Sixty-Eighth Year

One caught in woods, accomplice in Caisse

Tried holdup; jail in 6 hours

By IRWIN BLOCK
(Record staff reporter)

The long arm of the law swooped down yesterday on two young men who staged the ill-fated robbery on the Waterville Caisse Populaire.

Within six hours both were arrested, charged, sentenced and sent on their way to prison for a two-year term.

The two men, Gilles Demers, 18, of Sutton, and Luc Bonneau, 21, of Waterville were arraigned before Judge Redmond Hayes and both pleaded guilty to the charges.

Bonneau, who teaches at a classical college in Waterville, was charged with being an accomplice in an armed robbery, while Demers, who works for an engineering company in Cowansville, was charged with armed robbery.

It was erroneously reported yesterday that Bonneau was a teaching Brother. He is a lay teacher.

Neither was represented by a lawyer.

Crown Prosecutor Guy Blanchette asked for severe prison sentences for the accused pointing to the fact that the bank manager was injured. He also spoke of the dizzy manhunt which resulted in a road accident and the large number of armed holdups in the Sherbrooke area recently.

Bonneau was asked if he had anything to say. He did.

"My pupils have had to change teachers three times this year. If I go too, their school year will be a total loss."

"You should have thought of this before you planned this crime," Judge Hayes lashed back at the teacher.

"Teachers should furnish an example for children. Where is your responsibility?" the Judge asked.

He told the guilty pair that the law must be severe in dealing with crimes of this nature.

"I do not understand how you could have so little respect for the life and property of others," declared Judge Hayes.

He told the court that they had endangered the life of the bank manager as well as the life of "countless others" during the car chase and manhunt.

"I have no choice but to sentence each of you to two years in 'penitentiary' proclaimed Judge Hayes, adding that he was considering their youth and clean record.

"You are young—accept your punishment in the right spirit. When you get out you can teach others not to repeat your mistakes."

He also ordered the confiscation of Bonneau's car and blank pistol.

Ambassador is stabbed in Japan

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer was recovering in a Tokyo hospital from a stab wound in the right thigh inflicted by a Japanese youth who police said was mentally deranged.

Police said the assailant, Norikazu Shiotani, 19, was near-sighted and told them he wanted to protest because the U.S. and Japanese governments did not do enough for people with poor sight.

The police quoted Shiotani as saying: "I am nearsighted. The reason why Japan has no protective facilities for week-sighted people is due to bad American occupation policies."

The police said Shiotani had tried unsuccessfully earlier this year to set fire to a U.S. Embassy building to advance his crusade.

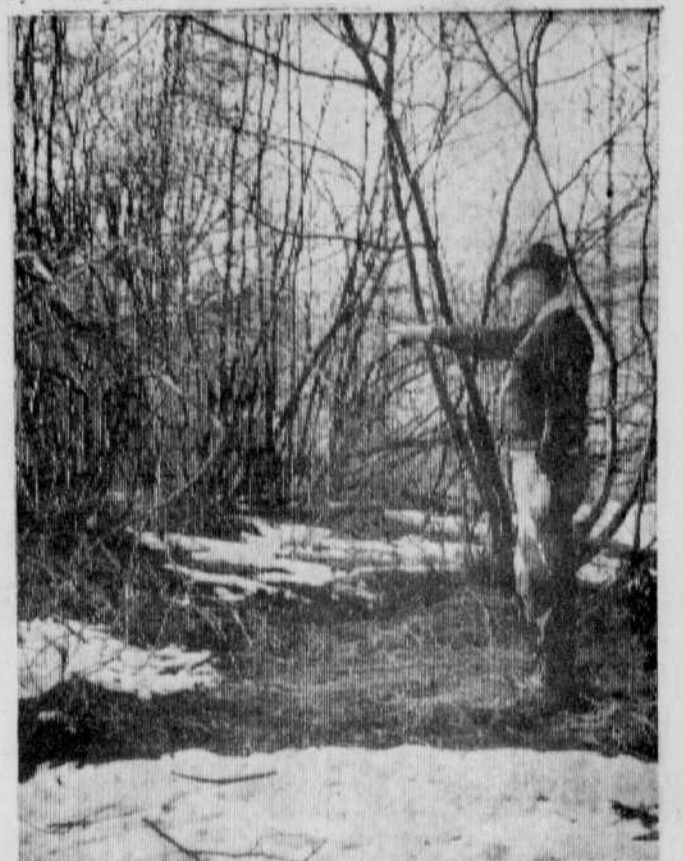

The thin, sullen-faced youth climbed the embassy wall and plunged a six-inch blade into the 35-year-old ambassador as he came out of the embassy chancery.

Quick thinking by John Ferchak, 40, an official in the embassy's commercial section, may have saved Reischauer's life.

Ferchak had moved forward to open the chancery door, but the ambassador beat him to it. The next moment "out of nowhere" came this man into the building," Ferchak said.

Ferchak heard Reischauer say, "who is that man?" And then saw that he carried a knife. Grabbing Shiotani from the back, Ferchak pushed him to the floor, forced the knife from his hand, then called for help.

Reischauer said, "I am bleeding, call a doctor," and Ferchak helped him to a seat. Whipping off his tie, Ferchak used it as a tourniquet to stop the flow of blood, then got a scarf from one of the secretaries to make another tourniquet when he saw that the tie was not effective.

Strike shuts mine

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Three Cape Breton coal mines were inoperative today, the second day of a strike by 47 mine technicians.

A shortage of railway cars brought operations to a halt in No. 12 and No. 18 collieries at nearby New Waterford. At Glace Bay's No. 26 colliery, miners went down on their regular shift at 7 a.m. but the mine suspended operations soon after. The day shift was operating at No. 20 colliery here.

TAKES RESPONSIBILITY — Municipal Affairs Minister J. W. Spooner sat on Premier John Roberts' right, Monday, as the premier told the legislature he takes full responsibility for proposed legislation giving the Ontario police commission extraordinary powers. The premier moved to refer the controversial bill to the legislature's labor, legal and municipal bills committee.

'Police state' Act killed in Ontario unanimously

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the Ontario legislature voted unanimously Monday night to kill a widely criticized section of the government's Police Act amendment bill.

Immediately afterwards Premier Roberts announced the resignation from his cabinet of Attorney-General Cass, who had introduced the legislation only last Thursday.

The two developments climaxed a long day of debate on the government's so-called "police state" legislation. The end of the debate saw the Conservatives supporting a New Democratic Party amendment to their own motion.

The members voted 96 to 0 in favor of deleting from the Police Act amendment bill a section that would have given extraordinary powers to the Ontario Police Commission.

The commission would have been empowered to imprison persons for refusing to testify under oath, and in secret, before the three-man commission of any knowledge they had of organized or syndicated crime. Attorney-General Cass, after introducing the amendment bill Thursday, had described the powers it would give to the commission as "terrible, dangerous and drastic."

In his letter of resignation to Premier Roberts, he said his comments had "unintentionally touched upon the sensibilities of our people."

Mr. Cass said he had devoted all of his efforts to the people of the province and had persevered to maintain the principles of justice and liberty in Ontario.

"Having in complete innocence aroused the concern of the people about these same principles, I do not feel that I wish to continue in this office."

Outside the House, Premier Roberts said he would appoint an interim attorney-general to day.

When the legislature began its Monday sitting Mr. Roberts immediately put forward a motion to send the amendment bill to the legislature's legal bills committee.

He did this despite the fact the bill had not received second reading. The normal procedure is to give all bills second reading—approval in principle—before they are dissected section by section in committee.

Mr. Roberts said that while he had grave doubts about sections of the bill, his legal advisers had reaffirmed to him "that the fundamental rights of the citizens of this province would not be interfered with by this legislation."

Upon starting his truck however, he felt that he had run over something and when getting out to investigate, he found the young girl dead in the street.

An inquest was to be held this morning.

Normal security

QUEBEC (CP) — Inspector General Alphonse Matte of the Quebec Provincial Police said Monday night security measures taken in preparation for the forthcoming federal-provincial fiscal conference "are no stricter than any such measures taken for events of equal importance."

Mr. Matte said he has ordered no special arrangements to cope with the march planned by Quebec French-speaking university students in support of the fiscal claims to be made by Premier Jean Lesage.

Chief tells of capture in woods

By JAMES McALLISTER
(Record Staff Reporter)

A nearly exhausted Gilles Demers, who had attempted to rob the Waterville Caisse Populaire yesterday morning, was surrounded and captured at about 1:15 p.m. with his back to the icy waters of the Massawippi river at Eustis, about three and a half miles across country from the hold-up scene.

Escaping a band of provincial policemen on the Eustis side the river Demers ran back into the deep brush on the Waterville side and directly into an area being approached by Chief Ken Hodge of Waterville and three provincial policemen.

Eighteen-year-old Demers, tired and in a swampy area overgrown with alders and thorn bushes, gave up without a fight.

The scene of his capture is near the junction of the Massawippi and Coaticook rivers, but a short distance up river from the Eustis covered bridge.

When questioned by the provincial police, Demers gave out the whole story of the planned robbery, directly involving Luc Bonneau, the friend who had provided the car in front of the Caisse.

Involved in the capture, were Provincial police Constable Claude St. Jean, Cookshire, Stanstead QPP Constables Roger Dery, Raymond Cote and Pierre Lacombe, and Chief Hodge of Waterville, who led the searchers to the area.

A package of cigarette tobacco was found on the ground about 20 feet from the spot of capture indicating that Demers had stopped, hoping to make a cigarette but upon finding he had run out of cigarette papers he threw the tobacco away, said Chief Hodge.

Demers had kept to the fields and brush on his escape route, after leaving the car smashed into a log pile at the top of the Waterville road on Route 5.

He was seen at about 11:40 near Capelton by a local resident and this helped in his capture said provincial police.

The provincial police promptly set up a force of men along both sides of the river with officers stationed near both entrances to the Eustis covered bridge. Demers got past the men on the Waterville side and crossed the ice to the Eustis side but, upon seeing policemen there, he headed back across the bridge and into the brush along the river bank once again.

Chief Hodge arriving on the scene of the abandoned car, having knowledge of the area, asked Chief Dube of Cookshire for one of his men and they set off following the bandit Demers' tracks. There was very little snow in the area making it difficult to follow the trail, they lost it a few times but always managed to find track again farther on.

Upon reaching the covered bridge, Hodge and his aide encountered the two agents of the Stanstead detachment and they joined forces, capturing Demers not far from the bridge.

THEY GOT THEIR MAN — Four QPP officers who played a key-role in the investigation of the armed robbery and manhunt in woods surrounding Waterville engage in a post mortem, with the two suspects safely behind prison walls. Left to right are Corporal Pierre Guilbeault, officer in charge of the Cookshire detachment, QPP; Corporal Rene Simard, officer in charge of the Sherbrooke detachment; Paul Berube of QPP identification service in Granby, who dusts a floor plan of the bank for fingerprints; and Sergeant Ralph Allen, officer in charge of the Sherbrooke section of the QPP.

Jailed bandit leaves art outside

An interesting piece of art work, felt pen on cardboard, was found by QPP officers in a suitcase which belonged to holdupman Demers. The suitcase contained no money. But the cardboard revealed the working of a clever but amateurish mind.

On one side of the cardboard (see photo) was drawn the plan of the Caisse Populaire with exits, entrances, and staging of the holdup all clearly marked.

The efficient and thrifty Demers, however decided to use the other side of the cardboard as well. Why not? Here he wrote the following inscription:

Bank closed until 12:30

Please return.

The manager.

But a coke-bottle-wielding bank manager foiled the attempt and Demers fled before he could hang his first public exhibition of his draftsmanship.

The bank, however was closed throughout the day.

Negro killed in racial outbreak

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A sniper's bullet killed a Negro woman and three men were wounded by gunfire Monday night, bringing tragedy into continued racial violence in and around Jacksonville after the end of a 3½-year truce.

A gun fired from a passing car killed Mrs. Johnnie Mae Chappell, 36, mother of several children. She was shot in the stomach as she walked along U.S. 1 northwest of the city limits.

Two white men and one Negro man were shot and wounded but not seriously.

Near the spot where Mrs. Chappell was killed, a white man was shot in the head. The man, Carlos Gonzales, 20, of Miami, was reported in satisfactory condition in hospital. Police said another white man was tied to a tree and slashed with razor blades.

A Negro man fired upon three sailors when they drew up to a traffic light. Police said the shot fired from another car injured a white sailor and one of his two Negro companions.

The shootings and at least 10 fire bombings came under cover of darkness while a parade of young Negroes went before city Judge John Santora and, in most cases, headed for $25 fines and seven-day terms at the city prison farm.

Charges were unlawful assembly against virtually all the 140 defendants, arrested during a day of hit-and-run demonstration and defiance of police orders to disperse.

More than 80 juveniles were taken into custody as well. Those whose parents came for them were handed over.

One of the fires hit the campaign headquarters of Mayor Haydon Burns, who is running for governor. Damage was slight.

Negroes were aroused against the mayor by a message he delivered on television and radio Saturday night pledging to halt selective sit-in demonstrations at downtown restaurants and hotels which have not followed the lead of others and integrated.

H. F. Branch, assistant police chief, gave an account of the hit-and-run tactics of bands of Negroes who roved the city Monday.

Some groups began congregating in downtown Hemming Park in mid-morning, Branch said, and police moved them along several times but without making any arrests.

When the number grew to about 350, Branch said officers warned them to leave or be arrested.

"Those who didn't leave were taken into custody," he said. Some of the ones who left soon congregated again at a Negro housing development several blocks away, but were broken up there with more arrests.

Then the groups started going through Negro schools, gaining in size, Branch said. The largest number of arrests came at that stage.

A winning rubber bridge player should adopt the opposite attitude and bid to optimistic game or slam contracts. It is much harder to defend than to play the dummy.

South's two no-trump bid is certainly a push. He does have ace-king-ace, but his hand appears to represent only three playing tricks with no stopper at all in diamonds. North's three no-trump call is even more optimistic. He has the same 12 high card points he opened with and while he figures on five club tricks he is not even sure of them.

Three no-trump turns out to be a lay down. East and West cash four diamond tricks and, since the jack of clubs drops, South takes the remainder.

Probably one of the defenders will remark how lucky declarer was to have the diamonds break four-four and there is no argument with that premise.

On the other hand there was no certainty that a diamond would be opened and without a diamond lead the hand figures to make any time that East does not hold four or five clubs to the jack.

Pass false alarm bylaw; $40 fine is provided for ★ ★ ★ Sunday elections considered

City council is going to consult various organizations in Sherbrooke before deciding to hold municipal elections on Sunday in city schools.

The decision to consult city groups was taken after doubt was expressed by Alderman Everett Nicol as to the advisability of Sunday elections.

Alderman Nicol said that many families leave the city during the weekend and this might result in a small turnout at the polls.

In making the suggestion, Mayor Nadeau pointed out that the Belanger Commission had advised the city of Quebec to hold its elections on Sunday and that Montreal held its last vote on Sunday.

The mayor added that use of the schools for polling stations would save the city money.

A bylaw was passed at last night's meeting of city council that makes city businesses liable to fines of up to $40 if police receive false burglar alarms from them.

The chairman of the city's protection committee, Everett Nicol explained that the bylaw is designed to prevent accidents.

He said that most false alarms can be attributed to negligence and that the fine would lead to more careful use of the alarm systems.

A number of city businesses have a system of alarms connected directly with municipal police stations and the bylaw is designed to prevent their being set off accidentally.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, (French section) which will hold its provincial convention in Sherbrooke August 21, 22 and 23 has asked city council for a grant of $3,000 to help meet expenses of the annual meeting.

It will mark the first time the Junior Chamber has held its convention in Sherbrooke, Mayor Nadeau told city council.

He said it is a movement of serious-minded youths who deserve the encouragement of the city fathers.

Council decided to grant the organization $2,000 and to hold a civic reception for the local and provincial executive during the convention.

In the letter, he congratulates the city for installing street lights which "are not simply small lamps."

He says that the new lighting is turning Sherbrooke into a beautiful city at night as well as during the day.

"It's giving a new life to the city," he says.

"We have to pay for it but it certainly is worth it," Mr. Labbe writes. Mayor Nadeau described the letter as "the first of its kind for quite a while."

Girl hit by car

A five-year-old girl was hit by a car Monday on St. Esprit Street, Sherbrooke. The accident victim, Christian Bilodeau, daughter of Emmanuel Bilodeau, 1400 St. Esprit Street, was attempting to run across the street in front of her home when hit by a car driven by Gerard Beaudet of 1303 St. Esprit, police said. The girl was taken to the Hotel Dieu Hospital, where she was hospitalized with a concussion, it was reported by Sherbrooke municipal police.

Baptist church groups meets at Sutton home

SUTTON — The Baptist Mission Circle held its monthly meeting at the home of Miss Hazel Bates on March 18, with Miss Bates conducting the devotional.

The newscast, given by Miss E. M. England, included a report of a court case won recently by Baptists in Spain on behalf of Protestants there, and the reading of a letter received by Miss Bates from Miss Gertrude Bonner, a Baptist missionary in India.

During the short business meeting, Mrs. Roland Gibson and Mrs. T. Surtees were appointed to the nominating committee to prepare slate of officers for the annual business meeting in April.

Mrs. O. H. Baker conducted an instructive study relative to the beginnings of Baptist missionary work in the Telugu country of India.

City council last night adopted a loan bylaw of $937,000 for the execution of a number of public works.

A public assembly of eligible voters will be called for April 6 from 7 to 9 p.m. to approve the bylaw. One hundred signatures are necessary to have a referendum.

Estimates for the cost of the projects break down into $300,000 for the opening and foundation of new streets; $18,000 for new sidewalks; $303,000 for paving of new streets; $5,000 for water meters; $10,000 for fire hydrants; $60,000 for linking roads; $48,000 for linking water mains; $2,000 to purchase land; and $20,000 for a new fire truck.

The cost of floating the bond issue is estimated at $80,800. This includes interest which will not exceed 6%, dating from May 1, 1964 to the same date 1974 when the bonds mature.

By IRWIN BLOCK
(Record staff reporter)

The main expenditure of $300,000 is for the opening of streets in Orford and Ascot Townships as well as in the West, East and North Wards.

The city will spend $10,000 for the improvement of Marie Mediatrice Park, $35,000 for the construction of a swimming pool in Immacule-Coeur Park and $15,000 for tennis courts in Charles Grenier Park.

A new fire truck for North Ward's station No. 2 will cost an estimated $20,000. Alderman Everett Nicol said this would complete the current purchasing cycle for the fire department for the next 10 years.

Expenditures of $60,000 for work on the opening of Acadia

Street between Federal and Evangeline are also foreseen in the bylaw.

The city expects to purchase, by mutual agreement or expropriation land valued at $32,000 to realize the master plan.

The purchase and installation of fire hydrants by the protection committee for the fire department is expected to cost $10,000.

An outlay of $48,000 was foreseen in the loan bylaw to join water mains to new buildings and houses which are now under construction in the city.

Associated with this is a $5,000 expenditure for the purchase and installation of meters for the water department.

It is expected that $9,000 will be spent by the city to pave Camirand Street between Ball and its southern extremity.

Pension fund assets increase $382,000

Assets of the pension fund of the City of Sherbrooke rose to $2,454,130 in 1963, an increase of $382,262 over the previous year, it was disclosed Monday in the annual report.

The Pension Fund Commission made the following investments:

Mortgage loans—$944,313.96 or 48 per cent.

Bonds—$738,267.35 or 37.6 per cent.

Common Stock—$281,889.41 or 14 per cent.

The average earning on investments increased to 5.24 per cent from the 1962 figure of 5.21 per cent.

The report shows that construction from the city to the fund increased to $161,976 from last year's total of $143,064. Employees' contributions rose from $143,064 to 161,976.

Revenues from investment with previous year shown in brackets are as follows: Bank deposits $2348 ($699); short term investments 14,529 ($3,350); common stock 14,390 ($10,017); debentures $31,933 ($28,640); mortgage loans $42,331 ($45,303).

Foresees over 1 million dead if A-bomb dropped on Montreal

A 20 kiloton atomic bomb dropped on Montreal would automatically kill at least 1,411,000 people, said E.T. civil defence director Colonel Sarto Roy at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club held at the New Sherbrooke Hotel last night.

There would be an additional 387,000 too wounded to take care of themselves. The remaining 487,000 could evacuate themselves, he said.

Since the wind high in the air always blows from west to east, fallout from such an explosion would be blown over the E.T., he said, and people would have to go underground to survive.

In a nuclear attack, said Col. Roy, Montreal would be the third most important target in North America and the most important in Canada.

The Second World War, he said, showed that civil defence could greatly decrease conventional bomb damage.

Similarly, he said, studies on the effects of the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki showed that in nuclear attack too, it was unpreparedness, chaos and the lack of medical care that caused most of the damage. The studies claimed that casualties could have been reduced to as much as 25 per cent of their total, he said.

Making civil defence survival plans cannot be left until an attack is imminent, he said, but must be undertaken early.

The object of the movement is twofold, said Col. Roy. It entails organizing in order to combat natural disasters such as floods, fires and accidents. In wartime it works to limit bomb and other damage.

The E.T. has been organized into several zones, he said. Four full-time coordinators are employed at present and more will be appointed later, he continued.

The goal of the civil defence movement, he said, is to organize 10 per cent of the population so that they can do emergency work such as giving first aid or carrying on rescue operations.

Col. Roy gave some casualty figures on that turning point in recent history, the dropping of the first atomic bomb on Hiroshima.

The bomb was dropped on August 6, 1945. It exploded 500 feet above the ground, he said. In its holocaust 80,000 people died and 40,000 were wounded. Some are still in hospitals today, he said.

However, he said, bombs possessed by the great powers now are as much as 200 times as large as the Hiroshima bomb.

When the civil defence movement was first started in 1948, said Col. Roy, the province of Quebec was the only province that took no part in it. However, in 1960, he said, the provincial government decided to accept federal money and the movement has since developed greatly in Quebec.

Prepare bylaw for re-zoning

City council received another request last night for a zoning change in the Ontario-Victoria-Prospect triangle that would allow the construction of commercial buildings there.

This time, however, request was accepted after city clerk Henri Paul Emond examined the 36 signatures on the petition and declared they were in order.

A bylaw for the zoning change is now being prepared and it will be submitted to proprietors in the zone for approval in a referendum. The referendum is being held because a group of proprietors in the area are opposed to the commercialization of the triangle.

Mr. Emond received a letter, signed by Claude Leger, Helene Vallee and Donat Pinard, which opposes the zoning change.

The zoning bylaw will now be prepared, since the petition for the change has more than 50 per cent of proprietors on record as favoring the move, and will be submitted to referendum when the bylaw is ready.

English minority ideas rejected

One criticism of the English-speaking majority in the Eastern Townships frequently voiced at the meeting of the bi-cultural commission held here last week was that the English-speaking residents of the district fail to take an active interest in municipal government.

If there is any justification for the complaint, which may be argued, the basic reason rests with the uncompromising attitude of an element in the French-speaking majority.

First and foremost, there is a widely noticeable effort on the part of majority racists to deprive members of the minority from assuming any elective office, especially at the municipal level, but also apparent in federal and provincial fields.

As a result in many councils English-speaking representation has been eliminated entirely, even where the minority represents a substantial proportion of the population. In others, the minority representation is of a token nature, probably limited to a single member on a ten or twelve man council.

In very few cases has this resulted from the reluctance of English-speaking residents to take part in municipal affairs. More often it has resulted from a determined effort on the part of the majority to oust a minority representative who has given valuable service to the municipality over a period of years.

Ultimately inevitable was the feeling

When they're supposed to go to bed is when a lot of youngsters discover they have homework to do.

Premier Robarts placed on hot seat

The speed with which Premier Robarts withdrew Ontario legislation which would have given the Police Commission of that province almost Star Chamber powers is understandable. But the great mystery is why the legislation was introduced in the first place.

Even a casual perusal of the proposals by an ordinary individual not too well versed in the principles of justice and human rights would have convinced the citizen that legislation proposed the establishment of a police state in Ontario. Under its terms the man-on-the-street could have been imprisoned indefinitely without charge and without the privilege of legal counsel because he might or might not know something about some criminal incident on which he was reluctant to testify. There was no provision in the act that he be suspected of participation in the crime — just that he might have seen or heard something about some planned breach of the law.

The income tax folk expect to hear from you. Are you going to worry about hearing from them?

The sap's running in the sugar bush

After several false starts, it looks as though the maple sugar season has finally arrived in the Eastern Townships. What kind of a season it will be cannot be known until the last drop of sap has been emptied from the last bucket, and the last ounce of syrup boiled.

But for this area, no matter what kind of a season it turns out to be, it will be a busy period for the sugar bush manager.

Day and night, as long as the sap runs, men and their sons (wives and daughters, too, quite often) will be out at the sugar camp, collecting the sweet harvest and transforming it into those among the minority that it was useless to enter and actively campaign as a candidate.

Even to offer active support of one or other of the French-speaking candidates often meant his defeat, the attitude of many within the majority being that he was a dupe for the minority and a traitor to his race.

But the tendency has been apparent in more than actual political fields and has extended through the entire range of public affairs.

Frequent attendance at proprietors' meetings called to discuss municipal issues soon brings the conviction that any strong expressions by the minority for or against an issue immediately reduces it to a semblance of a racial battle.

Probably the strongest factor in delaying the solution of Sherbrooke's water problem is the fact that it has received almost unanimous support from minority-language organizations. On the several occasions water improvement projects have been submitted to the public, this support has made the scheme suspect by certain elements among the majority and has been instrumental in its defeat.

Perhaps it is significant that one of the speakers who was particularly bitter in his denunciations of the English indifference to public affairs has long been noted for his opposition to any mingling of the two ethnic groups in this district.

Obviously the measure was sponsored by Attorney General Cass but it stood as a Government bill and therefore should have been studied by the cabinet as a whole before it was submitted to the House.

Thus the Premier must share some of the indignation which has arisen against the bill.

The dismissal of Attorney General Fred Cass obviously is a move by Mr. Robarts to placate an aroused public opinion, although it has been in the making for some time.

Mr. Cass has been involved in a number of incidents unpleasant to the Robarts Government in recent months and this rumour has provided the Premier with an excellent excuse to get rid of a troublemaker.

Fortunately for Mr. Robarts, elections are still nearly four years away and the public indignation may be forgotten by next polling day.

most delicious of all Canadian delicacies, maple syrup and maple sugar.

There will be sugar parties going on all over the district, with sweet taffy on snow vying with the woodsy, outdoors atmosphere to attract people of all ages.

It's a colorful business, this maple sugar industry.

And we in the Townships are justly proud that nowhere else in the world is there an industry on the scale carried out here that can produce as good a product as Eastern Townships maple do.

The proof's in the tasting, and just about anyone who happens by during the next few weeks will find that out.

Communists show fear of moderates

The blast by Tass, Soviet news agency, against the Erhard regime in West Germany is attracting attention for reasons besides those Moscow may have had in firing it.

Diplomats describe it as the most violent attack yet to be launched against Bonn by Soviet propagandists. Not even the former chancellor, Dr. Adenauer, was subjected to such abuse, it is noted.

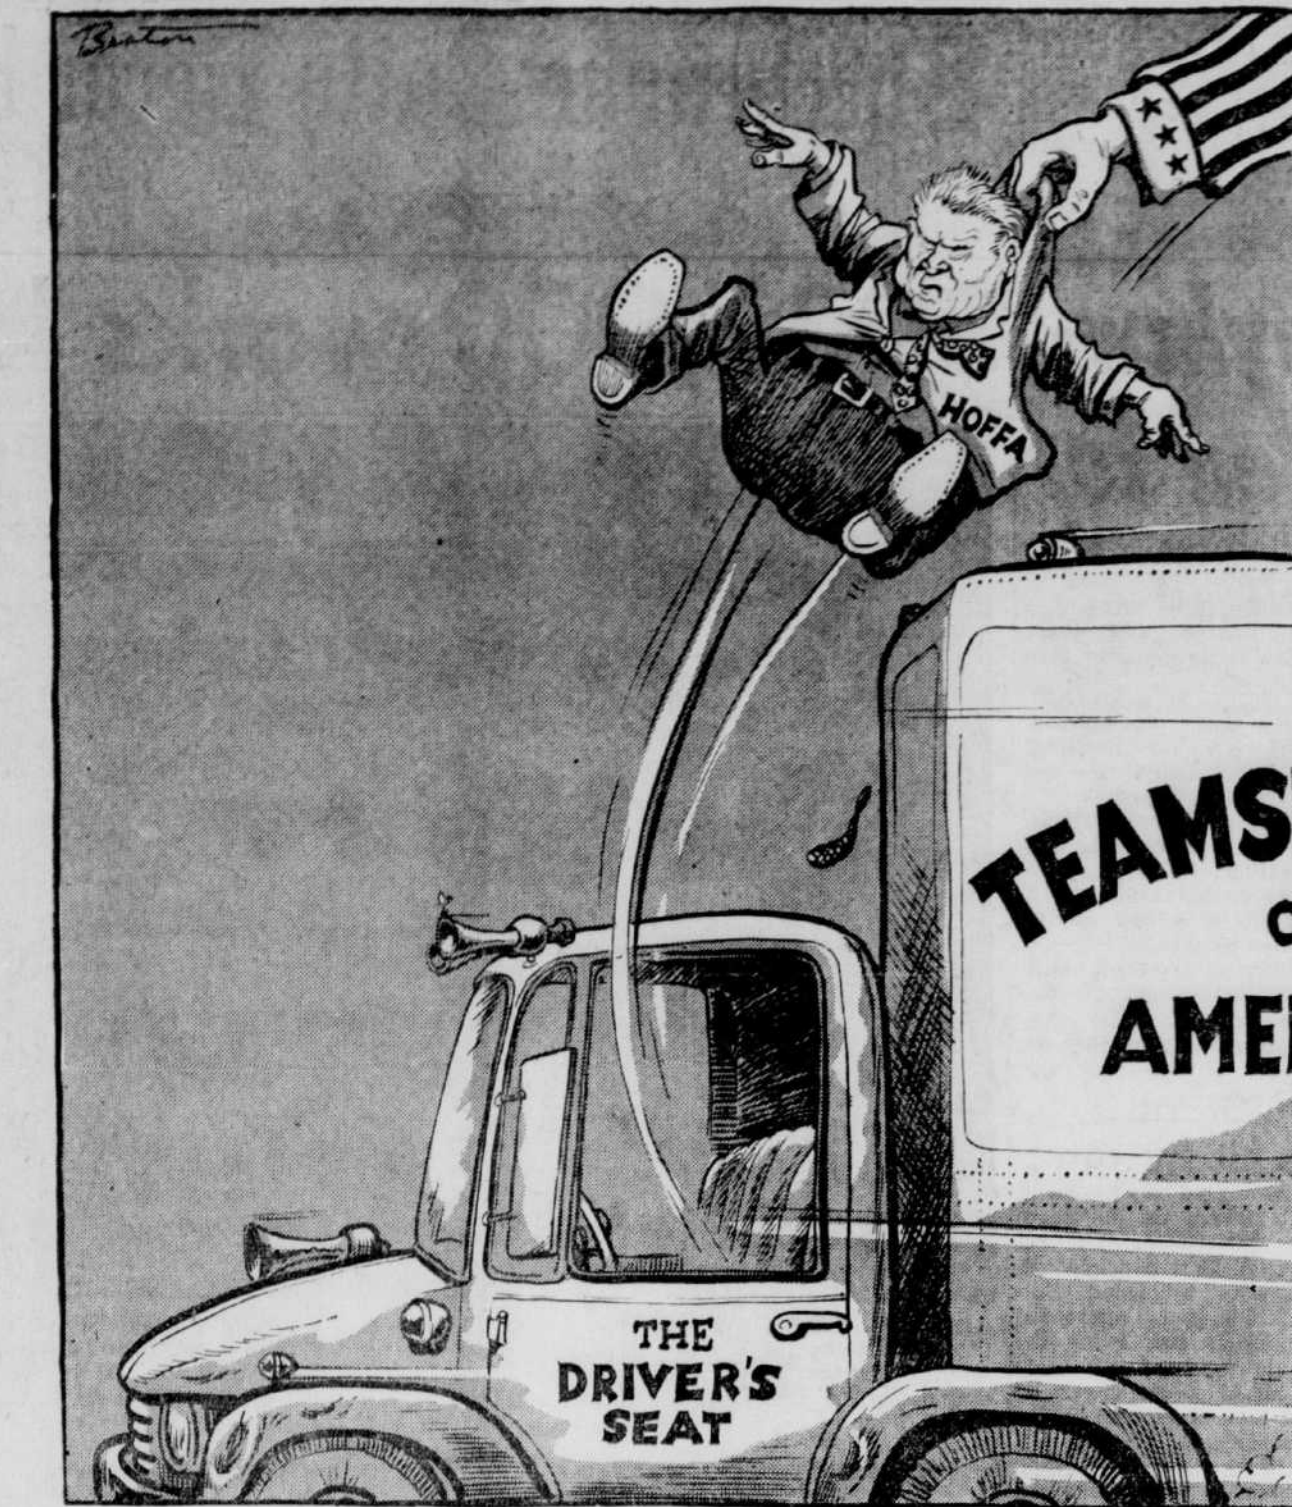

Using about 4,000 words, Tass has accused the relatively liberal and flexible Chancellor Erhard of heading a government under which a "new Hitler" could come to power. Tass says West Germany aims to have the strongest army in Europe and to restore the "Reich." It charges that the Erhard regime is backing up the plans of the military for "revenge." Those who have followed the tactics of Communists over the last decade or more will not be surprised that some of the slings and arrows that Adenauer survived have been made harder and sharper for Erhard. Communists fear moderates and liberals in power more than they fear arch conservatives, as a general rule. The latter they regard as preparing the fall of their own systems into Communist control. But the former they see as postponing, if not preventing the arrival of the Communist millennium. Actually Erhard has taken some risks to contain extreme nationalists and possible "revanchists" among his own countrymen. He has worked to keep European doors for British entry into the Common Market, and in other ways has shown himself a European as well as a German.

If a Western nation directed such an attack one of the Warsaw Pact members, Moscow would be quick to charge that nation with stepping up cold-war tensions. It is fair to ask if Moscow now sees its right hand while its left goes on vamping the rhythm of the "detente."

A blessing of electronics

Policeman, conman, businessman all can scan any man with elan

By LEON KOSSAR

Slowly, but surely, the privacy of Canadian citizens is being invaded by a complex barrage of electronic watch-dogs.

Cashing a cheque at a grocery store, doing your banking, or just talking to your office girl friend on the phone? Chances are you're being followed, electronically.

Electronic surveillance, the business of someone else finding out what you're doing by using tiny, transistorized devices and cameras, is big business in Canada today.

Canadian firms, supplied mainly by U.S. sources, are either selling or using these gimmicks to the extent we may well begin to worry about all sorts of electronic regimentation and investigation.

Every time you cash a cheque at certain stores, your photo and identification are instantly filed away.

RECORDED Whenever you hear an intermittent "beep" on your phone, rest assured your voice is being recorded.

Even, on occasion, when you DON'T hear a beep.

If your movements in a bank are suspicious, a remote control camera may quickly start shooting sequence pictures of your transaction at the wicket.

A post office official may be watching either you, or one of his own employees, through a two-way mirror or peephole. At least one post office, in Peterboro, now has experimental TV monitoring of its staff.

CHECK ON THEM Men working on telephone wires leading into your home might mean trouble. If they don't have the requisite Bell identification card, call the telephone company. Someone could be tapping your phone, or bugging your house.

People in the know generally regard the RCMP as not being in the business of electronic snooping.

Some Ontario lawyers have openly charged, or privately intimidated, that police already authorize tapping and taping of phone calls, as in the cases of certain gamblers in the Royal Commission on Crime in Ontario.

Criminals, of course, put these electronics to their own use. A recent racket in Toronto did a trust company and bank branch out of $6,000 by tapping a private residence phone wire.

CHEQUES This confidence game saw a cheque deposited in a new account at closing time one night, while another cheque was cashed on this account the next morning. When the bank checked with the reported account holder by phone, a telephone intercept replied the cheque was good.

POST OFFICE

The post office investigation branch said observation galleys are being fitted out with two-way mirrors or peep holes in many newer post offices. "This is only used, however, when there's a reason to believe a thief is at work. Only post office investigators are allowed to use these viewing points," a spokesman said.

However, a report during the construction of a Weston post office indicated two-way mirrors were being installed in 1963.

TO LOOK — Split-lens cameras, remote-control cameras, television closed circuits.

TO LISTEN — Telephone equipment, ranging from bulky wiretappers, to craftier induction - coil instruments you merely hang on, not attach to, the wires.

It could be a tiny transistor you place in the base of a telephone that rattles away all your messages, including the numbers you dial, to a receiving station a matter of feet, or blocks, away on an FM frequency. Oh it could be a wireless broadcast mike hooked into drapery, behind pictures, even hidden in a cigarette box, or ball-point pen.

Canadian law is still to be clearly defined in matters of electronic surveillance. Police and private eyes don't admit they use it. (TNS).

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Sunshine Society of Bishopton held a St. Patrick's tea in the Rebekah hall on the afternoon of St. Patrick's Day. Mrs. A. B. Skinner and Mrs. J. P. Rolfe poured tea at the shamrock centered table. Among those serving were Mrs. Irene Harrison, Miss Cecil Ainsworth, Miss Myrna Hughes, Miss Orma Currier, the Misses Ardyth and Patricia Bishop and Mrs. Hugh Vintinner.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(From the Record of Thursday, March 24, 1949)

Damage exceeding $150,000 was caused as flames swept the St. Cyr Company Ltd., hardware store, at East Angus. The blaze was discovered at 4:20 a.m. by a maid in the St. Cyr home, which occupied the second floor of the large two-story building. At noon the fire was under control but firemen from here and Sherbrooke were still pouring water into the building. Director Percy Donahue, of Sherbrooke, was in charge of the fire-fighting operations.

TEN YEARS AGO

(From the Record of Wednesday, March 24, 1954)

The Way's Mills Women's Institute closed a successful year under the leadership of Mrs. John Smith. The slate of officers for '54-'55 presented by Mrs. Gordon Cass was accepted as follows: Mrs. W. B. Holmes, president; Mrs. A. Davis, vice - president; Mrs. E. F. Hovey, secretary; Mrs. John Smith, treasurer.

TAX BILL

ROME (AP)—A bill before the Italian parliament puts it up to the now-exempt senators and deputies to decide whether they should pay income tax as other Italians do.

The Rosetta Stone, which later served as the key to deciphering Egyptian hieroglyphics, was, in effect, an example of the public relations efforts by the priests of ancient Egypt. The inscription, decreed by law in 176 B.C., informs the reader that the young King Ptolemy V has been generous and just and his policies conducive to prosperity.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — The smooth teamwork of Foreign Minister Martin and Defence Minister Hellyer in getting the Cyprus operation launched is the way Defence and External Affairs get along these days.

Probably the teamwork is closer than it ever was before. Certainly it's a far cry from the poles-apart situation under the Tory regime, when the anti-nuclear foreign minister, Howard Green, and the pro-nuclear defence minister, Douglas Harkness, were in complete disagreement.

Mr. Hellyer accepts the need to base defence policies on foreign policies. Before he began working on his much-touted white paper on Canada's new defence posture — which likely will be presented to Parliament this week, perhaps later today — Hellyer got from Martin a comprehensive expostulation of foreign policy both now and as far as it could be projected into the future.

Harkness too was not insensible to the need for this common sense approach, but he never had a chance to use it because while Prime Minister Diefenbaker committed Canada to nuclear weapons systems, Foreign Minister Green successfully opposed action by Harkness to carry out those commitments.

Foreign and defence experts agree that the least likely war in the next decade is all-out nuclear war, because it would destroy both sides. Martin and Prime Minister Pearson put great faith in the UN as the world's peace-keeper, and they foresee Canada being called upon again and again to help extinguish brush-fire wars all over the globe.

Therefore Hellyer is laying out a 10-year program that will give Canada a mobile, flexible, integrated defence force that can fill our NATO commitments and meet other needs — everything from brush fires down to police work — as these needs arise and wherever they arise.

This is a radical departure from the inflexible defence concepts foisted upon previous governments by the military brass. Hitherto our defence posture has been determined mainly by our highly specialized weapons systems: interceptors, destroyer escorts, Bomarcas and a ground-stuck army. And, too importantly, by economic considerations: weapons made in Canada provide jobs.

The day the cabinet approved participation in the Cyprus operation, it also gave quick approval to Hellyer's request for $55 million to buy 16 Hercules transport planes in the US.

The RCAF has four Hercules doing herculean duty on the Cyprus air lift, but it needs more. The 16 likely would have been bought, but later, had this crucial need not arisen.

The RCAF also has 12 Yukons, the military version of the British Britol Britannia made by Canadair Ltd. of Montreal. Five cannot be used effectively on the Cyprus run because they are only passenger planes. The seven being used cannot compare with the Hercules in performance. Or in price: the Yukons cost $6 million each plus $5 millions each in development costs borne by the government. The Hercules are $3.4 millions each.

Another lack is a long range multi-purpose attack and support aircraft like the US F-4. With this plane and the Hercules our forces would have a new look, a jack-of-all-trades and Johnny-on-the-spot capability needed in the role of what Martin called "policemen of peace".

The Sealskin Coat
They brought it sark and rich from the store
On the day my baby came;
Could I think that the pridelful coat I wore
Was a thing of wrath and shame?
But I heard a cry from the windy shore,

And I could not sleep till I rose and tore
That odious thing from me.

Youth pleads guilty to charges has sentence postponed 1 week

SWEETSBURG — (Staff) — A 19-year-old St. Césaire youth, Marcel Beaugard, who pleaded guilty early in March to a series of charges, was tried before Judge Patrick E. Delaney in the Sessions of the Peace here yesterday and had his sentence postponed one week, until March 31.

At that time, he will appear for sentence with three other

Graffey proposes a secretariat for federal-provincial affairs

OTTAWA — (Special) — A situation, I am convinced, far too little cooperative work and consultation goes into the preparation of federal-provincial conferences — especially in the taxation field.

"The Government must immediately study the ARDA approach, and the experience so far gained in the resources field. It is yet to be seen whether such a body or secretariat should be of a general nature and include all matters directly or indirectly involving both levels of government or whether initially separate secretariats should be set up on a departmental basis. The need for greater consultation on a continuous and coordinated basis is urgent. The setting up of such a body or secretariat will not contribute to the fragmentation of our country. On the other hand, it will be a step forward in strengthening the bonds of Confederation. It will not solve all the problems in this field, but I firmly believe that it will constitute a practical and positive move in strengthening a nation where we find Unity in Diversity."

Social Credit Leader Thompson said he supported a full time ministerial department of government dealing with federal-provincial affairs.

John B. Stewart, parliamentary secretary to State Secretary Lamontagne, said there is a need for co-ordination of efforts by the federal and provincial governments but there should not be "a national congress of provincial ambassadors."

In introducing his motion which died without a formal vote being taken, Mr. Graffey declared:

"In stressing the immediate need for a Secretariat or other body for Federal-Provincial relations, I am not entering into the classical argument of centralization versus provincial rights. Everybody recognizes that, under the constitution, we must have strong provincial and local governments, and a strong federal government carrying out their responsibilities."

"We recognize that the spirit of cooperative federalism demands a high degree of consultation with the provinces. Modern governmental techniques involve the notion of planning. In a federal state, without detailed and continuous consultation between the two levels of government, the result is chaos. The courtesy of consultation in matters directly or indirectly affecting provincial jurisdiction does not involve any idea of retreat or abdication of its responsibilities on the part of federal government."

"I recognize that the Prime Minister has set up machinery in the Privy Council offices on the question of federal-provincial affairs and that he, personally, is answering to Parliament on these matters. This is not enough to guarantee the high degree of coordinated and continuous consultation which is needed in our modern federal state. Recently, many of the provincial premiers have referred to the desirability of greater inter-provincial cooperation. Up until now, federal-provincial relations and consultations have been carried out on an "ad hoc" hit or miss basis — often resulting in misunderstanding and confusion. Having examined

The card club met with Mrs. Minnie Derby on March 18, when cards were played at seven tables, prize winners being Mr. Jack Scott and Miss Cecile Darbe.

Mrs. Edward Perry returned to her home on March 14 after spending two months in Montreal.

All four youths appeared before Judge Delaney early in March, and Beaugard was the first to be tried.

His defence attorney, Gilles Belanger, produced one of Beaugard's early-school years' teachers, Mrs. M. Boisvert, who gave character references.

Mr. Belanger told the court that Beaugard has a chance to complete his studies at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, an item which Crown Attorney Gilles Theriault said he encouraged "strongly."

Beaugard told Judge Delaney that he and his acquaintances didn't really plan the incidents they were charged with, "but it just happened when we were together."

Both lawyers agreed that Beaugard return next Tuesday, and be sentenced along with the three other youths.

Kiwanians meet in Granby club

GRANBY — The Kiwanis Club met on March 17, at the Social Club on Elgin Street, with a large attendance present.

The president, Joe MacAuley, was pleased to note that so much interest is being shown in the two projects, Birdhouses and Church Attendance Decals. The committees for the Golden Anniversary, the Gas Day and the Kiwanian Derby called on members to assist in these events.

It was announced that the Easter seals were completed and in the mail.

Ten members attended the inter-club curling bonspiel for the X Trophy, held in Magog, earlier in March, when Granby lost by one stone.

For the information of members who did not attend the March 17 meeting, the following was decided: In accord with the Inter-Faith harmony of the club organization, today the club will welcome Father Walsh, of St. Patrick's Mission Church, who will address the club on the spiritual object of Kiwanis International, Christian Charity.

Actor Peter Lorre dies Monday

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Peter Lorre, whose soft-boiled eyes and whiny voice made him one of the movies' most popular heavies, is dead, victim of a stroke.

The body of the 58-year-old Hungarian actor was found beside his bed Monday by his housekeeper who came to clean his Hollywood apartment. He had suffered from high blood pressure for years.

Since 1927, Lorre had chilled movie audiences the world over as a master portray of the psychopathic killer. But off screen, he was gentle, witty, well-read and the most gregarious and fun loving of men.

Actor Vincent Price, who co-starred with Boris Karloff and Lorre in Comedy of Terrors, called Lorre's death a tragedy. "I am just crushed. Peter was the most inventive actor I've ever known. He was a great scholar, an accomplished dramatic actor and a masterful comedian."

"Peter liked to make pictures which entertained people, not critics. He didn't have any pretensions about conveying messages to the world," Price said.

LIKED HIS LIQUOR

Short (Five-foot-five) and round (180 pounds), Lorre for years adhered to the principle of eating and drinking as one pleases — and absolutely no physical exercise.

A scare in 1959 — when high blood pressure and a sunstroke almost cost him his life in Spain — had slowed him some but not too much.

"Hollywood just doesn't have the drinkers they used to," he lamented during a lunch a month ago. "When actors became businessmen, somehow, they lost the incentive to drink."

Lorre had etched some of the screen's most memorable performances usually with Humphrey Bogart, Sydney Greenstreet and director John Huston.

The unholy four — as they were known at Warner Bros. — made The Maltese Falcon, a screen classic.

Lorre and Bogey were the closest of buddies — charter members of the "Holmby Hills Rat Pack."

Radioactive screening process develops new drugs for cancer

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Fifteen new and potentially valuable drugs against female breast cancer — uncovered by a new radioactive screening technique — are soon to undergo extensive human trials, it was reported today.

"And we are awaiting the results with considerable excitement," said Dr. Ralph I. Dorfman of Shrewsbury, Mass., one of a team of scientists who developed the new drug screening method and also submitted the new drug to early preliminary trials.

Dr. Dorfman, of the Worcester (Mass.) Foundation for Experimental Biology, told about the new developments at the sixth annual seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Asserting that the new drugs are all synthetic preparations chemically related to the male sex hormone testosterone — the first hormone used in treating female breast cancer — the scientist said:

NEW DRUG BETTER

1. Two of the drugs, as indicated by early animal and human trials, are as good or better than the best hormone now available for clinical use against breast cancer.

2. Six others possess anti-tumor activity of "the same order" as the best previously available material of this class; and seven others possess "considerable activity."

The scientist indicated, however, that none of the new drugs was expected to cure a cancer — though some might extend survival times beyond present limits in cases not curable by surgery or radiation.

He said the results have been so promising to date that the compounds soon are to be subjected to wide-scale human testing at at least six centres in the national network of hospitals participating in a government-backed program for evaluating various anti-cancer drugs.

He declined to identify the centres, saying they would become known when the investigators publish their scientific findings.

The new drugs were unearthed from among literally hundreds tested in rats with the aid of a new and speedy screening technique employing a radioactive "tracer" material along with the drug being tested.

USE AMINO ACID

The radioactive material is an amino acid which tends to concentrate in the protein of the rat's cancer. But, in the presence of an active anti-cancer drug, the tumor absorbs lesser amounts of the amino acid. Therefore, the less radioactivity noted in the rat's tumor, the more effective the drug is known to be.

Dr. Dorfman said the research has also raised the possibility of developing a "double-barrelled" approach to fighting breast cancer with drugs.

In this approach — so far tried only in animals — one of the new drugs is mixed with radioactive tritium, an ingredient of H-bombs.

But in this instance, the radioactive material is designed to bring radiation to bear against the tumor, while the hormone drug simultaneously attacks it in another fashion presumably.

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY — The fireplace in our house is rarely used but a couple of years ago we were caught, in an emergency, without any heat and no wood in the house. My husband had to wade through deep snow to get wood and then it was wet. The old saying about locking the stable after the horse is stolen certainly applied to us. Now we always keep a fire laid. I replace the ashes with crushed paper, small pieces of wood and then logs on top. All that is needed is to strike a match and enjoy the fire. This could apply to any fireplace regardless of how often it is used. — I. S.

GIRLS — I. S. does have a good idea. A gaping, empty fireplace never looks attractive. Aside from the practical side, a laid fire gives a more homelike appearance to a room. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To renew the finish on old leather jackets, use paste shoe polish the same color as the jacket. Cover a small area at a time, let dry a few minutes and polish with a flannel cloth. — M. W.

Women with gumption — the single gals

"Many women can not get a man to marry them." When one of her male colleagues made that statement during a tax bill debate in the United States, Sen. Maurine Neuberger promptly called him on it.

"When women stay single, it is always implied that they can not get a man," she said. "But I have never heard it said that when a man chooses to remain single, he cannot get a woman."

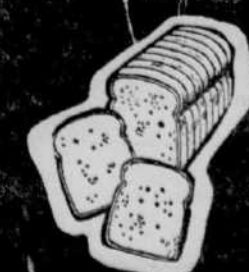

No, and she isn't likely to either. Because men are so sure that any man who wants to can marry any time he wants to they just naturally assume that bachelors are always bachelors by choice.

But women don't have that kind of built-in confidence in their own sex. They figure that when a woman doesn't marry the only possible explanation is that she couldn't get a man.

It seldom occurs to women that a woman who doesn't marry might just happen to be a lot more particular than many of her married sisters, who wanted so much to marry they were willing to take whatever they could get.

Nor do married women believe that a woman might not

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tony Perkins is back from a three-year, six-movie European education which included a postgraduate course with Brigitte Bardot.

Says he: "I figured I had reached the pinnacle when I had done a film with Brigitte. How much higher could I go? So I decided it was time for me to come home."

He has returned to Hollywood, where he hasn't made a movie since the sensational Psycho. He's ready to go back to work here and the studios seem eager to have him. His film-making abroad made him a draw at European box offices, enhancing his stock with American producers who rely on the foreign take for half their profits. "I can't say I really went to Europe with any plan in mind," he explained. "I went over to make one picture. The reception was so marvelous that I stayed..."

TRIP AN EDUCATION

"I considered it part of my education. I never went to Europe as a kid; we were too poor for that. So I figured I should take advantage of the opportunity when I could. Everybody should go to Europe some time in their lives."

"It was great for me as an actor. There were opportunities I couldn't get here. I worked with Ingrid Bergman, who doesn't come to Hollywood any more. And Orson Welles... Sophia Loren... Brigitte Bardot."

The name Bardot recurs in his conversation. He said working with her was a rare experience. They recently filmed a comedy with the rough translation of Adorable Idiot. Tony's French has become so proficient that he was able to make the film in that language. He added the information: "Brigitte speaks excellent English. She speaks it even better than Sophia, and I think she has hidden the fact for self-protection. It allows her to be uncommunicative with Hollywood producers who want to sign her for pictures."

"But I do think she would come to Hollywood with the proper inducement. I urged her to, and she said she might, if I found her a musical."

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Television hath wrought some remarkable situations in its short existence, but none quite as unlikely as Sunday night's.

Miss Mae West, an American institution as enduring, it appears, as Mount Whitney, turned up playing what amounted to a bit part in a comedy series starring Mr. Ed, CBS' talking horse.

It is probable that most of Mr. Ed's fans did not find blonde, buxom and white-fox-swathed Miss West very funny. Most of his admirers are much too young. And it is extremely doubtful that any adult who howls at jokes tailored to a horse who talks, makes telephone calls and watches TV horse operas would respond to Miss West's special, old-fashioned brand of comedy.

In any event, she wasn't really given a chance to demonstrate the talents that made who is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Young in Brighton and with Mr. and Mrs. Paul McLennan in Waltham, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. A. Frechette, of Rock Forest, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Duhaime and daughter, of East Angus, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Beauregard.

Mr. Artie Beaton accompanied the 7th - 11th Hussars of Bury to Asbestos on a wireless exercise mission.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Morrison visited Mrs. Ronald Rowland, a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Mrs. S. Wintle, Mrs. Wm. Gates and Mr. Ellery Gates visited Mrs. D. MacIver in Sherbrooke, and Mrs. L. Miller in Cookshire.

Rothney, monthly report of the school nurse, News Letter of the Q.A.P.S.B. and speech on finances by the Hon. Gerin-Lajoie. The secretary presented a written report on the various buses forming the bus fleet with recommendations as to their use for the 1964-65 season. It was decided that one 1953 and one 1954, both 36 passenger buses, should be sold and replaced by two new buses, one 42 and one 48 passenger. The secretary is to obtain prices and present them at next meeting.

A delegation from the Women's Institute presented a request for financial assistance to the school fair and $100 granted to this project.

Finance committee: Bills and accounts in the amount of $53,180.82 were ordered paid.

The secretary stated that he had received authorization to borrow sums not exceeding $250,000.

DEFICITS

K. Baldwin and the secretary reported on their interview with Georges Vaillancourt, M.L.A., in regard to consolidation of school deficits. The Department of Youth and the Quebec Municipal Commission requested to grant permission for this Board to consolidate all deficits outstanding at June 30, 1963. Boards affected being rounding districts.

It was suggested that the deficit nurse be requested, when it was necessary to advise parents that a pupil needed medical attention to correct eye or other defects, that such notice should be sent to the parent by mail.

The question was raised as to who should examine the various cafeterias for cleanliness. Members were advised that the Unite Sanitaire in Magog maintained a staff for this purpose.

Personnel Committee: The secretary reported on teacher engagement for Sept. 1964, stating that up to this time, he had very poor response from present staff or new replacements; he felt that this was due to the new salary scales being negotiated in Montreal and in surrounding districts.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Hawks find themselves in similar surroundings after a year with Reay in charge, meet Wings again

CHICAGO (CP-AP)—A year finishing second to Montreal's Charlie Hodge in the race for the Vezina Trophy by a scant two goals after having held an 18-goal advantage earlier in the season.

"It's been a great season for all of us," said left-winger Bobby Hull, who topped NHL goal-scoring with 43 and finished second behind teammate Stan Mikita in point-scoring.

"All that keeps it from being perfect is that we finished second and Glenn lost the trophy. But we can make up for part of that in the playoffs and I think we will."

Reay said: "Yes, we're disappointed but there's no danger of a letdown. These guys are pros. They know what they've got to do now—forget what might have been and concentrate on Detroit."

The Detroit series begins in Chicago with games Thursday and Sunday before shifting to Detroit March 31 and April 2. If it should go seven games, the Hawks would have the benefit of home ice in four of the team's games.

Stan Mikita wins NHL scoring title

Charlie Hodge fools experts to win Vezina, Hull is second just two points off pace for crown

MONTREAL (CP) — Flash-back to October 30, 1963: "I'll call up Charlie Hodge from Quebec Aces. Losing Gump will hurt—he was playing well—but if Charlie plays as well as he did in training camp we'll be okay."

With those words, uttered in a dressing room in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, coach Toe Blake unwittingly embarked on a course that took his Montreal Canadiens to the National Hockey League championship.

It was a pulled hamstring muscle in the eighth game of the young 1963-64 season that forced Gump Worsley to the sidelines. Then Blake made that last in a long series of telephone calls that have summoned Hodge from such cities as Quebec, Buffalo, Seattle, Providence, Ottawa, Rochester and Shawinigan.

The Hodge story has been written, rewritten, told and retold this season. Briefly, Hodge was expected to stay with the team until Worsley returned to form and then head back to the minors where he had toiled almost unnoted for 12 years.

But not this time. "Playing in the minors wasn't my idea, you know," the 30-year-old goaltender told an interviewer recently. Playing in the shadow of Jacques Plante, his desire began to wane. When called up to the NHL he was great for a few games, then he slipped.

No one expected Hodge to change the pattern this season but the little man fooled them all and stayed, renewed his determination to make the grade and won goaltending's highest award, the Vezina Trophy, in his first year as Montreal's regular netminder.

NHL statistics released today confirmed what was evident Sunday night: The Canadiens won the league title, Chicago's Stan Mikita captured individual scoring honors, Vic Hadfield of New York was the most penalized player and Hodge won the Vezina as the regular goalie on the team least scored against.

The figures showed Hodge responsible for 167 goals while runnerup and defending trophy holder Glenn Hall of Chicago was held accountable for 169. What they didn't show was Hodge's amazing work during the latter half of the season when Montreal was in a dogfight for first place.

He only managed one shutout in 27 games during the first half of the season but came home with seven—including four against Toronto and one against Chicago—to lead the league with eight. In seven last-half contests with Toronto, he allowed a meagre four goals and 14 against the tougher Hawks—but the Canadiens, nevertheless, won four, tied one and lost two to Chicago over that stretch.

His goals-against average was 2.27 a game, second only to Toronto's Johnny Bower (2.14). But Bower's chances were reduced by somewhat inferior work by standin Don Simmons, the victim of an 11-0 Boston whipping en route to his 3.25 average over 20 games.

Hall had the third best personal average at 2.33 and Detroit's Terry Sawchuk was next with 2.68 and followed by Boston's Ed Johnston (3.03) and Jacques Plante of New York (3.45).

Marymount girls win junior cage crown

After edging Sacred Heart in the third quarter and preventing them from scoring, the host Marymount did just as well in the last frame as they allowed only one point to register for their visitors while they increased their lead to a convincing final 23-11 result.

With Marymount ahead in this best-of-three series 1-0, Sacred Heart knew that it was now or never to stop Marymount from clinching the title. This they could not do in the second game as Marymount proved to be too strong under the leadership of Yvonne Mailhot and Teri McKenna in scoring. Thanks to the passing of Mary Mullin, the two stars were able to register points for Marymount. In the first quarter, things got off to a slow start as the visitors went out ahead four to nothing and later increased that to seven to four at the halftime mark.

The second half proved to be the biggest and most exciting part of this second tilt for Marymount tallied for 24 points to surge ahead of their hosts to take a commanding lead and score a decisive victory to take the playoff berth. Sacred Heart played well in both games but could not make up the difference to give Marymount a hard time in either tilt. The stars for the playoffs were Yvonne Mailhot and Teri McKenna as they led their teammates on to both victories pointwise as well as on defense. Carol Balawyder played well for Marymount also as she kept close guard on her opponents while on defense. H. Smith, S. Proulx and M. Taschereau gave a fine performance for Sacred Heart in opposing Marymount.

Marymount took the championship by meeting the winner of the semi-finals between Loisirs Perpetuel-Secours and Sacred Heart, which Sacred Heart took in a total-point series.

The following contains the total points of both games:

Marymount: T. McKenna 20, Y. Mailhot 13, L. Parker 10, M. Mullin 4, M. Lacroix 2, E. Therrien 2, C. Conway 2, C. Balawyder 1, C. White, G. Blain, S. Frechette, P. Baldwin, L. Greenland. Total—54.

Sacred Heart: M. Taschereau 10, H. Smith 7, C. Tousignant 4, S. Proulx 2, M. St. Jacques 2, A. Cote, C. Michaud, M. Morin, R. Roy, H. Gauthier, T. Provencher. Total 25.

United League turns thumbs down on Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — George Garreff, United Football League commissioner, has completed his inspection of Toronto as a possible UFL site but indications are against a team here.

Garreff was reported concerned that the Toronto applicants hadn't signed a general manager, a coach or a player. "There are four considerations," he said. "We look for a solid staff that can operate the franchise, favorable local reaction, a good place to play and a sound financial picture."

Mr. Garreff said he liked Varsity Stadium. The Toronto team has deposited half the cost of a franchise, reported to be $3,750.

OTTAWA (CP) — The restrictive trade practices commission has cleared a subsidiary of Thomson Newspapers Limited of a formal allegation that it drove a weekly newspaper out of business in Sudbury through illegal monopolistic practices.

At issue in the commission's report, made public today by Justice Minister Favreau, was the 11-month career in 1962 of a labor-orientated weekly, the Sudbury Sun, published by Northland Publishers Limited. It was unprofitable from the start and stopped publication in November, 1962.

The Sudbury Sun started operations about the same time as the Sault Ste. Marie, a magazine-type weekly directed mainly at women readers and published by Sault Ste. Marie Press Limited, a Thomson Newspapers subsidiary which also publishes the daily Sudbury Star.

The Sun — with the usual weekly newspaper format — sold on newsstands at 10 cents a copy, though some free distributions were made. It had a maximum advertising rate of 17 cents a line. The scene, on the other hand, was distributed free until July, 1963, when it began paid distribution. Its top advertising rate was 12 cents a line but in most cases the charge was nine cents.

DOESN'T SHOW PRACTICES

"Leaving this purely legal question aside, the evidence does not demonstrate that the Sault Ste. Marie Press Limited had resource to reprehensible monopolistic practices." The commission noted that Mr. Henry never alleged that Sault Ste. Marie Press ever tried to force customers who wanted to advertise in The Star to advertise also in the Sudbury Scene, and in any event this was denied by James R. Meakes, the Star's managing editor.

In addition, the commission said it was never established that the Sudbury Scene was launched only to cause the Sudbury Sun's downfall. Perhaps the news about the launching of The Sun had hastened The Scene's appearance, "but can we blame anyone who has decided to launch a new business for choosing to do so at the most propitious moment?"

Dirtiest job in UN history?

Canada's in Cypriot middle

UNITED NATIONS —(TNS) Canadians serving in the U-N Cyprus force have probably the dirtiest and most dangerous job in the history of the U-N peacekeeping operations — even dirtier and more dangerous than in the Congo.

It is no secret at U-N headquarters that the Greek Cypriot government of President Makarios wants to use the U-N force as a shield to suppress the Turkish Cypriot minority.

It is also no secret that the Turkish minority wants the U-N troops to protect them while they seek to partition the island.

The ironic part is that western countries, like Canada, agreed to sending the force in order to forestall the goals of both.

The duty of the force is to keep both communities apart for three months while a U-N mediator seeks a compromise which will allow the two communities to live in peace.

Because of the intricacies of U-N politics (i.e. the Soviet veto in the Security Council) the duties of the force have never been clearly defined.

The resolution authorizing the force was deliberately vague. In fact, some clauses are outright contradictions approved by the council to placate both Makarios and the government of Turkey.

One clause calls for the force to "use its best efforts to prevent a recurrence of fighting and, as necessary, to contribute to the maintenance and restoration of law and order and a return to normal conditions."

Yet another says maintenance of law and order is the responsibility of the government of Cyprus. This clause also urges Cyprus to "take all additional measures necessary" to restore law and order.

As the Makarios government has indicated, the force will be asked by Greek Cypriots to support their bloody version of "law and order" against Turkish Cypriots.

If the troops refuse, they will find themselves in the

Mortgage burning ceremony held at United Church in Thetford Mines

THETFORD MINES — Another milestone was reached at the United Church on March 15 when the church held its 7th anniversary service, when the ceremony of the burning of the mortgages for both the church and manse took place. Although the present church has been in existence only seven years, the church's history dates back to 1905.

At the morning service Rev. K. G. MacMillan, Supt. of Home Missions, gave the sermon, and commended the congregation on their accomplishment of repaying their debts ahead of schedule. By so doing the Home Mission Board was enabled to extend loans to still other churches.

Rev. K. G. MacMillan, guest speaker, at the evening service, emphasized the importance of tradition, stating that it was good for a church to review its past, taking well-deserved pride in its achievements. Midway through the service the mortgage burning ceremony took place. U. A. Vaudry, the treasurer, accepted the mortgage papers from Mr. MacMillan and, in turn, handed them to Rev. Oliver Carmichael.

Following this, members of the congregation, Herb Williams, representing the Board of Session, Charles Smith, the Stewards, Dick Bramley-Moore, Christian education committee, Mrs. Kenneth Little, United Church Women and Mrs. Don Worth, the parents, each carrying a white candle, set the fire which burned the mortgages.

Others taking part in the service were Rev. Carson Duquette, French-speaking Evangelist, who offered a prayer and read from the Scripture in French; Rev. F. R. Matthews, of Sherbrooke, who offered the Pastoral Prayer, and an anthem was rendered by the choir. The impressive service closed with the benediction, followed by everyone gathering in the hall, where the history of the church was related by members of the congregation.

Taking part in this were Dr. P. L. Daigneau, who reminisced on the early days in Thetford, recalling incidents of the church's early history. Others who added to the reminiscences were Leonard Montgomery, Miss L. M. V. Seymour, of Sherbrooke, who had played an important part in the 1930's; Miss Dorothy Daig-neau; Mr. Matthews, a retired minister from Sherbrooke who in the 1950's filled the gap left when there was no minister to serve the church in this area; Angus Morrison and Mr. Carmichael, the present minister. E. W. Reid, in addition to reminiscing, acted as chairman during the proceedings. Mr. Duquette and Mr. MacMillan were also called upon for a few closing. Unfortunately, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robinson were unable to be present. Following the historical recollections refreshments were served by the United Church Women.

Sharing in the event were Canon S. A. Meade and a number of parishioners from St. John's Anglican Church, as well as friends from Kinnear's Mills and Sherbrooke.

Now-how are the high-priced cars going to explain...

THIS!

Biscayne 4-Door Sedan

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

THE LOW-PRICED CHEVROLET BISCAYNE

Beating the high-priced cars at their own game is becoming a Chevrolet tradition! Luxury is in evidence even in the lowest-priced Biscayne models. This year, Biscayne's wide and roomy interiors sport a rich new feel of luxury from thicker foam-cushioned seats front and rear to deep-twist color-keyed carpeting. And on the outside, those clean, tasteful lines prove that the Chevrolet Biscayne looks as good on the road as any high-priced car!

But Biscayne's appeal lies in more than looks and luxury. For instance, easy-care features like Magic-Mirror finish, flush-and-dry rocker panels, and extended-life exhaust system back up Biscayne's traditionally low maintenance cost and high resale value.

Biscayne's ride is strictly first-class, too. It's the famous Chevrolet Jet-smooth kind! And if you want ample power on a pittance of regular gas, try Chevrolet's standard 140-hp Six. Teamed with a quiet, 3-Speed Synchro-Mesh standard transmission, it's a combination that's tough to beat for top value. Whether you choose a Biscayne, Bel Air or one of the exciting Impalas or Impala Super Sports, you'll find that Chevrolet loves to please particular budgets without skimping. So does your Chevrolet dealer. Try him... and try a Chevrolet!
