Soviet status slips

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has been advised by government experts on Russian affairs that the ouster of Premier Khrushchev has damaged the prestige of Soviet leadership at home and abroad and rendered uncertain the future course of Soviet policy toward the West.

These are among the principal conclusions reached in a new study of the sensational shakeup in the Kremlin earlier this month. Other conclusions reported to the president, according to informed officials:

1. The best guess about the future prospects for Khrushchev's successor is that a power struggle probably cannot be avoided. The experts say that Communist party boss Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin appear to represent at the moment the two bureaucracies of the party and the government and these together with the competitive interest of the military and industrial establishment set the stage for a power struggle.

2. Factionalism in the Soviet Union tends to hurt Soviet interests internally and externally. The destalinization program of a decade ago is cited as a case in point. It was one of the issues over which Communist China avowed split with the Soviet Union.

3. The violent wrench which necessarily resulted from the sudden ouster of Khrushchev has displayed to the world what experts here term the uglier side of Kremlin politics and this has been a principal contribution to the loss of Soviet prestige.

Post squadron

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has posted a squadron of 15 B-52 heavy jet nuclear bombers on the island of Guam — within about 1,000 miles of Red China, it was learned today.

The unpublicized move, made last spring, places the B-52s about 5,000 miles closer to China than when they were based in the United States.

Reds confer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin's new leaders continued a series of meetings with foreign Communist party officials today to try to quiet the spreading unrest over the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev.

Khrushchev's successors announced they had conferred with the Communist chiefs of Poland and red delegations from France, Austria and Italy converged on the Soviet capital to find out why Khrushchev was dumped as premier and Communist chief and what lies ahead.

Guard landing

NICOSIA (Reuters) — Canadian and Irish troops of the United Nations peace force and Australian police stood guard at the port of Famagusta today as 330 Turkish troops landed to relieve part of the Turkish army contingent on the island.

In accordance with arrangements made with the Cypriot government, the Turkish troops carried no arms. They apparently planned to pick up the arms of the departing Turkish troops.

Back to work

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Canadian General Motors plants will be back to full employment one week after all workers in United States GM plants are back on the job, a GM spokesman said Sunday.

Behind times

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican ecumenical council was told today that Roman Catholicism treats science and scientists with suspicion, and must stop doing so.

Bishop Otto Spilbeck of Meissen, Germany, speaking in council debate on modern world problems, said: "Clergy and bishops must be brought up to date on the scientific and cultural level."

Protest work change

CN employees cause cut in train service

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Employee protests against revised work schedules introduced by Canadian National Railways brought a cut-back in passenger services during the weekend and threatened to spread today.

The CNR reduced its passenger service between Toronto and Western Canada to one train a day from three trains as firemen, locomotive engineers and some brakemen in Northern Ontario and the western prairies booked in sick.

Trans-continental passenger service originating or bound for Montreal was rerouted through Toronto as supervisory personnel took over the job of running the trains. Freight services were delayed.

The employees were protesting weekend changes in operations to bypass Nakina in Northern Ontario and Wainwright, Alta. Trains were worked from Hornepayne to Armstrong in Ontario, a distance of 244 miles, involving 5½ hours of running time. Previously one crew was used for a division of 132 miles and another for the remaining 112 miles.

In Western Canada, freight train personnel would be required to work from Edmonton to Biggar, Sask., a distance of 266 miles, instead of changing at Wainwright, 126 miles east of Edmonton.

The CNR said 108 men—all firemen, engineers and brakemen—had reported sick at Capreol, a CNR headquarters 15 miles north of Sudbury.

The conductors and yardmen decided at a closed meeting of all Capreol employees Sunday night that they would also stay off work. A total of 288 employees would be involved.

A spokesman for the workers said they would not return to work until after the run-through is abolished.

The run-through would mean that nine employees at Nakina, 160 miles northwest of Port Arthur, would have to move to other points.

Douglas Fisher, New Democratic member of Parliament for Port Arthur, went to Nakina Sunday to observe the situation and reported in a telephone interview that about 1,800 men in the running trades of the CNR had booked off sick or unfit for duty.

He said he had reached union officials representing the men involved in centres from Edmonton to Montreal. They had told him that "every man in the running trades from Vancouver to Montreal would be out by noon" today. This would involve 2,500 to 3,000 men, he said.

Sick bookings were also reported by 22 crew members at Nakina and at Parry Sound, the first division point north from Toronto.

Maintain Schedules
A CNR spokesman in Edmonton said train schedules in the mountain region of Alberta and Saskatchewan were being maintained by supervisory personnel where railway crews did not report for work.

He said the railway could continue its new schedules "indefinitely" despite the employees' protests.

At Winnipeg, the CNR announced it will reduce its trans-continental passenger train service effective today.

At the same time it opened negotiations to make a huge draw of credit from the International Monetary Fund and announced plans to provide exporters with a small tax rebate — averaging about 1½ per cent of the value of exports — to stimulate more sales abroad.

Canadian officials estimated the 15-per-cent extra duty will hit about $200,000,000 worth of Canadian exports a year, but the bulk of Canadian shipments — which total about $1,000,000, 000 annually — will escape the surcharge.

Economics Minister George Brown and Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan, who announced the new steps at a press conference, described the measures as short-term and temporary but declined to say just how many years they would last.

They estimated that Britain's deficit in international payments — the balance between money coming into the country and the amount going out — would reach an all-time high of up to $200,000,000 this year. This deficit forecast is more than double what the previous administration had estimated.

It meant that Britain once again was in deep economic trouble, buying more than she is selling and lacking ability to attract substantial long-term investment to this country.

"All his calls for immediate but strictly temporary action, drastic at first but less so as both the immediate measures and the longer-term policies begin to take hold," the government said in its statement.

In many ways, the British action to stem the flood of im-

Fire believed deliberately set

Jail escape try suspected at Sweetsburg

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — A fire believed deliberately set by a prisoner yesterday in a suspected escape attempt resulted in the evacuation of the 15 prisoners held in the Sweetsburg jail here.

Rolland Mainville is expected to be charged in connection with the fire. He was awaiting trial at Sweetsburg on charges of impaired faculties, and possession of weapons.

The officer in charge of the jail, Sunday, Sgt. Joseph Lefebvre, said that the prisoner apparently meant to escape the prison. Sgt. Lefebvre said that when the prison was opened to evacuate the inmates, he had forcefully detained Mainville from escaping.

Sgt. Lefebvre wrestled with the prisoner until, with the aid of Guard Donat Robert, he was brought under submission.

Damage done by the blaze was estimated at $3,000. Officials say that the fire was caused by a cigarette thrown into a prisoner's clothing storeroom.

The prisoners in the jail were transferred by QPP to cells at the Cowansville municipal police station.

The fire occurred about 10 a.m. Men from the Cowansville Fire Department answered the call. They were able to put out the fire by about 11 a.m.

Prison officials said that the prisoner had asked the guard on duty to be conducted to the washroom. On returning, the prisoner said he had set fire to the storeroom for prisoners' clothing, the guard reported.

The storeroom is separated from the washroom by prison bars.

When the guard saw that the storeroom was on fire he called the jail director and evacuation of the prisoners was effected.

The prisoners were returned to the Sweetsburg prison later in the afternoon.

SAIGON (AP) — Terror and counter-terror, persistent themes of Vietnamese political and military history for many centuries, continue to play a dominant role in the increasingly bloody war raging now.

Terror is used for interrogation, as propaganda, as punishment and as revenge. Neither the Viet Cong nor Saigon government forces have any monopoly on its use, and both sides officially sanction it.

Terror strikes in many forms. A month ago, it came to a battalion of Vietnamese rangers caught in an ambush near the Mekong River delta town of Cau Ke.

A Viet Cong unit concealed in a Buddhist pagoda opened fire on the government unit, 1,000 yards away. They had killed 10 Rangers, including an American sergeant advising them.

A few days ago the same ranger unit was back for an operation at the same place, spilling for revenge. This time it took the rangers four hours to creep up on the pagoda from fire on the government unit, 1,000 yards away. They had landed by helicopter.

SAIGON (AP) — South Viet Nam's military returned the government to the civilians today, marking the fifth change of government in a year.

Power was formally transferred to the nation's new chief of state, ailing revolutionary Phan Khanh Su. Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh resigned as premier with the rest of his caretaker government.

Suu said the high national council, which is presiding over the changeover from military to civil rule, would consult Tuesday on a premier to lead the government until a new constitution is drawn up. Speculation centred around former Saigon mayor Tran Van Huong.

Khanh will continue to wield great power as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, with a big say in naming the armed forces minister. They will sit on the four-man national security council which will have wide power because of the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

Suu said he would continue as chief of state for only a short time because his health isn't too good. It appeared likely that the civilian politicians would not bow to military pressure willingly. Any such defiance would probably result in another military coup.

Political leaders in Hue said they were prepared to put crowds into the streets to back their demand for complete elimination of Khanh from the government.

Police said banners rigged with booby trap grenades were put up at Buddhist schools demanding a reprieve for a Viet Cong student sentenced to die for an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate former U.S. ambassador Frederick E. Nolting, Jr.

The banners were removed without incident.

FOUR TEENAGERS DIE IN CAR CRASH NEAR VICTORIAVILLE

Two traffic accidents in the Victoriaville area which claimed five lives brought to 28 the number of violent deaths registered in this province over the weekend.

The most serious accident occurred late Saturday night between Victoriaville and Princeville when four teenagers were killed in a head-on crash.

Dead are Pierre Laroche, 19, of Warwick; Rodrigue Hamel, 19, of Warwick; Nicole Beau-douin, 18, of Princeville, and Yolande Desrochers, 18, of Warwick.

A few minutes after the original crash, which caused the four fatalities, another car crashed into the wrecked vehicles.

Thirteen people were taken to hospitals in Plessisville and Arthabaskaville. Six were released early Sunday morning but the other seven were still confined this morning.

Mrs. Maurice Beauchemin, of Montreal, was instantly killed and four others injured when a Henuault Transport autobus travelling from Victoriaville to Warwick left the road near the latter town and struck a tree.

At least 61 persons died in accidents across Canada during the weekend, 48 of them on the highways.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday local times showed the total also included four drownings, two deaths by fire, three hunting fatalities and six miscellaneous deaths.

Quebec headed the list with 19 traffic fatalities, three persons dead in hunting accidents, a drowning, one death by fire and four persons asphyxiated.

Ontario had seven highway deaths, two drownings, one person dead in a fire and boy killed in a fall.

Five Edmonton-area residents died in a two-car smash on Highway 16 about 40 miles west of Edmonton. There were three other traffic fatalities in Alberta.

Six persons died on the highways in British Columbia, three in Saskatchewan and one in Manitoba. Manitoba also reported one drowning and one person killed in a fall.

The survey does not include natural or industrial deaths, known suicides or slayings.

UK adds duties, pushes exports trying to avoid currency crisis

LONDON (CP) — Britain's new socialist government, trying to head off a currency exchange crisis, today imposed an extra 15-per-cent duty on all imports with the exception of food, basic raw materials and unmanufactured tobacco.

At the same time it opened negotiations to make a huge draw of credit from the International Monetary Fund and announced plans to provide exporters with a small tax rebate — averaging about 1½ per cent of the value of exports — to stimulate more sales abroad.

Social welfare court for Bedford

Last week, a lawyer for a 17-year-old youth accused of possessing offensive weapons with intent to commit a crime put a legal problem before the Court of Queen's Bench in the District of Bedford courthouse in Sweetsburg ward.

His contention was that his client, being under 18 years of age, should not be tried in criminal assizes, but should, in fact, be under the jurisdiction of the social welfare court. Whether or not he is right has not been decided as yet. Pleas to the lawyer's motion are scheduled to be heard in December.

But whatever the decision, it may well be only an academic exercise unless court facilities in the district change shortly. For there is no Social Welfare Court for the district of Bedford.

It would not, of course, be proper to comment on the merits of this particular case, since it is before the courts.

But the situation to which the lawyer's motion has drawn attention is one which cries out for correction.

Judges and lawyers alike in the District of Bedford have recommended for some years now that a Social Welfare Court be set up in the region. They have pointed out, quite correctly, that without one, the goals of justice are often thwarted, rather than aided.

Young offenders, many of them in trouble with the law for the first time, are exposed to procedures and conditions meant only for adults.

Often, they are held and tried cheek to jowl with hardened criminals and seasoned offenders. And they are deprived of those vital services which a Social Welfare court can offer to youngsters in trouble — professional advice and help; rehabilitation where necessary designed for their particular age group; a more informal court attitude which allows judges and other social welfare court officers to go beyond legal evidence and into the background and circumstances of offenders; often into their home lives and the attitudes of their parents.

The lack of these kinds of facilities means that too many youngsters, instead of being deterred from a life of crime, are sealed into one.

Throughout the province, our legal facilities and organization are undergoing much-needed improvement and renovation. It is true that everything cannot be undertaken at once. But the District of Bedford is a heavily-populated area; a fast-developing region of burgeoning industrial and social progress.

The need for a Social Welfare court has been a long-standing and particularly obvious one. It is a need, we suggest, that deserves a priority.

Ross Thatcher warns the Premiers

Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher has never been known as a political conformist. And in recent weeks he has made some statements about Canadian conditions which might have been expected from some ardent centralist banker but hardly from a provincial premier.

Whereas provincial premiers, traditionally and without regard to political stripe or color, appear dedicated to the cause of leveraging more money out of the federal treasury, Mr. Thatcher sees a serious danger in this tendency. Speaking before a Toronto audience, the Saskatchewan Premier declared that this habit posed a threat to Confederation almost as dangerous as that of separatism.

He believes that if the central government's taxing powers are eroded, it will find itself without the money required to meet the calls upon it. He maintains that if the provinces were to take over such fields as health and social welfare, using their own taxes to finance such services, the standard of services in the poorer provinces would fall below the minimum basic standards and deprive many Canadians of their basic rights.

But in chastising his fellow premiers, he also had some hard words for the voters.

He maintains that while all political parties must accept a share of the blame for rapidly increasing taxes in Canada, the public must share some of the responsibility.

"Almost every day at Regina or Ottawa, some group or organization comes to press the government for some new project or expenditure," he said, adding: "Citizens cannot steadily and consistently demand more expenditures yet, at the same time expect taxes to be lowered."

In his own province, Mr. Thatcher has launched a campaign to cut provincial taxes wherever possible, even if the reduction or elimination of some government services are involved. He is giving the people an opportunity to decide whether they want wider government services or lower taxes.

Maybe the decision will be something of a surprise to politicians generally when the next Saskatchewan election rolls around.

Hillside cellars are memorials

An old cellar hole beside a grass-grown, dirt road on a hillside tells a poignant story. Away from the main arteries of cement and macadam you can find them. Early settlers liked homesteads on the hillsides, above the "humours" of damp valleys and safe from early fall frosts that blighted crops before maturity.

On mountain shoulders pioneers built their homes and cleared land for fields and pastures. For several generations hillside farms were scenes of activity while a new nation was being established. In those cellars, food was stored for the long winters — barrels of apples, piles of potatoes, cabbages, turnips and carrots. There were hogsheads of salt pork and big earthen crocks filled with pickles and sauerkraut.

Stand beside a cellar hole on a mellow October day and you are looking at history. Now the cellar is filled with brush and brambles. Perhaps a clump of lilacs still grows by a worn granite doorstep. On the slope behind the house there may be a few old apple trees lifting gaunt suppliant arms to the sky among crowding pines and birches.

It is a losing battle. These thin-soiled hillsides were meant for trees, not for farming. Perhaps a century ago, the last of a family line hears the call of rich soil in the midwest or news of gold near the western ocean.

Now the old cellar holes drowse through the turning year. Nature is taking back her own. For a time, man took the land and used it. Nature is never in a hurry, only man is impatient. Old cellar holes are memorials to men and women who fought a good fight.

City pedestrians don't heed law

Dear Sir: I believe this letter is a summary of what every motorist intends to go home and write on, travelling down any busy street in Sherbrooke.

The subject "Pedestrians." They know no law in regards to crossing the street at proper intersections provided for same, they wander, wonder, mope, saunter, glide, weave, push infant carriages, any place they choose across Wellington St. They do this under Policemen's observation without the least fear of being detained for jay walking, reprisal, arrest, detention or a bunt in the posterior from some velvet padded bumper.

Now I have driven from East to West and West to Mexico and in no town or city does this ridiculous situation confront motorists.

I trust this situation is cleared up by the City Fathers, without delay.

Japan's rough and ready frontier offers tourists wide open spaces

By SID ADILMAN

Shopkeepers stand out as typically un-Japanese.

They prefer mutton to seaweed, corn on the cob to Japanese noodles and they are much more open to tourists, primarily because they get so few.

UNIVERSITY

Hokkaido's main city, Sapporo, 24 hours by train from Tokyo or two hours by airplane, has a population of 500,000.

Sapporo's main centres of interest are its three block enclosed shopping arcade, rows and rows of pachinko (pin-ball machine) parlors, its 440-foot television tower and Hokkaido University, Japan's largest campus.

The island is summer resort to the very wealthy Japanese and in winter it offers the best skiing in Asia.

In Hokkaido there's space, and none of the modern impertinences of slick promotion or expensive luxury hotels and posh bars.

TOKYO — (TNS) — Tourists to Japan inevitably confine themselves to Tokyo and Kyoto, which is the country's ancient onetime capital.

Some venture south to Kobe, a bustling seaport town, some take the inland sea trip from Kobe to Beppu, a hot-spring mineral bath centre. Others stay south for nostalgic visits to Hiroshima or Nagasaki.

But Japan has a new frontier — its northern island, Hokkaido, which most tourists ignore.

Unlike the densely overcrowded Honshu (Japan's main island, population 67,000,000), Hokkaido is rough and rangy with thousands of miles of undeveloped land.

Hokkaido produces one third of Japan's fish catch (Japan is the world's largest fish producer), one third of Japan's pulp and timber and a third of the country's coal.

Its people remain frontiersmen with a traditional mistrust and dislike for the more civilized Tokyo residents.

Much like the Canadian westerner, who scoffs at Eastern city residents, the Hokkaido man derides Tokyo. "Tokyo people say we're nothing more than a bunch of wild people with hair all over our faces," a Hokkaido businessman told me.

NATIVES

But he can't get away from it, one of Hokkaido's main attractions are the Ainu aborigines.

The Ainu were the first residents of Japan and much like the North American Indian met the Japanese who came to colonize the northern island in 1600.

Like the settling Canadians, the Japanese fought and traded with the Ainu but always maintained a safe distance. They traded sake (rice wine) for bearskin and eagle feathers.

The Ainu have become assimilated, except for the 15,000 or so who remain on their reservations, sleeping toward the east, hunting with spears and poisoned arrows and adhering to their sun and bear gods.

Western tourists are welcome in their villages and the old chiefs like to describe how they go "up to Sapporo", the island's capital, regularly to appear on television.

Even without the Ainu, the Hokkaido farmers, university students, factory workers and

Indignantly deny bike is a toy

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON — (NEA) — Cabinet ministers ride them to work. Fashion models adore them. In fact, everyone seems to love Britain's new baby-buggy bicycles except the U.S. Bureau of Customs.

The Moulton bicycles (named after their inventor Alex Moulton) are not even bikes at all, according to American customs officials. With their ridiculously small wheels, they are toys, and as such are subject to a 22.5 per cent import duty.

The American customs bureau is entitled to its own opinion about the baby-buggy bike, but the tariff on toys is double that charged on ordinary British bicycles shipped to the United States. This explains why Moulton Bicycles Ltd. of Bradford-on-Avon, is screaming its head off with rage.

Its makers indignantly deny that the new-style bike is a toy. It was designed by Alex Moulton, the engineer who is responsible for the advanced suspension system used on the MG sports sedan. The Moulton bike embodies such revolutionary principles as rubber suspension and a center-of-gravity frame. It is claimed to be the biggest advance in bicycle design made this century—as well as being the answer to traffic jams and parking problems.

But the U.S. Bureau of Customs remains unmoved by these arguments. The Moulton bicycle's wheels are only 16 inches in diameter. It says in the U.S. Customs manual that all imported bicycles must have larger wheels. Otherwise, they are classified as toys at twice the duty of 11 per cent.

This is laid down by law, and to change it would require an Act of Congress, the U.S. Customs men maintain. The Moulton bike may be regarded as kid stuff in America, but it is rapidly becoming big business here. In the last few months it has doubled its sales to over 1,000 a week, and the Bradford-on-Avon factory is exporting more than 300 a week on the world market.

Its makers claim that the rubber springs—front and rear—make the Moulton more comfortable and provide better steering and road holding. They also point out that the Moulton's engineering which just won a top design award here, allows for more luggage space. Because it has no crossbar, the Moulton can be ridden by a woman wearing a skirt. "There is no loss of dignity in mounting or dismounting," a company brochure claims. This could be an important consideration with men like Quintin Hogg, former British minister of science, who rides a Moulton.

The Moulton is available in five models, including a stow-away model which can be easily dismantled for storage in the luggage compartment of a car.

Latest report is that the Moulton concern has made a licensing arrangement with a Dayton, Ohio, company to manufacture the bicycle in the United States. Production will begin early in 1965.

The moral, perhaps, is that one man's toy may be another man's means of locomotion.

Oratorical guns booming again as US election in final week

The oratorical guns boomed again today as the U.S. election campaign continued in high gear in this final full week of stumping before the Nov. 3 presidential poll.

President Johnson, enthusiastically welcomed to Florida Sunday, continued today a tour of southern states where his Republican opponent, Senator Barry Goldwater claims considerable strength.

Goldwater, meanwhile, was to begin a tour of 16 northern states at Salisbury, Md. and in the evening address a rally in New York City's Madison Square Garden.

Johnson started today's five-city campaign tour in Orlando, promising "a new charter of opportunity for older Americans."

Both in Orlando and Miami, Johnson was welcomed with such fervor Sunday that small mobs scenes resulted.

Secret service agents and police had to strain their backs against an enthusiastic crowd to get Johnson into his hotel for an overnight stop in Orlando. In Miami, officers became violent as they struggled to extricate the president from well wishers.

JOHNSON SHOVED

Johnson got a healthy shove from one Miami policeman who, without looking went all-out to enforce orders against permitting people through the presidential entrance of the Dupont Plaza Hotel. Johnson was staggered but did not lose his footing.

Goldwater went to West Branch, Iowa, Sunday for the burial of former president Herbert Hoover.

On the way back to the capital, Goldwater, who does not campaign in its final days. Goldwater has been calling for a tougher stance in foreign policy, for curtailment of the size and power of the federal government and for a drive against what he calls a wave of lawlessness and immorality.

Republican vice - presidential candidate William E. Miller spent a quiet day Sunday with his family in their home at Bethesda, Md. Miller returned to Washington Saturday night after a two-week Republican campaign swing.

Ethnic groups to plan centenary participation

OTTAWA (CP) — A national conference is being convened here in two weeks to plan participation in the 1967 centenary of Confederation by those who do not count the United Kingdom or France as their family homes.

Waterloo

The annual reunion of the Dow family was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Fowler, Kingsbury on Oct. 18, when relatives from Waterloo, Richford, Vt., Waterville, Vt., and Hartford, Conn., met for the day. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dow, of Waterloo, were among those attending.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Venters were Mr. and Mrs. William Ewing, of Van Kleef Hill, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. John Forbes and two daughters, Christine and Jessie, of Montreal, Mr. Alan Venters and Miss Jill Muirhead, of Toronto.

Mrs. William Venters entertained at dinner for her mother, Mrs. Stanley Howard, on her birthday, Oct. 18.

Mrs. Gladys Belner-Hassett, of Antigonish, N.S., spent two days with Mr. and Mrs. Murdoch MacIntosh.

Mrs. Roger Royea spent the weekend at Epiphany House, Montreal, attending a G. A. Leaders' Training Course.

Major and Mrs. Stanley Howard left for Montreal to spend a few days with Mrs. Ivan Patrick.

Mr. Ed. Daine has received word of the death of his sister, Mrs. Hugh Baird, of New Bedford, Mass. Mrs. Baird, who died at the age of 87, was born, brought up and married in Mansenville. A brother, Archie Daine, lives in New Hampshire.

Mrs. Donna Reed, attended the annual Convention of School Nurses, at the Montreal Children's Hospital.

Wallace Tibbitts and his bride have returned from their trip to England and spent a weekend with his mother, Mrs. Pearl Tibbitts.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reed spent the weekend at Mont Gabriel.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Snow were Mr. and Mrs. Don Patrick and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bertrand, of Lennoxville.

Organized for the federal Centennial Commission, the gathering will bring together representatives of organized ethnic groups from across Canada, and those who have had experience in organizing folk art festivals.

The object is to encourage the organization of folk art groups in major centres which do not now have them, and perhaps a national federation of such groups through which the Centennial Commission can work.

According to the 1961 census, 43.8 per cent of Canadians gave their ethnic origins as English, Irish, Scottish or other British origin, and 30.4 per cent as French.

The census counted 5.8 per cent of Canadians as of German origin, 2.6 per cent Ukrainian, 2.5 per cent Italian, 2.4 per cent Dutch, and 1.8 per cent Polish. It is among these groups that the centennial planners are looking for distinctive contributions to the centenary.

Leon Kossar, a Toronto newspaperman on loan to the Community Folk Arts Council of Toronto, is organizing the conference for the Centennial Commission.

Work has already begun in centennial planning by another important cultural element of Canada — the native Indians. The National Indian Council has received grants for administrative costs and is planning powwow-type observances both for the 1967 world's fair in Montreal, and for Indian celebrations in Northern Ontario and Western Canada.

WEST BOLTON

Mr. Arthur McPherson, of Oshawa, and Rev. and Mrs. D. McFarlane, of Lachine, were guests at the McLaughlin Home, where Mr. and Mrs. Norman Norris, of Granby, were also visitors.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mizener, who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday Oct. 11. They attended service at the Creek Church with a large number of their family.

Mr. Bert Wadsworth of Sherbrooke, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Honey.

Two basic problems

Debates in the federal house to centre around money & flag

OTTAWA (CP)—The course of the next few weeks and possibly of the next several months may be set in Parliament this week on two basic questions.

They are the down to earth dollars - and - cents question of money, and the more philosophic question of national identity in the flag.

The Commons is scheduled today to resume Friday's debate on granting the government interim spending authority for November and December. This, presumably, will be sufficient time for the Commons to deal finally with the 1964-65 appropriations.

But there already is speculation that the current session, which started last Feb. 18, might run through its normal Christmas recess and perhaps until next Easter. The session took no Easter recess last spring, or any summer holiday. Granting interim spending authority—in normal times, almost a cut and dried formality—was stalled Friday in a debate on the then threatened wildcat strike of CNR employees protesting the introduction of longer runs for train crews through Northwestern Ontario.

Recent guests of Mrs. A. R. Teel were Mr. and Mrs. A. Hinks, of Chambly, Mr. Leslie Collins and son David, of Montreal, Mr. Harry Hall, of East Farnham, Mr. and Mrs. K. Wright and daughter Pat, of Boston, Mass., Mrs. Carl Wright and daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Millmore, of Sutton.

Unit A of the U.C.W. are holding a 500 card party in the church hall on Oct. 28, at 8 p.m.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stowe were Mr. and Mrs. Rol. and Hanson, of Worcester, Mass. The W.A. of Trinity Anglican Church will hold a rummage sale on Oct. 31 at 1.30 p.m. in the church hall, Cowansville.

Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur), who tried Friday to launch a full - dress emergency debate on the subject, visited one of the sites of the run-through plan, Nakina, in his riding, and said Sunday the government will have to intervene. He predicted a renewed fuss in the Commons on his return.

TRADITION RULES
The debate is based on the centuries - old parliamentary tradition that the Commons will not agree to vote money for government spending as long as there is an outstanding grievance.

Even if the grievance of MPs against CNR management is settled, there are reports that other opposition forces—particularly the Conservatives—are prepared to extend the debate at least until Thursday.

Thursday is the day the 15-member special committee on the flag is to report. Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said when the committee was established six weeks ago that only if its report is nearly unanimous would it be acceptable without lengthy debate in the House.

Informants Sunday indicated that four Conservatives on the committee are objecting to a design now favored by the majority—a red maple leaf on a field of white with red borders.

The Conservatives have insisted that the Union Jack and some symbol acceptable to French Canada be on the flag.

Some observers believe that by stalling passage of interim spending authority until the flag committee's report is made public Thursday, the Conservatives can get an unscheduled early start on the filibustering tactics they intend to pursue if there is not nearly unanimous agreement in the committee.

That could set the session-end months away. The session, in its 175th day Friday, established an all-time record. There is no constitutional barrier to spending authority until the flag committee's report is made public Thursday, the Conservatives next Feb. 18.

Davidson-Carr wedding

SUTTON — The marriage of Miss Catheryn Dyer Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Frank Carr, of Sutton, to Mr. William Alfred Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Davidson, of Foster, was solemnized at Grace Anglican Church, Saturday, October 3, 1964 at eleven o'clock. Reverend J. H. M. Brett officiated at the Communion wedding. Mrs. Dennis Cowan played the wedding music, and Mrs. Robert Cowan sang, Ave Maria during the signing of the register. The church decorations were large white baskets of bronze mums, yellow shasta mums, and ripe grain, with yellow shasta mums in brass vases on the altar. The guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of peau satin, fashioned on straight lines, rounded neckline, three quarter sleeves, with chantilly lace appliques at waist and hemline. She wore a court train of the same material, and a shoulder length veil of tulle illusion held in place by a pearl studded circlet. Her bouquet was a cascade of yellow roses, white stephanotis, ivy, and a sprig of heather.

The maid of honor, Miss Anita Carr, sister of the bride, wore a floor length gown fashioned on similar lines to that of the bride, with a bodice of emerald green velvet, velvet bow at the waist, and a two shaded pale green brocade skirt. She wore a bow of emerald green velvet in her hair and carried an arm bouquet of yellow and bronze mums and ripe wheat with a large bronze bow.

The bridesmaids were Miss Fiona Gibbon of Senneville, cousin of the bride, and Miss Audrey Patten of Montreal. Their dresses were of emerald velvet and pale green brocade and they carried similar bouquets of bronze and yellow mums.

Miss Donna Lee Dyer, flower girl, wore an emerald green velvet dress with lace edging at neckline and sleeves with a large sash, at the waist. Her hair was swept with a velvet bow, and she carried a basket of mums.

Mr. Ralph Davidson, of Foster, was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Messrs. Frank Carr, brother of the bride and Leon Dyer, both of Sutton, and Donald Smith of Montreal.

Mrs. Carr, mother of the bride, wore a sheath dress of Burgundy satin back crepe, with a low neckline, hat to match, stone marten furs, and a white gardenia pinned to her handbag.

Mrs. Davidson, mother of the groom, chose a two piece dress of printed silk in burgundy and grey, a burgundy hat, sable fur piece, and wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Leon Dyer, grandmother of the bride, wore a green printed silk dress, a dark green felt hat, and a corsage of yellow carnations.

The wedding reception was held at the Auberge de Sutton where the decorations were yellow shasta mums, and white tapers in silver candlesticks. The bride's table was centred with the three tier wedding cake decorated by Mrs. Roland Gibson, in the shape of a church with a bride and groom standing on red carpeted steps.

The bride chose a going away suit of dark green wool tweed, a hat of pheasant feathers, dark brown accessories, and a corsage of yellow carnations. She gave her wedding bouquet to her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson will live in Brockville, Ontario.

Out of town guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Allyn Dyer of Summerfield, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Carr, of Newcastle, Maine, and others from Foster, Montreal, and Lennoxville.

Today's recipe

Bananas have a mellow flavor. Have you tried adding that welcome flavor to doughnuts? Incidentally, bananas help keep doughnuts fresh and moist longer.

With today's fast-heating and controlled electric fry pans it is very easy to turn out a batch of "fried cakes" without the bother of deep fat and constant temperature checking. These new banana doughnuts are great as a breakfast treat, or any time during the day with coffee or milk. Try them split and buttered, spread with cream cheese or jelly. Or eat them New England fashion with sharp Cheddar cheese.

BANANA DOUGHNUTS

- (2 dozen)
- 4 cups sifted flour
- 4 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1 cup mashed ripe bananas
- Melted fat or salad oil to depth of 2 inches in pan

Preheat oil in fry-pan to 375 degrees. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and sugar. Cut in shortening. Add eggs and bananas; blend with spoon until flour is taken up. Turn onto floured board and roll to 3/8-inch thickness. Cut with floured 2 1/2-inch doughnut cutter. Fry until doughnuts are golden brown, turning once (about 45 seconds on each side; "holes" will take less time). Drain well.

NEED LIGHT

Paintings need light and when hung or stored in dark rooms they lose their vitality and the varnish blackens.

ST. PAUL'S W.A.

The regular meeting of St. Paul's W.A. was held recently at the home of Mrs. M. Dillon, Cambrai St., with a good attendance of members.

Mrs. D. Flanders conducted the business meeting and led in the prayers. Mrs. G. Heath, Little Helpers' secretary, reported one new baptism and several visits made.

The church calendars were on hand and distributed among the members for sale in the parish.

At the conclusion of the business meeting a presentation was made to Mrs. Jervis-Read who with her husband and family was leaving soon to take up residence in Coaticook.

Following adjournment and refreshments a silent food sale was held which proved quite satisfactory.

The next meeting will be held on November 10, at the home of Mrs. G. Heath, Fairmount Ave.

Anyone having items of interest for the Social Column please phone Mrs. P. Pickford, Tel. 569-3636, Local 38.

"But I Never Use Acids!"
 My lady customer was quite indignant when she made the remark to me. She had brought a dress in for cleaning. Final inspection had revealed damage on one side of the dress. Naturally we drew it to her attention. We knew the damage was caused by acid.

I questioned her about the scouring compounds she used, what her husband did for a living, if she had had trouble while driving. Finally I learned that she had changed her brand of deodorant. She agreed to bring the product to us. Laboratory tests proved that this deodorant had to be thoroughly dry before being safe for all fabrics.

Acid is present in many products in daily use . . . storage batteries, deodorants, scouring compounds. . . are some of the commonest in homes. Acid damage is often not noticeable until the garment is laundered or dry cleaned. Even the weakest concentrations can damage fabrics.

When you use deodorant, be sure it is really dry before you finish dressing. When you use other products that contain acids or acid forming compounds, be sure that you wear old clothes. If you have an accident, get the garment to us as soon as possible. We'll do our best to reduce the damage.

Our expert dry cleaning and pressing service makes your clothes look better . . . last longer. For more value for your clothing dollar, have all your clothes cleaned regularly at Crown Laundry of Sherbrooke Limited. — Tel. 569-2585.

Captivating cookies for the little people on Hallowe'en

Little people in the guise of ghosts and goblins will be about Hallowe'en night. Provide the right table atmosphere that evening and placate the wee spirits with Witch's Hat Cookie Favors.

They're captivating edible decorations based on huge Old-Fashioned Sugar Cookies, crisp but not hard. Sour cream in the dough gives the cookies a rich, mouth-melting quality.

The favors are made by "gluing" ice cream cones, bought at the grocery, onto the cookies with butter icing which then becomes the band of the witch's hat. Use a cake decorator set for this step and, if you like, to spell out each guest's name on his own favor. There's a special surprise in store for party-goers favored with the Witch's Hats — the crowns are filled with miniature marshmallows.

Prepare Old-Fashioned Sugar Cookies as directed below. Let cool completely before assembling hats. (Cones may be bought at grocery store).

For Witch's Hat Cookie Favor, place a few miniature marshmallows in an ice cream cone. Invert a cookie over open end of cone. Holding cone and cookie firmly together, quickly turn over. Cookie "brim" will be on the bottom with cone "crown" reaching up. Using cake decorator filled with white or colored butter icing, pipe out icing where brim and crown touch. When icing sets, it keeps cone crown attached a brim and also forms "hat band."

If desired, using plain end on decorating set, spell out each guest's name in icing on brim or on crown.

- Old-Fashioned Sugar Cookies
 (Yield—about 2 dozen)
- 2 1/4 cups once-sifted all-purpose flour
  - 2 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
  - 1/2 cup soft margarine or butter
  - 1 cup granulated sugar
  - 1 egg
  - 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
  - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Kitchen black magic casts a special party spell for Hallowe'en. Welding a cake decorating set instead of a wand, the cook transforms wonderful Old-Fashioned Sugar Cookies into pert Witch's Hat Cookie Favors. Wee guests will get a thrill from picking out their own

Granulated sugar
 Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and nutmeg. Reserve.

Cream margarine or butter in large bowl; beat in 1 cup sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in egg. Then, beat in sour cream and vanilla. Gradually work in reserved flour mixture, blending until thoroughly combined. Form dough into ball; wrap in foil or wax paper; refrigerate several hours or overnight.

Preheat oven at 375 deg. F. (moderately hot). Lightly grease cookie sheets. On floured board, roll out half of dough about 1/4 to 1/2-inch thick. Cut out dough with floured round cutter about 4 inches in diameter. (This dimension is necessary for achieving correct proportions for Witch's Hats. If you don't have a cutter this size, use the lid from a 32-ounce can of baking powder, a pot lid or cut with sharp knife around a 4-inch cardboard circle).

Using a metal lifter, place dough pieces at least 1 1/2 inches apart on cookie sheets. Sprinkle with granulated sugar. Bake from dough. Bake according to 10 to 12 minutes or until gold-appearing edges. Lift onto wire racks; cool.

Re-roll and cut trimmings from dough. Bake according to preceding directions. Repeat with second chilled half of dough.

favor; teeny marshmallows hiding inside the ice cream cone crowns are an added surprise.

Rand introduces pay increase system

Canadian Ingersoll-Rand Co. has introduced a new system of automatic merit progression increases covering all hourly paid employees at their Sherbrooke plant it was announced. This new program will take effect on November 2, 1964, and it is the first time in the history of the company that employees are guaranteed increases within job ranges.

Under this new procedure hourly paid employees are guaranteed automatic increases from the hiring rate to approximately the mid point of the job grade range.

From the mid point to the maximum, increases are granted on a merit basis assuring the top rates for the best employees.

The Industrial Relations Department notifies the employees in his department who are eligible for automatic merit review.

Each employee is reviewed at six month intervals until he reaches the maximum of his job grade. If he is promoted to a higher rated job he then starts the process over again. Any employee not qualifying for a merit increase is told the reasons why by his supervisor.

If he is not satisfied with the answer, he may file a grievance in accordance to the established procedure.

The many steps involved to put the procedure in effect have been explained to all supervisors at the plant by C. H. Kuntz, manager, industrial relations.

News flashes from around the world

QUEBEC (CP)—Members of the Syndicat des Journalistes de Quebec, the reporters union, met Sunday in special session and passed a resolution urging Solicitor General Claude Wagner to hold a public inquiry into "what has been called the Saturday of the bludgeons."

Mr. Wagner, acting attorney general, last Monday made public the results of a personal inquiry into incidents during the weekend of Oct. 10-11 when the Queen visited here.

The union termed the Wagner report "incomplete, containing inaccuracies of a nature to tarnish the reputation of the press in general."

Members of the press gallery of the Quebec legislature also will hold a meeting today to discuss the Wagner report.

QUEBEC (CP)—Justice Minister Guy Favreau says there is no conflict between the federal and provincial Liberal party organizations in Quebec, even though the provincial body—the Quebec Liberal Federation—decided at its last congress to stay out of federal politics.

He made the statement at a press conference Saturday, following a caucus held to lay the groundwork for a separate federal Liberal organization in Quebec.

There is no reason why a Quebec Liberal should not be a member of both groups, he said. Dual membership would not involve changing any ideas.

SALISBURY (AP)—Southern Rhodesian African chiefs announced today they are in favor of independence under white rule, the South African Press Association reported.

The announcement came from a senior chief in a notification to International Affairs Minister William Harper during the final session of the Independent Indaba (gathering) attended by 622 chiefs and headmen at Domboshawa, 20 miles from Salisbury.

The senior chief who said he was speaking for all his colleagues told Harper that the Indaba was unanimous in agreeing that Rhodesia should receive independence from Britain.

Border C of C receives its charter

ROCK ISLAND (Special)—The Beebe-Rock Island-Stanstead Chamber of Commerce received its Charter at a meeting held at the Del Monty hotel on Wednesday evening. This was presented to the local Chamber president, Romeo Racine, by Paul Brunnel, Regional president, from Valleyfield. The speaker of the evening was Y. Siros, Montreal, director of the Provincial Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Siros gave his talk in French which was afterward translated by Mr. Racine. The organization of the Chamber of Commerce at all levels was outlined, with suggestions made of methods to make this Chamber a successful one.

It was pointed out that the Canadian economy includes everyone, regardless of race, creed or language, and emphasized there is no room in the Chamber of Commerce for distinctions on these matters. It was pointed out all must work together for common good if anything is to be accomplished. The aim of a Chamber is to study the economic and social conditions within the territory, formulate plans and work in co-operation with the municipal, provincial and federal governing bodies.

Both Mr. Siros and Mr. Brunnel said there is help and advice available from the regional and provincial Chambers.

Mr. Racine announced that a weekly meeting will be held each Monday morning, with breakfast at the Del Monty at 8:30 a.m. for the directors and in November a general meeting will take place at which the directors will present an outline of community plans.

Steel mill financing not serious problem says Eric Kierans

MONTREAL (CP)—Financing a steel mill is not going to be a serious problem for Quebec, Revenue Minister Eric Kierans said Saturday night on his return from a European visit.

He said in an interview now is the best time to start the proposed integrated steel mill because there is a growing world demand for steel.

Mr. Kierans said it is apparent there will be a good deal of competition—in France, Britain and Belgium in particular—to supply machinery and equipment for Quebec's plant.

"This is important," the revenue minister said, "because we could obtain equipment and machinery with long-term credit of eight years, or even more. This would reduce the pressure of finding 'immediate money.'"

He termed "encouraging" his talks with industrial and government officials during his eight-day overseas visit.

Coaticook Fish Game reports on rearing ponds

COATICOOK—The Coaticook Fish and Game Club reports a successful season in the operation of its three rearing ponds at Lake Lippe.

The club, with the advice given by provincial biologist, Louis Auger, supervised the placing of 5,000 inch long or less, trout in the ponds earlier this year, and a count in September showed 2,100 to be thriving. This is considered a good average return, allowing for the usual losses by the various forces of nature.

Two of the ponds measure 50 feet square and are five feet deep, the third being 110 feet square and 10 feet deep.

The club has supervised the stocking of Lake Lippe with several thousand game fish this season, as well as caring for the rearing pools, greatly increasing the sporting conditions of the region.

TALKS ON FALLS

The proposed Hamilton Falls hydro-electric project in Labrador was, he said, discussed at length in London and to a lesser degree in Paris.

"The government," Mr. Kierans said, "is seriously concerned in exploring the possibilities of developing this Canadian resource through the creation of a Crown company."

TOO MANY SPUDS — The 20 tons of potatoes Raymond Schofield was hauling proved just too much for this

Noted Canadian shoe designer sewed first pair on mom's machine

WINNIPEG (CP)—A young floor sweeper, tempted by his surroundings at the shoe factory in which he worked, made himself a pair of shoes 28 years ago on his mother's sewing machine.

"Boy was she mad," recalls Frank O'Gradnick.

Mother's anger failed to nip Frank's career as a shoe designer, a profession in which he has gained fame as the man responsible for the Hush Puppie range of footwear in Canada.

Mr. O'Gradnick, now 45, has graduated from his mother's sewing machine—"I sure was proud of those shoes"—to designer for one of Canada's major shoe manufacturers, Greb Shoes Limited of Winnipeg and Kitchener, Ont.

He stumbled into the business in 1936 when he quit school and journeyed from his hometown of Brandon, Man., to Winnipeg to get a job with Western Canada Shoes.

"My first job in the company was sweeping the floor, but I wanted to know about everything going on and that same week I was introduced to cutting work."

Mr. O'Gradnick worked on the production line at Western Canada and Canada West Shoe Manufacturing Co. Ltd. for the next six years before fate turned him to designing. He joined the Royal Canadian Ornance Corp and was posted to a boot-rebuilding plant in Montreal where he grasped an opportunity to take a course in shoe design and pattern making.

STARTED OWN FIRM
He put his new-found skill to work upon rejoining Canada West in 1945, designing a number of the Goodyear Welt range of footwear.

In 1948, he joined fellow Canadian West employee Stan Matenchuk to form a new footwear company called the Stan-Grad Shoe Company, which specialized in baby's and children's shoes.

Stan-Grad later amalgamated with Canada West, which in turn was absorbed by Greb in 1959.

He believes the ability to "daydream a bit" is one of the ingredients of success in his job. Others are a practical knowledge of the production process—the most economical way to cut a piece of leather, which pattern will fit best into factory routine—and what people want in style. He gathers information by reading scores of fashion magazines and peering in store windows.

"It's hard to say just when and how a new idea emerges. Sometimes it's from talking to people, sometimes from a picture in a magazine, sometimes the idea just seems to come out of the blue."

His most productive idea has been the Hush Puppie. Greb figures to produce 1,500,000 pairs in this range this year.

Western Canada's only resident shoe designer, Frank O'Gradnick suggests to those who would follow in his footsteps:

"Learn as much as you can about your own plant operation and the manufacturing process used by others.

"Examine all footwear you see, critically and analytically, deciding on a manufacturing method and attempting to improve on it, if possible. When you have done this, the next step should be either a course outside Canada — this country has no formal training courses for shoe design—or an apprenticeship under an established designer."

122 years marked by church at Upper Melbourne

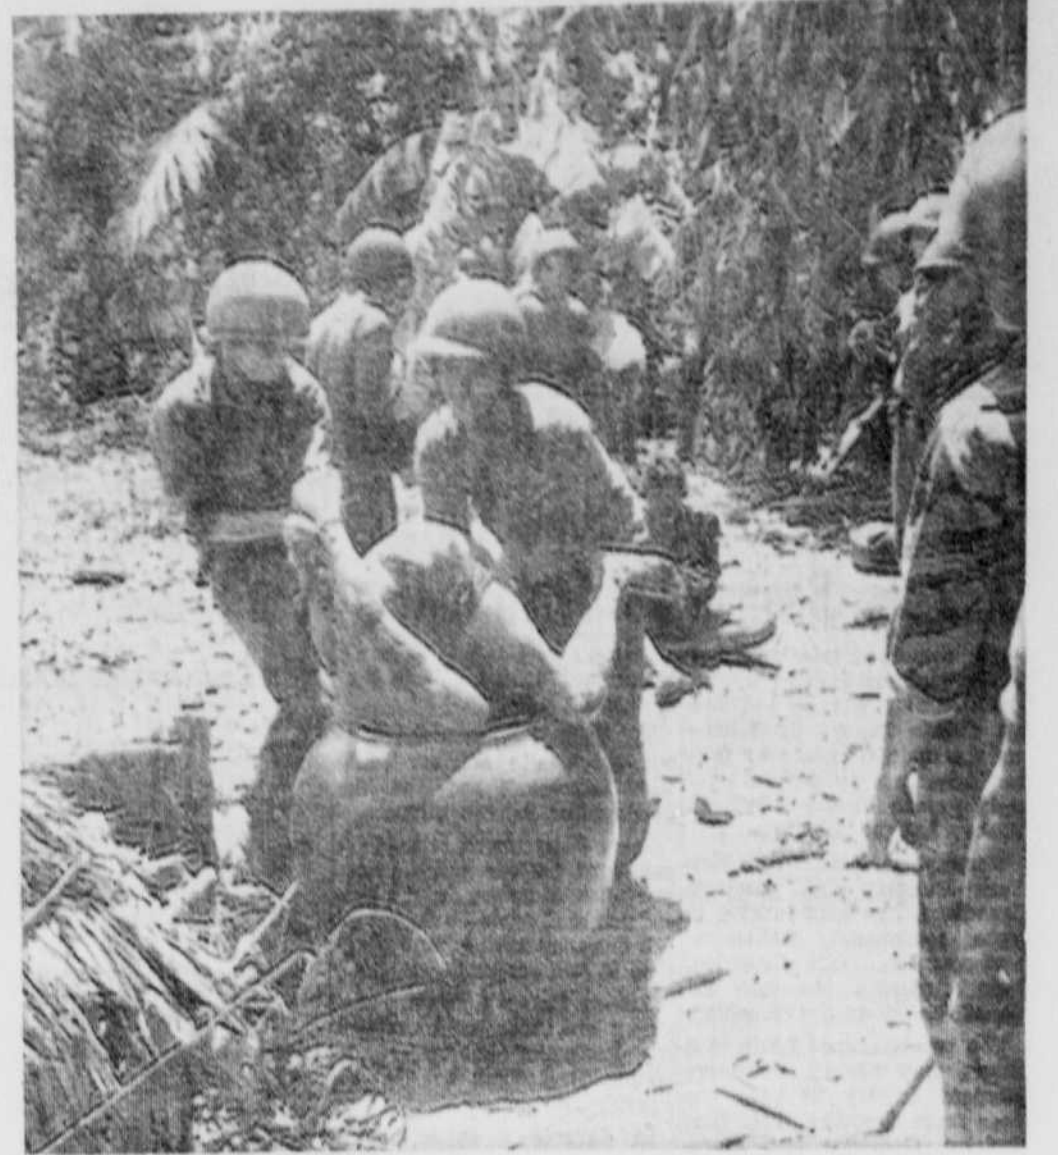

MELBOURNE—St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Upper Melbourne, celebrated its 122nd anniversary on Oct. 18, with a large congregation attending. The church is one of the oldest in the community, and has not been changed very much architecturally, through the years. It is one of the very few churches which still have doors to the pews.

The anniversary service was conducted by Rev. J. Vanderwal, who spoke of the real of the people who had labored to build a fitting place in which to worship. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed at the service.

The decorating was done by Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Stalker, who used sheaves of wheat and oats to mark the pews and fruit and vegetables on window sills and organ. Appropriate hymns were sung, the choir rendering a short anthem, with Mrs. Claudia Oakley at the organ.

The renovating of the Kirk hall and kitchen have now been completed, a vestry has also been added. The ladies now have a room in which to hold their meetings, and the kitchen has been re-modelled, making it much more convenient.

It is the hope of everyone that this good old Kirk will be used for many years to come as it has in the past 122 years.

Aces undefeated after eight games in American League, Gump Worsley standout, Boomer has team rolling

The combined talents of two former National Hockey League giants—Gump Worsley and Bernie (Room Boom) Geoffrion—are the main reasons why Quebec Aces are undefeated after eight games in the American Hockey League this season.

Worsley, formerly with New York Rangers and Montreal Canadiens, has been turning in some sensational goaltending performances, while Geoffrion, former scoring ace with the Canadiens, does the coaching.

The two combined again in a unique way against Baltimore Clippers Sunday to keep the Aces from dropping their first decision. Geoffrion took Worsley out of the net in favor of a sixth attacker and Leon Rochefort forced the contest into overtime with one second remaining.

Worsley then held Baltimore scoreless through a 10-minute overtime period. Ed Hoekstra gave the Aces a 3-2 win with less than a minute of play remaining.

The Aces had defeated Springfield Indians 3-1 Saturday. In other action Sunday, Hershey Bears defeated Rochester Americans 5-1, Pittsburgh Hornets defeated Providence Reds 3-2 and Cleveland Barons dumped Buffalo Bisons 6-3.

Roger Crozier, rookie Detroit goalie who posted his second shutout of the season as the Red Wings blanked Boston 4-0 Sunday night.

Bobby Hull, Chicago's powerful left winger, who tallied three times to lead the Black Hawks to a 5-2 victory over New York Sunday night.

Montreal's John Ferguson, whose power play goal late in the final period earned the Canadiens a 1-1 tie with Detroit Saturday night.

Rod Gilbert of New York, whose first goal of the season enabled the Rangers to tie Toronto 1-1 Saturday night.

SEASON OPENS — Mayor Armand Nadeau, centre, is seen as he gets set to drop the puck to officially open the local hockey season. In the front row are, Hon. ## Autumn Rally huge success

Andre Lachance teamed up with Miss Andree Dubois to win the Autumn Rally of the Sherbrooke Auto Club held Sunday.

Miss Dubois acted as navigator during the 35-mile Rally and with Mr. Lachance earned first place in the event. Guy Donahue and Micheline Beaulieu took second while two duos tied for third spot in the race.

Bob Provencher and Nicole Chartier tied with Claude and Ginette Vanier. Following the Rally two films on racing were presented. One was on the 500-mile Indianapolis speed classic. An old fashioned bean supper was held.

Promoter Fern Noel thanked all who took part in the Rally and reminded all members the next meeting will be held Wednesday, Nov. 4, at 7:30 p.m.

Four tied for first in NHL after weekend

CAN'T BELIEVE IT — Surprise and disappointment are mirrored on the faces of Montreal's John Ferguson (22), J. C. Tremblay (3) and goalie Charlie Hodge as the puck slides past them into the goalmouth during Saturday night's National Hockey League game against the visiting Detroit Red Wings. The teams fought to a 1-1 tie.

(CP Wirephoto)

Sid Abel is beginning to look like a hockey genius. But that was hardly the popular opinion last June when the Detroit coach unloaded veteran goalie Terry Sawchuk in the National Hockey League draft for $20,000. Toronto Maple Leafs couldn't believe it, but gladly snapped him up.

That left the Red Wings with a virtually untried 22-year-old youngster to do a man's job. The rookie, Roger Crozier, was plainly on the spot and so was Abel.

"If he doesn't do the job, I'll be sitting out there in the stands like everyone else, wondering what the devil went wrong," Abel admitted.

"But I have the utmost confidence in him—he's going to be a star in this league. He's quick and he's got fast hands."

Abel's prediction appeared weak during Detroit's first three games when Crozier allowed a total of 11 goals. But look at him now.

LEADS IN SHUTOUTS

The freshman goalie has given up just one goal in his last three outings en route to taking the NHL shutout lead with two. The Red Wings, in the process, have climbed into a four-way tie for first place. It's not a coincidence. Crozier blanked New York Rangers 1-0 during the week to kick off his current hot streak. During the weekend he allowed Montreal Canadiens only one goal as the Wings battled to a 1-1 draw and shut out Boston Bruins 4-0 Sunday night.

Toronto and New York fought to a 1-1 sawoff in the only other game played Saturday evening and Chicago Black Hawks, paced by Bobby Hull's three goals, whipped the Rangers 3-2 the following night.

Alex Delvecchio had given the Wings a 1-0 lead at the 57-second mark of the final frame by beating Charlie Hodge, who faced 27 shots as the Wings outlasted Montreal by a narrow margin before 14,180 Forum customers.

Crozier then blanked the punchless Bruins on 26 shots before a disappointed Boston crowd of 11,476. The Bruins have managed just seven goals in six games.

Delvecchio again paced the night's National Hockey League game against the visiting Detroit Red Wings. The teams fought to a 1-1 tie.

Wings with two goals while Norm Ullman and Ron Murphy tallied their second goals of the season.

But the lead in the goal-scoring department belongs to Hull, whose three goal performance in New York ran his season total to five in five games. Stan Mikita scored twice and earned two assists to open up a four-point lead in the individual scoring race.

A New York crowd of 14,192 watched Jim Mikol give them a brief 1-0 lead before Hull got to work.

Rod Gilbert earned the Rangers the 1-1 tie at Toronto with his first of the season. Rookie Ron Ellis had given the Leafs a 1-0 first-period lead.

The weekend action left Montreal, Toronto, Chicago and Detroit tied for first place with seven points each. New York has five points and Boston one.

Verdun Pirates spoil Sherbrooke debut

Verdun Pirates spoiled the Sherbrooke Beavers' first start in the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League yesterday afternoon at the Arena before 2,385 fans. It was the Beavers' initial start as a team in the circuit while the Pirates were making their fourth.

It was a wide-open fixture with only ten penalties called, all for minor offences. The Beavers were playing their first game since the league opened. They hadn't played a game for over two weeks and the layoff didn't help them any.

Mayor Armand Nadeau faced the puck to officially open the local season. He was accompanied by Hon. Carrier Fortin, Gerard Chapdelaine, MP, Andre Savard, president of the Pirates, Len O'Donnell, league president, and members of the City Council.

Chuck Poxon opened the scoring for Verdun when he rifled a hard shot from inside the blueline and Aubry didn't see it. A gang of players blocked his view and he didn't make a move until the red light went on.

The rest of the period both sides were battling all out. The Pirates were testing the Sherbrooke netminder from all angles. He was called upon to make some hard saves in order to keep his club in the battle.

Racette drew the first penalty but before the Pirates could capitalize on their advantage Poirier went off. Nothing happened during the absence. Quirk was tagged for using his elbow near his nets and the Braves went all out but failed to elick.

Racette drew his second infraction for slashing after being handed a solid body check. The Beavers were forced to check strong in order to hold on but they did so. In the middle session Skippy Burchell set up the second tally for the Pirates as he snared the disc and caught Sherbrooke on the attack. He laid a perfect pass behind the lone rearguard and Ron Roberts made no mistake.

In the final minute of play Burchell came through once again and Poirier made the red light flash for a 3-0 lead. In the third Ray Cadieux broke away and shoved over a nice pass to De Gagne and the Pirates were out in front 4-0. Following this the Beavers came up with a new lease and from then on held the upper hand.

The Beavers seemed more at ease than in the first two frames and the passes were beginning to click but they had tough luck around the nets as the Verdun gang were clearing well. Poxon was in the cooler when Rod Gaudreault tallied Sherbrooke's lone marker. Rene Pepin drove in and fired a hard one which Monette stopped but before he could grab the rebound Gaudreault pounced on it and lifted the disc into the net.

Sherbrooke kept driving and the Pirates were forced to come up with some fine defensive work. Monette was good during this stage and turned aside everything they fired at him.

The Beavers travel to Drummondville Tuesday evening for their second game of the young season before they return home to take on the Rockets Thursday at the Arena.

Olympic gold medal worth about $7 is the most precious commodity an athlete can acquire, means a lot

TOKYO (CP) — An Olympic gold medal worth about $7 is the most precious commodity that an athlete can acquire.

Winning it can, and often does, mean glory and an easier life for many. That is the case for successful athletes who live under a system where sport is subsidized by the state and where there is virtually no room for a loser.

It is not enough to finish among the six best in the world. Gold-mining in the Olympics is the big thing, even though the two-ounce medal that goes to the winner isn't really gold but only gilded.

When the 18th Olympic Games ended Saturday after 15 days of battling for 163 gold medals compared with 150 championships at Rome four years ago, Russia had won the most medals — 96 — and barely scraped to its third straight unofficial team championship.

The Russians won 30 gold medals, 13 fewer than at Rome, and that showing immediately brought down the wrath of the Soviet press upon the Olympic team.

Post-mortems filled the Soviet sports pages. The main target was Gavriil Korobkov, the Soviet track and field coach. His team won five gold medals compared with 11 in Rome.

Post-mortems filled the Soviet sports pages. The main target was Gavriil Korobkov, the Soviet track and field coach. His team won five gold medals compared with 11 in Rome.

Korobkov said he already had started thinking about switching to a career in scientific work.

Although there were 13 more events here than at the 1960 games, the Russians finished seven medals shy of equalling their 103 gold, silver and bronze medals won at Rome.

The United States didn't have to face such criticism since its team had exceeded its rosier predictions and won the most gold medals of the games, 36, two more than at Rome. In all, the U.S. took 90 medals, 19 more than in 1960.

The Americans won 14 of the 36 track and field events and 17 of the 22 swimming and diving championships. But in other sports, the Americans took only five more gold medals.

There was an upsurge by the other countries who form a sort of third force of nations that is gaining in combined power on the playing fields. A total of 97 third-force gold medals were spread among 24 countries.

Japan Strong
Host Japan did better than it had hoped, winning 16 gold medals for third place in that department, but the loss of the judo open class gold medal to the winner isn't really gold but only gilded.

Today, many of the 6,000 athletes from 94 countries who competed in the games that started Oct. 10 were heading home, or already are there, and the rest will be pulling out of the Olympic villages in the next few days.

The games, the first held in Asia, were orderly from start to finish. There were few of the bitter controversies that struck other Olympics.

North Korea and Indonesia withdrew before the games over a dispute with Olympic and world track officials involving eligibility of athletes and East Germany got in a hassle over who should sail a yachting entry. The West Germans won the argument and the gold medal.

There were warnings from Avery Brundage, the elder statesman of amateur sport, that extreme nationalism displayed at the games is hurting the Olympic movement.

While the subsidized-sports countries pondered over what Olympic dividends they got for their investments, other countries were looking to the 1968 games at Mexico City.

Canada sent one of its finest teams to the Olympics since the war. It won one gold medal in rowing, a silver and bronze in track and a silver in judo.

But Canadian officials warned that if Canadians want more Olympic medals it is going to take more money and better facilities and competition to make that possible.

Als pull surprise knocking over Rough Riders 23-21

Coach Trimble's prediction at start of EFC season makes him look good, Ticats walk over Argos 27-7

When coach Jim Trimble predicted before the start of the Eastern Football Conference regular season in August that his Montreal Alouettes would make the playoffs, the experts thought a heat wave had made him giddy.

Trimble, entering his second year as the Alouettes' coach, had scrapped most of the Montreal roster built up by his predecessor, Perry Moss, and was rebuilding with raw recruits.

Sunday, one of those rookies, quarterback George Bork, topped a stellar performance with a touchdown pass that gave the Alouettes a 23-21 win over second-place Ottawa Rough Riders.

The victory was overshadowed, however, by Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who trounced Toronto Argonauts 27-7 Saturday to nail down first place in the conference. Montreal took third place and the final playoff berth and meets Ottawa in the sudden-death EFC semi-final.

The win for Montreal was its sixth in 13 games and was important because it established in Ottawa's minds the fact that we can beat them," said Trimble. The Als won one of three regular season games against the Riders.

Bork threw the winning touchdown pass to Jerry Philip with less than four minutes remaining after being trapped on a third-down pass attempt and was about to be smothered by Ottawa tacklers.

CRADDOCK KEY
Nat C r a d d o c k, burly 230-pound fullback, was the key to Montreal's victory with 124 yards rushing, including a 44-yard gallop that set up Philip's touchdown and a 73-yard run that went for one of two Craddock touchdowns.

Montreal got its other points on a safety touch, John Baker's single and two converts by Willie Lambert.

Dave Thelen and Bob O'Brien both got touchdowns for the Rough Riders and Rick Black got the other. Moe Racine converted all three.

Ottawa quarterback Russ Jackson completed only three of 11 pass attempts and the Riders gained only 57 yards in the air. The Riders also rushed for 148 yards and got a meagre eight first downs.

Bork just couldn't be stopped, completing 13 of 29 pass attempts. Montreal got 16 first downs, 140 yards rushing and 150 yards in the air. Ottawa intercepted three Montreal passes and had one of its own picked off.

ARGOS MAULED
The Argonauts, who had to win their last two outings and hope that Montreal lost both, were completely mauled by the precision-perfect defending Grey Cup champion Ticats in the second half at Hamilton.

Art Baker, Johnny Counts and Hal Patterson got the Hamilton touchdowns. Placekicker Don Sutherland collected eight points with three converts, a 43-yard field goal—his 14th of the season—and two singles on attempted field goals.

Quarterback Bernie Faloney got the other Hamilton point on an 85-yard single as he averaged 59 yards in four punts.

Lee Sampson got the Toronto touchdown and Karl Sweetman kicked the convert.

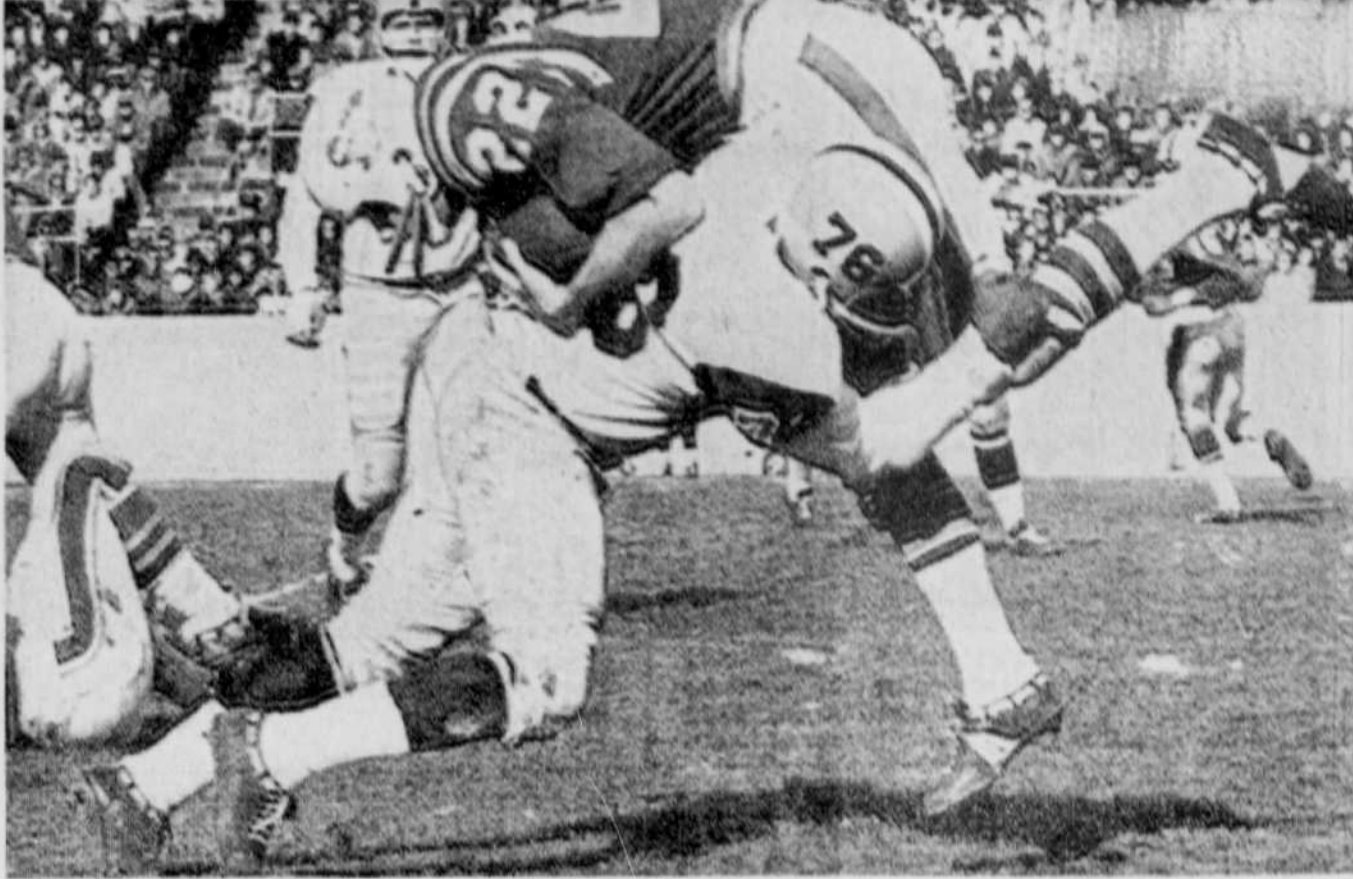

Willie Bethea carried 17 times for 105 yards for the Ticats. Counts picked up 98 yards, including a 41-yard touchdown romp, in 12 carries, and Baker collected 80 yards in 17 carries as Hamilton rolled up 306 yards along the ground.

The Ticats had 27 first downs to Toronto's 10, collected 112 yards to the Argos 63 in the air, and held the losers to 112 yards on the ground.

The giants of the Western Football Conference meet Wednesday night in a clash that could decide the 1964 regular-season championship.

They are British Columbia Lions, who lead the conference by one point after a 20-3 win over Saskatchewan Riders at Vancouver Saturday and Calgary Stampeders, who edged fourth-place Edmonton Eskimos 17-16 at Edmonton.

B.C. has two games yet to play, against the Stampeders Wednesday night at Calgary and against Winnipeg Nov. 1 in Vancouver.

Bishop's Gaiters wallop St. Pat's Gaels 38-0

Bishop's University football Gaiters continued their domination of the Eastern Division of the Ottawa-St. Lawrence league as they walloped the St. Pat's (Ottawa) Gaels 38-0 in the Capital city on Saturday.

With just one league game left to play, the local powerhouse, coached by Bishop's Athletics Director Bruce Coulter, is almost sure to win its second consecutive title. The last league game, next Saturday at Bishop's, will match the Gaiters against the Macdonald College Aggies, a team they have already beaten 37-8.

While the grid representatives were winning in Ottawa, the Bishop's soccer Satans recorded their first win of the year with a 3-0 rout of the University of Ottawa.

The football team, again sparked by an alert defence which recovered four St. Pat's fumbles and intercepted two passes, featured two touchdown performances by Bob Wilton and Mike Sommerville. Single majors were counted by Brock Thomson and Nils Boddiker.

Wilton's pair came on a 43 yard runback of an interception and a 25 yard quarterback pass for 16 first downs.

Furlong's singles travelled 45, 65 and 86 yards.

Kapp had a big day with his passing attack against Saskatchewan. He completed 20 of 31 passes for 312 yards.

Saskatchewan pivot Bob Placek, playing his third game since Ron Lancaster suffered a rib injury, completed 11 of 23 passes and lost interceptions to Mack Burton, Tom Brown and Bill Munsey.

The interception was Munsey's eighth of the season, tops in the league.

B.C.S. Seniors gain berth in finals of S.F.V.I.A.A. soccer playoffs, Stanstead eliminated on total goals

Bishop's College School suffered a 2-0 loss to Stanstead College Saturday, and yet gained a berth in the St. Francis Valley soccer finals. Fortunately, B.C.S. put four goals in store during their first meeting in this home-home series in the semi-finals, to gain the possession with a two goal margin.

Two factors produced the result Saturday at Stanstead: first, the visitors entered the tilt a little over-confident, resting on their laurels and second, Stanstead set out to get the Bishop's blood, as they faced elimination.

Bishop's now awaits the result of the Sherbrooke High-St. Pat's game, played this afternoon at SHS, to see whom they will meet in contention for the Earl Caunter Trophy.

The fiery spirit of the underdogs was further increased at the four minute mark when Peter Sharp made use of a scramble and notched the first of the two goals. Before half-time appeared, Bishop's went behind 2-0 on Peter Weintraeger's mark fourteen minutes after the first. Stanstead's oncoming attacks were aided by a back wing, which further increased the B.C.S.'s troubles in sending the ball back down the field.

Junior players from Stanstead College aided in the win, as three younger bucks filled the empty spots. Clifford Lusby, Andre Hardwick and Keith Hamer proved that they could fill their seniors' shoes with excellent defensive and offensive work. Peter Weintraeger,

Young Jim Day wins jumping competition

HARRISBURG, Pa. (CP)—When Jim Day mounted the Comet at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show Saturday night he had to win the final event and he had to beat a perfect score to do it.

But Day, 18, of Toronto, was in his usual top form and he turned in three perfect rides to become the youngest rider in history to win the international jumping competition.

His performances gave Canada the unofficial team championship by two points over the United States.

Riding last in the final event of the week-long Penn National, Day combined speed with precision to clear 10 hurdles without a fault and win the $1,000 international individual jumping stake and President's Trophy.

Neil Shapiro, 19, of Glen Head, N.Y., was second in the individual standings with 40 points, 12 behind Day.

Canada led the unofficial final standings with 82 points. The U.S. had 80, Mexico 48, Argentina 14 and Brazil four.

The field went to the quarter in 31 seconds flat and the half in 1:04 4/5 for the fastest half of the weekend. On the second trip they came home in 1:05 with Coombs' Bluet Scott pulling under the wire in second spot to nose out Thomas Lefebvre's Abbe Deon. Clement Hebert's Dick Adios, one of the favorites, pulled in fourth with Sir Express Allie fifth in the close battle.

In the other top dash on Sunday's card in the eighth Ludger Beaudry's Fanny Clap pulled home the winner by half a length over Albert Toutant's Adios widow. Pipedream was third with Granby Express and Diamond Needle finishing within a length and a half behind the winner.

The double of Laurina Rosecroft and First Frost formed the double and $23.30 was the payoff. The first quinnella, in the fourth, comprised Good Choice and Bonanza Pick and the seventh it was Sara Mite and Adios Peggy and $26.90 was paid. The exacta of Borderville May and Gazella Ibaif paid their backers $46.80.

Grads walk off with ET Ladies volleyball meet

The Grads walked off with all the honors in the first E.T. Women's Volleyball Tournament of the season while the Nurses took the consolation round at the Sherbrooke High School. The tournament was sponsored by the E.T. Women's Basketball League, and is the first of four this fall.

A total of eight teams competed, each playing at least two games. The results of the first round were: Bishops II 25, Nurses 23; Grads II 34 - Bishops III 25, Bishops I 34 - Teachers 17, and Grads I 46 - Business Girls 31.

In the consolation round, Nurses beat the Teachers and then went on to take the round from Bishops III by a close 7-score of 39-35. In the main event the Grads I advanced to the finals by beating Bishops I 43-31, meeting Bishops II who had won over Grads II by a score of 37-23. The final game of the evening was an interesting, well played game, some what more exciting than the final score of 39-27 might indicate.

The next tournament will be held at S.H.S. next Thursday, Oct. 29, with play again starting at 7:15 p.m., while the final two will be held at Bishop's University Nov. 5 and 12th.

The League will hold an executive meeting Nov. 14 to discuss plans for the coming basketball season. It is expected that at least five teams will take part this year. Any new teams interested in playing should contact Miss Valerie Rawlings, league president.
