Von Mackensen And Von Falkenhayn Continue Advance At Different Points—Two Enemy Torpedo Boat Destroyers Sunk By British In Engagement In English Channel—British Only Lost An Empty Transport — Destroyer Missing — Operations On Somme And Macedonian Fronts Hampered By Bad Weather

Rumania, caught in the grip of two invading forces of the Central Powers, is still struggling desperately to ward off the incessant attacks of Field Marshal Von Mackensen and General Von Falkenhayn.

Advancing northward in Dobrudja Von Mackensen's troops have reached a line running from Hirsova, on the Danube, to Casapkeui, on the Black Sea coast, from forty to sixty miles from where they crossed the Constanza-Tchernavoda railway line. The capture of Hirsova would give to the Teutonic allies the advantage of having little marshy ground to traverse should they attempt to make a crossing of the river here into old Rumania, as the low lying ground virtually disappears for some distance around Hirsova.

General Von Filkenhayn continues to make progress in the direction of Campulung, south of Predeal, on the Transylvania front, and Bucharest admits a retirement of the Rumanian forces in the Jiul valley, which is situated in the Vulcan Pass region. The Russo-Rumanian forces, to the north, have repulsed Austro-German attacks, while in the Uzul valley the Rumanians continue to advance and in the region of Okna have occupied a height and a village.

Inclement weather is hampering the operations on the Somme and Macedonian fronts, and only bombardments have taken place in these regions. Another attempt by the Germans in an attack west of the village of Douaumont in the Verdun region was checked by the French curtain of fire. The Germans are still heavily bombarding all the newly won positions of the French in this region.

On the eastern front in Russia there has been little fighting, except in the region of the Shara river north-west of Pinsk. Near Goldovitchi a German attack forced the Russians to retire to the eastern bank of the Shara.

In an engagement in the English Channel between British and German torpedo boat destroyers two German destroyers were sunk, according to London, while the British lost an empty transport. In addition a British torpedo boat destroyer is missing and another was run aground after it had been disabled by a torpedo.

SHIPS UNDER CONSTRUCTION.

London, Oct. 27—Lloyds register of shipbuilding for the quarter ended Sept. 30, shows there were 469 merchant vessels of 1,789,054 tons under construction in the United Kingdom at the close of that quarter against 440 vessels of 1,540,218 tons in the June quarter and 432 vessels of 1,536,177 tons in the September quarter of 1915. Of the vessels under construction 135 at under 500 tons gross, 58 between 4,000 and 5,000, 47 between 6,000 an 8,000, 23 between 8,000 and 10,000, 16 between 10,000 and 20,000, 9 between 15,000 and 25,000, one of 30,000 and two between 30,000 and 40,000 tons.

GERMANY'S NEW RULE.

London, Oct. 27—The captain of the Rowanmore was taken a prisoner on board the German submarine before the steamer was torpedoed, according to the members of the crew, all of whom landed safely at Bantry, Ireland, today.

He is the first victim, so far as is known, of the announced plan of Germany to regard captains of all merchant vessels captured as prisoners.

DUTCH PROTEST TO HUNS.

London, Oct. 27—The Dutch government has protested to Berlin against the violation of neutrality by a Zeppelin last week, says a Reuter despatch from The Hague.

A despatch from Amsterdam under date of October 23 said that on October 22 a Zeppelin had dropped a bomb near Gorkum, 22 miles south-east of Rotterdam, and that Dutch newspapers were indignant over the reported act.

ADDING INSULT TO INJURY.

Amsterdam, via London, Oct. 27—As a measure of restraint against Norway, says the Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant, Germany has notified Dutch firms that they must not use German iron for repairing Norwegian vessels. Unless they comply they will be deprived of further supplies and material from Germany.

REGISTRATION AND CARE OF THE SOLDIERS' GRAVES

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT HAS RECEIVED A MEMORANDUM FROM WAR OFFICE DEALING WITH THIS IMPORTANT WORK—IDENTITY OF MEN.

Ottawa, Oct. 27—The government has received from the War Office a memorandum relating to the registration and care of soldiers graves. As so many Canadians are deeply concerned in this information it is desirable that it should be given the widest publicity. The memorandum says in part:

"During the present war a branch of the Adjutant-General's Department has been created to care for and preserve the identity of the graves of British officers and men. Units were established for this purpost in France and Belgium shortly after the battle of the Marne, in Egypt and Saloniki recently, and an officer has now been dispatched to Mesopotamia.

"The director of graves registration and enquiries is the officer directly responsible for this work. The duty of the graves registration units is to register the position of graves and to see that they are marked with durable wooden crosses bearing a metal inscription giving the name, number, rank, regiment and date of death.

"While these units have been successful in registering and marking a large number of graves at the front and many in advanced position, where they might otherwise have been lost, it is not possible, and never will be possible, to obtain a record of all graves. If, as it is to be feared, the enemy have in many instances not marked the graves of British officers and men buried within their lines, a number of graves will be irretrievably lost. In some cases, even within our own lines, though graves have been marked the position is too exposed for a correct plan and survey to be made; in others every trace of a burial ground having been obliterated by the enemy's shell fire there is no hope of reconstructing the cemetery so that individual graves may be recognized. Again, during heavy fighting burials are often carried out under circumstances which make it impossible to take, or at any rate to transmit an accurate record of the positions of graves.

"Early in 1915 it became necessary to make definite arrangements with regard to the provision of land in France for the burial of British officers and men. Up till then, and particularly during the retreat and the subsequent advance to the Aisne, burials had often taken place in isolated graves which were, wherever practicable, cared for with reverence and respect by the French peasants and owners of land, and in a few cases, permanent concessions of land were offered. By this time however French civil cemeteries were being more regularly used and it was also possible to arrange for special burial grounds. The director of graves registration and enquiries approached the French government, through the French military authorities on the matter. The French government immediately expressed the desire to provide land for permanent resting places for British officers and men at the cost of the French nation, and a law was passed which gave effect to this generous impulse, on December 29th., 1915. Since then, in co-operation with the French army, the directorate has established authorized burial grounds immediately behind the British front and near the field ambulances, the casualty clearing stations and the hospitals further back. Soldiers are employed, under the officers of the graves registration units, to look after these burial grounds. In the case however of a battle or severe fighting, isolated burials necessarily still take place

"The French government further offered to maintain these cemeteries. The British government has, however, in agreement with the French government, undertaken to provide for their maintenance in perpetuity and has appointed a national committee to care for the graves of our officers and men after the war. With the King's consent the Prince of Wales has accepted the presidency of this committee.

"Communication on the subject should be addressed to the Director of Graves Registration, War Office, St. James Square, London. Relatives are asked to bear in mind that some time may elapse before graves are properly recorded, that it is not possible to arrange for the distribution of flowers for individuals; that circumstances not infrequently arise which make it undesirable in the interests of the military situation to disclose the position of a grave and that exhumation of bodies during the war is prohibited. Photographs of graves that are accessible to the photographers will be furnished to relatives on application free of cost as soon as possible."

INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL.

Organized in Germany for Manufacturing Purposes.

Berlin, Oct. 27, via London—Virtually the entire German manufacturing industry has been united in a single organization for the first time through the formation here yesterday of a so-called German industrial council. The new organizations forms a connection link between the older organization, the Central Association of German Industrials, the League of Industrials and the Society of Chemical Industries. These organizations which have been working together since the outbreak of the war, resolved to form an alliance on a permanent basis in order to meet new conditions after the war and to co-operate in the recovering of Germany's lost foreign trade.

STEAMER AFIRE REACHES PORT

SS. CHICAGO WITH FIRE IN HOLD DOCKS AT PORT IN AZORES ISLANDS.

New York, October 27—Cable ship news from London received here today stated that the French Line SS. Chicago, which left Bordeaux Oct. 22 for New York with 265 passengers on board, was heading for Fayal, the Azores, with a fire in her No. 3 hold. The cable added that the Chicago was expected to reach Fayal to-day This report was confirmed by a cable message from Lloyds, London, to the Maritime Exchange here.

Officials of the French Line said they had received no word direct of the Chicago. Cablegrams filed to the home office of the line and to Fayal had not been answered up to a late hour to-day. Absence of direct word, French Line officials here said, lead them to believe that the fire is not serious and the passengers on board are in no immediate danger.

The Chicago carries only second and third class passengers in addition to freight. The day she sailed the line here was advised she had 167 cabin and 98 steerage on board. The ship carries in addition a crew of about 200. The ship is registered at 10,502 tons. With the Rochambeau and Lafayette of the same line since the war began she has provided one of the main arteries of commerce for France with this port.

Lines at Fayal.

London, October 27—The French Line steamer Chicago has arrived at Fayal, Azores Islands, according to Lloyds. The utmost is being done to extinguish the fire aboard the steamer

Among the advantages that stand out prominently in the specifications of the Overland Model 75, is the cantilever type of rear springs with which this lowest priced Overland car is equipped.

These springs differ from the ordinary double-action type in that they make allowance for yield in the direction of the car's travel, as well as the upward and downward movement of the car's body. They are so designed as to reduce to a minimum the jolts and jars caused by the driving over rough country roads or uneven-city pavements

In joining a cantilever type spring with the axle of a car the connection is made at the rear end of the spring instead of in the middle This permits a free backward and forward motion which springs of the conventional type do not allow. When the wheels of the car strike a bump or rut, the reaction is directed backward at a slight angle instead of straight upward against the springs.

By the cantilever method, the spring moves up and down one-half the usual speed. As the action therefore is slower than gravity, the resultant effect is that after the most severe bump the passenger sinks back into the seat cushion before the spring can cause the unusual rebound which doubles the shock.

Those who have ridden in the Overland Model 75 declare that even over the roughest bumps tonneau passengers experience little or no discomfort.

ANNOUNCEMENT NEW FOUR-PASSENGER ROADSTER.

The Gray-Dort Motors Ltd., of Chatham, Ont., have announced a new four-passenger roadster, deliveries on which are now being made. The new car is a commodious small party conveyence and its remarkably snappy style and marvellous power have already evoked much favorable comment from automobile critics.

This new Gray-Dort "Shamrock" roadster is a development of the style recently introduced into the States. The "Service" merits of this design have won much popularity amongst motoring enthusiasts and the Gray-Dort model embodies this dominant idea very effectively. Sturdy and strong with ample power, easy to drive in traffic or afield, this roadster has a distinct appeal to those seeking a car with roadster qualities and yet greater capacity.

The special feature of this Gray-Dort roadster is the arrangement of the seating accomodation. The seats are placed in a shamrock—2 seats right and left in front of an extra-wide rear seats.

This new roadster takes the same strong chassis as their 5-passenger car. It is equipped with the same wonderful motor designed by Etienne Planche, and has added refinements in the way of up-to-date fixings that makes it complete to the last degree.

Recently when driven to Detroit the Gray-Dort Roadster drew a lot of attention from auto-experts in the motor metropolis. Many admirers were so enthusiastic about its high quality that they placed orders at once. The price is $885.00 f. o. b. Chatham.

WHAT IS BEHIND THE TEUTON MIND.

Austrian Resistance To The Pan-German Plan.

London Chronicle in its "Sidelights from Germany" says: Undoubtedly at the back of the German mind there is a belief that even if the worst coms to the worst, a Greater Germany will emerge from the war. Of course the "worst" could only be the collapse of Austria-Hungary—beyond that even the most pessimistic imagination refuses to go—and the isolation of the Fatherland, but out of the ruins of the ancient Hapsburg edifice a larger German Empire would emerge, strengthene dby the addition of the Tyrol and all German Austria, including Vienna, and raised to the population standard of the United States and almost even of non-Aciatic Russia by the addition of some 20 million Austrian Germans to the existing 70 millions or so of the Empire Such a nation would, it is believed, be well able to look after itself, even if it had to stand alone in the world.

But this Pan-German concept is not at all shared by the ruling classes in the Dual Monarchy, and a signficant warning against it is issued in the official organ of the officialdom of Croatia, which, hypocritically enough, pleads the rights of the "non-German nationalities" of the Monarchy against such a policy. Count Andrassy, who is evidently aiming at the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Ministership, is particularly warned against the Pan-German design.

"Before beginning his campaign in the Budapest Parliament," it says, "against Count Tisza and Baron Burian, Count Andrassy made a visit to Berlin. There can be no doubt that in Berlin he came into contact with non-official circles that could not fail to influence him. It should not be forgotten that in Germany there are circles that put before themselves as their war aims the realisation of certain plans that are not, and cannot be, in the interest of the non-German nationalities of the monarchy, and particularly of the Croats.

"We cannot prophesy what the course of events will be but the interests of the non-German nationalities of the monarchy are not identical with the interests of the Germans who demand the unification of all the Germans. A careful eye must be kept on Count Andrassy's doings; if he is going to take Count Burian' place, he is not unlikely to go hand in hand with those who desire the realisation of Pan-German schemes through the Alliance of 1879 and to the detriment of the peoples of Southern Austria."

Anglophils and Russophils.

Russia or England—with which of these two countries shall Germany make up after the war? This has become a dividing question between two schools of thoughte in Germany, and a good deal of violent polemic is being wasted on the matter. Broadly the one school is radical and progressive, and represented by the "Frankfurter Zeitung"; the other is reactionary, and its characteristic mouthpiece is the "Deutsche Tageszeitung."

In a recent issue the "Frankfurter" argued the possibility and desirability of "an understanding with England" after the war. England was warned not to count too much upon Russia. British Democratic tendencies could not be arrested, and asked the "Frankfruter" ironically, "Shall then the Tsar become a constitutional monarch and the Russian bureaucracy a mass of obedient clerks dependent upon Ministers chosen from among the members of the Duma, simply in order to please England?" No; intimacy between England and Russia was impossible, and an understanding with Germany would better suit England's interests. As for the English side to any such bargain, the "Frankfurter" remarked hopefully that "a certain last remnant of confidence must surely have remained even amongst enemies."

Against this article the "Deutsche Tageszeitung" rages violently. It denounces the picture of England painted by the "Frankfurter" as utterly false. "The longer the war lasts, the clearer and less doubtful it becomes to everybody that Great Britain is not only the organiser and cause of this war for the annihilation of Germany, but also the soul and driving force of the enemy coalition. The number of those who hesitate to believe this is dwindling every day. Even in the very heart of Social Democracy the recognition has gained ground almost without exception that England is the one enemy—the soul of our adversaries."

Consequently Germany must turn to Russia. "We entertain no idle dreams of Russo-German friendship; we should prefer to remove the word 'friendship' from such relations. But an understanding between Germany and Russia might be reached on purely military grounds and on a basis of relative military strength."

German Propaganda Still Raging.

The German is not a persuasive person, but he has a unique talent for organisation. Both this quality and this defect are reflected in the German propaganda abroad. It has been magnificently organised and, at the same time, a magnificent failure.

So far from being discouraged, the directors of the German propaganda machine are increasing their efforts. A few days ago a Dutch newspaper, "Het Vaderland," gave details:—

"Dutch editors of daily newspapers were informed of the organisation of the so-called 'Patriotic Bureau,' a sort of agency which is devoted to contradicting through telegrams and written articles all news unfavourable to Germany.

"Afterwards news agencies sprang into existence, officially subsibised by the German Government, which undertook to suppiy, either gratis or at a small charge, the papers of neutral countries with all sorts of news about Germany.

"Hand in hand with this propaganda, organised and conducted by professional journalists, goes another, in which the whole German people is participating.

"Hardly a single letter or any printed matter arrives from Germany, even though it deals with affairs that have nothing to do with the war, without the sender's putting in something or other in defence of the German cause or enlightening the person addressed upon the state of mind of the German people, of course always putting things in a favorable light. Bills from German firms usually are supplemented with a propagandist leaflet. In a German book one usually finds enclosed among the leaves a pamphlet on Germany' innocence in the war."

"The White Flour Pinch"—have you felt it? With the advancing price of wheat "the seven-cent loaf is doomed," say the bakers. In its place we have the eight-cent loaf—in many cities only the sixteen-cent loaf. A loaf of white flour bread is not a complete ration. However wholesome and pure, it does not supply all the proteids the human body needs. In Shredded Wheat Biscuit you have all the body-building nutriment in the whole wheat grain prepared in a digestible form. It is always the same price, always the same high quality. Eat it for breakfast with milk or cream or with fruits.

RULES OF WAR.

The father of the rules of civilized warfare, which Germany has broken so ruthlessly, was Grotius, a native of Delft, who attempted to codify existing customs during the Thirty Years' War.

That was three hundred years ago, and his book soon became the basis of warfare, for when countries were fighting to extend their territory they were wise to recognize the advantages of propitiating their future subjects.

So punctilious were the old fighters that during the wars which followed the French Revolution those attacking the French actually paid hire for camping-grounds and for hospitals. Even more ludicrous was an incident which occurred during the fighting around Mainz in 1793.

An Austrian regiment, anxious to cross the river, were held up by the ferryman because he demanded ready-money for the toll. Rather than disobey the code by seizing the ferry for themselves, the Austrians calmly surrendered to the advancing French.

But France was fighting for her life, and disregarded the little niceties of the rules of warfare, and those of her enemies who still observed them faithfully were taken at a disadvantage, so by degrees the elaborate politeness disappeared.

But the Prussians have always acted on the ideas set forth by Clauswitz after Waterloo, which may be summed up in two of his sentences: "The use of force in war is abolute," and "Every idea of philanthropy in war is a most pernicious error."

THE FIRST STEAM ENGINES.

The first known use of steam to drive a kind of a steam engine was described by Hero of Alexandria, probably in the first or second century B. C. But the first real steam engines were those used at the end of the seventeenth and in the early eighteenth centuries for pumping water out of mines. Newcomen's engine was used in English mines about 1711.

The World's Greatest Motor Car Value!

Three things determine the value of a motor car. The standard of quality maintained; the care exercised in the manufacture; and the completeness of the equipment.

It is with these three things in mind that we make the unqualified statement that the Maxwell is the world's greatest motor car value.

Every ounce of material that enters into the construction of the Maxwell must pass a rigid inspection. Our chemical and analytical laboratories are not surpassed by those of any other industrial institution in the world.

The best steels obtainable, heat treated according to the most scientific methods, are used. No motor car has better materials throughout.

In manufacture the Maxwell is built with exacting precision. There is an absolute interchangeability of all parts. There is no waste of time, material or labor.

If you could see the four mammoth plants that produce the Maxwell—go through them, study how they are operated—you would immediately declare that the Maxwell is well built.

And the third feature which means value is the equipment. The Maxwell is a whole car. There is nothing to buy extra. The car stands as complete as you want it, no matter how particular you may be. Every accessory you have in mind is a part of the regular equipment.

When you know the Maxwell it is easy to understand that it is indisputably the world's greatest motor car value!

POPE ENJOINS CATHOLICS TO CEASE ALL VARIANCES

DIVISION ON LANGUAGE QUESTION ENDANGERING THE PEACE WITHIN THE CHURCH—NEWSPAPERS ENJOINED TOO—SUPREME THING IS TO HAVE CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

An encyclical from Pope Benedict, addressed to Cardinal Begin, dealing with the language question and the differences between the French-Canadian and the English-speaking Roman Catholic, is published here today.

After stating that the cause of disagreement is manifest, an appeal is made for the faithful, who are enjoined to end the dissensions that endanger the bonds of peace and concord in the church. Then the Catholic newspapers are appealed to not to fan flames of discord among the faithful.

After mentioning the special points at issue in Ontario, the encyclical adds:

"Let the Catholics of the Dominion remember that the one thing of supreme importance, above all others, is to have Catholic schools."

Text of the Encyclical.

To our beloved son, Louis Nazaire Begin, Cardinal Priest of the Holy Roman Church, Archbishop of Quebec, and to the other Archbishops and Bishops of the Dominion of Canada.

POPE BENEDICT XV.

Our Beloved Son and Venerable Brethren: Greeting and Apostolic Blessing.

When divisions that endanger the mutual bonds of peace and concord arise within the Church, the office divinely committed to our care of feeding the Lord's flock strongly urges us to make every effort in our power to bring them to an end. What is there, indeed, more harmful to Catholic interests, or more opposed to the divine precepts and to the principles of the church than that the faithful should be divided up into factions. For "every kingdom divided against itself, shall be made desolate," and whenever Christians cease to be "of one heart and of one soul," they gradually wander away from the charity which is not only "the bond of perfection," but is also the first and foremost enactment of the Christian law, since the Saviour of mankind bequeathed it to His disciples as His last will and testament, and proclaimed it to be henceforth the sign and proof of the true faith: "By this shall all men know that you are my disciples, if you have love one for another."

Then, again, such dissensions, besides being totally in opposition with the spirit of Christ the Lord, produces also the baneful result of deterring more and more from the Catholic faith those who are beyond the fold, just as, on the other hand, fraternal concord and charity amongst Catholics have always been a great inducement to those outside the pale to enter the Catholic communion.

For this reason, venerable brethren, the contentions which for same years past have been enkindled amidst Canadian Catholics, otherwise so renowned for their faith and piety, are to us a cause of intense anxiety; and that those divisions have daily grown more bitter and have now been made public, we know from many and from the best sources, and we have learnt also from your own reports.

The cause of disagreement is fully manifest. There are Canadian Catholics of French origin and language, and there are those, who, though not all of one race, make use of the English tongue, and this constitutes for them a ground of contention and of strife.

French-Canadians assert that all proceeds satisfactorily in their Province of Quebec; but they complain that in Ontario and in other parts of the Dominion where there are a considerable number of inhabitants of their race, and where English is the language of the province, there is not sufficient regard for the French tongue, either in the sacred ministrations or in the Catholic Separate Schools. They wish, therefore, that priests should be appointed to the churches in due proportion to the number of Catholics of both languages, in such wise that in places where the French-Canadians form a majority, a priest of their language and race should be selected, and that in parishes, where they are in a certain number, French should be used in preaching and in the exercise of other sacred offices in the same way as English, and finally they desire that in the Separate Schools the children should be more fully and suitably taught the French language after their own manner.

On the other hand, it is put forward that in Ontario, and in the other English-speaking provinces, Catholics are in a minority compared to non-Catholics, though in some places French-Canadians are more numerous than Catholics of the other speech; that in the appointment of priests those who may and should eventually be converted to the true faith must be taken into account; that due consideration should be given to the language which is proper to the province and to other circumstances of place and of persons, and that the question cannot be settled on the sole basis of a minority of Catholics of one or other race. It is added that too often French-Canadian priests are deficient in the knowledge of English, or speak it imperfectly, or neglect it out of preference for their own tongue, and thus their ministry is of little efficacy or unequal to local exigencies. Then as regards Separate Schools, it is pointed out that if French were taught in the manner claimed by the French-Canadians, it would be greatly detrimental to the proper teaching of English, which is the language of the province, and prejudicial to the parents, who would be obliged, either to provide at their own expense that which is wanting in order that their children should be thoroughly and completely instructed in the English language, or else to abandon Catholic schools and send their sons to the public or neutral schools, which would be totally wrong. Finally, it is contended that this system of education may provoke the ill-will of the State authorities against the Separate Schools on the ground that they prove inadequate to the needs of the public welfare, and thus endanger the benefit of the law authorizing Catholics to have their own Separate Schools, which it is in the greatest interest of religion to safeguard and to maintain. And would that all these points were the subject of calm and peaceful debates! In fact, as if the nation or religion itself were at stake, these matters are so bitterly discussed in the daily and weekly press, in books and pamphlets, in private conversations and at public meetings, that men's minds get more and more passionately inflamed, and the conflict between the two contending parties daily becomes more hopelessly irremediable.

It is with a view to furnishing a fitting remedy to so grevious an evil that we desire to open our mind to you, Venerable Brethren, whom we know to be ever in close union with us. Rest assured then, that there is nothing you could do more pleasing to us that that you should make every utmost effort in peace and charity, to restore agreement and concord amongst the faithful committed to your pastoral care. To use the words of Paul the Apostle: "I beseech you, brethren, by the name of Our Lord Jesus Christ, that you all speak the same thing and that there be no schisms among you, but that you be perfect in the same mind and in the same judgment . . . . supporting one another in charity to keep the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace." For we are the children of the same Father, we sit at the same table, we share the same sacraments, and are called to the same happiness; baptized into one body, . . and in one spirit we have all been made to drink." "As many of you as have been baptized in Christ, have put on Christ;" "....where there is neither Gentile nor Jew, circumcision or uncircumcision, Barbarian nor Scythian, bond nor free, but Christ is all and in all."

If by reason of family or of race there is a disagreement amongst the faithful and "the vessels of the flesh are straitened,' then in accordance with the exhortation of St. Augustine, "the bounds of charity should be enlarged." When all cannot be amacably settled, nor solely by the law of charity, there are judges in the Church, placed there by the Holy Ghost, to whose decisions the faithful must submit if they want to belong to Christ and not to be considered "as heathens and publicans." Hence, in the contentions that divide Canadian Catholics regarding the rights and usage of the two languages in their churches and in their Catholic schools, judgment rests with the bisllops, and especially with the bishops of the dioceses where dissensions are particularly acute.

We, therefore exhort them to meet together, to carefully weigh and consider a matter of such importance, and, with a sole view to the cause of Christ and to the salvation of souls, let them lay down and decide that which they hold to be just and expedient. If for any reason the question cannot be settled and finished by their ruling, let them bring it before the Holy See, where the issue will be finally decided in accordance with the laws of justice and charity, in order that the faithful may in future preserve peace and mutual goodwill, as is befitting to the saints.

Meanwhile it is necessary that the daily and weekly papers which claim the honor of being called Catholic, should not fan the flames of discord amongst the faithful, nor forestall the judgment of the Church; and if those who write in them remain patiently and reservedly silent, of even further strife to calm excited feelings, they will surely accomplish a task well worthy of their profession. The faithful, too, should avoid discussing this matter in public gatherings, in public speeches or in Catholic meetings properly so-called, for it is all but impossible that speakers should not be carried away by party spirit or abstain from adding fuel to the fire already ablaze.

Now these injunctions which we give in our fatherly affection to all, are laid down in the first place for the clergy. As priests should be "the pattern of the flock from the heart." it is indeed quite unseemly that they should allow themselves to be wrought up by this storm of rivalry and enmity. We, therefore, lovingly urge them to set an example to others of moderation and gentleness, of reverence towards the bishops, of obedience finally, especially in matters of justice and of ecclesiastical discipline, and regarding which it is the Church's own right to decide. No doubt it would be greatly conductive to the spiritual welfare and concord of Catholics of both tongues, if all their priests were to know both languages well. Hence, we have heard, with notable pleasure that the teaching of French and English to clerics has been introduced in some seminaries, and we would suggest this as an example to others. In the meanwhile we urge all priests engaged in the sacred ministry to become thoroughly conversant in the knowledge and use of the two languages, and, discarding all motives of rivalry, to adopt one or other according to the requirements of the faithful.

But as the bitterest controversy is that concerning Catholic schools in Ontario, it seems fitting that we should mention some special points in that connection.

Nobody can deny that the civil Government of Ontario has the right to exact that children should learn English in the schools; and likewise that the Catholics of Ontario legitimately require that it should be perfectly taught in order that their sons should be placed on the same level in this respect with non-Catholic children who frequent the neutral schools, and that they should not be eventually less fitted for the higher schools or be disqualified for civil employments. Nor on the other hand is there any reason to contest the right of French-Canadians, living in the province, to claim, in a suitable way, however, that French should be taught in schools attended by a certain number of their children; nor are they, indeed, to be blamed for upholding what is so dear to them.

Nevertheless, let the Catholics of the Dominion remember that the one thing of supreme importance above all others is to have Catholic schools and not to imperil their existence, in order that their children, whilst receiving a literary education, should be taught to preserve the Catholic faith, to openly profess the doctrine of Christ, and to live in the exact observance of the Christian law. Love for our children, the good of religion and the very cause of Christ demand as much.

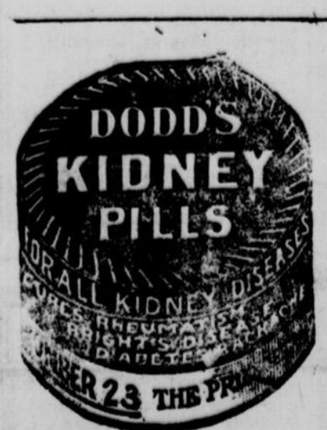

How these two requirements are to be met, namely, a thorough knowledge of English and an equitable teaching of French for French-Canadian children, it is obvious that in the case of schools subject to the public administration, the matter cannot be dealt with independently of the Government. But this does not prevent the bishops in their earnest care for the salvation of souls, from exerting their utmost activity to make counsels of moderation prevail, and with a view to obtaining that what is fair and just should be granted on both sides.

In conclusion, Venerable Brethren, we rely so confidently upon your faith and zeal, and we know so well how mindful you are of your duty and of the account to be rendered before the judgment seat of God, that we hold beyond doubt that you will leave nothing undone to put an end to the existing evils and to bring about the return of peace. Let all your thoughts and care be centred therefore on the aim that "all may be one and that they may be made perfect in one," as our Divine Master taught and prayed immediately before going forth to die upon the Cross. Let the words of St. Paul the Apostle re-echo in the hearts of the faithful under your charge: "One body and one spirit: as you are called in one hope of your calling. One Lord, one faith, one baptism. One God and Father of all, and through all, and in us all." In their mutual amity let the faithful be "kind one to another, merciful, forgiving one another, even as God hath forgiven you in Christ."

Meanwhile, as a pledge of heavenly graces and of our paternal love, we cordially bestow upon your, Our Beloved Son, upon you, Venerable Brethren, and upon the clergy and people of your respective flocks the apostolic blessing.

Given in Rome, near St. Peter's, on the 8th day of the month of September, 1916, the third of our pontificate.

FRENCH ROUNDING UP THOSE EVADING MILITARY SERVICE

SINCE DALBIEZ LAW, 208,000 HAVE BEEN BROUGHT TO TIME.

Paris, Oct. 27—In the course of a debate in the Chamber of Deputies today regarding "embusques" or those evading service at the front, General Roques, the Minister of War, stated that since the passing of the Dalbiez law 208,000 young men had been "recovered" from the civil zone and sent to the army zone. Many of them, he said, have been replaced by women, of whom 53,000 are employed on other work, than munition making.

Concerning the territorials in the civil zone General Roques declared their work was incessant, while the fighting regiments had time for repose.

"In the civil zone," the War Minister said, "there is always work to be done. It is a war of work. Never has there been a war in which so much work had to be done."

General Roques stated also that while French railroad employees had decreased fifteen per cent the traffic had increased forty per cent. beyond the normal, and the same thing was true of the postal service and mining. Young factory specialists the War Minister said, were replacing older specialists at the front, and the latter were being called home.

Some of it has been obliged to fall back on the 33rd. and 98th. regiments, which also had to retire.

"Sector V. (Von Raun's) was subjected to such fire that its observation post was put out of order. All sorties are being bombarded and one is occupied constantly in replacing them.

IMPORTANT WAR NECESSITIES.

A military expert with a genius for alliteration has said that modern military operations are based upon brains, boots and bellies.

Brains take premier place, for in matters military, as in everything else, it is the cerebral convolutions that make for strategy, sound planning, preparedness and success.

The well-known story of the "upper right-hand drawer" of the elder von Moltke, of Franco-Prussian war fame, illustrates that; and most of the successes in this war were a demonstration of brain efficiency.

And brains will still be needed to carry on this struggle.

Boots mean the numerical strength. Victory is certainly on the side of the big battalions; and men put in the field at critical junctures constitute the dynamic force of military strength.

Napoleon's famous saying, "that an army marches on its stomach," is still true. Indeed, it is questionable whether, after all, the commissariat is not of foremost importance. At any rate, its officers are indispensable.

Motor trucks have played a great part in the success of the combatants in Europe.

The German army, from information supplied by trustworthy sources, has put into the field approximately 80,000 motor trucks.

The French are using some 100,000, the English some 60,000 and the Belgians 6,000 motor vehicles.

These motor vehicles are being used for every conceivable purpose wherever a wheeled vehicle is needed in military operations.

Without these vast fleets of motorized equipment there can be little doubt but that the history of the European war would have been markedly different.

And the latest use those metamorphosed trucks—the "tanks"— have been put to which has terrorized the Germans.

THE REASON WHY.

The Liberal gathering at London leads the Montreal Mail to make the following comment:

"The form of assault was conspicuous by its absence. There was no effort at criticism of the militia department. Sir Wilfrid Laurier asserted in his speech that he would avoid such criticism and all the other speakers, however strong or sweeping their criticism, studiously followed his lead."

The Mail then asks the question: "In the name of conscience why?"

That question is easily answered. There is a perfectly good reason. It is not because the militia department is not amenable to criticism. That department has done most admirable work. But like every other department governed by mere men it has had its shortcomings, not vital, and most of them remediable through criticism as honest and helpful as the work of the department itself has been conscientious and thorough. Nor is it because Sir Wilfrid Laurier would consider the demands of patriotism in criticism of his opponents. Nobody is quite so simple as to believe anything like that.

No, the reason lies in the nature of the criticism presented by the Liberal leader and his followers. It is criticism designed not to strengthen an administration but to unseat a government. Its purpose is destructive, not helpful. The Liberal party has placed itself in a position where it cannot offer serviceable criticism. Every word has a partizan political meaning and intention. With regard to the administration of the war Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his followers know that the country will not stand that. Sir Wilfrid Laurier must wage a partizan warfare designed to prejudice, belittle and destroy his political opponents. So he must keep the war administration out of it, not for decency's sake but to avoid revolting the country. In this way the administration of the war is weakened by the absence of helpful criticism and Laurier, in the hope of gaining a victory for a political party, strikes without prejudice at his country as a whole, which is represented by the government in a crisis in which there should be no room for partizanship. The Liberal party has done its best to rear a party victory on the belittlement of the country and by involving it in petty partizan squabbles. The Liberal party has not succeeded in its efforts.

POLITICIAN OR PATRIOT?

Under the above caption the St. John Standard says it is quite evident that Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave the matter full and mature consideration before penning his refusal to join with the Premier in a united appeal to Canadians to don the khaki and participate in the fight for British liberty, now being waged on the battlefields of France and Flanders. He devoted a whole week to a mental canvas of the situation so it cannot be said either against him or in his favor that his decision was the result of hasty judgment. The action of the Liberal leader was a grievous error nationally—and will prove so politically—but it was only taken after due and deep thought.

Up to the formation of the National Service Commission ordinary methods of recruiting proved quite successful. They resulted in 370,000 men donning the king's uniform and thus signifying their willingness and ability to uphold the name of Canada and the Empire wherever duty called. But, because of the large numbers already enlisted and the great demand for men in all ranks of trade and industry—in many cases at wages considerably in excess of those prevailing before the war,—recruiting slackened and while the need for men remained as keen as at any time in the past two years the supply dwindled so appreciably that it became apparent at once that some other measures were necessary.

At this the National Service Commission was organized with the object of surveying the man power of Canada and obtaining information as to what men could be taken for military service at the minimum of dislocation to the business and industrial structure of the country. The Commission took the ground that a united appeal should be made to the people of Canada to assist in this work and the Premier, acting as the leader of the Government, solicited the co-operation of the Liberal leader in the furtherance of the plan. That a united appeal was desirable and necessary and that it was the opinion of most Liberals that Sir Wilfrid would accept the call, is indicated by the utterance of the Toronto Globe, which, after complaining of dilatoriness on the part of the Government, hoped "that Liberals in Parliament will refuse to be moved by party considerations, and that they will do everything patriotic Canadians can do to help the vital work of recruiting." The Globe then continued as follows:

"Men and more men are the need of Canada. A strong message to the people calling for recruits from a Parliamentary committee composed of Conservatives and Liberals cannot fail to do good. Such a proclamation should have been made long ago in the name of the Government. This, however, is not a time for party recrimination, but for united team work of all good Canadians in securing the half million men promised by Sir Robert Borden almost a year ago. The resignation of Sir Thomas Tait ought not to be the means of diverting the attention of the Canadian people from the great work of raising men in sufficient numbers to maintain Canada's forces at the front in undiminished strength till the end of the war. Give patriotism the right-of-way; let politics wait."

As the Toronto Globe is the chief organ of Liberalism in Canada its opinion was felt to be almost inspired, yet, in three days after the appearance of the article quoted, the Liberal leader set his face definitely against the Premier's proposal and on the most trivial sort of excuse refused to have anything to do with the appeal. In his action Laurier has ignored the advice of the Globe. He has given politics the right of way and allowed patriotism to wait. Truly a sad and belittling spectacle for the man once hailed by all English-speaking Liberals as the physical embodiment of patriotic statesmanship.

Sir Wilfrid has set a bad example to the members of his party. He has proven an unwise leader of his own people. He has not acted hastily, but after deliberate consideration, and what is the aim of his mistaken course? To create the belief among Canadians themselves that the appeal for recruits is not worthy united support.

A New Jersey dogcatcher claims to have been bitten 6,000 times. Bitten, indeed! That man hasn't been bitten; he has been Fletcherized!

PRESS COMMENT.

Afar, we know, the cannons roar today,
And men on brother-men in anger spring,
Striving for lasting peace as best they may—
But here, the late birds sing!

War has not darkened yonder Autumn sky,
Nor cast a shadow on the child at play;
But sons of ours go forth to do and die,
Tomorrow—or today!

Oh, skies of blue! Oh, heavy, hard-wrung land!
Oh, glowing Autumn day! I cannot sing!
My heart is heavy, but I understand
For God—and home—and King!

Let not the sacrifice be made in vain—
Let not our hearts with fruitless sorrow break;
We bore our sons in anguish and sore pain,
God, use the gift we make!

—Nina Moore Jamieson.

Wild birds are a great addition to the interest and pleasure of outdoor hours and Canadians and Americans who have a liking for the birds may share with each other a very strong feeling of gratification over the recent conclusion of the treaty under which Canada and the United States will co-operate in protecting insectivorous bird life. The treaty includes nearly all Canadian song birds, most of which are of great assistance to agriculture and horticulture in destroying insects.

An unqualified close season throughout the year is imposed by the treaty on all useful birds of migratory habits, enumerated as follows: Bobolinks, catbirds, chickadees, cuckoos, flickers, fly-catchers, humming birds, kinglets, martins, meadowlarks, nighthawks, nut-hatches, orioles, robins, shrikes, swallows, swifts, tanagers, tit-mice, thrushes, vireos, warblers, wax-wiugs, whip-poorwills, woodpeckers, and wrens, and all other perching birds that feed entirely or chiefly on insects. Except for the purposes of science or propagating, these birds, their eggs, or their nests may not be taken at any time.

Those who have fought for the protection of bird life for years, deserve much credit for this treaty, which is the greatest advance yet made by bird protectionists. There are many people who think that the motives in protecting bird life are largely sentimental, but the greatest reasons are economic ones, which may be appreciated when it is stated on excellent authority that the annual loss in the United States on farm and forest products, from the destructive work of insects, exceeds $500,000,000. As the losses are doubtless proportionately great in Canada, it is evident that every effort should be used to protect birds and all other enemies to insects.

The treaty, if property carried out, should enable bird life in Canada and the United States to increase and thrive as it never has been able to do before.—Vancouver Sun.

Shakespeare and Life Insurance

GREAT poets are not practical men as a general rule. Shakespeare was an exception. He was the most gifted poet of all the ages, yet there never was a more astute man of business.

That he appreciated the need for life insurance is clearly shown in the following lines from "The Merchant of Venice:"

"You take my house when you do take the prop that doth sustain my house; you take my life when you do take the means whereby I live."

The husband is the prop that sustains the house—the means whereby the inmates live—but life insurance makes possible the maintenance of the home, even though the husband or father be taken.

Under Mutual Life insurance policies a fixed income for life can be bequeathed to the widow or other beneficiary, payable in monthly instalments if desired.

This obviates the necessity of studying the intricate problem of investments. If you furnish your age and that of the beneficiary, we will be glad to quote rates and give particulars.

NO RELIEF FROM INTENSE ITCHING

Tells of "Wonderful Cure" by Resinol

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26—"I had eczema in the worst way for six months. A small pimple on my right wrist kept spreading until it was up to my elbows. It came out in spots and some places were like water blisters. The itching was intense and I had no relief whatever. My fingers were all covered with cracks and pained me very badly. My hands and arms were all scales. The burning was so bad it felt as if I had been turned to a blister and the blister rubbed off. I tried everything I could hear about, including many prescriptions, but had no relief. As a last resort I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. The itching STOPED AT ONCE. Before I had used Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap three days the redness had all gone, I could sleep nights—no itching or burning—and I felt like a new woman. People who knew me when I had this trouble were surprised at the wonderful cure." (Signed) Mrs. J. S. Walker, 97 Bartlett St., Charleston.

All druggists sell Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. For free samples, write to Dept. 6-S, Resinol, Blatimore.

ANOTHER REMINDER

We again take the opportunity to remind our customers that there is a scarcity of skilled jewellers, this condition applies to all parts of Canada, good workmen are few, for this reason we advise intending purchasers to place their orders at once; it will be difficult, if not altogether impossible, to have diamond rings or other jewellery made to order during the month of December. If you are placing an order for an engagement ring, do not delay, place your order with us now, and avoid delay and possible disappointment.

We have unset diamonds of the finest quality, which we set in platinum or in gold, in any style to suit the wearer's wishes; if the ring is to be given this year, the order should not be delayed.

COUNCIL VOTES ON RECRUITING GRANT

ALD. DUSSAULT (BELVELERE) ONLY MEMBER OPPOSED TO THE MOTION.

Only one member of the City Council opposed the recommendation of the Civic Finance Committee to make a grant of five thousand dollars to assist the battalions now being recruited in the City of Quebec, and that member was Ald. Dussault, of Belvedere Ward.

When the report of the Finance Committee was taken up last night Ald. Dussault held that the city had no right to vote such a sum and thought that it was the Dominion Government which should finance such matters. He considered that it was only heaping additional burdens on the shoulders of the taxpayers when the cost of living was increasing so rapidly. Foodstuffs were soaring at an alarming rate, and, strange to say, Canadian butter could be bought cheaper in London than in the city of Quebec.

Ald. Verret said he was proud to see the city making a sacrifice for a noble cause. Quebec had made sacrifices before and he hoped that the city would continue to do so.

Ald. Galibois spoke in favor of the grant and stated that he had a brother overseas and he would be proud to see his eldest son taking up arms in the cause of the Empire.

When the report was put before the Council for approval, Ald. Dussault (Belvedere) said "on division."

Ald. Verret asked him not to insist and to pass the grant unanimously, but the representative of Belvedere Ward insisted, and Ald. Dussault (St. Louis) who had moved the grant at the meeting of the Finance Committee demanded that the vote be called.

The grant passed on a division of eighteen to one, Ald. Dussault (Belvedere) being the only dissenter.

Patriotic Fund.

When the grant of $20,000 to the Canadian Patriotic Fund was considered Ald Dussault (Belvedere), seconded by Ald. Mercier (Belvedere) moved in amendment to the adoption of the report that a sum of $2,000 be deducted from it and granted to the French-Canadian Educational Association in Ontario.

Ald. Verret raised a point of order on the amendment and stated that the city was authorized by the Legislature to vote a sum of $1,000 whenever it was thought proper.

The point of order was upheld by the Mayor and the amendment was accordingly dropped.

Permanent Works.

A division of nine to nine was witnessed on a motion of Ald. Mercier of Belvedere, seconded by his colleague, Ald. Dussault, that the city seek $45,000 additional borrowing powers from the Legislature, $25,000 of which to be expended for permanent works in Belvedere Ward, and $20,000 for the opening of Chateauguay street.

The motion was lost as Mayor Lavigueur gave the deciding vote against it.

RECORDER'S COURT.

Three prisoners were charged at the Recorder's Court yesterday with drunkenness and were fined $5 and costs.

SPECIAL TAX ON LOCAL BACHELORS

CITY WILL SEEK AUTHORIZATION TO IMPOSE FIVE DOLLAR ASSESSMENT.

By a vote of 12 to 3 the City Council last night decided to apply to the Quebec Legislature at its next session for authorization to impose a special tax of five dollars besides the personal tax, on all bachelors in the City, who have reached the age of twenty-five and who are not householders.

The motion was proposed by Ald. Fiset seconded by Ald. Lockwell, and in supporting his motion Ald. Fiset said that while the members of the Council were seeking means of increasing the revenue they had overlooked one of the principal sources.

Ald. Galibois, commenting on the motion, termed it a clownish proceeding on the part of Ald. Fiset.

Ald. Fiset asked the Mayor to call the representative of Limoilou Ward to order and refused to sit quietly and be called a clown.

The Mayor asked Ald. Galibois to retract his statement, but the latter refused to do so.

The motion was carried on the following division:

For—Aldermen Gauvin, Glode, Paquet (Jacques-Cartier) Martin, Fiset, Verret, Lockwell, Theriault, Lantier, Pettigrew, Bertrand, and Paquet (St Sauveur). 12.

Against—Aldermen Galibois, Dussault, (St. Louis) and Dussault (Belvedere). 3.

Arrears in Taxes.

A motion by Ald. Verret seconded by Ald. Paquet, St. Sauveur, to increase the interest from 6 per cent. to 7 per cent. on arrears in taxes due the City was lost on a division of ten to four.

Would Reduce Pensions.

Ald. Galibois gave notice that at the next meeting of the Council he will move that the pensions of Mr. L. J. C. Lafrance, Ex-City Treasurer, be cut down from $3,000 to $1,000, that of Dr. Catellier, former Chief Civic Health Officer, from $2,000 to $1,000 and that of Mr. Edward Foley, former Clerk of the Recorder's Court from $2,000 to $1,000.

Mr. Edgar Becman as Paul Raymond and Mme. Paulette in the role of Jeanne Raymond added to their popularity in Quebec last night in one of Edouard Pailleron's best light dramas, "Le Monde ou l'on S'Ennine" which was presented with "Son Homme" in a double bill at the Auditorium.

WELSH FOUGHT LIKE CHAMPION

In The World of Sport

LAVAL DECLARED BASEBALL CHAMPS.

FREDDIE WELSH, FIGHTING LIKE CHAMPION, OUTPOINTED "RED" ALLEN LAST NIGHT

World's Champion Showed Great Speed, Science and Clever Footwork and Made Allen Look Very Foolish at Times —"Red" Fought Hard Fight—Palmer Shaded White—Simms Won—Dillon Won From Legare.

Freddie Welsh is not likely to lose his lightweight crown for some time yet, if his work against "Red" Allen before the Irish-Canadian Club at the Grande Allee Rink last night may be taken as a sample of what he can do and an indication of what reserve force he still possesses. The rink was jammed to the doors with a crowd which were astonished at the quick work of the champion and cheered Allen loudly for his aggressive but fruitle efforts to penetrate his wonderful defence. Welsh had a flashy left jab which he poked, not once at a time, but twice in succession in Allen's face whenever he chose to deliver it and he generally caught Red's wicked punches on his shoulder or arm or made them slide over his neck. It was a real boxing lesson for the crowd—and at the same time for Allen—and all who love the sport for the science that is in it, enjoyed every minute of the six rounds, though it lacked the real fighting essential. The guarding, countering and footwork of the champion against the determined assaults of the "Red" fellow were a revelation of defence work while the few times that Welsh adopted an offensive attitude he showed that he could land generally where he wanted to though never hard enough to give "Red" any worry about being dropped. "Red" landed but two really solid punches to Welch's face during the bout, but he worked very had and was doing better as the mill progressed. Had the bout gone ten rounds or more, Allen's showing would certainly have been more impressive as his great condition was beginning to tell while Welsh was a bit overweight.

There can be no denying that Welsh fought like a champion, and Quebec fans who witnessed the bout can now understand why he can enter the ring any time with any of the top-notchers of the game and emerge without much damage. His defence is almost perfect and his cleverness in close and shiftiness drew applause time and again.

He had a good word to say for Allen at the close of the bout, and pronounced him one of the toughest boys he has yet met in his tour of Red Cross exhibitions.

The bout was refereed by "Billy" Roche, and the latter di dnot exert himself to any extent, much to the disgust of some of the crowd, who thought he should have taken the bout more seriously. He broke his men at the right time generally, and his work was not hard.

Palmer Shaded White.

"Kid" Palmer, showed remarkable cleverness in the opening bout of the night against the aggressive Young Charlie White. White was outpointed for four rounds during which Palmer worked a nice left jab with telling effect. White ran into it time and again, but Palmer very often failed to follow up this advantage and the superior condition of the Cap Blanc boy began to tell while Palmer tired perceptibly. The fifth round found White getting under Palmer's left frequently and in the sixth White had a good shade. Palmer is a clever boy, and though he earned the decision on points last night, he does not possess the aggressiveness to carry him through to decisive win and had the bout gone a longer distance it would not have been surprising to see a White victory. It was a good bout full of action all the way and White's rally in the fifth and sixth rounds had the big crowd excited.

Simms Won Again.

Johnny Sommers failed to show up for his fight with Tony Simms, and Bilodeau, who substituted, after sticking out a round with the fast boy, took a clip at Referee Montminy in the second round, when the official was breaking up a clinch and Montminy promptly chased him out of the ring, and Simms was handed the bout which was his, anyway.

Legare Was Beaten.

After a gruelling battle, during which he absorbed a terrible amount of punishment, Soldier Legare of the Ninth, was sent to his corner by Referee Montminy in the fifth round of his bout against aPtsy Dillon, in order to avoid farther tests of his endurance. Legare outpointed Dillon during the first, second and third round, and Patsy seemed in for another licking. In the fourth, however he suddenly broke through Legare's defence and peppered the soldier hard. Legare showed any amount of gameness, and pluckily withstood the battering he received and fought back strongly, landing some hard rights which shook Dillon up. Towards the close of the fourth, however, Dillon floored Legare with a terrific swing to the head and the bell saved the soldier from a kayo. Legare seemed to come back in the fifth round for a while, but Dillon inspired by his success drove home some hard blows and after Legare had twice struggled to his feet, Referee Montminy considered that he was in no shape to continue the contest and stopped the bout, Dillon gaining a technical knockout.

One of the largest crowds which has ever attended a boxing match assembled last evening, and they were pleased with the program, though disappointed that Welsh could not have been induced to go ten rounds instead of six.

KING GOSSIP.

Well gents; Hats off to Mister Freddie Welsh. He looks like a real champion even if he didn't hurt "Red" Allen much.

* * *

Palmer is a good boexr, but lacks aggressiveness. He could have had a big edge on White, bbut lost a lot through his backwardness. But he is a clean, gentlemanly boxer.

* * *

Allen showed he was a game little "trier." He went at Welsh just the same as though the champ was a flivver, but it was no use.

* * *

Young Charlie White is a real fighter. If he knew as much about boxing as Palmer, he'd put it all over the latter, as he is continually on the go and sails right in.

* * *

White wants to meet Palmer over a ten round route. He thinks semi-wind-up bouts should be in order now.

Jack Britton will be a very busy fighter for the next four weeks, as he is booked for three bouts. On Nov. 10th he will tackle Frankie Barricau, the Canadian welterweight, for ten rounds, at the Cleveland A. C.; on November 14th he faces Tex Kelly of Chicago, for ten rounds at Kenosha, Wis, and on Nov. 20th, he goes against Walter Latze, for ten rounds, at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Britton's wife gave birth to an eleven-pound boy yesterday.

Archie Dunn, the New York featerweight, and a protege of Billy Pepey, was signed up yesterday to meet Young McAuliffe, in a ten round bout at the New Polo A. A., of New York, on November 3rd. Pepey will bring Dunn out here shortly to meet Frank Fleming, the Canadinan champion, before the Irish-Canadian A. Club at the Grande Allee Rink.

Danny Fields is very anxious to get back to Quebec to get a slam at Geo. Rivet. Fields will manage to get in town a week ahead of time, in order to be in good condition for Rivet; it won't be the case of "Red" Allen finishing stronger, it will be Fields winninig all the way," he says.

Joe Montminy did right to stop the bout when Legare looked to be all in. Some people want murder before they call a halt.

* * *

Montminy once pulled Dillon away from Legare, because Patsy had one hand on the ropes, and was slugging with the other, thus pinning Legare there. "Patsy" didn't like the referees action.

Dillon surprised every one by his showing against Legare.

LAVAL DECLARED CHAMPIONS OF BASEBALL LEAGUE

ST. ROMUALD REFUSED TO PLAY-OFF — LAVAL WILL PLAY ALL-STARS ON SUNDAY.

Tancrede Boucher the manager of the St. Romuald team threw a big surprise into local baseball circles yesterday when he announced that his team would not re-play their game with Laval on Sunday afternoon and therefore, the Laval baseball team are champions of the Quebec City and District Baseball league for the season of 1916.

According to president Bruneau, Boucher's only reason was that he could not bring his full team and that he was not satisfied to fight it out with Laval with the same team which he played the previous Sunday, preferring to give the championship to Laval by default than to have had the humiliation of being defeated by them inflicted.

Laval will play tomorrow afternoon against an All-Star team under the management of Lionel Letourneau who promises to have a worthy aggregation in the field to play the champions. Laval will likely play the Stars of Montreal here on Wednesday afternoon and then go to Montreal the following Saturday or Sunday for a return game with the Montreal City League champions.

Laval's victory, though rather marred by the fact that they were not given the opportunity of winning it directly on the field, is well earned and was sincerely fought for all summer. Manager St. Pierre, captain Paul Drouin and his players deserve every congratulation for their success. They may have become unpopular at times through their protests—but as these proved to be well-founded in all cases they were only exercising their prerogative and that the final game was not fought out on the field is no fault of theirs. They were ready for the Indians though they would have been weakened through the absence of Hennessy. Had they been given the same advantage as St. Romuald and been allowed to bring Sabourin down here for each game, they might have won the honors without a play-off.

Mr. Boucher's interview in the Montreal Star, has aroused the indignation of the local league officials. St. Romuald were not playing for the championship with Laval, though it amounted to the same thing— they were playing a game with Laval, which was ordered replayed because a protest had been sustained. It was a home match of the Laval club, yet the league gave the Indians fifty per cent. of the gate receipts (nett). St. Romuald received ninety dollars and Laval got eighteen dollars. Yet it was a home match for Laval. The St. Romuald club had the advantage all summer of playing on their own grounds where the crowd is bitterly partisan. The Exhibition Grounds is no more Laval than it is St. Pats, Patricias, Emmets or Victoria. The Indians got more support even on the Exhibition Grounds than Laval. Mr Boucher's interview to the "Star" is considered a slur on the local baseball league and there is a feeling amongst local baseball men that St. Romuald will never again be allowed a franchise in the Quebec and District League.

The All-Star team which will play tomorrow will have "Mike" Picard in the box with Gagnon behind the bat. The rest of the team will have such players as McLeod, Cloutier, Lussier, Savard, Worth, Acquin, Kirkwood, Poitras, Jones, or other good boys.

Mr. Bruneau will score. The umpires will be Messrs J. Ledden and J. Pouliot. Game starts at 1.30.

Sporting Notes

It's all over. Laval are champions. At last the big honor of local baseball goes to St. Pierre's club. They fought hard for it all summer and after all, no one will begrudge them the honors for they were ready to fight till the end and its the last round which sometimes counts the most.

* * *

St. Romuald's action is a big surprise, though not to those on the inside. Last Monday, Boucher was negotiating to play the Stars in Montreal before even going to the city league meeting which was to decide the play-off. But the Stars wouldn't have anything to do with any but the champion team. Laval will play the Stars here next Wednesday if negotiations are successful.

* * *

Letourneau's All-Stars will play Laval tomorrow afternoon. It is to be hoped that a large crowd will attend as it will help cover expenses of staging the post-season series with the Stars of Montreal.

* * *

Eddie Cline is playing with the Stars. It is possible that Sabouring may play with Laval in Hennessy's place in the series.

Paul Drouin intends seeking the admission of a Students club in the City League. Laval University Hockey Club always drew big houses when it played in the old league together with St. George, St. Patricks and Crescents and there is no doubt that its entry will be welcomed.

* * *

The Euchre and dance of the Emmet Baseball club will be held in the Emmet Hall on Tuesday evening, the 31st. Six valuable prizes are offered for the euchre competition.

* * *

The dinner of the Tipperary Baseball Club which was to have taken place tonight has been postponed until next Saturday.

* * *

The 228th battalion hockey team will be pretty strong. They have Lesueur in goal, Lieut. Art. Duncan, the Vancouver star, Lieuts. Howard MacNamara and George MacNamara for the defence and Goldie Prodgers, Gordon Meeking, Frank Foyston, Roxy Boudreau, Arbour, Merchant and a host of others to select a forward line.

* * *

The Ottawa Citizen says:—

Who said professional hockey players were not loyal? The following is a list of those who rallied round the flag: Allen Davidson (killed in action); Leth Graham, wounded; Fred McCollough, Victoria; Captain Howard McNamara, Lieut. George McNamara, Goldie Prodgers, Harry Broadbent, Art Duncan, Captain Nick Bawlf, Amos Arbour, Harry Meeking, Gordon Meeking, Gordon Keats, Jack Brown, Sergeant Percy Lesueur, Archie Briden, Teddy Oak, Allan Wilson, Donald Smith, Roxy Beaudro, Horace Gaul Steve Vair, Charlie Power, Joe Power, Rocket Power, Jack Marshall, Harry Cameron, Joe Malone, Jack McDonald and other are engaged in munition work. No Canadian players will be imported to the States for "amateur" hockey purposes during the coming winter. Those United States immigration officers have evidently convinced the clubs that they must not violate the alien labor law.

Coach Smith has a new phenom he intends to try out with the Ottawas during the coming winter. He is Albert MacDonald, who subbed for Goalkeeper Clint Benedict on the Ottawa lacrosse team during the past season. Mac played in the Lower Ottawa league and is said to be a real cyclone.

TEN-MILE RACE.

Long Distance Runnres Will Compete for U. S. A. A. U. Championship.

New York, Oct. 27—Thirteen long-distance runners will compete here tomorrow in the ten mile race for the National A. A. U. championship title. Hannes Kolehmainen, the titleholder, is going to run unattached, having decided not to represent the Irish-American A. S. any longer.

W. J. Kennedy, formerly of Chicago, also will run unattached, and with the exception of James Henigan, Dorchester Club, Malden, Mass., all the other runners will represent clubs in the metropolitan district.

Prior to the big run the national seven mile walk championship will be decided, but last year's winner and world's champion, George Goulding, of Toronto, Ont., will not be here to defend his title. Goulding's failure to appear takes the edge off this event.

SOME DIFFERENCE.

The difference between the end of a barber and that of a sculptor is that one curls up and dyes, while the other makes faces and busts. The fact that the barber has to scrape around for a living and even then only gets it by a close shave, also that the sculptor often cuts up rough whilst earning his bread does not alter the circumstances. Most of us are neither barbers nor sculptors, and it is none of our funeral.

But we might as well all curl up and die when the Germans come over here. What's that? They're not coming? How do you know? O, I see,—our boys over there won't let them. But who told our fellows to go over there and stop them. Maybe it was you and me and the rest of them, when we cheered them on, and wished them luck, yes, and prayed for them. But now they are calling from the trenches for us to go over and give them a hand. Surely they have done enough for us; won't we do this much for them? Or shall we continue to be satisfied with reading the war news at home while we hold down our snug jobs? Perhaps we would benefit our homeland just as much after all if we followed the example of the barber. We are not helping much at present, are we,—that is compared to what the other men are doing. I'll join if you will. Is it a go? Meet you at the recruiting office in the Auditorium building tonight.—(Contributed).

ANDREWS-BROWN HERE ON NOV. 10

TWO LEADING BANTAMS WILL APPEAR BEFORE THE IRISH-CANADIAN CLUB.

(Special to The Chronicle)

New York, Oct. 27—Willie Andrews, the New York bantamweight, and Willie Brown, bantam champion of the United States navy, have stared to train for their coming meeting at the Grande Allee Rink on November 10th.

This promises to be one of the best scraps of the season to be pulled off, between little gladiators, as both boys are regarded as the best in their class in the United States, with the exception of Champion Johnny (Kewpe) Ertle, who has already refused to meet either one of them on different occasions. Billy Pepey, Andrews' manager, says that he had an interview with Mr. Mike McNulty, manager of the bantamweight champion of the world, and he is willing to give Andrews a chance at the titleholder, providing Andrews scores a clean cut victory over the navy champion, on the 10th.

Andrews is a very clever boxer and also possesses a knockout punch in either mitt, the best proof of his kick can be noticed in his record for he has scored over forty knockouts and also defeated some of the best boys in the United States, including "Kid" Wolfe, Eddie Sherman, Johnny Keys, Young Ketchell, Frankie Burns, F. Brown, Jimmy Murray, Jack O'Donnell, Eddie O'Keefe, and many more that are to numerous to mention, that are in the top-notch class.

As far as Brown is concerned, he is a tough customer and he generally makes it hot for all his opponents, and it's a sure thing that he will make it red hot for Andrews. Brown's record also shows that he met and defeated some of the best in the bantam class, for it shows where he beat such boys as Eddie Campi, Young Solsberg, Benny Kaukman, Joe, Goodney, Battling Reddy, Buddy Faulkes, Banty Lewis, Al Schuberz, Frankie Burns, Willie Jackson, Young Eppy, etc. Both boys are out for a clean victory without any dispute as they realize that a win will mean a chance at the bantam crown.

FULTON KNOCKED OUT ANDERSON IN ONE ROUND.

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 27.— Fred Fulton, of Rochester, Minn., knocked out Andre Anderson, of Chicago, in the first round of a scheduled ten round bout tonight. From the start of the round Fulton pummelled his opponent and knocked him through the ropes. Then he sent a right to the jaw that put Anderson out for the count. Fulton then picked up his antagonist and placed him on his chair. Anderson weighed 212 1-2 and Fulton 212 at 3 o'clock.

DO YOUR BEST !.

"Dyb, Dyb, Dyb" (Do your best) is the war cry of the scoutmaster of the Wolfe Cubs, the great organization which General Baden Powell has founded for boys who are too young to join the boy scouts. The Wolf Cubs reply for shouting "Dob, Dob, Dob" (Doing our best). The new boys' army is likely to rival the Boy Scouts in numbers and will form a valuable feeder to the existing body.

TRIES TO JUSTIFY CRUEL TREATMENT OF ARMENIANS

BIG TURK SAYS ARMENIANS WERE IMBUED WITH SEPARATISTIC IDEAS."

New York, Oct. 27—The Vienna correspondent of The Associated Press, cables a two column interview with Halil Bey, the Turkish Foreign Minister, which, among other things deals with the treatment accorded to the Armenians by the Turks, and attempts to justify the banishment of the Armenian people on the ground that they were imbued with "separatistic ideals," which the Turks considered it expedient to curb.

After asserting that the economic financial and military status of Turkey is highly satisfactory, and professing confidence in ultimate victory for the Teutonic combination, the Foreign Minister said:

"When the war broke out we knew exactly what the Armenians were doing. Bombs, rifles, ammunition and money had been brought into the country and their organization was perfect. I was then president of the Chamber of Deputies and was very fond of the Armenian members, as I had always been a friend of that race. So I called the Armenian representatives together and asked what they intended doing. At the end of the conversation I told them I could sympathize with their ideals, and had always done so, as long as they were not entirely separatistic.

"'Gentlemen, I fully understand your position and hope that you understand ours. We have engaged in a war in which we may go down. That will be your opportunity to make arrangements with the Entente, but bear in mind that the Ottoman government will apply the most severe measures if you act against the Turks before you know we are conquered. Make your plans so that you can meet the Entente powers with clean hands, which you can do by supporting us so far and no further than the law demands. I think the Entente statesmen will see the correctness of such conduct and will recognize your claim to autonomy. You can then take up the work where we left off and to which I wish you every success, but bear in mind that we are not gone yet, and that the slightest false move on your part will bring trouble to all Armenians. Sit quiet and let us try this issue. When you are sure we have lost, go over to the Entente and get from them all you can."

Halil Bey then stated that the Ottoman government was one on this point, realising that this opportunity for the Armenians might come. Enver Pacha, the leader of the Young Turks, Halil Bey said, called in the Armenian Patriarch one day and told him the same thing but despite this, he said, the Armenians rose when the Russians invaded Asia Minor and the Turkish government took the measures which had been outlined to the Armeian leaders befrochand.

The Turkish Foreign Minister said that the Armenian organization made it impossible to confine the steps taken against the Armenians in a single locality in rebellion, because the organization was so perfect that only a sweeping measure at the first hint of an uprising could meet the situation.

"I will say," continued Halil Bey, "that the loss to the Ottoman Empire through the deportation of the Armenians has been immense.

NEW GERMAN WAR CREDIT SUBMITTED TO THE REIGHSTAG

VON ROEDERN LAUDS GERMAN FINANCING SYSTEM IN SPEECH.

Berlin, Oct. 27, via Sayville, N.Y.—A new war credit bill for 12,000,000,000 marks was submitted to the Reichstag today by Count von Roedern, Secretary of the Imperial Treasury, who also reviewed the successes of the German war finances and compared them with the practises followed by the countries opposed to Germany. Count von Roedern stated that the total German war credits up to now amounted to 52,000,000,000 marks. Explaining the practise of the German treasury, the Imperial Treasurer said:

"On the basis of the war credit granted by parliament in all cases term treasury bonds, which were regularly consolidated with long term loans in the months of March and September, were issued. The amount of more than 47,000,000 000 marks subscribed to these loans, of which 45,000,000,000 marks already has been paid in, proves the success of this financing policy. The German nation in 1914 produced from its own resources 4,500,000,000 marks in such loans; in 1915 more than 21,000,000,000 marks and in 1916, 21,000,000,000 marks also.

"You will remember that the first four loans were essentially of the same type, carrying five per cent. interest and having approximately the same price of issue. There having been raised in this fashion 36,000,000,000 marks in round figures the question seemed justified as to whether the fifth loan could also be placed under the same conditions."

Count von Roedern said these expectations had proved correct as the subscriptions to the fifth loan had amounted to 10,652,000,000 marks. He said that the number of subscribers was about 4,000,000 and, therefore, the fifth war loan must be called a "peoples loan."

Count von Roedern stated that payments on the fifth war loan, the first installment of which was due on Oct. 18th, had today reached 8,500,000,000 marks. He said that less than 3 per cent. of the amount paid in had been subscribed by loan institutes. Much credit for the success of the loans, he asserted, was due to the increase of the saving capacity of the German people. During the first eight months of 1916, saving showed increases of 1,710,000,000 marks in deposits, exclusive of the amounts subscribed in the war loan.

The Imperial Treasurer then compared Germany's system of obtaining new capital with that used in Great Britain, declaring that the discount rate of the Bank of England had been fixed at 6 per cent, while the German Reichstag had been able to maintain a 5 per cent standard since December, 1914. The treasurer concluded with the presentation of a synopsis of the war finnances of the various belligerent countries.

Amazing Feats Easy With HUDSON SUPER-SIX

No Evident Effort—No Sign of Wear
In Doing What No Other Car Has Done

Things the Super-Six does are less important than the way it does them. In breaking world's records it has hardly shown an effort. And after 7000 record-breaking miles a Super-Six motor showed no evidence of wear in any part or bearing.

The Hudson Super-Six, in most cities, has broken all local records. Most of you have seen them broken.

It has elsewhere broken all worth-while records which have any bearing on stock cars. But all these wondrous things are done without a sign of effort.

Most stock motors go to pieces in attempting speedway tests. Also in hill-climbing feats. They never arrive at all.

But most of our stock-car records were won with a single Super-Six. It made a speed record exceeding 102 miles per hour. It broke all touring car speed records up to 100 miles. It ran 1819 miles in 24 hours, exceeding the record by 52 per cent.

Yet that Super-Six motor, after 3800 miles of that terrific strain, showed no wear whatever. The motor's condition was to experts almost unbelievable.

Another Super-Six broke the ocean-to-ocean record, solely because of endurance. It ran from San Francisco to New York in 5 days, 3 hours and 31 minutes. Then the same 7-passenger Super-Six turned around and went back to San Francisco. The round trip was made in 10 days, 21 hours, 3 minutes. It was the first car to ever finish in a coast to coast and return trip against time.

Last spring the best one-way time made by a famous 8 was 7 days, 11 hours, 52 minutes. In 2½ days more the Super-Six made the round trip. No test of endurance ever equaled that.

THAT'S WHAT YOU WANT.

That's why men buy the Super-Six—men wise in motor cars. Not for excessive speed or power. But to render every-day performance without vibration, wear or effort.

The Super-Six at half capacity can match another car's supreme exertion. That means a long-lived motor, low upkeep, small repairs.

The great fact is that the Super-Six has almost ended vibration. It has reduced motor friction to almost nil. And that invention alone accounts for its 80 per cent. more efficiency.

MADE HUDSON SUPREME.

The Super-Six has made the Hudson undisputed king. It now outsells any other fine car with a price above $1,100. In six months we have quadrupled our output, but 3500 cars per month still fail to meet demands.

Yet this is the first season of the Super-Six. Last spring it entered the market a stranger, with all a stranger's uncertainties. And men have only begun to realize what this new-type motor means.

The end of the season will find 25,000 running. It finds the Super-Six in possession of all the worth-while records. It finds a car so perfect that not one change is necessary for the coming year.

Then every motorist must concede the Super-Six supremacy. And men who have bought cars with a lesser motor will realize their mistake.

The Super-Six is not one of those passing sensations. Ours is not one of those claims to motor supremacy which yields in a year or two to another. Mark what these records mean. There is plenty of evidence now to convince you that it cannot be superseded.

YOU CAN SAVE $250.00 NOW.

By buying now you can save $250.00. The price will be advanced December 1st. The models will not be changed. You get the same Super-Six motor, the same wonderful chassis, and the same beautiful body. Your car you get now will be identical with those we shall sell after December 1st.

On that date we start a second production of the Super-Six. Material costs have increased enormously. That forces this raise in price.

SEVENTEEN WERE LOST IN FIRE

LATEST COUNT IN DESTRUCTION OF THE HOSPICE AT FARNHAM.

Farnham, Que., Oct 27—The total number of lives lost in the destruction by fire of the Hospice of St. Elizabeth here on Wednesday night was reduced to seventeen today, two aged inmates who were amongst the missing last night having been found today. Coroner Joanette has decided that an inquest is unnecessary. Mayor S. M. McCorkill, Inspector R. H. Gooley, of the provincial government, assisted by the coroner, and Sister Elizabeth, the Superior of the Hospice, conducted an investigation today, and they came to the conclusion that the cause of the fire was a short circuit in the electric wiring of the building that was burned, and that no person was to blame for the catastrophe. The five fire escapes on the building were considered by the government inspector as sufficient. The building was old and in some cases partitions between rooms consisted merely of boards.

Portions of charred bodies were recovered today, supposedly the remains of four people.

To guard against the firebugs who have thoroughly alarmed the residents of this village provincial detectives have been engaged to keep watch tonight in co-operation with a voluntary local vigilance committee. The numerous small fires of apparent incendiary origin are regarded in a class by themselves, and there is no hint that the destruction of the Hospice was due to firebugs. Rumors are thick as to mysterious happenings, all tending to increase the fears of the Farnham people that more fires may follow.

Pieces of paper with the word "next" written upon them have been found on several premises, and it is said four "strangers" who were in the village yesterday mysteriously disappeared today. Before they went one was heard by a citizen to warn the others of the party, "be careful or you will be caught."

Otto R. Brener's cigar factory is thought to have been amongst the buildings marked for the flames, as a bag of dead leaves, surrounded by some kindling wood, was found near a doorstep at the factory.

Houses Under Guard.

Farnham, Que., Oct. 27—Every building in Farnham is under armed guard tonight, so it is stated, and men carrying Winchester rifles or revolvers were to be seen marching up and down the village streets after midnight. More than one armed man could be observed at each factory or religious institution, and as an additional precaution the factories were lighted up. The theory is that a couple of young men have become obsessed with a desire to set fire to buildings, as a result of the Catholic hospital fire.

With refernec to the hospital a public meeting was held tonight, and it was decided that St. Elizabeth's Hospice should be re-built, and in addition to municipal aid the provincial and federal governments should be requested to assist.

AMERICA'S GIFT A MERE PITTANCE

BISHOPS OF EPISCOPAL CHURCH ISSUE PASTORAL LETTER ABOUT WAR.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 27.—A pastoral letter, covering a variety of subjects and signed by 108 Bishops of the Episcopal Church, was read at the final session of the triennial convention here today. Excerpts from the letter bearing on the war follows:

"America is involved today in world-wide confusion which finds its most acute expression in the battlefields of Europe. No self-isolation on our part is possible. The fortunes of the nations are interwoven as the threads of a tapestry.

"Interest can never again be sectional. The world is henceforth one, for the time being in a disturbed and suffering unity, in days to come in a unity where order and health will reign. Political expedency may in war time require neutrality of the state, but it cannot hold in leash the sympathies of the individual citizen. A man cannot be passionless and retain his manhood.

"The fact that our nation is not at war affords no grounds for smugness. It throws upon us the searching responsibility of exalting the ideals of peace and incorporating them in our national life. Nationalism too often assumes the ugly role of group selfishness or false patriotism. Local conditions determine what form this disease will take. Yonder it breaks forth in the scarlet rash of war; here in unconsecrated prosperity which is bound to cause manhood to decay.

"The nation that in some quarters, for the sake of gain, still chains to the wheels of industry, the bodies and souls of its children, the bodies and souls of her little children, that allows human life to be sacrificed to the inventions of speed and production from lack of costly safeguards, that heels but listlessly the cry of the poor and oppressed is not at peace even though she be at war. If presently we aspire to act as peacemakers in behalf of the warring nations, let our aspirations be tempered by the reflection that we are tainted with the common disease of which the eruption of war is a symptom, not a cause. God hates a Godless and empty peace as much as he hates an unrighteous war.

"Let it be sadly said that in proportion to her swollen wealth American's contribution to the innocent sufferers in Europe is the merest pittance.

"If America comes out of the world disorder richer in purse and poorer in manhood, she will bring upon herself the penalty of a debased life or even of losing her very soul.

"The nations now at war have as much to teach us as we have to teach them. They rebuke our worship of comfort and money by the daily offering, upon a reeking altar, of life and treasures; they declare to us that intoxicating liquor which is so freely and carelessly drunk in our land, is a national menace to be dispensed with at the cost of lowered revenue but with the gain of heightened virility; they teach us that food is the staff of physical life, not an invitation to gluttony; they rebuke our spiritual poverty by the splendor of their spiritual eagerness which, out of their tragedy, brings new vision from God and feeds new virtues in men; they shame our self-indulgence by a degree of self-sacrifice that is royal."

NOT QUESTION OF NUMBERS AT VERDUN

Germans Were Not Numerically Inferior to French.

Paris, Oct. 27—Information gathered from the General Staff is to the effect that the recent victory of the French at Verdun was in no way due to the numerical inferiority of the Germans, who were surprised by the rapid offensive. The French attack was carried out by three divisions, which had opposed to them troops belonging to seven different divisions, which it is stated were ample for effective resistance. Battalions from 19 regiments have been identified in the first line from the Meuse to Grimaucourt-En-Woevre. Among the prisoners taken are ten German battalion commanders.

VICTORIA CROSS WON TWICE BY HERO

LIEUT. JOHN JACKA, AN AUSTRALIAN, ONLY MAN EVER THUS HONORED.

Lieut. John Jacka, of the 14th Battalion, enjoys the unusual honor of having won twice the most coveted of British military honors, the Victoria Cross. He is the first man to whom the famous decoration has been awarded more than once, and how he gained the distinction has been made the subject of a narrative prepared in the British Intelligence Office in London. The first "V.C." was won at the Dardanelles and the second in France, and this is the story as compiled officially in London:

"Lieut. Jacka, of the 14th Battalion of Australian infantry, has won the Victoria Cross twice over. He will not receive two of the coveted bronze decorations, but he will have a bar on the ribbon of his first V. C., and he is the first man in the great war to secure that great distinction.

"First there is the account of how he won the V.C. the first time. That is an old story now, for it happened in Gallipoli, but it is as worth retelling as the story of how Horatius kept the bridge. Jacka at that time was a lance-corporal of the 14th Australians at Anzac, commanded at that time by Colonel Courtney, and concerned with him in the gallant defence of Courtney's Post.

"On May 18, after three weeks of continuous fighting, during which the battalion had lost 75 per cent. of its effectives, Sanders Pasha made his great attempt to drive the Anzacs into the sea. He sent the Turks against the attenuated Anzac line in overwhelming force, and the chief fury of the attack was concentrated on the line from Quinn's post to Courtney's. The story of the gallant and successful Anzac resistance is now enshrined in the undying record of Anzac. Not a Turk got through the Anzac lines.

"But at Courtney's a number got into a small communication trench, overcoming two or three men who held it. The wounded officer managed to give a warning of the danger, and Lance-Corporal Jacka rushed into the trench alone with fixed bayonet, and, sheltering behind the traverse, prevented the Turks from advancing. Some of his comrades rushed to his assistance, but the first of them, Private Howard, was shot down as he entered the trench.

"'You keep them here,' said Jacka to Lieut. Crabbe, 'and I will take them at the other end of the trench.' Rushing around he fell on the astonished Turks from their rear like a lion. Five he shot down and two more he killed with his bayonet. Three more were driven out of the trench into the hands of the men who were guarding the entrance, under Lieut. Crabbe.

Roaring Like a Lion.

"Howard, another Anzac, who was wounded in going to Jacka's assistance, told this story when he was in England in convalescent camp. One vivid phrase of his story ran: 'We heard Jacka go into the trench,' he said. 'He went at them roaring like a lion.'

"The same evening Jacka came to visit the wounded man, who was a fellow-townsman, as he lay in the dressing station. Howard congratulated him on his exploit and was in turn commiserated for his hard luck in not sharing the glory of the day. But Jacka remembered little of what happened. 'I must have lost my head,' was his simple explanation of the fury that sent him victorious through the trenchful of Turks.

"That was Jacka's first exploit. Single-handed, he attacked ten men in a trench and overcame them. In recognition of his astounding gallantry and of the great service he had rendered, he was awarded the first V. C. won at Anzac, and until the Battle of Lone Pine, in August of last year, it stood as the only V.C. won by an Australian on Gallipoli.

"His record at Anzac was a remarkable one. He took part in the historic landing of April 25, and remained there unscathed until the time came for the evacuation of Gallipoli. In those eight months he saw enough fighting to last an ordinary men a lifetime, and won his way through the non-commissioned grades to commissioned rank. His first O.C., Colonel Courtney, always spoke of him as the model of what an Anzac soldier should be, and that is his record in the battalion.

"Now comes the second story, and a part of this can be told in Jacka's own language. The incident happened in France. On the night of August 5, Lieut. Jacka, with forty-four men of the 14th Battalion, was sent to relieve the Anzacs, who were holding an advanced trench to the north-east of the village of Pozieres.

"'It was not so much a trench,' says the lieutenant, 'as a number of shell holes joined by some shallow excavating.'

"Before they had been there half an hour the Germans began the sort of bombardment which precedes a counter-attack; but they kept it up for hours. Of the forty-four men, seven were killed and four more wounded. In an ordinary trench the damage would have been greater. 'But that is where the advantage of utilizing shell holes comes in,' says Lieut. Jacka.

"Then, in the first dusk of early morning, the enemy rushed to the attack. 'A good lot of them; there may have been 600.' The Anzacs stood up and fought to stop their rush; fought with all the fury of men hard beset. 'But they went right over us.' They left behind them only seven sound men, in addition to the lieutenant. He was wounded, but 'nothing to speak of'. A bursting bomb had 'splashed' him, inflicting seven painful flesh wounds.

Charged With Seven Men.

"'They halted behind us,' the tale goes on, 'and formed up in a manner unfamiliar to me. They seemed to gather in groups. Then they took a turn half-left and went for our reserves.'

"In this moment the lieutenant contrived to send a 'S.O.S.' back for help. In the fight going on behind him the greater numbers prevailed, and the Germans took a considerable number of Anzac prisoners. Then they began to make their way back in a compact body, keenly alert to pick up any men who might have been left living in the trench they had rushed.

"The lieutenant ordered his seven men to fix bayonets, and followed suit himself with the rifle of one of his dead men. 'If we stay here they are bound to capture us,' he explained, 'and I would sooner be dead than a prisoner. The supports cannot be long in coming up; let's go for them.' His seven stalwarts were quite willing, and at his word of command they leaped forward to attack the hundreds of the enemy, firing their rifles from the hip as they ran.

"Some of the amazed Germans at once threw up their hands, but others were made of sterner stuff, and began to fire at the men at very close range. These were attacked with the bayonet, and some of them were killed. Then the front line of the Germans began to circle around the little band of Anzacs, with a view to surrounding them—a fortunate thing, as it prevented the further loosing of rifles at that short range. There were more bayonet work and hand-to-hand struggles in that ring of enemies now aware of their overwhelming advantage of numbers.

"'I have only a curious impression Lieutenant Jacka, in describing this crisis. 'The cheering thing was that I could see some of the Germans with their hands up and others already running away. Also our men who had been taken prisoners were quick to take their cue, and, unarmed as they were, seemed to be setting about their captors.

"'I do not even remember feeling the two bullets strike me. They, and the other shots by which the men with me were wounded, must have been fired when we were actually struggling hand-to-hand with the Germans, but at the time no one was affected in any way by his wounds.'

"At this critical moment the shouts of the supports rang clear and loud. More of the Germans fled, others surrendered incontinently. None got away; they were shot down with rifle and machine gun and pursued to their deaths.

"The prisoners, over fifty in number, were released, and a corresponding number of captives were taken. Jacka and his gallant seven had suffered severely in the struggle. The lieutenant was wounded twice by rifle bullets fired at very short range. Each wound represented a miraculous escape from death.

"Every man was wounded in two or three places, and each owed an escape from death to some fluke equally outrageous. The net result was that not one man of Lieutenant Jacka's platoon was on the effective list seven hours after they took possession of the trench. But they had held the fort against twenty times as many Germans, killing or capturing them all."

WOMEN SHOULD GET THIS HABIT AS WELL AS MEN

DON'T EAT BITE OF BREAKFAST UNTIL YOU DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER.

Happy, bright alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illnes are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and refreshing the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and apearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do

Hunger Stalks Through Belgium NOW!

While we in Canada are bringing in the harvests, filling our store-rooms and stocking our pantries with an abundance of good food—our Allies in overrun Belgium are facing another winter of near-starvation.

Women and children there by millions have gone for two years on short rations, for the Belgian Relief Fund has never been sufficient to provide full fare. Consequently they are in no condition to stand the still greater privations threatened on account of the growing number dependent on the Fund. Anything less than the present meagre allowance of bread and soup would, in thousands of cases, fail to hold bodies and souls together.

Shall we—can we—go on eating our three square meals a day—living well if not luxuriously—while Belgian children, pinched and cold, sobbingly beg their mothers for bread enough to stop the gnawing hunger?

$2.50 a month in the hands of the Belgian Relief Commission, will feed a Belgian family. A cigar less a day—a night missed from the theatre—simpler refreshments after an evening's cards—the price of any one of a dozen such habitual luxuries would provide the food that means life for a Belgian mother and her children till the end of the war.

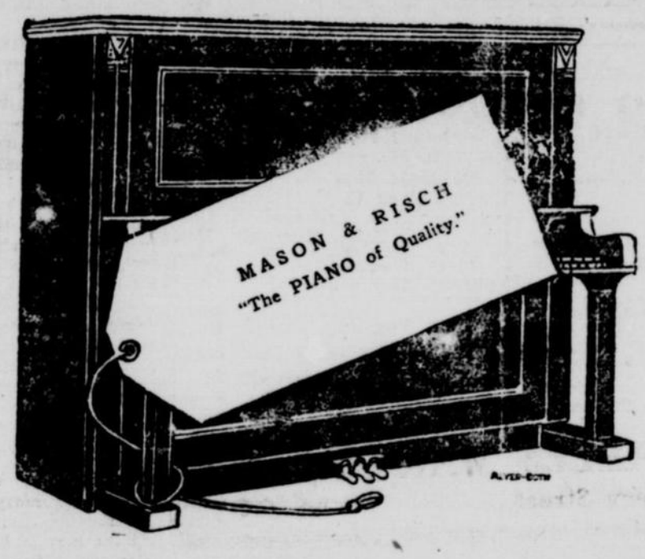

Won't your own meals taste better when you know some little Belgians also are enjoying the food which you provide? Whatever you feel that you can spare, send your subscription weekly, monthly or in one lump sum. Send Cheques payable to Treasurer

HAWKS ARE DEPARTING

They Fly Low Over Places Where Landmarks Are Changing.

In spite of accumulating evidence in defence of the hawks, there always seems something stealthy and sinister in their fight, especially where their ancient routes have been obstructed by city buildings, poles and transplanted trees that render their courses uncertain, says S. T. Wood in The Toronto Globe. In the September flight westward across the northern area of Toronto they move in solitary independance, but with a unity of purpose that betokens the migrating impulse. The swallows and swifts are gone, which makes the suspected migrants all the more conspicious. As they approach along the Little Don toward the forks, over the torteous, wooded ravine accidentally preserved, they circle high in the air, either suspicious of the unusual and almost unnatural forest line or reluctant to leave it for the obstructed city. Circling against the clear, autumn blue, their expanded pinions seem almost transparent. Each circle carries them a little farther to the west, away from the faintly tinted foilage they abandon with reluctance. The rigidity in which they seem carried along by a determined purpose is frequently broken by a few steady and leisurely propelling strokes, but the airy glide seems scarcely to require such assisting efforts.

Where the city has obliterated ancient paths they fly quite low, perhaps curious as to the mystery of lines, streets and varied impeding structures. The threatening movement of the hunt is adopted in passing among the chimneys, poles, tall elms and surviving pines. Half a dozen propelling strokes and a lowering glide suggest the searching glance that discerns the hiding field mouse, unsuspecting frog, or venture some mole, but there is no sudden descent for a victim and no pursuit or predatory efforts to justify the name pigeon hawk." One by one they trail their several ways westward clearing the roofs and curving among the shade trees, lowering in the open spaces as if expecting to discover the timid life of the open fields. One sparrow-hawk, the smallest and richest-colored of the family visiting the lake, passed with more erratic flight, as if unwilling to become a part of the migration. His dull blue, bright brown, and wavy bars of black made a momentary display as he crossed the band of open sky close to the bordering roofs. The larger hawks chose higher courses, but they could not always resist the city's peculiar attractiveness. A marsh hawk, in immature brown of full maturity, made a graceful outline with long expanded tail and wings carried forward as if to afford a model for aviators. A red-tail, also immature, was more inclined to disregard the city's attractions.

"Complexion Secrets Of An Actress"

In a recently issued volume bearing the above title, the author says: "Continuous use of grease paints, rouge and the like, had ruined my complexion. My skin was colorless, wrinkled, coarse and pimpled with large pores. While abroad I heard of the virtues of mercolized wax; my first experience with this marvelous substance convinced me it was more valuable than all cosmetics combined. Now whenever my complexion begins to go wrong I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the nearest drug store, spread on a thin layer of it before retiring, washing it off next morning. The wax, after a few such treatments, seems literally to absorb the worn-out cuticle, when a brighter, healthier, younger-looking skin appears.

"For the wrinkles and enlarged pores I began using a solution of saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this every day for a while soon relieved the condition most wonderfully."

LEATHER FROM THE SEA.

It is a curious fact that many sorts of leather are got from the sea creatures some of which are very beautiful. The skin of sharks is a beautiful burnished grey or bluish color. The surface resembles finely grained leather since it shows many tiny prickles all set one way This property of shark skin renders it especially valuable to the manufactures of shagreen Since the skin is at once tough and easy to work it can be used for many purposes where decorative effects are desired.

In spite of its lumpy armor the sturgeon furnishes a valuable and attractive leather It has been found that when the bony plates are removed the patterns remain on the skin, just as the patterns of alligator scales remain on alligator leather a circumstance that adds greatly to the value of the product. From the sturgeons that abound on our Pacific coast and in the great lakes we get a tough leather that is used for the making of laces to join leather belting for machinery. It is said that the lacing frequently outwears the belting itself

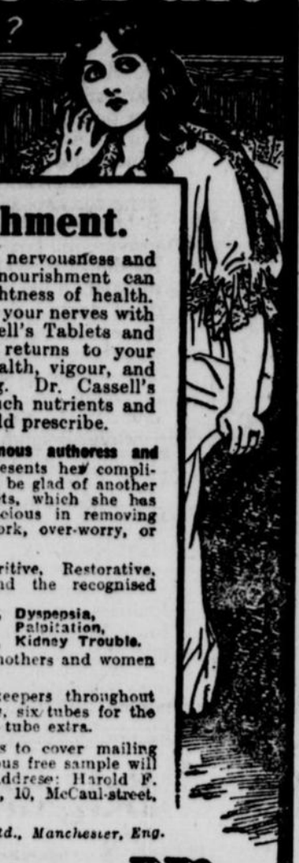

There is found in Turkish waters a strikingly unattractive fish called the angel fish, classed among the littoral sharks. This fish yields an extremely high quality of green leather, much estemed in the Ottoman dominions.

AT THE THEATRES

THE COMING OF THE RUSSIAN SYMPHONY CREATES GREAT INTEREST

Will certainly be the greatest event presented here in many years.

That our population realizes the importance of the coming to Quebec of the Russian Symphony Orchestra is openly manifested by the unusual interest created by this approaching event. In fact, it means the grandest musical attraction presented here in many years, and an enterprise of real magnitude considering the fact that this famous organization will be brought to this city, that is, out of a regular circuit, for one performance only. One can easily reckon what the transportation charges alone will mean to the management. The concert will take place in the Auditorium Theatre on November 17th next. It is of course assured that there will be a crowded house for such an attraction but it will require every seat in the theatre sold to meet the expense of this event. The management therefore announces the entire suspension of the free list for this concert. This is absolutely necessary as the theatre is not large enough for such a great attraction, and they do not want to put the prices higher than those to be charged in Montreal at a much larger theatre.

Possibly you are one of those who have been serving McCormick's Jersey Cream Sodas only at meal times. There are, however, any number of occasions when they may be conveniently and appropriately eaten.

For the bedtime light lunch with a glass of milk; with the afternoon cup of tea; or simply spread with jam, honey, cheese, marmalade or butter, and given to the children after school.

McCormick's Sodas are so appetizingly crisp, so light, and so easily digested that they may be eaten at times when heavier, coarser foods perhaps would cause discomfort.

They come by their wholesomeness naturally, since they are made in a new model million-dollar snow-white bakery where purity and cleanliness form a part of every step of the baking process.

PAUL FEVAL'S "LE BOSSU" AT AUDITORIUM

THREE NEW PLAYS BY THE FRENCH COMPANY NEXT WEEK.

"Le Bossu", Paul Feval's best drama, will be on the boards Monday and Tuesday night at the Auditorium. Mr. Benedict, who has played the part of Lagardere in the best Parisian theatres, will fill that same part in the cast. He is supported by the best artists of the French Company that will give us an unequalled perfomance of the great piece.

Wednesday Matinee; Wednesday Night; Thursday Matinee and Night.

In a special matinee, at evening prices, Wednesday afternoon, "Le Bossu" will be repeated and on Wednesday night, Thursday matinee and night the play on the bill will be "Arsene Lupin", a work which has been translated into many languages and has had a particular big success in English. It was played in London and New York by the best theatres.

Friday Night; Saturday Matinee and Night.

Mr. Becman, who has had a triumph in "Son Homme" last night, at the request of all those that have heard him, will repeat that same play on Friday and Saturday next. The company will also offer with it "La Francaise", one of Brieux's works.

Reserve yourseats early.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

IF FEVERISH, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED, GIVE FRUIT LAXATIVE AT ONCE.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile, and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for krown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

THE DARK HORSE.

How the Name Was Applied to a Political Possibility.

A novel written by Disraeli, earl of Beaconsfield, entitled "The Young Duke" and published in 1831, contained a description of a horse race in which the following sentence occurred:

"A dark horse which had never been thought of and which the careless St. James had never even observed in the list rushed past the grand stand in sweeping triumph."

This was only a horse race, but it gave prominence to the fact that the race was won by a dark horse which had not attracted any notice until he came in a winner.

This may have been the origin of the phrase "a dark horse," which, as used in American politics, means a person not prominently considered as a candidate when the convention meets or during its earlier ballots, but who suddenly develops unexpected strength and wins.

A notable case in point was that of James A. Garfield in the Republican national convention of 1880. On the first ballot for president he did not receive a single vote, but he received ten votes on the second ballot, one vote on the twentieth ballot, fifty votes on the thirty-fifth ballot and was nominated by 399 on the thirty-sixth ballot.

DO NOT FAIL TO SEE SOMME FILMS

MOTION PICTURES OF BIG BATTLE WILL BE SHOWN AT AUDITORIUM ON NOVEMBER 9TH., 10TH., 11TH.

"The Battle of the Somme" in motion pictures will be shown to Quebecers at the Auditorium Theatre on November 9th., 10th., and 11th., "The Chronicle" having booked this attraction in order to give, to the citizens of Quebec, some idea of the work the allied armies are doing.

The following is from the Evening Standard of London, on these wonderful pictures:—

For a sensational seventy-five minutes the Scala Theatre was this morning the battlefields of Picardy, and a specially invited audience sat spellbound, gripped with wonder and awe as the world drama of life and death on the banks of the Somme was reproduced, life-like and real, stirring the emotions, and quickening the pulse.

It is the greatest living picture yet produced, the War Office having instituted this idea from educational motives.

Mr. Lloyd George's Message.

Mr. Lloyd George, sent the following message:—

"The Battle of the Somme, furious and desperate at it has been, is a first and most important phase of what is an historical struggle, unique in its scope and world-wide significance.

"I am convinced that when you have seen this wonderful picture, every heart will beat higher in sympathy with its cause and purpose, which is no other than that every one of us at home and those abroad shall see what our men at the front are doing and suffering for us, and how their achievements have been made possible by the sacrifices at home.

"Be up and doing also! See that this picture which is in itself an epic of self-sacrifice and gallantry, reaches everyone. Herald the deeds of our brave men to the ends of the earth. This is your duty.

"Ladies, I feel that no word is necessary to urge upon you the importance of throwing in the whole ardour and strength of your invaluable aid. Mothers, wives, sisters, and affianced ones, your hearts will beat, your voices will speak, in honor and glory of the living and the dead. You are great and powerful. This is your mission."

UNIQUE EFFECT IN NEW FEATURE FILM.

Trick Camera Work Adds to Interest of Photoplay Shown Today at Empire.

"The Ordeal of Elizabeth," a Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature shown at the Empire yesterday and again today is a fitting vehicle for the clever little actress, Lillian Walker. Miss Walker is supported by Evart Overton and a strong cast of Vitagraph players.

In the title role, Miss Walker's work stands distinctly as that of a finished artist.

The direction and photographic effects throughout are excellent and help to make the picture a marked success.

"The Strange Case of Mary Page" is at a most absorbing point and no one should miss it.

Indigestion Resulted From an Inactive Liver

The Bowels Became Constipated and the Whole Digestive System Upset.

With many people constipation becomes a habit. And it is a dangerous habit which is certain sooner or later to cause serious disease.

"Daily movement of the bowels" is the first and most importan rule of health. When the liver becomes torpid the flow of bile into the intestines is stopped and the bowels become constipated But you can readily overcome this condition by using Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. There is no treatment obtainable which so promptly awakens the activity of the liver and bowels and thereby corrects derangements of the digestive system.

Mrs. Herbert Doherty, of Beaver Brook, Albert Co., N.B., writes: "I can truthfully say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a great medicine for constipation. I have suffered from constipation ever since I can remember, but got to using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and was so benefited that I began to study this malady. I found that the indigestion resulted from a bad case of inactive liver, and as soon as I got the liver working right I didn't have any stomach trouble or indigestion. I cannot praise this medicine too highly and would advise anyone suffering from indigestion or constipation to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. My husband also claims that these pills have done him more good than any medicine he ever used. You are at liberty to use this letter."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, positively relieve and cure torpid liver, constipation biliousness, indigestion, backache and kidney disease Put it to the test. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

SHEEP INDUSTRY IS TO BE REVIVED

ONTARIO DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE LAUNCHES EXPERIMENT.

A new policy for the encouragement of sheep raising in the Province of Ontario will shortly be launched by the Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture. The department of Agriculture proposes to select five counties in the province where sheep raising has fallen to a low ebb and revive the industry by enlisting the interest and support of the younger generation of farmers. This will be done by furnishing to one young farmer in each county a flock of fine ewes and assisting him by all means at the disposal of the Live Stock Branch to build up a paying enterprise.

The scheme which has been worked out by C. F. Bailey, Assistant Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and Superintendent Wade, of the Live Stock Branch, provides a basis for a considerable extension of the work in future. In the five counties chosen applications will be invited from young farmers, the only qualifications being that each shall have taken a short course in agriculture under one of the district representatives of the Department of Agriculture and shall have a father who is not raising sheep. In each county a contest in sheep judging will then be held to select the boy best equipped for the experiment. The winner will be given six ewes and will be supplied with the service of a ram. At the end of two years he will be required to return two shearling ewes to the Live Stock Branch, two more at the end of the third year and the other two at the end of the fourth year. It is estimated that with fair success the young farmers would be able to return six ewes within two years, but the department prefers to allow them the use of the animals for a longer period in order to build up their their flocks.

As the farmer boys raise their lambs and return the ewes they will be distributed among other boys in similar manner. The sheep needed to start the scheme have been purchased and are now being kept at the O. A. C.

SPAIN MAY JOIN THE ALLIES.

There must be in some neutral countries a censorship hardly less rigorous than prevails among the belligerents. In Spain, for example, important events must have taken place, but no word of them has transpired. Who is the Premier of Spain at this time? Is it Maura or Romanones? Has the Government resigned, and is there a coalition Government in control? It is difficult to imagine that matters of so much moment could be kept secret; it is more probable that in the press of war news mere political manoeuvrings in Spain should be neglected. But political manoeuvrings in Spain at this time may have an international significance. There is a prospect that Spain may enter the war on the side of the Allies. A speech to this effect by Maura delivered a few weeks ago attracted attention, but as Maura was then described as merely a former Minister, not much importance was attributed to his expression of opinion. If, however, Maura should become Premier it is plain that his former utterances would be illumined with fatal significance.

Spain Now Pro-Ally.

It has been generally believed that the sentiment of Spain as far as the official, military and religious leaders is concerned has been pro-German since the beginning of the war. The Roman Catholic Church has been assumed to be in favor of Austria, and naturally opposed to the democracy and liberalism of France and Britain. The military caste is said to have been founded on that of Germany, and the army officers naturally have had the greatest reverence for Germany's military prowess. As regards the king himself, it was recognized that he had always been an admirer of France, and a welcome visitor there on more than one occasion, and also that his consort is an English princess. In certain parts of the kingdom, notably in Barcelonia, where revolutionary sentiments are supposed to be generally cherished, the feeling has always been pro-ally, or rather pro-civilization and pro-liberty. But it was supposed that the work of the German propagandists and the large campaign fund at their disposals had resulted in making Spanish sentiment on the whole favorable to the Central Powers. Maura's words to the effect that Spain should side with Britain and France came therefore as a surprise.

Spain's Hour of Destiny.

They were all the more significant in view of the fact that in the early days of the war German submarines are supposed to have been hospitably received along the Spanish coast and assisted on their voyages to the Mediterranean. In some quarters Spanish official efforts to correct these breaches of neutrality were said to be half-hearted. It was supposed that while Romanones as a Liberal was anti-German, he feared to show himself in this light because the prevailing sentiment of the country was not behind him. But Maura is a Conservative, and it is said upon good authority that Conservatives and Liberals are agreed that Spain ought to take some decided stand in this war. Maura has said that isolation is impossible for Spain because she is geographically, economically and politically brought into contact with other countries in both hemispheres. He said that "Spain must either take her proper place among the nations or submit to be evicted, degraded or trampled under foot. We cannot live ignored and merely tolerated," he said. 'We must fill the position that belongs to us or necessarily we shall see our places taken by others."

Looking to the Future.

Evidently he has his mind upon the conditions that may exist after the war, for he said Spain naturally belonged to the group of nations that is fighting Germany, that only among them could she look for powerful allies, and that if she remained coldly neutral throughout the conflict she might find herself left without powerful friends when the struggle was over. He said, however, that before Spain abandoned her attitude of neutrality she must receive from the Entente Allies some assurance that her sacrifices would not be in vain, but that they would receive suitable recognition and compensation. It is not plain just what Spain wants of the allies, what territory is in her mind or whether she merely looks forward to favorable consideration when the tariff arrangements of the Entente Allies are altered after the war. It is not pretended that Spain is prepared to lay her hand upon the hilt of her sword for merely humanitarian reasons. None of the allies has hinted at any negotiations with Spain, and there is not the slightest evidence that any overtures have been made to her.

A Benevolent Neutral.

Up to the present Spain's neutrality has been a benevolent one, so far as France is concerned. A pro-German War Minister has decreed the mobilization along the French frontier of a Spanish army, which would have made it necessary for France to mobilize to the south an equal force. But Alfonso vetoed this order. He also assured Britain and France that Spain would take no hostile move against Portugal in consequence of her throwing in her lot with the allies. Finally he negatived a German scheme to purchase a controlling interest in Spanish shipping and transportation schemes. There can be no quetion as to the sympathies of Alfonso, even though his mother, to whom he is devoted, is an Austrian. Should Maura and Romanones between them decide that Spain ought to cast in her lot with the allies, Alfonso will not play the part of Constantine.

FOR HOUSEHOLD PACKING.

Autumn Brings its Bugbear of Pulling up Stakes

When one must move, begin with the small, out of sight tasks that will not render the house untidy and uncomfortable long before leaving it. A little thought and a look around the house will disclose many of the belongings that are not in general use—for instance, stuff in the pantry, in the storeroom, superabundant grocery supplies, temporarily discarded clothing, superflous ornaments, company porcelain and glassware, books, music and a thousand other things, all of which can be dislodged without destroying the appearance of the house while those abiding in the same will not be the wiser for it.

Dispose of unnecessary possessions that some one else may be glad to make use of; then pack clothing not in use into boxes and mark the contents on each box. Books, pictures and ornaments are best packed in rather small boxes that are easy to handle. Have carpets, rugs and matting cleaned, rolled and tied.

For packing kitchen utensils, jars of fruit, etc., tubs are best, for they have handles. A pot or kettle in the bottom might have several jars placed in it with bits of paper, hay or maller articles, like knives and forks, to hold them steady, but be careful not to have anything to extend higher than the sides of the tub.

Barrels are best for the fine china and glass ware. When packing breakables, remember that every article must be prepared so that none of its surface is left exposed to pressure without support. Stuff all hollow articles as full as possible, surround all handles, stems, etc., by padding so thick that the articles becomes, as nearly as possible, a solid ball. Cups and glasses should not be slipped inside each other unless well covered with padding. Plates and saucers may be made in a pile with stuffing between and the whole made solid by bands of muslin wound round them. Excelsior, hay and newspapers are all good packing material, but often kitchen towels, holders, underwear, etc., may be used to steady things and get themelves transported at the same time.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! 25 CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

EVERY BIT OF DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS AND HAIR STOPS COMING OUT.

Try This! Your hair appears glossy, abundant, wavy and beautiful.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few week's use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilirating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

ESCAPES IN BATTLE.

"One bullet went clean through my pocket, struck my notebook, and stayed there. I have it still. It was my first hit, and so I have kept it as a souvenir." Thus wrote an officer from Flanders some time ago, and the incident is typical of many occasions when men have been saved from death or disablement by some object they were carrying about their person.

Not very long ago a private in one of the Yorkshire Regiments was saved from death by a cigarette-case which he was carrying in a pocket over his heart. The missile lodged in the inner cover of the case, and the cigarettes were badly damaged, but no other har mwas done. A Lancashire soldier was also saved by a cigarette tin and a penny in his breast pocket.

Bishop Taylor Smith, speaking at Harrow School, told how a captain in the Coldstreams was wounded by a shell. When he was examined the doctors found a Bible in his hip pocket. The piece of shell had struck the Bible and gone through the pages. Had it not been for the Bible the officers spine would have been shattered. Curiously enough, the missile had stopped at the Ninety-first Psalm, and the officer's father, who had given him the Bible, had written a verse from that Psalm on the flyleaf.

Judgments Rendered—Writs Issued—Assignment.

Judgments.

Judgment by Hon. Chief Justice Lemieux:

Richard vs. Vermette et al. Judgment in plaintiff's favor for $35.00, by consent, each party paying his costs of contestation.

Judgment by Hon. Justice Cannon:—

Dubreuil vs. Grenier.—The plaintiff's action asking the separation as to property is granted with costs.

Roy vs. Giguere. Action for $110, plaintiff alleging that defendant keeps a livery stable at Ste. Anne de Beaupre, and that in July, 1915, plaintiff put his horse in the defendant's livery stable, paying the board of the horse as agreed with defendant; plaintiff was feeding his horse when he was struck at the abdomen and was wounded by another horse in the defendant's stable; plaintiff was under the physician's care for fifteen days, and was unable to work during this period of time. The accident was entirely due to the carelessness and negligence of the defendants; in his plea defendant alleged that plaintiff teased the horse and this is the reason why he met with the accident, which was caused by his own fault. The defendant is condemned to pay plaintiff $95 with interest and costs.

Judgments by Hon. Justice Dorion:

Lacroix vs. Rouillard—Considering that plaintiff claims from defendant the sum of $126.00, being the amount of a promissory note signed by defendant in plaintiff's favor, considering that the defendant pleaded that he paid plaintiff by a transfer of a sum due by one Flavien Chouinard and assented by defendant in plaintiff's favor; considering that defendant has not proven the material allegations of his plea, doth maintain the plaintiff's action and condemns defendant to pay him $122.77, with interest and costs.

Mainguy vs. Dion.—Action to set aside the sale of a mare bought by plaintiff from defendant for $135.00, with a further sum of $30.000 damages; defendant pleaded that he warned plaintiff at the time of the sale that the mare was vicious and that he knew that the animal was dangerous, the plaintiff's action is dismissed with costs.

Vallieres vs. Hamel Action asking the separation from defendant; a general denial was the defendant's plea to the action. The Court declares the parties separated from bed and board, without costs.

Hamel vs. Vallieres. Action between the same parties for the same cause. Judgment declaring the parties separated from bed and board, and condemning the defendant to pay plaintiff $1,000.00, with interest the whole with costs.

Naud et al. vs. Nadeau.—Judgment according to the plaintiff's conclusions of their declaration for $262.00 against defendant with interest and cost.

THE SHADOW OF BROKEN HEALTH

Can Be Quickly Dispelled Through the Use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

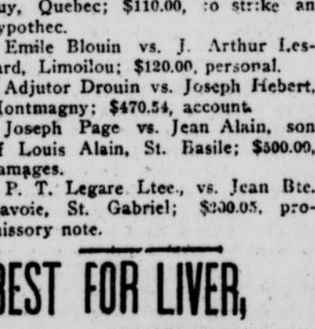

When the shadow of poor health follows your life; when hope begins to fade and friends look serious, then is the time you should remember that thousands just as hopeless have been cured and restored to the sunshine of health by the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills. These pills actually make new, rich blood which brings a glow of health to anaemic cheeks; cures indigestion, headaches and backaches, drives out the stinging pains of rheumatism and neuralgia, strengthens the nerves and relieves as no other medicine can do the aches and pains from which womanfolk alone suffer. In any emergency of poor health give Dr. Williams Pink Pills a fair trial and they will not disappoint you. Here is a case that will bring hope to many a weary sufferer. Mrs. E. C. Taylor, Ascot Ave., Toronto, says: "A few years ago I was so run down with anaemia that I could scarcely walk about the house, and was not able to leave it. I had no color; my appetite was poor and I was constantly troubled with headaches, dizzy spells and general disinclination to move about or do anything. I tried many medicines, but none of them helped me, and my friends thought I was in a decline. One day a friend who was in to see me asked if I had tried Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I had heard of this medicine often, but had not used it, so I determined to give it a trial. I certainly got a pleasant surprise, for after using two boxes I could feel an improvement in my condition. Continuing the use of these pills I began to regain my health, the headaches and dizzy spells were disappearing, and I began to gain in weight. People began enquiring what I was taking and I was not slow to give Dr. Williams Pink Pills the credit. I took the pills for less than two months, and completely regained my old time health and strength. I hope my experience may convince some doubting person as to the great merit of Dr. Williams Pink Pills, as I certainly have cause to be a firm champion of them."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Aye," said the rustic, "there was anither auld story, but it fell down long since."—London Telegraph.

TO DEVELOP TRADE WITH RUSSIA

Vancouver Harbor.

Bird's eyeview of Vladivostok—Russia's great Pacific port.

TRADE of Canada and the United States with Russia—through the Russian port of Vladivostok—is growing rapidly, and present prospects indicate that it will in the future assume huge proportions. Most of the Canadian and a good deal o. the United States trade is conducted through Vancouver harbor, which though naturally a splendid one, is being improved to meet the accumulating requirements of the Pacific commerce. Already many millions of dollars have been spent by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for the equipment of this great Pacific port, and now the great transportation concern is about to make an outlay of $1,500,000 in improving its wharves. Further development plans are in view, and the company is in the happy position of being able to deal with import and export traffic independent of any other concern. As a consequence of the building up of its interests in Vancouver, and in view of the fact that the company has a very large fleet of trading vessels on the Pacific, it is in a situation to deal with the new trade developments of the Dominion with Russia, and at the same time continue to handle the gigantic Oriental trade with its customary promptitude.

United States business men are at present sending agents to explore the commercial circles of Russia, with a view to securing a market for American goods, and also for the purpose of purchasing some of the products which Russia can export, and which are very necessary on this continent. Keen observers in the United States seize on the present as an opportune time for extended trade with Russia via Vladivostok.

It is with a view towards the greater development of trade with Russia that the Canadian Pacific Railway appointed Mr. A. R. Owen as their general agent at Vladivostok. Mr. Owen will look after the great volume of traffic that the C. P. R. is handling to and from Russia, and he will also look into the possibilities of increasing trade between Russia, Canada and the United States. Mr. Owen, having spent a number of years in the East, is familiar with the conditions there, and he has a wide knowledge of commercial affairs on this continent. He spent the first five years of his business career in various departments of the company in America, and he is in close touch with the leading manufacturers and merchants in the larger centres of Russia, and will be glad to look after the interests of any Canadian exporters desiring to place samples with the Russian firms of importers.

United States concerns are very much alive to the growth of the trade with Russia via Vladivostok, and Canada might secure as good a business via this port for an exchange of products as this country has already secured with Australia and New Zealand. Russia is a country which needs much development, as well as the introduction of modern machinery and modern methods in handling her produce. Her progressive trade with the United States and Canada will spread industrial education, obliterate antiquated methods and introduce new ones, and find a market for a big quantity of Russian goods which heretofore went to waste. Russia has been exporting something like $45,000,000 worth of eggs annually, but if she had proper refrigerator storage for eggs before shipment she might export $100,000,000 worth each year. Enormous quantities of eggs are rendered unless for commercial purposes in Russia because there are few refrigerators there. In the matter of meat preservation a similar difficulty exists. This shows that there is a big market for refrigerators in Russia just now. Reports indicate that there is also a big demand in that country for electric plants, and for rubber footwear. The Russians are preparing for the rush back to business after the war, and need tools for their factories, new rails for their extended railroads, and new labor saving devices that have already been used advantageously on the American continent.

The war brought about an increased number of vessel callers at Vladivostok, and many improvements have been made in that harbor. Warehouses have been built, storage yards enlarged, and branch tracks from the main railway lines connected with the wharves. Dredging of the waterfronts is also being carried out as never before, so that the largest of ships may enter their berths in the greatest comfort. The country is rapidly developing her resources, and the unique opportunity of trading with her now and after the war should be availed of by all Canadian and American firms, who will benefit themselves and their country by trading with this great ally of Great Britain in her fight against Germany.

ALLOW NO LIQUOR IN BAKESHOPS

BOARD INFORMS BAKER THAT BRANDY IS "TABOO" FOR PIES AND PUDDING.

Mince pies, plum puddings, etc., will be made without brandy or other liquor this Christmas in Ontario, unless those holiday eatables are made in the home. According to the Ontario License Board the Ontario Temperance does not make any provision for the baker using liquor in his business, and a baker called upon the board yesterday for light upon the point was sent away with sound, if unwelcome advice.

The Ontario License Act allows the keeper of liquor for manufacturing purposes, but the clause setting out the different articles into which it may be placed does not include confectionery of any kind.

There is no outlet for the baker by keeping the liquor in his own home and bringing it to the shop, since carrying it from one place to another is an offence, while having it in a building used as a bake shop and partly as a residence is also an offence unless the residence where it is kept is entirely shut off from the shop.

The discussion of the scope of the law in making it an offence for a citizen to have liquor in his possession except upon his own residential premises apparently indicates a way out for the man with the flask. According to the view expressed at the License Department, the Act makes it legal for a person to "carry liquor from one place where it may be legally kept to another place where it may be legally kept." For a person to carry liquor from his home to the home of a neighbor or friend, both being places where liquor may be legally kept, is stated to be within the law.

While one or two convictions have indicated that having liquor on the person is to be construed as a violation of the law, it is said that the Act in its bearing upon this point will be used more to keep a check upon the operations of bootleggers than to harry the man who likes to have a "nip" about.

CHILDHOOD AILMENTS

Childhood ailments in most cases come through some derangement of the stomach or bowels. Baby's Own Tablets have been proved by thousands of mothers to be the greatest medicine known for the cure of these ailments, simply because they regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach. Concerning them Mrs. Napoleon Lambert, St. Ignace, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent medicine for childhood ailments and I am well pleased with their use." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TWO SOLDIERS AND A GIRL.

Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady.

Jennie McFall had two strings to her bow. That is, she had two beaux on the string.

They were both likely young men, and for the life of her she could not make up her mind which to choose.

Then the war broke out. "Now," she said, I shall see which is the best man. I'll never marry a man that thinks too much of his precious skin to go and fight for his country. The one that goes first is the one for me."

They went together.

"I'll see which does best," she said to herself,—and waited to hear of one or other winning the Victoria Cross.

Neither did.

They fought well, all the same. Both were wounded, and came home in the same ship, and went to the same convalescent hospital. Tom had lost an arm, and Harry a leg.

Tom was the first to go out and visit her. She nearly cried to see his empty sleeve; but she was determined to be fair, and knew that Harry was handicapped for paying visits. So she still waited; and when Harry came in he got just as much sympathy as Tom.

By this time their second fight was on.

The enemy was not Germany now. It was their own human nature.

Naturally, they felt a bit down, and a bit soft, and a bit slack.

Neither of them was a quitter, nor even a kicker.

Neither of them ever came back with a drop too much when they had been away from the hospital for an outing.

Though they did not feel up to much at first, neither of them liked loafing.

Both were quite interested in the carpentry and typewriting and drawing classes, carried on in the hospital to fit them once more for a life of activity and independence.

Both of them scouted the idea that a man who had done his bit at the front should rest on his laurels and do as little as possible for the rest of his days.

But there was a difference.

One of them was a shade keener than the other.

Harry had no idea of living on his pension and any casual job he might get to supplement it; but all he aimed at was to earn as much as he had been earning before.

Tom made up his mind to do more with one arm than ever he had done with two. The more he was handicapped, the more resolved he was to win . . . .

Is there any need to finish the story?

CUPID BUSY IN WARTIME.

Munitions and war have converted London into a city of honeymoons. First it was the khaki-clad solider, encouraged by the Government's promise to provide for the bride while he was away at war, who caused the increase in the marriage rate. Then the munition worker, as prosperous in dollars as he had been in pennies, decided to share his hitherto undreamed-of wages with a life partner.

During 1915 more than 5,800 marriages were registered in the city, and, although the rate has decreased somewhat this summer, it is believed 1916 will make a record in the number of brides.

HER DOG IN DAY CAR CAUSES A $25 FINE

WOMAN IS FOUND GUILTY OF HITTING TRAINMAN ON THE NOSE.

New York Oct. 28—Mrs. Anna Pryor Smith, a wealthy resident of the Beechhurst section of Flushing, was fined $25 in the court of Special Sessions, at Jamacia, the other day, for having assaulted Edward G. Alvin a Long Island Railroad trainman, on July 21. Alvin alleged he was hit on the nose by Mrs. Smith because he reminded her that it was against the rules for her to carry a dog with her in the day car. He said its place was in the baggage car.

His testimony was corroborated by Policeman Francis A. Daily, who was a passenger on the train and witnessed the affair. Mrs. Smith became indignant when led to the police record office to have impressions of her finger print taken.

Mrs. Smith was found guilty by Justices Freschi, Edwards and Herbert.

NEW WAR GAMES.

Canadians Have Originated Many and Revolutionized Others.

The Germans call the British mad because of their passion for sports. But it was a Canadian division which chose to have its movable kitchens cooking a real meal as it passed Minister of War Lloyd George in review, that later held the first field and track meet in which only war games were contested. Since then these field days have become popular all through the British forces.

The old-time war game, a sort of chess played by senior commanders, is not of much use in this "war of position." In its stead many other games have been invented. One feature is a gas helmet race. The spectacle of a line of men wearing their helmets and looking like bipeds with elephants' heads racing over a hundred yard course makes one who sees it for the first time burst into laughter.

"Digging in under fire," another favorite sport, bears a strong resemblance to hard work. Each competitor has an entrenching tool and ten minutes in which to show what a fine cover for himself against a hostile "Jack Johnson" he can make in that time.

Bomb throwing matches are sometimes played from practice trenches, but usually on a smooth surface. The bombs by the rules must be bowled, and not thrown. The target is thirty or forty yards away. It resembles in shape a gigantic "hot cross bun," and the maximum in points is awarded for missiles dropped in a circle at the centre of the cross.

The Canadians were the first to establish a barbed wire fence building as a sport. Nine coils of barbed wire and twenty posts are the material. The competitors must build an "apron fence," and the team first completing its work in a satisfactory manner wins.

One curious rule in this game is that no talking may be done. In the field these fences are built at night close to the enemy, who would be much interested in the work if he knew about it.

The old stretcher bearer competition consisted in four men carrying a bandaged "patient" on a stretcher for a hundred yards. Sometimes a glass of water was placed on the stretcher, and the spilling of a drop eliminated the team.

The Canadians have improved this sport by abolishing the stretcher—it must now be improvised out of the nearest available material.

The wearers of the maple leaf have also improved what is called the "Victoria Cross race." The old way mounted men galloped from one end of the arena to the other, snatched up a straw-stuffed figure supposed to be a fallen comrade, threw it across the saddle, and rode back through a storm of blank cartridges. The Canadians laughed at the dummies. They used real men, weighting twenty times as much.

The war has changed bayonet fighting methods. In the old bayonet game the wire-helmeted fencer, swaddled in pads and wielding a knob-headed weapon, parried and thrust at his antagonist.

"The bayonet fighter of the old school," said an instructer in the new practice, "would be killed while he was feinting, dodging, giving ground and looking for an opening."

The new bayonet contest is a kind of obstacle race, in which the competittor stabs, jabs, and buldgeons as he runs, using the point of a naked bayonet and the butt of a service rifle, always going, never feinting or giving ground an inch.

A BUILDER OF CANALS.

Major D. Z. Weller Has Claims On Fame.

Major J. L. Weller, on whose shoulders rests the main burden of the mammoth construction work now in progress on the new Welland Ship Canal, is a native of Ontario, having been born at Cobourg in this Province, some 56 years ago. He was graduated from the Royal Military College with honors in 1883, taking the first prize in civil engineering, physics, and artillery. He has been constantly in the employment of the Department of Railways and Canals of Canada from 1883 to the present date, being connected with the construction of the Trent, Murray, and St. Lawrence Canals. He was superintending enginneer of the Welland Canal from 1900 to 1912, and at present is engineer-in-charge of the survey, design, and construction of the proposed Welland Ship Canal, which is estimated to cost $50,000,000.

He has had a varied experience both as soldier and as engineer. He served in the North-West Rebellion in 1885 as lieutenant in the Midland Battalion, and as staff adjutant at the best under Major-General J. W. Laurie. Later he served as captain and adjutant in the 59th Stormont and Glengarry Regiment, retiring when senior major on moving out of the district. He was a member of the Bisley team of 1896, winning many prizes, among others the High Commissioner's Cup. He was also a member of the Kolapore Cup team of that year, which was successful in winning the cup.

He was placed in charge of the repairs of the disastrous break in the Cornwall Canal bank in 1908, which was repaired by building a timber crib dam 428 feet long by 20 feet wide and 20 feet high around the washout, in ten days, and the canal was in operation in less than three weeks afterwards. Among his other claims to distinction may be mentioned the fact that he was the original inventor of reinforced concrete poles for electric lines.

Major Weeler's great daring and resourcefulness have won for him a reputation. Some years ago he accompanied a party of Government officials on a trip of inspection from Port Colborne to Port Stanley on Lake Erie. The party traveled on a tug boat and the trip was made in November, when the weather is usually cold and the lake rough. A skiff was being towed behind the tug, and on the way to Port Stanley the tow line became fouled in the screw of the propeller of the tug. Efforts to free it were unavailing, and navigation of the boat was rendered imposible. The only solution was for one of the party to go down under the water and cut the rope away—not a very inviting prospect in the ice cold waters of the lake, and with a fair gale blowing. Major Weller volunteered for the service, and, after stripping off his outer garments, was lowered down behind.

Owing to the coldness of the water he was unable to accomplish the task at once, and was raised to the boat again. In a short time he again went down and succeeded in partially freeing the propeller, but not sufficiently to enable it to be operated. It was necessary for him to be raised and lowered five times before the task was completed, and by that time he was completely exhausted and indifferent to the state of the elements. With careful attention, however, and, thanks to his robust constitution, he was gradually brought back to normal, but not without serious cogitation on his part as to the possible consequences of such exposure. By next day he was himself again, and had added another instance to the many where his daring has overcome difficult situations.

Major Weller was a splendid marksman, having been (as mentioned above) a member of the Bisley Team of 1896, from which he brought back many trophies and on such trips as the one just mentioned, he would often entertain the party by shooting pennies from between the fingers of his companions, who had such confidence in his aim that they were not at all diffident about offering a mark of this kind for his revolver.

Mr. Weller in 1885, married Miss Whitehead of Kingston. He has one son and two daughters. The son is Mr. W. H. Weller, general contracting engineer, who also graduated from the Royal Military College.

AMERICAN TRAINMEN STRONG FOR WILSON

BROTHERHOODS ABANDON A TRADITIONAL POLICY OF KEEPING OUT OF POLITICS.

New York, Oct. 26—Chiefs of the four railroad brotherhoods have sent a personal appeal in the form of a circular letter to their members throughout the country, urging them to vote for the re-election of President Wilson, it was announced here tonight by H. G. Sines, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The appeal, it was said, was based not only on the ground that President Wilson had obtained legislation favorable to labor generally, but that he had been responsible also for legislation beneficial to the masses of the people.

Mr. Sines, in making the announcement, declares this was the first time in the history of the Brotherhoods that they had departed from their "traditional policy of keeping out of politics."

NEW STEAMSHIP FROM DENMARK

VESSEL LAUNCHED IN JUNE LAST ARRIVES CHARTERED BY ROBERT REFORD.

The Danish steamship Phoeniv is alongside one of the berths in the Louise Basin on her first visit to Quebec and her second to Canada. The Phoenix is a new vessel, having been launched only last June at Alsinore, Denmark. She made one voyage to Campbellton last August, her maiden trip to a Canadian port.

On the present trip she came from Liverpool consigned to Messrs. Robert Reford & Co. and will take on 1,100 standards. She has a net tonnage of 1,145. Captain U. N. Jorgensen is in command.

SHIPPING NOTES.

SS. Hampstead arrived down from Montreal yesterday to complete outward cargo.

The steam barges Robert Rhodes and Easton passed inward yesterday bound for the upper lakes.

SS. Bengore Head, of the Head Line, arrived down from Montreal yesterday and will complete her outward cargo here.

The SS. Gaspesien, bound for points along the south shore, arrived down from Montreal yesterday.

A vessel, believed to be the C.P.O.S. Lake Manitoba, was reported at Matane at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She is due here this morning with passengers, mails, etc. The C.P.O.S. Missanabie, from Liverpool, with passengers, mails, etc., was not reported up to early last night.

The Cunard Line SS. Ascania, from London, arrived in port early yesterday morning after an uneventful trip. She carried 40 cabin and 194 third class passengers. These numbers included a small number of Canadian soldiers medically unfit for further services overseas. The Ascania proceeded to Montreal at 9.45 a.m. yesterday.

The SS. Folia is due to arrive down from Montreal over the week-end to complete her outward cargo.

SS. Haakon, chartered by Robert Reford & Co., sailed from Barry for this port on October 7th.

The directors of the Union-Castle Mail SS. Co., Ltd., have declared an interim dividend of 6 per cent per annum, free of income tax, the same as a year ago, the New York Maritime Register announces.

BRITISH SHIPBUILDING.

Engineering of London notes a steady improvement in the volume of merchant ships being turned out with the approval of the Admiralty, the launches during the past three months being greater than since the early months of the war. Thus 86 vessels of a collective gross tonnage of 192,267 tons were floated, as compared with 91 vessels of 157,594 tons in the preceding quarter, 69 vessels of 81,661 tons in the first quarter of the year, and 72 vessels of 94,056 tons in the last quarter of 1915. The feature, however, of greater significance is the number of vessels on which building operations have been commenced. These number for the quarter just concluded 96, and makes up 320,120 tons gross. This compares with 84 vessels of 193,719 tons in the preceding quarter. For an equally large volume of work commenced it is necessary to go back to the concluding quarter of 1914, when the absorption of shipbuilding yards for Government work first became operative in checking the ordering of merchant ships. As a consequence of this large accession to the work on hand, the total number of merchant vessels under construction, taking into account only vessels of 100 tons and upwards, was at the end of September, according to Lloyd's quarterly return just issued, 469, of a total gross tonnage of 1,789,054 tons. This is the largest volume of merchant work on hand at any time since the end of 1913, from which date there was a steady diminution of work on hand. The total is about 249,000 tons more than in June of this year, and 253,000 tons more than in September of 1915. This is, from many points of view, a highly satisfactory result; it is of some significance, too, but on this latter point the figures must be left to speak for themselves. Every district in the kingdom has shared in the new work given out.

DIVIDEND OF TOYO KISEN KAISHA

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha it was decided to recommend to the next general meeting of shareholders of this shipping company that a dividend at the rate of 15 per cent per annum be declared for the first half of the present fiscal year. In its report of this action the Japan Gazette states that the net profits for the half-year amounts to 2,736,000 yen ($1,362,996), while for the preceding term was only 1,190,000 yen ($593,215). The company has, therefore, set aside 1,000,000 yen ($498,500) for the payment of accounts due to shipbuilding yards.

"I FEEL LIKE A NEW BEING"

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought The Joy Of Health After Two Years' Suffering

MADAM LAPLANTE

35 St. Rose St., Montreal, April 4th.

"For over two years I was sick and miserable. I suffered from constant Headaches, and had Palpitation of the Heart so badly that I feared I would die. There seemed to be a lump in my stomach and the Constipation was dreadful. I suffered from Pain in the Back and Kidney Disease.

I was treated by a physician for a year and a half and he did me no good at all. I tried "Fruit-a-tives" as a last resort. After using three boxes, I was greatly improved and twelve boxes made me well. Now I can work all day and there are no Headaches, no Palpitation, no Heart Trouble, no Constipation, no Pain or Kidney Trouble and I feel like a new being—and it was "Fruit-a-tives" that gave me back my health".

MADAM ARTHUR LAPLANTE.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Closing Letters By the Can. Press

(Canadian Press)

New York, October 27—There were indications in to-day's trading, the broadest and most active since Monday, of a revival of public interest, that element having been conspicuously lacking for almost a fortnight Sentiment seemed to be more hopeful regarding coming events, the assured success of the new British loan proving a powerful stimulant.

Professionals dominated the market, however, this being clearly demonstrated by the activity of pools and cliques in the low priced rails and the specialties embraced in the sugar, paper, and minor industrial groups There were numerous new records, Bethlehem Steel leading on its further rise of 8 points to 650. Other striking gains and new maximums were Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, which rose 9 7-8 to 104 7-8, Utah Copper 4 7-8 to 106, Cuba cane sugar 2 5-8 to 75 1-2, Central Leather 4 to 94 3-4, American Writing Paper, pfd., 2 3-4 to 48 and Consoloidated Gas of Baltimore 2 to 126 1-4.

Further advances of 1 to 4 points were registered by the non-dividend rails, latest accessions to that division including Wisconsin Central, Iowa Central, Ontario and Western and Chicago and Alton. Rock Island was again a strong feature, regaining much of yesterday's decline, but yielding at the close.

Among the less active specialties in which advances ran from 2 to 4 points were Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke, American Snuff and Cast Iron Pipe, pfd., while Cuban American Sugar rose ten points

Recessions of fractions to over a point set in on realizing during the last hour, but coppers moved contrarily under leadership of Utah. Steel yielded a full point, but closed at a net gain of almost that much. Total sales aggregated 1,280,000 shares.

No material alteration was shown by foreign exchange rates, receipt of another large consignment of British gold leaving sterling bills unchanged.

Bonds were more steady on reduced offerings of international issues. Total sales, par value, amounted to $6,470,000.

Closing Letters By Local Brokers

(By Bruneau & Dupuis)

New York, October 27—To-day's market has been strong and active with a slight reaction in U.S. Steel and a few of the prominent leaders towards the close. But generally speaking the tone has been good and several stocks, notably the sugars and some of the coppers, have made new high records.

The election is now only ten days off and it may be that the market will back and fill more or less until we know what the outcome will be, but, nevertheless, the market is strong, so that it would seem as if a majority of people look for a Hughes victory. Total sales: Stocks: 1,222,395; bonds, $6,334,500.

(By Breen & Gourdeau)

New York, October 27—The securities market during the current week was a strictly day-to-day affair, with practically nothing in the way of an incentive at the close of each session upon which to base a satisfactory forecast of the succeeding days possibilities. The remarkable bank statement published after the close of business last week, showing a big gain in actual cash, a sharp contraction in loans and an increase in excess reserve of more than $30,000,000, had a distinctly favorable effect upon trading and prices for a time at the outset of the week, but this highly impressive item of marketwise importance soon lost prominence in the consideration of other market factors. The irregularity characterized the movement of prices thereafter. The lack of uniformity was largely attributable to the waiting attitude adopted by speculative interests in view of the proximity of the national election, and the advantage of which was taken by the professional element to work strenuously for lower prices. The chief topic of discussion was the political situation, the increased uncertainty in the outcome of which tended to greatly confuse sentiment and this helped very materially to unsettle the market's equilibrium. However, money market rates remain easy, capital available for both investment and speculative purposes is in plentiful supply, and, despite the effect upon sentiment which politics have influenced, the market presents many opportunities, notwithstanding the improvement in prices. The opinion is widely shared in, nevertheless, that the doubtful outlook as to the composition of the next administration will continue to be reflected in the movement of prices until a definite development in that situation may be seen. Sales: stocks, 1,222,395; bonds, $6,334,500.

Chicago—Wheat—There was buying of wheat early this morning credited to seaboard account against export sales yesterday greatly in excess of quantities published. This gave the market a higher range and a strong undertone. The situation to us seems to warrant much higher prices before another crop year.

Corn—The strength which developed in the wheat pit late in the session was reflected in corn. Early in the day the majority of the trade, impressed by larger offerings to arrive, particularly of corn, was disposed to follow the selling side. There was, therefore, a good deal of short corn to cover when the market turned strong.

Oats—Have been accumulated by a class of traders who are unwilling to undertake the financial risk of trading in wheat. At these levels there is, however, a better reason for buying oats on breaks, the reduced production in practically every surplus country outside of the United States. Bought on good breaks they are, therefore, a commendable investment.

The steel stocks were again the feature in to-day's trading. Dominion Steel continues the leader. It set a new high record to 70 7-8 to-day on very big dealings. Steel Company of Canada although very active did not respond to the action of Dom. Steel. Contrary to what was generally expected, after opening at 66 1-4 and selling as high as 66 1-2, it gradually sagged off to 65 3-4 and closed at 65 7-8. The same may be applied to Nova Scotia Steel, which was also easier, selling off a point to 140, there being but one transaction during the afternoon session at that price.

Among the specialties, Peter Lyall Construction, common, and Dominion Bridge acted very well, the former selling up to 86 against 84 this morning, but later reacted to 84 3-4 at the close, while the latter after being very steady at 214 during this morning's trading, opened with a rush at 214 1-2 and advanced very quickly to 217 1-4, indicating very good demand in anticipation of the coming quarterly dividend of 2 per cent together with a bonus of 3 per cent to holders of record Oct. 31st. The paper stocks continued reactionary, especially Laurentide Pulp, which lost 3 points, selling down to 209, where it closed, against 212 at the opening. Riordan Paper also lost 2 points from 122 at the opening to 120 during the early trading, but rallied at the close to 122. Spanish River followed suit and lost 1 point to 17, where a good demand seemed to be in evidence. Can. Car issues were strong, common 41 and preferred up 1 point to 73. There was great activity in the unlisted department to-day, especially in North American Pulp and Paper, the new "paper doll," there being 8,000 shares traded in between 12 7-8 and 13 3-4 during the first few hours trading. Laurentide Power and Tram Power in the same department held around last night's closing figures or probably a fraction easier Dominion war loan issues quiet, new 99 1-4, old 98 3-4.

(By McDougall & Cowans)

Montreal, October 27—Dom. Iron was the most active feature to-day. From the opening at 69 3-4 it steadily advanced until the close at 70 7-8. Canada Steel was steady at 66. Scotia 140 to 141. The paper stocks were weaker. Laurentide selling down to 208 3-4, and Wayagamac to 88. Riordan Paper throughout the day was firm at 121 and advanced to 122 1-2 at the close. Dom. Bridge had a good advance, selling up to 217 from the opening at 214. Trading was well distributed, some of the inactive securities showing particular strength. Peter Lyall sold up to 86, closing at 85 Can. Cottons advanced to 64 1-2. Loco sold at 56. The investment for demand for Civic is still taking large blocks off the market and it was very firm to-day at 83. In the unlisted department North American Paper was for the first time dealt in to-day. It was very active between 12 3-4 and 13 1-4.

LOCAL BOARD TRADE FAVORS RESOLUTION

ENDORSES STAND TAKEN BY ST. JOHN BOARD RE SHIPMENTS OVERSEAS.

At the general meeting of the Quebec Board of Trade, held on Thursday last, it was proposed by Mr. W. H. Wiggs, seconded by Mr. H. Young and resolved:—

That the Quebec Board of Trade cordially endorses the resolution of the Board of Trade of St. John, New Brunswick, recently adopted, namely:

That the situation that has arisen in consequence of enemy submarine attacks upon peaceful merchant ships sailing out of United States ports, and of the attitude assumed by the United States government towards these enemy seacraft, demands that instant action should be taken to secure to a fuller extent the carrying of commerce designed for Great Britain and her Allies through the ports of Canada, where it can be assured the protection of the British and Allied navy, without danger of international complications arising.

That the Quebec Board of Trade urges upon the Government of Canada in co-operation with the home government, the importance of further hastening the development of the seaports of the St. Lawrence and of the Maritime Provinces, so as to care for this commerce in summer and winter; and it also calls upon Canadian shippers to route their shipments wherever possible through Canadian ports, thus assuring them necessary sea protection and at the same time strengthening and upbuilding Canadian ports and railways, towards the development of which vast sums of the public moneys of Canada have already been expended.

That the boards of trade of Canada be asked to co-operate in this movement, and that our representatives in parliament be requested to urge the matter upon the attention of the government so as to secure immediate action; and that the Quebec Board of Trade would again point out to the Government the urgent necessity of equipping the ports of Quebec, Halifax, and St. John with grain storage to the extent of at least ten million bushels at each port, so as to place the National Transcontinental Railway in a position to carry out the explicit purposes for which its vast cost was sanctioned by Parliament, namely: that its remarkable shortening of mileage and easy gradients would result in the cheapening of the cost of transporting the grain of the western farmer, and in the exclusive handling of its ocean traffic at Canadian seaports, without which grain storage it will be impossible to do so. And we call for the redemption of the pledge given by the act of Parliament authorizing the construction of that railway, by which it was promised not only that its traffic would be handled at Canadian seaports, but that an ample supply of ocean tonnage would be provided at our ports to carry this traffic.

If these promises are carried out, we feel convinced that a step will be put to the alarming diversion of the grain trade of the Canadian Northwest to United States seaports, which last year took away two-thirds of the export grain of the western provinces, notwithstanding the vast sacrifices the people of Canada have made in building three transcontinental railways.

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home, and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat, are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial.

Important Note: In ordering Parmint always specify that you want double strength. Your druggist has it or he can easily get it for you. If not send 75c. postal note or money order to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, Que., Can., and they will supply you.

Topics of the day

Toronto has been called the city of conventions. As a meeting place, whether international or provincial, it has known many remarkable gatherings—but none of them more significant that the three-days' convocation last week of hundreds of members, met for the "preservation and continuance of the Presbyterian Church." The scene of the meeting was St. Andrew's Church (King street), and the sessions were a revelation of the extent and steadfastness of the opposition to the union of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches.

When it is recalled that the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, held in the city of Winnipeg last summer, approved of this union by a vote of 406 to 89, the ordinary observer naturally wonders why this convocation assembled in Toronto four months later. Figures of course, do not lie, but they have been known to prevaricate—and the General Assembly majority for union is not as conclusive as it looks. The Union Committee in its first report, and the General Assembly of 1905, in adopting that report, laid down as a "condition of organic union that a union of the churches, to be real and lasting, must carry the consent of the entire membership."

When the first vote of the Presbyterian people was taken in 1911, out of a total membership of 298,916, it was found that 113,000 voted in favor of organic union, and 50,733 voted against. The Assembly of 1912, on receiving that vote, declared it "unwise," owing to the extent of the minority, to proceed immediately to union. In the vote of 1915, out of a total membership of 338,222, there were 113,600 in favor of organic union, and 73,735 against. According to these reports, from 1911 to 1915 the membership of the Presbyterian Church in Canada increased approximately 40,000—the vote for union increased only 600, while the vote against union increased 23,000. As a matter of fact, only about one-third of the entire membership had declared itself in favor of the proposed organic union. In view of these facts, the members who met in convocation last week declared the action of the General Assembly at Winnipeg manifestly "untimely and ill-advised."

To those who know anything of the Presbyterian Church, there is a vein of granite in the following resolution: "Therefore in view of these facts and for others reasons, it is hereby resolved that our present duty is to maintain and continue the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and to this duty we solemnly pledge ourselves."

Now, when several hundred sturdy representatives from all parts of this Dominion "solemnly pledge" themselves, under the roof of St. Andrew's Church, to the performance of a certain task, those who know anything of the ways of Presbyterianism will be prepared to see a course of maintenance and preservation which will not closely resemble an organic union with anything but the church of Jeanie Geddes and John Knox.

This is a bewildering world, at times, and strangely enough, the opponents of union have been prevented from placing their case before the members of many churches. Also, they have encountered certain difficulties in disseminating their literature which make the unsophisticated wonder what provincial politics or the policy of the Confederated Life Building may have to do with it all. Obstacles of that nature have only proved an incentive to more determined effort, however, and it really looks as if the three days' convocation did more than its share of constructive work.

• • •

Of course, politics has nothing to do with such a matter as church union. Only, it was stated by a Montreal delegate that President Falconer, of the University, had, without authority, issued annotations of the proposed basis of union to sessions and congregations. Kind and thoughtful of President Falconer—who wouldn't know a political measure if he met it on the steps of the Parliament Buildings in Queen's Park. Just pure benevolence is this annotating on the part of the President. As for the press, the "Globe" office could not even tell a wayfaring man where the meetings were being held, and referred in its report of the Tuesday meetings to an "alleged" convocation. We wonder—but no—our good friend, Dr. J. A. Macdonald, is too busy promoting peace and having heart-to-heart talks with John Burroughs, to pay any attention to such trivial matters as church union.

There was a disposition on the part of certain authorities to refer to the members of this convocation as "fossils" and "reactionaries," not to mention other terms of a Billy Sunday flavor. On the contrary, as those who attended the meetings are aware, the members showed a firmness, with fanaticism: a resolution, without rigidity, which were essentially modern. There was no disposition to insist on the Westminster Confession, or to enthrone the traditionist. Neither was there any manifestation of bitterness—rather to the disappointment of outsiders who had attended in the hope of hearing a bit of vituperation. The aim of the convocation was positive, not negative, and no time was wasted in idle recrimination.

There was noticeable, however, a quiet resentment of the alleged commercialism of certain promoters of the union, who actually seemed to regard the church as a syndicate, and a new doctrinal basis as a creed combine. There were sensitive members who did not care for such words as "merger" and "consolidation" in connection with ecclesiastical affairs, and who might even have been suspected of ignorance of what is known as a whirlwind campaign.

Many expressions, used during the convocation, would seem to indicate that the Presbyterian Church has been largely dominated by an oligarchy, and that this union movement has been clerical and official in nature. On the other hand, it is evident from the personnel of the Executive Committee of the recently-formed Presbyterian Church Association, that this action for the church preservation is democratic, and a spontaneous movement of the people. Such terrific terms as "obscurantist" and "obstructionist" have been used by those who regard the members of the convocation as opponents of a heavenly-inspired union. But with such members as Principal Fraser and Dr. Andrew Robertson, not to mention Dr. Thomas Eakin, the Executive Committee can hardly be disposed as of antiquated in theology or narrow in sympathy.

The outcome of the convocation is the establishment of a Presbyterian Church Association, with Rev. Principal Fraser of Montreal as President, and a central committee for executive work drawn largely from Ontario and Quebec, with vice-presidents to represent the provinces on the Executive. Evidently Presbyterianism is neither dead nor in immediate danger of dissolution, while the Convenanting spirit flames out in a solemn pledge such as that taken last week. The Presbyterian Church Association is not going to be broken up by union, nor eliminated by a merger. In the meantime, some citizens who are not members of the churches immediately concerned are wondering why good neighbors should have been officiously thrust into the positino of being joint householders when they merely wished to live next door. Union without unity would make the last state of the Church infinitely worse than anything yet dreamed of in ecclesiastical amalgamation—Toronto Saturday Night.

Too little is being made into the harder tissue of muscle and too much into little globules of fat. Therefore you should correct the mal-assimilation and increase the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. To do this, go to any good druggist and get oil of orilene, only sold in original packages and in capsule form, and take one capsule after each meal and one at bedtime till your weight is reduced to what it should be on all parts of the body. The effect of oil of orilene in capsule form is remarkable as a weight reducer and it is perfectly safe. —E. J. T.

Any druggist can supply you or a large size box will be sent on receipt of $1.00, postal note or money order. Address D. J. Little Drug Co., Box 1240, Montreal, Can.
