CANUCKS SMASH FORWARD IN GIGANTIC ASSAULT

Allies At Either End Of Invasion Front Now Little More Than Hundred Miles From Paris; Canadians Opened New Offensive In Darkness

First Canadian Army Capture or By-pass Enemy Strongpoints and Advance 6,000 Yards into Hard Core of German Resistance South of Caen and East of Orne.

Allied Supreme Headquarters, Aug. 8.—(P)—Allied troops are within 100 miles of Paris, it was confirmed tonight. The area was not specified.

Allied Supreme Headquarters, Aug. 8.—(P)—The 1st Canadian Army today smashed 6,000 yards into the hard core of German resistance South of Caen and East of the Orne, capturing or by-passing enemy strongpoints which have barred the Canadians' way for weeks.

At either end of the 100-mile invasion front, Allied armies now are little more than 100 miles from Paris. Advancing American 1st Army units at the Southern end of the front last were reported at Le Mans, 110 miles from the former French capital, while the Canadians, hammering at the hinge of the whole German position in Northwest France, at the Northern end, were about the same distance away.

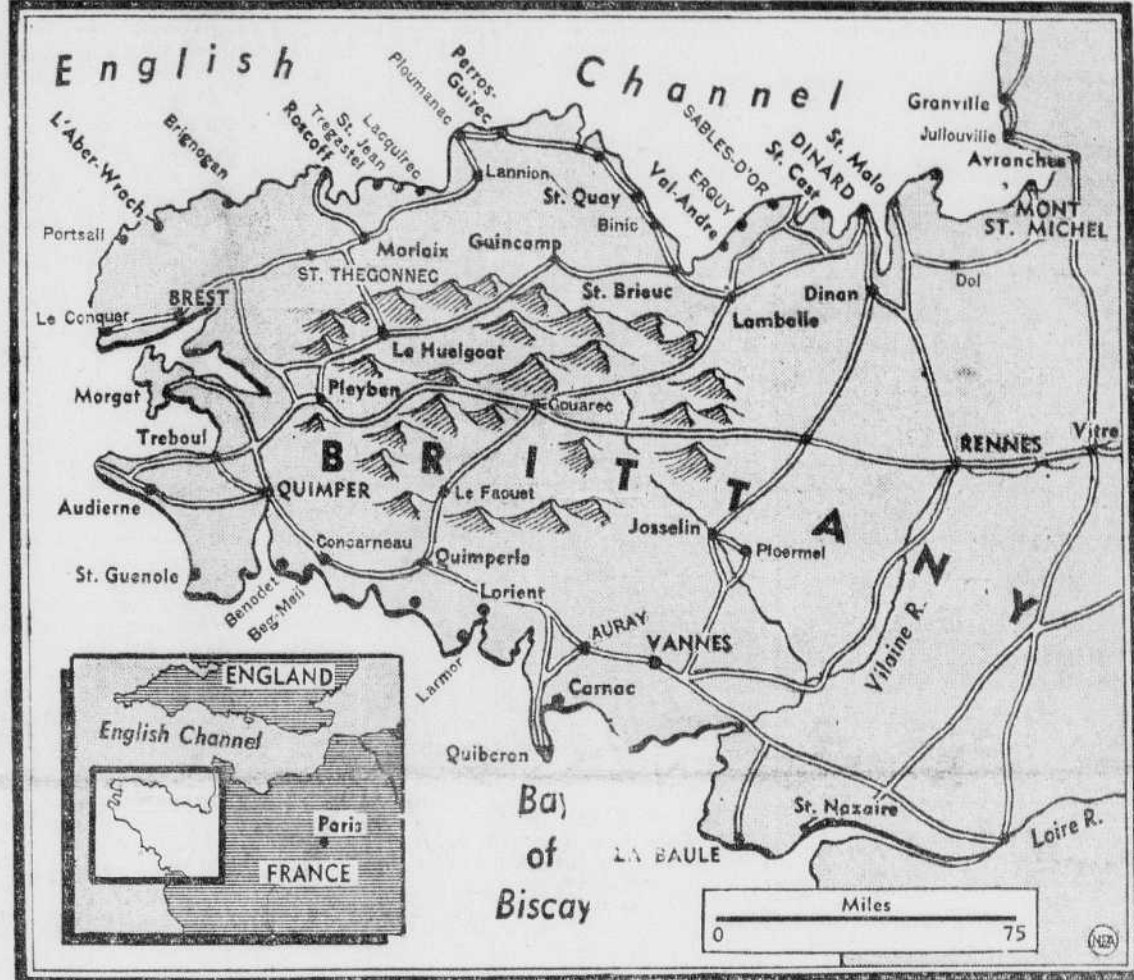

At last reports the Canadians still were rolling ahead against German soldiers who appeared dazed by the weight of the air bombardment by 1,000 heavy R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers which preceded the assault.

The attack began in darkness—the first time such a thrust had been attempted in France—and the infantry was following the tanks and armored cars.

Canadian Press War Correspondent Ross Munro said in a front dispatch today that Ontario Infantry and Quebec tanks, leading the first assault wave of Canadian and British units of the 1st Canadian Army, had taken Rouen, one and one-half miles South-West of Tilly la Campagne, which now was by-passed and being attacked by follow-up troops.

A great Allied pincer clamped German defences guarding Paris today, as the 1st Canadian army blasted four miles into the stoutest Nazi line South of Caen, and United States armored columns were reported in Le Mans, only 110 miles Southwest of the French capital.

The Canadian-American drives edged forward at both ends of a curving 100-mile front, while in the centre other U. S. ground forces had smashed a powerful German steel counter-thrust, while Allied planes knocked out 163 enemy tanks.

Marshal Foch Launched His Great Offensive into Albert-Motidier Salient in Somme Sector August 8, 1918.

Today is the 26th anniversary of the "Black Day of the German Army" in the First Great War—the day the German High Command decided the war was lost.

On August 8, 1918, Marshal Foch launched his great offensive into the Albert-Motidier salient in the Somme sector. Led by 450 tanks, British

Nazi Supply Lines Between Krakow And Warsaw Menaced By Soviet Push

By DANIEL De LUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent
Moscow, Aug. 8.—(P)—A new eruption of Red Army attacks which captured more than 60 communities beyond the enemy's broken Vistula river defences threatened today to strangle German communications between Krakow and Warsaw in the heart of Poland.

Striking out afresh yesterday from Vistula bridgehead, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's 1st Ukrainian army reached points 30 miles West of the river, Soviet field dispatches said.

Thrusting beyond newly-occupied Szydlow, the Russians directly menaced Kielce, astride highway and rail arteries 25 miles to the Northwest. The direction of the drive raised the possibility the Red Army troops might outflank Krakow on the North.

Last reports placed Soviet columns within 37 miles of Krakow, last big Nazi bastion before German Silesia, now 75 to 90 miles away.

Moscow's guns sounded last night for twin victories—the fall of the oil centre of Boryslaw in the Carpathians, and the capture of Sambor, communications hub whose fall gave the Russians a grip on five routes leading into nearby Czechoslovakia.

Man Killed In Knifing Affray

Montreal, Aug. 8.—(P)—One person was stabbed to death and another was taken to hospital with critical wounds today, following an attack by a knife-wielding man in a Wilder Building restaurant at the busy St. Catherine-Bleury intersection.

Shea Tafar, 50, was fatally wounded in the stabbing and police said he had been stabbed ten times. His sister, Mrs. Sam Miemadowski, was stabbed five times and medical authorities held out little hope for her recovery.

Police said the two had been attacked with an eight-inch bread knife, and that Sam Miemadowski, owner of the restaurant and husband of the woman, had later given himself up at police district headquarters a few blocks away.

The stabbings occurred at the height of the morning rush hour, while heavy pedestrian and motor traffic was passing outside the restaurant. Police said the woman had been attacked first and that her brother was stabbed as he went to her assistance.

London.—The Nazi-controlled Paris Radio said today that Franz von Papen, German Ambassador who left Turkey when that country broke relations with Germany, had arrived in Berlin.

Allied Supreme Headquarters.—American forces were within five miles of the port of Lorient on the south coast of the Breton Peninsula today, but there was no further information about the German surrender offer there.

London.—Bright moonlight and clear skies aided British coastal defences during the night as the Germans resumed their flying-bomb attacks on London and Southern England after a brief lull.

The attacks were on a comparatively small scale and a number of the robots were shot down before they reached their targets.

London.—Trial of eight high officers who were expelled from the German army on a charge of complicity in the attempted assassination of Adolf Hitler has now been concluded, Berlin announced today, and the special court has set a "just punishment."

ALBERTANS ARE TODAY ELECTING A NEW REGIME

450,000 Men and Women 19 Years of Age and Over Will Determine Whether Social Credit Regime Will Continue in Office.

Edmonton, Aug. 8.—(P)—About 450,000 Alberta men and women, 19 years of age and older, and privileged to vote, today will decide their next Provincial Government.

They will rule whether the Social Credit Government, elected to office in 1935 with the late Premier William Aberhart as its leader, will receive a third term. The Social Crediters, now led by 36-year-old Premier E. C. Manning, have 57 candidates in the field, one for each of the Legislature seats.

The C.C.F. also has nominated 57 candidates, the Independent party 36 and Labor-Progressives 30. Four other candidates, representing a variety of smaller parties, also seek election, making a total of 184 candidates.

At dissolution July 7, the Social Credit strength in the Legislature was 33; Independent 15; Liberal three; Labor one; C.C.F. one; Independent-Social Credit one, and one vacant.

The 57 members will be elected by 49 constituencies in 47 rural ridings the members will be elected by the single transferable vote system, while in the five-member constituencies of Calgary and Edmonton the proportional representation system is used. Unless candidates mark up commanding leads when the first choice ballots are counted, they cannot be sure of election until the second choice has been counted in both urban and rural ridings.

The polls open at 9 a.m. M.D.T. (11 a.m. E.D.T., 12 a.m. A.D.T.) in both urban and rural areas, and close at 6 p.m. in rural areas and 7 p.m. in the cities. Four constituencies in the Northern Peace River block are on Pacific time, and their voting hours will be from 10 a.m. M.D.T. to 7 p.m.

Alberta men and women in the services within the Province marked their ballots for candidates in their home constituencies yesterday. Three members at large will be elected later by those in the services outside the Province.

Eleven women are among the candidates, five of them nominated by the Labor-Progressive Party. One, Mrs. C. R. Wood, of Stony Plain, a Social Credit, will be the only woman member of the last Legislature.

Mr. Manning and his supporters bent most of their campaign criticism towards the C.C.F., which entered the Alberta contest fresh from victory in Saskatchewan in June. The Social Crediters said C.C.F. policies meant the people would lose their freedom through "socialization" programmes.

Elmer Roper, of Edmonton, Provincial C.C.F. leader, and sole C.C.F. member of the last Legislature, said the S.C. Government had been unable to carry out the programmes it suggested at the 1935 and 1940 elections. He suggested that Alberta should elect a C.C.F. Government in "step with the times."

Final Appeal To Population Voiced Last Night By Three Party Leaders; Total 1,875,505 Voters On Lists

Montreal, Aug. 8.—(P)—Electors of the province today go to the polls to decide which of three parties will be elected to form a government at Quebec for the next five years. Only the Liberals, the Union Nationale and the Bloc Populaire have sufficient candidates in the field to assure sufficient majority.

A record of 1,875,505 voters are registered and the total vote is expected to exceed 1,900,000 for the first time in the province's history. Only 753,310 voters were on the lists in 1939 but during the past Legislature, the franchise was extended to include women while movement of war workers to the province also has accounted for the jump.

Last night party leaders made their final appeal to the population. At Montreal, Andre Laurendeau spoke in his own constituency of Montreal Laurier. Mr. Laurendeau was confident in his last speech and said: "Tomorrow night I hope—I am even sure—that I will salute you as your representative in the Quebec Legislature and the Premier for this province."

ALLOW GREATER DEDUCTION FOR MEDICAL COSTS

Taxpayer to Be Permitted to Deduct Expenses Amounting to More Than Four Per Cent of Gross Income from Taxable Amount.

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—(P)—Greater relief will be provided for the income taxpayer with medical expenses, members of the Commons were informed yesterday by Douglas Abbott, Parliamentary Assistant to Finance Minister Ilsley.

Mr. Abbott said that on future income tax returns medical expenses exceeding more than four per cent of gross income may be deducted from the taxable income. Previously, expenses totalling more than five per cent could be deducted.

The maximum deductions for such expenses had been increased from $400 to $600 in the case of a single man and from $600 to $900 in the case of a married man. Maximum deduction for medical expenses on each child has been increased to $150.

Mr. Abbott said the change was decided upon after the Government had considered representations received from persons both in the Commons and outside of it. The decision was made after the budget was brought down and after the House had adopted a resolution to the bill amending the War Income Tax Act.

The bill was given second reading and put partially through committee.

Debate on the income tax bill occupied the afternoon sitting of the House, which at its earlier meeting discussed hospital accommodation for returning war casualties.

Stanley Knowles (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre) said the Government was to be congratulated for increasing the amounts which could be deducted from income tax for medical expenses. He also was glad that parents of student nurses would be able to claim exemption for their support in the same way as parents of university students.

John Diefenbaker (P.C., Lethbridge Centre) said that exemption granted corporations to allow them to carry on scientific research should be extended to include research on working conditions and labor relations.

Mr. Abbott said such an extension would open up a new field of exemption which would logically include research on many matters relating to a taxpayer's business, such as efficiency of plant management, markets and methods of selling.

He said the bill as proposed would cover research into industrial disease and health of the workers. Other phases of research along this line would normally be chargeable as expenses incidental to the earning of income and corporations making donations to universities for research work on industrial relations are entitled to within the limits allowed for charitable donations.

Strong Air Support In New Attack

Thousand British and Canadian Bombers Blasted German Positions to Blaze Trail for 1st Canadian Army's Smashing New Offensive.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR, Associated Press Staff Writer.

London, Aug. 8.—(P)—Flying in close support of ground forces during darkness for the first time, 1,000 British and Canadian four-engined bombers blasted German positions South of Caen last night blazing a trail for the 1st Canadian Army's smashing new attack.

In the hour before midnight the big bombers dumped an estimated 6,700 tons of explosives on enemy fortified points in the area of May sur Orne and Tilly la Campagne on both sides of the Caen-Falaise road.

Allied air fleets made new attacks on the enemy today. A Reuters news agency dispatch said American bombers subjected the Caen area to a second heavy attack.

The midnight bombardment formed one of three separate phases in aerial support given Gen. Eisenhower's advancing armies.

The other two phases, in which Allied airmen dealt hard blows to German armor, transport and supply, were:

1. British rocket-firing Typhoons and fighter-bombers teamed with American fighter-bombers and knocked out at least 163 tanks in repeated blows against a counter-attack on the American Avranches corridor.

2. American heavy bombers, fighters and fighter-bombers ranged over France from end to end, smashing German transport routes and supply centres.

In the Avranches sector, the British 2nd Tactical Air Force destroyed 81 tanks and damaged 54. The U. S. 9th Air Force destroyed 26 and damaged a large number.

All operations over France yesterday and last night totalled more than 4,000 offensive sorties.

Great destruction was created close behind the German lines as bombers and fighters attacked ten major transportation targets and eleven major fuel dumps. Fighter-bombers destroyed or damaged 131 locomotives, 582 railroad cars, and 135 motor vehicles.

STALEMATE IN TRAM WALKOUT IS CONTINUED

Workers Who Sought Temporary Employment Through N.S.S. Turned Back Until Strike Is Declared Legal or in Progress Seven Days.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—(P)—The deadlock between striking workers and the Montreal tramways Company (C.T.M.) had said the strike would be settled "at once" if the Federal Government would state whether the union shop clause was legal or otherwise.

A group of workers yesterday sought temporary employment through National Selective Service but were turned back until the strike had been declared legal or until it had been in progress seven days.

The company last night issued a statement that before March 28, 1943, the services of the company had operated continually for 40 years. Since then the workers had struck three times.

Indication War To Be Over Before April Is Given By Mackenzie King

By JACK WILLIAMS, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—(P)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today stood committed to again contest the riding of Prince Albert in the next general election which, he said last night, will not be held until after the war, but will come before there is necessity of extending the life of Parliament which expires next April.

In an address made at a dinner marking the 25th anniversary of his leadership of the Liberal Party Mr. King devoted only a few sentences to the current political situation.

He recalled that he had given assurance the life of Parliament would not be extended and that he would not call an election during the war. He said he intended to keep both pledges.

Those who had supported him in Prince Albert would have the opportunity to support him again whether or not the going was to be as rough as some had predicted.

The audience which Mr. King addressed jammed two large hotel dining rooms and overflowed into corridors. He spoke from a platform backed by a life-sized full-length photograph of himself. In front of him was a portrait of his father, presented by the members of the Senate and Commons to the National Liberal Federation and a silver statuette of himself and his dog "Pat" which he received personally.

Apart from his brief election reference, Mr. King's address was one of appreciation for the support and friendship of his followers, feelings he expressed with marked emotion.

For more than two hours Mr. King had listened to tributes to his leadership and statesmanship. He spoke with humility of the references.

"What you have been listening to is a record of your performance, not of mine," he said opening his address which lasted about an hour.

His voice seemed near the breaking point when he spoke of the deepness with which speakers had touched his heart. His voice strengthened as he referred to the constant loyalty and fidelity of his followers.

"That above all else I would like to express thanks for," he said.

Then with confidence he spoke of "the victory that is rapidly and happily approaching." Several times the 70-year-old leader looked to the future. He said he hoped the honor he paid him would be an inspiration to young men entering public life.

He spoke of the value he placed on friendships and of his regret that the

42,000 ENEMY TROOPS KILLED IN BURMA DRIVE

Four of Japan's Nine Burma Divisions Liquidated and Enemy May Retreat as Far as Mandalay.

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH, Kari, Ceylon, Aug. 8.—(AP)—An Allied spokesman declared today that 42,000 Japanese had been killed and four of the enemy's nine Burma divisions had been liquidated in their drive into North-east India and in Lt. Gen. Stilwell's successful campaign in the jungle-girt Burmese mountains.

"They have had the hell knocked out of them," the spokesman said in closing the books on the Japanese incursion into India.

He speculated that the Japanese might retreat as far as Mandalay. Allied patrols fanned out beyond the Burmese frontier base of Tanu and crossed the Yu River, chasing the disorganized Japanese toward the Chindwin River. Headquarters announced today: Other forces moving South toward Tiddim on a highway from Imphal were reported making satisfactory progress.

"I would say without hesitation that the Japanese (in the Indian State of Manipur) have taken the biggest hiding they've had on any front," the spokesman said.

Of three Japanese divisions which made the attack into India, he said only the 33rd constituted anything like a military force. This division now is retreating down the Tiddim Road. The 32nd and 14th Divisions have been written off, the spokesman said, and "there is no chance of a Japanese come-back before a long period of refitting and rehabilitation."

British and Indian troops killed 15,693 Japanese by actual count. Gen. Stilwell's men killed 36,650 in winning the North Burma base of Myittha, and for all North Burma since December Stilwell has announced 22,341 Japanese killed and 200 captured.

Percy Black (P.C., Cumberland) urged that a change be made in the method of taxing private power companies. He felt it was unfair for the publicly-owned Ontario and Quebec hydro systems to be exempt from income tax while private companies had to pay such taxes.

Talk on the hospital accommodation for war casualties was started by Dr. H. A. Bruce (P.C., Toronto Parkdale) who moved a motion that the House adjourn to discuss the matter. He said he would take upon himself anything in a recent statement in which Premier George Drew of Ontario described the hospital situation as "critical."

Pensions Minister Mackenzie, Defence Minister Ralston and Navy Minister Macdonald assured the House that everything possible was being done to make sure there was no shortage of room for the wounded returning from the battle fronts.

Dr. Bruce said that because of the present shortage in hospital accommodation men who had lost arms or legs and still were in need of treatment were being given leave to their homes to provide beds for stretcher cases immediately expected. Because of the lack of adequate accommodation and organization, many serious cases had failed to receive the prompt and adequate treatment.

He said when questioned by Col. Ralston that he could not give any specific instance of a man being sent away from hospital while still in need of treatment to make room for someone else.

Col. Ralston said the army was speeding plans for expansion of its hospital accommodation. "Every possible pressure is put on the situation so that there will be no possible lack of accommodation so far as the army is concerned for any number of casualties which can reasonably be expected to come," he said.

The number of casualties arriving in Canada had increased due to the opening of the front in Normandy, and evacuation of Canadian casualties from areas in England that were within the robot bomb target areas, and the increased hospital ship accommodation.

Mr. Mackenzie said that on "looking over the number of casualties and looking over the construction programme now underway and looking at the bed accommodation we already have—about 20,000 at the present time—I must say on my re-onerous duties imposed on his office by the war made it impossible for him to give the time to developing leadership that he would like. Reviewing his own political career, he came to his reference to the election after he spoke of his 18 years as member for that riding.

"They tell me the going is going to be rough," he said. "I want to tell them that rough or smooth the men who have stood by me for eighteen years will have an opportunity to stand by me again."

"I can't say at this moment when an election will come. We have heard nothing but election election, election since we came into office. Our thoughts must continue to be and should continue to be on the war. When that is over, if God gives me strength, I'll put the best of it I can into the fight."

He spoke of a personal desire to have time to write of the period through which he had passed; but the future offered the greater opportunity in the world for public service and in Canada the opportunity was perhaps greater than anywhere else.

"I am ready to go through at least one more general election," he said. "I don't think I am permitted to have more than that; but I will, if Providence spares me, put the best that I have into the next election campaign."

Parliament, on the suggestion of two leaders of Opposition groups, M. J. G. McCreary, C.P.F. leader, and Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, had adjourned late yesterday afternoon to enable all Liberal members to attend the dinner. Mr. King had received an ovation when he entered the Commons chamber at the morning session.

Chairman of the dinner was the veteran Cabinet member Mines Minister Crerar and at the head table were other Cabinet members, a number of whom took part in the programme.

Speakers included G. G. McCreary (L. Vancouver-Burrard); J. A. Blanche (L. Compton); Mrs. S. C. Tweed, Vice-President of the Liberal Federation; Speaker Thomas Viers of the Senate and Speaker Glen of the Commons; Mrs. C. A. Casselman (L. Edmonton East); W. H. Taylor (L. Norfolk), chief whip of the party; Minister Ralston and Air Minister Power; D. Rochevelt and Prime Minister Jan Smuts.

Congratulatory messages from throughout Canada and from many other countries were presented to Mr. King and several were read by Pensions Minister Mackenzie. They included expressions of goodwill from Prime Minister Winston Churchill; President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Jan Smuts.

been meeting strong resistance, but it told of a new advance toward the Southern border by Gen. G. F. Zakharov's 2nd White Russian army which captured Knyssyn, 15 miles Northwest of Bialystok, and Lapy, to the Southwest.

(A Vichy broadcast heard today by the Associated Press said all factories in East Prussia had closed and that "the whole population was digging trenches against the approaching danger of the Russian army.")

Two Russian armies in Eastern Latvia and Southern Estonia were driving Westward against the Germans isolated by Bagration's plunge to the Baltic last week. The Moscow communique announced this advance had cut the railway and highway between Madona and Gulbene, 80 miles East of Riga. Capture of Lubana in the same area was announced.

(The National committee of free Germany, broadcasting from Moscow last night, urged the German troops trapped in the Northern Baltic area to surrender because "a break out toward East Prussia is impossible.") and French infantry swarmed through the enemy's lines—penetrating up to seven and a half miles at a front of 20 miles and taking so many prisoners that war dispatches at the time said counting was a "difficult task."

The gains that first day of the Allied onslaught were the greatest on the Western front since trench warfare began.

It was the beginning of the end. Field Marshal Erich von Ludendorff said in later years: "August 8 was the black day of the German army in the history of the war."

It put the decline of our fighting power beyond all doubt. Acting upon this realization, Ludendorff immediately informed the Kaiser that he no longer could guarantee a military victory and that peace overtures should be begun quickly before the situation became worse.

The German home front, the central alliance and the German throne crumbled even more rapidly than did the army.

Yet it was three months and three days after Germany's "Black Day" before peace came.

responsibility that I am assured and I am confident that there will be proper accommodation for those boys requiring it."

There was close co-operation between the Pensions Department and the three Defence Departments, he said. A war hospital committee, composed of some of the best men in the medical profession, advised the Government on all hospital construction it projected.

Mr. Macdonald said he wished to deny reports that the Defence Ministers had lost confidence in Mr. Mackenzie and his Department. He said confidence in the Pensions Minister had grown in recent months. The provision of hospital accommodation for servicemen was the responsibility of the three armed services until the men were discharged the treatment of the men fell on the Pensions Department.

War Correspondent, listed as places already taken by the Canadians May sur Orme, St. Martin de Fontenay, Le Marmon and La Hogue. All are points on the arc South and Southeast of Caen where the Canadians have been fighting for weeks.

Munro said that British units of the 1st Canadian Army took Gravelles, Sequeville, one and one half miles Southeast of Tilly, and St. Amand de Cremsnil, a mile farther South.

Both British and Canadians gained high ground, and were in control of an area "dead in the centre of the German defence position," astride the Falaise Highway, Munro said.

First phase of the operation was termed "very successful" by a Canadian officer, Reuter War Correspondent Charles Lynch reported.

Fighting was reported continuing today in the five-mile quadrangle North of Mortain, where the Germans yesterday launched their largest counter-attack since the Allies stormed ashore June 6. Mortain, however, was back in American hands.

The American clean-up of the Breton Peninsula continued. Tank-infantry teams were within five miles of the big Southern naval and submarine base of Lorient. There was no further information about a reported offer of the German garrison there to surrender.

Other U. S. forces were fighting within four miles of the second French port of Brest and its mile of deep-water quays. At the week-end, American troops had been inside the city of Brest.

The Northern St. Malo Cape was cut. Remnants of the German garrison were making a final fight behind medieval fortifications and modern minefields.

Smoke from large fires rose from St. Malo and Lorient, indicating the Germans were destroying supplies and preparing to pull out. Guingamp and St. Brevin, between St. Malo and Brest, were added to the long list of liberated Brittany towns.

The menacing giant pincer thrusts toward Paris, the keystone of the Nazi shock Western conquests, was being carried out on the 26th anniversary of the First Great War.

Rome, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Germans clung tightly to a foothold in the hills South of the Arno River in the great bend East of Florence today after counter-attacking sharply against Indian troops of the British 8th Army advancing through the mountains North of Arezzo.

In the two great cities bisected by the Arno—Florence and Pisa—the positions of the competing forces remained virtually unchanged, the Allies holding the regions South of the stream and the Germans still in control of the North banks.

A front dispatch from Canadian Press War Correspondent Bill Boss last night said the Indians, armed with curved, razor-sharp kukris—put the counter-attack to flight so forcefully that one senior officer commented: "Those who escaped probably are still running around speechless."

The Indians killed about thirty or more Germans in the fight, Boss said, and took sixty prisoners. Stormy weather, much with rain, curtailed action along most of the front. On both sides of Florence Gen. Alexander sent 5th Army patrols across the Arno, but there was no sign of an attempt to gain a foothold over the stream.

The Allied command announced that both sides suffered heavy casualties. The Germans attacked in force and counter-attacked in force, and captured Mote Grillo, nine miles North of Arezzo and a little West of Highway 71, from an Indian division.

The only considerable action on the Allied front came in the area of San Gimignano where the enemy fired approximately 325 rounds of shellfire at the Allies, then attempted to infiltrate.

An official source declared that air photographs taken at low level disclose completely German claims that Allied guns have shelled Florence. Meanwhile shells continued to fall in the Southern sections of the city but civilians were going calmly about their pursuits.

There were no substantiating reports from Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney's Far Eastern Air Force. There has been no Allied air attack upon the Philippines since mid-April, 1942, before the fall of Corregidor. Gen. MacArthur reported a 30-ton mid-day bombing raid Sunday upon Yap, 800 miles East of Mindanao, and added:

"There was no attempt at interception. The enemy's air base appears to have been neutralized by our continuous attacks."

MacArthur also announced that an American counter-envelopment force East of Aitape had inflicted heavy casualties upon trapped Japanese advancing Westward on Aitape village.

R. A. F. bombers based in Italy struck the Szombathely airfield South of Vienna, burning a number of parked German planes.

Only a few hours before Italian-based American heavy bombers penetrated Germany and attacked two synthetic oil plants at Blech-Hamer, leaving large fires burning. The Mediterranean Allied Air Force destroyed twenty-nine German planes in combat and lost 22.

The Russian communique listed 117 German planes destroyed yesterday, raising the Allied toll to at least 156, exclusive of those shot up around.

"The sole reason for this strike is the determination of these men to have absolute power over the employees. It is the strike of the employees of the Montreal Tramways Company must be settled, but that settlement must be such as will ensure the public of the City of Montreal against a repetition of defiance of that public and disregard of its rights."

Paul Emile Marquette, regional organizer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said the union had no alternative but to take "the necessary steps to face a labor strike."

Meanwhile, the strike was aired in the Senate at Ottawa, with Senator C. C. Ballantyne, Progressive Conservative Leader, urging that the Government order the strikers to work and leave the matter of the Union shop for later decision by the Supreme Court.

COUNTRY AND DAIRY PRODUCTS PRICES

Montreal, Aug. 8.—Further upward revisions in egg prices were made in fairly heavy dealings. The market was firm on top grades under continued good demand and lighter receipts. The Dominion Marketing Service wholesale quotations on A-large and A-medium were unchanged for A-large and A-medium but the price on A-pullet was raised 1/2 cent at 31 to 32 cents. Sharp rises are shown in top grade prices on small lots to retailers and in retail quotations. The butter market was steady, sales on the Commodity Exchange continuing above the 1,000 lb. level. Potatoes were selling at somewhat lower prices at from 75 cents to $1 per 75-pound bag.

HEAVY VOTE BEING CAST IN SHERBROOKE

26,000 Are Eligible To Mark Their Ballots In This County

Sherbrooke electors fell into step with the whole of the Province of Quebec today as polls opened to admit voters at nine o'clock this morning and will remain open until six o'clock tonight to accommodate the approximately 26,000 voters who are expected to cast their ballots today.

A tour of the polls disclosed good attendance in the West Ward as electors appeared promptly at the polls, with women voters casting the largest number of ballots by 11 o'clock this morning. The male voters were also well represented in this ward but much greater numbers are expected during the noon hour, as some manufacturing establishments have granted an extended lunch hour in order to enable their employees sufficient time to cast their ballot, while other plants are closing down entirely at three o'clock this afternoon.

The East Ward appeared to be obtaining the next best attendance with fair numbers of voters having appeared by the time of the mid-morning check-up, while in the North Ward the polls were experiencing considerably less activity than in other parts of the city.

Centre Ward polls had received the votes of the majority of office workers who are scheduled to appear near their places of employment, while here also larger numbers are expected in the afternoon shortly after the noon hour.

A total of one hundred and sixteen polls has been established, placed in various districts throughout the city with the total number of expected voters divided amongst the polls, giving each between one hundred and fifty to two hundred and fifty voters per poll.

RECORD TO PROVIDE SPECIAL ELECTION SERVICE

The Sherbrooke Record, following the custom established in other elections, will tonight provide a special service to announce and tabulate the results of the vote in Sherbrooke, the Eastern Townships and the Province in general.

Record subscribers unable to get downtown to witness the tabulated results and hear the reports over the sound-amplifying system will be able to obtain first-hand results by telephoning 164, 68 and 64.

Special Canadian Press wires will bring in the results from all corners of the Province, and staff members will tabulate the Sherbrooke returns as soon as they are available.

The three candidates have accepted an invitation to address the crowd from a special platform erected on top of the Record's marquee.

The general opinion of deputy returning officers at the polls was that citizens of Sherbrooke have realized the necessity of voting and a larger number of citizens are expected to mark their ballot.

All means possible have been adopted in order to enable the public to receive the results from the polls as they are received, and broadcasting and loud speaker systems have been set up in front of the Record Office.

Special bulletin boards have also been erected in the main office at the Record to enable passersby to keep up-to-date as the elections proceed, while tomorrow's edition of the Record will appear in the morning to provide its readers with first hand detailed results of the elections, as well as interviews with the three candidates for Sherbrooke County.

Lt. Charles Wilkie McCaw, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. McCaw, of Bedford, who was wounded in France while in action, Lt. McCaw was born in 1915, received his education at Bedford High School and for two years took a course in teaching at Macdonald College. He was employed by Hanson Brothers, Montreal, investment brokers, before enlisting with the Black Watch, R.H.R., of Canada in 1940. He has three brothers, one of whom, Cameron, of the R.C.A.F., has been reported missing since June, 1942. His wife, the former Audrey Martin, resides in Montreal.

"FROLICLAND" TO HIGHLIGHT FAIR'S AGENDA

Features of the Sherbrooke "Victory" Fair, which will be held from August 26 to September 2, will be the grandstand revue "On to Victory" and the Condon Midway, "Frolicland", both of which will provide entertainment of a high calibre.

Featuring wartime background in song and dance, the "On to Victory" production has beautiful choruses, well rehearsed dance routines, splendid singing, some international acts, and a pleasing master of ceremonies in Lester Cole, who also sings in an appealing manner. Divided into five settings, the production opens with Paddy Lane, then La Conga, the gay '90's, Spring Fantasy and winds up with the "On to Victory" finale. The costumes are colorful and the stage effects in keeping with the general set-up.

Specialty acts include the Victoria troupe, three girls and one man who do amazing stunts on bicycles, particularly unicycles which they ride around while playing musical instruments; the six debutantes, well trained singers; Walter Jenner and his trained "Buddy," which was one of the most popular features at Brandon; the Benard brothers and the six lovelies in a dance act; the four Rollerettes who give astonishing displays on roller skates; the four Franks, a dance number direct from London, and then the Willie West and McGinty comedy, seen in Regina some years ago but which has mirth-provoking appeal in its well-timed novelties.

Frolicland has thrilling rides, original side-shows and hundreds of astounding circus wonders and is at present playing at leading Exhibitions from coast to coast.

A brand new snow with greater thrills than the one which appeared in the last world's fair is Globe of Death, with the daring motorcyclists, Mildred and Bob Lee. In an enlarged steel cage they carry out a hair-raising routine of somersaults, jumps and other acrobatics with heavy machines.

Some of the best-known stars of screen and radio appear in the Hill-Billy show, featuring original mountain music with chorus and dances. Dick Dickson, world-famous clown diver, is among the headliners in Allie Phillips' new and exciting Swinmades.

J. W. "Patty" Conklin, director of Frolicland, brings scores of amazing persons to the thrillingly different circus side-show, and Pin-Up Girls and Crystal Maze are other shows which are new and unusual.

Rides include the popular Moor Rocket, fastest ride on the continent, Flying Scooter, Loop-o-Plane, Dodge 'Em, kiddie auto ride, Ferris wheel and merry-go-round. Proceeds, of course, are directed to the fund which provides vacations at the Beach for underprivileged children.

Many Interesting Items Discussed At Session Of Sherbrooke Co. W.I.

A well represented meeting of the Sherbrooke County Women's Institutes was held Saturday afternoon in the McKinnon Memorial Building.

In the absence of the County President, Miss Doris Gillis, the chair was taken by the First Vice-President, Mrs. W. T. Pearson, who opened the meeting by repeating in unison the salute to the flag, the prayer for our Allied Forces and the Collect for Club Women. This collect was composed by Mary Stuart, whose death occurred during the year and mention was made of her work and achievements.

The Secretary, Mrs. R. E. Mosher, read the minutes of the last quarterly meeting which were approved. Correspondence included excerpts from letters of thanks for garden seeds sent to Scotland and to Australia, which showed great appreciation, also a letter to the Belvedere and Ascot branch from a children's home in England, thanking them for apple jam sent by those two branches last year.

This home houses forty children left homeless by the war, and this gift from Canada was greatly appreciated.

The roll call showed all seven branches in the County represented, Ascot, Belvedere, Brompton, Cherry River, Lennoxville, Milby and Orford.

The President then called on Mrs. A. E. Abercrombie, who gave the highlights of the annual convention held recently at Macdonald College. Correspondence included notes to that the need for leather vests for seamen is great, and it is hoped all branches will try to make at least a few. An appeal for knitted garments for Norwegian children was also read. Branches wishing to aid in this work will be furnished the wool and instructions. This report showed keen interest in all departments of work during the past year, and many new plans for this year.

Mrs. Pearson gave a brief resume of the canning demonstration she held at Macdonald College, and many canning problems were discussed.

Mrs. L. Clark, Convener of Agriculture, then gave a short talk on the coming County School Fair to be held in Lennoxville and asked for a committee meeting of all conveners of Agriculture and Home Economics to be held in Lennoxville on August 17 to select judges, etc. All branches are asked to send their donations for prizes as soon as possible so that all may be in readiness.

The sum of ten dollars was voted from this meeting for School Fair prizes and ten dollars was voted to send seeds again to Australia. This concluded the business, and the guest speaker, Mr. W. O. Nicol, district representative for the Blue Cross Hospital Service Association, was introduced by Mrs. Tarte.

Mr. Nicol outlined the aims and objects of the association in the province and Dominion.

The speaker was thanked for his informative talk by Miss K. Thompson and the meeting adjourned and tea was served by members of the Belvedere and Cherry River branches.

The tea table with its lace cover was centered with a beautiful silver basket of sweet peas and green tapers in matching holders.

Mrs. W. S. Richardson, on behalf of the meeting, expressed a vote of thanks to the hostesses for the delicious lunch.

THE FLAPPING LINE

The most fascinating spectacle of the flaming battle-fronts—and a key situation to watch — is that loose left wing of Hitler's Normandy line which is flying like a pennant in a hurricane. It was the tearing away of this Nazi flank from its coastal anchor which let the American forces loose to rampage through Brittany. Now it is being swung back like a turnpike tollgate to open the route to Paris, as witness the glad news that American columns achieved the crossing of the Mayenne river barrier in five places, and are roaring on towards the French capital in the favorable open country between the Seine and the Loire Rivers.

That lashing pennant is symbolic of Hitler's whole position at this critical moment—both in the fighting zones and on the home front. Just as he is trying frantically to stabilize that Normandy line, and also keep it from being torn away from its right anchor at Caen, where the Allies are attacking again, so he is straining every nerve to reorganize his civilian war effort in face of the recent revolt organized by the Prussian generals.

One of General Montgomery's senior staff officers Sunday declared that "the next two or three weeks may be the most critical of any time of the war for Germany." That is true not only from the military viewpoint but as regards the crisis within the Reich. Hitler himself acknowledged this in his statement to Nazi party leaders last Friday when he said:

"I am not afraid to wage battle against outside enemies . . . but I must have certainty that in the rear there is absolute security, loyal confidence and faithful co-operation."

The Fuehrer is facing the monumental task not only of repairing the shaken morale of his troops but of his people. He must do this at a moment when both his Eastern and Western fronts are being riddled with holes, and there is no question that the disaffection has deep roots.

The next three weeks may indeed vastly clarify the war picture. We already know that Hitler is beaten—and he knows it—but we do not know how long he may be able to hang on. His every move indicates his determination to fight to the last ditch if he can get his army and home front to support him. Three weeks may disclose his prospects. What we can see now—and this should be emphasized — is that German forces are continuing to resist fiercely at many places, despite the precariousness of their position. For that reason it would be criminal to take it for granted that they are about to fold up.

A STUDY IN CONTRASTS

Montrealers, now in the fifth day of a transportation tie-up, cannot but compare the contrasting manner in which the Canadian Government is dealing with their problem and the action taken by the United States authorities to cope with a similar situation in Philadelphia. Whereas the Canadian Government refuses to take any definite stand except for a vague statement by the Minister of Labor that the strike was "unwarranted," the United States authorities had no compunction in moving the troops into the strike-bound Philadelphia district and ordering the men to resume their work "or else."

Conditions are somewhat similar in the two cases, for in neither battle is the question of wages or working conditions involved. The strike at Philadelphia was caused by the upgrading of negro workers to platform jobs to relieve the labor shortage. The Montreal walk-out is the result of the union demand for a closed shop, something which the management of the Company claims is illegal under statutes of both the Dominion and the Province.

There are measures on the statute books of both the Dominion and the Province barring such strikes as the one now tying up traffic in Montreal and increasing the already grave labor problems of the war industries of the Metropolis. But neither administration appears willing to make any effort to enforce them. All that the electors of Montreal can hope for is that with the clearing up of the political situation in today's Provincial elections, the Government may feel constrained to remedy an unjustified situation and see that service is restored without further delay and that the organizers of the walkout are subject to such punishment as the law demands.

The present strike was an inevitable corollary of the second several months ago, the leaders of which have so far gone unpunished.

T. MALO AND CANADA

The news of the capture of the seaport of St. Malo by the Allied advance in the Breton peninsula forges another close link between the people of the Province of Quebec and the forces fighting for the liberation of Europe. Was it not from the seaport of St. Malo that Jacques Cartier sailed away to the Westward on his voyages of exploration which resulted in the founding of Canada? In this little walled town, with its steep and narrow streets, Jacques Cartier was born in the year 1491 and it was there he died in 1557. Unlike so many other explorers and discoverers, these facts about the founder of Canada are definitely clear for, unless they have been destroyed by the Germans in recent months, the old registers of the seaport are still in existence. They contain his name and the names of many other ancestors of a large portion of the people of this Province.

Each of his three voyages of discovery started from this little Breton port and in the museum of the fishing village stands a tangible relic of the discovery of Canada. There is preserved the remnants of the Petite Hermine, the sixty-ton vessel which formed part of Jacques Cartier's second voyage.

In this ship he wintered on the St. Charles River in 1535-1536 and it was from this ship that he saw so many of his men die from scurvy during the winter that the ship had to be abandoned when the return voyage was made in the spring. About one hundred years ago the sunken remains were discovered and taken back to their home port and now rest with their commander as a tangible evidence of the links between the two countries.

A CANADIAN MILITARY MILESTONE

The official announcement that from the beginning of August, the Canadian forces in France have been operating as a distinct army, is another milestone in the military progress of the Dominion. Canadian troops have fought in many wars outside its own borders, their numbers expanding from the original detached companies or battalions which served with Imperial units in the Egyptian and South African wars to the Canadian Corps of five divisions which fought through the First Great War. But this is the first time that a distinct Canadian army with its own headquarters commanded by Canadian officers has taken part in a large-scale engagement.

The development is the fulfilment of the ambition of those men who have been charged with the organization of the Canadian forces ever since the outbreak of hostilities, the groundwork for which was laid when the First Canadian Army of two corps was established during the long training days in Great Britain. However, the exigencies of the military situation served to delay the transfer of the Canadian Army to France, some of the units being assigned to the fighting in Italy. The intensification and expansion of the Allied drive against Paris — and ultimately Berlin — has finally permitted the creation of that condition so much sought by the Canadian command.

Admittedly the creation of a distinct Canadian army on the fighting front will in no way affect the fighting qualities of those Canadian units which have so far covered themselves with glory in the Normandy battle to date, but it will serve to individualize these forces and perhaps improve their morale to a degree—if any improvement is necessary. It will give the people at home a more balanced idea of the progress of the fighting and serve to consolidate the war effort and will to win on the home front.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised.—Luke 4:18.

To pity distress is but human; to relieve it is Godlike.—Horace Mann.

WHEN DO WE EAT?

Dispensing Billions

From The Ottawa Journal

Last week the Government came to Parliament, asked:

$250,000,000 for family allowances;
$200,000,000 for farm floor prices;
$275,000,000 for housing;
$800,000,000 for import-export credits;
$25,000,000 for fish floor prices.

A total of $1,650,000,000. In an era so prodigiously prolific in gigantic expenditures and re-sounding slogans, a billion dollars may not seem much. Yet it may be that some are wondering how such vast commitments can be made to fit into any conceivable post-war budget; wondering about their possible impact upon our social and economic way of life in years to come.

These appropriations, admittedly, aim at good. All of us want priorities for children. All of us want—or should want—good housing. No one will argue against fair prices for farmers. These things are of progress. Of the good life.

But there are questions. The question, for example, of whether there does not exist with respect to these aims, as with respect to the attainment of most desirable ends, certain hard realities which we are bound to consider — realities threatening the danger of our grasp exceeding our reach, and therefore involving peril.

We know that in these days it is unfashionable to ask where the money is to come from. The decision which greets the question does not alter the fact that two and two still make four, nor does it change the truth that expenditures, no matter how desirable, cannot exceed a nation's income—not, at any rate, without eventual bankruptcy.

That being true, with no financial device capable of making it untrue, the question we face is simply this: Is the post-war income of this country likely to be large enough to take care of all these proposed vast outlays, plus many other things? Many doubt it.

There are those who say: What of the national income today if we can maintain it at its present height to wage war, why can't we maintain it at the same height, or higher, to wage peace? The answer, we suggest, is this: The national income today is based on the fact that we are finding a ready, uncompetitive and unlimited market for the world's battlefields for all that our fields and forests and mines can produce. Only slight possibility exists that any like market can be achieved in peace export trade. Hope we may that in years to come a world at peace will see international trade flourish, with all the things we make sent over the earth. Yet there is no possible prospect of that state arriving for a long time; a desolated, ravished world tells us that. What we must contemplate, therefore, is the question of where we are to find the cash, the national income, to take care of all these commitments and costly projects through the post-war decade—or decades—when the war's ravages will slowly from the war's ravages will not be able to keep our plants and fields as busy as war is keeping them now, sending our present fictitious national income down to lower levels.

We are told that we can go on as we are going, keep the national earnings at their present height, if we but put into peace the national will that we are putting into war. In other words, the argument is that if, in peace, we are willing to submit ourselves to stupendous taxes and give our savings to the Government in loans, the while depriving ourselves as we have been depriving ourselves in war, we can find the money necessary for peace. The argument is right—in part. Yet the fact remains that no national will, no matter how determined or self-sacrificing, can compel other nations, no matter what their condition, to buy our goods; and that, if they are unable to buy our goods, cutting our exports to but a fraction of what they are today, the tenacity of our up a public debt which would be crushing and unmanageable—inviting repudiation.

We have no wish to play the role of a Cassandra. Yet we, like many others, begin to wonder where this march towards vast commitments may be leading us. It is not a question of being against progress, or of not wanting the widest possible distribution of life's good things among our people; nor is it a question of being for or against state socialism, nor of considering the stifling of incentive and ambition by the advent of too much paternalism. It is a question simply, as we see it, of serious over-reaching of the national capacity — with only bitter disillusionment in the end. A lot of tragic history tells us how bitter that disillusionment can be.

SO THEY SAY

Many here at home are talking of a quick victory through a collapse of the German army. I tell you that such a collapse is not yet apparent to our men who are locked in combat with a brutal, resourceful enemy. —Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Tojo and others like him who step aside before the final debacle cannot be so doing escape the consequences of their own acts. It is time the American government made this clear to the people of Japan and those who lead them.—Honolulu Advertiser editorial.

So long as we have faith in democracy, which means faith in ourselves, and in our willingness to assume the responsibilities inherent in the rights which we proclaim, no power on earth can stop us.—Dr. Everett Case, President Colgate U.

The lieutenant was full of wrath and contempt. With his right ring finger he cut the cords of the enemy parachute and sent the enemy pilot hurtling to destruction. —Japan war correspondent, writing from China.

The German general staff is already well aware of Germany's inevitable defeat. It has, however, made detailed plans for a later renewal of its attempt to dominate the world.—Sumner Welles.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority.

"COUNT TRICKS" IS FIRST BRIDGE RULE

I have read several books on the play of the hand, and each has its good qualities; but the first and most important lesson for the beginner to learn is to count his tricks. He need not bother about squeeze plays and end plays—they will come automatically.

In a large tournament pair after pair made only five hearts, yet the play for six is very simple. West wins the opening diamond lead and continues with a diamond, which dummy should ruff with the three-spot. Now North should count his tricks. He can win five club tricks, the ace of spades, and he has ruffed a diamond. He can ruff another diamond, and he should cash four heart tricks, which would give him 12. Thus there is no need to take the spade finesse.

Having counted his tricks, he goes over to the queen of clubs, ruffs another diamond, cashes the king and queen of hearts and ace of spades, picks up the trump and cashes his five club tricks.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

The Situation: You are in charge of a large dinner, at a hotel, at which many of the guests will be strangers to each other.

Wrong Way: Feel that it is up to the guests to introduce themselves and make themselves at home. Right Way: Appoint several persons, who are especially well acquainted with the group, to arrive early and make the guests welcome, introduce those arriving alone to groups, etc. (Otherwise shy guests will feel awkward and ill-at-ease.)

Fitch Bay Church Congregation Holds Annual Reunion Services

Fitch Bay, Aug. 8.—Fitch Bay United Church looked very attractive with its many baskets of flowers on Sunday afternoon, July 30, when a large congregation was present for the annual re-union service.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. R. Wheeler, B.A., who was in Sawyerville exchanging pulpits with the guest speaker, Rev. Charles Cushing, Rev. M. H. Sanderson, of Ayer's Cliff, presided.

Special music was furnished by a quartet from Beulah United Church, Ayer's Cliff, under the leadership of Mrs. Willis Rexford, composed of Mrs. Keeler, Mrs. Nelson Pierce and Winston and Alfred Keeler. During the service a solo by Mrs. Pierce and the beautiful old hymn, "He Leadeth Me," was sung as a duet by the Keeler brothers. As in past years when these gifted singers, with their accompanist, were present, the usual numbers rendered by them added greatly to the beauty and worship of the service.

Following the offertory, the quartet, assisted by Mrs. N. H. Sanderson and Mr. H. G. Taylor, rendered an anthem.

The guest speaker, Rev. Charles Cushing, of Sawyerville, in his address dwelt on the subject of "Church Architecture," dealing particularly with the meaning of church spires. He emphasized the fact that there were churches which had the outward form, but lacked the real spirit of faith. The real church is the company of believers.

The address was greatly appreciated by the congregation and their guests, all of whom at the close of the service registered in the guest book, which was in charge of Miss Kathleen Brown.

Visitors on the occasion included Rev. and Mrs. M. H. Sanderson and the quartet, of Ayer's Cliff, Rev. Charles Cushing and son, Charles McRae Cushing, with his grandmother, Mrs. C. McRae, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harvey and daughters, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. John Tilton, of Stanstead, Mrs. C. C. Blake, Mr. Clarence Blake and the Misses Iva and Mildred Blake, of Rock Island, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ticehurst and six children, and Miss F. A. Bryant, of Eastman, Mr. and Mrs. Alex McEwan, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Cass and Mrs. W. McEwan, of Georgeville, Miss Christine Teale, of Granby, Conn. There were also present two United Church ministers from a neighboring summer camp, Rev. D. Forsyth, of Waterloo, Ont., and Rev. M. M. Booth, of Arvida.

WE CAN'T HAVE ALL THE GAS WE'D LIKE!

CANADA is able to supply only 15% of her own petroleum needs. The balance must come from the common pool of the United Nations. Seventeen gallons of every twenty used by this country must be imported in the form of crude oil from this barely adequate petroleum products pool. Six gallons of every ten must be shipped to us by ocean tanker—at the risk of men's lives, at the risk of precious ships.

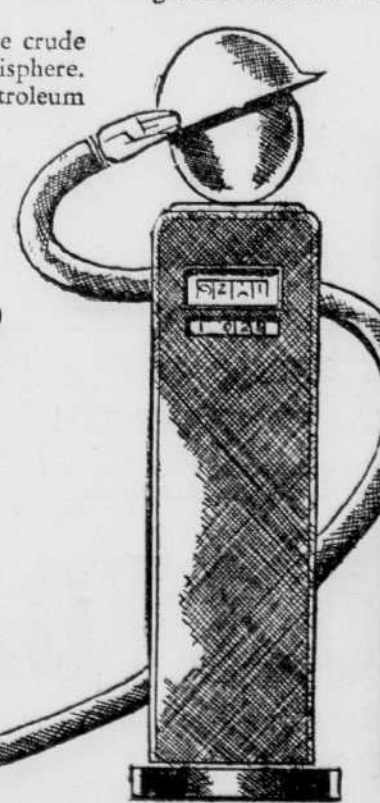

Today, with great military campaigns in full swing in Europe, in the Pacific, in Asia—every possible tanker is forced to keep up the pressure of attack by the Allied fighting forces. Every drop of this "fighting" gasoline and fuel oil must be carried vast distances across dangerous seas. Tankers must travel slowly in convoy; they must travel circuitous routes; they must return over thousands of miles of submarine-infested oceans, empty.

Today, war is making insatiable demands upon the crude oil resources and transportation facilities of this hemisphere. Here in Canada we dare not ask for quantities of petroleum beyond our bare, essential needs. We cannot justifiably ask for more than we are using now. This is why gasoline stocks on hand in Canada, as of March 31st, this year, were 55,000,000 gallons less than at the start of rationing on April 1st, 1942.

From Canada's total ration must come all the needs of the Dominion's armed services at home, all the needs of our war industry, of agriculture, and of essential transportation. It is not surprising that little is left for other civilian use—for our motor cars and trucks.

Keep these facts before you at all times. Remind yourself that every gallon we can do without means just that much more for the Allied fighting forces—that it means the release of vital tanker transportation to move Victory gasoline and fuel oil to the battlefronts of the world.

LESS CIVILIAN GAS MEANS MORE "FIGHTING GAS" FOR THE FORCES

BLOC SPEAKERS HELD MEETING AT ABERCORN

Sutton, Aug. 8.—Gordon Rothney, Bloc Populaire candidate for Brum County, spoke to the electors of Abercorn at a meeting in the New Abercorn House presided over by Gilles Dandenault.

At the outset of the meeting Mr. Dandenault asked P. A. Sutcliffe, who was in the audience, if he would consent to open the meeting. Mr. Sutcliffe agreed, and speaking to those present said: "As a strong supporter of W. F. Bowles, the Liberal candidate, I consider it only fair that I should bring the meeting to order and ask that those who will speak to you be given a fair hearing. I might say that I totally disagree with almost everything Mr. Rothney, and those he follows, advocate, but I fully agree with their right to say it. I heard Mr. Rothney and his supporters, Mr. Martino, speak at Knowlton and considered their speeches clean and moderate, much more so than the speeches given elsewhere. However, Abercorn claims to be fair, and in that spirit of being fair and exercising good sportsmanship, if anyone knows what that means, I ask you to give the candidate a fair hearing."

Mr. Rothney explained the aims of the Bloc Populaire and was interrupted several times. He stated that governments have too many lawyers, and the newspapers were unfair to the Bloc. At the conclusion of the speeches, Mr. Dandenault again asked Mr. Sutcliffe to close the meeting. Mr. Sutcliffe said, in closing the meeting, that he had noted the strong objection to lawyers and newspapers. "Having been connected with both professions," he said, "I can see I am between the devil and the sea and would be one of the unchosen here. However, I must say the speeches have been clean and not at all excessive."

We must control, with the co-operation of all our Allies, the future use of all the islands of the Pacific and prevent their future military use by Japan.—Rep. Andrew J. May of Kentucky, military affairs chairman.

It's Quoted in the Queerest Places!

To be sure of full enjoyment in every cup you must use really good coffee.

This advice is so important to true coffee lovers that they are apt to quote it in the most unexpected places. It's the lesson they learned during the acute coffee shortage.

Here's what to do to be absolutely sure of "really good coffee" anywhere or at any time... insist on Maxwell House! You'll always find this superb blend temptingly delicious, fragrant and full-bodied.

Make Maxwell House your regular coffee for these reasons:

1. It's blended from rare extra flavor coffees, each carefully selected for its particular quality of flavor, body or fragrance.

2. Roasted by a special process that captures all the extra goodness of this fine blend.

Maxwell House is packed in a War-time Bag in an All Purpose Grind and at less cost to you.

BEHIND YOUR TELEPHONE...

HIGH USAGE A RESULT OF LOW COST

Here in Canada where the telephone idea was born, more telephone calls per capita are made than in almost any other country in the world.

Usage is surely the final test. Telephone users get the greatest possible value for what they pay. Reasonable rates and speedy, dependable, courteous service—all these encourage telephone development. They account for Canada's leadership in the use of the telephone.

Of course, war-time scarcity of vital materials has sharply restricted growth, but telephone service has been maintained at high standard. It has made an outstanding contribution to the Victory to come.

Residents of Canada and the United States make many more telephone calls per capita than any European country.

In Europe, Sweden leads. Latest official figures available (1941) give Sweden 196.5 annual calls per capita as compared with 262 for Canada.

THE LENGTHENED SHADOW OF A MAN...

The love and devotion of a man for his family can live on after his passing. He can make sure of a regular income for his family whether or not he is here to earn it.

He can provide funds to clear off a mortgage, to give his children an education, to enable his family to face the future without fear of privation.

All these benefits can be assured by an Imperial Life policy. Life insurance is indeed "the lengthened shadow of a man", continuing into the future the means for the upbringing of his family just as though he himself were present.

Imperial Life policies are designed to provide for a man's retirement years as well. Your Imperial Life representative will be glad to discuss with you a plan suited to your particular needs.

RADIONIC HEARING AID SOLD BY MAIL

Windsor, Ont.—Efforts of W. K. Esling, member of the House of Commons for Kootenay West, to make the forty-dollar Zenith Radionic Hearing Aid available to Canadians have been completely successful, and have resulted in the establishment of a new Canadian industry. It was announced here by J. J. Nance, Vice-President and Director of sales of Zenith Radio Corporation.

The New Canadian company, Zenith Radio Corporation of Canada, Ltd., with headquarters in the Guarantee Trust Building of this city, is now distributing the new instrument direct by mail to consumers throughout the Dominion for forty dollars in Canadian currency, the same price for which it sells in the American currency in the United States. Nance said that this was the first time a manufacturer from the United States has offered an identical product at an identical price in Canadian currency.

"Our new hearing aid is equipped with unique features that make it as easy for the user to adjust to his own hearing requirements as it is to adjust a pair of binoculars," Nance stated. "It has a four-position tone control to give correct compensation for virtually any type of hearing loss, and a quiet type volume control to compensate for different degrees of loss. The earphone is equipped with an assortment of different sized tubes and tips from which the user can select a combination that will fit him comfortably. These features eliminate any need for personal consultation or special adjustments, and make it as simple to buy a hearing aid by mail as it is to purchase a watch or camera."

FIRST OF FALL FAIRS OPENS AT WATERLOO THURSDAY

Many Highlights To Be Featured At Annual Waterloo Exhibition

Featuring the finest of horse-days commencing Thursday, and racing run over the best half-mile will be the beginning of the exhibition in the Province of Quebec and fair period which will continue through the Eastern Townships and attractions from the Greater Shows, the annual Waterloo month of August and the first part of the fair will open for three consecutive days of September.

Recent improvements and re-grading of the Waterloo race track will be one of the major factors in ranking this year's fair among the best to ever be presented at Waterloo, as the horses will compete over the finest half-mile race track in the Province, while in the attraction field, there will feature the best of entertainment both in side-shows and in thrilling rides along the midway.

On the grandstand a different show will be presented during each of the three days of the fair, promising great entertainment and spectacular performances of acrobatics and other events, while on the closing night, Saturday, the grandstand attraction will be topped off with the presentation of two hundred dollars in War Bond prizes.

Entries for the placing of livestock and cattle on exhibition were closed on August 5, and exceptionally good numbers of the finest animals to be found in the District of Bedford and in Shefford County have been registered for display in the judging competitions.

Largely responsible for the returning of the Waterloo Fair in all its splendor this year, is Vice-President Raoul Deragon, who offers assurance that the Waterloo Fair will once again place among the top-ranking fairs presented in the Eastern Townships, and is confident of a highly successful year as he once again prepares to assume duties of directing activities.

QUEBEC PRODUCES FOR WAR

Quebec can well be proud of her tremendous war effort. Every day in ever increasing quantities, materials for war surge from the production lines of Quebec's many war plants.

Every worker, in mine and factory, field and office, pledges not only his or her unceasing labour, but also, the purchase of Victory Bonds to help pay for the materials needed to help our fighting men.

Joliette's Parc Renaud, beautiful setting for the inspiring concerts of l'Union Musicale.

JOLIETTE DOES HER SHARE!

Joliette . . . producing for WAR! Heart of one of the richest regions of Quebec, County seat of an important judiciary district, See of a large Catholic Diocese, Joliette, in just a short period of time, has achieved enormous industrial, educational and residential growth. And it has been a steady, healthy expansion! For Joliette has never experienced a boom and no period of depression has hampered or retarded her forward march. Joliette's varied industrial developments, beautiful modern homes and lovely spacious parks, and her location at the entrance to the Laurentian Mountain paradise, have made her a model French-Canadian community beloved by residents and visitors alike.

From this highly industrialized beauty spot comes a huge share of the United Nations' military supplies . . . parts for fighting and merchant ships . . . for aircraft, tanks and guns . . . clothing for the armed services . . . ammunition . . . and hundreds of other war goods, each playing a tremendously vital role at the fighting fronts all over the world. And Joliette is an arsenal for Canada's home needs, too. For military equipment—made in Joliette—is helping to train our boys from coast to coast.

Joliette . . . producing for war . . . pays her way! Sharing the burden of war's heavy cost is a matter of personal pride with Joliette's industrious citizens. To date, $2,157,250.00 of their hard-earned money has been invested in Victory Bonds—a grand tribute to the future of Canada from a people determined to give wholeheartedly of their time and energy and money to speed the victorious homecoming of those fighting for us.

Yes, the good people of Joliette are contributing generously towards Victory . . . and towards the Peace to follow. Their many churches of various denominations and their energetic social and civic organizations—among them Federated Charities, The Red Cross Society and The Chamber of Commerce—are promoting the understanding, co-operation and unity that builds the goodwill for which all civilized mankind is working. The war effort of Joliette's civilians and the sacrifices of their fighting men—many of whom received their training in Joliette's own military camps—combine to assure that when Victory comes, it will bring an era of further growth, happiness and prosperity to this warm-hearted community that has given so loyally of time, toil and money to

BELVIDERE CRUSHES PNEUMATIC TOOL 15-3

League-Leaders Rack Up 16th Straight Victory This Year

The league-leading Belvidere Service Station team last night racked up its sixteenth straight win when it gained a smothering 15-3 triumph over the Sherbrooke Pneumatic Tool in a regular game of the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League played at Dufresne Park.

The league-leaders had no difficulty in beating the Toolmen and scored practically at will. Although the game looked as if it might be close in the first inning, when the score stood at 3-2 in favor of Belvidere, the winners opened up in the third inning, and from then on it was a clean walkaway.

The Belvidere Service Station chalked up three runs in the first frame, added four more in the third, three in each of the fourth and fifth frames, and topped it off with two additional runs in the seventh.

The Sherbrooke Pneumatic Tool scored two runs in the opening frame and tallied their third and last run in the sixth.

Gilles Dube led the Belvidere Service Station hitters last night as he connected four times in five trips to the plate, scoring three runs and knocking home one man. Lorenzo Dube also starred with three for four, scoring once and bringing in three runs.

Doubles were many on the Belvidere team with Lorenzo Dube, Pelletier and Corriveau connecting for a single extra-base knock each, while Charrier potted out two two-baggers, knocking home four runs.

Heavy hitters on the Toolmen were Roger Lessard and Yergeau. These three men each pulled off two hits.

Collin, Belvidere pitcher, struck out three men and gave up two bases on balls, while Yergeau, Toolmen pitcher, fanned three and walked one. Belvidere committed two errors to six by the Pneumatic Tool.

One double play featured the game. In the second inning, Charrier, Metivier and Corriveau combined to perform the twin kill.

COLEMAN PICKS CHICAGOANS TO PLACE SECOND

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sport Writer
Evansville Bob Coleman manager of the Boston Braves, today picked Chicago Cubs to win the second-place scrap in the National League and labelled the Braves' Bill Nicholson the most valuable player in the circuit.

As the National's Eastern teams headed West for their last long haul of the season and St. Louis Browns led the American's West clubs on a final Eastern invasion, Coleman left little doubt about his concession of the flag to St. Louis Cardinals who he called the "only real ball club" in the league.

With the exception of New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates who are playing off a postponed game in Pittsburgh, all big league clubs today enjoy a second successive open date.

With the cards enjoying a 16th game lead and only 15 to go, National League managers couldn't be blamed for following Coleman's lead of thought and talking about the second-place scrap.

The portly catcher from Indiana who is competing his first season as big league manager doesn't hit Chicago for another week but thoughts of Nicholson trouble his sleep.

"When the Cubs were stumbling around the basement, Nicholson was hitting around .230," the Boston skipper said, "he didn't hit a homer until mid-May, like last year, but once he started those Cubs have been plenty rough."

"Marty Marion of the Cards is a close second to Nicholson, as most valuable but I think Nick does more for the Cubs than Marion can do for the St. Louis Cards. That Marion, though, is an octopus at shortstop. With help like that no wonder Billy Southworth's picking looks good. Johnny Horn is having a great year and Ray Sanders, an East Angus, is letting talk about something else."

Coleman wasn't satisfied with his second-division club but said there wasn't much to be done about it under wartime conditions.

Miss Amona Hollenbeck, of Sherbrooke, spent a day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hollenbeck, and Mrs. E. M. Martin and Miss Susan E. Martin, of St. Therese, spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Martin and Harlan Gardner, of West Brome.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Martin and Miss Glenn Martin were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Farmer, in West Brome.

The christening of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Blampin took place on Sunday in St. Matthew's Church by Rev. S. Wood. The child received the names of Marilyn Lucy. The godparents were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Martin, of St. Therese.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bressette and the Misses Hazel and Edna Bressette visited Mr. and Mrs. R. McCutcheon, in West Brome.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben B. Aniss had the misfortune of having their barn burned after being struck by lightning. A large number of hens and several pigs were burned.

Mrs. Maud Derry, of Montreal, Mr. Arthur Moffatt, of Kensington, Conn., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Savage, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Mosher and Master Derry Mosher, of Montreal, were guests at the same home.

Mr. Vaughan H. Moore, Jr., of Montreal, spent a week-end with Mrs. Moore and Miss Patricia Joan Moore, at the home of Mrs. R. A. Savage.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Matthew's Church was entertained one afternoon by Mrs. Leonard Wright.

After observing a number of girls of various sizes and shapes cavorting around in strapless swim suits, we concluded that the law of gravity has been suspended or amended.—Kitchener Record.
