Canada so engulfed by Group standards and doings, the true individualist is becoming a rarer and rarer species. Most men find rebellion risky and costly. They yield to the pressures to "play along."

Yet this country was pioneered by rebels, individualists with the nerve and the energy to burst bonds and strike out alone. The same kind of men built the nation.

Bishop's Honors Famous Canadians

Once again Bishop's University has sought to honor leaders in various branches of Canadian endeavor in conferring honorary degrees at its annual convocation this June. The six men selected this year are leaders in federal and provincial government, the church, industry and medicine.

Rt. Hon. John Diefenbaker, Prime Minister of Canada, who will deliver the convocation address and will be the recipient of a degree, has proved himself one of the most dynamic leaders in the story of Canadian politics, having achieved almost unbelievable success since his nomination as leader of the Progressive Conservative party less than two years ago.

Dr. Camille Pouliot, Provincial Minister of Game and Fisheries, is numbered among the oldest members of the Quebec legislature in point of service. He was elected to the Provincial House in 1936 and has served as a cabinet minister for the past 14 years.

Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, typifies the "rags-to-riches" story that has become an integral part of Canadian life.

One of the leaders in the Canadian pulp and paper industry, Percy M. Fox, has proved a valuable friend to Bishop's and his efforts did much to assure the success of the recent expansion drive.

Bishop W. W. Davis is a native of the Eastern Townships and a graduate of Bishop's who has advanced steadily in church circles, culminating in his recent election as coadjutor bishop of Halifax.

Representing the field of medicine, Dr. Arthur R. Elvidge has won an enviable reputation as one of Canada's leading neural surgeons. The worldwide scope of the appreciation in which he is held by his colleagues is evidenced by the fact he will deliver an address in Helsinki, Finland, only two days before receiving the Bishop's degree.

Year Of The Pop Fly

It takes a while each season for major league baseball to develop any real continuity. Announcements of rain, cold and wet grounds seem almost more numerous than scores.

This year the disjointed feeling is greater than ever. With the Dodgers in Los Angeles and the Giants in San Francisco, the whole baseball scene has an unhinged quality about it.

Eastern papers are carrying line scores of games in afternoon editions of the following day. Ball teams are flying about the country like mobile task forces.

Out in Los Angeles the biggest news is not the feats of the Dodgers but a 42-foot-high screen which converts gentle, floating pop flies into left field home runs. Everybody hopes the National League race isn't decided by that monstrosity.

It's a funny, unstrung sort of year. But maybe it will ravel up some warm day when Ted Williams bangs four straight or Lew Burdette plasters the opposition with a two-hit whitewash.

OBJECT TO GREY CUP JAUNT OUTLAY

(From the Vancouver Sun) Most of Vancouver's ratepayers will agree wholeheartedly with the protests of aldermen at the bill that has come in from the city's 1957 Grey Cup parade committee.

It now appears that the committee, which went to Toronto with $19,985 in its pocket, including $6,000 of civic and another $6,000 of provincial money, overspent that tidy amount by $3,652, and the city may have to pick up the tab.

At the time this newspaper protested against the spending of public money for the Toronto shenanigans and questioned whether the cutting-up would serve its alleged purpose of attracting centennial-year visitors to British Columbia.

Now the bill is in and we find, with no particular pride, that we were right.

Half the cost of the float is still unpaid, but what has been paid includes some jolly little items—$175.05 for instance, for "supplies" delivered to the committee's hotel; $100 for a "reception" in Ottawa; even 42 cents to the bank for a debt memo.

We see no reason at all why the ratepayers should be expected to make up the deficit. Let the committee find its own $3,652.

Saturday's Sermon

What Now?

By REV. B. S. MURRAY, M.A.

"Halt! Halt! Who goes there?" When I turned on my radio this morning these were the first words I heard. I smiled for I was thinking about halting places as good to think back from and equally good places to plan for further journeys.

Well, May 15th last was Holy Thursday which the Church observed as marking the triumphant return to heaven of Christ's earthly sojourn which began thirty three years before at Bethlehem. Now that Christ had completed His earthly work as Redeemer, a new chapter, namely that of our heavenly Intercessor at the right hand of God the Father began where still for us HE intercedes. His prevailing death HE pleads.

"A GLIMPSE"

Then, too, the Church on Ascension Day affords us a glimpse of the glory that shall be when we shall be near our Forerunner, Jesus, who has gone on before to prepare a place for you and me. Did He not to His Father say: "I will that where I am, there also may be?" And we cherish the immortal hope that that as we were made by and for God, we shall eventually sit with Jesus in heavenly places, and thereby achieve the ascension of man.

I regret that the festival of the Ascension of Our Lord is not observed as some others are. It should be for it marks the final act in the Drama of Redemption as far as earth and time go. As such I regard the day and the ascensiontide season a good halting place to review events which led up to that great act. For since last November with Advent Sunday the Church has been emphasizing the historical facts of the Life of Our Lord. Wise indeed are all who now pause to refresh their minds, at the same time asking "WHAT NOW?" In such a receptive, expectant mood they will assuredly hear the Voice Divine bidding us to forward go and with pentecostal power endowed, apply these truths during the ensuing weeks of Trinitytide.

WHAT A STORY!

If ever there were a surprising story, this story of Jesus is certainly one. In fact there are some who regard it as fantastic; "rubbish" is their word. And here I quote Dorothy L. Sayers: "Now we may call that story exhilarating or we may call it evasive; we may call it revelation or we may call it rubbish; but if we call it dull, then words have no meaning at all." You no doubt recall that those who heard it first said it was news and GOOD NEWS at that; though we are apt to forget that the word Gospel never meant anything so sensational.

Suppose then, you were reading that STORY for the first time, would you admit that each event, by itself, is world-shaking, upsetting the very foundations of the normal order?

A Child is born of a Virgin on such a disastrous course. But it is, and should be, a matter of principle with the new Conservative Government to preserve Canada's national identity and interests in her relations with her gigantic neighbor, and to emphasize to the American people the part which Canada plays in this partnership. There is a great need for such an effort.

and That Child is God. That Child, grown up, is hanged as a common criminal, and yet His followers hail Him as King of ALL Things. He is dead and buried and yet HE is said to have risen again from the dead.

Difficult, I know, is it to set the climax of such a series of happenings, the climax, in fact, of the Christian year. Is it at Christmas in the wonder of the Incarnation of Christ? or on Good Friday, in the mystery of the Cross? or at Easter, in the miracle of the Resurrection? at Ascensiontide, in the glory of the return of the redeeming risen Lord to the heavenly places from which He came? or at Whitsuntide when the unrestricted power of God enters the world through the words and actions of ordinary men and women, speaking and acting, as they claimed in the power of their risen Lord?

Be that as it may, the whole story is one of going on, of following the King of Glory along the royal road that carries still the savour of His suffering as surely as it leads to His throne. THE ASCENSIONAL WAY.

Tell it out, O Church of the risen, ascended glorified Jesus, that whosoever applies these doctrines of Christ to his daily living sets out on a holy expedition. THE adventure tremendous and by putting his hand into the all powerful Hand of God walks triumphantly along the Ascensional Road.

Now this is a way of life, with the accent on new heights of perfection and power which will eventually lead to a perfect union with the life of the Eternal Son of God. Such a life is a progressive spiritual advance from hope to hope, from faith to faith, yes, from strength to strength. Gradual, we add, with many gradations and rising to no assignable close.

Naturally there will be obstacles and slight regressions but these should challenge us to go on to perfection for new and better growth is before us; a fresher, a diviner, a more enthusiastic life awaits us.

Here then, is a summons to you to follow Christ the King of Glory all the way, knowing that the higher the ascent, the higher the possibilities of ascent. Here, too, is a clarion call to share with others, Jesus the Saviour and Friend of men, my brethren, as well as His special way of life which is built, rooted, and grounded in love. To make this practicable, you must keep on climbing so that you, with others also may ascend and dwell with God in glory. Surely the contemplation of this wonderful experience fills our inmost hearts with an unspeakable joy, making all the graces fresh and green. CLIMB!

With thy eyes fixed on JESUS ONLY — none else — none other, climb. Jesus ONLY is the Way, the Truth and the Life and no man cometh to the Father but by HIM (John 14:6) So through thick and thin, then at a cost of need be of all that men cherish, ascend with Christ! And forget not that the standard of perfection set by Him for your attaining will be always beyond your reach, over your head; there will always be fresh heights for ascending. But "thine ears shall hear a voice saying This is the way, walk ye in it;

He isn't. He is a criminal—a modern criminal who has never used gun, jimmy, knife or black-jack. Perhaps he has never taken an active part in a crime. But "organizers" of this kind have become a major feature of London's underworld and a considerable thorn in the side of Scotland Yard.

Big-time, organized crime is relatively new to London. It is something the "Bobbies" can't do much about. Even the Scotland Yard specialists are finding this modern approach to crime an increasingly difficult problem.

The pattern was set in 1952, when seven men ambushed a post-office truck and got away with the equivalent of $500,000. The money never has been recovered, the thieves never apprehended. It was a brilliant piece of criminal planning and ushered in an era of get-rich-quick robberies.

Consider two recent jobs, thought by many to be the work of the same gang because both involved rented vehicles.

In the first, the driver of a rented truck was kidnapped while on his way to a bank in Threadneedle Street in the heart of London's banking district. A substitute driver then picked up $48, 000 ($120,400) and two guards assigned to travel with the money. Minutes later, in a quiet lane, the driver stopped the truck. His cohorts appeared on the scene, subdued the guards, transferred the money to another truck and drove into obscurity.

Two days later, a shipping firm hired a car and driver to transport the equivalent of $19,000 in New Zealand bills to a New Zealand-bound ship. When the driver reached the firm's office, he was met outside, handed a package to deliver and sent off on a wild goose chase.

Once rid of the legitimate chauffeur, the gang's duplicate car arrived at the office. This car soon was heading for the London docks, with the $19,000 in the trunk and the gang's driver at the wheel, accompanied by two cashiers.

En route, the car stopped on a quiet street and the driver said his motor needed minor repairs. He stepped out of the car, was joined by two accomplices, and they proceeded to break into the locked trunk. The cashiers, suspicious by now, tried to get out, found themselves locked in. All the door handles had been unscrewed. The thieves made a clean getaway.

Both cases showed evidence of split-second planning, scarcely the work of old-line, "Jimmy and cloth cap" criminals. "We know these men were not the brains behind this crime" has become a common statement by detectives following arrests.

Often, established criminals have been the actual "workmen" on a job. And it is this combina-

THOU ART THE WAY
Thou art the Way; to Thee alone
From sin and death we flee,
And he who would the Father seek,
Must seek Him, Lord, by Thee.

Thou art the Truth; Thy Word alone
Sound wisdom can impart;
Thou only canst inform the mind,
And purify the heart.

Thou art the Life; the rending tomb

And those who put their trust in Thee
Nor death nor hell shall harm.

Thou art the Way, the Truth, the Life;

That Truth to keep, that Life to win
Whose joys forever flow.

"THOU ART THE WAY, TO THEE ALONE"

Bishop George Washington Doane, one of America's great nineteenth century church leaders, was the author of this grand old hymn. It appeared in a volume of "Songs By The Way" in 1824. Another popular hymn, "Softly Now The Light Of Day," made its bow in the same collection.

Bishop Doane was born at Trenton, New Jersey on May 27, 1799 and because this was the year that Washington died, he was named after the first president. The young lad who was destined to become an illustrious churchman and hymnist had a brilliant career from the start. At 19 he was graduated with honors from Union College. After a brief spell of teaching, he became pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church in Boston, a pulpit which later was to be occupied by the famous preacher, Phillips Brooks. At 33, he was named bishop of New Jersey and he held that post until his death in 1859.

The young hymnist was only 25 when he brought out his precious collection of "Hymns By The Way." Twenty-four years later, in 1848, he wrote another matchless hymn, "Flying Out The Banner," when students of an eastern girls' school asked him to turn out some verses appropriate for a flag-raising ceremony.

SACRIFICE BID PANS OUT WELL

Take a look at the South hand only. The game is duplicate and East has raised West's opening heart bid to two.

Duplicate or not, you certainly should try a bid of sorts and your best choice is to bid two spades in spite of the nine-high suit. West jumps to four hearts and the bid is back to you again. Now, what do you do?

When Myrna Verner of Tahoka, Tex., held this hand she decided to bid four spades. Her opponents had bid decisively and confidently and it appeared to her that they would be able to make their contract. In that case they would score at least 620 points and Myrna could afford to take a three-trick set.

If West had chosen to go on to five hearts, Myrna's gamble would have done her no good. North would have opened the ace of spades and West would have made five odd.

As it was, West chose to double and opened the king of hearts. Myrna ruffed that lead and played ace and one spade. With trumps breaking three-two, she was able to escape with the loss of two trump tricks, one club and one diamond and had managed to save a game at the trifling cost of 100 points. A mighty good result in any type of bridge game.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner now bids five spades. What do you do?
Answer Tuesday

your affections on things above (Col. 3:2) you must commit your way unto Him Who is your Strength, your Guide, your Wisdom, your ALL as you walk along the Road of Life in newness of Life (Romans 6:4) and travelling along the ASCENSIONAL WAY with your Companion, Christ, Who loved you and gave Himself for you (Gal. 2:20) He will, in addition to making known to you the ways of life (Acts 2:28) give you His personal assurance that it is His intention to receive you finally to Himself so that you may be where He is and dwell for ever with the Lord (John 14:3)

"Lift up your hearts";
"We lift them up unto the Lord."

Modern British Criminal Baffles Police

By ALLEN HUNTER

LONDON (Reuters) — He wears the English gentleman's traditional black suit and black bowler hat, and he carries an umbrella.

He speaks flawless English, is intelligent, resourceful and confident.

He might be a lawyer, a dentist, or a bank manager.

He isn't. He is a criminal—a modern criminal who has never used gun, jimmy, knife or black-jack. Perhaps he has never taken an active part in a crime. But "organizers" of this kind have become a major feature of London's underworld and a considerable thorn in the side of Scotland Yard.

Big-time, organized crime is relatively new to London. It is something the "Bobbies" can't do much about. Even the Scotland Yard specialists are finding this modern approach to crime an increasingly difficult problem.

The pattern was set in 1952, when seven men ambushed a post-office truck and got away with the equivalent of $500,000. The money never has been recovered, the thieves never apprehended. It was a brilliant piece of criminal planning and ushered in an era of get-rich-quick robberies.

Consider two recent jobs, thought by many to be the work of the same gang because both involved rented vehicles.

In the first, the driver of a rented truck was kidnapped while on his way to a bank in Threadneedle Street in the heart of London's banking district. A substitute driver then picked up $48, 000 ($120,400) and two guards assigned to travel with the money.

Minutes later, in a quiet lane, the driver stopped the truck. His cohorts appeared on the scene, subdued the guards, transferred the money to another truck and drove into obscurity.

Two days later, a shipping firm hired a car and driver to transport the equivalent of $19,000 in New Zealand bills to a New Zealand-bound ship. When the driver reached the firm's office, he was met outside, handed a package to deliver and sent off on a wild goose chase.

Once rid of the legitimate chauffeur, the gang's duplicate car arrived at the office. This car soon was heading for the London docks, with the $19,000 in the trunk and the gang's driver at the wheel, accompanied by two cashiers.

En route, the car stopped on a quiet street and the driver said his motor needed minor repairs. He stepped out of the car, was joined by two accomplices, and they proceeded to break into the locked trunk. The cashiers, suspicious by now, tried to get out, found themselves locked in. All the door handles had been unscrewed. The thieves made a clean getaway.

Both cases showed evidence of split-second planning, scarcely the work of old-line, "Jimmy and cloth cap" criminals. "We know these men were not the brains behind this crime" has become a common statement by detectives following arrests.

Often, established criminals have been the actual "workmen" on a job. And it is this combina-

Matter of FACT

In addition to the Vatican City, there is another independent state within Italy—the Republic of San Marino, on the east coast, near the Adriatic Sea. Only 23 square miles in area with a population of about 13,500, San Marino was founded in the fourth century by a group of Christians escaping religious persecution.

Over 200 Rebekahs and Oddfellows representing lodges and jurisdictions in Quebec, Ontario, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine and Rhode Island, gathered in the New Sherbrooke Hotel last night for the annual convention banquet and dance.

This event is a highlight of the two-day sessions which culminate today with the election of officers in the Rebekah Assembly of Quebec and the Grand Lodge of Quebec. Officers for the Grand Encampment of Quebec were elected yesterday and will be announced with the others.

Mrs. Beatrice Dever, of Montreal, president of the International Association of Rebekah Assemblies, was guest speaker at the banquet, with Rev. Eldon Buckland, Sov. Grand Lodge Chaplain of Vermont.

Eric French, of Sawyerville, student delegate to the U. N. Youth Pilgrimage, gave the speech, "What the United Nations Means to Me", which won him the trip sponsored by local lodges.

The Sherbrooke branch of the McGill Graduates' Society will hear Dean Donald L. Mordell of the Faculty of Engineering of McGill University, at the summer meeting at North Hatley on May 31.

Dr. Mordell will speak on "Education for the Space Age." The demands of new developments and their impact upon the education of future engineers, both as technicians and as human beings, will be discussed.

Tropical Isle No Paradise

VANCOUVER (CP)—Life on a glamorous tropical island turned out to be a rugged experience for Kent Shelby, 23, of Long Beach, Calif.

Shelby was winner of the tiny island of Yawalu, near Lautoka, Fiji, in a limerick contest sponsored by a U.S. film corporation.

In addition to life ownership of the island, the prize included a first-class return trip by the Orient Steamship Line, a hut on the island, an outboard motor and food and furniture for two weeks.

So Shelby and his pal, Douglas Howard, 27, took possession of his island "paradise."

DR. D. L. MORDELL

DEISENCHANTMENT

However, said Shelby, he had not been informed there was no water on the island, there was no boat for the motor, and there was no return Orient liner for two months.

At the end of two weeks their furniture was repossessed by the hotel on Fiji which had lent it, and they had to sell their outboard for food.

"A tropical isle is wonderful," said Shelby, who arrived here Thursday on the Orient liner Orsova, "if you have enough to eat."

"There was nothing on our island but a mangrove swamp, and it was too rough to fish. When they took our beds away, we slept on palm branches."

"We tried to get back to Lautoka in a canoe but it sank under us. We would have drowned if we hadn't been rescued by some Fijian fishermen."

CBC, WI Winners Of Citizenship Awards

OTTAWA (CP)—Five Canadian organizations Friday night received one of Canada's most unique awards—plush, inscribed beaver pelts for outstanding contributions to citizenship during the last 10 years.

Recipients of the awards were the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs, the Canadian Library Association, the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada and Visites Interprovinciales, an organization promoting better understanding between the French and English cultures.

The Citizenship Awards were presented at the Canadian Citizenship Council's annual meeting by Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, honorary president.

The pelts, selected from northern Quebec's finest, are inscribed on the skin side with the name of the winning organization. They may be hung like a plaque.

CBC "FAIRNESS"

Under the new rules, the publicly-owned CBC was eligible for an award, for its "fairness and impartiality as the medium of public control, for maintenance of both English and French-language networks with high program standards, and for sustained encouragement to the expression of Canadian talent and ideas."

The Canadian Institute on Public Affairs has "contributed in a notable way to serious thought about public issues; in doing so it has aided the process by which Canadians are identifying themselves and deciding what they stand for," the award citation said.

The 99,999-member Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, founded in 1897, received the award for its "long and impressive record in improving home and community life."

The Canadian Library Association received the award for its work for "higher standards of library service and improved tools for the librarian's job."

The CIA was termed "one of the most lively and useful national organizations in Canada."

VISITS INTERCHANGED

Visites Interprovinciales, founded 20 years ago by an Upper Canada College history teacher, is a voluntary organization which arranges an interchange of home visits between French and English speaking students. Nearly 1,000 visits are expected to be arranged this summer.

The organization has "convincingly demonstrated what can be done by organized voluntary effort in promoting mutual understanding and appreciation between the two main language-culture groups in Canada," read the citation.

The winners were chosen by a panel of six judges headed by Dr. John E. Robbins of Ottawa. ADV FOR 8 p.m. ADT TONIGHT

Pfiflin cautiously gave the generals in Algeria the benefit of the doubt, "I am ready to admit without knowing details that they thought they were obeying their duty," he said.

But the rebellious committee of public safety sent a telegram to President Rene Coty saying: "Our determination is unshakable and all forces of French Algeria will remain joined and united until final victory."

A mob of about 20,000 Algerians and Moslem women marched from the Casbah (native quarter) into the European sector of Algiers Friday night to shout support for Salan and de Gaulle. Placards said the militia was organized by the Casbah's own public safety committee.

The Casbah long was a stronghold of Algerian nationalist terrorism, but severe repression by Massu's paratroopers is believed to have cleaned out most vocal opponents of France.

MAN EATS FIRST

a matter of fact, Mr. Fauteux used to cook the steaks for her although he couldn't eat meat, Mrs. Fauteux explained.

During the 17 years that followed the acid burning he was unable to swallow solids. He lived mostly on fruit juices.

Thue nursing nun warned him not to eat too quickly. She told him he did not have to eat everything.

She explained his meals would become bulkier as he regained the use of his throat.

This man's newly regained ability came about oddly.

The doctor who had treated Mr. Fauteux as a boy for acid burns heard of his present state.

He contacted Mr. Fauteux and convinced him that an operation had good chances of success.

Mr. Fauteux thought about the offer and then decided to take six months off from his job as bakery truck driver.

Following the operation, a hospital bulletin read as follows: "Mr. Gaetan Fauteux was admitted to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital for thoracic surgery.

"Monday morning he underwent a very delicate operation of the esophagus which proved to be a frank success.

"Aside from unforeseen complications, Mr. Fauteux should recover quickly and he will be able, like everyone else, to eat solid foods."

Mr. Fauteux's present condition seems to vouch for the bulletin.

The doctor who performed the operation, the man behind Mr. Fauteux's new life prefers to remain anonymous.

Asians Benefit Greatly In Aussie Universities

By RONALD FORD
MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Australia is fast becoming, through the Colombo Plan, a kind of family doctor to underdeveloped countries in Southeast Asia.

Asian students, doctors and research workers striving to improve their home living standards are gaining experience and degrees under the plan at Australia's hospitals and research centres.

Medical men here say the scheme is achieving great success.

Australia learned in the First World War the danger of a sudden cut in supplies of essential vaccines. It therefore developed its own Commonwealth serum laboratories in Melbourne.

SMALL BEGINNING
The establishment grew from a couple of shacks and a handful of research workers in 1918 to a production centre today employing 900 people.

The laboratories began by producing smallpox, diphtheria and influenza vaccine. Today they have a wide range of biological products.

They meet Australia's requirements for products for human and veterinary use, export some items to New Zealand and could supply certain vaccines to other countries in emergencies, says the controller of the development section, F. J. Dempster.

The present director, Dr. P. L. Blazey, worked with Dr. Jonas Salk in the United States on the development of the Salk polio vaccine. Australia later was one of the first countries to produce large quantities of effective polio vaccine.

When the Asian influenza epidemic swept the world from the East last year, Australia produced a reliable vaccine. The laboratories have enough vaccine on hand to deal with any new outbreak of Asian flu, Dempster said.

IN MANY FIELDS
Australia now takes part in the free interchange of information among the leading medical scientists and research workers of the Western world.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gleason Painter were Mr. and Mrs. Lionel McKee and family of St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Painter of Lennoxville.

Mrs. Fraser McLeod and two children of Drummondville spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maple Westgate.

Heirloom Treasures Featured At St. Andrew's Spring Tea

A James Moore dictionary, printed in Dublin in 1793 was one of the interesting antiques in the display featured at the Spring Tea and sale held by the Ladies Aid of St. Andrew's Church on Thursday afternoon.

Shown to advantage on the stage of the church hall, these heirlooms were treasured pieces loaned by local families for this event. Bringing back memories of Scotland and England was a lovely old bedwarmer, the pan being of delicately engraved brass. In this modern country of central heating, it is a thing of beauty to be admired, but in the old days, and perhaps still in the draughty old castles, it had a practical use. Filled with hot coals, it was run up and

Which Marriage Will Last? Outsiders Seldom Can Tell

The Browns have bickered and quarrelled for years, not even letting the presence of other people slow them down. You'd never think of describing them as a happily married couple.

The Whites, on the other hand, had always seemed to be in ideal couple. No one ever heard them disagree — much less show any sign of irritation with each other.

So it was quite a shock to their mutual friends when the Whites got a divorce a few years ago, while the Browns are still squabbling their way through a marriage that will probably never break up.

LADD — DUMOULIN

MONTREAL — The marriage of Madeline Evelyn Dumoulin, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Osias Dumoulin, of Montreal, formerly of Scotstown, Que., and LAC Gerald Ladd, R. C. A. F., Ottawa, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ladd, of Scotstown, Que., took place recently in Notre Dame du Rosaire Church, Montreal. Rev. Father Gagnon officiated. Lilies and yellow and white chrysanthemums were used to decorate the church and vocal selections were rendered during the ceremony by the bride's sister and brother, Miss Denise Dumoulin and Mr. Emile Dumoulin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk organza fashioned with a fitted bodice and long sleeves. Her veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Miss Therese Dumoulin, as maid of honor for her sister, was gowned in a ballerina dress of aqua silk organza over taffeta, styled similar to that worn by the bride. She wore a matching coronet and carried a colonial bouquet of blue baby mums.

LAC Mike Bridger, R. C. A. F., Ottawa, Ont., acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. Gilles Choquette, of La Patrie and Mr. Robert Ladd, of Montreal.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Dumoulin, chose a grey-blue lace dress with beige hat and accessories, with which she wore a mink stole and corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Ladd, mother of the groom, was attired in a flowered silk dress and matching shade duster and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the R.C.A.F. reception hall on St. Joseph Boulevard. The bride's table was attractively arranged with spring flowers and centered with a two-tier wedding cake.

Later LAC Ladd and Mrs. Ladd left for a wedding trip in Washington, New York, Boston and other interesting points in the U. S. A., the bride wearing a blue fitted suit and a corsage of red roses.

LAC Ladd left on May 14 for a year's duty with the United Nations Eastern Forces in Egypt and during his absence Mrs. Ladd will reside with her parents in Montreal.

Guests were present at the wedding from Sherbrooke, Scotstown, La Patrie, Lachine, St. Anne de Bellevue and Marieville, Que., and from Boston, Mass.

Fashion

The woman who can be well dressed from one suitcase is not just a woman who knows how to pack. She's also a woman who knows how to buy. She will pick a short, floaty evening gown in preference to a full-skirted beauty because she knows it will get her through many an evening away from home.

Narrow spaces behind stoves or between cabinets can be rescued with a little ingenuity. Use a thin, long strip of wood, perhaps a discarded yardstick, to reach into awkward areas. Glue sponges on the stick and use a brush for tight spots.

Ever notice the butcher making slits in fat around the edges of steaks, and chops? Perhaps he hasn't explained why he does this. It is a definite cooking aid. You can do it yourself before broiling so the meat will lie flat and thus cook evenly.

Homemaking

Fabric slippers often look bedraggled after being washed. One way to help them keep their shape and look better after several washings is to stuff them with a washcloth. Pin to clothesline.

Who knows why a seemingly discontented couple may stick together for a lifetime and a supposedly contented couple one day find life together unbearable?

Nobody but the marriage partners really know why. And it's a waste of time for anybody else to even try to guess.

For there is no one pattern for a lasting marriage. One couple may quarrel for 50 years while another may be ready to call it quits the first time they get angry enough to bring their hidden dissatisfactions to the surface.

Beauty Tips

Selecting correct shades of cosmetics is difficult. The key is to know the colors that match your skin tone. Warm hues, generally, are best for skins with other or olive tints while pink or reddish complexions take cool tone colors.

Rubbing alcohol may be used to help check excessive perspiration of feet. After bathing, massage feet with the alcohol. Apply hand lotion and then an antiseptic powder.

U.K. Weekly Rivals In Unique Joint Appeal

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP) — The rival British weeklies, the Spectator and the New Statesman, are as unlike as a vintage champagne and a liqueur whisky. Both are delightful, but the taste is dissimilar.

The Spectator generally views the political scene from the right of centre, while the New Statesman glowers unceasingly from the left. But they have two things in common—both cater to intelligent, thought-thirsty readers and both are concerned about the financial problems confronting minority journals in an age of mass circulation.

Now the two rivals have launched an unprecedented joint appeal to advertisers and advertising agencies asking for adequate support to allow them to continue to fulfill their role. The appeal is in the form of a letter, signed jointly by the managing directors of the two publications, sent to 600 directors of 200 leading agencies. The letter says in part:

WEEKLIES UNIQUE

"The 'serious' weeklies are a peculiarly British institution, whose variety and influence at home and abroad, no other country can match. They are a part of our cultural heritage and every serious-minded person must deplore any thinning of their ranks. "Mass circulation papers exercise important functions, but a democratic way of life can only be preserved if independent journals serving the intelligent minority also continue to flourish. Our readers are the country's leaders and opinion-formers—in politics and business, in the universities and schools; they look to us, not to the 'populars' for stimulation in forming their own opinions."

The letter says the two publications are in a sound financial position but need the assurance of adequate support. They particularly appeal for more consideration in the fields of quality consumer goods and prestige and institutional advertising.

The combined circulation of the two weeklies is just over the 100,000 mark, a figure the letter describes as "far from negligible," but which is, in fact, tiny by British standards. By comparison, the News of the World, a frothy Sunday weekly catering frankly to readers interested in spicy sex stories and sordid courtroom reports, boasts a circulation of about 7,000,000 a week. More than 20 serious British weekly and semi-monthly publications have ceased publication since the Second World War. The most recent demise was that of the weekly, Truth, which folded early in the year and the political weekly Time and Tide has announced it will be forced out of business unless fresh sources of revenue are found.

H. S. Janes, managing director of the Spectator, said it is still "too early to assess the full im-fact" of the joint letter on advertisers. "But it is already clear that it has created a great deal of interest and we are encouraged. We will probably make other joint appeals with the New Statesman in the future."

COUNTRY CLUB OFFICIALLY OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

The annual president vs vice-president match, which opens the golfing season is booked for this afternoon at the Sherbrooke Country Club and a good crowd is expected to be on hand for the event.

The first foursome is slated to tee-off at 1.45 followed at five-minute intervals. Some forty-four golfers listed their names but we suppose if the weather holds up considerable more will be on hand.

Any way the season opens today and we hope everybody has a good year but please don't forget to "REPLACE YOUR DIVOTS."

See where the Richmond Senior Softball League is scheduled to open tomorrow afternoon with a doubleheader. The first tilt is slated for 1.30 and will bring together the Richmond Hotel crew, a new entry in the loop, and Duchesne Shoe.

The Yamaska Conservation Association is holding a meeting at the Granby Hotel Wednesday, May 21, and Paul Provencher, Public Relations Officer of the Quebec North Shore Paper Company, will be the guest speaker.

The Lake Massawippi Fish and Game Protection Club held a director's meeting and the reports indicate a very excellent gathering. President Archie Stafford pointed out that 30,000 grey trout were dumped into the lake May 1 and it is expected that some brown trout, from Baldwin's Mills Hatchery, will be dumped soon.

The annual banquet is slated for the Pleasant View Hotel in North Hatley on Wednesday May 28 at 6.00, when a chicken dinner will be served and it is the President's wish that all members try their best to be on hand for this. Some very important business is slated and a good, time is also in the offering.

The Standard Fish and Game Club will hold their opening on Saturday May 24 and not today. It seems that some of the members are anxious to get their lines in the water but nothing can be done until the proper date.

The sixth annual Summer Bonspiel sponsored by the Canadian Paper Curling Club of Windsor is booked to commence Saturday May 24 and will last a week. It is slated to end the following Saturday when the winners of all eight sections will clash.

We understand that there are a few vacancies and anyone interested should contact Herman Conley as soon as possible. The winners of the various sections will be decided on a high percentage basis and the two winners will emerge from this group.

They expect 64-teams for what has proved a very popular tournament. It seems funny to be curling this time of the year but judging from the weather the past few weeks we don't think it is out of place. The nights have been cold. Anyway here is the chance for you dyed-in-the-wool curlers to get in another lick before the summer rolls around.

It would seem that Bob Bedard and his crew of assistants have started something well worth while in organizing minor tennis on the public courts throughout the City. We are of the opinion that it rates with the best in community efforts and the boys should consider themselves very fortunate.

When you stop to think that the Canadian singles champion takes time out to organize such a league and that he is around giving pointers to the youngsters also that is something. The Sherbrooke Tennis Association is also behind the movement and the majority of the instructors are members of the group.

Next Saturday, May 24, at the Parade Grounds with Chief Startar W. Jewkes firing the first shot at 9.00 to get the day's activities underway. It looks as though they will have a record entry for the event.

The club played host to the coaches, press, radio and TV last Wednesday at the Magog Hotel and it would seem that everybody is pointing to a good meet, providing the weather holds up. The members and helpers were assigned their various jobs for the day and Co-Chairman Cliff Lamb and Jeff Wilson warned everyone to be on time.

Sam Abbott was a little down-hearted as he had just lost one of his star performers in G. Johnston, who is sidelined for keeps and will miss everything. He set a record in the juvenile class for the 100-yard dash and was all set to break his mark of 10.1 this year. It looks as though the interest in tennis is a very worthy cause and at the same time helping to keep crime at a low level in our City.

My Game Action Before Shots Must Be Same By HENRY RANSOM Take time to get in position. A ball, regardless of how well hit, will fall away from the intended target if the aim is taken indifferently. It is essential that the same procedure be followed every time. Then the player is less likely to leave any part of it out and his aim will be true.

Tim Tam Brings Impressive Record To Preakness Boasting 7 Straight Victories, Twelve Entered In Field

BALTIMORE (AP)—Tim Tam, boasting seven straight victories, will bring the best record into the Preakness since the great Count Fleet in 1943—but he still has 11 rivals in the rich three-year-old classic at old Pimlico today.

The Kentucky Derby winner and pride of Mrs. Gene Markey's Calumet Farm is the favorite to collect a record sixth Preakness this afternoon for the Lexington, Ky. racing empire. Calumet is tied with G. L. Lorillard, who won five from 1878-1882.

If Tim Tam can whip Jewel's Reward, Silky Sullivan, Lincoln Road and the others, the sleek dark bay son of Tom Fool will be the first Derby winner to repeat in the Preakness since 1948. Ten years ago it was Calumet's great thoroughbred—Citation—who swept the Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown. Seven of the horses who chased Tim Tam

Eddy Blouin's Irish Way To Make Debut Tomorrow Afternoon At Local Track; Nine Races On Second Card

Eddy Blouin's fast-stepping pacer, Irish Way, will be making his debut before local racing fans tomorrow afternoon when he competes against a classy field in the "DD" Pace in the main event on the card presented by the Sherbrooke Racing Club. Post time is slated for 2:00.

Guy Desrochers will be at the reins when the Blouin entry will be staging his first race of the season and is installed a slight favorite in the five-horse field. Fabi's new pacer, Lee Scott Harvester, with P. St. Denis, along with Mathieu's Deep Diamond, Coombs' Clever Volo and Jimmie Deane will complete the class.

Although there are only five horses the class seems to be well balanced and it looks as though it will be a fight to the wire with any of the top four starters coming through a winner. It is a one-dash affair hence the drivers will be going all out to try and cop the main event.

Richmond White Sox Cops Opener Over Danville In Ladies League

RICHMOND — Over 100 fans turned out for the first game in Danville when the Ladies Softball League opened its 1958 schedule. Last year's champs, Richmond White Sox, under coach Bert Boucher, came up with a stellar performance to out-hit and outplay the Danville Legionettes, taking the first tilt 22-17.

The fans thrilled at every play made by the girls and cheered both sides. Monique Coe, with two homers, was the big gun for the champs. She scored three runs getting four-for-five. Five others on the squad came up with a three-for-five average for the night. Lise Pouliot, smallest member of the team, picked up two hits and scored twice.

The home team played a good game being only five runs short. Joyce Rothney slammed a homer in the fourth frame bringing in Joyce Moriarity, who had banded a three-bagger. The latter scored once but picked up three hits on four tries, best on the squad. Others scoring three runs for Danville were hurler Irma Montgomery and Myrna Young.

As for the pitching end of it, Montgomery was tagged for a total of 27 hits, fanned three and walked two. Violet Brock hurling for the White Sox, gave up 16 hits had no strike-outs and issued eight passes.

Runs came with three in the first and second frames, five in the third and fourth, then three more in the fifth and sixth for the twenty-two. The Danville runs were two in the first and second innings, one in the third, six more in the fourth and sixth frames for their total.

The next game for the White Sox will be played in Richmond at the Fair Grounds and the visiting team will be one of the Asbestos clubs, the Aces.

Danville has a new sponsor this year the Danville branch of the Can. Legion and are known as Legionettes. Millar Scott is managing the club with Don M. Smith as coach assisted by Brian Moriarity, Margaret Sells is the club president.

The following players comprise the Danville roster Irma Montgomery, Myrna Young, Margaret Sells, Joyce Moriarity, Vuila Rothney, Joyce Rothney, Myra Whittam, Jo-an Montgomery, Peggy Smith, Marion Cottingham and Leona MacDonald. The White Sox have named the same executive of last year with Lise Belanger president, Donna Selby, secretary, and Marilyn Kiernan, captain.

While Kids Stumble Sad Sam Jones Keep St. Louis Cards Alive

While the kids have stumbled, Sad Sam Jones, oldest starter on the staff, has caught fire to keep the St. Louis Cardinals on the go in their belated about-face in the National League pennant race.

Jones, a 32-year-old right-hander, ended the Cards' losing streak at seven a week ago. And it was Sam who Friday night pitched a six-hitter to beat Los Angeles 2-0, with the help of Stan Musial's two-run homer.

It was the first Cardinal shut-out of the year, and gave Jones his third straight victory for a 3-3 record.

Milwaukee retained first place, although stopped by rain at Cincinnati. Chicago Cubs clipped second place San Francisco 6-5, and Philadelphia knocked off third place Pittsburgh 8-2.

EIGHTH WIN IN NINE It was the eighth victory in nine games for the Cardinals, who had but five hits. The Dodgers now are in last place after losing seven of eight.

Left-hander Curt Simmons, beaten 1-0 by the Pirates and Bob Porterfield despite an 11-inning six-hitter last Sunday, got home run support for Friday night's six-hit job against the Bucs' and Porterfield as he gained a 4-3 record.

Harry Anderson lined a two-run, inside-the-park homer in the first, and Stan Lopata belted a solo homer in the second against Porterfield, now 1-1 in two NL starts after being sold by the Boston Red Sox.

A single by Lee Walls scored the clincher in a two-run ninth for the Cubs as Don Elston picked up a 3-0 record, all in relief. Willie Mays two-on homer, his 10th of the season and eighth in seven games, triggered a five-run Giants' sixth after Dale Long had doubled and homered for a 2-0 Cub lead. Ray Cooney lost it in relief.

Chicago White Sox finally gave Billy Pierce some runs and their stubby southpaw ace, who won 55 the past three years, has his first victory of the season.

Pierce allowed six hits, walked three and struck out 16 for a 6-3 decision at Cleveland Friday night.

It was the sixth victory in nine games for Chicago, but the Sox stayed in last place, 7 1/2 games behind New York. The Yankees stretched their American League lead to five games over second place Washington by belting the Senators 7-2.

Detroit blew a three-run lead and lost 5-3 at Kansas City. Baltimore and Boston were idled by rain.

The White Sox matched their run total in Pierce's three de-

St. Jean Baptiste Plays Host To Fuller In Local Opener While Indians Travel To Coaticook

The 1958 baseball season opens at the Sherbrooke ballpark this weekend when two local teams in the Junior League will meet at 2:00 Sunday. Coaticook will have their opening the same day when the home team will play host to the other Sherbrooke team, the Indians.

In Sherbrooke, M.-L. Fortier's St. Jean Baptiste squad will clash with Fuller. St. Jean will probably call on J. G. Mathieu to handle the pitching detail. F. Lemire will catch J.-P. Pepin's Fuller nine will start with M. Audet on the mound.

A brief opening ceremony will precede the game. Numerous local dignitaries are invited amongst whom are Mayor Armand Nadeau, Hon. J. S. Bourque Provincial Finance Minister, Maurice Allard M.P., Ald. Tony Pinard, Chairman of Parks, and Gaston Lebrun, Superintendent of Parks.

A parade from the Town Hall to the Coaticook Ball Park will open the season there and Mayor J. L. Cameron will be on hand to officiate at the ceremony.

The Coaticook boys will start with A. Coupal and A. Simard while Ray Dorey's Indians will call on W. Nugent and B. Coates for pitching and catching duties.

Windsor Mills do not open at home until June 1st and they are planning at the present time to have a parade and ceremony prior to the game which will see St. Jean Baptiste going against the Paper Town Boys.

This is the second season that the Junior League has operated in this region and a look at the teams during practice sessions promises an exciting summer of top-flight baseball.

While Kids Stumble Sad Sam Jones Keep St. Louis Cards Alive

While the kids have stumbled, Sad Sam Jones, oldest starter on the staff, has caught fire to keep the St. Louis Cardinals on the go in their belated about-face in the National League pennant race.

Jones, a 32-year-old right-hander, ended the Cards' losing streak at seven a week ago. And it was Sam who Friday night pitched a six-hitter to beat Los Angeles 2-0, with the help of Stan Musial's two-run homer.

It was the first Cardinal shut-out of the year, and gave Jones his third straight victory for a 3-3 record.

Milwaukee retained first place, although stopped by rain at Cincinnati. Chicago Cubs clipped second place San Francisco 6-5, and Philadelphia knocked off third place Pittsburgh 8-2.

EIGHTH WIN IN NINE It was the eighth victory in nine games for the Cardinals, who had but five hits. The Dodgers now are in last place after losing seven of eight.

Left-hander Curt Simmons, beaten 1-0 by the Pirates and Bob Porterfield despite an 11-inning six-hitter last Sunday, got home run support for Friday night's six-hit job against the Bucs' and Porterfield as he gained a 4-3 record.

Harry Anderson lined a two-run, inside-the-park homer in the first, and Stan Lopata belted a solo homer in the second against Porterfield, now 1-1 in two NL starts after being sold by the Boston Red Sox.

A single by Lee Walls scored the clincher in a two-run ninth for the Cubs as Don Elston picked up a 3-0 record, all in relief. Willie Mays two-on homer, his 10th of the season and eighth in seven games, triggered a five-run Giants' sixth after Dale Long had doubled and homered for a 2-0 Cub lead. Ray Cooney lost it in relief.

Chicago White Sox finally gave Billy Pierce some runs and their stubby southpaw ace, who won 55 the past three years, has his first victory of the season.

Pierce allowed six hits, walked three and struck out 16 for a 6-3 decision at Cleveland Friday night.

It was the sixth victory in nine games for Chicago, but the Sox stayed in last place, 7 1/2 games behind New York. The Yankees stretched their American League lead to five games over second place Washington by belting the Senators 7-2.

Detroit blew a three-run lead and lost 5-3 at Kansas City. Baltimore and Boston were idled by rain.

The White Sox matched their run total in Pierce's three de-

Whitby Applies For Permission To Tour Russia

WHITBY, Ont. (CP) — Wren Blair, manager of the Whitby hockey club, world amateur champion, says the club has applied to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to tour Russia next fall.

Blair said the CAHA, which opens its annual meeting in Toronto today, plans to select a Canadian team to tour Russia next November. A Russian team toured Eastern Canada last fall.

All will carry 128 pounds, same as in the Derby. Tim Tam's odds were cut from 7 to 5 to 3 Friday, and might be even money when jockey Ismael Valenzuela walks him into the starting gate. Jewel's Reward, who finished fourth as the beaten Derby favorite, and Liberty Ruler are 3 to 1.

At 8 to 2 is Lincoln Road, who led Tim Tam in the Florida Derby and then the Kentucky Derby, finishing second by half a length both times.

Crowded, Europe Still Wants More Tourists

By GEORGE McARTHUR
PARIS (AP) — European innkeepers peer over their bulging reservation files and conclude they could shoehorn in a few more tourists. One expert admitted: "You may ask for a double with bath and get an attic with a water bottle." The hotel men don't expect to be suffocated with tourists until jet planes begin disgorging frightening numbers of transatlantic tourists in about two years. Right now, the hotel men say, they are just having trouble breathing. The one almost hopeless spot is Brussels, where the Belgians are staging a world's fair. Hotels are so packed there that many tourists are commuting to the fair from other cities.

Along the tourist axis of Britain - France - Germany - Italy the hurried traveller can still get rooms if he looks around a bit.

Airlines warn, however, that transatlantic trade is just getting in full swing. By June they expect to be operating 20 per cent over last year.

"We want them to keep coming," an official said, "but we sometimes wonder what is going to happen to them when they get here."

The French tourist office says low and medium-class hotels have rooms during even peak seasons. The better hotels in Paris are already packed and reluctantly turning away even old clients who failed to write ahead.

In Germany and Austria the innkeepers fear occasional bottle-necks but feel they can provide enough pillows for tired tourists. However, the Austrians warn that during events like the Salzburg Festival only an adventurous tourist indeed would go without a prior reservation.

Austria's medium-class hotels are packed during the season while top hotels can usually provide a nook somewhere—the reverse of Paris.

The Italians are building motels and medium-class hotels, especially in the south, but a tourist office spokesman, Count Sigmond Fago Golfarelli, admits the rush of tourists is presenting problems. He would like to persuade the secretary in Chicago that an off-season vacation in Italy can still be romantic.

Tourists seeking first-class hotels in London come up against a mathematical impossibility—demand will exceed supply by about 3,000 rooms. However, there are plenty of smaller hotels and inns—lacking the most modern plumbing perhaps but generally comfortable.

Europe's northern peoples are facing the tourist influx with greater calm. Sven Acker, chairman of the Danish Tourist Association says road, rail and bed facilities in his hospitable country will suffice. The Danes have added some 1,500 beds to their country's tourist capacity since last year.

EOKA Terrorist Boss At Large For 3 Years

By SHAHE GUEBENLIAN
NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — Col. George Grivas this month completes three years of anonymity as chief of EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground organization that has been conducting a terrorist campaign for union of this British colony with Greece.

Although his leadership now is beyond dispute, he never once has signed an order, a leaflet or a letter with his real name.

All documents, whether public pronouncements or secret commands, have carried his pseudonym Digenis.

When EOKA launched its first attacks April 1, 1955, the authorities had no idea of the identity of the man behind it all.

WHEREABOUTS SECRET
It was not until November, 1955, that Digenis was identified officially as the former Greek Army officer Col. George Grivas. His whereabouts, however, were a riddle and so they have remained.

Though thousands of troops have been on his trail on more than one occasion during the years of the emergency, Grivas has eluded capture.

Security forces claim that he was closest to arrest in June, 1956, when he fled from a British Army patrol during mountain operations in the southwest of Cyprus. He left behind his shaving gear, haversack, beret and some diaries.

In 1957, security forces combed the mountain village of Milikouri for 55 days after a tip that Grivas was hiding in that region.

Since then, there have been reports that Grivas is in one of the main towns; that he lives in a luxury villa; that he is in a mountain cave well-stocked with food and water; that he has left the island and is conducting the campaign from Beirut.

There also have been suggestions that he has had a nervous breakdown, that he is ill and even that he is dead.

MASTER OF DISGUISE
In September, 1957, police arrested a Cypriot girl and found her in possession of a number of messages from Digenis. It has been reported that security forces offered her a large sum of money if she would tell them where Grivas was staying. She refused.

His whereabouts have been as intriguing to newspaper correspondents as to the authorities.

Many correspondents have offered to be blindfolded and driven anywhere for an interview with Digenis, but so far no one has been able to do so. One or two so-called "interviews" published two years ago were proved to be fakes.

No one quite knows what Grivas looks like at the moment. Photographs of him which appear on "wanted" lists and posters are several years old. And Grivas is reputed to be a master of disguise.

STORY OF A BARGAIN

We get a lot of folks on our lot from time to time — sensible and honest people, including some we're happy to call personal friends — who we just can't seem to satisfy when it comes to selecting a particular used car.

Once they've settled on the car of their choice the conversation usually gets around to what's been in the back of their mind all the time — whether the best possible deal's at our place or whether they should shop around in a bigger city where, they figure, there's a greater selection and more competition among car dealers.

If they really aren't satisfied in their minds that the best buy is right here at home, we usually thank them for dropping in and suggest they see us again if they don't find what they're looking for. We figure they'll be back when they find they can't better our deal.

Recently, though, we got fooled on this one and the customer came back to tell us about the better deal he made in the big city. In this case the price difference — model for model and year for year — was a flat $100.00, which even with today's inflation will still buy a lot of cigars.

It puzzled us how the dealer could do this because we know no dealer could keep his doors open on a slimmer profit margin than ours, until our friend started having trouble with his 'bargain' buggy and brought it into us for a checkover.

The car had been in a bad wreck that had twisted the frame with its engine mounts and had thrown the transmission shaft out of line. The repair cost: a minimum of several hundred dollars.

Unfortunately, the customer hadn't been able to spot the tell-tale signs that the car had been in a bad accident (a difficult job even for an expert if it's been well concealed). Though we think he'll be our customer for life from here on we still gave him some of the few easy rules we use in uncovering a patch-up job. That's what we're going to do at Foxbrooke Motors Ltd. for YOU next week at absolutely NO cost to our readers. So stick around, huh?

Christ Church, Stanstead Marks Centenary This Weekend

STANSTEAD — Christ Church is celebrating its 100th anniversary this weekend with special services, one of which will be conducted by the Lord Archbishop of Quebec.

The Most Rev. Philip Carrington will officiate at the service of Confirmation at 10.30 a.m. Sunday, and will celebrate at the Holy Communion which will follow.

Tonight a banquet is taking place in the Stanstead College dining hall which will be attended by Church and State dignitaries, civic officials and clergy of the community churches as well as members of the congregation and many former parishioners.

These celebrations mark a milestone in the history of a parish which has served as a faithful witness to God for well over 100 years.

The history of the congregation actually goes back to the year 1819 when the Rev. Mr. Knagg was sent to Stanstead Plain although there were earlier Anglican residents. His ministry was short (two years) and little was done in this area until 1845 when ministers came from Lennoxville, Compton and Hatley.

In 1849, under the direction of the Bishop of Quebec, the Rev. Henry G. Burrage agreed to devote part of his time to the people of Stanstead. Services were held in the upper room of the brick store in the Plain belonging to Francis Judd, Esq.

During the year 1851 the congregation was formally organized and a year later the Bishop received a report that the average Sunday attendance was between 50 and 60 persons. The communicants numbered between 15 and 18.

Mr. Burrage continued his ministry until 1837 when the Rev.

W. L. Thompson arrived from England under the sponsorship of the Colonial and Continental Society. It was through the efforts of Mr. Thompson that in the autumn of 1857 the church building was begun and it was completed in 1858, with much of the work being done by Mr. Thompson himself.

The cornerstone of Christ Church was laid on June 30, 1858. In the cavity of the corner stone is a short history of the church, a few coins and a copy of the Stanstead Journal. In 1859 Christ Church was officially licensed for services by the Bishop.

It was during the incumbency of Rev. George Thornepe, that Christ Church, being free from debt, was consecrated by the Rt. Rev. J. W. Williams, Lord Bishop of Quebec, on December 5, 1875.

Rev. A. H. Moore was rector of Christ Church from 1902 to 1910 and it was during his ministry that the Jubilee memorial tower was added to the main church in observance of the church's fiftieth anniversary.

Last Sunday, May 11, the present rector, Rev. A. L. Salt read the sermon preached by Mrs. Moore, (now deceased) at the 50th anniversary observance. His son, Louis Moore, from Drummondville read the lessons.

At the present time the parish of Christ Church and all Saints Church, Beebe, both served by Mr. Salt, have 217 families and 71 individuals, totaling 818 souls. The number of communicants is 316.

It is an international parish and has a growing Sunday school of approximately 120 students enrolled. In addition to this Christ Church sponsors youth groups and women's societies.

Dating from 1819 to 1958, Christ Church has been served by 29 priests. Its present rector, Rev. A. L. Salt came here in 1954, replacing Rev. William Mitchell.
