COMMERCIAL WAR IS THREATENED ON EVE OF ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

Fearing that Two Great Empires May Start Trade Battle as Japan Seeks Retaliatory Measures to Check What the Foreign Office Declares "Campaign of Empire-Wide Exclusion of Japanese Goods"—Australia and Canada May Be Drawn into the Conflict.

Tokyo, June 9.—On the eve of the World Economic Conference in London clouds of an impending commercial warfare between two great empires, possibly involving Canada, are overshadowing Asia.

The Foreign Office said today that the Government is gravely considering what steps would most effectively check "the British Empire's aggressive tariff and general commercial policies against Japan," and searching for the most vulnerable point in the British Empire's commercial armor where thrusts are most likely to halt what Japan considers a campaign of Empire-wide exclusion of Japanese goods.

A boycott is threatened against raw cotton from India under a decision of the Japan Cotton Spinners' Federation emergency committee in retaliation for India's fifty per cent. increase recently in duties on non-British cotton cloths.

The Foreign Office spokesman declared that "this is a matter of life and death to Japan," adding that it would "be a disaster if our goods were barred from the Empire which embraces a sixth of the globe."

The immediate cause of the wave of anti-British feeling in the Japanese industrial and commercial world is India's boost in the cotton cloth tariffs.

These boosts, the Japanese insist, will mean the death of the Indian textile trade. A series of events in the past year, including the abrogation of an Indo-Japanese commercial treaty and other moves to bar cheap Japanese goods from portions of the British Empire, also have convinced the Japanese they face exclusion from domains of their former ally, according to the spokesman.

Japan hitherto has taken no formal diplomatic action as concerns India and Great Britain.

The Ministries of Finance and Commerce, meanwhile, are debating the possibility of retaliatory measures against products of the British Empire, including Canada and Australia.

It is feared Japan is entering the London Conference ready to relegate the tariff truce to the discard.

The Rengo Japanese news agency said it had learned from an official source that when Viscount Kukihiro Ishii conferred with President Roosevelt last month he proposed a new Japanese-American arbitration treaty to which the President assented in principle.

The Japanese agency declared that as a result of this favorable development in Japanese-American relations, Tokyo was prepared to take a strong stand toward Great Britain in the current tariff controversy.

As a sequel to the Roosevelt-Ishii discussion, the Rengo agency said, negotiations are proceeding between Ambassador Katsujii Debuchi and the State Department at Washington looking toward the establishment of a permanent Japanese-American Arbitration Commission of five members.

It was impossible to obtain an official confirmation of the Rengo account of the Roosevelt-Ishii discussion and its reported effect on the Japanese attitude toward Great Britain and India.

BRITISH CABINET IS AT GRIPS WITH BIG PROBLEM

London, June 9.—A full attendance of ministers was assured at a special cabinet meeting today called to discuss and, perhaps, determine Great Britain's final course regarding the war debts installment due the United States next week.

It was assumed that Sir John Simon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, would have a communication for his colleagues from Ronald Lindsay, the Ambassador in Washington, reporting the latter's talk with President Roosevelt on Thursday.

Indications were at every hand that the burning question is whether next week's payment is to be met or defaulted.

VIEWS WORLD CONFERENCE AS UNWIELDY GATHERING

On Return from Holiday Trip to Great Britain, Hon. Hugh Guthrie Sees Definite Signs of Business Improvement.

Quebec, June 9.—Bringing impressions of a better business outlook in the United Kingdom, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, returned today on the liner Empress of Britain. He had nothing to say about Government business and emphasized his trip abroad had been largely on personal business and partly a holiday.

"They all seem quite hopeful over there regarding the World Economic Conference," the Minister said, "but I'm afraid it will be rather an unwieldy affair with 1,500 people in attendance."

"I have been visiting my daughter and a new grandchild and my English visit has been of no governmental importance at all."

COMMUNISTS ON TRIAL

Berlin, June 9.—The trial of Emil Beifuss and five alleged Communist accomplices, who are charged with murdering the Nazi storm trooper Herman Tiesel in Berlin on September 9, 1931, started today.

The Ministry of Propaganda made arrangements to give the proceedings wide dissemination because "the whole population must bear witness to this important political trial."

QUEBEC PREMIER OUTLINES PUBLIC WORKS PLAN TO AID UNEMPLOYED

New Programme Calls for Abandonment of Direct Relief Policy—Workers on Relief Projects to Receive Half Pay at Time of Work and Other Half During Winter—Further Details of Scheme to Keep Farmers' Sons on Land Announced.

Quebec, June 9.—A new policy designed to provide unemployment relief by public works instead of direct relief and at the same time alleviate the ills of seasonal employment will be undertaken by the Provincial Government in conjunction with the municipalities, Premier L. A. Taschereau announced here last evening.

Nature of the public works is not yet decided upon. But men employed during the summer will only be paid half of their wages during the period of work, the remainder being given to them in the fall in order that they may have backing for the coming winter.

"In order to give aid to the unemployed, the Provincial Government is going to undertake public works," a statement from the Premier said. "At the same time, we will pay them only half of their wages during the course of the work, and will keep the other half for them, to let them have it in the autumn, in order that those who work during the summer months may have something saved before entering upon the periods of seasonal unemployment which occur in the fall and the winter."

"Up to the present, several systems have been tried out," the Premier stated. "We first of all tried public works, to give work to the laboring and trade classes. We were then forced to abandon this policy at the wish of Ottawa, which preferred the direct relief system. Once more, however, Ottawa is going to allow public works to be carried out, and we are going to try the system of which I have spoken."

"We do not yet know the nature of the work which will be undertaken. Hon. J. N. Francoeur, Minister of Public Works, and his Deputy Minister, Mr. Ivan Vallee, will go to Ottawa again next week to continue negotiations which they have already been carrying on with the Federal authorities, in order to work out further details of the programme," he added.

"At the same time, in order that the unemployed may not be in too dire straits when the autumn arrives, we will only pay to them half of the amounts they actually earn, putting the other half aside for payments to them in the autumn in order that they may have the wherewithal to help them through the bad season—assuming, that is, that economic conditions have not improved by that time," the Premier said.

The Premier also gave further details of his plan for encouraging sons of farmers to go back to the land. The Government will help out farmers whose sons are willing to take over and operate abandoned farms in old parishes, but the plan does not apply to new territory in colonization areas.

"The Government will deal only with the father," the Premier said. "To all fathers who thus settle their sons on abandoned land in old parishes we will give a yearly grant of $100 for three years. In this manner, the father will have his son close by him; he will be able to help him with advice, give him old agricultural implements he no longer uses, aid him in his first sowing and reaping, etc. It is understood that this grant will not stop the Government from giving the son the usual grants of seed, etc., but settlement of the sons will be dealt with only through the fathers."

Confidence that the plan which is

WANTS PREMIER TASCHEREAU TO 'SIT ON FENCE'

Hon. C. H. Cahan Charges that Premier Taschereau Should Not 'Interfere' in Proposed Canalization of St. Lawrence.

Montreal, June 9.—Premier L. A. Taschereau's stand against the St. Lawrence waterways was termed "interference" last night by Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, who claimed the Quebec Premier was entering "the federal field into which he has no right to enter" when he criticized the Dominion government's policy in regard to the waterways.

Mr. Cahan spoke to a group of his electors in the constituency of St. Lawrence-St. George and, in his own words, was "rendering account of my mandate since 1930." The greater part of his address was outside the field of controversy, but when he touched on the waterways problem he spoke as follows:

"This is a matter in which I find the government of Quebec has no direct interest, and when the Prime Minister of this province enters into the controversy, with all due respect, I say his statements show that he is lacking in knowledge of the primary material facts in the controversy. And when he does that he enters into the federal field, into which he has no right to enter."

"We of the Federal Government will regard to our own duties to the electors of the Dominion and we will not pay undue heed to irrelevant observations, even if they are made by the Prime Minister of Quebec."

"I am quite as capable of representing the people of this province as any member of the Legislature, with respect to federal affairs, and we will do what we conscientiously believe to be in the interests of the people of Canada."

"But this I do say, that if this question comes to a discussion on the public platform of this province, some of the members will have to study the question more intelligently before they are to discuss it intelligently before the electors."

HUMAN LIFE IMPOSSIBLE ON MARS, SAY SCIENTISTS

Declaration that Atmosphere of Mars Contains Only One Per Cent. of Oxygen of That on Earth Made by California Savants.

Pasadena, Calif., June 9.—A blow to any theory that human life may exist on Mars was given today by two astronomers of the Carnegie Institution's Mount Wilson observatory.

Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of the observatory, and Dr. Theodore Dunham, Jr., have made observations which indicate the amount of free oxygen on the planet is less than one per cent. of that on the earth.

Scientists generally have regarded Mars as the planet most suited for human existence. Most of the others are too cold.

RUMFORD MAN NOT LOCATED BY DETECTIVE

Probe into Mystery of Signatures on Letter and Note Found on Langlois After Murder Unsuccessful—Inquest Will Not Be Reopened Until More Evidence Has Been Obtained.

Efforts by Detective James Haney, of the Provincial Police, to locate Alphonse Gobeil in Rumford, Maine, in connection with the East Herford murder, failed yesterday when it was learned that Gobeil left Rumford some time ago to reside in another city.

Detective Haney attempted to reach Gobeil to investigate the matter of the note for $750 which was found on Langlois' body and the letter, supposed to have been written by Gobeil, that lured Langlois to Canada, Vt., on the day he was murdered in the hills of Herford. The signatures on these two notes do not correspond, detectives state; and while it is presumed that the signature on the promissory note is genuine, the theory is entertained that the letter may have been written by another person with the object of luring Langlois to his death.

A few days before Langlois was killed he received a letter which he believed was written by Gobeil, advising him to be in Canada on the evening of June 1st in order to collect.

EXCLUSION OF GIRLS FOUGHT BY BOSTON MAN

Canadian-Born Resident of United States Seeks to Have Two Daughters, Attending Halifax School, Allowed to Enter Country.

Boston, June 9.—A father's fight to prevent the exclusion of his young Canadian daughters from the United States, where he is a teacher in the public schools and makes his home, was under way today.

The daughters, Miss Monica Reilly, aged twenty-one, and her sister, Genevieve, aged seventeen, both students in Mount St. Vincent School, Halifax, N.S., were refused entry here yesterday by immigration authorities when they arrived on the steamship Newfoundland to join their parents.

At a special hearing, immigration officials ruled the girls' passports and visas were not in good order, and they were held in the East Boston immigration station last night to await deportation proceedings.

Their father, Wilfred A. Reilly, an instructor in the Boys' Trade School in Worcester, where he, his wife, and two other children live, came here last night and began immediate preparations for a legal battle to permit his children to come to his home.

Although a Canadian by birth, Reilly said he had taken out papers and was soon to become an American citizen. Monica and Genevieve were born in Londonderry, N.S., an outpost near Truro.

YOUTH DROWNED YESTERDAY AT MANSONVILLE

Gerard Drouin Lost Life in Missisquoi River While Swimming With Companions—Body Recovered Twenty-Five Minutes After Tragedy, But Life Was Extinct.

Manosville, June 9.—The waters of the Missisquoi river yesterday afternoon claimed the life of young Gerard Drouin, sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Drouin, residents of this place for the past fifteen years. The youthful victim, who would have celebrated his sixteenth birthday next month, had gone swimming with some companions about a quarter-mile above the village. Not an expert swimmer, Drouin went beyond his depth and disappeared below the surface.

The alarm was given by his chums, but it was twenty-five minutes later before the body was brought to shore by William Couture, who engaged in diving with other persons in an effort to recover the remains. Dr. Edwin Gillander was summoned and practiced artificial respiration for an hour, but life was extinct. The depth of the water where young Drouin was drowned was fourteen feet.

Dr. G. W. Runnels, of Granby, district coroner, was informed of the tragedy and will conduct an inquest today.

GERMAN STAND ON DEBTS ADDS TO CONFUSION

Imminence of War Debts Payments and Announcement of German Moratorium Add to Difficulties of Economic Conference Delegates.

London, June 9.—The imminence of due dates for war debts payments next week and the announcement of a German debt moratorium added confusion to the troubled economic situation today as visiting delegates to the World Economic Conference plunged into a round of preparations for the formal opening of the parley Monday.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, reiterated on his arrival here with his colleagues that he was without authority to confer on the war debts. A delegation spokesman, however, later explained Mr. Hull would not brusquely refuse to discuss the subject if representatives of other nations insisted on bringing it up in informal talks. Secretary Hull declined to comment on the German moratorium.

The immediate programme of preliminary discussions is not yet settled, but an early meeting with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain is expected.

BANK ROBBERS CARRIED OFF $10,000

CONGRESSMEN SPEED TOWARD ADJOURNMENT

Expected that Two or Three Days Will See Disposal of All Remaining United States Legislative Proposals.

Washington, June 9.—Congress moved on today for quick disposal of the United States industrial and veterans' problems, every sign pointing to success in President Roosevelt's drive for adjournment within two or three days.

His set goal of closing the special session tomorrow was not, however, regarded at the Capitol as likely to be attained even if four or five pending measures were abandoned, the remaining steps on the big bills could not be taken in two days except with the most intense effort and unanimous co-operation.

CANADIAN DOLLAR FRACTIONALLY LOWER

New York, June 9.—The Canadian dollar weakened fractionally during the early dealings today on the foreign exchange here. In a quiet market the Dominion's currency was quoted at 90 cents, down a quarter of one per cent from Thursday's close. The United States premium on Canadian funds improved to 11.71 per cent.

The pound sterling was also reactionary at $4.08 3/4, a decline of five-eighths of a cent from the previous close.

BRITISH PREMIER MEETS HEAD OF UNITED STATES DELEGATION

JUDGE ISSUES WARNING TO SEEKERS OF ALIMONY

Marrying Divorced Man Is Like Taking Second Mortgage, Declares Wisconsin Judge in Settling Involved Alimony Case.

Milwaukee, June 9.—Marrying a divorced man, says Circuit Judge C. L. Aarons, is just like taking a second mortgage. The Court's pronouncement came in the case of Albert Greenberg, charged with owing alimony to his two former wives.

Greenberg, former roadhouse operator, said he makes only twenty dollars a week and cannot keep up payments to both. His second wife asked how she was going to live.

"After all," said the court, "when you married him you knew he was divorced. He is just like a second mortgage."

DEATH TOLL NEARS CENTURY MARK IN RECORD-BREAKING HEAT WAVE

Illinois Heads List With Twenty-Two Deaths and Dozens of Cases of Heat Prostration—Ohio Counts Eleven Casualties and Michigan Eight—Drownings Common Through Affected Areas, But East Sees No Prospect for Moderation Until Tonight.

New York, June 9.—Sizzling hot record-breaking temperatures baked vast stretches of the eastern half of the United States, bringing reports of deaths that approached the century mark.

And while some portions of the affected areas, notably the extreme southern and eastern parts of the Great Lakes region were enjoying moderate relief from the devastating effects of the week's intensely high temperature readings, the east saw no prospect for lower figures until tonight, when local thunder showers may ease the situation.

This city suffered yesterday with a record-breaking June 8th temperature of ninety-two, with one heat death and two drownings, but it was the middle west where the death figures mounted.

Illinois alone counted twenty-two dead in three days of the heat wave. Eighteen of the fatalities were in Chicago, where the thermometer shot up to ninety-seven—a new all-time record for a June 8th—and then began to recede, with a drop of ten degrees promised for today.

Dozens of persons were overcome and treated in Chicago hospitals, including eight visitors to the city's Century of Progress Exposition.

Cleveland was scorched under an all-time heat record of ninety-eight for the day, and reported that eleven were known to have died in Ohio during the past two days from the heat, with two others losing their lives by drowning.

Detroit likewise tried to keep cool, but could not as the mercury went to a record-breaking June 8th figure of 100. Eight dead from the heat were counted in the Michigan metropolis and two were drowned.

Drownings were common throughout the affected sections as residents took to the streams and beaches.

Corn fodder led searchers to body.

Columbia, S.C., June 9.—After the body of an eleven year old negro who had drowned had been sought by various means for a month, the body was found in a corn field near the Congaree River.

One hundred searchers followed the bundle five miles to a boat landing, where the body was recovered.

STILL HOPES TO BREAK THE RECORD

Moscow, June 9.—Jimmy Matern continued his round-the-world flight today by hopping off from Krasnoyarsk, Siberia, a little more than four hours after he had arrived there from Belovo, Siberia.

The aviator, who believes he still has a chance to establish a globe-girdling record despite setbacks by sickness, rain and plane trouble, arrived at Krasnoyarsk at 7:30 a. m. Moscow time, 11:30 p. m. Thursday, Eastern Standard Time.

He was away again for an unappointed destination at 11:55 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, after an attempt to repair damage his red, white and blue "Century of Progress" suffered during the forced landing at Belovo early Wednesday morning.

Reports to Moscow were delayed by slow communication facilities so it was not learned what his next objective would be, although it was presumed that he will try for a point from which he could take off on the trans-Pacific leg of his adventure. His last scheduled stop before reaching Chicago is at Edmonton, Alta.

CORN FODDER LED SEARCHERS TO BODY

HALF MILLION SPENT ON BUILDING TROLLEY CAR

Car Designed by Detroit Engineer Speedier and Quieter Than Modern Automobile.

New York, June 9.—A new $500,000 trolley car, so fast it will start more quickly than a modern automobile, an so quiet, its loudest sound comes from the overhead trolley wheel, was demonstrated today.

The new car was designed by C. F. Hirschfeld, internationally known Detroit engineer, who had no previous trolley car experience.

The latest improvements in automobile design, including floating power, are embodied in the new trolley. An important feature is the almost complete elimination of vibration.

Three years of research and experimentation and more than $500,000 were spent in producing the car.

INVESTIGATORS RESUME INQUIRIES INTO MORGAN MARKET DEALINGS

Attorney for Committee Declares He Can Uncover Practices Employed by Banking House Partners Without Violating Income Tax Return Secrecy—Hopes to Complete Investigation into Morgan Affairs Today—Conclude Examination of Van Sweringen.

Washington, June 9.—Investigators of the United States Senate, armed with new power to proceed, turned their inquiry today to the stock transactions by which three partners of J. P. Morgan and Company, the bankers, obtained income tax exemptions.

The investigating committee still faced a possible challenge of its authority to dig out the personal stock transactions of Thomas S. Lamont, William Ewing, and Harold Stanley, younger members of the famous banking house, but the committee members said privately they were ready to clamp down contempt proceedings on any witness refusing to answer questions.

John W. Davis, the Morgan counsel who challenged the committee's authority to go into the question a week ago today, kept silent about his plans, but the Senators believed that in view of the additional authority voted yesterday by the Senate, he would advise the three partners to answer questions about the stock transactions, so long as they were not questioned directly on their income tax returns.

This was all that Ferdinand Pecora, the committee counsel, wanted. He contended he could disclose the practices employed without violating the law guaranteeing secrecy to income tax returns. He wanted to show how Lamont established losses for income tax purposes by selling stock which was bought almost immediately by his wife with money borrowed from him.

Pecora also planned to introduce the last list of selected clients who were sold stock at cost by the Morgan banking house. This list was regarded by investigators as more significant than those previously placed in the record, because it contained two groups, those who bought at cost, and others who paid a little more.

Pecora was not sure whether he could wind up by evening or whether the Morgan case would have to extend into next week.

Stock sales affecting the taxable income of Thomas S. Lamont and other Morgan partners were the immediate objective of Chairman Fletcher's quickly-approved resolution. Simultaneously $100,000 was voted for carrying the private bank inquiry through another session of Congress.

Shortly after these ballots O. P. Van Sweringen testified before the banking committee that "these investigations are terrifically destructive."

Immediately, he sought to amend this designation, introduced voluntarily while he was saying business showed improvement "all the way through" and needed "confidence instead of frustration."

"Perhaps I shouldn't have said what I did," explained Van Sweringen as he leaned back in one chair, a foot propped on another.

"I didn't mean investigations, but—of course, to investigate and know is desirable—but through the press the public gets the idea that something is wrong. That drift is there."

"I realize that all you are trying to do is to see and know and be helpful."

Morgan and his partners who have been attending the hearings for nearly three weeks, seemed more interested in Van Sweringen's unexpected statement about investigations than in the laborious questions and answers about the intricate Van Sweringen corporate business and huge loans by the Morgan firm.

Ferdinand Pecora, the committee counsel, dealt at length with the Allegheny Corporation, the railroad holding company the Morgan bank financed in 1929.

He showed that in the formation of this corporation, the O. P. and N. Van Sweringens' transactions were a paper profit of over $90,000,000. But the witness denied this figure represented actual profit, saying it was based rather on assumption.

Van Sweringen agreed though that his interests received $36,313,952 in cash and securities with a market value of $110,000,000 in return for securities that cost them $52,000,000. He said the Allegheny Corporation also assumed a $1,029,000 debt against the Van Sweringen group.

These figures summarized a series of intricate corporate transactions leading to formation of the Allegheny Corporation. At one point the witness again said that to avail themselves of income tax exemptions special corporations had been formed to transfer large blocks of stock.

After emphasizing a number of Morgan loans to the Van Sweringens, Pecora suddenly asked:

"Do bankers who finance and invest in railroad systems exercise an appreciable influence?"

"No. I expect they would investigate to find out whether they thought the policy was unwise but that would be so far as the financial policy was concerned."

"The banker buys securities and feels a responsibility, no doubt, but our experience has been that all he's interested in is that the property in which he puts his dollars is properly administered from the point of view of investment."

"I have never in my long experience had any direction of any kind from a banker about operating a business. They are pleased at good performance, naturally."

"He who controls the purse strings usually runs the household, doesn't he?" Pecora asked.

Morgan leaned forward smiling when Pecora asked if Van Sweringen had ever carried through a financial policy the Morgan house disapproved.

Van Sweringen insisted final agreement on a transaction usually resulted from "a meeting of minds" after conversations.

MATTER TODAY SEEN HEADING TOWARD COAST

Believed Flyer Is Making for Chita, Taking-Off Place for Trans-Pacific Leg in Flight Round the World.

Moscow, June 9.—Jimmy Matern, round-the-world flyer, passed over Nizhn Udinsk, in eastern Siberia, at 2:05 p. m. Moscow time, 6:05 a. m. E.S.T. today.

Nizhn Udinsk is about one-third of the distance between Krasnoyarsk, Matern's last take-off place, and Chita, apparently his next objective. It is about 1,800 miles from Krasnoyarsk to Chita.

DANVILLE FIRE LOSS PLACED AT ABOUT $10,000

Albert Martin's Dwelling and Store and Barns Belonging to Pierre Luneau and Ludger Jutras Destroyed.

Danville, June 9.—A mass of charred debris is all that remains today of a large residence, store and two barns, following a disastrous fire in which damage estimated at near $10,000 was caused. The fire broke out in the basement of the dwelling and store of Albert Martin, formerly the Napoleon Roush store, situated near Kingsley Station. The alarm soon brought the fire-fighting apparatus to the scene from Kingsley Falls and Danville. A Canadian National Railway freight train, coming from Victoriaville, supplied water with which to fight the conflagration. The flames were not to be checked, however, and razed the building to the ground, inflicting a loss of about $5,000, partially covered by insurance.

Flying sparks from this blazing building caused fire to ignite on Pierre Luneau's barn, situated a short distance away, and this structure was also destroyed despite the heroic work of the firemen and volunteer helpers. Still a third property was to fall prey to the flames before they could be placed under control. This last building to go up in smoke was that of Ludger Jutras, formerly owned by Neil McNeil. Mr. Jutras was assisting Mr. Martin when advised that his barn was on fire. Efforts to save the building proved futile. The loss of these two large barns is estimated at $5,000.

INJURIES TO THE FORD GIRL PROVED FATAL

Marcel Beaudet Passed Away in Theford Hospital from Injuries Received in Fall from Balcony.

Theford Mines, June 9.—The funeral took place this morning of Marcelle Beaudet, nineteen-year-old daughter of Dr. J. Eugene Beaudet, who passed away as a result of a fractured skull sustained in a fall from a balcony in front of her home on Tuesday. The girl ran out of the house to call her brother, who was leaving the yard in his car. She leaned against the rail, which gave way, the girl falling to the street twenty feet below. Aid was immediately called and she was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it was found she was suffering from a broken spine and a fractured skull. Death took place several hours later. Besides her parents, she is survived by three sisters and ten brothers.

FORMER JUDGE STUBBS HAS HIS "HAT IN RING"

Will Contest Mackenzie Riding in Interests of Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation.

Preceville, Sask., June 9.—A week out of the courtroom where his criticism of higher courts and Government officials brought about his removal, Lewis St. George Stubbs was in the thick of a political skirmish today. A cheering convention here yesterday nominated almost unanimously the grey-haired little former jurist to contest the Mackenzie federal constituency bye-election this fall as Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation candidate.

Mr. Stubbs will carry the new party, led by J. S. Woodsworth of Winnipeg, to its first test at the polls. Voting probably will be in September, though election writs have not been issued. The nomination of Mackenzie was caused by appointment of Milton Campbell, Progressive, to the Tariff Board.

Delegates to the C.C.F. convention gave the former Manitoba judge a tremendous ovation when he arrived at the hall. They nominated him on the first ballot over four rivals by a vote of ninety-three out of 131 polled.

DENIES HE IS OUT FOR REVENGE

Preceville, Sask., June 9.—Contesting his position as Manitoba jurist to that of an "angry beating" of his wings against the bars of a cage, Lewis St. George Stubbs, nominated Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation candidate in the Mackenzie constituency, told an audience here he was happy to be free—free to speak his mind. The former Manitoba judge, removed from the bench last week by a Federal order-in-council, repudiated the idea he was entering politics to gain revenge on the Government.

"I shall not attempt to interject my personal matters in the forthcoming campaign," he stated. "There is no thought of revenge in my heart. I am politically minded and I am seeking political honors for that reason alone."

CONDITIONS OF CANADIAN CROP ARE FAVORABLE

Bank Report States that Even Germination, Rapid Growth and Near-Completion of Seeding Feature Wheat Prospects.

Montreal, June 9.—Even germination, rapid growth, near-completion of seeding and a reduction of seven per cent. in wheat acreage in the Canadian prairie provinces are noted in the Bank of Montreal's telegraphic crop report made public today. Favorable weather conditions in most other provinces have speeded up field operation and given a good start to early crops. In Quebec seeding and planting are well advanced and general conditions are favorable. Growing conditions are excellent in Ontario and the present outlook "most promising." Seeding is practically completed in the Maritime provinces and grains have made a satisfactory start in most districts.

Retarded growth due to cold weather is reported from British Columbia and with the exception of hay crops are about two weeks later than usual. Detailed report for the Maritime provinces follows: "Cool weather has retarded the growth of hay meadows. Potato planting is well under way, the acreage this year is not expected to be more than fifty per cent. of last year. Warmer weather is needed to promote growth."

RUMFORD MAN NOT LOCATED BY DETECTIVE

Continued from page 1 lect his debt. That he did not meet Gobeil in Canada detectives have established. Langlois never collected the $750 Gobeil owed him. This was revealed when the note was found in his pockets following the murder. Is a third person involved in the crime? Was a third person instructed to write to Langlois and forge Gobeil's signature, with the object of luring Langlois away from his home to be assassinated? While police officers will not commit themselves on this matter, if this was the case, then the first theory that Langlois was killed with robbery as the motive, under the assumption that he had encountered Gobeil and collected his debt, must be discarded. In his alleged confession, Zepherin Fontaine, employed by the murdered man, stated that he had killed Langlois because the latter owed him $200 and owed Mrs. Wilfrid Beupreant $800—and not because it was presumed he had collected a large sum of money in Canada. There is also the possibility, detectives believe, that Gobeil dictated the letter in question to a third person and authorized this third person to sign it in his name, and that later he was unable to keep the appointment.

Detective Haney returned from Rumford late last evening, and this morning had little to say about the case. Although in possession of an alleged confession by Fontaine and by considerable circumstantial evidence pointing to Fontaine as the guilty person, detectives will not authorize an inquest to be reopened until they have cleared up several matters in order to present a strong case before the jury. Fontaine is quiet in the local jail. Detectives state that he confessed to the Hereford murder on Wednesday morning, following several days of questioning and questioning. According to this alleged confession, Fontaine is alleged to have said that he accompanied Langlois to Canada on Thursday afternoon and left him there after supper to return home alone on foot. A mile from the house, Fontaine said, that he stopped by the road-side, procured a heavy wooden club and waited until Langlois drove past in his team. Police say Fontaine admitted that he attacked his employer from behind, striking him over the head with the club several times. The horse kept on its way, and Langlois toppled from his seat in the buggy about a hundred yards from where he was struck. Fontaine, the confession continued, walked to Langlois' home, saw the wooden club and buried it in the stove. He also burned his clothing and washed his shirt and socks. Blood was later found on his trousers, Detective Haney stated.

The morning the murder was discovered, Fontaine did not go to the scene, but remained at the Langlois dwelling until the afternoon, when Coroner Leonidas Bachard and High Constable Louis A. Gaudreau interviewed him at the farm-residence and ordered him to accompany them. No improvement is apparent in the condition of the lake shipping interests. The rate on grain from Fort William is four cents, against an average over a number of years, of eight to ten cents. The four cent rate, it is said, not only does not permit a profit, but there is not nearly sufficient business available to keep the existing fleet occupied. The harbor commissioners report of June 2nd, showed the total receipts of grain to date as amounting to 14,915,184 bushels compared with 25,178,533 in 1932, a decrease of 42.11 per cent. Deliveries amounted to 13,976,993 bushels compared with 25,469,692 in 1932, a decrease of 45.13 per cent.

JAPAN OFFERS CONDOLENCE TO CHINESE FOES

All Signs Point to Genuine Effort on Part of Both Sides to Carry Out Terms of Recent Peace Treaty.

Peiping, China, June 9.—The Japanese army which recently threatened to occupy Peiping as part of a campaign to clear the Chinese from the southern side of the Great Wall of China, today offered their recent foes condolences on the loss of Chinese lives in the hostilities. Marking the second time that a Japanese plane ever landed at this metropolis, a Japanese bomber—minus the bombs—came down on the Chinese airport at the outskirts of the city. It carried a representative of the Japanese army, a responsible Chinese official, whom he could hand the condolences.

Finding no one with authority at the airport, he took off again in the plane, flew over the Japanese legation and dropped a letter with a metal cylinder which requested the Japanese legation officials to convey the message to Chinese military leaders. This gesture by the Japanese army as one of several indications of genuine effort on the part of both Chinese and Japanese to carry out the terms of the recent Tangku peace agreement. The Chinese have been removing their troops from the scene of hostilities between here and the Wall.

COMMISSION'S ACTION MEETS WITH APPROVAL

Dean Sinclair Laird, of Macdonald College, Lauds Refusal to Lower "Extremely Moderate Scale of Salaries" Paid to Teacher in Montreal.

Montreal, June 9.—The stand taken by the Montreal Protestant Board of School Commissioners in refusing to lower the "extremely moderate scale of salaries" paid to teachers in the city, was highly praised by Dean Sinclair Laird, of the School for Teachers, Macdonald College, at its closing exercises held yesterday afternoon. "Now that this salary question in Montreal has been settled," Dean Laird said, "it will be possible to proceed with the project of the Council of Education to proceed with new regulations to raise the standard of teachers' diplomas. Among the projected plans will be: 1.—The intention to require a post-graduate training for a high school diploma. At present this is merely option 1 at McGill, but after a year or so it may be made compulsory there as it is presently at Bishop's University. 2.—The probability of requiring longer training in the near future for school diplomas. 3.—The principle of selection for admission to the intermediate class. This power to limit the numbers has been enacted by regulation and will enable the central board of examiners to choose only the best students, those who have the high school leaving certificate. 4.—Advanced elementary and advanced intermediate diplomas are now available to teachers as a result of the institution of a summer school for further training. These diplomas will, doubtless, be demanded for promotion, and will be a consideration in favor of candidates for new posts."

Medals and prizes were presented by Sir Arthur Currie and General D. Prévail. Canon F. Lewis Whitley pronounced the invocation and Rev. Cyril Adair, the benediction. Some very enjoyable singing was contributed by the graduating students.

SPAIN LOOKING TO A COALITION CABINET TODAY

President Hopes to Organize a Republican Government Without Aid of Socialists—Early Elections Expected.

Madrid, June 9.—President Niceto Alcala Zamora was reported today to be casting about for a coalition cabinet to replace the one headed by Premier Manuel Zamora which resigned when the President indicated his lack of confidence in it. The President, it was said, is considering forming a government which would include all possible Republican minorities, except the Socialists, and which would dissolve Congress and call elections within ten days, as provided for in the constitution. This type of cabinet, President Alcala Zamora is said to believe, would enforce laws conservatively and would bring order and tranquility into Spanish politics, troubled for many months. Latest indications are that the cabinet crisis, induced by a new religious law affecting the nationalization of church property and religious groups and by Senator Alcala Zamora's refusal to allow Azana to renege his cabinet without disclosing the proposed changes with Republican minority leaders, will not be solved until Monday or Tuesday.

QUEBEC PREMIER OUTLINES PUBLIC WORKS PLAN TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Continued from page 1 an entirely new departure from previous farm policies, will be a success, was expressed by the Premier. "This is an experiment," he added, "and I am convinced that it will succeed and give satisfaction to all concerned."

Following official notice in the Quebec Gazette, two bills which became law last session—one to limit working hours and the other regarding high-pressure vessels—will be put into force immediately. This was decided at a meeting of the Provincial Cabinet, and the orders-in-council were signed yesterday.

Both bills were sponsored at the behest of Hon. C. J. Arcand, Minister of Labor. The bill to limit working hours merely gives the Lieutenant-Governor in Council the right to do so as he sees fit, the only condition being that the industries affected will not suffer as a result from foreign competition. It is expected that the building trade in Montreal will be the first to be affected.

The other bill lays down safety rules for the use of high-pressure vessels, boilers, etc.

Quebec, June 9.—"Every day we are hearing good news regarding recovery in the lumber industry," Premier Taschereau commented with evident satisfaction yesterday when asked to comment on the situation in that trade. "This recovery is attributable to several causes," the Premier explained. "Last year there were 450,000,000 cubic feet of lumber cut. The market was very low at that time, however, and manufacturers, as a result of the distinct improvement in business and the betterment of the lumber market, have decided to increase their stock in order that they may not be caught unprepared, like the grasshopper in the fable."

PRISON TERMS WERE IMPOSED ON KIDNAPPERS

Four Germans, Whose Attempt to Kidnap Jewish Rotter Brothers Had Fatal Results, Sentenced to Imprisonment Ranging from Four to Twelve Months.

Vanduz, Principality of Lightenstein, June 9: Four Germans whose attempt to kidnap the Jewish Rotter brothers, formerly Berlin's leading theatrical producers, resulted in the suicide of one of the intended victims and his wife, were sentenced today to imprisonment ranging from four to twelve months. Alfred Rotter and his wife were killed when they plunged over a cliff and Fritz Rotter and another woman were injured as they jumped from the kidnappers' automobile last April 5. The kidnappers sought to return the Rotter brothers to Germany for trial on charges resulting from the collapse of their enterprises.

MERCURY SOARS TO HIGH MARK OF 82 DEGREES

Sherbrooke citizens were today experiencing one of the warmest days of the season, with every indication that before evening the mercury would reach a higher mark than yesterday, which registered eighty-two degrees above, which was the same as on Tuesday of this week.

Indications this morning were that the warm spell would continue for a few days more. The Lennoxville Experimental Farm gave yesterday's temperatures as minimum fifty-nine, maximum eighty-two, compared with a maximum for the same day last year of fifty-five and a minimum of thirty-three.

While city folk were sweating and Old Sol reigned supreme in a cloudless sky, farmers of the district were happy. The weather was just such as was desired, and crops are reported to be making rapid progress.

The rain which occurred earlier in the week was worth thousands of dollars to the rural districts, and followed by a warm sun, helped to put the ground into first class condition for growth of all kinds. One tragedy was directly attributed to the excessive heat. This occurred at Mansville, where six-year-old Gerard Drouin, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Drouin, of that place, lost his life while swimming in the Missisquoi River.

No heat prostrations or other mishaps attributed to the weather have occurred in Sherbrooke or in the immediate vicinity. People, however, are seeking shelter from the sun's rays under trees and in any shady corner available. The Magog River is the meeting place of many of the city's youth, who are seeking relief by a dip in the cool waters, while the shady city parks are also being invaded by people who are not forced to remain in offices, stores and business places where the temperature is anything but comfortable.

LOWER TREND IN MONTREAL STOCKS TODAY

Sales Volume Light as Many Issues Dropped Fractionally in Early Trading on Montreal Stock Exchange.

Montreal, June 9.—In sympathy with the reaction in Wall Street, the prices on the Montreal Stock Exchange dipped slightly in the early dealings today. Sales volume was light with turnover being approximately 15,000 shares. The market was hesitant at the opening with an irregular trend. The profit taking in New York however, forced issues to decline fractionally. Around noon a firmer tendency appeared which enabled some stocks to regain parts of the losses. International Nickel, the feature of the early trading, was quoted at 20.00 off 30 cents after recovering from 19.50. Consolidated Smelters declined two points at 29, while Hollinger was up fifteen cents at 10.65.

Brazilian Traction, the active leader, lost 1/2 at 15 1/2 while Canadian Pacific Railway eased the same amount at 16 1/2. Montreal Power rose unchanged at 37 1/2.

Canadian Car, Cement, Celanese, Canadian Industrial Alcohol, Massey-Harris, Power Corporation, Shawinigan Power and Steel of Canada all lost fractions. Charles Gurd, which mounted with a rush yesterday, lost 1 1/2 points at 13 1/2, while Price Brothers preferred dipped 1 1/2 points.

WAVE OF PROFIT-TAKING SWEEPED NEW YORK TODAY

New York, June 9.—A wave of profit taking swept over the stock market in the early trading today causing recessions of fractions to more than three points throughout the list. Oils and tobaccos however maintained better resistance, the latter group moving slightly ahead.

American Telephone was also a firm spot, holding around its close yesterday. Western Union and Postal Telegraph preferred dropped four and seven points, respectively on rejection of the amendment of the railroad bill which would have permitted the merger of these two companies. Losses of 1 1/2 to 3 points were shown in Allied Chemical, Union Pacific, American Can, Dome, U. S. Smelting, International Telephone and American Sugar. U. S. COWANSVILLE CHURCH GROUP HELD MEETING

Interesting Addresses Delivered at Largely Attended Meeting of Cowansville Young People's Society—Social Notes of Interest.

Cowansville, June 9.—A largely attended meeting of the Young People's Society was held with Miss M. Dover, the president, in the chair. The president, Mr. M. Mason, read a letter of thanks and appreciation from the secretary of the official board of the United Church, for the society's generous offer to help with the finances of the church in a very substantial way. It was decided to continue the meetings during the summer months. Miss S. Stowe, representing the missionary committee, read a letter from Dr. Netram, of India, and Mrs. J. Beach, representing the citizenship committee, read a very interesting paper "On Being Worth Knowing."

The speaker pointed out that by the attempt to reach God's ideal of unselfish love in our lives powers are set in motion which illumine the lives of others and make us worth knowing. Each age has contributed something worth while, and our faithfulness in passing these on to the next generation will also make us worth knowing, and a striking contrast to those who have lived selfishly. "Co-operation with God's plans for a better world," said the speaker, "is the ideal for which we should strive."

Mr. Donald Boyd, representing the literature and music committee, delivered an interesting illustrated talk on Hoffman's picture, "Christ and the Rich Young Ruler." "Take from art, works of which Christ has been the inspiration, and you rob the world of most of its great treasures," the speaker said. "Great pictures," he said, "are great teachers of truth, great companions, whose eloquent message speaks into the heart, exercising an unrealized influence." Hoffman, the artist, died in Dresden in 1902 at the age of seventy-eight years. His parents were deeply religious, the Bible was daily read in the home, and he was greatly impressed by the pictures representing public and these greatly influenced his paintings. A lantern slide showing this picture in all its beautiful coloring was thrown on the screen and gave a very realistic touch as attention was called to features of expression, clothes and the tragic consequences of the "great refusal," as this picture is sometimes called.

Mrs. Beate Johnston and Mr. Donald Boyd contributed vocal solos to the program. Miss Dover thanked all those who had contributed to the success of the evening. After the close of the meeting a sing-song was enjoyed.

 The Junior Red Cross Club of the St. Armand School No. 4, which is known as the St. Armand Hustlers, has recently forwarded its annual report to headquarters. The officers for the past year were as follows: Teacher-director, Mrs. N. H. Robinson; president, Joseph Messier; secretary, Phyllis Solomon; treasurer, Robert Solomon; and circulation manager, Lloyd Solomon. Thirty-three meetings were held during the year and thirteen pupils in all were enrolled. During the year the Junior Red Cross has helped to raise the health standard of the pupils in many ways, efforts having been made to gain weight and in many cases have been successful. A tooth-brushing contest was also held. The Hustlers have supplied paper towels and soap for the use of the school and have also bought crepe paper curtains.

Friends donated pictures of the King and Queen and an organ, so the group bought a song book. The Junior Red Cross certificate was framed. The Hustlers kept the school clean, and supplied fresh water daily, cleaned the yard and made two flower beds. They collected over one thousand stamps and several hundred coupons, sold twenty-five calendars and twenty-five magazines, filled three Christmas stockings and donated other toys and books, as well as animal cut-outs, and St. Patrick's and Easter cards. The Hustlers entertained their many friends at a Christmas tree, when a Red Cross play and acoustic were parts of the programme, and donated candy for the visiting children. They also held a Hallowe'en party and a visitors' day at Easter. The treasurer reported the total sum of $11.78 raised and expended for Junior Red Cross purposes, the sum of $5.10 having been sent in to the Crippled Children's Fund.

THAT "LIKE THE DICKENS" FEELING IS LIVER

Wake Up Your Liver Bile. Feel Fit. You Needn't use Calomel To Do It.

It's your liver, failing to pour out the vital two pounds of bile, daily, into your bowels, that makes you feel so off-colour.
 Lack of bile means poor digestion. Food stays too long in your bowels and decays. Your system is poisoned. You go through the misery of gas, bloating, pain, heartburn. You have a dark brown abominable taste in your mouth and bad breath. Your skin is uncleanly and often your head aches. Your whole system seems out of kilter.
 How can you reasonably expect to clear up a condition like this by merely taking salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum, or roullage? These only move the bowels, and that's not enough. You must wake up your liver bile.
 Avoid calomel (mercury). Take Carter's Liver Cure Pills. They're purely vegetable, gentle, sure and safe. They'll make you feel a hundred per cent better in a very short time. Don't waste your money on substitutes. Get the definite. Ask for Carter's by name—and get them! Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label. 25c at all druggists.

KEEPING CLEAR.

George Gordon Payne.
Let common-sense rule the realm,
Let fact send fancy on its way;
With Wisdom's hand upon the helm
In tangled paths we will not stray.
Unreal dreams must be eschewed
To keep mind and vision clear;
In wiser ways things must be viewed
If we would triumph over fear.
The maze through which we emerged
Has dulled our senses' keener edge.
But when our foolish whims are curbed
We'll rally to a better pledge.
The joy that comes of simple wants
Will take its place in our day;
The restlessness in soul that rants
Will be ignored so we can play.

USING CHARITY TO ADVANCE A CANDIDATE.

Forcing an unwelcome candidate upon a county is not as easy today as it once was; and when that force is being exercised from without it is doubly hurtful. As far as we are concerned the pussyfooting politician never had much strength when he was smoked out of the hole.

Outwardly, in Wolfe County, everything points to the Liberal selection of candidate to be Ernest O. Gingras, the Mayor of Marlinton, a native son of the county, who has lived an unblemished life within the county and within sight of critical friends.

From D'Israeli comes a voice which would indicate that this village, now outside the Federal electoral constituency, has an aspirant. Here is the copy of a letter sent to several farmers within Wolfe County, who have been in bad luck. It is signed by a government employee who has more to fear than gain through political activities. Worth reading in view of the oldtime attempts to buy a man's vote with his own money, for in the long run all expenditures are raised by taxes, and the needy farmer of the springtime will in the fall have to pay for some other man's needs:

"I have the pleasure to tell you that after the efforts of Mr. Thomas Lapointe, of D'Israeli, it has pleased the honourable the Minister of Agriculture to grant you the amount mentioned on the enclosed credit note for the purchase of seed grain, consisting of millet, clover and potatoes, according to your needs.
"Please address yourself to the merchant whose name appears on the enclosed note.
"Yours truly,
"J. E. Lemire,
"Regional Agronomist."

Just why an agronomist in the permanent employ of the Government should stick his proboscis in a political pot will require some explanation from the Minister of Agriculture.

And why any particular merchant should be given the patronage of the district is another crimping thought for digestion.

The electors of Wolfe County have more than once shown their resentment at any outsider-chosen candidate. That is their own prerogative. The agents of the Minister of Agriculture must be taught the first lesson in diplomacy.

Raising objections to bringing about a schism in the party so that an opposition candidate may be slipped in at the last moment is not good politics, and we believe that the electors of the majority of the Townships will abide by the choice accorded to Mr. Gingras, since the news was given out that the former member had accepted an office in the gift of the Government.

The Liberals of Wolfe County will not willingly have a repetition of the dictatorial policy of 1930, when Richmond-Wolfe, driven to a rebellious mood, lost for themselves perhaps the ablest man among Quebec Liberals. His sponsors were both clumsy and brass, as were the then Federal Ministers of Quebec.

WE MUST DISTURB THE FEW TO HELP THE MANY.

Canada has a Prime Minister whom we all admit is an able man. The Honorable Richard B. Bennett is a massive man with an intellect unsurpassed by any of his predecessors.

Yet he has not lived up to the promise we had hoped from a man of his sound convictions and earnest aspirations. He seems to have become enmeshed in the web or in the vicious circle of officialdom.

Mayhap we can free him, and encourage him by that free criticism which alone can lead to reconstruction.

Not once but many times have we stated that some of the legislation at Ottawa may be classed as the greatest absurdities and perversions of public intent which common sense has ever reviewed. Conviction and purpose have resulted in measures of political expediency and sectional or parochial resolutions.

We anticipated the structure of the statesman, and we reaped the decision of the partizan and the politician.

It does seem too bad. We cannot say "Turn the Rascals Out" For there stands on the side lines those whom, in 1930, we found their inferiors.

Our only hope is to select the individual candidate who will pledge himself to maintain the wishes of his constituents at all hazards, and who will sign that pledge in detail on all the pressing public questions of the day.

In good time we will outline that pledge in detail. Though we have neither ambition nor desire to go to Parliament, we can stand on the side lines and envision that which must be done in the interests of our agricultural and industrial enterprise. The men on the team always need a coach who can speak with the authority of a greater knowledge of the game.

It is pitiable. For two years our labourers have been chasing from town to town in search of work, and not finding it. We have been passing laws to compel people, at reduced wages, to support paupers and the unemployed. Yet, with reduced taxation and with the confidence which would ensure through relief from the costs of over-government, we would have to run after our army of labourers and bring them back again to till the land and work in our factories.

Our first conviction is the decapitation of all governmental measures and departments which are unnecessary to the old and simple forms of democratic government, the elimination of that which is not necessary and profitable. This will avert disaster and restore confidence.

HEREWITH SOME IDEAS FOR THE MEN WITH THE MINDS OF STATESMEN.

There will be a sugar jubilee of rejoicing when the tax on sugar is abolished, and it will come before an election. No government dare face the growing generations with that two-cent-a-pound tax in force.

The decennial of redistribution in the constituencies means a quinquennial accession of voters between general elections; not even a gerrymander can overcome the bright and cheerful arrival at the polls of more than half a million young men and women who will cast their first vote. This quinquennial period the politicians too often overlook in their cloistered self-sufficiency.

So we repeat that the day of the abolition of the Sugar Tax ought to be a day of jubilee and rejoicing to every man and every woman who has a love for children.

Nothing short of the removal of this and of all other irritating taxes will ever induce the average man or woman to remove all the causes of paternalism and its pauperism progeny.

All taxes are paid by products, and each buyer of anything at any price pays his or her share of public expenditures. This is an economic law.

The depressed condition of agriculture can be clearly and truly traced to too-much-cost in government, and over-taxation is the direct outcome.

Provincialism, parochialism and political bargain forced our Confederation Fathers to a clumsy form of triple government, and this has resulted in triple taxation through Federal, Provincial and Municipal taxation.

We have amended our Constitution. We have trifled with our British ties. So we have a precedent for a reconstruction of our governmental structure.

Have we the minds and the men who will be leaders? We do not invite the attention of the small-minded men who dally with socialism and sectionalism, as do the futile See-See-Foos, but we do call for a Leader who can rebuild confidence by constructive action.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

A remarkable man is Franklyn Roosevelt in that he always does or says the simple thing when put to the test. He does not combat the many phantasies with high-sounding phrases, but simply reiterates the axioms by telling the people that it may be a very commendable action, but it will surely increase the taxes. And that negates the idea nowadays.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record, June 9th, 1903.

Servia was reported in a state of wild rejoicing following the murder of King Alexander and Queen Draga, who were buried secretly at the dead of night. Prince Peter Karageorgevitch was proclaimed as the new ruler, to the reported joy of the people generally.

Mayor William Farwell received an acceptance of the city's invitation to Governor-General Lord Minto to visit Sherbrooke later in the month. Lord Lansdowne was the last vice-regal visitor to the city, twelve years previously.

A Record correspondent reported: "A factory is about to be started at Plattsburg for the manufacture of horseless carriages. They will weigh little more than an ordinary carriage and can be sold for less than $200."

A new "strike" was reported in Sherbrooke when washwomen of the business district demanded an increase in pay from ten to fifteen cents an hour. Most of the employees, it was said, were yielding to the demand.

Rev. Father E. C. Fissette conducted the funeral of Mrs. W. J. McManus, the bereaved being W. B. Murray, M. E. O'Donnell, M. Hawkins, Peter Miles, F. Savary and James McGivern.

At a sales meeting of the Sherbrooke Dairymen's Exchange, cheese brought from 10 to 10 1/2 cents a pound, while the ruling price for butter was 18 1/2 to 19 cents.

One of the oldest residents of the district passed away at Huntingville in the person of Calista Hyatt, widow of Christopher C. Libbey, aged 86 years. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lovell left for a fortnight's visit to Abenakis Springs.

The depression seemingly is healing itself, with the help of a couple of energetic shoves in the stern from Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and no thanks to the present government of Canada.

Most of our amateur economists, if they remember the guff they have been emitting in recent months, will look for places to hide in before the snow flies again.

I should not mind, myself, seeing some of my columns buried in oblivion, though, at that, I have guessed right a few times.

Because business is on the mend, and the course our civilization is to take in the next few years depends a great deal on what happens within the next twelve months, I think the summer meeting of the Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade and Eastern Townships Settlement Society, in Rock Island and Derby Line next Monday, is not only an interesting but an important happening.

Two of the speakers will be Governor Stanley Wilson of Vermont, and Stanstead's John Hackett.

They are both men who have proved themselves, in the last difficult years, courageous and clear-headed individuals.

What they have to say will be worth listening to.

But unquestionably the key item on the agenda will be the period set aside for discussions, resolutions and new business.

Nothing could show, as the depression has shown, how abjectly the people of these Townships have allowed themselves to drift.

We are a district, we of these eleven counties, whose traditions can scarcely be matched anywhere in Canada.

Yet our history during the last fifty years, culminating in the recent debacle, has been one of weak-kneed laissez-faire.

Other sections of Canada, less gifted than we by the generous hand of Providence, have forged ahead and made themselves of primary moment in the industrial and cultural life of the Dominion.

We of the Townships have been content to export our capital, our best brains, and, seemingly, the better part of our energy, to the United States and other parts of Canada.

Descended from virile, fearless men and women, we have become stuffy and indolent. Because our great-grandfathers worked hard, we think we are entitled to follow the easiest path.

Some years ago a newspaper editor in the Townships wrote, and distributed widely, one of the silliest books I ever read.

He called it "The Tragedy of Quebec."

In it he made the preposterous claim that the English people of the Eastern Townships have been slowly and relentlessly edged out by the skulduggery of French-Canadians.

When people begin to look for alibis, it is because they have something to hide.

If there has been a steady drift of English-speaking families away from these Townships, it is not because they have been betrayed by their fellow-Canadians of another language, but because they have succumbed to the lure of far fields.

There is not a son of the Townships, now famous in Montreal or elsewhere, who could not have made an equally worth-while thing of his life right here at home if he had had the guts to stay, and if his fellow English-Canadians had been willing to stick by him with their money and confidence as enthusiastically as they will rally to the appeal of any metropolitan shark who wants to sell them stocks and bonds.

It is not a fact that Jacob Nicol, a French-Canadian Protestant, came to Sherbrooke an absolute stranger, distrusted by the English people because he was French, distrusted by the French people because he was not of their faith, and succeeded as few men have succeeded in much larger centres?

I have written plump and plain in today's column, and deliberately refrained from pulling my punches.

I have done it, not because I want to be offensive, but because I know what other parts of Canada have done with a lot less to work on than we have, and because it breaks my heart to see my native Townships dragging at the end of the procession for lack of fearless self-analysis and resolution.

I hope it will make a great many people fighting mad.

If we cannot do it in the name of our own pride of race and tongue, then let us in gratitude to our ancestors and for the sake of our descendants, snap out of our rut and make these Townships what they ought to be.

We have a great many mistakes to correct.

But it is not too late.

We have been anvils long enough. Let us try being hammers for a change.

Random Jottings

W. U. Cotton.

The fair way— On May 27 President Roosevelt signed the Federal Securities Bill by which full disclosure is demanded of all material facts before stocks and bonds can be marketed in interstate commerce in the United States.

On signing the bill, thus making it law, the President issued a statement in which he declared: "Events have made it abundantly clear that the merchandising of securities is really traffic in the economic and social welfare of our people. Such traffic demands the utmost good faith and fair dealing on the part of those who engage in it."

"If the country is to flourish, capital must be invested in enterprise, but those who seek to draw upon their people's money must be wholly candid regarding the facts on which the investor's judgment is asked."

What one company did— This is what one company in this province did.

It was at the end of its resources because its original financial structure was unsound.

It therefore organized another company ostensibly for an allied business. The same board of directors sat on both companies, and the president of the new company was the same director who had proved one share each. So there could be no opposition to what was done.

The old company bought from the new company some hundreds of thousands dollars' worth of its preferred stock and the old company gave the new company its note of payment. The old company now owned these shares.

The old company thereupon sold these shares to the public and used the money thus obtained to try and get itself out of its difficulties. It was the new company just enough money on account of its note to keep it alive.

When the old company failed, the new company naturally failed also. The public lost money in both.

What one promoter did— This is what a promoter in this province did.

As far as I could trace back his record, between 1916 and 1930 he floated twenty-one companies in all of which the public lost money. He was a small promoter. In one company the public lost about ten thousand dollars and in another twenty-five thousand. Still, when you have twenty companies being floated, the total is considerable.

On one occasion one of his companies was on the verge of failure. He organized a new company and transferred his holdings in the old company for a large block of the new company's debenture stock. Then he sold his holdings to the public for his own benefit.

Why country people lost money— This promoter advertised in small Ontario papers as one way of getting money. The country people, being afar off and having no access to his books, could not fight except at a cost exceeding what they had lost. And being bled of their little surplus, they had no money left they could afford to put up.

Moreover if such a promoter is attacked, he will switch cash from other flotations into the treasury of the company under scrutiny, and charge up the expenses incurred in other flotations to the flotation being attacked. So it is practically necessary to investigate the whole series of fraudulent promotions and stock operations. This is why, when in the other provinces, the attorney-general got after and jailed swindling brokers. It cost the provincial governments many thousands of dollars and the services of a corps of accountants to go through the books of all the companies in which the men under great were interested, before a conviction was obtained.

What one stock salesman did— This promoter got an honest young fellow to sell stock. Everything seemed to be all right and the salesman started in. After a little while when this gentleman had sold his clients a bunch of the stock, the guaranteed dividends failed to materialize. The promoter also failed to pay the salesman his promised commission.

When the salesman asked the promoter what was wrong and insisted on an explanation, the promoter offered to pay him well to keep his mouth shut. The salesman refused. He was awarded a life membership in his clients' investments and his own reputation.

When he came to the office the next morning he found all the books and furniture removed to a new office.

When he went to the new office, he was thrown out.

When he went to an advocate to have the promoter arrested, the advocate quite rightly asked for forty dollars. It was not his fight.

Not having the forty dollars, and his reputation being ruined in Montreal, the young man had to get out.

He is now in an Ontario city. What is Quebec's loss is Ontario's gain.

The last I heard of the promoter is that he is still at liberty, waiting for the people to get the money again to take it away from them.

These scoundrels use the small newspapers, and particularly those which do not scrutinize every advertisement submitted, as a customary by all publishers who belong to the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association. This organization has a quick system for investigation, and gives prompt aid to publishers who feel it their duty to protect their subscribers against the many fraudulent schemes, baked in some garret. It always was to be wisest before and not after, and only the reading of correct news will keep a person in touch with that which is sound.

Buy advertised goods. They must always give full value.

DANGER FROM CATERPILLARS IS NOW OVER

City Authorities Confident that Within Few Days Invasion of Crawling Insects Will Be Thing of the Past.

The campaign against the caterpillar invasion, in progress here for over a week, has proved highly successful and the danger from the crawling insects to trees and bushes in the vicinity of Sherbrooke is now over, declared J. T. Martel to the Record this morning. The fight against the destructive pests is not over, however, declared the city official, but the city authorities are confident that within a few days the caterpillar invasion will be a thing of the past. Thousands of insects attacked trees and bushes surrounding the city about a week ago. The civic authorities and private citizens joined forces, and their determined fight to exterminate the caterpillars has finally proved successful.

Asked by the municipal officials to lend a helping hand, the Provincial Government sent a man to Sherbrooke to supervise the work and supplied the city with a motor pump with which to spray the trees with lead arsenic.

Caterpillars on trees and bushes have been destroyed, but the lead arsenic solution does not work quite so rapidly when sprayed on buildings, such as hen houses, fences and other buildings where the invaders have taken up their position. The explanation is that when clinging to buildings the insects are not eating, as is the case when they are on trees, and consequently do not co-operate as willingly in tasting the solution as when it is sprayed over leaves.

A large number of citizens have taken advantage of the city's offer to supply free lead arsenic, and during the past few days a great amount of "private spraying" has been in progress.

At the present time the greatest number of caterpillars are to be found near the outskirts of the city, in the vicinity of Beckett Road. It is at this point that the city is at present directing its activities.

The trees along the Lennoxville, Brompton, Montreal and Ascot roads have been thoroughly sprayed and danger eliminated. While the insects have succeeded in causing a certain amount of damage in the city, this is much less than in other sections of the Eastern Townships, where the situation is still said to be serious.

Delegates from All Sections of Dominion Assembled in Winnipeg for Biennial Convention of Fedefated Women's Institutes of Canada.

Winnipeg, June 9. — Concluding sessions of the biennial convention of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada were held here yesterday. Appointment of national conveners of standing committees formed the main business of the day.

The convention was held in conjunction with that of the Manitoba Women's Institutes. Mrs. W. F. Cameron, Regina, retiring president, who was awarded a life membership certificate at yesterday's session, took the chair for the last time today. Resolutions on new or left-over business kept delegates busy. They came here at the beginning of the week from all over Canada.

On his return to Sherbrooke, the president of the group, waited on Mr. McVie and presented him with a pocket-book as a token of esteem and affection. The gift was accompanied by best wishes to Mr. McVie in his new post in Sault Ste. Marie, which he will assume during the course of the next few weeks.

Col. Hanson passed away at Sweetsburg on Monday May 29, following an operation at the district hospital. The body remained at his home until Tuesday, when it was removed to the residence of sister, Mrs. A. A. The funeral service was held in the United Church, and, in the absence of the pastor, was conducted by Rev. G. Elery Read, of Sherbrooke, who, only six weeks previously had conducted the funeral of Mr. Hanson's daughter, Mrs. F. L. Whiting, of Stanhope.

During the past month collections at the local office of the Department of National Revenue declined $7,488.07 from May, 1932, according to figures issued today by W. R. Moore, acting collector. The revenues for the past month totalled $59,157.76 compared with $168.43 last month, the corresponding period last year.

Duties on imports last month amounted to $22,646.40, or $5,825.67 less than the receipts from this source of $28,471.07 in May, 1932. The second important revenue classification, excise taxes, mainly the sales tax, produced $1,603.01 less last month than a year ago, the figures being, 1933, $36,342.93, and 1932, $37,946.94.

The only section to show an increase was excise duties, which jumped from $24 in May, 1932, to $168.43 last month, an expansion of $144.43. Sundry collections were absent last month for the second consecutive period due to a change in book-keeping practice, these now coming under other categories.

MAYOR FOREST RELIEVES HIS FEELINGS

Mayor Forest was not only in an angry mood when encountered at the City Hall this morning, but he was thoroughly disgusted as well. Some of the problems facing the civic officials as a result of the city's unemployment is enough to irritate any chief magistrate.

His Worship said it was one thing to be dealing with honest men who were temporarily "up against it," but when it came to people who had no conscience it was a different matter.

The Mayor was enraged because of a special case that has been brought to the attention of the municipal governors. It concerned a six-year-old girl who had been abused by her father in her own home. When things got to such a point, the Mayor thought, there was reason for anyone to "fly off the handle."

It was further announced at the City Hall that an additional sixty names had been taken off the municipal kitchen relief list, and thirty-five more cases are to be eliminated during the next fortnight or month. There are actually 585 families being given help daily at the kitchen, as compared with over eight hundred a few months ago.

"You can also say," the Mayor added, "that unemployed who are working for the city are going to have to do an honest day's work or they will be cut off." Some of the unemployed are not over-anxious to work, and throw down their shovels or picks for the least excuse. This system Mayor Forest does not intend to tolerate.

It was provided in the contract and in the specifications forming part thereof that the portion of the work to be performed should be paid for at unit prices and certain items recorded in the schedule of prices should be paid for in lump sums.

In connection with the work, the declaration continue, the defendant prepared a certain document styled "schedule of quantities," wherein were contained details and instructions given the plaintiff by the defendant as to the execution of the contract. This schedule of quantities gave a description of the exact work to be done, the manner in which the work was to be accomplished and the unit quantities of the concrete and excavation. On or about August 15, 1928, the local firm contended it started to execute the contract according to instructions.

Owing to increased quantities of excavation and other works, done according to the engineer's orders, the construction company was unable to complete the contract within the time limit specified in the contract, to wit, on or about August 2, 1928. A second agreement was signed on that date under which the defendant corporation consented to grant an extension of time to complete the construction. In this subsequent contract it was stipulated that the interruption of the construction did not affect the plaintiff's rights mentioned in the contract of August 14, and further pointed out that, notwithstanding the interruption of the work in general, the contractors agreed to continue dredging operations until sufficient material, "but not more than could be required by the engineer under the contract of August 14," had been removed to satisfy the engineers.

On August 25, 1929, according to the declaration, the town's secretary-treasurer wrote the plaintiff company advising that the contract had been completed and the work accepted by the defendant corporation's engineer. The corporation offered the plaintiff $7,111.68, which was the balance it claimed was owing the Newton firm under the contract in question according to the engineer's final estimate. This tender was refused by the plaintiff, and the defendant pleaded differences in prices, the defendant agreed to remit $2,900 to the plaintiff. This amount had been deposited as security for the fulfilment of the contract.

Specifications in the original contract had called for the excavation of 2,900 cubic yards, but on the insistence of the defendant's engineer 2,848 cubic yards were actually excavated, for which, the plaintiff firm contended, it is entitled to $5,692. Notwithstanding the fact that the extra excavation was ordered by the defendant's engineer, the quantity was valued at $32 cubic yards in the defendant's final estimate. Certain extra work performed by the plaintiff had been estimated at $1,831.05, but this sum was reduced by the defendant by $305. In connection with certain work, the plaintiff claims that the concern was obliged to obtain and provide timber of certain dimensions. This additional material had been ordered by the plaintiff in accordance with the plans and specifications supplied by the defendant.

In the spring of 1929, according to the plaintiff, the defendant's engineer notified the plaintiff that the crib work in question was to be shortened by one hundred feet. The result was that the material purchased for this work was left on the contractor's hands. For this exception to the contract, the plaintiff asked $1,905.89, which brought the entire debt of the town of Magog to $30,477.27. Of this amount $25,948.18 has been paid, leaving a balance of $4,529.09, which the plaintiff asks the Court to award it.

The town corporation admitted the contract, but stated that the work was not started as specified in the agreement, and added that the plaintiff company had been paid for all the useful excavation it had done. The contractors who submitted tenders for the work were obliged, according to the defendant, to examine the scene of work to base their estimates on the nature of the ground on which they were to excavate. The plaintiff had examined the place, but it is supposed that this preliminary survey was not complete, because in a letter addressed to the defendant the Newton Company admitted having encountered a more solid and more difficult layer than it anticipated. This letter was filed as an exhibit.

In this letter, according to the plea, was also contained a complaint that it was impossible to make progress in the excavation owing to this harder strata. Instead of digging the depth outlined in the contract, the Corporation contended that the contractors did work

YOUNG BOY HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Sudden Rise in Waters of Magog River Carried Away Eleven-Year-Old John Xasteroles, Who Was Fishing Below Dufferin Avenue Bridge.

It is unlikely that eleven-year-old John Xasteroles, living at 52 Wellington street south, will go fishing in the Magog River below the Dufferin avenue bridge again, for the youngster had an unpleasant experience that nearly cost him his life yesterday afternoon.

As the water in the river had been unusually low, so low in fact that no water coming over the dam, with the result that the rapids were dry. During the past few days a number of very big fish have been taken out of this stretch of the river. The dam, which has become a mecca for fishermen, adult and juvenile. Yesterday the river was lined with these disciples of Isaac Walton, including young Xasteroles and two companions. Everything went along splendidly until about four o'clock when the dam gates suddenly opened and the stream were opened and the river suddenly rose as a great wall of water came roaring down the canyon. The youngster, standing in a dangerous place, was struck by the full weight of the onslaught. He was immediately swept from his foothold, but his cries for help quickly brought aid from some of the older men nearby. They reached for him with their fishing poles, one of which he managed to grab hold of. The boy fought valiantly to save himself, but he was not strong enough to best the current and was forced to give up his hold.

He was again carried off and was tossed about by the waves. Several times he was thrown against the rocks in the stream and the spectators feared him to be smashed to pieces by a bounding he received. At least two of the fishermen jumped into the current in an endeavor to halt his progress and bring about his rescue, but to no avail. He was finally carried to smoother waters where he floated for a few seconds until rescued by a fisherman who had rushed to the spot in a boat.

Landed safely on Front street, an examination revealed that he had suffered little from his unpleasant experience, his injuries being confined to a few bruises he sustained when he received his terrific pounding in the rapids.

which was useless to the defendant on either side of the river bed. Seeing that that allegedly useless work was being done, the town's engineer approached the president of the Newton firm, S. G. Newton, and informed him that the plans would be changed. This was agreeable to the plaintiff, the plea continues. Any other work, not outlined in the original pact, was to be done only on written order from the town's engineer, and the defendant pleaded that it had paid the plaintiff for all extra work ordered. Referring to the material which the plaintiff holds the corporation responsible, the defendant pleaded that when the work had been finished Mr. Newton had said that he would try to sell the material to the town or to some other company. The first inkling it received of being held responsible for the material was contained in a lawyer's letter sent to the defendant corporation on October 13, 1931.

In a letter to the defendant's engineers, the plea concluded, the plaintiff wrote that the only differences in price between the parties was the amount of excavation and the rental of certain machinery. No mention was made of the material left over.

DISARMAMENT DISCUSSED AT WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETING

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute opened yesterday afternoon with a few words of tribute to the memory of an active and devoted member, the late Mrs. Harold Bassett, the members standing in silence for a few moments. The president, Mrs. A. E. Abercrombie, presided, and the roll call elicited many interesting historical events and facts relating to the Province of Quebec. An invitation to attend the Board of Trade and Eastern Townships Settlement Society meetings at Rock Island was read, and if possible, a representative will be sent.

A suggested ways and means committee included the names of Mrs. Glass, Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Titcomb, to act for the next few months.

A discussion on the Lennoxville band took place, and it was decided to send a circular letter to all the secular societies in Lennoxville, calling attention to the band's need of financial support, the Women's Institute to head the list with a contribution of $25.

"Disarmament as it Concerns the Women of the World" was the topic for the day's programme, and was described by Mrs. Ralph Mosher, who led the discussion, as "a vital question to mothers of sons." Mrs. Mosher read the views of Lieutenant Drew on the subject of the Disarmament Conference, which he said was "the greatest attempt of all time to end war."

Canada's contribution to the Conference was her belief in the curtailment of arms' production. Private profits furnished the most potent reason for war in the history of the past, and was a distinct and menacing factor in the difficulties facing the world today. A greater amount is now being spent on munitions than previous to 1913.

An appropriate poem read by Mrs. Donald Ross concluded an interesting afternoon. Hostesses for the tea were Mrs. William Paige and Mrs. J. E. Bellam.

FOXX CLOUTED THREE HOMERS AGAINST YANKS

Batted in Five Tallies and Was Leading Figure in Attack Which Gave Athletics First Victory of Season Over New York—Circuit Hits Gave Giants Close Verdict.

New York, June 9.—Philadelphia fans who have been figuratively shedding tears over the failure of Jimmie Foxx to live up to the proud boast they made for him when he clouted fifty-eight home runs last season, apparently can dry their eyes.

Jimmie hasn't done any damage to Babe Ruth's home run laurels yet, but he has kept very much like the clouter of 1932 who made serious threats along those lines, when he blasted his way back into the thick of the fight at the expense of the mighty Yankees yesterday. The first three times he went to bat he crashed home runs. He batted in five tallies and was a leading figure in the nineteen-hit attack that gave the Athletics their first victory of the season over the Yankees by fourteen to ten.

For a while, Foxx was tied with Ruth and Lou Gehrig for the big league home run lead, but in the eighth inning the Babe pestered his twelfth homer of the season.

Another Philadelphia-New York game was decided on long distance slugging as the Giants turned back the Phillies by seven to six. Mel Ott's seventh homer of the year was the winning blow after four baggers by Homer Peel and Bill Terry had brought in the other Giant runs.

Washington's Senators cut loose against Boston with seventeen hits in the second game of a double-header to win by twelve to three after they had "blown" a four to three decision in the ninth inning of the opener on walk by Al Thomas. The even break gave them second place in the American League once more as Detroit ended the six-game winning streak of the Chicago White Sox with an eleven-inning three to two triumph as catcher Frank Grube dropped a throw and let the winning run count.

The St. Louis Browns continued Cleveland's losing streak to five games by pounding out a five to three decision in the only real mound duel. Dizzy Dean, of the Cardinals, slanted the Chicago Cubs, giving only three hits to win by two to one. The victory kept the Cards a few points behind the Giants, while Chicago lost a good chance to take third place when the Pittsburgh Pirates suffered an eight to two setback at the hands of the Cincinnati Reds.

PITCHERS HELD LEADING BATTERS IN CHECK YESTERDAY

A day of falling averages again brought two new members into baseball's "Big Six" yesterday. Ben Chapman, who lost only three points from his mark with one hit in four times up and "Spud" Davis, who was tied, advanced into the leaders' ranks, while Johnny Hodapp and Chuck Klein lost nine points apiece and dropped out of the sextette. Randy Moore, another inactive player, gained second place in the National League. Pepper Martin failed to get a hit and Al Simmons and Sam West connected only once, but they held their places.

LENNOXVILLE'S SECONDS TOOK CLOSE VERDICT

Defeated Sherbrooke Cottons by Nine to Seven in Postponed Game to Rank on Even Basis With Kayser in Sherbrooke Softball League Runner-Up Position.

The triple deadlock which existed for third place in the Sherbrooke Softball League was dissolved last evening, and today's standing reveals a two-team deadlock for the runner-up position. At Lennoxville last evening, Sherbrooke Cottons were the visitors for a game postponed from Wednesday night. They made a creditable showing against Lennoxville's second team, but poor fielding paved the way to their downfall after they had amassed a margin at the end of the fifth frame. As a result, Cottons suffered their third defeat against two victories, the home team winning the fixture by a score of nine to seven.

The win, Lennoxville II's fourth in five starts, placed the College Town squad on an even keel with Julius Kayser behind the Independents. The game was perhaps one of the most enjoyable witnessed this year, no disputes or arguments of any kind disrupting the contest. George Carrigan handled the tilt and his impartial decisions brought approval from supporters of both teams.

Bill Elkins and Louis Raymond staged a fine pitcher's duel, with the collegian having slightly the better of the argument. He was given a five-run margin to work on in the first two innings, but was touched for three runs by the visitors in the third frame. A single tally gave the home team a three-run advantage which, however, was wiped off the slate by the Cottons' fifth-inning uprising. Elkins walked two men and the bases were loaded when Lemelin cleared the longest safety of the game, a triple, to place the Sherbrooke's single run ahead.

In the sixth frame Lennoxville salted the game away with a three-run outburst. Their margin of victory would have been more pronounced had not a "break" brought a sudden culmination to their appearance at the plate. Two men were retired when a mistake in the batting order caused the side to be automatically retired after another tally had been marked into the scorer's sheet.

The defeat shunted Cottons from a tie with St. Pats in fourth place to possession of sixth position behind the Paton Mill.

The score by innings was as follows:
Lennoxville II 140 018 0-9
Cottons 006 040 0-7
The line-ups were as follows:
Lennoxville II: E. Gilbey, Nisan, Hooper, Hume, J. Gilbey, Hocking, Oak, Bellam, E. Smith and Elkins.
Cottons: Patton, Jackson, Lemelin, Lessard, Riel, Boisvert, Boutin, Baker, Charpentier and Raymond.

BAER FLOORED SCHMELING IN TENTH ROUND

Young Californian Startled Boxing World by Knocking Out German Heavyweight Contender Last Evening—Will Meet Sharkey or Carnera for World Title.

New York, June 9.—A roistering young blade from out of the west, with thunder in his brawny fists and all the "killer instinct" he has any use for, stood today a threatening menace to Jack Sharkey's heavyweight crown.

Victor last night over Max Schmeling by a crushing tenth round knockout that left 65,000 spectators pop-eyed with amazement. Max Baer, of California, established himself the greatest young heavyweight to crash the big scene since Jack Dempsey whitened down Jess Willard at Toledo.

The vast crowd saw him flout Schmeling with a murderous right and then, a few seconds later, leave the former champion hanging on the ropes, helpless.

A minute and fifty-one seconds of the tenth round had ticked away when referee Arthur Donovan stepped forward, mercifully, to lift Baer's hand and spare the German further punishment. Sighing, ready to drop his guard down and his eyes glazed, Schmeling was an open target for a punch that might have done lasting injury.

The scene was an eye-ful for Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera, both of whom peered attentively from ringside chairs. One or the other, the victor in their championship fight later in the month, will get a chance to sample the Baer dynamite.

Fighting as he did last night, at the same vicious pitch, the man from California would be a favorite to tear through Sharkey's guard and stretch him on the canvas, or to cut down the gigantic Carnera with the fury of his attack.

"I don't know what happened," said the dazed Schmeling as he sat disconsolate, removing his ring logs. It was evident the sudden, sharp conclusion of the combat, five rounds before the scheduled finish, had left him shell-shocked.

"He wasn't hurting me, so I got careless and opened up. Wham! I thought a house had fallen on me." It was the first time Schmeling ever had been on the floor since he first came to the United States five years ago.

The only blemish attached to the young Californian's triumph was his frequent use of a backhand blow that brought warnings from the referee and razzberries from the crowd. Baer used it at times like he was punching a bag, when he backed Schmeling into the ropes and beat away at him calmly, brutally. But the audience forgave him after the big climax.

So confident was Baer's manager, Ancil Hoffman, of the ultimate result that he sent his superbly conditioned young man into the battle with absolute orders not to open up until after the fifth round. That despite the odds were as high as four to one in Schmeling's favor at fight time.

Baer, however, couldn't resist the temptation to win a few, and in the first two rounds he launched two-fisted attacks that beat his unsmiling antagonist all over the ring. That satisfied him, and from there on he was content to bide his time.

Schmeling, taking advantage of Baer's let-up, crowded in with a short, sharp attack that won him his only three rounds of the fight, the fourth, sixth and seventh. Baer wasted little time in the tenth. They came out of a clinch in mid-ring, when the Californian's right darted out like the head of

GOLF

TOMMY ARMOUR SET RECORD-BREAKING PACE.

Glenview, Ill., June 9.—One of the greatest shotmakers of them all, Tommy Armour, had his competitors all but rubbed off the market today with a record-breaking five-shot mortgage on the United States open golf championship.

The silver Scot, his irons and putter singing the same sweet tune that long ago placed his name in golf's "Hall of Fame," pulled his coup on the big prize market of golf yesterday by storming in with a record sixty-eight, that not only broke the course record for the North Shore championship layout but sent him five strokes ahead of the field after the first eighteen-hole round engagement, with Walter Hagen and six others tied at seventy-three. James Johnston, of Toronto, sole Canadian entrant, was among a dozen tied with 76's.

A cobra and thudded on the point of Schmeling's jaw. Down he went, sprawling on his back, then rolled over to watch the knockdown time-keeper. He barely rose as the count reached nine.

Baer sailed into his battered rival with a flurry of punches. Schmeling covered up, slid along the ropes in a desperate effort to escape.

A left doubled Schmeling up, and a right sent him slumping against the post in a neutral corner.

The crowd paid $260,000 to witness one of the most sensational battles of recent years and to assure a fair profit for Jack Dempsey in his first big promotional venture.

CANADIAN SILK GIRLS DEFEATED COTTON MILLS

Second Game of the Ladies' Softball League Schedule Resulted in 20 to 17 Victory for Canadian Silk Entry—Large Crowd in Attendance.

After suffering a twenty-one to twelve defeat at the hands of the Julius Kayser squad in the opening game of the Ladies' Softball League on Tuesday evening, Canadian Silk Products last evening scored their initial victory of the season at the expense of the third entry of the newly-formed circuit, Sherbrooke Cottons. In an abbreviated game, called midway through the first half of the final inning owing to darkness, the Silks defeated the Pacific street squad by a count of twenty to seventeen, the score on record at the completion of the sixth inning.

Francoise Choquette, on the mound for Canadian Silk, yielded twenty-two hits, including a triple in the fifth inning by her mound opponent, Paulette Cabana. Miss Cabana was touched for the same number of safeties for a total of twenty-six bases, with Bertha Marcher lashing out two doubles, and Georgianna and Bee Biledeau one apiece. The Cottons' twister, however, established a strike-out record by fanning eleven opponents to seven by Miss Choquette.

The winners scored in every one of the six completed frames. Fourteen batters went to the plate in the initial frame to bring in a total of nine runs. Three runs were

SPORTING NOTES

ADDITION OF FIVE SPORTS TO OLYMPIC PROGRAMME REJECTED

Vienna, June 9.—The International Olympic Committee yesterday rejected a motion to add bowling, canoeing, lacrosse, model yachting and ice boat sailing to the Olympic sports programme and referred back to the various countries for further study a proposal to include basketball.

Due to differences in viewpoints on what constitutes professionalism, Count Henri Baillet Liatour, president of the committee, withdrew a proposal regulating that phase of athletic enterprise and referred it back to a sub-committee for further study.

Japan, probable host to the 1940 Olympics, was granted additional representation on the committee, its delegation being increased from two to three.

"Until our representative returns from Vienna and reports exactly what happened we cannot take a stand," said a spokesman for the German Federal Sports Commissioners at Berlin, Germany, yesterday, when apprised of the action of the international committee in securing a pledge from Germany of equality of Jews in the Olympics before approving the award of the 1932 games to Berlin. No government official comment was forthcoming.

- 2 A "window" consisting of two specially ground lenses with a very narrow space between them through which the oil is forced.
- 3 A photonic cell on the other side of the "window." It measures how much light comes through the "window" when the oil is passed between the lenses.
- 4 A dial on which a needle registers how much light has passed through the oil and consequently indicates how clean or dirty the oil may be.
