Reactor blast is probed

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho — (AP) — Nuclear experts carefully probed within a silo-shaped building today, seeking the cause and nature of an atomic reactor explosion that killed three young servicemen Tuesday night.

They were hampered by radioactivity so dangerously high that none could safely remain inside the structure for little more than a minute.

The damaged reactor is deep inside the metal-shielded building, as are the bodies of two of its victims. It was too dangerous to try to recover them. The third body was removed within minutes of the explosion.

It was the first fatal accident in the history of the United States' atomic energy program.

The blast occurred on the Atomic Energy Commission's sprawling, half-million acre National Reactor Testing Station in eastern Idaho, about 40 miles west of this city of 34,000. Commission officials assured the public the radiation was confined to the area of the building.

Before the experts could attempt to learn what happened, they had to find a way of plugging the leaks in the reactor's heavy sheathing—leaks that permitted the deadly radiation to spew into the building surrounding the reactor's core.

New outbreak in Brussels

Mob of 2,000, police clash

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Truncheon-swinging police beat back an angry mob of strikers in downtown Brussels today as parliament assembled to resume debate on the government's austerity program which sparked the nation's 16-day-old wave of strikes.

The new clash occurred when about 2,000 strikers were blocked from marching on Brussels' historic square, the gothic Grande Place, by strong police cordons armed with mobile water hoses. Five men and a girl were arrested during the clash that followed.

Riot police also were out in force in Antwerp following the announcement of a mass demonstration there today. The centre of the city was sealed off to motorists in a precautionary move.

VIENTIANE — (Reuters) — Both the right-wing government and leftist forces claimed today to be in control of the key central Laotian town of Xieng Khouang, the focal point of this Indochina kingdom's confused civil war.

The government here said it had recaptured the town from leftist troops Monday. But Hanoi Radio, the voice of neighbouring Communist North Viet Nam, claimed leftist paratroopers and pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas still control Xieng Khouang.

The radio said the leftists also are holding the strategic Plain of Jars, from which they can control road travel between Vientiane and the royal capital of Luang Prabang.

The conflicting reports came after the pro-Western government of Prince Boun Oum won a vote of confidence from Parliament and pledged to try to restore peace in Laos.

The vote in favor of Boun was 41-0.

Meanwhile, military observers here forecast that the crucial battle in the Laotian civil war may develop in central Laos for control of the strategic airfield on the Plain of Jars, now held by the pro-Communist forces.

As long as it is held by the pro-Communist forces, towns throughout the country will be under the threat of possible parachute attacks.

Capt. Kong Le, leader of the paratroop coup in Vientiane on Aug. 9 which overthrew the former pro-Western government, was reported to be on the Plain of Jars.

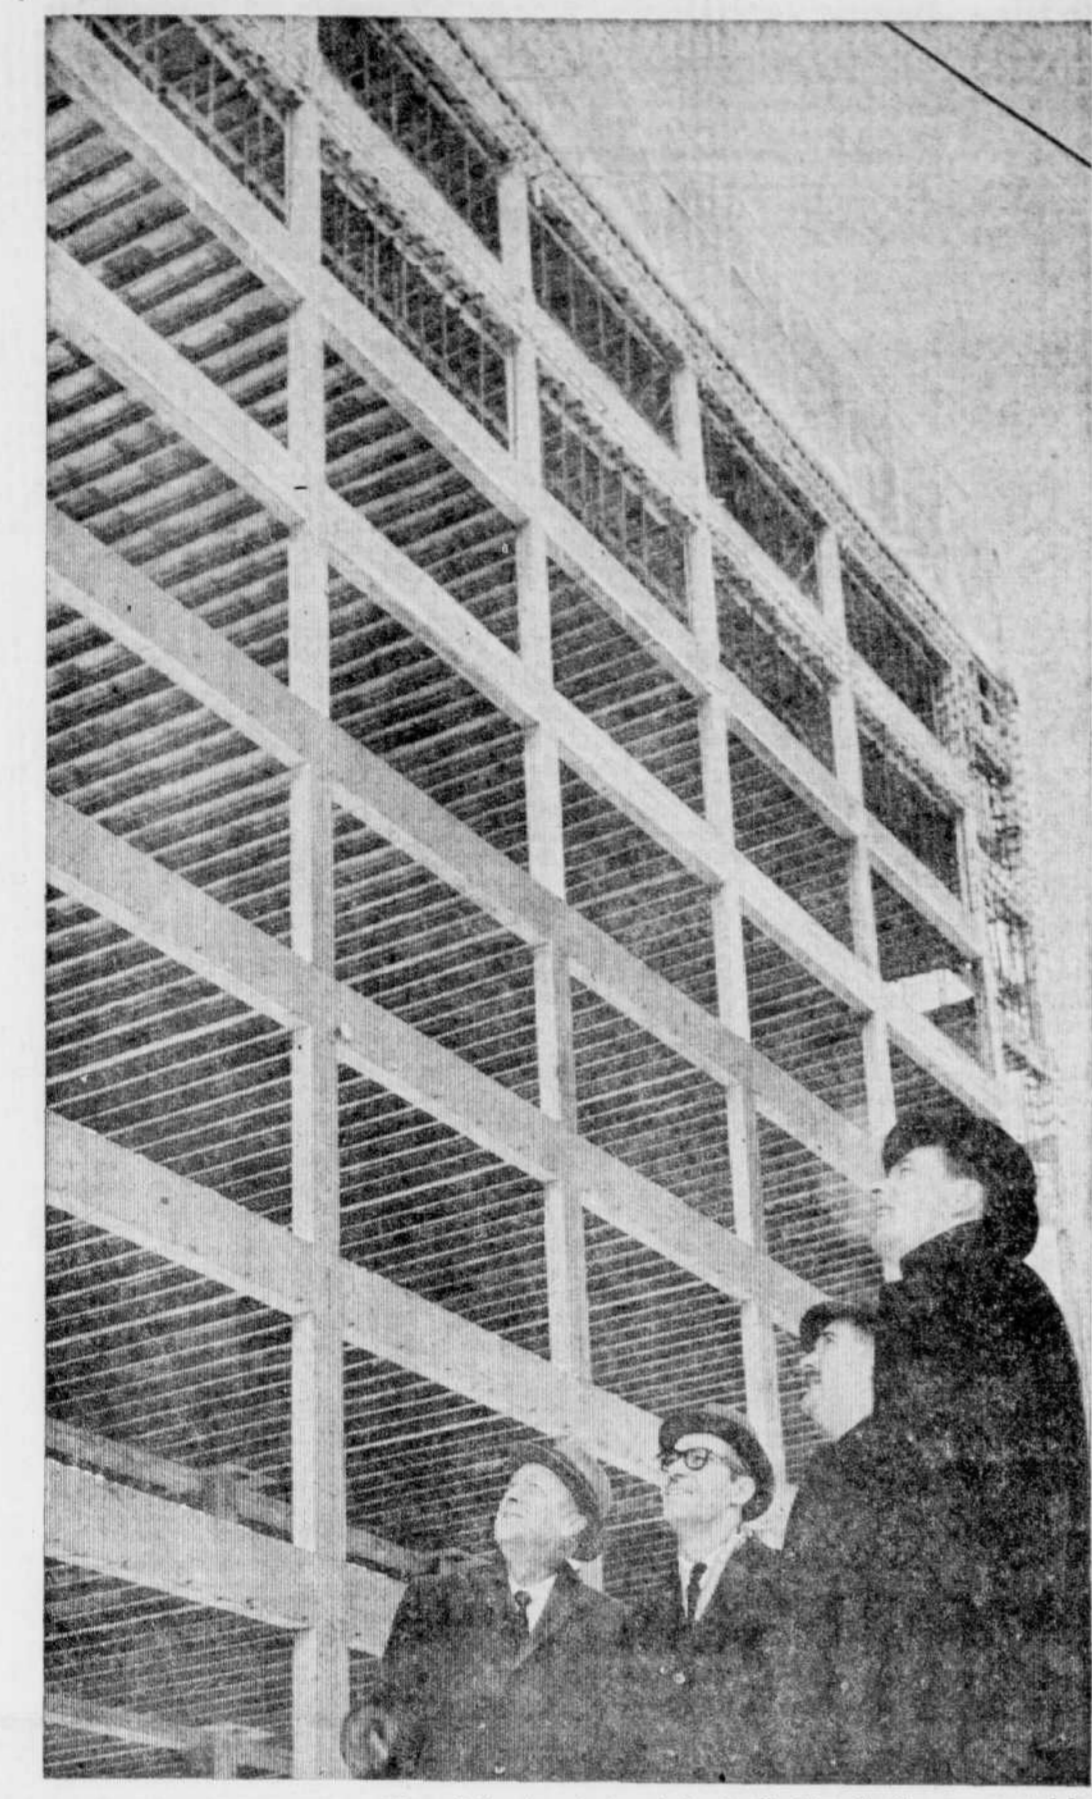

Barry Fitzgerald is dead at 72

DUBLIN — (P) — Barry Fitzgerald, who did not turn to acting until he was 41 and won an Oscar at 56, died Wednesday in a nursing home. He was 72.

The Dublin-born actor had been under medical care since he underwent brain surgery in 1959, but the immediate cause of death was not announced.

Fitzgerald's real name was William Joseph Shields. A civil service employee, he became stage-struck when he visited a friend backstage at Dublin's Abbey Theatre and was shoved as an extra into a mob scene.

A string of film successes, beginning with a part in The Plough and the Stars was capped in 1944 when he was awarded an Oscar for his priest's role in Gone With the Wind with Bing Crosby. Other hit roles were in The Long Voyage Home, How Green Was My Valley and The Quiet Man. His last big movie was The Catered Affair, in 1956.

Oppose Nasser

Morocco and Ghana firm against Lumumba

CASABLANCA — (AP) — King Mohammed V of Morocco and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana are standing firm against a proposal by President Nasser of the United Arab Republic to send a joint African military force to the aid of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba of the Congo.

The king and Nkrumah, according to reliable informants, blocked Nasser's plan to make his proposal publicly at the opening session Wednesday of a five-nation "African summit" meeting. Instead, the conference closed its doors to public and press after the king's opening speech.

The outlook was that Nasser's proposal would be finally turned down despite vigorous support from President Sekou Toure of Guinea.

Nasser's idea was for the five nations represented here to withdraw their troops from the UN force in the Congo and put them at the disposal of the ro-Lumumba regime in Stanleyville.

Nasser himself is not willing to take such action alone.

Eight dead in blaze

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — Eight persons — a mother, six of her seven children and her sister's young son — died today in a fire that swept a two-family home.

The dead were Mrs. Donald Amerault and the children, Michael, Shirley, Donna, Robert, Kathy and Barbara Jean, and the four-month-old son of Mrs. Amerault's sister, Mrs. Barbara Hollingsworth.

Mrs. Amerault's husband and her sister were taken to hospital.

The Amerault family's youngest child, Dawn Marie, was dropped from a second floor porch and caught by a neighbor. The Amerault family lived on the second floor.

Crash witnesses differ

NEW YORK (AP) — Witnesses differ concerning the actual sighting of the crash of two airliners over Staten Island the morning of Dec. 16, an inquiry learned Wednesday.

The Civil Aeronautics Board opened its hearing Wednesday into the worst disaster in aviation history — when a United Airlines DC-8 jet collided with a Trans World Airlines Constellation. The crash claimed 136 lives, 128 aboard the planes and eight on the ground.

The TWA plane went down in flames on a field in Staten Island, while the jet travelled 10 miles to the northeast before crashing into a Brooklyn neighborhood.

One eyewitness, Paul Kleinau, a Staten Island florist, testified he saw the jet streak through an overcast sky and strike the TWA craft with a "tremendous noise."

Anything missing from wardrobe?

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — J. J. Halbrook of East Lansing has a dog that apparently wants to be a retriever.

The dog returned home Wednesday night with a strange girdle, brassiere and slip.

Halbrook turned the undergarments over to East Lansing police. All are in good condition, police said, and can be claimed by the owner upon identification.

No truant he, too young to go

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — When truant officer Lloyd Smith rounded up 20 hookey-playing youngsters and herded them back to school, he got one too many.

Smith said he spotted one boy whom he believed to be about eight years old and over the youngster's strenuous objection carried him off to school Wednesday.

Every teacher denied knowing the lad before he turned to Smith and said:

"I told you I don't belong here. I'm only five years old."

The red-faced probation officer returned the child to his parents.

Cuba woos Kennedy

Ike policies blamed

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government made a thinly-veiled bid today for a change in United States policy toward Premier Fidel Castro's regime under the incoming Kennedy administration. There was no indication of any change in Castro's policy toward the United States, however.

A statement issued after a long night cabinet session put the entire blame for the U.S. break in diplomatic relations with Cuba on the Eisenhower administration. The outgoing U.S. administration also was accused of "threatening other (aggressions) worse and much more serious," a reference to Cuba's charges that American invasion is imminent.

The statement expressed the hope that relations will be re-established "some day . . . when the governors of the United States finally understand that it is possible to maintain sincere and friendly relations with the people of Cuba on the basis of respect for their sovereign rights, their legitimate interests and their national dignity."

The statement made no specific mention of President-elect Kennedy, but the government radio-TV network Wednesday had emphasized that Kennedy did not participate in the decision to break relations.

BASE NOT MENTIONED

There had been unconfirmed reports the cabinet would also discuss the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, but the statement made no mention of it. The United States has declared it will hold and defend the base despite the diplomatic break.

Planes leaving Havana for the United States today were packed with Americans quitting Cuba, but many more stayed to take their chances under the regime Eisenhower called a dictatorship. Charge d'Affaires Daniel M. Braddock and a 12-man skeleton staff set about closing the U.S. embassy and turning over U.S. government affairs in Cuba to Swiss Ambassador Walter Bossi.

Smartly dressed armed Castro militiamen ringed the embassy Wednesday night as the bulk of Braddock's staff drove off in two buses to take the night ferry to Florida, ending 60 years of U.S.-Cuban diplomatic relations.

The hopes of 50,000 Cubans with visa applications pending were renewed by a statement in Washington indicating they would be admitted to the United States without visas.

To request charge be dropped

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States was expected to insist today that the United Nations Security Council drop — without any formal action — Fidel Castro's charge that the U.S. plans to invade Cuba.

The 11-nation council continues debate this afternoon on the Cuban charge, labelled false and ridiculous by the U.S. Wednesday.

The U.S. position lessened the chances for council approval of a resolution submitted by Chile and Ecuador calling on the United States and Cuba to settle their differences by peaceful means. Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa also had told the council his government is opposed to any negotiations with the Eisenhower administration.

The Cuban debate opened with a bitter exchange of accusations between Cuba and the United States and with unusual tension both inside the council chamber and outside UN headquarters. The debate was accompanied by heckling of the speakers by pro-Castro and anti-Castro demonstrators and by clashes at the UN entrance.

Delivers news of dad's death

TORONTO (CP) — Newspaper carrier Margaret Boukema, 15, couldn't finish her route Wednesday. Each time she folded a paper a picture stared at her.

She gave up in tears and went home.

The picture was of Margaret's father, Henry, 49, killed by a car as he rode a bicycle.

Injured by grenade

REGGIO CALABRIA (Reuters) — Five little brothers were seriously injured Wednesday when a hand-grenade they were playing soccer with exploded. The youngsters, all under 10 years old, found the grenade in a field on this Italian town's outskirts.

West Germany running out of room

May fly soldiers home for training

By DAVE MCINTOSH
 Canadian Press Staff Writer
 OTTAWA (CP) — The possibility of all or part of the Canadian infantry brigade in West Germany being flown home each summer for field exercises is a subject of speculation here.

Defence department officials say this is possible for two reasons:

1. Thickly populated West Germany is rapidly running out of room for training areas for its own army and Allied armies stationed there.
2. The RCAF's air transport command by September will have increased its carrying capacity nearly fourfold with introduction of its CC-106 and Hercules transport planes. It will be able to lift some 15,000 passengers and 600 tons of cargo a month.

The West German defence ministry is having trouble hanging on to its present training areas and this has resulted in requests to various NATO allies in Europe for training sites, bases and supply depots.

The local population and state government has protested frequently the use of the Soltau-Lunenburger training area in Lower Saxony by British and Canadian troops, particularly as a site for tank manoeuvres.

SETTLE CLAIMS

Canadian claims officers follow Canadian troops in training to settle on the spot claims arising from damage to crops and the like.

The state government wants Soltau-Lunenburger closed by next year. But no suitable alternative area exists.

It would take only a few days with its new planes for RCAF transports to move the entire 6,000-man brigade and its equipment from one side of the Atlantic to the other.

Already plans are being made for Air Transport Command to take over the rotation of all members of the brigade and their dependents. This will affect foreign shipping companies serving Canadian east coast and St. Lawrence River ports.

RCAF officers said transport command must operate at near-capacity all the time to be able to cope with any national emergency which might arise. In other words, planes and crews

Frigid January? 23 below hit

For the second time in two weeks, temperatures in the Sherbrooke area plummeted below the 20 degrees below zero mark last night.

The Lennoxville experimental farm reported that a low of 23 degrees below zero was recorded overnight, and at 8 a.m. this morning the mercury was still down near that level.

Weather forecasts for the E. T. predict the cold snap is here to stay a while, and long range predictions indicate we may be in for a frigid January.

Last year, on January 5, the temperature reading at eight o'clock was a two above and during the night one below, but the lowest temperature for the month in 46 years was 48 degrees below zero, December 30, 1933 and January 30, 1925.

To date 33.4 inches of snow have fallen over Sherbrooke and district, 2.4 in November, 18 inches in December and 13 inches to date in January. The highest monthly snow fall recorded here was in December, 1929 when 49.5 inches fell.

TEMPERATURES TO TUMBLE — Temperatures much below normal are predicted for the Great Lakes region of Ontario and lower Quebec in the 30-day outlook of the United States weather bureau for January. The outlook is based on long-range predictions and is not a specific forecast. A change in weather pattern may produce major errors. The bureau predicts light precipitation for most of Ontario and Quebec. (CP Newsmag)

Show Business

By JAMES BACON
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Will 1961 be the year of decision for Hollywood and its apparent determination to make movies more adult-erous than ever?

High industry sources talk officially in cliché-coated denials. But unofficially they are seriously worried about charges of the Roman Catholic bishops and influential Protestant and Jewish clergymen.

 Says one top studio executive. "The shock appeal of such raw films as Butterfield 8 and The Apartment have brought millions at the box-office, and now we have Lolita with us."
DOUBTS IT
 "Will the public buy a movie that deals with the sex relationship of a middle-aged man and a 12-year-old girl, no matter how artistically it is done? Personally, I doubt it."

The producer isn't against sex per se but believes that Hollywood has ill-timed its accent on adultery, homosexuality, dope and other frank screen themes.
 "These are adult themes, but go to a movie house and try to find adults. The theatres are filled with impressionable teenagers. They're the bulk of the audience."

The executive started in the business as a theatre owner and recounts a personal experience as a parallel to what he thinks could happen to the movie industry.

BECAME GREEDY
 "My theatre did a nice business on family pictures such as Andy Hardy and the like. Then one day we got greedy and brought a shocking exploitation on marijuana. It did double the business our family pictures had done, so we booked more of the same."

"I didn't take long for the shock appeal to wear off. Business dropped to nothing. Even worse, our cashier quit because her pastor had asked her to."

"Finally, we lost so much money that we boarded up the theatre—and last I heard it was still boarded up."

The Doctor Says

At the beginning of first pregnancy, the prospective mother often is too preoccupied with major considerations to give serious thought to the problem of varicose veins. Yet this relatively minor complication may provoke prolonged distress by its unsightliness and by its tendency to produce leg weariness and cramps, inflammation of the vein wall (phlebitis) and ulceration of overlying skin (varicose ulcer).

Perhaps the following summary of our knowledge of the varicose veins of pregnancy will stimulate young women to undertake the preventive program, later described in detail:

The varicosities of pregnancy usually appear as multiple "blow-outs," some time during the first three months of the pregnancy.

They may produce a painless discoloration of the skin. But if they enlarge and there is complicating phlebitis or ulceration, they may then give rise to leg weariness, localized pain and cramps.

Pregnancy varicosities tend to become smaller and may even disappear after the baby is born. But, with each subsequent pregnancy, they are apt to appear earlier, enlarge more considerably and produce increasing discomfort.

If treated by injection or operation during the pregnancy, the results are not apt to be satisfactory. Furthermore, the occasional reaction that follows injection treatment may have an unfavorable effect on mother or child.

Here are some of the relatively simple measures that may be undertaken to prevent the trouble and expense incidental to the varicosities of pregnancy:

Wear supportive elastic stockings as soon as the presence of the pregnancy is made known. Put on the stockings while lying flat in bed with legs elevated. Keep them on when you go to the delivery room. And continue to wear them for at least a few weeks after childbirth.

As soon as your tummy begins to protrude, wear a snug supportive corset.

If it is necessary to remain seated for any considerable length

If this is impractical, get up frequently and walk up and down for a few moments. If this too is impractical, exercise the calf muscle while in the sitting position by alternately raising heel and toe from the floor.

Finally, some months after childbirth and before the beginning of the next pregnancy, consider active treatment by injection or operation, particularly if there are persistent symptoms or if you suffered a localized phlebitis or varicose ulceration. Then, immediately at the onset of the next pregnancy, resume wearing the supportive elastic stockings.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 NEW YORK (AP)—Stars of the New Year weekend television were, without any doubt, the college gridiron warriors. And by the time the Rose Bowl game finally hove into view, this reviewer had seen enough pileups, runs and kicks to last until next fall.

On NBC Sunday was another Omnibus. It was a gentle, cultured hour of music, singing and dancing but had nothing of the stimulation we once expected from that program.

CBS' The Gershwin Years is really turning out to be a hard-luck show. First came Moss Hart's heart attack, which removed him as the host and narrator of the Jan. 15 90-minute special. Then Eileen Farrell, the opera star, walked out in a dispute over billing.

Producer Leland Hayward signed composer Richard Rodgers to replace Hart—and will play one Rodgers number amid the all-Gershwin scores. He recovered from the Farrell situation by nabbing Maurice Chevalier for the show.

But the toughest break of all came Dec. 5, when dancers and a technical crew went to a small island to tape the catfish row number of Porgy and Bess, a number which nibbled about $10,000 from the show budget.

Somehow, the tapes got into the wrong bin and half the sequence was accidentally erased.

To re-shoot the footage, the dancers plus the crew—about 50 in all—must fly to Key West, Fla., Thursday.

"Little Christmas"

Feast of Epiphany a legal holiday

Friday, the Feast of the Epiphany, is a legal holiday for most business and commercial establishments in Sherbrooke and throughout the Province of Quebec.

Banks and most stores will be staying open tonight and market day is taking place today instead of Friday.

Sometimes called "Little Christmas", January 6 is the day on which Christians commemorate the coming of the Wise Men to visit the Christ Child. For many years, the Christmas celebrations and gift giving were held on this day rather than December 25.

The word Epiphany is a Greek word meaning "shine upon" and the Day marks the beginning of the spread of Christianity to the world.

A custom widely observed for many years was to keep Christmas decorations in place until January 6, then take them out and build a bonfire. In recent years, however, with the advent of electric lights, most fires are accidental.

In many churches, stars are put up on this Twelfth Night after Christmas and the Sunday which follows is commemorated as a "Missionary Sunday."

Thus the Christmas season has officially ended and the Epiphany season begun.

Claim damage heavy in Cowansville crash

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — A two-car collision in front of 236 Main Street, Cowansville about 11.03 p.m. Tuesday night caused an estimated $1,600 damage, it was learned Wednesday.

The accident occurred when Gilles Champigny, 30, of 236 Main Street, driving a small European automobile, was attempting to turn into his driveway.

As Champigny started to turn into his driveway, a 1959 U.S.-made model car driven by Bernard Desourdy 31, of 111 St. Alexandre Street, Longueuil, containing several unidentified passengers, crashed into the Champigny car, pushing the smaller automobile for a distance of about 50 feet into a three-foot-high snow bank.

The Desourdy car, swerved to the left hand side of the road, crashed into a snow bank and came to rest against a street light pole.

Champigny suffered lacerations to the face but his two brothers, who were in the car with him at the time were uninjured.

None of the occupants in the Desourdy car were injured. Cowansville constable Andre Jacques investigated.

The agreement, effective Jan. 1, 1961, to Dec. 31, 1962 ends a dispute that has lasted 18 months.

It provides for an increase of $4 a week for constables during the first year and an additional $3 for the second year. Present weekly salary is $78. The work week will be 40 hours instead of the present 48.

Policemen are to serve as firemen when needed, even outside regular working hours. The rate is $2 when the officer is on duty and $3 otherwise. A payment of $2 will be allowed if an officer has to travel at his own expense to the scene of a fire.

Music twisted

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Orchestra conductor Alfred Wallenstein says Communists in Japan are using melodies of the late American composer Stephen Foster in spreading propaganda. 72 years a Mason

Alfred Bellam honored

"Joined as soon as I could"

By SANDRA PICKFORD (Record Staff Reporter)

Seventy-two years ago on April 10 93-year-old Alfred Bellam, of Clifton, joined the Cookshire Friendship Lodge No. 66 A.F. and A.M.

And in an informal ceremony held at the McKeage Rest Home on Montreal Street in Sherbrooke, Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Bellam received his 50 year jewel and his 70 year bar from the Cookshire Lodge, by Wor. Bro. Ronnie Stokes, of Bury.

This is the first time that the Cookshire Friendship Lodge has presented the 70-year-old bar to a member of long-standing and one fellow-Mason stated that the bar and the star was presented to about 1 in 5,000 members.

Born March 7, 1868, in San Jose, California, Mr. Bellam came to Clifton at the age of nine and lived on his father's farm. At the age of 21 he became interested in the Friendship Lodge at Cookshire. "You have to be 21 years old to join," he said, "and I joined just as soon as I could."

About the same time that his interests turned to the Lodge, he also became interested in the Oddfellows and soon after he joined the Independent Order of Oddfellows of Eaton Valley, Lodge No. 60, Sawyerville. He has been an Oddfellow for the past 67 years.

Sixty-six years ago Mr. Bellam married Viola Emma Blair and had two children, James, and Aldora, now Mrs. James W. Parkinson, both now living in Clifton. He also has six grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren.

A farmer all his life working his farm in Clifton, Mr. Bellam came to live with his daughter 16 years ago, but due to ill health recently in the family he is now staying at the McKeage Home in Sherbrooke.

On April 10, 1889, Mr. Bellam was initiated at the Friendship Lodge in Cookshire and about thirty-six years ago he was made an Honorary Life member of his lodge.

As long as health permitted Mr. Bellam attended the Lodge meetings regularly. Only recently has he not been able to attend meetings.

On June 11, 1949 the fellow Masons of the Friendship Lodge presented Mr. Bellam a silver tray with his name and the name of the lodge inscribed on it in honor of his 60th anniversary as a lodge member.

Ten years later, on May 23, 1959 celebrating his 70th anniversary as a Lodge member, the Friendship Lodge gave a banquet in his honor at Cookshire and presented Mr. Bellam with a cane with his name inscribed on a silver band.

Mr. Bellam has encouraged his son to join the Friendship Lodge and today three generations of the Bellam family are members of the Lodge, Alfred Bellam, his son James and Gordon his grandson.

Mr. Bellam's main interests now are television, radio and, of course, his fellow Masons. He was especially pleased to see a few fellow Masons in his room when he was presented his jewel and bar. Among those present were his daughter Aldora and son, James; Wor. Bro. Ronnie Stokes, Charlie Davis, district deputy Grand Master of the Friendship Lodge, and Wor. Bro. Walter Hamilton of Cookshire, Master of the Lodge, and other old friends.

Sherbrooke firemen haul dog from Howard's Pond

Firemen from No. 1 Station were sent racing to Howard's Park yesterday afternoon by a call which urged them to prevent a drowning.

The call was received at 1:36 p.m. and a squad of firemen led by Lt. Andre Dion was on the scene moments later.

They took in the situation at a glance.

A dog had gone out on the pond ice and fallen through. When firemen arrived his struggles were weakening.

A ladder was placed across the ice and Fireman No. 8, Joseph Leblante, crawled out and pulled the pooch to safety.

The dog, temporarily named Blackie by the firemen, is the property of J. C. Davidson, 350 Victoria Street. Mr. Davidson was away from home at the time of the accident, so Blackie found a temporary home with a neighbor.

Appeal to Premier

Ask public inquiry for Noyan disaster

Demands for a public inquiry into the recent fire at Noyan, Que., which killed Mrs. Marjorie Vosburgh and 11 of her children have been sent to Premier Jean Lesage according to Montreal insurance broker, John P. Boyle.

Boyle was quoted as saying: "This catastrophe focuses attention on a state of affairs which needs the intervention, from religious, charitable and service organizations and from all citizens.

"If action is not coming from within the town of Noyan, then it must come from without."

Mayor Donald MacCallum of Noyan announced Wednesday that a fund had been set up to provide education for 12-year-old Allan Vosburgh and that $300 had so far been collected. Contributions may be addressed to the Allan Vosburgh Education Fund, c/o Mayor MacCallum, Noyan, Que.

In Boyle's letter to Premier Lesage he outlined four points which he felt a public inquiry should answer.

(1) Is it true that the Vosburgh family was denied a home because of their large family and the manner in which they kept their house?

(2) Were the social conditions and financial plight of the Vosburgh family known to the municipal government, religious authorities, charitable organizations, and the citizens of Noyan and what, if anything, was done to alleviate the situation?

(3) Was the shack or shanty built by Mr. Vosburgh ever approved by the municipal government before erection? Had it ever been inspected by any governmental or charitable organization for health and sanitation, water and toilet facilities? Was it ever inspected by the fire and police departments of Noyan?

(4) Did the Vosburgh family refuse inspection or help, and what was the reaction of the town authorities to such refusals?

Boyle also said that private investigation had convinced him that shanty conditions also existed in the Sherbrooke area as well as east-end Montreal, in the Laurentians, and in Jacques Cartier.

Mayor MacCallum's statement

December '60 proves month of paradoxes

December was a month of paradoxes.

The temperature was lower but the sun shone more.

The average temperature for the month was 16.59 degrees well below the 21.63 average for the same month last year and below the average for December for the last 46 years which is 18.32 degrees.

The lowest temperature for the month came on December 28 when the thermometer registered 23 below zero.

However, there were 72.8 hours of sunshine in December as compared with 65.1 hours in December 1959 and the average for the last 46 years which was only 56.5 hours. The thermometer went up to 55 degrees on December 6, only 11 short of the 46-year record of 66 degrees on December 5, 1941.

Not very much snow fell in December, a scant 18 inches in fact, less than the 21.5 inches that fell in December 1959, less than the 19.7 inches which is the average December snowfall for 46 years, much less than the highest monthly snowfall for 46 years which was 48.5 inches in 1929.

There was less rainfall than usual in December. Only .19 inches. Last year there were 1.35 inches and the average rainfall for December for the last 46 years is 1.23 inches.

The total precipitation for the month was 1.70 inches considerably less than December 1959 when the total precipitation was 3.50 inches. The average for December is 3.19 inches although the record is 5.58 inches.

Looking back over 1960, weatherwise it was a good year. There was less precipitation (37.44 inches) than the average for the last 46 years (40.44). There were also more sunshine hours in 1960 than usual. There were 1932.6 hours last year while the average is only 1767.4 hours.

Bonded warehouse hailed by C of C

The construction of a bonded warehouse in Sherbrooke by the Raoul Martineau Inc. company has been hailed by the Chamber of Commerce as "an indication of the rapidly-growing importance of this city."

Officially opened on Tuesday, the warehouse will store imported goods, arriving by truck, before their clearance from Customs. Its construction has been authorized by the Minister of National Revenue, Customs and Excise Division.

Chamber Secretary Henri Baudot said, "Of course we realize that there is a very real need for such a warehouse and we have always been very much in favor of its construction."

At the present time there are more than 70 such warehouses in Canada. The various services that they render to international trade is proved by their increasing popularity, according to Mr. Martineau, president of the company which owns and operates the new establishment.

"The geographic location of Sherbrooke, serving the Eastern Townships, and the many requests that we have received from the manufacturers and importers, prove the necessity of such a warehouse for clearance of goods arriving by highway," he said.

French classes in Lennoxville

If you can't speak French but you'll like to, then go to Lennoxville High School on January 9 at 7:30 and enroll in a French conversation class.

There are no tuition fees, and you will have the opportunity to spend two evenings a week from 7:30 until 9:30 learning how to order a meal, talk on the phone and generally conquer the French language.

The classes got underway in October and are attended by housewives, businessmen, teachers and others with a common purpose, to learn French.

Every Monday and Wednesday evening Gilles Fortier conducts these classes which have been going on for three years now. Learning French requires practice and that is what these classes provide.

City snow removal

Many residents of the city will agree with Mayor Nadeau's contention at city council Tuesday night that snow removal operations following the snow storm over the New Year weekend were not as efficient as they might have been.

It is true that in some parts of the city, snow clearance was carried out effectively and rapidly, but in many other parts, streets were a snowbound mess for at least a day after the snowfall, and sidewalks were non-existent as late as Wednesday.

It was pleaded at the council meeting that the weekend was a holiday and it was difficult to get men away from their families. Extra cost was also cited as one reason for slow snow removal.

These were probably significant factors, but do not justify the delay.

Snow removal is as vital a service in a city as telephones, electricity and police protection. Extra cost and holidays do not excuse a breakdown in their operations, and should not in snow removal.

The mayor said the same thing has been happening every year for the past five years. He suggested those concerned get busy and find the source of the "apparent inefficiency."

The suggestion is a good one: In our climate, large snow storms are the rule this time of year. They have been happening for years, and will continue to be a fact of winter life.

Hot-headed action

Canada has been criticized for failing to support the United States' economic boycott of Cuba.

It's to be hoped that these same critics won't ask that we join their newly declared diplomatic boycott.

In breaking off diplomatic relations with Castro's Cuba the United States appears to have gained nothing. But Castro may have gained a great deal from the point of view of propaganda.

After all, if a bad boy jabs a big dog with a stick the public sympathizes with the dog. But let the dog bite the boy and it's another story.

Castro's demand that the U. S. cut its Havana Embassy staff to eleven was certainly insolent. But there might have been an element of justification behind it.

Over the past several months Castro has nationalized virtually all American business in Cuba. The current U.S. boycott has brought Cuban-U.S. trade to a near-standstill. Castro might ask, what constructive work could 500 embassy workers now do in Cuba? Would they simply be acting to the detriment of his regime?

As the ruler of a sovereign state Castro has every right to limit the size and nature of diplomatic missions from other countries. The debatable point in this issue would be the size of reduction.

All he was saying in this instance is demanding a cut to eleven was that he doesn't like the United States and this can hardly be called news.

The United States obviously decided that to accede to Castro's exorbitant demands would be to lose face. They might better have called his bluff and refused any cutback than to have answered him with this hot-headed and seemingly pointless action.

A welcomed return

The Record is pleased to resume publication today of Gerald Waring Reporting, an interpretive column from Ottawa dealing with national and international affairs.

The column will appear on this page on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Mr. Waring, who at 43 has covered Government Ottawa since 1944, has a wide personal knowledge of Canada and of the world. His Canadian assignments have carried him from coast to coast and from the border to the Arctic. His journeys have also taken him through many parts of the United States to Europe to the South Pacific, and Far East and the Mediterranean.

This he is able to write with a background knowledge of other lands and is in a position to interpret Canada's position in the world with authority.

In today's column Mr. Waring assesses Canadian-American relations and comments on the exchange of new ambassadors between the two countries, an event which will take place in the near future.

His return to this page, we are sure, will be welcomed by Record readers.

Canadians in Congo

Effective bug control keeps off disease

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP) — Canadian troops in the Congo so far have experienced no cases of serious tropical disease, due largely to Sgt. Dixie Dean's bug-control knowledge.

Good health in the tropics depends on daily control of disease-carrying insects and preventive medicine. This is where Dean's experience as a hygiene specialist and sanitary inspector comes in.

His job includes daily sampling and analysis of water and food supplies; elimination of possible sources of insect breeding grounds; spray control of mosquitoes, the tropics' carrier of malaria, and other sanitary precautions.

English-born Sgt. Harold Dean, 40, who recently became a Canadian citizen, is a student of the life cycles of tropical insects, which makes him invaluable in controlling their spread.

Wing Cmdr. Robert Walsh of Ottawa, chief medical officer of 57 Canadian Signal Unit here and a public health specialist, describes Dean as "an extremely good hygiene assistant who has comprehensive experience and knowledge of all aspects of his work."

The entire unit was on parade Saturday, Dec. 11, when Dean formally received his citizenship documents from the unit commander, Col. Paul D. Smith of Edmonton and Vancouver.

A photostat of his citizenship certificate was presented to him. The original is being kept by his wife, Lillian Betty, a stenographer with the RCAF at Camp Borden, Ont.

Dean, who did a similar job for the Canadian contingent with the UN Emergency force in Egypt in 1957-58, says climatic conditions in the hot and humid Congo are worse than in the hot and dry Middle East.

"But there are not too many problems," he said. "The big job is to watch for possible breakdowns of civilian water and other public services."

Since the Canadians arrived last August water from Leopoldville's waterworks system has been banned for drinking purposes two or three times because of "doubtful" conditions.

Dean is high in his praise of the sanitary and preventive medicine methods established by the old Belgian colonial regime.

"The Belgians had a wonderful setup all over the Congo—even in the bush, where they had sanitary inspectors," he said.

Dean, a native of Birkenhead, near Liverpool, served with British signals during the Second World War, then was trained in England as a sanitary inspector.

He is an associate of the Royal Sanitary Institute and holds a certificate in meat and food inspection from the University of Liverpool. He also holds a Canadian certificate of sanitary inspection.

He and his wife and oldest son, Ronald William, 12, emigrated to Canada in October, 1948, settling in Alberta where he worked as a sanitary inspector for the provincial department of public health. Two other children were born in Canada: Pauline Sybil, 9, and Thomas David, 7.

In 1953, Dean joined the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps as a hygiene assistant. He has spent most of his time since then at Camp Borden, training hygiene assistants.

City bees are shamed by country cousins

TORONTO (CP) — Four hives of city-slicker bees have put to shame their country cousins by winning the eastern Canada title for white honey production.

The homes of the 280,000 champions are beside a cedar hedge on the campus of Upper Canada College in the centre of Toronto. Their keeper is Thomas Ireland Aikman who has been keeping the hives humming for 18 of the 25 years he has been employed at the college. He got into the business during sugar rationing in 1942.

This year the four hives produced 400 pounds of prize-winning honey plus enough for their own food. Samples also won a reserve Canadian championship and a second prize at the Canadian National Exhibition.

He never has had a complaint from the thickly populated area around the college. The bees gather nectar mostly from basswood trees Mr. Aikman planted but also patronize neighboring snowberry bushes, flowers and white Dutch clover.

Japan develops her water power

Cooperate with U.N. in fight against virus

TOKYO (Reuters)—Scores of rivers in Japan are being harnessed to meet the nation's demands for electrical power.

Seventy-one projects, now in various stages of construction, alone will produce 4,830,000 horsepower for industrial and domestic use.

In the last 10 years, the Japanese have built 128 dams. The mountain chain running through the centre of the main island provides an extensive river system and resources for hydro-electric power. But even at the present rapid rate of construction, not enough hydro-electric power is being produced.

Japan's demands exceed its present electricity supply by 10 per cent. The development of heavy industries and increased sales of electrical appliances keep demand in excess of supply.

Steam and nuclear power also will help to meet future demands for electricity, especially as seasonal water shortages, which make power cuts necessary, are prompting some major factories to rely on steam power.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — Canada and the United States will exchange new ambassadors in the near future, and the choice of the men to head the respective diplomatic missions in Washington and in Ottawa is a matter of more than ordinary importance.

Both the course and the drift of Canadian-American relations are, unhappily, in the direction of magnified differences and greater misunderstandings. For every strain on the Canada-US relationship that is relieved—for example, US oil import quotas and Canada's demand for downstream power benefits in the Columbia River development—two new aggravations are added.

The two countries are currently at odds over atomic tests and warheads, disarmament, trade with Cuba, US investment in Canada, Canadian tariff increases, and the Canadian proposal to extend territorial waters to 12 miles.

Topping off these fruits of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's almost belligerent determination to "stand up to the Americans" is the consequent growth of anti-American attitudes in Canada that the government is doing nothing to discourage.

In light of the deterioration of US relations with Canada, it seems logical that the new US ambassador should be a person with knowledge and experience in these relations, rather than simply a job-hungry Democrat.

By great good fortune President-elect Kennedy has at hand a man eminently fitted for the post by knowledge and experience who at the same time has a strong political claim on the appointment by virtue of being the defeated Democratic gubernatorial candidate in Maine.

Frank M. Coffin gave up his seat in the House to run for governor, and his loss leaves him at loose ends politically. At 41, he has served four years as congress man and as a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. His specialty has been Canadian-American relations: two years ago he and Congressman Brooks Hays toured Canada as a special study mission and reported to the Congress on their findings.

The two Hays-Coffin reports show keen appreciation of the nature, causes and potential results of frictional differences, and the need for definite action to halt "the erosion of our relations with Canada." They largely foretold what is happening today.

They recommended that US discrimination against Canadian oil be ended, which was done. They recommended setting up a joint consultative body of members of the Congress and of Parliament, which was done. While none of their other recommendations has been implemented in its entirety these recommendations and supporting arguments have contributed to US understanding of the Canadian problem.

Lester Pearson became ambassador to Washington in 1945, and was followed by the ablest of our post-war professional diplomats—Norman Robertson, Hume Wrong and Arnold Heeney—thus establishing the Washington post as a career man appointment. There should be no departure from this practice.

If Diefenbaker is wondering whom he should choose, I suggest our ambassador to Bonn, Escott M. Reid. Formerly acting external affairs undersecretary, then high commissioner to India and later ambassador to the United Nations, Reid has the knowledge, experience, patience and understanding needed in Washington. Short of the despatch of Undersecretary Robertson to Lester Heeney, I can think of no Canadian better suited for the job.

INSULATED UNDERWEAR

(Ottawa Journal) It is heartening to know that long ones are regaining lost ground and that scientific know-how is concentrating on comfort as well as style.

Time was when citizens of both sexes and all ages put them on the first of October and wore blue, red or grey insulation until April's tantrums were over. On a zeroish Winter night, a union suit, a long flannel nightgown, a feather bed and plenty of quilts meant a man could enjoy his daily period of unconsciousness.

In the 1880 days of sleighs and buffalo robes, a countryman had his choice of shirts and drawers or a one-piece affair, but gradually the demand for union suits superseded the tandem hitch.

By 1890, the logic of one-piece protection was proved. As the mail order catalogue said, "The greatly increased demand for union suits is due to their merit as a practical garment." They did not roll up a man's back and the "drawers did not slip to an uncomfortable position."

Now we read of the application of scientific knowledge to this basic idea and insulated underwear is available. We are rediscovering the joys of Winter sports; we are recognizing that comfort can be combined with style.

It is a pleasant augury of a better future. If we are ready to acknowledge we don't need battleship-size cars, perhaps the nation is ready to settle down and appreciate some of the simpler satisfactions of life instead of clamoring for the blatant, boisterous, and superficial.

Round of entertainments for Wales Home residents

RICHMOND — The Christmas season at the Wales Home has been a round of entertainments, both sacred and secular.

First, the Salvation Army gave a band concert interspersed by religious exercises. This was followed the next day by a concert by the Imperial Singers, a recreational group formed from the staff of the head office of the Imperial Tobacco Company, of Montreal, who had come by chartered bus to give the residents of the Home a rare musical treat.

The Sunday before Christmas, Rev. Lyall Simpson, of the Richmond United Church, was in charge of a candle-light service, by the C.G.T., conducted by Mrs. Arnold Healey. Then, the Richmond and Melbourne choirs, under the direction of Rev. H. I. Apps, of St. Ann's Anglican Church, came to sing carols in the infirmary and hold a singing period in the Day Room, after which they distributed gifts to all the residents.

Another event was the visit of Rev. A. G. MacDougall, of the Danville United Church, who with a group of children sang carols in various parts of the Home. Rev. Jack Urquhart, of the Melbourne Presbyterian Church, conducted the service at the Home on Christmas Day.

The usual staff party and Christmas tree was held by the nurses and other staff members, when they exchanged gifts, played games and enjoyed an evening of fun.

One of the great events of the season was the annual Christmas Eve party, with the usual Christmas tree and a program of songs, carols and games, led by the nurses and staff. The Day Room was beautifully decorated and the tree was resplendent with lights and loaded with gifts and other Christmas cheer. Santa Claus was there in full regalia and filled his role in a splendid manner. The tree yielded something for every resident of the Home.

NEW YEAR'S EVE Thirty residents assembled in the ladies' solarium on New Year's Eve, to watch the old year out and the new year in.

Games were played and on the stroke of 12 the New Year was ushered in by the singing of Auld Lang Syne and the exchange of good wishes, after which refreshments were served by the ladies present.

In the course of the celebration, the matron, Mrs. Armstrong, and one of the nurses joined the group of midnight watchers.

Mrs. Ruby Berry spent Christmas with her daughter, Mrs. Alan Greer, Mr. Greer and family, in Rock Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Abercrombie entertained Mrs. Wm. Ross, of Hamilton, Ont. and Miss Kathleen Moore, of Montreal, over the holiday.

Miss Vera Miller, nurse, accompanied her father, Mr. Stephen Miller, and uncle, Mr. Maclean Miller, to Danville, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Miller and family.

Miss Florence Patterson, of the staff, spent the holidays with her parents at Inverness.

Mrs. Marjorie - Armstrong, matron, spent a few days at Beebe, called by the illness of her father, Mr. J. A. Bacon.

Mr. Dale Kezer, of the staff, spent a few days in Sherbrooke, guest of his mother, Mrs. E. Kezer, and his sister, Mrs. M. Miner.

Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Armstrong, of Sherbrooke, visited the former's mother, Mrs. Marjorie Armstrong, on Christmas Day, and all were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Fraser, of Richmond.

Jury selection for trial continues LOS ANGELES (P) — As jury selection for the third Finch murder trial droned on Wednesday, the prosecution announced it will return two key witnesses to testify again. They are a housemaid now in her native Sweden and a convict in custody in Minnesota.

Marie Anne Lidholm, 20, will be flown from her home at Goteborg and probably will arrive this week.

She testified at the first two trials of Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, and his mistress and one-time receptionist, Carole Tregoff, 24. They are charged with conspiracy and murder in the shooting of Finch's wife, Barbara Jean, 36, at the Finch home in suburban West Covina July 18, 1959.

The first two trials ended in hung juries. Finch says the shooting was an accident.

The other major state witness, self-styled ladies' man Jack Cody, will be brought here Jan. 23 from Minnesota.

Cody is in a St. Paul jail serving a sentence for burglary and theft.

Boy Scout And Cub News The Wolf Cub Christmas party was held in Trinity Hall.

After Grand Howl, Flag Break and Cub Silence, Christmas carols were sung, led by Mr. Fern Archer, with Mrs. Archer at the piano.

Thanks were extended to Mr. Warren Brown, who used his projector to show two movies on Scouting, Ice Rescue and Winter Camping.

Cub Jasper Perrott, whose birthday fell the same day, had the largest party of the year, with the 36 Cubs, six leaders and many parents.

Better homemaking

New linens smooth bed rest

KAY SHERWOOD

How to keep our home from becoming a children's hospital during winter months tantalizes us every year.

A friend of mine attributes his healthy childhood to the fact that at the first sniffle his mother would give him garlic to chew. She also hung a bag of it around his neck.

At the other extreme is the haunted homemaker who hears in every cough the makings of a rare disease. Salvation for her lies in filling up the family from an impressive collection of vitamin and mineral supplements, protein concentrates, calcium tablets, bright syrups and dark capsules.

Most of us follow a more conservative road. We try to keep resistance high with a well-balanced diet, plenty of rest, some exercise and by nagging the children to wear their rubbers.

If experience is any teacher, however, I know there will be at least one siege of illness. And siege is the word for it. First a feverish little one will go to bed. His convalescence is followed closely by the next offspring tottering to bed.

And so it goes for three or four weeks. Through it all the family doctor remains calm, reassuring and reachable by telephone at his office. You can bet that "bed rest" will be his favorite prescription.

The only sensible course is to be somewhat prepared for the inevitable. Do you know where your thermometer is, for example? And can you read it? If not, it's time for bifocals or a new thermometer with flat, easily-read-face.

Is your vaporizer at the ready or would a midnight bout of croup find you swearing over a limed-up vent?

Incidentally, I've heard glowing reports on the performance of a new vaporizer—it is easy to fill, easy to clean, starts steaming in seconds, will continue dependably for 12 hours, uses tap water and the unbreakable bottle never gets hot, only warm—these are the promotions claims

Good for the little patient, bed rest can be had on the bedding supply. Easy-to wash and fast-drying bedding helps to keep the bed clean and comfortable. Pretty and practical additions to the household's linens are the nylon sheets and pillowcases shown, above.

Have you weeded out all the tag ends of medical prescriptions left from former illnesses? If you can't bring yourself to throw out those costly tidbits, at least find out from the doctor if it is wise to keep them.

Experience has taught me that "bed rest" is fine for the patient but hard on the bed. The household linen supply often suffers a critical release within 24 hours. Mussed up sheets, squashed pillow, crumpled pillow cases, blankets literally dotted with medicine, crayon and food spots may need daily changing.

Easy to wash and fast-drying bedding is a boon. I'd like to have at least three sheets and pillow cases of nylon or the new Dacron-cotton blend which are light in weight, wash and dry smoothly and almost wrinkle-free.

A warm, winter-weight blanket that could be washed as easily as a sheet would also be a welcome addition. One new one of Orlon is supposed to sail through machine washing and drying without matting, shrinking, lumping or "pilling" (a frequent complaint with some synthetic fibers).

Or, use a washable blanket cover; an old sheet or seersucker summer spread will do nicely to protect blankets that are not so easy to launder.

Woman lawyer heads seven member royal commission

By JANET WILSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The telephone rang in the office of lawyer Germaine Brisson and the caller said Premier Jean Lesage wanted to see her at 4 p.m.

"I was worried," she said in an interview. "I thought I might have done something wrong."

Instead the premier asked her to become secretary of a seven-member royal commission appointed to investigate activities of the Union Nationale government, in office from 1944 until defeated by the Liberals last June 22.

"I am very happy at this honor, for I am the first woman to have such a position with the provincial government," she said.

Her appointment also was welcomed by the some 20 women lawyers in Montreal, many of whom telephoned their congratulations.

Miss Brisson, a tall, hazel-eyed brunette, obtained her law degree from the University of Montreal seven years ago and has been practising since in her father's law office.

She became interested in law while substituting for her father's secretary during her holidays.

She is honorary president of the Quebec Association of Lawyers, executive member of the Montreal Chamber of Commerce, and member of the University Women's Club.

Yet these many activities do not keep her from riding—she once owned her own horse—tennis, piano playing or, on the weekends, cooking.

She particularly likes to make

Hold head high for lovely neck

The way you hold your head has a good deal to do with the kind of neck you have. If your neck is creased and wrinkly, chances are very good that you've spent lots of time digging your chin into your coat collar, looking down as you walk and generally building up a store of lines for yourself.

Probably you've neglected your neck entirely when you creased your face at night. For the truth is that your neck needs care and exercise in order to prevent that creased or scraggly look.

Letting your head drop forward, then rolling it right, back, left and down again is a help. Do this 20 times a day. Creaming your neck nightly is another help. Holding your head high and looking up, not down, as you walk is another immense help.

In the interests of a pretty neck and good posture, toss your pillow onto a chair each night and learn to sleep flat. A pillow merely tilts your head forward and carves a few more wrinkles into your chin and neck.

If you are unaccustomed to taking exercises of any kind, your body shows it. Your movements are stiff and jerky, your walk most likely is awkward. For muscles respond to exercise, be it a daily walk, tennis, swimming or spot exercises.

The woman who gets some exercise every day is the one who swings along looking lithe and limber. She doesn't, of course, think up excuses for taking the car when she has an errand to run. She doesn't think that housework is the sole answer to exercise despite all those impressive figures about how much mileage the housewife racks up in one day. She doesn't glue herself to the TV set the year around.

She does make exercise a daily part of her total program for lasting good looks.

A shapley surprise

Mince-meat is seldom used as a cooking ingredient after Christmas is over; although it is almost impossible to duplicate its deliciously unique flavor by substitution. No doubt this custom originated in the days when the spices used in its preparation were rare and expensive.

January is a particularly appropriate time of year to bake up a batch of Mince-meat Bear Claws. If there is no leftover mince-meat from Christmas to be disposed of, it will be worthwhile buying some specially for this recipe. The buns have an intriguing shape, as their name implies, and, discounting the rising time, they can be made in next to no time.

They're hearty enough to take the edge off the most ravenous appetite when served as an after-four treat, or to the crowd after skiing or skating. It might be a good idea to double the recipe and have enough buns on hand for the morning coffee party with the neighbours, and round the clock snacking by the family.

MINCEMEAT BEAR CLAWS

Yield—16 buns
½ cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, 1 envelope active dry yeast, 2¼ cups (about) pre-sifted all-purpose flour, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup fine granulated sugar, ¼ cup chilled shortening, 2 eggs, 1 cup mince-meat, 1 tablespoon cold water.

Measure the ½ cup lukewarm water; stir in the 1 teaspoon sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well.

Meantime, mix together into a large bowl, 1¼ cups of the flour, salt and the ¼ cup sugar. Cut in chilled shortening finely. Beat 1 whole egg and 1 egg yolk together well; stir in dissolved yeast. Make a well in flour mixture and add liquids; stir to combine, then beat until smooth and elastic. Work in sufficient additional flour to make a soft dough—about 1 cup more. Turn out dough onto floured board or canvas and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1½ hours. Punch down dough. Turn out onto lightly-floured board or canvas and knead until smooth. Divide dough into 2 equal portions. Cover with a tea towel and let rest 10 minutes. Roll out one portion of dough into a rectangle 9 x 16 inches. Spread half of the mince-meat over dough. Fold the dough over lengthwise twice to make 3 layers—seam side should be on the bottom. Cut crosswise into eight 2-inch pieces. Cut four ½-inch slashes along one cut edge of each piece. Lift the pieces onto a cookie sheet, curving them slightly to separate the slashes. Repeat with remaining portion of dough. Cover with a tea towel.

Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 45 minutes. Beat remaining egg white and the 1 tablespoon water together; brush buns tops with this mixture, then sprinkle them lightly with granulated sugar. Bake in a moderately-hot oven (375 deg. F.) 8 to 12 minutes—do not over-bake.

A dad is a dad is a dad
--- ad writers to contrary

For years makers of automobiles, TV sets, kitchen appliances, and so on have been harping on the theme of what a father "owes" his family in the way of material possessions.

Now an insurance company has taken the final step with an advertisement that begins: "Have you considered this brutal fact? When you go to the hospital your family might be better off if you died there rather than return home unable to work."

Somehow I suspect the insurance company that had the bad taste to put out an ad like that will be hearing from angry wives all over the country, saying in no uncertain terms that the head of their family is more than a pay check and that financial security isn't the only kind of security important to a family.

We may have become a security-conscious nation, but certainly we aren't so money-in-the-bank conscious that we can read an ad like that without having our blood reach a slow boil.

Surely we all know and want our husbands and fathers to know that a home without a father is a broken home — and that no amount of financial security can make it whole.

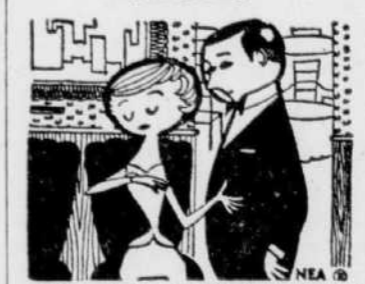

A family with a father physically unable to hold a job may be in a bad way financially. But it is still a "whole" family and it can be a far happier one than a family that has no financial worries—but no father, either.

It has been easy to laugh at the ads that imply a father is letting his family down if he doesn't provide them with a TV set, a vacation trip, a new home — or whatever an advertiser happens to be trying to sell.

But when they start suggesting to Papa that his family might be better off with him dead than alive with no income, it's time to let the advertising copy writers know they've gone too far.

Beavers At Home To Lions Tonight, Vics Visit Drumville

Dan Delaney, Hard-Hitting Rearguard, Will Be Making His First Appearance Here; Two Close Games Are Expected

Sherbrooke Beavers will be out this evening to extend their lead over the Three Rivers Lions at the arena in a regular league fixture. In the other tilt Granby Vics will move to Drummondville to tangle with their closest rivals, the Rockets.

The Lou Poliquin squad holds a five-point lead over the second-place Vics and playing at home they are favored to wrap up the decision. So far this year the Rockets have dropped only one verdict on their home ice and that was to the last-place Lions, who posted a 3-1 upset decision.

Coach Poliquin will have his team all set for tonight's important battle in order to retain their lead over the Vics. Granby has as yet to win in Drummondville this season. They have dropped all of their outings but the last few weeks they have seemed to struck their stride and it will be a tough battle before the winner emerges.

Coach Dube and his Beavers back from a four-game road trip in which they dropped all verdicts in their winning stride. They dropped two to Granby and one each to Drummondville and Three Rivers.

On their last appearance in Sherbrooke the Lions held the Beavers to a 3-2 decision in a real hard fight. The Lions have improved since their last outing here and the local crew will be in for a hard battle as the young crew from Three Rivers is beginning to hit their stride.

A win for the Lions would move them into a threatening position with the Beavers, whom they trail by only three points at present. Coach Thibault has a well balanced team and the boys are going all out for him.

The Beavers will present a new face in Dan Delaney to the local fans. Delaney, a hard-hitting rearguard, will add plenty of power to the local rearguard quartet and should help them considerably.

Canadian Olympic Athletes Voted Disappointment Of 1960 By Poll

By JACK SULLIVAN
TORONTO (CP)—Canada's Olympic athletes have cornered the market as the country's sports disappointment of 1960 and pro football provided the year's surprise and oddity.

Eighty-four of the 114 voters in the 26th annual Canadian Press year-end poll cast their disappointment ballots for the Games athletes, particularly for the lackluster performance of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen who allowed a pickup team of American college players to take the Olympic hockey title.

Result of the poll, announced today, gave the Dutchmen 40 votes from the country's sports editors and broadcasters. But they couldn't decide who should be awarded the runner-up spot in the disappointment category.

They gave 22 votes each to Canada's team performance in the summer Games at Rome and to the leg injury that sent Harry Jerome of Vancouver hobbling to the sidelines in the 100-metre semi-final, also at Rome.

The oddity and surprise poll winners were naturals.

The oddity tag went to the uninhibited youth who scammed between Ottawa and Edmonton players in the final seconds of the Grey Cup final to swipe the game ball. Hundreds of others had already taken over the Empire Stadium field at Vancouver and the ball stealing convinced officials they should call the whole thing off.

GAME NEARLY OVER

Forty-one seconds remained to be played with Ottawa ahead 16-6.

The trade that sent quarterback Sam Etcheberry and end Hal Patterson of Montreal Alouettes to Hamilton Tiger-Cats for quarter back Bernie Faloney and guard Don Paquette headed the surprise voting. The deal hasn't been clinched yet, but its announcement last Nov. 6 rocked the Canadian football scene.

Included in the oddity votes were the Etcheberry trade, the sleeper play pulled by Ottawa's Bobby Simpson in the Big Four final against Toronto Argonauts, U.S. winning the Olympic hockey title and the American's Olympic goalkeeper, Jack McCartan, being farmed out by New York Rangers to Kitchener of the Eastern Professional League.

Surprise ballots went to Ottawa's Grey Cup victory, the rise of Argonauts from last to first place, the Winnipeg-Edmonton WIFU final, the dull play in the Grey Cup and the Dutchmen's loss at Squaw Valley.

A few gave their votes to McGill Redmen, eastern inter-collegiate football champions, for the first time since 1938, and the world-equaling 10-second time established by Jerome over 100 metres in the Canadian Olympic track and field trials.

President Eisenhower May Have Thrown Curve Ball At Major League Teams By Cutting Relations With Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower may have thrown a curve ball, unintentionally at some major league baseball teams in this country if Fidel Castro takes a dim view of Cubans associating with Yankee ball parks, at a profit.

The president did not mention the problem in breaking U.S.

diplomatic relations with Cuba Tuesday night. But baseball men here Wednesday said it's questionable whether Castro, in his vast anger at the United States, will allow Cuban ball players to return to this country for spring training in a couple of months.

As far as the state department is concerned, the Cuban players will get fullest consideration from this country.

Baseball experts here say there are about 20 Cuban players on U.S. major league teams. Some of them are of such top rank stature as: Minnie Minofo of Chicago White Sox; Camilo Pascual of Minnesota Twins; Pedro Ramos, another Twin.

Mike Fornieles, Boston, is a good pitcher; Rodolfo Arias is a pitcher for Chicago White Sox. Chico Fernandez is a promising shortstop for Detroit Tigers, and other Cubans are scattered around the major leagues and in the minors.

Cuban boxers, including welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret, fight often in the U.S. and have been featured in many television fights. Paret, who now lives in New York, recently went to Cuba to visit his mother. He has a visa and is due back in New York in mid-January. He is married to an American.

Luis Rodriguez, a high ranking welterweight, and middleweight Florentino Fernandez make frequent appearances in the U.S.

OTHER CHOICES MADE
Other disappointment votes went to Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who tumbled from a first-place to last-place finish in Big Four football, the Grey Cup final and failure of Winnipeg Blue Bombers to win the western conference.

The summer team made one of its most dismal showings in Olympic history, apart from the well-trained University of British Columbia rowing eight which averted a shutout in the medal department by finishing a close second to a veteran German crew.

The track and field athletes managed only one point in the team standings.

INDIANS EDGE BEARS 2-1 IN OVERTIME TILT

Springfield Indians' latest example of why they hold a 16-point lead in the American Hockey League is a 2-1 overtime victory over Hershey Bears.

The defence of the defending champions never was better as they whipped the Bears in the league's only game Wednesday night. They threw up such a defensive wall in front of goal-ender Marcel Paille that the Bears had only 18 shots on goal.

Hershey didn't get a shot in the overtime period as Bill McCreary came through with the winning goal at 8:33. Noel Price gave the Indians the lead in the first period and Willie Marshall, Hershey's leading scorer, tied it in the second.

The loss left the Bears in a third-place with Quebec Aces and Buffalo Bisons, each with 35 points. Cleveland Barons are second with 38 and the Indians have 54.

No games are scheduled tonight. The Indians meet the Barons in Cleveland in Friday night's only action.

Cleveland Group Trying To Buy Football Club

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Coach Paul Brown said Wednesday night two groups, one made up primarily of Clevelanders, are bidding for ownership of Cleveland Browns National Football League team.

"There won't be any negotiations until I return to Cleveland next week," said Brown who is preparing his team for the Orange Bowl runner-up game with Detroit Lions Saturday.

"We have had other offers before and things haven't worked out. I honestly don't know what will happen. If there is a change in ownership, it won't mean any change in the team."

"I have eight years to run on my contract and I understand that people interested in the team will want me to remain if they should buy the club."

Brown himself is in the "majority stockholder" category. Largest stockholder is the Nationwide Insurance Co., and other "majority" stockholders include Ellis Ryan, Bob Gries and Dave Jones, all of Cleveland.

It was believed the Browns' franchise would bring a price of $3 million or more. When Arthur McBride sold the club in 1953, the price reportedly was about $600,000.

Three Games On Tap This Evening In St. Francis Loop; First Place At Stake With Windsor At Rock Island

RICHMOND — The St. Francis Valley Hockey League resumes activities this week with three games on tap tonight.

The battle for first place is getting tighter as Rock Island Jets came up with a 3-2 win over the league-leading Windsor Paper Makers to gain a first-place tie. Richmond Braves lost to Asbestos in the first meeting of the two teams and will play a return engagement at the local Coliseum.

Braves will try to regain the loss suffered in Asbestos Tuesday. They dropped to second place after being tied with Windsor last week.

The games scheduled have Cookshire at Magog and Windsor playing a return game at Rock Island. Magog has come up with their third win to move out of the cellar and push Cookshire back of them by two points. Asbestos' victory over Richmond moved them a bit closer and gave them better hold on third place which they occupy. Braves will have to play better if they hope to regain a first-place tie with the other clubs now leading the Bernier circuit.

Braves' top marksman, Pat Desrosiers, was held off the score sheet in the Asbestos win but he'll try to even things when Braves tangle with the Miners for the second time. Gerry Menard of Rock Island Jets has upped his goal production to lead in that department when he scored against Windsor and he can take over first place in the scoring race as his team plays Windsor Mills at the Border Arena.

Menard has scored 19 goals, tops in the league, and is tied with Desrosiers in the points column. Both have 26 points. So there will be a battle for first place again and also for the scoring leadership.

The game in Richmond is scheduled to start at 8:30 but it may only start at nine, same as Friday night. Friday being a holiday, stores remain open until nine Thursday so game time may be the same as Friday night tilts.

This will be the first visit of Asbestos to the local arena and a good crowd is expected to watch these two clubs.

Toronto Argos And B. C. Lions Have Eyes On Five Footballers Who Play Saturday In Hula Bowl At Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP)—Led by six all America linemen, some of the leading U.S. collegiate football stars will clash here Sunday in the 15th annual hula bowl at Honolulu Stadium.

British Columbia Lions will have a strong interest in the performance of one of the six, guard Tom Brown of Minnesota who they hope to sign.

The Lions also have a vested interest in how Washington Huskies quarterback Bob Schloredt makes out. Schloredt, voted the outstanding player in the Rose Bowl game Monday, will probably sign to play with the Lions next season. Dallas Texans of the American Football League are also after him but he said in Los Angeles:

"The Texans think I can play offensive quarterback for them. But I'm afraid it would take a lot of coaching. I'm better adapted to the Canadian style of play."

NO PROS THIS YEAR
This year's Hula Bowl has only collegiate stars. In the past, many professionals also competed.

Frontenacs Stop Royals 6-3 To Move Up Ladder

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Kingston Frontenacs jumped past Sudbury Wolves into fourth place in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Wednesday night with a 6-3 win over last-place Montreal Royals.

Tom Williams scored twice for Kingston and Alf Treen, Tom Thurlby, Stan Maxwell, and Dick Meissner notched singles. Wally Clune, Gary Mork and Guy Black replied for Montreal.

Frontenacs were playing under Bun Cook, team trainer who was appointed interim coach this week when manager Vern Blair gave up coaching to devote more time to obtaining help for his club.

Jean Borotra Is In Favor Of Open Net Competition

SYDNEY (AP)—The day is not far away when the Davis Cup will be open to both amateurs and professionals in the opinion of Jean Borotra, president of the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

"Opening the Davis Cup should be considered as soon as possible" the one-time French ace said Wednesday at a press conference. "I think it will follow soon after the conduct of the first open tennis tournament."

"The Davis Cup since its establishment has been the symbol of national supremacy in tennis. There is no doubt it must be made open and the rules changed accordingly."

Dodgers May Cut Gil Hodges For Poor Season

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Although Los Angeles Dodgers generally don't penalize a player financially for a poor year, first baseman Gil Hodges seems destined for a salary slash in 1961.

Hodges lost his job to Norm Larker, who battled Dick Groat right down to the final day of the 1960 National League batting title.

Dodger general manager Buzz Bavasi said Wednesday he hasn't given any thought to salary cuts, but there will be a few raises.

"Norm Larker and Maury Willis are about the only ones who deserve raises," said Bavasi, who will mail out contracts next week.

Maroons Head For Home With Good Record

PARDUBICE (CP)—Winnipeg Maroons head for home today after a successful but gruelling Czechoslovakian hockey tour that saw them lose just one game and tie two while winning seven.

They finished off the tour, during which they played 10 games in 14 days, with a 4-1 trimming of the Pardubice Spartak club Wednesday.

The Canadians shared the scoring among four players as they showed a crowd of 15,000 some sharp pass patterns and good forechecking that broke up Spartak plays before they could become threats.

Harold Dibley and Don Collins, sharing the goal duties for Maroons, held the Czech teams to 16 goals in the 10 games. Their teammates counted a total of 47 goals.

They were to board a plane for London today to start the 5,500-mile trip back home.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

Toronto's Frank Mahovlich who scored one goal and assisted on four others to lead Maple Leafs to a 6-4 victory over Detroit Red Wings.

Detroit's Howie Glover who scored three goals as Red Wings lost 6-4 to Toronto.

Chicago's Stan Mikita who scored two goals, including the winner as Black Hawks beat New York Rangers 3-2.

Trail Smoke Eaters Turn Down Offer To Play Chatham Maroons As Team Is Not In Shape, Says Manager Debasio

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—The world-championship bound Trail Smoke Eaters, taking the advice of one of their latest imported players, said Wednesday they have rejected an offer to play an exhibition game against Ontario's Chatham Maroons because the Ontario team is not in top condition.

Debasio announced at the same time that Smoke Eaters will play their last game in the Western International Hockey League Jan. 25, the day before leaving on the first leg of the overseas trip.

Two exhibition games are planned in Canada, Jan. 26 and 28, and the club hopes to have one against Winnipeg Maroons, currently touring in Czechoslovakia, and the other against the big six (Alberta) League all-stars in Calgary or the senior Moose Jaw Play-Mors in Saskatchewan.

Smoke Eaters' manager Ugo Debasio said he has been told by Darryl Sly, former Galt, Ont., Terrier player who was with Canada's Olympic hockey team last spring, that Chatham was not

Carmen Basilio's Future Hinges On Outcome Of Fight With Gaspar Ortega

NEW YORK (AP)—Carmen Basilio said Wednesday his ring future hinges on the outcome of his Saturday night television fight with welterweight contender Gaspar Ortega at Madison Square Garden.

The 33-year-old ex-welterweight champion didn't say flatly he would quit if he lost to the aggressive Mexican. Basilio is a 7-5 favorite.

"Saturday night will determine whether I go on further," said Carmen in reply to a question at a press luncheon.

He wouldn't go beyond that statement. The battle-scared scrapper did admit that his wife and many of his friends have asked him to call it a career. His is in the ring have slowed considerably.

"I'm all right, otherwise I wouldn't be fighting," he said. "I'm in this for money. No one has come around and offered me a $15,000 job so I'm fighting."

It is well aware, however, that there won't be much money in it for him if he doesn't beat Ortega, who is ranked tenth among the 147-pounders.

This is Basilio's first start since he was stopped in the 12th round by NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer in a title fight at Salt Lake City, June 29, Carmen weighed 156½ pounds that night. He has to make 153 or less for Ortega.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A fourth Gene Fullmer-Sugar Ray Robinson middleweight title fight is 95 per cent settled, said promoter Norman Rothschild Wednesday. "I'm confident we'll be able to come to terms with Robinson soon," Rothschild said after conferring with Sugar Ray and his advisor, George Gainford.

Rothschild said Feb. 25 is the target date for the television fight. Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Miami, Chicago and Salt Lake City are the possible sites, in that order.

"Fullmer has agreed to terms," said Rothschild. There's only a small difference with Robinson on television money."

Rothschild said Robinson has agreed to accept 25 per cent of the gate receipts but wanted $50,000 of the $150,000 TV money. "I offered him 20 per cent of the TV and upped it to 25 per cent today," said the promoter from Syracuse, N.Y. "That comes

Gordie Howe Suffers Concussion, Mahovlich Gets Goal No. 34

Suffers Gash Over Right Eye, Needs 10 Stitches To Close Gap, Leafs Win 6-4; Hawks Rally To Nip Rangers 3-2

Detroit's Gordie Howe was hurt, Toronto's Frank Mahovlich scored his 34th goal and a couple of lesser lights had big nights around the goal mouth in National Hockey League play Wednesday night.

Howe, one of hockey's all-time greats, suffered a concussion and a gash over his right eye that required 10 stitches when he collided with Toronto's Eddie Shack in a game between the Red Wings and Maple Leafs at Toronto.

He was taken to Toronto General Hospital where X-rays showed no fracture.

He will miss a return game between the two teams in Detroit tonight and hospital authorities said they would like to keep him for two or three days for further observation.

Toronto, powered by the Mahovlich-Red Kelly-Bob Nevin trio, won the game 6-4 to move within four points of league-leading Montreal Canadiens in the standings.

Rookie Howie Glover scored three of Detroit's goals, the first three-goal performance by a Red Wing in one game this season.

In another game at New York, sophomore centre Stan Mikita scored twice in the third period to help Chicago Black Hawks to their fifth consecutive victory, a 3-2 decision over the Rangers.

Montreal, idle until Saturday, has 51 points and Toronto 47. The Hawks moved into sole possession of third place with their victory. They now have 40 points while the Red Wings, who have 38, dropped to fourth.

HEAD HIT ICE

Howe, 32, was injured midway through the first period when he collided with Shack. He fell to the ice with blood flowing freely from his forehead. Films showed he hit the ice with his forehead and it appeared this caused the cut.

Shack received a major penalty for highsticking.

The Toronto leftwinger said in the dressing room he saw Howe at the last minute as he crossed the blue line to his left.

"I brought my stick up and tried to jump out of his way," he said. "It was either him or me. I hit him with my glove, not the stick."

Howe, second to Montreal's famous Maurice (Rocket) Richard for the most goals scored in a lifetime, has only missed two games through injuries since the 1957-58 season.

Mahovlich, high-flying leftwinger, scored his 34th goal in 38 games early in the third period. He also picked up four assists during the game to vault into second place in the league's individual scoring race.

He now has 50 points, six less than Montreal's Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

Nevin and Kelly each scored twice and Dick Duff got the other Toronto goal.

SCORE FOR DETROIT

Glover got his first goal in the opening period and added two more late in the second. The other Detroit goal went to Murray Oliver.

Chicago's Mikita, on a hot scoring streak, scored his second goal of the night at 15:18 of the last period to break a 2-2 tie at New York. His first came early in the same period.

He now has scored seven goals in his last five games. He had only three goals in Chicago's first 33 games.

Bobby Hull got the other Chicago goal while Andy Hebenton and Red Sullivan tallied for New York.

Hebenton's goal at the 54-second mark of the third period snapped a shutout streak by Chicago goalie Glenn Hall that had reached 192 minutes and 26 seconds.

Hall had not been scored upon since last Wednesday when Boston Bruins' Orval Tessier beat him in the eighth minute of the second period. He shutout the Red Wings twice by 3-0 scores last weekend before being beaten at New York.

The Hawks move to Boston for a game with the Bruins tonight.

SAM SNEAD AT MID OCEAN — The world's most famous golfer, Sam Snead, hits his tee shot toward the 7th green, a par three. Snead and young pro Mason Rudolph battled each other on Bermuda's Mid Ocean Club course during a match in the nationally televised "World Championship Golf" series. It was at Mid Ocean's 16th, shortly after this picture was taken, that Snead lost the match when he four-putted for a double-bogie six. Mid Ocean is one of four 18 hole courses which await visiting golfers to Bermuda.

B.C. Lions Must Have Pretty Good Dope Placing Bob Schloredt On Their Negotiation List, Is Interested

By JACK SULLIVAN

British Columbia Lions must have had some pretty good inside dope when they put Bob Schloredt of the Washington Huskies on their negotiation list. Even National Football League clubs passed up the one-eyed quarterback in their 20-round draft of college players.

The Lions have been sweet on Schloredt for months and they've already opened the purse strings to the signal caller who led the underdog Huskies to a 17-7 victory over Minnesota in last Monday's Rose Bowl. The Western Interprovincial Football Union club gave him the royal treatment last November.

Schloredt was a guest of the Lions at Vancouver for the Nov. 26 Ottawa-Edmonton Grey Cup final and it's a safe bet that general manager Herb Capozzi and head coach Wayne Robinson buttered him up. With the departure of Randy Duncan, the all-America quarterback from Iowa after the WIFU season, Lions are desperate for a replacement.

WILL TAKE NEW LOOK

Schloredt could be their boy, but they aren't out of the woods yet. No other Canadian club can grab him but he is still bait for NFL and American League teams.

It is possible the NFL teams star college team in the U.S. in 1958 as he led the University of Iowa to its second Big Ten Conference and Rose Bowl titles.

There is something of a parallel in Schloredt's case. In the 1959 Rose Bowl he was voted the outstanding player of the game and the honors went to him again this year.

After last Monday's performance, NFL scouts and coaches might change their mind and go after him. The Lions are ready.

Two weeks ago club president Ralph Henderson said he was a little hurt when some players on their negotiation list were claimed by NFL clubs. "But what it really means is that we'll have to bid higher," Henderson said. "The fact that the NFL has drafted them doesn't mean they are lost to us, or that we'll give up trying to get them."

In February, 1959, they signed the 21-year-old Duncan who had resisted offers from Green Bay Packers of the NFL and pleas from Iowa and Wisconsin fans. At that time he signed a two-year contract for an unofficially estimated $35,000 for two years.

He was Green Bay's first choice in the annual draft and when he finally decided to turn professional, he was besieged with letters from fans urging him to accept the NFL club's offer. He had made almost every all-

Mount Orford Ski Club's Double Chair Lift To Open Tomorrow, Official Ceremony To Be Staged Sunday Jan. 22

MAGOG — (Special) — The double chair lift at the Mount Orford Ski Centre will operate for the first time tomorrow, Friday.

An official opening ceremony will take place Sunday, Jan. 22, when members of parliament, officials of regional municipalities and ski clubs will be present.

The new double lift at Orford is the longest in Canada, 5,500 feet long, and Mount Orford provides the highest ski drop in Quebec Province, 1,500 feet.

Designed in Switzerland, the lift will carry 800 skiers an hour to the summit. Depending on the number of riders, it will take from twelve to fifteen minutes for each skier to reach the top and no place in the complete ride, will skiers be more than 45 feet off the ground.

Two of the four scheduled Canadian senior championship ski races will be held at Mount Orford this season. The first will be the Canadian Alpine Championship, taking place on February 18 and 19, and the Adams Memorial Races, March 11 and 12th.

Officials of the Mount Orford Ski Club have complete satisfaction in their new lift and noted that it will be used in both of the two featured championship competitions slated for February and March.

National Baseball League Adopt "Sane And Orderly" Route For New Expansion Plans, To Release Men

NEW YORK (AP) — The National League, following the "sane and orderly" route to expansion prescribed by baseball commissioner Ford Frick, has set up a committee to study means of securing players for Houston and New York, the clubs to be added in 1962.

At the same time, major league club owners will decide, in a mail vote, whether to allow the newcomers to enter into working agreements with minor league clubs this season to develop players.

The five-man committee composed of general managers is to make a report to the National League at its mid-summer meeting. The results of the mail vote, which would give Houston and New York a chance to sign free agents and call them up from the minors at the end of this season, should be known within two weeks or so.

That's a relatively leisurely pace compared to the American League's hurried and harried expansion program, which burst upon the scene in October and which calls for a 10-team operation when the 1961 season opens in April.

Muzz Patrick Of Rangers Is Ready To Trade Or Sell Most Everyone In An Effort To Build His Faltering Club

NEW YORK — Muzz Patrick, general manager of New York Rangers, said Wednesday he is still looking for talent to beef up his faltering National Hockey League squad and is ready to trade anyone—if the price is right.

Patrick was asked if he is working on a swap with Toronto Maple Leafs that would include Andy Bathgate, his star right winger and, in Patrick's estimation, "one of the 10 best hockey players in the world."

"The way we're going now, we'd deal with anybody to help the team."

Patrick was told there was talk he'd offered to sell Bathgate to Toronto but that their price was too high.

"I'm not asking too much," he protested. "I am just asking more than they offered."

A shakeup appears to be in the offing.

Right wing rookies Ken Schinkel and Pat Hannigan have been told bluntly to start scoring or say goodbye.

After a 13-goal rookie year with the Rangers last season,

Sugar Kings Sign Lease For Stadium

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — The Jersey City baseball club, formerly Havana Sugar Kings, and the city have signed a lease for use of Roosevelt Stadium for another season.

Two changes were made in the original lease under which the International League club operated for six weeks last summer after being transferred from Havana. The first calls for the elimination of 25-cent parking fee.

The second changes the team's name from Jersey Reds to Jersey City Baseball Club. They'll probably be called the Jerseys.

The club is operated by Cincinnati of the National League.

When buying a pair of skis for the coming season a skier must first of all decide whether he will use one or two pairs in competition. Today we shall deal with buying two models.

The main differences between slalom and downhill skis are with (the slalom being narrower) and side camber (the slalom having more, which makes the ski turn readily). Downhill skis come equipped with hidden edges, that is, no screws showing. These are also available on slalom skis but I prefer the standard interlocking steel edge as it can be sharpened more often and stands up under hard use on rough conditions which you usually find in practice.

Downhill skis come with the Kofix type base which is considered to have the lowest coefficient of friction of any known substance in other words it's fast! This is used by the majority of racers, including myself, on this model of ski. It is also becoming popular on slalom skis, but here I still choose the Cellox type base, which I used in Squaw Valley. Both bases must have the proper care which I shall discuss at a later date. Cellox has the advantage of not absorbing water as easily as Kofix. Thus the ski has a longer "life." In slalom where speed is very much controlled, the infinitesimal difference in speed doesn't count.

The length of my slalom skis is measured from the floor to the palm of my hand (Fig. 1) the normal ski length. I believe that a downhill ski shouldn't be more than ten centimetres longer than the slalom ski; and for girls this may be too long. Length to a certain extent depends on a person's strength and ability.
