

33 killed, 24 are injured in West Germany iron mine blast, fire

Disaster worst in five years

SALTZGITTER, Germany — (AP) — Rescue workers finished their sad task today and reported 33 iron miners died in the flames and choking fumes of West Germany's worst mine disaster in five years.

Another 24 miners were taken to hospital after the fire Tuesday 1,180 feet down in the shaft of a government-operated mine here. About 150 workers escaped when the fire broke out.

Investigation of the fire still was under way today. But unofficial reports said a faulty electric cable set fire to an oil storage tank in the power station in the shaft.

The disaster was the worst in a West German mine since 42 persons were killed in an explosion in August, 1955 in the Ruhr.

Thief's loot just gibberish

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A surprise awaits the thief who stole $168 worth of phonograph records from a car Monday night.

All of the recordings are in Arabic.

Dramatic rescue pulled off

BROWNFIELD, Tex. (AP) — As thousands watched in horror, a critically injured man clung to a window high in a burning grain elevator Tuesday and begged:

"Help me! Help me! I'm burning to death!"

After two hours of desperate maneuvering, a helicopter finally dropped a ladder and a former steeplejack descended to save Philip Reeves.

The drama followed two thundering explosions which ripped a giant grain storage elevator and sent flames raging for hours through the 180-foot high structure.

Three men died and another was missing and presumed dead. Five others were injured.

One of the victims, his clothes flaming, leaped 50 feet from near the top of the elevator to a landing in an attempt to avoid burning to death. He died a short time after arriving at hospital.

Damage to the structure was estimated at between $750,000 and $1,000,000 by Harvey Boles, division manager for the owners, Grady Goodpasture Elevator Company.

Firemen blamed exploding grain dust for the disaster.

First tenders in 16 years

QUEBEC (CP)—Roads Minister Bernard Pinard Tuesday might open public tenders called by his department last week for asphalt paving on the south approach to the Quebec bridge.

It was the first time in 16 years that public tenders were called by the provincial government for public works.

The Union Nationale party did not call public tenders for public works. It was in power from 1944 until defeated by the Liberal party in the June 22 provincial election.

New depths reached

Commons said weak

LONDON (CP)—The Times of London has taken a close look at the operation of the Canadian House of Commons and concluded there is room for much improvement.

"By and large," says the independent newspaper's Ottawa correspondent, "the standard of debate in the Commons in recent years has been woefully weak, and in this current session has reached new depths."

"One rarely catches a glimmer of brilliance in any of the speeches from either side of the House and back benchers are given little opportunity to do anything but shout support of their respective leaders."

34 Belgians die in crash

Army plane hits peak of volcano

BRUSSELS — (AP) — A Belgian Air Force transport plane crashed in the Congo today, killing 34 Belgian soldiers and seriously injuring seven, the government announced.

The plane, a C-119 flying boxcar, hit a volcanic peak near Goma, north of Lake Kivu.

The crash scene is in the eastern Congo, scene of violence against whites early in the uprising of Negro soldiers of the Congo army.

Belgian military sources said the soldiers were members of an airfield defence company. They had left Belgium Sunday night for the Congo. The detachment was specially trained for the protection of airfields and similar military installations.

All men on board the Belgian Air Force Flying Boxcar were Belgians.

Rockefeller Aiming For Stampede

CHICAGO (AP) — Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller's strategists aimed a high-powered campaign today at the nearly impregnable wall Vice-President Richard M. Nixon has built around the Republican presidential nomination.

The objective of the move appeared to be an attempted convention stampede such as supporters of Adlai E. Stevenson tried to engineer at the Los Angeles Democratic meeting. Its chance for success seemed little greater than the abortive Stevenson push.

Leonard W. Hall, Nixon's campaign manager, said that 1,100 of 1,331 delegates votes stand publicly committed to Nixon in one way or another. Only 666 are needed for nomination at the convention which opens Monday.

In New York, The Post spoke out today for the nomination of Governor Rockefeller.

U.S. Navy destroyers

Ship collision kills eleven

LONG BEACH, Calif. (CP)—

Two U.S. Navy destroyers, one of them a wartime victim of a Japanese suicide plane attack, collided in heavy fog eight miles at sea Tuesday morning. Eleven men died in the superstructure of the Second World War destroyer Ammen, which was on her way to the scrap heap. At least 20 other sailors were hurt.

Neither the Ammen nor the Collett, a newer destroyer, sank. The Ammen, heading for San Diego, 75 miles south, had just unloaded her explosives at nearby Seal Beach — or both ships could have been blown out of the water.

The destroyers are 376 feet long and of some 2,000 tons displacement.

Their normal complement is 15 officers and 200 men.

The Collett left her bow anchor embedded in the Ammen's twisted superstructure — and in return carried off a crushed Ammen seaman in the fang-like wreckage of her bow.

"SHIP DEAD AHEAD" When bow lookout Patrick Meeiros of Honolulu yelled "ship dead ahead!" into his microphone, the Collett's skipper, Cmdr. A. T. Ford of St. Petersburg, Fla., shouted from the bridge: "All engines back full. Right full rudder."

But it was too late. The Collett, apparently in a turn, struck the Ammen's port side below the waterline just astern of amidships, then slid up and smashed into the superstructure. All the dead were aboard the Ammen.

Piglet in a poke causes car wreck in escape try

WEINER, Ark. (AP) — A little pig which apparently didn't want to go home with Mrs. Mary Morris had its way.

In the process, Mrs. Morris' auto was wrecked and she was taken to hospital with minor injuries.

After buying the four-week-old piglet Tuesday, Mrs. Morris put it in a burlap sack and stowed the squirming cargo on the front seat of the car. On the way home, the sack flipped onto her foot, the car accelerated and ran off the highway into a tree. A state trooper found the sack, but the piglet was gone.

'Devil or anybody else' to oust Belgian troops, says premier LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo — Reuters — The Congolese cabinet voted today to ask for Soviet intervention in this strife-torn nation and Premier Patrice Lumumba said he would seek help from "the devil or anybody else" to get Belgian troops out of the Congo immediately.

The surprise cabinet decision to "make an immediate appeal" to the Soviet Union or any other countries of the Afro-Asian bloc to send troops here came after the threat of Communist intervention appeared to have eased Tuesday night.

Lumumba had said he would ask for Soviet help if Belgian troops were not out of the country by midnight Tuesday night. The deadline, however, passed without any action and sources close to the premier told reporters: "The question of an ultimatum no longer arises."

Lumumba told a press conference today that he was again preparing to ask for Russian intervention.

He said he is waiting for the results of today's meeting of the United Nations Security Council on the Congo "before taking action." He said the Congo is not concerned with world power blocs but only with getting rid of Belgian soldiers.

Belgian troops were moving out of Leopoldville as Lumumba made his new threat. UN and Belgian officials worked out a plan Tuesday to complete the withdrawal of all Belgian troops from the Leopoldville area by Saturday.

Today's cabinet decision said the requested troops from Russia or other Afro-Asian countries would have the task of:

1. Making Belgian troops withdraw peacefully.
2. Contributing to the maintenance of order in the Congo in conformity with the decisions of the government of the republic.
3. Preventing all external aggression.

BULLETIN

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo — Reuters — Katanga Province Premier Moise Tshombe said today that if United Nations troops are sent to Katanga "they will be opposed if necessary by force."

These troops would withdraw from the Congo as soon as Belgian troops had left and order had been established, the cabinet said.

Lumumba praised the efforts of Ralph Bunche, assistant secretary-general of the United Nations, to restore order in the Congo but accused Belgium of sabotaging them.

Lumumba again threatened in a nation-wide broadcast Tuesday night that he would have to call in aid from "other nations" if the UN was unable to prevent continued "Belgian aggression."

RUSSIA NOT NAMED

But he did not name Russia and did not give a new date for Belgian withdrawal.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev's warning last week that Russia would consider "decisive measures" if "Western aggression" in the Congo continued had touched off fears of a new East-West conflict.

Russia fanned the dispute again Tuesday with a protest to the United States against the presence of 20 American servicemen in Leopoldville. The protest, handed over in Moscow, demanded the withdrawal of the Americans.

Police fire tear gas

Racial trouble erupts in Southern Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia — Reuters — Police fired tear gas at demonstrating Negroes here today as an African campaign against the arrest of their leaders gathered momentum.

Police said they fired the tear gas to disperse a crowd stoning automobiles driven by whites on suburban roads. Cars were escorted by police jeeps when the stoning started.

A heavy force of police earlier blocked 3,000 marching Negroes on their way to protest the arrest of three of their political leaders here Tuesday.

But the Negroes switched tactics by going on strike and court-ordered arrest in a passive resistance campaign.

An estimated half of the labor force failed to turn up for work. Some members of the National Democratic party — formed Jan. 1 to replace the outlawed African National Congress — went to the police and demanded arrest.

Many Negroes heading for work turned back after meeting pickets on the roads from the Negro suburban towns into Salisbury.

The protest campaign built up following the appearance in police court Tuesday of three National Democratic party leaders — acting president Michael Mawema, secretary-general Sketchley Samkange and Leopold Takawire, a committee member.

They were charged with breaking the Unlawful Organizations Act and were ordered held for appearance in court Saturday.

The party's aims are to fight for the achievement and maintenance of freedom for the people of Southern Rhodesia, for the removal of all forms of oppression and for the establishment of democratic government in Southern Rhodesia.

Southern Rhodesia is self-governing but a member of the Rhodesian Federation along with the British protectorates of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland. The federation borders the Congo.

Monumental puzzler

Khrushchev answer to Macmillan awaited for guide to Red policy

By JOHN EARLE

LONDON (Reuters)—Is Soviet policy now committed irrevocably to stoking up international tension?

British officials waited eagerly today in the hope an answer to this monumental puzzler will be received when Nikita Khrushchev replies to a personal letter from Prime Minister Macmillan.

Macmillan revealed to the House of Commons Tuesday he had written the Russian leader about his concern over the aggressive trend in Soviet diplomacy.

"I simply do not understand what your purpose is today," he wrote Khrushchev.

Macmillan's letter and his solid defence in the House of the United States over the American RB-47 reconnaissance plane shot down over the Barents Sea July 1 won the critical applause of British newspapers from left to right.

Macmillan cited three disturbing developments in his letter — the Soviet breakup of the disarmament conference, the RB-47 incident and Russian charges of "aggression" by the Western power in the troubled Congo.

ing developments in his letter — the Soviet breakup of the disarmament conference, the RB-47 incident and Russian charges of "aggression" by the Western power in the troubled Congo.

"If the present trend of events in the world continues," Macmillan said, "we may all of us one day, either by miscalculation or by mischance, find ourselves caught in a situation from which we cannot escape."

British officials advance two possible theories for Khrushchev's behavior:

1. Khrushchev may believe that U.S. policy is bound to be weak until after the November elections and Russia will follow a policy of maximum tension short of war until the end of the year. Then Khrushchev may revert to his earlier professed desire for peaceful coexistence.
2. Khrushchev may be influenced by some undisclosed events in the Communist world and has thrown over the policy of peaceful coexistence.

MORE AMMUNITION The trial of American U-2 pilot Francis Powers will provide another platform for Russian polemic shots at the U.S.

The possibility also exists that the Russians may be going through internal convulsions about Western spying.

Despite the tirades from the Kremlin, the relations between the U.S. and Britain have remained firm.

The Guardian of Manchester (Liberal) says Macmillan's letter is "sensible, restrained, and to the point."

MOMENTOUS MESSAGE The Independent London Times says that "the danger is that in the next few months something may be said or done" by Khrushchev or someone else that is irretrievable. "The atmosphere cannot stand many more electric charges without peril."

About Television

By MITCH MILLER

Since the beginning of television and until May 24, 1960, with few exceptions, the quality of musical sound and musical production numbers on TV have been awful.

"Hurray for the picture and damn the sound" has been the uncreative cry of TV's creative people.

On May 24, 1960, we did an hour show titled Sing Along With Mitch. The final count still isn't complete, but the last report revealed that close to 20,000 letters, phone calls and telegrams were received by NBC, by me, by the sponsor, and by newspapers all over the country.

Their only purpose was to voice delighted satisfaction with the show. (In 90 per cent of these letters, the people mentioned the sponsor, the thing TV has been dying for for years.)

NEED MELODIES

What really does this avalanche of praise, for which I am so grateful, mean? It means that millions of youngsters and adults were starved for a selection of popular music with familiar and pretty melodies, vocalized by a superb chorus of 25 reproduced with detailed attention to sound quality that everybody could hum or sing with.

The star of our show was music—music that has withstood the test of 40 years of singing around the piano. The pictures that accompanied this music were simple, uncomplicated and never once interfered.

I've recorded nine Sing Along albums so far which have sold more than 4,500,000 copies. What more proof could you have that America wants to hear and sing good songs?

From all indications, there will be more Sing Along with Mitch specials next season.

Chamber names expressway group

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, one of the sponsors of the proposed Montreal-Sherbrooke expressway has set up a special committee for this project, headed jointly by Jean-Louis Gauthier and John Dunn.

The Board was asked by Mayor Nadeau to send delegates with the group headed by His Worship to meet Mayor H. Boivin, of Granby, in Magog, this afternoon.

The Chamber's delegation will consist of the president, Len Curtis, the past president, Claude Genest, the joint-chairman of the Expressway Committee and the secretary-manager.

The Commercial Affairs Committee headed by G. Guillemette reported to the Board on the answer from Hon. W. Hamilton, Postmaster General, to the Chamber's request for additional mail boxes in the downtown area. One new mail box will be installed on the east side of Wellington Street South, between King and Depot Streets, and another box at the corner of Wellington North and Frontenac street.

To meet teacher shortage

QUEBEC — (Special) — Youth Minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie announced during the course of a press conference here yesterday that public tenders will be called for in three months for the construction of a normal school for boys in Sherbrooke. He also announced that tenders for a normal school, also for boys, at Trois Rivières will be called for this week. The estimated cost of the Trois Rivières school is $3,500,000.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie said 500 professors are needed annually to teach in secondary institutions. The building of the two schools would eliminate the problem of overcrowding. Some 400 qualified students were turned away in Montreal, Sherbrooke and Trois Rivières last year, he said.

The attorney-general's department, possibly seeking a solution to Montreal's crime problem, also announced the appointment of a second assistant deputy minister.

Attorney-General Georges Lapalme named Yves Leduc, 51, of Verdun, Que., assistant deputy minister for the Montreal district. Mr. Leduc is a lawyer and former Liberal member of Parliament for Verdun.

Paul Fredette, the other assistant deputy minister, retains his post but only for Quebec City and district.

Mr. Lapalme said 40 per cent of all judicial business in the province is carried out in the Montreal district and 50 per cent of all the problems that come before the attorney-general's department originate in Montreal.

The heavy amount of judicial business in Montreal was the reason for Mr. Leduc's appointment, he said.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS

The appointment, along with a host of others announced by Premier Jean Lesage and members of his cabinet, came at a press conference following the fourth cabinet meeting held by the Liberal government since it took office two weeks ago.

LAWYER NAMED

Premier Lesage announced the appointment of Jean Remillard, 57, a Quebec City lawyer, as new chairman of the Civil Service Commission. Mr. Remillard replaces J. Ernest Laforce, 82, who has retired.

In a series of other announcements:

1. Mr. Lesage said Hilaire Beauregard, director of the Quebec Provincial Police, has been retired from his post. Mr. Beauregard had earlier requested that his resignation be accepted because of ill health.

2. A session of the provincial legislature will be called for October or early November.

3. Mr. Lesage said that Lucien D. Lachapelle has been named manager of the Quebec section of the Quebec liquor commission replacing H. D. Roule who is retiring because of ill health.

4. Mr. Lapalme announced the appointment of Germain Lacoursiere of Victoriaville as district judge for Arthabaska.

5. Mr. Lesage announced that Guy Poliquin, president of the Association of Quebec Life Insurances, has been named member of the Montreal-Laurentine automobile board. He replaces Maurice Forget, a Montreal broker.

6. Public Works Minister Rene Levesque announced that plans for construction of a new bridge at Shawinigan are being revised and public tenders will be called for early in August.

7. Mr. Levesque also announced the appointment of Marc Pinard, 38-year-old Quebec engineer, as technical adviser to his department.

Youth hurt in cycle accident

A Sherbrooke youth was taken to hospital yesterday afternoon after the motorcycle which he was riding collided with a car at the intersection of Chateleine and Bowen streets.

Eric Whitehead 803 Gaen Street, was allowed to return home after receiving first aid treatment. The driver of the car, Adrien Pelchat, Chateleine Street, was not injured.

INVERNESS — The closing of the United Church in Inverness and the union of the congregation with the Presbyterian Church of Inverness will go down in religious history as a mark of the closeness of faith among two churches.

These people of this small village in the County of Megantic are the pioneers of the joining of two churches under one roof. Through courage and faith they have found a common means to carry on the work of the Lord under trying conditions.

The doors of the United Church were closed Sunday evening, July 17 after a closing service, and the congregation walked over to the Presbyterian Church on the Main Street, where they were greeted by the board of the church.

A welcome service was held and the evening closed with a buffet reception at the I.O.O.F. Hall where everyone was greeted.

Parking meter removal halted at Asbestos

ASBESTOS — At a town council meeting in June it was decided to remove the parking meters in Asbestos after the trial period of six months had expired. However at a recent council meeting the council reversed its decision on the request of the Company who had installed the meters and asked that they be kept for a further period of two months. At this time it is anyone's guess what will be done.

In the first place the meters were installed on a quick decision by the city fathers and a petition was handed the council recently to have them removed at the end of the trial period.

Hikers mauled

CARDSTON, Alta. (AP) — A female grizzly bear Monday attacked a party of five hikers on a park trail north of St. Mary's Lake, mauling three persons, one critically. Reported in critical condition with a punctured lung is Smith Parrat, 10, son of Lloyd Parrat, a seasonal ranger from Clairemont, Calif.

German advance is told

Rotarian Ferd Stegmaier was guest speaker at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club and gave his fellow members his impressions of a Germany "unbelievably prosperous only 15 years after undergoing the crippling effects of war."

Mr. Stegmaier's trip to Europe in the spring also included a visit to the local club's "foster child", Kristina Kuckek in Rosenheim, Germany, and members were delighted to receive the first-hand information.

The youngster, one of four girls in this Polish refugee family, is supported by the club under the Foster Parents Plan. The family is very poor, Mr. Stegmaier reported, the father being an invalid with small income. But while both furnishings and personal belongings are scarce, they are kept in spotless condition. The clothing money sent Kristina is used for all the girls, he said. The help is needed and is thankfully received and appreciated.

Factories throughout the country are running full capacity and are even experiencing a labor shortage the speakers said. This is one of the reasons that refugees are more than welcome. A number of Italians have also been brought in to ease the situation he added.

Modern factories with new and better machinery can produce faster and cheaper than ever before and he said that competition is keen between industries, resulting in improved products.

Hillierism seems to be buried, Mr. Stegmaier told the members, and the people in the Western area at least, appear happy and enjoy a satisfactory living standard.

He was slightly jarred by the See "German" Page 5

WEDNESDAY, JULY 20, 1960

C. Guy Bishop

Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships this week lost a man who, for more than half a century, contributed talent, industry and imagination to the business, public and community life of this area.

C. Guy Bishop, who died suddenly on Monday in Alberta in his 74th year, was in a very real sense, one of the modern pioneers of our modern Townships.

Born in Marleton, he came to Sherbrooke in 1918. He founded the Eastern Townships Produce company in 1940, and was a director of the Sherbrooke Pure Milk company. At the time of his death, he was president of the former concern.

Mr. Bishop served this community for many years in a wide variety of posts.

Active in church and welfare work, he was a city alderman from 1944 to 1949, representing the North Ward.

Always an outstanding member of the English-speaking community in Sherbrooke, Mr. Bishop was also active, and had many, many friends in French-speaking circles.

A true son of the Eastern Townships, Mr. Bishop was a keen sportsman and loved the forests, rivers, hills and valleys of his birthplace.

His loss will be keenly felt, but the good which he did during his lifetime will have lasting effects — a fitting memorial to a man who devoted himself to the Townships and the city.

Negroes for Nixon

Vice-president Richard Nixon if nominated by the Republican party is almost certain to pull in the majority of the Northern Negro votes in the forthcoming election in the United States.

Mr. Nixon, by means of his high office carries a great deal of weight with his opinion and sentiments.

He is also a member of the NAACP — the National Association for the Advancement of Coloured People.

This fact was stated recently in a television interview with a white pastor of a Methodist Church in New York City's predominantly Negro Harlem area.

In New York State alone, he pointed out, there are at least a million Negroes, and he felt that the Negro vote would stay with the Republicans. The minister pointed out the incongruity of support for Texan Lyndon Johnson by Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, a Negro minister of New York's Abyssinian Baptist Church.

However, he added that the Negro vote in the New York State area has moved in recent years from the Democrats to the Republicans.

Most Negroes in New York, he said, don't want Kennedy or Johnson — in spite of the sentiments of Congressman Powell.

Furthermore, little credence can be ascribed to the thought that Nixon joined the NAACP merely for political reasons.

It is a fact that Nixon has openly supported the Negroes in their battle for some time. In 1956, in his opening election campaign speech in his home town of Whittier, California, he advocated "... equality of jobs, housing and education for Negroes." And in the same campaign, in a speech delivered later at Colorado Springs, he said he aimed "... to wipe out the bitterness and class struggle" existing in the United States at that moment.

Supporting the decision by the U.S. Supreme Court to outlaw segregation, he described it as "One more step in a continuous process of giving substance and vitality to our democracy."

It looks very much as if Nixon would be the choice of the United States Negro.

Mid-summer madness

The idea of a San Francisco citizen to tax women who appear on the street in slacks — both as a means to raise revenue and "to improve the beauty of San Francisco" — could start a chain reaction in other cities.

While there may be some argument over the esthetic index of women in slacks, how about a tax on every unwashed car that appears on a downtown street? Or a tax on every sour, unsmiling face among the pedestrians strolling the sidewalk? Or on all grimy, streaked buildings or weed and junk-littered empty yards?

On the other hand, how about a rebate to all taxpayers for every unswept or chucked street, dirty or littered traffic sign, uncheerful policeman, etc. etc.

Oh well, it's just a midsummer day's dream.

Members of Menderes regime

450 await Turk grand tribunal

By MAUMMER KAYLAN
ISTANBUL (Reuters) — Some 450 cabinet ministers, officials and National Assembly deputies of the former Menderes regime now under "protective custody" on charges of violating the Turkish constitution await a "grand tribunal."

General Cemal Gursel, the new head of state, premier and leader of the 28-man National Union Committee which now rules the country, has said that the former government was a "dictatorship of a clique" which "violated the constitution and became a disaster for the nation."

The accused are held on the island of Yassi, a naval training base on the Sea of Marmora, 11 miles from here.

The fallen premier, Adnan Menderes, is reported to have had a nervous breakdown, with partial paralysis. With him are Celal Bayar, former president, Refik Koraltan, ex-chairman of the National Assembly which was dissolved in the army coup d'état May 27, Fatin R. Zorlu, ex-foreign minister, and Hasan Polatkan, ex-finance minister.

Only one in 20 of the accused were reported to be in good health. Namik Gedik, former interior minister, was officially stated to have committed suicide while under detention in Ankara.

The supreme commission of investigation recently set up has begun its preliminary work.

The commission will be empowered to hand the accused over to the Supreme Court if it is decided that there is a case to answer. Decisions will be by unanimous vote or by a majority.

According to a new law, the commission may sequester the property of an accused and bring from abroad any wealth and possessions which have been deposited there.

Evidence in the hands of the prosecutors is said to show that officials of the Menderes regime made money out of contracts, paid personal expenses with public money, and in some cases received houses as gifts.

The prisoners will not be allowed counsel while appearing before the investigating commission, nor will they be permitted to see documents submitted as evidence. There will also be no right of appeal against the commission's decision.

Before the high court, however, each of the accused will be allowed up to three counsel. The high court's proceedings will be in public and no adjournment will be allowed for more than three days, though the defence may be given a longer time to prepare the case.

OLD GRISTMILLS

(Ottawa Journal)

When pioneers went North and West, crossed the mountains and the rivers, as soon as a new settlement struck root, a miller built his mill with overshot or undershot wheel.

Men and youths came on horseback along rough trails, carrying bags of precious grain that meant food for the family during the long winter. When roadmasters laid out roads from farm to farm, creaking oxcarts brought loads to be ground by the grooved stones.

Now the old mills are gone. Here and there along a stream or by a quiet millpond, one sees the foundation stones and perhaps the ruins of a dam built long ago. Trees have grown around the sites; old roads can barely be seen; the millpond is surrounded by willows and alders.

Before the age of science, the grist mills were busy places. The miller ground corn and wheat, rye and barley. He sharpened his own stones and kept his wheel, shafts and gears in repair. The mill was more than a commercial spot. Here men discussed the problems of a new community; there they gathered news to take back to wowed folks on lonely farms.

The old mills are gone, but in their time they played a pivotal role. No longer do the great wooden wheels turn; no longer shafts turn and mesh powerful gears. No longer trickles of grist come from the grooves of stones.

But to those with a feeling for history, the site of an old mill is sacred ground. The pioneers, with dreams in their hearts, conquered new land, built mills, established homes and communities. Men laid the foundation of a new nation, and a part of the foundation was the gristmill where the grain was ground that had grown on newly-established farms.

JUMP TO GAME SHOWS

TRUMPS

Take a look at the North hand only. Your partner opens two spades and you have very good support for spades, but a mere two point hand.

Wouldn't you like to be able to show this right off the bat? Of course you would and there is a simple way to do so. You simply jump to four spades provided you and your partner have agreed that this particular jump raise shows exactly what you have—very good trump support and no ace, king or void suit.

Some people play this bid as also, showing no singleton, but I don't go that far. I want to be able to use the bid occasionally.

Strangely enough this convention is most useful in keeping out of bad slams. You jump to four spades and if your partner has two quick losers in any suit he simply passes.

Today's North-South cards would probably reach the grand slam with any bidding system, but the four spade jump by North eliminates all problems. South simply counts no losers in any suit and jumps there. The play is just as easy to spite as the bad heart break. South trumps two hearts and one diamond in dummy.

VISIBLE PORTION

Estimated by the specific gravity of ice, only one-ninth of icebergs seen at sea is above the surface.

"When the ice man cometh"

House of Lords says quiet please

LONDON (CP) — Britain's House of Lords doesn't mind when the ice cream man cometh — as long as he cometh silently in morning and evening hours.

The Lords first voted to silence the chiming of the ice cream vans but a week later they relented and accepted an amendment allowing the chiming to jingle between noon and 7 p.m. It was pointed out most complaints about the vendors had been made in evening hours.

Like glacial Pied Pipers, attracting a horde of hungry children in their wake, the ice cream trucks tour the suburbs, signalling their presence with a penetrating assault on the ear-drums. They're even around on Sundays, breaking the Sabbath silence with such tunes as Slow Boat to China, My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean and the Tonibell Chimes.

Earl Attlee, 77-year-old former Labor prime minister, said the chiming is "instruments of cruelty." Lord Balfour of Burleigh wanted to get rid of a "most infernal noise." Lord Milverton said you can hear them a half-mile away.

There was one strong dissenter. Lord Taylor, 49-year-old Labor peer, said his colleagues were behaving like a lot of "old fogies" in opposing the chiming.

Specifically, the protest was against a provision that would exempt loudspeakers, on a vehicle conveying perishable commodities, from legislation prohibiting certain street noises. Lord Rea, Liberal leader in the Lords, said he couldn't see why ice cream manufacturers should get special treatment.

Nobody mentioned that the chiming of the frozen food vendors constitute one of the last faint cries of street enterprise. Street markets still exist, especially in country districts, but the "muffin man," peddling his wares on van or bicycle, is rarely seen these days.

The peers' protests were one of two blows aimed at candy and ice cream salesmen. At a meeting of dentists in Edinburgh, strong criticism was expressed of the way children are spoiling their teeth by indulging in sweets between meals.

With Britain a nation of snack-eaters, some said children's teeth had become a national scandal. One dentist, W. Stewart Ross, said many children had lost all their teeth by the age of 14. Another noted that things are different in Scandinavia, where a girl's chances of marriage were reduced if she had lost her teeth, and a third quoted an Austrian girl as saying: "Imaging kissing a man who is wearing dentures!"

matter of FACT

Twenty-six years ago, on May 28, 1934, five tiny girls were born to Mrs. Olivia Dionne near Callander, Ontario. These delicate children were claimed to be the first quintuplets to survive infancy. Six days after their birth the five girls together weighed only 11½ pounds. So doll-like were they, Mrs. Dionne was able to slip her wedding ring over their hands.

Says consult provinces on rights bill

OTTAWA (CP) — President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress said Tuesday provincial governments should be consulted to determine whether they would agree to enshrining fundamental rights and human freedoms in the British North America Act.

He told a special Commons committee studying the government's bill of rights that the federal-provincial fiscal conference in Ottawa from July 25 to 27 would afford the federal government an opportunity to learn the attitude of provincial governments.

Mr. Jodoin said consultation with the provinces is one of two reasons that the bill of rights should be dropped until next year to allow fuller consideration "decently and in order."

"At this stage of a session of Parliament the bill cannot receive the careful and thorough consideration it ought to receive he said in brief.

Knowlton Lions raises funds to aid needy

KNOWLTON — The Lions Club have a 1980 car on display at the B.P. Service Station which will be raffled off on the Tuesday after Labor Day week-end. All profits of the drawing will be used for the Lions General Welfare Fund, later to be relayed to some worthwhile project. Administration of the money will be decided by the Club which has a membership of 39. All work done by the Lions is voluntary.

Rotherham, the president, says that on occasions the Lions have given cords of wood to those in need of it in the winter months. Eden is in charge takes care of emergency cases.

Two wheel chairs and a hospital bed are maintained by the Lions for the needy. Once an artificial leg was provided for an amputee. The Pettes Memorial Library has been given an encyclopedia, and plans for the renovation of the children's section are under way. A children's slide was also donated to the Knowlton Public Beach.

Most recent was the shooting down of an Air Force RB-47 on a scientific flight over the Barents Sea. Moscow claims the plane was on a spy mission and violated Russian territory. Washington has strongly denied the charge and warned of "the most serious consequences" if any more U.S. planes are shot down over international waters. A U.S. note demanded release of the two fliers.

Canadian Lawn Tennis Association Expects Large Entry For Junior Net Tournament In Ottawa August 5-13

OTTAWA — A record number of players are expected to compete in the Canadian Junior Tennis Championships this year.

Jointly sponsored by Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited and the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, the championships are being held at the Rideau Tennis Club in suburban Overbrook, August 5 to 13, for the eleventh consecutive year.

The competitors will play more than 600 matches in quest of 19 titles, 6 closed and 13 open. A total of 62 prizes will be awarded and an estimated 150 dozen tennis balls will be used.

The event starts with a closed competition for Canadians only. There will be juvenile boys' and girls' singles, boys' and girls' singles, and junior men's and women's singles in both the open and the closed classes and doubles in the open division only. Juveniles are under 13, boys and girls under 15, and junior men and women under 18 at January 1, 1960.

E. C. Condon, Chairman, C.L.T.A. Junior Player Development Committee, points out that this year for the first time the length of the championships has been reduced from 11 to nine days.

"We expect a record number of players this year - over 300 - and in order to streamline the event, the last eight entrants in the junior men's singles, junior women's singles and boys' singles events of the closed championships will be placed in the round of 16 in the open event," he said. "Supporters of Canadian junior participation in curling, skiing and golf, we are also delighted to co-operate with the C.L.T.A. in encouraging young players to compete in the Canadian Junior Tennis Championships and to improve their game," said Frank W. McIntosh, President of Pepsi-Cola Company of Canada, Limited.

Sher-Lenn All-Stars Host Waterloo Squad At Parade Grounds At 6.00, Winners Meet St. Johns Saturday

The opening game of the Little League Regional Playoffs, which is a sudden-death battle, is slated to take place tomorrow evening at the Parade Grounds at 6.00. The Les Hopperton Memorial All Stars will clash with the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville squad.

The winner of this game will meet the St. Johns Little League All Stars in St. Johns Saturday afternoon with the tilt slated for 3.00.

These two leagues met last season at Waterloo with the locals winning out. The teams this year seem to be more evenly matched and to-morrow night's game should be a close one. Manager Ed Burrows has had his All Stars putting in some rigid practices for these important games and is hoping that his charges will be up for their first game. The line-up contains quite a few players who are taking part for the first time and will no doubt show some nervousness on their part.

The Sher-Lenn starting line-up, picked from the fourteen players chosen, should read something like this. The starting battery comes from the White Sox with Jacques Pelletier doing the hurling with Wayne Gilbert the catcher. The infield will see Claude Lachance, White Sox, at first with Richard Cabana, Red Sox, second with Richard Stewart, Red Sox, at the hot corner and Raymond Farrell, White Sox, at shortstop. In the outfield Germain Gravel, White Sox, will start in left with Pierre Lacaille, Senators, patrolling centre and Francis Vincent, Indians, in right field. Manager Burrows will have Jeff Planché, Yankees, Steve Begbie, Red Sox, Tim Dwane and Jonathon Thibault, both of the Red Sox, and Jean St. Cyr of the Indians ready to fill in.

Manager Clancy Yarnold of Waterloo is expecting his boys to show improvement over last season. Like the local squad his team are boys who are also taking part for the first time in the play-offs.

Eight Big League Pitchers Are At Least Half-Way Home On 20-Game Victory Express, Bud Daley Is Tops

NEW YORK (AP)—Eight big league pitchers are at least half-way home on the 20-game victory express. But some of them will have to reverse their recent rocky course to reach their destination.

Bud Daley of Kansas City is the majors' top winner with 12 although Ernie Broglio, a 10-game victor for the St. Louis Cardinals, has been gathering the most momentum lately.

Others with a chance to win 20 are 11-game winners Vernon Law of Pittsburgh, Sam Jones of San Francisco and Larry Jackson of St. Louis and 10-game winners Bob Friend of Pittsburgh, Lew Burdette of Milwaukee and Jim Perry of Cleveland.

Broglio, who did not win his first game until the season was a month old, has won eight since June 11, including his last five. He has lost four. The 24-year-old right-hander had a 7-12 record last season.

Only four pitchers made the 20-victory grade in 1959. They were Warren Spahn, of Milwaukee Burdette and Jones in the National League and Chicago's Early Wynn in the American. The 40-year-old Wynn has a 5-7 record this year.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

Toronto — Pete Rademacher, 204 1/2, Columbus, Ga., outpointed George Chuvalo, 217 1/2, Toronto, 10.

New Bedford, Mass.—Tommy Tibbs, 134, Boston, outpointed Frank Talafero, 136 1/2, Hartford, Conn., 10.

Los Angeles—Jose Luis Cruz, 126, Mexico, knocked out Tony Maya, 127, Los Angeles, 3.

Quincy, Mass.—Joe Denucci, 159, Newton, Mass., outpointed Tony Dupas, 153, New Orleans, 10.

Rookie Juan Marichal Hurls One-Hitter In First Major League Start

First Rookie In Modern-Day Baseball To Pitch One-Hitter In Big League; Stops Pirates; Braves, Redlegs Win

Juan Marichal, 21-year-old rookie from the Dominican Republic, has become the first National League pitcher in modern days to pitch a one-hitter in his first big league start.

The righthander who was the strikeout king of the Pacific Coast League until he was recalled from Tacoma with an 11-5 record, had a perfect game for 6 1/3 innings Tuesday night for San Francisco. An error by Eddie Bressoud let the Phils' Tony Taylor reach base.

Marichal lost his no-hit bid when pinch hitter Clay Carlisle singled with two out in the eighth. That was the only Phil hit as they absorbed a 2-0 defeat. The newcomer struck out 12, only three short of the record that the Dodgers' Karl Spooner set in his first start in 1954.

FIRST THIS CENTURY

No other National League pitcher in modern days (since 1920) has thrown a one-hitter in his first start. Charles Jones of Cincinnati pitched a no-hitter in his major league debut in 1884. Two American Leaguers have broken in with one-hitters—Addie Joss of Cleveland and Mike Fornieles of Washington.

Milwaukee sliced Pittsburgh's league lead to 1 1/2 games by winning its sixth straight on a 9-5 decision over St. Louis while Pittsburgh was losing to Los Angeles 5-4. Cincinnati whipped Chicago 4-1 behind Jim O'Toole in the other game.

Marichal's performance could be a tonic to the floundering Giants who have dropped into the second division. Mixing a change up with curves and fast balls, he mowed down the first 19 Phils. There was a roar from the crowd when the official scorer ruled an error when Bressoud raced in from Taylor's grounder but bobbed the ball.

Dalrymple, batting for catcher Cal Neenan with two out in the eighth, hit Marichal's first pitch sharply to center field. The rookie wasn't bothered. He got the next man to end the eighth and retired the side in order in the ninth.

LARKER BOOSTS AVERAGE

Norm Larker's two-run home run in the seventh gave Los Angeles a victory over the Pirates who had led 4-0 going into the last of the sixth. Larker also had two singles, boosting his league leading batting average to 3.95.

It was the 14th straight time Bob Friend failed to finish a game against the Dodgers. Fred Green, who relieved in the seventh, was the loser. The victory went to Larry Sherry who allowed only one run in five innings of relief work.

Milwaukee blew a three-run lead but took advantage of the shaky Cardinal defense to edge closer to the Pirates. Hank Aaron's 23rd homer in the eighth was the clincher for relief man Ron Piche. Curt Flood, Stan Musial and Julian Javier homered for the Cards.

Frank Robinson hit two home runs in Cincinnati's victory over the Cubs. O'Toole had a two-hit shutout going to the seventh. Don Cardwell, nicked for both homers by Robinson, was the loser.

American League Race Is Study In Contrasts, Yanks Kill Opposition With Homers, White Sox Use Speed

The American League pennant race is a study in contrasts. While the New York Yankees bludgeoned the opposition with home runs, flexing their muscles to make up for faulty pitching, the Chicago White Sox play it cute with speed and tight pitching.

The Yanks maintained their two-game lead over the second-place White Sox by scoring five in the ninth to top Cleveland 13-11 Tuesday night. Chicago cashed in on Billy Pierce's four-hit pitching and a three-run inside-the-park home run by speedy Luis Aparicio for a 6-0 triumph over Boston.

Pedro Ramos pitched no-hit ball for seven innings and wound up with a one-hit shutout as Washington downed Detroit 5-0. The only hit was a leadoff single by Rocky Colavito in the eighth inning.

Baltimore came up with six runs in the 10th inning to top Kansas City 9-3 with Bud Daley's wild pitch permitting the tie-breaking run to score. In the last inning a fan rushed on the field and punched plate umpire Bob Stewart.

Bill Skowron was the big gun for the Yanks with two home runs and a three-run double during the five-run rally in the ninth. Roger Maris hit his 30th homer and Yogi Berra connected for No. 10 in the wild game marked by a total of 32 hits, 16 for each side.

Six pitchers worked for the Yanks, Ryne Duren finally getting the decision. Ted Bowsfield, fourth of five to toil for the Indians, was the loser. Jimmy Piersall hit his 10th homer for the Tribe.

Trailing 11-8 going to the ninth, the Yanks loaded the bases on a walk to Hector Lopez a single by Mickey Mantle and an error by Bowsfield. Berra's single scored one and Skowron's double drove in three more. Tony Kubek singled in the final run.

Aparicio's dash around the bases on a ball that got past centerfielder Willie Tasby was the big story of Chicago's offense. Pierce won his eighth with Frank Sullivan his victim.

Ramos had not given Detroit anything close to a hit until Colavito's single. The Cuban righthander struck out nine walked four and hit one. Billy Gardner and Harmon Killebrew hit home runs for the Senators.

Baltimore held a 3-0 lead over the A's going to the last of the seventh when Pete Daley's three-run homer tied the score against Chuck Estrada. Hoyt Wilhelm came in to pitch 3 1/3 hitless innings of relief ball, winning his seventh. Bud Daley lost his sixth.

After Daley wild pitched the winning run home, the Orioles kept moving with Gene Woodling's two-run pinch single, Jim Gentile's pinch double and Marv Breeding's two-run single.

Herman Willemse Of Holland Wins Atlantic City Marathon, Lumsdon, Park Finish Tied For Second Spot

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Herman Willemse, whose victory in the Absecon Island marathon swim was his first in a professional race, was $5,000 richer today and the bearer of new honor for his Dutch homeland.

The 26-year-old school teacher from Utrecht, Holland climbed from the water smiling broadly Tuesday to the roar of 10,000 spectators and the strains of the Dutch national anthem.

He reached the Atlantic City Marina 10 hours, 30 minutes and 54 seconds after he had left it to swim the 25 miles around the island. His closest competitors—two Canadian veterans who finished second simultaneously—were 300 yards behind the crew-cut blonde.

The two were Cliff Lumsdon of Toronto and Tom Park, a native of Hamilton, Ont., now living in Bellflower, Calif. They both kicked across the finish line in the official clocking of 10 hours, 40 minutes and 7.8 seconds after swimming the last two miles stroke for stroke.

FIRST WOMAN ACROSS

More laurels went to The Netherlands when Mary Kok, 20, of Hilversum, was the first woman to finish. The distinction brought her $800. She took eighth place in 11:31:24.

Lumsdon had won three times before and Park twice. They split the total of $2,000 for second-place and $900 for third, having finished in a dead heat. Each got $1,450.

Aloma Keen, 18, of Montreal, quit at the 17-mile mark. She was pulled exhausted from the water and given oxygen. Miss Keen was no novice to the grueling race, however, having first competed at the age of 16.

Sonny Liston To Meet Ed Machen September 7

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Sonny Liston of Philadelphia, the No. 1 heavyweight challenger, will meet Eddie Machen of Portland in a 10-round fight Sept. 7 in Seattle, promoter Tommy Moyer said Tuesday.

Liston Tuesday night met Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., in Denver, and knocked him out in the third round.

Moyer said the Machen-Liston fight will be held outdoors in Sick Stadium in Seattle. It will be televised nationally, with Portland and Seattle blacked out, he said.

TORONTO (CP) — Balding Pete Rademacher of Columbus, Ga., left-jabbed his way to a unanimous 10-round decision over George Chuvalo of Toronto, the ring-rusty Canadian heavyweight champion, here Tuesday night.

There were no knockdowns in the rather one-sided battle before a small crowd of about 4,000 at Maple Leaf baseball stadium. The fight was scheduled for Monday night but was postponed because of rain.

Rademacher, spotting 22-year-old Chuvalo nine years and out weighed 217½ to 204½, had too much ring savvy for the hard-punching but slow-moving Toronto youngster.

"Chuvalo is a heck of a body puncher when you are dumb enough to stand there and let him hit you, which I didn't do," said Rademacher, the 1956 Olympic heavyweight champion.

BEATEN TO PUNCH

Chuvalo, making his first ring appearance since knocking out Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., in a title defence here last Nov. 17, showed the effects of the eight-month layoff by constantly being beaten to the punch.

"I wasn't hurt," said Chuvalo, who absorbed his fourth loss in 18 pro bouts. "But my timing was off and I was up against a pretty shifty fighter."

Rademacher used his left jab and superior footwork with telling effect. His left was in Chuvalo's face most of the fight, keeping the bull-shouldered Canadian champion off balance.

Chuvalo, bleeding from the nose in the first round, was forced into a lunging body attack and he rarely got a good shot at the head of his faster-moving opponent.

TWO-FISTED BARRAGE

Rademacher opened up with a two-fisted barrage in the seventh, caught George with a hard right to the head, and at the bell they were slamming away at each other in the best exchange of the bout.

Pete, unmarked at the finish, cemented the victory by scoring with several left-right combinations in the eighth and ninth and then held off the charging Chuvalo in the final round.

The bout was marked by occasional butting and hitting after the break.

The win was the seventh in 11 money fights for Rademacher, who made his pro debut three years ago and was knocked out by world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in the sixth round of a title match at Seattle.

BRINGS OUT THE BEST IN BEER...

No. 51 - Upper Turn

By JIMMY DEMARET

The wrists break in the backstroke and as the putt is struck. This permits the hands, with their vastly superior instincts, to impart all the touch at the player's command.

The entire upper part of the body is allowed to turn, as indicated in the accompanying illustration, by way of assisting the easy finish of the follow through.

Complete freedom.

As I point out in my Golf-To-Music Lesson album, notice how the wrists and hands, with complete freedom in the stroking, allow the putter to pass beyond and into the follow through. The wrists break to allow this passing.

Yet this is not wrist putting in the strict sense of the word. I recommend that the knees, hips, arms and shoulders participate as need be.

NEXT: The putting follow through.

SURVIVAL TRAINING — Sixty members of the militia at Camp Niagara, Ont., are enrolled in a National Survival program to learn how to care and feed survivors of an atomic attack. Atomic soldier

Butcher, baker, formula-maker

CAMP NIAGARA, Ont. (CP) — A new kind of Canadian soldier is emerging from this camp at the mouth of the Niagara River — a man who can butcher a cow and prepare baby's formula.

Sixty young members of the militia from Ontario centres are learning how to feed and care for survivors of an atomic attack as they prepare for their role in the National Survival program.

With basic training in National Survival completed, they are being taught how to prepare food under difficult conditions by Warrant Officer Val Alcock of Kingston, Ont.

Their training is in contrast to the normal tough training in the militia, are enthusiastic about the course.

BAKING PIES

They are learning the art of butchering meat, baking cakes and pies, preparing salads and deserts for the 800-odd militia men in the camp.

They are shown how to prepare a basic formula that would feed hundreds of infants, sterilizing makeshift containers for the lot and even adapting the fingers of a rubber glove to serve as nipples.

They have learned that certain basic foods can be prepared without water, that vegetables only lightly exposed to radioactive dust because they are underground can be eaten safely.

Animals can be slaughtered, butchered and the meat can be used if the hide is stripped. Similarly the flesh of fish can be eaten.

Each day the militia cooks make more than 2,400 meals. The weekly menu includes 13 different meats, turkey and chicken as well as frozen and fresh fish. The men choose the two meats at the noon or evening meal and pick the deserts and beverages. Their teacher says he doesn't expect to turn out first-class chefs but when they're finished they will have gained a working knowledge of the basic principles of mass feeding.

Religious cults studied

JAKARTA (Reuters) — The Indonesian government has set up a special department to study the growth of new—and sometimes dangerously inflammatory—religious cults in the republic.

Attorney-General A. Gunawan announced this after the death of 26 people in a bloody battle between troops and devotees of a sex-cult in a west Java village June 4 and 5.

The attorney-general told reporters that his office meant to take firm measures against all new cults, "the practice of which might disturb law and order, and violate morals and humanity."

The bloodshed in the village of Tjirojom, near Bandung, in early June, shocked Indonesia.

A 28-year-old man named Nawawi had formed a sect which he called "Hakeko" derived from the Arabic word for truth. The self-styled prophet told his followers he had permission from God to marry three virgins.

NAKED DANCING
Believers were instructed to divorce their partners, then dance together stark naked at night in the local mosque. During the dance, they were to choose blindly new wives or husbands for themselves. Should any previously married couple come together again in the darkness, the husband would be regarded as a holy man. Male members of the sect had permission to rape the wives of disbelievers, known as "heathens" or "wild boars."

The situation in Tjirojom eventually became too much for a village leader. He reported it to the nearest army post. The local battalion commander sent a sergeant and two village guards to investigate.

As they approached the mosque, where dancing was going on, Nawawi and his naked followers burst out and charged them with bamboo spears and machetes, screaming "Allahu akbar God is great. Who does not follow us is a pig."

The sergeant and one village guard escaped. The third man was killed.

The Nawawi cult sprang from an area disturbed by religious war for 15 years. Uneasy west Java has been a battleground between government troops and soldiers of the extremist Muslim Darul Islam since the revolution against the Dutch.

Elise and Alf to take over dreariest job
LONDON (Reuters) — One of the world's dreariest jobs—sorting mail—is on the way out in Britain.

The day will come when human beings no longer will have to do it. Complicated and tireless robots, called Alf and Elsie, will take over the task.

The post office expects that the new electronic machines will handle mail faster and more cheaply than human workers, who will be freed for more interesting tasks. It does not, however, expect to lose the human touch completely.

Expert Blames Sales Ladies

Ill-Fitting Lingerie Worn By Many Women

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Verna Comings, stylist for a girdle and bra company, estimates that half the women she deals with are wearing ill-fitted, uncomfortable lingerie through their outer clothing may fit perfectly.

And she puts the blame largely on the sales people, not the customer.

"If a customer is shy to ask for advice it's because the salesgirl makes her feel that way."

A native of Belleville, Ont., Miss Comings started in the business as a department store salesgirl in Saskatoon in 1925. Later she was a buyer in Regina, then left for the United States where she ran schools for merchandising and sales help.

She returned to Canada as a buyer for a chain of Ontario stores and has held her present job with Peter Pan Foundations (Que.) Inc. for the last 10 years.

LINGERIE HISTORY

When she began selling lingerie the nipped-in waist was the fashion.

"The garments gave you a nipped-in waist all right, but they made you look hippy and busty."

This was followed by the flat look which made everyone look like a block.

"In those days everything was pink. It wasn't until later that we got white."

Advertisements used to describe the pink as flesh color, tea rose, nude or peach. Underclothing now comes in black and many pastel shades as well as white.

FRENCH BRA

A Second World War shortage was responsible for introduction of the French bra. Because elastic was hard to obtain, the French model which laced up the back became popular. These are museum pieces now, Miss Comings said.

"All the control was from the straps and women's shoulders were ridged from the weight."

She says a properly fitted bra is controlled under the bustline and through the back. The back fastening should fit below the shoulder blades.

"No well-dressed woman is ever without a garment, even with shorts or slacks," she insists. There is even a knee-length girdle which has been designed for slims. Miss Comings says women need the moulding that a girdle gives.

SITDOWN VARIETY

"A girdle should be long enough to sit in," she says, adding that many women who complained that their girdles rode up bought a shorter model when they really needed a longer one. Although it depends on the individual, most girls should begin wearing a bra at 11, she says.

The natural rounded bustline with a well-controlled waistline is the fashion and that's why basques are so popular now, Miss Comings says. In keeping with the feminine look in fashions, many designs are made in lace.

Working Women's Problems Discussed At B & P Meet

WINNIPEG (CP) — Una MacLean of Calgary, new president of the 7,000-member Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, says she thinks the future of the federation lies in research into the problems of women at work.

the hark for equal pay and equal opportunity can soon be laid down and the attention of the federation turned to other fields.

She wants to study the problem of older women re-entering the business world and training available to them.

Miss MacLean was named federation president Thursday succeeding Isabel Menzies of Montreal.

Elected first vice-president of the federation was Senator Muriel McQueen Fergusson of Fredericton.

At a founders' luncheon, delegates took a nostalgic look at the federation's 30-year history. The first president, Dorothy Heneker Cummins of Comox, Que., was chairman of the meeting.

REV. GARTH MORRILL and MRS. MORRILL, photographed with the wedding party following their marriage in the historic Little Anglican Church at Frost Village, Que. Mrs. Morrill, the former Janis Elaine Martin, is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Martin, of Frost Village. Rev. Morrill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Morrill of Danville, Que.

Morrill-Martin Wedding Held In Historic Church

FROST VILLAGE, Que. — A marriage of unusual interest took place on Saturday morning, July 9, at half past eleven o'clock in historic Christ Church here, when Janis Elaine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Martin of Frost Village became the bride of Rev. Garth Roy Morrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Morrill of Danville, Quebec.

The Most Rev. Philip Carrington, Archbishop of Quebec officiated and Archdeacon T. J. Matthews from Lennoxville acted as the Archbishop's chaplain. Rev. Paul Busing of Montreal was the celebrant at the service of Holy Communion.

The century old church was adorned with summer flowers. The beautiful old wrought iron chandelier and candle sconces brought from England over a hundred years ago were in use and the soft light from the many candles filled the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess style gown of white cotton eyelet embroidery, with high neck and three quarter length sleeves. Her chapel length veil of cotton net was held by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Miss Anne Northrop of Knowlton, the maid of honor, wore a pale green frock of checked voile and a large white picture hat. She carried a nosegay of tangerine carnations.

Mr. Alton Morrill was best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Milton Martin and Mr. Gordon Morrill.

The bride's mother was in a beige printed silk dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

The groom's mother chose a blue lace gown with a blue hat and a corsage of pink roses.

The reception was held at 'Elmsmead' the home of the bride. The bride's table was arranged with the tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink roses. Pink roses were also used for the centerpiece, lighted candles in silver candlesticks being arranged at each side.

Later Rev. and Mrs. Morrill left for a motor trip. Mrs. Morrill wearing a white linen suit, pink sailor hat and an orchid corsage.

On their return they will reside in Portneuf, Quebec, where Rev. Morrill will be in charge of the Anglican mission.

Women: Act Now to Extend 'Good Years' Beyond 50

"American women enjoy a period of highest status as contributing members of society between the ages of 20 to 50 years."

That's one of the findings included in a recent report from the United States Senate Subcommittee on Problems of the Aged and Aging.

The best thing that women who are still in those happy productive years can do is start figuring out how to extend the "good years when you were tied down by small children, start reading good books, make more of an effort to keep up with world affairs, even go back to school if you can manage to take a college course or two, or go to night school.

With imagination and effort most women can push the happy years far beyond the 50 mark. Lots of women are already doing it.

I know women in their 70s—and so probably do you—who are still living the good years because they have refused to let age defeat them.

Women's Sphere

years' beyond 50.

Here are a few starters: As your home duties lessen, find some kind of satisfying community work (not just busy work) that will keep you a contributing member of society.

As you begin to have a little more time of your own, find some satisfying hobby that will enrich your life. (The sooner you can start on this the better. Not everyone can get as late a start as Grandma Moses.)

Double your efforts to strengthen old friendships and to make new ones. (A woman with many friends isn't likely to be a lonely or bitter woman.)

If you can go back to work and you think you may need the money later on, try to establish yourself in a job before you get any older. (It is much easier for a woman of 40 to find employment than it is for a woman of 50.)

If you feel that your mind has grown rusty from disuse during

Fashion

Many summer brides will be copying Princess Margaret's tiara, hairdo. If your hair is short, buy a really good pin-on chignon and have your hair done the day before your wedding. Make sure your hairdresser shows you exactly how to handle the chignon and tiara.

There's no doubt about it, full skirts are cool for summer. But the sheath looks sleek, so include both in your wardrobe.

Garden Fresh Salads For Appetizing Meals

A basket of fresh vegetables, savory dressings and simple garnishings are all the ingredients needed for tempting salads, ideal for hot summer days.

We eat salads for main courses, accompaniments, appetizers, party refreshments, snacks and even for dessert. Though salads appear on our menus all year round, it is in the summer months when fresh garden vegetables are plentiful and hot sultry days call for cool refreshing meals, that salads are often the main course of our meals.

Here are a few recipes made with garden fresh vegetables that are good for the main dish or served with cold cuts.

GARDEN SALAD BOWL

10 radishes, sliced; 1/2 cup sliced green onions; 1 bunch

watercress; 1 cup chopped celery; 1 cup shredded cabbage; 1 cucumber, diced; French dressing.

Combine vegetables and toss together lightly with French dressing. 6 servings.

POTATO SALAD

6 cups cooked diced potatoes; 1 tsp. salt; 1/4 tsp. pepper; 1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing.

Toss together with two forks and chill for about 1 hour. Serve on crisp spinach or lettuce. Garnish. Also may be used to stuff tomatoes or green peppers. 6 servings.

cream; 1/2 cup peeled seeded chopped cucumber; 1/4 cup unpeeled, seeded chopped cucumber.

Add flavor and interest to the basic potato salad recipe with one or more of the following: 2 tbs. chopped onions, shallots or chives; 2 tbs. chopped sweet or sour pickles; 2 sliced hard cooked eggs; 1 cup diced cooked meat or poultry; 1 cup cubed cheese; 1/4 cup sliced or diced radishes, red apples, green pepper or cucumber.

CUCUMBER MOUSSE

1 tbs. gelatin; 1/4 cup cold water; 1 tbs. vinegar; 1 1/2 tsp. finely chopped onion; 1/2 tsp. salt; 1/4 tsp. paprika; 1 cup whipping cream; 1/2 cup peeled seeded chopped cucumber; 1/4 cup unpeeled, seeded chopped cucumber.

Soak gelatin in cold water and vinegar for 5 minutes, then dissolve over hot water. Add onion, salt and paprika, stir well, then cool until mixture is the consistency of heavy syrup. Whip cream until stiff, gradually beat in gelatin mixture, then fold in cucumber. Turn into a large mold or into individual molds and chill until set, about 1 1/2 hours. 6 to 8 servings. May be frozen and stored one month in home freezer.

The Doctor Says

TUBERCULIN-TYPE ALLERGIES

ARE HARD TO TRACK DOWN
By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M. D.

The other day we were talking about histamine - type allergies. They make your nose run, your eyes water, your skin itch and your face break out.

There is another allergy, sneaker and much more harmful to hypersensitive persons, many of whom have requested information about mysterious diseases that seem to come from nowhere, respond poorly or irregularly to treatment and on occasion cause invalidism or even death.

This reaction is called "tuberculin-type." But rarely has it anything to do with a TB infection.

In fact, it rarely has anything to do with any sort of infection. And it does not require the sufferer to be isolated to prevent transmission of the disease.

Let me give you an example. Perhaps then you'll have a better understanding of how these tuberculin-type allergies develop and what you can do to prevent them or to help your doctor relieve the conditions you've inquired about. Like the butterfly disease (lupus erythematosus), Guillain-Barre Disease, certain blood diseases (aplastic or hemolytic anemias, agranulocytosis, thrombocytopenic purpura), rheumatoid or deforming arthritis, certain eye diseases (uveitis, iritis), peeling of the entire skin (exfoliative dermatitis) and others too numerous to mention.

The patient was a middle-aged woman who had her appendix removed many years before when it was the custom to apply sulfa powder to the stump of the infected organ.

After not feeling well for a week or so, she took her temperature and was surprised to find it almost 102 degrees.

Her doctor thought she might have gripped and gave her a prescription for a "bug-killer."

After a few doses, she felt worse and began a series of chills with temperatures as high as 106 degrees. She was admitted to the hospital.

Every sort of test was made. Nothing significant was discovered except for an increase in the bright - staining cells (eosinophiles) of her blood.

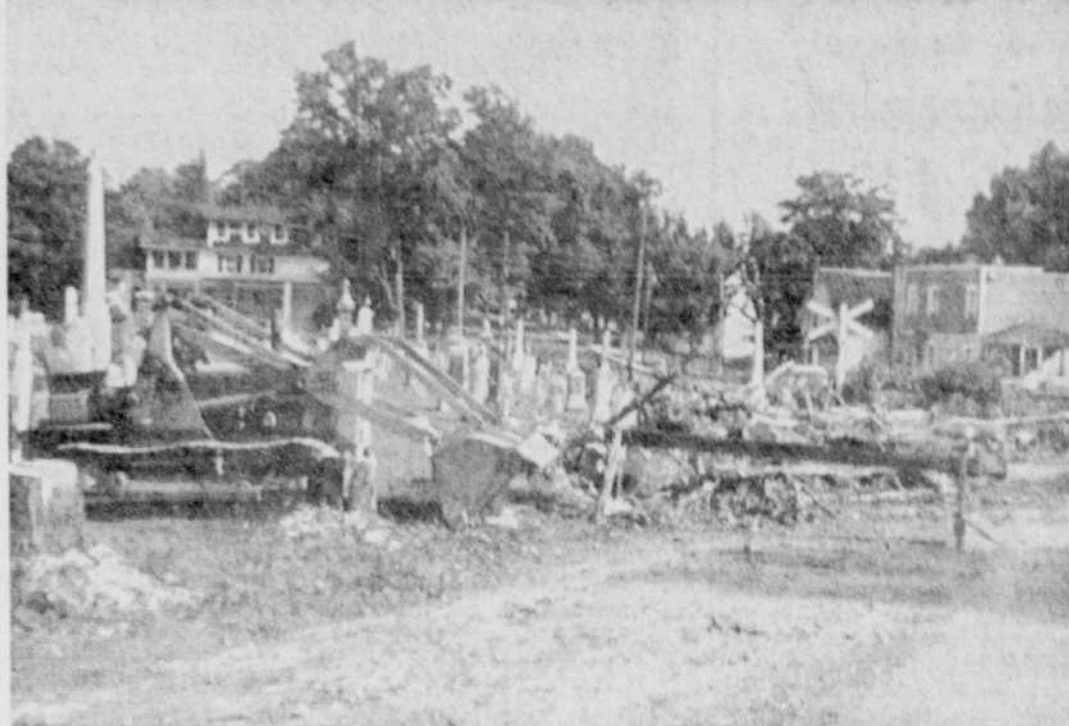

This led to the suspicion that she might have picked up a worm disease (trichinosis) from eating imperfectly cooked ham or pork. She was injected with every known "miracle drug."

After each injection, she seemed to have longer chills and higher fever.

When the possibility of a tuberculin-type allergy (periarthritis nodosum) was suggested, a hunt was begun to find some substance to which she might have developed hypersensitivity.

After following more blind clues than a private eye in the most baffling whodunit, the medical detectives had their problem solved by an alert night nurse who noticed that her patient applied a facial ointment that she took from a jar on her bedside table each night.

The ointment contained a sulfa drug intended as an acne preventive. Use of the ointment and all other drugs was stopped. And the patient recovered, having presumably been sensitized to sulfa at the time of her operation many years before.

WATERLOO CEMETERY IMPROVED — The Town Council has started work around the Waterloo Protestant Cemetery, as proposed by the committee, and the Cemetery Association is making good progress with the necessary improvements. The old trees have been cut down, the old fence has been removed and the ditches on Court and St. Joseph streets are ready to be levelled for the laying of sidewalks. The new fence has arrived and will be installed as soon as possible. . . .

Seeking asylum

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Ten Poles, including a young mother and her child, quietly sneaked ashore from the Russian tourist ship Estonia Monday night. Nine of the group asked for political asylum and the tenth, a man, was expected to report to the police some time today. The Estonia meanwhile sailed for Gdynia, Poland.

Fatal vodka

DEAL, England (AP) — George Mathias, 53, a miner, was an uninvited guest at a party in a cafe. He boasted of his drinking prowess and drained 20 ounces of 100 proof vodka in one gulp to prove it. Five minutes later he stood up, swayed and collapsed on the floor. He died. A coroner's inquest returned a verdict of death by misadventure Monday night.

Miss C. Aulis given shower at Sawyerville

SAWYERVILLE — Mrs. Dwight Forgrave, Mrs. Clayton Parker and Mrs. Pedersen were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Corine Aulis, a bride-to-be of the month. A large number of friends and relatives were present.

Mrs. John Aulis, the bride's mother, Mrs. Armon McBurney, the groom's mother and Mrs. James McBurney, the groom's grandmother, were also given like corsages.

Miss Caroline Aulis, niece of the bride, drew in a little wagon several times laden with useful and pretty gifts for the bride's home. They were passed around to be admired by all. Miss Aulis graciously thanked her hostesses and friends for the happy occasion. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by several young girls.

Rev. E. R. Hay is inducted at Theftford Mines

THEFTFORD MINES — A moving and inspiring service took place at the United Church on Wednesday evening, July 6 when Rev. E. R. Hay was inducted as minister of the Kinnear's Mills-Theftford Mines pastoral charge.

The service was conducted by Rev. R. A. Mitchell, of Magog, secretary of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery of the United Church. In his address to the minister Mr. Mitchell spoke in a down to earth manner which, combined with an excellent sense of humour and fine delivery, proved to be thoroughly enjoyed. Rev. W. H. Boomhour, of Waterloo, chairman of Presbytery, addressed the congregation. Rev. H. Fraser, of Sawyerville, read the Scripture lesson and Rev. E. E. Breen, of Cookshire, led in prayer.

An anthem, How Great Thou Art, was rendered by the choir, accompanied by Mrs. A. Kinnear at the organ.

In an impressive yet simple ceremony Mr. Boomhour, assisted by Mr. Mitchell, inducted Mr. Hay into his new pastoral charge. This was especially gratifying to the Theftford Mines congregation, since it was the first time an induction service had been performed in the comparatively new church.

A social hour followed in the Church Hall. John Skokoe, of Inverness, invoked the blessing, after which refreshments were served by the ladies of the Kinnear's - Mills - Theftford Mines churches.

Mr. Fraser brought greetings from Presbytery. Leslie Sanderson spoke on behalf of the congregations of the two churches welcoming Mr. and Mrs. Hay to their new charge.
