Production staff prepares for summer season: 'Three decent-sized shows rather than four itty-bitty ones'.

Festival Lennoxville

Ouzounian's grande finale

By DONNELLY

Are you ready? It's festival time again. Hot on the heels of two holiday weekends, the 1980 Festival Lennoxville season will continue the festive momentum, rolling its bandwagon of goodies onto the Centennial stage in a week's time.

After a less-than-exemplary package of plays last year, artistic director Richard Ouzounian has settled on a more meaty menu for this summer's theatre-hungry townshippers and tourists.

"I guess last year," Ouzounian says, "when I look back on it, was just too frothy, too lightweight, not enough guts. It was a choice but it was a mistake ... Last year was slick, neat and accomplished but there wasn't enough raw meat or guts in it, so this year we've tried to make it a little less peripheral. Even our lighter plays have kind of a good folk root in them ... I think I learned a lesson last summer."

Restrained by a slim budget, Ouzounian's final season with the Festival (he begins the artistic directorship of Manitoba Theatre Centre later this summer) has been trimmed back to three plays.

In 1978, when Ouzounian first took over at the Festival, he expanded the season to four shows. The first year they were small - three plays had two actors each, the fourth had five.

"Last year we tried to do four large plays and we went a bit into debt because it's just not a large enough operation to do four big things," he says. This year, he had to cut back and decided to "give the people three decent-sized shows rather than four itty-bitty ones."

With simultaneous productions, shows have to be chosen in order that their casts can overlap and still maintain a variety. There are no musicals this year because of the incredible expense of hiring musicians who can't be used in the other productions. But a folksy comedy was chosen to satisfy the desire for lighter fare.

The Black Bonspiel of Wullie MacCrimmon

Headlining the Festival's gala opening is The Black Bonspiel of Wullie MacCrimmon on Friday, July 4. Tales of pacts with the devil are as old as the concept of sin. The legend of Faust has been told by many in many different ways - Christopher Marlowe, Goethe, Thomas Mann, Gounod, Schumann and Liszt, just to skim the cream off the top.

Beginning as a tragic tale, it later came to symbolize man's heroic striving for knowledge. In more recent times, with both God and the devil diminishing in importance, the myth has assumed comedic dimensions.

The American version of the pact, the classic The Devil and Daniel Webster has even been modernized recently in animated form for youngsters as The Devil and Daniel Mouse. Perhaps the most famous comedy was the smash Broadway hit of two decades ago, Damn Yankees, based on the best seller, The Year The Yankees Lost The Pennant, where baseball is the setting for the diabolical contest.

Now, that grand old Western Canadian man of letters, W.O. Mitchell known to many for his novel Who Has Seen The Wind which was made into a successful motion picture and Back To Beulah, a play soon to be made into a movie, has brought Canada's other national sport, curling into the devil's big league. In Mitchell's scenario, a Scots Presbyterian cobbler bets his soul on a curling match against Lucifer, whose team includes Hell's best (Guy Fawkes, Judas Iscariot and Macbeth as well as the old devil himself, Mr. O'Cloutie). "What's great", says Ouzounian, "is that they all talk in period."

"It's a Canadian fairy-tale", and to the best of the artistic director's knowledge the first Canadian version of the old myth. "It's funny because it's not Faustus - who wants to conquer the universe. It's wee Wullie MacCrimmon, the most unprepossessing person in a small prairie town, who just wants to win the cup."

Wullie's role was tailor-made for Hugh Webster, who will be familiar to many as the hotel owner in the delightful CBC television series A Gift To Last. A 30-year veteran of Canadian theatre, TV and movies (in the past year he worked with Elliott Gould in Dirty Tricks, Lee Majors in Last Chance and Kate Nelligan and James Coburn in Midnight Matinee), Webster will be in Lennoxville to recreate the title role in this homespun fantasy. In all three productions of Bonspiel, Webster has played the spunky cobbler.

Michael Ball will appear as the devilish Mr. O'Cloutie, challenging Wullie to the match of his lifetime. Mr. Ball, who joins the Festival company for the first time, was one of the first graduates of the National Theatre School and has appeared with almost every major theatre company in Canada. Curling for the devil are Guy Bannerman, Kevin Brown and Brian Paul.

Making up Wullie's rink are George Buza, who created the role of The Hooded Fang in Toronto Young People's Theatre premier of Jacob Two Two, John Brodych, who appeared with Alan Scarfe in Doctor Faustus, and Patrick Sinclair. Other casting includes Joan Heney and John Innes.

The original production of Bonspiel was directed by Guy Sprung who was to work on the Lennoxville revival as well. But for this production, Sprung wanted to change the devil and his rink into French Canadians. Ouzounian believed they should stick to the original script and couldn't, in any case, use French Canadian actors in his other plays. So Sprung was replaced by Rick McNair, artistic director of Theatre Calgary where Bonspiel broke all box office records last year.

I'll Be Back For You Before Midnight

I'll Be Back For You Before Midnight, the second Festival play, will be staged at the Centennial Saturday afternoon, July 5. Playwright Peter Colley, who was in Lennoxville recently to work out some last-minute script changes, was reluctant to divulge too much information about the play.

The Lennoxville production is not a premiere - this thriller played to packed houses at last year's Blyth Summer Festival in Sudbury - but Colley says "the new script is almost a different play". While all the characters are the same, their fundamental motivations have been reassessed and "the ending of the play is completely different."

The story concerns a couple who escape the hustle and bustle of city life for the tranquility of country living. Greg, an ambitious archeologist, has brought his attractive wife Jan to this idyllic home where she can convalesce after a nervous breakdown. Her sister-in-law, Laura, joins the menage to keep Jan company. It soon becomes obvious that something is amiss in this rural bliss but we'll have to wait until the matinee performance to get to the bottom of the mystery. According to Ouzounian, it's "a good old-fashioned thriller like Wait Until Dark."

Michelle Fisk, a headliner at the Charlottetown Festival last summer who will be seen this fall in CBC's three-part drama Double Addiction, portrays the unstable Jan. Guy Bannerman, a Vancouver-based actor who has appeared in productions across Canada, notably five years at Stratford and more recently Vancouver's New Play Centre, is Greg.

Greg's sister Laura is played by Toronto actress Wendy Creed who studied at the Bristol Old Vic Theatre School. Michael Ball as affable neighbour George, an old farmer, provides some of the comic relief. The production is being directed by Brian Rintoul, founder of Gryphon Theatre in Barrie, Ontario.

I'll Be Back For You Before Midnight is receiving no less than five productions this summer, including one at Toronto's Tarragon Theatre under the direction of Bill Glassco. The State Theatre of Virginia in Richmond is also doing it and has picked up the option for Broadway, but not at "one of the traditional try-out theatres for a production on Broadway, it's not 'the long walk'", says Colley. So negotiations are underway for a "bigger and better offer" on 'the great white way.'

One Tiger To A Hill

Encompassed in Sharon Pollock's philosophy is the vision of theatre as a platform from which history can be made relevant. "Until we recognize our past we cannot change our future." Her moving drama Walsh dealt with Canada's responsibility in the cruel and heartless fate of Chief Sitting Bull and the Sioux nation after Custer's last stand. The Komagata Maru Incident reached into the more recent past, just prior to the outbreak of World War I, to dramatize the ingrained racism which prevented a shipload of East Indian refugees, all British subjects with a legal right to immigrate, from entering Canada and forced them to return to India, with serious repercussions for all.

"Everybody liked Walsh", said Sharon Pollock in a recent interview. "I mean, it was safe. When it was written, everybody was into what we did to the Indians. Now we aren't and nothing has changed for the Indians. We had a good breast-beating and forget about it. But there were mixed feelings about Komagata Maru because the problem of racism is still with us."

Her most recent work, One Tiger To A Hill, is more contemporary but still of historic relevance. Tiger recalls the 1975 prison uprising at B.C.'s maximum security penitentiary where Andy Bruce held 15 people hostage until he was killed along with rehabilitation officer Mary Steinhauser. The play brings into question the nature of man-made laws and the system of justice which often compells even those with the best intentions to ignore human justice.

"I believe that laws don't make people more just, often they make good people the agents of injustice", says Ms. Pollock. "I believe that our economic system is at fault for many people who are inside our prisons. And I believe our prison system is one that is equally destructive to the prisoners and to people in a position of power."

The title, One Tiger To A Hill, underlines the observation that even in an institution as bureaucratic as a penitentiary, territorial imperatives often become the only law.

"It's not really summer fare", says Ouzounian. "It's an uncompromising political drama ... Tiger is not a play that you're going to come out of and go 'wow, I loved that'. You should be mad or shaken or touched somehow. And that's great. As long as you think. If people come out of Tiger fighting, that would be terrific."

Brian Paul, a native of Peace River who received his theatre training at the National Theatre School and has been busy ever since, plays Tommy Paul, the Metis prisoner who masterminds the hostage-taking. His wild and angry accomplice Gillie Dermott provides a third role for the talents of Guy Bannerman.

Among the hostages, Michelle Fisk recreates the role of Dede Walker, (the play's Mary Steinhauser) a classification officer who is torn between her relationship with Tommy Paul and her commitment to duty. Ms. Fisk was in the original production at Edmonton's Citadel Theatre. The other classification officer held captive is played by John Brodych. And the general manager of Festival Lennoxville, Peter Stephens, returns to the stage as Cecil Stocker, an English school teacher who happens to get caught up in the riot while visiting the prison.

Michael Ball, who played the lead in the original production of Tiger and in Pollock's Komagata Maru, and Joan Heney, an actress well-known to Montreal audiences for her work at the Saidye Bronfman Centre, Montreal Theatre Lab and Phoenix Theatre as well as the NFB and CBC Radio, take on the roles of mediators who attempt to diffuse the explosive situation.

The pugnacious guard who aggravates the dispute is played by George Buza, a Chicago-born actor who has appeared in films and TV, as well as stage. Patrick Sinclair, a New York - trained actored who has worked at the Shaw Festival and Ouzounian's new home, the Manitoba Theatre Centre, is the ironwilled head of security. John Innes, winner of the 1975 Tyrone Gutherie award at Stratford, is the warden.

After virtually monopolizing the direction last summer, Ouzounian has limited himself to Tiger this season. He directed its premiere this spring in Calgary but it has undergone substantial changes since then.

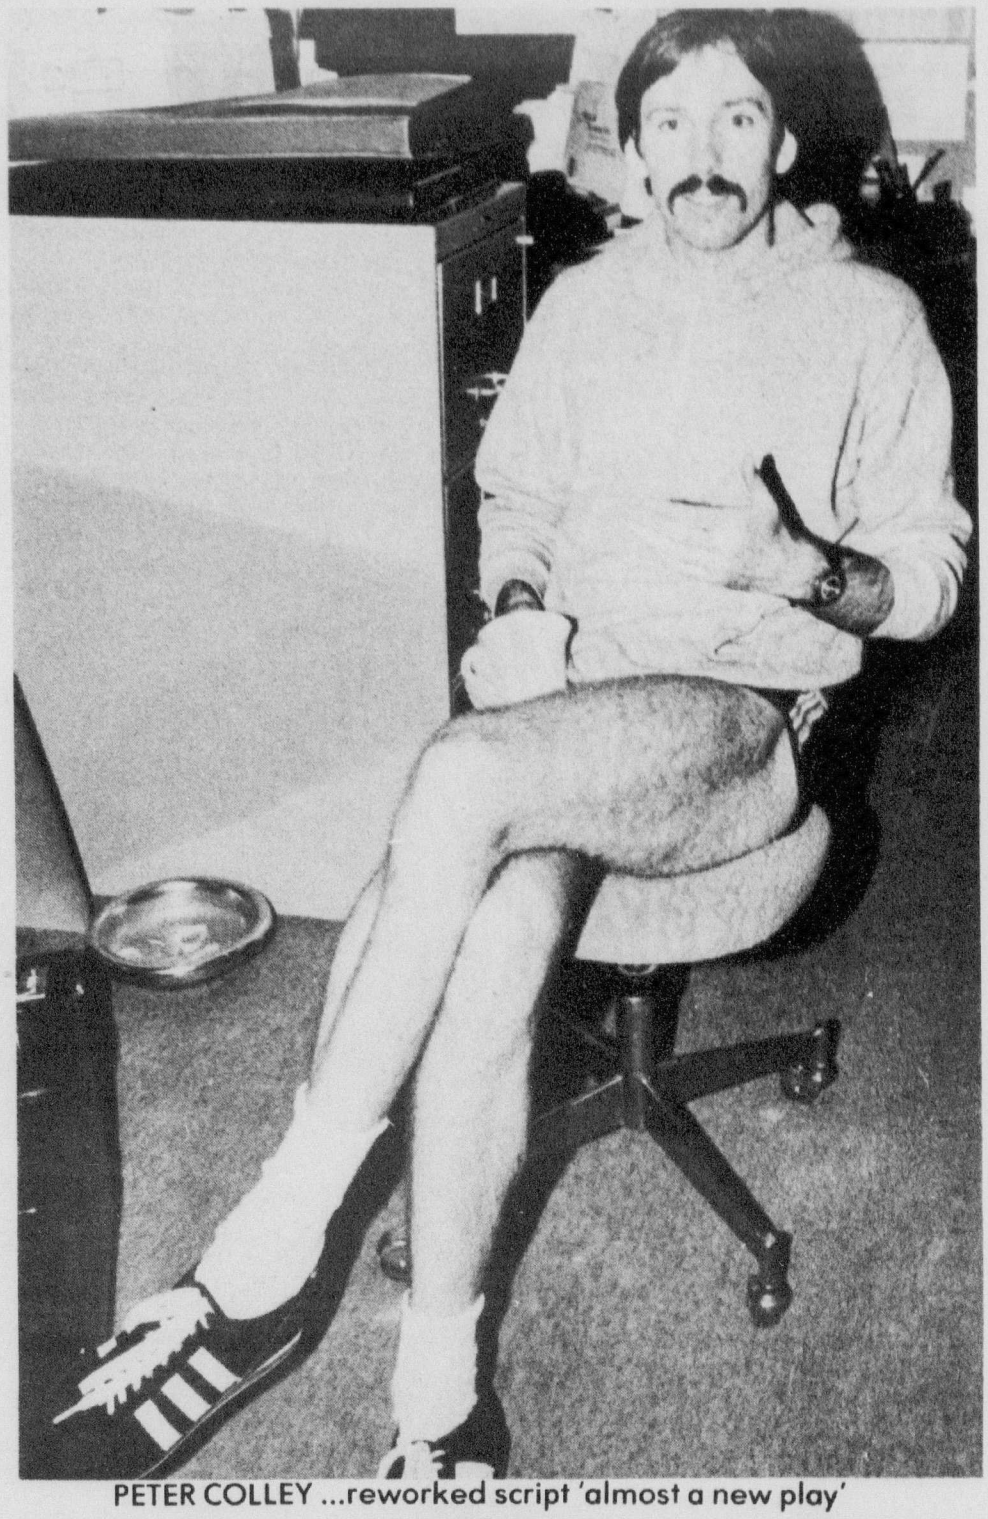

"Usually when people rewrite plays they tend to make them softer, more commercial. Sharon made it tougher. Even the love story, such as it is, is about how people manipulate each other for political and social ends. So it's got a spine of iron now. I'm loving working on it."

Ouzounian denies his decision to leave Festival Lennoxville at the end of the summer has anything to do with last summer's cool local reception.

"In fact, I deliberately wanted to come back one more year," he says. "It's funny, when you think last year wound up having the second highest attendance in the Festival's history. But inside it didn't feel like a big success for me. And to the people who live around here, it wasn't a big success.... All the Toronto papers loved it and Maureen Paterson loved it... But I could tell the difference.

"Whenever we do a show here that people who live in the area like, they tell you, you can sense it just coming into the theatre. And we didn't do that last year. To me that's a failure.

"I kind of had the feeling last year that I went too much for the Montreal crowd. That was a mistake. I'm hoping that this year there will be plays that people here will like and the people in Montreal will like. But ultimately, if the people who live in town don't decide that they want to go down the road to see the plays, we're in trouble. Besides, why are we here?"

Winnipeg to host Country Music Week

Country music

By DAVE MULHOLLAND

Summer's here. It won't be long now before the kids are out of school and the highways look like everyone's headed for a campers' convention.

But just before I mention a few of the country music performances taking place this summer, I want to remind fans planning fall vacations, that Country Music Week this year takes place in Winnipeg between Sept. 15 and 21.

The word from within the industry is that CMW 1980 is going to be the best yet. Peter Grant, program director of CHMM-FM radio in the Manitoba capital, is chairman of the Winnipeg Country Committee, which is putting on the week's activities.

Much of the program is still in the planning stages, but Grant says events already set include a celebrity golf tournament on Monday, a giant parade with 50 bands and floats on Tuesday, free performances at five of the city's large shopping malls each day, country acts at 25 of the city's hotels each evening, and two Opry North shows at the Centennial Concert Hall Friday evening.

I'll have more information on the week later on, but if you're planning a fall vacation, and you'd like to see and hear some top notch country artists, remember Winnipeg the week of September 15. That is, of course, providing you haven't won a trip to Nashville through a "Canadian" country radio station, or a "Canadian" country fan magazine, or a "Canadian" tour bus company.

Country Music Week 1981 will be held in Ottawa, where it all began in 1977.

Staying in Manitoba for a moment, the second annual Call of the Wild Mountain Music Festival will take place at Boggy Creek July 25, 26 and 27. Boggy Creek is north of Roblin and just east of highway 83. The three-day, outdoor event features country, bluegrass and folks acts, including Dick Damron, Wayne Rostad, Orval Prophet, Doc and Merle Watson, The Dixie Flyers, The Duck Donald Bluegrass Band, Wayne Fehr, Dale Russell, Reg Bouvette, Sheila Dawn, Len Henry and many others. For details on tickets, accommodations and campsites, write to the festival at Boggy Creek, Manitoba, R0L 0G0, or phone 204-935-2212.

Moving east to the nation's capital, there will no doubt be more concerts as the summer progresses, but those announced include John Allan Cameron at the Astrolabe Theatre July 4 and The Mercey Brothers in the same spot July 19. If you'd like to hear authentic Ottawa Valley music, there'll be a performance of it at the Astrolabe August 1.

As mentioned in earlier columns, southern Ontario is the place to be for country the last weekend of this month. June 28 at Rock Hill Park, 40 miles northwest of Toronto, Willie Nelson headlines an all-day affair. That same day, and the following day, in Campbellville, 30 miles west of Toronto, there's the Mohawk Jamboree with George Jones, Tammy Wynette, Roy Clark, Merle Haggard, Ronnie Milsap and many more. If you're vacationing in the U.S., this year's Jamboree in the Hills in Wheeling, West Virginia, takes place July 18 to 20 and includes artists such as Loretta Lynn, Buck Owens, Jerry Lee Lewis and Donna Fargo.

At the Melody Fair Theatre in North Tonawanda, New York, Ronnie Milsap and Mickey Gilley perform two shows July 6, Mel Tillis is there July 27 and The Oak Bridge Boys perform August 18. For ticket information on Melody Fair phone 716-693-7700.

Kenny Rogers is at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto August 23 and at the Central Canada Exhibition in Ottawa August 24. In Nashville, the Opryland amusement park is open throughout the summer, but requests for Grand Ole Opry tickets should be made well in advance, since reserved seats are usually sold out. Have a good vacation. That's it for this week.

Country albums

She Don't Like the Highway; Dale Russell; Sunshine Records; SSLP-4015.

There are only two songs on this album that grabbed me the first time around: Billy Bottle and Mr. Inbetween. But Dale Russell's music gets stronger with each listen. He seems to write directly from his own experiences, and his straightforward, unpretentious attitude adds to songs such as A Woman in Love, Lucky Man and She Don't Like the Highway.

However, I Started Trustin' You and Sometimes I Think are boring, both lyrically and in the arrangements. The musicianship is excellent, with tasteful touches from Ron Halldorson on pedal steel guitar.

For Our Friends; The Dixie Flyers; Boot Records; BBG-6007.

The Dixie Flyers don't use traditional bluegrass harmonies on this album. Bert Baumbach's lead vocals are pure country, with background vocal assistance from the other four members of the group.

Instrumentally, however, it's straight bluegrass, featuring some vigorous picking. In fact, the instrumentals are by far the strongest cuts.

The Flyers bring a light-hearted, feel good approach to the music, with a loose 'n' lazy sound that occasionally has a western swing feel. Traditional bluegrass and newgrass fans should both enjoy this album.

Right or Wrong; Rosanne Cash; Columbia Records; 36155.

Rosanne Cash is Johnny Cash's daughter, but she sounds very much her own woman on this excellent debut album. Cash turns 10 good love songs into personal statements, expressing the complexity of seemingly simple emotions, and showing vulnerability in trying to understand her feelings.

The musicianship is spirited, the arrangements imaginative, and Rodney Crowell's production is thoughtful and supportive. Good album.

Into A Mystery; Murray McLauchlan; True North; TN-41.

The essential difference between Into A Mystery and Murray McLauchlan's last album, Whispering Rain (TN-36), is the new album has a fuller, more powerhouse sound. This is due in large part to some prominent background vocals, featuring Rough Trade's Carol Pope. The singers push McLauchlan, and his vocals have more energy than on Whispering Rain.

Once again it's McLaughlan's songs which give the album its lasting quality. The lyrics are about holding onto independence and individuality in a society that seems less and less concerned with both.

Each McLaughlan album is an adventure, for both the artist and the listener. Into A Mystery is what good music is all about.

Festivals feed folk music fans

Folk music is not only alvie in Canada, it's thriving. Despite trends in record sales and trends on radio, folk festivals are proliferating at such a bizarre rate this summer that one could crisscross the country and attend a festival every weekend.

The reasons for the resurgence are simple enough. Festivals are fun, they bring people together, they appeal to all ages and they're relatively inexpensive. Some, in fact, are free.

Mitch Podolak, founder of the Winnipeg Folk Festival, says enthusiastically: "Roughly five per cent of the Canadian population attended a folk festival last summer. This year should see an increase."

There's a new festival in Edmonton this year, one on Manitoulin Island, a smaller one in Calgary and a major one in Toronto since Mariposa isn't doing one this year.

The Winnipeg Festival attracts 30,000 people. There's an enormous one in Halifax. Another in Vancouver. Still another in Owen Sound, Ont., and last year the festival in Hamilton drew 100,000 people.

LASTS TWO WEEKS

There are smaller festivals in London, Ottawa, Thunder Bay and a bilingual one in Sudbury. There's even one in the Yukon in Faro, a craft festival in Killaloe, Ont., and if you're in Parry Sound, Ont., a festival that lasts two weeks as opposed to the standard three-day weekend affairs.

Yet if you wrote down the entire list of performers, there are few big names, unless, as Allister Brown of the London Festival observes, you're interested in folk music. Then they're all headliners.

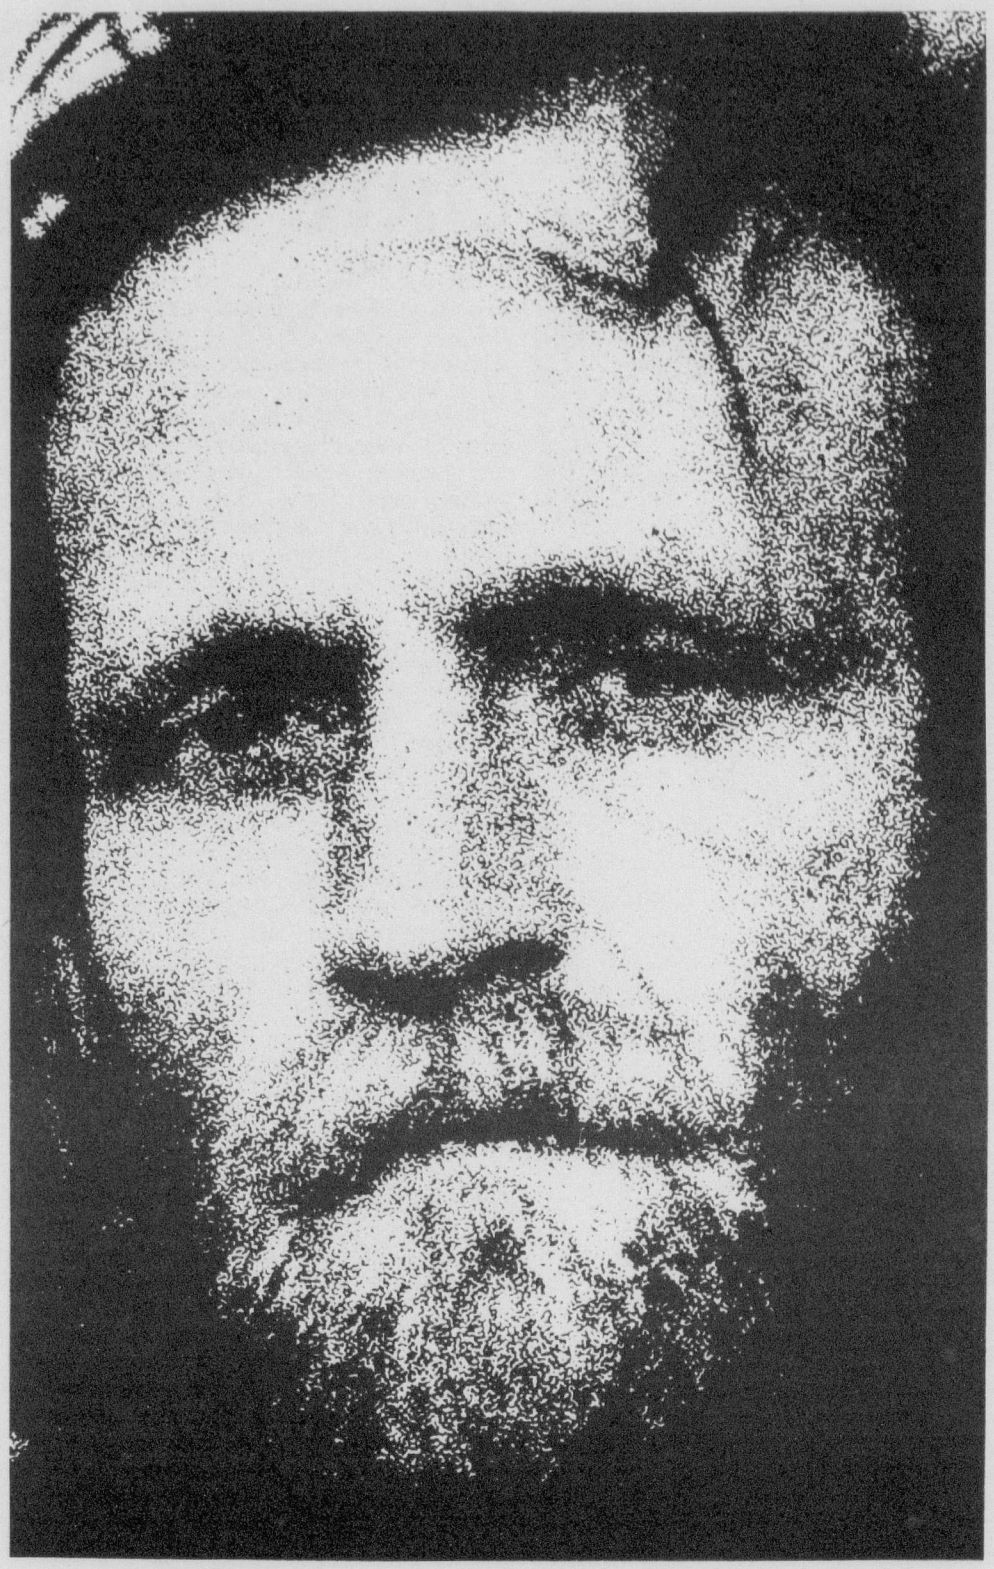

Folk music has been, for centuries, music of the times for the people who sang it and traditionally folk singers sang for their own and others' amusement, preserving songs handed down from their elders.

This still holds true, but along the way the definition has been broadened somewhat and folk festivals now offer something for everyone — from Trinidadian steel drums to stringbands, from Celtic dance music to the blues, from traditional singer-songwriters to jazz violin, from storytellers to powerhouse bluegrass.

ACTIVITIES VARIED

There are also workshops, crafts demonstrations, acoustic jams, all kinds of folk dancing, programs for the kids and, in Owen Sound, a sheep-shearing demonstration.

Still, the music does count and each of the major festivals has a lineup of between 40 and 50 acts, beginning with the long-running Northern Lights Festival Boreal in Sudbury on July 4, which has confirmed Cano, Tom Rush and Stan Rogers with more to come.

Valdy is just one of the attractions at the Edmonton festival

The Winnipeg Folk Festival, now in its seventh year, runs the weekend of July 11 and will present over 50 acts, including Pete Seeger, Doc Watson and Stephane Grapelly.

The Vancouver Folk Music Festival and the Home Country Folk Festival in London (which is free) both run the weekend of July 18.

Vancouver, in its third year, expects more than 16,000 people to attend and has over 50 acts from across Canada, the British Isles and the United States. The emphasis this year is partly on feminist performers.

The London Festival, in its sixth year, features predominantly Canadian talent covering an incredibly wide range of music plus Morris dancers and Heritage, a band which plays for step dancing.

The Atlantic Folk Festival, also in its sixth year, kicks off on Aug. 1. It's a regional festival and virtually all artists are from the East Coast with the exception of Seeger and Arlo Guthrie.

The first annual festival in Edmonton (children and seniors free) starts Aug. 8 and will present John Allan Cameron, Valdy and Stringband, among others.

That same weekend the long-running Festival of Friends in Hamilton (free) will present such artists as Nancy White, Oscar Brand and Brent Titcomb.

Up in Owen Sound, the five-year-old Summerfolk Festival starts Aug. 15 and one-quarter of the performers are local artists from Bruce County. The rest are from other parts of Canada, England and the U.S. Cameron, the Cape Breton Symphony and Brand will be there.

Out west, Podolak has been hired by the Alberta government to organize a travelling folk festival as part of the province's 75th anniversary celebration which will cover 22 cities including Calgary, which will match the travelling lineup of nine performers with nine of its own.

SUCCEEDS MARIPOSA

But in folk circles, because of the decision of Mariposa (the granddaddy of all Canadian folk festivals) not to hold a summer festival, all eyes will be on the first Toronto Folk Festival, to be held July 25 to 27.

Daytime programs will be held at Hanlan's Point on Toronto Island and evening concerts in the city at Harbourfront—the first time since the early '70s that a folk festival in the city has featured evening concerts.

With a powerhouse lineup of musicians from across Canada, the U.S., the British Isles, Ireland, Africa, the West Indies and South America, speculation is that it can't miss.

Wisely, the founders say, "We'll see," but more important is their determination that the long tradition of a summer folk festival in Toronto not be laid to rest.

Finally, most Canadian festivals go on outdoors rain or shine and attendance is limited. So go prepared — but go.

Omar cleaned out but comes back to buy casino

When Omar Sharif lost $700, 000 in a French casino one night, an Arab prince took pity on him. Having never seen such bad luck, the prince put his arm on Sharif's shoulder then consoled him with a hot stock market tip. Three months and a "bloody fortune" later, Sharif was in a prime position when the casino came up for sale. So, in partnership with the Arab prince and a couple of friends, he bought it. The financial comeback seems natural for Sharif. He estimates he's lost $10 million in 10 years of gambling. When he lost the $700,000, he had just turned down a three-week film role that would have brought him $750,000. Sharif figures "not doing that three weeks' work has really cost me $1.5 million."

If Jessie Carter Bronson, 72, could go back 50 years, the San Francisco resident would still choose to be one of the first eight women to get stewardessing off the ground. Her job aboard the noisy Boeing 8A trimotors was fraught with rigid requirements in 1930. Stewardesses had to be under 25, under 116 pounds, under 1.62 metres in height, single and a female registered nurse. Today, a flight attendant can be up to 60 years old, 1.57 metres to 1.83 metres tall, any marital status, either sex, and a reasonable weight.

Keeping up

It seems the joke is on Jerry Lewis in Honolulu. The comedian tried to sneak around the 120-day quarantine required for animals when a friend wrapped his dog, a Shih Tzu named Angel, in several coats and got off the Northwest Airlines plane before officials noticed.

Quarantine officials later picked up Angel's scent, and Angel, at the hotel where Lewis was staying. The quarantine is required for rabies control.

Actress Sally Kellerman, who played Hot Lips Houlihan in the movie M-A-S-H, has married for a second time. The 43-year-old actress wed tax attorney Jonathan Krane, 28, in a private ceremony at the Malibu home of actress Jennifer Jones and financier-art collector Norton Simon. Kellerman was divorced from producer-writer Rick Edelstein in 1971 and has a daughter, Claire, 14. She just finished a new film, Loving Couples.

Italian financier Michele Sindona slashed his left wrist in a New York City prison cell Tuesday, two days before he was to be sentenced on fraud charges resulting from the largest bank failure in the U.S.

Although Sindona was listed in critical condition, doctors described the cut as not serious. The financier, who faces a jail sentence of up to five years on each of 65 counts of fraud, cut his wrist in full view of a prison guard.

A former financial consultant to the Vatican, Sindona was found guilty of looting $45 million in Franklin National's funds causing it to go bankrupt. Before his bail was revoked at the start of his trial in February, he disappeared for several weeks then reappeared claiming he had been kidnapped by Italian radicals.

TOWNSHIPS SCENE

Boy operators were hired by Bell Telephone in 1895. Seated in front of a No. 1 standard magneto switchboard are Albert Decelles and J.E. Choquette, both of Sherbrooke.

Townships phones date from 1879

The telephone, that tool so essential to everydaylife, was introduced in Sherbrooke in 1879, just five years after Alexander Graham Bell invented it on July 26, 1874 in Brantford, Ontario.

On May 22, 1879, C.H. Fletcher, who was later to become president of the People and Eastern Townships telephone companies, rented three manual telephones from professor Alexander Melville Bell, father of the inventor, to communicate from his residence to his bakery and brewery.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada was established on April 29, 1880, and on September 3 of the same year, Robert Booth was appointed Sherbrooke manager.

During the summer of 1881, the first toll line was put into service between the office of the Sherbrooke Mining and Smelting Company, and its workshops located in the Hepburn and Suffold mines in Capelton, - a distance of nine miles. Soon other Capelton mines were equipped for telephone communication with the city.

Around the same time, Webster, assisted by Taylor, set up the Dominion Telephone Company in Magog. This company offered telephone services in several Townships cities.

In May 1883, Bell Telephone sent Booth to Quebec and appointed jeweller Carlos Skinner manager in Sherbrooke. In only a few months, Skinner managed to attract 130 customers for the company.

Consequently, in July 1883, a magneto switchboard was installed at the back of Skinner's jewellery shop. In the meantime, the network of toll lines continued to increase. In 1884, Bell installed lines connecting Sherbrooke with Coaticook and Magog. On October 8, 1885, a toll line connected Sherbrooke and Montreal.

The same year, there was a misunderstanding between Skinner and Robert Davidson, chief of the police and fire departments, subject over the city's fire alarm system. Skinner left Bell and formed his own telephone company. In 1888, Skinner obtained, a charter creating the Sherbrooke Telephone Association.

L.B. McFarlane, manager of services who later became president, recalls that the people of Sherbrooke could not speak too easily with those of Montreal.

"We found that it was possible to talk with St. Johns, only 20 miles from Montreal, but that it became more difficult with Granby, a distance of 50 miles," McFarlane said. "Beyond this point, words were scrambled. Although our line was a hundred miles long, we could only use 60 miles of it."

According to a notice published in the directory, distinct voice transmission was possible over a hundred and even 200 miles, providing weather conditions were good. Operators otherwise, had to transmit calls from one central office to the other until they reached their destination - they could also be transmitted like a telegram.

On January 16, 1886, the Dominion Telephone Company sold its lines and equipment to Bell. The main acquisition was the line connecting Sherbrooke to Iberville via Magog, Waterloo, Granby and Farnham, with secondary lines from Magog to Georgeville, Farnham to Cowansville via Farnham-East and Sherbrooke to Lennoxville, a total of 120 miles.

On January 25, 1890, the central office at 83 Wellington Street was destroyed by fire. Two days later, the central office was set up in new premises and telephone service was totally restored.

Bell customers increased from 228 in 1896 to 804 in 1906.

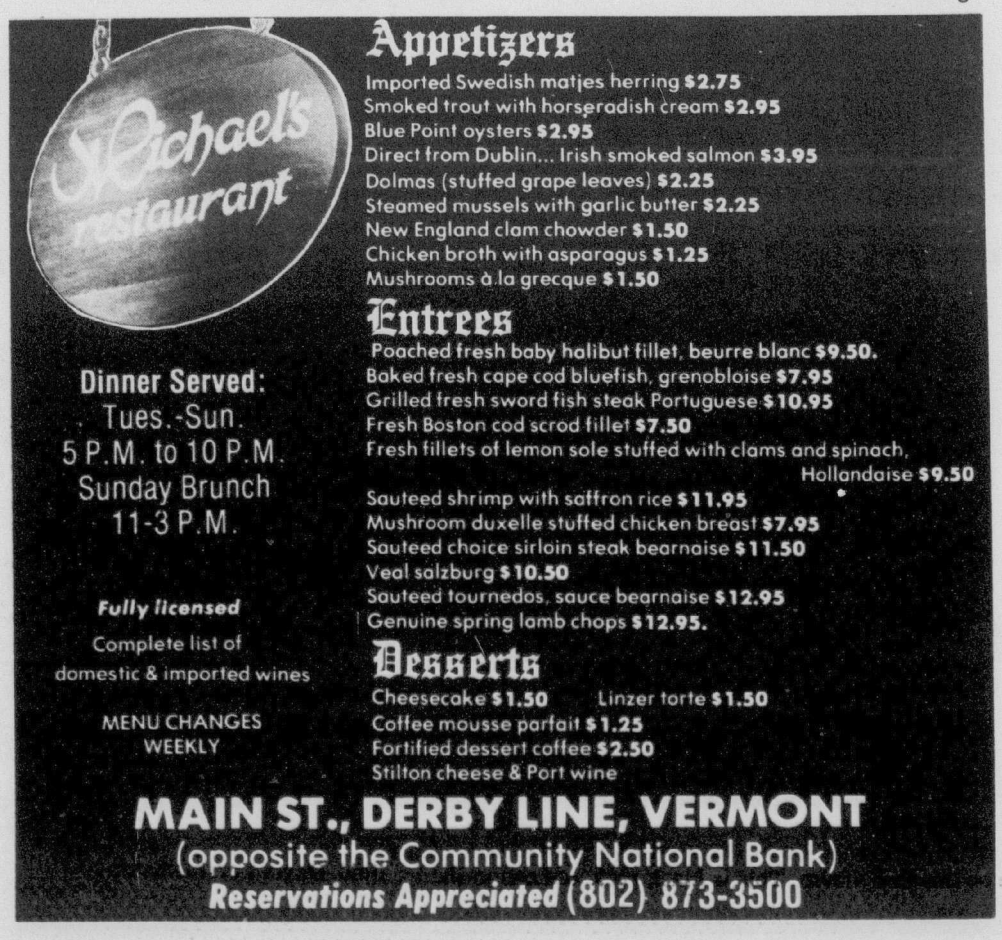

Robert Nielson, Bell's Sherbrooke manager from 1902 to 1917, told of a telephone conversation between Sherbrooke and Des Moines, Iowa, that created quite a sensation. The local newspapers flashed this news across their front page. This famous call, made by S.C. Nutter, a wealthy brewer concerned the purchase of a trotting horse and how to transport it.

On April 21, 1907, the Sherbrooke telephone network was converted to a central battery system. All power required for signalling and voice transmission was provided by power facilities installed in the central office. The elimination of the magneto, considerably reduced the volume of the sets.

On April 25, 1911, Neilson wrote to the Telephone Gazette, a magazine published by Bell. On the 22nd of that month, he wrote, a trial call was made from Sherbrooke to St. John, New Brunswick, via New England Telephone Company lines, the conversation had been heard very clearly.

Requests for telephone service in Sherbrooke continued to increase at such a rate that Bell had to construct a new building, in 1916 (at the corner of Terrace St. and Strathcona Place). On June 20, the common battery system was converted to a more modern system.

The Sherbrooke Daily Record of May 12, 1928, reported that the 5,000th telephone had been installed in Sherbrooke that day - in the office of Mayor J.K. Edwards. This set was an extension of the mayor's main telephone service.

In 1946, Bell had over 10,000 telephones in Sherbrooke. The same year, the company bought a piece of land at 170 King St., to construct a building holding a dial office. It was completed in 1950, and on May 28 that year, the common battery system in Sherbrooke was converted to the dial system.

On May 9, 1954, the numbering system - two letters and five digits - was introduced in Sherbrooke. The Lorraine code would precede all telephone numbers in the future.

The King Street building was transformed again when Bell added an annex and another floor in 1958. Sherbrooke telephone numbers were changed again in 1963, when Lorraine was replaced by seven digits.

An important improvement of long distance telephone service took place in Sherbrooke on March 20, 1960, when direct distance dialing was introduced. Customers could now make station-to-station calls themselves, without the help of the operator.

On June 1, 1968, Bell introduced the Touch-Tone telephone here. Today, there are more than 81,000 customers listed in the Sherbrooke telephone directory.

A sophisticated pop album from Jerry Knight

Kaleidoscope

BY RICHARD LONEY

JERRY KNIGHT (A&M)

Quick trivia puzzler: who played bass on Bobby Day's late-fifties rock classic ROCKIN ROBIN? You score 100 if you identify one Jerry Knight, who now has a sophisticated, smooth pop album that reflects the dues-paying he's done for all these years. A subtle cross between the street-savvy of Chuck Berry and the Lieber-Stoller hit factory that sustained a considerable number of careers, not the least of them, Elvis', Knight sings with authority and writes with a flair.

While the up-tempo songs on his debut solo album do not directly link him to his backup work with the Platters, his affiliation with the Coasters and their tradition of catchy, tuneful novelty numbers (many also from the pens of Lieber & Stoller) shines through on every winning note on this fine album. This is black rock and roll in the Little Richard Fats Domino mainstream, with nary a nod to the hypnotic nausea of Disco or the programmed syncopation of Motown. Jerry Knight could be in for an exciting new episode in a career that bridges the eighties and the formative years of rock, highlights of which glitter forth on the eight compositions on his excellent solo release produced by A&M's rising star in the studio management field, David Kershenbaum.

Philip Rambow Shooting Gallery (CAPITOL)

A Canadian singer makes a first rate effort to capture some of the market that the Brit Lightfoot who rocks, Al Stewart, usually inhabits. Philip Rambow is getting airplay for FALLEN from this initial album, which is embellished with the keyboards wizardry of English studio regular Pete Wingfield. Rambow's voice has a hard to place twang to it, which comes through on DON'T CALL ME TONTO — a cross between Robbie Robertson and Dylan's voice, if he sang on key and without the tell-tale nasal affectation. For easily and clearly discernible audial reasons, Rambow chose to cut this album at Britain's Chipping Norton studios. Exciting guitar work here, plus quite memorable hooks and solid arrangements, worth shooting for.

WHAT'S ON

Theatre

Last night, the splashy debut of a brand new musical show, MUSIC BY RODGERS, LYRICS BY HART, was heralded at North Hatley's Piggery Theatre. There are shows Monday to Friday at 20:30 ($6) and Saturday at 18:00 and 21:30 ($7). A three-play subscription (the comic thriller CATCH ME IF YOU CAN by Jack Weinstock and Willy Gilbert begins July 24; the opening date for Eric Donkin's THE WONDERFUL WORLD OF SARAH BINKS is August 12) is available for a reasonable $14; $11 for senior citizens.

BROUE II, a revised, snappier version of last summer's big hit, opens tomorrow night at the Theatre de l'Atelier. A series of zany sketches written especially for Montreal's Theatre Voyagements by four Quebec playwrights, Broue (beer froth) shows life through the eyes of beer-guzzling regulars of a neighbourhood tavern.

Some 18 hilarious characters are sculpted by the same remarkable trio from Voyagement that made last year in Sherbrooke and Montreal such a success - Michel Cote, Marc Messier and Marcel Gauthier - in a tribute to one of Quebec's dying institutions. There are performances Tuesday to Friday at 20:30 ($5 & $6) and Saturdays at 19:00 and 22:00 ($6 & $7). During the week, students pay $4.

Festival Lennoxville's gala opening is one week away. On America's Day of Independence, Wullie MacCrimmon takes on the devil in a wild curling match that promises some diabolical special effects in W.O. Mitchell's THE BLACK BONSPIEL OF WULLIE MacCRIMMON. Get ready for some spine-tingling thrills next Saturday afternoon, July 5 at 14:00 when Peter Colley's I'LL BE BACK FOR YOU BEFORE MIDNIGHT is unveiled.

Topping off the theatrical hat-trick is ONE TIGER TO A HILL, a compelling drama by Sharon Pollock based loosely on events surrounding the 1975 prison riot at B.C. penitentiary. Tickets for individual performances are priced at $6.50 (Section B - side seats) and $7.50 (Section A - center seats) weekdays. On the weekend, section B seats are $8, Section A, $9. Subscription rates are quite reasonable at $18.00 (A), $15.50 (B) weekdays or $23 (A), $20 (B) on weekends. Evening performances begin at 20:30. Weekend and Thursday matinees are at 14:00. Call 563-4966 for dates of individual performances and reservations.

For up-tempo comedy from hippy-dippy weather man GEORGE CARLIN, get your tickets for his one-night show at the Place des Arts Monday, June 23 at 20:30. The price ranges from $6 to $13.50. When you call for reservations, specify you're calling from out-of-town. (514-842-2112).

Two Montreal comedy clubs serve up a diet of laughs for evening entertainment in the big city. Yuk Yuk's (2025 Drummond St.) has a variety of stand-up comics on hand as does Maxwell's (2060 Aylmer St.) which is also currently running a comedy revue, EL GRANDE DE COCA COLA.

Music

In week's time, the exciting 1980 ORFORD INTERNATIONAL MUSIC FESTIVAL begins with a Friday, July 4 concert (20:30) at Saint-Patrice Church in Magog. Charles Dutoit conducts the Montreal Symphony Orchestra in Beethoven's Symphony No. 2 & Concerto No. 1. Tickets range from $4 to $10. For reservations or further information, call 843-3981. It looks like a great summer for classical music.

In Montreal, "BIG-TIME" SARAH & THE CHICAGO MACHINE-IN BLUES BAND plays the Rising Sun until Monday, June 30. Funky guitar-player Phil Guy, Buddy's kid brother, is the leader of this windy city band.

You might also like to start thinking about FESTIJAZZ, organized by the Rising Sun for the past three years. It will be happening for 4 nights at the Salle Wilfrid-Pelletier, Place des Arts. On July 17, TAJ MAHAL, SONNY TERRY AND BROWNIE McGHEE, LOUISIANA RED, LIGHTNIN' HOPKINS; July 18, it's an evening with NINA SIMONE; July 19, blues and boogie with WILLIE DIXON, BIG MAMA THORNTONand the CHICAGO MACHINE-IN, LUTHER ALLISON, MEMPHIS SLIM, BUDDY GUY and JUNIOR WELLS; on July 20, there's the GERRY MULLIGAN QUARTET, WOODY HERMAN and the YOUNG THUNDERING HERD.

Tickets for each of these dates range from $6.50 to $15.50. If you're into four concerts, there's a 15 per cent reduction. Call the club (861- 657) or Place des Arts (842-2112) for more information.

Another International Jazz Festival begins next Wednesday, July 2 and keeps going strong until July 10 at Man and His World. The legendary blues of RAY CHARLES and his orchestra opens things up on Wednesday. THE HERITAGE HALL JAZZ BAND is slated for Friday, July 4. On Sunday, July 6, you can hear the dynamite combination of CHICK COREA AND GARY BURTON. And our own MANEIGE appears with RAMSEY LEWIS on July 9. Quite a number of other groups are also booked. All concerts begin at 20:00. There's a special membership card for $25 (gets you into all shows) on sale at Discomanie. Separate tickets $7.50 and $9.50 can be bought at all TRS outlets. Some reports claim that daily admission to Man and His World ($2 and $4) will get you in to the shows, but I'd check first.

Exhibitions

As part of the Piggery's art exhibit program, Emily Lebaron's Flying Shuttle, in collaboration with Galerie Mena'sen, will be displaying paintings by Yvon Lajoie and Roxanne Bergeron, ceramics by Robert Roy and Barbara Stevenson's photographs from Sunday, June 29 to July 12. The Flying Shuttle is open to the public 13:00 to 17:00 daily.

At the Piggery itself, prints and batiks by ANDREE BERNIER and pottery by MAYA LIGHTBODY can be seen either on show nights or afternoons with the exception of Sundays when the theatre is closed.

Beginning June 29, a group show of landscapes will be on exhibit at the Critical Art Gallery, located on R.R. 3 near Hatley. Hours are 10:00 to 21:00 daily.

There's a very exciting exhibit of pottery that approaches sculpture at the Musee Beaulne (once Chateau Norton) in Coaticook. Happily it will be with us all summer long. DOUCET-SAITO are a husband and wife team, potters who work out of their Way's Mills quarters creating magnificent ceramic objects vases, urns, plates, boxes, tiles, etc. that are known the world over.

The Centre culturel de Sherbrooke has its summer exhibits installed and ready for viewing. In the Galerie d'art, the display, entitled FACETS OF MODERN QUEBEC ART: 10 YEARS OF GEOMETRIC CONCEPTIONS, 1955-65, groups together two waves of "Plasticiens." Summer hours at the gallery are 12:30 to 16:30 Monday to Friday.

In the Grand Hall, some 70 photos, the work of three experienced Canadian photographers - ROBERT BOUDREAU, SERGE CLEMENT and GABOR SZILASI - will be on display. Hours are 8:30 to 22:30, Monday to Thursday; 8:30 to 16:30 Friday; and weekends 13:00 to 16:30.

Movies

THE EMPIRE STRIKES BACK with Darth Vader as evil as ever and Luke Skywalker the epitome of good is held over for a second week at the Cinema II du Carrefour. Irvin Kershner directs Mark Hamill (Luke), Harrison Ford (Hans Solo), Carrie Fisher (Princess Lia) and a new addition to the crew, Billy Dee Williams, in the second of George Lucas's Star Wars creations. Seven more instalments remain in the three-part trilogy. The special effects in Empire are spectacular and no expense is spared to make this film a pleasure for all to see.

THE HOLLYWOOD KNIGHTS exploits the popular theme of George Lucas's American Graffiti by rekindling the nostalgia of carefree high school days in the 60's, but, going by the publicity, condescends to the slap-happy, low I.Q. humour of Animal House. Knights, which does boast some good music, is this week's headliner at the Capitol Theatre. The second feature is a sexploitative HARDCORE which has George C. Scott travelling through sleazy, pimp-and-pusher country in search of his runaway daughter.

The Derbyport Drive-In has a real tearjerker on tonight and tomorrow. ICE CASTLES stars Robby Benson and Lynn-Holly Johnson as a blind figure-skater. On Sunday, INTERNATIONAL VELVET has Tatum O'Neal sitting in Liz Taylor's old saddle. Christopher Plummer co-stars in this film about a girl who rides her horse in international competition.

At the Norton Drive-In tonight and tomorrow, there's another opportunity to see APOCALYPSE NOW. Anyone who still has not experienced Francis Ford Coppola's monumental epic about America's involvement in Viet-Nam should do so.

Martin Sheen takes us through the war-torn countryside, exposing us to the insanities of an army enjoying 'the American way of life' on the fringes of Hell. His mission is to enter the heart of darkness and confront Marlon Brando, a senior officer who has adapted to the war's madness.

On Sunday, the Norton is showing THE BOYS FROM BRAZIL, about the survival of Nazism with Laurence Olivier and Gregory Peck. Admission is $2.25 in Canadian funds.

If attendance warrants, COAL MINER'S DAUGHTER, the biographical story of Country Music Queen Loretta Lynn with an outstanding performance by Sissy Spacek, will be held over for another week at Cinema Newport. Otherwise LITTLE DARLINGS, a slapstick, summer camp flick about two girls (Tatum O'Neal and Kristy McNichol) bound on losing their virginity, will be playing. If you want to check ahead, call (802) 334-2749. Friday to Sunday, there are two shows at 19:00 and 20:45. The rest of the week, shows are at 19:30. Regular admission is $3.00 with a 50 per cent reduction on Mondays and Tuesdays.

Television

CANADIAN EXPRESS focuses on underground or social protest theatre tonight at 21:00 on Channel 6. Among the groups visited are Rising Tide Theatre from Newfoundland, Vancouver's Tamahnous and the Toronto Workshop Productions.

WHAT'S ON

BIRTH OF THE BOMB, a unique documentary showing the making and testing of the first atomic bombs including film previously classified as top-secret and released only for this production. See it tonight at 22:00 on Channel 33.

Lee J. Cobb narrates a documentary on VINCENT VAN GOGH tomorrow at 15:00 on the same channel.

FAST FORWARD is a new series exploring the electronic revolution. The first program looks at electronic chips, tiny enough to fit through the eye of a needle, which are making machines "smart". This too is on Channel 33, tomorrow at 18:30.

Mozart's COSI FAN TUTE with the London Philharmonic Orchestra will be televised tomorrow at 19:00 on Channel 17 (cable 8).

BEVERLY SILLS IN CONCERT, an hour-long performance with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, can be seen and heard tomorrow at 21:00 on Channel 33. Several months ago Miss Sills assumed her new duties as Director of the New York City Opera Company.

LONG DAY'S JOURNEY INTO NIGHT, Eugene O'Neill's powerful autobiographical drama of a New England family's troubled relationships, is a gripping movie with Jason Robards Jr., Katherine Hepburn, Ralph Richardson and Dean Stockwell. Don't miss it tomorrow at 22:00.

ODYSSEY presents "Shipwreck: La Trinidad Valencera", the wreck of the fourth largest ship in the Spanish Armada, discovered by amateur divers in 30 feet of water off the coast of Ireland. Their finds, ranging from bronze cannons to leather shoes, tell a unique story of life on a 16th century warship. Channel 33 this Sunday at 20:00.

See THE IRISH ROVERS LIVE AT THE FORUM (Ontario Place) Sunday at 21:00. Traditional and contemporary Irish music at its best.

Also at 21:00, on channel 33, is the beginning of a 13-part historical drama about Lillie Langtry called "Lillie". A MASTERPIECE THEATRE presentation seen earlier this year, it's about a woman of modest means who became Victorian England's most famous courtesan.

Master artists, among them Peter Ustinov, Yehudi Menuhin and Teresa Stratas, will be showcased on a CBC series of Summer Concerts Sundays at 22:00, beginning this week with STANDING ROOM ONLY. This hour-long family pop concert features James de Preist, guest conductor with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra playing selections from Superman, Firebird & Spartacus.

On Channel 33, NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SPECIAL features "Strange Creatures of the Night", Monday at 20:00. Sophisticated night-vision cameras examine the life of mysterious night creatures - bats, owls, hyenas and sightless, cave-dwelling fish.

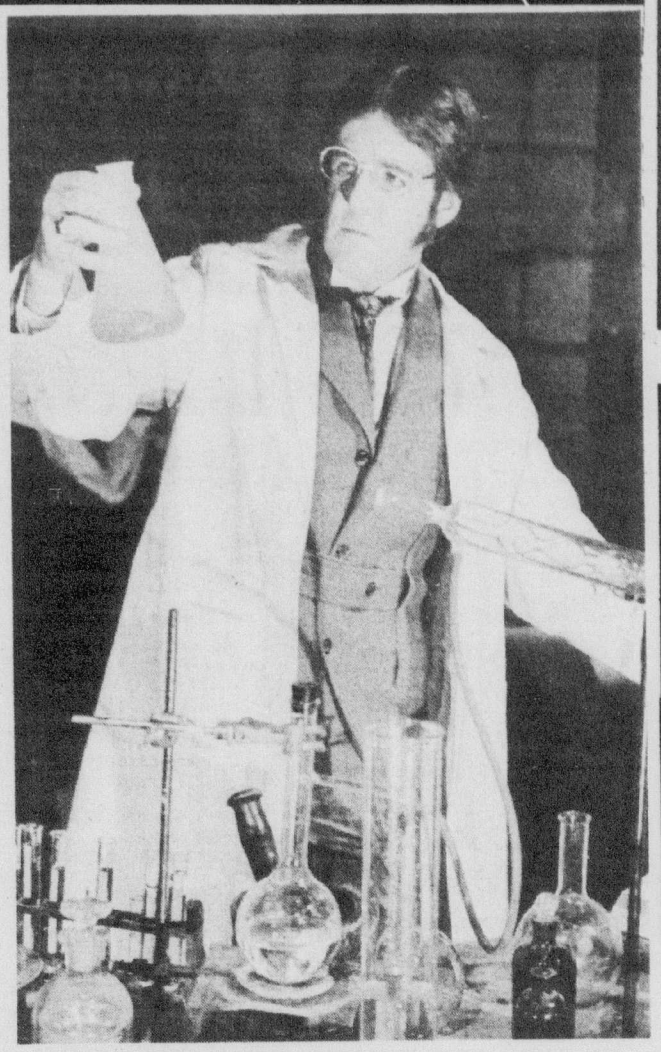

Immediately following at 21:00 on the same channel is XI'AN, a new documentary on the incredible archeological treasures buried in the ancient imperial city of China.

Still with Channel 33, JAZZ AT THE MAINTENANCE SHOP, Monday at 22:00 features jazz guitarists, two of who recently played at the Rising Sun in Montreal - BARNEY KESSEL & HERB ELLIS - along with CHARLIE BYRD and brother JOE BYRD on bass at a live concert at Iowa State University.

THIS LAND on Channel 6 Monday at 22:30, follows carver Weldon Tracey on his field trips studying birds and at home working. Tracey's carvings, done in his spare time, now fetch a high price in the U.S. as well as Canada.

The JOHN ALLAN CAMERON Show with host John Allan Cameron, returns for its second summer season on Channel 6, Thursday, July 3 at 9:30.

Still on Channel 6, Thursday, don't miss Joyce Davidson's interview with MORDECAI RICHLER, well-known Canadian author who now does his writing in his Lake Memphremagog home. Richler, who is currently promoting his book, JOSHUA THEN AND NOW, can be seen at 22:30 on "Authors".

Radio

The Who, Elvis Costello, Sushi and The Banshees, Dave Edmonds, Rachel Sweet, Devo, Blondie, Talking Heads, The Selecter, Toots and The Maytals, XTC, Bruce Springsteen, Martha and The Muffins, The Clash, The Rolling Stones - on CBC Radio? You bet. NEON NIGHTS has all the latest music and new releases every Saturday night at 23:05.

VIPASSANA MEDITATION COURSE
JULY 31st-AUGUST 10th

Vipassana Meditation is a simple technique of self-observation which leads to a deeper understanding and experience of the everchanging nature of life. This results in a relaxed and balanced state of mind, thus enabling the individual to face his-her problems without stress or conflict and to lead a happy, peaceful, productive and socially responsible life. It is an art of living of profound practical value in daily life. There is no charge for the teaching. Students share in cost of food and accommodation.

Site: Longueuil Cost of Course: $130.00

Speaking of Soap

BY MARY ANN COOPER

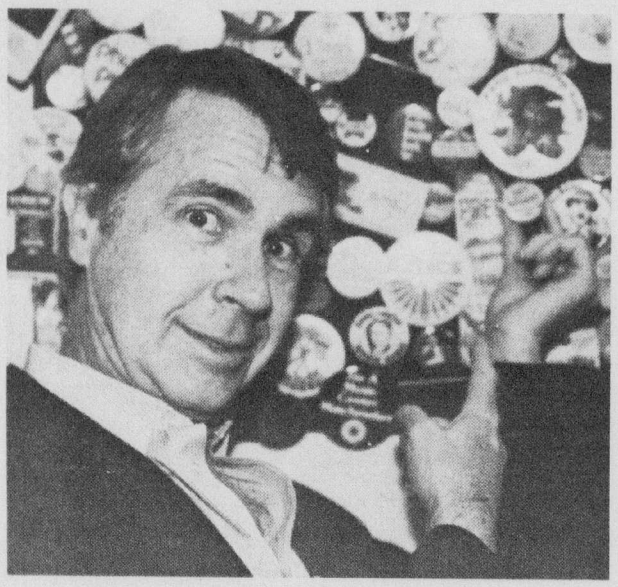

Sometimes, as we marvel at the things that modern soap opera has to offer, we lose sight of all the growing pains produced by soap operas born out of the days of live television. A brief chat with James Noble, current co-star of "Benson" in the role of the governor, brings us new insights into those frightening days of yesteryear.

"I have seen things go wrong on live TV that I was powerless to do anything about it but watch in absolute agony," recalls Noble.

"I have even seen people go 'up' on their lines to such an extent that panic sets in and they are reduced to screaming and falling on the floor." Showing the adaptability of the then new media he adds, "When this happened the camera panned down with the actor to the floor and then panned up on an actor who looked like he had his wits about him. The next day writers had to feverishly rewrite their scripts to account for the strange behavior on the previous day." Despite these types of harrowing experiences Noble claims he enjoyed his stint in daytime TV which included playing Don Hughes on "As the World Turns", a corrupt police lieutenant in "The Edge of Night" and a psychiatrist on "The Doctors." "I felt, at the time that they were good training and I suppose they are." Yet, he interjects, "The danger is that some actors, because of the severe time limitations on sopas, get used to going for the quick effective thing instead of the best thing to reach an audience."

It is apparent that Noble has not fallen into this trap as witnessed by his success in an incredible variety of roles in both the drama and comedy fields. He is just as believeable as Bo Derek's father in "10" as he is as one of Kathleen Beller's doctors in "Promises in the Dark." He captured the imagination of theater goers in "1776" just as easily as he has stolen the hearts of TV viewers as the "slightly out of sync but intuitive" Governor Gatling.

Years of training and dedication aside, James Noble names a contributing factor for the ease in which he does his job. "My comfort in being before a camera comes in part from my experience on soaps."

Now a look at what's been happening and what will happen on all afternoon dramas.

GUIDING LIGHT -- Amanda and Ben are skeptical about Lucille's condition despite her evidence to the contrary. Elizabeth and Jackie come to verbal blows over Philip and Justin.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS -- Suzanne is adjusting to her new life but still wants Derek to get his. Luke makes his feelings more clear to Leslie. Lorie plays a dangerous game.

SEARCH FOR TOMORROW -- Travis tries to hide his deep concern from Liza. She wants children and he fears she will never get over the realization that it is impossible for her. Sissy is at the breaking point.

AS THE WORLD TURNS -- Melinda is lost in the murky waters at the Connecticut beach party. Brad and his friends fear the worse. Betsy, who overheard what she thought was an argument between Brad and Melinda, wonders if Brad was responsible for Melinda's mishap. Barbara and James postpone their wedding when it appears that Melinda has died.

THIS WEEK: April and Bob become more than just business associates. Betsy is very upset.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE -- Dorian treats Becky and brings her back to the Llanview hospital. Against doctor's orders, she gets out of bed to answer the telephone for an interview and loses the baby. Richard is angry. Jenny plans to go ahead with the divorce. Mario and Edwina plan to marry and leave town. Brad gets a job from Asa and Brad makes a pass at Asa's secretary.

THIS WEEK: Pat warms toward Beau. Sam tries to get rid of Tina's influence.

ALL MY CHILDREN -- Sean stands up Devon at a motel and she confronts him about it. Sybill spends the night at Cliff's as he moons for Nina. Palmer catches them in their indiscretion when he comes by to return Nina's ring. Before Palmer tries to tell Nina, she swoons into a diabetic faint. Russ leaves town. Erica tells Brooke she slept with Tom, Brooke calls it quits with Tom, and Tom fires Erica.

THIS WEEK: Palmer's manipulation may cost Nina her life. Erica schemes to get Tom back.

RYAN'S HOPE -- Kim traps Rae and Roger into revealing their part in the breakup of her relationship wth Seneca and Michael. Kim leaves the house with evidence against Rae in the framing of Frank. As Frank, Jill and Ken George Jones plan to leave for London, Kim arrives with the evidence. Frank stays behind to clear his name. Siobhan plans to leave town.

THIS WEEK: Jack tries to build a new life with Ryan. Delia is in over her head again.

EDGE OF NIGHT -- Jody is hired as a waitress at "The Unicorn" much to Kelly's delight. April and Emily become chummy and April suggests that Emily work as Miles' receptionist. Mike and Logan order an autopsy of the body that was found in the train wreck. Logan decides to pay 'Kirk' a call.

THIS WEEK: Monticello is rocked by the latest news. Logan is puzzled.

GENERAL HOSPITAL -- Joe is having Luke and Smith tailed and Luke spots the tail. Luke joins the bridal party that is leaving Jessie's for the disco and confronts Smith about the tail. Smith levels with Luke about the South American Shipment. Jeff and Anne get a call from Heather's doctor indicating that Heather has inquired about Stephen Lars. Mrs. Grant and Diana go into a panic about this.

THIS WEEK: Luke squirms to get away from Smith. Heather is becoming more of a threat to Port Charles residents.

ANOTHER WORLD -- Rachel is in New York trying to track down the author of "Harry Must Die" unaware that the author is going straight to Bay City. Pat leaves "Brava" and Cecile is in charge. Hazel shoots Larry when he realizes that she is the mob's informer and Hazel falls down the stairs as she tries to gun down Clarice.

THIS WEEK: Blaine and Buzz nervously sweat it out. Ada is concerned that Mac will learn the truth.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES -- Julie's feelings for Chandler are mixed and she puts his marriage proposal on hold. Chris feels threatened by Alex's attention to Leslie. Sr. Marie commends Alex for getting Chandler to bail out the hospital. Doug is shutting Lee out. Marlena is on Chandler's payroll. Liz has an affair with Neil.

THIS WEEK: Liz feels threatened by Julie and Marlena. Lee becomes more neurotic.

THE DOCTORS -- Missy is not persuaded by Vivica's tactics and sees Luke. Rush preparations for a wedding are made and the wedding takes place. Steve tries to apologize to Nola but Nola lays into him. Garner comes to the rescue when Ashley is arrested leaving Darcy very steamed.

BOUND FOR GLORY

The story of folksinger Woody Guthrie is told in 'Bound for Glory,' starring David Carradine (pictured), to be broadcast for the first time on network television on 'The CBS Tuesday Night Movies,' TUESDAY, JULY 1 on CBS-TV.

'Bound for Glory' was awarded an Oscar for its musical score, based on Guthrie's own music, and one for Haskell Wexler's cinematography. In addition, it was nominated for best picture, best screenplay based on material from another medium (Guthrie's 1943 autobiography), film editing and costume design.

'Standing Room Only'

On Sunday, June 29 CBC-TV will present an encore telecast of 'Standing Room Only,' an hour-long pops concert with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

Shot 'theatre-in-the-round' style amidst a studio festooned in balloons, the concert was comprised "of the kind of music that appeals to any age," says producer John Thomson.

Also appearing on the program was young Canadian virtuoso guitarist, Norbert Kraft.
