Vivid Impressions of Foreign Personalities Are Given

Harry B. Spencer of Beauharnois Gives Address Here on "Germany and Russia As He Viewed Them Three Years Ago"—Full Context of Address to Appear Next Week

Social activity amongst the members of the Masonic fraternity at Huntingdon is just something that has not been practised in recent years. Last evening the first of a series of such evenings was held, and even though the weather was bitterly cold many members from as far as Kensington drove in for the evening and they were not disappointed. The feature of the evening was an address by Mr. Harry B. Spencer of Beauharnois who spoke on "Germany and Russia as he viewed them three years ago." Mr. Spencer was introduced by the Rev. Alex. Nimmo. Mr. Nimmo referred to Mr. Spencer as "a man who was ever on the go, never knowing when he might be called to one city or another in the interests of the Howard Smith Paper Co., of which he is the Beauharnois mill manager. The mill is running day and night and often Mr. Spencer is obliged to work on Sundays; therefore, I say we are truly fortunate in having him with us."

Mr. Spencer's address gave such a vivid impression of the German and Russian personalities that have such an effect upon the manner of conducting the present war, we intend to print his address in a comprehensive manner in the next issue of the Gleaner. Watch for it, for we believe after reading the account you will be better able to appreciate the actions of the German and Russian people.

During the evening games were generally indulged in. The Rev. Scott Duncan, Athelstan favoured the gathering with violin selections whilst Mr. Aubrey McBride recited. Mr. Ivan Heath and Mr. Wilfrid Grant led in the sing-song. Refreshments were served.

The next social evening will likely be held in February.

Hospital at Ormstown Kept Busy

An Average of Seven Patients A Day During December

More than 25 patients have been handled by the Barrie Memorial Hospital to date. Of these none have been accident cases while more than two-thirds of them have been surgical cases. About thirty per cent of the cases have been indigent.

The Hospital has chronicled its list of "firsts" in order that some time from now reference might be made to them in case they are wanted. For example, the first birth recorded at the Hospital was that of Barrie Daniel Cassidy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cassidy of St. Chrysostome on December 20. One birth was recorded on New Year's day at the Hospital. The first patient at the Hospital was that of Dr. J. Greer of Ormstown. The first death was that of Miss Sarah Ann Gordon, whose death occurred on December 10, 1939.

The Hospital has been comparatively busy since it opened. For the month of December there was an average of 7 patients a day.

ORMSTOWN COUPLE HONORED ON 50TH ANNIVERSARY

A family gathering in honour of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Rice, of Ormstown, Que., was held on Tuesday night at the residence of their daughter, Mrs. A. C. Woodward, Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Rice were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary and were given an anniversary dinner by their children.

In addition to their daughter,

W. G. McGerrigle's Rink Wins Moore Trophy at Ormstown

Winning Rink Defeats Aubrey Rink Skipped by Floyd Gruer—Former Ormstown Curler Comes by Airplane to Take Part in Bospiel

W. G. McGerrigle's four win the Moore Trophy in the bospiel held in Ormstown last week. W. G. McGerrigle and his rink chalked up their first point. The game continued with the Cunningham rink steadily counting till the final end then 18 to 1.

Following the games refreshments were served to the players and guests. The president, Mr. Frank Smith and Dr. M. R. Stalker presented the prizes, reversible wool overthrow blankets to the winners in the main event, Ingersoll alarm clocks to Aubrey runners-up. The Cunningham team each received an Esmond blanket and the Kelly men scarfs.

During the three days of the bospiel there were many interesting games as the twenty-five rinks entered played to the finals. Large crowds of curling enthusiasts followed the games eagerly.

RE-ELECTED

J. ARMAND LARIN, who was re-elected Mayor of Valleyfield by acclamation on Monday.

MANY ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION IN MUNICIPALITIES

Municipal elections were held in several municipalities last week. In Hemmingford Village, George Orr and Walter Keddy were nominated and elected while T. G. McClellan replaces Roy McCann. In Hemmingford Township, Napoleon Laplante replaces M. A. Philion. Ernest Gagne replaces Leo Duquette and Howard Miller will hold the seat formerly occupied by Sam Grey.

Gordon Davidson was re-elected to seat No. 5 in Dundee. In the same municipality, Victor Quenneville, the retiring councillor, did not stand in his name at nomination for seat No. 3 and Joseph Deschambault was nominated and elected by acclamation. Seat No. 1 was to be contested between J. St. Jacques, Gibson and Earl B. Bardine but the latter who was nominated on nomination day withdrew before the election.

The results of the elections of councillors in Howick Village are as follows: John MacRae, Sydney Stewart and Wallace E. Logan were all re-elected by acclamation.

In the Parish of Tres St. Sacrement, Robert Anderson and Joseph Vallee were re-elected and Albert MacFarlane replaces J. J. Craig, who retired.

FIRST WAR LOAN OVER-SUBSCRIBED

The following telegram was received this morning from Ottawa and is self-explanatory:

Ottawa, January 17, 1940

Gleaner, Huntingdon, Que.

The Bank of Canada announced today on behalf of the Minister of Finance that as at the close of business last night cash subscriptions to the first war loan had been received to the amount of $248,804,550. As the amount of the loan to be issued is limited to $200,000,000 subscriptions not already confirmed cannot be allotted in full. In expressing extreme satisfaction at the response to the offering, officials of the Bank announced that the books of the loan will remain open in order that small subscribers, particularly those in the more distant parts of the country may have a further opportunity to enter their applications. Such subscriptions, however, can only be taken subject to allotment.

ORMSTOWN MAN FINDS OPTIMISM IN THE WEST

Farmers in Western Canada are optimistic about the future, according to Mr. R. E. Walsh of Ormstown, who with Mrs. Walsh recently returned from a trip to Calgary and Edmonton. While there they found the weather was quite mild. The day before Christmas it was raining in Edmonton. Along the railway tracks in Manitoba they noticed that a great deal of land was summer fallowed in preparation for next season's crops. Mr. Walsh was impressed with the progress that had been made at Edmonton since he last visited there. He states that Edmonton is rapidly drawing away from Calgary in importance in the West. Visiting the airport at Edmonton he saw airplanes worth about a million all at one time. These airplanes are for the transport of mail and passengers into the rapidly developing mining fields to the north of this city.

Young Couple Are Honored By Friends

Large Gathering Attends Banquet at Chateau in Honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. Morris Hunter—Dr. Clouston Addresses Gathering

A group of Huntingdon citizens gathered at the Huntingdon Chateau on Monday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. J. Morris Hunter. The Kiter and the bride, Rennie, whose marriage took place on January 8, at Bowmanville, Ont.

More than one hundred friends and relatives were present at this social function which featured a banquet, an address and the presentation of a silver tray.

D. J. O'Connor, president of the Huntingdon Board of Trade acted as chairman. Immediately following the banquet, Mayor Daniel Faubert proposed a toast to His Majesty, the King and this was followed by a toast to the bride and bridegroom, which was made by the chairman, Mr. O'Connor.

The guest speaker for the evening was Dr. H. R. Clouston, of Huntingdon. In his brief but interesting remarks, Dr. Clouston commented on the activities of the Hunter families in Huntingdon for centuries past. He welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Hunter to Huntingdon, not as individuals but as citizens. Dr. Clouston stated that the older generation took a greater interest in the younger generation nowadays and hoped incessantly for their success through life. "People get out of life what they actually put into it, nothing more, nothing less," stated Dr. Clouston.

"The hardest place to make good anywhere in this world is in one's home town. It must be remembered, however, that there is no excitement which can be compared to that which is found in your own home town. You will live in it and you will have more satisfaction there than you will anywhere else on earth."

Dr. Clouston expressed his pleasure in being able to express words of welcome "back to Huntingdon" to Mr. and Mrs. Hunter.

The presentation of a silver tray, on behalf of the gathering, was made by John C. Lefebvre. Following the presentation, Dr. J. E. Caza, of Huntingdon, was called upon to lead in the singing of the French song, "Alouette".

In his remarks, Mr. Morris Hunter thanked the gathering on behalf of himself and Mrs. Hunter for this family honour and assured that they both very much appreciated everything that had been done.

The clergy was represented by Rev. J. H. Miller, D.D., Rev. J. B. Maclean, D.D. and Rev. Father Pison, of St. Joseph's Church. The Board of Trade was well represented by several of its members as well as the Town of Huntingdon and other well-known local active organizations.

Delicious refreshments were served following these proceedings.

DUNDEE Y.P.S. ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The annual business meeting of the Dundee Y.P.S. was held at the home of the Past President, Mr. Donald Fraser. There was a large attendance of members and friends. Plans were made for the holding of the annual oyster supper which will be held on the regular meeting night in February.

Cecil McNeil and Howard Fraser were appointed scrutineers to preside over the election of officers which took place during the course of the meeting.

Several nominations for the various offices were suggested by the members present and after the vote by ballot was taken the following were found to be elected for 1940: President, Ross Beattie; Vice-President, Gordon Fraser; Sec., Jennie Thomson; Treas., Earl McNeil; Social Convener, Harold Arnold; Good-Will, Allison Fleming; Dist. Representative, The President; Pianist, Phyllis Platt.

After the business meeting a very pleasant social hour was held consisting of questions and answers, as well as true and false contests as well as other games.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close to all present.

Douglas Hampson, Provisional Pilot, Injured as R.A.F. Plane Crashes at Aurora, Saturday

Huntingdon Boy Rushed to Toronto Military Hospital For Complete Examination—Reported Suffering From Fractured Jaw, Nose and Internal Injuries—Was Due to Take Aviation Exams

DOUGLAS HAMPSON, of Huntingdon, who was seriously injured when the Royal Canadian Air Force training ship he piloted crashed near Aurora, Ont., on Saturday afternoon. Last reports show that he is recovering satisfactorily.

A Royal Canadian Air Force training ship crashed to the grounds of St. Andrew's College at Aurora, Ont., on Saturday noon, seriously injuring Douglas Hampson, of Huntingdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hampson.

Douglas is a provisional pilot who was taking a preliminary course at the Toronto Flying Club. Hampson was rushed to the military hospital at Aurora, Ont., 25 miles south of Aurora, for complete examination.

The injured Hampson is reported to be suffering from a fractured nose, jaw and internal injuries. The extent of his injuries however, was not divulged by military officials.

An eye witness of the accident stated shortly after the mishap occurred that the plane plummeted to the ground and bounced twenty feet in the air with its under carriage smashed. Hampson graduated from St. Andrew's College last year.

He is the grandson of Mr. James A. Hampson, of Huntingdon, and spent the Christmas holidays with his parents in this town. It was also reported that he was due to take his aviation examinations within the next ten days.

The accident, it was feared, will keep the youth under medical care for several weeks.

Post Office at Howick Run For 100 Years by the Same Family

Mr. Lewis J. Gebbie, Postmaster For Past 27 Years, Is Third Generation of Gebbies to Run Post Office—Much Mail Handled There Now in Comparison to Stage Coach Days

The same family giving service in a post office for 100 years! That's the record of the Gebbie family at Howick. This month marks the 100th anniversary of the Gebbie family locating at Howick and starting the post office which at this time is being run by the third generation, Mr. Lewis J. Gebbie, postmaster for the past 27 years. He was appointed in June, 1913.

Robert Sellar's History of Huntingdon, Chateauguay and Beauharnois Counties tells the story of the coming of Mr. Tom Gebbie, the original Gebbie settler at Howick, in the following passage:

"When Mr. Gebbie took up his abode in Howick, about 1840, there were only three houses, apart from the mills, Mr. Gebbie, who had been a grocer in Galston, emigrated in 1833, and came directly to Williamstown, from his obliging disposition and upright character obtained the confidence of the people and became the leading man of business and the largest property-holder in Howick, as the village was named after Lord Howick, at that time a member of the cabinet. In July, 1833, the seignior ceded in trust to John Stewart, David Wilson and Charles Stewart a lot for a school house, which was built and John Clark placed in charge."

Tom Gebbie, the first one to start the post office, was followed by his son, Mr. William Gebbie and the latter was followed by Mr. Lewis J. Gebbie.

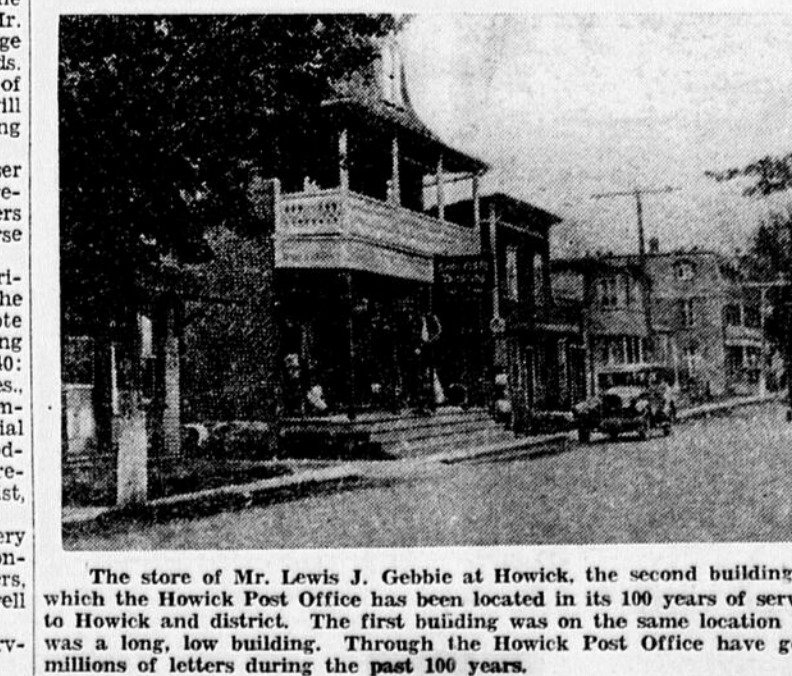

The building in which the post office is located at the present time is not the original one in which Mr. Tom Gebbie started the post office although it is on practically the same location as that on which the original long log building stood. This old log building was burned down and the new building erected in 1883. Mr. Lewis J. Gebbie moved (Continued on page 5)

REJECTS ACTION OF O. GUERIN VS. DAME BLACKMAN, H'DON

Justice Joseph Demers rejected with costs the action of Oscar Guerin, of the Town of Huntingdon vs. Dame Angelina Blackman, of the same town, in Valleyfield Superior Court on Tuesday, January 9th.

In his judgment Justice Demers explained that the plaintiff Guerin, who lodged his complaint based on Section 52 of the Minimum Wage Act, did not have sufficient grounds to prove that the amount he was paid for his services at the Blackman Apartments in Huntingdon, was not according to the agreement reached with the defendant, Mrs. Blackman.

The judgment stated in part that Guerin had been hired by the defendant, Dame Blackman, at the rate of $20.00 per month, including room and board and that the defendant had a right to hire the plaintiff at the above mentioned conditions which did not interfere with the Minimum Wage Laws.

E. C. Martin, of Huntingdon, represented the defendant while Guerin was supported by E. Marcell, of Montreal.

Power Lines Are Damaged By High Wind

Electric Service Interrupted For About One Half Hour—Roof Completely Blown Off A. Riel Barn

The thermometer fluctuated considerably over the week-end. Mild weather which prevailed on Saturday and Sunday changed quickly to a high wind on Sunday evening which caused damage to the electric lines in the county and interrupted the distribution of electric power for more than one half hour. Weather continued mild on Monday but early on Monday evening a heavy snowfall, accompanied by a driving wind from several directions, and delayed the train service in the district as well as the autobus line.

On Tuesday morning the mercury remained near the zero mark and for the first time this year the citizens of the County were heard complaining of the cold weather. However, Old Man Weather later took pity, it seemed, on the citizens here as a warm sun sent its comforting rays to earth.

The high wind on Sunday evening tore down the roof of the Andre Riel barn on the Ridge Road. The roof was completely blown off the barn.

Part of the roof at the residence of Dr. J. E. Caza, on Wellington St. was also damaged by this high wind.

The electric service was interrupted for about one half hour on Sunday evening due to this wind. The Shawinigan Water & Power Co. reported that the damages had been caused near St. Timothee and that a crew of employees from Valleyfield had to be sent there to locate the trouble.

The thermometer was in the vicinity of the freezing point on Tuesday morning compared with about 32 degrees above on Monday.

The Montreal-Malone Highway was patrolled on Monday by the snowplow so that the high wind, which prevailed and the heavy snowfall would not block the road for circulation. Many sidewalks were quickly filled in however, but it is stated that it will not be difficult to re-open them again for traffic.

Gleaner correspondents report slight damage throughout the countryside.

TO PUBLISH NEXT ISSUE OF GLEANER IN ITS NEW HOME

This issue of the Huntingdon Gleaner is the last to be published in its present stand. After 38 years of business the Gleaner moves to new and larger quarters in the smart, modern plant on Upper Chateauguay Street. Immediately this issue of the Gleaner is published work will swiftly start on demolishing of the machines for re-assembling in the new plant. On Monday morning offices of the Gleaner will be established in the new building. When Wednesday rolls around the Gleaner will be published in its new home.

Chateauguay-Huntingdon Has 10 Places With Saints' Names

Many Intriguing Names Are Found Among Hamlets, Towns, Cities Named After Saints—Beauharnois-Laprairie Has Eleven

How well do you know your Quebec? Have you ever heard of Ste. Adelaide de Fabos, of Ste. Anedee de Peribonca, of Ste. Barbe, of Ste. Denis de la Boutellerie, of Ste. Eulalie de l'Energie or of St. Paul l'Industrie?

Have you ever been to St. Blaise de Barraute, Ste. Eugene de Gouguere, Ste. Louis du Ha Ha, Ste. Genevieve de Batisson, St. Just de Bretenieres, Ste. Marguerite de Causappal, Ste. Pierre les Bequets, Ste. Remi de Tingwick, Ste. Rose du Degele, St. Therese, Ste. Polycarpe, or St. Valere de Bultrode?

Is Ste. Agnes de Dundee in Scotland, and are St. Adrien d'Irlande and St. Hippolyte de Kilkenny in Eire?

Reference to an up-to-date postal guide would indicate that all these above mentioned centres are among the 599 cities, towns, villages and hamlets in the Province of Quebec named after saints. In the latest guide there are 765 places in Canada commemorating some member of the heavenly hierarchy, and of these more than 78 per cent are situated in this province.

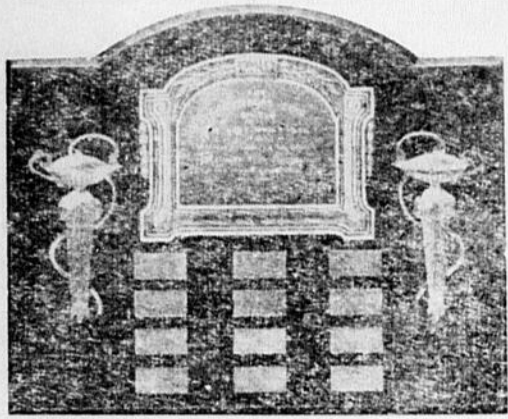

New Brunswick runs second to Quebec as a "saintly" province with 57, while Manitoba and Ontario are next in the standing. Scotia ranks fifth with 20, Saskatchewan has 18, Alberta has ten, British Columbia has none.

The district of Joliette-L'Assomption with 28 centres named after saints, as many as the entire province of Ontario. Bonaventure county of Quebec with 27, three more than Beauce. Nicolet-Yamaska has 23, Belle-Terme-Temisouata have 22 each.

Among other districts the remaining "saintly" places of Quebec are distributed as follows: Charlevoix-Saguenay and Drummond-Arthursville, 19 each; Matapedia-Matane, 18; Berthier-Maskinonge, Dorchester, Laval-Two Mountains, Montmagny-L'Islet, Richelieu-Ver-

He that never changed any of his opinions never corrected any of his mistakes; and he who never saw enough to find out any mistakes in himself will not be charitable enough to excuse what he reckons mistakes in others.

The Gleaner Moves Forward

THIS issue of the Gleaner marks the last one to be published in the present stand. For 38 years the Gleaner has been published in the Brown building on Chateauguay Street.

Like an old broken song, the music of the primary will gradually fade from the present stand, getting fainter and fainter as successive parts of machinery are moved out following the publication of this issue.

The spirit of moving to new quarters has been sensed more and more each day as the day of setting forth has neared. If the most recent members of the Gleaner staff, whose relations to the Gleaner are only as of yesterday, have felt it, how much more must they have sensed it who have long years served the Gleaner.

"Felt" what? . . . and what thing "sensed" it will be asked?

To answer it is not easy. But there is always a certain pathos about a change, a certain sadness of farewell about leaving behind the haunt, much more the workshop, of long and busy and progressive years. So that, for some time past, and especially since it was definitely announced and ordered that our loins be girt, our sandals readjusted, our lamps burning bright and with staff in our hands, in readiness for the final flitting on January 22 we have awaited the time for moving forward.

All things will go to the new building which have really gone towards making the Gleaner in the past—the vision, enterprise, daring of one man; the like in others who have stood beside him; caught up in the fine contagion; the fearlessness which has permitted no dictation but of conscience, and no policy but what duty and judgment might provide; the same attitude of malice toward none and charity for all; the same industry and intelligence, and integrity, and enterprise, and independence, the same all-for-each-ness and each-for-all-ness; the same consistent conception of, and pursuit toward, what a newspaper ought to be.

In going to its new home, the Huntingdon Gleaner is leaving an old home on Chateauguay Street which it occupied honorably for 38 years. It was in this old home, long since outgrown, that the Gleaner advanced in volume of production and capacity for service. Onward and upward, the history of the Huntingdon Gleaner has been one of bold venture and achievement.

In the shadows of Sellar's printing smithy the anvil has been made to ring down through the years with the echoing notes of courage and compassion and fearless independent truth. This has brought progress, a long steady march of progress which has brought the Gleaner into a modern building in which it will be in a position to give a more efficient service to its customers of long years standing and to the generations of customers that are to come.

Seigniorial Dues

DURING the years of the last Great War and for some years following, the farmers of this district in common with others throughout Canada enjoyed an era of good prices for their produce and consequently a time of prosperity. It was in these years that the farmers had extra cash to pay off debts that had been hanging over them for some years previous.

Since the depression set in there have been few pay the necessary money that pays off seigniorial dues for all time. With the present war in progress, however, and the possibility of there being good prices paid for farm produce again it is quite likely that some years from now will see a goodly number of seigniorial dues paid off for all time.

It is surprising the number of farms that pay these dues. Through the Post Office at Ormstown last fall some eighty residents of Ormstown vicinity paid their dues. This is not the only medium through which the payments are made, there being one other in Ormstown. And here it is thought about 20 persons pay their dues, making a total of about 100 people in and near Ormstown who pay these seigniorial dues.

Several years ago there was some fuss amongst the farmers in the Ormstown and Howick areas in regard to the arrangement to have the seigniorial dues paid off for all time. For a time it looked as if quite a number would be paid off but this was not the case since it was thought by some that the time would come when these dues would be done away with and the farmers would no longer have to pay them.

Sometimes it is difficult for the owners of the farms to understand why they should have to pay these special dues. When the seignior sold out his tract of land in this district, however, and the land was purchased by individual owners, these original owners received the land for a very small sum, the full value of the payments for the land to come with the passing of time and from the owners of the farms that were to follow even up to the present day. These dues go to the heirs of the seigniors and the collection of the dues are handled by certain Quebec trust companies.

Your Radio News

YOU have just heard the Canadian Press news review. For further details read your local newspapers.

These words conclude the presentation over the radio of news collected and prepared by the Canadian Press. Canada's greatest news gathering organization.

There has been a lot of work done preparatory to the presentation of the aforementioned news. In addition to the work of collecting it through the vast network facilities of the Canadian Press there have been government regulations to be adhered to, restricting to an extent the nature of news presentations. But first and foremost news is news and the restrictions on war news is not quite so exacting as some people might be led to believe.

We would like to refer here particularly to the last stage of the preparation of the radio news, the literary regulations that have to be adhered to. In conversation in the Toronto office of the Canadian Press with the writer of the news that is presented over the radio we learned of these literary regulations. Beside him on the wall they appeared as he sorted out the highlight news of the day coming in over the wires in detail. This news was then "boiled down" into crisp, staccato news despatches for radio presentation. We reprint here-with these regulations and suggest you compare the rules with news despatches in various newspapers to see how closely news in those papers compares with the news that is prepared for radio presentation. They are as follows:

Remember you write for the ear—not for the eye.

Read each sentence aloud—listen to yourself critically.

Is the meaning clear—with no ambiguity—on first hearing?

Could it be expressed in fewer words with equal or greater force?

Is any sentence too long to be read easily in one breath?

Is so, is there a natural break for breath?

Are there any tongue twisters?

Every sentence should be short, snappy and to the point, without insubordinate clauses—each containing just one thought.

Put in all necessary "that's" for smooth reading. "Mr. Chamberlain said that Britain will fight," rather than, "Mr. Chamberlain said Britain will fight."

Use "He has apparently yielded," rather than "He apparently has yielded." That is, adverbs come after such verbs as will, have, etc.

Watch in making identifications that they be short. This is deadly on air: "Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, commander-in-chief of the Canadian active service force." Instead, use: identification first, then the name: "The Dominion minister of finance—Col. Ralston."

Use good snappy verbs like "hit, smashed, etc." They keep your bulletin lively, rather than indirect like "A British ship was torpedoed by a German submarine." Use "A German U-boat torpedoed a British ship today."

Don't use journalistic or headline words: slay, moot, looms, death-car, etc.

Dances — Then and Now

THE following words by Suckling would seem to catch the spirit of the dances of yesteryears, depicting the grace and modesty of the waltz and quadrille of a generation ago:

"Her feet beneath her petticoat, Like little mice, stole in and out, As if they feared the light. And oh! she dances such a way, No sun upon an Easter day Is half so fine a sight."

In this connection an interesting old invitation was found by a Huntingdon resident who was cleaning out old papers in the attic of the house. It read:

The young men of Huntingdon Academy request the pleasure of Miss Minnie Goming's presence at their annual Social in the Moir Hall, Friday evening, February 10th. Donald Rowat, Secretary. Dancing: French and Parker Orchestra. Patronesses: Mrs. G. Kelly, Mrs. G. A. Kyle, Mrs. Wills."

The grace and rhythm of these dances stand out in sharp contrast to the jittery, speedy and racy dances of today, the Lambeth Walk, the Big Apple and others.

OVERSUBSCRIPTION OF FIRST WAR LOAN SEEN

Banks Have Agreed to Aid Investors in the Buying of the Bonds—Rushing Preparations for the British Commonwealth Air Training Plans

Canada's first war loan asking the people to lend the government money to carry on the war has been issued for public subscription. The total amount of the loan is $200,000,000 and the bonds ranging from fifty dollars upward bearing interest at 3 1/2 per cent. It is believed the loan will be heavily oversubscribed. It is the hope of the government that the loan will be as widespread as possible, that the small investor will welcome this opportunity of taking part in the struggle against aggression.

The total amount of the loan is $200,000,000 and the bonds ranging from fifty dollars upward bearing interest at 3 1/2 per cent. It is believed the loan will be heavily oversubscribed. It is the hope of the government that the loan will be as widespread as possible, that the small investor will welcome this opportunity of taking part in the struggle against aggression.

Whether, in case the present loan is heavily oversubscribed more than the 200 million dollars will be allotted, is a matter of government policy. It is not now known what action will be taken. The books are open to receive subscriptions for a maximum of two weeks. They may be closed at any time by the finance minister with or without notice.

To aid investors who may be short of cash at the moment, the banks have agreed to advance eighty per cent of the face value of the bonds for a period not exceeding three months. That is if, for example, a prospective buyer has twenty dollars, he can buy a hundred dollars bond, the bank advancing the eighty dollars. Interest on the bank loan will be at exactly the same rate as that borne by the bond, that is 3 1/2 per cent. Interest coupons from the bond will be used to repay the advance at any branch of Canadian banks in Canada.

Bond issues of the last war were largely oversubscribed by the people of Canada.

Commonwealth Air Training Plan Is Being Rushed

Preparations for the British Commonwealth Air Training Plans are being rushed, and there is every indication that early summer will see the great project in active and extensive operation. During the past week the War Supply Board ordered aircraft and aircraft equipment to a value of nearly $900,000. A large number of planes are on order in Great Britain and the United States as well as in this country, and many aircraft to be used in the training of airmen are already here.

Preliminary training will be confined to recruits in this country, but advanced courses will be given to Australians, New Zealanders, British and Newfoundlanders. Pupils from the Dominions are expected to arrive in June, having taken their early schooling in their own schools. The British will arrive a little later. Standard courses to operate the schools across Canada will number 40,000 some belonging to the Royal Canadian Air Force and some civilians. The instructional staff will be assisted by experts from Britain and the two Dominions. Air Marshal Brooke Popham of the British Air Service, who has been here since the negotiations on the plan were carried out, and Group Captain G. G. Banting of the R.A.F. who will soon arrive in Canada will give most valuable aid to the Canadian Air Force officials in their great task. They will soon make a tour of inspection of the Flying Fields selected for the location of the schools.

Pilots will receive their first steps in training on De Havilland Moths and Fleet Trainers. Further instruction will be given in four other standard planes, the Avro Anson, North American Harvard, Fairey Battle and Noorduyn Norseman. Of the North American Harvard, a monoplane with a speed of 258 miles an hour, 600 have been ordered in the United States. Gunners and bombing will be taught in Fairey Battles, monoplanes of about the same speed as the Harvards; of these planes which are used on the Western front, 870 have been ordered in Britain. The Mother Country factories will also send (without wings which will be supplied in Canada) 1,622 Avro Ansons. Air navigation will be taught in these bombers.

Surveys are being made of fields selected for schools and the construction of schools, hangars and housing for students and instructors.

Obituary

The late Dr. A. O. Dawson

Dr. Arthur Osborne Dawson, president of Canadian Cottons Ltd., a leading figure in Canada's textile industry for over half a century, financier and philanthropist, and whose wife was the former Miss Mary Agnes Le Rossingol, who formerly resided in the Huntingdon district, died early last Wednesday morning on a train enroute from Boston, Mass., to Toronto. He was found dead in his berth when the train reached Toronto. He was 75 years old.

Dr. Dawson complained to the porter about not feeling well, and retired at 6:30 p.m. on the day preceding his death. His death was not discovered until the train neared Toronto. A railway physician, summoned to the station, certified the death and ordered the body removed to the Toronto morgue. Death was ascribed to a heart seizure.

In Dr. Dawson's bag was a book, "An Overture to Death."

Dr. Dawson had left Montreal on a business trip to Canadian and United States cities on Monday. He was to have returned last Thursday. Dr. Dawson is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Mary Agnes Le Rossingol; a son, Dr. Howard Dawson; four daughters, Mrs. A. S. Bruneau, Mrs. Thomas A. C. Sinclair, Mrs. John D. Ketchum, and Mrs. D. Lorne Gales; also two sisters, Mrs. W. C. Breidlove, and Mrs. J. V. Balcon, both of Montreal.

A Leading Figure

For a period exceeding well over half a century the late Arthur Osborne Dawson was an important figure in the industrial life in Canada and at the same time established a connection with the philanthropic and religious impulses of the city which has been widely felt in many directions.

He was 75 years old, having been born in New Brunswick in March, 1864. He was best known in the business world as the president of Canadian Cottons, Limited; a position to which he was elected in 1927. He was connected with the well-known textile firm of D. Morrice Sons & Co. from 1892 to 1910. This company was largely associated with the marketing of cotton textiles and in the latter year it was amalgamated with Canadian Cottons. Under the new arrangement Dr. Dawson was appointed managing director after the merger was effected. Five years later he was appointed vice-president and he succeeded to the presidency in 1927.

Huntingdon

Cemetery Board Meeting—

At the annual meeting of the Huntingdon Protestant Cemetery Company on Wednesday afternoon the financial report indicated the Company would be able to invest another $500 for the benefit of the perpetuity fund. As a $1,000 bond matures this spring the president and secretary were instructed to arrange for the investing of $1500 for the benefit of the Perpetuity Fund.

J. W. Stark was re-appointed President with Alfred Alesph as Vice-President and W. K. Philips, Secy.-Treas. Other members of the Board of Trustees included Messrs. A. A. Lunan, D. L. Kelly, M. I. Rankin, W. A. Hunter, J. A. Hunter, J. W. Goodfellow, Donald McNeil, E. C. McCoy and J. A. Brown.

Mr. Gilbert McMillan has been on the sick list of late and we are pleased to report he has sufficiently recovered so as to be about attending to his multiplicity of business relations. Mr. McMillan was in Ottawa on Friday. On Tuesday he left for a meeting at Kentville Nova Scotia.

Intimate Checking Insurance Rates

Only a few days ago a number of fire insurance representatives visited Huntingdon, anticipating receiving some of the risks on new properties erected. It would appear from their conversations, the time is ripe for Huntingdon to make an effort to have the Fire Insurance Underwriters check the rates over in Huntingdon thereby making it possible to secure lower insurance rates. This might very appropriately be taken up as a Board of Trade accomplishment for 1940.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

It may be the cause of your troubles. Buck it up the right way, with Fruit-a-tives. Feel grand.

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, stores energy, allows the proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order food decomposes in your intestines. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headachy, backachy, dizzy, dragged out all the time.

Rid yourself of these miseries, as thousands have—with Fruit-a-tives, for 35 years Canada's largest selling liver remedy. Fruit-a-tives stimulate your liver, bring prompt relief—make you feel like a new person. Get Fruit-a-tives at your druggist's today, 25c, 50c.

Letters to The Editor

Huntingdon, Que., Jan. 11th, The Huntingdon Gleaner, Inc., Huntingdon, Que. Dear Editor: I have noted your Editorial in the Gleaner, regarding the falling off of Record of Performance work among our dairy herds in the Chateauguay Valley, and I am glad you are drawing our farmers' attention to this fact.

As a buyer of dairy cattle I find the lack of records among our cattle is working against us with the better class of buyers. These men are nearly all supplying Grade "A" milk and this calls for a milk testing at least 4% and consequently they want to know whether the cows they are buying will come up to this or not. I have not found these men very particular about large records, they in most cases rely on their own judgment as to what a cow will do, but they cannot estimate her percentage of fat.

Impressions of Europe

"A German-Russian Alliance Means Simply the Confluence of Two Streams Which Run Toward the Same Sea, the Sea of World Revolution," Wrote Dr. Rauschnig—Finland Beating Down Russian War Strength Prestige

(Written especially for The Huntingdon Gleaner)

The trend of events is becoming so convincing that I cannot refrain from commenting once again on the impending alliance (not just agreement or collaboration) between Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia.

The stereotyped method of Nazi procedure, revealed throughout the last six years, has been to submit the German people to a barrage of well-directed propaganda to prepare their minds in advance for some military move or change in Nazi policy. In this way the people become so accustomed to thinking in terms of the coming event that when it actually does happen, rather than being caught by surprise they regard it as something they had fully expected, and the faithful stroke of genius in being able to realize another glorious aim of National Socialism.

Last November the German press began to adopt a more radical tone. Throughout the month of December, coincident with the evident stalling of the Russian war machine in Finland, this change became even more marked as the provincial papers of the Reich consistently wrote in terms of bitter anti-capitalist—the uttering in of a new day; the socialist millennium. The whole thing is so reminiscent of what we have heard from Russia for years that one would imagine that Dr. Goebbels had moved into the Kremlin.

Then, on New Year's Day, Herr Hitler delivered an address. It had all the usual vain boasting of what Germany's treachery accomplished during the past year in Bohemia in Moravia, in Poland, in the Baltic, in the West, and in the East, but then he went on to make two definite points. The first is an old one that we have heard many times; the second is novel—and revealing.

Firstly, he continued to avoid any mention of France and poured all his invective upon England, the arch-villain, thwarting his efforts to build a new Europe. This was accompanied by the usual threats to inflict unheard-of cruelties upon the British people.

Secondly—and here is the important matter—he placed the stamp of official inspiration on all this talk about the coming "socialist millennium." So outspoken and unqualified was he in his attacks upon the capitalist system that it becomes evident that now he plans to stand "at Brother Stalin's side" in fomenting world revolution against all capitalist countries. For this his continued outbursts in England are quite consistent; for England has always been regarded as the cradle of capitalist power by all radical propaganda.

What does this all portend? To my mind, simply this: all this propaganda is in preparation of the German mind for a complete alignment with Russia in the present European set-up. But why, you ask, is Hitler who was outraged by Stalin last Fall in the Polish deal when he subsequently lost dominance of the Baltic and access to Rumanian oil-fields, now willing to enter into close collaboration with the Soviet? Before the agreement with Russia, it was a case of "Hitler over Europe"; after the swift extension of the Russian sphere of influence the situation had changed to "Stalin over Europe." Hitler became the junior partner in the unholy deal. Now, why is this man who cannot tolerate being considered inferior, who always must be top-dog, planning to enter upon closer relationships with his "senior partner?"

The answer lies in the swift alteration of the balance of power as a result of the Russian defeat in Finland. Hitler no longer regards Stalin as the "senior partner," and perhaps with very good reason. All the prestige that Stalin gained from the shrewd bargain which gave him half of Poland and permitted him to replace German influence in the Baltic has been lost in Finland. All the world—including Stalin—expected that the conquest of Finland would be effected in a few weeks. Now Hitler can remind Stalin that three weeks to beat a nation of thirty-four millions into submission, while the Red army has now taken six weeks to be soundly trimmed by a nation of four millions. With that regained sense of superiority Hitler has Stalin just where he wants him, and will be able to drive a bargain which, no matter how socialist its propaganda may be, will nonetheless be furthering the Nazi aims, not the Russian.

For let us remember this: the principles advanced in German propaganda mean absolutely nothing. Propaganda is merely the instrument to keep the masses whipped into enthusiastic willingness to follow the Leader. The Nazi leaders do not consider themselves bound by what they proclaim in their propaganda. They stand above it. There is no principle that they are not willing to adopt, or abandon, at the slightest notice if it will further their own ambitions.

At home the German people have found themselves faced with a long war which their leaders had told

The Late Mrs. George R. Beattie
Death has once again visited our street and removed a well-known and aged resident in Elizabeth Ferns widow of the late George R. Beattie on Sunday evening, Jan. 14th, after a short illness. Born in Hemmingford, she was one of four daughters and four sons of the late Robert Ferns and his wife Anne Gregg. She was in her 81st year.

The late Mrs. Beattie was a member of Knox Church and the W. M. S. and was an active member until a few years ago when health prevented. She was highly respected as was seen by the large number who attended the funeral, many not being able to enter the church.

The funeral service was held at Knox church on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Carl Dean conducted the service. He was assisted by Rev. H. S. Bebin of Russellton. The choir sang the hymns, "The Lord's my Shepherd," "Evening Bells," and "Shall we gather by the River." Interment took place in Knox cemetery by the side of her husband, who pre-deceased her nearly 40 years ago.

Mrs. Beattie leaves to mourn her loss, three sons, Fernie, at home, Martin of Havelock, George of Verdun, and one daughter, Mrs. Walter Barr, nine grandchildren, also two great-grandchildren. Her nieces, Mrs. John Stewart and Miss A. Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Cleland, LaTuc, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Cleland, Portland, Mrs. Eliza Orr and Harold Orr, Clernont, Mrs. Wm. G. MacLone, Mrs. Jas. Greer, Mr. W. B. Stewart, Mr. F. Deery, Wreaths, James Beattie and Mr. and Mrs. George Moore, Employees Elmhurst Dairy, Mrs. J. D. McIntyre, Mrs. J. Baskets, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Boire, cut flowers, Mrs. Bush.

The floral bearers were: Melvin Ferns, Aaron Churchill, Lyle Gilman, Tom Cleland, Charles and Beatrice Barr. The pall bearers were nephews of the deceased: W. H. Stewart, W. B. Stewart, H. W. Stewart, Norman Stewart, Hon. M. B. Fisher and James Beattie.

The funeral service was held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Farquhar with eight members present. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. R. Erskine for the installation of officers. The new President, Mrs. J. W. Wilson, took charge of the meeting. The treasurer's report showed that our allocation had been reached for the past year. At the close of the meeting a delicious supper was served which was provided by the members including a beautiful birthday cake in honour of Mrs. H. E. Wilson's birthday. Best wishes were extended by all to Mrs. Wilson.

Obituary

The late Miss Isabel Thomson
The death occurred of Miss Isabel Thomson, who had been a resident of Ormstown for the past three years, on January 8, 1940, at the home of Mrs. Fred Boyd.

Miss Thomson, who had been in failing health for some time, passed away quietly on Monday night. The remains rested at the McGerrigle Undertaking Parlors, later being taken to the Mount Royal Crematorium, Montreal, the ashes being forwarded to Annapolis, Ont.

Dundee

On Monday evening the Women's Association of Zion Church, met in the church hall and arranged several matters of business. Plans were made for a Valentine crocheted party to be held Feb. 16. Mrs. Vernon Elder's name was added to the War Work Committee and it was decided to forward reading matter monthly to Red Cross headquarters for distribution among soldiers.

As the Beaver group had been winners in the contest the past year they were entertained on the same evening by the two other groups. The families of all members were invited to join in the social hour and spent a jolly evening playing games and enjoying fellowship during the social hour.

Following the social hour an appetizing supper was served to all by the entertaining groups after which Mrs. Thos. Stowell thanked the Lake Shore group for the pleasant evening. It was a satisfaction to have so many express the wish that this social gathering of the Society and families be made an annual affair.

Certainly the course of events have vindicated his contention. But credit Moscow for at least one thing: the best bit of humour during the week. A despatch from the Kremlin admitted that Russian troops are suffering reverses in Finland but added that it is principally due to the weather. The very next despatch declared that the chief of the Soviet Weather Bureau had been fired!

CANADIAN PEOPLE ENJOY GOOD HEALTH DURING YEAR 1939

The people of the Dominion of Canada continued to enjoy exceptionally good health in 1939. This is indicated by the very low death rate among approximately 1,250,000 Canadians who hold policies in the Industrial Department of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The cumulative death rate among the insured in 1939, up to the end of November, was on a par with that in 1938. These two years, jointly, hold the honor of having the lowest mortality rate in the Canadian experience of the Company. The excellent health records of the two latest years represent a considerable saving of lives and an even greater reduction in disabling illness as compared with conditions in the early years of the current decade. Especially noteworthy in the health picture of 1939, in Canada, are the new low mortality rates for the insured from tuberculosis, pneumonia, scarlet fever, diarrheal diseases, and accidents (all forms combined).

Our chief interest lies in tuberculosis. Today this disease is number 3 in the list of causes of death of Canadian wage-earners, instead of number 1, as it was only 11 years ago. Furthermore, the current death rate is nearly 1 percent lower than in 1938 and 45 percent lower than in 1929. As a result of this remarkable reduction in mortality from this cause of death hundreds of Canadian lives have been spared every year.

In this brief period of 10 years remarkable progress has been made in the record for many other diseases. The mortality from pneumonia has been reduced by 19 percent in a single year and by 55 percent in 10 years; influenza, although the death rate has been higher this year than last, shows a decline of nearly 70 percent in 10 years; the four principal communicable diseases of childhood combined—measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and diphtheria—have likewise declined: 19 percent in a single year and 65 percent in 10 years. With respect to diphtheria, it is interesting to note that 10 years ago it caused as many deaths among the insured in Canada as did the three other communicable diseases combined. Today deaths from whooping cough, diphtheria and enteritis have been reduced by 12 percent in a single year and by 75 percent in 10 years. A part, but by no means all, of this decrease in the mortality from conditions arising out of pregnancy and childbirth has been due to the declining birth rate in Canada.

Dewittville

A meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Carr, on Thursday, January 11th. This was an all day affair, consequently, a delicious amount of sewing was completed. A delicious hot dinner was served at noon by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Smellie, Mrs. Geo. Moore and Mrs. J. D. McIntyre. Mrs. Carr was chosen a delegate to the annual meeting to be held in Fairmount-St. Giles Church on Oct. 22, 23, 24. Collection $2 Mrs. (Rev.) Miller was home for the February meeting.

Mr. Fred McCartney, who has been confined to bed for the past six months, enjoyed a recent visit with Mrs. Harry Nussey, Brysonville.

Mr. Charles Greener of Kensington also a number of relatives from Ormstown.

Messrs. Charles Kyle, Charles McClatchie and Willie McClatchie, made a trip to Montreal on Friday, each returning with new caps.

Cutting and storing ice seems the usual order at the present time. Mr. Frank Tessier is cutting on the mill pond, while Mr. Lorenzo St. Onge and son are cutting for the farmers farther up the river.

Mrs. James Toodle of Montreal was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smiles.

The annual congregational meeting of the Athelstan Presbyterian Church was held on Thursday evening, when a special resume of the last year's activities was given by the Secretaries and Treasurers of the various organizations in connection with the church. The total amount of money raised by all participating was $3900.00. A sum of this amount nearly $600 was contributed to missions. The meeting was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. S. Duncan, who was very agreeably surprised when Messrs. Charles Hamilton and Fred Ross on behalf of the congregations of Elgin and Athelstan presented him with a sum of money, remarking that it was a little refill for his purse, on account of the hard luck which he sustained recently. Mr. D. E. Grant wished to be relieved of his office but was prevailed on to act as Sec'y. Treas. for still another year. The retiring managers, Wm. Graham, Wm. Jamieson and Leslie Elder were elected for another term of years. At the close of the business meeting lunch was served.

Two of our young people, Miss Christina Ross and Mr. Jack Elder have gone to Montreal for a business meeting. Both these young people will be very much missed in the community and we wish them good luck in their new venture.

Mr. Leslie Elder spent last week in Toronto on a business trip. The families of the two boys who went overseas with the second contingent, Privates Arthur Hampson and Evan Watson, have received letters telling of their safe arrival somewhere in England on New Year's eve.

Norman, five year old son of Mr. George Claesson, narrowly escaped drowning one day last week when he stepped on a loose cake of ice and went down in the icy water. His older brother, Edgar, who was working nearby got him out before a more serious accident occurred. Being a husky little chap, Norman seems none the worse for his cold bath.

Huntingdon R. R. 2

Mrs. John Farrell and daughter, Lorraine of Ridgeport, spent New Year's with her brother, Mr. Fred Pease. Mrs. Farrell is renewing old acquaintances in Montreal, Valleyfield and this vicinity.

Mr. Gilbert McMillan has left for the Maritimes where he will address meetings of dairy farmers as President of the National Dairy Council.

The Directors of the Montreal Milk Producers' Association are meeting the Quebec Dairy Commission on Friday in connection with the current price of milk feeds and milk prices. The annual meeting of the M. M. P. A. will be held on January 27th.

Matrimonial

Cookman-Cooper

The marriage of Miss Ivy V. Cooper, only daughter of Mr. Wm. Cooper and the late Mrs. Cooper, to Mr. Leslie Cookman of Timmins, Ont., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cookman, Lacolle, Que., took place quietly at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, Jan. 13th, at the St. Johns United Church, Manse, the Rev. H. Joliat officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an afternoon dress of teal blue crepe, a hat of thin plumes and darker blue accessories, her corsage being of rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cooper attended the bridal couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Cookman will leave shortly to take up their residence in Timmins, Ont.

School Notes

HOWICK HIGH SCHOOL

The skating rink is now being enjoyed by the pupils during the noon hour as well as on Friday and Saturday nights. The senior hockey team held its first hockey practice last Tuesday night after school. A number of the pupils in the school are going to Plattsburg on January 20th. Mount Assumption will be hosts to the hockey team while the girls are expecting to play indoor soft-ball with the Normal Teachers' College of New York.

Mrs. D. B. Mackay, who for the past four months, has been teaching music in the school has found it necessary to resign. She is leaving shortly for Toronto where she will join her husband, Rev. D. B. Mackay recently appointed chaplain of the Black Watch.

What's in the Wind by PAULA DICKS

ON THE ECONOMIC FRONT

Last week I quoted from a letter received from a Montrealer which in turn had contained a quotation from an English woman's letter describing her life since giving up a lovely home to "Evacuees".

In keeping with turbulent days, it is well that Dr. James should be an international economist. In his address to the Governors he recalled the early history of learning on this continent and the dispute that once raged between a purely classical culture and the recognition of science.

"A gospel of progress that acknowledges the doctrine of survival of the fittest must necessarily emphasize the importance of training for the struggle. Perhaps our great universities hold the future of civilization in their hands."

Whether we like it or no, we are faced with the task of adapting human society to the environment that has been created by two centuries of scientific progress and mechanical invention."

Roosevelt vs. Roosevelt Political mysteries are at present the favorite literature in United States. In France they prefer "Serial" Government. There have been eight Premiers and eleven governments in France during the period F. D. R. has been President of U.S.

Note for Pope and President A British battleship is the best peacekeeper in the world. Lord Nelson.

Current History Two books have proved fascinating reading. One on Germany and Diplomacy in Europe by Vernon McKenzie published in 1938.

Through Turbulent Years has all the pre-war news and was written during and after twenty years on the scene in Europe. In a Foreword the author says:

"The material contained in the chapters on 'Press, Propaganda and Friction' seems to me to be startling and threatening. I have little more than scratched the surface of the subject. Press and radio may make or break our civilization."

"The Great Offensives" is the appropriate title of a book on Russia since the Revolution by "Maurice Hindus." He says the Revolution will march on no matter what happens. The efforts of Communist Party and Soviets to recast human society and to reconstruct the human personality have gone so far they cannot be stopped.

Russia has waged her offensive on two fronts, the economic and the social. In the first they have met great difficulties and setbacks. But it is the sociological triumph of the Revolution that makes it so unique an event in history.

Even in this advanced machine age it is easier to reconstruct the human personality than to rebuild an economic order.

Northward Course of Empire It is difficult to realize that Russia covers one-sixth of the earth and has a population of 160 millions, with hundreds of thousands of acres of uncultivated and unexplored lands.

Steffanson's book on Canada "Northward Course of Empire" is highly praised by Hindus, who states that the information contained in this book has been widely studied by the Soviets and much of its scientific advice followed. In Siberia a vast new empire is being created.

In Turkestan a new rubber plant has been discovered with 13.9% rubber, higher than any other. It is already being cultivated on 150,000 acres. Four nitrate plants for extracting nitrate from the air have been established and Russia will soon be the largest producer of commercial fertilizers in the world.

Collective Farms Have been a most beneficial thing for Russia, raising the fertility of the soil to a height unattainable under ordinary conditions. So long as Soviets endure there will be no return to individual farming. Salvation lies in the application of science and machines to the land.

"The machine and science once they conquer a region never abandon it, whether in city or village. They become part of the very life and the very elements which they have come to combat or succor."

Education In Russia has obtained seven league boots. In 1920 sixty-eight per cent of the population were illiterate. In 1932 only 1% were illiterate. All schools are free and have dining rooms that provide at least one hot meal a day. Children of former aristocrats and privileged classes are under restricted rules.

"The Great Offensives" is the appropriate title of a book on Russia since the Revolution by "Maurice Hindus." He says the Revolution will march on no matter what happens. The efforts of Communist Party and Soviets to recast human society and to reconstruct the human personality have gone so far they cannot be stopped.

Mr. J. Edgar McKell of Aubrey and Mr. Archie McKell of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Whiteford last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacDougall entertained a few friends last Wednesday evening in honor of her sister, Mrs. Learmonth, Calgary, Alta.

The Presbyterian Y.P.S. met on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hooker. Messrs. Willie and Alan Hooker were in charge of the program. A splendid talk on the New York World's Fair was given by Mrs. Allan Cavers and was most interesting. This was followed by the election of officers which resulted as follows, the first three of whom were re-elected:

President, Mervyn Barrington; vice-president, Alvin Gruer, secretary-treasurer, Ruth Sills; organist Bob Ellis. These officers were duly installed by Rev. E. White. Plans were made for entertaining Rockburn Y.P.S. and the Ormstown Band on Friday evening. Mrs. Harold Kerr was appointed convenor. Following the business meeting Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Barrington were called upon and on behalf of the society, Rev. E. White and Alvin Gruer congratulated the newly-weds and presented them with an electric table lamp. Mr. and Mrs. Barrington very fittingly replied and all joined in singing "For they are good fellows."

Mrs. Arvin Gruer and Mrs. Harold Kerr and Nelson visited on Thursday with their mother, Mrs. James Anderson, Howick.

Messrs. Preston Hooker and Clyde Skidmore spent Monday at St. Therese.

Messrs. Clifford, Thomas and Douglas Sproule spent Monday in Montreal.

The Presbyterian Kirk session met on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hooker.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jarvis and Jack were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Upjohn.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hastie of Montreal were week-end guests of Mr. John Hastie.

Mrs. George Hooker is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Pearce, Dewittville.

The Gore

The Young People's Society met at the home of Mrs. Aggie McIntyre Thursday evening, Jan. 11th, with 14 members and 12 visitors present.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Earl Pennell. It was decided to hold their annual skating party in Ormstown arena on Saturday evening. A pleasant hour was spent in playing games after which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. McIntyre for the use of her home.

Mr. Wylie McArthur spent the past week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. McArthur.

Miss Theima Anderson spent the week-end the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanster Lindsay and Laird spent Sunday with her brothers, Messrs. Robert and Joe Helm.

Mr. and Mrs. John Elder, Maureen and Shirley and Mr. Norris Herdman visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Herdman and Mrs. Hattie Herdman.

Early Monday morning Mr. Ernest Mason suffered a stroke. At time of writing we are glad to know there is some improvement. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Allastair Neely, accompanied by his two aunts, Mrs. Kate Walker and Miss Ella Neely motored to Ottawa on Jan. 6th and attended the wedding of his cousin, Mr. Robert Walker to Miss Ottilie Montgomery, of Ottawa. Robert is the son of the late Dan. Walker and Mrs. Kate Walker of Huntingdon.

Robson

We regret that we were wrongly informed about two items in our notes in last week's Gleaner: Firstly, Miss Besie Cairns, teacher in the Missionary school in Kong-Moon, South China, has been liberated and returned to Hong-Kong as stated but it has not been decided on definitely whether Miss Cairns will return home or remain in China according to latest reports.

Secondly, New Year's guests at the R. H. Blair home included Mr. Wm. Blair, Mooers; Mr. C. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Potter; Mr. and Mrs. Willis Clark were not present as stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Millar entertained the Young People at their home on Saturday evening.

Mr. Eddie Boleau of Plattsburg, N.Y., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Cleland.

On Sunday evening we had a terrible wind and storm. At times it would snow and sleet and at times it was impossible for motorists to travel more than a few feet in front of their cars. By Monday morning the wind had calmed down. Also some roofs were loosened and lifted up.

through some old books and finally brought out for the Gleaner the old record book of Mr. Tom Gebbie which contained all the costs of erecting the present building back in 1883. It was built at a total cost of $2,690.00, according to the book. The lumber for building it came mostly from Ottawa, Ontario. Hemlock for the building was purchased at $10.00 a thousand feet. A total of 33,000 feet of one and a half inch flooring was purchased which cost $12.00 a thousand feet.

Correspondence about 60 years ago was not so heavy and the post office at Howick was not nearly so busy as it is today. Sixty years ago there were more than ten daily newspapers coming into the Howick post office. These were all the Montreal Daily Witness. Today there are more than 1,200 weekly and daily newspapers coming into the Howick Post Office every week.

There has been a steady increase in the amount of mail handled at this post office with a sharp increase recorded in the past dozen years since the rural mail was started. The largest volume of mail handled in an entire history of the post office. Millions of letters have passed through the Howick Post Office since it was established a century ago. Don't believe it? Figure it out for yourself. Each day there are more than 200 letters either coming into the office or going out. This means 62,400 a year and add to that the additional mail for holidays such as Christmas, New Year's, Easter, etc. and you can count on 70,000 for the year. The 200 letters a day average holds for the past ten years, which means 700,000 letters for the past ten years. Then there's the 90 years previous to this. The Carr's sideroad letters a day would not be reached but the average would be sufficiently high to bring the total volume for the 100 years well into figures of several millions of letters.

Some interesting old characters frequented the Post Office then. In those days there were no pigeon hole compartments in which to put the mail after it arrived at the Post Office. All the mail was dumped into one large mark to which anyone called for their mail. Mr. Gebbie had to sort it all over after which there would be a "nothing for you today, Mrs. Smith", or else there would be a letter or two.

There was one old Scotch lady of whom it is told came into the Post Office some weeks after New Year's day and spoke to Mr. Tom Gebbie with a broad Scotch accent: "Hello, Mr. Gebbie. This is the first time I've seen you this year and I want to wish you a happy new year." Mr. Gebbie looked at her awhile and then let go with the following: "No, I guess you haven't and I hope you don't see me for another whole year. Here's a dollar. Now get out and stay out. You're a regular pest."

Into The Sunset

by JACKSON GREGORY

"Have you gone crazy?" demanded Lucy.

Barry said simply: "June Blue isn't your father. That's true, dear. You're not Lucy Blue at all."

"Barry!"

"That's a part of what I've got to tell you," he went on. "I didn't know until that night Tom Haverill and I shot each other. He knew. He had proof of all this hid out at that cabin where we were. I got away with what he'd hid. As soon as he could, he tried to make sure of you, marrying you—"

"He loves me!" said Lucy, trying to sound defensive, but her voice faint.

"That's natural," conceded Barry. "Any man would."

"But tell me—"

"You're going to ride with me. You're going to show you."

"They rode, Lucy for a while in were, looking for some avenue of escape.

Lucy felt a gun barrel driven into her side. A man called sharply to her, "Get your paws up too!"

"I'm Lucy Blue. I am Mrs. Tom Haverill. Tom Haverill's wife. We were married just tonight."

Lucy ran on excitedly: "You've got Sarboe? You're not to hurt him, you know."

"Sure I know! Tom wants him to talk first. I'm wonderin' if Sarboe'll ever talk again! He's so scared he can't say a word. This here is Barry Haverill, ain't it?"

"Yes," answered Lucy hurriedly. "And you're not to hurt him either, Jake. Tom wants him to talk, too."

"Say! You're all right!" laughed Jake Goodby. "Mrs. Tom now, huh? Say that's fine."

Disarmed, Barry came down out of the saddle and stood still as a rope was double-hitched about his wrists and his hands were tied at his back. Six or eight of Tom Haverill's young hellions dragged him off to join Sarboe where the latter, bound like himself, was propped up against a big rock.

He jammed his shoulder against Sarboe's by way of companionable greeting and spoke for the first time. "They got us all right, Sarboe," he said disgustedly. "Like a fool, I rode with my eyes shut."

"Jake had Barry's gun, dangling it by its heavy belt."

"Let me see it," said Lucy. "How would I look, wearing a gun like that?"

Jake admiring, let her buckle the weapon about her slim waist so that it banged low down on her thigh. "Say, why didn't you'n me ever gang up afore now?" he said playfully.

"You musn't forget that I'm married now," laughed Lucy.

And there, she thought, both frightened and exhilarated, she had set her hand to the plow. She even said to herself, "I am making myself as cheap as dirt."

"Aw," said Jake, "yuh ain't scarcely married yet. Jus' married tonight, an' already Tom lets you fly loose? Me, if I was Tom, I wouldn't do it."

Lucy looked at the knot of men loafing beyond the fire.

"There's no need for them to stay any longer," said Lucy. "With those two men tied up, there's danger from them."

"Might as well all of us be ridin'," said Jake, and added comfortably, "but there ain't any hurry. They'll be a moon later."

"No, we're to keep the two men here until Tom comes. They have something hidden here that he wants. Better tell the boys, Jake, to scatter as they head back, so they'll be sure not to miss Tom."

"How about you?" asked Jake. "You'll stay here, waitin' for Tom?"

"There were many ways in which she might have said yes. Still thinking of the rag doll, she answered, "If you want me to, Jake."

His hand crawled along the log like a crab and fastened on hers. For just a single loathsome second she let it rest there; then she slipped hers out from under it. At that moment one of the men beyond the fire called through a yawn: "Hey, Jake! Come alive, will yuh? What're we doin', squatin' here all night?"

And he spoke in a low tone. What he said Lucy could not catch. They laughed and one of them slapped Jake on the back, and off they went, dragging their spurs clankingly.

Then she noticed that as Jake came slouching back and the others went to their horses and rope off with a whoop and a rush, one man had remained behind; and this man went straight to the two prisoners.

M. C. For "On Parade"

GERRY WILMOT, master of ceremonies for Robin Hood Flour's coast to coast program "On Parade" is shown here in the CBC studios at Montreal, speaking by long distance telephone to the Tune Detector on one of Robin Hood's Thursday evening broadcasts. The correct naming of the Mystery Tune earns $100.00 and an Omega watch for the Tune Detector. Gerry's friendly personality and reassuring manner do a great deal to ease the exciting seconds while the Mystery Tune is playing.

CHOCOLATE BREAD PUDDING
 2 squares unsweetened chocolate
 4 cups milk
 3/4 cup sugar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 2 cups stale bread crumbs

Method: Scald 2 cups of milk and pour over the bread crumbs and let stand for 1/2 hour. Meanwhile melt the chocolate in the top part of a double boiler and then stir in 1/2 cup of the sugar. Mix this into the bread crumb mixture, along with the remaining 2 cups of milk that has been heated. Beat the eggs slightly and add the remaining 1/2 cup of sugar, the salt, and the vanilla, and then stir this into the bread crumb mixture also.

Pour the mixture into a greased baking dish—place the dish in a pan containing hot water and bake the pudding in a moderate oven for about one hour, or until a silver knife, when inserted, will come out clean. This pudding is good served hot with butterscotch sauce, or it can be served perfectly cold with sweetened whipped cream.

The next dessert is one that nearly everyone is familiar with, but in case you haven't had it for some time, the printing of the recipe should prove a pleasant reminder.

QUEEN OF PUDDINGS
 2 cups stale but not dry bread crumbs
 4 cups milk
 3 eggs
 2 tablespoons butter
 1/2 cup sugar
 Grated rind of 1/2 lemon or 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract
 Strawberry or raspberry jam
 4 tablespoons sugar for the meringue.

Method: Scald the milk and soak the bread crumbs in this until they are soft—about 10 minutes. Cream the butter and mix in the 1/2 cup sugar, then stir in the well beaten egg yolks and add this to the bread and milk mixture along with the grated lemon rind or lemon extract. Four into a greased baking dish and set this in a larger pan containing hot water, and bake in a moderate oven for about 1 hour, or until the custard is set.

Remove from the oven and when the pudding is cool, spread a layer of strawberry or raspberry jam over the top and cover this with a meringue, made by beating the 3 egg whites until they stand in peaks and then adding 4 tablespoons of sugar gradually.

Return to the oven and brown the meringue slightly.

This is lovely served hot or cold—with or without cream.

Hemmingford

On Saturday evening Jan. 13, the Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Herbert McNaughton. The following officers were elected for the year: President, Mrs. Herbert McNaughton; vice-president, Mrs. Chas. Wood; secretary, Mrs. R. J. McReid; treasurer, Mrs. J. P. Simpson; Work committee, Miss Irene Moore, Mrs. Russell Williams, Mrs. G. S. Walsh; Flower Committee, Mrs. W. F. Orr; Organist, Mrs. R. J. McReid. Arrangements were made for a Welcome and Social evening to be held Monday evening at the Manse for Rev. Carol Dean and Mrs. Dean. Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed by all.

The card party put on by the W. L. at the home of Mrs. C. E. Fitch will be held Thursday evening, Jan. 25, instead of Wednesday evening as listed in last week's issue.

On Friday afternoon the Trail Rangers met at the United Church Hall. Rev. Carol Dean, the boy's new leader, was introduced by Warren Pewster. Mr. Dean gave a splendid talk, taking as his subject "Light of the World," after which they enjoyed a hockey game on the rink at the school grounds. The boys have worked very enthusiastically and we all trust they may enjoy the fruits of their labor. The Trail Rangers are very grateful to Mr. R. J. McReid for acting as their leader during the month of December.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McAdam entertained Friends Thursday evening. Four tables of "500" was played. Ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. Ernie Moore, consolation, Mrs. Ernest Marlin. Gents' first prize was won by Mr. George Marlin, consolation Mr. Ernest Marlin.

On Wednesday evening the Masons entertained members and friends to a "500" party. First prize was won by Mrs. Geo. J. Brown, second by Mr. Henry Stewart and third by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McKay. Refreshments were served after which community singing was accompanied by Mr. J. K. Goodfellow, who enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kyle entertained their friends Friday evening. Games were played at eight tables. Ladies' first prize was won by Miss Jessie Hawkins, consolation by Miss Kathleen McAleer and gent's first prize by Mr. Alfred Cookman. Consolation was won by Mr. Philip McAleer.

Monday evening at the Manse, Rev. Carl Dean and Mrs. Dean entertained the Y. P. Society. Games and a sing-song were participated in by all. Mrs. Dean served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Braithwaite and Mr. and Mrs. Acton Braithwaite attended the funeral service of Miss Amada Braithwaite held at St. Savours' Church, Lacolle Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Selby Dunlop, Mr. and Mrs. John Macdonald and Miss Weatherspoon of Montreal were Sunday guests at the McClatchie home.

Mr. and Mrs. Raiza English, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur English, Mr. Geo. English of Ormstown and Mrs. Alex. McNeven of North Adams, Mass., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. McClatchie.

Miss Emma Orr, of Barrington spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Duncan Young, St. Lambert.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. William English of Barrington has been ill for some time and is under the doctor's care.

Mr. James Orr, of Aubrey, spent the past week-end with his mother, Mrs. Lena Orr of Barrington.

Mrs. J. S. Cleland and son Andrew spent Saturday in Montreal.

Miss Verna Kennedy substituted the past week in grades 5, 6 and 7 for Mrs. Wilbur Darker.

Mr. Philip Merlin visited his daughter, Miss Mildred Merlin at the Montreal General Hospital on Saturday and found her condition slightly improved.

DUNDEE

The regular monthly meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McNeil on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 13. There were sixteen members and four visitors present with the president, Mrs. R. G. Steven in the chair. The financial report for 1939 was read by the secretary, Mrs. Colquhoun, which showed the allocation had been reached after paying all expenses for work. Literature, etc., bales of clothing valued at $65 were also sent to the Montreal Presbytery. Mrs. A. W. Vass, Temperance Secretary, read extracts from the News Letter. The roll call was answered by a Bible verse containing the word "Joy." "Purpose" was chosen for the next meeting. The work period was spent in making quilt blocks, and knitting. Delicious refreshments were served at the close by Mrs. McNeil, assisted by her daughters.

Miss Gladys Vass, R.N., recently spent a few days with Mrs. Marion Vass and Miss Hazel Vass.

Bride—"Oh, dear, I made the nicest pie and the cat went and ate it."
 Groom—"There, there, dear, don't cry. I'll buy you another cat."

Dahlia's Whatnots

Only a Rumour?
 A few months ago in this column I hinted that it would be a dramatic and consistent act if, while the women of Quebec were waiting for the franchise, Hon. Mr. King should appoint one or more women from this Province to fill vacancies in the Ottawa Senate, and I suggested that that indefatigable feminist, Miss P. Chase Casgrain, would be a suitable choice. The city dailies report that it is rumoured she is to be so honoured. She is a woman with business brains, being on the board of directors of a chain store company. Her husband is the present Speaker of the House of Commons. They have a son and daughter.

Another Scotch Ploughman—
 We know how Robert Burns, as he ploughed in his native Ayrshire, addressed undying lines to field-mouse or daisy. His brother Scott, Tweedsmuir, author of several works, also ploughs, it appears, or is the "Edinburgh Scotsman" mistaken when it says that he ploughed a straight furrow of twenty-five feet at a diatribe at Brockville last autumn? If this feat appeared in print on this side I missed it. I did read the fall before what a Canadian reporter stated, i.e., that the Governor-General had poked the end of his cane into an upturned furrow at a match that season. Reporters can be so silly sometimes. Yet, considering the immense stride Lord Tweedsmuir made from cane to plough-handles in just one year, it is almost amazing to imagine the farmer turning into the city "dude" as he used to do in old-fashioned novels and plays, the dude has of recent years been mighty glad in numerous cases to turn farmer and almost imagine that His Excellency would find an interesting graduation exercise for his "back to the land" course if he could arrange to spend a few hours ploughing, well, say twenty-five acres, on one of our winter roads. There may, indeed, have been a very large gibe attached to his father's manse.

And now I can't decide whether or not to wish for snow, it is such a friend to the land, arabic, meadow, or pasture, and such a play-fellow for the children, as well as a factor in the horse market, yet such an enemy to car wheels.

The Eternal Feminine—
 It is an indisputable fact that it falls to the housewife's lot to spend by far the larger part of the family income insofar as living expenses are concerned, and taking all classes of the people, into account, Business firms do their advertising with this in view. If you turn over the pages of a current magazine you will find that three-fourths of the ads. feature a woman's face or figure. The National Home Monthly has quite intriguing clothes patterns as a rule, but fails to give the yardage required, so you have to buy their pattern before you can tell what quantity of goods it calls for.

In the January issue Lois Ardwyn's article: "I resolve" has some illuminating things which are too good not to pass on, e.g.—I resolve—
 To entertain to suit myself and my budget, no matter what the crowd does.
 To admit I hate prize-fights and cigar smoke.
 To agree with him (my husband) always, in company, but be reasonably firm about my convictions when we are alone.
 To smash—of course it was an accident—the hand-painted rose jar his former flame gave us as a wedding present.

To cancel all dates, neglect the family darling, and go to bed at sunset, as soon as my mirror shows I'm getting a "death and taxes" expression.

To be firm with myself at the first symptom of "doo-dad" disease (the yen to wear all my bracelets, earrings, clips, etc., at one time).

To learn to drive like a man.

Not So Old—
 The new psychology tells us that the brain keeps growing long after the body stops growing—probably even to the threescore and ten—provided that the individual keeps mentally active. Brains unexercised by thinking get dulled, they age. Just as any unused part of the human body tends to become atrophied. Tests show that a young person's brain is speedier, but not less accurate than that of an older person. This applies to memory, catch problems, and even to crossword puzzles, and, most surprising word of all, to learning a language—so innumerable tests indicate. Besides, age has its compensations, one of which is to say boldly, "I don't know," and not keep up a pretense of knowing more than it does.

Meeting of W.M.S.—
 A very interesting meeting was held Wednesday afternoon, January 10th at the Parsonage, when the members of the W.M.S. met for their monthly meeting. The President, Mrs. (Rev.) J. H. Millar, was in the chair. Mrs. P. G. Braithwaite and Mrs. T. B. Stark were appointed delegates to the Presbytery in Montreal to be held in February. It was decided to hold our meeting in the evening next month at which pictures will be shown, illustrating our Study Book, entitled "Teeming Millions in India." Other items of business were discussed. Mrs. Ruby Munro then took charge and gave a very instructive talk on the medical work our missionaries are doing in India. The meeting was then closed with the Mizpah benediction. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Present at Ceremony.—
 In a group picture of dignitaries on the stage of Moyle Hall, McGill University, last Friday afternoon in connection with the installation of McGill's new Principal, there appeared in Friday's Star a picture of Miss Eleanor Hunter of Huntingdon in the capacity of President of the McGill Women's Union.

Gets Painting Contract.—
 The contract for the painting of the new Academy building has been awarded to Laberge Bros. of Huntingdon. Work is expected to start in the near future after the plastering has been applied to the walls, which operations have commenced.

Matrimonial

Walker-Montgomery
 At three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, January 6th, at the home of the bride's parents in Ottawa, the marriage of Miss Lila Ottilie Montgomery, to Mr. Donald Robert Walker was solemnized by Rev. A. O. Lloyd. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Montgomery, of Ottawa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Walker and the late D. M. Walker, of Huntingdon, Que. Mrs. G. O. Barclay played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a daytime frock of Monterey rose twill crepe. Her hat and accessories were navy blue and she wore a shoulder bouquet of gardenias.

Mr. George Walsh, of Montreal, and Mr. Alastair Neely, of Huntingdon, were the witnesses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and later the couple left on a short wedding trip. The bride travelled in a frock of heavenly blue crepe with matching accessories and a coat of grey lamb. Mr. and Mrs. Walker will reside in Ottawa.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. D. M. Walker, Miss Isabel Neely, Mr. Alastair Neely, of Huntingdon, Que. Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Masterman and Mr. and Mrs. George Walsh, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Chappell, Sydney, N.S., Mr. Garfield McKittrick and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gray, of Calgary.

Athelstan

Mr. Jack Elder left this week for Montreal where he intends taking a course at Sir George Williams Business College.

Mrs. McGowan is at present visiting friends in Montreal.

Miss Viola Marshall spent a few days recently at the home of her aunt, Mrs. T. S. McFarlane. Wednesday afternoon the Lend-A-Hand Mission Circle was entertained by Mrs. Henry Wilson at her home with a good attendance of members and visitors present. The president had charge of the meeting when the usual programme was carried out. Plans were made for the year's work and delegates were appointed to attend the Presbytery in Montreal next month. A report was given of the money raised and work done during the past year, which was most encouraging.

Sunday afternoon the first meeting of the Sunshine Mission Band for 1940 was held. Mrs. George Boyce, Supt. had charge of same. One new member joined the Band. The regular missionary and temperance stories were given. This Band had a very successful year, having raised $40.00 which has been duly forwarded to the Presbytery Treasurer.

BABY'S TEETHING UPSETS QUICKLY CHECKED
 YOUR BABY must "get a tooth." But he need not get a fever with it—Baby's mother is the wiser.
 Here is what one wise mother, Mrs. Archie Beslie, of Comoxon, has to say: "We have not lost one night's rest through teething as I always use my old standby, Baby's Own Tablets. They are worth their weight in gold."
 And Mrs. B. A. Sebire, of Galt, Ont., says: "I have given Baby's Own Tablets to my baby girl since she was three weeks old, although she cut her teeth rapidly (all four molars, at once) she has never yet wakened us at night. I would not be without these tablets."
 Give these safe, sweet-tasting tablets at the first sign of teething fever. Easy to take, prompt in action, yet safe. Analyst's certificate in every package.
 Also effective in Constipation, Simple Fever, Diarrhoea, Unset Stomach, Colic, Simple Croup and Fretfulness. Get a box today. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

The World of 1880... Dawn of a New Era!

Sixty years ago the Bell Telephone Company of Canada was organized.

Let's step for a moment into the world of 1880—into the stuffy parlour where furniture was ornate and uncomfortable; where heavy draperies deepened the gloom of the lamp-lit room. The "what-not" in the corner carried a varied assortment of sea-shells, family photographs, glass-enclosed flowers.

By the dim light of the prisms hanging lamp people were reading the debates in Parliament on the Canadian Pacific Railway contract; of Peter Redpath's gift of a Museum to McGill; of the assassination of Honourable George Brown of the Toronto "Globe".

Came the telephone with its insistent ring, its amazing ability to get things done. The Victorian household was never to be the same again.

The pace at which life moved began to speed up. A new era had begun. Perhaps more than any other single factor, the telephone is responsible for the changes these sixty years have seen.

Wintery Blasts Speed up the Knitting Needles of Red Cross To Commence Building Super Four-lane Highway in Spring

Quebec Division of Canadian Red Cross Send Out Detailed Instructions as to What is Needed by Canadian Active Service Force

Although thousands of women started knitting as soon as war was declared, it took the arrival of wintery blasts to make thousands more realize how much the fighting forces needed the articles that came from the clicking needles. The need is still urgent, say Canadian Red Cross officials; and so, just in case there are women who would like to do their bit and don't know what is needed, here are some of the things recommended by the Quebec division of the Red Cross. More detailed instructions may be obtained from local Red Cross groups or from Montreal headquarters. Women are urged to follow all knitting instructions carefully to use the right size needles, the correct weight of wool, and always to try the number of stitches to which to have the tension correct. This is what each force needs: Socks may be of any suitable colour. The new regulation length is 16 inches maximum from top of cuff to under heel. Sweaters are acceptable in all suitable colours. Wristlets, four inches long, minimum. Scarves, 12 inches wide and 46 inches long. Helmets and mitts, half mitts and rifle mitts. Ribbing should be done loosely on half mitts and rifle mitts to ensure perfect circulation in fingers. Khaki is the preferred colour for all these articles. The armen need socks of the regular size in light blue, blue heather or black. Sweaters, air force blue or grey. Scarves, same length as those for the army, in air force blue or grey. Aero caps, gloves and wristlets, all air force blue. Seaman's stockings and scarves are needed badly. The stockings, which are worn over regular socks, are from 18 1/2 inches to 26 inches from top of cuff to under heel; grey; should be loosely ribbed at top, for the stockings are drawn up over the trousers. Socks, navy blue or grey, 14 inches wide and 66 inches to 72 inches long. These scarves are wrapped around the sailors' bodies and are sometimes put over their heads to act as helmets. Ordinary socks for the sailors are needed in grey. Sweaters, navy blue or grey. Wristlets for all forces should be cast on or off very loosely. All sweaters are sleeveless. Socks should be white and of good washing and stretched. It is advisable to attach sizes in socks and sweaters.

Will Cut Distance to 30 Miles From Honoré Mercier Bridgehead to Mooers, N.Y.—Road to Go Via Hemmingford—Official Announcement Expected To Be Made Shortly

Within the near future, official announcement will be made by the provincial Government that a new super-highway is going to be built between Montreal and the New York State border, which highway will pass through Hemmingford, according to advice conveyed to the Royal Automobile Club of Canada at its annual meeting, held recently at Montreal. Although the source of the information could not be disclosed, members were assured it came from official quarters. Cheers greeted the announcement which was taken as one of the most important highway pronouncements in years. It is understood that a start is to be made on the new highway in the spring. It will be of the most modern type, connecting the Honoré Mercier bridge at Caughnawaga with Mooers, N.Y., which is considered a favorable spot to tap the heavy tourist travel that penetrates into the Adirondack mountain region, but which has been to a considerable extent halted there because of the absence of an attractive, speedy highway to the Canadian metropolis. The new highway will probably be not more than 30 miles in length, being in a direct line between the two points, and will eliminate many roundabout ways that now have to be followed in reaching Mooers, involving another ten miles or so in the entire trip. It will be a divided highway, with four lanes, two for incoming traffic, then the central dividing space, and then another two lanes for outgoing traffic. There will be four unseparated lanes separating the highway from railway crossings on the route. There will also be three protected intersections. This information was elicited following a talk during the discussion period by L. Caron, a past president of the club, who expressed the need of having an improved highway between here and the New York border to draw more American tourists to Montreal. He believed Mooers would be the most desirable contact point, submitting that thousands of Americans visiting the Adirondack Mountains could be drawn to Montreal by improved highway facilities. It was pointed out that Canada held a favored place for American tourists.

Another resolution urged that: "the main highway undertakings now in course of construction, as well as other pressing main artery requirements, be completed at the earliest practicable date." An additional resolution said: "Members note with pleasure the accomplishments effected during the past year in regard to highway development in the province of Quebec, and hereby express the wish that the club's highway educational campaign be continued."

AT VALLEYFIELD
LUCIEN MOISE, representative of The Bell Telephone Company of Canada in Valleyfield, succeeding Miss F. Beaudry, who has been transferred to the company's business office in Lachine, it was announced this week. Mr. Moise will assume his new duties on or about February 1.

LABELING OUR IMPORTS (St. John's Telegraph Journal) A few months ago a regulation was passed by the customs department at Ottawa requiring that cotton imported goods be marked with their country of origin. More recently the department has announced that the requirement will not be put into effect until next July. Opinions expressed by a number of Canadian importers are to the effect that this postponement will give an advantage to Japan, which during the last few years has been taking more and more of the Canadian market in cotton goods from the British manufacturers. It goes without saying that, all other things being equal, most Canadians would prefer to buy British cotton goods rather than those brought in from Japan, but in all cases it is not possible for them to determine the country of origin. The proposed system of marking would serve to identify the goods for the Canadian consumer.

In an interview recently Sir James Woods, president of one of the largest dry goods importing houses in Canada, declared that the "consumer has the right to know the country of origin of the goods he buys." With this there will be little quarrel. Already a great variety of articles must be marked to show in what country they were produced before they can be placed on sale to the public. There is no reason why this same regulation should not be made to apply to cotton goods, especially when we are large producers ourselves, and also when it would result in a greater consumption of British-made products.

Answers to Brain Teasers
1. A man of war is a soldier; a man-of-war is a battleship. Sixpence is an amount, in value, that is half a shilling; it may be represented by one or more coins; six pennies has the same value represented by six coins. Five-gallon cans have each a capacity of five gallons; the capacity of five gallon cans is equal to the capacity of one five-gallon can. Six cents and a quarter may be interpreted as 6c and 25c, a total of 31c. Six and a quarter cents is, of course, 6 1/4c.
2. After Louis XVI was beheaded in 1793, France became a republic. The Dauphin, styled Louis XVII, on the restoration of the monarchy, died in 1795 from long continued cruel treatment. A parallel instance will be dealt with in the near future.
3. By a convention among meteorological observers, 10 inches of snow-fall is considered equal to one inch of rain-fall. By actual experiment, as little as two inches and as much as 17 inches of snow have been melted to produce one inch of liquid water. Note we have no one precise word to express liquid water.
4. Group the numbers thus: (17 x 11) (5 x 25 x 8). To find 11 times a two-digit number, place the sum of the two digits between them, 187 x 12 = 2244. The product is 187,000.
5. The word "dress" is quite elastic in its various applications. We dress a person when we put something on the outside; we dress a board when we plane something off the outside. We dress a hog by taking something from the inside, and we dress a fowl by putting something into the inside. We dress a girl for a party to make her more attractive, and we dress a window for the same reason.

Opinions of Others
DID SOMEONE SAY PATRIOTISM? (Pt. Est. Times-Review) Humor has always been found in wars of the past, and whether or not much humor will come of the present European war is of course in the lap of the gods. Many were the humorous incidents which occurred during the Civil War in the United States. After the war began to get serious every able-bodied man was subject to draft, and if drafted, an unwillingly to fight could, if able to afford it, hire a substitute. During the first year substitutes could be hired for as little as $50.

In a certain northern town, the men formed a club of 60 members, each member chipping $50 into the pot, the money to be used for hiring a substitute for any of the members who might be drafted. One day the local news came for one of the members, a lawyer. Being notified to report for military duty, hurriedly he summoned a meeting of the club, and after considerable difficulty found a poor farm hand who agreed to serve as the lawyer's substitute. The relieved lawyer was naturally elated. In fact, he became so happy over the whole thing that he could not resist the temptation to make it a gala occasion and deliver an patriotic speech to his assembled club members. Toward the conclusion of it his remarks were addressed almost exclusively to the poor man who had just signed up to face death for him.

"My good man," he said, swelling up his chest until a button popped off his vest, "I want you to remember always, even in the thick of the battle, with gun roaring death and destruction everywhere, I want you to realize that you are representing me—me, a distinguished member of the bar. I want you to be a patriot in thought, word and deed, as I am—the man you represent. And, my good man, if you are shot, I want you to be shot in the front. Never, never let it be said of a substitute of mine that he was shot in the back!"

Apparently the motto of the Stackpole, Biddford, Me., family is "don't trust a stranger." When nine members of the family went hunting in wood, they posted the area with signs: "Don't shoot—it may be a Stackpole."
