

Stansstead Journal.

Commenced 1845. Vol. XXXV.—No. 24.

ROCK ISLAND, (STANSTEAD) P. Q., THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1880.

WHOLE NUMBER 1792.

The Stansstead Journal, Published every Thursday Morning by L. R. ROBINSON, Editor & Proprietor

TERMS FOR 1880.
If paid in advance, $1.00 per year.
If paid within 18 months, $1.25 per year.
At the end of the year, $1.50 per year.
All arrears charged at $1.50 per year.
Subscribers in the United States will add 10 cents for postage. Subscribers desiring to discontinue at the end of the time paid for, will so advise us before the expiration of the subscription.

Business Cards.

JOB PRINTING.
IN EVERY VARIETY AND STYLE.
Promptly executed at the Journal Office.
—CONSTANTLY ON HAND—
A good stock of Blanks, Blank Books, Cap, Letter, Note, Bill Head Stationery, Initial, Mourning and other papers (Cardboard board, Pens, Ink, Mucilage, &c. &c.)

H. W. MCGOWAN, M. D., C. M., M. C. P. S.
Graduate of the University of McGill College. Office Beech Plain. 78

A. M. GIBSON, M. D., L. R. C. S. and L. R. C. P., Edinburgh
MASSAWITT, P. Q. 70

DRS. WIGGS & ROBERTSON, John Wiggs, M. D. W. D. Robertson, M. D.
L. R. C. P. S. Edinburgh
Office at residence, Stansstead Plain. 57

C. E. TOWLE, Provincial Land Surveyor, WILL attend to private surveys in the vicinity of Stansstead. Office at Stansstead March 6, 1879. 14

J. F. MOULTON,
DENTIST,
Stansstead Plain, Que. 35

THOMAS FAIRBANK,
Nurseryman and Florist and Landscape Gardener. Plans and Estimates furnished.
Cut Flowers at all times.
10 Newport, Vt., and Stansstead, Que.

JOHN W. McDUFFEE, C. M., M. D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, Stansstead, Que.
Post Office address Derby Line, Vt. 84

CHAS. O. BRIGHAM, ATTORNEY AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC, Derby Line, Vt.
Special attention paid to Collections.
Prompt remittances made.

C. A. RICHARDSON,
NOTARY PUBLIC, CONVEYANCER, and Commissioner Superior Court, Office at the Registry Office, in Court House, Stansstead Plain, Que.

TERRILL & HACKETT,
ADVOCATES,
Stansstead, Plain, Que.
J. L. TERRILL. M. F. HACKETT.

D. C. LIBBY,
Dealer in CASKETS AND COFFINS,
Both home and foreign manufacture.
Rock Island, Que.

H. C. H. CHAGNON, NOTARY PUBLIC, OFFICIAL ASSESSOR and Loan and Land Agent, Coateook, Que.
$100,000 to loan at 6 per cent. on Real Estate, from 2 to 20 years.

E. R. JOHNSON,
ADVOCATE,
Stansstead Plain, Que.

ON ONE WHO DIED IN MAY.

Why, death, what dost thou here,
This time of year?
Peach-blow, and apple-blossom; Clouds, white as my love's bosom; Warm wind of the West, Cradling the robin's nest; Young meadows, hasting their green leaves to fill With golden dandelion and daffodil; —These are the signs of Spring; But, alas, thou hastest thing,
What dost thou here?
Why, death, what dost thou here,
This time of year?
Fair, as the old oak's knee,
The young anemone;
Fair, the pink pinks;
Sweet as all song of Spring;
But thou, thou hastest thing,
What dost thou here?
Dark death fell a tear.
Why am I here?
Oh, how I wish I will never know I am thy friend, nor never was his foe?
Whose sweet season, then, if it be not mine?
Mine, the belated, that song divine, Chasing the shadow's, or the flying when?
'Tis a dead voice, 'tis the sound that swoons Whose passionate heart burns in this flamm-ing rose But his, whose passionate heart long since they still Whose warm pale lips this un-like and lily Beside the garden wall, But here, where radiant eyes and lily-grace Sleep in the grave that crowns you tuff'd hills.
All ye, all ye Memory Have their dead springs in me,
And Love, that else might fade, By me immortal, made, Spurns the grave, leaps to the welcoming skies,
And burns a steadfast star to steadfast eyes.
—(Scribner for May.)

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST.

"O mother, mother, I am so tired." The dew-drops quivered like imperial diamonds upon the broad green plumes of the beech-leaf by the footpath; the grass that bent over the footpath was heavy with evening moisture; yet these two wanderers clung together homeless and alone, in the falling shadows of the night.
"Cheer up, my child, we have not very far to go. Come closer, let me brush the dew from your curls. Now stand on my feet, and with your eyes fixed on the coming tempest with philosophic coolness, his hands in his pocket, and his lips parted in a good-humored smile.
"She means well," he said to himself, when the volley of wrath had been discharged on his luckless head, and Mrs. Raynesford had returned to her butter-making, "but she's got the greatest faculty for scolding of any woman I ever saw."
The years fitted by, sprinkling the steep old farm house roof with crystal drops of April showers, and thatching it with the dazzling emine of January snows many an evening a time. Gray hairs crept in among the raven locks of Farmer Raynesford, careworn wrinkles began to gather around his mouth and brow. Also those swift-footed years brought troubles innumerable to the kind old man.
"Twenty years" mused he, one bright June morning; "it don't seem possible, Hannah, that it was twenty years ago this very day, that I caught that ugly fall from the hay-rick, and got home for life. And he looked down at the crutches by his side. Hannah stood in the doorway tossing corn to a forlorn little covey of chickens.
Twenty years had not improved her any respect—she was gaunter, bonier and more vinegar-faced than ever.
"Yes," said she slowly, "and perhaps you don't remember that it was just twenty years ago to-day that you threw ten dollars away on that woman and her child. I told you then, you'd and your days in the poorhouse, and I don't see but what my prediction is likely to come true. Didn't I say you would live to repent it."
"I won't deny, Hannah," said the old man, "but that I've done a good many things I've been sorry for—wife—but that is not one of them. I never for a minute repent being kind to the widow and the fatherless." Hannah shrugged her shoulders, but made no answer. "Didn't you say you were going up to see that rich lawyer about the five thousand dollar note today?" she asked.
"Yes, but I don't s'pose it'll be much use. If he'd want a little, I'd do my best to please him. Jones says he'll be sure to sell the old place from over our heads, however; they say he's a hard man. I mean to explain to him just how the matter stands."
"I told you it would be long age," ejaculated Hannah, unable to restrain her vexation. "What on earth over possessed you to sign for Jesse Fairweather?"
"I s'posed he was an honest man, and wouldn't see an old friend wronged."
"Fiddlistick! That's just your calculation, Job! There, Zeke has brought the wagon; do start off, or you'll be too late for the New York train!"
"And Job meekly obeyed, only too happy to escape from the endless discord of his wife's railing tongue." The rays of the noonday sun streamed brightly through the stained glass casement of Mr. Everleigh's upper Gothic library. The room was decorated with every appurtenance of taste and wealth. Velvet chairs, with tall backs of daintily carved rosewood, were scattered here and there; marble vases occupied niches beside the doorway, and the rarest pictures hung on the paneled and gilded walls. But the prettiest object of all—the one which the rich lawyer often raised his eyes from his writing to contemplate with an involuntary smile of pride and affection—was a lovely woman in white cashmere morning robe, trimmed with faint velvet, who stood opposite, arranging a bouquet. She wore a spray of berries carved of pink Neapolitan coral at her throat, and tiny pendants of the same rare stone in her small, shell-like ears, and the slender waist was tied round with a bright pink ribbon.

An Irish Farm.

Imagine a level country, with few trees and no forests, cut up into very small irregular fields by stone walls.
It is of such land that Irish farms are composed. In most counties there is a great deal of boggy, swampy land from which the farmers cut peat, which serves them as fuel. An Irish farm is generally about as large as an ordinary village green of New York or New England, say from five to fifteen acres.
In some districts a farm of ten acres is considered rather large, and it is often the sole support of an immense family number, mother, son, children, and perhaps an old grandfather.
Boston common contains forty-eight acres of land. It would make six good-sized Irish farms, which would maintain fifty or sixty human beings, and a dozen cows, a horse or two, some donkeys and many pigs, besides paying the rent. In good seasons all this business is done by hand. In good seasons all this tending and swarming crop is just maintained. But suppose crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot be dried! Then what? Why, hunger and starvation, of course. And remember, there are no factories of other business to fall back upon. If the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of New England should be as poor this year as they were in Ireland last year, it would be a great calamity, but few persons would go hungry on that account. The fisheries, the shops, the factories, commerce, savings banks, and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year,
it would be a great calamity, but few
persons would go hungry on that ac-
count. The fisheries, the shops, the
factories, commerce, savings banks,
and something to the point. In good
seasons all this tending and swarming
crop is just maintained. But suppose
crop fails! Suppose the peat cannot
be dried! Then what? Why, hun-
ger and starvation, of course. And
remember, there are no factories of
other business to fall back upon. If
the crops fail, all fails. If the crops of
New England should be as poor this
year as they were in Ireland last year

Oriental Lodge, I.O.O.F. Derby Line, Vt.

Masonic Hall, Stanstead, Q. GOLDEN RULE LODGE, No. 5, P. A. M.

Regular Communication, Tuesday, May 18, 1880. C. I. MOULTON, Sec'y.

Mr. J. H. Bates, Newspaper Advertising Agent, 41 Park Row (Times Building), New York, is authorized to contract for advertisements in the Stanstead Journal at our best rates.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. A. Adams & Co. Stationers, 100 Broadway, New York, and at the New York Office of Geo. A. Adams & Co. Stationers, 100 Broadway, New York.

Pasumpscic & Mass. V. Rev. Railroad. LEAVE STANSTEAD.

5 50 a. m., 7 20 p. m., 9 35 p. m. ARRIVE AT STANSTEAD.

6 15 a. m., 7 35 a. m., 7 45 p. m., 10 p. m.

Religious Meetings. Methodist—(Rev. C. A. Hanson) Sunday services, Stanstead, 10 30 a. m., 7 30 p. m.

Episcopal—(Rev. Geo. Thorneley) Sunday services, 10 30 a. m., 7 30 p. m.

Wednesday Evening Service at 7 30 p. m. Congregational—(Rev. J. L. Litch) Sunday services, Rock Island, 10 30 a. m., 7 30 p. m.

Universalist—(Rev. F. E. Healey) Sunday service, Derby Line, 10 30 a. m. Catholic—(Rev. M. Macanley) Sunday services, 10 a. m., 2 p. m.

Post Offices. The Post Offices at Stanstead, Rock Island and Derby Line, have daily mails from Boston and Montreal and all intermediate points.

Time of arrival and departure are governed by the time tables of the Railroads. Daily mail to Coaticook by stage, leaving at 8 a. m., and returning the same evening.

Daily stage to Island Pond, leaving at 1 p. m., arriving at 11 a. m. Mail from Holland and Morgan Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Call and get your books which were left at the JOURNAL Office to be bound.

Miss Stevens' opening yesterday is said to have been a fine affair by the ladies. Her rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers and drapery, and the show of fine millinery goods was good.

The attractions led to an excellent trade, which is continued today.

Mr. W. Terrill has sold 25 head more of his fat cattle for fair prices.—Mr. J. W. House has also sold his lot—said to be very good.

A good many horses have been picked up for the American market through the Townships and weekly sales are held in Montreal for the same market. Prices rather low.

The Blaisdell Concert at the Town Hall, Stanstead, on Thursday evening last, was a very enjoyable affair. Mr. Blaisdell always plays well his introduction of music of a high order is just the education in the divine art the people need.

The recitations of Miss Backus were given so naturally and heartily as to please the audience immensely, and several verses were given. The fine singing of Miss Burnham was much enjoyed and she also favored the audience with an encore.

We are pleased to learn that the Blaisdell concert will be repeated on Thursday evening, 13th, at the same place, with a change of programme. The announcement will doubtless draw a full house.

A heavy wind, followed by rain and accompanied with lightning, visited this section of the country about 6 p. m. on Monday. We have heard of several cases of damage to property, but fortunately, of no accident to life or limb.

The large lumber shed of Messrs. Caswell & Pinney, at the station, was moved off its site and partly demolished. Two shade trees in front of the residence of Mr. D. Wilkey were broken off near the ground and thrown into the street.

The wall fence of Mr. W. E. West was thrown down, and fences on the farms east of the village were more or less prostrated. The house of Dr. C. W. Cowles, Stanstead Plain, was considerably damaged in the roof, a portion of the covering being torn up and a chimney prostrated.

The house also suffered from water pouring through the roof into the upper rooms. Mr. L. K. Benton's horse barn and shed were blown down, burying in the ruins the hired man, Mr. McIntyre, four cows and a calf.

Fortunately the man was not seriously injured and extricating himself, aided Mr. Benton in rescuing the animals, none of which were much hurt. Mr. Benton was caught by the wind and thrown about promiscuously with the loose lumber flying in the air, but arrived on the scene just in time to see the fall of his buildings. A covered carriage in the shed was badly damaged. It was fortunate that there was not a more serious calamity. A barn was blown down on the White place, between Stanstead and Mosher Corner.

At Derby Line Mr. W. Spaulding had an old barn blown down. The wind had a whirling motion, and may be classed as a respectable whirlwind.

The following candidates received Diplomas for Elementary Schools at the meeting of the Stanstead Board of Examiners, held on the 4th inst., viz.:

—Agnes S. Adams; Adelaide Belknap; Sarah Bellnap; Emma F. Brown; Alice Buckland; Addie E. Carlee; Lizzie S. Humphrey; Flora J. Hunsy; Ruth S. Levitt; Alice Kinney; Annie Moulton; Laura A. Walker; Effie Worth; Helen N. Oliver; Susan G. Sweeney; Mary E. Oliver; Alfred E. Harvey; Hannah C. Dolloff; Jennie R. Brainard.

C. A. RICHARDSON, Secretary.

See the millinery advertisement of Mrs. H. W. Elder, Beebe Plain.

"Have you made your 'gardening'?" is now the proper salutation.

The weather on Saturday, Sunday and Monday was summer-like, thermometers indicating 80 to 90° in the shade. The wind and rain storm of Monday evening changed the temperature. The warm weather and the rain have greatly hastened vegetation, the leaves on the trees putting out rapidly.

IN MEMORIAM.—On Saturday afternoon last the sad news came from Sherbrooke of the death there of Charles Edward Terrill, son of Joseph Lee Terrill, Esq., Advocate of this village, in his fifth year. But a few days ago he left in health and strength to visit some friends in Sherbrooke, but while there was attacked with fever, and although he had the best medical attendance and the tenderest care, he succumbed to the disease at two o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The remains were brought here on Saturday night and interred the following Monday, the funeral being largely attended.

The family have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in their great bereavement.

Never have we noticed such a sad and striking illustration of the saying, "that those whom the gods love, die young." Little Charlie was known and much loved by all, and in that bright young soul that passed to its Maker so soon, before "The cloudy fears and shapes forlorn, That fly like shadows at the morn" had dimmed the brightness of his fancy, there was a quiet thoughtfulness and sweet patience under suffering that filled all eyes that saw with tears, all hearts that felt, with love.

Smith's Mills. Mr. P. A. Bachelord, who has the contract for sawing the R.R. wood at this station is now busily engaged in filling the shed.

Mr. Harry Bigelow is laying the foundations of a horse barn with shed attached. He has lately repaired and painted his house which has improved it very much.

Mr. P. C. Sweet has also erected a new house near Comstock's Mills, nearly all the work being done by him self.

C. Comstock has finished sawing the logs in his yard and has commenced on the shingle stuff.

Fitch Bay. Messrs. Marshal & Jennison have just completed a new meat wagon for Messrs. Brevoort & Hutchins of Magoo's Point, who have engaged in the meat business, and promise only to deal in first class meat. We expect the new wagon to visit this place twice per week.

It is too bad, that every locality should have a class of envious persons who are constantly circulating false reports, to the injury of their neighbors. Such a report has been made concerning the seed wheat brought out from Montreal by Messrs. T. B. & H. M. Luder. This wheat was selected expressly for seed, by Wm. Evans, (Seedsman to the Council of Agriculture for the Province of Quebec) of Montreal.

It was brought here for the benefit of the farmers of this vicinity, and the grist mill here, in having a good article of grain, and not as an immediate speculation, and any report to the contrary is false. There are still a number bushels of said wheat unsold, which really ought to be sown, as it would be a pity to grind it into flour, when the country is so much in need of good seed wheat.

Wax's Mills. The Sunday School reorganized on Sunday last by appointing B. Smith Sup't., A. E. Chasley Asst. Sup't. and A. T. Smith Secretary and Librarian.

A "corner" occurred in Lost Nation Seed Wheat brought about by the demand being greater than the supply. There was a rise of fifty cents on the bushel and not enough at that price.

The wife of Henry Clifford died on the second inst., of consumption after a somewhat lingering sickness. She leaves four small children.

We understand that C. A. Bailey is about opening a general store.

Barnston. Farmers busy at work putting in their crops.

Mr. Chas. B. Turner, a student from Waterville Me. Baptist College, preached at the Baptist church on Sunday last. The young man made a very favorable impression. We wish him success.

Almost a fatal accident occurred at Mr. Wm. Long's wood factory on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Wm. Steers, machinist, was at work putting in and adjusting some shafting; the shaft was in motion, and after testing the speed he was turning away from it to get down off the bench on which he was standing to the floor, when his sleeve was caught on the head of a set-screw and instantly his clothing was winding around the shaft at the rate of 120 revolutions per minute. He braced himself and tried to keep from being drawn over, but he had not strength sufficient and in another moment he was being whirled around the shaft, his legs and arm striking the timbers overhead. His cries brought speedy relief or else he would undoubtedly have been killed. A man named Gendron at work in the yard hearing him, ran and threw off the bolt, and other help arriving he was got down, his clothing having to be cut from the shaft. His clothes were completely stripped from him, and several gashes were observed from which the blood was flowing freely. A doctor was summoned, when it was found he had sustained a fracture of the collar bone besides other serious bruises and cuts. He was taken home where he now lies doing well under the circumstances. He was not once losing his presence of mind.—Examiner.

There have been a few lunge taken by troling but not many as yet.

Hatley. There has been an unusually large number of cases of death by congestion of the lungs in this Township within the last two months, the last of which is that of our highly respected townsman, George A. Hovey, which occurred on the evening of the 9th instant, after an illness of about two weeks. Mr. Hovey was a member of the Municipal Council, an enterprising farmer, and was regarded as a thoroughly reliable man. His loss, therefore is a matter of public regret. He leaves a young wife and four small children. He was about 35 years old.

The widow of John Hunter has lost four children by the disease called "black cancer-rash," and the fifth lies at the point of death from the same disease. Her husband died about seven weeks ago. Before this goes to press, she will, probably, be bereft of her whole family. She has the sympathy and aid of her neighbors, who, we learn, have been attentive and kind to her in her great affliction.

The weather Sunday and Monday of this week was very warm for the season, thermometers indicating 85° in the shade. As I write, a violent thunder storm with wind and rain is prevailing.

Grass seldom looked more flourishing on the 10th of May, than it does this year.

Eastern Townships Notes. The employees of the Cotton Factory at Coaticook have presented the Superintendent, Mr. Hobbs, with an address, accompanied with an elaborately worked pin-cushion, made of the first cotton cloth woven in the factory. The cushion, says the Observer, "was enclosed in a handsomely made black walnut case, gilded, and profusely adorned with beautiful flowers." The gift and address were acknowledged in a graceful speech by the recipient.

It is asserted that Mr. Henry Rose, the former editor and proprietor of the Waterloo Advertiser, is about to resume control of that journal.

The trial on Thursday of those accused of spearing fish contrary to the fishery laws drew quite a crowd. Only three have had their trials up to-day, but all were convicted and fined $5 and costs each. We understand that warrants are out for the arrest of eleven more, including some from Granby, Waterloo and Cowansville.—Knowlton Register.

The "Lady of the Lake" has been leased by the Com. & Pass. R. Co., and they are bound by the lease to expend $2,000 upon her this season. Capt. Fogg is employed by the company to run her.

ACCIDENT ON THE QUEBEC CENTRAL R. R.—On Wednesday afternoon, as the regular train for Sherbrooke was rounding a curve about 1 1/2 miles beyond the place known as the Basin, an empty car attached to the train and which was attached to the passenger car, ran off the track, causing the passenger car also to leave the rails and turn over down an embankment of ten feet high. Some fifteen passengers were on board. A number of these were more or less bruised, but we are glad to learn that no serious injuries were sustained. The accident was caused by the expansion of the rails. The first portion of the train, consisting of engine and 8 loaded cars passed safely over.—Gazette.

Rev. Baker B. Sherman has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Sherbrooke Congregational Church, and is expected to enter upon his labors about the 22nd of this month. Meanwhile, the church is undergoing a course of repairs, the roof newly shingled, outside woodwork painted, &c.

ST. FRANCIS BARR.—At the meeting of the St. Francis Section of the Barreau on the 1st inst., Robert N. Hall, Q. C., was elected (for the fourth time) re-elected Batonnier.

The officers for the ensuing year are: Batonnier, Robert N. Hall, Q. C.; Syndic, H. C. Cabana; Treasurer, Wm. White; Secretary, S. B. Sauborn; Council—E. T. Brooks, Q. C., G. O. Doak, L. E. Morris, H. B. Brown, L. C. Deane. The finances of this section are in favorable condition. All liabilities have been paid in full: 160 volumes added to the Library, and $126 now on hand.

The S. & S. Mutual have adjusted and paid the loss by fire last Thursday of Jos. Bedard, Jr., of Richmond. The amount was $4,000.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—The barns of Mr. Wm. McKay, of Hatley, were struck by lightning during the thunder storm of Wednesday and totally consumed with their contents. Loss about $2,000, insured in the S. & S. Mutual for $700.

H. C. Wilson has opened his new Piano and Organ room in Odell's Block, opposite the market Sherbrooke.

Almost a fatal accident occurred at Mr. Wm. Long's wood factory on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Wm. Steers, machinist, was at work putting in and adjusting some shafting; the shaft was in motion, and after testing the speed he was turning away from it to get down off the bench on which he was standing to the floor, when his sleeve was caught on the head of a set-screw and instantly his clothing was winding around the shaft at the rate of 120 revolutions per minute. He braced himself and tried to keep from being drawn over, but he had not strength sufficient and in another moment he was being whirled around the shaft, his legs and arm striking the timbers overhead. His cries brought speedy relief or else he would undoubtedly have been killed. A man named Gendron at work in the yard hearing him, ran and threw off the bolt, and other help arriving he was got down, his clothing having to be cut from the shaft. His clothes were completely stripped from him, and several gashes were observed from which the blood was flowing freely. A doctor was summoned, when it was found he had sustained a fracture of the collar bone besides other serious bruises and cuts. He was taken home where he now lies doing well under the circumstances. He was not once losing his presence of mind.—Examiner.

J. P. CLEVELAND, Barnston Corner.

BEGS to inform the public that he is prepared to furnish any kind of Coffin or Casket at lower figures than the same class of articles can be got elsewhere. A large stock of Coffins on hand. A first-class HEARSE always on hand.

He is also manufacturing the Paragon Washing Machine. Please give me a call, and examine my manufactures. Barnston, March 8, 1880. 83

A. H. CUMMINGS, MANUFACTURER OF Window Blinds, Sash, Doors, Window Frames, Mouldings, House Finish, Matched Flooring, Clapboards, &c. Kilm dried Manufacture, warranted not to shrink.

Prices low for Cash or Ready Pay. Coaticook, March 15, 1880. 84mc

Canadian Pacific Railway. Tenders for Tanks and Pumping Machinery.

TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to noon on SATURDAY, the 15th of MAY, next, for furnishing and erecting in place at the general watering places along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway under construction, Frost-proof Tanks with Pumps and Pumping Engines of either make or material to be found most suitable to the locality.

Drawings can be seen and specifications and other particulars obtained at the office of the Engineer in Chief, Ottawa, on and after the 15th April.

By Order, F. BRAUN, Secretary.

Dept. of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, 1st April, 1880. 87w

Canadian Pacific Railway. Tenders for Iron Bridge Superstructure.

TENDERS addressed to the undersigned will be received up to noon on SATURDAY, the 15th of MAY, next, for furnishing and erecting Iron Superstructures over the Eastern and Western Outlets of the Lake of the Woods.

Specifications and other particulars will be furnished on application at the office of the Engineer in Chief, Ottawa, on and after the 15th April.

By Order, F. BRAUN, Secretary.

Dept. of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, 1st April, 1880. 87w

WELLAND CANAL. Notice to Machinist-Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned (Secretary of Railways and Canals) and endorsed "Tender for Lock Gates, Welland Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western Mails on THURSDAY, the 3d day of JUNE, next, for the construction of gates, and the necessary machinery connected with them, for the new locks on the Welland Canal.

Plans, Specifications and General Conditions can be seen at this office on and after THURSDAY, the 20th day of MAY, next, where forms of tender can also be obtained.

Parties tendering are expected to provide the special tools necessary for, and to have a practical knowledge of works of this class, and are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except where attached to the actual structures, the nature of the occupation and residence of each member of the same; and, further, an accepted bank cheque for a sum equal to $250, for the gates of each lock, must accompany each tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfillment of the contract the party or parties whose tender it is proposed to accept will be notified that their tender is accepted subject to a deposit of five per cent. of the bulk sum of the contract—of which the sum sent in with the tender will be considered a part—to be deposited to the credit of the Receiver-General within eight days after the date of the notice.

Ninety per cent. only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order, F. BRAUN, Secretary.

Dept. of Railways & Canals, Ottawa, 29th March, 1880. 87w

LACHINE CANAL. Notice to Machinist-Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned (Secretary of Railways and Canals) and endorsed "Tender for Lock Gates, Lachine Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western Mails on THURSDAY, the 3d day of JUNE, next, for the construction of gates, and the necessary machinery connected with them, for the new locks on the Lachine Canal.

Plans, Specifications and General Conditions can be seen at this office on and after THURSDAY, the 20th day of MAY, next, where forms of tender can also be obtained.

Parties tendering are expected to provide the special tools necessary for, and to have a practical knowledge of works of this class, and are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except where attached to the actual structures, the nature of the occupation and residence of each member of the same; and, further, an accepted bank cheque for a sum equal to $250, for the gates of each lock, must accompany each tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfillment of the contract the party or parties whose tender it is proposed to accept will be notified that their tender is accepted subject to a deposit of five per cent. of the bulk sum of the contract—of which the sum sent in with the tender will be considered a part—to be deposited to the credit of the Receiver-General within eight days after the date of the notice.

Ninety per cent. only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order, F. BRAUN, Secretary.

Dept. of Railways & Canals, Ottawa, 29th March, 1880. 87w

New Advertisements.

BLANK BOOKS

—AND—

STATIONERY.

We have just received from well known Canadian manufacturers, a good line of consisting of Ledges, Journals, Day Books, Record Books, Quarts, &c., &c., which we can sell at low prices.

Also, a good stock of Foolscap, Commercial Note and Octavo Note Papers, both ruled and plain. A stock of Envelopes, in White, Amber, Canary and Buff Papers, from 12 inch down to 3".

Papers and Envelopes sold at wholesale rates by the quantity. A good stock of Carter's Black Inks in quarts, pints, half-pints and cones. Gillott's Pens by the gross, Card Stock by the sheet or cut to order. Call for these goods at the

Golden Opportunity

to make purchases.

We offer bargains in

DRESS GOODS

and Trimmings, Prints, Sheetings, Shirtings, Ducks, Wool Cloths for Suits, Ball Knitting Cotton, Warp Yarn, Cotton Batting, Spring Style

HATS & CAPS,

New Paper Hangings, Curtains, Carpets, Extension Dining Tables.

Boots, Shoes & Rubbers,

including

The Celebrated 95 per Cent.

Sterling Rubber Boot, warranted not to crack.

W. I. Goods & Provisions.

It will pay you to try our 50 cent Tea. We don't give any "Chromos or Cheap Cans," but rather our customers would get the value of their money in the quality and

Quantity of Tea,

Sugar, Coffee, Spices, Soups, Canned Goods, Ham, Pork, Lard, Fish, Oatmeal, Bymeal, Graham, all grades

FLOUR,

as low as the lowest in prices and guarantee quality.

Dudswell Lime

constantly on hand.

1000 BUTTER & SUGAR TUBS, at very low prices, Sap Nails, Buckets, Tarping Bits, Shovels, Forks, Hoes, Axes, Helves, Sails, DOWNER'S KEROSENE

OIL,

Grass Seeds, Garden Seeds, Flour Seeds, and a great variety of goods, not mentioned.

We want to Exchange these Goods for MONEY,

and offer our customers

"THE CARD SYSTEM,"

as being worthy their attention, saving 5 per cent. on all cash purchases.

Remember we take all kinds

Farm Produce

at value in exchange for Goods.

Now is your time to Buy.

Call and oblige.

Your humble Servant,

GEO. S. CARPENTER,

Derby Line, March 1, 1880.

The Stanstead Journal

Has just been treated to a new dress, and will continue its weekly visits to all who want it for One Dollar a Year in advance.

As to its contents, we refer to its columns. The current events and literature of the day will find a place, as well as an accurate resume of local news by an able corps of correspondents.

Its large and uniform circulation through the Townships makes it an admirable advertising medium. Rates low for its circulation. Special rates made to time advertisers. For particulars apply by letter or personally to the publisher,

ROCK ISLAND, Que.

G. S. Carpenter's Column.

LARGE STOCK

OF

GOODS!

—AND—

PRICES HARD

BEAT!

We take pleasure in announcing to our customers and the public generally, that for the next

SIXTY DAYS

we shall offer them some

DECIDED BARGAINS,

such as will convince all that it is their

Golden Opportunity

to make purchases.

We offer bargains in

DRESS GOODS

and Trimmings, Prints, Sheetings, Shirtings, Ducks, Wool Cloths for Suits, Ball Knitting Cotton, Warp Yarn, Cotton Batting, Spring Style

HATS & CAPS,

New Paper Hangings, Curtains, Carpets, Extension Dining Tables.

Boots, Shoes & Rubbers,

including

The Celebrated 95 per Cent.

Sterling Rubber Boot, warranted not to crack.

W. I. Goods & Provisions.

It will pay you to try our 50 cent Tea. We don't give any "Chromos or Cheap Cans," but rather our customers would get the value of their money in the quality and

Quantity of Tea,

Sugar, Coffee, Spices, Soups, Canned Goods, Ham, Pork, Lard, Fish, Oatmeal, Bymeal, Graham, all grades

FLOUR,

as low as the lowest in prices and guarantee quality.

<

