DUPLESSIS DECLARES OPPOSITION WOULD CONDEMN SECESSION MOVE

Drummondville Audience Told that Canadians Have Proved Loyalty to the Crown at Cost of Great Sacrifices at Times—Premier Godbout Charges Opposition Leader With Seeking to Stir Up Strife Between Employees and Employers—Former A.L.N. Leader Ready to Accept Olive Branch Offered by Liberals.

The Union Nationale group he leads in the provincial election campaign remains loyal to Canada and the Empire and repudiates any suggestion it favors secession, Maurice Duplessis assured a meeting at Drummondville during the week-end.

"We in this province have sworn allegiance to our Gracious Sovereign and we refuse to be swayed," the Opposition leader in the last Legislature declared. He said some might have read in certain newspapers the party wished to separate Quebec from the rest of Canada, from the Empire, and wished to separate the English-speaking people of the province from the French.

Mr. Duplessis denied any intention of arousing racial bitterness. He said, "and I add, we are Canadians and have proven our loyalty to the Crown at the cost of sacrifices at times. We are loyal to the oath we took, and we have confidence in that oath."

The Union Nationale leader spoke at Drummondville on Saturday and at Lake Mégantic yesterday afternoon.

Premier Adolphe Godbout told a Liberal rally at Levis last night, "social security is the aim of the Liberal party, and we are sure of the support of the younger element of the province and the confidence of our elders we can establish this security without increasing taxation and without inflicting other burdens on the business firms of Quebec."

"We have confidence in the future of the province; we have confidence in the willingness of our own people to aid us in developing the valued natural resources we have at our disposal."

Communism and Socialism Exist in This Province.

The former-Premier declared his programme of subsidies to farmers was not a plan to create friction between farmers and workers, as the latter would realize their prosperity was dependent on prosperity of the farmer. The Government policy of farm aid would keep farmers on the land instead of going to cities to compete with city workers in the labor market.

Mr. Duplessis and his colleagues, said Mr. Godbout, were trying to create trouble between employees and employers.

"I say it here before this large gathering that Communism and Socialism exist in the Province of Quebec and I believe it is possible that agents of this movement have made their appearance in the city of Levis," he said.

At Drummondville, Mr. Duplessis charged the Government had for years opposed the social measures they now offered the public in their election platform.

His greatest desire was to oust the unfit from public office and remove an administration that had been at the helm too long, the Three Rivers member in the last Legislature declared at Lake Mégantic.

"What I want is to establish in this province a system of administration which will ignore personal interests and be firmly established on the solid rock of honesty and sincerity," he said. "We will commence our work immediately the people have cleared away the Godbout-Bouchard party."

What more information Mr. Duplessis possessed had been picked up from certain discontented employees, Mr. Bastien said.

The week-end was active in the political arena, and several Liberal ministers spoke. Hon. Cleophas Bastien, Minister Without Portfolio, spoke at Three Rivers on behalf of Philippe Bigue, K.C., Liberal opponent of Mr. Duplessis in his home division.

Mr. Bastien declared that seeing Mr. Duplessis had been a member of the House since 1927 he would certainly, if he had known of the scandals he talked so much of, have said something of them before now.

What more information Mr. Duplessis possessed had been picked up from certain discontented employees, Mr. Bastien said.

Fred Monk Ready to Serve in Godbout Cabinet.

Fred Monk, ardent supporter of Paul Gouin, leader of the Action Libérale Nationale group allied with Maurice Duplessis and his Conservatives in the last House, told a meeting near Montreal that he had twice been approached by Liberal Government members with suggestions there might be room in the Cabinet for A.L.N. individuals.

Mr. Monk said both suggestions had been refused by him, but he would be glad to serve if the new Liberal leader kept his promises. Since withdrawal of Mr. Gouin from the alliance under the title of Union Nationale, Mr. Monk has come forward in Jacques Cartier division as an Independent Liberal.

The aim of the Godbout Government if returned to power is to re-establish small industries in the smaller centres, declared Hon. Wilfrid Gagnon, Minister of Trade and Industry, at St. Scholastique, Quebec, times will soon return, he forecast.

Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Dominion Minister of Public Works, entered the provincial fray at Yamaska, declaring Premier Godbout knew what the province needed—"Sound rehabilitation of farming for the achievement of a sound and prosperous Quebec."

THIRTY RODE THROUGH FIRE IN INCLINE RAILWAY CAR

Beacon, N.Y., August 3.—A passenger described today how thirty men and women huddled together in a cable car and rode through fire on the Beacon Mountain inclined railway Sunday.

The car was carrying passengers home from a dance at the casino on the mountain top. Unknown to the management, fire had broken out in trees and brush and was burning the wooden railway structure half way down the mountain.

His car made the 2,250-foot trip safely, but later another car filled with volunteer fire fighters was derailed and burned. Its passengers jumped to the ground.

SPAIN TAKING OVER MILITARY SUPPLY PLANTS

Nationalization of Other Key Industries Also Under Way in Effort to Stem Tide of Revolt

Sweeping Against Capital—Church Bells Being Melted Down to Make Hand Grenades.

Madrid, Aug. 3.—The Madrid Government, claiming new victories in the field, today announced that nationalization of airplane and munitions plants and other key industries was underway in a determined effort to stem the tide of revolt sweeping toward the capital.

Church bells were being melted down to manufacture hand grenades, with "satisfactory" results, the ministry added.

An artillery bombardment of rebels entrenched in the Alcazar fortress is imminent. Gov. Jose Vega, of Toledo, announced on Sunday that he had ordered the use of gas.

BRACKEN SEEKS ESTABLISHMENT OF COALITION

Co-operation Between Liberal-Progressives and C.C.F. May Allow Present Manitoba Administration to Continue at Helm Despite Indecisive Vote Result.

Winnipeg, August 3.—Another supporter was added to Premier John Bracken's Liberal-Progressive following in the Legislature today as the Bracken Government's fortunes hung in the balance and party leaders discussed the indecisive results of the provincial election a week ago.

Election of D. McCarthy, Liberal-Progressive, in St. Rose, the only seat left unsettled from last Monday's voting, was announced early today. It brought the Government's strength to twenty-two against a combined Opposition of thirty-one with two northern constituencies yet to vote in deferred elections.

Faced with the stiffest political difficulties in his fourteen years as head of the Manitoba Government, the Premier returned from his riding at The Pas over the week-end and went into conference with his colleagues. He will return to The Pas later to campaign there and in Rupert's Land, where the deferred elections take place on August 21.

There were signs that party councils might bring a new deal for the Government. Beyond the state, meetings had been held in the C.C.F. group would assure the Premier and his ministers were close-knit. The general assumption is the Government is bending efforts toward some form of stabilized non-partisan government.

In this connection the Winnipeg Free Press in a news story credits the belief to Government quarters that the present administration will be able to continue at the helm through co-operation between the Liberal-Progressives and one or more of the minority groups.

Lacking a working majority, it was admitted stable government would be impossible. Erick P. Willis, Conservative leader, has called a meeting of his fifteen members-elect for next Tuesday when the future course of the party will be discussed.

It was believed alignment with the C.C.F. group would assure the Government of the co-operation necessary to control the House. An alliance with the Conservatives, next largest group in the Assembly, did not appear likely at the present. The final standing of the parties in the new Legislature follows:

Liberal-Progressives elected 22
Conservatives elected 16
Social Credit 5
C.C.F. 3
Independent 3
Communist 2

NANKING ARMY VICTORIOUS IN KWANGSI FIGHT

Central Government Forces Defeated Kwangsi Rebel Army in Seven-Hour Battle—Rebels Reported Invading Kwangtung.

Hong Kong, August 3.—Central Government troops defeated three thousand provincial soldiers from Kwangsi after a seven-hour battle, Chinese reports said today.

The clash between forces of the National Government and the Kwangsi rebels, opposing domination of southeastern China by the armies of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was declared to have occurred yesterday at Mushanghu, near Doshing.

These reports also said Eugene Chen, well known radical leader, arrived in Kwangsi province, apparently to join the independent Southern Government.

REBELS REPORTED STREAMING INTO KWANGTUNG PROVINCE.

Shanghai, Aug. 3.—Kwangsi provincial troops streamed across the southwestern border of Kwangtung province to occupy numerous small border towns, Japanese reports declared today.

Hastily mobilized forces from Kwangtung hurried to the area to block the invasion, Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported.

The Japanese advised were not immediately confirmed in Chinese circles.

Central (Nanking) Government authorities denied any hostilities had occurred, adding the National Government had established a military blockade around Kwangsi to prevent expansion of the rebellious movement in the southern provinces.

Edinburgh, August 3.—John Shepherd, found unfit to plead in an assault charge in which he was said to have "shadowed" his ex-fiancee for five years, was ordered detained.

RUSSIAN SOVIETS TO AID SPANISH FELLOW-WORKERS

Moscow Aug. 3.—Soviet workers committees began collection today of funds to aid Spanish Leftists.

Workers in the Proletariat Trade plant in Moscow cabled "best wishes" to President Manuel Azana and instructed a trade union committee to ask employees to contribute one-half of one per cent. of their monthly salaries.

In many meetings the workers expressed sympathy for the people of revolt-torn Spain. One group, by the resolution, termed the Fascist insurgents "the worst enemies of the toiling people."

"German and Italian Fascists, instigators of the war, are openly interfering in the internal affairs of Spain with an armed force," the resolution charged.

THREE CHARGES FACING ELEVEN ITALIAN FLIERS

Paris, August 3.—Trial on charges of violating three clauses of French air regulations loomed today for the eleven Italian fliers who were forced down on French territory in North Africa while attempting to deliver supplies to the Italian army.

Officials circles said that the charges which the Italians face include not having their planes properly marked, flying unauthorized over French territory, and carrying war material over French territory.

The determination of the French Government to maintain a hands-off policy, while at the same time refusing to itself the right to furnish war supplies to the Madrid Government, was emphasized in speeches by two Government officials last night.

Declaring that foreign intervention would certainly lead to war, Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos said in a speech in his electoral district: "Since we do not wish to risk war under any pretext, we do not wish to interfere in any country's internal affairs."

Max Dormany, Under-Secretary of State, said in a speech at Carmaux: "France would not wish to interfere in any country's internal affairs."

PILGRIMS WILL VISIT BATTLE FIELDS AGAIN

Five Thousand Former Members of Canadian Corps and Their Wives to Visit Rouyn and Other Areas as Guests of French Government After Week-End in Paris.

Paris, Aug. 3.—The Canadian pilgrimage to the scenes of 1914-18 moved on today to the battlefield after a week-end of official celebrations and receptions in and near Paris.

Torrow the six thousand former members of the Canadian corps and their wives will visit Rouyn, where they will receive a civic welcome and be guests at a banquet.

The high spot of the French tour, except for the magnificent ceremony at Vimy Ridge on July 26 when King Edward unveiled Canada's war dead, was reached here yesterday when the Canadians sat down with French war veterans at a banquet and were addressed by Marshal Henri Petain, hero of Verdun, who said the Canadians "were valiant soldiers whose courage knew no bounds."

A sack of wheat grown at Vimy Ridge was presented to Legion officials by Marshal Petain. It is to be taken to Quebec and sown there. It will give birth, Marshal Petain said, to a symbol of peace and friendship between France and Canada.

"The entire people of Canada accept with warm hearts the hospitality which you have extended to their representatives," Major Gregg said in reference to the gesture by the French Government of making so many Canadians its guests.

Marshal Petain said war communications sometimes announced reverses, "but for the Canadians they only brought news of victories." He dwelt on the importance of Vimy Ridge and added: "That was your accomplishment. Your four divisions, supported by heavy artillery, attacked on May 8, 1917, and, crushing German forces, they captured a large number of prisoners and considerable war material. The Canadian army corps insured definite possession of this invaluable strategic position."

He reviewed Canada's history and concluded "may your country continue its development in peace, liberty and freedom. To our comrades of the Canadian Legion I now raise my glass. To them belong our sincere affection and appreciation."

On Saturday the Canadians were formally received by the City of Paris at its City Hall.

LITTLE PROSPECT FOR MOISTURE TO SAVE U. S. CORN CROP

Chicago, August 3.—Drought-dogged farmers turned anxious eyes on the midwest's withering corn fields today with little hope for a heavy rain needed to revive the crop.

The corn belt's staple was in a critical period. The steady deterioration incident to the aridity—now in its third month—prompted observers to predict the corn harvest would shrink to approximately 1,500,000,000 bushels—1,000,000,000 under the average United States production.

A drenching downpour could stem the damage but meteorologists forecast scant precipitation in the immediate future.

Week-end showers aided hundreds of men in bringing northland fires under control.

GIRL WEEPS AT INABILITY TO ATTEND BURIAL

Seventeen-Year-Old Girl Charged with Murdering Mother During Argument Over Early Preparation of Supper Described by Attorney as Being Heart Broken.

Bayonne, N.J., Aug. 3.—Seventeen-year old Gladys MacKnight wept bitterly today, her attorney said, because she could not leave her cell to attend the funeral of her mother, whom she is accused of slaying.

Mrs. MacKnight will be buried in her home city of Bathurst, N.B.

R. Lewis Kennedy, the attorney, described the girl who Police Chief Cornelius J. O'Neill said confessed she had killed her mother to death while her sweetest, Donald Wightman, eighteen years old, cried "hit her again," as distraught and sleepless. Police described her as cold and steel-nerved.

Gladys said she was "awfully sorry for mother and father too." Kennedy declared after a three-hour jail conference with the attorney that the girl had confessed her regret for an early supper the evening before caused a quarrel; that the mother brandished a breadknife and Wightman pinched her arms; and that she struck her mother over the head several times with a hatchet.

O'Neill announced early Saturday that the girl had confessed her regret for an early supper the evening before caused a quarrel; that the mother brandished a breadknife and Wightman pinched her arms; and that she struck her mother over the head several times with a hatchet.

Edgar W. MacKnight, a cable company official, who found the body, said his attitude towards Gladys would be "the same as that of any father toward his daughter." He retained Kennedy to defend her.

WINS AND DEFEATS EBB AND FLOW ON EVER-CHANGING MAP OF SPAIN

Rebel Columns, Recently Reported Surrounding Madrid, Said to Be in Retreat in Guadarrama Mountains—Government Claims Series of Victories Over Rebels in Northern Section of Country—Rebels Declare Badajoz, Last Town Along Portuguese Border, Will Fall into Insurgent Hands Today.

London, August 3.—First local victories and defeats ebb and flow in the ever-changing map of Spain. Strengthened by ten thousand volunteers from Valencia, the Government is planning an attack on the insurgent forces in the Guadarramas.

Madrid lies on an elevated plateau with the Guadarrama mountains as a natural rampart of the north. Insurgent columns recently reported as having crossed the mountains, are now attacked in turn. It is believed in Madrid, according to Reuter despatches, that they have fallen back on Segovia. The insurgent artillery fire is lessening. The aim is more uncertain. Major Valderama Pimentel, appointed commander of the insurgent forces in the Guadarramas Saturday, was reported killed yesterday.

The fighting proceeds in three other main theatres of war: Seville, the region from the Portuguese frontier to Granada; the district of Zaragoza; in a confused area to the north and northwest at Oviedo, Gijon, Santander, Burgos and Pamplona held by the insurgents, at Leon, Bilbao, San Sebastian, held by the Government.

Gains and Losses Claimed.

By the Government—

In the north the insurgent push to the sea arrested.

The investment of Zaragoza progressing. Government troops reported at Barbastro, fifteen miles away. Madrid approaching normal.

Constantina, sixty miles north of Seville, in the hands of the Government. Government forces closing in on Granada.

Surrender of Majorca and the Balearic Isles imminent.

By the insurgents—

Badajoz, the last town along the Portuguese border expected to fall today.

The special correspondent of the Portuguese "Seculorum" at insurgent headquarters at Salamanca states that at Valladolid, which is the birthplace of Spanish Fascism, every able-bodied man has joined the insurgent army. Young girls, armed with revolvers, are patrolling the streets. Boys and priests were in the last column to leave. Twelve Caproni, three-engined planes and two Junkers were reported delivered to the insurgents according to reports received at Lisbon from Seville.

Barcelona a City of Red Terror.

Barcelona is a city of red terror. Nearly one thousand dead were reported picked up in the streets. Red flags fly over the great hotels. Scarcely a church remains undamaged. Photographs published in France show broken coffins of Carmelite nuns reared against the walls of a church. Cells of the British consulate at Barcelona have been requisitioned by the Red militia. Many manufacturers and well known business men are shot daily, simply for being employers.

In one village on the way to Zaragoza civil guards suspected of having anti-Government sympathies were shot dead by Government troops. Four others were buried alive because they refused to join the Red militia in their advance on Zaragoza. Left-wing leaders at Barcelona are reported to be expecting daily foreign intervention.

Perpetrating Fearful Crimes.

"The people of this country," says the Daily Mail, "have to consider what sort of government this Communist junta is that has seized power at Madrid. The Spanish Reds have perpetrated and are perpetrating the most fearful crimes. Murderers of priests, ravishers and murderers of nuns, there is no horror they have not committed. The Spanish Reds are malignant atheists fighting for the anti-Christ Government which is showing itself bitterly hostile to Christianity."

"It is a nice question today," says the Manchester Guardian, "whether there is more of the wild beast in the Communist mob in Barcelona or in Fascist generals leading Moorish soldiers to the wholesale slaughter of Spanish workmen."

FASCISTS ORDER SECOND DRIVE ON SAN SEBASTIAN

With Rebel Forces Advancing on San Sebastian, near Vera, Spain, Aug. 3.—Insurgent Fascists, determined to overthrow loyalist victors, marched today in a second advance on the frontier city of San Sebastian.

The new campaign was ordered by Gen. Emilio Mola after rebel columns had been reinforced by an estimated ten thousand soldiers from Pamplona.

The principal objective, the Fascist leaders asserted, was to "clean up the back yard" of the insurgent march on Madrid. Danger of a rear attack during the rebel advance on the capital led General Mola to attempt to strengthen his position in the north, the field commanders said.

The advance guards of the rebel army concentrated in the Guadarrama mountain passes were reported to have occupied the towns of Guadarrama and Navalperal, control points of two of the three gateways to the capital.

(These reports, circulated in frontier points near the rebel headquarters, were not confirmed from the capital.)

BOTH GIANTS AND RAIN AFFECTED CANADIAN WAS CARDS PULLED UP WATERLOO BOAT ELIMINATED IN ON LEADING CUBS CLUB REGATTA SPRINT HONORS

Chicago's Batting Slump Proving Very Costly, Boston Winning Both Ends of Yesterday's Double-Header from Pace-Setters—Cards Won Twin Bill from Phillies.

If the Chicago Cubs don't soon snap out of their current hitting slump, there'll be no world's series change jingling in the pockets of Charlie Grimm and company this fall.

Their great pitching brigade is still the best in the "Big Time," but as a result of a batting drought along the Cubs' line, a three-game lead in the National League last week, all but lost first place to the still clubbing St. Louis Cardinals, and wound up on the short end in both sides of a double-header with the Bees yesterday.

Both the Cards and Cubs moved up yesterday, while the Giants were bowing down to three and three to two despite the fine pitching performances of Bill Lee and Curt Davis in the opener and Lon Warneke in the nightcap. Inability to hit in the pinches proved the margin of defeat for the Cubs.

The Cards pulled up to a bare two percentage points off the pace by wallowing the Phillies soundly in both ends of a twin bill, thirteen to four and eleven to eight, with "Pepper" Martin's bat doing the most damage in the first game and old George Earnshaw and Dizzy Dean bearing down in the pinches of the nightcap.

Carl Hubbell, always the spark-plug of the Giants when he's in the pitching box, stopped the Pirates cold with four hits to give the Giants a three to two victory. The Dodgers managed a split with the Cincinnati Reds, taking the nightcap by five to two, after being nosed out by four to three in the opener.

The Yankees and Indians got nowhere in sixteen innings, winding up in a four-all deadlock because of darkness. The White Sox regained the form that carried them into the first division and took over third place by belting the Boston Red Sox in both ends of a double-header. "Sugar" Cain's six-hit pitching won the opener by nine to one, and a tremendous rally from behind a nine-man hand-picked team the nightcap by twelve to eleven in twelve innings.

Finally ending their seven-game losing streak—longest of the season—Pete Appleton pitched the Senators to a five to three edge over the Tigers. The Browns hit four homers and split with the Athletics, winning the opener by six to one, and going down by seven to three in the nightcap.

BISONS GAINED MORE GROUND ON LEAGUE LEADERS.

Those Buffalo Bisons may have been in a losing streak of serious proportions, but there's no denying the fact they know when to come out of it.

With Newark, seriously threatening their hold on second place, hooked up in a slam-bang duel with the league leading Rochester Red Wings, the Bisons opened up yesterday and hammered out a double victory over the Baltimore Orioles by scores of ten to ten and seven to six to gain on both their most important rivals.

Meantime Rochester and Newark broke even as Kemp Wicker hand-cuffed the league leaders with four hits and won by one to nothing on Roy Schalk's fifth-inning homer after three Newark fighters had failed dismally in the opener. The Red Wings took the first game by fifteen to two with the aid of twenty-two blows off Piechota, Duke and Makoski, with Bob O'Farrell and Jack Rothrock hitting for the circuit.

The Montreal Royals also did some dizzy slugging to take a pair from Albany by scores of six to three and seventeen to nine. A three-run ninth inning rally decided the opener, then the Royals went on to blast out twenty-four blows in the afterpiece as the Senators went practically everyone but the bat boy to the hill. Trailing by seventeen to one going into the last inning, the Senators scored eight times before they gave up. A homer in each game by Roberto Estellella featured the losers' clouting.

Large Attendance Witnessed Keenly-Contested Programme at Waterloo Beach—Postponement of Many Events Was Forced by Rain.

Waterloo, August 3.—Unsettled weather conditions were the only adverse factor in the splendid arrangements for the third annual regatta at the Waterloo bathing beach on Saturday, July 25th. The attendance was all that could have been desired, and a programme of exceptionally interesting events was prepared, and had the weather been favorable, the afternoon would have been the most successful of any attempted for the benefit of the beach.

The following events and the prize winners will demonstrate that great interest was shown by the large assembly:

Boys' swimming race, thirty yards, thirteen years and under: 1. Donald Macdonald, 2. Earl Singleton, 3. J. Vincent.

Girls' swimming race, thirty yards, fifteen years and under: 1. Isabelle Charlebois, 2. Eveline Sauve, 3. Lorraine Lucie.

Flat bottom boat race, quarter-mile, open: 1. Ellis Durrell, 2. Morris Whitehead.

Swimming race, half-mile, open: 1. Rodrigue Dufresne, 2. Ellis Durrell, 3. Eddie MacCullough.

Ladies' diving competition, open: 1. Eveline Sauve, 2. Corrine Lucie, 3. Phyllis Hayes.

Men's diving competition: 1. Rodrigue Dufresne, 2. W. Hackwell, 3. R. Whitehead.

Greased pole competition, open, boys and girls under seventeen years: 1. Phyllis Hayes, 2. Isabelle Charlebois, 3. W. Hackwell.

Ladies' swimming race, sixty yards, open: 1. Isabelle Charlebois, 2. Phyllis Hayes.

Boys' swimming race, sixty yards, thirteen to eighteen years: 1. Mr. Montfils, 2. W. Hackwell, 3. Morris Whitehead.

Half-mile mixed tandem, course one-quarter mile and turn: 1. Isabelle Charlebois and M. Whitehead, 2. Phyllis Hayes and R. Whitehead, 3. Maurice Mongeau and George Grenier.

Outdoor motors, class "B," up to 16 h.p.: 1. "Doc," Dr. Beauchamp, St. Césaire, 2. "Mickey Mouse," M. Polombo, Montreal.

Owing to the downpour of rain, eleven further events had to be cancelled and the results of hours of tedious work done by an enthusiastic committee in making the beach-house and booths attractive with bunting, flags, etc., were quickly dissipated by the heavy rains.

COVETED CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY GRAND TRUNK CLUB

Sudbury, Ont., Aug. 3.—The old saying that "if at once you don't succeed, try, try again," must be the motto of the Grand Trunk Boating Club, of Montreal. After thirty-one years of trying they have re-captured the Canadian Canoe Association championship.

Racing over the course on nearby Lake Ramsay here on Saturday, the Grand Trunk staged a neck-and-neck battle with Gananogue and then came in with a victory in the senior fours event late in the day to add five points to its total and win out.

Final count gave Grand Trunk twenty-five points, against eighteen for Gananogue. Montreal fans went wild—so wild in fact that Albert Marshall, member of the team that won Grand Trunk's last championship in 1905, fell into the water fully clothed.

Toronto's Balm Beach placed third with twelve points, with Winnipeg and Sudbury clubs tied at eleven points each. The day was a difficult one for starters, a stiff wind delaying events, in one case for two hours.

The half-mile war canoe saw Grand Trunk lead Balm Beach and Winnipeg across the finish line for Montreal's first title in that event in thirty-one years.

Practically all events were like that—neck and neck races to the finish line. Two of the three decisive victories were won by Sudbury entries. Allen Elridge won the junior singles in one of them, and with Jack McInnes won the junior tandem with four lengths to spare.

Johnny Wing, noted Gananogue paddler, won the singles championship and the Aubrey E. Ireland trophy, with Doug Groff, of Winnipeg, placing first in the intermediate singles.

HANDSOME SPINSTER WANTED.
Holsworthy, England, Aug. 1.—They have everything but the spinster for the annual "Handsome Spinster" contest here. Rules are she must be under thirty, and noted most for her quietness and church attendance.

"Hustling Howie" McPhee, of Vancouver, Appearing Far Below Top Form, Finished Fourth in Second Heat of 100-Metre Dash in Today's Olympic Games.

Berlin, August 3.—"Hustling Howie" McPhee, of Vancouver, Canada's main bidder for sprint honors, was eliminated from the 100-metre dash this afternoon when he finished fourth in the second heat.

Ralph Medcalf won the heat in 10.5 seconds to join the other United States negro, Jesse Owens, in the final. Owens won the first heat in 10.4 seconds, 2-10ths seconds off his phenomenal time in the quarter-finals yesterday. The performance shaved 1-10th seconds from the world record, but it was not allowed because there was a wind at the runner's back.

Martin Oendarrpe, of Holland, was second to Medcalf, Erich Borchmeyer, the German hope, barely beat out McPhee for third and the last qualifying berth. The twenty year old Canadian was below top form.

Medcalf's winning time was 2-10ths seconds slower than the clip McPhee hit at Vancouver before leaving for Berlin.

Clocked in 11.4 seconds, Helen Stephens, of the United States, lowered the world record in winning her heat in the opening trials of the 100-metre sprint for women.

Miss Stephens' time eclipsed the listed world standard of 11.8 seconds set by Stella Walsh, of Poland, in 1933 and the Olympic record of 11.9 also set by Miss Walsh at Los Angeles in 1932.

BRITAIN SUPPORTS BUT ITALY COOL TO FRANCE'S NEUTRALITY APPEAL

Here in the affairs of a neighboring people, but has a precise duty to do and to guard its own security.

He said the French Government had remained strictly neutral, barring even the delivery of war material under contract before the beginning of the revolt.

"But," he added, "we must take notice that one faction which is not a legally constituted government, since it is recognized by no country, is receiving help and war supplies from here and there."

The French Government has the right, therefore, in favor of the regular and legal Spanish Government, elected by the Spanish people, and recognized by all nations, to use the same liberty others have taken."

ITALY TAKES EXCEPTION TO RECRUITING ACTIVITY

Rome, August 3.—Recruiting on French territory of volunteer detachments planning to join Leftist forces now battling Fascist rebels in Spain is regarded by Italian authorities as a violation of the complete neutrality proclaimed by the French Government, reliable sources declared here today.

However, the French plea for non-intervention in Spanish internal affairs will probably be well received by Rome, Italian observers said.

Official circles appear skeptical nevertheless as to what disposition other powers may take in this connection.

Italian newspapers also expressed considerable skepticism and even misgiving regarding France's proposal for a meeting of the Mediterranean powers to adopt a common plan of action in the Spanish situation.

Newspapers printed the French Government's official declarations to the effect that it will not authorize arms shipments to Spain, but emphasized the sympathies which might arise in France towards the Spanish Government.

WINS AND DEFEATS EBB AND FLOW ON EVER-CHANGING MAP OF SPAIN

Government sources in the fighting region. Leftists said the situation in the mountains was quiet in preparation for a new loyal advance.

"The northern army is now at the gates of Madrid," Gen. Miguel Cabanellas, civil leader of the revolutionary provisional government in Burgos was quoted in dispatches.

REBELS OCCUPY ANOTHER SOUTHERN SPANISH CITY

Seville, Aug. 3.—Rebel troops have occupied Torredonjones, about twelve miles north of Madrid, the insurgent general headquarters of Gen. Queipo de Llano in the south claimed today.

The troops which occupied the point were one of the contingents under command of Gen. Emilio Mola, rebel northern commander, it was announced.

The news that rebel forces were within artillery range of the capital caused jubilation in insurgent ranks here.

LOYAL WARSHIPS ATTACK TWO REBEL STRONGHOLDS

Gibraltar, Aug. 3.—A roar of Spanish guns was heard at Gibraltar today as loyal warships began action against rebels.

One Government vessel bombarded the fort at Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, but drew away from the coast seeking shelter behind a British cable ship when the fire was returned.

Other war craft shelled rebel concentrations thirty miles east of Gibraltar.

The new bombardment followed a spirited encounter yesterday between two loyal Spanish warships and two rebel airplanes.

The ships and planes attacked each other in a fifty-minute encounter but watchers at Gibraltar believed none of the combatants was hit.

GOVERNMENT LEADER IS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Madrid, Aug. 3.—"After a fortnight's bloody civil war, I can truthfully say the situation from the Government's point of view is definitely good," declared Julio Alvarez Mel Vayo, Spanish Loyalist leader, in an interview with the Associated Press.

"We do not deny that when the rebellion first broke out, we found ourselves in an extraordinarily grave position. We had to face the situation—the whole of our army was taken by surprise and had no choice but to follow its officers and join in the revolt against."

"Since then, however, there has been a great change. Many regiments have either deserted or imprisoned their officers and come over to our side."

"Our men on the Guadarrama front are holding their own. The arrival of a column of militia, two thousand strong, from Valencia allowed us to withdraw some of the tired Communist defenders from the Sierras, give them rest and reform them in two 'Battalions of Steel' for an onslaught against Zaragoza."

LOCAL SOCCER TEAM BEAT OUT MAGOG OUTFIT

Sherbrooke Ramblers Took Visiting Magog Aggregation into Camp by Narrow Margin of Two to One—Play of Youngsters Featured Sherbrooke Victory.

Its line-up comprising a combination of newcomers and veterans of the soccer field, the Magog eleven visited Sherbrooke on Saturday afternoon following an absence of several years. Playing at the Parade Grounds, the visitors went down to a two to one defeat at the hands of the Ramblers.

Sherbrooke took an early lead on a goal by Gray, to which Twyman, on a pass from Gray, shortly afterwards added a point with a neat header. This marked the close of the scoring in the first half, although Magog made several serious threats that were only blocked by the stellar work of Gardener in the Sherbrooke nets.

Entering the second phase, Magog made an important shift in its line-up which materially improved its position. Comments scoring after thirty minutes of play. From then on the game was fairly even, both squads losing several opportunities to score and the final count reading, Sherbrooke two, Magog one.

Sherbrooke officials have made an important find in young Miller, who although only a youngster, with Quinn played an important part in breaking up several Magog attacks. The Magog veterans showed many flashes of their old form which made them such a major factor in Eastern Townships soccer circles in the days gone by.

The line-ups in Saturday's game were:

Magog: Snipe, Nicholl, Cole, Griffith, Cross, Kelington, Golding, Connors, Lowther, Hamilton and Parker.

Sherbrooke: Gardener, Johnstone, Jones, Miller, Quinn, Lobb, Gray, Foley, Ladd, Taylor and Twyman.

Amb. Wooten acted as referee.

REPORT LOYALIST TROOPS IN POSSESSION OF ZAIDA

Barcelona, August 3.—A strong force of loyalist troops was reported concentrated three miles from Huesca today preparing for an assault on that northern rebel stronghold.

The Government forces, under Col. Villalba, were said to have made Huesca their next objective after inflicting heavy losses on rebel troops by aerial bombardment and capturing Sietamon, ten miles to the south.

Col. Sandino, chief of the Government air force operating in Catalonia, also reported today that Government troops had occupied the village of Zaida after loyal airmen had rained a hail of bombs on rebel positions in the place. He said heavy losses had been inflicted on the enemy by the bombardment.

"FOREIGN MACHINATIONS" INTERRUPT REBEL PLANS

Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, Aug. 3.—"Foreign machinations," notably by Moscow, were assailed by Major Armada, spokesman for Gen. Francisco Franco, generalissimo of the Spanish Fascist revolt, as the reason for failure of the rebels to achieve a swift victory, as preparations for further troop movements went forward today.

"Our principal strategic objectives already are met, and, in the decisive victory is near," Gen. Franco's aide added, however.

He told a Havas correspondent that Gen. Franco was misquoted in interviews he granted and that the Italian planes which were forced down in French Morocco had been authorized by the commander-in-chief of the rebel army to land on Spanish territory to repatriate Italian nationals in the revolt zone.

Asked why the "rescue" planes were transporting cargoes of munition and machine guns, Major Armada replied: "There is nothing to add."

ROCK CALENDAR TELLS CHANGES IN WATERFALL

Annual Changes in Weather Over Period of Seventeen Million Years Registered in Rock Formation of Green River District in State of Washington.

SYNOPSIS

Mary Burke is rather fearful of Blackie Norton, the proprietor of Burley Coast's Paradise Music Hall, until the latter's boyhood friend, now Father Mullin, tells her there is nothing to fear unless she is afraid of herself. Mary is grateful to Blackie for giving her a job shining at the Paradise, and when Jack Burley, Nob Hill swell, offers her an audition for the Tivoli Opera House, she refuses because Blackie has a contract with her. Blackie is running for alderman, against Burley's warnings, to get good five laws for the Coast. At one of his political rallies Mary sees him knock down one of Burley's hecklers, and is thrilled.

IN THE MATTER OF A CONTRACT
CHAPTER V.

That little thrill continued as Mary saw Blackie turn and head towards her. She watched him stop, gesture largely, and call: "Beer for everybody — and it's on me!" The crowd cheered, many of the men and women surrounding Blackie, shaking hands, congratulating him. The Professor went to get some beer for Mary and himself, as Blackie again sauntered in her direction. He was halted again—this time by Trixie, the entertainer who had cleaned his shoes. She took his arm possessively, only to have Blackie send her away, and resume his progress.

"I'm awfully sorry, Mr. Burley, but you see I can't accept."

The Professor had just brought up two foaming glasses of beer when Blackie, without a glance at Mary, stopped in front of the table. "Professor, I want you to do a little errand for me. I'd like you to get Trixie and take her back to town. She's hanging around those beer trucks, getting stiff."

"But what about Miss Blake?" said the Professor, "I brought her—"

"Huh? Oh, how d'you do, Miss Blake. I'll see that she gets home, Professor." He nodded casually to Mary, said: "Stick around," and went back to mingle with the crowd, certain that the Professor would obey his order. Mary's eyes followed Blackie. She saw him come to a halt in front of the heckler who had got to his feet and now held a glass of beer in his hand; he said something to the man, then his arm shot out suddenly, and the heckler went to the floor again, amid the raucous laughter of those around him.

And again Mary Blake felt that little thrill running down her spine, her lips parted, she watched fascinated, as Blackie resumed his progress to the speaker's stand. He made a simple little talk, expressing confidence in his election, renewing his promise to see that the Coast got proper protection against such fires as the one that had recently destroyed the Bristol.

When Blackie was driving her in a smart trap back to town, she felt very self-conscious, and Blackie's manner denoted a sort of timidity new to him. They were tremendously drawn to each other physically, yet they did not understand each other's natures—even their language was different. There had been little but misunderstanding between them. Blackie broke the diffident silence that had fallen between them.

"Not bad, eh?" he said, gesturing at the countryside scenery.

"Not bad," he agreed.

"Look," he said, and slapped her arm with the back of his hand. "Vineyards, with Italians working 'em."

"I suppose Italy must be like that," she murmured.

"Aw—but it isn't half as good." He was contemptuous.

She studied him with a momentary sidelong glance. "You rather like your own state, don't you?"

"California? It's the best place on earth. It'd be a sucker to deny it." Underneath his kidding inflection she felt his sincerity. "But that don't go for the south. Los Angeles is a lousy town."

"I see. San Francisco's the only place."

"Veh, look at the list of champions San Francisco's turning out! Althea, Jim Corbett, Frankie Neil, George Green, Young Mitchell, Amey Brit, Eddie Hammond. Again he slapped her arm for emphasis.

"I'm afraid I don't know many names," she said. "A tinge of green in the coat into her voice at that point. "But I've heard of other San Franciscans—Bret Davis and Jack London, and there's a boy named Frank Norris who's pretty good."

SHERBROOKE, MONDAY, AUGUST 3, 1936.

How strangely high endeavors may be blessed, where piety and valor jointly go.—Dryden.

Canterbury's Hundredth Anniversary.

Citizens throughout the Eastern Townships will join, in spirit if not in actual participation, with the people of Canterbury when they celebrate the settlement's hundredth anniversary on August 6th next.

Canterbury is a modest, unostentatious little settlement near Bury. It is peopled with contented, happy folks, many of whom are descendants of the pioneer families who established themselves on the site of the present village a hundred years ago when the Eastern Townships was in its infancy.

August 6th will be a red-letter day in the history of the settlement, marking as it will its hundredth anniversary. Grim were the hardships that the pioneers had to face, praiseworthy the courage and determination they evinced in meeting the many adversities. From the pages of the past, now old but not to be forgotten, the pioneers' many deeds of heroism and valor will be recalled on Thursday next. They were a great people who established themselves in this district a hundred years ago to help in the development and progress of what has become known today as the "Garden of the Province of Quebec." Canterbury, like every other settlement, had its share of hardy pioneers and their memory will be forever cherished. All descendants of pioneer families of Canterbury are invited to attend the celebration.

The King's Ranch.

The rumor has come from England that His Majesty King Edward contemplates presenting his six thousand-acre Alberta ranch to the Fairbridge Farm School, a widely-known institution which takes boys from England and trains them for agriculture in both Canada and Australia.

As kindly a gesture as this is and despite the fact that it would be putting the ranch at the disposal of a very worthy organization, it is certain that Canadians would much prefer to see the "E. P. Ranch" remain in the hands of its Royal owner.

King Edward dearly loves his Canadian ranch, and certainly this is a valuable link between Canada and the Motherland.

Coupled with the loyalty and allegiance with which Canada is bound to the Throne, there is that added bond of affection which Canada cherishes in the fact that His Majesty is an Alberta farmer and cattle raiser.

Some of the happiest, care-free days of the King's life have been spent in the foothills of Alberta when, as Prince of Wales, he temporarily set aside the duties and cares of state to find rest and refreshment under congenial Canadian skies.

In 1923 he spent three weeks on the ranch, travelling as Baron Renfrew. In 1924 he paid another brief visit, and in 1927 he again returned, accompanied by his younger brother, the Duke of Kent.

It means much to Canada that His Majesty owns a stretch of land here. The "E. P. Ranch" is one of the show places of the Dominion, and the thoroughbred livestock which has been brought from England for this ranch has proven a definite factor in the improvement of Canadian herds.

But it is not because of the material gain which Canada derives from the King's ranch that its disposal by its Royal owner would be regretted.

Canadians hope that the King will retain his ranch simply because they want to have His Majesty with them as a real Canadian rancher with a Canadian home to which, it is humbly hoped, he may retreat to find rest and solace among friends.

Co-operation Between Police And Newspapers.

Co-operation between newspapers and police officials has always proved advantageous to both parties and the general public, for the publicity which has resulted has been one of the principal deterrents of criminal activity. Newspapers, in their handling of criminal news, have often facilitated the work of detecting, prosecuting and controlling crime.

The Daily Record has always been on friendly terms with the municipal police. The reporters have always received fair and courteous treatment from Chief Camirand and his staff. This has resulted in an understanding which has proved of value to the newspaper, the police and Sherbrooke.

Hostility towards the press is unprofitable. If a reporter does not receive courtesy at police headquarters he will publish some kind of a story anyway. When the facts are withheld from him, he writes his own version, which the public accepts and which often results in a prejudiced opinion concerning police efficiency.

The Record has frequently been asked by local, provincial or federal police to suppress a story for a day or two when it was felt that the publication of that story would interfere with the work in hand. The story, if the Record believed its suppression to be in the interest of the public, was withheld until that time when the police gave the word that it might be published. A case in point occurred only a few days ago when High Constable Gaudreau requested that the account of an arrest be held out until the case against the suspect was completed and certain stolen merchandise recovered. It was a good story, but it was held out for three days because the Record felt its publication would hamper the police investigation.

The newspaper is always willing to co-operate, but the authorities must show the same readiness and be frank and fair with the men who write and publish the news.

Editor's Note-Book.

Before erosion became so alarming, Fred Briggs, chairman of the Sherbrooke Country Club greens committee, thought there was no greater menace to the nation's topsoil than the non-divot-replacer.

We (Great Britain) have made no treaties of friendship with America—one does not make them with a brother.—Alfred Duff Cooper, English War Secretary.

One of the easiest things to do is to spend somebody else's money, and it must be very pleasant judging from the large number that are continually bidding for admission to the political ring.

What Editors Say

PENILESS CHAMPIONS.

David Brown is dead in the Old Land at the age of seventy-five.

He died in a poor-house at Inveresk "within two miles of the course over which he won the world's supreme golfing title" fifty years ago.

For it was in 1886 that Brown—"a slater and a man of immense strength"—won the "Open" at Musselburgh.

So the fame doesn't necessarily mean "fortune" after all.

David Brown is not the first to win high honors, and die a pauper.

Nor will he be the last.

Life is filled with such tragedies.

Human beings cannot eat golfing titles. They cannot wear sports honors. Neither can they find protection from the elements in the record-books.

But one may be certain the David Browns would not exchange their honors for much gold.

THOSE BIG SALARIES.

The Toronto Star cites five big industrial men in the United States with salaries of $200,000 per year and over, and nineteen others with salaries of over $100,000 per year. In all cases, the high pay is the reward for assembling hundreds and thousands of men into an organization of production, competitive with the world, and it is a highly debatable point whether the salaries of such size are justified when compared with standard wages in industries which provide them. Comparatively movie and baseball stars are paid more and contribute no effort for the employment of large numbers of other people with dependent families. The system of high reward for creative effort and exceptional skill may be all wrong, but where is the better system to replace it?

THE KING A GARDENER.

Fort Belvedere will replace Sandringham House, it was said. Sandringham House was a royal holiday residence, but the King is making Fort Belvedere his home, his personal property, and not just his residence as Sovereign. He conducts his routine duties in an office in Buckingham Palace. They keep him there late. But unless some function keeps him in London he motors to Fort Belvedere for the night. There are mighty few nights when he stays in London. And he has turned to gardening for his recreation. At weekends, or in the evenings, if he gets there early enough, he puts on grey flannel trousers and a pull-over, and sets to work with a spade or hoe. In his retreat he is at one with millions of his subjects.

Birth reported: At Granby, a son to Mr. and Mrs. George Roberts.

This is the second of four stories telling the historical story that lies behind the death struggle in Spain between discordant political elements, with brother killing brother in the streets.

Like a rising sun, Spain flamed across the skies of the world from that year 1492 in which the Moors were driven from their country, and Columbus opened a new world to exploitation.

Soon enough, gold began to come back from the Spanish Main and was piled on the wharves of Cadiz and Palos. Many a castle in Spain rose on this golden foundation as the conquistadores pushed their way into the Americas, Cortes to subdue Mexico, Pizarro conquering Peru, Coronado threading his way half way across North America in quest for treasure.

They left in their wake murder and blood and fire, but they also brought wheat, and the horse, and their religion to the Americas.

There was a boom in Spain. Prices rose, everything had to expand. Europe looked on with awe at the rise of a great military power, much as it was to look later on Napoleon's legions and the German army of Kaiser Wilhelm II.

PERSECUTION ECHOES TODAY

But while Ferdinand and Isabella were planting the seeds of these things, they were planting other seeds, too, whose crop is still being harvested in Spain in the strings of burning churches and monasteries which smoulder in the wake of today's mobs whenever there is disorder in Spanish cities.

They were the seeds of religious persecution. Even before the days of Ferdinand and Isabella, the Christian Visigoth kings persecuted Jews and non-conformists. But under the great king and queen, religious persecution was elevated into a system and an unholy union of church and state by which each used the other to obtain its ends. Isabella, liberal and conscientious in many ways as an administrator, was a religious zealot. While her armies stood before Granada, she issued an edict banishing the Jews from Spain. Perhaps 200,000 of them were driven out of the country to die miserably on the shores of Africa or to wander as outcasts through Europe.

THE BLOODY INQUISITION

But egged on still further by her priestly advisors, especially by the monk Torquemada, who had been her tutor in youth, Isabella proclaimed him chief inquisitor under the order of Pope Gregory IX, who had named the Dominican order his chief instrument in extirpating heresy.

Torquemada made himself a name loathed through all history, a synonym for systematic and heartless cruelty. Men and women whose beliefs were not those of the Roman church were tortured with a brutal ferocity that makes the best of today's mobs whenever there is disorder in Spanish cities.

The inquisition was an equally implacable foe to learning, and thousands of books were burned because it was charged that they contained heresies, a custom still surviving in several dictator-ridden countries of today.

But despite these horrors, Spain went forward. When Ferdinand and Isabella died, the Spanish crown passed by marriage to the Austrian readings on the subject of temperance in all things and Mrs. H. L. Stowe read articles from the White Ribbon Tidings. On account of entertaining both the county and provincial conventions this year, it was decided not to make any comfort bags for the sailors as in previous summers. Mrs. M. A. Robinson kindly offered to entertain the August meeting. The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Alex Taylor, served a delicious tea.

The STORY OF SPAIN

PART II—"THE GOLDEN CENTURY," 1492-1588; THE GLORY OF WORLD EMPIRE DIMMED WHEN ENGLISH DESTROY ARMADA.

Spain begins "The Golden Century" as Ferdinand and Isabella receive the surrender of Boabdil the Moor at Granada. All Europe thrilled at this final defeat of the Moors in Spain, but even today, the Spanish Fascist revolt began in Spanish Africa, whence came Boabdil and his people.

Hapsburgs in the person of of the Emperor Charles V. He was Flemish, and to him Spain was only a part of his empire. He plunged it headlong into a maelstrom of European intrigue and war. He pumped treasure out of Spain to support his German and continental ambitions.

Soon he was confronted by a bloody revolt under Padilla. But he suppressed it, and broadened the Inquisition to include the Moriscos, descendants of the Moors, whom he thus tried to Christianize by fire and sword.

Between the expulsion of the Jews, and the persecution of non-conformists and Moriscos, and the continual losses of war, Spain was continually bled of its best manhood. There is an old Spanish saying that "Castile produces men, then wastes them."

of his effort to govern the patchwork empire of which Spain was a part, retired to a monastery. He left the empire to Philip II, husband of Mary Tudor of England.

Philip, the dark, well-hated sovereign, drained Spain further by a series of wars. He fought with France, annexed Portugal, and joined a coalition against the Turks in which the Spanish fleet under Don Juan of Austria, played a great role in defeating the Turkish squadron in the Gulf of Lepanto.

He sent his Spanish infantry to the Netherlands, and there under the Duke of Alba they made themselves a synonym for cruelty in suppressing widespread rebellion and in carrying the tortures of the Spanish Inquisition into the Low Countries.

Taxation in Spain and the flood of gold from the Americas paid the bill. Spain was the richest country in Europe, with the greatest spread between her rich and her poor.

BRITAIN'S NAVY DEFIED

Toward the end of "The Golden Century," Spain was outwardly the most glorious country in the world. But her government was inefficient, riddled by a corrupt and hobbling bureaucracy. It was then that England, ruled by Queen Elizabeth after the death of Mary Tudor, began to cross Spain's path. Her rising navy clashed with the Spanish sea power, and there were bitter conflicts on the Spanish Main in America.

Then Philip decided to put an end to all that. He made a loose alliance with France, traditional enemy of England, and started building a navy which was expected to be so great that it could easily land a force of the Spanish infantry on the coast of England and subdue that rebellious and Protestant country.

In the very course of Philip's preparations, Drake swept the West Indies clean and even entered the harbor of Cadiz and burned merchantmen while the Armada was building.

SPAIN'S "GLORY" DIMS

In 1588 Philip thought he was ready. In May, a splendid fleet of 131 vessels sailed from Lisbon, carrying 7,000 sailors and 17,000 of the flower of the Spanish army. The Duke of Medina Sidonia was its commander. The fleet was dispersed by a storm, but rallied together again.

Elizabeth's English admirals, Howard, Drake, Hawkins and Fro-bisher, were experienced navy men, tried in action. Their ships were better manned and carried better armament. During the last ten days of July 1588, they engaged the Spanish fleet in a running fight up the English coast, sinking, capturing or running around many vessels.

At the end of that time, a storm broke, further dispersing the Spanish fleet, which tried to sail on around Ireland and back to Spain. Storms and the English harried the Spanish vessels, which were pounded on the rocks all along the coast, carrying with them the flower of the Spanish army and the hopes of Spain.

The sun of Spanish glory passed its zenith and began to set.

MANY ATTENDED INAUGURATION OF BAND STAND

Splendid Programme Arranged by Harmony Band in Honor of Formal Opening of Portland Square Band Stand at which Mayor Rioux Presented Structure to Citizens.

The formal opening of the Portland Square Band Stand last evening was witnessed by several hundred citizens from all parts of the city.

The inaugural programme was brief and simple, yet impressive. It was attended by His Worship Mayor Emile Rioux, Aldermen J. R. Sangster, J. W. Genest and H. Vincent, as well as by L. N. Audet, the architect who drew up the plans for the band stand.

Speaking in English Ald. Genest, chairman of the Parks Committee, officially presented the new band stand to the Mayor. In so doing Ald. Genest referred to the splendid appearance of the newly-constructed band stand, saying he felt sure the North Ward residents would cherish it and that it would prove a valuable asset to this section of the city.

In a brief but witty speech Mayor Rioux accepted the Band Stand and immediately declared it the property of the City of Sherbrooke.

The brief ceremony of dedication over, the Harmony Band, under the direction of Prof. Charles Delvenne, opened their programme, which was a specially arranged one of the occasion. The loud and continued applause which was given each number clearly proving that the music was thoroughly enjoyed and that the citizens of Sherbrooke were justly proud of their band.

Mayor Rioux in accepting the band stand from Ald. J. W. Genest, chairman of the Parks Committee, said:

"I am grateful to the chairman of the Parks Committee for the privilege he has given me of meeting the citizens of Sherbrooke and especially the electors and residents of the North Ward.

"I have a very soft spot in my heart for this ward because it was in this ward that I was born, where I have since lived and where I hope to close my eyes when the final summons comes to me."

"I take this opportunity of expressing to the citizens of Sherbrooke in general and to the North Ward residents in particular my sincere thanks for the full and generous support they have accorded me and my colleagues since the beginning of my term of office.

"In this time of crisis and of municipal difficulties, we need the support and co-operation of the right-minded and spirited citizens of all classes.

"We are working, all of us, in the best interests of the city, providing your city with beautiful parks, splendidly paved streets and well-built sidewalks.

"The City Hall, I am proud to say, is free of graft and favoritism. All races and religions are respected and harmony and peace prevail at our meetings. Our only reward is your satisfaction and approval.

"We are assembled here tonight at the request of the Parks Committee chairman, Ald. J. W. Genest, who is giving me this splendid band stand.

"With the generosity that characterizes every move of our chairman, he is giving this artistic monument away. It did not cost him a cent, yet he is going to give it away."

"I, as Mayor of Sherbrooke, with the same great generosity, am handing it over to the city. Have you ever heard of such generosity, giving away what does not belong to us?"

"This is the first time that a lawyer has given away what does not belong to him, and I am afraid my confreres will have me indicted tomorrow when they hear of such generosity.

"However, the band stand is given away. I declare and proclaim it to be the property of the City of Sherbrooke as long as it stands."

DEATHS REPORTED

MRS. NAOMI CLARK, CANTERBURY.

Canterbury, August 3.—Canterbury's oldest pioneer died on Sunday at the home of her son, Mr. Neaver Asker. Mrs. Clark was born in Bury on January 3, 1840, her maiden name being Naomi Crawford, of English parentage, she was the last surviving member of a family of four boys and six girls, some of whom were born in England.

She married Richard Asker in 1862, and settled in Canterbury on the farm now owned by her son, Neaver Asker. Nine children were born of this marriage, Louise, Mrs. Charles Bennett; Avery, Albert, Neaver, Walter, Wallace, Isaac, Ida, Mrs. George Thompson and Rosilla. Alice, Mrs. Reuben Bennett, was a child of a second marriage.

Mr. Asker died and she was left with a family of small children. By her thriftiness and industry she managed the farm and made a home for her children.

She married Mr. Clark late in life. She lived the past eleven years with her daughter, Mrs. Reuben Bennett. When Mrs. Bennett's health failed, Mrs. Clark went to the home of her son, Mr. Neaver Asker.

Mrs. Clark was a wonderful woman, never daunted by any difficulties, industrious and earnest, her mind was clear until a short time before she died, and she loved to talk of the days gone by.

The funeral was held May 21st in Christ's Church, of which she was a member. The service was conducted by her friend and pastor, Rev. G. Robins. Interment was in

TEMPERATURES IN PAST MONTH BELOW NORMAL

Average Temperature for July Nearly Two Degrees Below Twenty-Two Year Average and Six Degrees Below Last Year—Sunshine and Rainfall Less Than Average.

While the greater part of the North American continent was sweltering under record breaking temperatures during the month of July, this part of the country was enjoying comparative cool weather, according to a report issued today by the Lennoxville Experimental Farm. Not only was the average temperature for the month—64.16 degrees—more than six degrees below last year's average of 70.29 and nearly two degrees below the twenty-two year mean of 66.09, but the highest temperature recorded during the month was only eighty-nine compared with a twenty-two year record of ninety-nine established in 1921. The lowest point touched by the mercury during the month was forty degrees, compared with the low mark for twenty-two years of thirty-five registered in 1926 and 1929.

Sunshine and precipitation were both slightly below normal also. Old Sol making his appearance during the past month for 238.3 hours. The sun shone for 263 hours in July, 1935, and for the past twenty-two years the average monthly sunshine has been 238.9 hours. July, 1929, set the record for the brightest month with 285.8 hours and 1927 had the darkest July with 187.1 hours.

Rainfall last month was 3.77 inches, a gain of 1.22 inches over the 2.55 inches which fell in July, 1935, but .23 inches below the twenty-two year average of four inches. July, 1931, saw 9.12 inches of rainfall in the month and July, 1922, was the driest month with only 1.22 inches of rainfall. The highest rainfall for any one day during the past month was 1.30 inches as compared with a record of 2.67 inches made in 1916.

SOUTH STUKELY MAN KILLED IN RIG-AUTO CRASH

Raymond Dufresne, Thirty-Five Years Old, Instantly Killed Saturday Night Near Waterloo—Horse-Drawn Rig Did Not Carry Light or Reflector.

Waterloo, August 3.—Raymond Dufresne, thirty-five years old, of South Stukely, was instantly killed Saturday night when his horse-drawn vehicle, which carried neither light nor reflector, was struck by an automobile on the main highway near the Frost Village turn. Mrs. Dufresne, the rig's other occupant, escaped unhurt except for a few scratches and bruises.

The accident occurred at 10:30 o'clock when Mr. and Mrs. Dufresne were returning to their home from Waterloo, where they had been shopping. The car which struck the wagon was driven by Raymond Beaugarde, of Granby. Beaugarde failed to notice the rig when he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car. He crashed into the rear of the vehicle, and the two occupants and the horse were precipitated over the cable fence.

Dufresne died a few minutes after the mishap, having suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. Beaugarde was accompanied by his brother, Rosier, Maurice Robert and Maurice Tardif, of St. Anne de Stukely.

Dr. W. G. Rannels, of Granby, held an inquest Saturday evening at which a verdict of accidental death was returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Dufresne were married only a year ago, when they established themselves on a farm near South Stukely. Dufresne was a native of North Stukely.

A. E. WIGGETT PASSED AWAY THIS MORNING

Widely-Known Sherbrooke Citizen Had for Many Years Been Associated with Firm of J. H. Bryant and Company—Was Prominent in Sporting Circles in Younger Days.

The death occurred early this morning of Albert E. Wiggett, who passed away at his residence on Fulton avenue at the age of sixty-two years.

Mr. Wiggett was for many years a prominent figure in the business life of Sherbrooke, although of recent years he had suffered from failing health, which forced him to relinquish his business connection with the J. H. Bryant Company, with which he was bookkeeper for many years.

Albert Ebert Wiggett was born at Waterville on January 28, 1874, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Wiggett.

He was educated at the Lennoxville Academy and later at the Ontario Business College, Belleville. In 1895 he accepted a position with the late C. C. Nutter, formerly of Sherbrooke. Two years later this firm was taken over by J. H. Bryant, soft drink manufacturers, and Mr. Wiggett was retained as bookkeeper, which position he held until forced to retire owing to ill health.

In his younger days Mr. Wiggett was keenly interested in sports and was for several years president of the Sherbrooke Hockey Club. He was also a member of the Sherbrooke Curling Club, the Sherbrooke Snowshoe Club, the Y.M.C.A., the Masonic Order, the Knights of Pythias, the Sons of England and the Canadian Order of Foresters.

On August 4, 1898, the deceased was married to Ellen A. McFadden, daughter of the late S. A. McFadden, of Lennoxville, who survives him.

Y.W. OFFICIAL CLAIMS GIRLS ARE EXPLOITED

National Executive Secretary Declares Present Women Facing Bitter Fight to Uphold Rights in Business.

Regina, August 3.—Modern women are faced with difficult social problems, stated Miss H. D. Hobbecker, national executive secretary of the Y.W.C.A., in addressing a group of senior girls of the organization here.

Exploitation of women industrial and household workers were cited as only two of the problems confronting women today. Mussolini and Hitler have done something to women in general," she said, "and we are in danger of being pushed out of public life unless we are prepared to meet these problems."

A survey of the political, economic and legal status of Canadian women is being made by the organization, she said, and the information, together with reports from all countries in the world, will be laid before the League of Nations.

Miss Hobbecker stated she was shocked to learn of a professional man in Edmonton hiring stenographers supposedly for a month's trial without pay. At the end of a month the girl was let out and another hired. In this way, she said, the man obtained stenographic services free of charge for a period of eighteen months.

"I understand this is quite a common practice," she added. The speaker stated a code was being drawn up by the Y.W.C.A. to prevent exploitation of household workers. The first step necessary to improve conditions was institution of a school for household workers. Girls completing the course would obtain a certificate. The diploma would aid them in obtaining satisfactory employment.

THOUSANDS ARE ATTENDING GREAT RELIGIOUS PAGEANT

People of All Denominations Witnessed Colorful Events Portraying Life and Death of French Missionaries.

Midland, Ont., Aug. 3.—Large crowds continued to gather here today for the final day of the pageant of Canadian martyrs at the Jesuit martyrs' shrine. The largest crowd since the canonization of the shrine in 1930, thousands of people of all denominations watched the colorful event yesterday.

An Italian pilgrimage from St. Agnes parish, Toronto, brought five thousand visitors to the scene; additional worshippers raised the total to more than 7,000.

The church was crowded to capacity at all masses yesterday, and a special celebration of mass had to be held outdoors on the hill above the shrine. Rev. G. Loney, of Penetang, was the celebrant, assisted by Father Balo, of St. Agnes parish, and Rev. S. Bouvette, of Waukegan, Ill.

A pageant in eight acts recalled the lives and deaths of the Jesuit missionaries to Huronia. The pageant, the first effort to enact the drama of the French missionaries, was presented in the open air in a clearing at the northern end of the shrine. Action of the pageant took place in Huron and Iroquois Indian territory, now roughly embraced by the County of Simcoe, and covered the period from 1634-1649.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS HONOR SUMMER COLONY

His Eminence Cardinal Villeneuve, of Quebec, and Lord Bishop of Sherbrooke Present on Saturday at Formal Opening of Vacation Colony Beach.

In the distinguished presence of His Eminence Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, and His Lordship Bishop A. O. Gagnon, Lord Bishop of Sherbrooke, the opening of the Vacation Colony Beach on the banks of the Magog River on Saturday afternoon was a gala occasion which brought happiness and delight to thousands of Sherbrooke kiddies.

His Eminence and the Lord Bishop were welcomed by His Worship Mayor Emile Rioux and members of the City Council.

It was a grand day for the children of Sherbrooke, who were transported gratuitously by bus from all sections of the city. The new beach, actually a part of the Jacques Cartier park which is being laid out, is located along the shores of the Magog River, where a splendid playground has been arranged for the children. Cardinal Villeneuve, who returned from a visit to the monastery at St. Benoit du Lac in order to attend the official opening, was accompanied by Canon Charles Beaulieu, of the Bishopric of Quebec, and Dom Janet Benedictine.

Little Miss Gisèle Vanier presented His Eminence with an address. Cardinal Villeneuve congratulated the sponsors of the Vacation Colony movement and spoke briefly to the thousands of children, expressing the wish that they would find many hours of healthy enjoyment at the new beach.

His Worship the Mayor also made a few remarks declaring the beach officially open.

During the course of the afternoon games were arranged and ice cream and soft drinks were distributed to the children.

The Sherbrooke Knights of Columbus, who have been taking a keen interest in the Vacation Colony project, were represented by Grand Knight Eugene Olivier and a large number of members.

WOULD DEVELOP PACIFIC COAST RIVER STREAMS

Harnessing of Columbia Waterway Likely for Industrial and Irrigation Purposes—Developments Already Carried Out on Kootenay River.

Ottawa, August 3.—The entire Columbia River system on the Pacific Coast may be harnessed for the creation of industrial power in the next few years.

Publication of the report of the International Joint Commission on water power and drainage cases in the Kootenay valley, in the neighborhood of the international boundary, has drawn attention to certain curious geographical features of the Kootenay River and the Columbia River system of which it forms a part.

These rivers, although they ultimately empty into the Pacific Ocean, travel for the most part up and down long, narrow valleys running north and south. The Kootenay rises in the Rockies only a few miles from the source of the Columbia. The former flows south into Idaho, then turns and flows north into Kootenay Lake in British Columbia, emptying into the Columbia some distance south of the city of Nelson. Meanwhile the Columbia has travelled north from its source in the Rockies, around the northern end of the Selkirk mountains, and south to the international boundary, into the State of Washington, and finally to the Pacific.

The Pond d'Oreille, another tributary of the Columbia, comes up to the boundary from Idaho, and discharges into the main stream after a course of a few miles in Canada. Farther west the Okanagan, rising in British Columbia, flows south across the boundary to the Columbia. And on these various streams, particularly on the British Columbia side, are long, narrow but very deep lakes, filling gorges between the various mountain chains; Kootenay lake, the Arrow lakes, Okanagan lake, Solcan lake.

All these rivers and lakes form one complete water system, and very definitely an international water system, involving more or less interlocking interests in the States of Washington and Idaho and the Province of British Columbia, and to some extent a conflict, on both sides of the boundary, between water power interests and those of drainage. This system is year by year coming more and more into the picture as a source of power for industrial, irrigation and other purposes.

Developments have already been carried out by the West Kootenay Power and Light Company on the Kootenay River in British Columbia. The United States government has spent millions on a huge dam at the Grand Coulee on the Columbia in Washington, and it is understood contemplates spending many more millions both here and at other power sites lower down the Columbia.

It was brought out at one of the hearings before the International Joint Commission, in the testimony of a Washington engineer, that to get the maximum benefit from the Columbia system in terms of water power, on both sides of the inter-

JOHN TOMLINSON AND FAMILIES Sherbrooke, Que.

LENNOXVILLE

Dr. Arthur C. Hill, of Sherbrooke, was the guest preacher at Lennoxville United Church yesterday morning, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. F. R. Matthews, who, with Mrs. Matthews, is attending summer school at Macdonald College. Taking as his subject, "Songs in the Night," Dr. Hill gave a most interesting address on the experience of Paul and Silas in prison. During the service the beautiful solo "Ave Maria" was sung by Allen Willard.

The members of the Lennoxville and Ascot branches of the Women's Institute who journeyed by motor to the beautiful farm of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Sutton at Barnston on Saturday, where they met many Institute members from Stanstead County, were: Mrs. R. E. Mosher, Mrs. J. E. Bellam and Mrs. Fred Glass, of Lennoxville; Mrs. F. S. Browne, Mrs. A. S. Browne, Miss Evelyn Browne, of Ascot, and Mrs. C. E. Petch, of Hemmingford, Provincial President of the Women's Institute, who was a guest at the home of Mrs. F. S. Browne. During the afternoon many new friendships were made and old ones more firmly cemented, while their charming hosts saw to it that everyone was comfortable and happy. Later a delicious salad tea brought a thoroughly enjoyable day to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Frost and son, Gene, accompanied by Mrs. Jack Sterling and Miss Delia Sterling, have left by motor for Beaver Dam, N.Y., where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Duke. Mrs. W. S. Carbee, of Pasadena, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Lynch and their two children have returned to their home on Bank street, after spending a month at their summer residence at Knowlton.

Messrs. James and Bill Wolstenholme and Louis Clarke, of Moncton, N.B., are spending some time at Lake Park and Windsor Mills, the guests of relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Johnston, London street, and son, Mr. William D. Johnston, of Drummondville, have returned from a two weeks' vacation at Ocean Park, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. John Donigan, of New York City, who are on a motor trip through the Eastern Townships, are at present the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Caron, Prospect street.

Mrs. Sidney Hansford and son, Mr. Stewart Hansford, have returned to their home in Drummondville, after spending the past week as guests of Mrs. Hansford's mother and sister, Mrs. Stewart and Miss Maude Stewart, Fulton avenue, and calling on friends.

Mrs. Harry Buckley, who spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Robins, Magog street, left this morning for her home in St. Johnsbury, Vt., accompanied by Mr. Buckley, who spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Robins.

WOMEN'S RECORD JAVELIN THROW BETTERED BY GERMAN CONTESTANT

100,000 Olympic Spectators Looked on a Hilde "Tilly" Fleischer, with a Toss of 148 feet, 2 25-32 inches, Shattered Previous World Record—Howie McPhee, of Vancouver, and Phil Edwards, of Montreal, Turned in Best Performances Among Canadians on Opening Day of Eleventh Olympiad.

Berlin, August 3.—One world record and a collection of Olympic marks were in the discard today as an army of almost 5,000 athletes from the four corners of the globe swung into the second day of the eleventh Olympiad.

The three Canadian trackmen who progressed triumphantly through Sunday's inaugural tests—"Hurling Howie" McPhee in the 100 metres and Dr. Phil Edwards and Abbott Conway in the 800 metres—were to return to the lightning fast track in narrow fields.

Edwards, dusky Montreal physician running for the Hamilton Olympic Club, and Conway, Toronto "shadow," were in the 800-metre quarter-finals. Edwards, fourth in the event at the 1928 games and third in 1932, featured the preliminary trials with a 1:57.7 performance that was the day's fastest.

While McPhee was streaking through two to qualify for the metric century to qualify for the afternoon's semi-finals, a fellow Vancouver sprinter, Lee Orr, and Victoria's Bruce Humber, fell before the class opposition.

Orr was about the most disappointed youth on the dramatic Olympic scene. He placed third in his heat and that, according to the programme, earned him a quarter-finals berth. He had not, however, understood an announcement, made in German, that only the first two would qualify. He did not discover his elimination until he returned to the stadium after lunch for the second round trials.

Humber bowed the preliminaries, placing second to Eddie Borczyk, of Germany, but could do no better than fifth in a quarter final won by Ralph Medcalf, of the United States, in 10.5 seconds.

That time was surpassed only by Jesse Owens, America's colored triple threat man, in speeding to a new world standard of 10.2 seconds, clipped the mark by 1-10th second in the afternoon with a light quartering breeze at his back, after equalling the old mark in his preliminary heat.

The old 100-metre record was set by Percy Williams in a Canadian meet in 1930 and equaled by Eddie Nolan, of the United States, in the 1932 Olympic games and by Metcalfe at Hungary in 1933.

(The International Amateur Athletic Federation today refused to accept Owens' performance as a world record because he had a following wind).

The world record to fall, as more than 100,000 looked on, was the women's javelin throw, won by Hilde "Tilly" Fleischer, of the host nation, with a toss of 148 feet, 2 25-32 inches. The old record of 143 feet four inches was set by Babe Didrikson, the United States great, at the tenth Olympiad in Los Angeles.

Three hardy fans trained by the one and only Paavo Nurmi finished 1-2-3 in the 10,000 metre run. Zimari Salminen won in thirty minutes, 15.4 seconds with a one yard margin over Paavo Askola after a breath-taking stretch duel. Volmar Ischollo was third.

Canada's starters, wee Bobby Rankine, of Ontario, and Milton Wallace, of Toronto, were no factors. Rankine dropped out, limping, after going 7,000 metres. He was 500 metres back of the methodically running leaders at that point.

Germany returned to the winning column when Hans Weillike put the shot 53 feet, 3 1/2 inches. Suilo Beerlund, of Finland, second, heaved the weight 52 feet 10 1/2 inches also to surpass the former Olympic record of 52 feet 6 3/4 inches.

In the high jump, swept by the United States with Cornelius Johnson in the lead, Joe Haley, of Trail, B.C., reached the final but faltered there.

Haley, self-taught and with little competition under his belt, went out in the afternoon when the bar had been hoisted to six feet 2 1/2 inches.

Johnson and three other hoppers surpassed the Olympic standard of six feet six. The victorious Negro jumped six feet 7 1/2 inches.

While the efforts of Dr. Edwards and Conway in the 800 metres were crowned with success, Jack Liddle, Winnipeg protégé of Jimmy Ball, the erstwhile quarter mile star of Manitoba, met elimination. Liddle was sixth and last in a heat won by Britain's Jack Powell in 1:56.1.

While Edwards time of 1:57.7 did not approach the record of 1:49.8 Tom Hampson, of England, set at Los Angeles, it was still far the best of the preliminaries. "Cruck" Hornbostel, a U. S. favorite in the event, was caught in the same time as the Canadian, but actually he was a foot behind the "phantom physician."

Conway qualified for the quarter finals by placing second to Harry Williamson, of the United States. Both were clocked in 1:56.2.

In an interview, Hornbostel said later he had "practically loafed" around in a dead heat with Dr. Edwards.

"I wish I'd been running in the finals," the American said. "I can't ever remember feeling better."

Owens said he believed he could have clipped at least another 1-10th second off the record if he had not eased off toward the end of his quarter-final heat. He had not realized he was running so fast, the negro added.

With due and becoming modesty, the popular American negro saw no reason why he should not win his

ELIMINATION OF CANADIAN IS STRONGLY CRITICIZED

Berlin, Aug. 3.—The misunderstanding that surrounded the elimination of Lee Orr, Victoria, sprinter, from the Olympic 100 metre dash brought criticism from the Canadian camp today, but nothing in the way of a formal protest. There was no indication one would be made.

P. J. Mulqueen, of Toronto, chairman and the team's "chief of staff," said he wondered if the situation called for annoyance, protest or merely amusement.

Orr finished third in his preliminary heat. The official programme said the first three in each trial would qualify, but it was announced, in German, that only two would qualify. It was not until the young Canadian returned to the stadium after lunch for the quarter final that he learned he was out of the running.

"I wonder," said Mulqueen, "if the Germans are going to mix up things again as they did at Garmisch-Partenkirchen by making last minute rule changes?"

He was referring to last winter's Olympic Games at Garmisch, when the Canadians learned belatedly that a defeat handed them by the English hockey team had to be carried into the final round. Because of this ruling the English team was not required to meet the title-defending Canucks in the championship round robin. The Old Speshosky squad upset the Canadians in the final, tied the United States and won the title.

English-speaking sports writers and spectators were forced to wait as long as thirty minutes before learning official results yesterday. Announcements over the public address system were made in German.

REFUSE TO ACCEPT OWEN'S TIME AS NEW WORLD RECORD

Berlin, Aug. 3.—The International Amateur Athletic Federation today announced it would not accept Jesse Owens' time of 10.2 seconds in yesterday's quarter-final trials of the Olympic 100 metre sprint as a world record.

The American negro's time lowered by 1-10th second the record Percy Williams, the Vancouver rocket, set in Canada in 1930. Eddie Nolan and M. Medcalf, of the United States, have equalled it, as did also Owens in his first heat here yesterday.

Officials of the I.A.A.F. said they could not recognize Owens' mark because there was a too strong back wind.

At the time Owens made his sensational dash observers noted there was a slight quartering wind, but they expressed the opinion it was insufficient to affect his speed.

EUROPEAN GIRLS DOMINATE TRACK AND FIELD PICTURE

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Bigger, stronger and older European girls, especially the well-trained athletes of Germany, Poland and Austria, are getting the call to win women's Olympic titles. There are a few exceptions that even Europe is willing to recognize.

One is Helen Stephens, of the United States, in the 100-metre dash. Another is Betty Taylor, of Canada, in the 80-metre hurdles. Still another is Margaret Bell, of Canada, in the high jump. But European girls dominate the track and field picture pretty completely.

Miss Taylor and Roxie Atkins, of Toronto, Canada's entries in the hurdles event, jointly hold the Canadian record of 11.9 seconds. The Olympic and world record of 11.7 was set in the 1932 games by Betty Didrikson, of the United States. The record is likely to go overboard here.

It took a leap of five feet five inches by Jean Shiley, of Philadelphia, to win the 1932 Olympic high jump title, but most coaches believe 5-3 might win here. That leaves Canada's Margaret Bell with a chance. The Vancouver girl has cleared 5-3 and gets over 5-2 consistently.

The sprint picture is less bright. Aileen Meagher, of Halifax, and Hilda Cameron and Jeannette Dolson, of Toronto, are the Canadian entries and none has come close to the record time made by Miss Stephens, the favorite. Frau Kraus, of Germany, and Stella Walsh, of Poland, are expected to battle it out with the American farm girl.

CANADIANS DENY GIVING NAZI SALUTE TO HITLER

Berlin, Aug. 3.—"Crossed signals" were said today to have been responsible for the presentation by the Canadian Olympic team of what appeared to be the Nazi salute as the parade of nations passed before Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Saturday's formal opening ceremonies.

"It wasn't actually the Nazi salute," explained chairman P. J. Mulqueen, of the Maple Leaf team. "The outstretched right hands of the Canadians pointed skyward rather than forward. It was merely a salute toward Herr Hitler."

Mulqueen said Canadian officials tried to get in touch with the British team to learn their parade plans and that British officials attempted to reach the Dominion team's lead-

BIG FIELD COMPETING FOR CANADIAN HONORS
Vancouver, August 3.—A quarter-century list of 134 racquet wielders in the 1936 Canadian lawn tennis championship which got under way today on the courts of the Vancouver Tennis Club.

Although seeded third and fourth in the draw, Roland Longtin, of Montreal, and Ross Wilson, of Toronto, were considered equal favorites to give the Dominion representation in the men's singles with their stiffest competition expected from Jack Tidball and John Murio, San Francisco aces, who held top spots on the card.

Longtin was drawn against C. Hoff, of Portland, and Wilson against Jack Kray, of Vancouver, in the first round.

Tidball and Murio had a little stiffer opposition, but neither K. Lloyd, of Portland, nor S. Erham of San Francisco, was expected to give Tidball or the Bay City Hawaiian much trouble.

KEEN SAILING TOOK PLACE AT NORTH HATLEY

Warren Ransom's Ceti and Doug Bradley's Moira Chalked Up Victories in Col Pope Trophy Series—Final for Grosvenor Trophy Provided Interesting Contest.

North Hatley, Aug. 3.—Warren Ransom's Ceti and Doug Bradley's Moira each chalked up a victory here yesterday afternoon when two sailing races were held to inaugurate the Col. Pope Trophy series. These two boats, as well as the Josephine, are now tied for first place in this series, with Armagh one point behind, then coming Miss Loretta, Gargar and Jabberwock.

Yesterday's racing saw eight inter-lake class boats lined up for the first event, Ransom's Ceti now being in commission.

Bradley and Cote were over the line early and had to return. Armagh and Mischief were next over and immediately came about on the port tack, heading in to the west shore. The balance of the fleet held the other tack and worked up the east shore, the Ceti celebrating her first start of the season by going into the lead and ramping around without being threatened.

The real battle on the windward leg was between Armagh, sailed by Dave McCreia in Bob's absence, and Stebbins' Jabberwock in a tacking S. The Armagh had the better of the two and held her lead until near the mark when she failed to cover the Stebbins boat which rounded a length ahead, followed by Armagh, Moira, Mischief, Loretta, Gargar and Jabberwock.

On the run to the second turn, Armagh closed the gap and the two boats rounded together. Moira and Mischief looked up in a luffing bee, allowing the Loretta to slip through. On the reach home Josephine and Armagh put on a real race, both boats alternating in the lead. At the finish the Stebbins boat held a slight edge until less than a length from the line when Armagh pulled up to finish less than a foot to the good. Moira passed the Loretta and Mischief on the last lap, finishing the boats came in as follows: Ceti, Armagh, Josephine, Moira, Loretta, Mischief, Gargar, Jabberwock.

The second race, two laps over the short course, found only seven starters at the line, the Ceti being scratched. Loretta, Armagh and Mischief were over together with the rest of the fleet overlapping. On the reach home Josephine and Stebbins, immediately hooked up in a tacking battle over on the west shore. The rest of the fleet held up the lake well out. The west again proved the better spot and Moira rounded in the lead, followed by Josephine, Gargar, Mischief, Armagh, Loretta and Jabberwock. On the run across the change took place, except that Jabberwock dropped away behind when she lost one of the crew overboard setting head sails.

On the reach to the turning mark Ceti and Jack Dick staged a luffing bee, allowing Armagh and Loretta to slip through. On the second beat to the western mark the fleet scattered all over the lake only Stebbins and Bradley pairing off for their usual scrap. Bradley holding his lead to the turn. On the runs back, when the boats came together at the turn, Cote had worked up to third place followed by Armagh, Loretta, Gargar and Jabberwock. These positions were maintained to the finish line. Moira was first, followed by Josephine, Mischief, Armagh, Loretta, Gargar, Jabberwock.

Saturday's racing brought out three starters in the Snipe class for the Dr. Cole Trophy, Queen skippers by Rolfe Stebbins, Billie sailed by Bud Cook and Nautia with Peter on the stick.

Stebbins got over a length ahead and to windward and covered Cook in the heat to the first mark. Powell split with the leaders and when they came together near the turn crossed Cook but had to give way to the Queen. On the run to the second mark the boats held their positions, but on the reach to the turning mark of the first round, Powell seemed to be able to get more out of his jib setting and passed the Stebbins boat, rounding two lengths in the lead, Cook trailing Stebbins by another two lengths.

In a tacking battle to the weather mark on the second lap, Stebbins finally got the lead. Cook and Powell immediately split and gave him a bit more than he could handle in trying to keep them covered. Powell finally got in position to carry the Queen beyond the mark, letting the Billie slip through and round in the lead. Powell then beat the Stebbins boat to the mark. On the run and reach home the Nautia closed the gap on the Billie, but could not quite make it, finishing a length astern. Cook came first, Powell second and Stebbins third. Altogether it was one of the keenest fought races in this class this season.

Cook's Billie now leads in the series with Powell and Stebbins tied. The final race for the trophy donated by William Grosvenor, of Providence, R.I., a keen Hatley sailor who is now in Europe racing his six meter boat, was run following the Snipe race. Only three boats turned out, Moira sailed by Doug Bradley, Josephine sail by Roland Stebbins and Loretta sailed by Walt Blue. Doug soon worked out a lead and although Stebbins and Blue both tried to get clear neither was able to break through, Moira finishing first followed by Stebbins and Blue.

The final series of the Grosvenor series are: Moira, Doug Bradley, first; Josephine, Roland Stebbins, second; Armagh, Bob McCreia, third; Gargar, Jack Dick fourth; Loretta, Walt Blue, fifth; Mischief Phil Cole, sixth; Jabberwock, Betty Cote, seventh.
