Saigon may be coming

PARIS (AP) — The South Vietnamese government's observer mission at the suspended Vietnam peace talks here was reported Tuesday to be preparing for the arrival of a full-scale negotiation team from Saigon within 11 days.

This reinforced a widespread expectation among diplomats here, in Washington and in Saigon that President Nguyen Van Thieu is likely to end his boycott of the conference in a matter of days.

South Vietnamese government sources made plain they share that expectation although some suggested Thieu, for domestic political reasons, may need time to prepare his country for the turnabout in the position of his government.

Informants did not disclose details of the arrangements they said were being worked out in Saigon between Thieu and United States Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker.

But one source indicated that the key to the formula likely to emerge amounts simply to this: Each of the four parties to the conference—the Americans and the South Vietnamese government team on one side, the North Vietnamese and the South Vietnamese National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) on the other—will be left free to interpret the basis of representation as it wishes.

COULD HOLD UP START

If this is correct it might, in the view of diplomats of several interested countries, give rise to yet new procedural problems which in turn could hold up the start of substantive talks.

The expected arrival of a Saigon delegation by Nov. 30 will make it technically possible for the peace conference, in its new, expanded phase, to begin rolling in December.

The observer mission led by former foreign minister Pham Dang Lam is busy hunting for a headquarters in downtown Paris and organizing direct radio communications between the mission and Saigon.

South Vietnamese government informants stressed that Thieu has reached no final decision on who will lead Saigon's delegation. The post has been offered to Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky.

North Vietnam's delegation is being quietly reinforced in preparation for the start of full-scale negotiations. Only Monday a group of second-level officials flew in by way of Moscow.

... attack goes on

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong gunners stepped up their rocket and mortar attacks Tuesday night, giving Da Nang its heaviest bombardment in three months and hitting two American infantry units, five district towns and one provincial capital.

Casualties and damage generally were light. But one of the mortar attacks on a night bivouac of U.S. infantrymen 24 miles north of Saigon, was followed by a ground attack by 150 guerrillas. They retreated after three hours of fighting.

Sixty-five rockets and mortar rounds hit U.S. and South Vietnamese military installations in Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and the biggest military establishment north of Saigon.

Several shells slammed into a U.S. Navy hospital area, but initial reports said they caused no damage or casualties.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said among the district towns shelled was Camlo, 10 miles below the demilitarized zone, which was hit by 45 mortar rounds. No new incidents were reported inside the demilitarized zone.

The South Vietnamese spokesman said there now have been 74 rocket and mortar attacks on population centres since President Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam No. 1. He said 33 civilians have been killed in the attacks.

South Vietnam repeated charges that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were violating an agreement to stop shelling provincial capitals and district towns in return for the bombing halt. Hanoi has denied making such an agreement, claiming the bombing halt was unconditional.

The U.S. command reported continuing ground activity south of Da Nang, where more than 600 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have been reported killed in the last three days.

Defense review

The question is arms

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's foreign policy review includes such questions as whether to keep defence forces in or out of Canada's two major security alliances, Prime Minister Trudeau disclosed Tuesday.

He told the Commons the review, began last May, involves "what kind of defence policy we need, whether in or out of NATO, in or out of NORAD and so on."

The important aspect of the NORAD review is what Canada wants to put into it in the way of arms, he said.

If it was decided to contribute practically nothing, the agreement would become defunct.

But Canada might decide to increase its arms commitment to NORAD, he said.

Canada renewed the NORAD pact with the U.S. last spring for a five-year term. The Canadian commitment includes three Voodoo interceptor squadrons and two Bomarc-missile sites, both a defence against bombers.

Either Canada or the U.S. has the right to withdraw from the defence pact on a year's notice.

GAVE NO INDICATION

But Mr. Trudeau gave no indication of Canada's course. He told one questioner that Canada had not proposed a NORAD review to the U.S. government.

To a question about the prospect of stationing additional U.S. troops on Canadian soil if the Canadian arms commitment to NORAD is reduced, Mr. Trudeau replied:

"Of course it is a possibility, but I would not suggest it is a likelihood."

Mr. Trudeau also said to the best of his recollection the American light anti-ballistic missile system would not come under NORAD, which Canada jointly administers with the U.S. for the defence of North America.

He also said there had been "no difficulties whatsoever" with the U.S. in interpreting the NORAD agreement to allow for anti-ballistic missile defence capability.

Months ago, Mr. Trudeau had indicated in public that he wished to emphasize North American defence. And there have been hints in Ottawa circles about a possible reduction in Canada's NATO commitment in Europe, comprising a 5,000-man land brigade and an air division.

SAW NO CHANGE

From his Tuesday Commons comments, observers could not detect any real confirmation or change in this approach.

Although Mr. Trudeau has spoken of the possibility of a Canadian withdrawal from NATO, Ottawa officials privately rule out the possibility.

At the recent NATO ministerial meetings in Brussels, Canada agreed to maintain its military strength in Europe and also cancelled a planned 20-per cent reduction in its six-squadron air division.

But Mr. Trudeau last week described as "not correct" a statement by Britain's Defence Secretary Denis Healey that all NATO allies except France and Ireland had agreed to step up their contributions.

Last month U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk was reported by Ottawa informants to have told Ottawa bluntly that Canada should maintain its present troop strength and nuclear capability in Europe.

West Germany also has urged NATO members not to reduce the strength of the alliance.

Seventy miners trapped

FARMINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Fire and explosion ripped through a slope-shaft mine in this northern West Virginia community today with as many as 70 coal miners trapped, Marion County Sheriff Robert Tennant said.

Authorities said nine men reached the surface but there was no report on the other 70. Tennant said flames and black smoke billowed from the mine—the Mountaineer Coal Co.'s No. 8—between Farmington and Mannington. The area is in the north-central section of the state, about 200 miles north of Charleston and about 40 miles south of the Pennsylvania state line.

The coal company office said heat in the shaft entrance halted almost any rescue effort for the moment.

Mine officials said smoke poured from the Llewellyn shaft and the Mod shaft of the mine.

At least three 15-man rescue teams waited at the slope, a supply entrance to the six-mile-long tunnel.

There was no indication what set off the first explosion which rumbled through the mine at 5:55 a.m. EST. Tennant said at least two more explosions occurred inside the Llewellyn shaft about 8:30 a.m.

Wives and children of the mine's workers rushed to the entrance. The identities of the nine who reached the surface were not available.

Deputy sheriff Ralph Turman said the situation "looks very bad." He said those who came out emerged at a point about six miles from the scene of the explosion. They apparently made their way to safety through a maze of underground passages.

Red China is still left out of UN

MAO TSE-TUNG
Still out in the cold

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — For the eighth straight year, a bid to seat the Communist Chinese regime in the United Nations was defeated Tuesday night in the General Assembly.

The 126-member assembly rejected a 16-power bid to seat the Peking regime and expel the Nationalist Chinese of Formosa by a vote of 58 against, 44 for and 23 abstentions, including Canada. The assembly had debated the question for nine days.

The assembly also resoundingly defeated an Italian motion that would have sent the whole matter of Chinese representation to a committee for study. The vote on this was 30 for, 67 against and 27 abstentions.

Last year the vote on this was 32 for, 57 against and 30 abstentions.

Canada, making another step away from previous positions, abstained from voting on the Italian resolution. In the last two years it has supported it.

A United States proposal that the vote on the Chinese representation resolution, generally called the Albanian resolution, be called an "important question" requiring a two-thirds majority for passage received easy approval. The vote on this was 73 in favor, 47 against and five abstentions. Canada supported this.

The China question first came before the UN in 1949. But there was not a vote until 1961. The closest it ever came to passage was in 1965 when the vote was 47-47 with 20 abstentions.

CHANGED VOTE

In 1966, Canada made a major change in its vote here by dropping its usual support of the U.S. opposition to Communist China. That year Canada abstained from the vote. It was suggested by Canada then that both Chinas should be seated, with the Communists taking the Security Council seat. The vote that year was 57 against, 46 for and seven abstentions. In 1967, with Canada maintaining its position, the vote was 58 against 45 for and 17 abstentions.

J. P. Goyer, in explanation of Canada's vote this year, said Canada considers it vital that the Communist Chinese "be enabled and indeed encouraged," to participate in the work of the UN.

However, he added: "In our view the representation of the People's Republic of China—desirable and necessary as this is—ought not to be brought about without taking into account those already represented in this assembly."

Royal commission will conduct inquiry into booze sales

QUEBEC (CP) — A three-man royal commission will inquire into allegations of illicit liquor sales during the current strike of Quebec Liquor Board employees and investigate the possibility of handing over liquor sales to private enterprise.

The double-barrelled inquiry was announced Tuesday by Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand following charges by Opposition Leader Jean Lesage that the liquor board has co-operated in illegal sales of liquor since the strike began June 26.

The commission will investigate liquor commerce in Quebec province since Jan. 1, 1964, covering a three-month strike of liquor board employees in late 1964 and early 1965 when Mr. Lesage's Liberal party was in power.

It will also study "the most efficient and the most economic means of ensuring supervision" of liquor sales, inquiring into the possibility of breaking the liquor board monopoly as a vendor of liquor.

Named commission chairman is Judge Lucien Thinel of St. Jerome provincial court. The two commissioners are Marcel Belanger, a prominent Quebec City chartered accountant, and Otto Thur, economist at the University of Montreal.

The premier told the legislative assembly that a police inquiry continues into the seizure in suburban Vanier Nov. 8 and 9 of more than 9,500 bottles of liquor from Melchers Distilleries Ltd.

Several people have been called before the courts to answer accusations in the affair, including Guy Marinier, secretary treasurer of Melchers, who, as holder of a distillery permit, is accused of illegally delivering alcohol.

Others include four Melchers sales representatives and the president of a Vanier cement and tile firm who were charged with conspiring in the illicit traffic of alcohol.

Mr. Lesage immediately expressed satisfaction with the government decision to hold a public inquiry.

The former premier asked the government to provide the Opposition with services of counsel who could cross-examine witnesses who testify before the commission, since the mandate covers a period when the Liberals were in power.

Asked whether there was illicit liquor commerce during the strike in late 1964 and early 1965, Mr. Lesage said:

"I don't know. There might have been sales by the board."

He said if there was illegal commerce during this period it was not brought to his attention and the Liberals "have nothing to hide."

Mr. Bertrand said the inquiry, ordered by the cabinet Monday night, would not seek "to blame or destroy anyone." It would inquire into actions of the liquor board during both strikes.

The commission would make the first study in depth of liquor sales in Quebec since the board was established in 1921 as a government body to act as both a vendor and administrator of liquor commerce.

Mr. Bertrand told a news conference the commission would compare Quebec's system with the liquor sales system in Ontario and some states in the United States.

Early in the strike Labor Minister Maurice Bellemare stated publicly his preference for transferring liquor sales to grocery stores, where beer is already available in Quebec province.

In the house Tuesday, Liberal house leader Pierre Laporte said the Opposition was on the verge of naming another Quebec distillery involved in liquor commerce during the strike but would not go further since this has become the task of the commission.

Marcel Pepin, president of the Confederation of National Trade Unions which represents the striking workers, issued a statement calling on Mr. Bertrand to order police to stop illicit liquor trade.

He said that despite the seizure at Vanier "our strikers notice that the network of distribution is nevertheless functioning secretly and there is movement of liquor with the protection of police."

Farmers want details on milk policy

OTTAWA (CP) — The Dairy Farmers of Canada have asked provincial agriculture ministers for a meeting to work out details of a new national milk recording scheme.

The basis for the scheme is outlined in a report drafted by an action committee set up at a national milk recording conference in Ottawa in October, 1967.

The dairy farmers want a regionally-administered plan for milk recording, animal testing and sire evaluation that is uniform across the country.

At the 1967 conference the hope was expressed that the action committee could produce a scheme that would be farmer-financed and ready to go into operation. But after reviewing the action committee's report at the 1968 annual meeting of Dairy Farmers of Canada, it was decided to seek further meetings with the provincial ministers.

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture wants to have the project discussed at the annual agricultural outlook conference of federal and provincial agriculture officials and farm organization representatives in Ottawa Nov. 25.

Negotiations break off again

Domtar men turn down offer

By DENNIS FINLAY
(Record Staff Reporter)

Raymond Pinard, director-general of Domtar Kraft and Pulp Paper Ltd., said this morning that negotiations between the company and the union representing its 1,200 mill and office workers, have been indefinitely discontinued.

No new date has been scheduled for negotiations to reconvene. Mr. Pinard said in a Record interview.

Yesterday in Quebec City, an offer of 35 cents per hour wage increase spread over a period of three years, was turned down by the union.

Mr. Pinard said today that Maurice Bellemare, minister of labor, is reported to have said in Quebec City yesterday that the 35 cents offer is the last offer the government mediator will make.

Mr. Pinard said the company is willing to accept the offer. "Nothing further can be done," he pointed out.

He said negotiations might not start again.

He said the resolution of the problems depends now upon the union, which has turned down all the offers it has received to date.

Charles Ferland, assistant strike director in charge of picketing at the Domtar plant in Windsor, said this morning that the striking employees will definitely turn down the offer of 35 cents over a three year period.

He said a meeting will be held Thursday, "probably", to discuss the offer.

"We want to go back to work like men," he said.

Mr. Ferland was supposed to appear in court today to face charges of causing $100,000 damages to the Domtar plant in Windsor and helping 150 men break into the plant.

He and two colleagues, Clement Potvin, a strike director, and Valliere Dion, an assistant strike director in charge of discipline, who face the same charges, will appear November 26, 27, 28 and 29.

The last time the three men appeared in court, 200 Domtar employees filled the courtroom to capacity.

They were quiet and orderly and did not demonstrate.

Mr. Ferland said laughingly today that he and his colleagues would probably appear in court many times before the end of the strike.

The 35 cents per hour increase spread over a period of three years was offered by Real Mireault, deputy minister of labor.

Included in the deal was a retroactive wage offer of $65.

Jean-Guy Morin, the union's negotiator, said many clauses and proposals in the offered contract were unacceptable.

The strike began July 18

To discuss C of C letter of criticism

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce, criticizing the difference of opinion between Mayor Armand Nadeau and city budget chief Marcel Savard with regard to the city's budget, will be discussed at the next session of council.

The letter which the city received last week was too late to make this week's agenda.

C of C directors say bad publicity concerning the city's financial status could weaken outside interests' confidence in Sherbrooke.

It states that it is unfortunate the incidents at City Hall last month received so much attention in the press.

Mr. Savard said today that he has not seen the text of the letter and therefore could not comment on it.

He said that Sherbrooke, as other municipalities, is having its financial problems.

Mr. Savard said Sherbrooke is not having any more trouble than Montreal, Ottawa, Quebec or Ontario.

"It's time we cut down on expenses and acknowledge that fact that we can't go on with deficits like this."

Last month, Mayor Nadeau criticized Mr. Savard's budget ideas and called them unrealistic.

He admitted that Sherbrooke's budget was being abused but said that the city was in good financial shape.

The mayor said today that the crux of the problem was because both he and Savard had two conceptions of what the administrative committee should be.

"My conception is that the administrative committee should be like a regular committee of city council that meets in committee every week."

Savard says this is unnecessary because the budget concerns every alderman and every department. All expenditures of the city are listed on the treasurer's agenda every Monday night. The council meeting is in effect a meeting of the general administration committee, points out Savard.

SPECIAL MEETING

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce will hold a special meeting tomorrow to discuss and take a stand on a report of a provincial C of C committee on the constitutional problems of Quebec.

Copies of the report have been sent to Chamber members.

This report does not yet reflect the official opinion of the whole Quebec Chamber of Commerce organization.

Chamber delegates will meet in Quebec December 14 to take a stand on the report's idea.

The conclusion of the report, based on the economic point of view, is that Quebec will expand only if it remains a part of Canada.

Telephone banking in 10 years, pavilion creator tells Rotary

The man who was responsible for the concept, design and construction of the Telephone pavilion at Expo predicts that in 10 years time banking by telephone will be in Canada's larger centers such as Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver.

Tom Sullivan, chief engineer for Bell Canada says before this happens, banks will have to be in a position where their work volume will require an automatic program.

Mr. Sullivan told the Sherbrooke Rotary Club last night that banking by telephone is now being used on a trial basis in Delaware.

He said the touch tone telephone (push button type) recently introduced in Sherbrooke, can become an important part of a businessman's life.

The speaker, using an apparatus connected to a computer station in Cooperstown, N.Y., demonstrated to Rotarians the step by step process of banking by telephone.

"It's a versatile piece of apparatus," said Mr. Sullivan pointing out that the instrument also featured musical tones.

However, he added, "its capabilities can be put to a sophisticated use — like talking to a computer."

He said business people wishing to understand the full capabilities of the touch tone may attend the Bell Canada communication seminar presently at Place Victoria in Montreal.

Mr. Sullivan said that by using the touch tone, calls can be put through faster and more efficiently.

Cadet corps to be English

An English language cadet corps will begin in Sherbrooke shortly, sponsored by the Sherbrooke Hussars RCAC. It has been announced by Lt. Col. James Strickland.

In order that young men from 13 to 16 years of age get some idea of what today's militia is like, and the role played by the Sherbrooke Hussars, the regiment will hold an open house tomorrow evening from 8 until 10 p.m. All prospective cadet recruits and their parents, as well as those wishing information on service in the regular militia are invited to attend. Others wanting to gain a look at today's modern reserve force will also find tomorrow's gathering of interest.

The displays will consist of equipment used in the army today, and to add color, there will be demonstrations of the use of radios, first aid, weapons and techniques.

Bus parking switched

The new parking spaces for buses on King Street West at the King-Wellington Streets intersection have helped circulation improve as much as council had hoped when it made the decision to move the buses' parking spaces further down King West from the intersection.

The buses' parking spots are now opposite Depot Street.

Now there is another free lane of traffic, close to the curb, making it no problem to turn onto Wellington

Car theft and licence cheat charged

Clement Plante, 19, of 105 Champlain Street, Disraeli, chose a trial by judge and jury yesterday when he appeared before Judge Roland Dugre in Court of Sessions on two charges of car theft and one charge of illegally registering false information on his birth certificate.

Judge Dugre was to set the amount of bail today after studying the accused's record and present case.

Plante is represented by Gerard Chapdelaine, and Andre Langlais is the Crown Prosecutor in the case.

Plante is accused of stealing a car worth $500 from Eugene Carrier in Disraeli October 22, and of stealing a car worth $1,000 from Guy St. Onge in Disraeli November 17.

He also faces a charge of changing his birth date on his birth certificate so he could obtain his driver's licence without his parents' consent.

Jean-Claude Dupont, 23, of 20 King East, Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of breaking and entering with the intent to commit a crime.

He broke into the Harold Mooney Garage in Sherbrooke November 13.

Dupont, who pleaded guilty last week to a charge of breaking and entering with a theft of $1,089.60 worth of merchandise, will be sentenced tomorrow.

Jack Young, 50, of Pine Street, Stanstead, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

He was fined $100 and court costs or 30 days in jail and his driver's permit was suspended for six months.

He was given a month's delay to pay the fine.

He was arrested November 17 in Stanstead.

Roland Camire, 32, of 881 St. Pierre Street, Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty to a charge of loitering and intrusion in a private residence.

Judge Turmel sentenced him to a month in jail.

The accused has a previous criminal record. Mr. Cote informed the court and besides, Camire was arrested while acting like a "Peeping Tom", he said. He was previously convicted on a charge of indecent action.

Gathering of the Clans

It's that time of year again when all good Sherbrooke and area Scotsmen join in a night of merriment to celebrate St. Andrew's Day, the patron saint of Scotland.

The 8th Gathering of the Clans will be held this Saturday evening in the Williams Street Armory.

Festivities will begin at 8:30 p.m. and run into the early hours of Sunday morning.

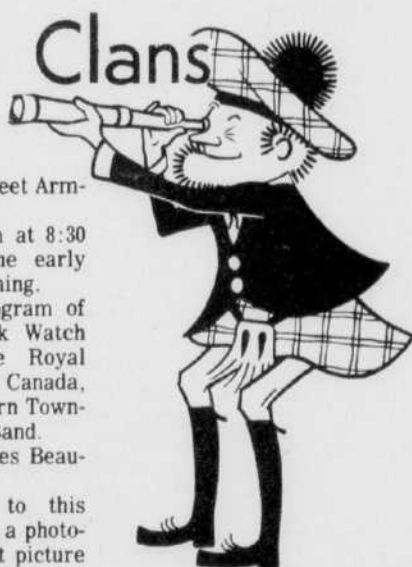

Featured on the program of events are the Black Watch Brass Band and the Royal Highland Regiment of Canada, sponsored by the Eastern Townships Highland Pipe Band.

Dancing will be to Les Beaulieu's Band.

A side attraction to this year's program will be a photograph contest. The best picture taken during the gathering will be decided upon by the organizers of the annual event, and the winning photographer will be awarded a $25 prize.

The Black Watch Brass Band is under the direction of WO 2, Ben Ford. Stewart Christie is the Drum Major. The ET Highland Pipe Band is under the direction of Pipe Major Ibrei Nutbrown.

Anyone interested in further information on the photography contest should contact Austin Cook, 28 Academy St., Lennoxville, Box 343.

Secrecy not solution for civic problems

Whatever may be the merits of the opposing views being argued by Mayor Armand Nadeau and General Administration Committee Marcel Savard on the financial problems facing the City of Sherbrooke, the directors of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce are walking on tricky ground when they argue that the dispute should be held behind closed doors.

The sole argument that can be advanced for this thesis is that the argument may undermine the confidence of outside investors in the city's finances.

But this is based on the assumption that all the outsiders know about the financial position of the city is that which comes out in a Council debate; that they believe everything is fine unless some alderman upsets the apple cart.

However any group preparing to make any substantial investment in municipal securities does so only after the deepest investigation which involves more than the nice picture which may be painted by any mayor or alderman.

If anything a public airing of the municipal financial problems may do more to strengthen outside confidence than to undermine it.

Budgetary problems are not unique to Sherbrooke. In fact, every government everywhere from the tiniest hamlet to the powerful United States administration is finding itself in difficulties—as Finance Minister Benson will attest—and one of the healthiest signs is that an administration is ready to recognize the problem exists and is prepared to do something about it.

Opinions as to the measures required can differ but at least the citizens, who must finally pay the price of any decision taken by the Council, should receive the information they require to determine the merits or demerits of these opposing views.

The problem will not disappear merely by sweeping it under the chesterfield.

The one person who always gets his request fulfilled is the fellow who asks for trouble.

Journalistic milestone

The syndicated column has become such an integral part of newspaper publishing that it is doubtful if any daily paper on this continent does not use at least one of these features regularly.

Perhaps they may be produced by a major newspaper which sells publication rights to journals in other towns in an effort to recoup some of the costs. They may be prepared by independent companies who make a specialty of servicing newspapers large and small. Sometimes they are produced by an individual and sold directly to publishers.

They cover almost every angle of newspapers publishing — articles by experts on the affairs of the day, fashion notes, bridge lessons or even horoscopes.

And they are not new, for the year 1968 marks the 200th anniversary of the syndicated newspaper column.

The prototype, whose descendants have proliferated greatly in two centuries, was called "Journal of Occurrences" and was edited by Boston patriots for distribution throughout the colonies and in England.

The column had high quality patronage, colonial papers using it including the Boston Evening Post, the New York Journal and the Pennsylvania Chronicle.

Even back in 1768, columnists were viewed with alarm.

The "Journal of Occurrences" dealt mainly with daily sufferings of the good people of Boston at the hands of the red-coated British baddies.

They call 'em cheese-cake photos because most of 'em are pretty crumbly.

OTTAWA OFFBEAT

OTTAWA — There's a new breed of political cat in the East Block, the "Action Central" on Parliament Hill of the federal government.

They're Prime Minister Trudeau's regional eyes and ears. Every prime minister has them — the scouts and agents of the party who are supposed to keep him alerted to what's going on across the land.

They have always been an important component of the machine of government. For no prime minister, under the unrelenting responsibilities of political and national leadership, has the time, or perhaps even the energy to concern himself with the fine details, the small print of day-to-day developments here, there, and everywhere in the 10 provinces and the two territories.

Other prime ministers have depended, as scouts and secret information agents, on party bagmen, senators, a few chosen MPs, very senior aides and a select few others comprising an inner circle of confidants.

This prime minister has the same sort of information network . . . but improved, refined, higher powered with this new breed of political cat.

They are the men who are manning what the prime minister calls his "regional desks," covering Ontario, Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland, the Prairies and the West Coast.

TOUGH BABIES
These agents are "ten-minute-egg-type guys," as the prime minister describes them.

They're toughies, whose sole responsibility is to lay it on the line and tell it to the prime minister the way it is.

And this is the difference. Other prime ministers have been plagued by "pussy-cats" around them who have told them what they think their boss wanted to hear.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker especially was a victim of information his people tailored to what they thought was his taste. So he seldom got to hear it the way it really was.

This new kind of cat doesn't mew, it howls . . . even if it means keeping the prime minister awake nights with worry instead of lulling him with soft sounds of reassurance.

Take any one of them . . . take, for example, David Thomson, chief of the prime minister's "prairie desk."

David Thomson initially was the soft-spoken executive assistant to Energy Minister Greene when Joe was doing his "countryboy" act in the final months of the Pearson government as the straw-chewing agriculture minister.

Biafran war

Outbreak of kwashiorkor took a ghastly toll of Ibo fighters

AP Special Correspondent
Hugh Mulligan, veteran of wars in Vietnam and the Middle East, continues a first hand look at the Biafran situation in the second of a three part series.

"The war was supposed to be over in a month. It was prolonged by the fierce determination of the Ibos and made more ghastly than anything Vietnam has experienced by an outbreak of kwashiorkor, the protein-deficiency disease always prevalent in western Africa but now an epidemic.

As the Biafrans fell back into a circle of rain forests, abandoning farms and villages and shut off from food by a lack of ports, trucks and gasoline and the loss of airfields, more and more children fell victim to kwashiorkor, the Ghanaian word that means "red man." Their hair turned orange-red, their legs swelled, the skin on their matchstick bodies turned scaly and hard, they became listless and indifferent to food, falling into a torpor and eventual death, usually while asleep.

Even now, with church flights from the Portuguese island of Sao Tome and Red Cross flights from the island of Fernando Poo in Equatorial Guinea braving Nigerian attack to fly in 100 tons of relief food a night to Airstrip Annabelle, the dead and the dying are everywhere.

They are not dropping on the roads as they were a month or so ago, but every backwoods sick bay, every feeding station, every refugee camp presents the same sad spectacle of hollow-eyed children with washboard ribs and skeletal arms and legs curled up on mats in the shade, their throats capable of making only low croaking sounds, their shrinking bodies already encased in a leathery cocoon of scaly sores.

"The problem is not becoming less acute; if anything it's getting worse but now we can do a little more about it," said Sister Ann Obeta at the Umukpara sick bay, where the nuns coax children to sing and dance to keep from falling into a fatal sleep.

"Gowan, Gowan," they sang. "His teeth are rotting from eating ground nuts; the Hausas all have horns on their heads."

The song ridiculed Maj. Gen. Yakubu (Jack) Gowan, son of a Methodist missionary, trained at Sandhurst, Nigeria's chief soldier and chief of state, and the Hausa tribe, the Moslem peoples from the north who have long been the major rivals of the Ibos.

As the sing-song chant suggested, the roots of the struggle in Nigeria go beyond the simple political fact of secession. The problem took shape in the late 1800s when British traders and Roman Catholic and Protestant missionaries began to reap a ripe harvest among the diverse tribes occupying the basin of the Niger River.

LIVED IN FEAR

The river and its Y-shaped tributaries split the region into three tribal groupings. In the northern grasslands stretching to the Sahara lived the Hausa and Fulani, nomadic Moslem tribes who for centuries abducted into slavery the forest-dwelling southern peoples, including the Ibos and Ibibies.

To the west were the Yerus, with a multitude of gods and a carefree outlook on life. To the east in the rain forests beyond the Niger lived the Ibos, a backward forest people who practised cannibalism and lived in fear of the haughty Moslem tribes.

These were the major tribes, but the assortment of peoples and religions that Britain moulded into a colony also included such tribes as the Edos, the Annangs, the Ogojas, the stately Arochuku, the Efiks and the Ijaws or river people.

The Islamic tribes rejected the missionaries and shut their Christian followers in "saban garris," squalid quarters beyond the sod ramparts of the walled Moslem cities and villages.

The eastern and southern tribes, especially the Ibos, welcomed the missionaries and responded with enthusiasm to the staccato drumbeat of "Come, come, come to school" that soon echoed in the forest.

Given the polish of education, the jungle virtues of endurance and tribal unity transformed the Ibos into Africa's most progressive people. They emerged into a tight-knit society that pooled its savings to send the brightest children to college in England, North America and Russia, prided themselves on the number of two-storey houses rising in the bush and dotted the countryside with clinics, hospitals, factories and co-operative breweries and palm-oil distilleries.

HELD TOP POSTS

By the time Britain granted freedom to the 56,000,000 peoples of Nigeria, the 8,000,000 Ibos held more than 50 per cent of the civil-service posts and 75 per cent of the commissions in the small army. Discovery of large deposits of oil in the Niger basin a few years before, most of it in territory now claimed by secessionist Biafra, was changing Nigeria from an economy based on palm oil and cocoa into a major oil producer. Even greater wealth was promised by rich deposits of tin, coal, iron, zinc, lead, gold and columbite, a compound rare and in great demand in nuclear industries.

The federation was not only Africa's most populous emerging nation but also its most geographically promising. The aggressive eastern peoples needed the cattlelands of the north, the farms of the west and the ports and fisheries of the south to take care of the expanding population.

But the seeds of destruction — economic, political and religious — soon sprouted in the ancient rivalry between the Hausas and the Ibos, the former looking upon themselves as the chosen people of Allah, the latter even now, on the point of decimation, never tiring of telling the stranger how clever and sophisticated they are.

The shaky coalition among the three major tribes first was sundered in January, 1966, when five young Ibo army officers declared a private war against what they considered corruption in the government of Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, the capable, soft-spoken northerner who had tried to make the federation succeed despite the rapacity of those who surrounded him.

POPULAR COUP

With characteristic Ibo efficiency, the officers killed Abubakar and murdered or kidnapped other prominent northerners. The coup was popular until the word spread north that only one Ibo had been killed, for refusing to turn over the keys of the arsenal, and that the uprising seemed directed more against northerners than against corruption.

Fanned by Islamic incantations against the eastern tribes, smouldering tribal rivalry ignited a counter-coup from the north six months later. It installed Gowan in Lagos as commander-in-chief and precipitated a blood bath.

The Ibos claim 30,000 of their tribesmen died in the pogrom. The British foreign office, which is touchy about military help given to the federal side, says the true figure is more like 10,000.

guys tell it like it is

By RICHARD JACKSON

The only thing soft about David Thomson turns out to be his voice.

He was the Trudeau advance-man in the election campaign. And the difference between his way of paving the campaign way for Trudeau and the way Conservative Leader Stanfield's advance-men did it could account for at least some of the difference between Tory and Grit when the votes were counted.

OR ELSE . . .
Watch them as they worked over the same territory, the French-English Eastern Townships of Quebec, in the weeks of last spring's election.

Stanfield's advance-team, a trio from National Conservative Headquarters in Ottawa, rolled into town and city in the lush and lovely Eastern Townships only some 30 minutes ahead of his helicopter. They rattled up and down the main street with a loud-speaker truck, shouting for people to "come and meet Mr. Stanfield." No wonder the Stanfield crowds set no records — who, on 30 minutes notice, can drop everything to hear a campaign speech?

With Trudeau it was different. Five to six weeks before he was to appear at any town or city — and there was nothing firm about his appearance until the last moment — in came advance-man David Thomson.

Tough, uncompromising, demanding the hard facts from local political leaders, and making hard demands of his own. What kind of shape was their organization in? How much dough did they have in the campaign chest? How much more could they raise? What kind of crowd would they turn out if — and only if — Trudeau should come in?

They'd tell him — and it was never enough. He set targets for organizational excellence, financial backing, and most of all the size of crowds.

They'd hit these targets or Trudeau wouldn't appear.

David Thomson took nothing on faith. Trudeau was highly mobile — in and out fast, with an even more highly flexible itinerary, made up week to week and only tentatively.

Just hours before Trudeau was to appear, in would rush David Thomson to check organization readiness and crowd shape-up. If they didn't measure up, that was it. Trudeau would skip the place. Word got around. Just about everybody shaped up.

And that's the kind of cat he has on his "regional desks."

Bygone days

TEN YEARS AGO
Members of the Eastern Townships Textile Association were told last night by Raymond Charlebois, superintendent of the Sherbrooke division of the Dominion Textile Company that the European textile industry has better and more modern machinery than Canada.

The speaker said that the Canadian industry will strive to equip itself with these popular machines.

Mr. Charlebois and Dave Johnson, manager of the Drummondville division of Dominion Textile Company, who also spoke, spent the summer months in Europe, visiting industrial fairs and European textile industries.

The speaker claimed that German workers earn an average of 45 cents per hour, plus 33 per cent of benefits.

In Switzerland, where there is a lack of labor, the workers earn about 60 cents per hour and 40 per cent benefits.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
The regular monthly dinner meeting of the Omega Alpha Club was held at the YMCA on Dufferin Street.

Interim president John Loughheed outlined the need for an interim vice-president until the regular January elections of the club are held and Ken Hetherington was duly elected to the post.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Miss Margaret MacLaren, superintendent-in-chief of the Saint John Ambulance Brigade, and Miss Juliette P. Ramsey, provincial superintendent, reviewed the local "Clara Lloyd Felton," No. 184, and "Evangeline" No. 94 divisions on Wednesday evening at Rockcliffe, Quebec Street.

Miss Juliette Trudeau, lady district officer, presided at the dinner held prior to the inspection.

Czechs' problem

Must tell people the promises are fiction

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

With Moscow constantly applying the goad, Czechoslovakia's Communist command appears edging more and more toward the time when it must tell its people the promises of reforms and freedoms are now only fiction.

Moscow wants "normalization." This means that Czechoslovakia has no choice but to create the impression that it accepts Soviet commands and is obedient to them. This can bring anything from a complete shakeup of the present leadership to a determined crackdown on Czechoslovaks who still manifest angry resentment at the Soviet intervention.

An indication that the breath on the Czechoslovak leaders' necks has become uncomfortably warm comes from Gustav Husak, first secretary of the party in Slovakia, whose voice in Prague is becoming more and more authoritative. His statements suggest that "normalization" will be imposed fairly soon.

Husak on Nov. 13 made a speech—unpublished in the West—to the "people's militia" in Bratislava. The armed militia is an outgrowth of the action committees of 1948 which played an important role in seizing Czechoslovakia for the Communists. It has long been regarded as an arm of the conservative, Stalinist wing of the party.

"I want to state frankly," Husak said, " . . . that whenever in these days any demonstrations take place in our streets, we shall regard them as diversionist demonstration aimed against this state and against our party, and all the state and other organs will proceed accordingly."

AIMED AT YOUTH

Husak—more conservative than other leaders now in power and a possible successor to Alexander Dubcek as first secretary of the Czechoslovak party—aimed his remarks specifically at young people who still stage angry demonstrations against the intervention. The young people, by the tens of thousands, want retention of the policies inaugurated in January by Dubcek, looking toward reforms and freedoms.

In his speech, Husak referred to what has been going on as creating "an atmosphere for an inner political struggle, that is, a struggle for political power."

California's Yosemite National Park attracts some 1.6 million visitors each year.

Bedford and district hold Armistice Day celebrations, large crowd attends parade

By E. J. CRAIGHEAD
(Record Correspondent)

BEDFORD — (Special) — Bedford and district honored the men of two world wars who fell in the service of their country on Monday, Nov. 11, at a large-attended service at the soldiers' monument. Veterans present from both wars attended together with some American veterans.

In addition to the townspeople were Girl Guides, Brownies, Boy Scouts, Cubs, Catholic and Protestant students with their teachers. Daughters of Isabella, members of Missisquoi Chapter IODE and the Chamber of Commerce.

In charge of the parade was Robert Lippert, with Charles Bockus as master of ceremonies, under the auspices of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch No. 82 of Phillipsburg.

Brome Branch Legion settles mortgage debt on November 11

KNOWLTON — (Special) — On the traditional day, November 11th, The Brome Branch No. 23 Royal Canadian Legion held their Annual Banquet in their own hall. Upwards of two hundred members, and guests attended this important occasion in the long history of the Branch.

Seated at the head table was the President of the Senior Branch, Albert Smith, Mrs. Albert Smith, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, the Padres, Rev. Canon T. E. R. Nurse and Rev. Father Boucher, His Worship Mayor and Mrs. Lorne Church, Mr. Herve Gagne, Vice-President, and Mrs. Gagne, District Commander Tom Doucet and Mrs. Doucet.

The program commenced with the singing of O Canada, and Grace was pronounced by Rev. Nurse. The Toast to Fallen Comrades was given by Captain G. A. Rotherham, the Last Post, and Reveille was sounded, Miss Sue Crandall was the bugler, and Miss Sue Blackwood was the drummer, both under the direction of F-Lt Leo Corcoran.

At the completion of the meal two unique and important events took place, the first being a presentation of a Meritorious Service Medal to J. Stephen Morson, this is a very great honor as it is the highest award that can be presented by the Royal Canadian Legion.

The President read the citation, and requested Mr. Morson to stand, he regretted that the awards committee had not been able to obtain the Medal in time for tonight's proceedings, but announced that this would be presented at a later date.

Mr. Morson acknowledged with very sincere and humble thanks for this honor that had been conferred on him by his comrades in the Branch.

Following this presentations were made of Certificates of Merit to the following: John Syberg, Earle Falle, Bill Russell, Leonard Westcott, and Mr. Tedman. These certificates are presented to members who have over the years worked hard and diligently for the furtherance of the work of the Legion, and in particular to Brome Branch. Each recipient was requested to present himself at the head table where the President presented the certificates.

Following these presentations, the next important event in the life of the Branch was a presentation of a giant six by four foot cheque for $6,000 to the Branch from the Knowlton Social Club. This amount was the sum required to pay off the mortgage balance, and was presented to the Branch by the treasurer of the Knowlton Social Club, Fred Tedman.

The treasurer of the Legion, Stephen Morson was requested at the head table to receive the cheque on behalf of the Branch, and the ceremonial burning of the mortgage then took place.

Stephen Morson received the cheque which was then pinned up on the wall for all to see, while a more convenient sized cheque will be officially presented at the bank. This occasion marks the total indebtedness of the Branch, so now, as remarked the President, the Branch is again ready to expand and increase the facilities for the Branch activities.

A Poppy Fund Report could not be given at this time, as returns are not yet completed and the Chairman of the Poppy Campaign, Ford Doherty reported that while the campaign looked very promising, he would not yet commit himself to final hopes for figures.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies Rev. Father Boucher pronounced the Benediction and the National Anthem was sung. Tables were quickly cleared away by many willing hands and the remainder of the evening was spent dancing to the music of Norman Lloyd and his orchestra. So, the thirty-ninth

Eva admits clothes compulsion

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (Reuters)—Beautiful Eva Gabor can't resist buying dresses, thousands of them. But when her husband returns home, she's usually nude—in the swimming pool.

"When it comes to clothes, I am like an alcoholic," said blonde, Hungarian-born Eva. "I keep on buying them. I can't stop myself."

Eva's equally beautiful sister, Zsa Zsa, often telephones from London, Paris or Rome to describe the latest European fashions. Eva instructs her to buy the recommended clothes.

"I will probably never wear them," said Eva. "But I could not part with them."

"Zsa Zsa collects diamonds. With me it is clothes, clothes, clothes."

Most of the dresses hang unused in the wardrobes of her Hollywood home. Eva wears few if any clothes after work.

Miss Gabor rarely goes out at night. "Except once or twice when I can't get out of it. Like the Academy Awards. You have to go. You have to be glamorous."

She often conspires with friends or neighbors, such as Lucille Ball, to arrange an excuse for staying at home.

Why does the actress, who has a television series role calling for her to dress in the height of fashion, shun the Hollywood social scene?

Balance of payments will weaken

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's balance-of-payments position will weaken somewhat in 1969, but the current-account deficit should remain "reasonably low relative to the growing size of the Canadian economy," a Montreal economist predicted Tuesday.

Richard Scott-Ram of the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada told the Montreal Economics Association he estimates the current account deficit for 1968 at about $270,000,000 and forecasts it at about $600,000,000 to $550,000,000 for 1969.

His forecast was "intentionally on the optimistic side" because Canada was headed for a "merchandise trade surplus" of $125,000,000 in 1968, almost twice as large as the previous high in 1964.

Stanbridge East Social Notes

A happy family birthday party took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Davitt, Nov. 3, in honor of the 17th birthday of their granddaughter, Miss Darleen Davitt.

After opening gifts from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Davitt, grandparents, sisters and brothers and Miss B. Boomhower, who joined the family celebration, refreshments were served, the highlight of which was a beautiful birthday cake with 17 candles, made and decorated by her mother.

Visitors at the home of Mr.

and Mrs. Gardner Chrysler on the occasion of Mrs. Chrysler's birthday, Nov. 3, were Mrs. Harold Poirier, Sutton, Mrs. Frank Butler and Mr. Butler, Cowansville, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Derick and their children, Judy and Peter, Mrs. M. Bokus and Mrs. C. Chrysler. She received many gifts, greetings and a telephone call from her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chrysler, St. Catharines, Ont.

The refreshment table was centered with a beautiful birthday cake made and decorated by Mrs. Merle Boast, Frelighsburg. A capacity crowd attended the Firemen's Halloween Ball on Friday evening, Nov. 1, in the Memorial hall, Stanbridge East.

Bobby Gardner's orchestra provided the music for modern and square dancing.

First prize for costumes was won by Mr. John Guay; 2nd, went to Miss Martha Baker. The door prize was a Fire Extinguisher won by Mr. Russell Crandall. Two hundred dollars was realized from the event.

Special guests are entertained by South Bolton Women's Institute

SOUTH BOLTON — On Oct. 31 the Women's Institute held its November meeting with Mrs. Walter Westover, Provincial vice-president; Mrs. Eric Sherrer, County president; and Mrs. Ethel Coates, as special guests. Mrs. Coates and Mrs. John Cameron were honored as being at the first meeting held 47 years ago, Oct. 31, 1921, when Mrs. Cameron was nominated as president and Mrs. Coates as secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Coates, although not a member of the Institute today, has been a staunch supporter of the organization.

A card, signed by members present, was sent on the occasion of Argyle Lane's 79th birthday, along with a pot of purple chrysanthemums.

A donation of $15 was voted towards an iron for Mrs. Vera Meilleur, who lost her possessions in a flash fire, and who formerly held the office of secretary-treasurer when a member of the W.I. Citizenship convener, Mrs. M. Bray, gave a report on the distribution of Pennies for Friendship Fund.

Mrs. Sherrer gave a speech on the various funds and their use.

Mrs. Westover explained the contest, to be held by a thread company in which $350 in prizes will be given out. She also encouraged the initiation of more new members.

Mrs. Beatrice Burbank, secretary-treasurer, gave highlights on an interesting review of the history of the local branch.

Refreshments were served to guests and members at the close of the meeting.

Grade 8 pupils visit Ottawa

At 8:30 p.m. October 23, 22 grade 8 pupils of Mansonville Intermediate School left for an exciting two day trip to Ottawa. At the end of a two hour bus ride to Dorval Airport, they boarded a four engine turbo-prop airplane, and took off for a thrilling thirty minutes ride to Ottawa. The flight was smooth and they enjoyed coffee, served by a charming stewardess. The landing was described by one of the class thus — "It felt as if your stomach was upside down."

They arrived in Ottawa at 12:10 and checked in to their hotel. From there they went to a cafeteria to meet Mr. Yves Forest and have their lunch, then went to the Parliament Buildings and listened to an assembly in the House of Commons. They heard Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Diefenbaker speak, and stood very near Mr. Stanfield.

The policemen were very friendly and showed us the library. It was really beautiful. Then some of them retired to the hotel, while others went shopping.

Their second meal was in the restaurant of the hotel. Then most of the class went to a movie, and back to their hotel rooms to visit with friends.

The next morning, they rose early and went to the Mint. This was a most interesting visit. Next they went to the War Museum. They returned to the hotel, checked out and hurried to the CN Station to board a train for home.

They arrived at Montreal and took a school bus back to Mansonville. This was a very interesting experience for their class.

South Bolton

Mr. Rodney Davis, Mrs. Emma Willey and Mr. Walter Shuttleworth motored to Sherbrooke recently.

Mrs. Frank Gross, East Richmond, Vt., visited Mr. and Mrs. Burton Tracy and attended the evening service at the Bethel Pentecostal Church with the Tracys. Other visitors at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Purvis, Burlington, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mogue, Chambly, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lallier and sons, Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence White and Mr. John White, Mansonville, were recent visitors at the Cameron-Bloomfield home.

Mrs. Vera Meilleur, who recently lost all her possessions in a flash fire, and now living here, wishes to express her gratitude to the many people and business establishments throughout the area, who came to her aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian Heath and sons, Stanley and Roger, have now moved into their trailer home in Potton. Mr. Heath drives the large truck for Korman's milk farm, to places as far away as Boston, Mass., Halifax, N.S., and New Brunswick. Recent visitors of the Heaths were Mr. and Mrs. K. Heath and family, Mr. Wallace Aiken, Mr. Clifton Jersey, Mansonville, Mrs. John Watson, Mrs. Maria Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Ross McNeil and family, Potton, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Heath and family, Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Starr and family, Troy, Vt., Messrs. Murray and Gordon Newell, Dunkin, Mrs. Guy Smith, Highwater, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Persons and family, Cowansville, and Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Durrell.

Friends here arranged a card shower on Mr. Argyle Lanes' 79th birthday, which he celebrated Oct. 31. Mr. Lane, who owns Lane's General Store, received a potted chrysanthemum plant from the Women's Institute and many other gifts.

The Mansonville Fire Department was called out on Oct. 29 to Charles Labranche's garage where a car caught fire, while a motor was being transferred to another car, while an acetylene torch was being used. The car was pulled outdoors, and took eight fire extinguishers to put out the fire. An estimated $200 damage was reported to both cars.

Miss Dolores Powlett, Barbados, recently spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. John Watson, of Potton, Mr. and Mrs. Watson formerly lived in Barbados.

Heartburn Not Connected With Particular Disease

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

(First of Three Related Columns.)

Q—I eat no rich or fried foods but I still get heartburn after every meal. Upper and lower digestive tract and gall bladder X rays are negative except for a spasm in my colon. What would cause my distress?

A—Heartburn is a burning feeling caused by the regurgitation of acid stomach contents into the esophagus. It is not characteristic of any particular disease and may occur in normal healthy persons at times. Persons who swallow air build up an excessive amount of gas in the stomach. When they belch, some of the stomach contents may be forced up into the esophagus.

Heartburn often occurs in an aggravated form in persons with peptic ulcer, hiatus hernia, gallstones, gastritis or as a result of excessive smoking. It is interesting to note that, although your stomach and gall bladder X rays were negative, you had some spasms in your colon. This, too, is often associated with persistent heartburn.

Q—Are antacid tablets harmful if taken frequently for heartburn? They do help me.

A—Such tablets are relatively harmless but their prolonged use interferes with the absorption of phosphorus and leads to a syndrome characterized by weakness, loss of appetite and vague pains in the bones. This can be prevented by eating eggs and other foods that contain phosphorus. Antacids do nothing to relieve the underlying cause of your trouble. This should be determined so that you need to rely on antacids can be eliminated.

Q—Two doctors told me I have a large air bubble in my stomach. How can I get rid of it?

A—There is always some air in your stomach. When the amount gets uncomfortably large, you ordinarily get rid of it by belching but conscious efforts to belch are associated with air swallowing, so why not let nature take its course?

Q—Does one have pain with cancer of the stomach? Do stomach ulcers ever completely heal?

A—Early warning signs of stomach cancer are strikingly absent. The first sign may be a loss of appetite. Late in the course there may be mild abdominal distress but rarely any severe pain. Stomach ulcers can be cured

What's so great about it?

It's a Jane Parker Fruit Cake.

And we think it's great because of what goes into it.

You see, the best fruit cake has less cake...more fruits and nuts.

And Jane Parker Fruit Cake is

OVER 2/3 FRUITS AND NUTS...

with just enough delicious cake to hold the fruits and nuts in place.

It's literally bursting with Canadian cherries, pineapple from the Far East, sun-drenched raisins from California, citron from Italy and pecans from the South.

What else can we tell you to convince you that

Jane Parker Fruit Cake is great?

Well, we can tell you about the price.

What would you expect to pay for a fruit cake like this? $8, $7, $6, $5?

How about $3.99 for our 5-lb. cake.

That's great too. Isn't it?

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

In chess, a gambit is a sacrifice of a piece or pawn in order to gain advantage in position. In George Coffin's ABC of card play, G stands for gambit and he defines a bridge gambit as a sacrifice of a trick to gain two or more in return.

We don't recommend South's bidding of today's hand but he did bid the slam and it was up to him to try to make it.

Many players would lay down a high trump at trick two. If this dropped the nine, bidder would enter dummy to discard his losers on the ace, king and queen of hearts. If the nine failed to drop, South would run off several more trumps and eventually try to get to dummy with the queen of spades. This will not work because East holds the king, and South would be set a couple of tricks.

The gambit play is far better. It consists of leading a low diamond at trick two. This gives the defense a surprise trick with the nine, and establishes an entry to dummy for the good hearts and will bring home the small slam, provided the third heart doesn't get ruffed.

Not only does this play work but it represents a far better method of attack than the play of the high trump first.

There would be no play for the slam if West had happened to open a spade, but West had a normal club lead. A lead from queen-jack-10 always looks good, while a lead of a doubleton looks dangerous.

WINNING NUMBER 653 — The first drawing of the weekly giant Half-and-Half, organized by the Sherbrooke Beavers Hockey Club, was held last evening at the Sports

dent of the Independent Hockey League, is holding the box. The holder of the ticket should contact Marcel Coriveau as soon as possible. (Record photo: Gerry Lemay)

University of Sherbrooke meets U of M Carabins this evening in first tilt of Quebec Cup

The first game of the Quebec Cup among universities in the Province of Quebec will take place this evening at the Sports Palace when the green and gold hockey squad of the University of Sherbrooke will be hosts to the University of Montreal Carabins.

This is the first match in such competition between two clubs who play in different conferences and the outcome will be interesting to watch. Last year the Carabins ran away with a 16-4 decision over the green and gold but it could be different this year.

In their other game last year the green and gold lost 9-4 to Laval University of Quebec but these two games can't be used as any indication as to be outcome this year. Sherbrooke has a well balanced club this year and should be in a position to provide stiffer competition.

The Carabins play in a strong circuit that the Ottawa - St. Lawrence Conference, which is considered far superior to the local one. In an early game the Carabins tangled with Laval College and went down to a 5-1 defeat which speaks well for the OSLA circuit.

Tonight's game will be the only one played between the two teams in Sherbrooke. The next game is booked for Montreal later in the season. It will be a good opportunity of seeing just how the green and gold will stand up.

Coach Charles Thiffault hopes to have a full squad on hand for tonight's tilt. Gaetan Clavet, who was suspended for a game, will be back as well as Normand Meunier, who missed last Friday's game, owing to a suspension.

Waterville nips Sher-Wood 7-5 in Dow Independent League

Waterville Firemen won their second straight game last night, advancing into a third-place tie in the Dow Independent Hockey League standings, clipping league-leading Sher-Wood 7-5 before 450 fans at the Sports Palace.

As a result of the win, Waterville moved from the Dow circuit cellar, into third place. The Firemen are tied with the Coaticook Dynamics, each team with four points.

Sher-Wood continues to lead the league with seven points, two better than the Sherbrooke Indians. The Indians have not seen action since last week when they were defeated by the Coaticook Dynamics 6-5.

Waterville opened the scoring early in the first period, Peterman scoring on a pass from Mills. Seven minutes later Sher-Wood tied the score 1-1 on a goal by Langlois from Lacroix and Beaudette. This was all the scoring in the first period.

At 13:55 of the first, Waterville man was thrown out of the game by referee Marcel Vaillancourt. Peterman was given a misconduct by Vaillancourt after a heated discussion. Peterman, infuriated at the call, then threw his stick into the air. Vaillancourt added a match misconduct and as a result the Waterville defenseman is now suspended for one game.

Waterville moved to a 5-2 lead in the second period on goals by R. Lecours, two, Al Grazy and P. Beaudette. Sher-Wood's lone second period tally was scored by B. Mercier.

In the third period Waterville scored two quick goals to go ahead 7-2, before Sher-Wood found the range and tallied three goals late in the period. Waterville's markers came from Beaudette and Guillemette while Sher-Wood goals were scored by A. Gagnon, two, and P. Langlois.

Beavers lose by one again

Tigers edge Beavers 3-2, Bill Sweeney joins locals, Bob Bedard gets hattrick

Victoriaville Tigers posted their second straight victory last evening when they eked out a close 3-2 win over the Sherbrooke Beavers. It was a closely fought game with Andre Gagnon once again coming to the fore in keeping his mates in the tilt.

In the other tilt veteran Bob Bedard's hatrick was registered in a losing effort as the Vics of Granby came out on the short end of a 6-5 count in St. Hyacinthe. The win allowed the Gauls to extend their lead to six points over the pack.

Victoriaville Tigers moved into a tie for second place in the standing with Phil Watson's Sags of Chicoutimi but the crew from the north holds three games in hand over Lou Poliquin's staff. Granby, also with three games in hand, holds down fourth, seven in the rear.

The diminutive Jacques Michel was the thorn in Sherbrooke's bid for a victory. The speedy winger came through with a two-goal effort while Richard Charron, who has been used sparingly by Coach Poliquin, came through with the winning tally, a lucky one at that.

The Beavers had a new centreman, Bill Sweeney, in action for the first time and his addition will help Coach Cline to fill one gap through the centre. Sweeney, who was reinstated as an amateur a couple of weeks ago, played pro hockey with Bruce Cline in the American League.

It was the third loss suffered by the Beavers by one goal with the Tigers. Victoriaville has won 3-2 twice and 5-4 once while being held to a 2-2 deadlock in the four games this year. All have been close battles.

Charron's winning tally was a lucky one for which he got the credit. He was standing in front of Gagnon when the puck was passed out hitting his stick to deflect slowly into the opposite side of the net. It came in the third period just after the three minute mark.

Gaston Bouchard tallied the first marker of the game in the first frame just before the half-way mark. Robidas and Foster drew assists on the marker. It came when the Beavers were having trouble in getting the puck out of their own zone.

This lead didn't last very long as just a minute later Michel Jacques finished off a play, when he was left uncovered in front of Monette. He chalked up his second goal of the game when he stole the puck from Luc Tessier and Monette had no chance on the drive.

Jacques Monette came up with some big saves during the first frame but Coach Cline called on Andre Gagnon to finish the game he had 31 shots in the last two periods. J. C.

In the final period Charron's goal, which gave the Tigers the victory, was the only one registered. Both clubs were going all out but the goalies were holding their ground and the tage. A few minutes later Bouchard was tagged but nothing happened during his absence.

Bob Bedard came through with another top performance as he paced Granby's attack with his 10th, 11th and 12th goals of the season. Jean Fata and Pierre Lepage notched the others for the Vics in the losing effort.

For the Gauls the duo of Viens-Gosselin found their touch again with the latter potting two goals and Viens getting one while helping on two others. Noel Lirette, Michel Cormier and Claude Goulet potted the others.

Marcotte was in the sinbin when Bruce Cline evened the count in the middle period. It was the only tally of the frame.

Andre Gagnon had to make some key saves with Mike Labrosse and Joe Hardy right on his door step. Labrosse went off later but the Beavers couldn't capitalize on their man advantage.

tilt ended 3-2. Gagnon robbed Michel of a hatrick when he stopped him cold towards the end of the frame.

In the final minute of play Coach Cline yanked his goalie but time ran out before the Beavers could do anything as the Tigers were holding on strong. It was a cleanly fought

The Boomer looking for win over Kings, Wings at Forum

Coach Bernie Geoffrion and his New York Rangers have a couple of good reasons for wanting to trounce Los Angeles Kings tonight.

The Rangers hold a one-point edge over the runner-up Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League's Eastern Division and may need the win to maintain their hold on first.

You have to go back to Nov. 6 to come up with the second reason. That was the night in Los Angeles when the Kings and their rookie goaltender Gerry Desjardins blanked the Rangers 2-0.

That shutout was the first inflicted upon the Rangers in 60 games dating back to December of last year.

So Geoffrion, who refuses to take defeat lightly, would like nothing better than to watch his Rangers defeat the Kings at New York—and by a wide margin.

In other games tonight, Pittsburgh Penguins visit Toronto Maple Leafs, Oakland Seals are at St. Louis Blues, Detroit Red Wings are the guests of Montreal Canadiens and Minnesota North Stars are at home to Chicago Black Hawks.

SPARKS THE BLUES

Goaltender Jacques Plante is playing an important role with the Western Division leaders—St. Louis Blues.

Plante, 39, who came out of retirement this season after a three-year layoff, has played in 10 of the Blues' 17 games and posted a goals-against average of 2.02. He must receive much of the credit for the Blues' four-point margin over second-place Minnesota and Philadelphia.

Another goaltender received plenty of attention Tuesday. He is Jan Marek, 21, from Czechoslovakia, who practised with Toronto.

Marek, a former player with Sparta Prague in the Czechoslovakia First Division and the

But it is unlikely Marek ever will play for Toronto. It may be difficult to obtain his release from Sparta because the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has an agreement with European clubs not to pick up players unless they have a release from their teams.

Also the Toronto system is crammed with goaltenders—three with the Maple Leafs, three with Rochester of the American Hockey League, two at Tulsa of the Central Hockey League and two at Victoria of the Western Hockey League.

Independents open cage season with 72-63 win over Bishop's Juniors

Lennoxville Independents opened their 1968-69 Eastern Townships Amateur Basketball Association league play Sunday by downing Bishop's University Junior Varsity squad 72-63 in Bishop's University Memorial Gymnasium.

Leading the way for the Independents were Bruce Coulter and John Vear with 25 and 22 point efforts respectively. Hanna was the top man for the J.V.'s with 24 points.

At half time the Independents led by five points, 32-27. Vear led the way in the first half, scoring 14 points on six field goals and a pair of four shots.

Lennoxville broke away in the second half on the strength of a 17 point effort by Bruce Coulter. Coulter scored eight points in the initial frame while Vear equalled this total in the second half.

Bishop's Hanna scored 16 points in the second half after hitting for eight in the first. Robert "Squee" Gordon was not in uniform for the Independents; a factor which could be attributed to the close finish.

At a recent meeting of the Eastern Townships Amateur Basketball Association a new executive was elected for the upcoming season. Elected league president was local cage enthusiast, Lincoln Nutbrown; vice-president, Bishop's Gaiteers mentor, Garth Smith, and secretary-treasurer, Squee Gordon.

A tip-off tournament was held earlier this month with eight teams competing. The Rock Island Border Bandits, undisputed league leaders for the past three seasons, outpointed the Lennoxville Independents in the final.

Thursday evening the league gets into full swing with the Clippers meeting the J.V.'s at 7:30 p.m. at Bishop's, Lennoxville going against the U of S J.V.'s at 9:30 p.m. and the Bandits meeting a contingent from Sherbrooke CEGEP.

In E.T.A.B.A. action Monday night Magog clobbered the J.V.'s 95-62. Ron Mackel scored 30 points for Magog with teammates Mark Dufresne and Richard Dezan scoring 27 and 20 points respectively.

For Bishop's Andrews led the way with 21 points, followed by Hanna with 16 and Stevenson with 12.

Stamps hopes to break playoff jinx tonight

CALGARY (CP) — Practice, including a 90-minute session in below-freezing temperatures, has been coach Eagle Keys' therapy for Saskatchewan Roughriders.

The Roughriders, shocked 32-0 in the first game of the Western Football Conference final last Saturday, have been on the practise field for 3½ hours and have held a couple of team Sunday.

meetings to prepare for tonight's second game in the best of three series.

The objective was to get the players back into the groove on blocking and other assignments for the 8 p.m. MST kick-off. The game will be televised on the CTV national network.

The third game, if needed, will be played in Regina next Sunday.

TROPHY WINNERS — Shown above are some of the winners of the Cowansville Little League trophies. The 7th annual closing was held when the various trophies were presented.

Cowansville Little League holds closing, Claude Raymond speaker

COWANSVILLE — The Cowansville Little League held their closing banquet and Claude Raymond of the Atlanta Braves of the National Baseball League was the guest speaker.

It was the 7th annual closing and was well attended by league officials and members of the Cowansville Lions Club, who sponsor the loop. Claude Raymond was introduced by Paul Tremblay and thanked by Bob Miclette.

It was also announced by Bob Miclette that a Pony League would be organized next year. In this manner players who graduate from Little League can move right into the new loop.

Claude Raymond, in his talk, stressed the important role baseball is playing in helping combat juvenile delinquency. He cited a few of the thrills during his career. As a rookie pitcher with the Chicago White Sox he stood with members of the club who had won the American League pennant the previous year.

Another big moment for him was when he retired Duke Snider of Los Angeles to end the game. He was player in the first game ever to be played in a domed stadium at Houston. He was with the Astros at the time. A question and answer period followed and Raymond, in his usual steady self, came through with flying colors.

The Princess Theatre Trophy for the Most - Valuable-Player was won by Paul Berger of the Tigers and was presented by Guy Bourdages. Normand Herbert presented his trophy to the Orioles for winning the playoffs while Art Stocks presented the Arthur Shepard Trophy to the Orioles, also for winning the league.

Gilles St. Martin of the Braves was named the rookie-of-the-year and Grant Peterson presented him with the Carl Bruck Memorial Trophy. Claude Raymond made the presentation of his new trophy for the pitcher-of-the-year and it was won by Pierre Boucher. Ivan Monast acted as master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Nation's leaders give to Ayer's Cliff sale

AYER'S CLIFF — (Staff) — Present and former heads of the Canadian political scene have joined in the auction to help sponsor the rebuilding of new facilities at the Ayer's Cliff skating rink.

Last year fire razed the rink's skating cabin and later a wind storm toppled one of the light poles. Members of the Ayer's Cliff Athletic Association then decided to hold an auction in hopes of raising enough money to rebuild the damaged cabin and facilities.

The auction will be held this Saturday morning at 10 a.m. in the Ayer's Cliff Town Hall. Auctioneer Howard Standish and his five-man staff have kindly consented to donate their time free of charge.

In an attempt to increase interest in the project letters were sent to the different heads of Parliament asking for their help. As a result such notables as Lester B. Pearson, former Canadian Prime Minister and T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, have sent personally monogrammed ties.

Quebec Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand has promised a monogrammed article. In the mail from John Diefenbaker, former Conservative PM, and Tory Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield, are unknown articles. Quebec Opposition Leader Jean Lesage sent a cheque.

Among other articles scheduled to go on the auction block Saturday are a number of antique dishes and glassware. A brand new chair, valued at $125 was donated by Kilgour and Sons of Coaticook.

Stoves, an iron, an electric washer are just a few of the other articles to be auctioned.
