PRICE— TWO CENTS

Not New Buildings But Spirit Needed Says Dr. T.W. Jones

Well-known Padre Shows Value of Pentecostal Power in Church

In his Pentecostal sermon given in Calvary Church last Sunday, Captain the Rev. T. W. Jones opened with the text "Ye shall receive power when the Holy Spirit is come upon you . . . And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began . . . bearing witness concerning the wonderful things which God had done."

Continuing, Dr. Jones said "The festival of Pentecost holds for the Christian Church a position of importance not surpassed by any other festival of the entire Christian year. It has, indeed, been questioned whether there would ever have been a Christian Church as we know it today, without that experience which the disciples and the company of followers of Jesus shared together on the Feast of Pentecost following the ascension of Our Lord. For it was out from that experience that the company of believers went forth as a valiant band, 'on the offensive' in striving for the cause of their Lord and Master."

"In order to appreciate the significance of that Pentecostal experience, it is well to consider it in its true perspective."

"First, as the fulfilment of age-long and oft-repeated promises. Peter in his stirring proclamation in Jerusalem that Pentecost Day, affirms that this was the fulfilment of the promise made by God through the Prophet Joel, 'And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith the Lord, I will pour out of my spirit upon all flesh, and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions and your old men shall dream dreams.'"

"Jesus Himself had instructed His followers to 'Tarry in Jerusalem, and there wait for the Promise of the Father—'for ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost not many days hence.'"

"The significance of this fulfilment for the early disciples can scarcely be overestimated. They were inheritors of the ancient religion of their fathers. Jesus Himself had constantly proclaimed the fact that His way of life was not a new and different way unrelated to that proclaimed by the prophets and seers of bygone days, but was rather a fulfilment and extension of all that they had taught. The same God and Father was the object of their worship; His laws their constant guide, and His power their abiding inspiration. It was the failure of their fathers to fully appreciate and appropriate all that God had to offer that made necessary the new way proclaimed by Jesus."

"Ancient Promises Fulfilled"

"The ancient Scriptures were still valid. These are they which testify of me," said Jesus. And now that the ancient promises were fulfilled in the amazing spiritual experience which these followers of Jesus had shared, there came to them an assurance of the validity of their age-long heritage. 'The God of their fathers was their God also.' Under the impulse of this new baptism they could sing with certainty and conviction.

"Come, Holy Ghost, for moved by Thee, The prophets wrote and spoke; Unlock the truth, Thyself the key; Unseal the sacred book."

"Secondly," said the preacher, "their Pentecostal experience was, however, not only the fulfilment of ancient promises, it afforded a convincing demonstration of the Victory of Jesus Christ their Lord. Never more could these men and women doubt or question the Divine Authority of Jesus. Peter's testimony that day gave expression to the faith unswerving held by all the apostolic band—'Let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ.'"

"There had been occasions both during His ministry in Galilee and still more during the dark hours of betrayal and crucifixion when they doubted and feared, and even in the glow of the Resurrection Day we are told of uncertainty in their hearts, but now, being themselves the recipients of the outpoured Spirit as the first fruits of the exaltation of their Lord, they proclaim their faith in Him and in the perfection of His finished work, with certainty and unshakable conviction."

"The New Way"

"Now, the resurrection was for them a glorious fact beyond the shadow of a doubt. 'This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses.' All that He had claimed to be, 'The Way, The Truth, The Life'; the new and living way by which the wondering sons of men might come back to the Father Heart of God, they were ready to proclaim with confidence and power."

"O Holy Spirit, comforter, Thou promised guide divine; On all the journey of our life Command Thy light to shine; So shall we never stray From ways our Master trod, So shall our pathway lead To rest, to home and God."

"Thirdly," continued Dr. Jones, "the Pentecostal experience, however, meant for them much more than the fulfilment of a promise or even a convincing demonstration of their Master's Victory. It meant the creation of the church as a Living Fellowship of

Funeral Service Held For Pioneer

The funeral service for the late Leonard G. Calder, who died suddenly on Monday, at his home 4557 Sherbrooke street, was arranged to take place yesterday at the chapel of J. C. Wray and burial was to be in Petrolia, Ontario.

Mr. Calder was 22 years sheriff of Saskatchewan before he came to Montreal in 1929. He drove the first colonist train into Saskatchewan in 1891 when he was in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway. He was in his seventy-third year at the time of his death.

What Are They Looking At?

WAR STAMPS, OF COURSE!

Where Westmount Reads

Popularity of Library Continues Despite War

Young and Old, Rich and Poor, Take Advantage Of City's Real "Community Centre"

The following article on the work of the Public Library is the third of a series written with a view to showing residents something of the work done on their behalf by their city.

The information is taken directly from the City Manager's last annual report. Further articles of this nature will appear from time to time.

"Time is money"—and quite a number of residents have found this to be the case when they forget to return their books to the Public Library.

In last year's report of the work reference has been made to the great amount of time spent in tracing "delinquent borrowers", and the total amount received in fines at two cents a day was as much as $1,239.17.

The report slightly excuses the existence of such a total by stating that the sending out of overdue notices was purposely "delayed several days" in order to "save postage", but there is no doubt that a change of heart—and of action—on the part of citizens with regard to their attitude to one of their greatest civic assets, would save their own money and the valuable time of the library staff.

The influence of war conditions is apparent throughout the report.

Although there was an increase in circulation in 1942 it was so low in comparison with that of 1941, the Librarian remarked "there are definite indications of a decreased circulation in the near future".

Some of the causes of this situation were attributed to "enlistments", "reduction in the leisure of housewives and young girls because of the shortage of domestic help" and the gas rationing has apparently held up the regular visits of many who live at some distance from the Library.

And yet—it is stated that "the library continues to reach a large proportion of the citizens of Westmount, for the number registered with us is only slightly less than in past years."

Types of Popular Reading

Many books "dealing with post-war thoughts and problems" were taken home for careful reading. Stories of the Canadian scene—especially when laid locally—still absorbed the attention of the readers, and "a surprising number of biographies, lives of men and women, ancient and modern, — also a good deal of history" was in favour last year. Drama, music, art and poetry, designated by the report as "peacetime subjects" were shown to be as popular as ever.

Great care was evidently taken with regard to the purchase of the three thousand and seventy-seven new books.

High Price of Books

The number, by the by, was actually a drop in purchase from that of 1941 owing to the high cost of books.

"Much of our popular fiction" it is stated "was bought in the form of re-print editions". Although a number of books dealing with the war were acquired, it was recognized that they would be of "ephemeral value" and all efforts went towards buying outstanding books having "no bearing on current events but with a permanent value".

Great care has been exercised over what is called "our irreplaceable English titles" and replacements from second-hand sources were secured whenever possible.

Difficulties in obtaining French books were noted.

"Standard titles are difficult, almost impossible, to find"—"American publications are high in price and derisively largely with political affairs, and do not satisfy the reader", states the report.

Work of Bindery

The bindery work continues in spite of material shortages and lack of skilled labour and, in addition to professional work done, "a never-ending stream of books goes through our workroom for minor repairs at the hands of our own staff", it is stated.

A survey of miscellaneous material in the basement store-room was made resulting in a large number of "adult discards" and proper cataloguing of many titles.

In the Children's Department there was a decrease in circulation of children's books, and also in the "specially selected" teen-age books, but the reference work, though at a lower level continued to be a feature in these sections.

Public Schools Use Library

Public schools have made use of the Library in various ways. Twenty-six classes with their teachers paid visits to the building and listened to talks, and three hundred volumes were loaned to teachers for use in classrooms to improve reading standards.

All facilities were granted service men who made full use of them—many spending their free hours in both the reference and reading rooms.

The total number of persons using these rooms was twenty-nine thousand nine hundred and twenty-four and among the thirteen newspapers and ninety-two periodicals provided for public use, it was stated "the British weeklies and newspapers were particularly enjoyed."

Artists Give Services For Sunday Show At 'Y'

A splendid show was given on Sunday afternoon at the Westmount YMCA which a capacity audience of boys in uniform enjoyed tremendously.

The program was in the capable hands of Miss Betty Speirs who acted as mistress of ceremonies. The guest artists were from the Canadian Belgian Musical Club, under the direction of Mrs. E. L. Wren.

The boys on arriving sat down to a fine supper prepared by Mrs. Holland and her War Work Committee of the Westmount Women's Club. Mrs. Harold Mills presided at the Head Table and a Committee of girls helped to serve.

Several of the boys and girls from the Forces volunteered to sing and were applauded heartily. The program was well balanced and each number was heartily enjoyed. J. B. Speirs accompanied at the piano.

The following artists took part: Mrs. E. L. Wren, Winy Kernath, Mrs. Longthorp, Beatrice Taylor, Marguerite Naylor, Margaret Scripture, Helen Lockhart, May McShane.

GEORGE ADAM NAMED

George Adam, senior deacon of Westmount Baptist Church has been elected president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec.

Gardening For Victory

A great number of residents have taken up the Victory Garden plots which have been ploughed in readiness for work by the City.

Vegetables, of all kinds are beginning to show their foliage in some plots and owners are to be seen both evenings and mornings and whole week-ends hard at work.

A complete list of those who have already started work can be read in our "Victory Garden Corner" in another page of this issue.

Salvage Campaign To Be Conducted By Vacation Club

'Y' Boys Will Collect During First Week in August

This summer's Vacation Club program is now complete and from all appearances an active program is in store for all members. Indoor and outdoor events will keep the boys at the Westmount "Y" very busy for the summer months.

While many of the activities carried on in previous years will again be on the schedule there will be many new events and special treats for the holiday-makers. The vacationers will conduct another Salvage Campaign this year during the first week of August. Last year this campaign was very successful and many salvaged articles were brought in.

Among the major salvage contributions collected by the members last year were six tires, auto and truck, magazines, bottles, rags, and clothes of all descriptions, about five hundred coat hangers, leather articles, bottle tops, newspapers, metal objects and ornaments and blankets.

During the first week a Learn-to-Swim drive will get under way when all summer members who cannot swim will receive instruction, while the more advanced swimmers will learn new strokes and hints in their diving.

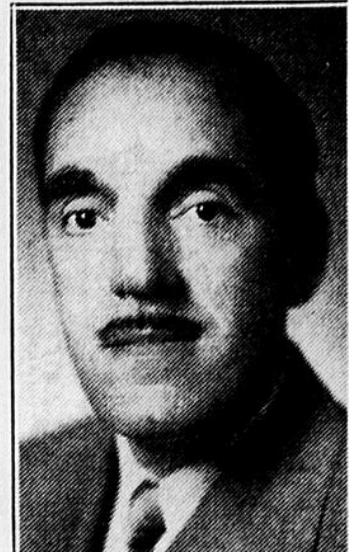

A new addition to the swimming program will be a swimming marathon scheduled to take place in the latter part of July.

Dr. Brittain Talks To Quebec Council

The third annual meeting of the Quebec Provincial Home and School Council was held last night at Roslyn School with Dr. W. H. Brittain as guest speaker.

G. H. Penrose, principal of Roslyn, who has been president of the Quebec Council for the past year, was born in England and came to Canada when just a child. He studied at West Lorne High School in Ontario and graduated with an arts degree at McGill University.

Before coming to Roslyn School in 1934 Mr. Penrose was principal of King's School for five years.

G. H. PENROSE

He was twice president of the Westmount Teachers' Association and is an unofficial delegate at the present time from Westmount to the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers.

1st Company B.B. Annual Inspection Held At King's

Lt. Col. Andrew Fleming Praises Work of The Brigade — Many Awards Made

Last Friday evening in King's School, the 1st Westmount Company wound up its sessions work with the 8th Annual Inspection and Display, which was one of the most successful events ever held by the unit. Lt. Col. Andrew Fleming of Military District No. 4 was Inspecting Officer and in his remarks praised the work of The Brigade for its efficiency. Having known the Brigade from his childhood in the city of Glasgow, Col. Fleming told the boys that the Spiritual foundation laid by the Founder sixty years ago had stood the test of the years and would still stand in years to come. "It is this type of Christian manhood," said he, "that the world needs today. Brigade boys, through their efficient training are prepared to take their places in life thoroughly prepared to meet any difficult situation as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

During the Display, Sgt. Edwin Goring demonstrated Squad Drill in a most interesting manner followed by a drill down competition, conducted by Lieut. T. W. Ritchie and won by Pte. Alan Burdett. It was most entertaining to see some of the newer recruits remaining to the last while some old veterans dropped out at the beginning.

Pte. Alistair Riddell, a new recruit of three months standing, remained until second to last. Physical Training, under L/Cpl. Bob Eastwood was a highlight of the evening while First Aid and A. R. P. work brought a thunderous applause from the audience at seeing rescue work being conducted by A. G. Anderson, Company instructor and his two most efficient rescue squads. The Band performed to perfection and was up to full strength.

The list of awards are the most numerous for some years and prove that this past session has been one of the most successful in recent years. They run as follows:

Ambulance Badges
L/Cpl. Robert Eastwood, L/Cpl. Geo. Camp, L/Cpl. Geo. MacFarlane, Cpl. James Wright, Pte. James Dugan, Pte. Jordan Durocher, Pte. Doug. J. Worth.

Westmount High Wins War Stamps Competition

Children Donate Prize-money To War Charities

Three war charities will profit as the result of the Eaton's Junior Council War Savings Stamp Contest, for the prize-winners — all Westmount boys and girls — are donating their prize-money to these good causes.

Westmount High School — the winner — is giving the money to the Red Cross branch of their school; Weston — which came second — gives to the Greek War Relief Fund and the third prize-winner — the High School for Girls — has chosen the Junior Red Cross War Nurseries as the recipient of their gift.

In the contest, the girls voted for costumes, chosen by members of Eaton's Junior Council, by buying War Savings stamps. Figures dressed in the costumes were exhibited on Eaton's main floor display, each figure bearing the name of one of the 8 high schools represented on the council.

The votes were counted by Mrs. Doreen Day, Leila Ballantyne, fashion representative, McGill University, and Miss Ruth Garmaise. All votes were tabulated according to the number of girls attending the school, thus giving a proportional result and affording small schools an equal chance with the larger ones.

Five Years Apart Brothers Now Fly in Same Squadron

Dave and Bob Sproule Meet Overseas and Work in Flying Boats

Work, plus a keen desire to see the world, separated Bob Sproule, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sproule, 39 Thornhill avenue, from his young brother Dave, but the better part of five years, but they're together again, overseas, now on the same flying boat squadron.

While Pilot-Officer Dave Sproule flies the boats, Flying Officer R. S. Sproule is the engineer officer of the squadron. Bob has been with the unit some time. Dave is a comparatively new arrival.

It has been a crowded five years since Bob Sproule stepped out of McGill University in the spring of '37 with an engineering degree, and a very strong desire to "look around a bit." Montreal was a good springboard to set him on his way, and he arranged a working-passageway overseas for himself. He saw a lot of England, travelling extensively, later shipped to West Africa, by way of variation. Then he spent a year in France. Had he not been a bit of an opportunist, Bob Sproule might well be there, or in a German concentration camp, now.

While in France, Sproule obtained an engineering job in the immense Renault Works outside Paris. There he remained while war was in progress, and there he remained also when the Germans broke through. He was still there on the day the Germans swept in on Paris, but he felt it was time to go, and went in a hurry. Those days of getting out of France, when roads were crowded, and all was confusion, were quite an experience.

"I had to leave that wizard bike of mine behind," he grinningly lamented. "It was really something, with three speeds, and all sorts of gadgets. They didn't give us much time to get moving."

Sproule subsequently returned to Canada, worked with a construction firm for a short time, and then enrolled in the R.C.A.F. He was posted to the School of Aeronautical Engineering, by way of being groomed for his present important job. During college days he was one of McGill's best racing skiers, and participated in many of the major meets.

WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1943

A CASE FOR RE-CONSIDERATION

THE PROPOSAL of the Westmount city authorities to force drug counters to close at seven o'clock each evening seems ill-considered and an unnecessary hardship both on the druggists and the residents of Westmount. The law will fall particularly heavily on the druggists, for, at a pinch, the residents can buy from stores without the city's limits—where there is no early closing law—and have their purchases delivered right to their doors. In effect the law would simply transfer trade from Westmount druggists to those outside the city's jurisdiction.

There are other considerations. There are frequent cases of sickness not serious enough for the doctor, yet which call for medicine from the druggist—muscular aches and pains, toothaches, headaches, and the frequent and many ills of childhood. Then there is the busy war worker who has forgotten his razor blades. There are other cases of such small emergencies too numerous to mention.

Most difficult to understand of all the angles of this proposal is the fact that the drug stores may keep their restaurants and soda fountains open while being compelled to close the drug counter. Why?

HELP THE GREEKS

SINCE THE BEGINNING of the war local residents have been asked to support a greatly extended number of patriotic and charitable campaigns. We have met our responsibility in each case in a manner befitting our reputation of never failing in a worthy cause. We are now asked to support generously still another appeal—the Greek war relief fund. The plight of the Greeks is known to us all. The bravery of the Greeks in opposing aggression is also known well to us all. Against hopeless odds, they went unhesitatingly to war when many other nations just quit before Fascist might. We owe them a debt we can't repay, now, when they are dying by the hundreds—dying for want of food and medicine. One of these days we shall rescue them—what's left of them—in the meantime, give generously to alleviate their suffering.

TRIBUTE TO RUSSIA

MANY LOCAL residents will be interested in the services, to be held Sunday, commemorating the valiant fight and the sacrifices of our gallant ally, Russia. There will be a service on Sunday afternoon, on Fletcher's Field, while in the evening the active head of the Russian Orthodox Churches for North America, the Metropolitan Benjamin, will speak in Calvary United Church on "Religion in Soviet Russia". This latter service will be conducted by Captain the Reverend T. W. Jones, who will be assisted by Dr. R. G. Katsunoff, pastor of the Church of All Nations. These services will be interesting to native Canadians not only because they will help cement relations between our people and those of Russia, but because of the presence at those services of many "new Canadians" representing many nations now at war together against Fascism. Such meetings as these also help clear the way for better understanding in the post-war world.

OUR NEW TERMINAL

THE OPENING OF THE new Canadian National Railways terminal will be welcomed by all Montrealers, for the old Bonaventure station was not only inadequate for the traffic it was called upon to handle, but from a purely Montreal standpoint it had become an eyesore and not at all in keeping with what the world expects of the terminal of the world's greatest railway system in Canada's largest city. The new terminal, one of the finest, and the most modern in the world, is more in character.

Old Bonaventure station these days reminds one of what bargain day at an Indian Bazaar must have been like in pre-war years. The place is so hopelessly inadequate to the huge job it is doing that regulation of the hundreds of people milling about at train time is impossible. Men from all the armed services by the score; civilians—fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers, sweethearts, relatives and friends; trains of baggage trucks laboriously making their way through the crowds; officials, train crews, youngsters, newsboys. That business moves on time is a tribute to the patience and efficiency of the railway's employees.

The new terminal, which has been described in print frequently since its preview by newspapermen, is opening in time to contribute substantially to the solution of the nation's wartime transportation problems. When peace comes again, it will have extended greatly the distances Montrealers can live from the heart of the city and still get in and out conveniently. It will add millions to the value of real estate within commuting distance of the city. The indirect or unseen values of a project like this new terminal are far greater than the apparent advantages, great as they might be. Montreal welcomes the new station as a civic asset as well as a means of increasing the efficiency of Canada's great railway network.

Book Review

"Chicken Every Sunday" My Life with Mother's Boarders, by Rosemary Taylor. Publisher, George J. McLeod Limited, Toronto. Pages 307; Price $3.50.

Mother's boarders had chicken every Sunday but as Mr. Robinson said: "I like your food, but what I like best about your place is the people you take in."

This is a merry wholesome book and an excellent antidote for the blues during these trying days.

The author understands we humans and readers of her book are not likely to forget her or her clever Mother and Father who through all the strange episodes in which they take part are kindly, sensible and appealing.

Some of the boarders were strange characters beginning with those she first sneaked into the house when father was not looking.

Then there was Rita Vlasak who loved mankind in general (not including womankind) and particularly a man—any man upon whom she could unleash her charm.

Miss Sally loved herself and spent all her spare time cold creaming herself and sitting in the bathtub. Who could forget the Lathams who were keen to buy a gold mine and were granted their wish by father after many amusing incidents.

Father owned a laundry, but when mother began to make so much money by having boarders he put the laundry in charge of a manager and began buying gold mines and cattle ranches, oil wells and real estate. Mother teased him about the many trips to show a prospective purchaser of real estate if his customer happened to be an attractive woman.

The whole family was happy-go-lucky and hilarious, but Mother never let any situation get the best of her—whether it was a German spy living in the garage-house, or a boarder whose divorced husband didn't want to stay divorced.

Homely, warm and amusing, "Chicken Every Sunday" leaves the reader chuckling and feeling that the world is a pretty good place after all, which during these times is a very necessary feeling to have.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Senator Robert F. Wagner filed a Bill in the U.S. Senate last week which, if it becomes law, will provide "cradle to the grave" security for practically all persons in the U.S.A. This is not the first piece of basic social legislation sponsored by the progressive New York senator who is in close touch with President Roosevelt and the present administration. From press reports it seems evident that the Bill is intended to provide the structural changes necessary to meet the situation which will confront that nation when thirty millions of war workers and men and women in uniforms must be demobilized and industry reconverted to give them peacetime employment. The Bill goes far beyond any social legislation ever to be voted upon in the U.S.A. It is to be financed at first mainly by workers and employers, with the government assuming its share of the cost gradually. The plan covers insurance against unemployment and against disabilities incident to illness, accidents and old age. Its benefits would be extended beyond the categories of those included in the present social security laws of the U.S.A. by the inclusion of the farmers (15,000,000), domestic servants, professional and small business men and others not covered at present. The proposed law follows that outlined by the National Resources Planning Board of which a favorite uncle of the President is the chairman. In principle it is much like the Beveridge plan, although its provisions are more inclusive. As in some other countries there will no doubt be opposition on the ground that the cost will be prohibitive. But nations have always borne this cost. Unemployment, illness and old age are not new and must be paid for in some way, generally the most expensive way.

Although representatives of the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. temporarily shelved their rivalry and exerted united opposition to the measure, pressure from powerful groups favorable to it prevailed. Advocates of the amendment contend that it will furnish farmer, business and unorganized labor interests much needed protection against "unreasonable, arbitrary and discriminatory control from certain factions of organized labor."

The President of the Florida Federation of Labor predicts that, if adopted, the amendment will disrupt labor conditions to such a degree that there will be a general exodus of workers from the State. Higher rates of pay for Canada's private soldiers, payment of cost of living bonuses to families of all Canadian servicemen and increasing of dependent's allowances to the highest scale in the world will cost Canada between $30,000,000 and $50,000,000 a year. A comparison with other countries follows:

Autos should be cheap and easy to run. We went too far with autos until they got to look like Pullman cars. We might as well have been riding in Pullmans, too—they cost nearly as much. The basically simple things are best whether its autos or diets or philosophy. The basis of the peace should be a World Federation.—Henry Ford.

Sir John D. Pollock, the present lord rector of Edinburgh University recently gave the University £250,000. He took a medical degree and practiced for some time in London. Later he became interested in the production of oxygen for medical purposes and created the British Oxygen Co. He also started a shipbreaking company in Fife which prospered. This company performed the spectacular feat of raising from the bottom of Scapa Flow the German warship which, after having been given up under the peace settlement at the end of the last war, were sunk by their German crews. Later this company became known as Metal Industries, Limited. Sir John's main concern for many years has been the furtherance of the interests of his old university.

At a banquet of the ASEP (Association of Graduates of Social Sciences of the University of Montreal) the Reverend Father Emile Bouvier, S. J., spoke on the Beveridge Plan. He referred to the plan as a monumental work which will redound to the credit of the authors.

Dr. Fosdick of Riverside Baptist Church, N. Y., in a recent sermon said that today "even the hardest heads begin to see that a world organized for peace is no perfectionist ideal but realistic social wisdom and social necessity." Then he asked how many more world wars it will take before the last vestige of our personal liberty is gone and our democracy collapses like a house of cards. He insisted that global war "is permanent, not stopping when the fighting stops but going on in a world-wide war of economic conflict, racial antagonism and nationalistic anarchy that insensibly treats this now unified world as though it were the old world of separate communities divided by vast distances."

No bonds—no bombs is a better slogan than No beer—no bonds.

On February 15th there were 2,024 Labor-management committees in the U.S.A., representing 4,166,000 workers.

There are 63,187 women employed on American railroads.

Chives, A Perennial, Is Good For Flavoring

Leaves of the chive plant are quite indispensable for flavoring or seasoning in soups, salads and stews. The plant is perennial and continues growth from early spring to late fall. The slender, tubular, dark green leaves can be cut at any time, and the oftener they are cut, the more vigorous seems to be the plant's growth.

The leaves have a delicate flavor and when chopped up, they are just enough to season a green salad. The flavor is not strong—a mild taste of onion. The leaves are hollow, about one-eighth inch in diameter and six to eight inches long.

The chive plant grows six to eight inches high making a dense mat with its narrow grass-like leaves. It blooms freely in a rose-purple, rounded flower which just tops the foliage. Plants may be used as a permanent edging.

Plants may be purchased and set out just as early as the first planting is made in the garden. Otherwise, seeds may be purchased and the plants started indoors. Every three or four years the clumps or tufts should be divided and replanted. For winter

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH NOTES

Both services next Sunday will be conducted by A. Leonard Griffith. Mr. Griffith will base his morning sermon on the book of Jonah, taking as the topic, "A Lesson in Patriotism." The evening sermon, "Passing the Burden," is to be based on three great familiar scripture texts which speak of the inevitable burden of mankind. After this Sunday, the church will be closed until August 1st.

The morning session of the Church School brings to a close a very successful year in the activities of the organization. A very special treat is in store for the boys and girls on this final Sunday. T. M. Barrington, Clerk of Session, a former superintendent of the school, will conduct the service and give an interesting talk on the life of St. Paul. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance at this service and at the opening service on September 12th.

Following the custom of previous years, the congregation is uniting with that of Westmount Park during the summer months. From June 27th to July 25th, inclusive, the services conducted by Rev. G. W. Goth will be held in Westmount Park Church. From August 1st to August 29th the services conducted by Mr. Griffith will be held in St. Andrew's. During these two months there will be morning worship only.

cial, with an excellent musical variety program will be given under the auspices of the Women's Association. Tickets may be secured from members of the W.A.

Christian Science

"Is the universe, including man, evolved by atomic force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, June 20th.

The Golden Text is from 1 Corinthians 8:6. "To us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power; for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created." (Revelation 4:11.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Creator, spirit; mind; intelligence; the animating divine Principle of all that is real and good; self-existent Life, Truth, and Love; that which is perfect and eternal; the opposite of matter and evil, which have no Principle; God, who made all that was made and could not create an atom or an element the opposite of Himself." (Page 583.)

VICTORY GARDEN CORNER

Small Garden Yields Big Returns in Beans

M-m-m—lots of limas! A big advantage of these and other beans as a food crop is that any surplus can be dried for winter use.

It's a good idea to muniton your Victory Garden with plenty of beans, especially if the garden is small.

According to the Department of Agriculture, snap and lima beans are excellent vegetable to grow for producing a large quantity of healthful food on a limited space.

Another virtue is the wide range of conditions under which beans will grow. And to top off the matter, surplus beans allowed to ripen and dry will make a substantial contribution to the family's food supply next winter.

Both types of beans score high from a nutrition standpoint. Both are sources of the important B vitamins, thiamine and riboflavin. In addition, snap beans supply vitamins A and C.

Beware of Frost
Even in the Agriculture Department's smallest Victory Garden plan—for a space 30 by 50 feet—4 of the 14 50-foot rows are allotted to beans—two rows for pole snap beans and two for pole limas. One-fourth pound of seed is enough for each type. The seed should be planted as soon as the danger of frost is past and the ground is fairly warm.

The Kentucky Wonder variety is recommended for pole snap beans. Strongly resistant to prevailing bean diseases, the Kentucky Wonder provides a bountiful yield of tender green beans for eating pod and all. The more mature pods will provide shelled beans, and, if allowed to ripen fully, dry beans to store for winter use.

The bush type of snap bean also is very popular, and some of the good early varieties are stringless green-pod, bountiful, pencil pod, black wax, brittle wax, tendergreen, Refugee.

So they will have a continuous supply throughout the summer, experienced gardeners usually plant snap beans at intervals of two or three weeks, often making as many as four plantings. If frost does not occur in your section until about the first of October, you can safely plant snap beans as late as the first week in August.

Don't plant lima beans until about a week after you have made the first planting of snap beans. They need a warmer soil to start well. The Carolina or Sieva variety, the butter bean of the South, can be relied on for good yields, and is recommended for Victory garden use.

Climbing lima beans adapt themselves readily and will often do as well on a porch trellis or division fence as on poles in a neat garden row. However, they are not likely to start well anywhere if planted in wet soil or covered too deeply. In light sandy soil, from one and a half to two inches is all right, but it should be less in heavier clay soils.

When the time comes to cultivate, try to get the job done when the plant leaves are not wet with dew or rain. Spreading the war has a tendency to spread disease.

There is a rather widespread belief that colored dry beans, as produced by garden snap vines, are inferior to white dry beans not only in flavor but also in nutritive value, and are therefore not worth saving. But the Department of Agriculture says this is not true, and all beans too old for immediate use should be allowed to ripen on the vine for winter eating. We must save every ounce of food this year.

A large number of residents have taken up the land ploughed by the City for Victory gardening.

All over Westmount—stakes—bearing the name of the owner of the plot can be seen—and green leaves are showing themselves above the earth and overalled forms—enthusiasm in every line—bead above the gardens daily and in groups during the week-end.

AT WESTMOUNT THEATRE

With one of the biggest radio personality parades in recent screen history, Columbia's "Reveille With Beverly" opens Sunday at the Westmount Theatre. Ann Miller, that scintillating dancing star, heads the featured cast of the new film, said to be one of the raciest radio romances ever caught on celluloid.

Others in the cast, in addition to William Wright, Dick Powell, Adele Mara and Barbara Brown, are:

Bob Crosby and his orchestra, the "Dixieland" band of the air waves; Freddie Slack and his orchestra with vocalist Ella Mae Morse, America's favorites of the "champagne hour"; Duke Ellington and his orchestra, voted "swing band of the year"; Count Basie and his orchestra, undisputed kings of jive; Frank Sinatra, radio's exciting romantic vocalist; the Mills Brothers, hottest of harmony teams, and the Radio Rogues, merriest of all mimics.

"Reveille With Beverly" is based upon the popular early-morning radio "jam session" of the same name, tracing its origin and its eager Army camp audiences. Miss Miller appears as a tap-dancing swing-lover who persistently tries to "sell" a radio station on such a program, only to obtain her chance by accident.

Musical numbers in the film include "One O'Clock Jump", as presented by Basie and his boys; "Big Noise from Winnetka" and "South Rampart Street Parade," Bob Crosby specialties; Duke Ellington's "Take the A Train," and Freddie Slack's presentation of "Cow-cow-boogie." The Mills Brothers harmonize on "Cielito Lindo," and Sinatra sings "Night and Day," one of the year's best-selling recordings.

Charles Barton directed "Reveille With Beverly," achieving what is said to be a splendid blending of music and mirth.

Irene Nichols'
Pupils Perform
In Fine Recital

The annual pianoforte recital of Irene Nichols, L.R.S.M. (London) took place last Saturday night.

The proceeds netted over a hundred dollars which will be sent to a squadron of R.C.A.F. for comforts for airmen on active service.

The Air Cadets of No. 1 Westmount Squadron were in attendance and the auditorium was suitably decorated for the occasion.

The opening number, the Soldiers March, was well received and played with excellent timing on two pianos by Charles Caswell and David Hogg.

Ann Rubenstein efficiently introduced the "Little Hours" who were in costume representing from early morning until the arrival of the sandman which was played extremely well by Robin Wilson. All these children played with confidence.

Alice Wilkins concluded this section of the programme with My Grandfather's Clock, which she played with excellent time and rhythm.

Patsy Delacourte and Margery Clarke gave a pleasing interpretation of a Two Piano arrangement of Star Dust.

The Happy Months delighted the audience with their novel costumes and the most effective was Mary Elizabeth Thompson representing an Xmas tree, the selection chosen for each month was most suitable and judging from the applause the favourites were Anne Malcolm, Audrey Wilkins, Iris Russell and Sandra Hutchison as the June bride.

A pleasant interlude was the introduction of the Tchaikovsky Fifth Symphony on two pianos by Esther Pierce and Sheila Russell.

The Passing Years was the climax of the programme. The characters were introduced by suitable songs.

The most successful numbers were School Days sung by Michael Gampeel and played by Berry Shine and Always in My Heart was sung by Barbara Chambers accompanied on the piano by Jean Narkitt.

The characters were all young

At York Theatre

Last night at the York United Theatre Paramount offered five top stars in a gay Technicolor musical comedy—"Happy Go Lucky"—which obviously delighted an appreciative audience.

The five stars are Mary Martin, Dick Powell, Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken and Rudy Vallee, all of them outdo themselves as they sing, dance and clown in this happy go lucky picture of life on a resort island in the Caribbean, where husband-hunting beauties and elusive millionaires play hide-and-seek with each other.

The story of "Happy Go Lucky" concerns the efforts of penniless Mary Martin to land millionaire Rudy Vallee, in which endeavor she is assisted by beachcombers Dick Powell and Eddie Bracken, and dynamic Betty Hutton. Of course, all the well-laid plans of ensnarement go by the boards when Mary and Powell fall in love, but the complications preceding the final fade-out are extremely funny and entertaining.

The accent of the film is on color, laughter and music, all of which are most welcome at any time, but especially today. There's a carefree vacation feeling about the picture which you're sure to find very invigorating. Its gaiety is infectious and we've a hunch you'll leave the York United Theatre as refreshed and relaxed as though you yourself had taken the Caribbean trip which proved so eventful for Mary Martin and Betty Hutton.

There are five hit tunes in the picture—"Happy Go Lucky," "Let's Get Lost," "Murder, He Says," "The Fuddy Duddy Would," and "Sing a Tropical Song," the latter rendered by Sir Lancelotti, the well-known Calypso singer.

At The Snowdon

In keeping with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's most successful policy of adapting best-selling novels to the screen, the widely read novel by Helen MacInnes, "Assignment in Brittany," starring Pierre Aumont and Susan Peters, opens Saturday at the Snowdon Theatre. The picture, handsomely mounted, is a stirring story of espionage, an amazing maze of intrigue and romance. It serves, too, to introduce to west-end audiences, Pierre Aumont, brilliant French actor, who while serving with the French Army won the Croix de Guerre before the Nazis overran the country he escaped from. In the film Aumont repeats for beginners and were in costumes of the nineteenth century. Sandra Hutchison represented childhood.

Heather Martin and Freddie Clarke represented youth. Patsy Smith, middle age. Old Age proved to be a duet sung and played by Mary Jean Morgan and Derek Dawson. Charles Caswell was outstanding in his masterly interpretation of Home Sweet Home.

STAR

A Centenary, Biography No. 33

Tuesday, June fifteen, marked the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Edvard Grieg, Norway's greatest composer. This famous musician was born at Bergen and had Scotch ancestry in his veins.

But there is not a trace of anything but the Norse spirit in all his works. Unlike most artistic celebrities, Grieg's struggles came from his poor health and naturally this had an effect on his music. The minor mode is a dominant trait due to these circumstances but there is a lightness and gaiety that permeates many of his compositions that remind one of the sparkling capriciousness of Mendelssohn's elfin-like music.

Grieg's background was one of great refinement and education for his parents had innate culture. His musical genius asserted itself at an early age but was not inherited from any particular ancestor although his mother gave him his first music. He was encouraged throughout his early years and did not undergo the unhappiness of most great people. His troubles were those of ill health. Grieg was a frail little man and even though he had this constant worry he was famous and honoured during his lifetime. He established himself as one of the great modernists of his time and travelled extensively in England and on the continent. Edvard Grieg died in Norway and the State gave him a formal burial and no less than ten thousand of the screen many of the wartime experiences he went through in real life. Opposite Aumont in "Assignment in Brittany" is the lovely, talented Susan Peters who became an overnight sensation in "Random Harvest" and other M.G.M. pictures. The film also serves to introduce Signe Hasso, the beautiful Swedish actress as a Nazi spy in Brittany. Richard Whorf who scored a definite success in "Keeper of The Flame" and Margaret Wycherly who also appeared in that picture, are to be seen in prominent roles in "Assignment," supported by Reginald Owen, Mike Mander, Sara Padden and George Colours.

The added attraction, "Tahiti Honey," is as sweet, musically and curvaceous as its name implies. Starring Simone Simon as a cute little South Sea Island temptress who shows a hand of stranded musicians how to hula—and put comp into their music—the picture is replete with catchy songs, delightful music and chuckles from start to finish. Dennis O'Keefe, Michael Whelan, Lionel Stander and Wally Vernon give the little French star fine support throughout the film's length. Short subjects and latest news events will complete the program.

his countrymen attended his funeral. Grieg's music might be placed in three categories, the larger works for orchestra, the solo instrumental numbers of which there are a great many and his celebrated Norwegian Folk-Music. Among his compositions are "Peer Gynt" Suites, Nos. 1 and 2, "Autumn Overture," Piano Concerto in A Minor, "Choral works," "Bergliot" and "Sigurd Jorsalfar" Suites, Norwegian Dances, Three violin sonatas, "Humoresken" and lyric pieces.

Beecham Program
Chosen By Public

Opening with the stirring Tannhauser Overture of Wagner the program of the People's Concert to be conducted by Sir Thomas Beecham at the Forum on Saturday encompasses the orchestral works which have been urgently requested by Montreal's music lovers. The Beethoven Fifth, or Victory Symphony was in the foreground of popular demand and the splendor with which Sir Thomas conducted this work makes it an attainment of the first magnitude in any of his concerts.

The Symphonie Espagnole of Lalo is perhaps a little less familiar to audiences than other of the program's selections. Kitain, the famous Russian violinist, is coming to Montreal for this one concert and will play it.

If memory serves this will be the first time Sir Thomas has conducted a Viennese Waltz in Montreal.

The Barcarolle from Tales of Hoffman by Offenbach and the lovely Overture to Midsummer Night's Dream by Mendelssohn were prominent among the requests which the Montreal Festivals received.

Saturday night's program will close with the playing of the 1812 Overture of Tchaikowsky.

WHERE TO GO VACATION WHAT TO DO

Eastern Townships Still Mecca for Holiday-Makers

"You can't stop vacationers from going to their favourite holiday places," say officials of the Tourist Bureau of the Province of Quebec. Before gasoline and tire shortages, the Eastern Townships were unsurpassed for popularity. This year, sightseers will go mainly by train. Fishermen, ranging from battle with Lake Memphremagog salmon, will find their way as they have done for many years past.

For vacationists who like to take their fishing mixed with a generous round of other holiday activities, sailing, golfing, swimming, and tennis, the Eastern Townships have much to offer, say tourist officials.

For those who like the unruffled life, and choose food from an elaborate menu, there are hotels in Magog, Sherbrooke and North Hatley, gathering places of many of Quebec's elite. And for others, sensitive to atmosphere, there are quiet hamlets tucked away in the bays of the bigger lakes.

The Eastern Townships boast many scenic lakes ideally located in the midst of rolling, fertile country. Lake Massawippi, Brome Lake, Lake Memphremagog are a few of this district's favorite fishing zones and they present exciting studies for landscape artists, and natural shots for camera fans.

So in spite of wartime restrictions the Eastern Townships are still Canada's colourful vacation-land.

BORED

Rebecca Venable

The train was lurching along monotonously through dull, flat country. In the observation car a little girl about four sat in the big chair beside her mother sighing and squirming restlessly. An arm reached out and quelled her activity as the woman went on with her reading. The child sighed again and sat back for a few minutes. Then she got up on her knees and looked out over the top of the chair at the uninteresting landscape. After this she climbed down and started along the aisle. The train curved and bumped her back against the chair.

"Sit down, Janet!" said her mother.

Janet sat. Then she said, "Mother! Let's go out there!" pointing to the open platform at the rear.

"There are too many cinders," explained the woman. "We should be covered with them. Now be a good girl and look out the window."

"But there isn't anything to see," complained the child.

"Then look at the pretty pictures in the magazine," suggested her mother handing her one without looking up.

"I don't like those pictures," objected the child, getting down again.

Her mother picked her up and sat her firmly in the chair. "Now I want you to sit there and be a good girl," she commanded. The child eyed her and reached a toe tentatively toward the floor.

"Janet!" A threat sounded in the maternal voice. Janet fretted a little but quailed before the irate eyes that held hers. The woman resumed her story.

"Mother, I want my scissors!" began the child a moment or two later.

"Your scissors are back in the other car and we're not going to walk through all those coaches to get them." Then in a whisper she added, "Do you want me to spank you?"

The child whimpered and wriggled. Presently she reached for her mother's handbag and emptied the contents out on her lap, in the chair and over the floor. The woman closed her magazine with a snap. "Listen!" she scolded into the small, rebellious ear. "Do you want me to put you off at the next station and leave you there? Well, will you be good?"

She picked up the scattered articles and put them back into her purse. "Now don't you move," she said. Then as the little girl started to stiffen and wail, she exclaimed, "Stop that!"

The woman in the chair opposite had been watching the scene. Suddenly she got up, crossed the narrow aisle and knelt on the footstool in front of the little, tearful one. She was gentle and sweet, dressed in soft wool as blue as her eyes. In a quiet voice she asked, "Did you ever hear about the cabbage worm that turned into a beautiful butterfly, Janet?"

Janet stopped stiffening and although she was wary, she shook her head and there was a spark of interest in her stormy eyes.

"Well," said the woman, "once upon a time there was a cabbage worm that wanted very much to be beautiful. . . . Janet listened. Then the woman got up, sat down in her own chair and lifted the child to her lap. Janet leaned back in the sympathetic arms, relaxed and happy. When the story was finished she was smiling with pleasure. "Do you know more stories?" she asked hopefully.

"I never tell her stories," said her mother. "I read to her sometimes, but I guess children like to hear stories told even better. You certainly have a way with children." She sighed.

"It isn't that," said the teller of tales. "Forgive me, but a story or anything that will turn a child's attention toward pleasant things, is usually better than a scolding when the little one is bored and nervous."

"I've certainly had a good object lesson!" thought Janet's mother. "Janet's crossness was much more my fault than hers. I was reading but there was nothing to entertain her. When she gets tense I get tense, too, and then we have trouble."

Aloud she said, "Thank you. It was marvelous the way Janet relaxed."

"I have a little girl of my own," explained the stranger. "Good-bye, Janet," and she went down the aisle and out of the car.

Ration Cards Necessary In Laurentian Hotels

At the annual meeting of the Laurentian Resorts Association held this week at Mont Tremblant, Clarence W. Honey was elected President of this resort body. The meeting was attended by leading hotel owners and operators throughout the Laurentian district. E. Cochand was elected first Vice-President, and C. B. Posthill, to the office of second vice-president. Honorary Presidents, the Hon. Hector Perrier, and Kenneth Dawes; Patron, Lionel Bertrand, M.L.A.

There were a number of matters discussed pertaining to the operation of Laurentian Resorts under present day wartime conditions. Many of the hotels have gone into the development of adjacent farms, growing their own produce, vegetables, and in some cases, milk and poultry. Some have erected new, scientifically planned rooming houses, fashioned after the latest Government specifications, and which will store a large part of their crop of potatoes, carrots, and other vegetables, in order to insure a fresh supply throughout the coming year.

Ration cards, it is stated, will be required from guests who remain at these hotels for a week or longer this season. Most of the hotels, it is pointed out, operate on an American plan basis, which includes meals with the resultant necessity of needing ration books now from guests intending to spend their vacations at one or other of these resorts.

Some 40 per cent of guests recently arrived at Laurentian hotels it is estimated are men in one of the active services. Many have seen action in distant parts of the world, and are taking a brief furlough before going back on the job again. There has also been a marked increase in the number of honeymooners evident in recent months.

Prospective vacationers are urged to make their plans, if at all possible, to begin their holidays on a week day, such as Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday, rather than on the usual week-end basis. This, it is pointed out, will relieve the pressure greatly on hotel accommodations, which normally overlap on Saturdays and Sundays, and at the same time relieve to a great extent the heavy pressure on transportation facilities now felt over week ends. "Holidaying for health" will be stressed in advertising this year by the Laurentian Resorts Association, pointing out that physical fitness plays an ever-increasing part in the forthcoming Victory, whether it be on the home front, or in the Armed Services.

DODGERS LEAD AGAIN IN SENIOR SOFTBALL LOOP; NAVY DEFEATED

RCOC From Longue Pointe Beat (MT) Garage, First Loss of Season for Latter Team — No. 5 Manning Depot Won Third Straight Game Monday

The Westmount Dodgers jumped back into the lead in the Westmount Municipal Senior Softball League when they defeated the Navy 3-1 on Monday night, this victory combined with the R.C.O.C. team from Longue Pointe's win over the R.C.A.S.C. (M.T.) Garage placed the local team a half game ahead of the Garagemen. The R.C.A.S.C.'s loss to the R.C.O.C. was their first of the season.

In other games played during the week the No. 5 Manning Depot won their third straight game, the Wireless School split in two encounters and the No. 13 Training Command resumed their winning ways.

Allen Dyke pitched two hit balls to lead the Dodgers to a 3-1 win over the Navy and he had to come through with this superb effort as Raso on the mound for the sailors allowed but four hits.

All four runs in the game were unearned with the Navy tallying their lone corner in the first frame when Melisac reached first on an error and scored on Ronnie Perowne's double. The Dodgers scored their three counters in the fifth inning when the Navy team came through with two errors and these together with Noel Romney's two bagger did the trick. This was the Dodgers' seventh win in eight games.

George Scully turned in one of his good games when he shut out the No. 12 Wireless School 6-0 to enable the No. 3 Training Command team to take over fourth place in the league standing. Scully held the Wireless team to four hits in the seven innings and struck out twelve men. Warren Butler led the winners at bat with three hits in as many times at the plate.

LT. Bath's R.C.O.C. team from Longue Pointe slugged their way to a 14-12 win over the hitherto undefeated R.C.A.S.C. (M.T.) Garage team on Monday night. This marked the first loss to the garagemen in seven games and they did not give up without a real battle. The winners knocked Art Potter, the garagemen's ace hurler, out of the box in the fourth inning with a four run burst and counted five more in the fifth frame to take a 14-2 lead. The garagemen showed their mettle in the last two frames when they came back to score ten times and only a smart double play executed by the R.C.O.C. infield took the game out of the fire. Alfie Jewett of the R.C.A.S.C. who is leading the league at bat banged out his third home-run of the season.

The No. 5 Manning Depot from Lachine are battling desperately to get back into the playoff contention. The boys from Lachine dropped their first four games of the season, all by close scores, but have come back to take the next three in a row. The No. 5 Depot won their third game when they outscored the No. 4 Ordinance 16-4. Bancroft, McReavy, MacIntosh and Matson led the winners at bat with three hits apiece while Brayton of the losers hit the only home-run of the game.

The R.C.A.S.C. (M.T.) Garage team won their sixth game of the season when they came from behind to defeat the Provost Corps 10-7 last Thursday night. A home-run by Pat Oss in the sixth inning was the deciding factor of the game. Maher, Gordon and Rochon were the best for the losers with three hits each.

one of Rochon's being a home-run.

The No. 1 Wireless School got back into a tie for the third place rung in the league standing when Al Zak turned in a no-hit, no-run game for them against the No. 4 Ordinance Corps on Monday night. The winners banged out sixteen hits off Layole to win out 15-0. Only two of the Ordinance players reached first base, one on a walk and the other on an error, but neither of them scored. Zak struck out nine men in his sparkling performance. Group Captain Webber, Commanding Officer at the Wireless School, played the entire seven innings for the winners and batted out two hits in four times at bat.

Alfie Jewett of the R.C.A.S.C. (M.T.) is leading the league at bat according to the averages issued this week by the league with Kevin Kennedy of the Dodgers next in line. The following are the ten leading batters in the league: Jewett (R.C.A.S.C.) .560; Kevin Kennedy (Dod.) .533; Romeo Maher (Prov. C.) .533; Doug. Maher (Dod.) .478; Pat Oss (R.C.A.S.C.) .478; Syvie Munday (Dod.) .454; Dunlop (No. 4) .444; Allen Dyke (Dod.) .421; Mel Snyder (No. 3) .421; Rochon (Prov. C.) .400.

Jewett and Kennedy have made the most hits, 14; Jewett has scored the most runs, 12; Bradley of No. 12 made the most doubles, 4; Jewett has made the most triples, 3, and Doug Maher of Dodgers the most home-runs, 4.

Four league games are on tap for to-night, at Westmount Park the R.C.O.C. play No. 3 Training Command, No. 5 Manning Depot meet the R.C.A.S.C. (M.T.), and the Navy play the No. 12 Equipment Depot. Over at the Westmount Barracks the Wireless School hook up with the Provost Corps.

On Monday night the Equipment Depot play the No. 4 Ordinance, R.C.A.S.C. meet the No. 3 T. Command and No. 5 Manning Depot play the Wireless School. Three more games are set for Wednesday with the Provost Corps playing the Dodgers, Wireless School meeting the R.C.A.S.C. and the R.C.O.C. playing the Navy.

STANLEY CUP BEFORE

Sports given little prominence in the news but nevertheless among the most popular in Canada are hunting and fishing. When the Thunder Bay Fish and Game Protective Association held its annual dinner at Port Arthur, the attendance was 265. The overflow of sixty were served elsewhere. Before Detroit Red Wings won the Stanley Cup, Owner Jim Norris told them: "I'd rather win the Stanley Cup than have my name go down on the records as the winner of four Kentucky derbies or get my name three times on the Sir Thomas Lipton Cup (yacht racing). I'll throw $6,000 in the pot for players to divide if you win." And they did and he did.

Johnny Acheson, a pilot officer, is another member of the senior hockey champions from Ottawa who has shifted to new territory. Acheson is playing with the R.C.A.F. team in the Halifax City League and according to Bobby Bauer, former winger on the Boston Kraut line, "He's playing better hockey than I ever saw him play." Bauer, also with the Halifax R.C.A.F. team, was Acheson's team-mate on the Allan Cup Flyers last season.

Girls' Softball Begins Tuesday

The opening games in the ladies section of the Westmount Municipal Softball League scheduled for last Tuesday night were rained out but another double-header is slated for this Tuesday with the C.W.A.C. No. 11 Company playing the Wireless School (W.D.) on diamond No. 1 and the C.W.A.C. No. 33 Company meeting the Westmount team on diamond No. 2.

Last Tuesday's games which were rained out will be played at a later date.

RINKEYDINKS AND CARDINALS TIE IN PLAYOFFS

Lord's and Choyce's Teams Hold One Game Lead in Pee Wee Loop

Richard Lord's Rinkeydinks and Johnnie Choyce's Cardinals hold a one game lead in the semi-final playoff series of the pee wee section in the Westmount Municipal Softball League. The Rinkeydinks defeated the Y.M.C.A. team 2-1 to take a one game lead in their two out of three game series in the A group of the section while the Cardinals outscored the Tornadoes 25-14 to perform a like feat in B group.

Both troup of the section ended up on Saturday morning when six games were played. The Y.M.C.A. and Argos ended up tied for first place and in the sudden death game (o. dead) the first place team, the Argos won one of the best played games of the season by a 4-1 score. The Rinkeydinks captured third place and a playoff berth when they eked out an 11-10 win over the last place Panthers, the winners scored their winning run in the last inning.

The Rinkeydinks then went on to win the first game of their three game series with the second place Y.M.C.A. team. Malcolm Turner starred in the Rinkeydinks win as he banged out four hits. The winner of this series will meet the Argos to decide the championship of the A group.

Upsets featured the final league games in the B group of the section which were played on Saturday morning. Phil Martin's Red Wings won their first game of the season when they defeated the Cardinals 11-10 and the Tornadoes upset the league leading Panthers 12-9 for their only loss of the season. In the final twin bill the Panthers beat the Cardinals 7-4 and the Tornadoes made sure of third place in the group standing when they defeated the Red Wings 23-19.

Harry Mitchell Veteran Cricketer Honored By Club

Completed Fifty Years Of Active Cricket at Last Saturday's Match

Verdun were the visitors to the park on Saturday last and were dismissed for 85 runs to which Westmount replied with 87 for the loss of no wickets.

Clutsum and Worm were the only players on the Verdun side to reach double figures, the former having been missed when he had scored single.

The veteran Harry Mitchell playing in this match completed fifty years of active cricket and between the innings, a presentation was made to him by the Secretary of the Westmount club on behalf of the members.

His bowling analysis of seven wickets for 34 runs is a proof that he has lost none of his old skill. On June 19th the first round of the Davidson Cup takes place with Westmount playing the West Indians on Westmount Park.

We Can't Have Idlers

The best way to insure against unemployment is to have no unemployment. There is another point: unemployables, rich or poor, will have to be toned up. We cannot afford to have idle people. Idlers at the top make idlers at the bottom. No one must stand aside in his working prime to pursue a life of selfish pleasure.—Winston Churchill.

WAY A-HEAD

Ed Head, former hurler for the Royals, has been the mainstay of the Brooklyn Dodgers' twirling staff in their battle with St. Louis for first place of the National League.

Putting Tournament To Be Held At 8 Tonight

The first putting tournament of the season will be held this evening on the adult course at King George Park. F. W. Denegate who was in charge of the tournaments last season has kindly consented to act in the same capacity this season and players intending to enter in the event are asked to contact him on the greens tonight.

Tonight's event will be a thirty-six hole affair and it will get underway around eight o'clock.

Believers, spiritually united to their ever-living Head, Pentecost has been described as the Birthday of the Christian Church. If by this we mean a Union of believers welded together into a creative fellowship, then it is abundantly true, for under the impulse of this spiritual baptism they became as one, having all things common, sharing life and service in richest, fullest measure, and sharing fellowship not alone with a Jesus who had lived in Palestine and who died on a cross near Jerusalem, but with an ever-living Victorious Christ; a comrade along life's way and a helper in every conceivable circumstance. They could say and did say—

"Warm, sweet, tender even yet

A present help is He,
And faith hath still its Olivet
And love its Galilee."

"The Church through all the ages has kept the light of the torch kindled in that Pentecostal room, aglow in her heart. In her greatest moments her heart throbs to the beat of every member's heart and all hearts beat in unison with the loving heart of Jesus. For the Church is His Body, the outward and visible agency of His Spirit at work in the world.

Spiritual Commissions Given

"But Pentecost meant even more than the creation of a fellowship of believers. It was the commissioning of spiritually equipped men and women to the high task of witnessing for Jesus Christ in the far-flung world of mankind. 'Ye shall be my witnesses in Jerusalem; in Judea; in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.'

"This was the solemn, challenging charge laid upon them by Jesus before His ascension. Now had come the fulfillment, in their experience, of the terms and conditions by which they were to fulfill the glorious mission.

"We know how, under the impact and influence of that Holy Spirit, these men and women courageously and loyally fulfilled the task committed unto them. They went everywhere, preaching the word, bearing witness to the grace and power of their Lord and Master. It was said of them 'They turned the world upside down.' A new spirit of service found expression in the life of mankind, for the weak were strengthened, the suffering were relieved and the Gospel was preached to all mankind. A new spirit of comradeship soon made itself felt, over-reaching social and racial boundaries. A new courage was exhibited in devotion and loyalty to Jesus Christ and the church, even in the face of persecution, suffering and death. And above all else, an unquenchable faith in the Eternal Lordship of Jesus Christ and in the coming of His Kingdom, shone radiantly in and through the lives of men who joined the fellowship of believers and yielded themselves to this spiritual power.

"For us today, this glorious

Lunny's Team Lose in Bantam Baseball But Share First Place

Johnnie Waterson's Falcons upset the dope in the Westmount Municipal Bantam Baseball League when they defeated the Bob Lunny's Bombers 8-7 in a league game played at Atwater Park last Thursday afternoon.

The Falcons scored five runs in the last inning to overcome a 7-3 lead that the Bombers had taken in the second frame. This marked the first loss for the Bombers and sent the Falcons into a first place tie with them, each having won two games and lost one.

Earle MacDonald's wildness was the main factor in the Bombers' defeat as the slim hurler walked four men in the last inning all of whom scored. The final and winning run crossed the plate when Griff Marshall went in to pinch-hit for Dennis Skinner and came through with an infield single that scored Harold Young from third base.

While both MacDonald of the Bombers and Harold Young of the Falcons, on the mound for their respective teams, allowed but four hits apiece they were free wit their walks and issued seven to each team.

In the other game played during the week, the Bombers defeated the Roslyn team 12-4 behind the one hit pitching of Earle MacDonald. Richard Gaunt banged out the lone Roslyn hit in the third inning.

Mickey Bourassa of the Bombers hit the only home-run of the game when he "connected with

Physical Fitness Through Exercise And Diet

This is another in a series of health articles by P. M. McFarlane, Physical Director at the Westmount Y.M.C.A.

The effect of sunlight has long been known to be good, but it is only comparatively recently that its important chemical effects have been understood. The ultraviolet rays in sunlight act upon a substance in the skin (ergosterol) in much the same way that they act upon the sensitive plate in a camera, producing chemical changes in it. In the skin, the chemical result is the production of Vitamin D, which is stored in the skin and distributed by the blood through the body, to aid in cellular nutrition. In many ways the health of those who are duly exposed to sunlight is improved. Ultraviolet rays tend to increase the number of red cells to normal, improve the tone of all muscle fibres, including the involuntary ones in the heart and organs; regulate the mineral deposits in bones and teeth; increase resistance to skin infections, etc.

In order to reach the body, rays must strike upon the skin either directly or through little clothing, which means that the body is better irradiated in summer than in winter. However, Vitamin D created in the skin from spring to fall may be stored in sufficient quantities to last through the winter, with the aid of that produced in winter through exposure of the face and that obtained through the diet. An additional supply from fish liver oil, Vitamin D extract, or lamps that produce ultraviolet rays, may be necessary in the case of those who have not stored sufficient Vitamin D during the summer months.

Aside from promoting general health in various ways, ultraviolet rays are often definitely curative of certain maladies (e.g. bone tuberculosis). They are very potent rays, and on that account too great exposure to them by those who are ill should not be undertaken without medical advice. (Although this is true of natural sunlight, it is particularly true of artificial rays from sun-lamps.)

Some of the "sun-lamps" on the market are fakes in that they produce no ultraviolet rays, but produce rays of dangerous strength, which should be administered only by an expert. (Twelve Hours of Hygiene by F. L. Meredith, B.Sc., M.D.)

one of Gaunt's slants in the third. Some of the remaining league games will be played in the mornings and doubleheaders will be staged in the afternoons in an effort to finish off the schedule within the next week or so. No playoffs will be staged but in the event of two teams ending up tied for first place they will meet in a sudden death game to decide the championship.

Your Income Tax....

MINISTER OF NATIONAL REVENUE CANADA

FELLOW CANADIAN

I would like to remind the two million taxpayers of Canada of their obligation to file a 1942 Income Tax Return before the 30th of June.

This year, the forms have been simplified so that they can be completed with a minimum of time and effort.

The Income Tax dollars that Canadians pay are necessary in our present struggle. They are an investment in our future peace and security. They are fighting dollars....Victory dollars.

Income Tax is fair to all, as each person is taxed in accordance with his ability to pay.

There is no easy way to win a war. Almost half the costs of this war must be paid by taxes. I know that the Income Tax is not a pleasant burden, but I also know that to win the war, Canadians are willing to fulfil their obligations....to pay the price and to shoulder their responsibilities with the same unbeatable spirit as shown by those who have gone from our shores to fight.

Herbs For The Hobby-minded

I know this isn't the time to be talking about hobbies, when everyone's time is divided between war plants, victory gardens and sleep, but post-war reconstruction plans will have a great deal to say on the subject and it is not very often we find someone who has a hobby that is so unusual.

Mrs. "Beauchamp" (we shall call her), whose hobby I am going to tell you about, makes a study of herbs. Probably you think about them as I did—in a vague sort of way, they are used in old-fashioned candy for colds, little old women sell lavender in tiny paper envelopes and various herbs can be used for flavoring. But, did you know that herbs make an interesting year-round hobby—from cultivating them in the garden to turning them into various uses in the home?

This lady, like our great-grandmothers, finds great delight in her herb garden and uses herbs, fragrant, tasty and soothing, for everything from scenting household linens to curing various aches and pains.

At the end of a typical English garden walk, fragrantly scented by the lavender border, there is a rose garden, from which she gathers large quantities of rose petals, each year, to add to her dried herbs for a potpourri. Her "sweet jar" is a large pottery one, which is placed under a window, where the slightest breeze will waft the perfume through the whole room.

Everyone knows the flavor value of chives or sweet basil in salad, sage in meat stuffing and mint in sauce, but Mrs. "Beauchamp" uses the secret of the French salad makers for perfection—that of adding young nasturtium leaves with tender buds and blossoms to a salad; the Frenchman's "fines herbes" for stuffing—a mixture of fresh chives, thyme, marjoram and parsley; and adds finely cut fresh dill to stews and gravies.

Herb teas were used in the days of our forefathers for refreshment and relaxation. Mrs. "Beauchamp" has found that piping hot chamomile tea soothes the nerves and points out that many New York beauty shops now serve this old-fashioned beverage during one of their treatments for this reason.

A guest of Mrs. "Beauchamp" finds warmth in the "Guest-you-are-welcome-here" embroidery on the wall of the "spare" room; the little muslin bags of dried lavender, lemon verbena or rose-geranium tucked under the pillows and the pomander balls hung by blue ribbons in the clothes closet. (These balls are a winter pastime and are made by sticking apples or oranges so full of whole cloves that the fruit doesn't show.) She'll find a cooling face wash ready for her, made of sweet basil and burnt leaves steeped in boiling water and when she descends for dinner she'll have many delightful culinary surprises, because, Mrs. "Beauchamp" is an ardent cook.

On a square of homespun or linen, which she has dyed a rich, clear hue by boiling with an herb, or a combination of herbs, Mrs. "Beauchamp" will serve a tasty meal. There will be either tomato juice cocktail with finely chopped tarragon, basil and chives, or sorrel soup. Fresh salmon, steamed in cheesecloth, may be served with a sauce of some illusive flavor and green peas cooked with mint. The bread, most likely, will be home-made, with sesame, which has a peculiar nutty flavor. The finishing touch will be a pudding with a "pretty" sauce—which is Mrs. "Beauchamp's" specialty—made with marigold petals. After dinner, there will be a small glass of elderberry wine to sip.

All during the summer, fragrant bunches of drying herbs hang from the beamed ceilings in Mrs. "Beauchamp's" charming little house, and, during jelly-making time, her choicest rose geranium leaves are placed in the bottom of the sterilized glasses and the hot liquids poured over them.

The study of herbs is a fascinating one. The ancients believed that the plants were endowed with the powers of the gods and had magical properties, but it took the moderns to find that they give health, good appetite and pleasure.

Ascension Parish Sodality Holds Sixth Annual Meeting

The Sixth Annual Report of Ascension Parish Sodality, read by the Recording Secretary, Miss Beatrice Berini, at the annual meeting of the Sodality, indicated that the Sodality has enlarged its activities and has had a most active and satisfying year. Special mention was made of the members of the executive for the way in which they carried out their duties.

The particular aim of the members of Our Lady's committee, under the chairmanship of Miss Sheila Tremblay was to get sodalists to wear their sodality medals at all meetings. Special feasts of Our Lady were also brought to the attention of the sodalists and the members of this committee organized a pilgrimage to Bonsecours Church and assisted in the details for World Sodality Day. The reception in December and May were also looked after by this group. A musical entertainment was given at the January meeting of the sodality. A special project was the collecting of Rosaries to send overseas.

Pamphlets were sold at general meetings by members of the Catholic Truth Committee, under the chairmanship of Miss Loretta Slattery. Families in the West were supplied with Catholic literature and Catholic books and magazines were collected for the Armed Forces. A most interesting and instructive talk was given by Miss Stella McCarthy at the March general meeting on "Catholic Authors and Books." A study club met semi-monthly during the year.

The charitable activities of the Sodality were well looked after by the members of the Apostolic committee under the chairmanship of Miss Jean Gillies. Fifteen Christmas baskets were filled with clothing, knitted articles and food and distributed to needy families. Entertainment was provided at the Little Sisters of the Poor, the Convalescent Home and St. Patrick's Orphanage. Some of the members of this committee visited the Convalescent Home every Sunday and distributed cigarettes, tobacco and newspapers to some of the patients.

This committee has sent 8,000 cigarettes overseas and during the summer will send 3,000 more. A team was organized to assist in the Catholic Federated Charities' Drive and the collecting of stamps, clothes for the Poor, the clothing of First Communicants, as well as writing to the boys and girls in the Parish who are on

ONE OF OUR READERS TELLS HOW TO TREAT A CAN OF PUMPKIN

A woman office worker, who had "housekeeping privileges" including the use of the refrigerator, sends us this recipe for using a tin of preserved pumpkin, which, she found, was too large for quick consumption by one person, and rather tasteless into the bargain.

The whole thing is put into a large bowl, from which a small quantity is taken daily and treated as follows:

First Day: Mix a small quantity with shreds and maple syrup.

Second Day: Add maple syrup, powdered ginger and cream.

Third Day: Add maple syrup, powdered ginger with soda crackers crumbled in.

Fourth Day: Add orange juice, maple syrup and small pieces of apple.

Fifth Day: Add Brazilian banana powder and cream.

Sixth Day: Add rhubarb and maple syrup.

Seventh Day: Add pineapple jam, cream and crumbled graham biscuits.

active service, were also projects of this committee.

An enjoyable time was had at the Halloween social, organized by members of the Social Life Committee under the chairmanship of Miss Gerry Brown. An entertainment after the December reception was provided by this committee, as well as looking after refreshments for same. A bridge was held in February and an "Old Sodality Night" was held recently. Bowling was organized under the direction of Frances Browne and Pat Barrett and a tilt between St. Malachy's Sodality and Ascension was held as a wind-up to the season. The members of this committee are looking after arrangements and tickets for the annual mother and daughter breakfast to be held on Sunday, June 20, at the Queen's Hotel.

Tribute was paid to the memory of Veronica Lunny, publicity chairman, who was accidentally killed in December. She was a conscientious and generous worker and her loss has been deeply felt by all. Irene Cach was appointed publicity chairman for the remainder of the year and the members of this committee prepared a New sheet for each general meeting, and looked after the sending of notices to various local newspapers in connection with meetings and entertainments.

The Mistress of Candidates, Mary Macintyre, conducted classes for candidates in October and May and thirty-two new members were received. Red Cross Work also proceeded under the direction of Miss Macintyre and a substantial number of articles was completed.

A donation of $5 was made to the Catholic Federated Charities and sodalists also assisted the C.W.L. in their recent drawing. The Sodality is organizing a team, under Miss Mary Wickham, to assist in the coming St. Mary's Hospital Drive.

Election of officers was held under the chairmanship of the nominating chairman, Miss Pat Barrett. The following sodalists were elected to office: Prefect, Mary Macintyre; vice-prefect, Beatrice Berini; recording secretary, Mary Wickham; corresponding secretary, Madeline Ryan; treasurer, Jean Gillies.

The retiring prefect, Miss Carroll McDonald, thanked the sodalists for the co-operation and support they had given her and voiced a special vote of thanks to the Director of the Sodality, Father George Thoms, for his tireless and unending work in support of the Sodality.

Father Thoms spoke of the Summer School of Catholic Action to be held at Loyola College from June 28 to July 3. It was moved by the sodalists that the Sodality pay the tuition of two members to represent it at the Summer School.

The Sodality season will reopen on Monday, September 20. Home-made onion soup takes the place of canned, and saves points. To prepare it: Sauté a cup of onion slices in a bit of fat until brown, then add a mixture of three cups of water and three chicken bouillon cubes. Simmer for about ten minutes. Season to taste and top with a slice of bread sprinkled with grated cheese—parmesan, if you can get it. Serves three to four.

Thankful and Still Thinking Of Others

For Canadian readers tempted to bemoan rationing or shortages of this and that, here's a "thumbs up" note from a reader in Leicester, England:

"More than one month it has been a case of half-rations in eggs," she says, "which means one egg for two of us instead of a monthly egg for each. We find the way to make that egg go as far as possible is to scramble it with potato and spread it on bread and 'marge'."

"We have got quite into the way of cooking more potatoes than we need for the midday meal so there are some left over to make a supper dish. We have had potato scones, cheese pudding, and if there is any jam to be spared, a sweet pudding can be made. Applesauce made with as much potato as apple is very good and has helped to lengthen the

WEEKLY TIPS FOR MEAT RATIONING

Canadian women are no longer novices at meat rationing. It is amazing how quickly the adjustment is made to thinking in terms of coupons and coupon values, and by now most women have realized that the prospect of meat rationing seemed much worse than the reality when it came.

One good thing that meat time we had apples. Potato can be usefully added to any stewed or bottled fruit.

"If we feel a shortage of anything here we cannot grumble—we are so sorry for the poor people in Europe who would be so glad if they could have what we have. We must all help them when we can."

rationing will do is to help introduce variety into meals. New recipes, designed to make the most of a small amount of meat, are not only coupon-thrifty, they would stand on their own merits as welcome additions to menus at any time.

This Meat and Potato Casserole from the testing kitchens of the Consumer Section of the Department of Agriculture is an example. Here is a meat dish that serves 6 and only requires one coupon. Dishes of this sort, served two or three days a week, will leave enough coupons for a man-sized roast for the week-end.
